COAL MINERS' STRIKE

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

TOBACCO, April 17.—In the Legislature yesterday, Sir Oliver Mowat's bill to enable Boards of Trade in cities to appoint general commissioners for certain purposes passed a third time.

Mr. Barr's bill to regulate the sale of goods entrusted to agents was discussed in committee. The object of the bill is to legalize the bargaining of goods where the mercantile agent is in possession of goods with the consent of the owner. In the Local Committee, however, an amendment was added stipulating that the agent in such cases must be provided with the written authority of the manufacturer.

The committee's report is presented progress, the order was discharged and the bill was sent to the Legislative Council.

The committee's report is presented progress, the order was discharged and the bill was sent to the Legislative Council.

COAL PRODUCTION SUSPENDED

In Pittsburgh District Alone Nearly 20,000 Coal Miners Are Standing Idle—The Strike Already Gives Appearance of Being a Success

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—The great strike among the coal miners went into effect today at noon, according to the decree issued recently by the United Mine Workers.

President McBride of the United Mine Workers gave the following statement of the number of miners that are out and their distribution among the states: Pennsylvania, 50,000; Ohio, 85,000; Iowa, 5,000; West Virginia, 6,000; Tennessee, 3,000; Kentucky, 5,000; Missouri, 3,000; Alabama, 8,000; Colorado, 4,000; Territory, 2,000. The total is 132,000.

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—President McBride, of the National Miners' Association, has received many requests for information from local assemblies, asking him if the local operators accede to the terms of the strike. He says: "The fight for living wages is a general fight and no local settlements will be made until the whole industry is settled. A general settlement has been declared by the national convention, coal must not be loaded at any price or for any purpose, but where companies want any other kind of work done they must be permitted to pay the wages as on account the scale demanded by the convention."

These "quantitative" points in the strike upon which the leaders base their hope of success; that is the working of the whole coal and iron industry. In former strikes they have found that permitting the mines of one district to resume operations as soon as the local operators agree to pay the scale helped to supply the coal demand and injured the chances of their brother miners in other districts to win their fight. The result of this strike probably depends upon the managers of it enforcing this order and preventing the miners going to work where there is dispute as to wages. Mr. McBride gave out the following telegram from the president of the American Federation of Labor: New York, April 21.—Executive Council, American Federation of Labor in session, sends fraternal greetings and expresses sympathy with the movement to insure fair conditions and some degree of justice for miners. If in any way we can be of service to the miners, please let us hear from you. (Signed) SAMUEL GOMPERS.

President McBride said he did not think there was any considerable coal mined ahead compared with the amount of consumption, and stopping the mines would result very quickly in a fuel stringency that would force a settlement of the question at issue. He said he did not fear that coal from Canada would come in to take the place of American coal during the strike, but he had an idea of the small figure the much talked of Nova Scotia mines put in the market. "I believe," he said, "to tell you that there are five counties in Ohio any one of which produces more coal than the entire Nova Scotia mines combined."

The headquarters of the United Mine Workers closed today. President McBride said he had received no significant dispatches since, but would be interested in reports of the day. He reports the strike an unqualified success.

FITTSBURGH, April 23.—Between 17,000 and 18,000 miners in the Pittsburgh district are idle and the production of coal practically suspended.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 23.—All the mines in the Huntington and Broad Top regions are at work except those on the Shoup's branch which stopped work on Saturday. These mines and those on the six-mile run and the other branch, which include all the operations numbering 500 in the Huntington and Broad Top regions, have signified their return to work. Dispatches from Cumberland land say that the miners there were working and that the strike had not yet been declared. A mass meeting will be held to determine whether they will enter upon a general strike.

The Great Northern Strike.

MISSEWAUGON, April 23.—A sensational feature of President Deby's address to the American Union railway union meeting on Saturday night was his attack upon Judge Jenkins, in which he said: "Jenkins is the most corrupt scoundrel that was ever outside of prison walls. He is a man whose whole life, both public and private, is rotten to the very core, and I stand prepared to see him hanged. He is a disgrace to the bench upon which he sits and to the people who elevated him to that position." Dispatches from Bensenville, Illinois, say that the strike has not yet been declared. A mass meeting will be held to determine whether they will enter upon a general strike.

