The Mystery of Rutledge Hall OR "The Cloud With a Silver Lining"

CHAPTER VII.

"Stephen, where did you see papa?" The question was hurriedly, almost abruptly asked; Stephen turned from the window. "A servant brought the note to Lambewald with a message to me asking me to bring it to you." "Whose servant?" "I really am not sure—perhaps one of Rutledge's people. I understand that Dr. Arnold was in the neighborhood." Sidney said nothing; but her face was grave and puzzled as she looked down at the note. She would have liked greatly to disobey; but Dr. Arnold, indulgent as he was, was strict in requiring obedience. "I suppose I must go," she said, nearly after a little pause. "I think it would be prudent, but not until you have had some breakfast. And I think, if you will give it to me, I will have a cup of coffee."

"Yes, sir; it will be five minutes late, though, this morning," was the answer. "Shocking thing this—"

CHAPTER VIII.

Lindhurst was a pretty little village about fifty miles from Ashford, consisting of one long straggling street, with a quaint old church midway up the incline, and the rectory nestling close to it, a two-storied gray-stone gabled building, with a veranda and a quaint pointed porch with an old stone seat on either side.

Advertisement for a safe investment. Text: 'SAFE INVESTMENT. I have some bonds of Uncle Sam's, they've long been in my keeping, and I'm as happy as twin clams, while other sports are weeping; they've bought up shares in coffee dams, and wells where oil was seeping. They used to say to me, "By Jones, you're wasting splendid chances; oh, come with us and gather bones where Midas sings and dances; buy shares in Western Paving Stones before the price advances. Buy shares in Ajax Post-hoel Mills, in Johnson's Patent Ditcher; some money in illicit stills would doubtless make you richer, oh, come where trees grow dollar bills, and put them in a pitcher." Scott, I cried, "and, eke, great Scott, I'm surely in no hurry to trade bonds that naught can wreck, panic, drought or flurry; while Sam remains on deck, I will need to worry. I sit in comfort, my pup, a pleasant picture make I drink cool bitterns from my cup, have no inward aching; while Sam is right side up I have none for quaking. I'd be a lost, storm-tossed waif among the pleasure bosses; oh, friends, it's pleasant to feel safe, and fear no doubtless to be at ease while others chafe and wonder; while Uncle Sam is sitting, my roll's as safe as the der."

These Technical Terms

AN EASY EXPLANATION. What's all this chitter chatter about sulphate, sulphite, groundwood, pulpwood, wood pulp and newsprint; what's it all mean, and what's it all about? says the investor who hasn't the time to read a technical treatise on paper-making.

comes out it is mixed with water and it is then referred to as groundwood pulp, or more frequently groundwood. There is one other way of making pulp. This is the chemical method. The logs are made into chips about three-quarters of an inch long. The chips are placed in a mild acid, and are then put into an oven which has steam in it under pressure. The wood fibre is broken up by chemical means instead of by mechanical means. So that you have only the two classes of pulp—the mechanical pulp or groundwood, and the chemical pulp. There are two kinds of chemical pulp, though. One is known as sulphite and the other as sulphate, depending on the kind of agent which is used to dissolve everything other than the pure wood fibre.

automobiles whose drivers also sound horns without diminishing the speed of their machines. The Prefect of Police and his committee of expert observers have about reached the decision to forbid honking altogether, with the object of obliging chauffeurs to be more cautious. Pedestrians crossing the narrow streets in some parts of Paris often are suddenly frightened by the blast of an automobile horn.

Useful Hints

If linoleum is painted over with a thin coat of varnish it lasts longer, and is more easily kept clean. To revive the sheen of silk stockings add a few drops of methylated spirits to the rinsing water; press with a hot iron. Before putting a pair on for the first time rub the toes and heels with paraffin wax. For cleansing steel and brass nothing is better than ashes and turpentine. Sift the ashes through a sieve, and keep in a tin; when using, wet a rag with turpentine, and apply, rubbing well. Polish with a clean, soft cloth.

Forty-Six Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram

S. S. Newfoundland in Port

S.S. Newfoundland, Capt. Fournier, arrived from Liverpool at 3 p.m. yesterday, having on board 123 passengers, of whom sixty are en route to Halifax and Boston. The ship left Liverpool at 6.30 p.m. Saturday last and met with fine weather except for the first two days, when there was a very heavy swell. On Thursday night, through the efforts of Mr. J. W. Dewling, a concert was held and a collection taken up in aid of the Permanent Marine Disaster Fund. Hon. R. K. Bishop was Chairman. The programme was as follows:—
Pianoforte Overture—W. Cartledge.
Song—W. Rowlands.
Recitation—P. K. MacLeod.
Community Singing.
Song—Mrs. W. Kenner.
Song—Mrs. L. C. Mews.
INTERVAL
Pianoforte Overture—W. Cartledge.
Song—M. Elliot.
Song—W. Rowlands.
Pianoforte Solo—E. Ewin.
Song—H. E. Hubbard.

PHIL SCOTT WINS AGAIN—SECOND VICTORY THIS WEEK

Another Fight To-Morrow Night Aug. 28th.

Phil Scott, the London ex-freeman, who aspires to heavyweight boxing championship honors and who is engaged in three fights this week, won his second contest at the Ring, London, last night, when he beat Tom Berry, the cruiserweight champion, on points.

On Monday, in his first fight, Scott knocked out Jack Stanley, of Deptford, in the first round.

To-morrow night in his third fight, Scott meets Gipsy Daniels, the Welsh heavyweight.

In last night's fight Scott was not so impressive as in Monday's fight, though he started as if he was going to sweep Berry off his feet.

Berry had a troublesome time, and it was only his ring generalship that pulled him through.

The ex-freeman had a good chance of putting an end to the affair in the ninth round, when he had Berry reeling round the ring from the effect of right-hand punches to the chin. Scott, however, hesitated at the critical moment and Berry was able to recover.

Scott made many efforts to bring Berry down. The latter, however, is one of the best clever big men we have and even when hard pressed he managed to conceal his feelings from the ex-freeman.

It was a very creditable showing on the part of Berry, who, after his stormy passage in the first three minutes, showed extremely good defensive boxing.

HOLY CROSS THE VICTORS

Last night's football game between Holy Cross and C.Y.M.C. of the Junior League was poorly attended, and was too one-sided to be of interest. The evening was all that could be desired for football. Holy Cross winning the toss scored five goals in the first half. Dinn, Murphy and Neville, being responsible for the scoring. The only goal scored in the second half was by Pearcey, for C. Y. M. C. The game

"THE POWER WITHIN"

If You Should Break Your Arm

there is a "power within" the body that mends the broken bone.
If you lacerate the flesh, there is a "power within" that heals the wound.
What is true of a broken bone or of a flesh wound, is also true of burns, scalds and bruises.
Nature teaches that this "power within" is the only power on earth that heals, cures or mends, and that what that power cannot or will not heal, cure or mend, is beyond the power of anything on earth.
Nature teaches that the power within moves the body, regulates the heat of the body, converts common food into living flesh and blood, develops the body from a single cell to an adult organism and reproduces the species.
It teaches that this power performs these physical functions by means of impulses sent over the nerves, and that when a nerve is impaired the impulses are interfered with and the result is called disease.
To cure disease the tissue interfering with the nerve must be adjusted to normal.
This is what MacPherson does in his practice.
Information for any person wishing to take up the study of Chiropractic.

DEFINITION
of Chiropractic consists of the adjustment, with the hands, of the movable segments of the spinal column to normal position for the purpose of releasing the imprisoned impulse.

Successful Band Concert

Upwards of 800 people attended the Promenade Band Concert in the Prince's Rink last night, under the direction of the C.L.B. and C.C.C. Bands. Both bands rendered special music for the occasion. The dance music was particularly good, and nearly every number played was responded to with an encore. Excellent order prevailed throughout, and all those present spent a real enjoyable evening. A third concert will take place on Monday night next.

Museum of Insects.
The most amazing zoo in the world—a 40-acre menagerie of insect life—has just been opened near Tuxedo, New York. It is the idea of Dr. Frank E. Lutz, Curator of Entomology at the American Museum of Natural History, who made a collection of 836 species of insects that were caught in his back-yard.

John Lyons in 30 Mile Swim Monday

MONTREAL—John Lyons, Independent, is to take part in the 30 mile swim to de Repentigny Monday afternoon. He swam against Prof. Lessard long ago. He held one Canadian championship for five years and is now 33 years of age. He has won four first prizes and numerous seconds in long distance swims. In 1914 Mr. Lyons swam from Oregon City to Portland, Oregon, covering the distance of 20 miles in 6 1/2 hours. Armand Vincent says that his protege, Omer Perreault, of English channel fame, a French-Canadian, and a real product of Montreal, is anxious to plug for the 30-mile marathon swim on Labor Day. Under the strict tuition of Vincent, who still is his manager, Perreault is trained to a half for his effort, and just seems to play with the water. Perreault hopes to cover the distance in six hours. He completed training to-day and will rest up till he takes the water on Monday, altogether in 17 days' training he has swam about 120 miles, and has done most of this swimming in the St. Lawrence river.

Bobby Jones Won U.S. Title Again

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 6.—Robert T. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., for the second year in succession in the amateur golf king of the United States. He retained his honors, won in 1924, at Merion, by defeating yesterday his 19 year old pupil and clubmate, Walter Watts Gunn, by 8 to 7.

Italian Driver Won Italian Auto Race

MONSEA, Italy, Sept. 6.—The Italian driver Brillipieri, to-day won the Italian Grand Prix automobile race, finishing the course of 800 kilometres in the time of 5 hours 14 minutes and 33 seconds. The most successful United States entry, Tommy Milton, finished fourth in 5 hours 46 minutes and 40 seconds. The Italian driver Campari, who had been a favorite to win the race, was second in 5 hours 33 minutes and 30 seconds; the Italian Costantini, third in 5 hours 44 minutes and 40 seconds, and the Italo-American De Paolo, fifth in 5 hours 48 minutes and 10 seconds.

French Tennis Stars Beat Australians

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 6.—The tri-color of France waved triumphant over the Union Jack of Australia in the third match of the Davis Cup tennis finals at the West Side Tennis Club yesterday, when Rene Lacoste and Jean Brotra conquered the Antipodean combination of Gerald Patterson and John B. Hawkes, in a thrilling five-set match, 6-4, 3-6, 1-6, 10-8, French steadiness scored over Australian brilliancy in the match. At times the Australians rose to heights which made them invincible against their opponents but at other times their extreme anxiety to bowl over the opposition by sheer power of play destroyed their accuracy and played up points for the plugging Frenchmen.

Captain Tells of Engagement Off Falklands

FREIGHTER HELD UP GERMAN FOUR DAYS UNTIL BRITISH ARRIVED

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 4.—Echoes of German activity in the Pacific Coast in the early days of the world war were heard yesterday at the inquiry being held here by a Royal Commission investigating the claims of Victoria residents for compensation for losses sustained during the war.

