BRITISH HOSPITALS ARE BOMBED BY HUN AIRMEN

GOVT. REFUSES PROBING FOR VOTE SCANDAL OF DECEMBER

Followers Fall Into Line and Defeat Motion in Parliament.

COPP GIVES THE FACTS

But Union Ministry Will Not Allow Inquiry Into Glaring Charges.

Ottawa, May 23.—At twenty minutes after 2 o'clock this morning the House divided on Mr. Copp's motion providing for a judicial investigation.

The motion was lost by 31 on a straight party vote. The vote stood 61 for and 92 against.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 22.—There was related in the House of Commons today a story of election fraud and conspiracy the like of which has probably never been heard in connection with a political contest outside of Mexico.

These frauds and that conspiracy were not perpetrated in a semi-civilized country ruled by a dictator. They were perpetrated in connection with the election held in Canada on December 17 last, and on behalf of a party whose battle-cry was "win the war."

The disclosures made today by A. B. Copp, M. P. for Westmoreland, N. B., were ample proof of the fact that the real desire of that party was to "win the election." That is the legend which should have been emblazoned upon its banners, and not the other crusading motto. To win the election every device, modern and mediaeval, was employed, and every irregularity known to Tammany practiced.

Fifteen Thousand Frauds.

Mr. Copp's charges, made in connection with the taking of the soldiers' vote, were thirty-two in number, each one separate and distinct, they covered fifteen thousand frauds and attempted fifteen thousand frauds. They were backed up by testimony, by affidavits and by proof of various kinds. They were glaring and outstanding, and in many cases lacking even in the finesse of the practiced election crook. In Mexico, it is stated, a certain notorious brigand, one time named president, conducted his elections with soldiers standing with fixed bayonets by the ballot boxes. The helpless elector was given the cheerful choice of marking his ballot for the brigand president or of testing the bayonet.

There were certain things done in the Canadian election which did not fall far short of this.

"Intimidation" Mild Term.

The best word which can be used in connection with the Canadian election is "intimidation." The charges contained in Mr. Copp's indictment, and set forth in his brief, show that nothing was left undone which could be devised as a means toward "swinging" the soldiers' votes to the Union Government. The disclosures brought no blush of shame even to the cheeks of the "uplift" members of the Government, who since taking their places in the cabinet have devoted their efforts towards legislating the Dominion into virtue and chastity and purity.

Election Devilry.

The fact of the matter is that the legislation under which these election enormities were made possible was in itself the first and last word in electoral devilry.

Nothing which was actually done under it could cause much surprise. And in any case, the cynical disregard for the people, which is one of the traits of the Borden Government, has become so ingrained into its followers that they have become blase of such things as these. Why, it was that perfect type of English gentleman, who would not for the world cheat at bridge, or dicker with the count in a tennis game, who was put up by the Government to answer the charges. And what did he say?

What Does It Matter?

He said that "even if all the charges were true," the Government had been elected without the soldiers' votes, so

WOODSTOCK AVIATOR IS DEAD OF INJURIES RECEIVED AT BORDEN

Camp Borden, Ont., May 23.—Second Lieut. Gordon Frank Birchard, son of Mrs. C. H. Birchard, 465 Buller street, Woodstock, Ont., died this morning in the field hospital here from injuries sustained on the 17th inst. in an aeroplane accident.

FOE'S PRISONERS LIKE DEAD MEN

Washington, May 23.—Arrival at Petrograd of the first contingent of 1,500 Russian prisoners to be exchanged under the recent Russo-German agreement was reported to the state department today. The men, the dispatch said, were "veritable walking dead men."

Rowell Considers the Pension Scale of Canada Sufficient For the Present.

BOARD'S REPORT DOWN

Parliament Rushing Business in Order To Prorogue Some Time Today.

Ottawa, May 23.—Parliament is planning to prorogue today. The House sat until 2:45 o'clock this morning, and every effort is being made to conclude business.

At the opening of today's session, discussion arose on the report of the pensions committee. Hon. Mr. Rowell moved that the report "be commended to the consideration of the Government," and afterwards outlined the powers of the pension board.

Mr. Rowell then reviewed the recommendations of the committee made as a result of hearing witnesses and the deliberations of the committee during the present session. When he referred to the provision that the previous occupation of the soldier should not be taken into consideration in connection with the granting of a pension, Dr. Edwards of Frontenac asked if it was not supposed to consider the physical condition of a man previous to his enlistment. He said that if a soldier passed the examination he had a right to assume that he was in perfect physical condition.

In noting that the recommendations of the committee do not include any change in the scale of pensions, Mr. Rowell quoted comparative figures to show that the scale for total disability in Canada is higher than in any other country at war.

State Insurance.

The minister dealt with the plan of state insurance decided upon by the United States. He said that the view of the committee was that if some such plan had been worked out in the beginning, in a practical way, the matter could have been more easily dealt with. In view of the fact that Canada's scale of pensions is higher than that of any other country, and that so many casualties have already occurred, the committee did not think it advisable to recommend the adoption of a state scheme of insurance at the present time.

Another matter which had been urged upon the committee, he said, was the supplementing of pensions now paid to reservists of Allied countries who lived in Canada and who enlisted in their own armies shortly after the outbreak of war. The committee, he said, had received information that in August, 1914, there were 3,232 British reservists in Canada, and of these 2,775 immediately joined the Imperial army. Mr. Rowell said the committee did not think that these pensions could be supplemented at the present time.

Canadians in Imperial Army.

Sir Sam Hughes asked if Canadians fighting in the Imperial army were not provided for under the Canadian pension act.

The president of the council replied that the men came under the British regulations. The committee, he said, felt strongly on this point, and were of the opinion that a committee should be formed in the opening of the next session to consider the matter in detail.

ATTEMPTS TO END LIFE BY CUTTING HER OWN THROAT

Stanley Street Woman Worried Over Financial Loss.

Despondency induced, it is claimed, because of financial losses, caused Mrs. Rosetta Kerr, 30 Stanley street, to attempt to end her life at 1 o'clock this afternoon by cutting her throat with a razor.

Mrs. Kerr was rushed to Victoria Hospital in the city ambulance shortly after being discovered by her mother. The mother was upstairs at the time. The deep cut extended clear across the throat nearly from ear to ear. Mrs. Kerr lost a considerable amount of blood, and in her weakened condition it is feared she cannot survive. The self-inflicted wound penetrated to within a fraction of an inch of the jugular vein.

Mrs. Kerr in addition to worry over financial troubles has been suffering for some months from ill health. Mrs. Kerr is a widow, 48 years of age. There are five in her family, two sons and three daughters. One of the sons is in the Garrison Regiment.

Dr. Norman Beal attended Mrs. Kerr after her removal to Victoria Hospital.

COMMISSION TO PAY

The London and Port Stanley Railway owns two houses it rents. The city has billed it for taxes on this property, but the railway does not believe that it should pay the taxes, and has asked its solicitor for advice.

Mayor C. R. Somerville was at the meeting when the question was considered, and he told the commission that the city would insist on its paying taxes on the property. He said that its excuse was that the houses are a part of its system.

Controller C. R. Merryfield said that it was renting the houses for domestic use and it should pay taxes. The commission has already been billed.

EXEMPTIONS OF YOUNG "B" MEN NOW CANCELLED

Those of 19, 20, 21 and 22 Cut Off Indefinitely by New Ottawa Ruling.

The exemptions of men in category B of the ages of 19, 20, 21 and 22 years, inclusive, are indefinitely cancelled by an order issued today by the military council at Ottawa.

A telegram to that effect was received today by Acting Deputy Registrar H. F. Beresford.

The cancellation of exemptions of men in B category of the above-mentioned ages was expected in view of the recent order-in-council doing away with exemptions to all A men of these specified ages.

As a result of the latest order, those who come under this new ruling will be expected to hold themselves in readiness for a call in the near future.

The call to report for service will be issued to the B men from the office of the deputy registrar when the military requirements justify such orders being sent out.

The acting deputy registrar stated today that he did not anticipate B men of the above ages would be called up for some time at least. Although not positively known yet it is expected the exemptions to men in C categories of the ages of 19, 20, 21 and 22 years will also be cancelled.

VICTORIA HOSPITAL NURSE KILLED IN RAID ON HOSPITAL

Brantford, May 23.—A Brantford nurse, Nursing Sister Katherine Maude MacDonald, whose mother and sister reside here, was among the nursing sisters killed in the raid on British hospitals.

Miss MacDonald was a graduate of Victoria Hospital, London.

She nursed privately here for some time, and then went to the London Military Hospital, where she served for some time. A year ago last Easter she went to England, and after military nursing there was sent to France in the spring of this year.

INTERMITTENT SHELLING ALONG AMIENS FRONT

Paris, May 23.—There was intermittent shelling south of the River Avre, on the Amiens front, the French war office announced today. A German raid on French positions in the Bois Mongival failed. French detachments patrolling in the Champagne brought in a number of prisoners and some war material.

BOLD POLA RAIDERS WERE MADE PRISONERS

Washington, May 23.—Definite announcement that Commander Pellegrini and his men, who torpedoed an Austrian battleship in the harbor of Pola, May 14, were taken prisoners, was contained in a cable dispatch to the Italian embassy today from Rome.

SERIOUS FIGHTING IN CAPITAL OF UKRAINE

Moscow, Sunday, May 12.—Serious fighting in Kiev, capital of Ukraine, is reported. The residence of newly-appointed Ukrainian dictator, Gen. Scorobsky, has been stormed several times.

All the forces at the disposal of the rada are being mobilized and concentrated near Kiev.

PARNELL'S SISTER DIES IN DUBLIN WORKHOUSE

Dublin, May 23.—A sensation was caused in Dublin today by the death in the workhouse hospital, known as the South Dublin Union, of Mrs. Emily Ricketts, sister of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, the famous Irish patriot.

WAR VETERANS' GLORY WILL GLOW AND GROW, SAYS LT.-GOVERNOR

Fine Tribute to Returned Men Gathered in Convention.

Hamilton, May 23.—The three-day convention of the Great War Veterans, Ontario branch, was formally opened at the Royal Connaught Hotel this morning by Sir John S. Hendrie.

In opening the convention, Sir John Hendrie said that it gave him great pleasure to be with men who were among the first to answer their country's call. Throughout Canada there was a genuine public interest in the association's present and future welfare. Its members were part and parcel of the people except in so far as military service had given them indisputable and imperishable distinction. Canadians turned to their soldiers as their sons, their kith and kin and were proud of them. "First and foremost," he continued, "it is due to you that I recall the remarkable response made by the men of Ontario. They saw their duty and the manner in which they served their King and country in Flanders and in France will ever be held in sacred remembrance. You have won a glory that will glow and grow as the days pass on, and you may rest assured that the tribute due to you by your country will never be denied."

Can Foster Good Spirit.

Sir John, after imparting good advice regarding the return of the veterans to civil life, said: "Military service now is according to law. Soldiers are placed on the same plane, and the volunteer and draftee waive distinction, discrimination and recrimination in the larger interests of the war. This association may do much good in fostering a proper spirit in this respect among all classes of men who serve the King faithfully and well.

"Your convention will be watched closely throughout the Dominion, and what you do here will likely influence like action in other provinces. Consider well, therefore, the business before you, permitting wise counsel to prevail."

President's Address.

"The German menace is still with us, the zeal to crush this menace once and for all animates the members of this association, just as much as when they first shouldered a rifle," declared Capt. C. E. Jeakins of Brantford, the president, in his annual address. One of the great objects of the association was comradeship, begotten of the spirit so wonderfully manifest in camp and trench, a bond cemented by blood, of which there was none stronger. The G. W. V. A. was to be either a benefit or a menace to the country. It need not be the latter. It ought to be the former. The support received from the public would depend to a great extent on the character of the association. The members, declared the speaker, believed in fighting the enemy at home as their comrades fight the enemy in France, and Flanders. The menace at home took many forms and the association must bring it to light and have a hand in its downfall.

Will Crush Profiteers.

"When the G. W. V. A. says 'Win the war' it means also that it will take the necessary steps to crush all that is in opposition to this, all that would hinder the coming of victory and peace, whether profiteering or pacifists, the alien unjustly profiteering out of the blood of citizens of this country or any other institution that would weaken the Empire in its efforts for victory," said the president.

"The association served a most useful purpose in that it was the mouthpiece of the returned soldier—an advocate for the returned man and the dependents of those still over there. Through this association thousands of cases had been adjusted. The G. W. V. A. was an eloquent tongue for thousands of voiceless individuals.

"More thorough co-ordination in the organization, and a standard system of bookkeeping was advocated, also a system of charters whereby each local branch in good standing should receive a charter from the provincial or dominion body.

April 23, the anniversary of the second battle of Ypres, was proposed as a suitable date for an annual memorial day in Canada.

Tomorrow being a public holiday, only one edition of The Advertiser will be published. This will be delivered to all subscribers in the early morning. A bulletin of the latest war dispatches will be posted morning and afternoon.

SIR WILFRID FORCES VOTE ON WAR TIMES ELECTION ACT

Declares It an Abomination and Moves To Have It Repealed.

Ottawa, May 23.—Just before adjournment for lunch, Sir Wilfrid Laurier divided the House on the wartimes election act. His motion came as a complete surprise and created considerable excitement. The bill under discussion was one to amend the wartimes election act in regard to the delay between nomination day and voting day. Under the old election law, the delay was one week. The wartimes election act extended the delay to one month. The bill before the House sought to restore the old delay, and its second reading had been moved by Mr. Carvell, seconded by Mr. Doherty.

Laurier Against Amendent.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared that he did not think the wartimes election act should be amended. It should be abolished altogether. He would at all stages record his protest against the act, which he considered an abomination. Sir Wilfrid then moved in amendment to the motion for a second reading, that, "in the opinion of this House the wartimes election act should be repealed."

The amendment was defeated by 74 to 53, a Government msaority of 21. Hon. W. S. Fielding was the only Unionist member to vote for the amendment. The House then went into committee on the bill.

Ernest Lapointe protested against the principle of retroactivity involved in the bill. The House would be making a dangerous precedent if they sanctioned this precedent.

Hon. Jacques Bureau moved an amendment to the effect that a clause should be inserted in order to validate the election of Mr. Stewart in Laniark. This was defeated.

SHELL LANDS BESIDE SLEEPING BABY, BUT REFUSES TO EXPLODE

Paris, May 23.—During the air raid last night a shell from a 75-millimetre defence gun fell through a roof and landed beside a cradle in which there was a sleeping infant.

The missile failed to explode and the baby was not harmed.

MONTREAL CARMEN MAKE FINAL DEMAND ON CO.

Montreal, May 23.—Last night the executive of the Tramways Union met and decided to call once more on the officers of the company and the members of the Montreal Tramways Commission for a final answer to the demands of the men. Later a mass meeting of the men will be called to consider the results.

The men's demands represent an advance of 33.3 per cent in the pay roll, according to the financial secretary of the union. He also said that the offer made by the company applied to only two-thirds of the men and that no consideration had been given to the demands of the shop and construction men.

FIRE IS CHECKED ON JAPANESE STEAMSHIP

A Canadian Pacific Port, May 23.—A wireless message received late last night by the local agent of the Japanese freighter Burmah Maru, says that the vessel, which was reported on fire at sea, is returning to port under her own steam, the flames having been checked. The freighter Canada Maru, which stood by the burning vessel, and to which the crew of the Burmah Maru was being transferred, according to earlier reports, has proceeded on her way.

PARIS IS BOMBARDED BY GERMAN AVIATORS

Paris, May 23.—German aviators made another attack on Paris last night, and this time succeeded in reaching the city. Bombs were dropped at various places. They were heavily attacked by French airplanes and anti-aircraft guns.

The casualties, so far as reported, are one dead and twelve injured.

About thirty German airplanes attempted to reach Paris.

BRITAIN IS SATISFIED WITH JAP-PEKIN PACT

London, May 23.—Via Reuter's, Limited.—The British Government, Reuter's, Limited, says it learns, has now received the main terms of the agreement between China and Japan, and they are regarded with satisfaction by the British Government. The convention, it is declared, is a purely military one, with the object of effective coordination of the military forces of the Allies, if such should become necessary, to combat the German menace in the Far East.

MANY JEWS WOUNDED IN GALICIAN POGROMS

Stockholm, May 23.—Pogroms have taken place at Vielicza, Galicia, and many Jews have been wounded seriously, according to a report received by the Jewish press bureau here. Shops were plundered and windows smashed, the damage to property exceeding one million kroner. The local police made no effort to protect the Jews and military assistance was summoned from Cracow.

HITS SPORTS IDLERS

Deferred Classification Over Dependents Disregarded by Ruling.

Washington., D. C., May 23.—Slackers who leave the country to escape the draft will be prosecuted under the selective service act on their return, Attorney Gregory announced today.

Washington, May 23.—Every man of draft age must work or fight after July 1, under a drastic amendment to the selective service regulations announced today by Provost-Marshal Gen. Crowder.

Not only idlers but all draft registrants engaged in what are held to be non-useful occupations, are to be haled before local boards and given the choice of a new job or the army.

Gamblers, race track and bucket shop attendants and fortune-tellers head the list, but those who will be reached by the new regulation also include waiters and bartenders, theatre ushers and attendants, passenger elevator operators and other attendants of clubs, hotels, stores, etc., domestics and clerks in stores.

Deferred classification granted on account of dependents will be disregarded entirely in applying the rule. A man may be at the bottom of Class 1, or even in Class 4, but if he falls within the regulation and refuses to take useful employment, he will be given a new number in Class 1 that will send him into the military service forthwith. Local boards are authorized to use discretion only where they find enforced change of employment would result in disproportionate hardships upon his dependents.

It has been known for some time that some form of "work or fight" plan had been submitted to President Wilson, but there had been no intimation that it was so far-reaching in scope.

Temporary absences from regular employment, not to exceed one week, [illegible] such temporary absences are habitual and frequent, shall not be considered as idleness. Regular vacations will not be considered as absences in this connection.

DUBLIN'S MAYOR MUST SHOW HIS LETTERS OR STAY AT HOME

Told Conditions On Which He Can Get Passports.

AMAZING PLOT FACTS

Shortt Will Lay Astounding Conspiracy Evidence Before the Cabinet.

Dublin, May 23.—At the anti-conscription conference at the Mansion House today a letter was read from A. J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, to the lord mayor of Dublin, declaring that passports would be granted to the lord mayor only if he agreed to submit to the Irish government all documents he intended to carry to America on his proposed trip there. It was announced that the only documents he intended to carry was one direct to President Wilson from the Mansion House conference, and that he would decline to submit this to the lord lieutenant of Ireland.

ASTOUNDING EVIDENCE.

London, May 23.—Evidence concerning the German plot in Ireland will be submitted to the British cabinet today by Edward Shortt, chief secretary for Ireland. If it is thought that any part of the evidence could or should be published, compatible with the public interest, it will be done, says the dispatch, which adds:

"It can be stated on the best authority that justification for the arrests exists in the shape of astounding evidence, but publication of the same is a question affecting not merely the welfare of the prisoners but the well-being of the empire."

IRISH RECRUITING PLAN.

London, May 23.—Part of the plan for voluntary recruiting in Ireland probably will involve the complete reversal of an old war office policy. This will mean the adoption of immediate steps to form homogeneous Irish brigade or Irish divisions in which all reasonable measures will be taken by the use of Irish emblems and the observance of Irish customs to foster the idea of a distinct nationality within the empire.

The correspondent, however, predicts that the Nationalist civilians will give only lukewarm support to the plan, and thinks that most Nationalist members of parliament are hardly likely to accept the invitation to appear on the recruiting platform, although he admits some of them favor supporting voluntary enlistment.

BROTHER OF COCHRANE KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Milton, Vt., May 23.—James Cochrane, a wealthy farmer of Clarenceville, Canada, was killed here yesterday when his automobile, becoming stalled on a steep hill, rolled down on the bridge and into the Lamoille River. Cochrane was a brother of Hon. Frank Cochrane, former Canadian minister of canals and railways. He was 69 years of age. His body was recovered.

VALCARTIER CAMP TO OPEN.

Quebec, May 23.—It is expected that Valcartier camp will open next week. Col. Rogers, officer commanding the camp, at present in Ottawa, will proceed to Valcartier.

MANY CASUALTIES WHEN FOE BOMBS BRITISH HOSPITALS

Fresh Exhibition of German Frightfulness On Hospitals In Rear of Haig's Line —Nurses Stick To Posts Under Hail of Death.

With the British Army in France, May 23.—German airmen again have bombed heavily British hospitals in the area behind the lines, and this time have killed and wounded some hundreds among the personnel and patients of many different hospitals in the group.

Recorded in the casualty list are the names of several sisters, who with other women nurses, stood bravely by their posts throughout a terrific deluge of explosives.

Huge Bombs Dropped.

This latest horror was perpetrated Sunday night, apparently by four squadrons of enemy planes which appear to have comprised more than a score of machines. A great number of bombs were dropped, about 20 per cent of them huge affairs, which dug vast craters in the hospital grounds, and the rest high explosive shrapnel, which sent their death-dealing bullets tearing in every direction through the crowded hospital tents and buildings. A three-seated airplane was brought down by gunfire, while flying at a low altitude, and the occupants were made prisoners. The enemy captain and the pilot sustained comparatively light shrapnel wounds, while the observer was not hurt. When questioned why he had directed his men against hospitals, the captain explained in a matter of fact way that he didn't see the Red Cross signs. He said he was seeking military objectives and had no desire to molest hospitals. With a shrug of his shoulders the German captain added that if the British choose to build their hospitals near railways they must expect to get them bombed.

The captain spoke excellent English. Asked where he had learned it he replied he had been in diplomatic service before the war.

Twice Attacked.

Sunday night's raid was divided into two phases, the first of which began shortly after 10 o'clock and lasted until 11 o'clock. Not satisfied with this the enemy returned at 11:40 o'clock, and heavily bombed hospitals filled with wounded men.

In one building which was damaged most seriously all the patients were suffering from compound fractures, which made necessary their limbs being strapped in the air.

Nurses Stick to Wards.

Not a woman deserted her ward, but throughout the terrible bombing each one kept going her rounds and quieting the unfortunate men, who might easily have done themselves lasting harm by springing from their beds. One sister was killed outright while she was administering to the soldiers' wants, and another was so seriously hurt that she died shortly afterward. Still another was dying today.

Several more sisters were among the wounded. Many other workers were wounded, including several medical officers.

STRIKE AT WINNIPEG NEAR A SETTLEMENT, GOVT. AGENT THINKS

Mediator Campbell Expects Dispute Ended Today.

HAVE REACHED CLIMAX

Only Determination of Firemen's Status Remains To Be Arranged.

Winnipeg, May 23.—David Campbell, mediator appointed by the federal minister of labor to try and settle the strike, declared at the close of the session with the council last night that he had great hopes of settling the dispute today.

"We have come to a climax, and I believe it will be broken today. I have about exhausted all I have to say on the matter, and I think I have got the way opened up for settlement," he said.

While the controversy between the city and the representatives of the striking city employees is being carried on behind closed doors, it is understood that the difficulty in the way of a settlement is the determination of the status of the firemen. Between the city and the employees of the three utilities, the electricians, the waterworks employees and the teamsters, an adjustment is in sight on a basis that will be satisfactory to all parties to the dispute. This settlement would limit the power of the unions in no way except by provisions that no strike would be possible unless it were preceded by an appeal to conciliation, with further provisions against sympathetic strikes.

The Stumbling Block.

The fourth union involved is that of the firemen. Here the city is asking for special guarantees which will make it impossible for the city ever again to be left without fire protection by a firemen's strike. The representatives of the strikers urge the view that conditions of the four unions are identical, and that, therefore, a settlement in each case would be the same. The city on the other hand contends that the firemen occupy a different relationship to the public, and that this difference should be reflected in the settlement. It is the city's contention that in the case of the firemen the principle of compulsory arbitration should be exercised. City council will meet again this morning. Yesterday it sat from 3:30 to nearly 6 p.m. without any final decision being reached.

Yesterday two Internationals, the Typographical and Railway Carmen, sent word disapproving of the strike vote of the latter and the strike resolution of the former.

