STATE OF PEOPLE OF ULSTER THAT OF ABSOLUTE TERROR OVER LIKELIHOOD OF CLASH

Conditions, Short of Absolute Hostilities, Could Not Be Worse

EXPECT TROUBLE AT DEMONSTRATION

Which Orangemen Have Scheduled For To-day—Tension Extreme

London, July 11.—The situation in Ulster to-day is without parallel in the United Kingdom since the Jacobite rebellion of 1745.

Short of actual hostilities the position, according to the opposition newspapers could not be more desperate. This is the eve of the 224th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, and only the exercise of great restraint on the part of the Ulster Volunteers will prevent disturbances in connection with the celebrations on Monday.

Tension Is Extreme

Tension is extreme throughout Ulster, especially in Londonderry, where the people are said to be in a state of apprehension, almost bordering on terror, for fear of what may happen between now and Tuesday.

In deference to strong representation from headquarters the Orangemen have agreed to hold their demonstration two miles outside the town.

The next move, the Unionist press insists, lies with the British Government.

A meeting of the Cabinet will be held on Monday to decide what course is to be taken as to the drastic changes made by the House of Lords in the Home Rule Amendment Bill. These changes, it is again insisted, are the only alternative to civil war. If Redmond and Devlin agree to the total exclusion of Ulster from the scope of the bill, with the consequent depletion of the Irish treasury, all will be well; but the Irish leaders say they do not want Home Rule without Ulster.

Some Delay

The bill comes down to the Commons next week and it is the intention of the Government to delay consideration of the question. This, it is hoped by the Unionists, will at once bring the Cabinet into conflict with the Nationalists. For this course the Government has certain justification in the backward state of the Budget.

Bonar Law, as a matter of tactics, will press the Premier on Monday to move that the Home Rule Amending Bill have immediate consideration by the Commons. This, it is feared, the Government will resist.

Redmond is reported to favor a large degree of conciliation for Ulster, and in consequence to be threatened in his own party by Joseph Devlin who sits for a Belfast constituency.

FRENCH BANKERS ARE DOING WELL

Enormous catches of fish are being taken by the French trawlers. Already six of the fleet have called here for bunker and supplies, the last two, the Labrador and Mauritana arrived Saturday after having landed banner catches at St. Pierre.

The others, that previously called here were the Sacho, Morc, the Rosemonde and the LaRosette. Yesterday word came from St. Pierre that no less than four others had called at the colony with big catches.

The season of 1914 promises to be a banner one with the French fleet, which numbers twenty-one steamers.—N.S. Herald.

25,000 Orangemen Hold Demonstration In Glasgow, Scotland

Heated Declarations And Lively Skirmishes Marked The Event

Glasgow, July 12.—Twenty-five thousand west of Scotland Orangemen held a demonstration at Lanarkshire this afternoon.

Grand Master Rev. David Ness declared that their policy regarding Home Rule was "No surrender."

Great crowds witnessed the procession, and lively skirmishes occurred, but only four arrests were made.

"Peace With Honor Or War With Honor" Declares Carson

Ulster Leader Says He Sees No Evidence of Peace In Near Future

Larne, Ireland, July 12.—"If it be not peace with honor, it must be war with honor," said Sir Edward Carson, in addressing the Central Antrim Volunteers here to-day.

"There is no alternative," Sir Edward declared. "The Ulsterites are not aggressive, but they had told the Government they would never submit to be turned out of the Imperial Parliament, and by that decision they must win or go down together; there will be no drawing back." As to the immediate future, the Ulster leader could see no evidence of peace.

Crusade Waged Against Consumption

Campaign To Show How Tuberculosis is Bred and Disseminated

London, July 6.—As part of the national crusade against consumption a remarkable exhibition is being held in the Town Hall, Leeds. The exhibition, which will continue for a fortnight, draws attention by means of diagrams, illustrations, photographs, models and pathological exhibits, to the enormous wastage of life and work caused by tuberculosis in its various forms.

How It Spreads

How the disease is caused to spread and the methods of cure and precautions for prevention are emphasized. The chief orator at the opening was Sir Berkeley Moynihan who, in emphasizing the urgent necessity of segregating consumptives, said each sufferer from the disease was a factory and storehouse which produced millions of organisms weekly and scattered them in all directions.

He had recently, Sir Berkeley said, asked a mathematical friend to work out the rate of propagation of tubercle bacillus in favorable circumstances and his friend had reported that starting with one tubercle bacillus on a Sunday morning and allowing it to propagate itself at an average rate of growth for a week, you would be able to serve on a breakfast plate every individual human being on the surface of the globe something like a million bacilli.

Caused a Sensation

Another speaker caused a sensation by declaring that he knew a pretty seaside resort with an ideal climate where the death rate from consumption was thirty per 10,000 of the population, compared with twelve per 10,000 in Leeds. He believed that not a single window in the town was openable, and if he had his way he would smash every window there and discharge every glazier.

Local newspapers are wondering whether or not their duty is to pillory the town in question.

S.S. Bellaventure did not get away for Sydney until 8 last evening, while the Adventure did not leave until this morning. Both were detained by their freemen.

FOUND THE BODY OF MICH'L BROWN

Who Was Drowned in the Harbor of Sydney, N.S., Over a Month Ago

The body of the unfortunate Michael Brown, who was drowned while returning from the fishing grounds on the evening of the 3rd, or the morning of the 4th of June, was recovered Sunday, floating near the shore at South Bar, in close proximity to where the boat was found a month ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Richard of the Pier district, were rowing in a boat Sunday when they discovered the body in the water close to the shore. It was badly decomposed. The absence of the deceased's coat and vest as well as one of his boots, gives rise to the belief that he divested himself of the apparel in an endeavor to swim to the shore.

The remains were conveyed here by the tug Zaidie, and after an inquest were buried in Lakeview cemetery Monday afternoon, and services were held in St. Joseph's church.—N.S. Herald.

RIVAL FORCES EXCHANGE SHOTS IN COUNTY DERRY

Reported Clash Between Ulster Men and Nationalists Saturday

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD YESTERDAY

Streets of Belfast Gaily Decorated For Demonstration To-day

Belfast, July 13.—A despatch says shots were exchanged in a fight on Saturday night between Nationalists and Unionists at Kilrea, County Derry.

Throughout Ulster yesterday the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne was celebrated by religious services at which addresses were delivered exhorting the Protestants to remain faithful to their King and Country in the present crisis. The streets of Belfast were everywhere decorated with portraits of Carson and paintings of the Derry gates and the Mountjoy breaking the boom. The people were small Union Jacks.

A large number of Orangemen marched to the Ulster Hall, Belfast, where the audience numbered three thousand.

COMMISSIONER VISITED SYDNEY

Commissioner J. J. Mullaly, of St. John's, is a visitor in town since Monday. He leaves for home to-night, accompanied by his niece, Miss Kitty Mullaly, of Omaha, Nebraska, who is making her first trip East. She is expected by to-night's express. Commissioner Mullaly is one of the few live wires on the new form of civil government in St. John's, and a large coal importer from Sydney Mines.—N.S. Herald.

NURSES MEET AT HALIFAX

Paper Read by Miss Southcott—St. John's Nurse Becomes Member

Halifax newspapers, reporting the proceedings of the convention of the Canadian Superintendents of Training Schools for Nurses, held in that city, state that at one of the sessions Miss Southcott, of the St. John's Hospital, read a paper on "An Hour With Florence Nightingale."

Among the thirteen nurses admitted to membership in the Association, appears the name of "Miss M. Retailick, General Public Hospital, St. John's, Nfld."

Messrs. W. J. Edgar and R. G. Ash who were at Botwood in connection with the Masonic reception to the Duke, returned by yesterday's express.

DEATH PENALTY FOR SINGING HYMN

Rochester, New Hampshire, July 13.—Six persons returning from a Sunday School picnic were killed on Saturday when a buck board wagon in which they were riding was hit by a freight train of the Boston and Maine Railroad. The party was singing "Nearer My God to Thee," as the wagon tumbled down the road towards the tracks, and their voices drowned out the noise of the train.

EXPECT 100,000 ORANGEMEN AT DEMONSTRATION

Belfast, July 13.—It is expected that 100,000 will be present at the main Orange demonstration at Drum-bury to-day.

Sir Edward Carson will be the chief speaker.

Male Suffragette Attacks Birrell

London, July 12.—A violent attack was made to-day on Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, by a male militant suffragette, who rushed at the statesman immediately on his descent from the train here. The assailant hurled a heavy bundle of papers at Birrell's face, shouting at the same time—"You cur, you torturer of women!" The man was arrested.

NEAR THING FOR ROBLIN 2 MAJORITY

But There is Still Some Doubt As To How Two Districts Will Go

Winnipeg, July 13.—The standing of the parties in the next Legislature still remains in doubt. Two days after the election, the Liberal and Conservative claims are still different. The Government forces still believing in 25 to 21 standing which includes two doubtful seats in St. George and Ste. Rose. The Liberals while conceding Ste. Rose to the Conservatives claim St. George as a Liberal victory.

BIG VICTORY IN THE COURTS FOR CLAIMANTS

U.S. Judge Permits Them, Without Prejudice, to Appeal to British Law

WHICH ALLOWS THEM TO CLAIM $3,000,000

Instead of Only $97,000 as Under the Statutes of The United States

New York, July 12.—Judge Hand, of the Federal Court, has announced a ruling which permits claimants to withdraw their claims growing out of the loss of the Titanic, from the Admiralty Court litigations here, and prosecute for damage suits in the English law courts, under the English law known as Lord Campbell's Liability Act.

The Difference Claimants may recover $3,000,000 for account of salvage, freight and passage money, while the American statute limits the recovery to $97,000. Action was brought for claims aggregating $18,000,000.

The Judge's order permits claimants to proceed in the English courts without prejudice to the right of further action in this country.