Capt. J. C. Eagles, veteran Nova Scotia skipper who now resides in Oakland, Calif., was a witness in a case in which the compensation is claimed for the loss of the freighter Drummuir, which was sunk by a detachment of cruisers in September, 1914 off the west coast of South America while bound for Swansea, Eng., to San Francisco with a cargo of coal.

Captain Eagles said that the German vessels detained the Drummuir of which he was master, for four days before they took her crew off and scuttled the freighter. It was only this, said Captain Eagles, which prevented the Germans from capturing the Falkland Islands and fortifying themselves thereon. As it was the four days was sufficient time for British vessels to come to the defence of the Falklands and the German cruisers were subsequently destroyed. The commissioners decided to take up the question of jurisdiction of the commission in the case and will hear further argument before giving a decision.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC.
 Statement of Net Earnings for July Disappointing.
 Rise in Expenses Has Been a Disquieting Feature of Statements for Several Months—Traffic Less—Dividend Increase Unlikely.
 With an insignificant gain in gross revenues for July after a June increase of 10%, and a shrinkage of nearly $1,000,000 in net operating income after some little upturn in that item in June and a loss of less than half as much in May, Southern Pacific's latest statement may fairly be called disappointing.
 The gain in gross of $206,300 to $24,625,900 was less than 1%. Freight earnings were up nearly 2% while passenger earnings almost stationary. Considering that the seven months show a decline in passenger receipts of $2,341,000, the slight gain in June and the slight loss in July apparently indicates that long distance travel is at last offsetting the desertion of local passengers to buses. But the July revenues in general little more than held their own with the previous July and were substantially below those of June of this year. For the seven months the decrease of $2,433,042 or 1.5% in gross was almost entirely in passenger revenues. A Dividend Increase Unlikely.

 There is little, however, that is unexpected to the management in the showing thus far. A reduced Texas cotton crop has naturally affected the buying of that region and the early fruit crop of the Imperial Valley was productive of less freight than last year, even though the farmers got a better price for it. Citrus fruit shipments have also been lighter than last year. The late fruits of California will show up in better volume and the better position of the Texas livestock industry will undoubtedly be reflected in railroad revenues later in the year. Southern Pacific is likely to finish the year in considerably better shape than results thus far would seem to indicate, although at the moment there is little if anything to support current rumors that the present $6 dividend rate will be raised at the November meeting of the board.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.
The Newfoundland Dog
 Rules and regulations in connection with the Live Stock Pedigree Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature, have just been issued. In giving the conditions on which pedigrees may be entered the Newfoundland dog, native born, is described as follows: The animal should impress the observer with its appearance as being intelligent, strong and active. Form is massive but free from clumsiness. Head broad and massive, slightly arched, slight fall from occiput. Muzzle inclined to bluntness, not positively square, clean cut with short hair. Eyes rather wide apart, dark brown, moderate size, rather deeply set and impressive. Ears well set back square with skull, rather small with short hair without fringe. Coat jet black or black and white colour; thick, flat, wavy coarse texture capable of resisting water. When brushed the wrong way will fall back naturally into its place. Body should have well sprung rib and broad back. Strong neck well set on the shoulders. Loins should be muscular and show no suggestion of weakness. Forelegs straight and well muscled, elbows in, well let down and feathered all down. Hindquarters and legs very strong. Legs should have freedom of action and some feather. Feet large, well shaped; toes webbed, should not be turned out or played. Chest deep and broad and well covered with hair. Bone massive but not to the extent of giving the animal a clumsy appearance. Tail of moderate length reaching well down a little below the hocks of fair thickness and well covered with long hair. Should hang downward with a slight curve at the end. Weight averages 100 lbs. Average height at shoulders 26 inches for a dog and 24 for a bitch.

MacDonald, a Conservative, from the Isle of Wight, has withdrawn as a delegate to the Inter-Parliamentary Union Conference at Ottawa and Washington, as a protest against the inclusion in the Delegation of S. Saklatvala, Communist. Captain MacDonald was born in Nova Scotia and is descended from Sir John MacDonald, the first Premier of Canada.

Newest Umbrella Folds Into Thin Inch Roll
 When the shower is over, you roll up the umbrella and put it in your pocket. The roll is only 10 inches long and 2 1/2 inches in diameter.
 Frank J. Puzel, of Pueblo, Colo., the inventor of this ingenious device, is a true friend of the man who hates to carry an umbrella. "The ribs of the umbrella are hinged in the middle so that the outer half of the top folds back, while the inner half folds in like the ordinary umbrella. The handle telescopes.
 Opening and closing the umbrella is done by screwing or unscrewing the handle a few turns.

Life in Herschell Island
 Edmonton, Alta, Sept. (By Canadian Press).—"For over five months she had seen no darkness." So a reporter on the local press wrote of Mrs. M. Lyman, who has spent the last two years at Aklavik and Herschell Island. Mrs. Lyman signed up in 1922 to go north in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company. She was on board the s.s. Arctic Distributor when Judge Dubuc and party went up for the purpose of holding court at Aklavik. Mrs. Lyman received a radio message from Edmonton which had been sent Dec. 23, 1924, on April 7, 1925. It had been picked up at Fort Good Hope by wireless and from there was relayed on by dog team. She received her Christmas presents by mail, July 4.

 Strange as it may seem, ice is in great demand at Herschell Island. This of course is necessitated by the fact the sea water is unfit for either drinking or cooking purposes. In summer it is necessary to take a schooner and go out and chip pieces of the icebergs floating in the Arctic Ocean, and then melt it down for domestic use.
 The Eskimos are very imitative and in customs, manners and dress are rapidly becoming more and more like the people to the south of them. During the time she was at Herschell Island, Mrs. Lyman made some 20 dresses for Eskimo women, all of the finest silk available. She never once saw a father whip his child, but the children are well brought up and obedient.

The Telegram is glad to have located the lost property, but regrets that under the circumstances it is unable to restore it to the owner.

Napoleonic Wars
 BUILT ON BIG CANADIAN PAPER COMPANY.
 The origin of the great business of Price Brothers & Company dates back to the Napoleonic War. At that time, Britain was urgently in need of material and sent a representative to this country to purchase wooden masts for the ships which the Admiralty required. The representative was William Price, then a young man of twenty-one. He came from Elstree, Hertfordshire.
 When young Price had accomplished his job for the Admiralty, he went into the lumbering business in 1817. From that has developed the great company of to-day with many thousands of miles of timber limits and thousands of employees.
 The original Price of Price Brothers had fourteen children. Three of these, William, David and John, he took into the business as partners. Another son, Henry, was something of a rover and spent part of his time in South America. This is the reason why Sir William Price, who was a son of Henry, was born in Chile.

Will Einstein Theory Fall?
 The Einstein theory of relativity soon may fall, and we may have to look for another explanation regarding the mysterious movements of the universe. Professor Einstein himself has just admitted it. It results obtained recently by Prof. Dayton C. Miller at Mount Wilson Observatory are confirmed, he says, it means that the relativity theory does not hold.
 For Professor Miller's results indicate the earth's motion through the ether. According to the relativity theory, it should never be possible for any one on earth to detect this motion. If all things in the whole universe—planets, stars, and other—are moving at the same rate and in the same direction, the results of experiments on earth would be exactly the same as if all were standing still.
 But if the earth and other bodies were moving through stationary ether, or at different rates, then there should be a drifting of the ether in their paths that could be observed from earth.
 Professor Miller first made his experiments from an underground chamber, just as Professor Michelson and Professor Gale of the University of Chicago have been doing in tests of the Einstein theory. Like them, he could detect no motion—evidence substantiating the Einstein theory.
 Their results, however, possibly might be explained by "ether drag." That is, in some way heavy bodies, such as the earth, drag along a certain amount of ether in their motion, leaving the more distant ether unaffected.
 To test this, Professor Miller repeated his experiment at Mount Wilson, which is about a mile high. And here he obtained the surprising results that may contradict the relativity theory. He found a marked effect that seemed to vary with altitude.

THE ROYAL NEWFOUNDLAND HOTEL

Upon the commanding and historic site known as Fort William are rapidly rising the walls of a building which will be known as the Royal Newfoundland Hotel. The scene which this long neglected spot presents to-day is one of animation and hustle. Temporary offices and sheds have sprung up as it were in the night; a rock crusher is grinding out incessantly its unmusical refrain; a giant cement mixer disgorges its contents into wheelbarrows which come and go in endless procession; the screech of a circular saw can be heard above the other noises as it rips its way through the wood, and everywhere are workmen hurrying backwards and forwards, with a something in their demeanour which seems to indicate that they too are aware that their work means far more than the mere piling up of bricks and mortar. It is the same spirit that is discernible in the dock-yard and along the highways. Newfoundlanders all, they realize that they are engaged in a movement which means progress and development, and are putting their heart and soul into the work.

An examination of the plans enables one to visualize the building as it will actually appear when completed, and to make a thorough inspection of the interior. Impressed as an observer must be with the strength and durability of the foundation that has been laid, he has even greater cause for astonishment in a study of the elaborate design of the internal arrangements. To enter into a minute description of the lay-out of the building, the numerous appointments for the comfort and convenience of the guests, or the many appliances which are part and parcel of a modern hotel is a task that is beyond us, and with the information which we give it must be left to the reader's imagination to supply the details.

Seven stories high, the hotel is being constructed of reinforced concrete and brick, trimmed with stone, and, as may be seen by the illustration which appears elsewhere in this issue, the greatest skill has been exercised by the architect in considering the outline and proportion, so that its massive and dignified appearance is relieved and softened by the grace and beauty of the decorative work.

Among the 150 rooms of the hotel provision has been made for suites, which will not only meet the requirements of visitors who desire such accommodation, but will be in great demand locally as well. In fact, we are informed applications have already been received for them from persons who desire to be relieved of the cares and responsibility of keeping house.

To such a city as St. John's, where social entertainments and reunions of a public or private nature are so much in evidence, and where it has been so difficult to find suitable accommodation for such functions, the Banquet Hall, the Assembly Hall and the Grill Room will be decided acquisitions and are certain to be in constant demand. Each of the former is sufficiently large to meet all requirements, and an additional attractive feature in connection with them is the Mezzanine floor from which they can be overlooked.

The arrangements provide for all classes of guests, whether they are on business or pleasure bent, or whether they desire a permanent residence, and as an array of shops will occupy the front part of the building on the ground floor, the purchase of the hundred and one articles incidental to life in a hotel will be possible without leaving the premises.

We have by no means exhausted the information gained from an inspection of the diagrams and from an interesting conversation with the management, whose confidence in their enterprise only becomes all the greater as their operations develop, but we have, we trust, given a sufficient outline of these plans and proposals to indicate to our readers that "The Royal" will in every way overcome what has always been the greatest drawback to the city, and that both in the facility which it provides and in its structural design it will be fully in keeping with the importance and natural beauty of the capital.