MANNHEIM FACTORY IS "FIRED" BY THE BRITISH

London, May 23.—Railway stations in German Lorraine and the railway near Liege, Belgium, and a chloride factory at Mannheim on the Rhine, were bombed Tuesday night and Wednesday by British aviators. Three fires were caused at Mannheim and large conflagrations near Liege.

On Tuesday British aviators destroyed sixteen German airplanes and two observation balloons, and drove down two airplanes out of control. Bombing of military targets behind the German lines continued actively, and the latest official statement on aerial operations says that 1,200 bombs were dropped during Thursday, and more than twelve tons at night.

In the West the weather has been fair, with somewhat higher temperature.

THE WAR SITUATION

German frightfulness again has been vented upon patients and workers in British hospitals behind the battle line in Northern France. Some hundreds of patients and members of the hospital staffs were killed and wounded on Sunday night by bombs dropped by German airmen. The captured captain of an enemy airplane which took part in the bombing of the hospitals said he did not see the Red Cross sign. He added, however, that if the British built their hospitals near the railroad they must expect to get them bombed.

What of That Drive?

Infantry operations on the western front continue at a minimum, and neither side gives any indication that intensive fighting is about to be resumed immediately. The artillery fire is normal on the various sectors. In the air, however, hostilities are at a high pitch.

Between Arras and the Somme, where there has been no heavy fighting in six weeks, the British and Germans are carrying out raids, evidently for the purpose of gaining information as to their opponents' plans. North of Albert the Germans have been repulsed in an attempt to rush the British positions southeast of Mesnil. Further north, Field Marshal Haig's men continue their raids, and have penetrated the enemy lines near Hebuterne, as well as at other points southwest of Arras. On the French front and on the American sectors, as on the British front, the lull is unbroken, and even raiding has quieted down.

Great Aerial Activity.

British airplanes are harassing seriously German airdromes and depots behind the lines in Flanders and Picardy. The Germans are seeking unavailingly to check the British, and in aerial fighting on Tuesday eighteen enemy machines, sixteen of which were destroyed, were accounted for by the British. At night the enemy is raiding behind the British lines, and two of his machines were brought down by gunfire on Tuesday. Far to the rear of the German lines British bombing squadrons have visited Eastern Belgium and the River Rhine. Three fires resulted from bombs dropped on a chloride factory at Mannheim, and large conflagrations were caused on railway property near Liege, Belgium. Bombs also were dropped on railway stations at Metz and Thienville.

Lively fighting continues in the mountains of Northern Italy, with the Italian and British troops on the offensive. Along the Piave the artillery firing has increased.

10,000 B. C. SHIPYARDS MEN WALK OUT TODAY

Vancouver, B. C., May 23.—Ten thousand shipyard workers in British Columbia will lay down their tools this afternoon at 5 o'clock in an endeavor to force the Imperial Munitions Board and independent shipbuilding firms to pay a scale of wages equal to that paid in the United States for similar work, and for a 44-hour week. This decision was made by the metal trades council here last night, following a spirited meeting. The vote was said to be unanimous.

Officers Declare Crime To Be at Minimum Among Those Called Up.

Everything is running smoothly at Queen's Park, where the drafted men are reporting at the rate of 250 per day. There is no confusion, the men receiving their complete military outfits in the majority of cases on the day they report. The first place where they report is the London mobilization centre on Richmond street. Upon being examined there and the necessary papers filled out, the embryo soldiers are sent to Queen's Park and taken on the strength of the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R.

All bona fide farmers, upon application to their company officers, are granted seeding furloughs, without pay, until June 1. It is expected that the authorities will be rushed when these men report on this date, as at present they are being granted a furlough as soon as possible, without receiving their military outfits. However, as the men understand where they are to report upon the expiration of furlough, it is hoped by those in charge that confusion will be reduced to a minimum.

Capt. S. C. Kirkland, 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R., today expressed himself to The Advertiser as well pleased with the system in handling the men as they reported, paying a tribute to the quartermaster's department, which outfits the men.

"The men are giving us no trouble whatever in reporting," he said. "They are almost all of fine physique, many of them husky farmers, quite willing to facilitate matters for us in our tremendous task. Crime is at a minimum among the drafted men, and in a short time I think that they will become most efficient soldiers."

The officers at Queen's Park have been troubled lately by the parents and many relatives of men ordered for service reporting with them, and requesting those in charge to do the impossible, thinking them to be members of the exemption tribunals. The officers, however, by means of a little patience manage to straighten matters out and persuade these people to return to their homes.

Medical students of senior years (men who have completed their second year) who are ordered to report are being transferred to the Army Medical Corps as soon as possible, leave in many cases being granted in the meantime. They may receive furloughs to continue their course in the fall, but there is no definite assurance of this.

FARMERS' CLUB BUYS CARLOAD OF SHORTS

LAMBETH, May 22.—The Farmers' Club has shipped in a carload of shorts, and is endeavoring to secure bran and other stock food. The club has leased the store and warehouse of J. B. Land, and will use it for a distributing centre and also for holding meetings.

The young ladies who are taking a course in first aid work from Miss Milne are finding the work very interesting, and enjoyed a very helpful lecture on Tuesday night by Dr. Roy Routledge.

Crops around Lambeth are looking well. Clover is showing up fine. The recent showers came most opportunely. Farmers are well pleased with crop prospects. Conscription is still worrying many, as it may deprive them of badly-needed help.

"There's a Reason"

SALARY INCREASE FOR MINISTERS WILL BE ASKED

One-Third More Will Be Asked From London Conference.

FAVOR EQUAL RIGHTS

Resolution To Be Presented From District Pastors and Laymen.

Ministers and laymen who attended the May meeting of the London Methodist district are in favor of equal privileges for men and women in the church. This view was expressed in a resolution to go up to the General Conference, which passed without a dissenting voice at the final session yesterday afternoon in the Wellington Street Methodist Church.

The resolution was to this effect: "In view of the fact that Christian democracy is gaining in acceptance with people in matters of state, resolved, that the General Conference be memorialized to recognize the principle of Christian democracy within the church, and grant to women in every way equality with men in matters that pertain to the church."

Urge Salary Increase.

Another resolution brought in of much importance was to the effect that the General Conference be requested to increase the minimum salary of ordained ministers of the church one-third. Further memorials to be sent up to the General Conference from the London district through the London annual conference ask for closer co-operation between the various departments of the church, educational, Sunday school, missionary, etc.; for reorganization of the Sunday school and Young People's Society board, to make it a religious education department, and to increase the grant to superannuated ministers.

Money Is Needed.

Rev. Dr. F. L. Barber explained and made an appeal on behalf of the fund for increasing the endowment of Victoria College. Increase is necessary for two reasons. In the first place, the college has been annually losing money on account of the increased cost of teaching, owing to centralization of university work, and in the second place, $10,000 is being lost in students' fees on account of the decrease of men students, because of the number of enlistments. It is proposed to raise half a million dollars for the increased endowment in a campaign the third week of June. Three hundred and ninety thousand dollars has been subscribed in the city of Toronto, and the balance is to be made up by the three conferences of Toronto, Hamilton and London. Appeals for subscriptions are only being made to men giving more than $100 a year to various church objects, in order that subscriptions may not be decreased to other objects to meet payment for the educational endowment. The district meeting expressed hearty approval of the proposed method of raising the endowment.

Visit Hospitals.

As a result of a discussion on the subject it was decided to retain the services of Rev. B. L. Hutton as chaplain for the Methodist Church, to visit the hospitals and such institutions in the city.

An interesting feature was addresses from two ministers who will celebrate their jubilee of entrance to the ministry at the annual conference this year.

Rev. Walter Rigsby of Lambeth and Rev. B. L. Hutton of this city reviewed their experiences of fifty years in the ministry of the Methodist Church, comparing conditions as they now are with those of half a century ago.

Clerical and lay representatives were appointed to represent the London district on the various conference committees, and the lay section of the district meeting, at a brief session, elected 50 delegates to represent London district at the annual conference. London district is entitled to this number of lay representatives owing to the fact that it has 23 superannuated ministers on its roll, as well as ordained ministers actively engaged in work, and missionaries in foreign fields. The usual complimentary resolutions were passed and with them a resolution of regret over the leaving of Rev. Dr. Dougall at the end of the conference year for a charge in Hamilton in the Hamilton Conference. This was coupled with expression of warm appreciation of his services in this city and district to the church and all Christian welfare work.

This district meeting was the last before the annual conference and the General Conference.

12 DEFAULTERS AND 27 VOLUNTEERS IN WEDNESDAY'S LIST

Eighteen London Boys Voluntarily Enlist Here.

Twenty-seven volunteers and twelve defaulters appeared before the medical board at the local mobilization centre. Eighteen of the volunteers were London boys. The British-Canadian Recruiting Mission sent three volunteers from Chicago, three from Detroit and two from Cleveland. One volunteer from Tilbury signed up.

Thirteen volunteers were placed in Category A2, two in B2, ten in Category C, and two were found unfit for service and placed in Category E.

The twelve defaulters of the military service act were sent to the W. O. R.

The following is a list of Wednesday's volunteers:

W. A. Alford, R. F. C., London; J. E. Nopper, R. F. C., London; N. F. Carr, R. F. C., London; A. W. Keyser, R. F. C., London; W. T. Jones, R. F. C., London; A. J. Stevenson, R. F. C., London; T. A. R., Cleveland; Joseph Hebb, Construction, Cleveland; J. A. Cavanaugh, R. F. C., London; W. Wm. Broadley, R. F. C., London.

PUPILS' RECITAL

Interesting Program Given at Conservatory Hall.

Violin pupils of Miss Florence Dewey, ably assisted by Miss Jean Nelson, elocution pupil of Miss Ethel Reynolds, and Miss Kathleen Allen, vocal pupil of Miss Elizabeth Rennie, gave a recital at Conservatory Hall last evening before a large and delighted audience. The program was an interesting one, and the rendition of the various numbers especially good.

The opening selection was an ensemble number, played by the junior class, the senior class giving the closing ensemble number, "March Militaire," by Schubert. The violin solos were given by the following pupils: Master Harry Hyatt, Master Morris Shapiro, Master Ben Mendelssohn, Master Ted Hart, Miss Lottie Lawrence, Master Roy Johnston, Master Rex Walsh, Miss Ruth Barbour, Miss Marguerite Mann, Miss Ernestine Partridge, Miss Theda Guymer, Master Hymie Mendell, Miss Della Packham, Master Leigh Taylor, Master Walter Rennie, Mr. Leslie Lucas.

MISS LULU CAMPBELL, soprano, who is to appear in recital in St. Thomas June 4. She is an exceptionally talented student of the London Conservatory of Music, being a pupil of Mr. F. L. Willgoose.

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Send In Your Problems and They Will Be Answered From Official Information by The Advertiser.

INTERESTED MOTHER. Q.—A boy 19 years old, has one brother serving overseas, and he is his father's main help on 200 acres. Will that make any difference?

A.—If he is the sole remaining brother of military age he might be able to get leave of absence.

J. J. J. Q.—1. Does a boy who was 19 on May 12 come under the M. S. A.?

2. Can he have his choice of units after being called to register?

3. Can a boy of 19 be admitted to the Royal Military College?

A.—1. Yes.

2. Yes; as long as he reports for duty before he is notified by the registrar to do so. This will not be before July 1.

3. Write to the commandant of the college at Kingston, Ont.

X. Y. Z. Q.—What are the duties of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Garrison Regiment, in London? Is it an overseas unit?

A.—In it are placed all men below category A for purposes of training. The duties performed in addition are those of a homeguard unit. Men when trained may be drafted for overseas service if fit, though the unit itself is permanently located here.

R. P. C. Q.—A man who had been in the United States took out his intention papers about two years ago, renouncing all allegiance to the British crown, but owing to ill-health returned to Canada and then registered under the M. S. A. He was placed in category D, and on being re-examined, in E. Would he be required to report or enlist when the convention agreement between the two countries goes into effect?

A.—According to published extracts from the treaty, he would not, as he is not liable in the country in which he is residing at present.

W. K. Q.—Could a young man enlist in the United States army if included in the present draft?

A.—Not likely unless he had some special reason. If so, let him communicate with district headquarters here.

J. H. Q.—If a man 19 years old registers June 1, can he then enlist in any unit he wishes before being called in July, or will he have to wait until called?

A.—Any man is free to offer his service whether he has registered or not, as long as he has not been notified by the registrar to report for duty. He need not wait until called, and he need not even wait to register, but can enlist at any time.

A. R. C. Q.—I am told that men who have attained the age of 19 since last October 13 are not liable to be called up for service at present. Is that true?

A.—No. All men who are 19 now are called upon to register on or before June 1.

A. A. R. Q.—Are recruits being accepted at present for the navy?

A.—Yes; men of certain classes are being accepted. Write to the Naval Recruiting Officer, 103 Bay street, Toronto, Ont.

PORT HURON. Q.—Where would I write for my birth certificate? I was born in Sarnia.

A.—Write to the city clerk of Sarnia.

Y. T. Q.—Can I drill a well on a dairy farm? I got my exemption as long as farming?

A.—As long as you do not cease to attend to your farm when it needs it, you can utilize your spare time as you please, and your exemption will not be interfered with.

L. K. D. Q.—Can two men, ages 40 and 36, go across to Detroit for a day? Will they have to have a passport? If so, where can they obtain it?

A.—They would need passports. Write to John Riggs, Dominion Immigration Office, Carling Block, London, Ont.

G. S. Q.—1. Are ministers and evangelists, married or single, exempt?

2. How does a young man, 19, single, ordained as a minister of the gospel stand regarding the military service act?

3. Must he register?

A.—1. Clergy, including members of any recognized order of an exclusively religious character, and ministers of all religious denominations existing in Canada at the date of the passing of the act, are in the list of persons excepted in the schedule to the act, and therefore its provisions do not apply to them.

2 and 3. He need do nothing.

A. R. D. Q.—1. Is a man aged 20 liable to call if he has a war service badge, Class D?

2. Will he have to register with the present draft?

A.—1. Yes. There is nothing in the act to exempt a man for that reason. Only those who have service in an actual theatre of war, not including Great Britain or Ireland, are excepted from its provisions.

2. Yes; and if he is still unfit he will be exempted.

O. T. T. Q.—If a farmer in the ages of the new draft enlists before getting his notice to report, would he be able to get leave until June 1, to complete his seeding?

A.—Yes; by applying to his commanding officer.

M. A. R. Q.—1. Can a lad whose father is a returned soldier and whose only brother is in France get exemption?

2. Can a 19-year-old lad, born in the United States and registered for military service there, be drafted here, if he is working here? Must he report for examination?

A.—1. If he is in the ages for which exemptions have been cancelled and is in category A, he cannot get exemption. He can, however, apply to his commanding officer for leave of absence on the ground of the service of other members of his family in France.

2. If he can prove that he is not a British subject, then the act does not apply to him, and he need do nothing regarding it. You do not state what nationality his parents were. It is possible that he might be British, though born in the United States.

If he is a United States citizen he will be required to enlist here or return to his own country, when the convention agreement between the two countries is ratified.

INQUIRER, Brantford. Q.—Is it correct that all boys born before October 13, 1899, must register?

A.—The date mentioned is wrong. Every man who has attained the age of 19 but was born on or since October 13, 1897, is called upon by the proclamation to register. This makes all those who were too young to be called last fall, and who are now 19 or 20, liable.

J. C. B. Q.—1. Are they training men as truckdrivers in the Army Service Corps?

2. Would one require perfect eyesight to get into the 63rd Battery?

2. Good eyesight is required for the artillery. It is not recruiting in this district at present.

A. T. F. Q.—I am 19 years of age. My only brother was killed in action, and I am the only member of our family living. Is there any chance of my obtaining permanent leave of absence. Are there any other grounds on which a 19-year-old can claim exemption?

A.—You would appear to have good grounds for applying for a leave of absence when you report. There is no other ground if you are in category A.

J. W. M. Q.—I am in category A2, and was called in January last and did not report. What will be done with me if I report now? Can I go along with the rest?

A.—Your best plan is to come to the mobilization centre here and report at once, informing the officer in charge that you should have reported last January and failed to do so. The longer you remain away, the more serious your offence will become. If you come in voluntarily, that fact will play strongly in your favor.

O. C. Q.—Would a man who was married November 7, 1918, be called in this 19 to 23 draft?

A.—According to the act, any man married after July 6, 1917, shall be deemed to be unmarried for purpose of classification, and this would make this man liable unless special regulations making allowance for such cases should be issued.

O. U. Q.—Could a farmer who was 24 years of age February, 1918, be called in the 20 to 22 draft, providing he has been exempted as long as he remains a farmer?

A.—He could not unless he incorrectly gave his age as 22 when filling out his application for exemption last fall. If he did so, he would be called.

F. C. C. Q.—Where could I get a course in semaphore and Morse signalling used by the navy?

A.—There are courses in signalling carried on by the Canadian Engineers, but you would need to enlist to take advantage of them. You can get books of instruction on signalling at almost any reliable book store.

MAGISTRATE HURT AS HORSE STUMBLES, THROWING HIM OFF

Police Court Judge Suffers Dislocated Shoulder.

Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon was thrown from his saddle horse Wednesday evening, while riding on Richmond street north, and sustained a dislocation of the collarbone. The accident was due to the animal stepping in a hole at the side of the road and plunging in such a manner as to throw the rider violently to the ground.

Upon the arrival of the magistrate at his home the attending physician made an X-ray examination, which revealed a serious dislocation.

The duties of Magistrate Graydon were taken over today by Henry Macklin, J. P., who will continue to act until Mr. Graydon recovers.

The family physician stated today that it would be ten days or two weeks before the magistrate would be able to resume work.

ENRICH THE BLOOD

Hood's Sarsaparilla, a Spring Tonic-Medicine, Is Necessary.

Everybody is troubled at this season with loss of vitality, failure of appetite, that tired feeling, or with bilious turns, dull headaches, indigestion and other stomach troubles, or with pimples and other eruptions on the face and body. The reason is that the blood is impure and impoverished.

Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves all these ailments. It is the old reliable medicine that has stood the test of forty years—that makes pure, rich, red blood—that strengthens every organ and builds up the whole system. It is the all-the-year-round blood-purifier and health-giver. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

Hardening of the Arteries Makes You Grow Old Before Your Time

The walls of the Arteries and Veins become incrusted with impurities, making them smaller inside. The same amount of blood flows through these Arteries and so greater pressure is exerted in them—then we have "high blood pressure." To overcome this you must purify the blood, dissolve this chalk-like incrustation and strengthen the body. If you have high blood pressure, the worst thing to do is to worry about it—do not become unduly alarmed, HACKING'S HEART and NERVE REMEDY will surely help you, if you will but put your confidence in it, you will free yourself from worry, live longer and healthier. EVERY VACANT LOT IN EAST LONDON BEING CULTIVATED

Gardening Activities of That Section General.

Showers have refreshed the hearts of east end gardeners as well as their gardens. Many patriotic citizens of this section have been putting all their spare time in their gardens, digging and planting. The continued dry weather has been rather discouraging, as many of the early vegetables need plenty of moisture to enable them to reach their proper growth. The gardens generally are too large to be watered easily. While the rain was not heavy, it will be of untold value to the gardeners.

There is not a vacant lot in the east end which is not under cultivation this year. Many of the gardens are already planted, and the remainder of them will be finished on the holiday, May 24.

Many are planting more potatoes this year on account of so many farmers being called from the farms. With labor scarce, the urbanites figure that the farmers will not grow extensively crops that demand a deal of attention throughout the growing season.

Beans are also being grown to a great extent this year by the embryo farmer to take the place to some extent of meat.

With a good season, the gardens will produce enough vegetables to supply the owners all winter.

Tomorrow, Victoria Day

Store Will Be Closed

A public holiday. Let no flagstaff be bare or house fail to show a flag. This Dominion is for all—a land of homes and freedom and of one common sentiment, and of united love. Tomorrow we can find no more fitting way of paying tribute to the loyal, honorable men who since 1914 have given their lives to our country than to pause in our pursuit of business or pleasure and bow our heads in reverent supplication for "The Peace of the World."

Store Closes Tonight at Six o'Clock

As is our usual custom, to close at 6 o'clock on evenings before holidays as well as Saturday nights, this store will close at the usual hour, 6 p.m., and open Saturday morning at 8:30.

We ask your co-operation in this early closing movement by doing your holiday shopping before 6 o'clock.

POPULAR COMMANDER OF VETERINARY CORPS HONORED BY MEN

Lieut. D. A. Stewart Given Club Bag and Toilet Set.

Lieut. A. D. Stewart, former alderman, and O. C. of No. 1 Section, C. A. V. C., of Military District No. 1, and who has just recently been detailed for duty as veterinary officer to B Brigade, C. F. A., at Petawawa Camp, has for the second time been honored by his men. On the announcement of his new appointment, Lieut. Stewart was called into his office by his N. C. O.'s and men and presented with a beautiful club bag and toilet set. Last fall a similar event took place, when this popular officer received a fine raincoat from his men.

Lieut. Stewart is one of the most popular officers in the London district. As veterinary officer he has come in for many bouquets and testimonials as to the efficiency of his staff, and for the excellent care which the horses of the district have received at the hands of his force. Lieut. Stewart's departure from London is regretted by his many friends, but they are congratulating him on his promotion. It is possible that this move is the forerunner of a longer one overseas.

Part of Road Offered to City at That Figure.

The London and Lake Erie Transportation Company has offered to sell the city its whole line for $420,000, or the portion between London and St. Thomas for $300,000. This offer was presented to the board of control this morning. It will be considered by a joint meeting of the board of control and the London Railway Commission which will be arranged for next week.

The letter from President G. Woods was not discussed today. It was laid over for consideration.

The communication referred to the offer that had been made to sell the whole road for $420,000. The city had referred the question to the railway commission, and it in turn to the hydro commission, and the latter had placed a scrap value of $268,000 on the road. This was after deducting a sum for the taking up of certain rails and relaying them in other parts, so that this price would be about $50,000 less than the total scrap value.

"Our own valuation," said the letter, "places the scrap value at $350,000. This is exclusive of the value of the right-of-way or the value of the road to the city as a going concern. The sum asked, $420,000 is very low."

As to the purchase of the line as far as St. Thomas, the letter says that this portion will be sold with about two-thirds of the plant between London and Stanley street, St. Thomas, including the bridge, but not including the car barns on the top of the hill, for $300,000. It also asks that a reply be given before June 1.

MILITARY NOTES

In future all ranks leaving England for return to Canada on compassionate or special grounds, for leave or furlough, will do so at public expense, according to advice received from Ottawa, and should any officer, N. C. O. or man overstay his furlough without authority the officer commanding his district will be notified, with a request that the assistant provost-marshal shall be instructed to take action.

When officers are selected to take drafts overseas as conducting officers, they will be issued with an advance of one month's pay, which is to be properly entered on their last pay certificate. Should conducting officers require further funds while in Great Britain, awaiting return transportation to Canada, they will apply to the chief paymaster for any further advances they may require, and these will be indorsed on the original last pay certificate in their possession, from which settlement of accounts on return of these officers from overseas will be made.

Officers commanding the various units in training here are busy preparing nominal rolls of the men on strength for Deputy Registrar Bayly, as according to a ruling received recently from Ottawa all men in khaki are to be considered on active service, and are therefore not required to register on June 22 next.

C. E. F. routine orders state that men discharged for such reasons as loss of a limb, over age, etc., who are otherwise physically fit for the duties in the corps of military staff clerks and so on, for which it is proposed to re-enlist them, may be classed as fit for the duties proposed and re-enlisted temporarily, for the duration of the war or two years longer. Men "fit for duty in Canada," and suffering from disabilities, such as those indicated above, are not necessarily to be categorized as low as "E."

STABBED IN SCUFFLE

W. O. R. Soldier Injured at Carling Heights Camp.

As the result of a scuffle among comrades at Carling Heights Wednesday, Pte. Arnold Coughlin, 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R., received a nasty knife wound in the abdomen, and was removed to the military hospital at Wolseley Barracks.

