eseen expenses was brought down in re oly to a motion of Mr. Foster- The sum f $30,000 was drawn by the Minister for the expenses of the Tariff Commission The details given include only $934. No eport is furnished showing the manner in which the balance was expended. On October 17th last Hon, Mr. Laurier peronally drew from the Treasury for the vestigatson $3,000, and three days later nother advance of $1,000 was made to he Premier. The sum of $650 was paid to Captain Bloomfield Douglass, and $350 to Captain Labelleaud. Mr. H. J. Palmer of P. E. Island, had at the time the return was made drawn $100. No information is given respecting the disposition of the remaining $2,000. Hon Mr. Blair declined o give Mr. Foster any information respecting the proposed grant to the Grand Trunk Railway of a quarter of a million dollars for improvements to Victoria Bridge, Montreal, claiming that the negotiations are not yet concluded.

THE Papal Delegate to Canada, Mgr. Merry del Val, arrived at New York on ihe 28th ult., and reached Montreal early on the morning of Tuesday the 30th. He at once proceeded to Quebec. At the latter place he was given a grand reception. He was met at the depot by Mgr. Marois, administrator of the diocese in the absence of Archbishop Begin, the Mayor of the city and a concourse of about 5900 people. A procession was formed and all proceeded to the Basilica, where a roligious ceremony was held, terminating with a Te Deum He returned to Montreal on Thursday evening and was given an enthusiastic reception. He went to Ottawa on Saturday and Sunday evening an immense throng ssembled in the Basilica when the Delegate was presented with a dresses from the clergy, the Mayor and different socie-ties. He has called a conference of the Archbishops of Canada, to be held in Montreal this week.

Sunday evening last, by Rev. P. C authier, of St. Dunstan's College. The heme of his discourse was Rules of Faith, and his text was from the ninth verse of the thirteenth chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Hebrews: "Be not carried away with various and strange doctrines." The Rev. preacher in eloquent and convincing terms laid down the characteristics essential to a genuine and all sufficient rule of its warrant in the teachings of our Divine Lord; it should be accessible to all, and should satisfy the yearnings of all desirous of attaining to eternal salvation. He next pointed out that the Catholic rule of faith had all these esseatial qualities. It rested not on the Sacred Soriptures only; but on divine tradition as well. On the other hand, the rule of faith of non Catholic rested on the Rible and the Rible alone; consequently it was not sufficient. This he showed by reference to the words of our Divine Lord Himself; "Go teach all nations; preach the Goopel to all men. Our dear Lord did not tell His apostles to write Ribles and distribute them among the people. He never commanded them to write a line, but he did command them to write a line, but he did command them to preach the Goopel wereywhere. Twas the marvel of all who knew him How a hand so stained with crime Could fashion with wondrous power

Works so exquisitely divine! Tonight some strange attraction Kept him kneeling there alone, The room grew dim and solemn

The workmen all had gone. As he gazed on the silent Figure, The cold lips seemed to move, And in tender, pleading accents So gently to reprove.

"My son, as you kneel there watching Has your heart no love for Me? My love was so consuming That I gave My life for thee

"When you gaze on My mangled body, On My features with pain distorted Is all feeling within you dead?

"Can you think of that cruel scourging And no compunction feel? Of that awful crucifixion? Ah! men's hearts are hard as steel

My child, I have loved thee alwayssefore the skies were made At sight of one tear of repentance Thy sins from My sight would fade Give, then, one word of sorrow

For My outraged love and pain Tell Me in My bitter passion My blood was not shed in vain !"

The chisseler's head bent lowly-A sob shook his s'alwart frame The grace of heaven had touched him

And the tears of contrition came. 'My Jesus! my sins are so many; But Thou saidst-and it must be so

Though my sins be red as scarlet, They shall be made whiter than snow!" "My God, and my Father eternal!
