POETRY.

The New Year.

The new year comes with a thought of joy
What will its season bring?
What peace and gladness without alloy
From its onward course may spring?
What good and glorious things may be
In its bounteous hand for me?

The new year comes with a thought of pain
What will it take away?
Will sorrow visit our homes again
Ere another New Year's day?

We close our treasures with trembling
Lest they, too, pass to the silent land.
The new year comes with a thought of peace:
Our Father knoweth best;
If we trust in him our fears will cease,
Our anxious hearts may rest;
He knows, he loves, and we need not fear,
Whatever our lot in the coming year.

My Country Home.

Breath of the summer, sweetened with
clover,
Blush of the roses, fragrant and red,
Glint of the sunbeam woven with
shadows,
Daisy-starred upland and fresh garden-
bed.

Blue of the violet bashfully hiding
Midst the thick grass where the swinging eysie rings,
Perfume of mint in the brook-watered
meadow,
Joy where the robin his liquid note
sings,

Yellow of buttercup nodding 'neath
dewdrops,
Yellow of dandelion sturdy and prim,
Blackberries ripening out by the birches,
Sparkle of waters that touch the spring's brim.

Shade of the maple, the wide-stretching branches,
Whisper of poplar with quivering
leaves,
Waving of golden rod stirred by the
west-wind,
Twitter of swallows under the eaves,
Song of the mower, laughter of children,
Thrilling of bird-notes up from the fields,
Fragrance of gardens, aroma of woodland—
These are the charms which make my country home dear.

Robert Craig, alone in his study, heard the sound of their ribald songs and laughter growing less and less loud as they went on their way back to the village to spend the night in carousing. It was "another true tale," Robert felt that it was true in that awful hour of amazement. Inquiry proved it.

Before light the next morning he set off on horseback across the dunes for Dundee, the nearest railway station, seven miles distant. His train was delayed, his connections were missed and it was almost dusk that evening when he reached his aunt's house in Nassau. He could never clearly recall the hours of that day. They were enveloped in a horror of great darkness. Only he remembered with strange clearness a bit of woods and a brook rippling under the foot of a bridge which he saw from the car window. It was while he was looking at that bit of landscape that the thought was thrust into his mind by his good or evil genius, he did not discern which at the time, that a train from New York would start early next morning, that it would connect with the ocean steamers, that, perhaps, all was not yet lost.

Reaching his aunt's house he went up the steps, and stood for a moment. It was a warm evening and the long front windows were opened. Looking through the swaying lace curtains he saw Rachel come into the parlor in white evening dress, tall and stately, and wonderfully beautiful. She sat down at the piano, ran her fingers over the keys carelessly, and then began singing in a low, soft voice, a song from the German which they had learned to sing together,—a sad, simple little thing which for some reason they both cared for—

"Farewell, dear heart;
Sally we part;
Try smile I long shall miss,
Oh give me one last kiss,
Farewell, dear heart,
Sally we part."

Robert waited for the last line, and then went in and found her. He spoke her name, softly, as he entered the room, that the sudden sight of him might not startle her. She turned

Cough-Cures

Are abundant; but the one best known for its extraordinary anodyne and expectorant qualities is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For nearly half a century this preparation has been in greater demand than any other remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis, and pulmonary complaints in general.

It is suffered for more than eight months from a severe cough accompanied with hemorrhage of the lungs and the expectation of matter. The physicians gave me up, but my druggist prevailed on me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and soon began to improve; my lungs healed, the cough ceased, and I became stouter and healthier than I have ever been before. I would suggest that the name of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral be changed to ELIXIR OF LIFE, for it certainly saved my life.

THE ACADIAN

THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JAN. 9, 1891.

Convention of Teachers.

