The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER LI.

"I will judge him myself," she said; and then slowly in her own mind she went over the past, beginning with the first hour that she had met him and ending with the previous evening, when he had parted from her with a pale, worn face, as though life had little brightness for him. Not one circumstance escaped her memory. She recalled the little incident at the Royal Academy, when, referring to the face that she had thought like Hettie's, he had said, "It has the tenderness that yours lacks." Time went by unheeded. She forgot everything in the world but the task she had set herself; and each fact, each memory, as it came home to her, brought with it confirmation of the truth.

At last, with white, tearless face and with clinched hands, she fell upon her knees with a bitter cry.

"It is all true," she moaned; "every word is true!"

How long she knelt in the glare of the frelight she never knew; but it was the sound of the dressing-bell that at length aroused her. She stood up then, with a scared look on her face.

"I must live through it!" she said. "I must meet my uncle, and smile as though nothing were wrong; I must dress, talk, meet him who was my lover; I must go to see Hettie, with this sharp, bitter pain at my heart."

CHAPTER LII.

A month had elapsed since the fatal day on which Leah had read her father's letter. She had made up her mind now how to act. The doctors had agreed that Hettie would not recover until she had had change of air, and it was arranged that, when the first breath of warm weather came, the family were to go to the south of France. The Duke and Duchess of Rosedene were already settled there, so that there would be a "home party" after all. There had been some mention of the wedding. Leah's beautiful face had paled, and a wistful look had come into her eyes. She said that the wedding must be delayed; there could be no thought of marriage when Hettie was in such a fragile state of health. She spoke calmly, and smiled

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. Our doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indigestion into use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tests, some normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding two or three of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

As the days passed, she grew thinner and paler, and her eyes brighter. She never sang. She had never touched her piano since the reading of the fatal letter. Her interest in everything was dead—she spent more time before the picture of Ghone than in any other place. The terrible repression told upon her. If she could have spoken of her loss, if she could have eased her heart by a flow of passionate tears, it would have been better. But there was no such relief; it was all speechless, dark, unchanging sorrow. Great silent woe looked out of the dark eyes.

"I wonder," she said to herself, "if I have accurately measured my strength."

All the arrangements were made for the journey; the Duke and Duchess of Rosedene were awaiting anxiously the arrival of the sisters, when a complication arose. The member for the county had died suddenly, and this brought about the very opening for which Sir Basil had longed. He was determined to contest the election; to secure his seat in Parliament, and then to make for himself fame, and the name of a statesman. He was born for it; politics were his vocation. This was an opportunity not to be lost. With some exertion, and the help of Sir Arthur Hatton, he felt sure of success. Of course he could not accompany the sisters, as had been arranged, to France, so it was decided that Sir Arthur should take them thither and remain for a day or two, and then return at once to help with his canvass.

The news affected the sister differently. Hettie had dreaded the journey with Sir Basil, yet had not liked to raise any objection. Leah had told herself that she should take her last look at his beloved face on English soil. She made no remark when Sir Arthur told her of the change in their plans; and he was blind enough to think that her silence arose from some little resentment against her lover—so little idea had any one of the true facts of the case. They thought Leah very quiet for some days after that. Who could guess that in her own mind she was bidding adieu to the place she loved so well?

Once she asked Sir Arthur to drive her over to Glen—Sir Basil had gone to London on business. The general was delighted at the request; he rejoiced to think that Leah took so great an interest in the improvements.

As he drove her along the road he jested with her and teased her, he did not notice that she lay by his side, cold and pale as a marble statue with such an expression of bitter pain on her face as would have startled even a stranger. She was going to say good-bye to the beautiful house that would never be her home now. She wanted to look once more on the lavish decorations, at the rooms prepared for her, which she would never use. She tried to picture Hettie there—Hettie, with her sweet face and golden hair, who would be so well suited to this dainty, picturesque home; and she wondered as she went through the rooms, whether, when Basil was established there, with Hettie as his wife, he would think of her; whether any idea would come to him of her suffering or of her broken heart.

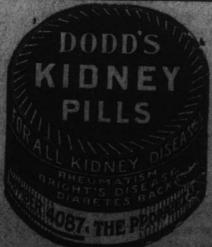

"You look very tired and ill, Leah," said the general, in deep concern. "He had caught a sight of her as she came from the room that was to have been her boudoir, and she was of her guard. He was shocked at the white face and the dark, haggard eyes. He kissed her lovingly.

"My dear Leah, what is the matter? Is there anything more than fatigue?" She raised her brave face to his; he never forgot the look or the voice, and said,—

"No, there is nothing wrong; and I have done nothing which could tire me."

She looked round for the last time upon a scene that she was never to see again; and, as she drove back, she felt that the pain at her heart could never be sharper.

Military Operations in Full Swing --- Regulars Drive Free Staters From Pettigoe --- Britain Must Stand by Treaty --- U. S. to be Represented on Commission of Enquiry

BELFAST, June 4.—Operations on a big scale are now in full swing on the Fermanagh border, several thousand troops of the British army are engaged in military operations in the area. The military activity in reality began about ten o'clock Saturday when troops with full fighting equipment marched from Enniskillen to the western side of Lough Erne near Belleek, while artillery, with motor cars, tenders, and all the necessary paraphernalia of war in its train, rattled along the narrow road. It was planned to place a big gun in position near Roscoe where it could command not only Maghera Amena but also Belleek and the fort overlooking it occupied by the Sinn Féin forces. Another phase of the operations was the landing of troops on the island in Lough Erne, a point but a few miles across the Channel to the Ulster territory occupied by the Sinn Féin forces. The movement was carried out with dramatic suddenness, as the armored cars and tenders rolled the peaceful roads around Enniskillen. Further along on the road to Pettigoe, and at Lettercran, in the counties of Fermanagh, Tyrone and Donegal converge, they were under constant fire from Sinn Féin machine guns. There was intense machine gun fire from the Free State border all day on a six mile stretch without perceptible result.

anarchy and invasion. It must hold the chief towns of the southern coast, while avoiding all entanglements in the interior, and it must still pursue without swerving the hope and aim of reconciling not only Britain and Ireland but Ulster and the south by a far better and sounder treaty when the majority is once more free to speak and when constitutional liberty is delivered from the clutches of theorists and gangs of terrorists and the whole system of violence and anarchy which now oppresses the Irish people." The Sunday Times says, "This country must be prepared to use whatever force is necessary and hold the Provisional Government and its successors to strict financial accountability." The Weekly Despatch says, "The Irish Free State leaders must understand that England cannot disinterest herself in relation to the appalling situation in the north. With Ireland rests the grave choice between following a pathway of peace, which is also that of honor, and heading for irretrievable disaster."

