ITALIAN FORCES ADVANCE INTO AUSTRIA FOUR MILES

ITALIANS CAPTURE AUSTRIAN TOWNS AND FORCE PASSES; ENEMY RETREATING IN HASTE

Destroys Bridges Behind Him as He Falls Back Along Extended Front—Invaders U se Bayonets With Good Effect in Mountains.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, May 25, via Paris, May 26.—Offensive operations resulting in the occupation of Austrian territory all along the frontier from Lombardy to the Adriatic are claimed in an official statement issued tonight by the war office. Italian troops have seized various towns in the Trentino and forced their way through mountain defiles. On the lower Isonzo attacks were continued to gain the line of the river. The Austrians are reported to have retired, destroying the bridges behind them. Italian aviators bombarded Monfalcone, near the Gulf of Triest.

The communication follows:

All On Offensive.

"Everywhere on the 24th our troops took the offensive, occupying Forcella, Montezzo, Tonale and Ponte Caffaro in Val Giudicaria, the territory north of Ferrara and Monte Baldo.

"They also occupied Monte Reorno and Monte Foppa, on the slopes north of Lessini; Monte Pasubia and Monte Baffelan, at the extremity of the Agno and Leomang valleys, and the defiles of Valbrenta. We took a number of prisoners.

Took Frontier Defiles.

"In Cadore we occupied all the frontier defiles.

"The enemy's medium calibre artillery opened fire on the Bay of Misitrina, but without results.

"On the Carnia frontier, on the night of the 24th, we took by a bayonet attack the defile of Val d'Inferno and the extremity of Val Dagno.

"On the Freuili frontier, on the 25th, in the middle of the Isonzo region, we successfully continued our offensive operations near Catoretto. We have disposed troops on the conquered heights between the Judrio and the Isonzo.

Enemy Everywhere Retires.

"Medium calibre artillery of the Austrians at Santa Maria and Santa Lucia, to the southwest of Tommino, opened fire on the heights between the Judrio and Isonzo.

"On the lower Isonzo we also continued our offensive to attain the line of the river. Everywhere the enemy retired, destroying bridges and cutting communications.

"Our aviators bombarded the electric

GUNNER BLACKWELL AMONG WOUNDED

Advertiser Illustrations.

GUNNER PERCY (PETE) BLACKWELL, son of A. Blackwell, of 510 York street, has been wounded in action at the front, according to a telegram received by his parents today from the Adjutant-General of Militia at Ottawa. No details as to the seriousness of the injuries are given in the message.

Gunner Blackwell enlisted in the 6th Field Battery for active service when it was recruited upon the outbreak of the war. He has had many thrilling escapades with the London battery since it got into action early in the winter, but until now he had come through the fighting unhurt.

THEY REMAIN IN FOREFRONT OF THE FIGHT

Sir John French's Glowing Testimony to Canadians.

MESSAGE SENT PREMIER

Praises Heroism and Sacrifices of Dominion's Troops.

BIND EMPIRE TOGETHER

Borden Cables in Reply His Pride in the Recent Achievements.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, May 26.—"They remain in the forefront of the fight," says Sir John French today in a message to the Premier on the gallantry of the Canadian troops, "and I feel assured that their heroism and sacrifices, which are contributing so splendidly to the attainment of our immediate ends, will bind together Canada and the British Empire with those indissoluble bonds which are forged on the field of battle."

Sir Robert Borden cabled in reply:

"We are proud that our Canadian soldiers have proved themselves worthy of the great traditions of the British army, which, under your leadership, has already achieved such splendid distinction by its valor and heroism during the present war, in which the greatness and unity of our Empire have been made more manifest than ever before."

IGNORING AMERICAN FLAG, GERMAN PIRATES TORPEDO U. S. SHIP BOUND FOR HOME PORT; WASHINGTON FORCED TO DRASTIC ACTION BY DEFIANCE OF ALL RIGHTS, VIEW HELD

Rush Orders Go to American Ambassador in London and President is "Obviously Concerned"—Was Attack's Object to Force United States Into Conflict.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

(By John Edwin Nevin, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, May 26. — The administration here was distinctly shocked today by the news of the torpedoing of the American steamer Nebraskan in the war zone.

The incident not only suggested that Germany has not ceased her submarine warfare, but caused especial comment, in that it involved an attack on a craft flying the American flag and on its to way to a home port, so there could have been no suspicion that is was carrying contraband.

PRESIDENT AND BRYAN WORRIED.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan received the news with obvious concern.

There was noticeable relief when word came that no lives were lost and that the Nebraskan had escaped being sent to the bottam. Until a complete report is received, it is said, there would be no further representations to Germany. Rush orders were sent to Ambassador Page and Consul-General Skinner in London, however, to cable all available information and the fact that they were told to use the cable instead of waiting for mails was taken as indicating that no time would be lost in demanding a German disavowal of the attack, and reparation.

MINE THEORY REJECTED.

All the news dispatches spoke so positively of a torpedo that it was the general opinion that the mine theory would not hold good.

The fact that the vessel was torpedoed while homeward bound was a great surprise. It was pointed out that heretofore most westward-bound steamers have been unmolested by submarines, and just why the Nebraskan was attacked, the officials could not guess.

BRITAIN OFFERS TO TAKE 30,000 MEN AND PAY PASSAGES

Solution of Unemployment Problem Suggested to Government by Old Country—Can Be Utilized to Provide Ammunition for A llies During War.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 26.—A solution of the Canadian unemployment problem was offered this morning. The British Government will take artisans across the Atlantic to the number of 30,000, pay their passage, pay the highest wages of the district and set them to work upon munitions of war.

G. W. Barnes, a member of the British House of Commons, and W. Wyndham, representing the British Board of Trade, made this proposition this morning to the congress of mayors assembled in Ottawa. This afternoon they repeated them to the Canadian Government, which now has them under consideration. Mr. Barnes said that while the ammunition situation in Britain was improving, there was still great need for men. If the English factories could get 30,000 skilled men from Canada, the situation would be greatly improved within a short time.

The Government has the plan under consideration.

WHAT MAYORS SUGGEST.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, May 26.—Representatives of the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the mayors of many Canadian cities, now in convention here today, presented a memorial to Sir Robert Borden, dealing with the causes of unemployment in Canada, and making the following suggestions for its amelioration:

Placing of idle agriculturalists on land, settlers to be allotted holdings of not more than 40 acres and to receive from the Government by way of loan sufficient money to purchase stock and equipment and to assist in maintaining themselves until self-sustaining, to be repaid in installments covering two years.

Prosecution of contemplated public works.

Construction of permanent highways, including a national inter-provincial highway.

Wider Markets.

Extension of experimental farm idea to other industrial pursuits.

Extension of Canada's trade to markets formerly supplied by other nations, and encouragement of manufacture in Canada of goods formerly produced by countries now at war with Britain.

Industrial exchanges throughout the Dominion to assist in securing employment where demand for labor exists.

Restriction of immigration to those fitted for and intending to become agriculturalists and placing of these people on farms under supervision and assistance.

MOTHER PROUD OF SON WHO GIVES HIS LIFE, HIS ALL FOR HIS COUNTRY

Mrs. Alexander Torney Hears That Son, Pte. Fred Torney, Succumbed to Enteric Fever in France—7th Regiment Man Who Was Determined to Enlist From First.

One more Londoner has given his life in the service of the Empire, and one more mother in the city has made the great sacrifice. Mrs. Alex. Torney, 622 Elizabeth street, today learned from a brief telegraphed message from Ottawa that her son Fred, a private in the 1st Battalion of the 1st Canadian Overseas Contingent, died yesterday in No. 14 Stationary Hospital at Wimereux, France, from enteric fever.

Bears News Bravely.

Only yesterday Mrs. Torney had a letter from her son, written on May 8, in which he said he was feeling very well. The news of his death, therefore, came as a terrible shock to the mother, who, however, bravely bore up as she told an Advertiser reporter that, mixed with the grief at his loss she had a great pride that a boy of hers had been willing to sacrifice his life for his country.

"I am so thankful," she said, "that he was not married. His death is a terrible blow to me, but it would have been a thousand times worse if he had left a widow and possibly little children." She was unable to control her emotion, but after a minute went on: "In his latest letters he told me he was with the transport wagons, and I had been congratulating myself that he was not in the actual firing line."

Member of 7th Regiment.

Pte. Torney had been a member of the 7th Regiment for ten years, and his mother declared that he was a most enthusiastic soldier. "When recruits were called for," she said, "nothing could prevent him offering himself. He was too good a volunteer to hang back when his country needed him."

Before he enlisted, Fred Torney was employed in the yards of the C. P. R., as his father is also. Besides his mother and father, several brothers and sisters survive him.

INQUEST DELAYED

Drowning of Mr. Tupholme To Be Investigated Friday.

Coroner Robert Ferguson stated today that the inquest into the death of W. J. Tupholme, who was drowned on Monday, will be resumed Friday night in the county court building.

Owing to the fact that one of the men wanted as a witness had gone back to his business at Windsor, the inquest has been delayed.

Mr. Tupholme was out in the launch The Takitez with a number of other young men when, in some unknown manner, he slipped off the roof of the boat and was drowned.

NORTHCLIFFE'S ATTACKS UPON KITCHENER BIG HELP TO ENEMY

Excerpts From Editorials Seized Upon as Basis for Sneers at British Position and the Ability of Her Secretary of War.

[Canadian Press.]

Rotterdam, May 26.—German papers are naturally seizing with avidity upon the ammunition scarcity scare of the Northcliffe press, and at a period when from the achievements in the field Germany can create little enthusiasm in the fatherland, they are more than grateful for the attacks on Lord Kitchener, declaring these vehement discussions show better than anything else how the real situation is tending. Extracts from the Northcliffe press are freely quoted, the most vehement portions being dished up with great relish, while Count Reventlow finds in them the inspiration for a long article on "British Worry."

Great Glee.

"They are suffering for ammunition," he gleefully writes, "and there is no confidence any more in the national military feint, Lord Kitchener. That is especially remarkable, for from him was expected successes fabulous beyond all previous experience; no other man in the world was capable of such an epoch-making success. We shall follow his further career with interest, whether at the war office or not. They might just as well leave him peacefully at the place where he is, for his successors would have difficulty in bettering his endeavors in the ammunition industry.

What Germany Sees.

"That this point is talked of with such vehemence in London and was, next to the sin of Churchill, the principal cause of the defeat of the cabinet, shows more than anything else the direction in which the situation is tending. For Germany all these things prove that the unassailability of Britain is only a legend—one of the many signs that show how right has been our methods of war against Britain, and that the means used will be more effective the longer they are used."

GAS TO COME FROM DELAWARE?

Reported That City Company Is Inspecting Wells.

It was stated on good authority today that the City Gas Company was having an inspection made of the gas fields recently tapped at Delaware.

Those interested in the field claim that there is a large supply of gas of good quality, and that more wells are likely to be opened before long.

Many citizens believe that if natural gas is available the consumers should get the benefit of the reduction in price that would result.

NO COMPENSATION FOR LUSITANIA SURVIVORS FROM CUNARD COMPANY

Only Hope is in Getting Some From Germany After War.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, May 26.—Several Canadian passengers saved from the Lusitania, who approached the Cunard Company regarding their position with relation to compensation, have been informed that the company has no responsibility. They were advised to approach Sir Edward Grey with a view to getting compensation from Germany after the war.

FURIOUS ATTACKS BY ENEMY PROVE QUITE FRUITLESS

French Not Only Hold Gains But Advance Their Positions.

SHOW SPLENDID COURAGE

Face Intense Bombardment But Retain Ground Won in Past Days.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 26—2:33 p.m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading as follows:

"The checks inflicted upon the enemy yesterday in the region of Angres and at a point to the north of the height of Lorette determined the Germans to come back with an attack of extreme violence. There was furious fighting last evening and during last night. We were successful in retaining all our gains. Our troops gave evidence of magnificent courage and showed splendid tenacity of purpose.

Attacks All Repulsed.

"The Germans in the beginning delivered a counter-attack against the work captured by us to the northwest of Angres. Furious attempts to take this position were made by them time and time again. In spite of the exceptionally intense bombardment to which our troops were subjected, we retained possession of all of our new positions.

"Furthermore, at the end of the day we occupied almost entirely the position near Buval, where we gained a footing in the afternoon.

Capture Trench.

"Here we are maintaining ourselves under a violent fire. At the same time we have gained ground on the heights to the northeast of Lorette, and we have captured a trench of the enemy in the environs of Souchez.

"An artillery engagement of considerable severity developed yesterday in the region of Soissons; there was another much encounter near Rheims.

"From the rest of the front no reports have been received."

"During the day of May 25 our aviators showed great activity along the entire front, and they were successful in several endeavors to bombard the enemy. They threw down in all 203 projectiles. Of these 82 were large bombs of a weight of ten kilos (about 22 pounds each), fourteen shells weighing 100 kilos (220 pounds), and 55 weighing 43 kilos (95 pounds) each, together with other missiles, were thrown down by our men.

"The efficacy of this fire was proved at several points, particularly at the German aviation park, located at Hervilly, to the southeast of Roisel, where a hangar and a machine were set on fire; at the German reserve aviation camp at Grand Priel, to the northwest of St. Quentin, where a hangar was shattered, and at the St. Quentin Railroad station, where the gasoline supply tanks were destroyed.

"During the course of the preceding night, four shells were thrown from the air on the railroad station at Douai. The outbreak of a fire in the vicinity of the freight depots was observed."

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS IN FAVOR OF PROHIBITION

[Canadian Press.]

Cleveland, May 26.—State and national prohibition was unanimously indorsed last night by the biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Eighty-five delegates, representing the Canadian branch of the brotherhood, took similar action.

GERMANS ADMIT THAT BRITISH TOOK TRENCHES

Fierce Fighting Now in Progress in Both War Zones.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

Berlin, May 26.—Germany's official announcement from the war office reported that "fierce fighting is now proceeding southeast of Radymo in the direction of Przemysl.

The war office statement also reported violent battles raging in Flanders and Northern France, and admitted that the British have occupied portions of German advanced trenches north and east of Givenchy, west of La Bassee.

UNIONIST M. P.'S. HEAR DETAILS OF SITUATION

Meet in London To Be Told Particulars of New Cabinet.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 26—12:15 p.m.—An important meeting of Unionist members of both Houses of Parliament was held today at the Carlton Club, in connection with the political crisis and the formation of the coalition ministry. The purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the rank and file of the party with the details of the negotiations which resulted in the new Cabinet, and to invite their support in future action.

On account of the absence of nearly 100 Unionists, who are at the front or engaged in other ways in the war, the meeting was not as large as would have been the case ordinarily.

The Marquis of Lansdowne occupied the chair, and made a speech in which he declared it to be the duty of the party to work harmoniously with all factions to bring the war to a speedy termination. Andrew Bonar Law and others spoke in the same vein.

The meeting adjourned without adopting any formal resolutions.

MAJOR BEATTIE, OF COBOURG, NOW INJURED

Fell From Has Horse Near Firing Line in France.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, May 26.—Major Beattie, chaplain, of Cobourg, Ont., is now in a London hospital, suffering from a fall from his horse close to the firing line. He is progressing satisfactorily, but some weeks are bound to elapse before he is able to resume duty.

Major Beattie says the value of the work at Ypres was recognized in a most marked manner by the commanders of the allied troops, Canadians, or a portion of them, are by now again engaged. Major Beattie thinks the measures taken against asphyxiating gases will prove efficacious.

STEAMERS ARRIVED.

Montreal, May 26.—Arrived: Steamers Ramore Head, from Dublin; Englishman, from Bristol; Northland, from Liverpool.

LABOR MEN TO GO TO OTTAWA FOR SUNDAY CARS TO CITY'S PARK

In their effort to secure a Sunday street car service to Springbank and other portions of the system where the street railway do not run their cars on the seventh day, the trades and labor council will send a representative along with Mayor H. A. Stevenson and the delegation that will shortly meet the Dominion Railway Commission to ask for this privilege.

At a recent meeting of the trades body they unanimously voted for Sunday street cars to Springbank, and passed a resolution to ask the railway board to grant this.

LIEUT. BOWEN SUGGESTS REGIMENT OF "BANTAMS"

Believes Sturdy Little Men of Canada Wish to Enlist.

The suggestion that a special regiment be formed in which all those men who have been prevented up to the present from enlisting because of lack of stature has been made by Lieut. Dan. Bowen, formerly of the staff of the Bank of Toronto here, and at present awaiting an appointment in the active service force.

The lieutenant points out that many men who are willing and anxious to fight for the Empire have been prevented up to now by the regulation which restricts recruiting to men above a specified height. He urges that a great many men who are unable to qualify under this regulation nevertheless are just as capable of endurance and just as well able to handle a rifle, besides being just as courageous as their taller fellows. In Britain a number of bantam regiments have been organized.

KING CONSTANTINE'S CONDITION CRITICAL

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 26.—The condition of King Constantine of Greece continues critical, according to a dispatch received today by the Exchange Telegraph Company from its correspondent at Athens.

SUBMARINE STRIKES NEAR IRISH COAST

(Special Cable to The Advertiser.)

London, Eng., May 26.—The United States steamer Nebraskan has been torpedoed by the Germans. She was on her way from Liverpool to Delaware Breakwater, having sailed on May 24. Lloyds' registry shows her captain to be G. B. Knight, while in other reports he is said to be Capt. Green.

The Nebraskan is a steel twin screw steamer of 4,409 tons, owned by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, and is under American registry from the port of New York.

She is 360 feet in length and 46 feet at her beam. She was built in 1902 by the New York Shipbuilding Company, at Camden, N. J.

A later report said the Nebraskan was proceeding, and that no lives have been lost. It is evident that she was not seriously damaged.

CREW STAYS.

The members of the crew of the Nebraskan all are on board. The foreholds of the vessel are full of water.

HIT OFF IRELAND.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 26.—The American steamer Nebraskan (Capt. Green), from Liverpool, May 24, for Delaware Breakwater, was torpedoed yesterday by a submarine at a point 40 miles southwest of Fastnet, off the south coast of Ireland.

The sea was calm at the time. The crew at once took to the boats and stood by the steamer.

It was soon ascertained that the Nebraskan was not seriously damaged. She had been struck forward, and her foreholds were full of water.

NO PASSENGERS.

The crew returned on board and got the vessel under way. No lives were lost among the crew. The Nebraskan did not carry any passengers.

The foregoing information was received today by the British Admiralty in London, and it was at once communicated to the American embassy.

NOT UNDER CONTROL.

London, May 26.—A message to Lloyds from Kinsale, Ireland, says that the Nebraskan passed that point at 11 o'clock this morning, apparently bound for Queenstown.

The Nebraskan was down at the bows. She was proceeding under her own steam, and flying the signal: "I am not under control."

CONSUL'S REPORT.

Washington, May 26.—Consul-General Skinner, at London, cabled today: "The British admiralty reports the American steamer Nebraskan torpedoed." He gave the same location as mentioned in the London dispatches, and added that he had received no direct report.

Coming close on the Lusitania disaster, the news that another American ship had been endangered aroused more than ordinary attention, but all officials were disposed to hear details before making comment.

NO ENTHUSIASM FOR NEW CABINET

British Papers Refrain, However, From Expressing Any Strong Disapproval.

LLOYD GEORGE WANTED

And Is Expected to Again Become Chancellor of the Exchequer.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 26.—As might have been expected, the new cabinet, while it meets with no strong disapproval at the hands of editorial writers in the London morning papers, raises but little enthusiasm in any quarter. The most that is accorded is a disposition to give the new Government every opportunity to prove its worth.

More disappointment is noticeable among the Liberal than the Conservative papers, mainly at the shelving of Viscount Haldane and the appointment of Sir Edward Carson as attorney-general.

Will Come Back.

Some dissatisfaction is also expressed that the new cabinet instead of being smaller is larger than the old one, and also at the loss of David Lloyd George as chancellor of the exchequer. It is understood, however, Lloyd George's appointment as minister of munitions is only temporary, and that he will come back to the chancellorship when the question of munitions becomes less acute.

Others Criticised.

Other appointments much criticised include that of Mr. Balfour as first lord of the admiralty, the ground being taken that the giving of this portfolio to him deprives the nation of the services of Lord Fisher. The elevation of Sir Stanley O. Buckmaster also is criticised.

Result of Contest Known Tomorrow

Judging by the progress made today in the work of totalling the votes of candidates in the Panama-Pacific trip contest the result will be published in the evening edition of The Advertiser on Thursday (tomorrow).

SEWAGE POURING INTO THE THAMES MUST BE STOPPED SAYS CHAIRMAN

Mr. Somerville Believes It a Shame That River Should Be in Such a State of Impurity — One of London's Greatest Sources of Recreation.

Following The Advertiser's crusade for a cleaner River Thames, C. R. Somerville, chairman of the board of health, this morning stated that at the next meeting of that body the matter of how best to go about having the river purified would be carefully gone into and steps taken to bring about the desired result.

The first step will be to send an inspector, or inspectors, to go carefully over the river and discover just at what points pollution is most apparent. These inspectors will be sent out as soon as possible. When they have returned their reports more strenuous measures will be begun, and if possible the river will be cleaned up and rendered free from pollution.

A Great Asset.

"It's really too bad," said Mr. Somerville to The Advertiser today, "that our river should be in the state of impurity it now is. The river is one of our greatest assets. The Thames in Old London is not more beautiful. At places it widens out into larger expanses, but for boating and pleasure is not more desirable than our own stream. I remember when I was a boy what delight it was to row down it, take a lunch and return in the evening. I know our citizens enjoy doing this now, but if the river is impure the pleasure such a trip brings is lost.

"Our department is going to do what it can in an endeavor to have the water purified. We will go carefully into the matter, find out just what the reading of the law is in such matters, and when we have all our data at hand will put the matter up to the engineer's department, for it is this department which must deal with the question finally.

Must Stop Sewage.

"Our sewers, for the most part, are all right now. Except, of course, where they are too low to connect with those above. It is these which empty into the river and cause the trouble. There must be some way of doing away with sewage disposal in the river. I don't know just what the latest method of dealing with this is, but that there is some way I am sure."

EVERYBODY DRUNK

At Least This Applies to All Those Behind Carling Street Grillwork.

Drunk cases in the Carling street police court have increased during the past few days, and today Magistrate J. C. Judd had to deal with one dozen cases.

Frederick Martin and Alfred Cotrell, while on King street last night in an intoxicated condition, got into a fight. They paid $5 each and costs.

Richard Ross, charged with a breach of the liquor license act, was taxed $10 and costs.

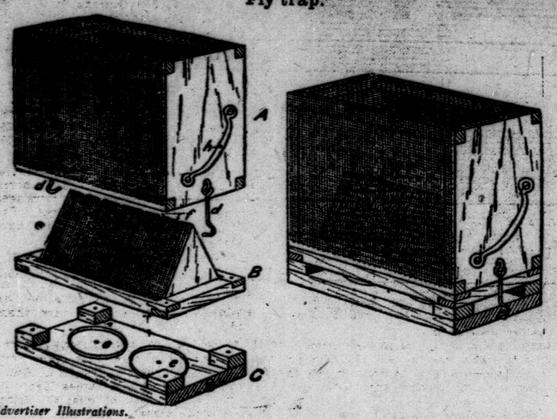

"If you reporters put my name in the papers, I'll punch your heads in when I get a chance," said Ross, from the prisoner's docket. Here's taking Bill's ded.