VOLUNTEERS RECAPTURED AMMUNITION

Which the Police Had Confiscated and Were Transporting To Dublin

OVERPOWERED ARMED GUARD

And Got Away Safely With 200 Rifles and 10,000 Rounds Ammunition

London, July 13.—An armed guard of ten policemen conveying confiscated arms and ammunition from Londonderry to Dublin were surrounded on Saturday by volunteers who recaptured a consignment which was placed in motor cars and rapidly driven away.

The consignment consisting of 200 Mauser rifles and 10,000 rounds of ammunition had been discovered by the Customs concealed in the false lining of a furniture van.

Arrangements were made to remove the consignment by train to Dublin, but the Ulster volunteers learning of the intention, made plans to intercept the train.

Star-Collegian Footer Game To-day

Weather permitting the Stars and Collegians compete this evening.

As both are in the running for the championship an exciting game is expected. The players are:

KILTIES ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Listen to an Excellent Sermon by the Rev. C. A. Whitemarsh

The Highlanders in charge of Lt.-Col. Paterson, attended service at George Street Methodist Church yesterday morning.

The Rev. C. A. Whitemarsh conducted the service and delivered an interesting sermon.

On return to the armoury, Lt.-Col. Paterson briefly addressed the battalion. He was pleased to see such large parade and issued orders for Wednesday.

The Highlanders will attend the laying of the corner stone at the Reid sanatorium on Wednesday afternoon, as a guard of honor.

INVESTIGATION COMMISSION PLACES BLAME FOR DISASTER ON THE COLLIER "STORSTAD"

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE THE TWELFTH

Attended Service in Large Numbers Yesterday at Wesley Church

SERMON PREACHED BY PRES. MATTHEWS

Who Dealt with Improvements in Religious, Social Political Affairs

The Orangemen of St. John's observed July 12th by attending service at Wesley Church. The day being favorable there was a large attendance, over four hundred members in the ranks.

A fortnight ago the city lodges, Royal Oak and Leeming, decided to hold the parade and the arrangements were carried out very creditably.

At 2.30 p.m. the Society left their hall and proceeded up Long's Hill, along LeMarchant Road to the church. Messrs. N. Andrews and W. H. Cave, Masters of Royal Oak and Leeming Lodges, were in charge.

Leading Men In the rear was a carriage containing the President of the Methodist Conference, Rev. F. R. Matthews, B.A., who was the preacher; Hon. D. Morrison, who has been ill for some weeks, and Mr. John Badcock, who is one of the oldest Orangemen in St. John's.

The Grand Lodge was represented by Grand Master Squires, Past Grand Masters Morrison, Kean, Hutchings, Deputy Penney, Past Deputy Piccott, Treasurer Puddister, Auditor Langmead and others.

The church was filled, even standing room being at a premium. Extra chairs were provided and even then many were obliged to stand throughout the service.

Impressive Sermon

Rev. Mr. Matthews sermon was an impressive one. He dealt with the religious, social and political conditions of the 17th century in France and England; the conquest of England by William of Orange; the influence of Cromwell; the development of free thought and free speech; the effect upon Christianity of the free circulation among the populace of the Holy Bible. The slogan of the Association was "Equal Rights"—not rights for Protestants and none for Catholics; not rights for the Christian and none for the Chrymanan or the Hindoo. The association should stand as the sworn enemy of intolerance, of bigotry, of religious oppression.

At the close, Grand Master Squires, on behalf of the brethren, presented the collection to the preacher. Mr. W. R. Stirling then expressed the thanks of the Society to the clergyman for his excellent discourse.

Return to Victoria Hall was made via Hamilton and New Gower Streets, where a vote of thanks was passed to the clergyman, choir and officials of the church.

Mongolian Here From Philadelphia

S.S. Mongolian, Capt. Hatherly, 4 days, 18 hours from Philadelphia, arrived yesterday morning, bringing 320 tons general cargo, 2 bags mail and the following second class passengers: Mrs. Mary McIver, Walter K. Penny and wife, Miss Teresa Wade, Mrs. Bernard Grace, F. B. Grace, J. A. Grace, Elizabeth Grace, Geo. F. Culleton, Miss Winnifred Carew, Miss Maud Gardner, Misses M. and B. Whelan, Jas. Harvey, Mrs. Jas. Hearn and infant.

The Mongolian sails for Glasgow at 1 p.m. to-morrow.

Preached Farewell Sermon Yesterday

Rev. F. R. Matthews, late pastor of Wesley Church, who leaves for Carbonear shortly, preached his farewell sermon last evening. A large congregation was present.

The rev. gentleman's many friends in St. John's are sorry that he is leaving the city.

Found Chief Officer Tuftness Wrong and Negligent In Altering Course

SAY KENDALL WAS ENTIRELY BLAMELESS

But Think That He Might Have Given 'Storstad' Wider Berth

Quebec, July 12.—The whole blame for the disaster to the Empress of Ireland, which was sunk by the collier Storstad, has been placed upon the shoulders of Alfred Tuftness, Chief Officer of the collier, by the Dominion Wreck Commission.

The Commission found Tuftness wrong and negligent in changing the course of his vessel, and Captain Kendall of the liner, blameless, his actions up to and after the disaster being approved by the Commission.

Happen Anywhere

The report further agreed that the accident was not caused by special characteristics of the St. Lawrence River route, but would have happened under similar circumstances in any other river.

In an interesting part of the report, suggestions are made for safeguarding life at sea in future.

It was found that the port holes open helped to make the vessel sink rapidly, and the watertight doors could not be closed. In future all port holes should be closed, and as many watertight doors as possible closed in a fog.

Lifesaving Apparatus

It also suggests the use of rafts that would float away when a vessel went down. A change in the system of taking on pilots at Father Point is also suggested.

The finding in the enquiry into the Empress of Ireland disaster, concludes as follows: Captain Kendall of the Empress of Ireland would have been better advised to have given the Storstad a wider berth, but we do not consider his failure to give a wider berth a contributory cause to the disaster. The Chief Officer of the Storstad was wrong in altering his course.

TWO LIVES LOST IN A COLLISION OFF CAPE COD

Schooner and Steamer Crash Together in A Dense Fog

SCHOONER SANK IN FIVE MINUTES

Steamer Rescued Nine Seamen and Brought Them Into Port

Boston, July 13.—Captain John H. Thomas of the schooner George Hudson and two seamen lost their lives in a collision between the schooner and the steamer Middlesex in a fog off Cape Cod on Saturday night.

The schooner, coal laden from Philadelphia to Boston, was nearly cut in two and sank within five minutes after the collision.

The Middlesex put back into port with nine rescued seamen aboard, bringing the first news of the disaster.

NFLDR. KILLED IN R.R. ACCIDENT

Mr. J. M. Devine had word from King's Cove, Saturday, informing him of the death of Alphonus Devine, formerly of King's Cove.

Mr. Devine was accidentally killed in a railway accident near Boston and was buried at Gardner, Mass. No particulars are at hand. Deceased who was 27 years old was working with Mr. Maurice Devine, brother of J.M.'s, who is a contractor for bridge painting.

Commercial Catechism

What is the price of Flour now? Ans. $5.80. good.
Is Sugar likely to be dearer? Yes.
Under Confederation, will our fishermen get a bounty on fish? Yes.

What do you think of the Muscle as an article of food? Excellent. Only recently a famous professor of one of the American Universities, who had been experimenting with the Muscle for six years, handed down his report, which says that it is just as good as the Oyster. He goes on to say that in view of the high cost of living it would be a grand thing if the nation would realize the value of this excellent shell fish, as ten persons could be fed for 25c. He further states that the opinion widely held in the United States as to Muscles containing a poisonous part is erroneous, simply a superstition introduced by the Indians in early days.

Is there more business done by mail in Newfoundland today than there was twenty years ago?
Yes! twenty times as much.

Name a house that makes a specialty of selling by mail?
Well, there are several mail order houses in St. John's, but one house that figures largely in this line is J.M. Devine, The Right House.

Does he send the goods without the money? Well, the system, if we are correctly informed is cash in advance or cash with order, and money refunded if goods are not satisfactory.

But will he really refund the money if the goods are sent back to him for any reason? Oh, yes, you get a money back guarantee with the goods if you are not satisfied.

What is his correct address?

J.M. DEVINE, The Right House
167 Water Street, St. John's.

You had better write him for all information.
Does he give credit? Oh, certainly, to well-rated people.

THINKS PORTE SHOULD FLY THE 'AMERICA' HERE

Weekly Witness Hands Out
A Suggestion to the Trans
Atlantic Adventurer

WOULD BE GOOD
ENDURANCE TEST

And Would Show Whether Porte is Justified in Attempting Long Flight

THE America—a hydro-aeroplane, as the Americans still call it, though in England Mr. Winston Churchill has made its official name seaplane—has been launched on the small lake beside the factory of Mr. Curtis at Hammondsport, New York. The boat part of the aero-plane is a yachtlike hull thirty-five feet long.

The machine floated like a cork when launched. The day after the launching, it made three, or four short flights, never going high or far.
It had only about half of the load on board that it will have to carry to take it across the ocean. But even with this light load, difficulty was experienced in making it rise quickly from the smooth surface of the lake. That difficulty would be as nothing to the difficulty it would experience in rising with the fuel, machine oil, and provisions when loaded for a continuous flight across the ocean.

Changes Were Made
On account of the difficulty, the elevator boards which are tipped at an angle into the water to make the machine jump out of the water after it has got up speed and is scooting along the surface, were taken off and changed for boards having an area half as large again. With the new boards the seaplane has been able to rise from the water with a load of slightly over a ton.

It seems that after a few short trial spins, none of which will be duration tests, or will approximate to the condition that will be experienced in an attempt at an ocean flight, the America is to be taken to pieces and shipped down to Newfoundland, where it is hoped by the constructors to have it ready three weeks hence to make its trial at an ocean flight.

Nobody will deny that that flight is going to be a dangerous one for the two men who will occupy the cabin of the machine. It is of course impossible for them to alight in this ship on the ocean in anything but exceedingly calm weather. A boisterous sea would smash their boat in a few minutes, and it is doubtful if even with a smooth swell running they could get out of the water.