Anyone who is dubious of the drawing power of Newfoundland as a tourist centre must be utterly devoid of any artistic sense or of sporting inclination. Those who desire to have their doubts dispelled we would urge to travel at first no further than the top of Signal Hill, and if the beauty of the undulating country, extending as far as the eye can see in the one direction, with its glistening lakes, cultivated lands and forest-clad slopes—reveals nothing in the nature of scenic attraction, then let them turn their glance to the right or left; and if here, too, the suggested grandeur of those hills with the restless ocean surging forever at their base makes no appeal, it only remains for them to pray to their Maker for the precious gift of sight.

Within St. John's itself, with its stately churches and other beautiful buildings; with the many and varied industries, the walks, the facilities for boating, the athletic contests, and our rich historical associations, there are attractions which, even if we treat them as matter of fact, are of sufficient interest to occupy the attention of the visitor for days. But we must know what to look for and how best to find the places of interest, and it is for such purposes that a Tourist Information Bureau has been organized.

For the visitor desirous of an extended tour by road or an opportunity to indulge in fishing and shooting, his main difficulty will be which of the many attractive routes to select. Radiating from the city are magnificent highways that lead through country unsurpassed anywhere for the beauty, grandeur and the never-ending variety of its scenery, and these roads are bordered throughout their length by lakes and rivers which assure the angler of the best of sport. Here too are the barrens abounding in the choicest of our game birds and within convenient reach of these resorts is to be had excellent accommodation. Those who prefer life in the open under canvas are at liberty to pitch their tent where they choose, with the assurance that it is not attended by any of the dangers met elsewhere in the form of malaria carrying mosquitoes or a contaminated water supply, and they have the further advantage of unrivalled climatic conditions.

With such assets as these, can anyone who is unprejudiced by other considerations doubt for a moment that Newfoundland affords exceptional opportunities for the successful development of the tourist traffic, which other countries are making every effort to secure? It will not come of its own accord but requires encouraging like any other revenue producing industry, and efficient management. Above all its successful development depends upon the fullest support and loyal co-operation of the public. The Royal Hotel is an essential factor in the successful carrying out of the whole enterprise, and it is up to us as citizens, who are proud of our country and anxious above all else to see her prosper, to lend a willing hand and give every encouragement to those who have undertaken its erection and management.

To Lecture on China

To-morrow evening, at the Star Theatre, under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, Rev. C. W. McGrath, of China Missionary Seminary, Scarborough, will deliver a lecture on "China's Civilization and Ours." His Grace the Archbishop and party will occupy a box and prominent members of the Clergy will attend.

At first it would seem that there is in Chinese civilization little to compare with our own but it has stood the test of 5000 years while Western civilization at the present day seems inadequate to the task of preserving peace and harmony and security in the Western world. The world war undoubtedly did a great deal to lower the prestige of the white man in the eyes of the peoples of the East and this realization on the part of the Orientals has been the occasion of an outburst of national resentment against the shameful and long-continued exploitation of China by the Western powers.

Father McGrath's lecture is a timely one and a large attendance is anticipated.

U.S. Trade Commission

FAVORABLY IMPRESSED.
Admiration for the progressive economic policy of Newfoundland and confidence in its commercial and industrial growth were expressed yesterday by Lynn W. Meekins, United States Trade Commissioner to Canada and Newfoundland who is paying his first visit to the Colony this week.

He said that present trade conditions in Newfoundland compare most favorably with those in other parts of North America, and that business men in the United States are manifesting an increasing interest in this country.

The purpose of his visit is to obtain additional information about the commerce and industries of Newfoundland, and to make American exporters and importers better acquainted with trade possibilities and business methods here. He will convey to American manufacturers the suggestions of importers in St. John's for improvement in shipping details.

It is improbable that he will be able to visit any interior or West Coast points, owing to lack of available time. This is the first opportunity that he has had to visit Newfoundland since his appointment in July, 1924.

Mr. Meekins is making his headquarters at the American Consulate in St. John's. He will leave by Sunday's express for Port aux Basques and Sydney.

Station 8W.M.C. to Continue Broadcasting

To-morrow evening's service at Wesley Church will be broadcast. Station 8W.M.C. has been silent during the summer months but from now on will broadcast regularly. Operator Walter Vey has been engaged overhauling the machine after its long lay-off and with the addition of two of the latest high power tubes besides a new set of batteries supplied to the speech amplifier, the reception from this station promises to excel anything yet heard. Special music has been prepared by the choir for the service to-morrow night.

Memorial Window

TO MR. AND MRS. WM. FREW.
At St. Andrew's to-morrow morning a Memorial Window to the late Mr. and Mrs. William Frew will be unveiled by the Rev. R. J. Power, M.A., the Minister of the Church. It is a very beautiful memorial, the work of Mr. J. Ballantyne, the famous artist of Edinburgh, the subject being the Crucifixion.

An Unfounded Rumor

Shortly after the arrival of the "Newfoundland" yesterday a report was started that there was a case of the dread sleeping sickness on board. The rumor spread like wild fire, and the further it went the larger grew the number of cases on board. Enquiries made at the Furness Withy Co. office and from the port medical officer, Dr. Arch Tait, elicited the fact that the report was absolutely untrue. The rumor arose from the fact that among the passengers was one who had suffered from this illness about three years ago whilst in India, but who made a complete recovery. The lady was out here on a visit last year, and after returning to England was engaged in teaching children. There was no possible danger of any infection, as the health authorities in Liverpool would not have permitted her to travel if there were.

TRAIN NOTES.—The express with Portia passengers is not due till 4.30 p.m. The express for foreign connections goes out to-morrow at 1 p.m. The Caribbean train arrived at 12.25 p.m.

CHILD WELFARE

HEALTHY BABIES.

"An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure."

WEANING.

For eight to ten months baby has all his nourishment from a liquid diet.

After this time he still wants a good deal of liquid (¾ of our body-weight is water) but his body wants its nourishment from a varied and dry diet. Weaning time is often a problem to mothers because they are inclined to be afraid to give baby "things to chew," also to give him variety. We are too fond of bread and milk, or biscuit and milk twice a day. Why not tin bread and butter to eat and a cup of milk to drink. Then fingers of thin bread and butter can be dipped into a soft-boiled egg.

If he can have bread, which is starchy, he can have potato (don't peel the potato, but place in the oven whole and bake for ½ an hour or more, then split open and the flavor of the potato is twice as nice.

Some soup made from bones, custard made with milk and one egg, either boiled or baked, cocoa made with milk, orange or lemon squeezed into water with sugar makes a pleasant drink.

These are just a few things baby may have if only we give a little thought to his food. If he is teething late why wait for 2 teeth to appear. His gums are hard, as all the teeth are under the surface, and the gums want use to help these teeth through.

FOOD FOR TODDLERS.

I can walk and I can play. Give me three good meals a day. No more slops for I can chew. My new teeth want work to do. And between meals not a bite To destroy my appetite.

Personal

Mrs. J. Darche (nee Hannah Scriver), who has been on a visit to her mother and sister, 36 Colonial St., for the past seven weeks, is leaving for her home, Lowell, Mass., by S.S. Newfoundland.

Mr. P. K. McLeod, Manager of the Dry Goods Dept., of the Royal Stores, Ltd., who has been in England purchasing the new fall and winter merchandise, was a passenger by the Newfoundland, which arrived in port yesterday.

Miss J. Thomson, Buyer of women's and children's wear, for the Royal Stores, Ltd., arrived by the Newfoundland from England, where she has been purchasing the new fall and winter goods for the Showroom Departments.

Mr. J. Miller, of the Royal Stores buying staff, arrived by the Sackham from New York via Halifax, where he has been purchasing new fall goods for his firm.

Miss M. J. Cunningham, formerly of Steer's Ltd., leaves by S.S. Rosalind for Montreal to be married. Congratulations!

Mrs. Allan English arrived by the Rosalind on Thursday after having spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. A. N. Scott, of Montreal.

Rev. James Davies the Rector of Belleoram, with his wife and family arrived by the Newfoundland after having spent a holiday in England.

Professor A. C. Hunter, M.A. of Oxford University, Professor Geo. O'Sullivan, M.Sc. of Dublin University arrived by the S. S. Newfoundland to join the staff of the Nfld. Memorial College.

Nurse Susie Snigrore, who has been here from the United States on a visit to relatives and friends, leaves by S.S. Munesta to-morrow for Boston, where she will shortly be married to Carl A. Johnson of that city. A number of her friends entertained her last night at the home of her sister, when she received the congratulations and good wishes of all present.

Mr. D. Johnson, Manager Sun Life of Canada, left to-day by Rosalind for St. Andrew's by the Sea, N.B., where the MacAulay Club Outing is being held from Sept. 16 to 19th. Mr. Mortimer Pike of Caribbean accompanied him from here.

PEPPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

Sept. 10th.—Little news this day as indeed, there has been this long time, and seems how we have settled to the "even tenour of our way," nor can aught disturb us from it. Yet since things are not always as they seem, perhaps it may happen that we are to have some interesting news ere the evening is out. My wife completely wrapped up in style books and has no ming for aught else, so I do have the worst possible meals all this day, yet do find it wiser to keep my mouth shut, since I have learned how "his better" to suffer, in silence than to preach reason to a woman when her mind is bent towards clothes.

Sept. 11th.—This day fair, albeit a little inclined to coldness. I about my business all this morning, yet do find a little time for discourse with Povey, who I do find is troubled by his wife in the same way as I have been of late, albeit it costs him more, which he may well afford. The strangest rumour this day concerning divers cases of sleeping sickness on the ship "Newfoundland" but newly arrived from England, but the report absolutely false, and is the wickedest thing that such harmful tales should be repeated. Indeed, this the worst place in the world for the spreading of malicious rumours, nor does it seem that aught may be done to stop this practice. Greatly troubled this night by a great rheum of my head, so home and to bed, with a hot toddy, which my wife do make me with her own hands, and am thankful that they did shake when she poured in the rum.

W. S. Harkins' Players Opening Monday.

How fortunate St. John's is in having the W. S. Harkins' players in the legitimate drama at the Casino Theatre starting Monday night in "The Acquittal." Let theatre patrons consider certain facts. In 39 out of the 48 theatres in the United States "The Movie" "Tab" cheap vaudeville and repertoire companies have totally replaced the legitimate drama. At best only five or six of the other states have permanent legitimate drama, and the rest only enjoy "Humpty Dumpty" shows by scratch repertoire companies. This is the point which shows how St. John's is favored in having the Harkins Players. Another point is that the acting director is Joseph Selman. Mr. Selman is an adroit and successful actor, and has had a long and varied experience in directing. The members of the Harkins Players are all ladies and gentlemen of recognised dramatic ability, and a treat is in store for the theatre patrons of St. John in witnessing their performances. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday Matinees. Reserved seats now on sale at F. V. Cheesman's, Water St.

FROM OUR FILES of Thirty Years Ago.

The first session of the Sunday School Convention will open in the Presbyterian Hall on Monday, at 2 o'clock when an address will be delivered by Charles P. Ayre, Esq., on the object and aim of the Convention. A grand service is arranged for Monday night.