Business Kipling on Americans.

LONDON, April 20.—The St. James Gazette prints an interview with Kipling, now in London, in which he is reported as having said: "There is a day of retribution in America. They don't understand comfort. Everything is too temporary for that. They are a nation in the position of a man who has been beaten and it is hardly worth while yet for any one to settle down and be solidly comfortable. America feeds like one's camp."

Disappointed in Love.

JAMESBURG, Tex., April 23.—James Newlin, about 25 years of age, shot himself twice in the chest yesterday. He fell die disappointed in love was the cause.

An Ardent Embroiderer.
PARIS, April 23.—Count de Talleyrand, Perignon, son of the French States, has been arrested on charge of embezzling $25,000.

Cyclones in Texas.
DALLAS, Tex., April 23.—A small cyclone hit over eastern portion of the Choctaw nation. Over a dozen small houses, barns and outbuildings were destroyed. The loss of life is reported, but a number of persons were seriously injured. In some cases a large quantity of property was destroyed, including stables and trees.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA, April 17.—Mr. Davin, in the Commons, has introduced a bill to further amend the Act respecting the Northwest Territories.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) moved a resolution providing that the sale of timber from Crown lands should be made only by auction. He said that this was the practice in Ontario, where prices were better than were received for Dominion lands.

Sir John Thompson said that the objection to auction was that the purchasers might combine in auction sales to keep down the price. He moved an amendment reserving to the Government the right to sell by tender or auction.

After recess Sir Richard Cartwright demanded a vote on the question as to whether or not the Government should be allowed to use their discretion in the matter of disposing of Indian reserve timber lands. A majority of 100 voted in favor of the adoption of Sir John Thompson's amendment.

OTTAWA, April 18.—The House of Commons went into committee of ways and means to consider the new tariff Schedule "A," dealing with ales, beers, wines and liquors, was first taken up.

On the item "Live stock, 50 per cent ad valorem," Mr. Foster moved an amendment that the tariff be 14 cents per pound, that means be classed as follows:—Meat, n.e.s., 3 cents per pound; mutton, fresh, n.e.s., 3 cents per pound; canned meat and canned poultry and game, 35 per cent ad valorem. This brought poor under the tariff, n.e.s., 2 cents per pound.

Mr. Foster's amendment carried.

Hon. Mr. Foster moved that condensed milk of this country should be made only by preventing condensed milk of low quality being brought in from the United States.

This item was carried.

Sir James Grant—Respecting the Chandler Electric Light and Power Company (limited), and to change the name thereof to the Ottawa Electric Company.

OTTAWA, April 20.—On the adoption of the first and second reports of the Public Accounts Committee yesterday, Mr. Mulock moved an amendment that the committee should examine before the Public Accounts Committee any and all accounts touching any receipts coming before that committee.

Mr. Mulock took the ground that all witnesses before the Public Accounts Committee ought to be sworn under the sanction of an oath.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper moved in amendment that the committee should be allowed authority to examine under oath when it appeared necessary. The amendment was carried on a division of 110 to 64.

Mr. Gray asked if it was the intention of the Government to advise that communication be made to the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and to his responsible adviser, urgently requesting that the complaint set forth by the Roman Catholics of that province before the Dominion Government in their petition since 1890 be carefully enquired into, and that the whole subject be reviewed by the Government, in order that redress be given by the Government as may be found necessary to meet the just grievances and complaints of the said Roman Catholics.

While John Thompson said in reply that it was the intention of the Government to communicate with the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba with reference to some of the petitions which had been presented since 1890.

OTTAWA, April 21.—The House went into Committee of Ways and Means on the tariff yesterday.

On the tariff of animal, which appeared in the tariff reductions of 50 cents per barrel, Hon. Mr. Foster moved an amendment that the duty be 30 per cent ad valorem. He explained that at present quotations this would be a duty of about 60 cents per barrel.