UNITED STATES ACCEPTS.
WASHINGTON, June 4.—The United States Government has accepted the invitation of Great Britain to be represented on the commission which is to investigate alleged Turkish atrocities in Anatolia. In announcing this decision, however, the State Department emphasized that as understood here the commission's duties would be limited to making inquiry into the conditions purely for the information of the Governments participating.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.
PARIS, June 4.—Premier Poincaré in a memorandum yesterday to all the powers which received invitations to attend the Hague Conference on Russian affairs demands that the Soviet Government withdraw its memorandum presented at the Hague Conference May 11 as a condition for French participation at the Hague meeting. M. Poincaré holds that the memorandum was a Soviet document replying to the memorandum of the inviting powers, and it should be treated in the same way as the original Russian memorandum, since it confined the attitude of the Soviet Government with respect to restoring property to foreigners indemnifying owners for damages sustained or recognizing the Russian debt. The original Russian memorandum at Geneva was withdrawn by Russia after the Allied objection to it had been expressed.

ULSTER'S TESTING TIME, SAYS CRAIG.
LONDON, June 4.—In the course of an interview Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, said "the testing time for Ulster has come. It may be the testing time for England has come. If we go down our flag goes down with us. We are fighting not only our cause but the cause of Great Britain." He declared the reason Ulster refused to have anything further to do with the boundary commission was because the two leaders of Southern Ireland had signed a pact which "in our opinion jeopardized the whole question of empire citizenship."

MONTCALM OFF AGAIN.
MONTREAL, June 4.—The Canadian Pacific steamship Montcalm which west ashore in the St. Lawrence on Friday night, has been pulled off by tugs and towed to Quebec. The passengers have been transferred to the Canadian Pacific steamers Cassandra, Metagama and Canada.

A WILD NIGHT IN BELFAST.
BELFAST, June 4.—One civilian was killed and twenty wounded during two hours sharp fighting on Saturday night between Republicans and specials in Cromac and Joy Streets. The constabulary riddled houses with machine gun and rifle fire, while the civilians used bombs, rifles and pistols. As the curfew hour approached communication with the centre of the city was cut off and everyone on the streets searched with much inconvenience to many hurrying to catch the last train.

WILL RE-ACT, SAYS HENDERSON.
LONDON, June 4.—Arthur Henderson, M.P., Labor Leader, says the extremists among the employers of the United Kingdom may think this an opportune time to curb the power of the trade unions and teach the workers their place, but their success in this direction will only have the effect of strengthening the influence of the extremists in the working class movement.

To-night's Mammoth Screen Attraction.
"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR-ROOM" AT THE NICKEL.

"Ten nights in a Bar-Room" which opens at the Nickel to-day, marks an epoch in motion pictures in Newfoundland. The story is one that everyone is familiar with, being written by L. Russell Case, who in writing the modern version has had to wait a long while for the honor and the profit of a first-class screen success. She has written four or five photoplays and is at the head of her profession. Never in the 25-year history of the Motion Picture as a form of entertainment has such a marvelous popular reception of a picture been witnessed as in the case of the presentation of this drama. Although only a short time ago this film has been first publicly presented, the reception of the picture in such great cities as Boston, Newark, N. J., Reading, Pa., Providence, R. I., has been greater than that hitherto accorded to any motion picture drama. Be sure that if the public of these towns turned out in thousands in the depth of winter to crowd the sidewalks, to jam box offices, and fill the theaters day after day, and week after week, there must be some marvelous magnetic quality in the picture. See it at the Nickel tonight.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

SAY IT FIRST.

If you don't like to be laughed at and want to save yourself from ridicule on any of the weak points most of us have, the best I know is to beat the other fellow to it.

Mrs. J. would be a pretty woman if it were not that she is 40 pounds overweight.

Perhaps 40 pounds overweight does not seem absolutely fatal to all prettiness to you. It might not be in a taller woman, but Mrs. J. is also about four inches under height. Five feet five may manage to carry 40 pounds overweight, without an absolute loss of outline. But five feet one cannot. Those 40 pounds have to find a place to lodge on a comparatively small area and the result is great overcrowding in spots.

She is Satisfied.

I suppose from this that you can easily picture to yourself what Mrs. J. looks like in spite of her weight. And maybe you are sorry for her. You needn't be. For she is not in the east sorry for herself.

This is what she said to some of her women friends the other day.

"I saw one of those knicker suits up town yesterday. I would have liked one if I were a little thinner. That's about the only time I've ever wished I were a little thinner. Still I don't think I would really want to lose. I don't think I'd want to gain any more but I wouldn't want to lose."

Begged for Ridicule.

You can imagine how long it took her women friends to spread that remark around the town. It reached me on the first rebound. I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't heard her say similar things myself with my very own ears.

Perhaps you think that retelling that remark with comments wasn't a very nice thing for her friends to do. But can you wholly blame them? That woman simply laid herself open to ridicule. She invited it, she begged for it. And she got it. Everyone does get it who has any obvious defect and who makes it perfectly ob-

Say what's going to be said about you and say it first. That takes the sting out.

If you're abnormally fat or abnormally thin, or if you have a big nose or big feet, or if you are a sketchy house-keeper, or an awkward dancer, or slow in catching a joke, let people know you know it. Laugh at yourself and the other fellow will like you for it and laugh with you instead of laughing at you behind your back.

Ancient Building Had Great Room.

Remarkable discoveries of the ruins of an ancient and heretofore unknown civilization have recently been made at Chalchihuites, state of Zacatecas, Mexico, according to information that has been received by the Mexican government authorities. While exploring the ruins that have long been known to exist at Chalchihuites the discovery of a magnificent room, or saloon, 1000 feet square, was made by J. V. Kidder, archaeologist of Andover, Mass., and Clarence Hay of the Museum of Natural History of the United States. In this saloon are 28 beautifully carved columns of stone. Many prehistoric relics were found while excavating the ruins, it is stated.

The statement is made on the authority of archaeologists who have visited the ancient city at Chalchihuites and inspected the ruins brought to light by the recent excavations that they were the work of a civilization which had no connection with the prehistoric race that built the buildings and temples that are now in ruins in far Southern Mexico, nor are the ruins at Chalchihuites similar in any respect to those of San Juan Teotihuacan, where the pyramids of the moon and sun are found. Neither do they bear any resemblance to the ruins at Casa Grande in the northern part of the country. It is said to be evident that the people who built the wonderful city where the little people of Chalchihuites now stands were highly cultured and especially advanced in the arts.

He left to mourn him one daughter, one son, many grandchildren, and a great number of friends as he was well liked by everyone. He was a kind father and good husband. All that could be done for the dying was done for him by our very kind pastor, Rev. Fr. Maher. May his soul rest in peace.

New Einstein Theory.

In connection with recent earthquakes in Mexico and California, a negro preacher in Houston, Tex., has evolved an ingenious theory which, one must admit, fits very well existing circumstances. He addressed his flock as follows: "Brethren an' sisters, we have received amander warnin' not to go pesticoatin' into the ways of Providence. De cart, breddern, revolves on its axles, an' it takes a right amant ob grease to keep it lubricated. So de good Lord put petroleum inside de cart to keep de axles greased. "Den, bys an' bys, long come all dese hyab-ile companies, punchin' holes in de ground clear down into de beserins, and quessconally all de ole come squirtin' out. Fust thing we know dere's a hot box an' de cart on its axles an' won't go 'round no moah."--Wayside Tales.