The Provincial Educational Association held its annual session in the main hall of the county academy, Halifax, on December 29th, 30th and 31st, 1890. The superintendent of education presided and Supervisor McKay acted as secretary. After the transaction of the usual routine business the secretary read a paper on "The Necessity for a Provincial Manual Training School," by Prof. F. H. Eaton, late of the Normal School, Truro. The paper set forth the object of such a school to be: To give an intelligent, creative and artistic skill of a general character, without bias towards any specific occupation; to lay a broad and substantial foundation for that special education which must afterwards be sought in a technical college, or else through practical experience in the workshop, the factory or the field. The immediate establishment of such a school was advocated. Dr. Allison delivered an address on "The School System and Schools of England." He had spent some time last summer visiting the schools of that old country and studying the system in operation there. He spoke of many good features of the schools, but of the elementary schools he left the impression that there was much room still for improvement before they will compare favorably with similar schools in newer countries. He referred to the system of grants paid according to the advancement made, of training colleges, of certifying teachers and of the management of schools. He emphasized the fact that the school system of England had grown up and had all through been subjected to criticisms and influences sometimes adverse, sometimes favorable, by the various religious denominations and secular parties. No school system can be transplanted. Surrounding influences must develop the school system of any country.

SECOND SESSION. Prof. Andrews, of Mount Allison College, read a paper on "The Teaching of Method or Mental Gymnastics." He stated that physical habits are nearly all formed before twenty-one years of age, and intellectual and professional habits before thirty years of age. These are the periods of the most important activity of the mind.

Habit grows out of method. When we ask, What are the best methods? we must enquire in what methods will there be most economy of mental energy. How can we perform the maximum of work in a minimum of effort? The first and greatest gain in economy is found in the formation of proper habits. We thereby make the following economical gains: 1. We gain organs specially fitted by the activities to which they have grown to effect semi-spontaneous responses for which they have been trained.

2. We make possible a frictionless and generally joyful action of the faculties.

3. Only those parts and organs necessary for the performance of the task are called into action.

4. By teaching our faculties to run themselves we liberate a large amount of potential energy of attention for higher and more complicated forms of mental action.

5. We determine lines of nutrition in the brain. This implies the persistence of habit and the formation of character.

6. We provide a reserve power which will not fail us in emergencies. Public oratory is the blossom born in the stalk of private conversation, which is nine-tenths of expressive life.

"The Educational Ideal," was the subject of a paper by Prof. Seth, of Dalhousie College. The audience was reminded that the fundamental process of education is natural rather than artificial, the child mind growing like an organism, not by accretion from without but by development from within. Teachers were recommended to study psychology or the science of the natural basis of education. Prof. Seth considered the educational ideal under three aspects—the intellectual, the aesthetic and the moral. He emphasized the importance of training the pupil to think for himself on all subjects, and recommended the "Jenetic method" of developing a subject by cross-examination. The value of the study of literature was pointed out in connection with classical education.

Mr. Patterson, head master of the Royal Arthur school, Montreal, and convener of the Quebec provincial committee of Canadian history, announced the object of his visit to be an endeavor to secure the co-operation of the Nova Scotia Provincial Association in the preparation of a Dominion text book on Canadian history, which would give each Province such a recognition as would unite the interests of all Canadians irrespective of creed or nationality, and conduce towards the creation of a oneness of patriotic sentiment.

At the conclusion of Mr. Patterson's address, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—Resolved that the Provincial Educational Association of Nova Scotia has heard Mr. Patterson with much pleasure, and approves in general terms of his proposition regarding a Dominion text on Canadian history, and hereby recommends the appointment of a representative of this Province by the Council of Public Instruction on the Dominion committee on Canadian history.

THIRD SESSION. Dr. Hall, who had recently returned from Germany, read a paper on "Pedagogics of Herbart." He outlined the methods laid down by this eminent philosopher whose work he was discussing and gave a large amount of information to teachers as to the way they can produce the best results in the pupils, whom they are called upon to prepare for the duties of life. He was greatly enraptured with the beauties of the German methods and the great results they were achieving. He felt we would be benefited by adopting much of their system in this Province.

PUBLIC MEETING. This meeting was held in Orpheus Hall and presided over by Lieut.-Gov. Daley. The speakers were: Dr. Saunders, Ald. Lyons, Rev. D. M. Gordon, Attorney-General Longley, Archbishop O'Brien, Rev. J. A. Rogers, and Provincial Secretary Fielding.

SUPPER AT THE QUEEN. After the public meeting, the Lieutenant Governor, speakers of the evening, school inspectors, principals of High Schools, and other guests—about thirty in all—sat down to supper at the Queen Hotel, given by Dr. Allison. A number of toasts were duly honored and some excellent speeches made. The affair passed off most successfully.