Albert King, an Indian, had liquor in his possession with the result that he handed the court $25, while Frederick Thompson and Robert McKee, members of the other tribe of Indians, were fined $20 and $10 respectively.

Mike Euriskie took his 15-year-old brother, Roman, to a wedding last night, where both got "stewed" in real Polish style, and landed in police court. They were discharged, as were four other first-timers.

"Trap" as Well as "Swat" the Fly!

Boys, Here Are Simple Directions for Making a Dandy Fly trap.

Advertiser Illustrations.

Here are the plans for a "flytrap" for the boy who wants to have the fun of making things and at the same time help his mother keep the house free of flies this summer.

The material for one of these traps does not cost more than 10 or 20 cents and any boy who is handy with tools can make one in a short while. Half-inch pine and a small quantity of wire netting, the kind used for window screens, is all that is necessary.

The best size is one 16 inches long, 12 inches high and 8 inches wide. Sour milk, a piece of banana, or some other fruit skin makes a good bait, and the flies that are caught each day should be killed by pouring hot water over the trap or by leaving it immersed in water until the flies are dead. The bait should be removed at night or it will attract ants.

The flytrap is made in three distinct parts (A, B and C), as shown in the accompanying illustration. These may be detached from one another by unfastening the hooks (D) that hold them together at either end.

The trap must be unhooked to place the bait on the two pieces of tin (E) tacked to the bottom section. The circular tops of milk or paint cans can be used to hold the bait.

The middle section (B) of the trap consists of a screen-covered frame that resembles a small gable roof through which there are six holes (F) to let the flies into the uppermost section (A), which is merely the screened-in cage that is set down over the other two parts (B and C).

The handle (H) will be found convenient when the trap is immersed in water to kill the flies.

SOME HOT SHOT FOR MAN WHO WOULD ROOF OVER RIVER

Correspondent Believes He Is the Speed Fiend Incarnate.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In answer to Mr. "Up-to-Date's" letter, in which he compares our river to a brook, and proposes that it should be made into a covered sewer, on which he might run his benzine buggy, I might say that his "nom de guerre" gives him away. I knew him well, his name is legion, the villain stands revealed. He is the very "bug" that nearly ran me down on Dundas street recently. He was travelling east on the north side, just as I stepped from behind a standing car. He was bound for nowhere, and in a d—— of a hurry to get there. He did not stop, neither did I, for if I had he would have imprinted "traction tread" all over me from prow to stern, but with a superhuman jump I landed on the curb. He never said a word. I did—some of them had three letters, and some were hyphenated. Oh, yes, I know him. He is also the same fellow that puts life into the feet of the aged, juice into the joints of the rheumatic, and squeezes the last sad howl from the intrepid dog, and then remarks: "Why don't you stay on the sidewalk?"

About Brooks.

I think, however, he is asking us too much when he says we can go to Port Stanley, if we want a boat ride, so that he can use our river bed for a joy ride. I would like to remind him that brooks are not very easy things to stop entirely, and draw his attention to what Tennyson's brook said. I think it was something like this:

"Men may come and men may go,
But I go on for ever."

And my impression is, that after he and his little wagon have given place to the next satanic invention our little brook will still be running on, performing its natural function of draining about six thousand miles of territory, not a very important function, to be sure, but still I imagine almost as necessary as Mr. "Up-to-Date's" motor road.

As an alternative, I propose that the whole clan of "Up-to-Dates" be turned into the racecourse at the fair grounds and there be allowed to rip, tear and snort to their heart's content. As for scenery, which, of course, is necessary, there is the whitewashed fence, which has some most artistic curves; then, when tired of that, there is the carshop roof, which offers a broad expanse of iron and glass, or again, there is the half-mile of horse stables. To be sure, there are some fine old trees about the park, but no doubt their asthetic natures will be quite satisfied with the fence alone, to say nothing of the barns, etc.

Conserve the Water.

I now suggest that the rest of the people who love nature as seen in forest, stream or field all about our beautiful country, should begin an agitation to have the immense amount of water that is carried away by the important and natural watercourse during the times of flood conserved on the upper sources of the river by dams and reservoirs and then allowed to come to the main channel gradually throughout the year. This would prevent damage by floods, which must be enormous. It would also give a volume of water sufficient to generate power continually, also keep the river sweet and clean and make it available for sports all along its course, conserve its beauties to the lasting pleasure of all the people for all time.

"A thing of beauty is a joy for ever:
Its loveliness increases; it will never Pass into nothingness: but still will keep
A bower quiet for us, and a sleep
Full of sweet dreams, and health, and quiet breathing.
—— Yes, in spite of all,
Some shape of beauty moves away the pall from our dark spirits.

NOT A BLADE OF GRASS TO SHELTER ADVANCING TROOPS

Relative Hears From 4th Battalion Man Who Was Mowed Down.

GERMANS SLEW WOUNDED

Stretcher-Bearers of Writer's Platoon Blown Into Pieces.

Pte. Frank G. Betts, 4th Battalion, 1st Canadian Expeditionary Force, in a letter sent to his brother in Winnipeg received by his uncle, H. J. Holladay, 307 Simcoe street, tells of the bloody battle at Langemarck, in which he was wounded. The letter was written aboard the Red Cross ship Asturia, while Betts was being taken from France to an English hospital.

The battle at Langemarck was a bloodier engagement than Mons, declares the writer. "We were mowed down like wheat," he writes. "The Germans had a strong position on the crest of a hill, and we had to advance over a level field for about 1,000 yards, with not as much as a blade of grass to hide behind. It was simply murder." That the Canadians did splendid work is already known, and after reading the following letter in full one is more than ever struck with the magnitude of the task that was theirs, and the excellent way they fulfilled their mission. The letter reads:

The Famous Asturia.

English Channel, April 30, 1915.

Dear Roy,—I am now crossing the Channel to Southampton from Havre, France. Just a week ago this morning I got mine. This ship we are on has about 2,000 wounded and a few German prisoners, which I would like to throw overboard. The Germans nearly got this ship on one of her trips across, perhaps you noticed it in the papers. Her name is the Red Cross ship Asturia, and it sure is a dandy floating hotel. The battle I was in last week is still raging. It is the bloodiest battle of the war—worse than Mons.

We were mowed down like wheat. The Germans had a strong position on the crest of a hill, and we had to advance over a level field for about 1,000 yards, with not as much as a blade of grass to hide behind. It was simply murder. The Huns had machine guns every five yards, and the shrapnel was bursting every few yards apart; then they had those gas shells, which nearly got my number after I was hit.

In Hail of Bullets.

I was lying on the ground trying to dig myself in with my left hand, and a shell burst so close to me that I was nearly buried. A piece of the shell hit my trenching tool, knocking it out of my hand. I was lying out there in the open, wondering where the next one was going to burst, and I made up my mind to try and get back to some cover. I jumped up and made a dash back over the ground over which we had advanced a short time before. They tried their best to get me, but I guess I must bear a charmed life, as the bullets hit the ground all around me.

I got into a farmhouse and had my wound dressed, went down into the cellar and went to sleep. The house was packed with wounded, but I was safe in the cellar, dead to the world, but some of the other poor fellows got hit again. It was awful. I never want to see another one like it.

Huns Shot Wounded.

The dirty hounds shot our wounded when they were trying to crawl off the field. The stretcher-bearers of our battalion were wiped out to a man. They were carrying wounded men off the field and a shell alighted on them, and they went up in the air and came down in pieces. Our battalion opened the attack Friday morning, April 23, at half-past four. My platoon was doing the advance work. It is a miracle that any one of us came out of it alive. It is also a wonder that the bullets and shells didn't collide in the air, they were so thick. This is no "hot air" that I am giving you, and had you been there you would have thought that hell was let loose. One of the first to get killed in my platoon was a fine young fellow from Edmonton. He got it through the head, and died instantly, the blood pouring out of his ears like water from a bottle.

Gave 'Em the Steel.

The Germans don't like the Canadians, as our fellows kept right on giving them the steel when they wanted to surrender; that is the only way to deal with this kind of savages.

We were seeing red about this time. It is pitiable to see the poor Belgians being driven from their homes—little kids and women—some of them wounded. They have a cart with a dog underneath to pull it. Cows, pigs and dogs wander around on the battlefield—some of the poor things hit, trying to rise and bellowing. It was an awful sight, believe me.

The people in England and Canada have little conception what this war is like, and don't seem to think it is nearly as bad as it is, but take it from me, the Germans are not beat by a long way yet. They have plenty of men and ammunition if I know anything about it.

Faced 80,000 Men.

They had about 80,000 men against us last week northeast of Ypres. If you get a map, look for a place called Poperinghe. We were about five miles east of that point, where we crossed the Yser Canal and attacked the Germans. I would not be allowed to tell you all this if I were still in France. I have sure had some experience, and seen some country since leaving Canada last fall. I lost everything I had when I was hit, my razor and strop, ones I have had for nine years. I got them out of my haversack and put them in my pocket, but lost them on the way in. I don't know how Bill made out. A fellow told me he and his pal were all right the night of the 23rd, but then they were in another big fight Saturday. I hope he was as lucky as I was. I got hit through the right shoulder, the ball going in by the collarbone and coming out through my shoulderblade. It is almost well now, but a little sore at the back. Col. Birchall and our adjutant were both killed; in fact, all of our officers were either wounded or killed. I never thought a year ago that Bill and I would be in one of the worst battles the world has ever seen, did you? I met a fellow in the Australian hospital by the same name as mine. He belongs to the 1st Suffolks. May be some relation, eh? Well, I guess this is about all I can think of. I wish I had some smoking—got no money or anything, and 3,000 miles from home. Ain't it hell? Your brother. FRANK.

ADVANCE LIKE RUSH THROUGH THUNDERSTORM

Many Calls for Stretcher-Bearers—Letter to Londoner From Front.

Writing of the Canadians' advance on Friday, April 23, a friend of Mrs. Thomson, 2 Stanley street, says: "The advance reminded me more than anything else of a rush through a thunderstorm." The 1st Battalion, to which the writer belongs, which is composed mostly of men from the district around this city, has gained the name of the "Fighting First." It used to be a joke that we were the 'Fighting First' when rations were distributed, but we can brag about something better now," he says. "I needn't say how glad we London boys are that Col. Becher, despite his cool exposure of himself to fire, is still unhurt."

Of the Friday charge the Canucks made, the writer continues: "It was a decidedly warm time, with shot and shell galore, through which we pushed forward without firing a shot for 1,400 yards. We did not know what was about to happen, but just received the word to advance, and went right ahead, officers and men alike displaying a splendid disregard of consequences—if anything, a little too splendid. We suffered heavy losses; there were many wounded, but I don't know how many were killed. There were many unpleasant sights, too, and the bursting of shells was not reassuring, but though not the first time we had been under rifle fire, I think the general coolness of the men was probably a surprise to all, as I guess it was to the Germans.

"Before we commenced the actual attack, there were many calls for the stretcher-bearers, and it was impossible for them to keep pace with the work. However, some of us were able to assist the wounded a little. I have often heard the A. M. C. sneered at, but the conduct of the stretcher-bearers was nothing short of heroic, and the hospital staff has worked splendidly.

"We had the option of ducking or lying down occasionally, but the stretcher-bearers had to walk erect with their burdens, and it certainly appeared as risky to 'advance backwards' as forward.

"Although there were many unpleasant sights and conditions were not exactly comfortable, I did not find the experience particularly nerve-racking," the writer says, giving as a reason the fact that the wounded bore themselves so bravely. "We heard very little complaint and no 'whining.' Our officers and non-coms., suffered heavily."

The writer says that the Friday fight brought a great deal of praise from the British "regulars," and that the 1st Battalion took its full share in winning the battle.

ROAD HOUSE LICENSES ARE LIKELY TO GO

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, May 25. — "I want you to distinctly understand that I believe the policy of this commission will go a long way to discourage roadhouses, which do not render any service, except to provide a good time and serve a good dinner or a good drink," said Chairman Flavelle, of the Ontario license commission, this afternoon when the license of the Humber Beach Hotel was under consideration. "Our policy is to discourage this kind of house."

York County Constable Simpson and Commissioner Ayearst had a run-in. Mr. Ayearst charged that it had been Simpson's practice to warn the proprietors of hotels when license officers came around.

"That's a lie," said the constable.

"It's not a lie, and you know it," returned the commissioner.

On order of the commission the constable left the room accompanied by the remark from Mr. Ayearst that he was "a disgrace to the constabulary." There was no decision on the Humber Hotel license.

The application was strongly opposed by Sidney Smith, of the Grain Exchange, and R. McKenzie, of the Grain Growers' Association. The commissioners, H. L. Drayton and S. McLean, finally decided to leave the matter over for further consideration.

Chairman Drayton explained that if the application were granted it would not affect export grain.

PASSENGER LINER HIT IN COLLISION

Dutch Ship Ryndam Struck by Freighter Off Nantucket Shoal.

WIRELESS BRINGS HELP

No Lives Lost, Battleships Taking Off Passengers and Part Crew.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 26.—The Dutch liner Ryndam, which sailed from this port yesterday for Rotterdam with 77 passengers and a million-dollar cargo, was badly damaged in a collision fifteen miles southwest of the Nantucket shoals lightship at 4 o'clock this morning with the tramp freighter Joseph J. Cuneo, which sailed from Boston last night, for Baracoa, Cuba.

Both vessels were seriously damaged. The Ryndam, wireless reports indicate, was struck aft with such force that hold No. 5 filled almost at once, water flowed freely into the engine-room, and began to creep up in hold No. 6.

Passengers Transferred.

The Cuneo's bows were smashed in badly. S. O. S. signal was wirelessed from the Ryndam's wireless, and her passengers were transferred hastily to the Cuneo. One hundred and sixty of the Ryndam's crew of two hundred likewise were put aboard the freighter, leaving only forty men aboard the liner to navigate it.

U. S. battleships in the vicinity answered the wireless calls. At 7 o'clock, three hours after the collision, the battleship South Carolina was standing alongside the Cuneo. The Ryndam's passengers and those of her crew who had been transferred to the Cuneo were taken off by the South Carolina. The battleship was directed by wireless from the Newport navy yard to convoy the stricken liner to this port.

Engines Strained.

With the South Carolina alongside, the battleship Texas, ten miles astern, the battleship Louisiana in the near vicinity, and the Cuneo slowly following, the Ryndam was steaming at slow speed for this port, 124 miles east of the Ambrose Channel lightship at 10 o'clock. At that hour her captain sent a wireless message to the Holland-American Line, her owners, saying that the Ryndham's engines were much strained, but still holding out.

Previous messages from Capt. Van Der Heuvel asserted that the water was gaining in No. 6 hold and that the ship would have to be abandoned if the water gained much more.

So far as the line knew, there were only six Americans among the passengers. The other passengers, it was said, were Europeans returning home.

INJUSTICE DONE TO PTE. KNOWLES

No "Woman in Case" in Brutal Assault Made Upon Him.

The story to The Advertiser from St. Thomas published in the editions of Monday last and which referred to an attack on Pte. J. F. Knowles, a Windsor man with the 33rd Battalion, who, the dispatch said, was set upon while paying attention to a woman, was erroneous. Pte. Knowles was attacked by a thug, but a woman did not figure in the robbery.

The story as told by Pte. Knowles is to the effect that while going up a lane in St. Thomas because of necessity he was suddenly grabbed from behind by a powerful man, who at the same instant drove a knife at him, which pierced his tunic and tore away the skin above the ribs. Downed, Knowles was kicked in the abdomen, and then relieved of $16. He was removed in an unconscious condition to the temporary quarters of the battalion in St. Thomas, and there medical aid was rendered. The Advertiser is only too pleased to set Pte. Knowles right with the public, as is deserving.

TORPEDOING OF NEBRASKA GIVES WASHINGTON SHOCK

[Canadian Press.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—News of the torpedoing of the American S. S. Nebraskan in the European war zone caused an unmistakable shock at the Government departments here.

Most of them were just opening and few of the higher officials had arrived. However, those already at their desks refused invariably to talk.

Details were awaited with evident anxiety.

AUSTRIANS WANT TO WORK AT DEVELOPING CANADIAN RESOURCES

Seven Hundred Petition Government Not to Send Them Back to Europe.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 26.—Seven hundred Austrians of Slavic blood, in the neighborhood of Fort William, want an opportunity to work at the great task of developing Canada. To that end they have petitioned the Government.

They point out that they came from Austria to Canada to obtain greater freedom; that they wish to remain in Canada, and do not wish to be forced to return to Austria, where they would lose their liberty by being forced into the army. The development of Canada is by no means finished, and they want the opportunity of working at it in freedom.

"We petition you," the communication says, "and your Government to use some means of connecting up our labor with the unfinished task of developing this country, in which effort we pledge our most faithful labor for a just return for our work."

The Government is considering the petition.

PERSONAL MENTION

MRS. MARY SLOAN'S DEATH.

TILBURY, May 25.—Mrs. Mary Sloan, a former highly-esteemed resident of this town, passed away on Sunday at the home of her niece, Mrs. F. M. Scarff, of Windsor, and the remains were brought here for interment in the Stewart Cemetery beside her husband, the late Samuel Sloan.

She had been a great sufferer for the past two months in consequence of an injury to her hip caused by a fall. Owing to her advanced age and a delicate state of health an operation was impossible, and only a temporary alleviation of her suffering was possible.

For many years she resided in Tilbury and possessed many fine womanly qualities which won for her a large circle of friends.

She and her husband, who conducted a successful sawmill here up to the time of his death, were among the first residents of the town.

She leaves one son, Herbert E., hardware merchant; a niece, Mrs. F. M. Scarff, of Windsor; two sisters, Miss V. Pook, of Windsor, and Mrs. J. Sadler, of Gainsborough, Sask.; two brothers, Samuel Pook, of Tilbury East, and Thos. Pook, of Lobo, Middlesex.

The funeral service was conducted at the home of H. E. Sloan, Canal street, by Rev. Rural Dean Dobson, a large assemblage of friends from town and country being present.

OWEN SOUND ASSESSOR DEAD.

New Sarnia Waterworks in Operation—Woman Sentenced to Mercer.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, May 25.—The call of the Government for 10,000 more men has brought forward the suggestion here that the county form a field battery of artillery and that the command be offered to Dr. C. O. Fairbanks, of Petrolea, who is a graduate of the Royal Military School, and held a commission in the militia afterwards. It is felt that recruiting would be easier for such a body than for a regiment that might be mobilized at a distant point. The offer of Lambton County Medical Association of a field hospital unit has not been accepted as the British war office at the present time is not asking for such. In a letter, Gen. Hughes states that only doctors are being called for now.

New Waterworks Running.

The city of Sarnia is being supplied with water from the new waterworks at Point Edward, while repairs are being made to the pumping machinery at the old waterworks on the river front. The valves of the big pump at the old plant are being adjusted and other necessary repairs made. The new plant can only be operated about 10 hours at a time now, as the pumps remove all the water from the mains in that period.

Young Woman Sentenced.

Mrs. Nellie Williams, a young woman well known about Sarnia, was arrested on Monday by Officer Coulter while in a very drunken condition on the street. She was in such a state that she could not talk, but was much more sober this morning after a night in the cells. Yesterday she was out with some men and evidently took too much liquor. She was today sentenced to an indefinite term in the Mercer Reformatory, the same not to run less than six months, or over two years.

Imperial City Notes.

Christopher Jacobs, an Indian, who was drunk on Saturday, was today charged with being a vagrant. Sentence was suspende and the man was placed on the prohibited list.

Charles Lester was committed to jail for fourteen days for kicking an express cart belonging to a small boy and for hitting the lad on the head.

William Tancock, who was drunk on the 22nd while on the prohibited list, was fined $10 and costs, which he paid.

John Harold, who runs a local garage, was fined $2 and costs for driving his car by a street car that was discharging passengers. He paid.

Cabel Thompson, an Indian, who was drunk and created a disturbance in a local poolroom, was committed to jail for one month in default of paying a fine.

The finishing touches to the painting of the Noronic are now being put on. The boat presents a fine appearance.

A large crowd of Sarnians took in the Alexandra Orchestra dance at the pavilion at Lake Huron Park last night. The street cars were crowded to capacity and the dancing floor was filled at each number. The music was of the usual high standard.

Ald. Ireland Refutes That He Is Party to Clique.

SEWER CONTRACT GIVEN

Bylaw Passed for $50,000 Water Standpipe and Extra Pumps.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, May 25.—The tender for concrete tile for the $72,000 main sewer was awarded to Branna and Hollingsworth, of Hamilton, at a special meeting of the council tonight, after an amendment to have all tenders brought to the council had been defeated.

Owing to a misinterpretation of the bylaw at a previous meeting, the street watering tenders were again under discussion, a recommendation coming from the board of works, that they be awarded to W. H. Knight and J. MacKay for singles at 30 cents an hour, and to J. Haines and A. Ackersviller for doubles at 40 cents an hour.

The discussion of these tenders was heated and mixed with personalities. Some of the aldermen claimed unfairness in awarding the tenders. Alderman Down charged Ald. Ireland, chairman of the board of works, with being a party to a clique.

"You're a liar," retorted Ald. Ireland.

The report was eventually adopted after two amendments had been defeated.

A bylaw for $50,000 for a standpipe and auxiliary gasoline plant for water the commission finally passed and the bylaws for pavement and sewer in Avelon Park were read once.

The Oddfellows were granted free use of the city hall for the Grand Lodge meetings in August.

SITUATION IN HAND CLAIM RUSSIANS

Say German Attacks Have Now Lost Much of Impetus.

SOME VILLAGES TAKEN

Czar's Troops Begin Successful Advance Along Bank of Dneister.

[Canadian Press.]

Petrograd, May 26.—Although German activity continues in Central Galicia, on both sides of the San River between Jaroslau and Przemysl, the Russians assert they now have the situation well in hand. They state that the German drive from Cracow through Galicia, and also the parallel movement on the left side of the Vistula, which reached the Kielce and Radom districts, have lost their impetus, and that the Russians are now ready to take the initiative.

Pessimists' Views.

Less optimistic observers believe that the check of the German movement is due to the necessity of bringing fresh supplies of ammunition, after which their aggressive will resume its former intensity.

In the district between Przemysl and the Dniester marshes the Russians already have begun a successful advance, capturing a number of small villages on the left bank of the Dniester. On the right side of the river the struggle of the opposing forces still swings forward and backward without definite gain for either side.

Soon Retaken.

On Monday the Germans captured Russian trenches near Slonsko, following up an intense artillery fire with a bayonet charge. The Russian troops, however, recovered the trenches on the same day.

On the Dolina-Kolomea front there has been a violent and prolonged artillery duel, without change in the positions of either side.

The Russians estimate that more than 7,000 prisoners have been taken between the Vistula and the Dniester in the last three days.

BEHOLD, THE LITTLE BUSY BEE; HIS WORK IN MANY COUNTIES

Bee culture is becoming more and more a part of every agriculturist's business, and it will be of interest to apiary men in this part of the country to know that O. A. C., Guelph, will hold a beekeepers' field day at Strathroy, Adelaide Township, concession 3, lot 8, on Tuesday, June 1, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. A qualified apiary instructor sent by the Ontario department of agriculture will show how to examine hives for disease, and will actually put a colony through the treatment for cure. Other manipulations will then be shown, such as finding the queen, removing bees from supers, operating to prevent swarming, etc.