Impressive Military Ceremony.

Colors of N. F. Fencible Regiment Deposited in Museum — Prime Minister Accepts Flags For Colony — His Excellency The Governor Makes Interesting Address.

An impressive ceremony took place yesterday afternoon when two flags of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment were deposited in the Museum under the supervision of the Agricultural and Mines Department. Elaborate preparations for the ceremony were made by the Newfoundland Historical Society, and all sections of the colony were invited to attend. A guard of honour consisting of the C.B. Cadets, the Catholic Corps and the Newfoundland Band were also in attendance. His Excellency arriving at 10 p.m. his Excellency arriving at 10 o'clock and a few minutes to 5 o'clock of honour presented arms to the Royal Salute was sounded by the band. Entering the building his Excellency was met by the President and members of the Historical Society and proceeded to the upper part of the chamber and after the ceremony had been visited his Excellency engaged the visitors' Book. The ceremony was terminated at 11 o'clock and the chamber and after the ceremony had been visited his Excellency engaged the visitors' Book. The ceremony was terminated at 11 o'clock and the chamber and after the ceremony had been visited his Excellency engaged the visitors' Book.

E. Pilon and deposited in the Lady Chapel of the Church by the members of the Pilon family. On the return home of the Newfoundlanders mention was made of the flags, and on the 12th December, 1914, a paper on the "Newfoundland Regiment of the Olden Times" was read by Miss Morris at the Current Events Club, which was published in the Evening Herald on the 16th January, 1915. An article afterwards appeared in "The Distaff" written by Miss Morris, entitled "Flags of the Newfoundland Fencibles." Subsequently the Historical Society took up the matter and proposed to obtain the return to Newfoundland of these flags. Mr. Shortis, the Corresponding Secretary of the Society, was authorized to communicate with Sir Edgar R. Bowring, High Commissioner in London and in March, 1920 received the following letter from him:—

Dominion of Newfoundland,
High Commissioner's Office,
55 Victoria Street,
Westminster, S.W.1.,
March 17th, 1920.

Dear Mr. Shortis,
Thank you for your letters of January 22nd and February 21st. It is a great satisfaction to me to know that the trophies obtained by this office were acceptable to the good people of St. John's.

Since last writing you, I have had a very nice and most interesting letter from Rev. John A. Balleine, Rector of St. Brelade, Jersey, Channel Islands, and I am now enclosing for your perusal a copy of his communication. You will observe that Mr. Balleine has gone to some trouble on our behalf to obtain the views of those in whose custody the Newfoundland Banners have been held for a long time. He has ascertained that no objection is offered to returning the Banners to the Government of Newfoundland, but they will not agree so readily to transferring the flags to any private Society or Association.

This is a difficulty that should be very easily overcome in my opinion, and I am accordingly asking the Colonial Secretary to interest himself in the matter, and probably you will like to get in touch with Mr. Lewis to obtain the views of the Government.

There will be some expenses involved, of course, in the removal of the Banners, and I presume no objection will be raised to the suggestion put forward by the Rector that a brass plate should be substituted at the expense of Newfoundland when the flags are removed and returned to the Dominion.

I have not yet been able to obtain a reply from Bristol, but will send a reminder and will keep you informed as to how things proceed from time to time.

Meanwhile I shall be glad to hear your views on the above matter with kind regards.

Yours sincerely,
(Sgd.) EDGAR R. BOWRING,
High Commissioner for Nfld.
H. F. Shortis, Esq.,
Sec. Historical Society,
St. John's, Newfoundland.

(Enclosure.)
St. Brelade Rectory, Jersey,
January 22nd, 1920.

Dear Sir—Your letter of the 11th ult. has been transmitted to me by the Dean of Jersey.

The statement on behalf of the "Historical Society of Newfoundland" that two banners, formerly belonging to the "Regiment of Newfoundland Fencibles" are hanging in our Parish Church is quite accurate. At the request of the late General Pilon, C.B. to whom they had come as an heirloom, they were placed there in the year 1882. In our ecclesiastical archives I find the following entry: "On the 14th September, 1882, the Flags of the Newfoundland Fencible Regiment, formerly commanded by Major Elias Pilon, were placed in the hands of the Rector and Churchwardens of the Parish of St. Brelade by Major General P. G. Pilon, C.B., R. Artillery, nephew of the said Major Elias Pilon, to remain in their custody and in that of their successors in the said Parish."

(Notes by Major General Pilon follow: "I have been trying to get some account of these Colors, but have failed. All I know is that the colors are those of the "N.F.R." which was disbanded or converted into the "Newfoundland Companies" in the early part of this century. My uncle Major Pilon, was in command at the time and the colors evidently became his property.")

I submitted your letter to a meeting of our parochial ecclesiastical authorities last week, and also interviewed the daughters of the late General Pilon. Both parties agree that while they would offer no objection to the return of the banners to the Government of Newfoundland, they hesitate to give a final decision until they have ascertained the status of the "Historical Society."

Is there any possibility, however remote, of that body ceasing to exist and of the banners eventually being neglected or lost?

Before the removal of the banners from your church could be effected, a faculty, incurring some expense, would have to be obtained from our local Ecclesiastical Court, and our authorities also suggest that a brass plate, indicating the reason of the return of the banners to Newfoundland should be placed in the Church. May I therefore ask for the information required.

Meanwhile, believe me to be,
Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) JOHN A. BALLEINE,
Rector of St. Brelade, Jersey.
Edgar R. Bowring, Esq.,
55 Victoria Street,
Westminster, London, S.W.1.

GOVERNMENT'S RESPONSE.
Dept. of Colonial Secretary,
St. John's, Nfld.,
3rd August, 1920.

Sir—Reference is made to the 28th May, covering copy of Resolution passed by the Historical Society of Newfoundland, relative to certain Banners of Newfoundland Fencibles, now in the Church of St. Brelade, Jersey. I have the honor to intimate that the Government have instructed the High Commissioner, London, to arrange for the return to Newfoundland of these banners, and the payment of the expenses in connection with the same, as well as of a brass plate, explanatory of the event which will be erected in the Church at Jersey.

The proposal of the Government is that these Banners shall be in charge of the Government authorities, and be placed in the Museum under proper keepership, and with a detailed statement, setting forth so far as possible, all the circumstances in connection with these banners.

I feel sure that this action of the Government will commend itself to the members of your Society.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Sgd.) ARTHUR MEWS,
Deputy Colonial Secy.,
H. F. Shortis, Esq.,
Corresponding Secretary,
Historical Society of Nfld.

This completes the account of the Historical Society's connection with these flags. I now have the honor to request the Prime Minister, Sir Richard A. Squires, to formally acknowledge the receipt of the flags and to give them place in the Museum as the property of the Government.