FOURTH SESSION. The committee on revision of course of study reported that they had not completed their work, but submitted what had been done, with certain preliminary recommendations, which received the unanimous endorsement of the Association. (1) That provision be made in our educational system for the distinctive professional training of all the teachers of public schools. (2) That the syllabus of examination for teachers' license be assimilated with the course of study for high schools as revised, and it is suggested that third class or Grade D certificates be based on the subjects of first year, second class, Grade C, on second year, and first class or Grade B on those of the third year. (3) That in connection with the examination for teachers' non-professional certificates the department of education be requested to provide for the issue of diplomas to graduates of county academies and high schools. (4) That as soon and as far as circumstances will permit the various non-professional certificates should be taken in serial order. (5) That the professional training of teachers should be held to include fuller instruction in music, drawing, natural sciences, elementary logic and manual training than contemplated by the ordinary high school course.

The fuller consideration of the course of study for common school was referred to a committee consisting of Rev. Dr. McNeil, Supervisor McKay, Principals Cakes, Mackay and Calkin.

An outline of this course is to be sent to the teachers throughout the Province, who are invited to send any suggestions or criticisms they desire to make to Dr. Allison, chairman of this committee.

On motion it was resolved to ask the Council of Public Instruction to make such arrangements respecting next summer's holidays as will enable educationists to attend the approaching meeting of the United States National Educational Association, which meets in Toronto next July. The President suggested a method by which he thought remarkably low fares can be obtained.

Principals Cakes, Campbell and Mackay were appointed a committee to assist other provincial committees in the matter of a Dominion history.

The officers of the Association are as follows: Superintendent Allison—President. Supervisor Mackay—Secretary. Miss Burgoyne, Inspectors McDonald, Lay, Congdon and McLellan and Principals Mackay and Freeman—Executive Committee.

INSPECTORS' MEETINGS. The Inspectors of Schools held two meetings at intervals between the regular meetings of the Association, at which they discussed several matters relating to the better carrying out of the school system and agreed upon some desirable changes which were brought to the notice of the Council through the Superintendent of Education.

The meetings of the Association represented all grades of educationists from the college professor to the lowest grade of the common school teacher. The discussion of the live educational topics of the day by persons with such earnestness as characterized all the deliberations must be productive of beneficial results.

The Baptists of Sackville under the efficient leadership of Rev. W. E. Hall, have been successful in the erection and finishing of a very commodious church edifice, and on Sunday the building was dedicated with appropriate services. A large number were present and were addressed by Dr. Hopper, Prof. Kierstead and Rev. D. A. Steele.

Rev. D. W. Crandall has been spending the holidays with his family at the "Central," and kindly consented to preach for Mr. Daley, not only on Sundays but assisted in conducting social services during the week evenings. His labors were highly appreciated, and acknowledged in a tangible form.

It is expected that Dr. Saunders will supply the Baptist pulpit here during the months of February and March.

Rev. M. B. Shaw and family arrived safely at Vizianagram, India, his field of labor, on November 29th.

Mr. Carl Shaw has returned to Acadia to join his class from which he dropped out last spring.

A number of interesting weddings have taken place here, with more to follow.

Our schools opened on Monday with a full attendance and increased enthusiasm. The would-be runsmeller has been judged the constable to create the penalty due him for his transgressions; verily the fly of the transgressor is hard.

Mr. D. L. Parker, of Acadia, preached in Somerset last Sunday afternoon to a large and appreciative audience.

It is reported that a route is being prospected to connect the N. S. C. with the C. V. R. It is believed that these two railways will be connected at no very distant date. Coal comes here via the C. V. R. $1.50 per ton cheaper than via the L. C. R.

DO you read the MONTREAL WITNESS? It is a paper which thousands of men and women in this Province read just at this time of year. It is a paper which is above all question. It is well written, and is a compendium of all that is being done or thought in the world. It devotes itself to fighting for the right. Whether you are old or young it will interest you.

YOU and all who live in the same house with you. This year it offers several attractive plans for increasing its already large circulation. One of these is the Free Lending Library plan, whereby every subscriber, by making this paper his own, becomes a member of a leading library which shall have few or many good books for him to read.