On the item of rice Hon. Mr. Foster moved that the new tariff be changed from 10 to 12 1/2 cents per pound on uncleaned, unshelled or "paddy" rice, and on the old duty of 14 cents per pound on cleaned rice. This was done, by the Government, to preserve the rice milling industry. The rice had to be cleaned somewhere, and it might just as well be cleaned in Canada, where labor could be employed.

Both items passed.

After recess these bills were read a third time: Mr. Baker, respecting Atlantic and Northwest Railway Co., Mr. White (Caldwell), respecting Bell Telephone Co., Mr. Mason, to incorporate the Duluth, Nipigon and James Bay Railway Co.

The classes relating to tea and green coffee were struck out and the following new item introduced:

Mr. Foster said he wished to add the following to the free list:

"Tea and green coffee imported direct from the country of growth and production, free. This item shall include tea and coffee purchased in bond in any country where tea and coffee are subject to customs duties, and providing that the tea is not purchased in bond in such a manner as to be liable for home consumption in the country where the same is purchased." The item was ordered to be printed.

Mr. Foster moved an amendment to the tariff in relation to the following:

Nuts, Shelled, n.e.s., 5 cents per lb.; almonds, walnuts, Brazil nuts, pecans and shelled nuts, n.e.s., 5 cents per lb. and nuts of all kinds not otherwise provided for, 3 cents per lb. This is a considerable reduction in the tariff.

The amendment carried, and the House adjourned.

A CELEBRATED TRIAL

SEVENTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS AWARDED TO MISS POLLARD. The Plaintiff's Counsel Herein Will Show That It Is Impossible to Prove That the Defendant is a Fraudulent Debtor...

The entering of the case created a great deal of excitement when it was first sprung upon the public. It was the first case of the kind in the history of the city...

France Produced the Waltz. Though Germany has always claimed it, the waltz was first introduced into France...

The "controversy" is not more than the old English country dance, which was imported into France at the epoch of the Revolution...

It will thus be obvious that, although the Germans are passionately fond of dancing and in many cases are accomplished experts on the light fantastic...

It is not the waltz, but the "waltz" as it is known in Germany, and it is a very doubtful authority to have originated in Bohemia, and to have been brought into the French territory...

By reason of his silver tongue and silver hair Mr. Breckinridge has long been a favorite with the public mind. His name is still fresh in the memory of the people...

Every body is sympathizing with Mrs. Breckinridge, who has received such an unpleasant surprise through this unexpected affair. She was married to the congressman at Louisville only a few months ago...

As every one knows, it is the business of a newspaper to collect and distribute news. If this statement covered the facts there would be no occasion for the existence of any but the city paper...

A MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE

THE ANGEL OF THE LORD COMPREHENDS THAT THE MOST OF HIS PEOPLE ARE NOT WISE ENOUGH TO KNOW THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE AND A MARRIAGE OF LOVE...

It is not the waltz, but the "waltz" as it is known in Germany, and it is a very doubtful authority to have originated in Bohemia, and to have been brought into the French territory...

A CELEBRATED TRIAL

FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLAR DAMAGES AWARDED TO MISS POLLARD.

The Plaintiff Succeeded Where It Was Thought Impossible—Others Who Failed by the Way—The Record of Col. Breckinridge the Spectacular Representative.

Miss Madeline Pollard won her suit for breach of contract against Colonel W. C. Breckinridge, the silver-tongued Kentucky politician, who represents the Ashland district in the House of Representatives, and the defendant has been ordered to pay her $15,000.

There has always been a great deal of talk about the corruption of public life in Washington and this decision confirms the idea that the private character of some of our congressmen are not very creditable to men in their exalted station.

The contract in the case created a profound sensation not only in Washington, but throughout the entire country, when Miss Madeline V. Pollard charged Congressman Breckinridge of Kentucky with betrayal and breach of promise of marriage.

A Compliment from Missouri. The Brookfield Gazette, one of Missouri's leading journals, in its issue of the 14th inst., says: "Any one who is a student of the Canadian neighbors are a slow going people, and not fully abreast of the age, should look at the Christmas number of the Athens Reporter, in possession of James R. Donnelly's photographic gallery. Athens is a village of only 1000 population, situated in Ontario midway between Elyria and Wiltse lakes. The copy of the paper referred to, would be a most interesting piece of work in a city of 50,000. There are a number of people from that part of Canada in Linn county."

