LARGE SUBMARINES GIVE UP IN BATCH OF TWENTY-EIGHT

Most Imposing German Flotilla Yet Hauls Down Colors.

FOUR BIG CRUISERS Noted Deutschland Comes to Surrender to British Navy.

Harwich, England, Nov. 24.—In the presence of Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, 28 more German U-boats surrendered today. This was the most imposing flotilla to haul down the German flag thus far.

It included several very large submarines and four of the cruiser type, one being nearly 350 feet in length.

The noted cruiser submarine Deutschland U-153 was among the number. She carried two American officers, who had been rescued from the American army cargo ship Ticonderoga, torpedoed on Sept. 30 last.

The officers were taken to Kiel by the Deutschland, which was returning from a three months' cruise in American waters, and were landed today at Harwich.

Another surrendered boat was the U-139, which had just returned to a German port after a 64 days' cruise, commanded by Lieut-Commander Arnaud de la Perriere, who in 1916 was awarded the Order Pour le Merite for sinking 126 vessels. The U-139, however, was brought in by a first lieutenant, who explained that Perriere was too sad to undertake the duty.

GERMAN ARMY UNABLE TO RESUME FIGHTING

Von Hindenburg Blames Armistice and Internal Conditions for Weakness.

Berne, Switzerland, Nov. 24.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, according to the semi-official Wolff Agency, has telegraphed the Berlin Government asserting categorically that the German army, because of the hard terms of the armistice and of the internal situation, is in no position to renew fighting. The German military leader added that even operations against the French army alone would be impossible.

London, Nov. 23.—Right Hon. James Lowther presided today at a meeting of the Empire Parliamentary Association at the houses of parliament at which many peers and commoners were present. He urged the continuance of similar services, which would be even more invaluable in future than in the past.

TO RESTRICT SUB WAR ON MERCHANT SHIPPING

Proposal to Come Before Peace Conference for Preventing Recurrence of Lusitania Disaster—Negotiations Expected to Open in January.

Paris, Nov. 24.—Restriction of submarine operations against merchant ships so as to prevent attacks like that against the Lusitania, doubtlessly will be proposed in the discussion by the peace congress of the "freedom of the seas," question.

It is the view of leading naval authorities who have examined this branch of the subject that submarine operations should be limited to attacking warships forming the regular part of a navy. Attacks would be prohibited against merchant ships, either passenger or freight, and whether armed defensively or otherwise.

According to this view submarines would continue to be an arm of a naval service but their use would be confined strictly to naval warfare.

This and many other subjects to come before the peace congress are now in a formative state as it will be some time, perhaps a fortnight, before the regular sittings of the inter-allied conference are resumed to arrange the preliminaries of the congress.

Colonel House III. In the meantime, none of the British, Italian or other foreign delegates is here except Colonel E. M. House, the American representative to the conference, who is confined to his bed with the grippe. Several members of his staff also are down with the prevailing epidemic.

But those engaged with the preliminaries are going ahead, and diplomatic circles are actively discussing various phases of the big questions ahead.

According to information from one quarter negotiations for the signing of preliminaries of peace cannot commence until January.

The discussion will take about a month and a half, so that the signing of the protocol would not occur before the end of February. This will necessitate a renewal of the armistice, which expires on Dec. 17, unless extended before that time.

The Americans have taken the Hotel Clifton, facing the Place de la Concorde, and the adjoining extensive office quarters formerly occupied by the American Red Cross.

The British have taken the largest hotels Majestic and Astoria on the Champs Elysees. The Belgian mission has taken the Hotel Lutetia, on the left bank of the Seine, and the Hotel Louvre, on the Avenue d'Opera, also has been requisitioned. In all some 25 of the largest hotels in Paris have been taken, creating a great stringency in hotel accommodations, so that army and navy officers and men are finding the greatest difficulty in securing quarters.

No Need to Protest. It is declared that Marshal Foch, the allied commander-in-chief, has said he will give no heed to protests of the German armistice delegates made thru communications from Foreign Minister Sof concerning the manner of carrying out the armistice. This official doubtless will carry no weight with the staff officers who may be made by the Germans.

The armistice as a whole lasts 36 days from the date of the signing, and the right of extension and the right of withdrawal on 24 hours' notice. The evacuation of Alsace-Lorraine must be completed by Nov. 26 and the withdrawal of the German troops from the Rhine country designated in the armistice is limited to Dec. 12.

