DRESS AND MANTLE MAKING.

The Fashionable West End.
To the Ladies:
We have during the past two years contemplated the establishment of a Dress Making Department, in connection with our other branches. The difficulty of obtaining a suitable person to take charge, has, up to the present time, only prevented us from doing so.
We have now great pleasure in informing you that we have secured the services of Miss Morrison, of Toronto, a lady of first-class abilities, highly recommended to us, and we believe eminently qualified to give complete satisfaction in every respect. Miss Morrison has for the past year occupied the position of cutter and fitter in one of the leading Fashionable Dress Making Establishments in the City of Toronto.
Miss Morrison is also an experienced Mantle maker, and all orders entrusted to her will be executed in a style equal to anything that can be obtained in the largest cities.
Orders for these departments will be received on and after Monday next, the 15th of July.

THIS MORNING'S DISPATCHES

Fight with Knives.

Japan.
The "City of Washington."
High Church.

New York, July 14.—The cholera has broken out in the Ohio Penitentiary, at Columbus. Five cases and two deaths are reported.

Washington, midnight.—Probabilities for the Middle States, rising barometer, south-westerly winds, partly cloudy and clearing weather. For New England south-westerly winds, cloudy weather and occasional local rains. For Lake Region westerly winds, lower temperature and partly cloudy and clearing weather.

New York, July 15.—On Sunday a terrible fight with butcher knives took place in a saloon on Archer Avenue, Chicago, in which John McNally was fatally stabbed by James Curry, whom he had attacked and who appears to have acted in self defence. McNally having driven him into a corner and fought him until he (McNally) died from loss of blood. Dennis Hayes and his wife quarrelled last Saturday night, when the latter, aided by her son, by a former husband, beat him to death with clubs. Greater mortality was in Chicago during last week than for any previous week during this or last year.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Trade in Japan was extremely dull. Farmers were alarmed about the rice crop.

Town and County News.

Knox Church Pic-nic comes off next Friday.

REMEMBER the Wesleyan Sunday School Pic-nic on Thursday next.

PROMOTED.—We are glad to learn that Mr. Black, assistant teacher in the Guelph High School, has obtained the post of head master in the Listowel High School.

TEACHERS attending the examination will be allowed 20 per cent. discount on all purchases made at Day's Bookstore during the examination. See his advertisement.

THE ORANGE DINNER.—In our report yesterday we inadvertently omitted to give the names of the gentlemen who contributed to the enjoyment of the evening by their musical ability. These were Bro. Condon, who sang "Guy Fawkes"; Bro. Armour, "Both Strains"; Bro. Newton, "Crusikkeen Lawn"; and Bro. Allan, "Red White and Blue."

Mr. JOHN ANDERSON requests us to say that teachers attending the examination can have the perusal of any of the volumes on his shelves during their stay in town free. Mr. ANDERSON has an endless amount of instructive works in his store, which teachers no doubt will eagerly take advantage of. He has copies of the DAILY MENTOR of yesterday containing the programme of the examination.

THE EXAMINATIONS.—The half yearly examination of school teachers, for the county of Wellington, commenced yesterday (Monday) in the Drill shed, and will probably last two weeks. The Board of Examiners consists of the Rev. Messrs Kilour & Torrance and Messrs Fordyce and Cadogan. Yesterday's proceedings began with the examination for special certificates in Natural History, Botany, and Agricultural Chemistry; there being four candidates. To-day (Tuesday) the examinations are for second & third class certificates, and will extend over 2 or 3 days, according to the programme published in our issue yesterday.

Our Drill shed presents an interesting spectacle to-day. The long rows of tables and forms occupied by neatly dressed youth of both sexes, remind one of a large tea party, except that on such occasions the youth and maidens, not to mention their elders, usually sit a wee bit closer than do our anxious examinees. Then in place of steaming bolus and twinkling of the modest bread and butter and the indigestible sweet things, we have pens and ink and formidable-looking "cap sheets"; and no doubt the careful-looking students don't enjoy these "bounties" quite so much as they would the others.