The Prime Minister, on behalf of the people of Newfoundland, formally accepted the flags, and intimated that they would be placed in the charge of Mr. George E. Turner, Esq., Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mines. He congratulated the Society on having secured the trophies, and agreed with the idea that they should be placed in some public place where they could be always open to view. The flags being looped up with a ribbon were released by his Excellency.

Past and Present.

The ceremony of depositing the colors of the Royal Nfld. Regiment Fencible Infantry, at the Museum on Saturday was the first function of its kind in this respect and therefore unique in the annals of Terra Nova. It is a great pity that so little is known of these colors, but it is evident from their age, though in a remarkable state of preservation, that both flags accompanied the Regiment through all the actions in which it took part. It was a solemn moment when His Excellency the Governor pulled the ribbon strings which released the flags, and as their faded colors fluttered downwards, a most impressive silence was observed. Surely the spirits of the old Fencibles were present at this particular instant, and joined with the men of the present Royal Newfoundland Regiment in acknowledging the unfolding of the standards under which they so long and so bravely fought, and doing final honor to them in the general salute. A history of the Newfoundland Fencibles was published in the Telegram last year, the copy having been made from original documents and records in the office of military archives at Ottawa. This history showed that the Regiment had fought all over Canada during the war with United States 1812-14, and had done its part in helping to save that portion of North America to England. The Newfoundland soldiers of that day were every whit as versatile as those of the present era. They could be soldiers, sailors, voyageurs, or woodsmen with equal facility, as documents which have been given publicity prove. To their everlasting memory and in testimony of their bravery and discipline, their colors, now placed in the Museum, where they may be seen daily are silent though eloquent witnesses.

The military colors of a regiment of British Infantry since the days of Queen Anne have been two. Of these the first, the King's or Royal Color is the Union Jack. The second or regimental color is of the same color as the facings of the regiment, except these regiments whose facings are white, when the regimental color is the Cross of St. George in a white field, with the territorial designation and the Royal or other title displayed within the Union wreath of roses, thistles and shamrocks ensigned with the Imperial Crown, and bearing the ancient devices, badges, distinctions and mottoes conferred by royal authority. The King's color of the Fencibles is, as noted, a Union Jack. The regimental color is blue with the rose, thistle and shamrock, surmounted by a crown, in the fly. Both flags are of very fine silk and show signs of having been given every care. They form a very valuable asset to the Museum's exhibits, and connect past with present, patriotically and sentimentally, and tell of the achievements of the days when Britain was fighting, practically the whole world.

Attractive Sale.

FREBYTERIAN HALL TO-MORROW AFTERNOON.

Sales you have missed many opportunities for buying such dainty frocks and everything for the baby with that hand finished work that the Young Ladies' Guild is capable of. Even if you don't intend to make any purchases the tea that will be served will be delicious and you will no doubt meet all your friends chatting over the cups. The Sale opens to-morrow afternoon.

To-Night's Performance.

In response to numerous requests from those who have acclaimed "The Magic Melody" as one of the greatest productions ever performed in the city, it has been decided to repeat the performance to-night and to-morrow night. All who haven't yet seen it should take advantage of this opportunity; all who have seen it should go again and realize just how good a production it is before it is finally withdrawn.

Rendell, Garland, Dunfield, Small; Misses Frazer, Murray; Rev. E. C. Earp; Messrs. T. P. Halley, F. R. Emerson, A. E. Holmes, T. H. O'Neill. Tickets 50 cents. jne5,2i

A Creditable Service.

ONE YEAR WITHOUT A BREAK.
A period of uninterrupted service which reflected great credit on both captain and crew was terminated on Saturday when the S.S. Wren arrived in port. The Wren has been operating continuously on the Fortune Bay route and left here on June 3rd, 1921 to take up the service. All through the 12 month period there has not been a hitch in the working of the ship. The Wren will go on dock for an overhauling. Meanwhile S.S. Senef will take up the service.

Dainty, well made Children's Underwear, can be obtained at the Presbyterian Hall Tuesday afternoon next. This is an opportunity to shop in comfort and at the same time get a delicious cup of tea from the Girls of St. Andrew's Guild.—jne5,11

School Rugby.

GAMES START WEDNESDAY.
Inter-Collegiate Rugby opens on Wednesday when the Fencibles and Methodists meet in the former's grounds. These are the only two schools contesting the Outerbridge Shield. Five games will be played, three in the Fencible and two on the Methodist ground. Both teams have been practising hard and good games should result. The Shield has so far been won three times by the Methodists and five by Bishop Field. If the latter win out twice in the next four years, it becomes their property. This afternoon a team of Old Fencibles will play the school on the Tannery grounds.

Supreme Court.

Patrick J. Fitzgerald and Marine Railway Dock Co. Ltd., vs. Grace Higgins, K.C. for plaintiff moves for a day for hearing and asks for June 13th. Mr. L. Curtis for defendant consents. It is ordered accordingly.
You simply ought to visit the Presbyterian Hall Tuesday afternoon next and see the Cunningham Togs, especially designed for little boys and girls to play in, some Chintz trimmed; others with animals, etc., embroidered in color.—jne5,11

A Costly Blow.

COMPLAINT BRINGS KNOCKOUT.
Because his neighbour complained that a cow belonging to a West End farmer had invaded her property, the latter knocked the complainant down with a back hand swipe which would have done credit to Dempsey. An assault case ensued and was heard in the Police Court to-day. The accused was fined $10 for his hasty action.
The T.A. & B.S. Ladies' Auxiliary will hold their last Card Party and Dance for the season in the T.A. Hall on Tuesday, June 6th. Empire Band in attendance; refreshments and Ice Cream for sale.—jne5,2i

An Eloquent Tribute

(From a Contemporary.)
THE LATE W. J. HERDER.

"Better for the silent tongue but the eloquent deed. For in life and in business, despatch is better than discourse; and the shortest answer of all is doing."
The above quotation from Samuel Smiles' Biographies, is peculiarly applicable to the life of the late Wm. J. Herder. His was a life of action, impelled towards achievement by the dominant force of an unconquerable will. The mainprayer of what is called force of character, and the sustaining power of all great actions. Mr. W. J. Herder who was the proprietor of the Evening Telegram, passed peacefully away on Sunday last after an illness of short duration; in journalistic circles his passing will be sadly felt, for he has been rightly termed the "Grand old man of Journalism" in Newfoundland and the imprint of his force and character has had a vitalizing effect upon the public opinion of this country for close on half a century of years, and whilst he sought no public place of prominence, his influence was felt throughout the length and breadth of our island, which as a native son, he loved well; and ever directed his energies toward what he conscientiously believed to be for the interests of Newfoundland.

In social circles he was well and popularly known and amongst his Masonic brethren was considered "one of the best." As to his business life, the story of the growth of the Evening Telegram under his guidance would make an "epic" throbbing with force and energy; and abounding in episodes of interest; whilst his kindly personality won the admiration and esteem of his fellow workers. In the words of Tennyson, "He has lived his life, and that which he has done may God within himself make pure."—Trade Review.