A renunciation of the armistice probably will carry it beyond the fulfillment of the peace congress, when fuller consideration can be given to its continuance.

EXEMPLIFIES SURENESS OF SEA POWER'S WORK

British Admiralty Address Message of Felicitation to Royal Navy on Deeds.

London, Nov. 24.—The admiralty has addressed a message of felicitation to the royal navy and the royal marines as follows:

The admiralty desire to express to the officers and men of the royal navy and the royal marines on the completion of their great work, their congratulations on a triumph to which history knows no parallel. The surrender of the German fleet, accompanied without the shock of battle, of the wonderful silence and sureness with which our sea power attained its end. The world recognizes that this consummation is due to the steadfastness with which the navy has maintained its position on the enemy throughout the long monotony of waiting in the rare opportunities of attack.

KING WILL VISIT PARIS WITH CONGRATULATIONS

Paris, Nov. 24.—Great preparations are being made for the visit of King George to France this week. President Poincare and members of the French Government will meet the King at the railway station, whence a procession will drive to the foreign office, where a suite of rooms has been reserved for the use of the King and his party during their stay in Paris.

The official object of the King's visit is to convey personally to the president his congratulations on the successful termination of the war. King George will pay an official visit to the president on Thursday, the day of his arrival, and in the evening will be given by the president at the Elysee Palace. On Friday, there will be a reception at the British embassy, and on Saturday the King will leave Paris to visit the armies.

ALLEES ENCOUNTER STRONG OPPOSITION

Bolsheviki Offer Stubborn Resistance on Vologda-Archangel Railway.

Archangel, Nov. 24.—The allied troops have encountered strong opposition both on the Vologda-Archangel railway and on the Dwina River. Owing to the swampy condition of the terrain it has been necessary to confine operations to the waterway and the railway. As the upper part of the river is deeper than at its mouth the Bolsheviki craft, equipped with large guns, have been better able to maintain their offensive ships, and have prevented the occupation of Kotlas by the entente.

A plan is under discussion in military circles for the creation of a voluntary army for Russian relief should the allies agree upon the policy of feeding Russia.

Daylight in Archangel now is of only four hours' duration, and this fact, with the fogs, facilitates the guerrilla warfare of the Bolsheviki operating in the shelter of the forests. It is believed that evacuation of the Archangel district by the allies would probably result in the murder of the entire population friendly to the entente by the Bolsheviki, just as the elements antagonistic to the Bolsheviki were slaughtered in the Vologda district.

The districts regarding Bolshevism, as the correspondent declares, are unwilling to overlook.

ROYALTY REVIEWS SILVER BADGE MEN

Scenes of Wild Enthusiasm Occur During Impressive Function.

London, Nov. 24.—There were scenes of wild enthusiasm in Hyde Park yesterday during the review of the "silver badge" men—those who have served in the forces and since have been discharged on account of wounds or other physical disabilities.

The review was presided over by the Duke of Connaught, Gen. Sir William Robertson, commander of the forces in Great Britain, and the staff officers rode past the lines, the men forming three sides of a square, there were demonstrations of loyalty.

When the King's review of the section, the men suddenly broke ranks and crowded about him, grasping his hands, and the Duke of Connaught and Staff officers were surrounded by the men, who were shouting and waving their hats.

"God bless you, dear boys!" exclaimed the queen mother as she shook hands with as many of the men as she could.

An attempt was made to take the horses from the carriage so that the king might pull it himself, but officers and mounted police persuaded them to fall into line again. The King then rode to the saluting base and the men marched by.

In his address to the men, the King said: "I am glad to have met you today and to have looked into the faces of those who, for the defense of home and the empire, were ready to give up their all and have sacrificed their limbs, sight, hearing and health. Your wounds, the honor of your country, and the strength to bear them. As your King, I thank you. I all honor you and wish that I could be with you in the front lines. You have done your duty. That you may live long and enjoy with happiness the peace which you have so hard won is the most earnest wish of my heart."

STRASSBURG'S ENTRY TO FINISH LIBERATION

Paris, Nov. 24.—The entry of French troops into Strassburg will complete the liberation of Alsace. The military occupation of the city with King of Belgium present, with Marshal Foch says the Petit Journal, will be followed by another ceremony.