Prominent local beekeepers will be asked to take part and assist in the discussion of practical questions. These apiary demonstrations are being held all over Ontario, and it will be well worth while to attend one.

Ladies are especially invited, and all are advised to bring bee veils so they can come right out into the apiary with comfort.

The following table of points where bee culture is operative and the success this culture has attained should be of interest:

News of Men In Training For Great War

ALL OVERSEAS UNITS TO ENGAGE IN FIERCE ATTACK AND DEFENCE

Tomorrow and Friday Will See Camp Deserted, While Battalions Are Busy in Tactical Manoeuvres Along North Branch of the Thames, That Will Be Patterned on Active Service Conditions.

Carling's Heights camp will be deserted tomorrow and Friday, for every soldier of the overseas units now in training in this city, save the camp guards, will be engaged in tactical manoeuvres along the north branch of the river. Orders have been issued for this big "fight," and it will be carried out under actual active service conditions.

Fierce "fighting," both of attack and defence is expected. It is even more than expected—it is assured—and London will have a heavy "casualty" list to face this week.

Commanders in Charge.

The overseas forces have been divided into two armies, one of which will be commanded by Lieut.-Col. A. J. Oliver, commanding officer of the 34th Battalion, and the other by Lieut.-Col. A. Wilson, commander of the 33rd.

Lieut.-Col. Oliver's command will be designated "The White Force," and will consist of the special detached reinforcement companies of the 33rd and the 34th, with a half-squadron of the 7th C. M. R. and the Machine Gun section, Stretcher-bearers and Signallers of the 34th.

The "Brown" army under Lieut.-Col. Wilson will be composed of one squadron and a half of the 7th C. M. R. and the 33rd and 34th Battalions, less the special reinforcement detached companies. The Machine-Gun Section, Signallers and Stretcher-bearers will be supplied from the 33rd.

On Directing Staff.

Col. L. W. Shannon, officer commanding the division and camp commandant will be chief of the directing staff. On his staff will be Lieut.-Col. E. I. Leonard of the divisional cavalry.

Captain J. S. Taylor will be chief umpire. The other umpires will be—White force—Captain F. M. Spry and Captain J. I. Carling, both of the headquarters staff; brown force—Captain R. W. Bishop, Captain A. Rougvie and Captain E. M. McLean.

Captain J. H. McRae, adjutant of the 34th will be Lieut.-Col. Oliver's orderly officer, while Major W. H. Head will be his staff officer. Lieut. A. Johnson, assistant adjutant of the 33rd will be orderly officer to Lieut.-Col. Wilson and Captain C. E. McEwen will be staff officer.

Supervises Signalling.

Major J. T. Hennessy, divisional signal officer, has been detailed to supervise the signalling of both forces during the tactical manoeuvres.

General and special ideas with maps were issued to the officers of both forces at noon today.

The staff officers yesterday rode out over the ground over which the tactical manoeuvres are to be carried out.

GETTING IN NEW TRICKS IN BAYONET EXERCISES

34th Battalion Learns How to Give Foe the Butt of the Rifle If He Parries Cold Steel.

Under Regimental Sergt.-Major A. Caunt the 34th Battalion is fast picking up the new wrinkles in bayonet fighting that the present war has brought to the fore. Gone are the days of the old trust and stab alone. Experience in trench work has shown the futility of this alone, and the Canadian troops are now being taught the latest dodges to get the German goats.

Making Progress.

Yesterday R. S. M. Caunt had a squad out for the benefit of the staff officers who have never seen the new drill illustrated, and all expressed themselves as being well pleased with the progress the 34th has made.

As the sergeant-major explains it, the new exercises give the user a chance to bring the toe of his gun against the jaw of his opponent if the latter parries to the right. If he parries to the left it exposes the abdomen, and the butt judiciously and properly applied is guaranteed to make Mr. German hors de combat.

Steel Is Needed.

The steel, because of the number of hand-to-hand fights and charges that have resulted from the trench fighting, is one of the most important weapons that is now being used, and it is proposed to have the Canadians thoroughly drilled in the use of the bayonet. Experience has taught that the bayonet, until this war considered almost obsolete for European fighting, has once more come into its own, and the British are determined that the fame of the British bayonet charge is not going to die out in the present war and generation.

34TH SERGEANT-MAJORS ALL BRITISH VETERANS

Have Been In India, South Africa, Egypt and Elsewhere.

The 34th Battalion sergeant-majors, every one of them, are veterans of the British imperial service. All have seen active service throughout the Empire and have heard the sing and zip of bullets and shells in a good many out-of-the-way spots under the British flag.

Regimental Sergt.-Major A. Caunt is an ex-member of both the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the Leicesters. He has served in both India and Egypt and was stationed with his battalion in the latter country during the South African war. On the declaration of the present great European war he volunteered for service with his old regiment. The officer commanding the Leicester's depot, however, wrote to him to stay with the Canadians. He has been regimental sergeant-major of the 34th since its organization. His Canadian home is in Guelph, and he has been in this country for the past six years, coming to Canada when he took his discharge from the imperial army.

Company Sergt.-Major Eldred, of "A," has seen service in India and South Africa; Sergt.-Major Brown, of "B," has fought through Egyptian and South African campaigns; Sergt.-Major Polley, of "C," and Marsh, of "D," are both South African veterans.

BUY STAMPS FREELY

Soldiers Purchase $600 Worth in Nine Weeks From Field P. O.

Soldiers believe in freely patronizing the field postoffice of the Canadian Postal Corps now located on Carling's Heights under command of Lieut. F. D. Sharman. From the time the field postoffice was first opened at the old Queen's Park camp on March 6, until May 12, there were $600 worth of stamps purchased there. In addition some $2,000 had been spent in buying postal money orders, and more than 1,000 pieces of mail matter had been registered.

POLECATS TO SWEEP GAS-BLOWING GERMANS BACK TO THE RHINE!

At Least Ben Sutton Declares He Is Organizing a Regiment of the Striped Quadrupeds.

[By Our Own Benzonia Liar.]

Benzonia, Ont., May 26.—Ben Sutton is talking of going to Ottawa to present to the militia department a plan which he believes will make Canada unbeatable in war. Ben has been the champion war fan of Middlesex County, and he hasn't lost an argument excepting one down in the poolroom at Beulah, where he got tangled up and lost to Dave Buskirk. He has been studying the question of the use of gas bombs in warfare, and hit on a plan. He proposes to mobilize a battalion of polecats and turn them loose on the Germans, claiming nothing can stand in front of them. He already is starting to train a colonel and five captains to lead the force.

CARE FOR SOLDIERS

Nursing Division of Ambulance Association to Have Concert.

For the purpose of raising funds to carry on the work of caring for convalescent soldiers, the St. John Ambulance Association, nursing division, will hold a social evening at 8 o'clock tonight at the McClary Dining Hall, York street.

Music and games will be the program of the evening, and refreshments will be served.

The St. John Ambulance Association, with the Red Cross Society of this city, have established a convalescent home for wounded Canadian soldiers who are invalided home. The societies will care for the wounded soldiers, and funds with which to commence the work will be obtained from this evening's entertainment.

OFF FOR COURSE

33rd and 34th Officers Leave for Ottawa for Musketry Instruction.

The officers from the 33rd and 34th Battalions detailed to attend the special musketry course at Ottawa have already left the city and will report at the capital tomorrow. They were Major Rance, Adjutant and Captain Mercer and Captains Ashplant and Sloan of the 33rd and Lieut.-Col. Boughs, and Lieutenants Cullen, Rutherford and More of the 34th.

NOTES FROM THE MILITARY CAMP

The brass band of the 34th Battalion is using the big tent of the Y. M. C. A., at the easterly limit of the camp, for a practice room. Under Bandmaster Baldwin the bandsmen put in hard practices each day. The band is one of the features of the 34th, and is rounding into shape as an exceptionally fine aggregation of players. It will be only a short time before it has a rival, for the 33rd, it is expected, will be in the game with one before long.

With an eye to the business that 3,000 soldiers will bring a number of small booths have been opened on all streets leading to the camp grounds. Iced soft drinks, cigars, tobacco and refreshments of all kinds are consumed in large quantities, almost incredible quantities as a matter of fact, by the Canadian Tommy Atkins while off duty and the booth keepers are prepared for all kinds of rushes.

Provision for recreation and lecture rooms has been made at Carling's Heights and the mess tents along the northern side of the canvas city are available for this purpose.

The electrical department construction gangs, under Line Superintendent Charles Alford, finished the work of instaling lights and wiring for the camp grounds on Tuesday.

A big fatigue party was at work on Tuesday morning constructing a new waterworks main from the barracks' building to the tenting area, that will be used by the headquarters' staff.

It is expected that the new telephone equipment of the headquarters' staff will be in place by this evening.

The officer commanding the 7th C. M. R. has been instructed to detail a squad of military police, consisting of one N.-C. O. and four men, who will report to the acting provost of the camp for duty.

Company Orderly Sergeant W. J. Widdicombe, of the detached company of the 7th, has been promoted to company sergeant-major, vice Bandmaster Slatter, who has been made camp sergeant-major. Sergt. Root has been promoted to be orderly sergeant, vice Sergt. Widdicombe.

Lieut.-Col. Oliver, commanding officer of the 34th Battalion, returned to camp Tuesday, after having visited at his home in Guelph over the holiday.

Special panoramic views of the 33rd Battalion, taken under the authority of the Minister of Militia, were snapped yesterday. The battalion was paraded in full strength for the special photographs.

The detached companies of the 33rd and 34th, drafted for special service overseas, together with the Divisional Cavalry recruited from the 7th C. M. R., are putting in extra work at musketry and route marches in anticipation of an early departure.

Special orders, issued from the office of Col. Shannon, provide that all companies and detachments marching to the Cove ranges for special musketry work, must have rear and advance guards.

A provisional school of infantry for non-commissioned officers of the overseas units was opened at the barracks today. Orders have been sent to the officers commanding the 7th C. M. R. and the 33rd and 34th to detail two sergeants from each company and squadron to attend this course. Those detailed will be relieved of all work and duty that might interfere with the course.

Until such times as the horse lines are completed at Carling's Heights, the horses belonging to the infantry battalions are being quartered at Queen's Park. The grooms are also quartered in the same place.

The sheet metal building used as a field postoffice at Queen's Park has been moved to Carling's Heights. It will not be used for postal purposes, however, until the weather is cold again.

Six letter boxes are located about the camp grounds, and a mail collection is made by the postal corps three times daily—10:30 a.m., 3:30 p.m. and 6:45 p.m.

Lieut. Andy Johnston, assistant adjutant of the 33rd, and commander of the special rifle team from that battalion which carried off the prize for the competition on Victoria Day, presented his men with two boxes of cigarettes each. He has been congratulated on all sides for the splendid showing his team made. At the same time, the 34th is being also congratulated. The team of this battalion had only one hour's previous drill, and its backers pointed out that the men had the safety catches on their rifles for the inspection order, while the 33rd had not.

The big transport horse of the 34th, the only one that was brought by that battalion to London, died at the Queen's Park stables, and there is a genuine regret among the soldiers as a result. The animal would follow any of the men around like a dog, and was a great favorite. It is expected that the full complement of transport animals of both the 33rd and 34th will be picked out within a short time and handed over to the regiments.

A sleeping tent for Lieut. Sharman, officer commanding the postal corps, has been erected to the rear of the postoffice tent.

WILL BE HERE FRIDAY

New Field Ambulance Unit Will Report Here for Duty This Week.

The new Field Ambulance section, now being recruited in this district, will report here on Friday morning, and go into camp on Carling's Heights.

Major D. H. Hogg, head of the divisional medical department, announced today that the recruiting, which is being conducted by Capt. Irvine, of the 15th Field Ambulance, A. M. C., was progressing most favorably, and that the ranks were filling fast. The total strength of the unit will be 55 men.

PTES. WILLIAM AND ALBERT HEATHER, father and son, of the 33rd Battalion, both are old soldiers. The son was in the Royal West Kents, and is now attached to the special detached company of the 33rd Battalion. Both are anxious to get to the front, as they come of a fighting family. There are five of the family at the front now; one was killed, and one is home wounded. The son has been residing in London for eight or nine years, and is well known by the business people and residents in the East End. His wife and three children will be left in the city.

EYE GONE, TEETH ACHE, HAS ABSCESS, BUT HAPPY

PTE. CHARLES W. SMITH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, of Byron, has suffered greatly since Langemarck, but cheerily says it might have been worse.

PTE. SMITH SAFE MAY LOSE EYESIGHT

Plucky Spirit of Young Byron Man Shown in Card's Contents.

Mrs. Walter Smith, of Byron P. O., whose son, Pte. Charles William Smith, of the 1st Battalion, was reported killed in a recent letter from another soldier, has received the following on a postcard from a hospital at Nottingham, Eng.:

Dear Mother,—Just a few lines to let you know how I'm getting along. My left eye is nearly better now. That is where I was hit. I may lose the sight of it yet, but might have been a lot worse. I have been troubled with toothache and abscess in the throat. However, if I go on as I am now, I will soon be out. From your loving son,

CHARLES WILLIAM SMITH.

SERVES AS INSTRUCTOR

Sergt. Maurice Lee, who left here with the 18th Battalion, has been sent to military headquarters at Hythe, England, where he is taking an instructor's course in musketry, according to a letter received by a relative.

Sergt. Lee, while a member of the 7th Regiment, was one of the crack shots of that body. He made one trip to Bisley and drew some of the prize money. In other events he won a number of shields and trophies.

While the 18th was in training here Sergt. Lee acted as one of the musketry instructors.

RECRUITING POSTERS ARE MOST INGENIOUS

Displayed in England—Copies Come to London—Cleverly Worded.

Some very ingenious "recruiting" posters are being displayed in England, and two, issued by the 4th Battalion, "The Buffs," copies of which have been sent to London by Capt. Ed. Shuttleworth, who went to Shorncliffe with the 18th Battalion, are splendid examples of these.

The first, a large sheet, is headed: "The British Continental Tour," in big black capitals, and continues: "Sportsmen wishing to join must apply without delay in order to enable the officials to secure comfortable berths and hotels, there being a large excursion expected from Russia.

"The tour will be personally conducted by the 4th Battalion, 'The Buffs,' when competent officials will take the party to the various places of interest. A halt will be made to view the fireworks display given at Krupps'. Gentlemen joining are requested not to bring any personal articles, as the touring authorities have arranged to provide all suitable costumes, underclothing, boots, razors, money, kitbag, etc.

"The officials organizing this splendid outing are desirous of making it a great success and so have arranged to have with the "sports" a large number of ladies, who will be known by a Red Cross on the arm of the dress. These good ladies have volunteered in case anyone may be scratched in the hunting field.

"The tour will last some little time, and as the organizers are not quite certain of the date of return, they are giving an allowance to the wives and dependents of those who have joined, so as to save any worry to the trippers.

"A few weeks' exercise is necessary for those who have not been used to long country walks, and a little rifle practice is needed, as there will be a competition outside Berlin.

"The band of the 4th Battalion, 'The Buffs'" (Daniel's Band), will be in attendance to play selections if required. Motor cars are provided for those who may require a little rest.

Only those mentally efficient are invited. No one suffering with faint heart or duck's disease need apply.

For full particulars of the trip, apply to Corpl. Daniel Sherrin, 4th "Buffs," St. Peter's Lane, Canterbury."

The second poster is smaller, but is printed in very large, black type, which makes it very conspicuous. Its wording is:

"Most Important Notice—Gents in khaki are earnestly requested not to treat civilians to intoxicating beverages and mineral waters, as it may make them unfit to fulfill their duties when they join (?) the 4th Batt., 'The Buffs'."

SCORE ENLISTED IN BATTALIONS DURING WEEK

Recruiting Still Continues Brisk—Rivalry Between 33rd and 34th.

Recruiting is still going steadily ahead at the big camp on Carling's Heights. More than a score of men have been signed up and posted to various companies of the two battalions since Monday, and as many more are expected to report tomorrow.

There is a great friendly rivalry between the two battalions for recruits. If a 33rd man spots a would-be recruit, he takes him in tow and pilots him to the orderly tent, where he is turned over to Recruiting Officer Capt. Peacock. If, on the other hand, a 34th man "nails" one, he is hustled to the orderly room of that battalion and turned over to Assistant-Adjutant Lieut. Peat.

The class of men being taken on is good, and the majority are from this city.

Yesterday's list follows:

34th Battalion.

H. Griffith to "A" Co.
Charles Bell to "D" Co.
Victor Medland to "D" Co.
James C. Walker to "D" Co.
John W. Legg to "B" Co.
Samuel James Smith to "B" Co.
A. H. Kirk to "B" Co.
Joseph Daly to "B" Co.

33rd Battalion.

Sydney Stengislasa to "A."
John Ferguson to "C."
Francis Marks to "C."
Ian McLeod Lawrence to "C."
Robert Hembrough to "C."
Albert Hammond to "C."
William J. Westland to "C."
Clarence Alsop to "A."
Paul Sallifrance to "C."
Joseph Fox to "B."

Anglican Diocese of Huron Presents Handsome Copies to Officers and Men.

Handsomely-bound copies of the Anglican prayer book are being presented to all members of the Episcopalian Church in the 7th C. M. R., the Divisional Cavalry and the Detached Company of the 33rd Battalion. The books are leather-covered, and are each signed personally by Bishop Williams of the diocese.

Regimental Chaplain Capt. Peacock, of the 33rd, is in charge of the distribution, and will see that every Anglican of the 33rd and 34th receives a prayer book before leaving for the front.

SPAIN DISCUSSES WAR.

MADRID (via Paris), May 26—12:35 a.m.—The Cabinet met yesterday to consider the fresh phase of the international situation created by the entry of Italy into the war. Spain is especially interested in the situation, being a Mediterranean power. A number of measures were decided on by the Cabinet, which have not been made public. It is understood that one of these proposed by the Minister of War, would prohibit Spaniards of military age, residing in belligerent countries.

Heights Present Animated Sight

Trench Fighting, Skirmishing Order, First Aid, Signalling and Breaking In of Rookies, Gives Spectators Thrills.

To the spectator, who has secured a pass through the lines, Carling's Heights on a day like today presents a most animated and thrilling appearance. Without the firing of a shot, the onlooker gets some of the real thrills of warfare, and what it means.

Standing between the "lines" of the two infantry battalions now encamped there, and watching the men at work, a whole panoramic effect of war-time conditions strikes the vision.

Defending Trenches.

To the left, a company may be seen "defending" the trenches that have been dug to the east of the camp proper. Behind them is likely to be found a section of signallers going through the flag and semaphore manoeuvres. Possibly to the immediate foreground will be found a detachment of first-aid men, stretcher-bearers, who have one of their number on the ground and are proceeding to bind up and dress all kinds of wounds, fractures, bruises and injuries. Then away over to the skyline, along the brow of the hill that drops down to the C. P. R. tracks, will be seen a long thin line of skirmishers. To their right will be several companies going through platoon drill or physical exercises.

Putting the Rookies Through.

In the meantime, while the spectator is taking this all in, the inevitable squads of "rookies," some of whom are still in civilian clothes, will be marching up and down in front of him, learing the intricacies of "Form fours," "Stand at Ease," "Attention!" "Left form," "Right wheel," and so on.

To add to the diversity of the "picture," there is the galloping past of mounted field officers or grooms, while fatigue parties are marching here, there and everywhere on various tasks.

London Reservists Not Yet Summoned To Flag of Italy

Many Young Men Anxious to Return With Those Who Have Served—Think Germany May Keep Out of It.

Italians resident in London number among them about 100 reservists, and although none of these has received word from the home land to return and take the field against Austria this word may come. When it does all will be ready to respond, if the words of those interviewed this morning form a true criterion of their feelings. These reservists are not all army men. Many served before the mast and all are just as ready to go back to Italy and take part in the conflict as are those already in arms.

Italians are loyal to their country, and one and all express highest satisfaction that the arch enemy, Austria, is about to be humbled into the dust. The feeling against Germany is not nearly as deep-seated and intense as is the hatred of the Kaiser's chief ally.

His Goose Is Cooked.

The feeling seems to be general that Italy did his utmost to prevent a break between Italy and Austria-Hungary, and when he learned that a state of war had been proclaimed in the two countries, according to an Italian paper received in London, he wept. As the Italian, who showed this paper said: "He knows for sure now that his goose is cooked."

Many Italians here are of the firm conviction that Germany will not declare war against their country. They consider it significant that no declaration of war has been forthcoming yet from German quarters, and take this fact to mean that the Kaiser, knowing his chances for ultimate victory now are absolutely nil anyway, will not further jeopardize whatever plans he has in mind by warring on Italy. This is all mere conjecture, however, and has no foundation in real fact.

Many Keen to Go.

The younger Italians in London are as keen to go to the front as are their more elderly compatriots. Should the reservists be called to the colors, in all probability many more would return with them. The Ottawa Government has placed every facility for quick transportation to Italy at the disposal of any who wish to return. The Italian consul-general in Montreal is in constant touch with the authorities at Rome, and the moment more men are needed he will acquaint these with this fact. This much has been received in London, but northing further so far.

A.M.C. MEN HAVE HOT WORK WHILE PROVIDING SHELLS

Pte. A. H. Collings Tells of "Coal Box" Bursting in Midst.

That the Germans now have only old men and boys in the field is the statement made by Pte. Ambrose H. Collings, in France with the Army Service Corps, in the course of a letter to his wife, who lives at 172 Hyman street. He says several thousands of them were taken prisoners, and these were all either youngsters or men well past the prime of life.

Saw Canadians in Action.

Pte. Collings was an eyewitness of one of the engagements in which the Canadians took part, and, although he does not go into details, he says they displayed splendid pluck and courage.

The writer of the letter describes graphically the dangerous duties of the A. M. C. men engaged in supplying ammunition to the batteries. While the section was waiting to load up with shells for the guns on one occasion, he says, a "coal box" exploded right in its midst, but fortunately did no damage beyond smashing a limber wagon. A move was made to another field, but the Germans soon got the range again, and presently this location also became untenable.

Shelled From Trenches.

On another occasion, while the section was proceeding to the firing line with ammunition they were shelled from the German trenches, but although the shrapnel fell on either side of the road, no one was struck.

SERVIA HAS LOST MOST OF HER LEADING MEN

Officers Killed Nearly All Professional Men of Ability.

By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.

Headquarters of General Staff of Servian Army, Kragayevats, Servia, April 24—(By Mail to New York).—Less than 500 of the full complement of men who officered Servia's little army of 300,000 last August have escaped death or wounds in battle. These figures were given me today by the chief of the intelligence department of the Servian army.

But great as is this numerical loss, it is comparatively slight when the future of Servia is considered. The officers wiped out in battle were the school teachers, the college professors, the lawyers, the doctors, the architects, the engineers, the successful businessmen and the leaders in all walks of life. Servia cannot replace them in another generation.

The great bulk of the first and second-line troops of the Servian army consist almost exclusively of peasants, fine fighting men, but uneducated and lacking the ability to lead. To officer this army Servia called upon practically every man of marked ability in the kingdom last August.