It is not thought by Pte. Coughlin that the wound was intentionally inflicted, and the latest medical report states that while the wound is quite close to the appendix, and therefore a dangerous one, Pte. Coughlin will recover, provided no complications appear.

U. S. NAVY BILL IS FOR $1,610,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 22.—In the record-breaking time of four hours the Senate today passed without a roll-call the naval appropriation bill, carrying $1,610,000,000. The measure, increased about $226,000,000 over the House authorization, now goes to conference.

SURPRISE PARTY.—A delightful evening was spent recently at the home of Miss Eva Ginsberg, where about forty friends gathered at the surprise party and miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Dora Fishbein of 428 Rectory street. The evening was spent in games, music, dancing, etc., after which refreshments were served. Miss Fishbein was the recipient of many dainty gifts, comprising linens, silverware, cut glass, books, etc.

ACADEMIC STANDING HIGH.—In an article in Tuesday's issue in reference to Huron College convocation mention was made of the fact that there would be two special ordinations, those of Sergt. E. Garrett and William D. Davis. The article, while quite true as to facts, did an injustice to Mr. Davis, for while it is true that he has yet a few subjects to write off in order to obtain the college testamur, yet mention was not made of the fact that Mr. Davis has been taking the combined course in Western University and Huron College. Owing to circumstances brought about by the war, it was not until the new year that he decided to present himself for ordination, and although he has done well in the many subjects which he necessarily had to take up, he has still a small balance to wipe off before receiving the testamur. As Mr. Davis is the only candidate of the ordination class who was taking an arts course, he has in reality a higher academic standing than the other members of the class.

MAYOR REFUSING TO SIGN LAND RECEIPT FOR STREET OPENING

Declines to Pick Up Last Year's Business.

Last year's mayor refused to sign a check to hand out some of the city's money. This year, the mayor refuses to sign a receipt to receive some land.

The question now in the limelight deals with the purchase of property to extend Elias street from Adelaide to William street. The deal for the property was put through by last year's council. For some puzzling reason, the city solicitor had the property conveyed to City Treasurer J. S. Bell, and this year he has asked that the city treasurer sign the property over to the city.

Mayor C. R. Somerville and the controllers have wondered long at this action of the solicitor, and, judging from their remarks today, they are as much in the dark as ever.

Mayor Somerville said that he was not going to pick up fag ends of last year's business. "The deal was put through by last year's council. Now it wants me to accept the property that I know nothing about, and I am not going to go into the whole thing. If Mr. Bell was good enough to hold it last year, he is good enough to hold it this year. The time will come when they will ask who accepted this property and I am not going to," said the mayor.

Controller Little said that it was not a check to be signed.

City Clerk Baker said that City Treasurer Bell could sign the property over, and this will be done.

Some of the controllers wanted to know if the double shift of the property meant a double solicitor's fee.

Another said that the plan was to have it in the treasurer's name until the deal was completed.

NEW GERMAN GOTHA REAL AIR MONSTER FORTY YARDS WIDE

French Army Headquarters, May 22, via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—Following are further particulars of the new giant Gotha bombing planes which the Germans have employed in their latest night raids over France and England.

Over Forty Metres.

It has a wing spread of 40 metres, is driven by three motors, each of 300-horsepower, and accommodates nine passengers, but on raids the crew numbers five or six, in order to carry more bombs and petrol. It carries about two tons of bombs, including one of about a ton weight, containing 850 kilos of explosives. Owing to the difficulty of landing at night with machines of such a size, it is probable there will be a high proportion of losses through accidents.

"THIS MURDEROUS WAR" DEPLORED BY SULTAN

Brest and Bucharest Treaties Show Huns' Peaceable Bent.

AMSTERDAM, May 22. — Sultan Mohammed of Turkey, toasting Emperor Charles of Austria at a dinner given at the imperial palace on Monday, is quoted in a Constantinople dispatch received here as saying:

"The treaties of Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest, which so happily put an end to the state of war between the central allies on the one hand, and Russia and Rumania on the other, constitute an undeniable proof of our desire to terminate this murderous war."

The sultan concluded his toast by expressing confidence "in the final triumph of our righteous cause." It is remarked that the ladies of the imperial harem were present in a special waiting room, when the Austrian emperor and empress arrived at the railroad at the Turkish capital. This is an innovation in Turkey.

The emperor and empress left Constantinople Tuesday

FINNS ARE OPPOSING RULE BY A MONARCH

STOCKHOLM, May 22.—The propaganda in favor of a monarchical government for Finland is meeting with considerable opposition. Editors of Finnish newspapers, meeting at Helsingfors today, voted by a great majority for a republic. At the meeting of the Finnish Diet, at which M. Svinhufud was nominated temporary dictor, warnings were freely given against an attempt to establish a monarchy. Several members of the peasant party threatened a new civil war if such a step were taken. They declared that the army strongly favored a republic.

R. R. BOARD MODIFIES INTERSWITCHING RULES

OTTAWA, May 22.—The railway board, in a lengthy judgment dealing with the matter of the interswitching of freight traffic, authorizes a considerable number of changes in the general interswitching rules that have been in effect.

"As the matter now stands," says the judgment, "the companies may charge their full tariff rates for the distance comprised in interswitch movements for team track deliveries. The principal effect of this is to form an embargo, and to shut off the movements of freight against the interests of at least certain portions of the territory served by the railways."

"I think," says Sir Henry Drayton, who writes the judgment, "that carriers should be compelled, at all times, according to their powers, to furnish an interswitching service equal to the service accorded their own traffic, at all points where interchanged tracks are not installed or may hereafter be provided, and that the line carrier when required by the shipper or consignee should be compelled to place cars at the proper point of interchange and to requisition the service of the interswitching carrier or carriers."

TANGLED UTILITIES FINANCES PUZZLE TO BOARD OF CONTROL

Charges and Contra-Charges, Demands On City for Cash and Refusal to Settle Until November, Bring Special Investigating Committee Into Being.

The board of control got some lessons on high finance this morning, when a statement as to the financial settlement between the city and the utilities commission was presented for consideration.

The discussion was marked by the mayor reiterating his statement that the water department of the city is not paying its way. Controller E. S. Little agreed with this, and said that the discounts should be reduced to increase the revenue.

Part of the communication, which brought forth numerous smiles from the controllers, asked the city to forward a check immediately for the amount which the city owes the commission for electric light, while at the same time the commission stated that it would not pay the city the balance due on the water account until November.

The statement showed that the city owes the commission $157,000. This is money for debentures issued since 1915 and which have not been sold but are hypothecated for short-term loans.

Balance Due City.

The commission owes the city $175,322 for surpluses unpaid and interest, making a balance of $18,322 due the city.

Mayor Somerville pointed out that some of the earlier debentures, citing the 1915 one for $30,000, are only 5 per cents or less. The city would not realize anything like $30,000 for them. It might get $25,000. The city did not know what it woud get. He was willing to pay over the full amount, as the utilities had billed it for it, but wanted an undertaking that when the debentures were sold that the utilities would square up the account, and in the meantime pay interest on the money, and the same with the subsequent unsold issues.

Not Charging Enough.

"I maintain," said the mayor, "that the commission is not charging enough for water. If it invests surplus money in property, stocks, etc., it must pay interest on it. If it wants a working capital, then we will give it one. I maintain that it is not getting enough out of the water to pay its way."

Controller Little said their discounts should be cut.

The communication to the board gave as the reason that the $18,000 difference between the accounts could not be paid was that the net surplus of 1917 included rates uncollected and investment in stocks. It was a physical impossibility to pay the money to the city as soon as it was determined. The commission could pay it by November.

The city owes the electrical department $285,000, and the department owes the city $267,710.24. The balance in the utilities' favor is $17,289.76. It suggested that the city pay this amount, so that it would have a working capital. As to the $20,000 for the site for the Utilities building, it was willing to pay this off in installments, and pay 6 per cent interest and taxes.

The statement of the wood yard was presented. The cost of operating the wood yard was $11,542.83. The receipts were $5,943.19. This would leave $5,599.64 of a balance for expenses, just about equal the receipts.

Object to Reduction.

The city owes $8,453.29 for street lighting. The city disputes the account on the grounds that the reduction for lights out during the time of the power shortage is insufficient. The commission suggested a substantial check on account while the case is being straightened out.

Controller Moore, in touching on the wood yard, asked why it asked for the money for coal. The commission had been quoted in the press as saying it could not get coal.

Mayor Somerville—They say they can get coal.

The mayor remarked that if the commission did not put its business on a proper basis it was working on aa improper principal. He suggested that the commission's statement be sent to the auditoss for a better interpretation than the utilities commission had given as to the financial situation.

Joint Bank Account.

Controller Little suggested that the mayor and Treasurer Bell should go into the debenture issue and see just how they stand. He said that he did not like the policy of the utilities in hanging on to surpluses. He wanted the account squared up. He said there were times when the London and Port Stanley Railway had a good-sized bank account and other departments were borrowing money at a high rate. He thought that the proper system was to have separate books, but one bank account. This would save the city thousands in interest. Many business concerns kept different books for their departments, but they had but one bank account.

The auditors, mayor and treasurer will delve into the case and try and bring order out of the chaos.

$3,316 BOOST TO COMMISSION'S SALARY LISTS

General Manager Gets One-Third of "H. C. of L."

DEPT. HEADS BENEFIT!

Two-Thirds of Sum Goes to Them at Special Meeting Today.

The utilities commission held a special meeting this morning to deal with salaries for the year. The pay-roll was jumped $3,316, and close to one-third of this goes to General Manager E. V. Buchanan. He receives a $1,000 jump. The highest raise outside of his goes to the draftsman, R. W. Swayne, who gets $240, and Secretary O. Ellwood, who jumps up $200.

The press was not invited to the meeting, as is the custom. Evidently it was the intention to pull "a star chamber" meeting. However, the press got wind of it, and though uninvited, its representatives attended.

When the gathering opened, Chairman Philip Pocock told the commissioners that the slate of increases had been prepared by the heads of the different departments. He said that the increases were to meet the high cost of living which brought the remark from Commissioner F. G. Mitchell that in that event all the increases should be the same.

Two-thirds of the $3,000 increase goes to the heads of departments, and the balance to the rest of the staff. But one or two escaped a boost, which would indicate that the cost of living has not jumped for them.

The old salaries of the department heads, with their new stipend and the increase, follows:

	Old.	New.	Increase
E. V. Buchanan	$3,000	$4,000	$1,000
A. O. Hunt	2,400	2,500	100
O. Ellwood	2,300	2,500	200
C. H. Colby, ch. opr.	2,000	2,100	100
T. Hodkinson, W. W. supt.	1,620	1,740	120
C. W. Alford, line supt.	1,500	1,680	180
W. J. Jackson, meter supt.	1,500	1,680	180
A. E. Carrothers, asst. secy.	1,500	1,600	100
C. Griffin, store kpr.	1,320	1,500	150
Total increase			$2,160

Secretary Corrothers has just resigned his position, and will go into the contracting business.

The workers in the different departments came in for a boost of from $20 to $120, with the exception of the draftsmen, an increase which is double that of other worker.

The eight operators of the hydro department were given an increase which will place all on or about the same basis. The clerks were more generously treated. The lowest boost for them was $60 and the highest $120 a year, or $1.25 to $2.50 per week. The total increase for the workers was $1,156.

CONCILIATION BOARD COMMENCES WORK IN CAMERA SESSION

Behind closed doors the board of conciliation appointed to consider the differences existing between the London Street Railway Company and its employees met this afternoon in the council chamber of the county buildings.

Although rumor had it that a settlement was about to be reached before the board met, nothing definite in that direction was accomplished, and the first meeting took place this afternoon.

It was expected that the first session of the board would take place this morning, but both Judge L. B. C. Livingstone of Welland and F. H. McGuigan of Toronto, members of the board, arrived so late that it was decided not to open the session until the afternoon.

President Chas. Currie, Manager C. B. King and other officials of the company were on hand, together with a large representation of the employees' union.

Under the chairmanship of Judge Livingstone, the meeting opened at 2 o'clock sharp, with Charles Ferguson of London Typographical Union, No. 133, present, as the representative of the employees. The press was excluded from the meeting.

It is expected that it will be Saturday before any definite decision is reached.

MUNITION WORKERS TERRIBLY BURNED BY MOLTEN METAL

Henry Littleton May Not Recover—Alex McPhail May Lose Eyesight.

Henry Littleton, a laborer residing at 822 Lovett street, was so terribly burned last night when a pot filled with molten metal burst at the munitions plant of the Empire Brass Company that he may not recover. Alex McPhail, one of the foremen at the factory, may lose his eyesight.

Mr. Littleton received the greater portion of the liquid blast, and great holes were burned in his face, neck and shoulders. Both he and Mr. McPhail were rushed to Victoria Hospital, where everything possible was done to relieve their intense suffering. Just how badly the men are hurt will not be known for several days, as it is feared that complications may develop following the shock and burns. According to information given out at Victoria Hospital today both men spent a restless and painful night. Their conditions are regarded as critical, the molten metal having penetrated to a greater depth than the first examination after the accident showed.

Mr. McPhail is a well-known horseman, having been employed for some time at Hueston's livery.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon both men were reported to be slightly improved.

OBJECTORS ADMIT MILITARY CRIME AT COURT-MARTIAL

Plead Guilty To Refusing To Don Khaki.

A district court-martial, with Lieut.-Col. W. J. Douglass as president, assembled at Wolseley Barracks this morning for the purpose of trying Pte. Edwin McCracken (3133426) and Pte. Samuel J. Steele (3133459), both of the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R., charged with refusing to obey a lawful command given by a superior officer. The court-martial emanated from the refusal of the accused men to don the uniform, they being conscientious objectors.

It was stated that one was a member of the Plymouth Brethren and the other a Christadelphian.

The men maintained, during trial, that their religious convictions prevented them from entering military service, and hence their refusal. The finding of the court was not made public, but it is said that the members have no other alternative but to convict as the men pleaded guilty to the charge. Major E. B. Nelles, 1st Battalion, C. G. R., and Capt. Charles Bell, 63rd Battery, C. F. A., assisted the president as members of the court. Major G. N. Weekes, district intelligence officer, acted as judge advocate, and Capt. William Lewis, C. G. R., acted as prosecutor.

Two other conscientious objectors recently tried by court-martial were convicted and sentenced to serve two years in prison, for refusing to don the khaki.

I.W.W. ATTEMPTED TO INTERFERE WITH THE U.S. WAR PREPARATIONS

CHICAGO, May 22.—How the I. W. W. attempted to interfere with the Government's preparations for war by curtailing production in the grain fields, oil wells, and coal and copper mines of the Central and Western States, was described in letters read today by Special Prosecutor H. K. Nebeker, at the trial of 112 members of the organization, before Federal Judge Landis. In addition to organizing the workers in these industries the I. W. W. leaders attempted to line up the employees of western railroads so as to paralyze the country's transportation system.

COURT-MARTIAL FOR ALLEGED DESERTERS

WINDSOR, May 22.—Arrested in Detroit today, Ptes. George Smith and Elgar Mathers, alleged deserters from London recently, will face a charge of stealing a revolver from Mathers' father in Walkerville, and a watch and chain from a Walkerville boarding house proprietor. They will be taken to London to be court-martialed.

APRIL 20 DEAD LINE FOR MARRIAGES OF 19-YEAR-OLD CLASS

Those Entering Matrimonial Bonds After Included.

NEW OTTAWA RULING

All Men of New Call Wedded After Prescribed Date Considered Bachelors.

Young married men of the age of 19 years who did not embark upon the sea of matrimony on or before April 20 will be considered bachelors under the military service act. This ruling from the military council reached Acting Deputy Registrar Beresford today. The same ruling applies to childless widowers after April 20.

Any man who becomes a widower without children after April 20, as the result of changes in his status will come under the order in council. He is then due to register within ten days. This applies to men of any age in Class 1. Men who were thus affected previous to April 20 will not be called till Class 2.

The proclamation issued on May 4 embraces not only 19-year-old men, but men who became 20 after October 13, 1917, and were not called on to register under the first proclamation.

If any man passed the three-mile limit before April 20 and has been returned to Canada he is excepted from the military service act, and if it was after April 20, to be excepted he must have been on an actual fighting front. The old definition as to theatre of war has been changed, dating from April 20. The old definition was to the effect that any man who had been beyond the three-mile limit was excepted from the military service act. Now the new definition of theatre of war does not include Great Britain, Ireland or the high seas. A man must have been off the high seas past England and on some actual fighting front to be excepted from the military service act after April 20.

The penalties provided under the military service act makes men of 19 years of age who fail to register subject to treatment as defaulters.

GASOLINE SALES ON SUNDAY OBJECTED TO BY MINISTERS

Auto Repairs Also Under Ban If Alliance Succeeds.

A movement to stop Sunday trading in gasoline in London, and also unnecessary repair work in garages, is under consideration here, according to a statement made today by Rev. J. H. Boyd, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance.

"The Lord's Day Alliance is opposed to all unnecessary work on Sunday," said Mr. Boyd, "and it is strongly felt that much of the work in connection with open garages on Sunday comes under this heading.

"Information has recently reached me concerning the boasting of one garage owner in the city that he had sold 300 gallons of gasoline before 3 o'clock on a Sunday afternoon. As the greater part of the gasoline is sold to local car owners, the general feeling is that these people could stock up with gasoline on Saturday.

"The opinion is that much work is done in the garages on Sunday in the way of supplying gasoline, which is unnecessary. Again, in the old days, blacksmith shops were not kept open on Sunday to repair buggies and other conveyances people wanted to ride in for pleasure. The question of the stopping of the Sunday sale of gasoline has been under consideration for some time past."

Rev. Dr. W. M. Rochester, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, who is well known in this city, states that at his headquarters office in Toronto he has been receiving requests from all parts of the country, asking the Alliance to deal with the question. The grounds of complaint are that the demands for gasoline on Sundays is becoming a serious burden upon employees, that it is unnecessary labor, and that traffic constitutes a nuisance on the public highway and a disturbance in residential districts. Special cases of emergency and necessity would have to be considered, however, in connection with trade in gasoline on Sunday if the prohibition were general.

WANT $1,200 SALARY MADE MINIMUM FOR MARRIED MINISTERS

Goderich District Sending a Memorial to General Conference.

GODERICH, May 22.—At the annual district meeting of the Goderich district of the Methodist Church, held in Dungannon, a resolution was passed memorializing the general conference to increase the minimum salary of ordained married ministers to $1,200; also to make a more adequate allowance to superannuated ministers.

A resolution was passed asking the approaching annual conference to appoint a committee to bring in a report for the consideration of the conference to have a central meeting place (London) for the conference to meet each year, and the traveling and other expenses of the ministers and laymen to conference be pooled, so that each person would pay an equal amount.

Rev. J. A. Agnew of Clinton, chairman of the district, presided. Rev. J. W. Hedley of Nile was elected secretary. C. W. Dewitt Cousins was recommended to be received into full connection and ordained at the conference in June, he having completed his probation course and passed a very creditable examination before the brethren.

Rev. J. E. Ford and Rev. J. Hart at their own request were recommended for permanent superannuation.

At the evening session Rev. Q. E. Jones of Clinton gave a practical address on "The Necessity of a Definite Religious Experience."

Today the reports of the different circuits of the district were read, and showed substantial progress. The net increase is 100 members for the district, there being 3,907 members of the church. For the general missionary fund $8,077 was raised, an increase of $6,300 over last year. There was also an increase of $95 in the givings of the Women's Missionary Society. The value of the churches and parsonages in the district is $240,000. Rev. J. A. McKelvey of Dungannon was elected to represent the district on the stationing committee, with Rev. George McKinley of Seaforth as alternate.

SWITZERLAND MANAGES TO SATISFY FRANCE

Berne, May 22.—After amicable explanations to France, the Swiss Government resolved today to sign the new treaty with Germany, by which Switzerland would be provided with German coal until January 1, 1919. This convention will be quite independent from arrangements with France relative to the delivery of French coal to Switzerland.

are the most effective means to make trade

The exchange of one article for another—in short, "trading"—is one of man's favorite pursuits.

That's why you'll find some mighty interesting and uncommon offers of exchange made among the many ads under "For Sale."

And these little ads get the right people together with uncanny certainty. Backed by the far-reaching circulation of The Advertiser, the quick results obtained are really not so mysterious. Thousands of homes are reached, and naturally there are always hundreds of people who want what you have, while you want what they have. A trade therefore is the sensible thing—it profits and pleases both parties.

GREAT GERMAN BLOW WILL FALL WITHIN FEW DAYS, IS VIEW

Foe Has Enormous Force, Allies Elements of Victory.

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS.

Copyright, 1918, Tribune Association, New York.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Unless all the advices and information which reach us from France are totally inaccurate, the third German blow is likely to fall within the next few days. In any event, the danger signals which are now being displayed warrant a word of caution and of advice as to what is likely to happen, given the weight which the next German blow will have, and the time which the Germans have occupied in preparing it.

In their March and April offensives the Germans used just short of 140 divisions, the best of which had been prepared for the attack over long months of training. Nothing that skill or science could give was lacking. This blow was parried after the Germans had progressed for some 35 miles in the south and twelve miles in the north.

Enemy Lost 400,000.

The German loss was not less than 400,000 in killed and wounded. Very few prisoners were lost. The Allied loss in the same time was not much under 350,000, together with many guns, and of the total loss perhaps 100,000 were prisoners.

When the German renews his attack he will still have from 60 to 70 fresh divisions, not yet used, and he will have an equal number of divisions very thoroughly mended since the "blood bath" of March and April.

Numbers About Equal.

At the present moment the numbers are approximately equal. The German has more guns, as a result of his captures in Russia and Rumania and Italy, but he has not larger stocks of ammunition. Allied superiority in the air remains, and the lessons of the last two offensives have been learned, and will be applied by a single commander-in-chief.

No soldier would ask for a better chance than Foch now has, since numbers and all else are equal.

But, on the other hand, the Allied strategy which elected the defensive at the outset of the campaign of 1918, accepted inevitably local losses and temporary reverses. The Germans accepted this at the Somme in 1916, and in Flanders last year, and in both cases, despite local losses, preserved his line intact.

The Role for America.

For America in the new crisis which is at hand, there is an obvious duty. We are not merely the reservoir of man power to the Allies for the future; we must be the reservoir of morale. No one who has not been in Europe understands the strain which has been placed upon the peoples at war. No one who had not had day-by-day experience in France or in England can understand what the burden and the horror of this conflict have become for those who are bearing it now and have borne it through nearly four years. War-weariness in Europe is a factor which must be reckoned with, if this country now and during the critical days which are to come preserves that splendid unity, determination and enthusiasm which are already transforming conditions abroad, and are bound to win the war when to the spiritual is added the material contribution.

Victory On Allied Side.

Of all the Allied assets today, none is greater than the spirit which is rising, and universally, in the United States at this time. Never in the history of our nation has there been anything like it. Men, women and children have enlisted for the duration of the war. The activities of the people for the winning of the war are exciting the amazement of every European who comes to our shores, but even more wonderful to him is the spirit of unity, of confidence, or readiness for the ultimate sacrifice which is everywhere to be found.

The next offensive is going to test this spirit. It is going to test American endurance. The elements of victory are upon the side of our allies. They can hold out until we come, if we come quickly and with undaunted spirit.

THESE LETTERS FROM ST. MARYS

Give Some Idea of What the Great Food Cure Is Accomplishing in That Town—Certified by Local Justice of the Peace.

St. Marys, Ont., May 22.—Whatever mystery there may be about medicine we all like to know the experience of others who have used it. When we get the opinions of people we know and have confidence in we feel that we can use the treatment with the full assurance that the results will prove satisfactory.

Many readers of this paper will know these St. Marys ladies and be encouraged by their experience to put the great food cure to the test.

Mrs. Thomas Evans, St. Marys, Ont., writes: "Some years ago I felt run down in health, and also suffered from sleeplessness and nervous trouble. I had seen Dr. Chase's Nerve Food recommended for such cases, so started taking them. I found them to be all that was claimed of them — they strengthened and built up my complete system, and improved my health in general."