Round the World By Air.
NEWFOUNDLAND PART OF AERIAL ITINERARY.
LONDON, (Associated Press).—Major W. T. Blake, navigator, and Capt. Norman MacMillan, pilot, started May 24 on a flight round the world from the Croydon aerodrome. According to present arrangements they will use four machines of different makes for different parts of the journey. With a D. H. 9 aeroplane propelled by a 230 horsepower Siddeley "Puma" engine, the aviators hope to get as far as Calcutta over the ordinary route to India, via Paris, Rome, Athens, Crete, Alexandria, Bagdad, Basra, Karachi, and Delhi, which is approximately seven thousand miles. Using a Fiesle type 5, a floating seaplane, fitted with 350 horsepower Rolls Royce engine, Major Blake and his companion will fly from Calcutta and proceed via Rangoon, Bangkok, Saigon and along the Chinese coast to Japan, Yokohama, and then to Etropavloek and along the Aleutian Islands and the Alaskan Coast to Vancouver. At Vancouver, the aviators will change into another D. H. 9 which will have been shipped out and spaced there, and will then cross Canada down to Chicago and New York. From New York they purpose to fly to Newfoundland, where the fourth machine, a "F" 3 flying boat with two 400 horsepower Rolls Royce engines will be brought into use. On this machine the fliers will go across Greenland, Iceland and the Faroe Islands to Scotland, landing at Aberdeen. With the average amount of luck Major Blake thinks he can get round the world in three months, which represents roughly about 300 hours in the air.

Lobster Supplies Destroyed.

MESSAGE FROM BONNE BAY.
All the supplies for the lobster fishery were destroyed in the recent disastrous fire at Bonne Bay. This information was contained in a message to the Prime Minister to-day. The message states that R. A. Templeton who is the chief supplier for the lobster fishery, is sending a large supply of cans and other incidentals to Bonne Bay to enable the men to prosecute this fishery without any delay. The entire business section of the settlement was destroyed. Fifty-eight buildings, nine of which were dwelling houses, were burned. There is no present destination.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review)

Codfish—The export of dried codfish this week totalled 6,697 quintals all from St. John's as follows:—

By schr. Olive Moore 2,185 quintals to Barbados from A. E. Hickman and Co., Ltd.; by schr. Beulah from Bowring Bros. 4,342 qts. to Bahia, and by S. S. Sabie 1,80 qts. to Farquhar & Co. Ltd., Halifax. The Oporto market on May 22nd showed 25,743 qts. of Newfoundland fish with 7,772 quintals for the week's consumption, and two vessels just entering, the Nellie Walter, and the Port Union. The Newfoundland stocks are now very low and will be practically cleaned out by the end of June. Our stores were never cleaner in July than they will be this year.

Cod Oil—The local market is holding its own, but the foreign markets all show that the present prices are of the most temporary character and will not continue very long. The bulk of the old oil has gone forward to market, and there will not be much left when the new is ready. The revival of industries in the United States gave great help to the local situation the past two months, and even better demand is in sight.

Flour—May wheat made a sensational decline in Chicago this week closing on the 1st at 117. Winnipeg wheat, however, kept up around 127. The quotations are now about on a level with July wheat in both these markets. The United States markets are looking well, but it is two or three weeks late. The crop outlook in North West Canada has improved greatly also, and is looking very hopeful. All indications point to cheaper flour in a few months. The local quotation is still $10.25 wholesale for leading brands. The imports are now 94,000 barrels.

Pork—The pork market continues strong, especially Mess and Fat Back new importation, of which will cost considerably more per barrel than stocks now held in the local market. Ham Butts at $29.50 for choice is an economic and comparatively cheap purchase just now. Other grades run at $42.00 for Family Mess Rib $29.50, Mess $29.50, Fat Back $28.00. There is a fair trade on this week owing to supplies being purchased for the fishery.

Beef—Despite the strong tendency in pork the past three weeks, beef prices are a little easier. There was a considerable trade in this commodity in the local market this week owing to schooners from the outports taking on supplies for the fishery. More beef than usual this spring is being purchased by planters, and less pork, owing to the disparity in prices. A fair fishery beef can be had for $20.00 a barrel as against $29.00 for cheapest pork. Our grades are Bos Flank $25.00, Bos Packet $20.50, and the 3 grades of boneless $20.25, $19.50, and $18.00 respectively per barrel wholesale.

Molasses—There has been an advance of five cents per gallon in Fancy Molasses at the market of origin, according to cables received from Barbados this week. The market is very strong at the advance, which means ten cents per gallon here. The price at Barbados is 40 cents per gallon, is of course received in wine gallons, and in addition to this the loss in gauge and other charges will increase the original price to fully ten cents per gallon. It looks as if we have seen the lowest price for this season in the early part of May.

Sugar—The market is very strong and higher prices are expected. Old stocks are about absorbed and as the season of greatest demand and consumption has arrived, predictions are to the effect amongst some sugar dealers that the summer's tendency of the market will be upward. Others contend that the conditions indicate lower sugar by July. The local quotation for American White Granulated is $19.50 per 100 lbs., in barrels. The S. S. Sabie 1. this week, brought in 300 barrels and 600 cases.

Potatoes—This week has been a veritable "potato week" in and around St. John's accentuated by the Agricultural Department giving out specially selected imported tubers to the farmers and fishermen-farmers for seeding purposes. A few schooner cargoes also arrived from Bonavista Bay, and these also were bought for seed. The prices are easier, viz: $3.00 for imported, and $2.50 for local. Specially selected or picked potatoes cost 50 cents per barrel more.

Hay—The Hay trade has been moderate this week, but the demand is fair for the season. Importations that were so heavy the first part of May have fallen off. Cattle are now finding fair grazing and the present slackening, usual to this season, will continue for six or six months. Prices in the local market are about the same, viz:—$13.00 to $14.00 per ton ex. store, and $11.00 to $11.50 cheaper ex. wharf. Local farmers are offering loose hay at about $45.00 per ton, or about 2 1/2 cents a pound.

Oats—Oats hold the firmness of last week and will likely continue up to present levels all the summer, and until the new crop is reaped. The local demand for seeding has been particularly good the past two weeks, so that the supply that had become slack was supplemented this week by the arrival of the S.S. Mapledawn with 500 sacks. The local quotations are, $3.80 per sack for mixed, and $4.00 for white. Oats cannot be replaced at these prices just now.

Local Fleet Diminishing.

ONLY HALF NUMBER OF SCHOERS. PROSECUTE LABRADOR FISHERY TO-DAY AS COMPARED WITH 1910—ICE DELAYS SAILING OF CREWS.

News of the ice conditions in the North indicate that the sailings for Labrador by the fishing fleet will this season be fully two seasons late as compared with the average time for departure for that coast. The almost continuous N. E. and E. winds of May keep the ice in of the coast north of Bonavista Cape up to the last of the month, and delayed the vessels north of that point from getting to St. John's for supplies. The cold weather also helped to delay preparations for the fishery.