The School Board.

The annual meeting of the School Board was held yesterday (Monday) evening. Mr. Peterson, Chairman of the Board, presided, and there were present Messrs. Kennedy, Robt. Mitchell, Nelson, Knowles, Raymond, Mackenzie, Bell, Stevenson, Harvey, Murton, Inglis, Drs. Macquire and Keating.

The Secretary read the minutes of last meeting, which were approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was read from the Education Department, calling attention to a statement in the report of the Public School Inspector, as follows:—"The available school accommodation is not adequate for one-half of the school population of the town, nor even for those whose names were enrolled during the year." Attention was called to the neglect of the Board to comply with section two of School Act, requesting an explanation from the Board before paying the year's grant.

Also from Mr. Fergus Black, tendering his resignation as assistant teacher of the Guelph High School in consequence of his having been appointed head master of Listowel High School.

Several accounts were brought before the Board and passed.

THE NEW CENTRAL SCHOOL.

Mr. Knowles presented the report of the Special Committee in reference to the new central school. It was in two portions—the first as to the site, and the second regarding the building. In relation to the site, the committee reported that in their opinion, no site had been or could be designated which would be superior or all equal to that fixed upon by the Board. A very important fact seemed not to be known to some of the petitioners against the present site, namely, that the Town Council had enclosed a part of Cambridge Street, half an acre in extent, and deeded it to the Board on the express stipulation that the school should be built there, and that parties in the vicinity of the street had consented to this on that understanding. It would be impossible to break faith with these persons; the attempt to do so would expose the Board to serious consequences. Again, many of the petitioners were not aware of the fact that the Board owned 1 1/2 acres of ground on the hill where the new Central School is to be built, and on learning this expressed their surprise and satisfaction with the site. Besides this, there were wide streets around it which would be business streets; and the committee had no doubt but that they could secure another half-acre of ground near the site, if deemed desirable, at a small outlay. As it was, however, they possessed a large piece of property in one of the most commanding positions in the town, accessible on all sides, with streets leading to it in all directions, free from noise or unpleasant surroundings, with ample space for future additions if necessary. The committee believed that if the building was completed, it and the site would be found the best which could be designated, taking all circumstances into account, and where children from all the wards in the town could conveniently attend. For these reasons the committee could not recommend any change in the site selected.

The second portion of the report states that the committee have had the plans of the school-house modified with a view to reducing the cost as much as possible, and submit amended plans and specifications, which they approve of, and would recommend that tenders be advertised for immediately.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The Inspector read his half-yearly report, and the report of the examinations for the second quarter of the current year, in which he stated that upwards of 1,300 pupils had been enrolled for the half-year, and that he had caused the names of those in the different schools who had distinguished themselves among their fellow-pupils for punctuality, regularity and proficiency. The report closed by recommending the purchase of certain requisites for the two classes in the Senior Girls' School. It also stated that a class of 100 pupils had been enrolled for the month of June alone—giving both the average and the aggregate attendance of boys and girls.

COMMITTEE ON SCHOOL PROPERTY.

Mr. Knowles presented the report of this Committee. It stated that six applications had been received for the office of caretaker, advertised as vacant.

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL SITE.

Mr. Raymond moved, seconded by Mr. Harvey, that the report in reference to the site be adopted.

Mr. Martin said he objected to the site. Some persons had spoken as if none but those who had children were capable of forming a correct judgment on this matter. Well, he had no children, yet he had a strong opinion on the question. He did not like the situation, and could not vote for it.

Mr. Inglis thought there was some error in the report. A portion of the ground referred to in the report was to be applied to the girls' school, and the land appropriated for that purpose could not be taken for any other, so that there was not really more than an acre available for the Central School.

Mr. Stevenson remarked that the land was had from the Canada Company for half price on condition of putting the school there. Some persons said that the site was a mere flea-bite; it was the money the building was to cost that was the great point. It was strange that those who were so careful about our boys had not also some consideration about our girls.

The resolution was then carried.

COST OF BUILDING.