Decid at the Altar. Says a Philadelphia despatch: "Abelton Thayer and Miss Estelle Plager were being married Friday night, and in the progress of the ceremony the minister said interrogatively, 'You take this man as your lawful husband?' 'No, sir, I do not,' said the bride. 'You are the first man who has asked my opinion on the matter. Mr. Thayer has been courting my mother for more than a year. I thought it was herself he wanted, but it appears that he only wanted her consent that he might marry me, and she concluded to compel her consent. That ends it,' said the pastor. 'I have no power to bind any one against his or her will.' The guests gave a cheer for the spirited girl. The parties to the contract are Harrison, who usually settles such matters for their children, without consulting the children's wishes.

"The Jumpers." The following clipping is from the Ottawa Journal. It is quoted by the Toronto Canadian Guardian without comment: "A man who has attended Rev. R. C. Horner's religious meetings in the old Second Baptist church, Corner street, writes to the Journal to say that 'the Jumpers' as they are called, are not a new religious organization. He says, quoting from Rev. Charles Goodrich, M. A., 'Jumpers' are so called from their practice of jumping during religious worship. They originated in Wales in 1760, led by preachers of enthusiastic temperament. They at length considered it the essence of religion and an effective means of inculcating it to exhibit the most wild and extravagant conduct. They cried out even to vociferation. Some clapped their hands, while others jumped up and down, and some would scarcely believe us. There, you will see, we will, because you can't read telling your friends about such matters."

Will Set It Back Twenty Years. The temperance cause never was in a more hopeful condition in Ontario than it is at the present moment. The different sections of temperance men are in co-operating humor. The government pledges prohibition. The people have asked prohibition by an immense majority. Thousands who mark their ballots for prohibition do so for a noble reason, they do so because of their weaker brethren. Thousands are willing to accept, on account of their fellowmen, what they do not personally need. A vast majority of the people, in fact nearly all, especially interested in the liquor traffic, are willing to give prohibition a fair trial. It is the easiest thing imaginable to spoil all this and send the cause back fifty years. Just threaten to turn out the church of God if they do not take the pledge, or raise a big fuss about the strength of communion wine, and all the advantage gained during the last few months may be worse than lost. Men who voted for prohibition on public grounds, some of them against their feelings, if not against their conscience, will rise in thousands against any attempt to turn them out of the church they love and have helped forward for many a day.

Do Your Trading at Home. There appears to be a growing custom in sections of the country—this one is not excepted—for people to send to the cities to do their trading. Respecting this question an exchange says "many towns down east have virtually been ruined by residents going to larger places to purchase their dry goods and other lines which they should have purchased at home." This is wrong. Where people make their living they should buy their necessities of life and especially should this be the rule when the goods required can be secured just as cheaply and as good as in distant parts. The local dealer should always have the first choice and if they cannot supply what is required then people have some excuse for going to other places although every dollar taken out of a place is just so much loss and injury to it. As for business men they should be the last to set an example in this respect. Farmers too should be loyal in supporting their nearest town from which they derive many advantages. If he has wool, eggs or other produce he can generally sell them for cash or get other commodities in exchange. The latter he cannot do in the cities as he has to send the cash. The proximity of villages to a farming community enhances the value of farming lands and there are the advantages of better schools. We are all dependent for success on each other and the more business we do with each other the more prosperous shall we become.

DR. FREDERICK A. COOK'S PROPOSED EXPEDITION. He Will Endeavor to Solve Antarctic Mysteries—What is Known and What He Hopes to Learn—Description of Former Explorers.

When I start in the fall for the south polar region it will be to reconnoiter regions which have been discovered for fully half a century, but which I shall begin, in the matter of equipment, where Arctic exploration stands today. I have had received applications from all parts of the world, from noble spirits who volunteer their services and are willing to make any sacrifice of hardship, but I do not anticipate great hardships, however.