Mrs. A. MacNeill, St. Marys, Ont., writes: "For some time I suffered from neuralgic rheumatism, which affected me mostly in the hands. The pain used to be quite severe at times. I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and five or six boxes of this treatment broke it up. Since then I have not been troubled with those severe pains in my hands, and can cheerfully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone suffering as I did."

Mr. Wm. Weir, J.P., states: "I am acquainted with both these parties, and believe their statements to be correct."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

SENSATIONAL PLAY SHOWS INNER LIFE OF GERMAN KAISER

"The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," a Photodramatic Triumph.

AT THE PATRICIA THEATRE

Showing Today, Friday and Saturday, Twice Daily.

"The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," the season's sensational photodramatic triumph, depicting the inner life, mannerisms and habits of the German emperor, with all his offensive arrogance, will be shown at the Patricia Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

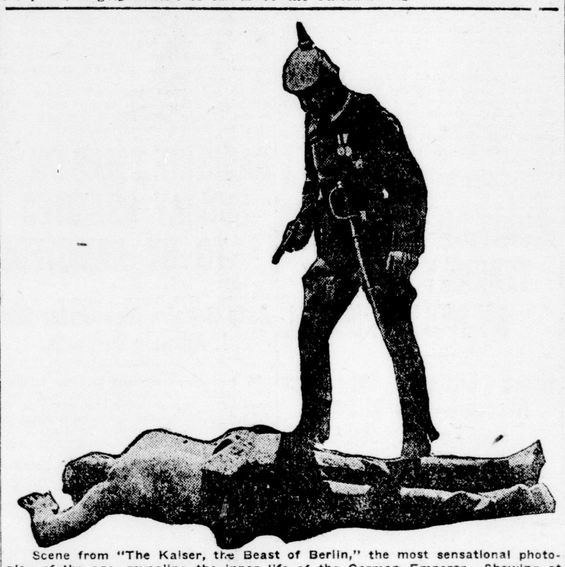

In Louvain is the house of Marcas, the blacksmith. A daughter, Gabrielle, betrothed to Louis Lemenie; a son, Jean, and old Grandmother, Marcas, make up his family. In a palace in Berlin lives a man whose life is not governed by faith and love, and who is an enemy of peace and prosperity—Emperor William.

In an inexorable mode, the kaiser inspects the new palace guard. Capt. von Wolhold, the commander of the guard, finds difficulty in restraining the insults flung his way by Germany's war lord. Later, the kaiser cruelly humiliates the officer in the presence of the courtiers, assembled in the reception room. Unable to bear those insults to his manhood and German honor, Capt. von Wolhold demands a private audience with the ruler. According to Prussian procedure, the officer demands satisfaction, and when called a "swine" for his pains, forgets himself so far as to knock the kaiser down. As a Prussian officer, but one course is left to him. He commits suicide. The court physician privately tells one of the assembled courtiers that had the blow landed three inches higher it would have broken the poison cancer in the kaiser's ear and so rendered him a madman.

Whatever effect the blow may have had, the kaiser shortly afterwards speaks the word which sets the world afire. Rumors reach the people of Louvain that their country is to be invaded. Marcas, the blacksmith, endeavors to calm the fears of his fellow-citizens with the assurances that Belgium is neutral. But the kaiser has no regard for treaties. In his military council chamber he tears up the treaty in which he had guaranteed neutrality into scraps of paper, and so takes the first steps towards destroying a nation. The Germans enter Louvain, and in trying to save his son from death, Marcas, the blacksmith, is wounded. When a German officer attempts to seize his daughter the blacksmith slays him, and hides the crime by throwing the body into a burning building.

The manner in which his plans of invasion are going awry gradually tell upon the German war lord. He grants an audience with Ambassador Gerard, of the United States, with whom he is curt and arrogant. The ambassador merely smiles when informed by the emperor that the interests to take no nonsense from the United States after the war. Subsequently word of the United States' entry into the war is brought to the kaiser by his chancellor. The kaiser is staggered and looks into the future. Then comes the end of the shrouding of the war, and with it the dawning of peace. Berlin falls and the regime of the Hohenzollerns is over. Gens. Joffre, Haig, Diaz, King Albert, and Lieut.-Gen. Currie, commanding the Canadians, witness the surrender of the man who had brought all the misery to millions of people. The kaiser's imperious air deserts him, but with an effort he regains his self-control, until he is informed that the council of nations has decided that he is to be a prisoner of the Belgian people. Shorn of power, title and country, Kaiser William is confined a prisoner in Louvain.

Among those present at the initial screening of the picture in New York recently were Lord and Lady Aberdeen, and representatives of the various military and patriotic organizations in the United States.

Scene from "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," the most sensational photoplay of the age, revealing the inner life of the German Emperor. Showing at the Patricia Theatre twice daily, 2:15 and 8 o'clock, today, Friday and Saturday. Also, Little Mary McAllister in "The Kingdom of Hope," the last episode of the "Do Children Count?" serial; a Judge Willis Brown story, "The Last Lie," and the De Luxe Trio, three girls in a singing and dancing novelty.

SIR EDWARD KEMP IS TO LOSE HIS JOB AS OVERSEAS MINISTER

Lack of Co-operation Between Him and Mewburn.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, May 22.—That important and far-reaching changes in the Canadian military organization overseas are pending is forecasted in unofficial, but reliable reports circulated at Ottawa.

For a considerable time past the advisability of maintaining a dual ministry of militia in Canada and overseas has been a matter of controversy, both on the part of military and civilian authorities.

At the present time Sir Edward Kemp is the overseas minister, and Major-General Mewburn the minister in Canada. Events have shown that there is a marked lack of co-operation or co-ordination between the two ministries and considerable dissatisfaction has resulted.

Sir Edward Kemp, it is stated, will be recalled, and his position as overseas minister abolished. In his stead there will be appointed a civilian deputy minister responsible to the minister of militia in Canada. There will be a thorough reorganization of Argyle House and a weeding out of the various branches connected therewith on a basis of efficiency and economy.

It is understood that General Sir Arthur Currie will be placed in command not only of the Canadian forces in France, but also of those in England, with the title of commander-in-chief of the Canadian forces. Gen. Turner will probably return to France, where his heart is. Gen. Currie will control his own reinforcements.

Radical changes in the medical services are also, it is stated, in contemplation, while a shaking up in the forestry and other non-combatant units is anticipated.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG AND BISHOP FALLON VISIT CANADIANS

Commander-in-Chief High in Praise—Garden Parties the Vogue.

CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD, via London, May 22.—(By W. A. Willison, Canadian Press correspondent.)—The Canadian force has again been honored by a short, unofficial visit from the commander-in-chief. Sir Douglas Haig spoke in the warmest terms of the Canadian war services, and Canada will be gratified, as was the Canadian commander, at his high appreciation of the Canadian forces. Inspections and parades marked the visit, which was truly of a social nature.

Except for increased artillery activity in one sector and some scattered hostile gas shelling, there is nothing outside the usual patrol activity to report on the Canadian front.

We are enjoying a spell of delightful summer weather. Concerts, sports and garden parties, featured and graced by the attendance of Canadian nurses from near and distant Canadian casualty clearing stations, are general throughout the back areas. May 24 is to be featured by a double-header baseball game.

Bishop Fallon of London, Ont., has been paying a ten-days' visit to the corps.

MAJESTIC

Billie Burke at the Majestic Today.

There are few motion picture actresses who are more delightful in their portrayals than is Billie Burke, the charming and magnetic Paramount star, who is appearing in "Let's Get a Divorce," showing at the Majestic today.

"Let's Get a Divorce" is based upon Victorien Sardou's "Divorcons," and was adapted for the screen by Anita Loos and John Emerson. The scenes are laid in France, many of them occurring in a convent of which Cyprienne Marcey, the role assumed by Miss Burke, is an inmate. Of an unusually romantic turn of mind, Cyprienne finds her convent life more or less irksome, and indulges in numerous flirtations, which cause the mother superior grave concern.

When Henri de Prunelles, a student and writer, announces to the mother superior that he desires Cyprienne for his wife, she heaves a sigh of relief, and willingly assists Henri in prevailing upon Cyprienne to take part in a faked-up elopement. Their marriage follows, and for a time Cyprienne is quite happy, but finding her husband has lapsed into the habit of working instead of devoting all of his time to her, she strikes up a flirtation with an officer of the forestry service, and, convinced that she loves him, begs her husband to give her a divorce.

Wallace Reid in "Believe Me, Xantippe," at the Majestic, Friday and Saturday.

As a stage attraction this rollicking comedy scored a distinct hit, and there is every reason to believe that the screen version will meet with public approval. The play abounds in the merriest of farcical situations, is splendidly acted by the members of a clever cast, well directed and vibrant throughout with clean, sparkling humor.

Wallace Reid shines brilliantly in the star role of George MacFarland, the wealthy youth, whose love of adventure and fun leads him into such complicated adventures. Ann Little is piquant and fetching in the part of Dolly Kamman, the sheriff's impulsive and undaunted daughter, and the principals are adequately supported by the other players.

The plot is simple and easy to follow, consisting, as it mostly does, of the hero's desperate windings and dodgings in his efforts to escape the hand of the law, but such as it is, suffices amply for the comedy needs. There is not a moment in the march of events when dullness prevails; the action is brisk, the sub-titles witty, and, considered from any angle, this feature, with its fine photography and mirthful appeal, should prove a drawing-card.

BRITAIN APPEALING FOR ALL CHEESE AND BUTTER RELEASEABLE

Canada Food Board Puts a Limit on Stock To Be Retained.

OTTAWA, May 22.—In response to appeals from Lord Rhondda for all the cheese and butter which Canada can release for export overseas, the Canada Food Board is endeavoring to expedite shipment of both these products.

The board has provided under order No. 26 that "no person, without first having obtained permission in writing from the Canada Food Board, shall own or hold any quantity of cheese, greater than is reasonably necessary to supply his own Canadian trade requirements during the season of scant production, which season, for the purpose of this order, shall be deemed to have expired on June 1 in each year, on which date he shall not have more than sufficient to supply his own Canadian trade requirements for 30 days."

Dealers, both wholesale and retail, are warned that any stock owned or held on June 1 in excess of 30 days' requirements, will make the holder of such stock liable to a fine of not less than $100 and up to $1,000, or to imprisonment for a period of up to three months, or to both fine and imprisonment.

Any person holding a stock of cheese greater than is necessary to supply their requirements for 30 days after the 1st of June, may readily dispose of such surplus sock by selling to any recognized cheese exporter.

Troubled for Years With BRONCHITIS

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Gave Instant Relief.

Bronchitis is a disease which is very prevalent during the late winter and early spring, when there are sudden atmospheric changes. It is a condition of inflammation of the bronchial tubes which produces mucous or phlegm. This irritates the throat and causes you to cough in order to get rid of it. The cough may be tight or loose according as to whether this mucous is sticky and hard to remove, or soft and easily expelled.

Bronchitis is not really dangerous, but the complications which are liable to follow makes it necessary to get rid of it on the first sign. This you can do by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A remedy that has been on the market for over 25 years.

John D. McFarlane, Jr., S. W. Margaree, N. S., writes: "I was troubled for years with bronchitis, and could not find any relief. I was especially bad on a damp day. I went to a druggist and asked him for something to stop the constant tickling in my throat. He gave me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I found gave me instant relief. It is the best remedy for bronchitis I know of, and I now take care that I always have a bottle of it on hand."

See that you get "Dr. Wood's." Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c; manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain —How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases, and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid, and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take, and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At the annual election of officers for London Typographical Union, No. 133, held yesterday, the following were chosen: President, A. H. Wheatley (acclamation); vice-president, Andrew C. Flowers; treasurer, Frank McKay (acclamation); financial secretary, H. J. Hooper (acclamation); recording secretary, J. W. Haworth (acclamation); sergeant-at-arms, Hugh Bentley; delegate to I. T. U. convention in Scranton, Pa., E. J. Stein; delegate to Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions, H. J. Hooper; delegate to Ontario Educational Association, F. C. Wanless. H. B. Archer, who is vice-president of the O. C. T. U., was accorded acclamation as delegate to the convention, which will be held in Brantford on June 7 and 8.

Officers for the international union were also voted for, the result showing overwhelming confidence in those at present in charge of affairs.

Thirty-Two Specific Charges of Fraud and Election Crime on Page of Canada's History

A. B. Copp, M.P., on His Responsibility as Member of the House of Commons, Makes Most Serious Accusations—Soldiers Told How to Vote; Many Not Allowed to Vote as They Would—Overseas Polling Booth of C. M. R. Graham, Former Mayor of London, Mentioned as Especially Bad.

FRAUDS AND ELECTION CRIME.

Dealing with the taking of the overseas soldiers' vote, A. B. Copp, M. P. for Westmoreland, N. B., declared in the House of Commons yesterday that an investigation should be held into the votes of soldiers polled in Canada and overseas. He claimed that irregularities had taken place in connection with the voting in Canada and letters received from soldiers convinced him that in taking the overseas vote irregularities had been practiced which amounted to frauds and an election crime.

Mr. Copp then proceeded to read a statement which contained 32 direct charges in this connection. He declared that a carefully-organized conspiracy existed which affected a large number of constituencies throughout Canada. The charges covered the various allegations in connection with the taking of the soldiers' votes which have been made at various times throughout the session, but covered a number of specific details not hitherto mentioned.

Mr. Copp's charges were as follows:

"I hereby state on my honor and on my responsibility as a member of this honorable House:

"That in the recent election a carefully-organized conspiracy existed by which extensive frauds were perpetrated in connection with the soldiers' votes.

"That the aforesaid fraudulent conspiracy was particularly operative in the electoral districts of King's and Queen's, Prince Edward Island, Cape Breton North and Victoria, Richmond and Cape Breton South, Cumberland, Digby and Annapoll, Pictou, Westmoreland, Restigouche and Madawaska, Kent, N.B., Northumberland, N.B., Brome, Sherbrooke, Chambly, Vercheres, St. Ann's, Montreal, St. Antoine, St. Henri, St. Lawrence and St. George, Standstead, Wright, Algoma East, Bruce North and South, Essex North and South, Hamilton East and West, Huron South, Kent, Ontario, Leeds and Brockville, Lennox and Addington, London, Middlesex West, Nipissing, Ontario South, Ottawa, Oxford South, Peel, Prince Edward, Russell, Welland, Calgary, Edmonton and the Yukon.

Directed By Officers.

"These frauds were directed and practiced by responsible officers of his majesty's Canadian forces cooperating with deputy presiding officers and poll clerks appointed under the authority of the crown. That military electors were officially advised how to fill in Form B. on the back of the envelopes containing their ballots, in order to successfully and fraudulently place their votes in constituencies other than those in which they were legally entitled to vote.

"That evidence will be submitted by me to a commission of inquiry establishing the fact that there was an organization to transfer a large fraudulent vote to certain selected constituencies in order to overcome the legitimate vote of the said electoral districts.

"That in certain of the said constituencies a fraudulent soldiers' vote was polled largely in excess of the legitimate military franchise.

Irregularities Overseas.

"That throughout camps in Great Britain the answers to questions in Form B. on the back of the ballot envelopes were filled in by commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers outside the polling booths, instead of being filled in by the military electors, or the presiding officers inside the polling booth, and the said envelopes were given to the officials recording the votes without the said questions being addressed to the said voters by the presiding officers.

"That Opposition scrutineers were prevented from attending certain polling booths while the military vote was being recorded.

"That the representative of the Opposition was forcibly removed from a polling booth and arrested and confined in a camp prison during the period when a large fraudulent vote was being recorded in the said polling booth.

"The ballot envelopes, partly filled in, signed and sealed by the deputy presiding officer, and each containing a ballot marked in favor of the Government, were in circulation, with the blank space left open for the insertion of the name of a military voter, as a means of facilitating the perpetration of the frauds hereinbefore mentioned.

Canvassed By Officers.

"That military electors were canvassed by superior officers in direct contravention of the King's regulations and orders, and were directed how they should mark their ballots.

"That military electors in non-combatant regiments were threatened with transfer to fighting regiments if they did not mark their ballots for the Government in the presence of and in the manner prescribed by the deputy presiding officer.

"That military electors who at first refused to vote as they were directed, but afterwards did so under compulsion, were, nevertheless, removed to regiments proceeding to the fighting line.

"That military electors were not afforded facilities for proper observance of the secrecy of the ballot as provided by the military voters' act.

"That scrutineers, appointed on behalf of the Government, were sworn in as scrutineers for the Opposition by deputy presiding officers in polling booths where it is believed frauds were practiced owing to the Opposition not having bonafide representatives therein.

Beaverbrook's Handiwork.

"That election campaign literature which was dishonest and untruthful was circulated among the military electors with the authority and by the direction of Lord Beaverbrook, and that the said Lord Beaverbrook was an active participant in the hereinbefore mentioned fraudulent practices.

"That letters mailed through the Canadian army branch of the British postoffice, addressed to military electors, in which was inclosed campaign literature on behalf of the Opposition were opened, and the said literature was removed therefrom before the said letters were delivered to the military electors to whom they were addressed, and the delivery of the said letters was also systematically delayed by the said postoffice authorities.

"That ballot boxes and bags contained a number of ballot envelopes tightly folded together in parcels or wads too large to have been inserted in the said bags or boxes through the proper aperture, and in addition, bearing dates showing that the votes had been polled not on the same day, but at intervals of time.

15,000 Such Votes.

"That the contents of these ballot boxes or bags which thus appeared to have been fraudulently tampered with, were, contrary to the provisions of the elections act, allocated and counted in the United Kingdom to the number of 15,000 votes under instructions from the assistant clerk of the crown in chancery.

"That several thousand ballot envelopes were fraudulently indorsed and the votes allocated to constituencies other than those in which the said military electors were entitled to vote.

"That military electors were systematically persuaded to give answer for indorsation on their ballot envelopes setting forth residence in constituencies in which they did not reside, and upon which declaration of domiciles, their qualification to vote, was based.

"That fraudulent votes were recorded for the electoral district of Cumberland, N. S., by Capt. H. M. Burke, deputy returning officer at Ashford, county of Kent, England, in which voters declared their residence to be Springhill, Tignish, Joggin Mines, Shulie and Nappan, Pugwash, Oxford and Amherst, whose domicile was, in fact, in some one of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Ontario and Quebec.

This City's Ex-Mayor—Oh!

"That similar conditions to those referred to in the preceding paragraph prevailed in the polling booth presided over by Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham, of the 156th Battalion, Witley, in which military electors, whose domicile was in other parts of Ontario and Manitoba, together with a number of subjects of the United States, were induced to falsely declare their residence to be in Brockville, in the electoral district of Leeds (Sir Thomas White's riding).

"That at the said polling booth, in the presence of the said Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham, and the deputy presiding officer, it was arranged that the votes of the military electors whose surnames commenced with the letters ranging from A to H should be polled in the electoral district of Grenville, and the said votes were so polled after the said electors had been induced to falsely declare their domicile to be in the town of Prescott, in the electoral district of Grenville.

"That a large number of citizens of the United States voted in the electoral districts of Peel, Digby and Annapolis, St. Ann's (Quebec), Prince Edward County (Ontario), North Essex, Bruce North, Edmonton, Cape Breton South and Richmond, St. Lawrence and St. George, Ottawa, Brome, Renfrew, Laurier and Outremont, Wright, Cape Breton North, and Victoria, Pictou, Westmoreland, Cumberland, Leeds, Yarmouth, Hants, St. Antoine and Port Arthur, and Kenora.

Some Voted Twice.

"That military electors voted twice in the same polling booth.

"That deputy presiding officers gave military electors two ballots in direct violation of the election act.

"That military electors voted on behalf of and personated other military electors.

"That after military electors had voted, ballot envelopes were fraudulently reindorsed, so that the votes of the said electors were transferred to electoral districts other than the constituencies indicated by the said electors in their reply to questions 6 and 7 in Form B.

"That persons were fraudulently allowed to vote by deputy presiding officers with knowledge that such persons were not qualified under the election act.

"That a large number of Canadian officers fraudulently voted in electoral districts other than where they were entitled to vote."

GOVT. REFUSES

what did it matter? Moreover, he chided Mr. Copp for bringing such a trifling subject—a grain of sand, he called it—before the House so late in the session. Beyond these observations, and an attack upon W. T. R. Preston, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's agent in England (who, by the way, was clapped in jail while certain of the things mentioned in the charges were being pulled off), the Government had really no answer to Mr. Copp's charges. Neither did it show any inclination to grant the request for an investigation by a committee of inquiry.

Regiment Trained to Vote.

It was a wonderful story which Joseph Archambault told of his own contest in the County of Chambly Vercheres against Joseph Rainville, the former deputy speaker of the House. Mr. Archambault told how a regiment of 1,200 men, stationed at St. John, quite outside of Chambly County, had been trained and induced to vote for his opponent in that county.

Even the officers in charge, one of whom was a lieutenant-colonel from Woodstock, N.B., (where Hon. F. B. Carvell comes from), declared that they did not know or had forgotten their former dwelling place in the Dominion or where they had resided prior to enlistment.

The charges of Mr. Copp involve men high up. He mentioned specifically Lord Beaverbrook (Sir Max Aitken) and Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham, former mayor of London. These charges appear in an adjoining column.

Names the Deputies.

After reading his thirty-two specific charges, Mr. Copp read a list of the deputy presiding officers in whose polls it was alleged fraud had been practiced. He cited also a series of military votes of men resident in Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, which had been endorsed for Prince Edward County in Ontario.

Colonel Currie—"Were those votes counted? The ruling was that such votes were not to be counted."

Mr. Murphy—"That is not the point. If the fraud was prevented, that does not excuse those guilty of conspiracy."

Mr. Copp—"I am not discussing that branch of the question at this moment. I am giving a statement on the officers and men who voted in constituencies other than those in which they reside."

Colonel Currie argued that there was no evidence to show that the votes were not correctly given. It was nonsense to waste the time of the House in such a manner.

Thirteen Thousand of Them.

"There are thirteen thousand of them," remarked Mr. Murphy.

Proceeding, Mr. Copp cited a case where 999 votes had been improperly indorsed for Quebec constituencies. He claimed that the cases of alleged fraud were not isolated. If his information was correct, in practically every camp where the votes of soldiers were taken, the deputy presiding officers had simply taken part in a conspiracy to defeat the will of the people.

Mr. Copp proceeded to read a considerable number of affidavits from soldiers who had acted as deputy-returning officers in connection with the taking of the vote, more particularly at Camp Whitley. In nearly all of the affidavits the allegations were made that the soldiers were given, before they entered the booths, envelopes containing ballots with the question in Form B on the back of the envelopes already filled in. The affidavits included those of Sergeant W. McCoy, Q.-M.-S. Faulkner of 185th Battalion and Thomas D. McFarlane of 156th Battalion. The latter, in his affidavit, said that he saw officers and non-commissioned officers filling in the Form B questions on the back of the envelopes, and that he had directed the attention of the returning officer to the matter.

Mr. Preston Under Arrest.

Mr. Copp read an affidavit from W. T. R. Preston, Opposition agent in the United Kingdom, stating that he had been excluded from a poll, and that the poll had been held in his absence. Mr. Preston declared further that he had been illegally detained in the guard-room.

Another affidavit was produced to show that a ballot was taken, filled and signed by a deputy returning officer with the name of the elector left blank. A statement by G. D. McFarlane, Opposition scrutineer in the United Kingdom, showed that undue influence had been used on military electors in Canadian war hospitals.

Mr. Copp produced an affidavit by Donald Darcy of the 203rd Forestry Battalion, stating that he had been ordered by the adjutant to vote for the Government, otherwise he would be transferred to an infantry battalion, and more than that, he would be punished.

An affidavit signed by Pte. J. Murray was to the same effect. Murray added that he had been forced to vote for the Government, and afterwards was transferred to an infantry battalion.

The Chain of Conspiracy.

Referring to his fifteenth allegation, Mr. Copp said the act provided for the appointment of Opposition scrutineers to attend the various polling booths. "Let us see how that was carried out," he said. "It is another link in the chain of conspiracy."

He declared that two deputy scrutineers had been appointed by Lieut.-Col. A. G. Thompson, in command of one of the battalions at the front. One man was appointed to represent the Government, and the other the Opposition. Under the military voters' act, the Opposition had no legal representative.