The Board then went into committee of the whole on the plans referred to in the second portion of the committee's report. Alterations had been made in these plans which would reduce the cost of the new school some $5,000 or $6,000. The chief of these alterations were dispensing with the lofty tower of stone, and substituting therefor a wooden belfry leaving out the "string courses" and buttresses, which were merely of an ornamental character; taking 24 feet off the height of the main wall; and remembering that the bell 24 ft. high instead of 30 ft., but allowing more pitch to the roof.

Mr. Raymond moved, seconded by Mr. Knowles, that the amended plans be adopted, and tenders asked for.

One or two members having expressed dissent, Dr. Keating remarked that the acceptance of the resolution did not bind the Board in any way, because if the amount of the tenders be asked for were too high, it was still competent for the Board to further modify the plans. He was much pleased with the character of the modifications by which the saving in cost had been effected. In its essential features the building presented the same purity and propriety of architecture as before. It would be an ornament to the town and a credit to Western Ontario. A considerable diminution of expense had been effected, and the general character of the building remained the same. He felt sure that the town would sustain them in erecting a building costing from $30,000 to $32,000; but the town would point at them with the finger of scorn if they were to erect a shabby building which would be a lasting monument of their incapacity. There were many handsome buildings now in the town, and the genius of the age seemed to be to combine the useful and the ornamental in architecture.

The resolution was passed, and the committee rose and reported.

Mr. Raymond moved, and Mr. Knowles seconded, the same resolution in Council, with the addition that tenders should be advertised for to be sent in not later than Saturday, the 26th inst. The mover remarked that they were putting up a building twice the size of the Town Hall for half the cost.

Mr. Kennedy doubted whether they could make a reduction of $6,000 by the modifications shown. He thought that the modified plan could be carried out for a total cost of $35,000, but it could not be done for $32,000.

It was remarked in the course of conversation that there would be every facility afforded for inspecting the plans, as they would be laid out in the Council Chamber.

The resolution was then carried.

CARETAKER.

The Board went into committee on the applications received for this office, and after the applications had been read, the matter was referred to the School Property Committee.

The Board adjourned at a few minutes after nine o'clock.

The East Ward Nomination.
Subjoined is a fuller report of the speeches at the nomination than we were able to give yesterday:

Mr. McCrae said he had no objection at all to speak, as he was not afraid of anything that might come afterwards. In regard to the question which caused Mr. Bell's resignation, he (the speaker) would not express an opinion as to whether or not it was right to give bonuses to manufacturers; but he thought the point had not been fairly and fully discussed, and if a man who runs a manufactory which employs 1,000 men is entitled to a bonus, then one who employs only ten men is entitled to a bonus in the same ratio. He felt strongly, however, that when the town issued an advertisement, signed by the Mayor and the Town Clerk, holding out inducements to manufacturers to come here, and making certain promises, those promises should be redeemed, and redeemed in a liberal spirit. He was a manufacturer, as Mr. Bell was, and if the Council were to decide to give bonuses, and a proposition were made to give a bonus to a manufacturer in the same branch of business as himself, this fact should not hinder him from voting for such a bonus. (Applause.) Though he could not uphold Mr. Bell in his resignation, he objected strongly to the proceedings which Mr. Bell stated were the cause of his leaving the Council. In reference to the matter of street improvements, they knew what his course had been when in the Council before. He did what he thought was best and right; if he thought a street was deserving of a grant he gave it. He wanted no favour for anyone, and if returned he would endeavour to act as he had acted in the past, not only as regards this matter, but other public questions. Speaking of the removal of the English Church, he remarked that that was a benefit to the town, and he had favoured it; but it ought to have been done when the first offer for it was made, at the time he was in the Council before. It was a loss to the town that the first offer was not accepted. On the question of the Central Exhibition he had seen fit to take a course opposed to the one which he had taken at that time. He was not antagonistic to the Exhibition, for he had endeavoured to make the Exhibition a success, and would still do his best to make it a success. When the land was proposed to be bought he went for it; he thought it was well the corporation should have a place there; but as to their spending so much money on the buildings, he believed that the neighbouring townships were more interested in the matter than were we, for the only thing we had was the benefit of the visitors in the town, and the name of the thing. The townships of Eramosa, Puslinch, and Guelph should have given us aid, and no doubt would have done so if the matter had been properly dealt with. He thought the park should be made free to all, and to make a pleasure ground for the inhabitants. It ought to be made attractive. As to letting the building to private parties he did not see why responsible and respectable persons should not be allowed to use it, and derive a benefit from it if they could do so. In going through the Ward there were certain matters connected with a leading manufacturing establishment there which had been attempted to be made a test question; but he refused positively to accept this as a test question. It was a matter not quite within the province of the Council, and was under the direction of the Board of Health, and he would not pledge himself in regard to it further than that he would do all he could for the sanitary condition of the town, and remembering that vested rights have an interest to be considered, and that things could not be forced on all at once. He believed it was the intention of the manufacturers in question to remove the matter complained of as far as possible, at least in the summer. Certain differences had occurred between himself and a prominent man-chant of this Town who had promised him support and then acted against him. He confessed that this caused him much annoyance, and he had refused in consequence to support that gentleman at the last election. He had thought better of the matter since, and was free to say that if the conference was now instead of then, he would not use the same hard expressions nor feel in the same way as he did then. And he wished now to have it distinctly understood that if any elector had promised him a vote, and on reflection preferred to vote for Mr. Davidson, the voter was at perfect liberty to do so—he (the speaker) freely released him from his promise, and would entertain no hard feelings towards him. He hoped Mr. Davidson would act in the same manner, and they would have a fair straightforward contest. He would also state that his workpeople were perfectly at liberty to vote for his opponent if they desired.