We are authoritatively informed that the Rev. N. McNeil, D.D., formerly Rector of St. Francis Xavier College, Antigonish, has been appointed Bishop of the West Coast.

The dedication services, in connection with the opening of the new Congregational Church, to-morrow, promise to be an event of exceptional interest. No pains have been spared to make the musical part of the services a thorough success, special anthems having been prepared for each part of the day. The new organ will, both morning and evening, be under the skillful manipulation of Mr. Herbert Striling, A.L.C.M. The service at 3 o'clock is for the children, and will also prove an attraction for adult friends. The offertories will be in aid of the Rebuilding Fund, and it is confidently expected that the debt will be substantially reduced by the proceeds of the day's collections. Next Sunday the 22nd, the pulpit will be occupied by the Revs. W. Graham, and A. D. Morton, M.A., morning and evening, respectively.

Magistrate's Court

A motorist convicted of a breach of Section 6, Sub-section B, of the Highway Traffic Act, was fined $10.00 or in default 30 days imprisonment. The evidence showed that the defendant used a number plate on his car which had been issued by the Highroads Commission for another car owner. A young man given in charge by his mother for being drunk and disorderly in her home was ordered by the Judge to collect his belongings and leave the parental home.

A man taken in for safekeeping was discharged. The accused stated he could get work, but was unable to find a boarding house. Before his Honour told him to go, he was advised to introduce himself to the strong man in the city and take lessons.

An Alleged Kidnapping Case

Arising out of an alleged kidnapping of two children from Bannerman Park last Wednesday, a fifty-year-old farmer appeared before Judge Morris this morning on three charges, viz: assault on a 10-year-old girl; (2), loose and disorderly conduct on the public streets; (3) driving a horse and wagon on the highway whilst under the influence of liquor. The hearing was in camera. The accused was not represented and pleaded he had no recollection of the affair. Two little girls, Olive Small and Olive French and Mr. E. Smith were called as witnesses. The accused was convicted on all three counts and fines aggregating fifteen dollars were imposed. The Judge in summing up said that there was no evidence that offences were made to the children, but by having detained one of them in his wagon an assault had been committed. Evidence showing that the accused was intoxicated was given by Mr. Smith.

How My Creed Affects You:

I AM A GRADUATE OF THE CANADIAN CHIROPRACTIC COLLEGE, TORONTO, 1921.

I have been taught that it is my solemn duty to help all mankind to the joy that goes with a robust constitution.

Chiropactic is my Specialty, and I have been trained to apply its famous principles directly to humanity in order to help Nature restore my patients to perfect Health and Happiness.

There is no wealth great enough to compensate them for a life filled with poor health and suffering. You will get neither drugs, medicines nor surgery from me. "My only tools" are my sensitive hands.

I have yet to find a perfect spine in an adult human, and I believe that certain abnormalities in your spine are, or will be, the direct cause of your malady.

Whatever may be the reason for your sickness, and however long it may have endured, Chiropactic can just as easily be your salvation as it has been to millions of others.

It does not require your implicit faith in order for it to benefit you. The fact that the segments of your spine are out of alignment is no fault of your own—but I can help restore them to normal position.

You need not be sick, now that I can show you the scientific road to a natural recovery, and this I am sure of: "I can help you."

Sank in the Channel

DESPERATE FLIGHT OF R. A. F. MEN.

Thrilling Rescue by a Pleasure Boat. Adventure is of course the daily portion of the men of the Royal Air Force, but few members would care to have the experience which two of their colleagues had during the week in the Channel. A bombing plane, in charge of Pilot Sergeant Ward and Mechanic G. Carruthers, left East Church at 7.45 a.m. on a reconnaissance expedition, and when they were flying over the Channel at an altitude of 14,000 feet engine trouble developed, with the result that they were forced to come down. The plight of the men was observed from shore, and the greatest excitement prevailed. The Deal motor-launch Golden Spray, manned by Frederick Roberts and Thomas Jarman, who happened to be aloft on a pleasure cruise with London visitors, saw the machine actually strike the water, sending up high volumes of spray. The men made all possible speed in the direction of the machine. They were just in time to effect one of the most timely rescues made in this part of the Channel for many years. As they neared the floating plane they could just distinguish the forms of two men who were clinging to the top plane of the nearly submerged wreckage.

With difficulty, and aided both by men and women in the motor-launch, they extricated the two airmen. There was a high wind and a very choppy sea at the time, and great waves were dashing.

Over the Exhausted Airmen.

Scenes of the wildest excitement prevailed on Deal beach when the motor-launch was seen approaching the shore with the rescued airmen on board. Both had to be assisted up the beach, as they were suffering from extreme cold and injuries to leg and arm. Describing his descent, Sgt. Ward stated that the machine nose-dived and "struck the water with a report like a gun," and threw both of the men clear. "The wind was very high and the sea rough, but fortunately we were out for the floating machine, but my right leg, which felt as if it were broken, impeded my progress. Carruthers called out that he had an injured hand. We reached the aeroplane and climbed up the struts to get on the top wing, but the machine rolled over with its nose and propeller deep in the sea, and the tail about six feet out of the water. We hung on as best we could, but we could feel the machine sinking gradually. Huge waves struck her, and nearly flung us off, and we were getting numb, for the sea was very cold. In the distance we could see a motor-boat racing towards us. By this time the machine was almost submerged, only about three feet of the tail being above water."

His interest in Newfoundland is as keen as ever, and he hopes to pay another visit next year. Messrs. Fisher Urwin have just issued a new edition of his latest book, "Hunting Memories of Many Lands," in which there are three chapters on caribou hunting and salmon fishing in Newfoundland. The book bears the dedication "To my friends, who have hunted and fished with me, these, in kindest remembrance, Thomas H. Grattan Esmonde."

"Recompense" Sequel to Simon Called Peter

Opens Engagement at The Nickel Theatre Monday.

A long-waited event has come to pass. The justly, and widely, celebrated "best-seller," "Recompense," from the pen of Robert Keable, has been transported onto the screen by Warner Bros., and will be seen at the Nickel Theatre, beginning Monday.

Mr. Keable's story of Peter and Julie is more than the usual tale of love. It is rather the daring truth about a man who is true to himself.

With Marie Prevost and Monte Blue cast as Peter and Julie, there is little doubt that the Warner version of "Recompense" will be an unforgettable sight, inasmuch as Miss Prevost and Mr. Blue have more than once demonstrated their almost uncanny genius in playing together. John Patrick, John Roche, Etta Lee, Wm. C. Davidson, Virginia Brown Fairé, Charles Stevens, George Siegman and Katherine Lewis are the supporting members of the Warner cast to enact Mr. Keable's famous novel.

"Recompense" was destined for unusual acclaim in the world of books, and acknowledging its unquestionable popularity, Warner Bros. handed it over to Harry Beaumont, foremost among dramatic directors, to do with as he would. Knowing Mr. Beaumont's work, "Recompense" is one picture that only awaits the final screening for endorsement.

Simple Remedies

A mouth wash of salt and cold water used once a day will harden sensitive gums and prevent soreness and bleeding.

Essence of peppermint, applied with the finger-tips over the seat of pain, often gives relief in headache and neuralgia. Do not put it directly under the eye, or painful smarting will follow.

A medical authority says that the best remedy for sleeplessness is to drink hot water. If one awakes in the night and becomes hopelessly wide awake, the cure is to sip a glass of hot, not warm water. It can be heated over the gas or a spirit lamp in the bedroom.

Sir Thomas Esmonde

Sir Thomas Esmonde, whose arrival at Quebec by the Montreal was recently announced in the foreign dispatches, will be one of the delegates from the Irish Free State to the Interparliamentary Congress at Washington and Ottawa. Sir Thomas, who is a Senator of the Free State, is accompanied by Lady Esmonde, and pending the convening of the Washington Congress they will fish and hunt near Spokane with the Governor of Idaho and his wife. After leaving Ottawa in October they are booked for some moose hunting in New Brunswick before returning to Ireland.

Since the burning by the Republicans of Ballynastragh, his ancestral home in County Wexford, Sir Thomas has been residing in Dublin, in the old house in St. Stephen's Green where his grandfather, Henry Grattan, once lived. The destruction of his country seat, with its valuable library of over 10,000 volumes, that had been over 300 years in the making, was a great blow. The library included Grattan's MSS. and such other, dated from 1600 to the present time, from the Duke of Berwick, Lord Chesterfield, Burke, Fox, Daniel O'Connell, Parnell, Gladstone, Redmond, Cardinal Manning and others. There were also heirlooms dating from the Crusades. No money award could possibly repay for such destruction. Sir Thomas writes that it is very doubtful if Ballynastragh will be rebuilt in our time.

Favourable Trade

The coming in of dried codfish from the outports in schooners this week, marks the beginning of the fall trade. From all the indications it looks as if this will be a busy fall, and that there will be a more than usually large amount of money in circulation. The price of codfish is fairly good and many crews have double the catch of former years in Straits and Labrador fish.

The price of wheat is still going down and at Winnipeg has now about reached the $1.30 mark per bushel for October delivery. It is believed in business circles that wheat will go to $1.25 in the course of the fall, which will bring flour down to about $8.50 per barrel. It is a well known axiom in this country that conditions are good when the quintal of shore fish will buy a barrel of good flour. This is likely to be the case in October and we shall have a vindication of the lines of a local poet long passed away:—

"When flour and fish in prices meet, Trade will boom On Water Street."

Provisions are not excessive in price and dry goods too are reasonably cheap, so that all the circumstances indicate that we shall be able to give the verdict of a very favorable trade at the close of the year.—Trade Review.

British Scientist Says Men Can Live for 150 Years

At the mere cost of 12 cents a head, the span of life may be extended to 150 years, claims Sir Ronald Ross, the British scientist, whose researches have led to cures for malaria and sleeping sickness. His idea is that 12 cents from the pocket of every Englishman spent in scientific research would result in a new medical knowledge that would keep germs and old age away so that many easily could live 150 years. He thinks that the allotted span of three score years and ten should find men in the prime of life. We live curtailed lives, he says, because we are the prey of countless germs.

"Old Moore" Predicts

1926 WILL BE A TOUGH YEAR FOR THE WORLD.

LONDON.—The old world is indeed in for a rough time next year, not the least of which is a grave danger of another European war, and Red revolutions in many countries. Such, at least is the gloomy prediction of "Old Moore's Almanac," which has just been issued for all the world to see and read. In the words of the pessimistic seer, the heavens show that the year 1926 appears destined to test the temper and patience of myriads of human souls.

"Wonderment and amazement will hold you as in a spell when the possibilities of the year 1926 are laid bare," he says, and then agony is piled upon agony, with a lavish hand. "Licence, lawlessness, self-indulgence, rioting, lechery, improvidence, murder, theft and violence will attend the loosening of the unbridled passions of this perverted and sinned generation. The sickle is put into reaping and the world generally will become so decimated during the ensuing four years that nothing short of Divine intervention will save it from self-destruction."

Professor W. Seeley THE MUSCLE-BUILDER.

THE MUSCLE-BUILDER.