The ranks of the army have been filled since the battles of last fall, but Servia has not yet solved the problem of how her schools are going to reopen and her business life resume when peace comes.

SIMCOE OFFICER IS BANQUETTED BY FRIENDS

SIMCOE, May 25.—Capt. R. Simpson, of the 39th Norfolk Rifles, who will leave shortly for overseas service with the Canadian Army Service Corps, of the second contingent, was tendered a banquet here tonight by the officers of the regiment. Speaking in the interests of agriculture, Prof. McCready, of the O. A. C., at Guelph, addressed a mass meeting here to night. His talk was of particular interest to school children, as he dealt with the school garden and its advantages.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SEAFORTH, May 25.—A sad accident occurred here this afternoon, in which the young son of Charles Finkbeiner lost his life.

It appears he was "bird nesting" in a tree that overhung the cement pavement in the old Coleman orchard, Goderich street east, and, losing his balance, fell to the pavement below, landing on his head.

The boy only lived an hour after the accident.

He was 11 years of age.

DISEASE IS DUE TO BAD BLOOD

To Cure Common Ailments the Blood Must Be Made Rich and Red.

Nearly all the diseases that afflict humanity are caused by bad blood—weak, watery blood poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, lumbago and rheumatism; debility and indigestion, neuralgia and other nerve troubles, and disfiguring skin diseases like eczema and salt rheum show how impure the blood actually is. No use trying a different remedy for each disease, because they all spring from the one cause—bad blood. To cure any of these troubles you must get right down to the root of the trouble in the blood, and that is just what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. They make new, rich blood and thus cure these diseases when common medicine fails. Mrs. John Jackson, Woodstock, Ont., suffered from both nervous troubles and a rundown condition and experienced a complete cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I was a sufferer for a number of years from neuralgia, and a general debility of the nerves and system. I had tried several doctors and many medicines, but to no avail until I began Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At the time I began the Pills I had grown so bad that I could hardly be on my feet and was forced to wear elastic bandages about the ankles. The pain I suffered at times from the neuralgia was terrible. I had almost given up hope when I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the course of a few weeks I felt an improvement, and I gladly continued the use of the Pills until I was once more quite well and able to attend to all my household duties."

If you are ailing begin to cure yourself today with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Girls—If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. A9-M26

Ruinous Curling Iron No Longer Necessary

The woman whose hair has been burnt dreads the hot curling-iron. She knows only too well how destructive to the life and beauty of the hair this instrument of torture is. She will therefore welcome the information that a simple product to be found at any drug store will not only give her tresses the desired wavy effect, but without burning, discoloring, streaking or injuring hair or scalp in any way. It is nothing more than plain slimerine in liquid form. It should be applied to the hair with a clean toothbrush, preferably at night.

A convenient way is to divide the hair into strands and moisten these one at a time from root to tip. In the morning the hair will be found beautifully wavy and curly, having the appearance of perfect naturalness, no matter how the hair is done up. As the effect lasts many days, one need not get more than a few ounces of the liquid slimerine. This, by the way, is neither greasy nor sticky.

How You Can Make Hairs Quickly Disappear

(Helps to Beauty.)

Even a stubborn growth of hair will quickly vanish from the face, neck or arms after a single treatment with delatone. To remove the hairs, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be left free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be quite certain you get real delatone.—advt. M26

Aunt Sally's Advice To Beauty Seekers

Lydia says: "I've tried most everything for my freckles, but can't lose them. What do you suggest?" See answer to "Stella." The treatment suggested I've never known to fail in any case of freckles or other cutaneous blemish.

P. J. K. asks: "Is there anything better than massage to remove wrinkles?" Too much massaging may aggravate a wrinkled condition, tending to soften and loosen the tissue. I advise bathing the face in an astringent lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.

Stella writes: "My complexion is horribly muddy. What shall I do for it?" Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's. Apply this nightly like you'd use cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will cause the offensive cuticle gradually to make way, by a process of gentle absorption, for the clear, velvety healthy-hued skin underneath.—Woman's Realm.

BALFOUR IS NEW LORD OF ADMIRALTY

Churchill Becomes Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

LLOYD GEORGE CHANGED

Has Temporarily Taken Over Duties of Minister of Munitions.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, May 25.—9:14 p.m.—Lord Kitchener retains the post of Secretary for War in the coalition cabinet which has received the approval of King George. The new first lord of the admiralty will be Arthur J. Balfour, Winston Spencer Churchill, former head of the admiralty, is given the portfolio of chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Herbert H. Asquith retains the premiership, and Sir Edward Grey the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer in the old cabinet, will be minister of munitions in the new one.

Official Announcement.

The official announcement on the new Cabinet says:

"A place in the Cabinet was offered to Mr. John Redmond (the Irish Nationalist leader), but he did not see his way clear to accept it.

"The Prime Minister has decided that a new department shall be created, to be called the ministry of munitions, charged with organizing the supply of munitions of war. Mr. Lloyd George has undertaken the formation and temporary direction of this department, and during his tenure of office as minister of munitions, will vacate the office of chancellor of the exchequer.

"It is understood that Mr. Henderson will assist the Government in matters relating to labor questions, especially those arising out of the war.

"The King has been pleased to confer upon Viscount Haldane of Cloan (the retiring lord high chancellor) the Order of Merit."

The British public will not know the composition of the new cabinet until they read the papers tomorrow morning. The announcement was given to the press tonight with the stipulation that it should not be made public until the morning papers were issued.

Thirteen Remain.

The Cabinet is composed of twelve Liberals, eight Conservatives, one Laborite, Arthur Henderson, and one non-partisan, Earl Kitchener. Thirteen members of of the old Cabinet remain in office. Of these, Mr. Asquith, Sir Edward Grey, Earl Kitchener, Mr. Runciman, Mr. Birrell and Mr. Wood, retain their old portfolios.

The promotion of Sir Stanley Buckmaster, whose greatest activities during the war have had to do with the management of the official press bureau, to the high honor of lord chancellor, and the acceptance by Winston Spencer Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty, of the merely nominal duties of the Duchy of Lancaster, are two distinct surprises.

The most prominent figure who retires from public life is Viscount Haldane. His affiliations with Germany, and the continued newspaper attacks, based on these, made his retirement as inevitable as Prince Henry of Battenberg's retirement some time ago from the admiralty for the same reason. Viscount Haldane received an expression of the Government's confidence by the bestowal of the Order of Merit upon him.

Relief for Kitchener.

The retention of Lord Kitchener as head of the army, while David Lloyd George, with the newly-created portfolio of the ministry of munitions, relieves him of the responsibility of managing the supply department, and also A. J. Balfour's acceptance of the admiralty post, were fully expected.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, whose health forbids hard work, becomes a member of the cabinet without duties, except participation in its councils, and Mr. Churchill's position is virtually the same. His willingness to accept a subordinate position and work for the success of the new Government, is likely to make him popular with the country and aid his future political career.

To Rally Workingmen.

Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Henderson will be especially charged with the task of rallying the workingmen to the Government's support, and much is expected of the former chancellor in organizing the country's industries.

Sir Edward Carson represents the Ulster faction of Ireland, and there is regret that Mr. Redmond declined to enter the cabinet and make the representation embrace all political parties.

The cabinet undoubtedly includes the strongest men in public life; whether they will prove correspondingly strong as a working body is a question, the answer to which the country will anxiously await.

IRISH PARTY BACKS REDMOND.

DUBLIN, May 25. — 11:17 p.m. — The Irish party at a meeting today unanimously adopted a resolution approving John Redmond's action in declining a seat in the new cabinet. The party issued a statement declaring that "the events of last week have created a situation demanding the serious and careful consideration of the Irish people."

Reciting Premier Asquith's assurance that the coalition would not involve the surrender by any person of his political purposes or ideals, the statement continues: "We accept that declaration, and so long as the pledge is honorably and strictly observed, we shall be ready to give to the new Government, in carrying on the war, the same hearty co-operation as has been given by the party to the last Government."

"This war, as the world has repeatedly been assured by British statesmen, is being waged for the strict and honorable maintenance of treaties and for the right of small nations to freedom and the unhampered development of their national life. These principles are very dear to Irishmen and of incalculable value to the future of the Irish race. But, while we feel confident that these principles will be remembered and acted upon in any future transactions between the British and Irish nations, and while we accept this pledge of the Prime Minister, we feel that this is the hour when it is incumbent upon us to remind the Irish people that the great achievements of this party and the movement from which it sprang, have been won by reliance upon themselves, and by independent action in Parliament, and we are strongly of the opinion that the chairman acted wisely in declining, even in the extraordinary and unlooked-for circumstances of the present hour, to depart in the least degree from the policy on which the great success of this party has been built, and that the old policy should be strictly adhered to until an Irish government is in actual control of every inch of Irish soil."

The statement says that the great lesson of the events of the last week for the Irish people is the necessity of thorough organization and appeals to the local leaders to reorganize the Irish League in every parish where it is inactive.

CANADA WILL HELP ITALIAN RESERVISTS TO REACH HOMELAND

Military Department To Arrange for Transportation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, May 25. — "We shall look after the transportation of the Italian reservists to Italy as soon as we get advices from the Government at Rome," said Gen. Hughes tonight on his return from the Maritime Provinces. "We shall look after them and facilitate their passage to Italy in the same way as we have assisted Russian reservists to get to Russia and French reservists to get to France," he added.

Go Direct to Italy.

Gen. Hughes was asked if there would be any necessity for mobilizing the Canadian Italian reservists before their departure, but he did not think this would be necessary. He indicated that they would go direct to Italy.

His estimate of the number of Italians of fighting age in Canada who would probably go back to take part in the war was 30,000. It had been stated that there are about 5,000 reservists in this country, but Gen. Hughes considers this far below the mark.

ITALY'S MOVE WILL TONE DOWN GERMANY'S REPLY

LONDON, May 25.—The following dispatch was received today by the Exchange Telegraph Company from Amsterdam:

"The German Government has asked America for further delay of a week in its reply to the note concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. In all probability the note will be delivered at Washington on Saturday.

"It is stated in Berlin that the note was couched in very friendly terms. On account of the recent Italian complications the feeling in Berlin regarding the United States is much more calm. Everything possible will be done to avert trouble. German submarines are to be instructed in accordance with this policy, although the note will explain that on principle Germany cannot openly stop submarine warfare."

Austria Says Italians Have Lost Warship

Also Admits That Their Destroyer Czeplh Was Damaged.

VIENNA, May 25.—(Via Amsterdam to London.)—An official communication issued by the war office tonight said:

"In the southwest, on the Tyrolean and Carinthian frontiers, at some points small detachments of Italian Alpine troops crossed the frontier, but retreated when fired at by our posts."

Another official communication says:

"The cruiser Helgoland and three torpedo boat destroyers encountered two Italian torpedo boat destroyers near Barletta, one of which escaped, but the other of which was struck by a shell and compelled to surrender in a sinking condition.

"Our destroyers rescued 35 of the crew of the Italian boat, including its commander, but the work of rescue was hindered by the approach of two Italian battleships, which fired from a range of 9,000 metres (about 10,000 yards). In the ensuing skirmish our destroyer Czepl was slightly damaged, but the Helgoland and the other destroyers returned the enemy's fire with apparent success, and then retired out of range."

GERMANY SPECULATES AS TO THE BALKANS

LONDON, May 26.—1:55 a.m.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Copenhagen says:

"The Berlin newspapers assert that Bulgaria and Greece have declared that their policy of neutrality will not be changed as a result of Italy joining in the war.

"The German newspapers are speculating on what Italy will do. Some of them expect that she will send forty thousand men to the Dardanelles and reserve her fleet for action against Austria. Others of the papers think that Italian troops may be sent to Montenegro to strengthen the Dalmatian front and assist in the capture of Cattaro."

TO INTERN FOREIGNERS END LABOR TROUBLE

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 25.—Internment of alien enemies on a wholesale scale was commenced today in the coal mining district of Vancouver Island.

Military officials reported at Nanaimo this morning from Victoria and before noon one hundred and fifteen Austrians and Germans working in South Field, Cumberland and Nanaimo mines were taken out and placed on a special train bound for the internment camp.

In taking this action the authorities frankly admit that they are solving the labor problem as well as placing Austrians and Germans, where they will be out of harm's way. Alien enemies were taken into the mines a year ago as strike breakers, when the coal fields were tied up by the Western Federation strike.

Since then had been no room for the former workmen, but the latter are now to resume their own jobs as rapidly as the military authorities take away the aliens. There are several hundred still employed and these are to be interned as rapidly as room can be made for them.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM TO BE ATTACKING

Russians and Germans Issue Contrary Reports on Eastern Situation.

MUCH ACTIVITY SHOWN

Whatever Be Result Heavy Heavy and Determined Fighting Is Indicated.

BERLIN, May 25.—Via London, 5:35 p.m.—Gen. Mackenzen has renewed his offensive against the Russians north of Przemysl, and yesterday he captured 21,000 prisoners, according to the official statement given out in Berlin today by the German War Office.

The text of the announcement follows:

"On the Dubysa River, east of Roscynic, our troops attacked strong Russion forces. We defeated them and drove them back across the river with very considerable losses. Prisoners to the number of 2,240 and five machine guns were captured. Further to the south several Russian attacks, some of them at times very fierce, coming from the direction of Ejargola, resulted in failure. Our opponents suffered heavily in these encounters.

"Southeastern arena:

"The army under Gen. Von Mackenzen resumed the offensive yesterday to the north of Przemysl. The attack ended in entire success. The strongly fortified villages of Drohogowa, Ostrow, Radymno, Wysocks, Weitlin, Makowisko and the hills northeast of Dobroska and east of Celua were taken by storm. So far 153 officers and more than 21,000 men have fallen into our hands as prisoners of war, while 39 cannon, including nine heavy guns, and at least forty machine guns have been captured by the Teutonic allies. The Russians suffered extraordinarily heavy losses."

AUSTRIAN REPORT.

VIENNA, May 25.—Via Amsterdam to London, May 26.—2:30 a.m.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"In middle Galicia the allied armies have attacked strong Russian forces along the entire front from Sieniawa to the upper Dniester. Gen. Von Mackenzen's army, including the 6th Austro-Hungarian Army Corps, has occupied Radymno and advanced east and southeast of that town towards the San River.

"The enemy, who attempted to regain the lost ground, was everywhere repulsed, losing some 21,000 prisoners, 39 cannon and more than forty machine guns.

"The armies of Gen. Puhaklo and Boehmermoli are advancing southeast of Przemysl and are gaining ground after an obstinate resistance."

PETROGRAD, May 25.—(Via London, May 26.—3:45 a.m.)—The following official statement was issued by general headquarters tonight:

"On the whole Dubysa front, from the village of Double to the village of Veleny, on the Niemen, sharp fighting occurred on the 23rd and 24th and is not yet ended.

"On the left bank of the Upper Vistula, in the Opataw region, the fighting continues, the enemy having received reinforcements. But his attempts to take the offensive have been repulsed successfully, and our counter-attacks have caused him heavy losses.

"In Galicia, on the Jaroslau-Przemysl front, desperate fighting was resumed Monday morning on both banks of the San. Heavy forces of the enemy delivered repeated attacks on the front embracing Gousskow and Krukenika, but they were scattered by our artillery fire. Near the village of Burthitze we took more than 1,000 prisoners, including 20 officers, as well as many machine guns and searchlights.

"On the remainder of the front there has been a lull. In the valley of the Tysonenitze and south of Stry there have been isolated engagements."

3,000 TURKS KILLED IN TWO DAYS' FIGHTING

Hostilities Suspended To Allow of Burial —Allies Made Progress.

LONDON, May 25. — 7:25 p.m. — Recent operations at the Dardanelles are described in an official statement given out here tonight. The statement says:

"The following information has been received from the general officer commanding the Mediterranean expeditionary force:

"On May 21 the first French division made considerable progress and are now close to the Turkish trenches.

"On the 22nd the enemy made a determined attack against the left of the Indian brigade at 3 p.m. They gained a temporary footing, but a strong counter-attack, at once organized, drove the Turks back with the loss of over 500 men. A number of prisoners were taken.

"On the 23rd of May the Turks asked for and an agreement was signed for a suspension of hostilities opposite the Australian and New Zealand army corps, to enable them to bury the large number of Turkish dead lying close to our trenches. Over 3,000 Turks were buried, all killed between May 18 and May 20. It was a quiet day in the southern arena on May 24. The French in conjunction with the British naval division made a considerable advance during the night, with slight loss. The territorial division was also pushed forward and our new wline consolidated."

GERMAN SPIES WERE BUSY IN ITALY, TOO

ITALIAN FRONTIER (via Chiasso, to Paris), May 25.—11:10 p.m.—Facts are coming to light regarding the extent of the German espionage system in Italy. A striking example of this has just been revealed at Milan. Rudolph Herod, a native of Berlin, had been for three years a dentist assistant at Milan. He was a poor dentist, but an excellent Alpinist, and made constant excursions into the mountains along the Italian frontier. He was recalled to Germany to do military service, and was wounded.

When war between Austria and Italy became probable, he wrote from a hospital to a friend, asking that documents left in his lodgings be forwarded to him immediately. They were examined by the authorities and were found to include plans and photographs of Italian fortifications, barracks, railways and roads, and also a letter to a German, who it is presumed employed him, for that purpose, describing where he could find documents buried near the frontier, as well as a list of the sums received in payment for information forwarded to Germany.

POISONOUS GASES USED VERY FREELY

Germans' Asphyxiating Clouds Extend Over Five Mile Front.

ENEMY LOSE GROUND

Strongly Fortified Positions Are Taken by the Allies.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, May 25.—9:45.—A report received from Field Marshal Sir John French under date of May 25, says:

"Some portions of our line east of Ypres, which were lost yesterday during the enemy's gas attack, have not yet been recovered. The amount of gas used was greater than on any previous occasion—over a front of five miles.

"The gas was emitted from cylinders throughout a period of four and a half hours, and at the same time our line was bombarded with asphyxiating gas shells. The gas cloud rose in places forty feet high from the ground.

"Portions of the line remained intact throughout the ordeal, and our men have demonstrated that with due precautions this form of attack can be met and defeated."

GERMAN TRENCHES CAPTURED.

PARIS, May 25.—10:35 p.m.—The following communication issued by the war office tonight announces that important progress has been made by the Allies to the north of Arras and that one of the large German trenches in the neighborhood of Souchez, for the possession of which fighting has been going on for more than two weeks has been captured. The text of the communication is as follows:

"To the north of Arras our attacks today have resulted in important progress. To the northwest of Angres, south of LaBassee, in front of Fosse Calonne we carried the salient of a large enemy work, called Cornailles. In the same region our troops took by assault another German work, which was very strongly fortified.

"More to the south, to the east of the road from Aix-Noulette to Souchez, we captured on a front of one kilometer (two-thirds of a mile) the whole of a great trench, where the enemy had been resisting for fifteen days.

"To the west of the same road we have made very appreciable progress in the ravine of the Pond De Buval, our access to which the artillery of the enemy posted at Angres and the defensive organization, which was particularly strong, had prevented until now.

"We have gained some ground to the west of Souchez near the Chateau Carlel.

"On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

CANADIANS SUCCEED WHERE GUARDS FAILED

Capture Entrenched Positions North of Ypres—16th in the Lead.

[Canadian Press.]

OTTAWA, May 25.—Major-General Hughes, minister of militia, has received a cable dispatch describing the splendid part played by the Canadian division in driving a strong German force from their entrenched positions in a wood to the north of Ypres on Thursday and Friday last. The message states that "two previous attempts by the British Guards Brigade failed, but the position was so important as to warrant another attempt, which was made successfully by the Canadians."

"The 16th Battalion (Western Canadian Highlanders) showed the way," states the message, "and their success was confirmed by the 13th Battalion (Royal Highlanders of Montreal), who took over and consolidated the position won. They were ably supported by the 14th Battalion (Royal Montreal Regiment)."

AUSTRIANS CAUGHT, BELIEVED PLANNING TO DESTROY BRIDGE

OTTAWA, May 25.—Ten Austrians were rounded up at Smith's Falls last night by the local military authorities and it is believed a plot to blow up the C. N. R. bridge there was frustrated by the arrests.

One of the officers of the 42nd Regiment became suspicious of a recruit who had enlisted as a Russian Pole, but who it develops is an Austrian. This man's movements were shadowed last night, and when he went to a boathouse near the bridge a squad of soldiers were called out. The place was surrounded and the gang found in session. They were taken into custody and marched under fixed bayonets to the town hall, where they were locked up. A quantity of dynamite was found in the boathouse. It is believed the men expected several trainloads of troops en route to Kingston to pass over the bridge this morning.

NERLICH'S LAWYER CALLS IT TREASON, IF ANYTHING

TORONTO, May 25.—The stated case secured by Emil Nerlich after his conviction on a charge of conspiracy in connection with an alleged attempt to send a former German officer back to Germany was argued today before the appellate division at Osgoode Hall. It was contended for Emil Nerlich that if he had done anything that could be construed as a crime, in assisting Arthur Zirzow, a German army officer, his crime was treason and not conspiracy of which he was found guilty. Eleven questions were submitted for the opinion of the court by Sir William Mulock, the trial judge.

Mr. Hellmuth, for Mr. Nerlich, argued that it was not treason to conspire with some one to assist the enemy.

Chief Justice Meredith: "I suppose you are saving your strongest point to the last, that there could be no conspiracy between A and B to incite B?"

Mr. Hellmuth: "Yes, my lord."

The case was not concluded.

GERMAN AIRMEN FLEE FROM FRENCH CRAFT

PARIS, May 25.—10:45 p.m.—An official note issued here tonight gives the details of how six French aeroplanes defended Paris from a raid by two German air craft. The statement says:

"Two German machines were signalled at various points by cannonading. This warned the Paris aero guard that enemy machines had broken through the frontier patrol, and as soon as the machines appeared French air craft gave chase. When the enemy saw the city so well protected they turned tail and escaped over the frontier."

IT STOPS THE TWINGES OF RHEUMATISM, LIMBERS THE MUSCLES, EASES THE JOINTS

Amazing Relief Comes at Once —Cure Every Time.

USE NERVILINE

Aching joints and sore muscles are common in rheumatic people. In flammation is deep in the tissues. You might use a dozen remedies and derive less relief than Nerviline will give you in half an hour.

Nerviline is a pain-subduer that words do not altogether describe.

It is fully five times stronger than most remedies, not that it affects the skin unfavorably—no, its great power is due to its wonderful penetrative quality—it strikes in deeply, but never burns or blisters.

Just rub Nerviline into sore muscles, stiff joints, and note the glow of comfort, the ease of pain that follows.

You are astonished, delighted; this is because words do not express the promptness and permanency with which Nerviline cures every ache and pain in the muscles and joints.

Marvellous, you'll say. Natural, we say, because Nerviline is different, stronger, more penetrating, a true pain-subduer. Just try it and see if it doesn't cure rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, strains and sprains.