Mr. Hogg asked the name of the leading merchant Mr. McCrae referred to.

Mr. McCrae replied, repeating that his feelings were now changed on the matter, and sat down without giving the name.

Mr. Davidson said, referring to the resignation of Mr. Bell, that Mr. McCrae came out under the auspices of the very men who had indeed manufactured to come to town and then refused to carry out the promises they had made. He was as much opposed to bonuses to manufacturers as Mr. McCrae, because if a business was not able to stand on its own legs it was not good for much. Mr. McCrae would no doubt carry out the views of those who brought him forward. When he was formerly in the Council he left because his business required so much attention; yet now, when his business had doubled, he came out again. The fact was, he was only brought forward to oppose him (Mr. Davidson), so that his backers might have a majority in squandering the people's money; and as a specimen of this, the Council were now about to issue $20,000 debentures to pay for their extravagance in buying more property than the assessment of the town would cover. He would have opposed this.

Mr. Hogg interrupted the speaker with a reference to the Elmira road, charging him with wasting 25 per cent. of the funds of the undertaking, and of never working without being well paid.

Mr. Davidson warmly denied the imputation, and a hot discussion ensued, both talking at once at the top of their lungs. Just at this moment a locomotive outside thought it would also blow off a little steam, and the effect of the three struggling each to be heard above the others was indescribably comical.

Mr. Davidson continued. He condemned the extravagance of the Council, and said that when he was chairman of the Finance Committee he always came out with a balance to his credit. The present assessment of 1 1/2 per cent. would not cover the money required by the town; it had risen 25 per cent. As to St. George's Church, $1,750 was paid for it in excess of what the town might have got it for previously. If it was returned to the town, it should favour retrenchment. All the money he spent on Elmira road was used in buying the right of way.

Mr. Melvin thought it was most unbecoming that Mr. Davidson should charge Mr. McCrae with going in under the influence of a clique. He (Mr. Melvin) had not spoken to anyone before asking Mr. McCrae to stand. It was untrue that Mr. McCrae came out under the auspices of men who were prepared to run the town into debt. Mr. McCrae was a good councillor, and no such feelings had prompted him to come forward. Such insinuations were destructive of good neighbourly feeling, and were very improper.

Mr. McCrae—Does Mr. Davidson think that I would support a measure which was against the interests of the town, merely because certain gentlemen brought it forward?