Will appear again at the Prince of Wales' rink, on Tuesday night, Sept. 15th, in all new features of strength, one of which will be the holding of TWO MOTOR CARS. The Professor will stand between the two cars; one car on each side will be tied with rope or chain to the apparatus which passes over each arm, just above the elbow. The cars will be pulling in opposite directions in the same form as the horses were in the last performance, August 21st, at the rink. When the drivers of the cars will put their feet on the gas, putting the cars in high or low gear, whichever they wish, the wheels will turn around but still they will not pull the Professor's hands apart.

To see this feat of super-strength should alone be worth the price of your ticket. Besides this, many other astonishing feats of strength will be performed, including four real good Boxing bouts, three three-minute rounds. One of the light-weight bouts will be between Jack Phelan from the city, and John G. Garland, from Bell Island. These boys have been training for some time and they will both be ready for business when the ring sounds. The names of other boys will appear in Monday's papers.

There will be ninety dollars worth of prizes given to the boxers alone. The winner takes 60 per cent. of the prize, and the loser 40 per cent. There will be no delay this time. First bout starts at 8.15. This will be a night of sport from start to finish.

Another Steamer For Farquhar Co.

THE HETHPOOL IS A COMBINED PASSENGER AND FREIGHT BOAT.

A new steamer has been purchased by Farquhar & Company to be added to their line of steamers running from Halifax to Newfoundland ports. A. T. King, of the Boston office, has been in England for some time looking to the purchase of a suitable steamer for the company, and negotiations have just been concluded with the Tyne Tees Steam Shipping Company of Newcastle-on-Tyne for the steamer Hethpool, a combined passenger and freight steamer, which will sail from Newcastle-on-Tyne for Halifax direct.

The Hethpool is a steamer of 1200 tons deadweight, built of steel by Palmer's at Jarrow. This steamer has a gross tonnage of 1,360, net tonnage, 650; length overall, 269 feet; 2,500 indicated horsepower; speed of 14 knots; two boilers and donkey boiler; three hatches; electric light; wireless; accommodation for 100 passengers. Has cargo capacity of 76,000 cubic feet. Vessel is thoroughly modern and all accommodation and decorations furnished new last year at a cost of $150,000. Has spacious promenade decks, saloons, smoking and tea rooms. She is reported to be a good sea boat and having every comfort.

Farquhar & Co., Ltd., are to be commended on their progressiveness in endeavoring to build up with local capital a steamship service between Boston-Halifax and St. John's, Nfld. This enterprising firm has gone step by step forward in the steamship business, giving a good service.

The Hethpool is scheduled to leave Newcastle-on-Tyne Sept. 5th for Halifax direct, and it is planned to put her in service immediately, leaving Halifax about September 19th for Boston.

Buck Jones as a Daredevil

Famous Horseman in Sensational Feats At The Majestic.

"The Desert Outlaw" with the ever popular Buck Jones, was the feature at the Majestic last night and the large audience present thoroughly enjoyed the subject. Thrill after thrill intermingled with an ideal love story won the keen interest of the fans. Jones' sensational drive over the high cliff into the water, whilst riding his remarkable horse, was but one of the many outstanding events. The comedy was likewise well received. The champion lars of the world were outdone in splendid fashion. The bill is repeated this afternoon also to-night, and those who look for remarkable feats such as accomplished by Buck Jones—and an abundance of comedy—should see it.

The New Hospital for St. Anthony

By DR. WILFRED T. GRENFELL ("Among the Deep-Sea Fishers," the Official Organ of the International Grenfell Association).

This morning, as I sat on the veranda of the new Orthopedic Hospital, high up on Mt. Royal in Montreal, where I was stranded for a few hours en route to Labrador, I was thinking of the troubles of some orthopedic sick children of whom Dr. Curtis had written to me from St. Anthony.

The chief surgeon of this hospital, Doctor McKenzie Forbes, who worked on our Coast in 1892, the first year I was there. This splendid new building has been erected by the generosity of the Shriners of the highest lodge, or rank of the Free masons. All over America this large body of men have decided that they will do something for crippled children; and as I sat there and looked at it, waiting for the Doctor to come along, I couldn't help wishing that some one interested in the Shriners might get a vision of the need there is for an orthopedic section in at least one of our little chains of hospitals in the North—a vision of many cripples who have grown to manhood and womanhood, enduring a life of unnecessary suffering and poverty just for the need of such a city of refuge as this beautiful hospital is here in Montreal; and yet less than a million is another beautiful hospital for crippled children over which also Doctor Forbes presides.

It is of the utmost importance in Labrador that legs should be straight and of equal length, and that mothers should know how to protect children when the early signs of a crooked spine or a tubercular joint or an infantile paralysis first show themselves. There passed through my mind a moving regiment of cripples, with the few advantages that we have been able to give them, who have toilsomely reached the doors of our little hospitals. I remembered with gratitude the visits of specialists in the treatment of crippled children, such as Doctor Russell MacAusland, Doctor John Adams, Doctor Andrew MacAusland and the late service of Doctor John M. Little—but still as I looked up at the beautiful building, fireproof, perfect in detail, with its great sun galleries and its rows of children in their snow-white coats, lying in their beds getting well, I couldn't help but feel that if only we could get some one to put this matter rightly, surely people would help children in the great Northeast of this continent just as much as in other parts—for our children are all of the old stock, good sound Anglo-Saxons, with all our best capacities and all our traditions of a sea-faring race, with a few natives here and there that are left of the old owners of the soil.

I could see in my mind the volunteers from several universities, toiling already so generously with the foundation of the concrete hospital for St. Anthony which, like those of a previous generation, they hope to finish by the return of winter. (For the first time, we have borrowed money to enable us to put a building through. Towards the $50,000 necessary, we have given the promise of $20,000). In my mind also I could see the thousands of children in Sunday schools and other schools, and in many parts of England, America and Canada, who had given bricks at a cost of 25c. each for the beautiful Home for orphaned children, not half a mile distant from this new hospital. Then suddenly a motor car dashed up to the gate and the cheery voice of Doctor Forbes greeted me. It happened to be a "receiving day" for this hospital.

We went in and robed ourselves in our white dresses, and the first case, a pathetic little child, was brought in. Examination showed that it had a bent spine, the result of a tuberculous disease, with the usual accompaniment of open sores. The jacket in which the child was incased attracted our attention. We looked at it carefully and found it was most beautifully made, padded with lamb's wool and, for lack of anything else, painted with white glue so as to make it quite stiff. There wasn't even a sign of a rub anywhere from this big enveloping jacket.

The student in charge of the case began to read the history, "G. J. comes from Labrador." I couldn't help pricking up my ears, and Doctor Forbes smiled at me. "From St. Augustine River"—"Is that on your Coast?" he said. "Why certainly, I know it well. I know his father," and then looking up, I observed the mother, who was standing in the background. The clerk further read, "Father died of tuberculosis last year." I hadn't heard this sad news, for the father had long been in charge of the Hudson's Bay Trading Post in that part of Labrador. "The child was treated by one of the doctors of the Grenfell Mission," the clerk read on, "Doctor Harley who, when he left, advised bringing the child to Montreal for special care." Evidently the child was mending. For some time the sores had ceased to run. The Doctor congratulated the mother on the good fortune to have been able to reach some one conversant with the case. I then told the mother that my name was Doctor Grenfell and that I was leaving by the night train for Labrador. I couldn't help feeling thrilled in seeing the signs of pleasure in her face.

While in Pekin, China, we were guests at the Rockefeller Hospital and the Pekin Union Medical College where it was our great delight to find that Doctor George VanGorder, another of our own Labrador colleagues, was Professor of Orthopedic Surgery for the treatment of crippled children—a beloved, and so thoroughly efficient surgeon.

In my pocket is a letter which I had received from Miss Demarest asking me, even in the few days left before this issue of the magazine goes to press, if I might send her a line concerning the new hospital for St. Anthony. I am writing this in the train on the way to Labrador. On the pen of a ready writer, that I might paint such a word picture as would bring home to our many friends the need for bricks, and more especially for the ability to put a thoroughly equipped section for crippled children into the new building—just for the price of bricks.

How many twenty-five cents we could save in a year if we only thought it was worth while doing so. How many times twenty-five cents slip away for this or that other trifle that we could do so well without. What shall we say, "an upper" instead of a lower berth; a fifty-cent

Five things you should know about your tooth brush.

- 1 Is it made of the best bristles the world produces?
2 Are the bristles serrated (saw-toothed), and set in a curve to fit against all your teeth, and to reach the crevices between?
3 Does it have a large end tuft, and a properly curved handle so that the end tuft can reach and clean back teeth?
4 Will it keep germs, tartar, food debris, and other unclean substances off your teeth?
5 Is it fully guaranteed?

When your tooth brush is a Prophy-lac-tic, you can answer all of those five questions correctly. The Prophy-lac-tic Tooth Brush has for more than forty years been the standard, correctly designed tooth brush for keeping teeth clean, white and beautiful.

turning over the little Labrador child on the examination table, she smiled and said, "I also come from your Coast, my name is Osborns." "Then you come from Notre Dame Bay?" I asked. "I certainly do," she said, "and there's where I hope to go back"—and I saw in her eyes also that which I love to see, when I told her that I was going to start for Notre Dame Bay that very evening.

Doctor Charles Parsons, our loved colleague, is doing his splendid work in the new little perfect hospital unit that we and he and the fishermen have achieved after years of effort, and is now doing such splendid work for the people of that section of our Coast.

Write to Miss Demarest, Grenfell Association of America, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, and she will let us know the names of those who will help to carry this effort to a successful issue. I know it can be done.

THE NEW ST. ANTHONY HOSPITAL

While there is rejoicing over the amount received to date for the new hospital building at St. Anthony, only about one-fourth the total sum needed has as yet been raised. The Board of Directors and the Editor alike are anxious that this financial burden may not fall upon the shoulders of Dr. Grenfell just as he returns from the first extended rest from active duty in more than thirty years, but may be taken over by our zealous mission friends.

That a new hospital building is greatly needed, even more so than we dreamed when making the first appeal, is evidenced by the following letter written by Dr. Curtis to Dr. Grenfell and by Grenfell's note to the Editor regarding the same: "As you know, we will start the new hospital this summer. This present building is about gone and I am really getting anxious about it. One side is bulging out away from the eaves, it is not safe but will, I hope, last until we can move into a new one. I am for a two storied building with basement and long closed-in sun porches on the front."

Dr. Grenfell writes to the Editor concerning the old hospital at St. Anthony: "Even before Dr. Curtis took charge the floors of the rooms on the third story were giving way. Many times I have been in those rooms, and wondered who would be the first to sound the tocsin of alarm. They creaked and groaned so, when the wind blew, that we shifted everything of any weight right up alongside the uprights, but eventually had to move them altogether from the room in the southeast corner, as the floor along the outside wall had gone down three inches below the horizontal. Dr. Curtis' casual inset in his letter makes me here in Japan wonder what would happen if our everlasting rocks were to shiver a little in the Labrador winter, as these have 'boiled and cracked from over-much heat.'"