The large, 50-cent, family-size bottle is far more economical than the 25-cent, trial size. Get it today. Sold by dealers everywhere, or direct from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

CREATES STRENGTH

FOR FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Aged Brooklyn Woman Finds Health in Vinol

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I was in a run-down, weakened condition caused by old age and the loss of my daughter. I had no ambition, strength or appetite, and it was hard for me to attend to my household duties. I tried different medicines without benefit. My son bought a bottle of Vinol and asked me to try it, and in a week I noticed an improvement. I continued its use, my appetite returned and I regained my strength so I am now able to do all my household duties although I am advanced in years."—Mrs. JOHN WERNIGER, 293 Hawthorne St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

It is the tissue building, curative elements of the cods' livers, aided by the blood making, strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol, that makes it so successful in building up strength for old people, delicate children and for all run-down conditions.

STRENGTH IN UNION.

KITCHENER and Lloyd George remain to look after the army. Churchill and Fisher both relinquish their influence in the navy. Balfour steps into the breach left in the navy. Grey and Asquith and Reginald McKenna are to shoulder the other great burdens.

It must have been a tremendous task that Kitchener has been handling as his day's work, when it is necessary to divide the office between himself and Lloyd George, the other great organizer for war of the empire.

Balfour will be looked upon as an executive head of the navy and will choose his chief fighting men from among the numerous capable admirals of the fleet.

The coalition as announced last night reveals Britain's united strength. In the Government that will conduct affairs until the end of the war are to be found representatives from all the diverse political elements of the mother country. This drawing of the best talent from all parties is an example that might well be emulated in all parts of the empire. In union there is strength.

THE GERMAN CROWD.

THE German general called the British army a uniformed crowd, and it may be retorted that the queer opinions, falsehoods and mad-dog acts which have distinguished Germany since last summer are to be explained only by "crowd psychology." Probably as individuals the Germans are about as sane as usual with them, but as members of a crowd whipped along by the lash and lies of the Junker they are lunatic.

An authority on matters psychological says:

"A crowd, for the purposes of psychological investigation, is not merely a number of people, but a number of people acted upon by some common interest, real or fancied. The crowd's thought, feeling or action is not the more average of the thoughts, feelings and actions of the individuals composing it. A crowd does not, in other words, represent the average man, the man, in the street, but is an entity in itself. Men in a crowd cease to be individuals, their self-identity is non-existent for the time being, and they act en masse. Suggestion is the chief factor in depriving men in crowds of their individuality and the responsibility which goes with it and sets free sympathies and hatreds which operate with a strange power."

Germany is not only a crowd in uniform but a crowd gone mad. Like the extreme militants who burned churches and hacked paintings to pieces a year ago in England, the German nation is crazy; though individually, on ordinary topics the Haeckels and Ballins may still tell the truth and shame the devil, as a crowd they are possessed with devils and insult heaven.

WILL SIR ROBERT ANSWER?

IN HIS notable speech before the Liberal Club Federation of Ontario at Toronto Friday evening last Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Liberal Opposition, issued a challenge to Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada.

This throwing down of the gauntlet by the Liberal chieftain was not a defiance nor was it a call to war. It was a challenge for peace. It meant that during the term of the present war against German savagery Sir Wilfrid Laurier renounced all claim to office for the Liberal party. It meant that the Government should conduct its war policies without the dread of being forced to the country. It meant that for a term of one or two or four or more years Sir Wilfrid Laurier was content to remain in an Opposition that has been given no voice in the affairs of the country during a war crisis in spite of the fact that in the great issue of the war there was no politics and that the Liberal party represents almost half of the people, according to the records of the last election, and certainly no fewer at the present time.

So far Sir Robert Borden has made no reply to the Liberal leader's magnanimous offer. The Premier has not had time to agree to this direct war-time pledge. But he has had time to give an anxious country word as to whether or not there will be an election while the war lasts.

Liberals do not ask that Sir Robert Borden open the portals of his cabinet chamber and admit the able members of the Opposition by forming a coalition cabinet as the Motherland has done. Liberals only volunteer with the voice of their chieftain to give of their best service to the country, whether in the fields of France or at home.

The Advertiser believes that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was never so noble a figure as when he stood before the Canadian people, and though he may have renounced for all time the chance to again become premier of Canada we cannot forget that his years are as great as his honor, and cannot remember without pausing to pray that he may long be spared), he removed Canada from beneath the cloud of a political conflict so far as it was possible for him to do so.

These words we print below are ringing in the ears of Sir Robert Borden. Has Canada two great statesmen at the head of her political parties? Let the Premier give to his people an answer, for Laurier has spoken and said for all to hear:

"But I have this to say to the Prime Minister and all his colleagues: I do not care for an election. Let the Prime Minister and his colleagues say that there shall be no election as long as the war shall go on, and I will pledge myself and the party that we shall stop all preparations and think of nothing but the war."

Canada is waiting to hear your answer to this challenge to a united battlefront for Canadians, Sir Robert Borden.

D'ANNUNZIO "COMES BACK."

GABRIELLE D'ANNUNZIO, Italy's foremost dramatist, novelist and poet of passion, he of the lurid socks and purple fancies, has "come back." This is an achievement as there are few of them that return. To be sure there is the Grand Duke Nicholas, and Mr. Roosevelt appears to be once more headed for the White House, but their's are the notable exceptions that prove the rule in this instance. So D'Annunzio when he rode into popularity again on the crest of the war excitement won for himself laurels as a "come-backer".

A decade ago Italy was wild over D'Annunzio and his hectic verse, plays, books and orations and the reading world outside Italy clamored for his works. It went to Gabrielle's head, particularly the praise that was showered upon his novel "The Triumph of Death" and its dramatization. It spoiled him although he had reached an age when man is supposed to be immune to that sort of thing. He became an insufferable egoist, vain as a peacock and like that bird strutted up and down the land for the benefit of an admiring public. Always foppish he went to exaggerations in his attire and his thousand pairs of socks of blazing hues and his multitudinous suits of crazy patterns became one of the wonders of Italy. Then came his break with Duse, the world's greatest actress, beloved of all Italians, whose heart and confidence he had won only to cast aside, and sentiment turning against him he became a voluntary exile making Paris his home. There his glory faded still further until unable to bear any longer the lack of adulation on which he thrives he publicly announced his intention of committing suicide, promising that the method used would be so startingly original as to jar an unappreciative world into amazed attention. Then came the crisis with Austria and D'Annunzio at once hurried home, where with a blazing eloquence he demanded war and presently was once more being acclaimed from end to end of Italy. D'Annunzio has "come back".

GOOD CROP OUTLOOK.

AGRICULTURALLY, this promises to be a fat year for Ontario, according to Government expert reports. This is well, as an abundance of foodstuffs will tend to prevent war prices at home, while the market abroad for the farmer will continue to give him unusually good returns.

From information furnished the Agricultural Department up to May 15th by correspondents from all sections of the province, we learn that fall wheat, clover, alfalfa have come through the winter and spring in good shape. Of fall wheat there has been a largely increased acreage, and if the weather remains favorable, promises a good yield. Very few patchy fields have been reported, and but few signs of those destructive agents, the wireworm, cut-worm and Hessian fly.

Of clover, there has been a remarkably heavy growth, the reports regarding this crop being the most cheerful in years. Alfalfa, too, has wintered well, and is in fair condition. Vegetation generally has come ahead weeks earlier than usual, because of the April warm spell. While the cold spell that followed this retarded growth it did not inflict serious injury.

As to the spring crops everywhere the reports are of the most optimistic nature. This year as early as the 1st of May some of the spring grains had got a nice start.

Prospects for fruit up to May 15th were generally favorable. Peaches, cherries and plums show great promise. Early reports of apples and pears show that there will be a good crop, although not as profuse as the others named. The light frosts that followed April's warm weather are not expected to do much harm to the tree fruits. However, strawberries have not fared so well in some of the localities having suffered from the frosts, while there have been complaints that raspberries have been hit by winter killing. The report of the department warns against the tent caterpillar which is active in several counties. Grain, hay and other fodders will be able to meet all demands of the farm, and there will be a surplus for the market, where the prices should be good this year.

JUST PUPPY-DOG POLITICS.

Ten little puppy dogs
Yelping at a lion;
Kitchener just sniffed at one
Then there were nine.

JUST as a sample of how The Advertiser feels about the snarling detractors of Kitchener, we print the above variation of the "nigger boy" doggerel and assure our readers that we could furnish nine others much more venomous.

For does it not remind you of a great strong lion standing firm as rock, with a lot of minor cats and canines spitting and snapping, to observe the Northcliffe pack of newspapers striving to dethrone the man who was called at a time when Britain was unprepared, and who in a few weeks, or months at most, hurled an army into France, stopped the drive to Calais, and achieved the most remarkable feat of organization in the history of the world?

The London Times is playing puppy-dog politics when it tries to dethrone the man who mastered the great situation, the man who sent hundreds of thousands across the channel and who has shattered countless numbers of German legions. All through the crisis he has stood like a lighthouse in a raging tempest to the British people. It was he who sent the first expeditionary force across the channel. It was he who put the puppy dogs of the press in their places.

The puppy dogs wished to go out in front of the lion and bark and make a big fuss about what the lion had done or intended to do.

But the lion said: "Berlin has ten thousand spies who are waiting for your reports of our movements. Do you suppose I am going to allow any English newspaper to spread broadcast news that Wilhelmstrasse will give millions of marks to possess? Go to! This is war, not journalism."

Then the yelpers set about to tear down the lion. They denied that he could raise an army unless "deeds of gallantry" were published. He raised an army. They tried to make bad blood between France and Britain by suggesting that Britain was not doing her part. Kitchener brought Millerand to England and showed him what Britain was doing.

They falsely accused him of having bungled the ammunition supplies. Today John Bull is red in the face with indignation at these newspapers that have done all in their power to play into the hands of the enemy. Northcliffe is being figuratively caned and the prestige of his newspapers has fallen low.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Lord Northcliffe is a "yellow" peril.

So far Italy's batting average is 1,000.

With Italy so bootlike, wasn't it to be expected that she would take a kick at the Kaiser?

Switzerland and Holland are both bristling up to Germany over the Lusitania murder.

The war is now swirling on all sides of Switzerland, and it may be drawn into the whirlpool.

There appears to be a good deal of Roosevelt about Churchill. The latter will "come back," too.

Having provided for the silver bullets David Lloyd George now turns his attention to the lead bullets.

What an incentive to the Huns must be the prospect of destroying the revered and priceless art treasures of the Italian cities.

The question now is whether it is better to wear your old straw hat and look shabby, or to get one of those new ones and look silly.

What has become of Mexico, Jess Willard, Ty Cobb, Mrs. Pankhurst, Harry Thaw and the rest of the greats and the near-greats? The front page knows them no more.

Germany's "frightfulness" has gained her little. On the other hand she has lost the respect of the world, apart from her allies. It will be many a year before she regains her one-time high position.

The Two Flags

[A. W. Thornton, McGill University.]

When freedom was denied our sires
In lands beyond the seas,
To worship, as the heart desires,
The God they sought to please;
They found new homes, they tuned their pipes,
To Liberty's sweet strain,
The Union Jack and Stars and Stripes,
That liberty maintain.

In other lands, our brothers toil,
Beneath oppression's load,
They vainly seek to own the soil,
They feel the tyrant's goad.
Do we, the "fellow-feeling" lack?
Is freedom's spirit lost?
Shall the Stars and Stripes and Union Jack,
But stand to count the cost?

Or, shall we say to those downtrod,
"'Tis time such things should cease?"
And liberty; best gift of God,
Throughout the world, increase?
With hand to plough, shall we turn back,
From fellow-man, accursed?
Shall the Stars and Stripes and Union Jack
Not see their shackles burst?

A larger, fuller, happier life;
For this, let all men pray;
An end to international strife,
When men their brothers slay.
A great "world's peace" will then come back,
And war's black flag be furled,
When the Stars and Stripes and Union Jack
Will dominate the world.

ONE OF WRIGHT'S.

[New York World.]

Orville Wright, at a dinner in Dayton, said he was well pleased with the progress of aviation in America.

"All the same," he added, "I don't think the time has yet come that, when you go into a shop and ask for flypaper, the shopkeeper will answer:

"'Yes, sir, and which do you prefer, the Aeronautical Weekly or the Aviation Daily News?'"

BURGLARIOUS.

[Life.]

The man with a dark-lantern in one hand and a revolver in the other, who entered the chamber shortly after midnight, bowed pleasantly to the owner of the house, who sat up in bed.

"Excuse me, sir," he said, pleasantly, as he laid the revolver in front of him and took out a fountain pen. "You are insured?"

"I am."

"Amount of policies?"

They were given.

"Name, family, property, business, and in fact, everything—"

The man in bed stopped his insistent visitors.

"One moment," he said, "who are you, anyway? Aren't you a burglar?"

The other man laughed slightly.

"Certainly, sir," he replied. "But the burglar business is not what it used to be, and so I have combined it with the office of income tax inspector for this district."

Wilhelm-Atilla, the Last of the Huns

[By Thomas Young King.]

Aye, call them Huns, the armed hordes the Kaiser leads today,
For fourteen centuries have passed since such barbaric fray.
The world looks on in grief and shame, anger and sheer contempt,
For bloody carnage such as this Atilla never dreamt.
Who calls him king, who knows no law nor man nor God nor kin,
Must wear the armor of that One, the lost, liege lord of sin.
What is this "kultur" and this boast of German force of arms
That sets at naught all earthly aims and all the whole world harms.

What of the sack of fair Louvain? What of the church at Rheims?
What of the rape of Belgium, the end of world-peace dreams?
What of Scarborough's wives and babes, invalids and old men?
What of the skulking sea-dogs? Oh, what of the end and when?
What of the Lusitania; her freight of human souls?
What of the crime of Kinsale Head, the deed of German ghouls?
What of the bells that toll today their requiem o'er the lea?
What of the lives snuffed out to serve the dastard of the sea?

Was it for such as even these the gentle Jesus died,
For such as these that on the cross our Lord was crucified?
Near twenty centuries have passed since on that bloody tree
They pierced His hands, they pierced His feet, His side, on Calvary,
What must His grief, His sorrow be as He looks down today
Upon this world He sought to lead from sin and strife away!
"Judge not, that ye be not judged," He said, but also this: "Do Unto all others as ye would that men should do to you."

The golden rule that Jesus gave to guide an erring world
Is not upon the banner that the Kaiser has unfurled.
His motto: "An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth!
I, the Kaiser, lead Germans against the world, right and truth."
But think you when He said "Judge not," He saw these blood-mad Huns
With cruel Krupp and Zeppelin assail his peaceful sons?
No, never! But, in mercy let us pray, both I and you,
His prayer: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

But while in charity we pray, we won't stand idly by
And wait and wonder who is next to be the man to die.
Let's up and at them, if we must; no cowards let us be,
And rid God's ocean of the Hun, the dastard of the sea.
Let's up and at them with the sword, if sword they choose it be!
My arm, my very life are yours, oh flag of liberty!
Too long we've tarried in the fight; 'tis time the thing was done.
Up! at the war-lord Kaiser! An end of the modern Hun!

Let Wilhelm feel the righteous wrath that sweeps our country o'er,
And with the sword, and by the sword, and war forever more.
Down, down with all their blood-mad host, their "kultur" and their greed!
Down, down with Kaiser and his kind! Up with the Christian creed!
Let's swell the army of the free, make Earth a place to dwell.
Civilization! War 'gainst war! Even with shot and shell!
Let's teach the Hun the meaning of the banner of the free.
Up men, and at them! We fear not the dastard of the sea!

THE THRIFT OF DELIA.

By Elizabeth Colson.

My second ring at my sister Josephine's bell brought the reluctant Delia to the door. Although I had not seen Delia for nearly a eyar, her greeting was unsmiling and as cool as the steps on which she had kept me waiting. But Josephine came flying downstairs with the heartiest of welcomes, and led the way to the guest-room, carrying my suitcase in spite of my protest.

We passed the library door, but it was closed. Josephine explained that Sam was busy with his editorials, and she knew she should see him at lunch just now.

"Mother Bennett"—she continued to account for the members of her family—"went downstairs an hour ago to make a pudding-sauce, and I suppose she discovered something that needed attention." A tiny spark of irritation flickered in Josephine's eyes and went out as she added: "And Agnes is in her room, reading like mad. Her 'Comment on Recent Books' is due tomorrow."

As I listened to Josephine's happy chatter, and answered her eager questions about mother and the rest, I was thinking of Delia's slack presence month after month in the Bennett household, and wondered how it happened.

After a while, unable to restrain myself longer, I said suggestively:

"Delia is still with you, I see."

Josephine sighed.

"Yes, and she grows more careless every day. I have to keep her, though, because she will stay. It's Mother Bennett," she went on, in answer to the question in my raised eyebrows. "She is a perefct dear; nobody knows that better than I do. We want Mother Bennett and Agnes to feel that this is home, and both Sam and I are awfully glad to have them with us, but really she is the reason why we cannot keep anyone but Delia. You see Mother Bennett spends hours every day in the kitchen. She thinks that by watching things closely she can save money for Sam. I can't seem to make her understand, without hurting her; so after those first few months, when we could not keep anybody, Delia came, and as she is willing to stay we overlook everything. She came to me one day last July and told me she was going, but I offered her a dollar a week more, and she seems satisfied. I have never said anything to Sam about it, but I squeeze it out of my allowance somehow."

The next morning I was ready when the breakfast-hour arrived, as becomes a guest. After waiting some time for a summons, I went downstairs. Seeing no signs of approaching breakfast, I wandered into the library. Sam was there alone, and he immediately placed me in a Morris chair and forced the morning paper upon me.

"Breakfast will be ready soon, I hope," said he. "Delia is never very prompt."

"It's a great risk to attempt a change of maids in these days," said I innocently. "You are wise to make the best of it."

He drew near, and in confidential tones told me this tale:

"She didn't want to stay, but—I wouldn't have Josephine hear of this; it would distress her, I am afraid—I promised to pay her two dollars a week, besides the five that Josephine gives her. I have to do it for comparative peace. Our newspaper work is very exacting, and it's bad when we have no maid. You see, there's my dear mother. She potters about, and the maids don't like it. It was last August that Delia came to me one day when mother and the girls were out, and told me that she couldn't stay; but the extra wage has proved a great balm. I think she hasn't said a word about going since."

I sat musing in the library, after breakfast, with Ann Gora, the cat, in my lap. I patted her and thought my thoughts to the tune of Agnes' typewriter, as she jauntily clicked out her "Comment on Recent Books." In the pantry Josephine was to be heard tactfully, but unsuccessfully, trying to steer Mother Bennett upstairs.

Presently Agnes announced that her work was done, and we agreed to walk together to the office with it, that on the morrow all the county might know what she thought of the literature of the week. A blackened piece of chamois-skin in the vestibule, and rings of cloudy white around bell and knobs on the dark woodwork of the door, brought Delia again to mind; and as we went, Agnes told me what she begged me not to mention to Sam or Josephine.

"Last September," said she, "dear mother, who is a really wonderful housekeeper, spent so much more time than usual in the kitchen—pickling, you know, and doing up things—that she quite wore out Delia's rather thin patience. One day I was alone having a fine time on the porch with my books, when Delia appeared and, with tears, told me that she could not stand it any longer. She said that none of her friends had to endure the continued presence of an old lady in their kitchens. I could not tell mother to keep out of Josephine's kitchen, so I told Delia that if she would stay, and try to be patient, I would give her two dollars a week in addition to her regular wages. I am happy to say it has worked, for she hasn't said anything more about leaving.

I turned in at the next florist's we passed and bought a dozen carnations with the dollar I had expected to present to Delia on my departure. Josephine greeted the flowers with joy, for in our absence she had telephoned to ask a friend to lunch. I went into the pantry, vase in hand, to arrange the carnations for the table, and as I was sticking the stems down among the criss-cross sprays of asparagus fern, I could see through the slide, Mother Bennett in the kitchen, busily rearranging and tidying the spice-box. Delia ran out to gather in a crop of dish-towels from the clothes-line. She was waylaid for a little chat by her friend Nora, from the kitchen next door, whose appearance on a similar errand was strangely coincident with Delia's.

Through the open pantry window came to me from Nora's side of the low hedge:

"I'd not be staying there! There's plenty would give you five dollars a week and no old lady in it at all!"

"Don't be talkin', Nora," said Delia. "I never was one to be in and out of places, and the old lady do be quite a help. Are you goin' out tomorrow? Come wid me to the bank—I want to put some money in it."

"Ain't you the savin' thing! Sure, I niver have a cint for the bank or anybody else!"

"Well, I do be savin' a bit now and thin," admitted Delia.

Suits Real Canadians.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir, — I suppose it would be "infra dig" for you to notice the letter of "Ex-Canadian" finding fault with your editorials, and later advising you to change your policy because sometimes "we Americans" read the paper. What colossal impudence! Now, I am an ex-United Stateser, and I read many Chicago and U.S. papers about Canada that are very unjust and annoying, but it would be too much to expect the papers to change their policy because I wrote slanging the editor. Ex-Canadian will find many papers in the United States that say things of President Wilson beside which your remarks are only love taps. Why doesn't Ex-Canadian go to some of them with his choice language in complaint? He would probably be kicked out——that is why. He is eager to abuse the home town and its productions at a distance. Your paper seems to suit real Canadians, so the rest of us need say nothing.

EX-AMERICAN.

A Friend in Boston.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—As a Pittsburg Ex-Canadian has seen fit to criticise, in language more forcible than elegant, your editorials, especially those relating to President Wilson, I may say, on the other hand, that I am in receipt of a letter from another Ex-Canadian highly commending your editorials in the very best Bostonese, adding that "not many papers in the U.S. have attained the the standard of excellence of the little London Advertiser."

Truly yours,
OHIO.

Editor's Note.—It is gratifying to be told that there are some readers of natural American sympathies who believe The Advertiser was not unfair in its criticisms of President Wilson following the sinking of the Lusitania. Several editorials were printed after the president's famous "too proud to fight" speech, a speech which was considered as applying to the murder of hundreds of innocent people. These editorials suggested in effect that the president was taking a "milk and water" course with Germany. The speech aroused so much criticism that the president was obliged to state that his words had been misconstrued. Certainly the speech admitted of misconstruction, although the note which followed took much stronger ground.

The Advertiser confesses that while it now regards President Wilson "as a lion roused" over the Lusitania, yet in inviting Germany to bind itself to any agreement he is merely taking a step that will cause another "scrap of paper" to be signed, sealed and, at the will of the Kaiser, torn to pieces. Germany had been warned not to harm Americans. The Kaiser was told that he would be held to a "strict accountability" for what actually happened. When the Lusitania was torpedoed, the reply of the United States was another warning.

Although many Canadians say it would be better not to have the United States take a part in the war, that is a selfish viewpoint. It is born of a desire to see the United States left alone to make ammunition. When the Lusitania went down, murder was committed—and maniacal murder. We do not parley with maniacs. We shoot them down or lock them up. We do not let them kill again. We do not warn them. We do not sign treaties with them.

It will be better for the people of the United States if Germany refuse to make any agreement. There will not be then a possibility of more treaty-breaking. The Americans will keep their women and children at home and will take steps to assist in subjugating the madman of Europe.

The Advertiser does not believe that the American nation lacks physical virility or moral courage, and it maintains that its editorial utterances were within the limit of decent criticism when applied to the speech of President Wilson in which the "too proud to fight" sentiment was uttered. It was as a newspaper which has been criticised for its friendship to the United States that it protested against a declaration of what sounded like "mollycoidling." But none more glad than we that the president's "velvet slipper" seems to have a horseshoe inside of it. To use a paradox, we hope the foot on which the iron shoe rests will have "the punch" in it.