Mr. Copp criticized the vote cast by Lord Brooke. He said he had no personal knowledge regarding Lord Brooke's domicile before he went overseas, but according to information he had received, his home was in Calgary. Lord Brooke voted in Provencher, and if he was domiciled in Calgary he had no right to cast his vote in the Manitoba constituency. Mr. Copp said that his action must have been taken because he thought the vote would benefit the Union Government more in Provencher than in Calgary.

Stuffing Ballot Bags.

Several affidavits were read by Mr. Copp in support of his allegation that many of the bags contained the ballots rolled together in such a way that they could not have been inserted in the slit of the bag. This included a statement referring to Lieutenant-Colonel Burney, the overseas returning officer, by W. A. Dillon, the deputy returning officer, on behalf of the Government, and W. D. Spence, representing the Opposition. They agreed that bags opened by them contained a considerable number of rolls of ballots which could not have been inserted in the aperture provided for the purpose.

Mr. Copp dealt at length with the allocation of votes to constituencies, in which the electors were not entitled to vote. He said that 33 such votes had been transferred from other parts of Canada to Kent, New Brunswick; 145 to Prince Edward County, Ontario; 18 to South Huron, and gave similar figures as to transfers of votes to other constituencies. Mr. Davidson of Annapolis asked Mr. Copp if he was aware that the Unionist candidate in Prince Edward County had a majority of 1,000 and over on the civilian vote.

Wrong, Just the Same.

The member for Westmoreland replied that the overseas returning officer did not know this when the soldiers' votes were taken.

Further instances, regarding the allocation of votes to constituencies other than those in which the voters were domiciled, were given by Mr. Copp, and at 5:30 p.m., after he had been speaking for two hours and forty-five minutes, W. H. Butts, South Cape Breton, asked:

"I wonder if the honorable gentleman knows how long he has been inflicting punishment on this House?"

Mr. Copp stated in reply that he did not know and did not care. Several more attempts to question the speaker were made by Mr. Butts and Mr. Davidson, and finally Deputy Speaker Boivin declared that members were abusing their privilege in connection with questions.

Soldiers Are Influenced.

Resuming his speech at the evening sitting, Mr. Copp read a list of soldiers who had not been residents in the Yukon, but had cast their votes in that constituency. There were twenty of these names, and he declared that as far as he could see, these men must have been influenced by someone higher up to vote as they had done. Soldiers have voted twice in various constituencies, according to Mr. Copp, and he furnished the names of men who had cast these votes and other details to substantiate his statements. These few cases indicated, he said, that there were probably thousands of similar instances.

Another abuse which had been practiced was the placing of two ballots in a single envelope. The act distinctly stated that each voter was entitled to only one ballot. It was easy to understand that in certain instances mistakes might have occurred whereby a soldier would receive two ballots, but this had happened in so many cases that it looked like a deliberate contravention of the act. Impersonation had been carried on, soldiers voting on the wrong number. This was illegal.

Votes cast in certain constituencies had subsequently been transfered to other constituencies.

In concluding his speech Mr. Copp moved a resolution to the effect that an investigation be held, conducted by a judge of a court of superior jurisdiction and two counsel, one to be appointed by the prime minister and one by the leader of the Opposition, to examine into the taking and counting of the military votes cast at the last election.

The motion was seconded by Mr. Archambault.

Burrell Makes Reply.

Replying, Hon. Martin Burrell said he could not understand why the matter had been brought up at this time. Mr. Copp, he said, had referred to certain of the proceedings in connection with the elections as fraudulent, but he (Burrell) thought it was a crime to go into the matter at such length so near the end of the session. Without a single soldier's vote, he said, the Union Government had been so unanimously indorsed that there was no question as to the mandate of the people.

The secretary of state resented the imputations that had been brought on officers engaged in carrying on the election in Canada, England and France. Mr. Copp, he stated, had made practically no charges in regard to the administration of the act, in Canada and in France, but had confined his allegations mainly to the manner, in which the elections were carried out in England. It was a singular fact, he declared, that all the charges were connected with the election proceedings in England, where W. T. R. Preston was the chief scrutineer for the Liberal party.

There had been no complaints, he intimated, regarding the way the polling was carried out in Canada under W. F. O'Connor as general returning officer, and Mr. Langlois, who represented the Liberal party in France, had expressed great satisfaction at the way things had been conducted in that country. Mr. Burrell said the same rulings which govern the election in Canada governed it in England and France.

Vote Where They Please.

Dealing with the charges made by Mr. Copp that votes had been allocated to constituencies other than those specified by the voter, Mr. Burrell said that many civilians and soldiers believed that, being military voters, they were privileged to vote in any constituency they pleased.

This statement caused considerable laughter on the Opposition side of the House, and Mr. Burrell continued, "and my honorable friends were the ones who deliberately circulated that belief."

He then explained that the votes of persons who specified that their votes should be allocated to constituencies other than those in which they resided were placed in the constituency in which their place of residence was situated. On the other hand, the votes of those who indicated that they lived in Canada, but specified no other place of residence, but stipulated a constituency to which their ballot was to be allocated, to the electoral district in which they had enlisted.

Mr. Burrell stated that out of the 104,000 ballots cast in England, 17,000 were rejected, and 19,000 of the votes cast in Canada were also rejected.

The minister said that, while it was possible there had been some irregularities, there had been insufficient double-voting or impersonating to justify the suspicion of a dark conspiracy.

One Probe Offered.

Hon. J. C. Doherty, minister of justice, speaking after midnight, said that after the House had disposed of the motion in the only way Parliament could dispose of it, there would be a judicial investigation into the allegations of Mr. Archambault in regard to Chambly-Vercheres.

"When?" queried Opposition members.

"As promptly as possible," the minister replied.

Mr. Doherty expressed regret that members of the Opposition had cheered statements made by Mr. Archambault, which, if true, mean that certain soldiers had proved themselves to be unworthy.

He said that Mr. Archambault, if in possession of information as to irregularities, should have placed his information in the hands of parties whose duty it was to put the law in motion.

Mr. Doherty emphasized the point that judicial inquiry would be limited to the special case put in before the Government. He argued that it would not be wise or advisable to grant the larger inquiry demanded by the motion, and which related principally to the election in England and France.

Replying to a question by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he minister of justice said that all specific charges such as those made by Mr. Archambault will be promptly inquired into.

ORANGEMEN IN FAVOR OF IRISH CONSCRIPTION

At a meeting of Hackett L. O. L., No. 805, last evening a resolution was unanimously passed, and will be cabled immediately to Sir Edward Carson, supporting him in the stand that he is taking in opposing Home Rule for Ireland, favoring conscription for Ireland, and condemning the Sinn Feiners.

Another resolution was passed, and will be forwarded to H. B. Hocken, M.P., Toronto, complimenting him upon the speech he made recently in the House in support of Orange principles.

THE COPP CHARGES.

DEFINITE charges of the most serious fraud in the taking of the soldiers' vote, both overseas and at home, were made in the House of Commons yesterday by Mr. A. B. Copp, Liberal member for Westmoreland, N. B.

If there is even a vestige of truth in the charges—and it seems difficult to believe that they are not supported by the most clinching evidence—the whole matter of the soldiers' vote should be brought before the country in the form of an investigation before a real commission, but not a whitewashing machine. The 32 charges form the basis of the most scandalous election fraud in the history of Canada, or the world.

Surely neither the people at home nor the soldiers serving overseas wish to see a Canadian Government in power which attained its place by corrupt methods! Then the whole sordid story should be opened to find out whence came the plans for getting the vote, from what fountain-heads of professional purity, to find the master hand of election-winning.

Union Government may possess the brute strength which came from an unnatural alliance of big politics and money power, yet even these cannot be retained in power unless their child is free from taint. Let the people see the mantle torn aside today when the heat of election battle is past, and they will demand "in tones of thunder" an accounting as they demanded it of the Borden Government—an accounting which they never received through a sudden declaration of political bankruptcy and a flying to the covering wing of the Big Interests.

The Kyte charges helped to explode one government. The Copp charges are of a more far-reaching and vital character They concern the good name of the country, and it will be a shameful proceeding if a searching investigation is not at once forthcoming Or is Sir Robert Borden content to let them pass as he passed many other Liberal charges until stung to action by the whiplashes of public opinion? The country will be listening.

Since the above was written, during last night a motion by Mr. Copp to secure a judicial investigation of the charges has been defeated on a straight party vote.

SWATTING THE POOR M. P.

THE PRIVATE member of the House of Commons, sitting on the "Union" side, found out just where he stood Tuesday. He stands and waits, for the most part, which is said to be a part of serving. He stands and waits while the cabinet consults with this or that deputation from this or that element in the community. He is suddenly aware that an order-in-council has been framed or a bill brought down. He is told to swallow it or to vote for it. The women or the labor men or the farmers may have been consulted, but the House of Commons is not. The rule of the autocrat, and not precisely the benevolent autocrat, has been heavy upon the private member.

In the debate on titles and the Yukon election during the session of Tuesday, Sir Robert Borden took an attitude in his threat to resign which may be capable of two constructions. The one was, "I am Emperor!" though his words denied the baubles of class distinction; the other was, "I won't play unless I can have my way!" Seen in whichever light, either as the strutting monarch who in fury made his henchmen cringe, or as the spoiled boy who held the other boys in the game because of the fear that it might be broken up, it was a pretty spectacle for a Canadian House of Parliament. On an issue which, while great in the offense it has given the people, will not swerve any body of parliamentarians from an active program of winning the war, the members of the Unionist side of the house were compelled to deny themselves a free prerogative to vote as they saw fit. "I will resign if you do not carry through my wishes!" he shouted and in so many words called down the royal wrath upon the heads of hapless members whose influence in the present session has been as potent as that of the average page on the house floor.

Sir Joseph Wesley Flavelle, Bart., looked down upon Sir Robert as the latter upheld titles to a greater extent than his followers desired to uphold titles. It was a wonderful night for Sir Joseph. It was a black night for the private member—and the people who sent him to represent them. There may have been revolt among those private members. It was expressed to some extent by many, but only one or two partisans were willing to risk the downfall of the party leader, who remains a party leader under any other name. Others dodged the issue; for the most part these were Liberal-Unionists. A man of the stamp of Hon. W. S. Fielding voted on both occasions with the Opposition. Private members appealed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as to the possibility of defeat being regarded as a vote of lack of confidence; the premier demanded why Sir Wilfrid should be consulted. He, the premier, was the only one to be consulted, and he would deem any decision against his amendment as sufficient cause for resignation. So he held the collective private member between his fingers and glared at him. Thus was the autocracy of the Canadian Unionist Government, buttressed with its measures against free speech, with brute strength, with its election machinery of every conceivable kind at its disposal, with its disregard for pledges, proclaimed unmistakably. Upon such a question as titles the House of Commons should not be permitted to express its mind. The gag upon the Government's own supporters! Let them take the humiliation and swallow it! Titles should not be abolished to the extent that they and their constituents wished! Sir Joseph Flavelle, Bart., was in the gallery. Titles would be abolished—but with a reservation that would take care of the faithful present and the more faithful past.

BANK MERGERS.

THE TREASURY committee appointed by the British Government to inquire into large bank amalgamations recently consummated in the Old Country, has recommended that legislation be enacted providing that approval of the Government must be obtained for any further mergers of the same kind. The British committee says, that while at present there is no resemblance to a money trust in the British Isles, there is the danger that some approach to such a condition might be produced.

The action of the British committee at once brings to mind the recent warnings as to bank mergers delivered in the Canadian House of Commons by Mr. W. C. Kennedy, M.P., of North Essex, when he made his maiden speech on the budget. Mr. Kennedy pointed out that in ten years the chartered banks of Canada had decreased from 34 to 19. In another ten years, he said, it possibly might be found that three or four banks and a dozen men would control the financial affairs of the country. He suggested that before further amalgamations be permitted, the minister of finance should be compelled to bring the proposals to the banking committee and then to the House of Commons. "Banks," he declared, "are but trustees of the people and as representatives of the people we should say whether or not these banks should be permitted to amalgamate." Mr. Kennedy burned no red fire over the matter. He was not "baiting" the banks, but pointing to a danger that it also being recognized in the British Isles.

DILLON CONDEMNS SINN FEINERS.

IN UTTERLY repudiating the Sinn Feiners and declaring his belief in Britain's good faith towards Ireland and just cause in the war, John Dillon, M.P., Irish Nationalist leader, has struck a blow for the right and has announced his return to sanity and moderation. It has been feared lately that he was being carried away by the strength of old prejudices and was losing his grip on the essentials.

Mr. Dillon adheres to the late John Redmon's statement that "the cause of the Allies is the cause of freedom." Holding this view, he could do much to reduce the anxieties of the Irish situation by preaching it throughout the length and breadth of Ireland. It has been said that what the Irish lack is a true understanding of the cause of the Allies, Britain's attitude and the terrible results which would follow a German victory. John Dillon can help to give this understanding, and in doing so might succeed in making the conscription of Irish manhood unnecessary.

No one doubts the courage of the Irish; no one ascribes the comparatively poor recruiting results among them to fear of the enemy's guns or bayonets. They have been taught to look on England as the foe of freedom and do not realize that she is, actually, its most powerful friend. When they learn this lesson and see that the war, now going on, is fought purely and simply in the interests of universal freedom, they will fall in line and wipe out any stain which attaches to their present luke-warmness in the cause, once the realization comes that Britain, along with her Allies, is giving her blood and treasure in unending stream that tyranny may be ended and liberty may become universal, all doubts as to her policy towards Ireland must cease. The most doubting Patrick will see that anything less than the utmost degree of freedom for Ireland would be impossible in a free world; he must become aware that, even if his distrust of England were justified outside opinion would force the issue in Ireland's favor.

John Dillon could expound these views throughout Erin's Isle, if he would, and thereby not only reap honor for himself, but save his fellow-countrymen from disgrace and the paralysis which civil strife would bring.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Well, if von Hindenburg has died his address in future will be known to all and will be permanent.

Abundance of apples is promised for this season, but this must not be taken as an excuse to let them go to waste.

Borden would throw up win-the-war and the sponge rather than be stripped of his "Sir" and see Sir Joseph lose his "Bart."

Every torture inflicted by the Huns on British prisoners makes more evident the impossibility of the war ending in any way but in the decisive defeat of the central powers.

Economies in Canada and the United States have restored the normal compulsory rationing quantities of meat in Britain. So little was the sacrifice and so great its result!

Sinn Feiners are discovering de Valera's feet of clay. They boasted he would never be taken unwounded and many believed him proof against all weapons. The idol has fallen.

Talk of turning the other cheek; that's easy compared with the task of the Toronto man who had to press the wedding trousers for the man who was carrying off the presser's wife.

"The kaiser's cup" of solid gold, won by an American yachtsman in 1905, is to be melted down for the benefit of the Red Cross. Letter of thanks for donation should then be sent Wilhelm.

Britain is to refuse to permit amalgamation of banks unless the public can be shown to reap advantages, and in their turn banks will not want to join unless there are definite gains to them. It must be proved of national advantage, and that is no easy task.

Have you got into the High Price Habit?

PRICE is the deciding factor in making a purchase with most people. While some seek the lowest price, there are many who are willing to pay the top-notch price, feeling that highest-price means highest-value. Both are wrong. Willingness to pay a high price is as wasteful as the false economy in paying too low a price.

Take shoes for instance. You can pay extravagant prices, but above a certain point the advance in price is not warranted by increase in usefulness or appearance or durability. In paying top-notch prices, you may be paying for extravagances that, in these days of economy, are quite unnecessary.

Consider the price when buying a shoe. Don't assume the highest price is necessary.

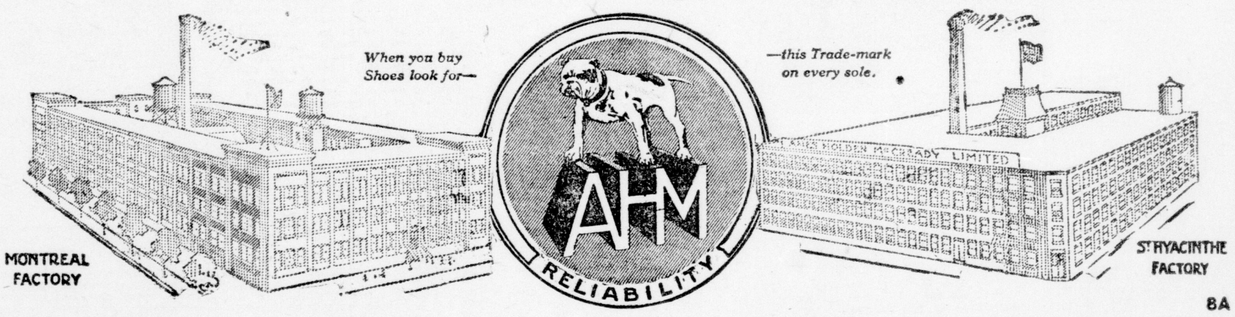

Buy the shoe that meets with your requirements at the price that gives the best value for your money.

You will find it possible to obtain shoes at reasonable prices which have all the qualities that you require. Ask your dealer to show you a shoe bearing the A.H.M. trade-mark. See if an Ames Holden McCready fine shoe (for men or women) at, say, $7, $8, or $9 is not in every respect satisfactory in style and appearance. When you buy them, keep a record of the wear they give, and decide for yourself if A.H.M. shoes do not give you greater value than you have ever obtained.

Ames Holden McCready are by far the largest shoemakers in Canada—a gigantic industry supplying the Canadian people, through thousands of retail dealers, with footwear of excellent value at reasonable prices, made in huge factories, each specializing on certain gradesa nd styles.

When buying shoes, look for the A.H.M. trade-mark on the sole. This trade-mark is important to you. It is your assurance that you are getting standard value and a protection against cheap, unsatisfactory goods. Tell your dealer that you want A.H.M. shoes, tell him for what purpose you want them, and about what price you want to pay—you will find it worth while.

No Joke.
A fast young man is Oswalt Bott,
Nor fears the consequences;
But though he's fast, the boob cannot
Keep up with his expenses.

Paw Knows Everything.
Willie—Paw, what is the best way to combine faith, hope and charity?
Paw—By lending a man your umbrella, my son.

Correct.
This you'll observe, if you are wise,
The older people grow,
The more they come to realize
How much they do NOT know.

Haw! Haw!
The old bachelor was buying a wedding gift for a friend.
"Well," he soliloquized, "this is one case in which it is better to give than to receive."

Then one day he got his K. O.

"Not when you have a chance to steal a kiss," commented the Fool.

Advice.
This is good dope, as you will find:
Keep your tongue in your cheek;
But, son, if you must speak your mind,
You must mind how you speak.

From the Album.
If a woman had a sense of humor she wouldn't get mad when her husband laughs when he looks at the photograph of the happy couple that was taken 20 years ago, an hour after the ceremony. He is sitting down, looking like a scared rabbit, and she is standing with one hand on his shoulder, and an "I will protect you, never fear!" expression on her map.—Luke McLuke.
We got you, Luke. And behind 'em is an artificial lake, with a lot of white lilies and a swan mussing up the still surface, prophetic of the paleness of the future and the swan song to close the session where the scared rabbit sits still long enough to allow the junior partner of the affair to get up close and take on a snap-me-quick expression of love and protection.—Wilmington Journal Republican.

Andy Wochter claims that the oldest joke is the one about the boy who said to his mother: "Maw, is it a sin to say damn?" "Yes," replied his mother. "Then is it a sin to say cofferdam?" asked the boy. "No," replied his mother. "A cofferdam is a very useful thing. Why do you ask?" "Oh, nothin'," replied the boy. "Only Paw says the cow is sick and she's liable to cofferdam head off."

Luke McLuke Says.
A mother would like to name her baby boy after some great man, only she doesn't know of any man who was as great as her son is going to be.
Isn't it wonderful how soon your socks get holes in them when the colored lady who does the washing has a gentleman friend?
None are so blind as those who pretend to be making an inventory of our virtues.
What has become of the old-fashioned lad who used to break all but an inch of the stem off his clay pipe so he could have a "nose warmer"?
After a man gets old enough he quits hunting for boosts and puts in his time dodging knocks.
Isn't it funny that the man with a million dollars and the man without a cent never agree as to how the millionaire should spend his money?
When a man fails at everything else he makes a wonderful success as a loafer.
A single girl may have to live in hope, but a married woman has to live on promises.
When the average man spends as much as six dollars in advertising in a newspaper he keeps the receipt as proof of his right to dictate the policy of the newspaper.
What has become of the old-fashioned idea that it is a woman's sunny disposition that makes it warm for a man.
And where does a man get the idea that he has a right to treat his neighbors like he treats his wife's folks?
The world is a great martyr. It takes more than a flock of Buffalo Bill hair to make a man famous nowadays.

CARADOC.—The Cooke Khaki Club met in the basement of the church and packed nine boxes for the boys in France. Each box contained two pairs of socks, candies, cakes and various other comforts. Each box was valued at $3. The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: President, Gladys Mills; vice-president, Edith Beattie; secretary, Russell Small; treasurer, Fannie Sutherland.

CAYUGA.—The ladies of the Red Cross have just shipped 45 boxes to the boys in France and England from Cayuga.

Twenty-eight dollars was realized at a sale of home-made cooking held on Friday by the ladies of Knox Church. The inhabitants of Cayuga are responding willingly to the call for production, and everyone who can get any land is putting in a garden.

EMBRO.—Several girls of the sewing circle were around at the different homes yesterday leaving leaflets about the thimble and trinket fund, and it is the wish of the members of this society that each and every one will give some of the articles mentioned. Girls will call for the old trinkets on Monday, May 27. Any outsiders can leave articles for this cause at the post-office or the Royal Bank.

The ladies Red Cross meeting, which was held in the council chamber, was very well attended, the time being wisely spent in making shirts for the soldiers. It was decided at this meeting that a box be sent to Queen Mary's Needlework Guild of Toronto. The King's Daughters are sending a nicely pieced quilt in the same box. The next meeting is to be held next Tuesday afternoon at the same place. Another web of flannelette was purchased today for making shirts for the soldiers.

SUFFERED GREAT AGONY FROM PAIN IN STOMACH FOR OVER 5 YEARS

Most of the misery and ill-health that humanity is burdened with arises from disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. If you are feeling out of sorts, have pains in the stomach, especially after eating, bilious spells, headaches, sour stomach, coated tongue, sallow or muddy complexion, specks floating before the eyes, you should take a few doses of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and note the change.

Miss Ida Hoan, Dunrobin, Ont., writes: "For over five years I have suffered great agony from pains in the stomach. I tried several remedies, but got no relief until a friend advised me to take Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I started with two vials, and before I had one quite used I found much relief. I continued until I used four vials, and they have completely cured me. That was fourteen months ago, and I have not had the slightest return since. The best praise I can give them is not enough."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Plenty to Spare.

Dear Miss Grey,—If you can spare another pattern for children's stockings I would be pleased to receive same. Yours truly, COUNTRY TWIG.

Rev. Morley Colling left yesterday for Orillia.

A delightful little bazaar was given at the home of Mrs. Allen McLean on Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Patricia Chapter, I. O. D. E. There were pretty little tables dotted around the spacious rooms, which were decorated with spring flowers, displaying both practical and fancy needlework, and the home-made cooking table, which every housewife loves to visit, was laden with dainty little cakes, conforming to the new food regulations. The gardening table was resplendent with plants in full blossoms. Tea was poured by Mrs. Allen McLean and Mrs. John Smallman from a prettily set table with cluny lace cloth and pink tulips. The young ladies of the chapter assisted. The proceeds will add to the chapter's treasury for Red Cross supplies.

A wedding of much interest to many Londoners took place recently in Waterford at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Woodley, when their daughter, Ada, was united in matrimony to William H. Taylor of Scotland. The bride entered the spacious parlor on the arm of her father, and looked very pretty in a gown of white georgette crepe over silk, with embroidered bodice and skirt panels. She wore the usual bride's veil, and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Rhoda McMichael of this city and Miss Marion Woodley made very pretty flower girls. About seventy relations and close friends of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and apple blossoms. Mrs. George Pearce played Lohengrin's Bridal Song as the bridal party entered the parlor, and after the ceremony Mendelssohn's Wedding March. During the signing of the register, Miss Leta Woodley, sister of the bride, sang "A Birthday." Guests were present from Brantford, Hamilton, Lockport, N.Y., Orion, Mich., and Saskatchewan. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left later in the afternoon for a short trip. The bride's going away suit was a navy serge with white Milan hat.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.
Copyright 1917 by George Matthew Adams.