The eastern part of the Straits of Bell Isle was blocked with ice last week and the whole front of the coast from Bell Isle to Fogo was barricaded up to a few days ago. It is likely that the recent off shore winds of this week have now freed the coast, and that next week the advance guard of the fleet, keen to secure the good trap berths will be on the move to get to the Labrador Coast.

Numbers Decreasing.

We regret to record that there will be a further falling off in the fishing schooners to that coast this season. Last year the total number surveyed and given clearances for Labrador was 579—green fish catchers. This was a falling off of 421 vessels in ten years. The present season there will be further falling off, which is estimated to bring the total down to about 500—just about half what it was in 1910.

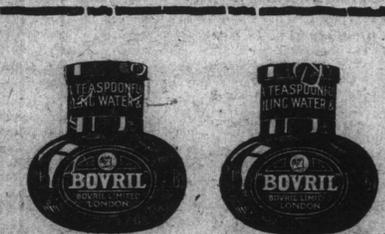

This is a serious state of affairs and spells bad for the Labrador fishery of the future, seeing that there are so few new schooners being built each winter in recent years to replace the 30 to 50 that are lost every year, not to speak of those that become so old and unseaworthy that they have to be condemned. Were it not then for the shore crews or stationers that go down in the steamers and freighters, the Labrador fishery would be to-day a small factor in our fish trade compared with a quarter of a century ago.

An Exceptional Year.

Last year might be regarded as an exception in the last decade as to fish shipments from the Coast direct to foreign markets, as 158,575 quintals were sent out direct, as against 47,380 in 1913.

It is only fair to say that the number of 579 schooners for last year are only those that have "cleared" at the Custom House in the regular way, and it is a well known fact that a good many of the Northern shippers never take the trouble to enter or clear their schooners. Even if we allow 100 to have done this, which is a liberal margin, we shall then have 680, which is only half the fleet of twenty years ago.—Trade Review.

Remarkable Cures From Codliver Oil.

NEWFOUNDLAND OIL RECOGNIZED THE BEST.

By the English mail this week we learn that some visitors of great importance to our cod-oil trade will visit Newfoundland this summer. The Research Commission of the British Government are making special investigations regarding medicinal codliver oil, as some remarkable cures have been made recently in the London Hospitals, which are attributed to codliver oil. The University of London is sending out one of their principal chemical professors, and the Lester Institute is doing likewise. They will be accompanied by a Biologist sent out by the British Minister of Fisheries. Those scientists visited Norway last year and were given every possible facility by the Government of that country to assist them in their investigations. For many years Norwegian codliver oil has been receiving the preference from the British medical profession in consumptive cases, etc., but now it would appear that Newfoundland is coming into her own at last. The careful and thorough instruction and inspection under Government supervision is showing their good results, so that now Newfoundland oil is recognized to be not only the very best in color, taste and odor, but medical men are finding the vitalizing element in it, which is superior in its effects to the codliver oil of any other country. The visit of these scientists is made to synchronize with the codfishing season, so as to enable them to study the codliver oil industry in every detail.—Trade Review.

AT THE STATION.
Down at the station they used to wait,
All lined up at the railway gate,
Mother and father and sister Jane,
Searching the track for the coming train.
Grandpa and Grandma and all the pack,
Waiting to welcome a wanderer back.
Then never one of us went away
In the summer time for a few weeks' stay.
But what he was sure of a roasting din
And a greeting warm when the train pulled in.
Oldest to youngest would be in wait
To welcome him at the station gate.

I've stood in the line myself and know
The splendid thrill of that fine "hello!"
And the laughter glad and the rush
To be.
The first of that anxious flock to see
The wanderer quitting the railroad train.
Safe and sound in the town again.

I've been the traveller, too, and I
Have seen the light in the mother's eye,
And the father's smile, and the brother's grin
And rush to carry my suit case in,
And I know the depth of the joy it means.

To play the part in the station scene,
Now the line has thinned and there's few to wait
To watch for me at the railway gate.
But I know some day in the distant years
When my soul in the distant realm appears
The oldest to youngest once more I'll see
Eagerly waiting to welcome me.

DIFFERENT TASTES.

I like to sit by a spreading tree—day after day you may see me there!—and read of perils on land and sea, of heroes bold and of damsels fair. I read my books till the long day goes, and the shadows lengthen on field and meadow; I see with their glowing toes, wonder what they can see in my friend Jim Jerk who has a wad, and he goes away on his tramp; he sends me some strange towns abroad, and letters sealed with unholy stamps. And he might sit 'neath a stately yew, with a good warm book and a stogie fat; but off he travels to Timbuctoo—I wonder what he can see in that!—And some go off to the sombre woods, to picnic there, on the grass to lie, to eat stale doughnuts and kindred goods, and get their feet in the mustard pie; I see them go with their baskets big, to the dark abode of the bug and bat, where the skeeters buzz—and the chiggers chig—I wonder what they can see in that! The joy of one makes another sick, the fun of James is a grief to me; give me a volume that has a kick, a tale of perils on land and sea! Then James may off to the jungle speed to chase a tiger or other cat; I'll watch him, while I sit and read, and wonder what he can see in that.

Household Notes.

Individual strawberry shortcakes are nice served hot. While drying sweaters should be reshaped frequently. Serve strips of stewed green and red peppers with fish. Pieces of dill pickled on the bottom of tin bread boxes will prevent them from rusting. New potatoes and peas are sometimes creamed together. Garnish cold tongue with watercress and sliced oranges. Iced cherry soup is very attractive. Serve it with bread sticks. If you must put your hands into dirty water, wear canvas gloves. When making ice cream, use one part salt to three parts finely cracked ice. Chopped pineapple and oranges make a delicious fruit-dish for breakfast. White kid shoes may be cleaned by scrubbing with Ivory soap and water. For children who are tired of plain oatmeal, cook with cereal with raisins. A strawberry huller is just the thing for picking feathers out of a chicken.

The Late Mr. W. J. Herder.

(Mr. Grace Standard)

The news was had here on Monday forenoon that Mr. William J. Herder, the well-known proprietor of the Evening Telegram, had passed away at noon the day previous. Mr. Herder had not been in good health for some time previous to his death, and had taken some few months ago, a trip to Bermuda. While on the trip, he contracted pneumonia, that seemed to be serious, but he was privileged to re- turn home. Although heart trouble laid its hold upon him and he suffered more or less from that affliction, he was equal to his work, and daily attended to his professional duties. Mr. Herder took an active part in fraternal and athletic work, and while he took no active part in public matters, the cause of right and free- dom ever found him a worthy sup- porter. He was a printer more than an editor, and the mechanical work of his profession came first in the conducting of the Telegram. He was affable and courteous in his inter- course, a just man in his dealings and a good citizen. Many will remember Mr. Herder's first attempt as a pub- lisher, and to him modern journalism in this country owes its beginning. The present position of the Telegram is a monument to his enterprise and mechanical skill—from the humble start to a full measure of success. Such is the life work of the man just called to his rest. After an active, useful life, he passed home "like one who draws the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

The Standard tenders to the be- lieved family its sincere sympathy in the loss that has come to it by the passing away of its head, an expres- sion which we feel assured is shared in by this community. Personally, we have to acknowledge many favors re- ceived from the deceased at times when necessity compelled us to seek help in an emergency—help that was always freely and courteously extend- ed.