At a conference of President Poincare, Premier Clemenceau, Marshal Foch at the Elysee Palace it was decided that the entry of the civil authorities would take place on Dec. 8, in the presence of the president, the premier, and members of the cabinet and deputations from the senate and the chamber. They will leave Paris on a special train on the night of Dec. 6.

PEACE CONFERENCE AT PARIS TO PRESENT BIG DAMAGE BILL

TEN THOUSAND WAR VETERANS FOR TORONTO WITHIN A MONTH

Ten thousand war veterans are expected to reach the City of Toronto within one week from today.

Six thousand of these returned soldiers are due to reach a Canadian Atlantic coast port on Wednesday of this week.

A big proportion of these 10,000 returning soldiers, several thousand of them, will be for the City of Toronto. The others will take in central Ontario.

It is generally expected that the "Original First," the Canadian contingent, now in France, will be the next to reach Canada and Toronto, and that their arrival will be timed closely following that of the 10,000 war veterans now homeward bound.

HAMBURG IS CAPITAL OF A NEW REPUBLIC

German Workmen Decree North Sea Coast Independent and Rhineland is Embraced in Separatist Movement from Prussia.

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 24.—All telegraphic communication between Germany and Switzerland has been interrupted. It is believed here that there has been some unusual occurrence in Germany to cause this interruption.

Coast Area Republic. Copenhagen, Nov. 24.—German newspapers report that the united workers' and soldiers' councils have proclaimed Ogdensburg, Oestfriesland, and Bremen, Hamburg and Schleswig-Holstein a republic. The capital will be at Hamburg.

The districts named comprise all the North Sea coast of the German Empire from Holland to Denmark. Bremen and Hamburg are the two most important German shipping ports and are free cities. The Kiel Canal traverses Holstein.

Workers' Wart Power. Berlin, Nov. 24.—The soldiers' and workmen's council for Greater Kiel has adopted a resolution declaring that all authority be invested in the council until the fruits of the revolution can be safeguarded, according to Red Flag, the organ of Dr. Liebknecht, the radical socialist. The resolution declares that the principal industries and all great landed properties should be national property.

All legislation, it is declared, shall be in the direction of the socialization of the state in collaboration with the soldiers and workers' councils. The bourgeois class is to be excluded.

Separatism in Rhineland. The movement to withdraw from Germany and create a separate republic is gaining ground rapidly in the Rhineland, according to reports from Cologne to the Socialist Vorwaerts. The movement on the part of the radicals is a result of the Prussian Government's announcement of its intention to disestablish the church.

Recent events in Berlin also apparently have increased the fears of the Rhinelanders regarding Bolshevism, as the correspondent declares: "We shall have to reckon with a serious situation unless an immediate reorganization is reached in Berlin and the date of elections to the constituent assembly set with the greatest speed."

Situation Dangerous. "I cannot be denied or concealed that the situation becomes more difficult and more dangerous every day," says Theodor Wolff in The Tagblatt, referring to a statement attributed to Field Marshal von Hindenburg regarding alleged French plans for the permanent conquest of German territory.

Herr Wolff declares that all south German states are in a state of alarm, and that the situation is beginning to take the form of a crisis. He points out that the reported Polish aggression against the eastern borders of Germany may have fatal consequences in regard to the provisioning of Berlin.

Count Reventlow, in The Tageszeitung, takes the same standpoint, declaring that only a speedy primary peace can prevent a catastrophe.

BANDITS CAPTURED AFTER LONG CHASE

Murders of Saskatchewan Constables Surrendered When Surrounded.

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 24.—Victor Carmel and Jean Baptiste Germain, the bandits who murdered James McKay and Corp. Horsley, were captured at 10:30 p.m. this morning in a straw stack at the farm of Charles W. Young, on the bank of the North Saskatchewan River, six miles north of Prince Albert.

They were in a state almost bordering on collapse from hunger and exposure, and were taken without a struggle. The stack was surrounded by police and citizens and a demand was made upon them to come out and put up their hands, otherwise the stack would be fired into. The men crawled out from a hole thru which they had burrowed into the pile and were immediately handcuffed.

They carried small revolvers, having thrown away their rifles earlier in the morning, when they were fired at by their d'sticts at midnight, Saturday, T. Goodfellow.