JIMMY COON'S NIGHT WITH MR. BEAR.

It was very comical to see Jimmy Coon sitting on the stone floor of Mr. Bear's bedroom, shivering in the cold, and racking his poor little head, and saying, over and over again, to himself, "Where in the world can that awful thunder come from? I cannot sleep with all that terrible noise. Why, it's the worst thunderstorm I ever heard!"

And Jimmy looked out of the doors and windows to see if he could see the storm. And then Jimmy looked everywhere in the bedroom. And, remarkable to tell, he frankly found the thunder was coming from; it was wonderful, but that thunder came right out of the end of Cousin Bruin's nose! Yes, indeed, it was Mr. Bear snoring to beat the band. And Jimmy was so surprised that he began to laugh very loud and long; and he was so tickled that he had to sit down on the stone floor and just hold his sides to keep from splitting open.

And Jimmy's loud laughing at last woke up Cousin Bruin, who sat up in bed, and opened his immense jaws and yawned, showing his lovely sharp teeth and his long red tongue. And Cousin Bruin, in another sleepy yawn, said, "Jimmy, what in the world are you sitting there on the stone floor for, and laughing like an idiot? Come back to bed, quick, for you will catch your death o' cold!"

And Jimmy kept on laughing, and saying: "Cousin Bruin, how do you make that awful thunder with your nose? Why, I thought there was a thunderstorm, and that lightning must have struck your big stone house!"

"Oh, go long with you, Jimmy Coon," grunted Cousin Bruin. "My wife says I do snore, a trifle, when I lie on my back. But I'll turn over on my side, then I'll be as quiet as a kitten. Now, come and jump into bed, and let me have just one little wink of sleep."

And Jimmy Coon got into bed as cold as ice, and snuggled up close to Cousin Bruin, and stuck his cold feet into Mr. Bruin's warm back.

And Jimmy went fast asleep and slept like a log. And in about an hour Jimmy Coon was screaming at the top of his voice. "Help! Help! Help! I'm getting killed, come quick!"

And the twin cubs came rushing into the bedroom, and they were almost scared to death at the sight. For Cousin Bruin had rolled over, in his sleep, and was lying on top of Jimmy Coon! Cousin Bruin was fast asleep and lying on his back and snoring like a locomotive, while poor little Jimmy Coon was screaming for help, lying beneath him, as flat as a pancake, and his breath almost gone.

You see, Cousin Bruin weighs about four hundred pounds, while Jimmy weighs forty pounds. So the twin cubs had to drag the flattened Jimmy Coon out from under that sleeping monster, and give Jimmy "First Aid to the Injured!"

Tomorrow—Jimmy Coon Takes Possession of Somebody's House.

It was Mr. Bear snoring to beat the band. And Jimmy was so surprised that he began to laugh very loud.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, MAY 26, 1918.
One Golden Text Suggestion.

Jesus Silences His Adversaries.—Mark, xii., 1-44.

11. Verses 18-27.—Some held, and still hold, that the natural body will be resurrected, and that the sex relation will continue in heaven; what did Jesus teach concerning this?

12. In what way is the answer of Jesus a declaration of human immortality?

13. Verses 28-29.—What reason, if any, is there to suppose that Jesus thought of God as a trinity?

Golden Text: Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's.—Mark, 12:17.

IT IS OUR DUTY TO GIVE OUR SYMPATHY TO OUR FELLOW-CITIZENS.

The true idea of a democratic country is a brotherhood. We are members of the same family, with common interests, and in proportion as we sympathetically regard our fellow-citizens, rejoicing with their success and sorrowing with their losses, are we rendering to our country the duty we owe it. To render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's means that we should be loyal to our fellow-citizens. Every man should take an interest in the affairs of the community in which he lives; he should co-operate, to the extent of his opportunity, with all the organizations whose object is to improve the conditions of the community. Whatever will advance the interests of the people physically, mentally, or financially, he should be interested in.

THE SPLENDID WORK OF SOLDIERS' WIVES' LEAGUE PROGRESSES

Although Yet Scarcely Organized, League Has Begun Its Good Work.

The Soldiers' Wives' League is fast becoming a live institution in the city of London. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Masonic Temple several matters of business were discussed, and much interesting correspondence read, Mrs. A. A. Campbell, president, occupying the chair. Letters were read from Col. W. G. Coles, president of the Great War Veterans' Association, and from the secretary of that association, as well as from the Soldiers' Aid Commission, assuring the Soldiers' Wives' League that they would co-operate with them in every way possible. The announcement was made that a check for $50 had been received from the Loan and Savings Corporation, of which A. A. Campbell is manager.

At an executive meeting held since the last regular meeting of the league, it was decided that Mrs. Belton and Mrs. Hodgins, former league members, be asked to act as London's delegates at a central council meeting to be held in Ottawa on May 9. Accordingly letergrams to this effect were immediately forwarded to Ottawa. As yet the official account of the Ottawa meeting has not been sent to the London league, but a letter of much interest from Mrs. Belton was read at yesterday's meeting. In this she stated that the matter of greatest importance coming up at the Ottawa meeting was a plea for the reorganization of all the soldiers' wives' leagues throughout the country, in view of the fact that the work of this organization will not stop with the war, but will be a powerful help for many years to come. The patroness of the Central League is Her Excellency the Duchess of Devonshire, and the vice-patronesses Lady Borden and Lady Laurier.

As a means of working up membership the London league has decided to send out a circular letter to all prospective members. Two more names were added yesterday to the membership committee, those of Mrs. McCrimmon and Mrs. McLeod.

A committee for investigation of needy cases was also appointed, as follows: Mrs. White, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. McLeod. The case of one needy soldier's wife was considered and acted upon.

Capt. Graham, who was to have been present to address the meeting, was unable to attend.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY MOTHERS' CLUBS FOR ENSUING YEAR

Annual Meetings Held Tuesday by Three.

The annual meeting of the Victoria Mothers' Club was held Tuesday evening in Victoria School with a large attendance. The report of the past year's work was read by Mrs. W. C. McDonald, secretary-treasurer, who has also been convener of the Red Cross work committee. The report showed that many hundreds of articles had been forwarded to the southern branch of the Red Cross, and sums of money had been raised for charitable work.

This being the last meeting of the school year, a grocery shower was tendered the Children's Aid Society. Every article in the grocery line was donated by the members of the club, including fresh eggs and sugar.

At the close of the business meeting an interesting talk on "Quebec" was given by Miss Blackburn. Vocal numbers were given by Miss Cousens and Miss Mary Shoebottom. A reading was given by Miss Helen Baker. E. H. McKone, the presiding officer for the election of officers, tendered a vote of thanks to Miss Blackburn on behalf of the club.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. H. B. White, president; Mrs. F. Hessell, vice-president; Mrs. Cadwallader, secretary; Mrs. Bert Wood, treasurer, and Mrs. McArthur, pianist.

ST. GEORGE'S CLOSING.

The closing meeting of St. George's Mothers' Club took place Tuesday night, when the reports for a most successful year were read. The treasurer's report showed a neat balance on hand, after $25 had been donated to both the Children's Aid and Salvation Army Rescue Home, these latter amounts being the result of a concert recently held in the Ryerson school. This club has also been doing excellent work in connection with the north branch of the Red Cross. During the year exceptionally good meetings were held, speakers of prominence in the city, being present at these meetings, such as Dr. Crane of the Medical School; Dr. Craig of the Byron Sanatorium; Public Librarian Landon, Principal Wallis of the Simcoe Street school; Miss Brenton, supervisor of the kindergartens; Miss Archibald, industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Ada Nash, the school nurse. Several of the meetings were taken most ably by the club mothers themselves.

Mrs. Harrison gave a talk to the mothers present. A recitation by Miss Stanley; vocal solo by Mrs. Phillipps, and a piano duet by Mrs. Saunders and Miss T. Ashplant completed a most interesting program, after which the election of officers took place, resulting in the re-election of last year's executive as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. W. A. Tanner; president, Mrs. John Cole; first vice-president, Mrs. Alfred Drew; second vice-president, Mrs. T. Sumner; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. T. C. Benson; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Roland Day; press correspondent, Mrs. John Rose.

TALBOT STREET.

The Talbot Street Mothers' Club held its annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon, when the following report of the year's work was read: Nine regular monthly meetings were held, with an average attendance of 30 and a membership of 34. The club members have striven in their selection of subjects and speakers to help and inspire mothers in the all-important work of training their boys and girls.

A donation of food, money and clothing worth $20, as well as 22 garments made by the club was given to the Children's Shelter during the winter. The sum of $2.95, then remaining in the treasury, was voted at the meeting of May 21 to buy handkerchiefs for the same institution. During the year one sweater coat and 103 pairs of socks were knitted for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Calder was elected president and Mrs. Barklie secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

LADIES OF WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB WILL VISIT CITY SCHOOLS

Essay Prizes Will Be Presented at Public and Separate Schools Today.

The custom which the Women's Canadian Club has established of visiting the public and separate schools on the 23rd of May and presenting prizes to those pupils who have written the best compositions on a certain patriotic subject will be carried out today, as heretofore. This prize day is a great day in the school life, and, perhaps more than any other, reminds the children of the greatness of the nation which gave them birth and the high ideals which she maintains.

The following ladies, members of the Women's Canadian Club, will visit the schools today: Aberdeen, Mrs. Manning; Alexandra, Mrs. F. White; Boyle Memorial, Mrs. Tutt; Chesley Avenue, Mrs. (Rev.) McCrae; Ealing, Mrs. Bapty; Wortley Road, Mrs. Vining; Lord Robert's, Mrs. Silverwood and Miss McColl; Talbot, Mrs. (Dr.) McCallum; Victoria, Mrs. Harry White; Tecumseh, Mrs. A. T. Edwards; Simcoe, Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Harry Coleman; Rectory, Mrs. S. L. Taylor; St. George's, Mrs. George Rogers and Mrs. Benson; Lorne Avenue, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Whetter; Ryerson, Mrs. (Col.) Fisher and Mrs. Lawson; Riverview, Mrs. Hardie and Mrs. Kirkpatrick; Pottersburg, Mrs. Bingham; Empress Avenue, Mrs. (Capt.) Barclay; Mrs. Harrison's (private), Mrs. Boucher; St. Peter's, Mrs. (Dr.) Barklie; St. Mary's, Mrs. Fox; Sacred Heart, Miss Meredith; St. Michael's, Mrs. McCann; St. Martin's, Mrs. A. E. Miller and Mrs. Jarvis; St. John's, Mrs. Glennie Wilson. St. Angelas College, Mrs. Stevely.

FOR JACK AT SEA.

Did you ever knit a blue sweater or muffler for a sailor boy? One girl in Military District No. 1 did, and put her name and address inside, and was rewarded by the most grateful letter ever penned from the one who received it. "About twenty of us have been in Halifax four weeks now," he writes, "and we are all leaving for home and Blighty next week, and have just been issued with sweaters, socks and mufflers, so kindly knitted by you Canadian ladies."

He adds that he is a signal man, at present employed on convoy duty on merchant ships running between Canada and England and the United States and England. There are many such as he, ceaselessly guarding the dangerous highways of the sea, and they need what we might call "sea comforts" just as much as the men in the trenches need "field comforts." So let us not forget them, but manage to mix a little navy blue yarn with our khaki and grey in our summer knitting.

START A COMPETITION.

And, speaking of summer knitting, any society that drops its regular meetings for the summer (and may there be as few as possible) will find that they can accomplish wonders while they are disbanded if they arrange for a knitting competition. Choose sides, with two of the most energetic and patriotic members as captains, and see which side can bring in the largest number of socks when the summer is over. It is a grand scheme from the soldier's point of view, for he needs socks, and needs them badly, in summer as well as winter. What ever happens, don't stop knitting.

KEEP THE BAROMETER BURNING.

The C. W. C. A. shipped from Hyman Hall on May 14 thirteen boxes, containing the following articles: 1,080 pairs of socks, 750 towels, 12 sweater coats, 5 mufflers, 10 caps, 720 handkerchiefs, 1 cake and maple sugar.

The Red Cross shipped from Hyman Hall on May 14 fifty-five boxes, containing as follows: 465 shirts, 450 suits pyjamas, 87 bed jackets, 12 dressing gowns, 45 sheets, 9 pillows, 475 pillowslips, 524 towels, 16 mattress-covers, 53 small kits, 132 pairs bed socks, 1,584 pairs day socks and 12 boxes of surgical supplies. MARIAN KEITH,
Press Secretary.

She Thanks Grandma.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw in our corner the other day that one of our grandmas had sent me in some quilt patterns. I inclose 10 cents for postage. Many thanks, "Grandma."I hope I can be of some use to you some time. I wonder, Miss Grey, if "Farmer Jane" received my book, as she never said. I still remain, SCOTCH READER.

Ans.—The patterns had already been mailed you, and did not require so much postage. I shall place the balance to your credit, as sometime later there may be a letter to forward you, and I can use it then.

CONSTIPATED CHILDREN

Nothing will so quickly remove childhood constipation as will Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative; are pleasant to take; do not gripe and never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels. Concerning them, Mrs. Adolphe Noel, Petite Lameque, Que., says: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best remedy for constipation I know of and I would strongly recommend them to all mothers of little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

This Frees Your Skin From Hair or Fuzz

(Toilet Tips.)

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and certain and unless the growth is extremely stubborn, a single application does the work. Make a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply this to the hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you delatone.—Advt.

"No Needles to change"

YOUR full enjoyment of any phonograph played with steel needles is marred by your constant state of watchfulness to change needles.

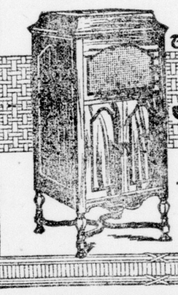

Furthermore a steel needle with its sharp point digs into the record, wearing both record and needle. A genuine polished sapphire ball glides smoothly into the grooves. It is permanent and does not wear the record (a Pathé Record will play at least 1000 times without impairment).

A steel needle has one point of contact with the record—limited contact, limited sound waves.

If you are planning to buy a phonograph, hear the Pathephone. If you already have a phonograph, it can be easily equipped to play Pathé Records.

HENDRIE'S SPRINGSIDE LOOKS LIKE FAVORITE FOR KING'S PLATE

Covers the Full Distance in 2:12 1-5—Twelve Bells and Gold Galore Do Best Work for the Seagram Platers.

TORONTO, May 22.—The performance of George M. Hendrie's Springside featured the final work of the King's Plate candidates at Woodbine Park this morning. Skillfully rated, he covered the full Plate journey in 2:12 1-5, the fractional time being ¼ in :25 1-5, ½ in :51 2-5, ¾ in 1:18 2-5, mile in 1:45 4-5, and the 1⅛ miles in 1:58 3-5. This was not only the best move of the morning, but it was equally as good as the best work here this season, and the good-looking son of Charles Edward-Springwell's is likely to be most fancied in the race for the guineas on Friday.

Twelve Bells and Gold Galore performed the best of the Seagram Platers. The former led Gaelic Lass two lengths at the end of the 1¼ miles in 2:16 2-5, with Scythian beaten off. They went the first ½ in :51, the ¾ in 1:17, and the mile in 1:45 3-5. Gold Galore went better, covering the ½ in :49 2-5, ¾ in 1:16 3-5, the mile in 1:42 2-5 and the 1¼ miles in 2:15. Sea Froth was badly beaten off and only reached the 1¼ miles in 2:18.

Harry Gildings' Beecher stumbled badly at the start of his work, but going alone he went the first ¼ in :25 1-5, ½ in :51 1-5, ¾ in 1:17 4-5, mile in 1:46 2-5, and the 1¼ miles in 2:15. He was nicely rated throughout by Jockey Foden, and carried about 120 pounds. Britain's Ally went a mile in 1:47 3-5, and finished out 1⅛ miles, his last quarter being in 26 3-5 seconds. Captain B. breezed ½ in :51 1-5.

May Bloom was the only Plate candidate from the Brookdale stable to work. She went a mile in 1:45 4-5, and covered the 1⅛ miles in 2:00 4-5. She showed keen speed in the early stages, the ¼ in :24 1-5, ½ in :49 2-5, and the ¾ in 1:16 4-5. It was a very creditable effort.

Charles Millar's Plater McCorburn showed his best performance of the season, when he covered the 1¼ miles in 2:16 3-5. He stepped the ¼ in :25, ½ in :51 3-5, ¾ in 1:19, and the mile in 1:48 2-5. The Leroy Plater, Scarboro Beach, was only sent a mile in 1:46 3-5, the ¼ in :25 4-5, ½ in :51 4-5, and the ¾ in 1:19.

The Beardmore candidate, Ladder of Light, had Red Admiral as workmate in the first half, but the latter stopped to a walk thereafter. The Stanhope mare went her first ¼ in :25 2-5, the ½ in :52, ¾ in 1:18 2-5, mile in 1:46 2-5, and the 1⅛ miles in 2:00 4-5.

The Seagram two-year-olds, Court Galiant, Galway, Ben Gore and Gallant Kitty, breezed ⅝ in :38 2-5. Rock Silk, Plymouth Rock and Hong Kong went ⅝ in :38 3-5. Doleful and Azreal breezed a ½ in :57.

The Le Roy two-year-old, Hemisphere, a son of The Globe, breezed ⅝ in :28 3-5.

Barry Littlefield, former trainer of the Seagram stable, was a visitor at the Woodbine this morning. He came from New York, and will remain to witness the running of the King's Plate.

Sun Briar, the champion two-year-old of last season, slipped a little further back in the struggle for three-year-old honors, when he ran unplaced yesterday in the Stuyvesant Handicap at Jamaica, which was won in an impressive manner by A. K. Macomber's Motor Cop. The defeat by Motor Cop counted for little, as this son of Uncle was in receipt of 15 pounds from Sun Briar, but the race itself was looked upon with interest, because it provided the first meeting this season between the champion of a year ago and Col. W. E. Applegate's Jack Hare, Jr., which became a formidable contender for the laurels of the division when he won a part of the Preakness stakes at Pimlico recently. All the glory in this contest was annexed by Jack Hare, Jr., who carried 129 pounds, only one pound less than Sun Briar, and landed in third place, with H. P. Whitney's Flags second. There had been a heavy shower in the morning, which rendered the track good, instead of fast, but the rain held off until the last race, which was run in a downpour. The other winners were: Green Mint, 10 to 1; Ideal, 8 to 1; Jobren, 14 to 10; Judge Wingfield, 5 to 2; and Ute, 16 to 5.

MANY FAMOUS HEROES ABSENT FROM NEXT OLYMPIC GAMES

War Makes Great Gap in Ran ks of Amateur Athletes—Fine Specimens of Manh ood Give Lives for Their C ountries.

When the Olympic games are resumed after the war the athletic followers from many lands get together again, there will be many a famous hero of these great international contests to be spoken of in saddened tones as fine men who have gone to the great beyond. In this respect amateur athletics has suffered fully as much in recent years as has pugilism, from which so many celebrities have passed of late. Natural causes have sent several fine Olympic performers to their graves, along with those who have made the supreme sacrifice for their countries in the great war. The war deaths are, of course, in the majority.

The first Olympic hero to pass away after the Stockholm games six years ago was Ralph Rose, the giant Californian, who beat the world at putting the shot in three successive Olympic meets. Rose fell a victim to typhoid fever.

Jean Bouin, France's greatest distance runner, was the first cinderpath champion to fall in the great war. Bouin was a sergeant of infantry, and died leading his company in a desperate charge after all the officers had been shot down. Another Olympic performer to yield up his life early in the war was R. Rau, Germany's foremost sprinter.

Russia lost hundreds of her best athletes in the war, and among these was A. R. Tuipale, the giant Finn, who accounted for the discus throw at the Stockholm games. Tuipale was serving in the Russian navy, and was killed in a fight between his ship, a destroyer, and a number of German cruisers. Still another Stockholm winner to lose his life in the war was Cecil Healy, the Australian swimmer, unquestionably one of the finest amphibians ever sent out to win honors for the island continent. Healy, who held the Australian record for 110 yards straightaway, 150 yards (two turns), and 200 yards (three turns), was a captain of infantry, and was killed on the western front after going safely through the Dardanelles fighting.

Greece lost her most famous athlete, Tscilitras, in the campaign that Greece and Serbia made against Bulgaria, following the first Balkan war. Tscilitras, who defeated our own Platt Adams by a narrow margin in the standing broad jump at Stockholm, was not killed on the battlefield. He passed safely through the fighting stage of the war, but died of pneumonia in one of the Greek demobilization camps.

No finer lad has lost his life in the great war than Jimmy Duffy, the Canadian marathoner, who finished in seventh place in the race from Stockholm to Sollentuna and return. Duffy rushed to the colors at his country's first call. He was killed in the Neuve Chapelle attack.

Make It Three Out of Four With Baltimore—Bingoes Win Again.

BISONS TRY 9TH RALLY

But Frock Comes to Rescue, Holding Binghamton—Stars Win.

TORONTO, May 22. — Toronto made it three out of four from Baltimore by taking both ends of a double bill today. The Leafs won the first contest 3 to 1 by honest hitting and good baserunning. Justin kept the hits well scattered.

The second went Toronto's way 2 to 1, with Crabble easily outpitching Mason, Dunn's Durham College recruit. The scores:

First game— R. H. E.

RALLIES IN 8TH AND 9TH FAIL TO HELP BISONS

BUFFALO, May 22.—Buffalo went down before Binghamton again today, the score being 6 to 4. The Bisons threatened to do some damage in their ninth, getting three men on the pathway before an out was made. However, Frock came to Barnes' rescue, and the herd scored but one run. Barnes kept the hits well scattered, and went along smoothly. Oakes and McCabe were the hitters, getting three apiece. The score: R. H. E.

ETRUSCAN, A 30 TO 1 SHOT, WINS NEWTOWN STAKES AT JAMAICA

Unexpectedness of the Feat Prompts an Investigation.

New York, May 23.—E. G. Vivell's Etruscan came to life yesterday and won the Newtown selling stakes at 6 furlongs, which was the feature of the racing card at Jamaica. The victory of the son of Burgomaster entailed such a startling reversal of form that the stewards acted promptly and decided to refuse the entries of Vivell pending investigation.

The unexpected success of Etruscan was only one event in a day of disaster for the players. Not a favorite won during the afternoon, and even in a two-horse race, the public finally settled on J. E. Widener's Tromp La Mort as the choice, only to have John Sandford's Achilles lead him to the finish.

Etruscan's record during the last few days was sufficient to cause him to be overlooked in the speculation, so that he started at odds of 30 to 1, with Compadre the favorite. On Saturday Etruscan and Compadre both competed in a three-horse race. The former was well played by the public, but at no stage did he display any of the speed for which he is noted, and Compadre won in a gallop by six lengths. Further evidence of the unfitness of Etruscan was given on Monday when he was brought out again for the Clarendon Handicap and, with odds of 20 to 1 against him, finished next to last in a field of eight. In his two previous races Etruscan had shown the speed that might be expected of Harry, the 36-year-old horse that is collecting money at the track for the Red Cross. He was a different animal yesterday and leaped to the front shortly after the rise of the barrier to set a pace that soon had the others dizzy behind him. Compadre did his best to follow in the flying footsteps of Etruscan, but was forced to give way in the stretch. L. Fustel's He Will, the second choice, began to loom up then, but never had a chance to catch the winner, which sailed across the line well in hand and a length and a half to the good. The investigation by the stewards followed, and, so far as could be learned, the only explanation given for the form somersault was the slight change in track conditions.