College boys, who are summer volunteers, are working like Trojans to get the foundations in place for the new building, and it is hoped to have the steel skeleton erected before the return in the fall. Edward McNeil, a Newfoundland man, who was one of the first students sent by the Grenfell Mission to Pratt Institute for his training in engineering, is to be in charge of construction, assisted by Wilfred Mesher, who studied at Pratt with him. Mr. McNeil spent about two months in New York this spring, observing methods and processes connected with steel construction work.

With faith that the funds would be forthcoming, the Executive Officer of the Association has already forwarded a schooner loaded with steel girders, derricks and other necessary machinery, so that there might be no delay in pushing the work forward, since the present building is found to be in so dangerous a condition. Wasp Attacks. Mid- Essex is suffering from a plague of wasps. Great swarms are invading houses and are also attacking drivers of vehicles and pedestrians.

Near Brentwood, a lorry driver was attacked by a large number and badly stung on the ear. He stopped his vehicle, dismounted, secured some rags, which he saturated with petrol, and set the nest on fire. Two London motorists were attacked by wasps while driving along the same road at Witham. In each

STOP DRUGGING GET BACK TO NATURE. Throw your half-filled bottles of dope and poison into the sea—they'll do less harm than in your stomach. Get back to Nature; consider how she cures, and give her the proper assistance. Nature needs strength and nourishment. Drugs are poisons, and poisons don't give that.

If you are nervous you can quiet your nerves with poison, but just as soon as the stupor wears off the trouble returns worse than ever. Works like whisky. A man will fill up on liquor because it makes him feel good, puts false energy into him for a while, but when the alcohol stops working, his nerves torture him far more. Like whisky, every dose of drugs calls for another. Doing weak nerves, weak stomach, liver or kidneys with drugs would result in them proper working order. Nature must have its own strength. Get that only from electricity. Our method of electrically feeding the nerves and glands with nourishing, strengthening electric currents. We use the "Ajax" Body Energy, which is entirely different from other electric appliances. It is invigorating and powerful, yet gentle and soothing to the nerves. It is a natural deduction on the recuperative system, and requires no charging. It will cure every case of rheumatism, nervous debility, weak stomach, kidney and liver troubles, lame back, sciatica, loss of power and every evidence of weakness in men and women.

IT IS FREE. Write at once for our 92-page illustrated book, which contains much valuable information regarding the cause and cure of human ailments. It is free, in a plain sealed envelope. There are special booklets for Ladies and Gentlemen; please specify which is required when ordering. Just Folks. By EDGAR GUEST. RESENTMENT. One day when I was very small I fell against the garden wall; And smacking with the hurt and pain I kicked the wall with might and main. Struck at it with my little fist And bruised my hand and sprained my wrist. case the car was damaged through the driver temporarily losing control. Mr. George Bannister, of Strath-ham, who was driving with his wife and two children, was the first attacked, and as he brushed them off his face, his car swerved and fell into a ditch. The occupants, however, escaped with a shaking up. Two hours later, Mr. James Haines of Wanstead, arrived at the same place, driving his wife and four children, and was also attacked. As he was driving the wags off, his car crashed into a telegraph post. The front of his car was smashed but the occupants escaped with shock. A wasp's nest was found near the bank of the brook and was destroyed.

When grief has hurt us, as it must, We cry aloud: "God is unjust!" We strike at faith, that solid wall Which shelters and sustains us all. Not knowing when our hearts are sore Resentment only hurts us more.

In bitterness no comfort lies, No tear of sorrow hatred dries; Who turns upon his God in grief Finds endless woe in disbelief. Who cries that faith in God is vain Condemns himself to greater pain.

Ingeniously Simple Water Turbine. DEVELOPS CHEAP POWER. Economic utilization of the energy represented by the flow of water in rivers and other water channels always has been a problem. Where the angle of descent, the drop, is great, or where natural falls interrupt the flow, the solution of the problem of dams and artificial falls or by the construction of sluices regulating the volume and direction of the falling water, is comparatively simple. But in nearly all cases the engineering work involves the expenditure of money, often entirely out of proportion to the results obtained. Recently Eduard Sues, an engineer of Vienna, invented a water turbine of a new type, simple of construction, inexpensive, and developing a high degree of power for plant use.

PIMPLES OVER FACE AND NECK. Itched and Burned Badly. Healed by Cuticura. "My face started to itch and burn and then broke out with pimples that were hard, large and red. Notre Dame Bay Memorial Hospital

CHARLES E. PARSONS, M.D.

It does not seem possible that it was only a few days ago that the building was being prepared for shipment and ready for shipment on the schooner which was to bring to Twillingate and supplies north to the hospital. Much water has passed under the bridge since that time. The schooner arrived here June 24, and had a good voyage of ten days. It was interrupted by a near collision with a French schooner in the off of the Grand Banks. The arrival was attended with some excitement. I had left New York immediately after the schooner sailed to get to Twillingate ahead of time and arrange for unloading. My one was on the lookout. At 10 o'clock on a beautiful clear morning, the Lighthouse reported a four-masted schooner coming down the bay. Several of us went into a motor boat, met her at the end of Long Point, and piloted her into the harbor. The next days were spent in unloading—a very big task because there were a thousand tons of cargo to be discharged, and this had to be done in the stream, since the vessel was too large to dock anywhere near the hospital. Small schooners, motor boats and a large crew of local men expedited the work. This unloading was greatly complicated because the hoisting engine on the schooner broke down after the second day, and the broken parts could not be replaced here. However, from a distance we obtained the loan of a stationary engine, which had been used for grinding seal fat, took her to her bed, moved the partly disassembled and lightened vessel into the wharf, and set up the engine in the wharf. While we were waiting for this to be done, we used horses, piled up to a block and tackle, for unloading. The vessel was unloaded in eight days—two days short of the time allowed before the payment of demurrage. In the meantime, the goods were unpacked as quickly as the cus-tomically. The mission doctors have previously been allowed to practice without a license, but a recent ruling requires that the heads of all hospitals shall be registered.

Having overcome most of our housing difficulties we were next confronted with staff difficulties and they are not yet entirely settled. A nemesis seems to have followed us. A few days after we admitted our first patient, and ten days before our second nurse arrived, Miss Carrington, our nurse, was called home because of illness in her family. We got along for those ten days with the help of two efficient nurses' aides. Soon after our second nurse arrived the writer took a small schooner to Pillsbury's Island and dismantled that hospital, bringing the equipment here.

Our second nurse had been here about a month when she suddenly became seriously ill and nearly died. Fortunately two nurses from St. Anthony had previously stopped over on their way south, and seeing our plight helped us a couple of weeks. The sick nurse was so very ill that we had to send for her mother to come and take her home. The St. Anthony nurses had more along with three local aids to take care of 15 patients; and almost as soon as the trained nurses had left we began to get in very tight cases, so that we had a hectic time. As soon as Miss Carrington left, we had started our search for nurses. This was not successful until the first of December when an English nurse arrived, followed a week afterwards by Miss Ebel Graham, who had been head nurse at Battel Harbor one summer when the writer was medical officer there, and who had spent two winters at St. Anthony and one at Cartwright. We were once more able to breathe a sigh of relief. Miss Graham has been a splendid rock of strength in all the troubles which we have gone through. We have three nurses due here in two weeks, and a doctor and medical student soon after, so our staff troubles should then be at an end.

We completed the construction work on the building in time for the formal opening of the hospital September 20, and we began to admit patients for treatment the first week in October. Since that time, despite the handicaps of weather conditions, which we have made it next to impossible for people at a distance to get to us, we have had a constantly increasing number of patients and have done a good bit of work, considering that this is our first year. To date we have had 100 in-patients, with about 75 operations, and 350 out-patients.

Our winter has been most busy, aside from the direct medical work in the hospital, because we have had a large amount of construction work, such as shelves, cupboards, storm windows, etc., to be done while at the same time we were taking care of patients. We have initiated a public health campaign which has resulted in a complete physical examination and also examination of urine of over 250 school children of Twillingate. The children in need of treatment have been singled out, and an attempt is being made to get the various troubles straightened out.

At the time when we originally planned our building, a top floor was included, but this was not finished off because we did not expect to be able to raise sufficient money to complete it along with the main part of the building. Because of the needs for the floor which we did finish, we had planned our staff living quarters for this unfinished floor, hoping to get along by one makeshift or another, until we could get the staff rooms finished. This floor also includes three wards with accessories such as utility room, linen room, bathroom, and diet kitchen, which are capable of taking care of 20 patients, thus increasing our capacity from 30 to 50 beds.

When we straightened out our account at the completion of the building we had a building debt of $5,500, a total expenditure of $100,000. Over half of this had been anticipated because our estimates were somewhat above the amount of money we had raised. The remainder was due to unexpected needs which always develop, and which it is impossible to anticipate in a new building—the size of this one particularly—when besides building and equipping the hospital, we had to install our own water supply, sewerage disposal system, and electric light plant (the latter being run by water power).

The local interest has been great and we have had remarkable support. Our committee has funded the building debt and raised the entire amount on a long-term loan from local people who have subscribed amounts ranging from $50 to $100 each. Beside this, as the result of a direct appeal to the people of Twillingate and vicinity, and with the proceeds of several benefit sales and societies, we have already raised over $2,000 toward the payment of interest and final payment of this loan, so that we are fully expecting to clear off our building debt before many years. Because of this encouraging effort, and because of the fact that the increasing number of patients who are coming in to us have demonstrated beyond question that we will have need of much more room as soon as navigation opens and makes it possible for people from a distance to get to us, we have started a campaign to raise enough money to finish the top floor, and have gone ahead with the work as the money has come in, and have made excellent progress to date. The sum of $800 was raised in and near Twillingate toward the completion of two memorial wards. A friend in the United States made possible the completion of the third ward in memory of a friend of hers who had formerly lived in Newfoundland. Still further money has come in from friends in the United States, and in all we have raised about $2,000 for this purpose. It will cost about $2,000 more to complete the work. There are two rooms which can be finished for approximately $250 each, and we would be glad to have either of these as memorial rooms. Besides these two rooms, there are most important and necessary adjuncts in the shape of bathrooms, storeroom, linen room, linen room, etc., which are absolutely essential to the mechanics of this

It will be a great blessing to this community to have this hospital finally completed and taking care of the medical needs of a community of about 40,000 people, who are scattered over a distance of a couple of hundred miles. We did not have enough money to purchase an X-ray along with the other equipment of the hospital. While in St. John's, the writer persuaded the Newfoundland Government to present an old X-ray machine (which had been taken out of the St. John's General Hospital) to Twillingate. We had this scope over carefully by X-ray experts in St. John's, and found that only a portion of it was worth fixing up—the table and tube stand. It will cost $1,800 or $2,000 to install the remainder of our X-ray plant. This is the last bit of essential equipment needed to make our hospital thoroughly up-to-date.

We believe that we have reached the end of our serious difficulties now, and hope to have a very satisfactory and busy summer.