What They Count On
They are counting very largely for their safety on the hope that sailing at a height of five hundred feet above the surface of the sea they will be able at almost any time to sight, with a powerful field glass, some steamer or ship near to which they can swoop if danger threatens. While counting on this for their safety, they are also counting on finding smooth water both at the Azores and on the Spanish coast, for they know full well that even such a ripple as rises in a landlocked harbor in a wind would prevent their rising.

They cannot await a calm day as the full course to England must be covered in seventy-two hours if they are to get the purse that has been offered. In preparation for their flight, they have out a special code of signals so that merchant ships can aid them in keeping their course, and they have made a request that as many ships as possible be in the vicinity of the course at the time of the flight.

In view of the fact that these men are asking the world to take an interest in their endeavor and actively co-operate with them, it is surely not too much that the world should ask them in return to demonstrate before they make the attempt that they have some little chance of success, to prove to its satisfaction that it is not a fool's game with ninety-nine chances out of one hundred against them. If they make no attempt at such proof, they will have no right if they meet with failure to look for the world's sympathy, or if they meet with death to be mourned by the public.

These men have a very convenient and easy way of proving that they have done their best in preparation and are worthy of the interest that they are seeking to have bestowed on them. Hammondsport is about sixty miles from the south of Lake Ontario. About half that distance is covered by Lake Keuka and Lake Seneca, so that there are only thirty miles of land between Hammonds-port and the Lake.

Flight Here Suggested
From Lake Ontario there is a clear water course with only a few short dangerous pieces to it, none of them more than three or four miles long, all the way down to St. John's, Newfoundland. This course from Ham-mondsport to Newfoundland over the water is about as long as the longest part of the transatlantic flight.

The sensible thing would be for the America to take on her full load at Hammondsport, and rising from the lake there, follow the water all the way down to St. John's.

That should be a perfectly safe flight if the ocean one is within the realm of possibility.

Kitchen Wrinkles For Housekeepers

Hints and Ideas to Lighten Work Around the House

Equal parts of linseed oil and lime water make a soothing mixture for burns.

Black stockings will always keep a good color if, after washing, they are rinsed through blue-water.

Coffee is a fairly good air-purifier, and a little burnt on hot coals will purify a sick room and abolish bad smells.

When driving a nail through a plaster wall, dip it in hot water first.
This will prevent it from breaking away the wall.

Before laying oilcloth, put a layer of sawdust on the floor, and it will give a soft tread to the feet, as well as preserving the oilcloth.

To give potatoes a flavor add half a teaspoonful of sugar, as well as salt, when boiling. This does not make them too sweet, but gives a delicious flavor.

To keep bread boards a beautiful color, rub them well with half a lemon; then wash them in cold water, and stand them in the wind or in the sun to dry.

Before using table oilcloth, paste at each corner on the wrong side a square of cotton. This prevents the corners from wearing out as soon as they otherwise would.

When cooking liver and bacon get a sour paple, slice it very finely, and add it to the gravy. This will impart a delicious flavor, which is a great improvement.

To remove smoke marks from cellings, mix a thick paste of starch and water, and with a clean flannel spread it over the mark. Allow it to get thoroughly dry, then brush off with a soft brush, and the marks will have disappeared.

Platirons become rusty if left in a damp place or if put away flat when warm. Rub them first with beeswax, then with dry, coarse salt, using a short hard brush. When heating irons it is wise to remove them from a lighted gas-ring after a few minutes have elapsed, and to wipe away the tiny specks of moisture which will be found to have formed.

Leather chairs, often become greasy looking where the arms and head rest on the leather. To remove these marks try linseed oil. Boil half a pint of oil and let it stand until nearly cold; then pour in half a pint of vinegar. Stir till it is well mixed, and bottle when it is ready for use.
Put a few drops on a flannel and polish with soft dusters. This will thoroughly renovate all leather.

In cases of emergency a kettle or saucepan can be heated over a candle by the following means: Stand two chairs (with rungs) fairly near together. Place a lighted candle on the floor between the two. Then lay a pair of fire-tongs across the rungs place a small kettle or saucepan immediately over the candle. The water does not take long to boil.

WHY FRENCH HAVE MONEY TO INVEST

Investigator Says That They Are a Very Thrifty People
PRACTICE THE VIRTUE OF STRICT ECONOMY
 And Are Always Eager To Secure Most Stable Investments

Paris, July 8.—Simon W. Straus, of Chicago, president of the American Society for Thrift, has just finished several months of inquiry on the continent into the origins of economy among European peoples. "I should say that a French family can live off what an American family wastes," said Mr. Straus. "The principal reason, of course, is in a habit of mind, in a way of looking upon the relative values of efficient living as compared with inefficient and wasteful living. One may be as extravagant with a dollar as with a million."
 "Now, the self-denial of the French in food and in other necessities of living often is carried into what I should consider excess, but there is nevertheless thoughtful, intelligent thrift in the French household which contributes to the happiness and well being of every member. It is that sort of thrift which I should like to see cultivated in American families—a careful adjustment, according to a thoughtful plan of the domestic budget, so much for rent, food, clothing, education, the dowry of the daughter, the amusements of every member of the family, the provision for emergencies and old age.

Expenditures Planned
 "When a scheme of expenditure is adopted in the French home—and every French home, it is said, is a parliament—and carried out, every item of expenditure can be made with a certain contentment or even joy because it is known to be a harmonious relation with the whole. This makes French amusements so thorough because there is no feeling of extravagance on the part of those amusing themselves. They take their amusements, and what might be to the observer, indulgences, happily and without inward sense of discomfort and wrong doing because these expenses fit into the rational scale of living which has been wrought out earnestly and rationally.

"The French people are wonderful hoarders. They seem to keep their savings hidden at home more than on deposit at banks. A bond issue of the government or one of the great credit institutions is usually taken up without affecting to any great extent the deposits in the great banks. Persons evidently of the lower middle and lower classes will often stay all night in front of the office of issue in line for an early opportunity to buy a $20 bond.
Interest in Government
 "Often several members of a family will unite to buy a low denominational bond. The holders of such securities change their point of view, they look upon life differently, upon social institutions differently when they have even a small interest in the government or one of the great industrial or business companies. I think we in America ought to insist on states and cities issuing their bonds for public subscription in small denominations instead of selling them in great blocks to persons who resell them to the public at a profit."

THE "STANDARD" Marine Motor Engine

Manufactured by the Standard Gas Engine Company,
 San Francisco, California.
The Engine That Never Disappoints.
 This is a slow speed heavy duty four cycle Marine Engine, built to stand the hardest class of work, and is used extensively by the Halibut fishing vessels of the North Pacific Coast and the Trading Schooners that go into the Behring Sea.
 Some of its main points are:
 1st. Perfectly reliable ignition system.
 2nd. Crosshead can be adjusted, without removing Piston from Cylinder.
 3rd. A thrust bearing that will not heat.
 4th. Reversing gear that will back up for any length of time.
 5th. An Automatic Governor which prevents the engine from racing in a heavy sea.
 Owners of Banking and Coastal vessels and all who may require a heavy duty engine are invited to investigate the "Standard."

ST. JOHN'S, N.F.L.D., JULY 13, 1914

OUR POINT OF VIEW.

GRAVE OUTLOOK.

TROUBLES and rumors of troubles continue to be reported in the messages dealing with the present situation in Ireland in the Island itself and indeed, throughout the United Kingdom and the British Empire there seems to be a fairly general opinion that the feelings of both Nationalists and Ulstermen have been keyed up to a tension bordering on the breaking point.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of the Covenanters to remain quiescent until the House of Lords have dealt with the Home Rule Bill and the measure in amendment thereof, but that they expect little or no change in the situation as a result of the deliberations of the Peers is evident from Carson's declaration, at a convention at Larne, Ireland, on Saturday, that he could see no promise of peace in the near future.

This is particularly a time of grave peril in Ireland. Yesterday was the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, an event celebrated by Orangemen the world over. According to the cables, the members of the Association in Ulster are to have a big demonstration today and there is expected to be an attendance of one hundred thousand people.

To the onlooker it seems almost an impossibility that a clash between adherents of the rival parties can be avoided. Both sides are well armed and well supplied with ammunition. Both are determined to go to the last extreme in fighting for their particular principles. Both have been wrought up to the highest pitch of nervous excitement by the course of events in connection with the Home Rule measure and by the heated declarations of their leaders.

It would take a very little thing indeed, to set fire to the situation and lead to a general explosion of popular hatred that could only culminate in terrible bloodshed.

The population of the areas where trouble is most likely to arise, is a mixed one, made up of adherents of both sides. And when men's passions are fully aroused a word—a look, even—is often sufficient to lead to the committing of deeds which may have dire results.

The vital question now is: Are the Nationalists now controlling, or are they being controlled; are the Ulstermen bossing or are they being bossed? In other words, is the volunteer movement subservient to the leaders on both sides or has it grown too big for either Redmond or Carson?

If the armed forces raised by both sides are out of hand and uncontrollable, then God help Ireland!

We will wait with the gravest anxiety for further news from the troubled area, hoping for the best, but fearing the worst.

May our hopes be fulfilled and our fears proved altogether groundless!

MATTER OF HEALTH.

WE are certainly a very strange people who live and move and have our being in this town of St. John's.

The more one considers our strange mixture of taking precautions against certain evils, and of promoting those evils at the same time, the more one is inclined to wonder.

We are erratic and unstable and variable as the weather which alternately smiles and frowns, carresses and blusters.

But the action of the weather, its changes and attitudes may be forecasted with some degree of certainty.

What the authorities who rule our town will do under certain circumstances, cannot be guessed, unless one is to hazard the forecast, that they will do something contradictory.

We talk of parks and sanatoriums, we invite lectures on health matters, at the same time that we invite and encourage disease, and in the most stupid and perverse way go about destroying the health of the people.

We talk of sprinkling and laying of dust, the ordinary wear and tear of the streets, and at the same time pay men to dig up foul, disease-laden mud and silt from open gullies along the streets.

The stuff is scooped up from the sewers and heaped on the street. The heaps are allowed to lie in the sun for hours, often for a whole day, to spread in the air whatever harmful germs they may contain.