We shall go in a steam whaler, a modern steam whaling ship is a model of what is needed to push through the grinding ice and withstand the great pressure of the ice sea. The whaler is an evolution of what has been necessary through centuries. It needs but few alterations for such work as I expect to do.

Salmon fishing at Beale's creek last week occupied the attention of a score of men and boys, some of whom came from New Dublin. The catch was not as large as usual.

Mr. Charles B. Maclean, of Brockville, an undergraduate of Toronto university, died last week, after a brief illness. He was a graduate of the Athens model school and will be remembered by many of his old classmates.

The cheese men of Hastings and Peterborough counties, smarting under losses last season, have determined to collect the amount of their sales before shipments are made during the approaching season.

It has been suggested that Arbor Day, now observed in the Public Schools for planting trees, etc., be changed to Sanitary Day, that all business should be suspended on that day and the time occupied in a general renovation of yards, cellars, etc.

A Washington squaw has secured a divorce. She did not take the necessary action until she had reached the age of ninety, showing that the Indian, even if a little slow in mastering the details of civilization, is still approaching the point of actual culture.

Huntsville, Muskoka, had a disastrous fire on Wednesday last. Lost, about $120,000; insurance, $40,000. The fire started from a heap of rubbish which was being burned in the rear of a hardware store and had destroyed over thirty business houses.

The post office department has made a notification of a change in the form of post office money orders. This information is to be sent to the post offices as rapidly as the old ones, which they now have, are used.

N. E. Rose, Fitzroy, struck by lightning a few days ago, had a narrow escape. The lightning struck him on the head passing clean through his body and coming out at the top of his small toes, burning a hole through his boot, and so reaching the ground. The local medical men say they never heard of a similar case. Mr. Rose has not a scar on him except two small burns on the side of the soles of his feet. He will soon be around again.

It is the duty of the merchant having goods to sell to advertise them in the newspaper, which makes his town a place worth doing business in. If a merchant in another town has the good sense to advertise in a newspaper, it is the publisher's duty to accept such patronage. If the home merchant desires to hold this trade let him advertise liberally in his home paper—and he will hold it. The merchant who does not think enough of "home institutions" to patronize his home paper, does not consider "home institutions" himself, and is not entitled to home patronage.

THE KIND FOR THE STEEL SIDES OF YANKEE BATTLE SHIPS.

Interesting Recount of the Serious Charges Formulated Against the Carnegie Steel Company, and Which Form the Subject of Government Investigation.

John McLaughlin's charges against the Carnegie Steel Company were of the most serious nature. He stated that he had been shown the new United States battleship Oregon, the new United States battleship Iowa, the new United States battleship Missouri, and the new United States battleship Texas. He stated that he had seen the steel plates used in the construction of these ships, and that they were of a quality far inferior to that required for such work.

THE SHIP AND THE ICEBERG.

The third and most successful of these expeditions was that of the ship "The Arctic" under the command of Dr. Cook.

The English government funded the two old boats, the Erebus and Terror, which afterwards were lost with Sir John Franklin and his party. Capt. James Ross was placed in command. Ross vigorously prosecuted his voyages during the summers of 1841-2-3, but every time a success seemed about to crown him he was compelled to retreat through fear of the Antarctic winter.

On January 27, 1845, Ross discovered another island upon which he effected a landing, and named it Franklin Island, in honor of Sir John Franklin. Upon both islands he found the remains of a few men, but no vegetation.

LYN AGRICULTURAL WORKS

Two tests are made at this point, one known as an analysis test, which is to determine the metal in the right composition, and the other a physical test, which is to determine the composition and elasticity. When this physical test is made, a report is sent to the steel mill, together with the plates. On this report is based the treatment of the steel.

It recovers its form in the press shop by being pressed against its template, which is a pattern of the exact design required. A great hydraulic press does this work. The plates are then sent to a rolling mill and heated. When it reaches a certain color it is taken out and immersed in a large oil tank, where it remains for from one to ten hours. When it has cooled, the temperature of about 135 degrees it is put back in the furnace and annealed. Then it goes into the annealing pit and is covered with a thick layer of soda ash, for a long time a workman in the hardening out of the steel and the coke dust allows it to cool gradually and insures an even-temper to all parts of the plate.