Housekeepers requiring strong, well-made Work Aprons will find just what they are looking for at the Sale to be held in the Presbyterian Hall Tuesday af- ternoon next.—jne5,11

Tarvia Prevents Dust; Tarvia Preserves Roads.

In the United States and Canada Tarvia is the standard by which all other road-binders and preservatives are judged.

Tarvia is made to three grades—"Tarvia X" for road construction, "Tarvia B" for preservation of road surface and "Tarvia K-P" for repair- ing roads. Both "Tarvia B" and "Tarvia K-P" have been used in St. John's Municipal works for several years.

"Tarvia B" actually enters the road surface, acts as a cement and resists the tear and wear of traffic. By cementing together the dust par- ticles "Tarvia B" prevents the for- mation of dust.

After the application of "Tarvia B" to a road surface a thin layer of sand should be applied to take care of the excess liquid and to prevent tracking. This layer of sand will prevent horses from slipping and automobiles from skidding and will prolong the life of the road surface.

Broken stone is not as satisfactory or as economical as sand for this purpose.

A road after being treated with "Tarvia B" does not become muddy in rainy weather, but sheds the water and dries off quickly after the rain, leaving the road in admirable condition while untreated roads are still deep with mud.

"Tarvia B" surfacing should be ap- plied annually but only when roads are in good condition and free from surplus dust. All holes and depres- sions should be repaired with fine broken stone and "Tarvia K-P."

When "Tarvia B" is applied by mechanical sprinkler, care should be taken to have men with brooms and hand sprinklers go over the ground so that excess "Tarvia B" may be brushed out and not allowed to run waste and so that bare spots be treated and the entire road surface secured.

A loose, "happy-go-lucky" applica- tion is sheer waste of time and mon- ey, "whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well."

"Tarvia B" is admirably adapted to the treatment of sidewalks and walks in parks, hospital grounds and cemeteries. Wooden plank- ing of bridges will last longer if treated with "Tarvia B." Fence posts, sills and houses etc., will be greatly bene- fitted by treatment with "Tarvia B."

Further particulars will be gladly given upon application to MEXICO CITY, June 5. Twenty-five soldiers were killed, when a train, bound from Oaxaca to Puebla, was blown up on Saturday. The soldiers were conveying passen- ger trains.

MUST HAVE A PRETEXT.

LONDON, June 5. Labor Unions in South Australia are reported to be exasperated because the King conferred a knighthood on Premier Barwell, who advocated the introduction of colored labor to de- velop the resources of South Australia.

DAMAGE DONE BY CLOUDBURST.

BINGHAMPTON, N.Y., June 5. A cloudburst flooded the Delaware River yesterday sweeping away ten bridges and doing damage nearly $2,000,000.

A GLUT OF MACKEREL.

HALIFAX, June 5. Over 2,000,000 pounds of mackerel were taken by Nova Scotia fishermen last week, the average price received by them being about 3/4 cents per pound. The inability of dealers to handle such big catches, obliged some fishermen to accept two cents a piece for mackerel weighing four pounds.

REBELS RETREATING.

LONDON, June 5. British troops have driven Sinn Fein- er invaders from their main position in Ulster territory, and large part of the border between North and South, now is practically a battlefront. Sinn Feiners now face seasoned and well equipped troops, with artillery, instead of the Ulster specials who have held the line for some time.

A MERE HYPOTHESES.

LONDON, June 5. Newspapers refrain comment on the Irish situation, but the Daily News, basing its information on a despatch from Emmet, declares under its biggest headlines that a crisis has been deliberately faked for political purposes, and that provocation to war comes from the Ulster side.

William Here in Role of Avenger.

The theme of the William production "When a Man Sees Red" at the Majestic Theatre to-day, William Farnum as the star, which a brother demands for being done his sister. He cannot enlist the aid of the law, the name of the wrongdoer is unknown to him; but he makes a vow to track down the destroyer of his happiness. In the adventure he encounters in a thrilling situation building climax as dramatic as any ever depicted on the screen, when pursued and pursued meet and retribution exacted on an island inhabited by savages, where the survival of the fittest is the only law. William Farnum has made many pictures, but the consensus of opinion seems to be that none has been stronger than this. The role he plays, it is said, affords him wonderful opportunities to register all human emotions—which, with an actor of Farnum's well known histrionic ability, means a superlative performance.

Baseball Notes.

NEW CUP PRESENTED.

Mr. G. G. Allen, President of the British American Tobacco Company, has offered a new cup to the Baseball League, to be played for under the same conditions as his first cup. A message to this effect was received by Mr. J. B. Orr from T. V. Hartnett, who is at present in New York. The first cup was won outright by the Red Lions last season.

Mr. "Coke" Cahill wants to have a game between a team of local Canadians and a Newfoundland bunch in aid of the War Memorial. The idea is a good one and should be practicable.

All the teams are hard at practice now and the season promises to be one of the best of younger men will be coming out this year.

S. O. E. Parade.

SERVICE AT WESLEY CHURCH.

There was a very large attendance at the annual church parade of the S. O. E. held yesterday afternoon. Divine service was attended at Wesley Church. The parade left Victoria Hall at 2.30 headed by the band of the Methodist Guards, proceeded to the church via Long's Hill, LeMarchant Road and Patrick Street. At the church a special service was arranged by the pastor, the Rev. W. B. Bugden, B. A., who preached a very eloquent and impressive sermon appropriate to the occasion. After the service the Society reformed and returned to their lodge rooms by way of Water Street, McBride's Hill and Church Hill. Here a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. Mr. Bugden, the organist and the choir of Wesley Church. A vote of thanks was also tendered the Guard's Band for the excellent music discoursed by them. Previous to the Society leaving the Hall a very pleasant duty was performed by Bro. G. B. Lloyd, P. D. D. (in the absence of the District Deputy) in presenting Bro. A. G. Williams, P. D. D., on behalf of the Sons of England Benefit Society of Newfoundland with a District Deputy's Jewel, for the very able and satisfactory manner in which he carried out the duties of District Deputy during his term of office. Bro. Lloyd paid a splendid tribute to Bro. Williams who has done yeoman service for the S. O. E. during the past 25 years, and congratulating the recipient, expressed the hope that he would long be spared to wear the jewel.

NOT NEW CHURCH.—The church destroyed recently at St. Kyran's was not the new edifice, but the old stone building situated between St. Leonard's and St. Kyran's. The building was erected over forty years ago and was rarely used. The origin of the fire is still a mystery.

A Talented Concert Troupe.

MAKES CERTAIN BONAVISTA HOSPITAL.