It does not seem rational to build parks and hospitals where prevention and cure may be achieved, while at the same time at our very doors we do our best to encourage and spread infection.

RELIGION VS. COMMONSENSE

A CABLED message from Rochester, N.H., U.S.A., tells the sad story of the killing of six persons on a railway track by a freight train.

The fatality took place under strange circumstances. The victims were members of a party who were returning from a Sunday school picnic. As they drove along homeward they sang hymns and in this congenial occupation they approached a railway track, drove on to it without making sure there was no train in the neighborhood and were run over and killed. The message says that they sang so lustily that their voices drowned the noise of the oncoming train.

Unfortunately, we are too often apt to show little more balance in our religious affairs than the ill-fated party in the wagon. Our preoccupation with good precludes our keeping our feet on this old sphere and exercising the common sense which the Creator has provided us.

The victims of the terrible railway accident referred to above were so much occupied in religious exercises that they virtually committed suicide.

We very often take much the same line, get carried away with religious sentiment and put ourselves out of action as effective performers of good works.

Some cry "Sabbath Day Observance," and carried away with their feelings sometimes take measures to secure the hallowing of the Day of Rest in such fashion that the unregenerate are provoked to acts on that Day of which they would otherwise never have thought. The very manner in which the religious get down to work often provokes resentment in the minds of those who are to be reformed by act of law.

Love your brother and do him good, say the constitutions of numerous associations. There are any number of declarations on public platforms and at church services; there are parades with flaming banners, brass bands and public applause, but when the shouting and the tumult dies away and the censors get down to work again at their everyday occupations they show that the principles cheered for have very little place in that portion of their personality from whence flow the actions of life.

What about it? Abolish, or rather, disregard, religion?

Certainly not. But do not stultify religion by numerous foolish, narrow and childish

SIGNOR MARCONI DECLARES THAT WIRELESS TELEPHONING IS NOW AN ACCOMPLISHED FACT

Inventor Has Constructed an Apparatus Whereby he Can Telephone Successfully Without Wires for a Distance of One Hundred Miles

London, July 10.—One of these days the head of a London business may step to the wireless phone.

"Ring up New York," he'll order. "Get my New York manager on the ether."

"That isn't impossible. Guglielmo Marconi says so. Perhaps the New York manager is indisposed. Maybe he doesn't want to talk to his superior. In which case he may try to disguise his voice. But it wouldn't do him a bit of good.

"Ah, ha," the London manager would say, genially. "You little rascal, you. I see you."

A further miracle of the etheric waves may come in the future. It may be that the New York manager is determined to abstain from conversation by wireless with his boss. It may even be that he may hide behind the door. Even that would not help him. Even that would not help him. A further application of the etheric waves may penetrate that door and disclose the guilty shiverer to the gaze of his incensed master.

"We are now talking for short distances by wireless," said Mr. Marconi when I called upon him at Marconi House, on the Strand. "By short distances I mean up to 100 miles or so. Within another month or so this system will be working commercially. It is quite as feasible to talk for long distances by wireless as for short distances. It only requires then application of more power."

To Talk Across Ocean.

"Will the day ever come when telephonic conversation across the sea by wireless may be possible?"

"Undoubtedly," said Mr. Marconi. "I will go further. We will be talking from London to New York by wireless long before we will be talking between the same cities by cable. Wireless telephony over great distances is a less difficult undertaking than is telephoning similar distances by cable."

Very recently there appeared the announcement of an invention by which it may be possible for the parties to a telephone conversation to see each other. The inventor declares the apparatus to be a comparatively simple one and capable of universal use.

"I see no reason to doubt it," said Mr. Marconi. "I have been too busy with my work for the wireless to pay much attention to it. But there is nothing inherently impossible in the theory."

Mr. Marconi laughed. He has a singularly taking smile, this man who has made either help carry our burdens. He sat with his back to the window in the great office in Marconi House. This structure itself, by the way, is quite unlike American business offices. It retains something of that guarded seclusion, that residential quality, which is so dear to the English heart. One steps from the rear of the Strand to a quiet hallway, almost cathedral like in its vaulting, and drawing room like as to its carpets. A commissioner covered with service medals desires to know in what manner he can serve you. In the end one finds his way by a silent lift to Mr. Marconi's office, to find a kindly, somewhat reticent, rather tired man willing to answer questions. He does not volunteer information.

Where Science Overreaches.

"Let us hope that seeing-by-wire plan does not come into general use," said he. "One may have a very good friend who is yet a bore. Nowadays our good friends rings us up and says

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN

Every successful business man can give reasons for his prosperity. Most essential to any success is a careful and ceaseless attention to details. Every well conducted office or store in the world finds that simple and effectual filing systems are an absolute necessity. No employer will waste his own time or allow waste with his staff by using old fashioned methods. The benefits derived from the time and money-saving system which "Globe-Wernicke" devices encourage are self evident. Not a paper can go astray when the "Safe-guard" method of this Company is used. And no matter how complicated your filing problem, no matter how peculiar, no matter how small or how large, the "Globe-Wernicke" can provide you with the equipment that will place every record at your finger tips. Why not investigate? Mr. Percie Johnson represents the "Globe" in Newfoundland.

Uses Wireless 'Phone Regularly.

Marconi's time has of late been given over to the perfecting of his wireless telephone apparatus and to the adaptation of wireless to the uses of the aeroplane. The first, as has been stated, is now complete. For some time he had a wireless phone in operation between his office and the Savoy Hotel, across the street. He has communicated with ships at sea at distances of thirty or forty miles with less difficulty than one would experience in telephoning to a neighbor forty miles away. He has heard sounds through his phone when efforts were made to telephone from Berlin to London, but the words were indistinguishable. Further work needs to be done before long distance telephony may be expected as a practicability.

"At short distances," said Mr. Marconi, in an effort to make clear in untechnical language the difficulties he has encountered, "the voices seem to dominate the wireless wave; but as the distances are increased and waves of greater power are needed in order to carry, the voice seems unable to control and dominate the waves. We need a greater and more perfect apparatus for distance work."

"But we shall be able to telephone by wireless across the sea before telephoning is possible by cable. The explanation is that with distance the sounds become weaker when wireless is used, but the voice is not distorted. One may hear with difficulty but the syllables are perfectly articulated. On the other hand, after a certain distance the sounds are distorted in telephoning by cable. This distortion increases with the square of the distance."

It should be made clear that at present there is no thought of establishing a wireless telephone exchange. For the present the wireless phone is for use only on ships. All ships within the radius of the speaking instruments can take part in any conversation that might be going on.

"One might couple instruments together," said Marconi, "but we have not given that phase of the problem any thought as yet."

Some Experiments.

"The day may come when it all will be possible to call by wireless from London to New York for a given phone—and be free of interference from any other phone. But we have not bothered with this because we do not believe that wireless telephony will ever supplant wireless telegraphy. You could not speak code words, for example, as you could write them. It is hard enough to understand ordinary words over the best telephone. And coding is a necessity of modern business, for half a dozen reasons."

Mr. Marconi has lately been very active in his efforts to adapt wireless telegraphy to the use of aeroplanes. For weeks Gustav Hamel the brilliant young airman, who was drowned in the English Channel, over which he had flown in safety a score of times, was a daily visitor to his office, and was one of the most confirmed experimenters. Three great difficulties stand in the road of wirelessing from a plane, according to Marconi. The first is the great weight of the apparatus required, the second the constant vibration, which interferes with perfect sending and receiving, and the third a purely human element—that of the excitement from which every man who goes up in a plane suffers, though he may not realize it himself. However, wireless with perfect ease from a plane is only a little further away.

"It has been said that you are experimenting in an effort to drive planes by wireless?"

"That is one thing I never tried," said he. "I do not think I ever will. One can transmit power by wireless, but the percentage one transmits is so small in proportion to the power one starts with that—as Americans say—it doesn't pay. For example, I might have a 100 h.p. engine here and hardly able to get one-half a horse power by wireless at a short distance from it."

Influenced to Win.

It was toward the end of August, and our team of the Boynton Athletic club had done splendid work at winning baseball games, placing us in an excellent position to be one of the teams to play for the championship at the end of the season, but the Harkerville club had just as good a record, and we must beat it or be thrown out of the line of competition.

We knew what everybody knew—that under ordinary circumstances we could win from the Harkerville club. But our twirler, Jim Grigsby though the best in our part of the country, was unreliable. There were times when he would make tosses which only a marvellous batsman could hit, while at other times his pitching was decidedly poor.

Bob Twining, our captain, made a study of Grigsby to find out why he could not twirl as well at one time as another and discovered that he needed a stimulus. He also discovered that the excitement of the game could not be relied upon to make Grigsby do first-class work. This puzzled the captain.

Twining must hit on some expedient at once. His sister, Jaqueline, was one of those girls who seem to be able to draw men as a magnet will draw metal, and Twining told her that he wished her to concentrate her flitting for the couple of weeks that remained before the deciding game on Grigsby.

Jack—as she was commonly called—was at the time receiving the attentions of one George Elliot, to whom Twining seriously objected. Jack worshiped her brother and wouldn't marry without his approval. She proposed to do what she could to influence Grigsby to win the coming game, provided Twining would concur in her choice and back her up with their parents, who were of the same opinion as the brother. Twining finally reluctantly agreed to her proposition, provided the game was won, and she took Grigsby in training.

"Jack," said Twining a week after this agreement, "let up on Grigsby. You are absorbing so much of his time, that I can't get him out for practice."

"I thought you relied on me to make him win."

"So I do."

"Very well. Never mind his losing practice. He's had practice enough. He needs a motive. If the team needs a pitcher for practice get some one in his place. Let Mr. Grigsby alone till the game comes off."

Twining grumbled, but thought it best not to interfere with his sister's plans. He did not, and could not know what means she was taking to make Grigsby win the game. He only knew that she would if she could and did no more scolding when the twirler cut practice to go galavanting with Jack.