The streak of bad luck of the James Butler stable continued, and his entries were twice made a favorite, only to be soundly beaten. Mr. Butler started both Ballad and Bally in the Atlantic Handicap, and only three horses were opposed to the entry. The distance was a mile and a sixteenth, and G. D. Widener's The Portuguese was allowed to make the pace with the other in close attendance in the run along the back stretch. Rounding the turn, Flittergold cut loose and opened a gap of four lengths. The effort was untimely, for Lyke, who had ridden a well-judged race on Commander J. K. L. Ross' Damrosch, went after the leader in the stretch and Damrosch wore down Flittergold to win by a length, with the latter eight lengths in front of Ballad. Turf and Rio formed the Butler entry in the sixth race, but both were unplaced.

First race, 2 years, selling, $600, 5 furlongs—Aunt Dinah, 109 (Lyke), 4 to 1, 6 to 5, 2 to 5, won; Penrose, 94 (Ericson), 1 to 2, out, 2nd; Sylvano, 106 (Smith), 8 to 5, 3rd. Time—1:02. Dottie Vandive, Iron Boy, Prince Direct, Freckles also ran.

Second race, $600, 6 furlongs—Golding, 95 (McGraw), 7 to 1, 2 to 1, even, won; Wood Thrush, 115 (J. McTaggart), 4 to 5, 2 to 5, 2nd; Elderken, 100 (Hansen), even, 3rd. Time—1:15 1-5. Surprising, Resistible, Julia L., Kilts and Tolerance ran.

Third race, the Atlantic handicap, $700 added, 3 years and up, one and a sixteenth miles—Damrosch, 115 (Lyke), 11 to 5, 7 to 10, out, won; Flittergold, 110 (Ball), 3 to 1, out, 2nd; Ballad, 112 (Schuttinger), out, 3rd. Time—1:48. Bally, The Portuguese ran. Bally and Ballad coupled, Butler entry.

Fourth race, 3 years and up, 6 furlongs—Etruscan, 109 (Jackson), 30 to 1, 12 to 1, 6 to 1, won; He Will, 109 (McTaggart), even, 1 to 2, 2nd; Seafarer, 109 (Buxton), 5 to 2, 3rd. Time—1:14 1-5. Philippic, Wiseman, King Worth, Peep Sight, Bit, Compadre ran.

Fifth race, 3 years and up, $600 added, mile and 70 yards—Achilles, 107 (Kelsay), 9 to 10, out, won; Trompe la Mort, 105 (Buxton), 9 to 10, out, 2nd; only two starters. Time—1:45.

Sixth race, maidens, 3 years and up, $600, 5½ furlongs—Shan Ballymore, 110 (McAtee), 10 to 1, 4 to 1, 8 to 5, won; Odonovan, 110 (Stirling), 7 to 2, 7 to 5, 3 to 5, 2nd; Magnetite, 110 (J. McTaggart), 15 to 1, 6 to 1, 5 to 2, won. Time—1:08. Bugle Lad, Rose Finn, Turf, Rio, Pepper, Sun Gold, Pasamena ran.

ATHLETICS TRIMMED BY JUNGALEERS WITH BOLAND IN THE BOX

Walker Gets Fifth Homer of Season — St. Louis Wins Again.

NEW YORK BEATS CHICAGO

Yankees Beat White Sox by 1 to 0 Score, With Thormahlen Pitching.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Poor throwing accounted for all of Detroit's runs today, and Boland's sturdy pitching made it a 3 to 1 victory over the Athletics. Walker drove the first ball pitched by Boland in the seventh inning into the left field bleachers for his fifth home run of the season.

Griffith's ball-and-bat fund day delayed the starting of the game half an hour. Sixty baseball outfits were presented to represent as many service teams. The score: R. H. E.
Detroit ..... 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0—3 8 0
Philadelphia.. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1 3 2
Boland and Stanage; Perry, Myers and Perkins.

CICOTTE GETS WORST OF LONG BATTLE WITH SOX

NEW YORK, May 22.—Thormahlen, New York's sensational young pitcher, won a fourteen-inning duel from Cicotte, the Chicago veteran, today. The score was 1 to 0. Thormahlen has not been scored on in 34 successive innings he has pitched.

Cicotte held the Yankees to four hits for thirteen innings, when singles by Baker, Pratt and Pipp produced the one and winning tally.

Griffith's bat-and-ball fund day was celebrated at the Polo Grounds today, but owing to the small attendance, due to overcast skies, Col. Ruppert, president of the Yankees, announced that the fund day will be repeated later in the season. The score: R. H. E.

Schneider Goes Wild and Hands Game to the Braves.

CUBS BUMP DODGERS

Batting Rally in Eighth Gives Chicago Necessary Two Runs.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—The Pirates and Phillies played a 12-inning game here today, resulting in defeat for the visitors, 6 to 5. Jacobs, who went to the mound for Pittsburg in the opening inning, was relieved by Harmon in the second, but not until the visitors had tallied four times. The first two batters in the tenth inning touched Harmon for clean hits, and he was removed, giving way to Cooper, who retired the side scoreless. In the twelfth inning Cooper came to bat, with McKechnie on second, and hit safely to left field, scoring the runner and winning the game. The score: R. H. E.

REDS OUTHIT BOSTON, BUT LOSE FIXTURE

CINCINNATI, May 22.—The Boston club halted Cincinnati today owing to the wildness of Schneider. The locals obtained twelve hits off Fillingham, but scored only two runs. In the ninth inning Cincinnati filled the bases, with nobody out, on singles by Griffith, Neale and Blackburne, but could count only one run, just failing short of tieing the score. Herzog and J. Smith did some clever fielding for Boston. The score: R. H. E.

CHICAGO OVERCOME DODS WITH RALLY IN EIGHTH

CHICAGO, May 22. — A batting rally in the eighth inning today by Chicago enabled the locals to win from Brooklyn 2 to 1. Flack singled, was sacrificed to second by Hollocher, and after Mann flied out, scored on Kilduff's single. Paskert then walked and Deal followed with a single, scoring Kilduff. The visitors scored their lone tally when Flack fumbled Daubert's single and allowed Olson to count from second base. The score: R. H. E.

Use last year's tackle and buy this year's victory bonds.

Don't try to see your fish before dropping the bait. If you just want to see a fish, go to the aquarium.

Eat the fish you catch by chance and send your share of beef to France.

Never fish in the Thames if you want to catch anything.

Never fish without a hook. If you wish to indulge in the piscatorial art without a hook you must be prepared to be the fish.

Fishing is a sport of kings, but this fact needn't give you a swelled head.

Use eggs for bait on meatless days. Remember that fish are patriotic animals.

The Borden Government is taking all the youngsters for the army, but this needn't influence you in retaining immature and unsophisticated fish who have their lives before them.

You may be a fish yourself, but never let the fish know it by putting a worm on your hook the wrong way.

Never try to catch a fish over seventy-five years of age. Denizens of the water becomes sharks after living three scores and ten. Did you ever fool a shark?

Never fish for eels with a net. Your efforts will net you no results.

Always entice your particular fish with an abundance of worm. If there is anything a fish despises more than a lobster, it is a crab.

Never fish in a bath-tub. The hook may slip from the line, and your annual bath would then be a painful affair.

Always use a harpoon when fishing for whales. If you use an ordinary hook the chef may forget to withdraw it while cooking whale steak.

The hour may be late and the catch nil, but never say die. While there are human fish there will always be the watery kind.

Every live thing caught in the water is called a fish. But this fact does not warrant you eating a sponge every time one appears on your hook.

A starfish may be good eating, but you must expect to see more than one star after the animal is digested.

Never clean a fish before eating it. Remember what Mr. Thomson says about food conservation.

If you are not sure whether the animal you have caught is a toad or a frog sing "I hear you calling me." If it is a frog it will join in the chorus.

If an octopus should grab hold of your line while fishing in the Thames, go to the sanatorium for treatment. Or if this is not satisfactory, take the gold cure.

LAMBETH GREENS IN FINE CONDITION

LAMBETH, May 22.—The bowlers had their first tryout of the season last night. The greens were in excellent condition, and a great game is expected on Friday.

Merchants and businessmen of the village have contributed toward the prizes which will consist of 50 pounds of flour to each of the winning team. Draw will be made at 1:30 p.m. No entrance fee will be charged.

Official reports of dead, received from Germany through the Geneva Red Cross Society, contain two feferences to Capt A. E. ("Eddie") McKay, the London athlete who made such a record in the Royal Flying Corps. A letter from the war office, London, England, to Capt. McKay's brother, J. W. McKay of Cobalt, says:

"I am directed to inform you that in official lists of dead, received from Germany through the Geneva Red Cross Society, the following reports appear concerning Capt. A. E. McKay, Royal Flying Corps Special Reserve:

"1.—'Disc forwarded by S. I. (central office for effects) without further details, 5th February, 1918. Transmitted by notifying officer.'

"2.—'Died 29th December, 1917.'

"I am again to express the sympathy of the army council with you."

Mr. McKay has also received a letter of sympathy from the keeper of the privy purse. It says:

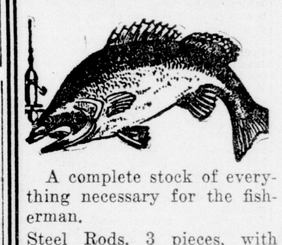

"The king and queen deeply regret to hear of the loss you and they may have sustained by the death of our brother in the service of his country, and I am commanded to convey to you the expression of their majesties' sympathy with you in your sorrow."

is Your Gillette Shave as Clean and Easy as Your Friend's

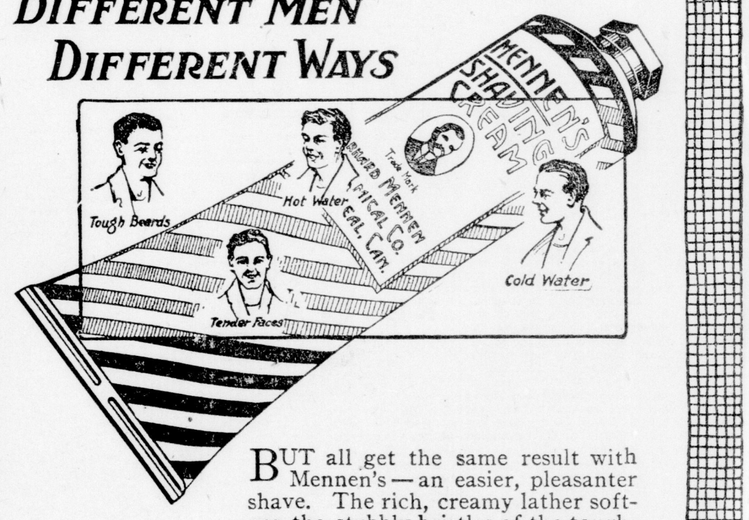

If your friends are enjoying Gillette shaves that are quicker, cleaner or more comfortable than your's, it's just because you haven't caught—as they have—the simple knack of using it. For the Gillette Safety Razor packs a real, good shave for every man that grows a beard!

Hold each new blade under really hot water to remove the oil film which protects its edges from the slightest trace of rust. Then shave with the ANGLE STROKE. Don't use the Gillette hoe fashion—hold it diagonally, so that the blade slides across the hairs at an angle—the way you have to handle an ordinary razor to make it shave at all.

Held in this way, and used with a swift, easy stroke, the Gillette makes light of the stiffest beard that grows. Try your Gillette this way—give it a chance—and enjoy the way it makes good!

ARE YOU A MAN?

If you are, you either shave yourself or go to a barber. If you visit a barber you may have the unfortunate experience of Mr. M. Butler, of Bridgeport, Conn., who developed what is known as "Barber's Rash" on his face through the use of an infected razor. He writes:

"My face was covered with sores, which caused me a great deal of suffering and inconvenience, and I was unable to shave for four weeks. Repeated applications of Zam-Buk, however, entirely rid me of the trouble."

To avoid the possibility of such an experience, immediately you see a rash or spot appear, treat it with Zam-Buk. This balm will destroy all germs, prevent the disease spreading and soon end the trouble. For eczema, old sores, ulcers, blood-poisoning, burns, and cuts there is nothing to equal Zam-Buk. All dealers 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

DANDRUFF GOES! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

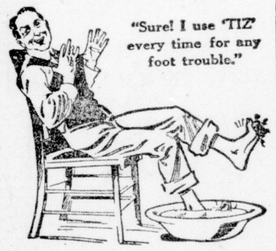

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Pleasant Words Cause Your Mind To React Quickly

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

In your casual, every-day conversation you occasionally speak of the "association of ideas." You often mean the association of thoughts with events, of words with objects, of music with people, of certain situations with pleasant or unpleasant experiences.

Many experimental psychologists are constantly at work to discover the interrelationship of certain words with pleasant or unpleasant feelings; of your past experiences through the train or sequence of words flashed suddenly upon you.

Indeed, psycho-analysis depends largely upon the association of words, which come most quickly or not at all from your lips. Here is the way it's done:

The investigator flashes a word—say, "red"—at you through an electrified tombour which releases a clock that records every two-hundredth of a second. You have been instructed to reply instantly with the first word that jumps to your lips. When you exclaim "apple" or "guard" or whatever associated thought pops out, the clock is stopped. If the answer came more slowly than two-tenths of a second, it means that some complex mental activity or train of thought—called a "complex"—"got busy" and blocked a swift, even association.

Mr. E. C. Talman and Miss Isabelle Johnson, two experimental psychologists of the Northwestern University, have just used this "free association experiment" to discover pleasant and unpleasant emotional complexes. They used 35 persons as subjects of the research—17 women and 18 men.

The pleasant words used to start the associations were 20 in number. They were blossom, banquet, lively, castle, slender, peaches, clean, lovely, romance, starry, dinner, darling, cupid, flower, kindness, lily, wedding, candy, generous and honest.

The unpleasant words were pimples, filthy, blindness, bankrupt, poverty, sulky, snobbish, prisoner, sneering, haggard, brutal, burglar, gloomy, scowling, drunkard, swindler, illness, cruel, selfish and ugly.

Some Interesting Facts.

"Indifferent" words were fibre, gravel, balance, cover, counter, kettle, measure, number, oven, sentence, ladder, squirrel, jackknife, basket, soap, reindeer, ribbon, knocker, evergreen and horse. I do not consider these neutral, however. Many of them have pleasant associations to me.

These 60 words were mixed irregularly, but so that not more than three of the same feeling followed one another in immediate succession. The entire list was then presented to the 35 persons in the usual method of free associations.

The decision as to whether the pleasant or the indifferent words had greater tendency to cause long association intervals depends upon various circumstances not concerned here. Indeed, the investigators had to change their lists and pick out words that were pleasant to the senses, such as fragrant, smooth, sunny, clean, juicy; unpleasant, such as dull, dingy, rough, bitter, chilly or indifferent to sensation such as still, tall, wide, high.

Then the investigators selected words that are pleasant in their relation to success, victory, genuine, reward, praise—defeat, failure, remorse—or indifferent, such as occupations, change, action.

Thus of 30 pleasant and 30 unpleasant words and 30 indifferent ones the same proportion of nouns and adjectives tend to cause shorter intervals between associations.

Deep in Consciousness.

It was discovered that unpleasant words yield much longer association times than do indifferent words, but there is no proof that pleasant words bring swifter associations than do indifferent ones.

All their evidence goes to show that simple unpleasantness is pushed away more deeply into unconsciousness and forgetfulness than either neutral or pleasant associations.

Moreover, it was found that the tendency of the women was to recall pleasant things even more quickly than indifferent ones. Pleasant words, also brought associations much more swiftly to the minds of the women than to the minds of the men.

It is evident from these facts that harmless or pleasant emotions, the association of cheerful, happy objects, events and situations are resurrected and recalled much more quickly than unpleasant ones. A distinct pause or interval of time much greater than occurs otherwise came into evidence whenever the experimenters flashed out an unpleasant word to bring forth an associated thought.

In brief, sister, mother, family, parents and home stirred the feelings, the intellect, the vocal apparatus to a prompt response. Whereas snakes, swill, sweat, worms and sores left a definite form there before the subject's repugnance was overcome enough to think and act.

Plainly, pleasant words bring action and thought more swiftly and accurately than do indifferent ones.

Answers to Health Questions

READER. Q.—Kindly explain what odema of the lungs is and what causes it.

2. Can one have a second attack?

A.—Odema is a symptom that comes occasionally in various diseases, such as tuberculosis, pneumonia, apoplexy, etc. The cause is a sudden stopping of the blood.

2. Not often.

L. J. T. Q.—What is the difference between blood pressure and hardening of the arteries?

A.—One is due to tension and elastic resistance, the other to hardening and permanent rigidity in the arteries. They may be independent of each other.

STRATFORD. Q.—Will you please tell me what I can do to get stouter?

A.—Your weight may be increased by 10 to 12 hours' sleep in the 24, in a well-ventilated room. Water or liquids of any kind drunk with meals help to make fat. Sugars, starches, butter, puddings, fatty meats, rich soups and gravies are fattening. Take but slight exercise. Be outdoors as much as possible, and keep the bowels active.

A. B. C. Q.—Lately the buzzing or ringing sound in my ears has become much more pronounced. Would be pleased if you could give me a remedy.

A.—An examination must be made by a physician to detrmine whether it is middle ear disease, high blood pressure, wax, hardening of the ear bones, etc. At times head noises and deafness may be benefited by a small electric vibrator used in the ear. A little of 12 grains of ammoniated mercury to the ounce of petrolatum in the nostrils twice a day may help.

G. H. W. Q.—Please tell me the cause of adenoids.

A.—The cause of adenoids is not known. Sometimes they are present without symptoms. It is impossible to prevent them. They are very easily removed, and should be looked for, and if present, removed.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, MAY 24.

The planetary positions for this day make for interesting if not exciting occurrences. Mars is the regnant planet, stirring up the activities and energies in all departments of life, and conducing to a boldness, enterprise and generosity that should lead to great results. It is good for business generally, larger and new projects, also for journeys, health and courtship, for military and medical matters, for sports and vigorous pastimes. An aspect of Venus and Mars parallel, however, has possibilities for nullifying all the benefic promise of the day, for it conduces to dissipation, extravagances and other forms of indiscreet or rash conduct. It inclines to pleasure, company and prodigality in pursuit of these.

Those whose birthday it is should have a prosperous year, if managing their affairs with calmness and discretion. A child born this day will be bold, generous and enterprising, but extravagant and inclined to the pursuit of pleasure.

THE SLEEVE'S INFINITE VARIETY

Never Before Were There so Many Styles from Which to Choose

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW

NEVER has there been such variety in the choice of sleeves. They are of every size and every length. In size they vary from those so tight that to bend the arm would seem to mean the bursting of the seam, to those which suggest floating wings, so loose are they. In length the choice lies all the way between a narrow extension of the shoulder—which only by courtesy could be called a sleeve—and those so long they almost cover the hand.

Some of the extremely voluminous sleeves are attached only at the armholes, or are caught together at the point inside the elbow. Others, not quite so full and of very sheer material, are gathered into a very narrow cuff, or else hang ungathered, the upper side only being fastened to a narrow band at the wrist. Many are of three-quarter length, not only in the filmy goods but in the more substantial material of tailored suits.

In the very tight sleeves of some tailored suits rows of buttons are frequently used as garniture. With these tight sleeves of course the armhole is very small. In other styles it is greatly increased, sometimes extending almost to the waistline.

The middle sketch shows a transparent sleeve in a satin gown, cut very flaring above the cuff and again spreading out over the hand. It is caught just above the wrist with two buttons.

The elbow-length kimono sleeve—at the left—is cut in irregular form down the outside, is bordered with a bias band of contrasting color to match the rest of the robe, and is fastened in the middle with a large button.

The third sleeve—at the right—is suited to an organdy or other crisp summery material, being gathered into a fairly wide cuff with upstanding pleated frill at the top of the cuff and the top of the sleeve, which, by the way, is set in midway between elbow and shoulder.

Incidents in the Lives of World-Famous Women

How Garibaldi's Wife Escaped From His Enemy to Aid Him.

Even those who know and admire the spirit of the great Italian liberator, Garibaldi—who for a time lived and worked in America—know little about his first wife, who was one of the finest and bravest of helpmeets in all the fine history of patriots. Yet it was her spirit and her strength that upheld her husband and urged him forever onward to his great destiny, the liberation of Italy from the yoke of Austria.

Escaping from the collapse of his first effort against Austria, fleeing for his life disguised in a peasant's garb, Garibaldi left Italy to take up the fight for freedom begun by a handful of Brazilian patriots, who had revolted against the emperor of that country. Trained as a seaman, Garibaldi commanded a ship for the Republic of Rio Grande, and in the second battle was wounded and captured.

After lying in prison two months he was released and again entered the war for the freedom of Brazil. But again the enterprise met with failure, and it was in the darkest moments of his life that he met Anita.

A dark-haired, dark-eyed, young woman, tall and commanding, and as brave and fearless as himself, she was the daughter of a wealthy family, and her father was incensed at the union. But Anita and Giuseppe Garibaldi adored each other, and together they faced fate unafraid.

She was with him during every one of his sea fights, waving her sword over her head to encourage the men to their utmost. And when a sailor fell she picked up his carbine and kept up a steady fire in his place. When Garibaldi became nearly frantic for her safety during one especially dangerous fight, and begged Anita to go below, she replied:

"If I do it will be but to drive out those cowards who have sought concealment there!"

This Anita did, and then she, too, returned to the fight.

But it was during one of the land battles when she met and faced her greatest personal danger alone. She had become separated from her husband, by whose side she had been fighting, and suddenly found herself surrounded by more than a score of the enemy. Instantly she put spurs to her horse, and, dashing straight at them, she forced her way through, the enemy parting before her as before some unearthly visitant. She had almost won free when they opened fire upon her; her horse was shot to the ground and she was made prisoner.

That night she obtained permission to search among the dead for her husband, and not finding him, Anita determined to make her escape. While the enemy slept she crept to the edge of the encampment, seized a horse, and dashed away into the forest. For four days she pressed on without food, and then at last she came to a river swollen almost to a torrent.

As she was about to ride up the stream to discover a fording place, the enemy, who had been pursuing her, surrounded her. There was only one way open, the river that rushed like a torrent between steep banks. Without hesitating, she plunged into the stream, which was fifteen hundred feet wide, and holding to the horse's tail she swam across.

On the other side of the river there was nothing but virgin forests, but into them she plunged anew, undaunted. And after eight days had passed Anita rode into the arms of her husband, who had been searching for her, and was almost insane with grief over the fear that she had been killed.

This was the spirit of Anita, the woman who stood shoulder to shoulder with Garibaldi as he fought for the freedom of a far country. It was the same spirit that inspired him when he again took up arms to fight for Italy's freedom, but when the final triumph arrived Anita was not there to witness it, she had died in his arms of a sickness that refused to spare what bullets had passed by as if charmed.

Good Night Stories

ROBIN'S RAIN SONG.

"Patter! Patter!" sounded the raindrops on the garden walk, and Betty, who was playing under the trees, gathered up her toys and ran for the shelter of the porch.

"Oh, dear!" she cried with a pout, "It always rains when I want to play."

Just at that instant from the tree near the porch came the chirp of a bird. Betty glanced up and there on a branch over her head she saw a robin was sitting on her nest, her wings outspread, and the rain dripping from her feathers.

"Tut! Tut!" laughed Mrs. Robin. "How silly to cry when it rains!"

"But I can't play in the rain," replied Betty.

"Certainly not," chirped Mrs. Robin, "but you can run under a roof that will shelter you. Look at me—I've nothing but the green leaves for my roof and they're not much shelter in a pouring rain."

"Why don't you fly under our porch?" asked Betty. "I'll not harm you."

"I'm not afraid," laughed Mrs. Robin, shaking the rain from her pretty head, "but my eggs will get wet if I don't cover them with my wings."

"Isn't that too bad!" exclaimed Betty, "for your coat is getting real wet."

Betty Ran for the Porch.

"Oh, that's nothing!" chirped Mrs. Robin. "Rain is good for my coat—washes the dust off, you know. The flowers, the trees and the grass have to have rain to make them grow, so we shouldn't be cross when it rains. Why, back of that very blackest cloud the sun is shining," and she flipped her tail, sending a shower of raindrops on the leaves under the nest, and sang this little song:

"Cheer up, cheer ye, please listen to me,
No matter how dark the day may be,
There's no use in sighing and pining,
Before long the sun will be shining."