The Bonavista Hospital project received another impetus through the devoted efforts of the R.C. congregation, whose musical and dramatic entertainment in St. Joseph's Hall on May 24th, added $40.00 to the funds of the institution. The concert opened with a spirited rendering of "Rule Britannia" by the Chorus, after which Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald recited, with telling effects, "Our Hospital," the opening lines of which,

"Hospitals in every land from China to Peru,
"From Singapore to Labrador, but none are here for you" brought weird comment and hearty response from the audience. Misses Helen Brazil and Kitty Fitzgerald then rendered a sprightly duet, "Mary and Marie." An amusing sketch, "Pat's Dilemma" was next presented in breezy fashion by Messrs. Paddy James, William Doody, Daniel and Felix Fitzgerald. The Chorus followed with an Arcadian song, "A little birch canoe and you," depicting a young man in a ticklish melodious duet "Drifting to Dreamland," to be followed by a quartette which was anything but dreamy, entitled "Ballyhooley," rendered with Hibernian vigor by Messrs. Purcell, James Daniel and Felix Fitzgerald.

After an interval, during which an amazing amount of asocharine sustenance was vended and devoured by the audience, the Chorus gave a beautiful rendition of "Beautiful Ohio," followed by a quartette "Nancy Till" by Mrs. F. Fitzgerald, Mrs. F. A. Brazil, Messrs. Ed. Purcell and Felix Fitzgerald. A dialogue, "Bachelors' Hall" by Messrs. P. James, W. Doody, D. and F. Fitzgerald evoked peals of merriment. Mrs. Thomas Doody followed with a song "York Minister Chimes," supported by the Chorus.

"Purify the Blood"

THIS is the doctor's advice to most people whose blood he analyzes at this season of the year.

Overeating of artificial foods, combined with too little outdoor exercise, leaves the human system clogged with poisonous impurities.

The liver is torpid, the bowels constipated and the kidneys so overworked that they become ineffective as filters of the blood.

The most rational treatment is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills because of their

Mrs. T. Rossiter in her recitation "If we only knew," discovered a vein of pathos, to which her audience responded with keen appreciation. Mrs. F. Fitzgerald and Mrs. T. Doody rendered with harmony and distinction a duet, "The Pilot Brave." A comedy sketch, "That Rascal Pat" by Messrs. James, Purcell and F. Fitzgerald, the Misses Kitty Mully and Kitty Fitzgerald evoked laughter and applause. The Chorus concluded the programme with "Smiles that make you happy," smiles that were reflected upon the faces of the audience as they realized that their goal was now in sight, and that, no longer a castle in the air, the Bonavista Hospital had at length arrived. Further work upon the Hospital will go forward during the summer, and one more concerted effort in the fall will set the corner stone to this achievement.—A.E.R.

HENRY SPENCER, well-known and respected citizen of Watertown, N.Y., who reports he has gained 15 pounds since he began taking Tanlac and always tells his friends how this medicine restored his health.

"My friends often say: 'Never saw you looking better; what are you doing for yourself?' and I always tell them: 'Well, I am taking Tanlac now.'" recently declared Henry Spencer, 315 East St. Watertown, a well-known and highly esteemed citizen. "For more than a year," he said, "I seemed to be run down all over. From 160 pounds I fell off to 135, lost my appetite and my stomach gave me no end of trouble. The little I ate caused me to bloat with gas and I was subject to dull, heavy headaches. I had no energy and it was all I could do to get around the house. I had dizzy spells when everything would blur before my eyes and I had to catch myself to keep from falling. "Well, now, I have gained 15 pounds, feel better in every way and can work as well as ever, since taking Tanlac. I relish what I eat, with a fine appetite, and gas, indigestion, headache and dizziness are completely gone. Yes, sir, I just can't say too much for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Obituary.

THOMAS J. ALLEN.

With expressions of sincere sorrow and regret upon their lips, many citizens, friends of Mr. Thomas J. Allen, learned with surprise of his death, which occurred at his residence, 11 Cookstown Road, on Friday morning after a brief illness. The deceased was well and favorably known all over the city and settlements outside of St. John's, particularly in the settlement of Flatrock, where for the past sixteen years he was manager of Bowring Bros. Stores, and in whose employ he was for the past 39 years. Of a kindly disposition and the possessor of many gentlemanly traits, he made many friends who will miss his many acts of kindness, and his always cherry word and smile of greeting. Mr. Allen was a prominent member of the Nova Council, Knights of Columbus for some years past, and a member of the Cathedral Holy Name Society, and also a life long member of the T. A. & B. Society, in whose ranks he was for the past 40 years. He leaves a loving wife, one son, Richard, employed with Bowring Bros., an adopted daughter, three nieces and several relatives to mourn their sad loss. That God in his goodness may strengthen and sustain them in their hour of sorrow and bereavement is the heartfelt prayer and wish of their very many friends. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and all that was mortal of a kind and loving gentleman was given back to his Mother Earth in the family plot at Belvidere Cemetery, and was one of the most largely attended funerals seen here for some time, comprising many prominent citizens and friends, and attended by Guards of Honor from the Societies of which he was a member.

CORSETS!

W. B. and P. C. Corsets for Ladies. Prices from $1.50 pair.

In Superior Quality Corsets.

Though we mention this Special Value at $1.50-pair, we don't believe that you should economise on your corseting. Some people think they can, as the corset is not seen. But the corset is always apparent as being the foundation of dress. You cannot get the correct hang to your dress if you are not properly corseted.

We therefore urge you to buy "W. B." CORSETS

if you wish perfect corseting. These are very moderately priced at $1.80, $2.50 & $3.25 pair

Obituary.

JOSEPH L. PUMPHREY.

The death of Mr. Joseph L. Pumphrey occurred on Wednesday morning, May 31st. Deceased had been confined to his home for some time past, but since the spring opened, he rallied somewhat, and it was not expected that the end would come so soon. Not a change came on Tuesday night, and he passed away the following morning, at the early age of 35 years. The late Mr. Pumphrey conducted a general business at the pro-misses formerly occupied by Mr. Willis Davis, but since the past two years had not been able to attend to work. Deceased was a son of the late Daniel Pumphrey, and besides his mother, now living at Little Bay, he leaves behind a wife (nee Miss Agnes Martin) and four young children, two brothers, father Pumphrey of Little Bay; and Mr. Thomas Pumphrey of Grand Falls; one sister, Mrs. Wm. Taffe of St. John's. The funeral was held Friday afternoon, when all that was mortal of a worthy townsman and good citizen, was laid to rest in the Roman Catholic Cemetery. The sympathy of the community goes out to the family in their sad bereavement. R.I.P.—COM.

Mr. Grace, June 3rd, 1922.

THE ART OF CHEWING.

Your whole system depends for its health and strength on the stomach. The stomach, in turn, depends on the teeth. The very foundation of health is therefore laid at the first step in food conversion—the act of chewing. Food improperly chewed enters the stomach in a wrong condition, and it brings about a wrong fermentation which causes first, indigestion, then kindred ailments. The proper chewing of the food will prevent these things. Chew your food plentifully.

NOTICE.

I wish to inform the public that I have opened a Blacksmith Business at George St. East, behind City Hall, where I will be prepared to do all iron work. Prices right.