Of course Bob and his sister were the only two in the secret, which was of too delicate a nature to be spread broadcast, and the captain was at his wits' end to keep his team up to its work without its pitcher, especially since his absence from practice was a discouraging feature. By the time the game came off Twining was tired out with the situation, having forced his team to keep in condition despite its discouragements.

Jack would give her brother no information as to what was passing between her and Grigsby. Twining asked her if she wished a seat on the stand where the pitcher could see her plainly, and she said she wished for two seats, not conspicuous. He didn't understand this, but gave her a place a few rows back from the front.

The weather was favorable, and since there was a good deal of interest in the game, a large crowd was in attendance. No one except those mentioned knew anything about the bargain that had been made. Twining had supposed that Jack wished the extra seat for a girl friend, and when he saw her sitting beside her he wondered. But Jack knew the game she was playing and her brother did not.

There was the usual cheering when the teams went on the field, and the rooting for each team was well and incessantly kept up by the leaders. Grigsby looked about for Jack, and when he saw her sitting by Elliot he knit his brows. What was going on in his mind was unknown to any one but himself—and possibly Jack. Twining was watching him and believed that whatever it was, would be a big hit or a big miss.

It turned out to be a big hit. Grigsby covered himself with glory. His Curves were marvellous. From the start our fellows led, and at the end of the game, when we had beaten our opponents badly, we carried Grigsby off the field on our shoulders. Then the field that had been so lively was deserted.

When Bob Twining and his sister were alone at home he took her in his arms, kissed her and told her that she might marry Elliot with his full consent and that he would throw all his influence with the old folks for the same cause.

"But how did you manage it with Grigsby?" he asked.

"I promised to marry him if he won the game."

Jack kept her promise, threw Elliot over and astonished the world.

"You can never tell," her brother remarked, "where a girl is going to land till she has landed."

BAY OF ISLANDS EXTENDED HEARTY, RIGHT ROYAL WELCOME TO H.R.H. DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

Western Star Gives a Graphic Account of the Elaborate and Creditable Arrangements Successfully Carried Out in Honor of Our Royal Visitor

Curling, July 8.—H.M.S. Essex, with His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, arrived off Curling on Tuesday afternoon about two o'clock,—on account of very fine weather being several hours ahead of her time. As His Excellency Governor Davidson had suggested to the committee that noon was spent in luring the elusive trout. In the evening there was a general illumination of the residences of Curling, Petrie's, and Summerside, while there were huge bonfires on Court House Hill and on the Bank Residence Point, with a display of fireworks from these two points and from Mount Cecilia.

Governor Arrives
His Excellency, Sir Walter Davidson, with Capt. Moore, his A.D.C., came in on his private car attached to the express from St. John's in the afternoon, and were met at the station by Magistrate March, F. H. J. Ruel, chairman; B. D. Lilly, secretary reception committee; Colonel Farquhar, Secretary to H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught. While in Curling Sir Walter made his car his residence. He and Capt. Moore dined informally with Mr. and Mrs. Ruel on Tuesday evening.

His Excellency made a formal call on His Royal Highness shortly before 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, and accompanied him in the launch of the Essex to the landing place at the Bank residence. The Duke was also accompanied by Hugh Watson, R.N., Captain of H.M.S. Essex; Lieut.-Col. Farquhar, Capt. H. C. Bulter, A.D.C. to His Royal Highness; and Capt. Moore, A.D.C. to His Excellency Sir Walter Davidson.

A salute of 21 shots of dynamite was fired from Pleasant Cove as the launch left the ship, and the royal salute was also fired by the Essex as His Royal Highness disembarked.

Received the Royal Visitor
On the wharf waiting for His Royal Highness were His Lordship Bishop Power, the Reception Committee, a Guard of Honor from the Boy Scouts, and the clergy of all denominations from Bay of Islands and other points. At the end of the wharf the musket committee were ready with their sealing guns, and on his approach to the landing fired a royal salute. On his stepping on shore the band of the Essex, which had previously come off the ship, played the National Anthem. His Excellency Governor Davidson then presented His Lordship Bishop Power, F. Herbert, J. Ruel, chairman of the reception committee; E. D. Lilly, secretary; Magistrate March, of Curling; Magistrate MacDonnell, of St. George's; and P. T. Clement, J.P. of Channel, as well as the clergy of all denominations.

The procession then left the wharf, His Royal Highness first stopping to speak to the Rev. Mr. Royle, master of the Boy Scouts, who were drawn up as a guard of honor at the head of the wharf. On leaving the wharf, the Duke proceeded up the avenue towards the bank residence and was delighted at the sight of over three hundred school children, all waving flags, who lined both sides.

Nicely Decorated
The whole length of the avenue from the wharf to the house was lined with flags and Chinese lanterns, and a great number of people, not only from Bay of Islands, but Channel, Searston, St. George's, Port au Port, Bonne Bay, and other points were present. The bright, happy faces of the children and welcoming people, and the countless waving flags as the party passed under the overhanging trees made a very beautiful sight. The bank residence and grounds were a riot of bunting and have never looked more beautiful. His Royal Highness was met at the foot of the steps by Mrs. Ruel, who welcomed him. Mrs. Ruel was accompanied by her daughters, the Misses Johanna and Elizabeth, the Misses March, daughter of the Magistrate, and the house party, who were presented to His Royal Highness by Sir Walter Davidson.

Address of Welcome
His Highness then proceeded to the verandah, where the Address of Welcome, which had been beautifully executed by A. L. Barrett on parchment and morocco, and bore the Arms of Newfoundland in gold, was read by B. D. Lilly. The address was as follows:

Your Royal Highness,—We, the people of the Western portion of that Island where the great British Dominions beyond the seas had their Oriental, bid Your Royal Highness a cordial welcome to our shores.

We rejoice to welcome you as a member of the illustrious Royal family who guide so well and acceptably the mighty destinies of a far-extended people.

We welcome you also personally, as we recognise those characteristics which have endeared you to the people of the great Western Dominion, whose Governor General you are, and in whose destinies you are so deeply interested.

We conclude by wishing you every happiness during your gracious visit to our beloved Island, and many years to occupy your exalted position near the throne.

Again we wish you welcome. On behalf of the people of the West Coast

F. H. J. RUEL, Chairman.
B. D. LILLY, Secretary.
Curling, Bay of Islands, N.F., July 8th, 1914.

H.R.H. Replies
His Royal Highness replied: I thank you most cordially and heartily for your address of welcome, said H.R.H. in reply.

I think Sir Walter Davidson was very well advised in recommending me to begin my tour of Newfoundland by a visit to Bay of Islands, as nothing could leave a more favorable first impression than the beauties of your splendid land-locked harbor.

I shall long remember the delightful afternoon that I spent yesterday, and I am not ashamed to say that I spent it in attempting to catch my first Newfoundland trout.

As this is the first point in Newfoundland that I have visited, I should like to take this opportunity of saying how very glad I am to have this opportunity of showing the great personal interest which I take in your loyal and ancient Colony.

My travels about the Empire have shown me how deep is the feeling of loyalty among all subjects of the British Crown. From all I hear of the sturdy people of Newfoundland, I feel confident that nowhere is the feeling stronger than here, in the cradle of our Western Empire.

Ladies and Gentlemen, I thank you once more and wish the people of the West Coast of Newfoundland continued and increasing prosperity and happiness.

Heartily Cheered
At the conclusion of the reply, three ringing cheers, with a tiger, were given with such a rousing good will by the throng that filled the spacious grounds, that His Highness could not help but feel that when Newfoundland welcomes, she does it from the very bottom of her heart.

The presentations were then made by Magistrate MacDonnell and B. D. Lilly, and a very large number had the honor of shaking hands with His Royal Highness. His Lordship Bishop Power then presented the Duke and Sir Walter Davidson with copies of Mrs. Ruel's poems, "Newfoundland" and the "Song of the West Coast."

On account of the size of the size of the grounds everyone had an excellent opportunity to see the presentations and to hear the speeches. The band from the Essex played at times through the proceedings.

After the presentation, the Royal party entered the Bank residence, where they signed the visitors' book. The procession was then reformed and proceeded by way of the Upper Road to Bagg Brothers' wharf, which was beautifully decorated with flags. Many pauses were made to admire the magnificent scenery, which through the Petrie Valley and over Court House Hill is so typical of Newfoundland, and to express appreciation of the arches erected at the Orange Lodge and on Court House Hill, and particularly of the display of flags made by Rev. Dean O'Rourke.

Expressed Appreciation
His Royal Highness, before embarking, expressed to the chairman of the reception committee his appreciation of the welcome given him, and his pleasure with the arrangements made by the Committee. He embarked amid a storm of cheers.

Sir Walter Davidson and Captain Moore lunched with His Highness on the Essex, and at half-past two the party proceeded in the ship's launch to Humbermouth, where they were met by F. H. J. Ruel and Norman Fisher, chairman of the motor boat committee, who had provided a smaller launch for the trip up the Humber, with Supervisor Pennell as chief pilot. The Royal party were greeted with salutes from the whistles on the Reid Nfld. Co.'s works, from locomotives and from the S.S. Melgie lying at the pier, whose railing was lined with children, who gave vociferous greeting to the Duke, and again on his return down river, sang the National Anthem.

Had Pleasant Trip
A very pleasant trip was made up the river, a few boats accompanying the party, and the Duke repeatedly expressed his admiration of the beautiful scenery of the Humber. His Royal Highness was graciously pleased to re-name Marble Head, the summit of a cliff rising a sheer twelve hundred feet from the water's edge,—"Patricia Head," in honor of his daughter, and in order to leave Bay of Islands a memento of his visit.

On his return to Humbermouth, His Highness invited Mr. Ruel and Master James Ruel on his launch in order that they might visit the ship. On leaving, the Duke again expressed the pleasure the spontaneous welcome of the West Coast had given him, and requested the chairman to make this known to everyone taking part.

At five o'clock the Essex sailed for Blanc Sablon, carrying the admiration, love, and respect of all Bay of Islands for its distinguished and most courteous guest.