GIBRALTARS.

[London Answers.]

An old admiral built some villa residences on a high point of the coast somewhat difficult of access. One day he said to his servant:

"Now, William, what shall I call them?"

"Well, you know," replied Bill, "if I were you I should call them 'Gibraltar buildings.'"

"Why?" asked the admiral.

"Because," replied the other, "they say Gibraltar will never be taken, and I'm blest if these houses up here will ever be taken."

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

MISS GREY THANKS READERS.

Will readers whose letters have unavoidably remained unanswered during my absence, kindly forgive the delay. As soon as possible all letters with replies will appear in this column. May I thank "B. B.," Strathroy; "Largo," "Will" and others for kind wishes expressed. Also "Lover of Flowers," Mount Brydges, for a bouquet of delightfully fragrant lilacs. I cannot say how much they were appreciated by me. CYNTHIA GREY.

Know This One?

A reader asks for a song entitled "Good-bye, Boys! I'm Going to be Married Tomorrow." Would be pleased to receive a copy from anyone.

At Bride's Table.

Dear Miss Grey. I have always been an interested reader of your column. Is it proper at a house wedding to have a bride's table? If so, who should be present at table. Hoping to see it in print soon. CURIOUS.

Ans.—Yes, it is quite customary to have a "bride's" table. Seated at it may be bride and groom, attendants, and the clergyman. If the latter's wife is present, she is sometimes placed at this table also.

Geographical Potatoes.

Dear Miss Grey: This is my first visit to your page, but have received many helpful hints. Do you mind if I correct you in a mistake you made in tonight's paper? You printed a recipe for German fried potatoes instead of French fried. Here is a recipe for French fried: Peel potatoes and cut in eights, wash and drain dry, put in kettle of deep fat (lard is best), and let boil until potatoes brown, turn out and sprinkle with salt.

What is the meaning of the following names: Garnet, Gerald and Fredericka?

Please excuse my writing, as I had to learn reading and writing myself. I learned this much in five years; do you think that I will ever be able to get along better if I keep practicing? DARBY.

Ans.—1. You are perfectly at liberty to make any corrections you see necessary. I must have got mixed in my nationalities when I selected that recipe—a somewhat dangerous thing to do nowadays, eh?

2. Garnet is a "jewel" name; the gem is supposed to stand for constancy and fidelity; Gerald, strong with the spear; Fredrika, a German feminine form of Frederick, which means peaceful ruler.

It is a credit to you that you have learned so well, my friend. By all means continue practicing—and write again.

Promised Another First.

Miss Cynthia Grey: Excuse this poor paper for it is all I have. I wrote you some time ago and sent you stamps for the book called "From Poverty to Power," and I have not received it yet. I wish to know the reason, as I wanted the book badly. Also publish the dandelion wine recipe in the paper, if you will, please. Please let me know as soon as possible. Thanking you in advance. MRS. ED. H.

Ans.—The book you mention was really sent to me for another reader, so, of course, I had to mail it to her first. I explained this for your benefit in "The Mail Box" column, but evidently you did not see my explanation. Have held the stamps to your credit, and shall try to have the volume sent to you shortly.

Dandelion Wine—Four quarts dandelions, cover with four quarts boiling water; let stand three days; then add peel of three oranges and one lemon; boil 15 minutes, drain and add juice of oranges and lemon to four pounds of sugar, and one cup of yeast. Keep in warm room and strain again; let stand for three weeks; it is then ready to bottle and serve.

Troubled With Styes.

Dear Miss Grey: I have been a silent reader of your mail box for some time and I enjoy reading it very much, and I wish you every success. And now I come for help. I keep getting styes on my eyes, could you or any of your readers, tell me the best thing to do? Thanking you in advance, I remain, M. F. P.

Ans.—If any of our readers can suggest a remedy I shall be glad to publish for your benefit. The affliction is surely a painful one, and personally I think you should consult an oculist if the trouble continues.

Cy Speaks Out.

Dear Miss Grey.—As the bulk of your inquiries originate from members of the opposite sex, it is possible that this communication will find the shortest route to the W. P. B.—as the author does not happen to be of the fair sex. However, all I wanted to say was in regard to the manners of our esteemed country folk. It is natural that they should not be as highly educated in etiquette as the individuals residing in the city or cities, in as much as the opportunity of exercising the little rules of etiquette does not offer itself one-tenth the number of times, to the country resident, as it does to the town folk, hence the absence of the subject in question, and in my opinion, the old quotation, "Practice Makes Perfect," can be very well applied in this instance.

Trusting that I may have the pleasure of seeing this in your column, which favor would be greatly appreciated by CY.

Ans.—You and your opinion, too, are very welcome to the "Mail-Box," Cy. Am glad to pass your remarks on to the other readers; they strike me as being very sensible.

A Legal Query.

Dear Miss Grey,—My mother owned a piece of property for twenty years, and there is a street surveyed running by the side of the property which was fenced in with it. The property was left me by will, and I have had possession thirteen years, making 33 years in all, in which we have used the street as part of the property. I paid a frontage tax on the sidewalk crossing the street and property. Can the town claim the part of street fenced in with the property?

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Have consulted legal authority, and am advised that the answer is "Yes"—the town can rightfully make the claim. Very sorry that your answer was so long delayed.

Black and White.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please answer the following questions for me.

1. What day did January 11, 1899, fall on? Also October 16, 1895?

2. Will you please tell me if black hats will be worn this summer, or will the white hat be the "favorite?"

3. What do you think of my writing?

Thanking you in advance, I am as yore, CURLY WIGGS.

Ans.—1. Wednesday; Wednesday.

2. Black and white combined, and both black and white separately, are all so very popular that I would hesitate to say which had the greatest favor. A milliner tells me that perhaps black, with white trimmings, is more sought after than anything, but for wear with pretty wash dresses, white is extremely popular.

3. It is fairly good.

Small Tart Recipes.

Dear Miss Grey: Although I am an interested reader of your column, I have never ventured to write you until now. I noticed a reader asking for recipes for small tarts, so am inclosing two, both of which I have tried and found very good indeed.

Was much amused at the replies drawn forth by "Star That Guides'" letter, but will make no comment.

Just one question, please, and I trust I am not intruding, What do you think of my writing?

"HAPPY GO LUCKY."

Ans.—Many thanks for the tart recipes, which you will note elsewhere on this page. You write a rather peculiar but very attractive hand, I think.

Wishes to Help.

Dear Miss Grey,—Having seen in your Mail Box that some are bothered with bedbugs, here is a sure remedy and easy to apply. Please let "In Distress" know of it: Beat the white of an egg stiff, stir it into 25c worth of quicksilver and apply where the bugs are. ONE WHO WISHES TO HELP.

Ans.—Gladly passed on to "In Distress." Thanks for your help.

THE BACKYARD GARDEN

[By Prof. Spade.]

The growing of tomatoes seems to be increasing in popularity yearly. This delicious vegetable is finding a big place in the garden, if the various letters I receive from backyard farmers offer any criterion.

One correspondent declares that as his available space is small he is planting it all to tomatoes. He says that he prefers a good crop of one vegetable to a small portion of many, and as his family like tomatoes he is putting nothing else in this year.

Here are some things to be remembered by tomato growers:

Tomatoes require a long, warm, growing season; the soil must have fertility, which is quickly available to the plants; two or three transplantings will help considerably, planting in hills; early picking of fruit to avoid rot, and get the most of the crop before the frost.

The main directions for tomato culture have already been dealt with in this series, but a few hints may be added to guide the beginner.

It is far better to have the land already fertilized than to attempt fertilization just before the plants are put in, so far as manure is concerned.

However, it has been found that a light application of nitrate of soda about the time the plants are set gives good results.

Training the vines will hasten and increase the crop. Pruning the plant down to a single stalk and then tying it to a perpendicular cord, which is secured at top and bottom to horizontal strands stretched between stakes.

Pinching off the ends of the shoots is believed to produce an early crop, as the plant food goes into fruit instead of vine.

If frost comes when many tomatoes are still unripe, but nearly so, do not worry. You can pick them and put them away in drawers or other dry, close places, and they will color well. Another plan is to pull up the whole plant by the roots, and, with the fruit on, hang it in a barn or other dry place. In most cases the tomatoes will continue to extract food from the vine and ripen.

WOULD HAVE SHORTER HOURS FOR SALE OF LIQUOR HERE

Hopes for Temperance Hotel—Rev. J. H. Boyd Addresses W.C.T.U.—Interesting Session Yesterday.

At a largely attended meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held yesterday afternoon in St. Andrew's Hall, Rev. J. H. Boyd, pastor of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, and convener of the recent license reduction campaign committee, addressed the ladies upon the outlook of temperance prohibition in the province.

"What is to be our next step in this campaign?" asked Mr. Boyd after reviewing the January campaign and its result in closing four hotels out of the six hoped for, "Our object is the complete destruction of the liquor traffic not only in the city, but in the province. We hope to see every bar and every shop selling liquor, closed. We do not mean to rest until we have accomplished this purpose. I believe that within the next year we shall see quite a number of licenses withdrawn, or instructions issued to have them withdrawn when the license year closes.

Three Main Objects.

"There are three objects we must strive for, the lessening of the hours of sale in the city and province, a fresh agitation for the removal of the three-fifths clause, and county option."

A movement was already on foot, sanctioned by the provincial commission, to close bars and liquor shops at 7 o'clock on five days of the week, and at 1 o'clock on Saturdays. As to the three-fifths clause, the speaker termed it a measure to entrench liquor interests and secure their position.

Mr. Boyd further stated that he wished to see the temperance people of London establish a first class temperance hotel in the city. In small villages in England and Scotland comfortable lodging and board could be secured at inns, where no liquor was sold, and this could surely be possible for London. Mr. Boyd also advocated that more temperance work be conducted amongst young men and women, and growing children. He paid a warm tribute to the work of the W. C. T. U., and extended hearty appreciation to the members and workers who had taken part in the license reduction campaign, securing many women's votes as a result.

Work At Front.

The missionary work of the Union was dealt with in an interesting way by Mesdames Sadler, Paterson, Thornley and Berry. Two workers have been supported at the front by the provincial W. C. T. U., and the local branch is lending financial assistance. Mrs. Sadler reported an encouraging amount of money raised for this purpose, and Mrs. Thornley told of the circumstances that led the Union to send evangelistic workers to the firing line, some of the methods of working, and various experiences. A sad fact in connection with this, was the disappearance of Lieut. Irwin, who since the battle of Langemarck has not been heard of. Mrs. Thornley especially asked the prayers of the members for him.

Many Signatures.

In regard to the work done by the Union in securing signatures of mothers and wives to a petition to be presented to the Dominion Government, and forwarded to the Imperial Government, deploring the wet canteen being used in training camps in England, Mrs. Berry reported almost 5,000 names secured in the city and vicinity. For the province, Mrs. Paterson reported over sixty thousand names, stating that petitions from each of the other provinces would also be presented to the Government.

The financial report of the Union was presented by Mrs. (Dr.) Weekes, and found to be in a satisfactory condition. Mrs. Ashplant, who occupied the chair, referred feelingly to the death of a faithful member, Miss M. Coyne. Mrs. Harrison, the evangelistic worker for the local Union, related several incidents connected with her field of effort, pointing out that in view of the especial need of the past winter, the work of the Union in this direction was steadily increasing.

After the business session, which was brought to a close by Mrs. Gordon Wright, Dominion President W. C. T. U., a committee of the Union entertained all the members and those taking part in the campaign, at a social half hour in the basement of the church.

"Y" HOME WOULD BE FINE MEMORIAL FOR LOVED ONE

Y.W.C.A. General Secretary Suggests This to Wealthy Londoners.

In informal gathering of the ladies of the Young Women's Christian Association board, assembled yesterday afternoon in the "Y" residence, Wellington street, and was addressed by Miss Una Saunders, National General Secretary Y. W. C. A. Miss Saunders described an interesting tour which she recently made amongst the different branches of the association in Canada, and some points in the United States. Speaking of the Mary Clarke Hotel for women at Los Angeles, she emphasized the fact that this beautiful building (containing some seven or eight hundred rooms) was the gift of a Senator in memory of his mother. Here young women of all positions and conditions could find a safe home. The institution was self-supporting. "Could this not be done in more of our Canadian cities—and why not in London?" asked Miss Saunders. "No better monument to a mother or wife could be imagined than to found an Association Home. How I wish more of our wealthy men could see the matter in this light."

Summer Activities.

Summer activities, and outdoor interests, of various sort were warmly advocated by Miss Saunders as a means of keeping together girls who attended winter educational or domestic classes. Different branches of Y. W. C. A. work were dealt with by the general secretary, who replied to any questions asked by the members of the board. College and students' branches, immigration work, and many other phases, were discussed. Among the ladies present were Mrs. George Reid, president; Mrs. John Macpherson, Mrs. C. B. King, Mrs. Orr, Mrs. Leonard, Miss McMillan, Miss Moore, Miss Harvey, Miss McBride, Miss Davis, Miss Ludwig and others. During the afternoon tea was served by Miss Sutherland of the "Y" home.

Jarvis, accompanied by Mrs. Jarvis. Afternoon tea was served, and the meeting closed by singing a patriotic song and God Save the King.

London Club Leaves Today on Long Trip

Team Plays in St. Thomas This Afternoon Then Goes to Guelph and to Ottawa, Returning Next Thursday —Reisling Will Pitch Against Saints Today.

[BY BERT PERRY.]

There was no game at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon, the scheduled fixture with the Saints being called off when the rain started shortly after 2 o'clock. Only a light rain was falling at the time, but it gave no promise of clearing up, and by mutual agreement the teams decided to lay off for the rest of the afternoon. A couple of hundred fans were given rain checks at the gate amid considerable grumbling.

The teams will meet in St. Thomas this afternoon. Owing to the fact that in some of the printed schedules the May 26 date is left out, a mistake was made in thinking the teams had an open date. This afternoon's game will be played in Pinafore Park in the Railway City. The London club will leave for St. Thomas about noon and not arrive back in the city again until next Thursday morning. From St. Thomas the team goes to Guelph for three games, and then jumps to Ottawa for a four-game series, commencing Sunday.

Players Recovering.

With the local club in its present crippled state, it is hardly likely it will return here in first place. The pitching staff is crippled, and the illness of Myers has broken up the infield, although, with Schaffer back, this trouble should be remedied. Joe LaBate was out in uniform yesterday, but the cut in his ankle is a painful one, and he has a decided limp. He will not be able to pitch until the end of this week or the first of next.

"This lay-up today will help us a little," said "Doc" Reisling yesterday. "It will give us a chance to rest, and some of the players are in need of a rest just now. Schaffer, Bowden and Morgan are just recovering from their sickness and will be ready to start in a game in a day or so. Myers will not be ready for a week, and I may not take him on this trip at all. LaBate's leg is in bad shape and he will require a few days before being ready again.

Reisling Ready to Pitch.

"Hammond and myself are practically the only two pitchers who are at all ready to go into a game. I feel a lot better this year than last year, and believe I can take my turn in the box with the rest of them. My arm feels very good. Last season I had to overcome the inaction of three seasons. The work I did last year has enabled me to get into better shape this season, and I think I can pitch better ball.

"This lad Morgan looks like a good one. This morning I had him pitching to the batters for twenty minutes and he had a lot of stuff. The boys were popping the ball into the air or hitting it on the ground. I don't think more than two or three clean hits were made off him in that period. When he gets into shape I am sure he will prove a good man.

"Evans is not going right just now, but I think a few days will fix him up. However, if he does not round out into winning form, I will go out and get a good left-hander, one that will prove just as good as Bobby Heck, or any other good southpaw that ever played in this league. I know of one that a big league club will send here if I say the word, and if Evans does not come through soon I will go after this man."

Bobby Would Like to Return.

"Think there is any chance of Bobby Heck coming back here?" the writer asked him.

"I think not," was the reply. "I don't think Erie will let him get away. I know Heck would come here if he got a chance. In a letter to 'Cuz' Hammond the other day Bobby said enough to give the impression that he would not be opposed to coming back to the London club. Larry Quinlan, the Erie manager, is of the driving type of manager, and I don't think Bobby likes that sort. He told Hammond that one never knows how to appreciate a kindly manager until they get under a 'crabby' kind."

Manager Reisling will likely pitch in St. Thomas this afternoon, with Howick or Wilkinson opposing him.

OTTAWA, May 25. — The Guelph Maple Leafs defeated the Ottawa Senators by 5 to 4, after an eleven inning game here today. In Ottawa's half, Smykal walked and Frankie Fuller, the shortstop borrowed from the Detroit Tigers, who reported this morning, hammered out a home run. That was the best Ottawa could do. Lee then sent Auld in to replace Carney and he saved the game for Guelph. Score:

Railroad officials assert that such action is made necessary by the Cummins act amending the interstate commerce laws, under which all shippers of goods must declare the value of shipments.

The railways will assume liability for loss of baggage or damage up to $100, but will charge ten cents for each $100 above that amount.

Goderich Will Enter Team in Lacrosse Group

Club of That Town Much Put Out When Schedule Did Not Include Them.

According to a report from Goderich, the lacrosse team of that town is much put-out because it was overlooked in drawing up the schedule of intermediate group No. 3. The Goderich Club was not represented at this meeting, which was held in the office of E. H. Johnston, of this city, so the other clubs took it for granted that the northern town would not enter this season.

It is now likely the schedule will have to be rearranged. The local officials will get in touch with the Goderich Club and endeavor to hold another meeting, when the revised schedule will be drawn up.

The local lacrosse team will practice this evening in Tecumseh Park, starting about 6:15 o'clock. All the players are urged to attend.

Ireland, the local player who is with the Toronto University team on its tour, played a prominent part in yesterday's game, when the Toronto team defeated Mount Washington by 10 to 2.

ALL TYPO UNIONS TO AID MEN AT FRONT

Some of Smaller Bodies Have Fifty Per Cent on Active Service.

St. Catharines, May 25.—The Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions this afternoon decided that all the local unions of the province should, proportionately to their membership, bear the cost of keeping in good standing in the International Union members who are serving in the various Canadian expeditionary contingents. Some of the smaller unions have as high as 50 per cent of their membership on active service, while there are larger unions with a small percentage. The principle of equalization was adopted almost unanimously.

Heretofore the conference has been held in the same city as the Ontario Labor Educational Convention, one day later, but the present occasion will be the last, for it was decided to extend the typo. convention to two days, and to hold the next gathering in Peterboro on June 9 and 10, 1916.

The conference urged more vigorous action on the part of the factory inspectors in the direction of better ventilation in composing rooms, and decided to pay a portion of the cost of a technical course for apprentices.

Officers elected were: President, C. P. Doughty, Guelph; vice-president, George Myland, Peterboro; secretary-treasurer, P. Obermeyer, Hamilton.

ITALIANS FLOCK TO JOIN COLORS

Those Outside Compulsory Age Limits Volunteer to Fight Austria.

AUSTRIA CLAIMS DAMAGE

Says New Fighters Suffered Heavily Along the East Coast.

MILAN (via Paris), May 25—3:05 p.m.—The Government yesterday opened an enrollment bureau for volunteers under the age of 20 and over 40. Men between these ages can be called to the colors, but younger or older they cannot. The idea was to give those who cannot be called an opportunity to go to the front.

In about 24 hours no fewer than 1,000 men had volunteered. Ninety-five per cent of them wanted to go to the front at once. In addition to workmen, these volunteers were composed of some members of the aristocracy and large numbers of the middle classes.

ROME, May 25.—All the men of the Medici family have volunteered to go to the front. Among them is 'Luigi Medici, a member of the Chamber of Deputies. One of the recent well known members of this family was Gen. Giacomo Medici, who was regarded as one of the most brilliant leaders under Garibaldi. He was made a marquis by King Victor Emmanuel because of his splendid defence of Rome in 1848.

ITALIANS CAPTURE MANY PRISONERS.

LONDON, May 26.—3:10 a. m.—A Times dispatch from Campo Cologno says that in an action on Monday in Tonale Pass, twenty miles east of Tirano, the Italians repulsed the Austrians, who appear to have crossed in Italian territory. Several hundred Austrian Alpine troops were captured.

DAMAGE DONE, SAYS AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, via London, May 25.—7:30 p.m.—Supplementing the previous Austrian official statement relative to the fighting on Monday along the Italian east coast, the Austrian war department today says:

"The Austrian destroyer Scharfschutze penetrated the narrow canal at Porto Corsini till it ranged quite close to the fully defended Italian trenches.

"Hidden Italian batteries suddenly opened fire with twelve centimetre guns against the Austrian scoutship Novara and a torpedo boat lying before the canal entrance and killed many of their own troops who were taken by surprise.

"An Italian shell hit the officers' mess room of the torpedo boat, causing her to spring a leak. In order to help the destroyer and the torpedo boat out of their precarious position the Novara began a flanking fire against the trenches, demolishing the barracks, but itself being struck several times. A lieutenant and four men were killed and several men were wounded. The enemy's losses were perhaps twenty times heavier.

"The Scharfschutze escaped undamaged. The torpedo boat was assisted to Pola.

"At Rimini (about 90 miles south of Venice), the armored cruiser Sankt Georg bombarded the railway station and bridge. At Senigallia (about 25 miles northwest of Ancona) the battleship Zrinyi demolished the railway bridge and water tank, the harbor works, the station and a railway train.

"At Ancona the greater part of the fleet bombarded the old fortifications, the artillery and cavalry camps, the railway station and oil tanks, causing fires which did enormous damage, destroying three steamers. The Italians offered resistance by light batteries and machine gun fire only.

"At Modem the Fort Alfredo Saoli artillery crews at the guns were driven off by our airmen, using a machine gun against them. The airmen then dropped bombs on a balloon shed and on military objects in the interior."

ITALY PREVENTED ATTACKS ON SERVIA.

LONDON, May 26.—3:20 a.m.—The Times correspondent at Rome says that an important revelation in the Italian green book is the statement that the immunity from Austrian attack enjoyed by Servia and Montenegro during the last three months was directly due to the action of Italy, who made the immunity of Servia a condition for entering into negotiations with Austria. Baron Sonnino, the Italian Foreign Minister, having twice in February notified Austria that any military action on the part of Austria in the Balkans without a previous agreement with Italy would have the gravest consequences.

VIVIANI SAYS THAT VICTORY IS NEAR

French Premier Points to Result of Italy's Help in War.

RUSSIA SEES ADVANTAGE

Will Make the War Much Shorter in Duration, Says Foreign Minister.

[Canadian Press.]

PARIS, May 25.—When French troops in the region of Ailly, near the Meuse hoisted the Italian flags upon their trenches, says the Paris Temps, German soldiers in the positions opposite them called out: "So much the better. It will be over all the quicker."

PARIS, May 25.—4:20 p.m.—Today's session of the French Chamber of Deputies was devoted wholly to eulogies of Italy. All the members of the Viviani cabinet were present and the galleries were crowded with distinguished persons. Tomasso Tittoni, the Italian ambassador to France, was in the diplomatic box. Paul Deschanel, the president of the lower house, delivered an oration.

"It is now fifty-six years since Italy was with us," M. Deschanel began, alluding to the Italian war of unification, and all the deputies, as if by common impulse arose, turned towards Signor Tittoni and cheered loudly and lengthily.