Coal and Chemistry

The unhappy consequences of interrupted work in the coal fields of England and America has focussed attention on this the greatest source of heat and power. These are essential to industry and living—so they merit attention. While it has been known for long to scientists that the ordinary methods of using coal were wasteful, the investigations into these methods were usually about details, with the exception of two very important methods of using coal more economically. One is the production of electricity by coal; the other the bi-product cooking process. Twenty five years ago, both these processes were in their infancy. Every one knows how much electricity is produced by coal fired steam engines. Those who traveled at the beginning of the century through coke making districts will remember the inferno effect of batteries of beehive ovens, in which everything was wasted except the coke. Now these valuable commodities are saved. The chemist is now busy in preparing for further advances, spurred on by the call for cleaner towns and less waste.

Considerable progress has been made in the high temperature coking plants in which coke and gas are the principal products, which are commercially worked as they are here. It is believed that further progress will be made by low temperature distillation. This is being worked out in Germany. One of their greatest chemical companies has bought a large tract of coal land in central Germany, but this company jealously guards its secrets. Another is working in the Ruhr district, and has produced synthol, a motor spirit, effective but still too dear to displace gasoline. A Dr. Dovkowitz claims that from a ton of coal he can produce 23 gallons of oil or motor spirit, 40 lbs. of carbonic acid, 90 lbs. of pitch, and 24 lbs. sulphate of ammonia the same amount of paraffin, and have also 1650 lbs. of coke for fuel. The McEwen Range firm in the United States is working along the same lines, and at Glasgow a MacLaurin plant to use 109 tons of coal a day is being erected. Through some of these processes it may come about that the output of these coal fields will be treated near the pits mouth and only a smokeless fuel and valuable chemicals sent away. More unexpected developments have taken place in the last quarter of a century.

Harbor Grace Notes

An aged resident in the person of Mrs. Sarah Goss passed into rest at her home, Water Street West, on Sunday, following an illness of some months duration. She leaves to mourn her passing three sons, William, and Israel residing away and Ernest with whom she resided, and who at the present time is also out of the country. The funeral took place on Tuesday to St. Paul's Church, and she was laid to rest in the Church of England Cemetery to await the Resurrection Morn. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved in their hour of sorrow.

Mrs. J. J. Young and two children, who had been visiting her mother at Change Islands, returned again recently.

Mr. E. Butt, of Freshwater, arrived here on Monday to take charge of the Senior Department of the Methodist Super-School in the Junior Department is being taken charge of by Miss L. Sanson, who came to town from the city on Saturday. We wish both Teachers a most successful year.

Misses Dorothy and Edna Snow, of St. John's, having spent a fortnight's vacation here at the "Gracian House," returned to the city by Saturday afternoon's train after a very pleasant holiday.

Dr. W. S. Goodwin has been at Bay Roberts during the week on a professional visit.

Miss Edna Squires went out to the city by yesterday morning's train, where she will enter college. She was accompanied by her sister, Helena, who returned again by Tuesday night's train.

Mr. Norman Makinson and his little son who had been visiting his mother, Mrs. Makinson and J. D. and Mrs. Munn, left here on Friday on his way to New York. His many old friends were pleased to see him once more and their best wishes will follow him in the future.

Mrs. Wm. Crane and family left here by Thursday morning's train for St. John's en route to the U.S.A., where she will make her home in the future. Mr. Crane has already gone there some months ago.

Miss Lily Noel went to St. John's by yesterday afternoon's train where she will spend a short while with her brother, Thos. Noel, before returning again to the U.S.A. Miss Noel has spent the summer at home and had a very pleasant stay. She will now make her home in the U.S.A. She has the best wishes of her many friends for every success in the future.

The Danish schooner "Gerda" came here from Carboner the latter part of last week and was taken on Dock Tuesday. She receives the necessary attention and came off again in the evening and sailed for Carboner.

S.S. Othar and schooner Mary Cashin have been docked here during the week.—COR.

Human Nose is Easily Fooled

The sense of smell is a neglected sense. Nearly any modern man will recognize, by sight, literally millions of objects. He can identify thousands of distinct sounds. But how many things can he recognize by smell? Probably not over a dozen, even these with much uncertainty.

We have been making some experiments recently among our friends. We have a small medicine case with a dozen bottles in it. All the bottles look exactly alike. Each contains a different well-known odor: lemon, coffee, violet, rancid butter, other country familiar. Whenever we find a willing victim we take out these bottles and let the victim smell each of them in turn. He is supposed to tell us what each bottle contains.

Up to date no one has made a perfect score. Some people identify the lemon bottle as olives, others as mustard or vinegar or something still wilder of the truth. One man said that this bottle was "something that I smell in California, I can't remember just what." Flower odors are usually identified with remembered scenes or persons in the past, very seldom with the flowers themselves.

Another interesting experiment is this. Take a flower, such as a violet, and remove the odor from it. Certain chemicals will do this. Then scent the deodorized of lilacs. Most people who smell this trick flower will identify it looks as odor as violet, which is what it is as though it ought to be. They judge by sight, not smell. But many of them will sense, obscurely, "that something is wrong. They say that it smells 'funny.' Some of them suggest that the flower is old and stale. The unconscious part of our smell-receiver in the mind is still on the job and is not entirely fooled. It realizes that this particular smell-message is somehow very wrong. But out consciousness, being eye-minded, prevails.—The Forum.

Powerful Tides to be Harnessed to Yield Power

EASTPORT, Me., Sept. 5.—The tide, which waits for no man, soon may be put to work for a wide-extended engineering project.

By Cooper's plan the celebrated tides of the Bay of Fundy, which frequently show a difference of 23 feet between the high and low levels, will be harnessed to dynamos and made to generate a continuous outflow of electric power equal to the greatest possibilities of Niagara.

Initial steps upon the great project await the verdict of the voters of Maine, to be expressed in an election on Sept. 14. The issue is whether the tide-power proposal shall be exempted from the present state law prohibiting the sale outside the state of hydraulic power generated within the state. If the prohibition is waived, further execution of the plan will proceed quickly.

The project is estimated to cost $100,000,000 and to require the labor of 500 men for five years. It involves the creation of two great pools by damming off two adjacent arms of the sea. The upper pool, embracing Passamaquoddy Bay, will contain an area of about 150 square miles lying to the north of Eastport, virtually all on the Canadian side of the international boundary. It will be cut off from the sea by a wall almost a mile long.

The lower pool, embracing about 50 square miles, takes in Cobscook Bay to the west of Eastport in United States territory. It will be shut off from the sea by a wall 2400 feet long, and the two pools will be separated from each other by a wall 3600 feet long.

The lock gates of the upper pool will be opened only at high tide, and those of the lower pool only at low tide. This means that the water levels in one always will be from 16 to 23 feet higher than in the other. And day and night, a great torrent will pour across the wall separating the two pools, through 70 or 80 turbine engines, developing continuous power estimated at 2,268,000,000 kilowatt hours a year.

To Exceed Muscle Shoals. This is four times the primary power developed at the great Muscle Shoals Dam. It never will be less than 500,000 horsepower and frequently will be 800,000 horsepower.

Such great results, naturally, cannot be accomplished without effort. The plan calls for an engineering feat comparable to the greatest of man's undertakings on earth. Some of the channels to be dammed are 180 feet deep, swept four times daily by a slashing tidal current.

What this means to this quiet town of 5000, subsisting largely upon its sardine canning industry, is difficult to estimate. Situated as it is directly between the two proposed pools, it sees itself becoming an industrial centre comparable to Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

The project is the brain child of one man, Cooper. He came here in 1908 to spend his honeymoon and became interested in the immense power of the tides. When he left, he carried the idea with him, nursed it as time passed, and returned a year ago to work for its realization.

England Attempts It. "Perhaps the scheme of harnessing the tides never has been undertaken elsewhere, but it was not sufficiently developed to use so much power as the ocean affords," Cooper says of his plan.

"But other countries now are experimenting. England already has a project under way at the mouth of the Severn River. The dream of mankind to use the restless energy of the sea is about to be realized. The slogan of the future will be, 'Let the ocean do the work.'"

Nova Scotia May Defend Schooner Trophy This Year

Fishermen's Race Will be Held This Autumn if Rules are Observed.

HALIFAX, Sept. 3.—Nova Scotia may defend the international fishing trophy at Gloucester this year if some of the contestants will abide by the decisions made by the officials conducting the race, according to W. H. Dennis, author of the contest and donor of the cup. Mr. Dennis when interviewed this morning said:

"There will likely be a fisherman's race this Autumn if the entrants will undertake to abide by the decisions of the sailing committee in charge of the race. The trustee of the trophies recognize the importance to the fishing industry of an annual contest, but will not countenance a repetition of the controversies at Gloucester and Halifax. If the owners of the competing fishing schooners will agree to adhere to the rules laid down for the contest as interpreted by the responsible officials, the races will no doubt be on."

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

AND HER HUSBAND BEAMED. I saw an expression on a man's face recently that it was a genuine pleasure to watch.

It was a mixture of pride, tenderness and affection. His wife was talking and he was listening to her. And what do you think she was talking about? One of the last things you might think from that pride. About her mother-in-law!

What She Said About Her Mother-in-Law. She was saying what a fine sweet woman she was, what a good influence on the children she had been when she lived with them, what an unusual character in her serenity and her happy disposition. "I didn't always agree with her in small matters," she said, "we were brought up differently and she was very strict in her ideas. But I couldn't help admiring her. I wish you could have seen her with her little white kerchief and her lavender dress and her sweet face. She really was a picture."

Her husband drank it all in. One could see that he had loved his mother very dearly and that he loved to have such a word picture of her painted. One could see the pride and tenderness and affection in every line in his face.

she looked daggers at me because I didn't have the dining room picked out to do." "Do lower your voice, Barbara, I don't want you to have a voice like your grandmother's." "John, I wish your mother wouldn't give orders to the maid, instead of asking me for what she wants. After all this is my house."

But They Make Themselves Look Unlovely. If women realized that no matter how justified some of these complaints are, when they make them with bitterness and resentment they bless themselves in an unlovely light, they might put more of a guard on their tongues.

In every person there are some lovable and unlovable traits, and when we go for mothers-in-law as well as other people, if you want to win a special tenderness and appreciation from your husband in a very simple way, just speak of some of these lovable traits once in a while.

Just How You Look at It. This is To-day. Say, ain't you glad? Ain't the sky blue? Say, life isn't bad. Yesterday was cloudy. It rained all day. But To-Day— Say, things seem to hum. Since to-day has come, Shadows are falling. But we're not through; We've got lots of work. This day to do. Wasn't it easy to smile to-day? Didn't your work just seem like play? Life isn't bad. Say, ain't you glad? Let's make. To-Morrow another To-Day.

Veterans Strong for Haig's Plan

VETERANS ORGANIZATIONS UNANIMOUSLY DECIDE TO AMALGAMATE.

Official Dominion-Wide Association to include all representatives of veterans' associations from all parts of the Province have unanimously approved of the principle of amalgamation into a great Canadian association at a meeting at the Mount Royal Hotel last night.