CATHERINE CALVERT

Catherine Calvert Describes Her "Seasonable Gowns"

By MADGE MARVEL

FINDING an evening gown in a patch of moonshine, choosing a blouse from the crests of a hill, harmonizing a street suit from the freshly opened garden, and trimming it with new lace, has the fantastic sound of a foolish fairy tale.

"Catherine Calvert, who does it, says it is the most satisfactory and becoming scheme of costume a woman can have. She planned her entire spring and summer wardrobe that way, going over the ground literally, with a modiste, to see that the goods matched and that the combining shades were all right."

"Long, long ago," explained Miss Calvert, in quiet tone one would use when spinning a yarn about fairy and pixies, "I made up my mind that if one would be dressed with individuality and be able to express personal taste in her attire, she must work somewhat independently of the style makers."

"It all came to me at sunset—the way out, I mean—when I was delighted to find a wonderful reception gown spread out in the western sky, in the twilight afterglow."

"It was at the close of a bright April day, when there had been rain one minute and sunshine the next, that the twilight brought clear weather, and there followed a marvellous sunset. There was a clear, blue sky with a band of palest yellow along the horizon, and a deeper blue of the sky in tint. The chiffon drapery repeated the pale yellow."

"The foundation was the soft, clear blue of the sky in tint. The chiffon drapery repeated the pale yellow. I caught the rose and orange in two velvet flowers which were used to hold the

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I am pretty old of 15 years, and am blessed with very beautiful feet and ankles. When at home after supper, I take off my shoes and stockings and spend the evening barefooted, as I enjoy this very much. There are times when some one will come in for a few minutes or a guest will come to spend the evening. I always remain in the room, as I feel as much at ease as if I had on the finest pumps with silk hose. I have had many to admire and congratulate me on having such nice feet.

Many girls are ashamed of their feet and ensure me and my "fad." My idea is that the foot has just as good a right to appear in public as the hand, as it is formed very much the same and in most cases is more delicate. If they were intended all ways to appear in shoes they surely wouldn't have been created with as much care as to shape and appearance. Is it proper for me to appear at a public bathing beach in short skirts and barefooted?

Miss F. B. F.

ARE you real, Miss F. B. F., or are you just a joke? Can it be possible that you really mean any of the queer things you say in your queer letter?

There's nothing disgraceful about a pretty foot and ankle—but who wants to be reminded of them every minute? If you want to go barefooted in the house or on the street, go barefooted—and enjoy yourself. But don't expect others to enjoy you.

People do not like "queer" folks; and any one who receives company in a pair of bare feet—no matter how pretty those feet may be—is "queer," and there's no use trying to get around it. If you were my little girl you would never, no never, come into the room and receive company in your bare feet—any more than you would parade the main street of your town in a night gown.

Go on out and wade in the snow-drifts barefooted if you want to. If you can stand it, the rest of the world can. But don't be cross when the rest of the world stops coming to see you, or laughs at you, or says that you are "queer."

As to the bathing beach—that all depends. I never could see any harm in going in swimming without shoes and stockings. And if I were a middle-aged woman with my position in the world fully established, I'd do it—if I wanted to.

If I were a young girl and nobody else went bathing barefooted, I would buy myself the prettiest pair of bathing shoes and stockings that money could get, and I would wear them and be happy.

Did you ever see a rude boy tie a red rag around a chicken's neck and set that chicken out into the barn yard with the rest of the hens and observe what happened to the chicken?

Don't tie the red rag of being "peculiar" and "different" around your neck, little girl, unless you want to run the risk of being torn to pieces.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

Flat Backs to Replace Slouch Pose

By Maggie Teyte

The Noted Prima Donna

STAND in the corner and hold up your head," is the advice the principal of a girls' boarding school used to give her pupils when found slouching in grace and elegance of carriage.

She had a certain exercise which carried out the idea and which the girls in her charge were required to practise three times a day. It is so simple that any one with a flat wall against which to set her back may try it. I can promise with a clear conscience that if she persisted in it will give such superbly flat backs and such grace that it will make the debutante slouch and the lackadaisical pose of the moment seem mere absurdities.

MAGGIE TEYTE

Stand against a door in such a position that the back of the head, the shoulders, the elbows, the back, the heels and the palms of the hands will all touch it. And it must not be just an occasional exercise, but a real pressure so firm there can be no doubt as to one's erectness of bearing.

Secret of Grace

Easy? Not a bit of it. If you can hold the position a full minute after a month of daily practice, you are doing well. Doing so in more than one day—not only succeeding in the exercise, but gaining strength and poise and much control of the body, and all the graces in the world won't make that statement any more true.

Not long ago, a noted physician was talking about the modern woman. He said: "Unless she learns how to hold her head and keep the pose of her body, I fear for her mental future. It is a great pity that at a time when women are so capable and so brave, they should throw their entire beings out of harmony by adopting such outlandish poses as one sees on the street in the ballroom, on the stage."

Go to the nearest art gallery and look at the "Golden Rule" by the artist. It is a picture of a young girl, a lovely woman coming down a staircase. There you will find the ideal pose in each position. It is a simple one, especially at this crucial moment in the pose of womanhood. It is deserving of a place in every bodice.

A Whitening Lotion

I have had several requests for some whitening lotion for the skin which is beginning to show the effects of the spring sun.

Let me give you one that was given me by an English woman who at 60 had the complexion of a young girl.

Take one quart of sweet milk stand till it is thick. Then boil and strain through a cloth and add a sliced cucumber and let boil till the cucumber is soft. Strain again and let stand for an hour and pour of the fluid without disturbing the sediment. Add a tablespoon of alcohol and 15 drops of benzoin and apply every night and when you come in from outdoor exercise in the sun.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

What Flies Mean to the Home; Insect Carriers of a Plague of Ills

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

THERE are still some medical men who ridicule the "germ theory of disease." Few there were at first who examined seriously into the evident facts of the indictment of microscopic germs. Most doctors at first and laymen felt convinced that there was nothing in the world beyond their immediate sense perceptions. All of this, however, is now past. The majority, once disdainful of scoffing, have been steadily overpowered by the accumulated truths; they have succumbed to the dramatic antitoxins, the tragic inoculations of malignant germs into animals, and finally to the surgical feats of asepsis and anti-sepsis, and know more about microbes than did the doctors of 35 years ago.

How these malicious micro-organisms founded upon the human body and felled their victims was also thought to be a closed story, when the verdict of guilty was wrought in against water, milk, bad air, soil and direct contagion. Suddenly, however, the higher court of new knowledge forced a reconsideration of the case. There was forced upon the pathological jury such new evidence that the whole matter had to be judged anew. For Dr. Theobald Smith, the eminent Harvard savant, who had investigated Texas cattle fever, discovered the terribly destructive epidemic was spread, not by filthy soil, bad air, contaminated food, or polluted water, but by a tiny insect known as the cattle tick. The story of his painstaking blood of these ticks, how he finally and forever convicted them of harboring the malaria-like parasites of Texas fever is thrilling, but even history, sufficient here to say that it opened up at once, to scientists and physicians, an entirely new vista for investigation. It impelled them to recast their notions and at once energetically to test every suspect in the insect world.

Winged Demons Everywhere. Undoubtedly in not a few human as well as animal ailments the disease principle passes at once from person to person. Measles, diphtheria, scarletina, smallpox, loathsome diseases, ringworm, the itch and similar troubles are notable instances of this type. Quarantine and isolation usually serve to stamp such diseases out.

But Dr. Theobald Smith's finding, with that of the disease-producing malarial parasite, that the mosquito is the source of the malarial fever, and the source of elephantiasis as well as bird anemia; the stegomyia mosquito as the source of yellow fever, and the tsetse fly as the reservoir for malarial and the death-dealing sleeping illness.

DR. HIRSHBERG

Every Fly in the Home is a Harbinger of Evil.

All of these ailments are caused by microscopic parasites of the animal type. How then are the ailments that are caused by the vegetable parasites—the bacteria—carried from the sick to the well? How are the bacilli of typhoid, diphtheria, the plague, cholera and other diseases carried from the sick to the healthy? The offender at once to fall under suspicion is the housefly. Can the familiar housefly be found guilty?

While the hairy-headed, frosty winter seems at first sight to have rid the earth of houseflies, a metropolitan city of all the last, buzzing flies of midsummer, you will be amazed, if you are so industrious as to investigate, to find that the supposed winter flies are still domesticated has lived up to its name, and the lethargy of your clutter-clogged furnace, will soon lay from 120 to 200 eggs on a stable or moist manure is the first step in the life of the fly. The eggs on garbage, refuse, meat, or other exposed organic material.

How They Multiply. Furthermore, in 10 days, every female in this new fly generation will set herself to the weather in cold or warm, at once to lay as many eggs as her prolific mother. And with what an appalling result! The fly that produced her progeny in April will have by the first of September descendants of 10 raised to the 10th power. In one month, one fly will have a progeny of 10,000 of other flies. If weighed, these would measure nearly one-half a ton.

Flies allowed to feed on milk or sugar-water in which germs are already will be found to deposit those microbes

Three Minute Journeys

Mongolia, the Land of Magic

By TEMPLE MANNING

WHEN the traveller finally climbs the Tannu-ola mountains and gazes for the first time upon the bleak, wind-swept steppes of Mongolia, he is impressed first with the utter loneliness of the landscape. There is no vegetation to be seen; his glasses show no signs of human life. Only the obelisk monument marking the well at the pass, about which are scattered various offerings of slain sheep, made by natives to the different gods, indicate that there is human life somewhere in the wastes which stretch 200 miles from this spot.

Then, while this impression is fresh in his mind, there appears a galloping band of herdsmen from behind some promontory of rock. They examine the traveller's passports from Peking, and then present their faces from the nearest Khan, or chief, and take charge of the expedition. The traveller cannot imagine how word of his coming has preceded him, and he puts himself in the hands of his new guides wonderingly.

This is his first taste of the magic of Mongolia.