The demonstration was repeated at the conclusion of M. Deschanel's speech which the House unanimously voted should be posted on the official bulletin boards throughout France.

Circle of Iron and Fire.

Premier Viviani mounted the speaker's platform saying he desired to salute the Italian nation, which, "in a burst of patriotic faith has joined the circle of iron and fire which is tightening around the modern barbarism. Victory is near."

All the deputies and the spectators cried "Viva L'Italie" and adjourned, having been in session just ten minutes.

Numerous provincial cities today are celebrating the entrance of Italy into the war by processions with music, public addresses delivered by local celebrities, the decoration of public buildings, and popular demonstrations in front of Italian consulates where there are any.

WILL SHORTEN WAR.

PETROGRAD, May 25. —via London: —"Italy's entry into the war will make the war much shorter in duration; it will have an enormous influence on the attitude of neutral countries and it will lead to the rapprochement of states whose interests seem at present to be opposed" said Sergius Sazonoff, the Russian Foreign Minister, on being interviewed today by the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company.

"In any case," the Foreign Minister continued, "no hostile power can henceforth be reinforced at the expense of any neutral country whatever."

Concerning Bulgaria, M. Sazonoff said he did not believe that she would move against Russia under any circumstances. He declared that the Italo-Servian relations were perfectly amicable and that Russia's task with regard to Servia would not be fulfilled unless Servia received a free outlet on the Adriatic.

"I declare," added the Foreign Minister, "that Servia will have free ports which shall be absolutely her own."

Regarding reports of a separate peace M. Sazonoff said numerous attempts in that direction had been made and not only on the part of Austria, but all had failed and he added that anything of that character was "absolutely impossible."

TURKS NOT SURPRISED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, via London, May 25, 7:45 p.m.—Italy's declaration of war against Austria-Hungary occasioned no surprise at the Turkish capital because it was expected. The official world and the public show no excitement as so far the relations between Turkey and Italy remain normal. Whether Italy's action is likely to involve Turkey is a matter which the members of the diplomatic corps are not willing to discuss. The Turkish press has treated the affair conservatively, while in governmental circles the situation is viewed calmly but with a determination to meet future exigencies to the best of Turkey's ability.

BILLION DOLLAR BALANCE IN FAVOR OF U. S. TRADE

[By John Edwin Nevin, United Press Staff Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A billion dollar trade balance in America's favor as direct result of the European war, is already in sight, Secretary Redfield told the President and Cabinet today.

Tomorrow the figures will have gone well above the nine hundred million mark. They are unprecedented, far exceeding anything anticipated at the outbreak of hostilities.

Italy's entrance into the war, the secretary expects, makes it certain that past figures will be exceeded.

HAD DYSPEPSIA

So Bad Could Not Take a Drink of Water Without Suffering.

Dyspepsia is one of the most difficult diseases of the stomach there is to cure. You eat too much. Drink too much. Use too much tobacco. You make the stomach work overtime. You make it perform more than it should be called on to do. The natural result is that it is going to rebel against the amount of work put on it. It is only a matter of a short time before dyspepsia follows.

That old, 40-year-old remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, will cure the dyspepsia and will cure it to stay cured as we can prove by the thousands of testimonials we have received from time to time.

Miss Sarah McRae, Newfield, Ont., writes: "I write to say that I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters, and have found it the best remedy I have ever used for dyspepsia. Two years ago I had stomach trouble so bad that I could not even take a drink of water without suffering. I took six bottles of B.B.B. and have been entirely cured, and can now eat anything without any bad after effects.

Burdock Blood Bitters is an old and well-tried remedy, but on account of the many substitutes we would ask you to make sure that our name appears on both the label and wrapper, as this preparation is manufactured only by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ST. THOMAS VICTIM OF LUSITANIA HAD CHANCE FOR LIFE

Miss Smith Refused Offer of Lifebelt—Said "Save Yourself."

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, May 25.—Mrs. A. Dolphin, William street, this city, is in receipt of a letter from her 12-year-old daughter, Miss Avis, who was rescued from the Lusitania after it had been torpedoed, telling of her own escape and the loss of her two girl companions.

In part the letter reads: "We were sitting at luncheon. We felt the boat take a sudden turn. It seemed as though we were going zigzag, dodging here and there. Then two torpedoes struck the ship on one opposite side to where we were sitting. Mr. Holborne, a prominent English lecturer, we had met on board, told us to wait until the rush ceased, and then we had to go up one flight of stairs. Mr. Holborne's cabin was on that floor. He went to it and returned with the lifebelts. He put one on Miss Ellis and me, and tried hard to persuade Miss Smith to have one on, but she said, 'No, you have a wife and three children; save yourself.'

Men Cause Disaster.

"Then he put us all three in a lifeboat, and just as we were being lowered some men jumped in on top of us. This broke one of the ropes and we were all turned out into the water.

"It was then I lost sight of Miss Ellis and Miss Smith. I saw nothing of them after. I was under the water for a little while—it seemed like a minute—then I floated about for a while, when I noticed a string and grabbed hold. To my delight it was a raft. A gentleman saw me from a small boat, and came to my rescue. He was also a Lusitania survivor. I was taken into the boat, where I stood up to exercise to get warm. We rowed away and got other ladies in.

Picked Up by Steamer.

"Then we were picked up by a small steamer, in which we found a lovely fire. Hot brandy and milk were served. Shortly afterwards we reached Queenstown. We were taken to the Queen's Hotel, where the first thing I did was to cable you that I was saved and all right.

"At the table I found Mr. Holborne, who had put us in the lifeboat. There was a gentleman among the survivors who asked Mr. Holborne if he had lost his money or knew anyone else who had lost theirs. So I told him I had lost all I had with me. He gave me what I had lost, and took me up town to get fitted up, as I had lost everything except just what I had on at luncheon."

CANADA'S AFFAIRS WOULD BE BETTER UNDER SIR WILFRID

North Huron Liberals See Faulty Administration—Statesman Is Needed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINGHAM, May 25.—The first annual meeting of the North Huron Liberal Association, organized in December last following the rearrangement of the federal constituency, was held this afternoon. Delegates were present from Goderich, Blyth, Brussels and other parts of the riding.

The following officers were re-elected President, W. H. Robertson, Goderich; vice-presidents, John Gillespie, Whitechurch; John Kenneborg, Gorrie; Joseph Dalton, Kingsbridge; secretary, James MacMurchiel, Blyth; treasurer, A. B. Carr, Blyth; auditor, Captain Sloan, of the 33rd Battalion, at London.

Don't Want Election, But——

The following resolutions were presented and adopted:

Moved by Mr. A. Anderson, seconded by Mr. R. B. McGowan,

"That this annual meeting of North Huron Liberals place on record its unqualified indorsation of the statesmanlike policy and patriotic course of our leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and that, while we fully indorse his attitude in refraining from active political efforts during the present war conditions, we take this opportunity of again stating our belief that a change of administration which would place Sir Wilfrid Laurier again at the head of Canada's affairs would be in the best interests of our country."

Admiration for Mr. Rowell.

Moved by Mr. H. J. Morris, seconded by Mr. J. Henneberg,

"That this annual meeting of North Huron Liberals express its confidence in the leadership of Mr. N. W. Rowell in provincial affairs, and its admiration of the fight for better Government made by the small band of Liberal members in the Provincial House."

Arch. Hislop, who is the candidate of the North Huron Liberals for the House of Commons, addressed the meeting, and others present also spoke briefly, expressing confidence in the outcome of the appeal to the people, whenever it should come.

KINCARDINE LOSES "MOST HATED AND MOST LOVED MAN"

Squire Barker Dies in Harness, Aged 91—Nearly Assassinated.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

KINCARDINE, May 25.—Kincardine's "most-hated and most-admired citizen" died today in the person of Joseph Barker.

Besides having attained to the distinction of living an active life until the end came, at the rare age of 91 years, he was a most remarkable man of rare distinction. He held office as division court clerk for a longer period than any other man in this section of the province and was in this office until he died. He was an ex-magistrate, and as such brought upon himself the title quoted above. A strong temperance man himself, he was rigid in the enforcement of temperance laws, and was noted in this regard for forty years.

During the Scott Act period his house was saturated with coal oil and set on fire. The house was saved from destruction, but his barn was burned.

At another time he was shot at on his own premises, and the bullet, which narrowly missed him, almost struck one of his daughters in the head. It grazed the girl's hair.

He had held every municipal office in Kincardine, from school trustee to mayor.

Squire Barker was born in Spalding, Lincolnshire, England, the youngest of a family of fourteen children.

He came to the township of Huron in 1848 and was the first clerk of division court No. 3. In 1857 he came to Kincardine and shortly afterwards was made magistrate.

He is survived by three daughters and one son.

ITALY EXPLAINS REASON FOR ENTERING THE WAR

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Italy has addressed to the neutral Governments of the world a lengthy communication explaining her reasons for declaring war on Austria. Count Di Cellere, the Italian ambassador, presented the document to Secretary Bryan today in the form of a note to the United States Government.

It reviews negotiations between Italy and Austria revealing that they began immediately upon the dispatch of Austria's ultimatum to Servia. Italy claimed then that the action of Austria disturbed the equilibrium of the Balkans and the peace of Europe in a way that vitally affected Italian interests. As an ally of Austria, Italy asserts the right to have been consulted before the sending of the ultimatum, the first news of which was received through the newspapers.

Failing to obtain through diplomatic channels the satisfaction of her territorial and national aspirations, Italy announces in the note that a declaration of war was the only means of safeguarding her position in Europe.

COMPLETE NERVE FAILURE

A Most Remarkable Cure by Dr. Cassell's Tablets. The Famous All-British Medicine.

Was utterly helpless and could not move hand or foot.

No treatment tried was of the slightest avail.

He had to be fed with a spoon just as he lay.

Told Recovery Was Hopeless.

Made Strong and Well by DR. CASSELL'S TABLETS

The following extraordinary cure of a man who suffered from such complete Nerve Failure that he had not moved for eighteen months, and had to be fed as he lay, aroused such widespread interest last year in the mother country that we now publish it for the benefit of our Canadian friends. Here is the wonderful story of Mr. Thomas Sedgemore, of Lyndale Cottage, 19 Chapel street, Budleigh Salterton, Devon, England. He says:

"I was completely helpless, could not move hand or foot, and had been in this condition for eighteen months when Dr. Cassell's Tablets cured me. The trouble first showed itself in the year 1908, and I sought advice. This proved useless, and I was steadily getting worse. I was advised to go to an institution where I should have the very best skill available. I was an out-patient there for four months, but nothing they could do for me was of the slightest avail. On the contrary, the trouble got worse. When I went I was just able to hobble on sticks from the station, when I was taken out of the station, when I was taken out of the station, when I was taken out if had to be carried on a stretcher. I had not the power of a single muscle, was so utterly helpless that I had to be fed with a spoon just as I lay.

"I was told I could not possibly get better, but I kept on hoping all the same. I tried one thing and another, and disappointment followed disappointment; but in the end I got Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and to the amazement of everybody who knew me I recovered. Gradually power returned to my limbs, and I could be wheeled about in a bath chair. Soon I abandoned the chair for crutches. Then I dropped the crutches and used a stick. Finally I had no need even of a stick. I could go about on good, sound limbs again, cured absolutely. I have been thoroughly sound ever since, and have long been back at work."

PRONOUNCED INCURABLE.

Little Girl's Remarkable Recovery.

Mrs. H. Cooper, of Fenn Lanes, Fenny Drayton, Nuneaton, England, says:

"I shall never cease to praise Dr. Cassell's Tablets for the wonderful cure they have effected in my little girl Hilda. She was completely helpless for no less than three years, and now, after a course of these Tablets, she can go about by herself. The cause of the trouble was her being knocked down by a bicycle when she was three years old. She was very much bruised, but seemed to get over it quite well. Some years later, however, she complained of pains all over her body, and begun to lose the power of her limbs, until soon she was quite helpless. We had the best advice, but the case was considered incurable. She became a helpless cripple, unable to move hand or foot, and it was thought that she could not live many months.

Hilda Cooper.

"However, finding that everything we tried failed, I thought I would just try what Dr. Cassell's Tablets would do. The result amazed me. The first sign of benefit was that Hilda improved in general health. She began to eat better. Then slowly, but quite surely, power returned to her limbs, and she was able to get up for a little. It is only six months since I first got the Tablets, and now she is cured and is in the best of health."

Britain's Greatest Medicine

Popularity Now World-Wide.

Ordinary medicines could never have brought about cures like the above. There is an irresistible healing force latent in Dr. Cassell's Tablets which, acting on all the nerve centres and bodily functions, literally compels health and vitality for the whole system. Where Dr. Cassell's Tablets are persevered with benefit must result. Take them for Nervous Breakdown, Nerve Failure, Infantile Weakness, Neurasthenia, Sleeplessness, Anaemia, Kidney Trouble, Dyspepsia, Stomach Disorder, Wasting, Palpitation; and they are specially valuable for nursing mothers and girls approaching womanhood. "FRAMERS OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE U.S.A." NO. 10

Robert Morris—"Financier of the Revolution"

IT HAS BEEN SAID the three very great men of our War for Independence were Washington, Franklin and Morris. In the history of mankind no man ever had a more arduous commission than did Morris in financing the armies of Washington. The credit of the nation was practically valueless, and time after time it was the personal credit of Morris which brought forth the money. The financial means raised from his own private resources made the victory at Trenton possible. When Washington proposed the capture of Lord Cornwallis and his entire army, it was from Morris, the patriot and private citizen, and not from the treasury of the Confederated States from which the money came. Thus Washington's last great victory was made possible, and the long and bloody struggle for National Independence brought to an end. Morris was the first to suggest our present system of National banks—the best banking system that any nation has ever known. He was the first American to send a ship forth flying the Stars and Stripes. Like Franklin he signed both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. He was very hospitable, and whenever Washington visited Philadelphia he was the guest of Morris. He was ever a moderate user of light wines and barley brews, and opposed Prohibition Laws, which make the many suffer for the faults of the few. For 58 years Anheuser-Busch have been brewing the kind of honest barley-malt and Saazer hop brews which the wisdom of Morris knew make for real temperance. To-day at the home of BUDWEISER 7500 people are daily required to meet the natural public demand. BUDWEISER'S ever-increasing popularity comes from quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

SOLDIERS OF SIMCOE ARE OFF TO NIAGARA

Immense Crowds at Station Cheer Them On.

FOUR DAYS OF PATRIOTISM

Military Spirit Runs High in All Social Circles of Town.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SIMCOE, May 25. — The third overseas contingent, in training here for the past few months, entrained at 7 o'clock this morning for Niagara, where they will complete their drill. Forty-nine men, under Lieut. Dugit, made up Simcoe's quota. They will form part of the 37th Battalion.

The members of the squad have been in the hands of Sergt. Winter, who has received a large number of medals for physical training, and the men have benefited largely from his instructions. An inspiring send-off was accorded the men by the enormous crowd at the depot.

Contributions from some of the young ladies of the town amounted to $11, and this sum was devoted to the purchase of the soldier's joy, tobacco.

Boer Veteran Called.

Capt. Simpson, a veteran of the Boer war, has received instructions to report at Montreal this week, whence he will sail for England to join the Army Service Corps.

Succession of Patriotic Events.

Simcoe has for some three or four days been the most loyal of towns, beginning with the children's Empire Day celebration. An audience of people variously estimated at from 1,200 to 1,500 assembled at the Mason Rink and were enthusiastic over the novel drills and well-sung choruses rendered by the public school scholars.

The concluding program of sports held at the armories by the third overseas squad took place in the evening, when more than 800 people were present. The Presbyterian congregation entertained the contingent afterwards, when refreshments were served.

Impressive Memorial to Dead.

One of the most largely attended religious services for years was the morning service at Trinity Church on Sunday, in memory of Corp. Claude F. Charlton, of Walsh, and Pte. Jack Watmough, of Simcoe, who died of wounds received during the terrible days of fighting last month. The overseas men, the town companies of the 39th Regiment, and the Sons of England were present. Rev. A. B. Farney, the rector, was the officiating clergyman.

Militarism Features Holiday.

Victoria Day was given over largely to the military men, who conducted a field day in the afternoon. The affair, which was held in the agricultural grounds, was the centre of interest for hundreds of citizens and out-of-town visitors. The overseas contingent, the 39th Regiment, the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and High School Cadets provided the program. In the evening soldiers, scouts and cadets participated in a torchlight procession about town, finally winding up at the high school campus, where a display of fireworks concluded the proceedings.

A Soldier Missing.

Four men of the fifty who have been in training at the armories were missing for a day or two last week. Three of them, when they sobered up, returned and gave themselves up. Their cases will be dealt with at Niagara. The fourth man, Pte. Acker, who came here from the State of Michigan, has not yet been heard of, although search has been made. Probably he had been singing "I Want to Go Back," and has gone home "to Michigan."

THREE MEN ESCAPE CLUTCHES OF POLICE IN WOODSTOCK CITY

WOODSTOCK, May 25. — Antonio Gillatto, a Beachville Italian, shared with two compatriots the bruises and jubilation of a fight with the Woodstock police that followed a drunken row the three started in a local restaurant. Gillatto, however, bore alone the burden of the police court inquiry this morning and paid a fine of $16. His two fellow-roysterers got away after mauling two plain-clothesmen, and two uniformed constables, in a running fight, which covered two blocks and enlivened the early hours of Monday evening.

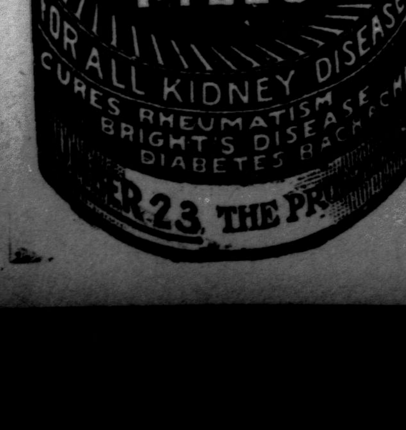

The antiquated system of having the police cells located several blocks from the police court was made plain in Woodstock this morning, when a prisoner on his way to court in charge of a constable eluded the latter and escaped. He was only charged with holiday drunkenness, but will also be arraigned on a more serious accusation if caught.

BLENHEIM PEACH GROWERS PREDICT A BUMPER CROP

BLENHEIM, May 25.— Reports from the peach-growers of this district give the assurance that if conditions from now on are favorable, there will be another big crop of peaches this year. Examination of the buds show that conditions have been favorable during blossoming and there is a splendid setting of fruit thus far. The frost a few days ago failed to do any harm. There are some of the largest growers in the province in this district and the crop last year was exceedingly good. Generally the fruit crop had a good outlook, except strawberries which have been injured considerable, especially on the low lands.

S. Wodehouse who has had a long and successful business career, has given over his business to a younger man, in the person of Frank Ross, who is well and favorably known here.

The local company of the 24th Battalion received its new uniforms on Saturday and many of the boys were out yesterday on parade. The company has made good progress at drill.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, May 25.—With three passengers in his automobile, Thomas L. Patton, manager of Tilbury branch of Merchants Bank ditched the machine three miles from Tilbury to avoid running down a little girl who crossed the road directly in front of him.

Frank L. Wilson, a Windsor barrister, one of the passengers was quite badly injured about the head and face, but Patton and others escaped with minor bruises. The accident occurred last evening.

CONSTANTINE'S CONDITION IS NOT SATISFACTORY

ATHENS (via London), May 25.—11:35 p.m.—The condition of King Constantine, as disclosed in Monday night's report, was less satisfactory than the people were led to believe, though the physicians in attendance upon the King now say that he is in no immediate danger.

The physicians are considering the advisability of performing another operation. A Viennese specialist has been summoned to the bedside of the King. The latest bulletin says the King is more restful. His temperature is given as 99.7.

Stratford Colored Man Charged With Shooting With Intent.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, May 25.—On a charge of shooting with an intent to kill, Robert Underwood, colored, was arrested today. He is alleged to have shot at George Harrison at 2 o'clock this morning. The bullet lodged in the frame of the door after Harrison had opened it in response to a ring. Underwood is alleged to have fired the shot on Harrison's refusal to answer a question regarding a member of his household. He will be given a preliminary hearing on Wednesday.

GETS IMPORTANT DATA AMONG THE ESKIMOS

NEW YORK, May 25.—Donald MacMillan, the explorer who was sent to the Arctic two years ago by scientific societies of this city, will spend another year in the far north, he sent word in a dispatch to the Tribune, through the American consul-general in Copenhagen, Denmark, who forwarded the message today.

"I have decided to remain a third year in the Arctic to complete my work among the Smith Sound Eskimos," the dispatch read. "I am getting some very important results and much that is at variance with what we have learned in regard to these people. I shall return by way of Copenhagen in 1916. All other members of the expedition will return to America this summer. All is well."

DRAGGED INTO MACHINE; SEAFORTH MAN INJURED

Foreman of Flax Mills Has Both Legs Fractured—Came From Wallaceburg.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SEAFORTH, May 25.—A bad accident occurred at the flax mills here this morning, in which Mr. Perrin, the foreman, narrowly escaped death.

While adjusting some belting he was caught and carried into the machinery, sustaining serious fractures of both legs. Mr. Perrin has been employed at Wallaceburg by the Canadian flax mills and was sent a few weeks ago to manage their business here.

His wife and family reside at Wallaceburg.

QUIET HOLIDAY IN FLORENCE.

FLORENCE, May 25. — The 24th passed off quietly here. The bowlers left by auto in the forenoon for Bothwell for the day, and the children indulged in the usual celebration of fire workes on the diamond in the vening. Flags were flying at most business places and residences. A few citizens spent the day with friend and others returned to the town for the day.

On Whit Sunday the Rector H. Smith preached at St. Mathew's Church. Holy communion was observed.

ITALIANS CAPTURE

power house and railroad station at Monfalcone."

AGREEMENT REPORTED.

Rotterdam, via London, May 26.—The Courant publishes a telegram from Berlin stating that Germany and Italy have agreed neither to intern civilians nor seize their property.

VON BUELOW'S TALK.

Rome, May 25, via Paris, May 26.—Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador, who has now returned to Berlin, is reported by the Giornale d'Italia to have declared in an interview that he came to Italy in the hope of bringing about an Austro-Italian rapprochement on a concrete basis, that Austria undoubtedly always had treated Italy unfairly, and that Germany attached supreme importance to the preservation of friendly relations with Italy, which meant the maintenance of Italian neutrality. Italian public opinion must understand, however, the prince said, that an attack upon Austria meant an attack upon Germany.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, May 25—Via Paris, May 26.—The bulletin issued by the war office today announcing that the Italians had entered upon Austrian territory caused great enthusiasm. This report showed that the Italians were occupying all the mountains between the Idria and Isonzo Rivers, and that, advancing, they had taken Cormonso, which commands the road leading to Gorizia, an important Austrian frontier station.

Passing from the north to the centre of Eastern Friuli the report indicated that the Italians also had occupied the village of Versa, which is near the river of the same name, and on the road to Gradisca, Austria, and that in addition, in Southern Friuli, Cervignano, another important Austrian frontier station leading to Monfalone and Triest, had been taken.

Four-Mile Advance.