And before the last notes had died away the sun burst forth in all his glory from behind the dark clouds, turning the raindrop into glistening diamonds.

"Pretty Robin!" laughed Betty in glee. "That was a beautiful song, and I don't blame the sun for coming out to hear it. I'm a silly little girl to complain when it rains, and I'll never do so again."

"That's the way to talk!" laughed Mrs. Robin, shaking the last raindrop from her pretty wings. "For we need the rain just as much as we need sunshine, and how much better for us if we only look at the weather that way."

Then away she flew in search of worms for her dinner, and to dry her feathers in the warm sunshine.

"I guess that's the robin's rain song," laughed Betty, and the very next time it began to rain Betty sang until it stoped raining, just like Mrs. Robin had done, and the time passed ever so much quicker.

Four Selected Recipes

Cocoanut Rings.

These are excellent biscuits, and the recipe and method are the same as for almond rings, the only difference being the substitution of fine cocoanut for ground almonds. One pound of flour, four ounces of fine desiccated cocoanut, half a pound of margarine, four ounces of sugar.

Rub the margarine and sugar together, add the cocoanut and flour, and mix the whole to a paste without any water. Roll it out thin with the rolling pin and cut pieces out with a round cutter about two inches across. Then take a smaller cutter and cut the centre of each biscuit out, thus making a ring; use up all cuttings, place on tins, and bake in a cool oven.

Potato Soup.

Pare, slice and parboil five large potatoes, then drain and add to the liquor one medium-sized onion, pared and sliced very thin, and browned in a little butter, two stalks of celery, a tablespoonful of minced parsley, one tablespoonful of grated carrot; cook for ten minutes, then add one tablespoonful of butter, one pint of soup stocks; add the potatoes, a dash of pepper, grating of nutmeg; simmer for an hour, then press all through a sieve and return to the kettle with a pint of hot milk and season with salt according to taste.

Continental Short Paste.

This is our French ally's method of making short paste, and it is found in nearly every shop and cafe in France: it is tougher than ordinary paste, but it is richer, as it contains more fat. One pound of flour, ten ounces of margarine, a pinch of salt, a gill of water.

Add a little salt to the margarine, rub it into the flour and mix the whole to a paste with the water; handle it gently, roll it out and use as desired.

Fancy Tarts.

A very nice small tart can be made by using the short paste mentioned above. Roll the paste and cut out rounds about two or three inches in diameter; put them on tins and then roll more paste out. Cut out these the same size, and with a smaller cutter cut out the centre of each; wet the bottoms, place them on the other solid piece of paste and bake in a hot oven. When baked put in a little jam, marmalade or baked apple in centre, and pour a little boiled custard over them, serving as soon as done.

Official returns show that only 27 per cent of the tillable land of continental United States is actually under cultivation.

A new method, invented by a Frenchman, of clearing waterways of vegetable matter consists of a set of mowing machines attached to the stern of a launch.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Madge Overheard and Saw in the Attic.

Relief, blessed, unutterable, seized me as I saw in the inn yard below the tall, lanky figure of the young army officer who had befriended me in the unpleasant incident of the trolley car.

His presence there, of course, might be an accident, but, absurd as the theory was, I couldn't help the conjecture that he had found out where I went, and remembering that I must be miles from home, with no chance, on account of Pete, of taking the trolley, had come back to offer me the courtesy of his car.

I forgot that I had never seen him until the trolley incident. It seemed, rather, as if he were an old friend come to my aid. And how wonderful it was to see an honest American face instead of the plotting creatures who imprisoned me.

I saw Ernest hurry from the house and go up to the young officer. Saw the greeting, perfunctory upon the officer's part, full of furtive watchfulness on the side of the ferret-faced youth.

And then I realized that I could not hear a word they were saying.

I must do something, and that immediately, for of couse, if the officer were asking for me, Ernest would deny all knowledge of my whereabouts.

Madge Ventures Down.

I faced the situation with trembling but determined nerves. If Otto had obeyed Ernest he was safely out of the way, for he would be busy at his station in the wireless, ready to blow up the whole thing if Ernest should give him the word.

But were the others all gone? Upon the answer to that question rested not only my life, perhaps, but that of the young officer below, for these were desperate people, and would not stop at murder if they could escape thereby. The plan had been for everybody but Ernest and Otto to get away as quickly as possible, but that plan might have been changed.

However, I had no choice. No matter who lurked upon the stairs or below I must make the attempt to get to the side of the young officer talking with Ernest.

I took the small pistol Mme. Hofer had put into my soat, and put it into the pocket of my skirt, where I could use it at an instant's notice in an emergency. Then ridding myself of the last vestige of the bonds which Mme. Hofer had put on me, I crept as noiselessly as I could to the door, and with infinite precaution fitted the skeleton key she had thrust down my neck into the lock of the door.

A Daring Plan.

The lock had been well oiled and the key turned in it easily and without noise. I swung the door open slowly, then as I saw no one on the staircase, hurried down the steps to a little sheltered recess near the hall door.

There I stopped for a omment to plan my next move, for the daring plan had flashed upon me to effect the capture of Ernest and Otto, if it were possible to do so, before Ernest had the chance to give the agreed signal of destruction to Otto.

I looked around furtively, carefully, but the whole place seemed deserted. And then I made a sudden rash resolve. Ernest was standing facing the lieuteant, and had his back to me. I would listen to their conversation and seize the psychological moment to carry out my purpose.

The recess had a casement window which fortunately for me was half-open. I could hear what the men were saying without being visible myself.

"How long ago did you say the lady left?" the officer was asking. "I'm afraid I didn't listen carefully enough."

"About 20 minutes," Ernest answered pleasantly enough, but betraying to my ear strong evidences of anxiety.

"And which way did she go?"

"Over in that direction, to the road," Ernest replied glibly.

The officer's face didn't change expression, but for some reason, call it occult, telepathic or what you will, I knew that Ernest's answer had startled him, and that for the first time he began to suspect the ferret-faced youth.

"Please pardon me for asking so many questions, but I don't see where I can have missed her. Did you happen to notice whether she had a bull terrier with her?"

Ernest didn't hesitate.

"Oh, yes, the bologna was with her. He wouldn't leave her."

From the rear of the house came a long-drawn howl as of a dog in rage and pain.

Mothers can give a whole Cascaret to a sick, cross, bilious, feverish child any time—they are harmless—never gripe or sicken.

The Practical Economy of Good Paint

Good paint is never an expense, but a saving. By its use you save your buildings from a steady deterioration in value.

Economy in painting demands the use of Quality Paint—Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint—the paint that protects and preserves.

The use of cheap materials is a waste of money—a waste of time.

MARTIN-SENOUR

"100% PURE" PAINT

wears longest, covers the greatest surface (900 sq. feet per gallon) and because of its even texture, takes least time and is easiest to apply. It is absolutely guaranteed—"100% Pure" White Lead, Zinc Oxide and highest quality Linseed Oil. It is admittedly the most economical paint on the market.

Take no chances. Make your investments secure by applying on your buildings, inside and out, protecting coats of Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint.

Ask for "Farmer's Color Set" and "Town and Country Homes". Just what you'll need in planning your painting. 120

CANNING TRADE IS PUT UNDER LICENSE BY THE FOOD BOARD

Will Be Illegal After June 15 to Trade Without Permit.

OTTAWA, May 22.—The canning trade will be brought under the license system of the Canada Food Board by June 15. On and after that date it will be illegal for any person who has not first secured a "canners' manufacturers' license" to engage in the manufacture for sale of canned or preserved fruits or vegetables, meats, poultry, soups, seeds or grains, or products made therefrom; jellies, jams, pickles, juices, condensed, evaporated, dried, powdered or canned milk, or dried, evaporated or dessicated vegetables or fruits.

Persons operating a canning factory in connection with a commercial meat packing factory are not required to obtain such a license.

On and after June 15 it will also be illegal to deal wholesale, or as brokers, or as commission merchants, in any of the products named without having first obtained from the Canada food board a "canners' wholesale license," "canners' brokers' license," or a "canners' commission merchants' license," depending upon the nature of the trading operations of the applicant.

Limit On Contracts.

The order provides that no manufacturer of canned or evaporated fruits or vegetables, without the written consent of the Canada food board, shall at any time contract for the sale of more goods than he reasonably expects to be in a position to pack, and in no case shall the amount contracted for exceed 100 per cent of the average yearly delivery of such articles made by him the four years preceding 1918.

WESTERN ONTARIO BRIEFS

The Oxford Permanent Loan and Savings Society may amalgamate with the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation. An agrement has been drawn up by the directors of both institutions with this in view. The Oxford shareholders will receive $150 for each $100 stock they now hold.

R. H. Wade, secretary of the Ontario Sheep Breeders' Association, announces that the amount of wool to be graded this year at Guelph will be double that of last year, when the co-operative system of selling and grading was arranged. Some 200,000 pounds were handled last year.

Lieut. A. J. Grigg of Clinton has been appointed registrar of man and woman power for South Huron.

Ten nurses of the Homewood Sanatorium, Guelph, were in the graduating class which completed its course yesterday.

Ptes. George Smith and Elgar Mathews, alleged deserters from London, who were arrested at Windsor on charges of theft, are being sent back here for court-martial.

Nurse Ella McDonnell, formerly of St. Joseph's Hospital, this city, who was killed in an auto accident at Champaign, Ill., last Sunday, was buried today at St. Thomas. The funeral was a double one, Mrs. P. J. Burke, an aunt, who was killed at the same time, also being buried in the Railway City.

Trouble in the Guelph fire department was ended yesterday, when the men, with one exception, were re-engaged. They will be paid a war bonus of 20 cents per day in addition to the present wages. The department is four men short.

Fire, caused by lightning, destroyed the fine barn of Richard Daniels at Locherby, two and a half miles from Paisley. The loss was a heavy one and is only partially covered by the $1,200 insurance.

A coroner's jury at Galt, which investigated the death of Arthur Wright, the Grand River Railway brakeman, who died Sunday from injuries, brought in a verdict of accidental death. The exact cause of death was not proven but the jurors found that the brakeman had fallen in some unaccountable manner from a car.

Women have been named deputy registrars, under the registration measure, for Kent County. Mrs. Hugh Johnson and Mrs. David Smith of Tilbury; Mrs. Marr of Ridgetown and Miss Ferguson of Blenheim have been appointed.

The Guelph Radial Railway has made an offer to its men to pay 27 cents an hour for the first year and 28 cents an hour after that. The men asked 30 cents an hour flat. The old scale was 25½, 26½ and 27½ cents an hour.

ROMAN CATHOLICS OF DOMINION OPEN ARMY CLUB IN OLD LONDON

LONDON, May 22.—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—Cardinal Bourne opened the Catholic Army Club at 24 Grosvenor Place, supplied by Canadian Roman Catholics for the use generally of imperial and Allied forces. He paid a tribute to the energy of Father Workman and his colleagues in the club's foundation, and said that the club was meant to form a bond of union among those sharing the Roman Catholic faith. Sir George Perley and Gen. Turner also spoke.

DRAFTS LEAVE

Engineers and Railway Corps Men Go to Depots.

An overseas draft of engineers, numbering 61, left London yesterday at 4:40 p.m. via C. P. R. The draft was in charge of Capt. J. N. Cantin, who will conduct them to the Engineers' Training Depot at St. Johns, Que. There was quite a large crowd to see the draft off. and the men paraded to the C. P. R. from Carling Heights, headed by the A. M. C. pipe band, shortly after 4 o'clock.

In addition to the above draft, 25 N. C. O.'s and men of the Railway Construction Corps left via G. T. R. this morning at 9 o'clock for Hamilton, where they will continue training before proceeding overseas. Lieut. Monsell of the Canadian Engineers was in charge of this draft.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

FORMER LONDONER.

The death occurred on May 22 at Sandusky, Mich., of Barbara, wife of Rev. John Caldwell, after an illness extending over three years. She was a former resident of this city, having spent the greater portion of her life here. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons and one daughter, Margaret and Fraser at home and James of Flint, Mich.; three brothers, John Begg of this city, James of Nanaimo, B. C., and William (overseas); two sisters, Mrs. McKenzie of Hamilton and Mrs. Pickle of California, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. F. W. J. Ball of this city, also survive.

The remains arrived today at 4 o'clock.

The funeral will be held from her brother's (John Begg) residence tomorrow.

APPEALS ENTERED BY MILKMEN MULCTED FOR UNDER-FAT MILK

City Sales Being Curtailed as Conviction's Sequel.

The twelve milk producers who were fined in police court on Saturday last because their product, sold in the city, showed a butterfat percentage of less than 3.25, have instructed Finley Perrin to appeal all the cases.

The men who were fined and have instructed that appeals be filed against their convictions are: W. H. Beattie, Alonzo Scott, Walter Ingles, James Drake, Gordon Nichol, J. Thornton, John Anderson, H. G. Nichol, William Thompson, Frank Quait, Milford Mayne and William Griffiths.

The defendants are appealing on the grounds that the milk was delivered to the city without any tampering on their part, and if it showed a percentage of butterfat lower than the prescribed standard it was the fault of the cows and not theirs. They also maintain that sufficient proof was not adduced at the time of the trial to prove that the samples examined were from milk cans delivered by them.

A number of milkmen have discontinued bringing milk into the city and others, in sympathy, claim they will do likewise if the fines and convictions are allowed to stand.

The appeal hearings will likely be entered for a division court sitting.

DESERTED BEFORE, BUT READY NOW TO GO OVERSEAS

Two Men Appearing in Court Get Chance.

Two more A category men were secured in police court this morning for immediate overseas services, in the persons of Joseph Lapine and Ormus Pritchett. Each pleaded guilty to charges of desertion, and expressed a willingness to go overseas if given a chance.

Capt. McAuley, representing the military authorities, asked Henry Macklin, J.P., the acting magistrate, to suspend sentence in order that the men might be taken.

The request was granted, and Lapine and Pritchett were immediately handed over to military escorts.

The majority of men convicted of desertion in police court express a desire to serve overseas and are with few exceptions given the opportunity.

Dull Barber Pole Furnishing Alibi To New Work Rule

One of London's Chief "Resters" Finds Solace and Safeguard in Paint Pot.

If to rest is to rust there is a certain man in this town who must be very rusty by this time. He has been resting since that well-known panacea of the weary was invented, or at least since his discovery of it. But this new you-must-work law finally reached him. He couldn't evade it. What could he do, oh what could he do, something very soft, something that would not strain a muscle, nor bring a drop of perspiration? He sat in the barber shop and looked out. The barber pole looked rather dully back at him. It was plainly evident that the gentleman was suffering. Then came the great idea.

"Jimmy," he said, "that barber pole of yours needs painting. I'll get some paint and paint it." Jimmy, the boss barber, gasped and agreed. The sorely-afflicted one procured a brush and three pots of paint. He started to make the usual barber-pole stripes, but he does not see very well, and it is somewhat difficult for him to get the stripes just right. But he daubs away for a while each day. He has a job. Let the authorities come and look at him. He can show the paint on his hands and clothes, and a little on the barber pole. As for "regular occupation" he is complying with the law. The one barber pole should last several months at the present rate of progress.

PRESENTATIONS MADE

St. Luke's Church Members Honor Departing Assistant.

A pleasant congregational meeting of the members of St. Luke's Church was held for the purpose of showing their appreciation for the faithful work of W. D. Davis (who is to be ordained on Sunday next). The chairman, E. Chamberlain, made a few fitting remarks and then proceeded with the program, consisting of several musical numbers. Archdeacon Richardson was called upon and he, in a pleasing way, referred to the men who have assisted him in the work of the parish in the past. He commended the work of Mr. Davis in warm terms.

Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Wyatt made the presentation of a sterling silver set of private communion vessels and a gold-mounted fountain pen.

Mr. Davis, in reply, referred briefly to his work in the parish, and expressed to all present his gratitude for the many kindnesses that he had enjoyed in their midst.

The Girls' Bible Class also presented a brass book rack. This presentation was made by Miss Gertrude Ward.

A tasty lunch provided by the ladies was much enjoyed.

BADLY CUT IN FALL

Ottaway Avenue Resident Seriously Injured at Home.

Alex. Fuller, 398 Ottaway avenue, employed at Labatt's brewery, sustained injuries about the head and face when he fell down a flight of stairs at his home at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In falling he struck on the cement floor at the foot of the stairs in such a way as to suffer the cuts about the head.

The injured man was taken to Victoria Hospital, in the city police ambulance, where his injuries were attended by Dr. D. H. Hogg.

Victoria Hospital attendants stated today that Fuller's condition was as well as could be expected, and that no serious consequences were expected as a result of his fall.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LOCAL MARKET BRISK

Oats Ease Off to $2.65 Per Cwt. Today.

Business was brisk on the market this morning. Oats are easier, selling at $2.65 a cwt. A few loads were offered at that price.

Hay continues to be slow. Only five loads reached the square Thursday. The demand for hay is poor. Twelve dollars a ton is the highest price paid for hay this week.

The live hog market is firm at $19.50 a cwt. Dressed hogs remain at $26 a cwt.

Vegetables were more plentiful than usual today. Rhubarb sold from 30c to 40c a dozen, and green onions at 30c a dozen. Home-grown potatoes were offered from $1.65 to $1.80 per bag.

Butter remains at the same price. Eggs retailed at 40c a dozen.

There is no change in the prices of hides and wools.

GRAIN.

Chicago, May 23.—Opening: Corn—July, $1 41⅝.

Oats—May, 75½c; July, 66⅞c.

Chicago, May 23.—Prospects that the crop movement would increase as soon as planting was completed had a bearish influence today in the corn market. Favorable weather for planting tended also to ease prices. Some large commission houses were prominent sellers, and the market was poorly supported. After opening unchanged to ¼c up, with July at $1 41½@1 41⅝, and June unquoted, the market underwent a decided sag and then showed something of a rally.

Oats reflected the weakness of corn. Some export buying was noted, but the amounts were small. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c to 1¾c lower, with July at 66⅞c, were followed by additional losses and then a little upturn.

WALL STREET.

New York, May 23—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Selling of leading stocks was actively resumed at the opening of today's stock market, coppers showing especial heaviness on reports that the war industries board had declined to advance the price of the metal, as requested by producers and refiners. Rails also were subjected to further pressure, Pacifics, grangers, coalers and New Haven falling 1 to 3 points. United States Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and Texas Company represented the heavy equipments and specialties. Liberty bonds were steady.

Noon.—The ease with which rails yielded gave volume to the reversal of the first hour, although that group later made up part of its loss. Recessions among industrials and equipments were extended before the market rallied under the lead of Marine preferred and some of yesterday's strong specialties. Coppers held at lowest levels, and United States Steel and Baldwin Locomotive were unable to throw off pressure, precipitating another reaction at noon.

It's Not What You Earn

It's what you save that gives you a footing, and places you in a position to do business. Many live from "hand to mouth" all their lives. Show your ambition by depositing at least one dollar from each pay-cheque in the savings department of The Ontario Loan & Debenture Co.

A deposit of one dollar opens a savings account. If you add to it each pay-day you will be surprised how fast it grows. We help it along by adding 3½% compound interest to all deposits.

Debentures yield 5½% on sums of $100 for a term of 3, 4 or 5 years.

Will you step in this week and make a deposit?

MORE ADVERTISING TO COUNTERACT LOSS OF SALESMEN

S. F. Lawrason & Co., London, Ont., are advertising in the trade press, telling the dealers that they are using more advertising and fewer travelers. The advertisement carries illustrations of the ads. running in the consumer mediums, and is followed by this text:

"MORE ADS. LIKE THESE AND FEWER TRAVELERS.

"To counteract the reduction of our staff of travelers—a reduction necessitated by existing conditions—we have decided this year to advertise Snowflake Ammonia Powder extensively to the consumer.

"We are going to impress the housewife with the fact that, notwithstanding an advance in price, Snowflake Ammonia Powder is still the very best value on the market.

"This intensified consumer publicity will bring big extra sales to Snowflake Ammonia dealers. 'Snowflake' will be the only consumer advertised Ammonia on the market."—Printer' Ink, New York, May 16.

MEN REPORTING BEFORE CALL TO SERVICE WILL BE SPARED TROUBLE

Names Are To Be Furnished Deputy M. S. A. Registrar.

The names of all men voluntarily reporting for duty, in any class, before they are called, must be sent to the deputy registrar immediately after they have reported, is the advice in camp orders. The names are to be forwarded with full particulars through the A. A. G., M. D. No. 1.

When a man reports here, who belongs to another district, the registrar of his own district will be notified through the A. A. G. of the local district. Unless prompt notification be made, when men are taken on the strength of any unit, there is liable to be confusion in the offices of the department of justice, and men who have already reported for duty, may be ordered before a tribunal and other inconveniences needlessly caused.

It is necessary, say the orders, that the M. S. A. district officer have the co-operation of the officer in charge of London Mobilization Centre and others concerned in this matter.

MISSING TELLER FOUND WOUNDED IN BRITAIN

Windsor Bank Clerk, Who Absconded, Lost Leg at Vimy.

WINDSOR, May 22.—Absconding two years ago after a shortage of several thousand dollars in his books was uncovered by auditors of the bank, Michael Keilly, former teller at the Windsor branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, has been found in an English hospital suffering from wounds received in the battle of Vimy Ridge, according to letters received from him by George Muir, manager of the Windsor bank. Keilly had a leg amputated and was near death, he stated in the letter. His disappearance caused a sensation here. He was a favorite in social circles, but it was discovered he had been addicted to playing races on a large scale, a Detroit woman inducing him, it is said, to give her large sums to bet on a sure thing system.

A continent-wide search failed to locate him. The bank was willing to forgive him, as friends had intimated they were ready to make restitution, but his whereabouts was not discovered until Manager Muir received a letter from a nurse in an English hospital. Keilly's mother lives in Cleveland, it is said, and is near death from grief over her son's wound.

WIDER APPLICATION OF ACT'S AMENDMENT MAY AFFECT OTHERS

Further Withdrawals From Boards Expected.

IS THERE NO LIMIT?

Municipal Leaders Contend Council Members Barred From All Other Bodies.

The recent amendment to the municipal act, which led Controller J. H. Saunders and Ald. G. C. Drake to resign from the board of health, is still being discussed at length in municipal circles.

City Clerk S. Baker contended that the only members of the council who were affected by the amendment to the act were those sitting on boards appointed by the council, and the board of health was the only one so affected. However, there are those who contend, and say that they have legal advice on the matter, that aldermen, controllers and commissioners cannot sit on any other body and hold office. It is said that there are others who look at it from this viewpoint and that Controllers E. S. Little and J. M. Moore are considering withdrawing from the Good Roads Commission.

If this contention is upheld, it will mean a lot to the city of London or any other city in the province with municipal enterprises.

For instance, London owns the London and Port Stanley Railway, yet the city council will be unable to name a member to sit on that commission and look after its interests. London practically, owns the Western Fair, yet not one elected representative of the people will be able to sit on that board.

As one alderman pointed out today, it may mean that the city will have to have the members of these boards elected by the people if they wish to have any control or say in the manner in which they are to be run or else the council will have to fire all these bodies and run all utilities, etc., itself.

G. N. W. OPERATORS VOTE TO CALL GENERAL STRIKE OVER DISCHARGE OF MEN

TORONTO, May 22.—At a largely-attended meeting here tonight of Great Northwestern Telegraph operators it was unanimously decided to go on strike unless the men recently dismissed from the company's employ on a charge of the misuse of the telegraph for the conveyance of racing information, but who were honorably acquitted by the court which tried them on the charge, are reinstated.

A deputation, among who was C. E. Hill, acting for the international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, went to Ottawa tonight to take the matter up with the minister of labor.

On Tuesday, June 4, Miss Lulu Campbell and Miss Edna Guy, talented students of the London Conservatory of Music, will appear in recital at St. Thomas. They will be assisted by Miss Madeline Simson, member of the teaching faculty and one of the cleverest pianists in this part of Ontario.

WILL HOLD DANCE.—No. 4 Nursing Division of St. John Ambulance Unit will hold its first dance of the season at Springbank pavilion on the evening of May 24. It is planned to hold dances also every Wednesday evening through the summer.