During my trip across the plateau of this strange land each day saw some new touch of mystery. One Khan would pass us on to the next, and his men would travel quickly so as to be rid of us. Relays of horses awaited us in mountainous encampments. During the night fresh men and horses and presents of sheep would mysteriously arrive from somewhere, and the following morning we trekked on without hindrance. Everywhere we went, the people of the land saw no yurts, or herds of sheep, or camels.

The people, and especially their chiefs, are most interesting. They were delighted to sit on our camp stools and sip our Russian tea, and besides their present of sheep would mysteriously arrive from somewhere, and the following morning we trekked on without hindrance. Everywhere we went, the people of the land saw no yurts, or herds of sheep, or camels.

We found here the originals of our domesticated camels, horses and sheep. In other countries their ancestors have entirely disappeared. But in this forgotten land wild camels still tenant the depths of the Gobi, wild horses still pace the plains and within sight of them the great Ovis Arian, wild mountain sheep, graze in seclusion on the upland meadows.

What a story this land could tell if only its deserts could speak and its mountains bear witness! Here rode Genghis, the Mongol Alexander, the most ruthless and inhuman destroyer the world has known. On these wild plateaus wandered those Mongol herdsmen who fed their flocks and moved their camps with complete content and splendid isolation, until at least the wanderlust came over them and they were driven out from their fastnesses to overrun the world.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUESTIONS

Miss L. McK. Woodstock, Can.—It will be wise to have an X-ray taken of your hip joint. It may be that there is some pressure of your internal organs upon the osseous matter of the hip joint. Until this pressure is removed the pain will remain.

Mrs. F. L. T. West Collinswood—(1) Your husband must be examined at once. If he has no tuberculosis, simple remedies will help him.

(2) Use your other arm for a month or more. You may have a strain of the muscles of your right arm from excessive work. Do not rub it, but bathe it in hot mustard water at night.

Mrs. J. W. Markdale, Ont.—Your pains are due to internal trouble. It sounds as if, at your age, you needed an operation, particularly if you wish to buy a farm as you say.

W. M. A. Pittsburgh—Constipation can be cured by oatmeal, bran bread, oranges, figs, prunes, apples, dates, psyllium, castor oil, water and vigorous rubbing.

W. H. H.—Loose and flabby skin under the eyes can be tightened up by vibration, electricity, massage and fresh air.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

SOVING a man's wages out of the kitchen with a tablespoon is an old simile which has lots of truth.

The modern woman who has domestic economy as a good business woman, is quite as diligent in the housewife to confess ignorance of food prices as it is for the man who makes his living in the business world to acknowledge ignorance of the market prices.

After several weeks of experiment under various conditions, the efficient housekeeper will know what it costs each week to run her table. She will keep within this sum. If there is company and extra entertaining she will strive to minimize expenditures for two or three weeks until the mean average becomes the same.

With some study of food values it is simple to plan meals that will have the requisite amount of nourishment, the delight of palatableness and a minimum of expense. "Watch the market" is excellent advice for all housekeepers to follow. It is no less admirable to be accused of being careless in expenditure than it is to be called stingy.

Many housekeepers whose husbands are on moderate salaries will let the kitchen run itself without any auditing of accounts until there is a hue and cry over bills from the head of the house, and then there will be tears and accusations.

To man who furnishes the money to run a house has a perfect right to demand a judicious handling of that money.

The wife who throws it out in waste and neglect is misappropriating funds. If it is beneath a woman to take a personal interest in her kitchen, then it should be beneath her to accept the money to run the establishment.

In discussing a former mistress, one commented to another, "I guess she was brought up poor. She was the most wasteful woman I ever saw. Only folks that never had nothing through away when they set something."

Here are some kitchen hints that will save time and worry:

To make coleslaw immerse in water and stir, soak them in olive oil for five minutes.

If you have suspicion of the age or color of a chicken when you are cooking it and fear it will be yellow and tough, add the juice of half a lemon to the water in which it is cooked. The same recipe will whiten the flesh of fish.

A crust of dry bread thrown into the pot where cabbage is cooking will whiten the color and keep it from becoming yellow.

The odor of grass after frying can be driven out by the odor of coffee beans on top of the stove.

News of the City and the Outports

THINGS BIT DULL AT GREENSPOND

Catch of Fish to the Present Not Averaging Half Quintal a Boat

Greenspond, July 11.—Since last report there is not much improvement in the fishery here, especially on trawls. Not averaging half qtl. per boat to date. Just a little in traps, from 1 to 2 qtls. per day. Best trap from 15 to 20 qtls. Caplin landed a week now.

A. J. Howse's new schooner is not ready to launch yet. She measures 170 tons gross. When finished, will be a good job. He has some experienced men working on her continually. Mr. Sandy Barry, a thorough Union man, is the foreman. An expert caulker came from Harbor Grace to see to the outside of the vessel, and to see him putting oakum in her seams you would say he is no amateur.

Business is a bit dull on all sides at present, but the F.P.U. store up to the present have the ideal place for all Union friends.

Capt. J. Bennett, one of the strong Union men at Fortune, who is proud of the Union and Coaker, landed a load of coals for Borne Bros.

Capt. Gillard also landed a load of coals for Mr. E. Edgar, 190 tons. Capt. Davis also landed a load for Borne Bros., and for the firm great was the profits thereof.

Lobsters are very scarce at present.

We are glad to see the Rev. G. G. Burton back from Montreal, looking well, where he has been spending five years at college.

We are expecting the Rev. W. P. Wornell, brother to J. B. Wornell, F.P.U. store, here also from St. John's, who has also done splendidly at college in Montreal. He is taking his sister Charlotte with him. His stay will be about a week, when he will return to Montreal to finish up his college career.

The gardens are a bit backward, but the weather is getting a little bit warmer now.

We are expecting a visit from President Coaker in a few days. Quite a lot of men who didn't care to see him last fall are longing to meet him now.

Many of our friends here are waiting for the commission of enquiry to be held to find out who is to blame for the terrible catastrophe which befell so many of our readers the past spring.

Winds from North-west to North; fishing poor.

FRENCH FISHERMEN PICKED UP

Deputy Minister of Customs Le-Messurier has received word that two fishermen of the schr. Tour Dauourenge, of St. Malo, France, have been picked up on the Banks by the schr. Ornat and taken to Ferryland. They were sent on here and the French Consul will arrange for their passage to St. Pierre.

HOOK AND LINERS DOING NOTHING

Things in Business Circles At Port de Grave Now Very Quiet

Port de Grave, July 6.—Reports this week a little brighter than last among the trap fishermen, but in business circles very quiet. The most of the trade is done for a month or so.

All our Labrador schooners are gone except one, she leaves to-day.

Friend Joseph Morgan's schr. Constance left to-day. It is reported he intends trying his luck on the Southern Shore.

Traps got from 3 to 10 qtls. this morning, which has made a little stir among the fishermen. Hook and line nil.

Caplin are still very plentiful. Everyone seems pretty well satisfied with them now. Both fishermen and farmers alike.

No Union meeting since last report. Our Chairman may call over this week.—J.D.

CATALINA FOLK TALK ABOUT FISH

And Are Inclined to be a Bit Despondent Over the Outlook

Catalina, July 9.—Since last report the weather has been very stormy, gales of wind from S.W. to N.W.; as the high tides or springs are on the same time, the fishermen are not doing much.

Skipper Dug White got a surprise Tuesday. He had two traps out, he hauled one and took two fish out; this discouraged him, he said he wouldn't haul the other. So on his way along he looked at it, and as he didn't have enough to make fish brewse he started to haul and took 100 qtls. He said we got enough for the brewse now. A few other traps near also secured from 15 to 40 qtls. each.

Skippers Tom Norman and George Gullage are doing well with trawls; also some of our men at Little Catalina are doing well.

The big "fish gobblers" are not yet begun operations. Skipper E. G. Stone will come off dock to-morrow; he intends using trawls.

If weather don't soon change with wind on the land a bad voyage will be the outcome.—J.G.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chown returned from their honeymoon trip last week.

Magistrate Lilly, who was in hospital where he had a toe amputated, left for home last evening.

Rev. A. B. S. Stirling was the preacher at St. Thomas's Church last evening, and delivered an impressive discourse.

Capt. Wiltshire, who took the yacht Amber Jack from Boston to St. Anthony for the Deep Sea Mission, returned by the Kyle.

Miss Kitty Mullaly, daughter of Mr. W. P. Mullaly, of South Omaha, Neb., arrived by Friday's express on a two months' visit to this city, and is a guest of her uncle, Mr. J. J. Mullaly.

Mrs. Godfrey, wife of Rev. Godfrey, Heart's Content, left by the Stephano Saturday to visit her sister, Mrs. (Rev) W. Bell, of Brooten, Minnesota. She will also visit other American cities.

Capt. Wm. Caldwell, late chief officer of the S.S. Manchester Commerce, has been appointed to the command of the S.S. Spinner Commerce. Capt. Caldwell is well known here and his many friends will be pleased to learn of his promotion.

GOOD FISHING IN THE RIVERS

Western Star Tells of the Excellent Sport the Many Tourists are Having Curling, July 10.—Foreign sportsmen whipping the waters of the rivers on the West Coast of Newfoundland enjoyed rare good sport during June and the present month. Fine catches of salmon have been made at Little and Big Codroys, Crabbes, Robinson's, Harry's Rivers and along the Upper and Lower Humberes. The fish, gamey and strong, run from ten to thirty-five pounds, and, once hooked, give the angler an hour's thrilling sport before being killed, gaffed and landed.

Among the veteran fishermen who visit the colony annually the writer spoke several on the Codroy's and at Robinson's. At Little River acquaintance was renewed with Judge James Morton, of Fall River, Mass., who, with his daughter, Miss Ann, rarely miss a season's outing in Newfoundland. Judge Morton is high liner on Little River, having up to the 4th of July landed a number of fine fish, the heaviest of which tipped the scales at 17½, 12, 18 and 28 pounds respectively.

A. S. Burnham, of Sarnia, Ont., holds the record one-day catch, having landed half a dozen of the splendid beauties at one of the South Branch pools.