Mr. Davidson said he did not go so far as that, but if a difference was to be made Mr. McCrae would intend to support those who brought him out.

Mr. McCrae said that if a thing was right he would support it, and if it was wrong he would oppose it. He had supported measures brought up in the Council by men whom he was personally opposed to, because he approved of those measures. He and Mr. Heffernan, to whom he was opposed, once stood up alone together in the Council against a certain proposal.

Mr. Massie said Mr. Davidson was one of the supporters of the Central Exhibition Park so long as it was proposed to buy a piece of land which he was interested in, but when another and better lot was suggested, he turned round and opposed the Park proposition altogether. Mr. Davidson made baseless charges, and could never come before the public without creating some unpleasant feeling. He had made himself so obnoxious previous to the last time he was elected that he had to be carried in under the wing of the member for the South Ward.

Mr. Davidson denied the latter allegation.

Mr. Fahy having spoken briefly in favour of Mr. Davidson's candidature, the meeting closed.

Mr. Bresson, the Reform candidate, Beauharnois, has been elected by an overwhelming majority.

Will They Prorogue Without Discussion?

It is currently rumored in Ottawa that the Cabinet have resolved upon proroguing the Dominion Parliament immediately upon its reassembling, and that Sir John has obtained the Lower Provinces to obtain His Excellency's consent. Although this statement comes from Ministerial sources, and accords closely with that policy of delay which has been forced upon the Pacific Scandal Committee since its appointment, we cannot bring ourselves to believe in its correctness. Why Sir John and his colleagues might think it advisable to take such a step is obvious enough. Discussion upon the "scandal" would be shut off, the plant 107 would not be compelled to incur expenses in travelling at their own charges from their homes to the seat of Government, and further enquiry into the Allan purchase of members and Government would be indefinitely postponed. All this would be very convenient to the Ministry and their supporters, but bold as they have hitherto been in their cool contempt of public opinion, there is a limit to popular forbearance, and even they will not venture to brave it. Enough has been placed before the world in the Allan correspondence to show the strong reasons which induced Mr. Huntington to prefer his charges, and Canadians will not rest satisfied with less than a full and early investigation. Parliament owes it to itself to see that the accusation of wholesale bribery of its members is established or disproved, while it is peculiarly the province of the Opposition, as of innocent men upon the Ministerial side, to insist upon prompt and exhaustive enquiry. If His Excellency is advised to interfere with a prorogation, they will be relieved from the responsibility attaching to those who desire to delay; but the duty of every member professing Reform principles, to be present at the reassembling of the House and to use every legitimate means to enable the Committee to pursue its work, is so clear that we shall not urge it. That the representatives of Wellington will be in their places we do not doubt, and that Ontario will be fully represented is equally certain.

When the Committee reports it will inform the House that the desire to have evidence upon oath cannot now be complied with. The accusers of the Government can afford to dispense with that which, amongst ordinary men, has come to be regarded as possessing little other value than that of empty formality. If a man is truthful he will give honest testimony when unsworn. If a witness wishes to conceal the truth, he does not cease the attempt because he has kissed the Gospels. To refuse to give evidence when called upon is generally regarded as fair proof of desire to conceal a damaging statement, while in this enquiry, where the highest legal talent of Ontario and Quebec will be arrayed on either side, no witness will easily evade the searching questions put to him. The facts, then, can be readily procured from those who are likely to be called upon as evidence, whether sworn or not. Members of the Government, members of Parliament, editors of newspapers, public contractors, and men moving in our highest social circles, can surely be relied upon to tell "a plain unvarnished tale," even if not subjected to the formal and solemn declaration that they will speak "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." If they cannot be so trusted, then have they sunk lower than even the Allan exposures would lead us to suppose. Mr. Huntington is willing to trust to the unsworn testimony of members of the Government, and those in complicity with them, to determine the truth of that which he has asserted, and will throw no obstacles in the way of the immediate prosecution of the labors of the Committee. In this he will be supported by every member of the Opposition. If the Government seek still further to stifle enquiry and cut off exposures, by proroguing the House or insisting upon the administration of oaths, their guilt will be taken as already proven, and men who still hesitate as to the extent of their criminality will be warranted in regarding the Huntington charges as fully and fairly established.