The Giornale d'Italia, commenting on the bulletin says:

"The Italian advance occupies a front of 100 kilometres (about 66 2-3 miles), and has as extreme points Catoretto, on the north, to the Gulf of Triest on the south. The first contingents of the Italians penetrated into Austrian territory distances ranging from two to four miles."

INCENSED, YET QUIET.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, via Paris, May 26.—The Giornale d'Italia today comments on the calm attitude maintained by the Italian people on the occasion of the departure from Rome of the Austrian and German diplomats. The newspaper says this is especially deserving of notice, because the people were incensed over the bombardment of Ancona and Venice, undefended towns, and reports that Italians in Austria had been treated inconsiderately while attempting to return home.

The indignation of the people was added to today by the report from Barletta that an Austrian torpedo-boat destroyer, flying a British flag, fired seven times upon the castle there, each shell finding its mark.

A later dispatch received from Barletta said the belief prevailed there that the torpedo-boat destroyer had been struck by a shell from the pursuing Italian squadron and seriously damaged.

ARCHDUKE WOULD LEAD.

[Canadian Press.]

Geneva, via Paris, May 26.—According to advices received here, the Austrian Archduke Eugene has asked Emperor Francis Joseph to place him at the head of the army operating against Italy. The archduke has been commander of the forces operating against Servia.

It is reported that Prince Adalbert of Prussia, son of Emperor William, will have command of an Austrian naval squadron.

Large numbers of German troops from Galicia are passing through Troppau, Austrian Silesia, bound for the Tyrol. An Austrian army corps from Silesia, with 30 batteries, is also on its way to that region.

The Swiss Government has decided that there shall be no general mobilization unless some radical change takes place in the situation.

COUNTRY JUBILANT.

[Canadian Press.]

Udine, Italy, May 25—Via Paris, May 26.—From here to mountainous Cividale, the ancient capital of Friuli, and from there to Palmanova, Latisana and Pordenone, the whole of Friuli is jubilant in the belief that work has been begun by the Italian army to liberate their eastern brothers.

The tricolor has been hoisted everywhere, not only on the municipal buildings and private houses, but on the high pinnacles of the belfries of the churches. Even the smallest villages celebrated today the initiation by Italy of a war which they hope will restore the country's unity. Along the roads passing through various small villages the people in their celebrations had hung flags from the poplar trees to decorate what they declared was destined to be "the triumphal road to Triest."

AN IMPORTANT RESULT.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, May 25—Via Paris, May 26.—A demonstration that the Italian Government can maintain the law of papal guarantees even in so grave a crisis as exists at present is regarded by the Giornale D'Italia as one of the important results of Italy's declaration of war. The paper maintains that Italy has shown the world the truth of her contention that there are no judicial or practical obstacles to the contemporaneous residences in Rome of the Pope, the spiritual sovereign of all Catholics, and the King of Italy, temporal sovereign of Italians.

AMBASSADORS AT ZURICH.

[Canadian Press.]

Zurich, May 25—Via Paris, May 26.—The Duke of Avarna, Italian ambassador at Vienna; Baron Von Macchio and Prince Von Buelow, Austrian and German ambassadors to Italy, together with the staff of the Bavarian legation at Rome, all arrived here this afternoon. The Italian diplomat and his suite boarded the train which brought Baron Von Macchio from Rome and continued his journey, while Baron Von Cacchio went on to Vienna in the special which brought the Duke of Avarna to this city.

The railroad station was guarded by troops from the Zurich garrison. Prince Von Buelow was greeted by the German minister at Berne and the consul. Before leaving he sent a telegram to General Wille, commander of the Swiss army, thanking him for the arrangements made by the military authorities for his protection on the journey through Switzerland. A similar telegram was sent to President Moma by Baron Von Macchio.

APPIN'S NEW PARK USED.

APPIN, May 25.—The new park was put in shape for the first celebration on May 24. A good crowd was in attendance and the gate receipts amounted to $40.

Two games of ball were played between Appin and London, each winning one game. The footraces were much enjoyed. A booth contributed to the wants of the inner man, and $20 profit was realized from this source.

Appin should be proud of the energetic committee which have secured and cleaned up the piece of land which is henceforth to be used as recreation grounds, and will in time become a beauty spot.

BOY IS "ADOPTED" BY TROOPS AT CAMP

Mother Leaves Child With Father—Disappears—Husband Fails in Quest.

The "City of Tents" has a new "mascot."

Among the 3,000 troops quartered in the big concentration camp in the East End is a boy whose mother has mysteriously disappeared, and who is now being cared for by its soldier-father and petted by as many of the khaki-clad men as are aware of the sad circumstances surrounding the child's introduction to this city.

A few days ago, so the story goes, the mother, who resides in Guelph, came to London with the boy to visit her husband, who last week reached the city with the 34th Battalion. The child was placed in his charge while the woman left the camp, presumably for the down-town district, to do some shopping.

Since that time she has not been heard from. The husband, it is said, has communicated with Guelph and other points, where he believed his wife might have gone. All efforts have been unavailing.

BECKER EXECUTION SET FOR JULY 12

Ex-Police Lieutenant Has Little Chance of Escaping Electric Chair.

[Canadian Press.]

Albany, N. Y., May 26.—The court of appeals today fixed the week beginning July 12 for the execution of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

NO CLEMENCY TO BE ASKED.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 26.—Martin T. Manton, chief counsel for Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant, whose conviction of the murder of Herman Rosenthal was affirmed by the court of appeals yesterday, was planning today to visit Becker at Sing-Sing to confer with him concerning future action. Mr. Manton agreed with Becker in stating that no attempt will be made to obtain executive clemency from Governor Whitman.

District Attorney Perkins said that, in his opinion, Becker's only chance of escaping the electric chair is in newly-discovered evidence or in an appeal to the governor. "Not a single constitutional question has been raised in this case," said Mr. Perkins, "and without such a question the federal court will refuse to touch the case."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LOCAL MARKET

Wednesday's market was small, with only a very little business of any kind transacted.

Hay and straw remain steady in price, although the scarcity of hay on the square today brought slightly higher prices, which will drop as soon as a large supply is on sale.

Oats and wheat are firm and steady.

Live fowl have been selling at a reduction, the supply being large, with a demand only from the wholesalers. Old fowl sell now for 12c and 13c per lb; young chickens for 13c to 15c per lb.

Hogs are sold at $8 90 per cwt. Dressed hogs are steady at $12 per cwt.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, May 25.—In comparison with Saturday, wheat opened ¼c to ⅜c lower, while oats and flax were higher. The volume of business was light, with prices strong later. This, coupled with a good cash demand south, checked any tendency to break prices, despite the fact of Italy joining in the war on the side of the Allies.

No new business in export was reported, while the buyers in cash wheat were chiefly exporting houses. All grades of cash wheat, except No. 1 northern, were in demand, but offerings were meagre.

There was a good inquiry for cash oats, barley and flax, but offerings were insignificant. Deliveries through the clearing house today were: Wheat, 32,500 bushels; oats, 25,000 bushels; barley, 5,500 bushels; flax, nil.

Total inspections on Monday were: 409 cars, of which 382 were wheat and 20 oats.

Wheat futures closed unchanged from Saturday to ⅝c higher on October, in a fluctuation of 1c to 1⅛c. Oats closed ⅜c to ⅝c higher, and flax, ¼c to ½c lower.

Chicago, May 26.—Bearish cables made the wheat market sag today, notwithstanding some upturns at the outset. Assertions that the Kansas crop was ten days late had considerable to do with the early buying. After opening ¼c off to ½c up, the market suffered a moderate all-round decline.

London, May 26.—The stock exchange was dull and featureless. The only appearance of activity was in the war loan, Japanese-Chinese bonds and short term securities. Speculative issues were neglected.

The American section was equally uninteresting, and closed dull after a very small business was transacted. Money and discount rates dull.

The members of the stock exchange are petitioning to close the exchange on Saturdays frequently during the summer months.

MONEY MARKET.

London, May 26.—Bar silver, 23 9-16d per cent.

WALL STREET.

New York, May 26—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Further heaviness in war contract shares marked today's early dealings on the stock exchange. New York Air Brake declined 4 points and losses of 1 to 2 points were scored by Pressed Steel Car, Crucible Steel, Westinghouse and kindred issues. Canadian Pacific was heavist of the high-priced railways, losing 1½, with material recessions in Union Pacific and Reading. Interboro, common and preferred, were the only exceptions to the general tendency, rising 2 points. A moderate rally ensued before the end of the half hour.

Noon.—The recovery which followed the early period of heaviness was suddenly reversed before the end of the first hour. Confirmation of the reported torpedoing of an American ship off the Irish coast caused precepitate declines of 1 to 3 points, mainly in war specialties. While the news gave rise to renewed apprehension respecting international conditions, no disorder accompanied the setback, which was arrested by prompt support. The liquated condition of the market also served to offer resistance to bear pressure. By noon another moderate rally resulted in a further readjustment of prices on a minimum of dealings. Bonds were steady.

SAY WARSHIP WAS SUNK.

AMSTERDAM, May 25.—A telegram from Constantinople says it is officially stated that a Turkish submarine sank a Russian warship in the Black Sea.

The dispatch adds that Turkey succeeded for some time in concealing the fact that this submarine was in operation, and that the complete results of its activities are unknown.

Kidney Trouble?

The waste material which the Kidneys are intended to remove from the blood, if allowed to accumulate in the system, poison the blood and thus produce deleterious effects.

If from over-work, exposure to cold, or some local injury, the kidneys become congested or inflamed and cannot perform their functions, the system becomes filled with uric poisons.

Whenever a dull, heavy pain is felt over the region of the kidneys for any length of time, accompanied by a sallow complexion, loss of appetite, decrease of weight, and a puffy condition under the eyes and in the ankles, a chronic inflammation of the kidneys must be suspected, and if not relieved promptly chronic Bright's Disease will certainly develop.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt, sold everywhere at 25c and 60c which is a Diuretic as well as an Aperient, will carry out of the system the poisonous material which the kidneys cannot get rid of, and will relieve the congestion of the kidneys. 4

CONSERVATORY PUPILS IN PLEASING RECITAL

The Heintzman Hall last night was filled to overflowing by an enthusiastic audience gathered to hear a recital by six brilliant students of the London Conservatory of Music.

The pupils giving the program are graduates and under-graduates, and therefore much was expected of them. That they fulfilled expectations is saying too little. They performed, without exception, in a brilliant manner, numbers which severely tax the ability of much more experienced concert givers. The technical finish and masterly interpretations were remarkable.

The conservatory has always laid great stress on the art of performing in public, and last night's concert was evidence of what can be accomplished in that direction.

The program, which embraces numbers from every school of musical composition is as follows:

Sonata in A, Largo-Allegro (Beethoven,) Miss Marguerite Mann, pupil of Mrs. Francis-Vining; Scena from "Der Freischutz" (Weber), Miss Elizabeth Rennie, pupil of Mr. Willgoose; (a) Prelude in D minor (Bach); (b) Fantaisie Impromptu, F sharp minor (Chopin), Miss Madeleine Simson, pupil of Miss Moore; (a) Elegie (Massenet); (b) Spring Song (Tosti), Miss Margery Talbot, pupil of Miss Brown; (a) Berceuse, D flat major (Chopin); (b) Staccato Caprice (Vogrich), Roy Davidson, pupil of Mrs. McHardy-Smith; Tarantelle (Leschetizky), Miss Mann; (a) The Rose, (b) The River and the Sea (Noel Johnson), Miss Edna Guy, pupil of Mr. Willgoose; Polacca Brillante (Weber), Mr. Davidson; duet— I Waited for the Lord, (Mendelssohn), Misses Rennie and Talbot; Concerto, F sharp minor, Allegro-Moderato (Reinecke), Miss Simson.

Orchestra parts played on second piano by Miss Moore.

DR. JAMES MACARTHUR BURIED AT WOODLAND

The funeral of Dr. James Macarthur, president for this year of the Ontario Medical Council and one of London's most prominent practitioners, was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 485 Dundas street, to Woodland Cemetery. Although the obsequies were announced as of a private nature, there was a large representation of medical men, both from outside the city and from the members of the local profession. The medical council was represented by Dr. Griffin, of Hamilton, vice-president, and Dr. King, of Toronto. A large memorial wreath was sent from the members of the council. Among those from out of town were: William Wright, a brother-in-law of Kingston; William Stone, of Toronto; Dr. Anderson, of Ailsa Craig, and Dr. Hossack, St. Andrew's session and board of managers were largely represented, the late Dr. Macarthur having been identified with these bodies for many years. The services were conducted by Rev. D. C. MacGregor, pastor of St. Andrew's; Rev. Dr. Gustavus Munro, and Rev. J. D. Stuart, of Knox Church, who was a classmate in arts of Dr. Macarthur. The pallbearers were C. R. Somerville, Dr. Wishart, Donald Fraser, Hugh Macpherson, Dr. Meek and Sheriff Cameron. Interment was made at Woodland Cemetery.

Arrangements have been made for four officers from each battalion to take the course at one time, and the local units are of course, affected. ## SOLDIERS GREAT WRITERS

Sunday's Mail From the Camp Grounds Almost 2,000 Pieces—Record Being Kept.

The camp postoffice on Carling's Heights is one of the busiest spots on the grounds when the men of the different battalions are not on parade. Three times daily the big mail sacks are taken to the general postoffice down town, and it is sometimes necessary to send two or more sacks to accommodate the outgoing rush.

A record of the number of pieces of mail matter being handled at the camp postoffice is now being kept, and it indicates the surprising number of letters that go out each day. On Sunday last the records show that well over 1,700 letters were sent out together, with nearly 200 postcards and parcels.

SCHOOL CONTRACTS LET

Awards Go To John Hayman & Sons and L. H. Martyn.

There were over forty tenders for the bigger job. The figures were most satisfactory to the committee and indicate that the work will be completed at a cost well within the estimates.

WINGHAM OBSERVED HOLIDAY QUIETLY

Liverymen did good business here supplying carryalls to pleasure seekers who took short drives through the country.

Mrs. W. H. Gallup, accompanied by her son, Gordon, was the guest of friends here over the holiday.

Thomas McLean, contractor of the street sewers, is pushing the work rapidly.

Farmers state that the recent frosts have damaged the grass and pasture to a certain extent, but fruit trees which were in bloom have stood it well.

The Bertha was on her way from Portland, Ore., to Falmouth, England, with a cargo of wheat. She passed through the Panama Canal on April 27.

HOPES CAPTURE IS NO DISGRACE

Canadian Taken Prisoner Says He Is Being Really Well Treated.

GAVE UP DURING INFERNO

Only Surrendered When Surrounded by Crowds of German Infantry.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, May 25.—A Canadian soldier who is a prisoner at Geissen writes quite favorably of present conditions there: "We are being well treated," he says. "Our health is looked after, and everything has to be kept scrupulously clean.

"I hope our capture will not be considered a disgrace. Those of us who were left surrendered when crowds of German infantry were on all sides of us. Sheets of lead from rifles and machine guns were sweeping over the parapet of our trench, while shrapnel fired from our rear were bursting all over us.

"We were under heavy rifle fire, machine gun and shell fire, for two nights and days. I had bullets through my haversack and cap, and was struck in the back by a piece of split shrapnel, without receiving any injury.

"As far as cleanliness and comfort are concerned, we are better off than at Salisbury Plains. We are getting three meals a day; coffee and bread for breakfast, and a litre of very good vegetable soup for dinner and supper. We can buy a few things here, such as butter and sardines."

AUSTRIA PRESENTS HER SIDE OF CASE

Says Italy Sought to Evade Treaty Obligations by Interpretation.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 26.—A series of diplomatic documents presenting Austria's side of the case in the negotiations preceding the war with Italy has been published by the foreign ministry at Vienna, says a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam. It is contended that Italy from the beginning sought to evade her treaty obligations by an artificial interpretation of the Triple Alliance treaty.

Basis of Attitude.

Basing her attitude on Article IV., she assumed an attitude of "benevolent neutrality," on the ground that the action of Austria-Hungary also was directed against Russia. This assertion, the Austrians claim, is disproved by the Russian preparations for an aggressive war. Italy further "excused herself because of her exposed geographical position, and Austria's failure to give advance information of her intentions against Servia."

Took Time Advantage.

During the prolonged negotiations concerning Italian compensation, the foreign ministry asserts, Italy utilized the time to strengthen and consolidate her military forces, having in view the acquisition of territorial vantage points on the other side of the Adriatic and in Albania. Her absolute neutrality was supplanted by "watchful armed neutrality."

What Was Yielded.

The documents then described the negotiations regarding territorial compensation for Italy, during which Austria is maintained to have yielded so far that finally there was scarcely any material difference standing in the way of a peaceful adjustment. Then the Salandra cabinet, without replying to Austria's latest offers, denounced the Triple Alliance treaty. This action led to the outbreak of war.

GERMANY AND ITALY NOT FORMALLY AT WAR

But If German Soldiers With Austrians Are Fired On, Fighting Will Result.

[Canadian Press.]

Cologne, Via London, May 26.—A novel situation has arisen in the relations between German and Italy, according to the usually well-informed Berlin correspondent of the Volks Zeitung.

Formally no state of war exists between the two countries, the paper says, but Prince Von Buelow is said to have informed the Italian Government before leaving Rome that German troops were so closely intermingled with the Austro-Hungarian forces that Italy, in making war against an Austro Hungarian army faced the danger of firing upon German soldiers.

The ambassador is reported to have pointed out that Germany naturally would regard this as an unfriendly act and would take steps accordingly.

Suffered Intense Pain In Her Back
Could Hardly Do Her Housework.

If a pain attacks you in the back "stop and think" what it is and what causes it.

If the kidneys are at fault—and in a large majority of cases of pain in the back they are—doctor them at once, and doctor them persistently, as it is impossible to have a well, strong back unless the kidneys perform their functions properly.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all forms of kidney trouble, and cure them to stay cured.

Mrs. H. F. Jacob, Lavant Station, Ont. writes: "I take pleasure in telling you how much good your medicine has done me. I had suffered from intense pains in my back and was so bad I could hardly do my housework. My kidneys were also bothering me a great deal. I tried several kinds of patent medicines and was almost discouraged, and was looking for some other kind of medicine to try when I noticed your advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills, so I thought it could not hurt to try them. I noticed a great difference when I had used one box, and to my great relief when I had used three boxes I was entirely cured, and I have not been bothered since. I will not hesitate to recommend them to all I know."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c a box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

TRIP CONTEST IS OVER; RESULT YET UNKNOWN

Last Minute Rush Furnishes a Huge Task for Contest Committee — Prize-Winners May Be Announced Thursday or Friday.

The last and most eagerly anticipated day of The Advertiser's Panama-Pacific trip contest was brought to a close at 10 o'clock last night. Faithful to promise, the doors were closed the minute the hands of the clock indicated the hour and the candidate or supporter who arrived a moment after the key was turned in the lock was obliged to gaze enviously through the glass doors and repeat the sad refrain:

"Of all sad words of tongue and pen,
The saddest are, I might have been there on time."

From early morning streams of visitors poured into the office, stimulated to heroic effort by the knowledge that the golden moments for turning in votes to the account of favorite candidates were slipping rapidly away. The contestants themselves, with few exceptions, tarried until evening, each and all finding spare moments fully occupied with rounding up last prospects.

At 8 o'clock the big office presented a quiet and orderly appearance, members of the staff seated at desks, absorbed in the task of checking up business that had been turned in during the morning and afternoon.

A candidate with two or three assistants slipped in, followed immediately by another group.

THEME FOR BULLETINS.

"Things beginning to liven up. You ought to put out bulletins every fifteen minutes telling how the candidates are coming along. This is the most exciting thing I have ever been into. I want to stay to the end and see it out," declared an onlooker.

The minutes slipped by and someone reminded. "Just one hour till closing time. When are the rest of the candidates coming?" As if in answer to the query, the "rest of the candidates" presented themselves. They might each have come by special appointment for the hour.

Broken ranks quickly filled up at the long counter and soon space there was at a premium, while individual and prompt attention became valuable even as subscriptions. Candidates with their forces were spirited away in different directions to form groups around human adding machines. And still the army lining the counter increased.

"Singing 'See the Conquering Hero Comes' " jauntily inquired a "supporter," as he strode away from the gateway to the little circle in which he was particularly interested.

"No," came a reply, "Just Before the Battle, Mother."

"I guess it's true enough," he laughed, when a glance towards the doorway revealed the entrance of the closest opponent and her assistants.

Rivals rubbed elbows while their votes were receiving a reckoning. But ears were deaf and eyes blind. Five minutes to ten the excitement and the rush were at their height.

"Ten o'clock. Close the doors," came a peremptory command.

The telephone rang and an anxious voice inquired, "Can anyone else get in?"

TOO LATE.

"A boy took down several votes for me and just reached the office when the key turned." The powers were inexorable. Two minutes more and a troubled plea came, "I forgot to turn in something I had with me. Can I get in now?"

The Medes and Persians were unalterable in their decision, and more than one contestant learned anew the lesson that time and voting contest closings tarry for no one's convenience.

RESULT UNKNOWN YET.

What of the results? This morning no one definitely knows. Each candidate has a fair idea of what she herself has turned in. There is the unknown quantity, the kindly friend who has paid a subscription without the knowledge of the one who is benefited thereby. The contest staff is as much at sea as the public.

When will the results be made known? On the earliest possible day. Each tale of votes must be not only carefully added, but also most painstakingly audited.

No one wishes to be cruel and keep in suspense those who have already been under a strain, especially during the past few days. It is the desire of The Advertiser's contest staff to give as early a report as possible. At the same time, it is the fixed determination of the staff to make absolutely sure that the report is entirely correct before any announcement of the results appears. At the latest, it is hoped to be able to publish the final report of standing on Thursday or Friday afternoon of this week.

TOWNSHIP WANTS CITY TO HELP REPAIR ROAD

City Clerk Reports Government Will Stand Share of Elmwood Road Pavement.

At a meeting of No. 2 committee of the city council last evening, Reeve B. C. Brooks, of London Township, requested that the city and township get together and repair the roadway on Mount Pleasant Hill. It was decided that each party should do half the work. The committee decided to inaugurate a pavement on Adelaide street from King street to Hamilton road. City Clerk Baker reported that he had word from the Government that it would be willing to pay its share of the cost of a new pavement on Elmwood avenue.

CO-OPERATIVE UNION MAY CONVENE AT GUELPH

At a conference of the Ontario section of the Co-operative Union of Canada, held at Peterboro on Monday, it was decided to recommend that the national body hold a Canadian congress at Guelph on Labor Day. A proposal to establish an organizing and auditing society for Ontario, with a view to the provincial section exercising oversight on the financial and business methods, and the selection of managers of the individual societies, was referred to the board for consideration.

Complaint was made that wholesale houses declined to permit co-operative societies to secure their goods, and it was decided to call the attention of the Attorney-General to the matter.

Delegates were present from Ottawa, Guelph, Galt, Welland, Preston and Peterboro. Manager Dickson, of the Galt Society, presided.

Renewed habits of thrift and economy are rapidly spreading as a result of the present war.

When hostilities broke out, people began saving as they had not saved for many years past.

This is one of the few bright spots in the war cloud—for even small savings, when multiplied on a national scale, amount to enormous sums.

Normal conditions will soon be here, and this peace army of dollars will be available for use in an era of progress and prosperity such as we have never known.