Isaac Butterfield, Grand Rapids, Michigan, a tyro at the game of salmon fishing, astonished the residents, and seasoned anglers by landing three splendid fish in two consecutive days, during which the veterans scoured the river and did not get a "rise."

Dr. M. W. Striker, President of Hamilton College, Utica, N.Y., Professor Bussey, of the Bussey Institute, Boston, and J. Fred Daggett, of Winthrop, all old timers at the game, seldom came in from the streams without bringing evidence of their prowess.

Capt. and Mrs. James Barron, of Saranac Lake, N.Y., are among the annuals stopping at "Afton Farm."

Newcomers on the river this year are: Harrie B. Price and wife, of Philadelphia, with their daughters, Marion M. and Katherine. Col. and Mrs. Bird, of Calcutta, India, are also enjoying their first season at Codroy, and are having fair success. Dr. Russell, Washington, D.C., and Geo. B. French, Nashua, N.H., are camping on the Grand River. Both report fine fishing.

Mrs. Daggett landed the banner sea trout of the year from Widow's Pool, the fish scaling seven pounds.

Mrs. N. M. Browne was high liner for June in numbers of trout caught, having landed one hundred and fifty splendid fish.

At Robinson's the writer fell in with Bayne McDougall, Truro; Brian Beckwith, Halifax; Murdoch McKenzie, and Al. Crowson, of Sydney, who reported a total catch of 157 pounds of salmon for two week's fishing.

FISH SCARCE AT CHANGE ISLANDS

Average Catch so Far is Half to Two Qtls. Per Boat—Plenty Bait

Change Islds., June 29.—Friend William J. LeDrew leaves to-day for northern fishery.

Fish very scarce here yet. Cod traps average from 1-2 to 2 qtls. per trap; hook and line from 1-4 to 1 qtl. per boat. Caplin plentiful.

July 1.—Winds easterly, stormy; nothing doing.

July 2.—Winds still hanging easterly, cold and stormy. Caplin plentiful, cod scarce.

July 3.—Winds changed westerly, warmer. Fish still very dull; best trap 3 qtls.

July 4.—Warm, summer weather. Traps to-day from 1 to 5 qtls.—J.W.P.

Stephano arrived at Halifax this morning at 5.30, after a run of 38 hours.

OLD BOYS OF ST. BON'S MEET

Review the Year's Work and Elect Their Officers—Ex-members Rejoin

The meeting of St. Bon's Association at the College after 10 o'clock mass yesterday, was largely attended, and was most interesting.

The resident, Rt. Hon. Sir E. P. Morris, accepted the chair, and reviewed the work of the association and the great assistance it has rendered to the college. He also announced that some improvements were urgent and must be undertaken.

Bro. Ryan's Address
He then asked Bro. Ryan to address the gathering. Bro. Ryan, who first thanked all the friends of the college outside the association, for their valuable aid during the past year. The Ladies' Association came in for a fair share of praise which was richly deserved. Bro. Ryan believed that the debt on the college would soon be wiped off.

The treasurer, W. J. Carroll, then presented his report, which was highly satisfactory. The secretary's report read by Mr. McGrath, was also enthusiastically received.

Election of Officers
The election of officers for 1914-15 resulted as follows: Sir E. P. Morris, President; M. W. Furlong, 1st Vice-President; F. J. Morris, 2nd Vice-President; W. J. Carroll, Treasurer, J. J. McGrath, Secretary, were unanimously re-elected.

Sir Edward, on behalf of himself and other officers, thanked the meeting for the compliment paid them.

The election of the Councilors for the various periods was proceeded with.

Mr. F. Summers gave notice that at the next meeting, he would move an amendment to the Constitution, as suggested by the President, that in future the officers should hold office no longer than one year.

Several young ex-members were added to the roll, thereby showing their interest in the work of the association.

Adjournment was then made until to-morrow when the annual re-union takes place.

Islanders Win From Wanderers

By One Run in Ball Game At St. George's Field Saturday

The ball game at St. George's field Saturday afternoon between the Wanderers of this city and Bell Island, resulted in a win for the latter by 1 run, the score being Bell Island 16, Wanderers 15.

Play was interesting and the three hundred fans enjoyed the exhibition. The Islanders were late in reaching the city, consequently the game did not commence at the scheduled time.

The score and line-up was:
Bell Island Wanderers
McKenzie Brown
McLean pitcher
Ford catcher

Proudfoot Hartnett
1st base
Kavangh Burkhardt
2nd base

Archibald Pritchard
3rd base
Burrows McLeod
shortstop

McKenzie Hoeken
centre field
Nobel Smith
right field

McKenzie Herder
left field
B. I. 3 3 5 2 2 1 0-16
Wanderers 3 3 0 1 5 0 3-15

Substitutes: Hiltz for Smith; Archibald replaced McKenzie, pitching 3rd innings.
Umpires: Messrs. Chesman and Montgomerie.
Scorer: P. E. Outerbridge.

WILL LIKELY BE A TOTAL WRECK

There is no word from the Invermore to-day. It is felt that she will be a total wreck as her condition was such. Saturday, she was expected to go to pieces if a storm up.

FIREMEN DETAIN COASTER PROSPERO

Messrs. Bowring Bros. intended sending the Prospero to Sydney, Saturday night, for bunker coal but when the scheduled hour arrived it was found that the firemen had left the ship and could not be located.

The Supt. Engineer, McGottigan, got after Delegate Woods and before 9 o'clock Mr. Woods had the required number of firemen ready to go on board, but the trip had been cancelled in the meantime.

Ayre & Sons

LIMITED

T. A. SOCIETY TO CELEBRATE

T. A. & B. Society held its monthly evening afternoon, President W. J. Ellis presiding. Rev. Jos. Pippy, Spiritual Director, was also present.

Two applicants were admitted to membership. The session was a short one, nothing of importance coming before the meeting except a decision to illuminate by electricity the front of the hall in honor of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught.

The Society's brass band and juveniles' file and drum band will discourse patriotic and other music during the display of fire works at the hall.

THE NICKEL PRESENTS "FATHER BEAUCLAIRE."

As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere there is an exceptionally good programme at the Nickel Theatre to-day.

The feature story is entitled "Father Beauclair." This popular story was written and acted by Hal Reid, a star of the "Confession." It is historically true as related by James Cardinal Gibbons. This subject is in demand in other cities, and Manager Kieley was fortunate in securing it for St. John's.

"The Coast of Chance" is a strong Selig drama which is perfectly staged. "Kidnapping Father" is a comedy drama by the Lubin Co. "Found Out" and "The Trail of the Itching Palm" are comics of the best quality.

Miss Etta Gardner, the popular novelty vocalist will be heard in a new song and Mr. P. J. McCarthy and Mr. Joseph P. Ross will give an attractive musical programme.

Nickel patrons will be delighted to know that DeWitt C. Cairns, the famous baritone has been engaged for the Nickel and will arrive shortly.

YANKEE VESSEL BADLY DAMAGED

The Customs Department have received a message from Trepassay that the American chr. Agnes Mahar, bound from Gloucester to the Greenland coast, after halibut, was damaged in a recent gale at sea.

Bruce arrived at Basques at 6.05 a.m. Sunday.

CAPTURED THIEVES IN THE VERY ACT

Would-Be Burglars Are Caught Redhanded In City Store

At 10 last night Consts. O'Neil and Dooley caught three boys, two named Scanlon, aged 15 and 13, and another named Dawe, 15, at P. McNamara's store, Queen's Street, in the act of making off with cigarettes, etc.

R. Gardner, who lives on George Street, saw the light in the store, and thinking something wrong acquainted the officers, who hurried to the scene and captured the boys red handed.

They had helped themselves to 97 packages cigarettes, two keys, 3 cart-ridges, 1 pocket knife and other articles to the value of $60.00.

They entered through a rear window and probably would not have been detected had they not used the light.

They spent the night at the lockup and this morning were before Judge Knight and were re-arrested.

Was Dismissed

One of the sanitary staff was dismissed from his work by the Inspector in charge on Saturday last, for disobedience.

TRAWLS MUST BE REMOVED

The Fisheries Department had the following wire to-day from Job's Cove via Lower Island Cove:

"Court here settled fishery dispute; trawls must be removed by 14th inst. Fines imposed; law honorably observed."

"PATRICK COLBERT."

"VISITED BOWRING PARK

I. G. Sullivan visited Bowring Park to-day with Hon. E. R. Bowring and Messrs. Munn and Greene. The park is being neatly decorated for the Duke's visit.

Portia arrived at Curling at 8 and left at 8.30 a.m.

Bowring's Nellie Louise, Capt. Burke, is now ready to leave for Bahia.

ANNUAL MASS AT MOUNT CARMEL

It was announced at the Cathedral, St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's yesterday that the annual celebration of mass at Mount Carmel cemetery takes place Sunday morning next at 10.30 o'clock. It is very likely that Dr. Kitchin will be the celebrant, and as is customary a large congregation will be present on the occasion, which will be pleasing to the committee in charge.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Four disorderlies were fined $5 or 14 days each.
One was fined $2 or 7 days; another $1 or 3 days; while another was let go on paying cafbare.

A 27 year old laborer with $643.33 in his pockets, was charged with vagrancy. He is detained for the present.

Sergt. Furlong summoned two men for fighting; they were fined $5 or 14 days each.

Const. Stamp summoned seven boys for playing ball on the street; pay costs.

The deft, in an abusive language case was fined $5 or 14 days.

Three boys, who broke into P. McNamara's store, were remanded.

A breach of the Fishery Rules case was withdrawn.

PRISONER WAS REGULAR CAPITALIST

At 1 a.m. Sunday Consts. O'Neil and Gardner, who were doing night duty, found a man wandering, who could not give an account of himself. They took him to the police station and there found that he had $20.00 notes galore, the total amount in his pockets being $643.33.

The 'magnate' proved to be Sylvester Hancock, who had been working in a northern mine. He is still at the police station and will not be liberated until he 'comes to.'

A THOUSAND DOLLAR GIFT

An anonymous donor has given $1000.00 to the King George the V. Institute, in response to the appeal made by Dr. Grenfell recently.