After leaving the annealing pit the plate goes to the machine shop, where here the Government inspector sees it. When he is notified that the plate is ready for drilling out a test piece and one from the bottom and one from the top. These are only one or two inches in diameter and six or seven inches long. The inspector is supposed to witness the breaking of one of these cylinders from the mass of the plate. The cylinders are turned down to a diameter of one-half inch and sent to the laboratory, where they are put in a large machine to be pulled. The machine grips a test piece at each end, and then by a screw strength pulls the ends apart until the steel breaks. The amount of pull required to break the test piece is recorded in pounds per square inch, and is called the tensile strength. The metal before breaking is called the yield point, and the amount which is lengthened is called the elongation.

The report taken from the test machine is sent to the superintendent of the armory department, who sends one copy of the result to the Government inspector, and the other to the superintendent of the press shop. The report of the Government inspector is forwarded to the Ordnance Bureau and is there recorded. The report of the superintendent of the press shop is intended to guide him in the subsequent treatment of the plate.

Sometimes a plate has to be tempered and annealed a second time. Sometimes it needs tempering and annealing only again it needs the oil bath and further heating. After each treatment a test piece is taken and the order of the Government inspector as before, and the result of the test is recorded.

It is not necessary to say that the statement which is based upon the affidavit made by himself and his associates, the Carnegie Company deliberately palmed off upon the United States Government plates which had been rejected by the inspectors and plates which would have been rejected had test pieces been taken from them. The affidavit was made in many places, but is known as the substitute test was employed. That is, a test piece was taken from a piece of plate which was all right, and this would be handed to the Government inspector, and the statement that it was taken from the plate known to be defective. McLaughlin says that this was done in scores of cases, and his affidavit shows each particular case, with the day of the month and the time and the name of the inspector, and the number, size and description of the plate. This was one way of fooling the inspectors. Another plan was to put "bubbles" in blow holes, so as to make them appear only a few inches deep when in reality they were much deeper.

One of the plates intended for the Monterey weighs twenty-eight tons. It is known as a belt-line plate—that is, it goes on the ship above the water line and is but slightly curved. It is thirteen inches thick. Its number is X8.

There was a large blow hole in this plate. Says McLaughlin, who also mentions others in other ships. The case will be watched throughout the world with intense interest. Meanwhile a great many officials at the Home Office works have been promotorily "fired."

Trying to Escape. "There" said the wife's friend by the ship, "I have made out a hole in the table." "That's your first piece of pie that I ever made without any help at all," said the wife.

"So it is!" exclaimed her husband enthusiastically, looking it over, critically. "And as long as it is the very first, my dear, don't you think that, instead of cutting it, it would be nice to keep it for a souvenir? How would it do to have it framed?"—Somerville Journal.

As if struck dead. "I had made a most heroic effort to give her a kick in the back," said the man. "I was on the ground, but she hit me in the air and I couldn't breathe."—Chicago Tribune.

It is not so difficult a matter to these men at this late day to describe plates made nearly three years ago as might be supposed. Every employee in the armor-plate department holding a position with any responsibility attaches to the plates the protection of a daily record of all work passed through the hands of the Government inspectors. A series of certificates of armor-plate are selected for ballistics test. They are sent to India Head to be tested. In case a plate fails to pass this test, it is if it fits in pieces when the projectile strikes it, somebody is taken to task at the mill. The skilled workmen there for years have kept duplicate records of all the reports they have turned into the office, and it is from these records that the mass of affidavits now at Pittsburg has been made up.

There is no doubt that John McLaughlin and the five mill-workers associated with him have accumulated this information through mixed motives. A certain percentage of the ingot is sent to the mill, and the rest is re-rolled and then placed in the enormous rolls and rolled down to the required thickness. The plates are then cut from the armor mill to the machine shop or press shop, and the necessary "fire" is taken from the top of the ingot. The mass is removed from the top and "fire" is