READ according as the plan has been energetically working or not. It also offers to its active canvassers and agents good cash commissions or valuable premiums which amply pay for all the labor and time put into working for it, while at the same time conferring a benefit on all subscribers who may be induced to read it. One of the most attractive features of the WITNESS, which is peculiar to it alone in Canada, but which has been adopted in the United States on the same lines as first laid down by the MONTREAL WITNESS, is the prizes offered to scholars in public schools for the best true stories of life and adventure in Canada. From coast to coast and west to the Atlantic and to the Pacific Ocean, including Newfoundland, the key island of the Gulf, have come stories, some of which have been written in a literary style befitting professional writers, and many of which contain new and valuable facts in Canadian history. Amongst the many authorities who to the excellence of these stories are the judges in each province who award the prizes, and the inspectors and teachers of schools in every portion of the Dominion and Newfoundland, as well as the newspapers, who speak kindly of them and republish some of them. In addition to the Household and Question and Answer departments, the Market Reports, the lively and sterling Editorials, Articles, the Serial Stories, and, in fact, the whole body of the paper, make it a welcome member of the family in every household where it is taken. In November the WEEKLY WITNESS was enlarged by more than a page, thus making an enlargement equal to two pages a week within two years, adding greatly to its value and interest. The WEEKLY WITNESS is mailed free to subscribers in Canada, Great Britain and the United States for $3.00 a year; the DAILY WITNESS for $3.00 a year; and the NORTHERN MESSENGER for 30 cents a year. The Publishers are Messrs JOHN DONALD & SON, to whom you may mail your subscription, or who will send you a sample copy or answer any

K. D. C. at G. H. Wallace's. A tenement at Horton Landing, owned by Mr. William Mortimer, and occupied by Phillip Butler, was discovered to be on fire Friday evening last, and was destroyed. Fire caused by defective flue. This is the third time that Mr Butler has suffered by fire.

Call and examine Forbes' new patent Skate, "Achieved." at BROWN'S. Sir Philip Miller, the great English horticulturist, writing in 1740, says: "The best method to have Cabbages good is to procure fresh seed from abroad every year, for it is apt to degenerate in England in a few years."

The above is a simple illustration of the fact that the best seeds will rapidly degenerate under unfavorable conditions. The wise will take heed therefore, and buy their seeds of D. M. Ferry & Co., Windsor, Ontario, whose world wide reputation as the best and most reliable, as well as the most extensive seed growers and dealers, is due to the fact that they take advantage of every circumstance of climate, soil, methods of culture, selection of seed plants, etc. to procure the best possible seeds and keep them up to that high standard. Send your name to the firm's address and you will receive a copy of their seed Annual for 1891 free.

New Church Dedicated.

The new Presbyterian church at Lower Horton was packed last Sunday afternoon at its dedication. The folding doors which open into the vestibule at the rear were thrown open and every available seat in the building was occupied, a good signification for successful work in the future. Rev. Dr. Forrest, President of Dalhousie College, preached the sermon, and a good, soul stirring sermon it was. The text was taken from Ephesians 1, xxiii: "The Church, which is his body, the fullness of Him that filleth all in all." The speaker discussed with much power what the church was and pointed out that its formation and mode of government upon which some laid so much stress as essential to the true Church of Christ, were significantly lacking in the spirit of Christ's teaching. That church is the true church when most of the spirit of Christ, and in this way alone can one church vie in excellence another—in having more of His spirit. The sermon was a masterly effort and was listened to with rapt attention. At the close a liberal collection was taken up for the purpose of meeting the expenses in the erection of the church—amounting to about $40. The Presbyterians of Lower Horton deserve great credit in the completion of their church, and it is evident from the large number who assisted them in "warming" it on Sunday afternoon, that the best of feeling exists between the two denominations that worship in the neighboring village.

It is no crime to be poor, but in the eyes of many people it is rank felony to be rich. A deathbed repentance is like paying a debt after you're sued; it's only a few removes from moral dishonesty.

Philosophy has seen the candle of speculation instead of the sun of Truth for so many years that its eyeglass is practically ruined. It is more blessed to give than to receive simply because the giver can squeeze no end of contentment out of the contemplation of his own generosity.

While crime is increasing in America there has been an extraordinary decrease in Great Britain, the number of convicts serving the sentence of penal servitude having decreased from 10,500 in 1883 to 6,400 in 1889 a decrease of 40 per cent in six years.