OR THE TEMPTATION.
CHAPTER XXVIII.

WHAT BEHEF JIM POTT.
Not then or there, however, was he to be killed, for he was ordered to rise and climb up the heights to the level ground of the forest, whither they were all now going. Jim's arms being bound behind him, he felt this a difficult feat, and many an awkward stumble he made, with the risk of tumbling back and rolling to the brink of the river, but his energy and agility were wonderfully quickened by the pricking of a spear which the Indian immediately behind him carried in his hand, and the point of which he applied unmercifully whenever the captive gave signs of losing his foothold. This proved a wonderful spur to Jim's dexterity, and he managed to gain the top, though not without receiving more than one severe prod which sent a pang through his whole frame and caused the blood to flow.

"You cursed red wagabond," was the internal anathema which the pain forced from Jim's indignant heart, "I had you free and equal on the green, I'd pummel you to a jelly, you mean brute. Do it again and I'll kick out with a weight will surprise you—all's all."
Fortunately, both for Jim and the Indian himself, the former did not require to execute the manoeuvre he meditated, for they had now got upon the gentler upper slope, where the ascent was more easy of accomplishment, and next minute they were in the forest and pursuing the trail which led to the village.

The distance was much greater than Jim had supposed, and long before they reached it a torchlight procession came forth to meet them, composed principally of women, whose weird howls of lamentation made the night hideous. Evidently the news had been conveyed of the death of one of their warriors, and the loud wailing cries were a demonstration of grief.

When the procession was come forward the Indians who bore the body halted, and, as these led the van, those behind halted likewise, and Jim saw the light of the torches fall on the still dusky form which had been laid on the ground. The wailings had ceased now, and utter silence followed as the women came forward and gazed on the stiff, rigid face of the dead warrior. Then, in the midst of the same silence, the women stood aside, and a tall squaw entered the circle, and stood with bowed head over the corpse. She shed no tear, nor did a muscle of her face quiver, but she stood there like a stone with her gaze fixed on the settled and motionless features, every one around maintaining meanwhile a perfect silence.

For many minutes she stood thus; then she stretched out her hand, laid it gently on the cold brow, gathered her robe around her, and turned slowly and majestically away.

The moment she had passed beyond the circle of women who held the torches a handsome young warrior stepped before her, and stood there with his hand upon his bosom, and a supplicating look in his dark glittering eyes. Then he addressed her in the Indian tongue, and at the end of his impassioned speech she put her hand in his, and he led her away with a proud triumphant glance into the shrouded gloom of the forest.

"That's wot I call very quick work indeed," was the self-reflection of Jim as he witnessed this strange scene. "In course that was the wife of the drowned Indian, and that was her marriage with another. Lor, but them savages have queer notions. Hilloa! is this another wife come to be married over the husband's corpse?"

This silent exclamation on the part of Jim was caused by the appearance of another squaw who passed within the circle and approached the corpse. A second glance at her, however, showed him that she could not be his wife, for she was an old, withered, weasened hag of a creature, low of stature, yellow with age, and ugly to look upon.

She, too, bent over the drenched corpse, not silently as the other had done, for she gave vent to a long dismal howl, and flung her withered arms over the inanimate clay.

"His mother," thought Jim, "Well, them red savages have natural feelings as well as white Christians."
Jim's conjecture was correct. This was the old mother of the dead brave, and she did not seek under a show of stoical indifference to conceal her grief, but continued for some minutes to manifest its intensity by shrill lamentations, no one seeking to disturb her, but all patiently waiting till she had done, when the body was lifted by a different set of bearers, and the procession removed its march to the village.

They reached it at length; and as it still wanted an hour or two of dawn, most of the Indians sought the interior of the huts, doubtless to resume the repose which the flight of their prisoners had so effectually interrupted.