A dissenting voice was raised at the proposal fostered by Field Marshal Earl Haig on his recent visit to Canada was put before the meeting. A committee was appointed to represent the Province and to select delegates for the Dominion convention to be held next month when the question will be discussed by representatives from all parts of Canada.

While all present expressed their approval of the scheme it was pointed out by some of the delegates that they should be the decision of the convention of their own organizations. It was put forward that in the public organization the individual organizations should not altogether identify themselves. They were reassured by Col. F. P. Clarke, who accompanied Earl Haig on his tour through Canada, who stated that the Field Marshal had distinctly expressed approval on this point.

The meeting was presided over by Earl Price, D.S.O., M.C., in the presence of the illness of Brigadier-General Eric McCaig.

Retain Identity.

A letter from Gen. McCaig read at the meeting drew attention to the fact that no objections would be made to individual sections retaining their identity in the one big organization, and stressed the point that the great problem before them was the amalgamation of disabled ex-servicemen.

Alternative proposals for a constitution for the new body were then read before the meeting by the chairman. It would be democratic, non-partisan, and non-political, he said, and not affiliated in any way with any political party. Its aims and objects would be to bring unity to all who served in the forces of the Empire, create and maintain a spirit of comradeship, foster the spirit of loyalty, and safeguard the interests of the ex-service community.

Membership would be open to all men and women who have served in the Imperial or Canadian Navy, Army, or Air Force.

The machinery would be provided by branches, district conferences with councils; Provincial conferences with their councils; a Dominion executive council, and a Dominion annual convention. The branches would elect delegates to the district conference, which would elect a district council. This, in turn, would elect delegates to the Provincial conference, which would appoint a Provincial council. This council would elect three representatives to the Dominion executive council. The Dominion convention would consist of branch delegates appointed at branch general meetings.

Each branch would have its own officers, president, chairman, vice-chairman, and honorary secretary and treasurer. The same would apply to the districts, provinces, and to the Dominion Councils; but in the Provinces and Dominions there would be a paid secretary and staff for each. Supreme executive powers would be vested in the Dominion convention.

No Politics.

No person holding office in any political party would be eligible for any office or post in the new body, and alternatively no person holding office in the new body should continue to hold office in political party.

In the discussion that preceded the passing of the resolution in favor of the principle of amalgamation, Col. J. F. Buckley, pointed out that the Army and Navy Veterans were discussing the question of amalgamation at their convention this month in Regina, and that the actions of the local branches of that organization depended entirely on what decision was reached there.

He further stated that his organization strongly wished for the retention of their identity in the new organization.

The actual resolution passed amid applause by the meeting was as follows: "That this meeting of delegates from Veterans' organizations in Canada, subject to the approval of the annual conventions of the respective organizations."

In the election of officers that followed Gen. McCaig was unanimously elected as chairman of the Quebec committee, Col. Price as vice-chairman, and S. D. Cunningham, as secretary.

The committee selected was composed of one member of each of the eight organizations represented, with five additional members from various parts of the Province, the committee having power to add to its number.

The question of the five delegates to be appointed to the Dominion conference and the name of the new organization were left to the committee.

Heiress Offered Captain $100,000 to Turn Ship Back

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Captain W. Marshall of the liner Olympic, was offered $100,000 by an heiress if he would turn the Olympic around and go back to Cherbourg when she was two days out from the French port.

Miss Izit Pasha, a beautiful Syrian girl, who recently inherited $5,000,000 from her father, who for years was financial adviser to the Sultan of Turkey, was the young woman who was willing to pay the fortune to be relieved of her sea-sickness.

Miss Pasha, who is said never to have raised her veil in public until she left Constantinople on her present trip, was being chaperoned by Mrs. George Mannors, of a widely known family of American diplomats. She and Miss Pasha arrived today.

Miss Pasha admitted she did not think the vessel was "behaving badly," but as it was her first sea voyage, she became uneasy when the vessel tossed. She said she was glad the Captain did not go back to France, as she is eager to see New York. She will visit Cuba before returning.

Public Men and Private Affairs

London Morning Post: (Mr. Baldwin refused to accept Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister's resignation from the presidency of the Board of Trade, tendered because his wife is largely interested in colliery property). While it has been rightly established that a Minister of the Crown ought not to hold directorships, it has never been suggested that he may not hold shares; and the personal interest of a large shareholder may obviously be far greater than the nominal holding of a director. To put a particular case, not even Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's fiercest opponents argued that he was disqualified for the high office that he held by being the beneficial owner of 30,000 preference shares in a biscuit factory.

The sombre effect is carried out in furs. For instance, a squirrel coat shades from light to dark tones.

Alliance Plans to Dry Up Britain

WILL TRY TO INDUCE PARLIAMENT TO APPROVE LOCAL OPTION.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Prohibitionists are completing plans to launch before Christmas a huge determined campaign of propaganda designed to persuade Great Britain to follow America in outlawing alcohol.

Politicians, industrialists, doctors, lawyers and preachers are backing the United Kingdom Alliance, directing headquarters of the prohibition movement in this country, in its impending start on what may be a long, rocky road towards abolition of the legalized drink traffic. There will be two primary objectives in the campaign:

1. To persuade Parliament to institute the local option system throughout England and Wales, thus enabling citizens of any town to vote themselves dry.
2. By general propaganda to prepare the people of the country generally for eventual total prohibition.

The prohibitionists know they are fighting great odds. Many physicians claim that alcohol is necessary to enable the ordinary persons to withstand the rigors of the British climate—rainy, damp, foggy and cold during many months of the year.

Brewing and distilling interests are rich and powerful. They have entrenched themselves strongly not only in the British industry, but in politics and in the peerage. Their export trade covers the world.

Political support for the prohibitionists will come from the Liberal and Labor parties.

Many individual Labor men are prohibitionists, and the party as a whole is on the dry rather than the wet side. It is possible that within the next year or two the Liberal party, normally a great power in politics, will make prohibition the main plank in its platform.

As for the campaign proper, Captain John G. Martin, organizing secretary of the United Kingdom Alliance, said:

"The campaign will be the biggest thing of its kind in our history. Leaders of public opinion, ex-Cabinet members have pledged themselves to take the platform in our behalf throughout the country."

"We are going to arouse the country to a realization of the danger of trifling with the drink issue, and at every possible opportunity we shall drive home to workers the fact that, as the welfare of industry depends on their fitness, both will benefit by their abstention from intoxicants."

"In addition to the prospect of support from the Liberal Party, the Labor Party are considering whether they shall come out for absolute prohibition, or whether to go in for local option alone."

Nest of Largest Bird Found in California

In the mountains of Ventura County, Calif., E. A. Brown, a young hunter, recently discovered a nest of a pair of condors. The condor is the largest bird in North America, and is believed to be the largest flying bird in the world, sometimes having a wing spread of from nine to 11 feet and weighing about 35 pounds. There are only about 50 pairs of these birds in the United States, and stealing their eggs or killing them is punished in California by a heavy penalty.

The cave nest, with an entrance only large enough to admit one condor at a time, was at the top of a solitary 200-foot pinnacle, standing at the end of a canyon. Brown climbed the rock, crawling the last 100 feet on his stomach. While midway along the ledge on which the cave opened, the two condors swooped at him continually.

Brown saw and handled the one egg the nest contained. "The nest," he says, "was merely an unlined natural depression in the rock floor of the cave, in which rested one pale greenish-blue egg, about 1 1/2 times as large as that of a domestic goose. This egg seemed to have a very thick shell and was very heavy."

Another Niagara Found

A waterfall as great as Niagara in the midst of a barren desert was one of the sights seen by Mrs. Agnes Chase, botanist of the United States Herbarium, who has just returned to the United States after seven months in the wilds of Brazil. Looking for peculiar species of grass, she went high into the eastern plateau where the land has become a desert through overgrazing. She climbed the highest peaks in Brazil east of the Andes.

The man who revealed to the modern world the ancient Maya civilization that flourished before the time of Christ in Central America, has come home. Edward H. Thompson has spent 20 years resurrecting Maya ruins. His greatest single feat in a list that sounds like captions to a movie thriller, was diving to the bottom of the Sacred Well at Chichen Itza, Yucatan. There, 80 feet under water, he found the bodies of 90 sacrificed maidens, together with priceless quantities of jade, gold and incense.

The water in the well was only 40 feet deep, but below it was 40 feet of mud. Mr. Thompson went to Boston and got a job scraping the bottom of deep-sea vessels in a diving suit; then, with knowledge of this work, he returned to Yucatan. By throwing logs down the well, he figured out the spot where the treasure and maidens must have fallen, then had the mud dredged from that part. After that came the dangerous diving, which resulted in the recovery of the treasure.

Little Jack Rabbit
 by David Cory

By and by as Danny Fox and Old Man Weasel trotted along side by side through the Shady Forest, Hooty Tooty Owl began to hoot:

"A sly old weasel and a crafty fox went a-hunting little rabbits in their lighted box. But the Yellow Dog Tramp came along with a stick, and away ran the weasel and the fox mighty quick."

"He must mean us," whispered Danny Fox.

"Guess he does," snarled Old Man Weasel. "But how did he come to learn what we've been up to?"

"I saw you both in the Old Bramble Patch," all of a sudden tooted Hooty Tooty Owl, his quick ears having caught the whispered words of the two bad robbers.

"I'd like to wring your neck," growled Danny Fox, looking up in the branches of the Big Chestnut Tree. "I see you now."

"Much good that will do you," tooted the old owl. "And now I'll tell you it was I who warned the Yellow Dog Tramp of the little bunnies' danger."

On hearing this Danny Fox looked at Old Man Weasel and Old Man Weasel looked at Danny Fox. Then without another word they both ran away, the old fox to his home on the rocky hillside, and the old weasel to his cranny in the Stone Fence.

"Well, I'm glad they are out of the way for a while. But now let us go back to the dear Old Bramble Patch, Little Reader, to find out what the poor little frightened rabbits are doing.

"Glad I was able to get here in time," the Yellow Dog Tramp was saying, as little Lady Love, with her bunny boy at her heels, hopped into the kitchen. "Do you know who told me you were in danger?" Of course Lady Love couldn't even guess. She was so a-tremble with fright from what had happened that she could scarcely think. "Hooty Tooty Owl," went on the Yellow Dog Tramp, sitting down in the rocking chair. "He's not such a bad fellow, after all, although he does eat mice and chickens."

"Dear me," at last cried Lady Love, "it's almost morning. I hear Brown Thrush singing."

"Sure enough, the little lady rabbit was right. Gradually the dawn, pink and rosy, spread over the sky; the birds began to sing, and soon Mr. Merry Sun peeked over the eastern hilltop.

"Cock-a-doodle-do. The grass is wet with dew. The deer are drinking at the lake," sang Cocky Doodle in the Farmyard.

"You are indeed a good friend," said Lady Love, patting the Yellow Dog Tramp. "Stop for breakfast. I'll put the kettle on to boil. Dear me, the fire is not made."