As for Jim, who was now their solitary captive, he was bound with a multiplicity of cords till every part of every limb was secured by sharp thongs most tightly tied, and he was laid like a log at the foot of a tree, with a guard of two appointed to watch him, a duty which they performed with a vigilance which could not have been greater had his limbs been free or the power of flight in his possession.

Wet and wretched though he was, and notwithstanding the forlorn and hopeless character of his position, Jim slept. He was so utterly weary and worn out that not even the prospect of death which was before him could suffice to deprive nature longer of its needed rest. So he fell asleep, and the slumbers of the happy days of his childhood had not been sounder, for utter oblivion sealed his senses till some hours after sunrise, when he suddenly awoke, wholly unmindful of where he was or what was his condition.

The pain and numbness of his bound limbs was the first thing to bring him to a realisation of his unenviable state, then the shining, oily face of a painted Indian as it was bent down upon him completed the process of recollection.

LOCALS.
Remember the MAPLE LEAF meeting at the Queen's to-night—8.15. Special.
The SILVER STARS of Port Hope are agitating for a half-holiday on the 24th—the day the CHAMPIONS play them when their tour. If they succeed the Port Hope folks will turn out strong—so the paper says.

PARKER'S and DRADY'S match comes off this afternoon on the Maple Leaf ground. The REGULATORS played a very good practice last night—1st nine again! The field, three innings each and 4 runs total. Go on improving, boys.

A poster, from Ottawa no doubt, says the MAPLE LEAF of Guelph are to play the OTTAWA Club for the championship in Ottawa next Wednesday. Not posted.

The HAYMAKERS make an awful noise at night—more'n two threshing machines.

CRICKET.
The cricket match to-morrow, LONDON vs. TORONTO, promises to be interesting. London has a strong eleven ready.

LACROSSE.
The great Lacrosse Match yesterday afternoon terminated in favor of the CAROLINAVANS—by 3 to 1. The first game occupied about half an hour, and was won by the CAROLINAVANS. The second was won very easily in about a minute, by one of the SHAMROCKS, who ran over the whole field himself, and by a splendid throw put it clean through the goal. The remaining two games were won by the Indians in quick order.

A great struggle was witnessed all through the games, and some hard knocks were exchanged when the ball touched on delicate ground anywhere round the goals. The Indians are a body of well-built men, and are not easy to defeat; whilst the SHAMROCKS are also a good strong team, and not a match for their comrades in a real scientific game. As long as game and game can be won and lost as arranged, perhaps by interested persons to line their pockets, the public may look on very good naturedly, but in a real live game for the championship of the Indians world, we think, come out first best. There was a very fair attendance of spectators on the ground, who enjoyed the sport admirably.

The two teams left by the Grand Trunk morning train for the west, after having been substantially looked after during their stay in town by mine host of the Albion hotel.

The Venerable Archdeacon Scott, of Dunham, Canada East, says that he has freed from Dyspepsia more than twenty-five years, but that three weeks' use of the Peruvian Syrup (an Iron Tonic) has benefited him so wonderfully that he can hardly persuade himself of the reality and people who know him are astonished at the change.

DELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA.
Sandy Creek, Aug. 31st, 1872.
This Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya prepared by you I have been for two years using largely in my practice, and I assure you that in my judgment there is no preparation of its kind that can compare with it where it is applicable. With feeble, anemic women, of whom we have so many, and in cases convalescing from prostrating diseases I should hardly know how to get along without it. In Dyspepsia it acts like a charm—in fact in any of the long list of exhaustive diseases it is the remedy.
I am, yours truly,
J. LYMAN BUCKLEY, M.D.

Iron in the Blood
AN IRON TONIC
MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protocids of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the Blood, and cures the diseases simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damage, and waste, sending out a vivid serenity, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of its success in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhea, Debility, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a debilitated state of the blood, or accompanied by debility, or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its curative effects are not followed by corresponding reactions, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new blood into the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women. It is a simple, but a powerful, and a safe remedy, and it is a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. Pamphlets Free.