Twenty-six are for the d'sticts and will leave by C. G. R. train tomorrow morning. A party for Toronto and the west, as well as Nova Scotia, left for Halifax this evening. Saturday, Nov. 24, will leave tomorrow. Lieut-Col. W. M. Yates, D.S.O. of Swift Current, Sask., was in charge of the returning party.

VOL. XXXVIII.—No. 13,893 TWO CENTS

Britain Has Large Claims for Shipping Losses and War Expenses—France Wants Sixty-two Billion Dollars Compensation, According to Unofficial Computation.

Paris, Nov. 23.—Premier Clemenceau's intended visit to London early in December doubtless will give him an opportunity to discuss a number of the important issues to come before the inter-allied conference and the peace congress, with Premier Lloyd George. A. J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, and other British leaders who are detained in England by the election campaign.

Announcement of the premier's intention to go to England follows the visit to Paris of Paul Cambon, French ambassador to Great Britain, who is believed to have acquainted the authorities here with the prevailing British sentiment on the main points under discussion.

While there has been no authoritative announcement, it is announced that a considerable advance has been made in discussing preliminary details and that a very thorough examination now is going on concerning any questions likely to come before the conference and the congress, particularly economic questions and reservations made by the allies in accepting President Wilson's 14 points as the terms upon which peace could be made.

The economic questions are assuming a marked prominence since the announcement that an American jury, including a large staff of economic and shipping experts, was coming to Paris, and the presence on this side of the Atlantic of Edward N. Taft and other American economic and shipping authorities.

The main discussions appear to center around President Wilson's third point, which was accepted without reservation by the allies, providing for the removal of all economic and political barriers. It is this point which is being discussed most extensively.

The growth of American shipping during the war is being discussed, and it is being pointed out that the American shipping industry has grown to such an extent that it will present questions of adopting America's higher standard of wages to seamen and of giving America its proportion of the world's carrying trade. How far such questions will come before the congress are not clear, but Premier Clemenceau's attitude toward the labor delegate who visited him yesterday concerning a labor meeting simultaneously with the peace congress leads to the belief that they will have as much prominence in the conference as political and territorial questions.

Freedom of the seas and compensation by Germany for all damages suffered by the allies are two questions for further discussion and determination.

Concerning freedom of the seas the tendency in American quarters is to obtain a change in the present international practice by which the seagoing vessels are virtually under the control of the nations whose flag they fly. It is maintained that the neutrals would be the ones to profit by carrying ammunition and other war supplies. It is said that some voluntary agreement would also be necessary, if the neutrals are not to furnish supplies to countries going to war. This in turn would require an international sea patrol and the right of search at sea. While these questions are being discussed they are so complex that no decisions are likely for some time.

Other points involved under the general head of freedom of the seas are the removal of all restrictions from free passage thru waterways as the Cattegat between the North and Baltic Seas; the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, between the Mediterranean and the Black Seas, and all straits exceeding one marine league which connect with the high seas. The restriction against plying the mails, such as those across the North Sea between Norway and Scotland and barges in the Dover Channel are further points of discussion under this general topic.

Question of Damages. The second reserved point of the allies—Germany to give compensation for all damages—appears generally to be accepted in principle.

IMPORTANT SPEECH BY KING ALBERT

Belgium's Restored Monarch Promises Equal Suffrage for All Subjects.

FULL INDEPENDENCE

Allies Renounce Imposing of Neutrality Upon Recently Overrun Country.

Brussels, Nov. 24.—King Albert, having been received enthusiastically by the inhabitants of his redeemed capital, today made an important speech from the throne in parliament—his first utterance in the capital since almost the beginning of the war. Near the throne stood General Fluener, representing the British army; General Pershing of the American army and other generals. The chamber was filled with members and in the galleries was the diplomatic corps.

"The government proposes to the chambers to lower, by patriotic agreement, the ancient barriers and to make the consultation of the nation a reality on the basis of equal suffrage for all men of the mature age required for the exercise of civil rights."

"This statement aroused a storm of applause from all of the members. Referring to the Flemish question, King Albert said: 'The necessity of a fruitful union demands the sincere collaboration of all citizens of the same country without distinction of origin or language. In this domain of language the strict equality and the most absolute justice will preside over the elaboration of projects which the government will submit to the national representatives.'

"A reciprocal respect for the interests of the Flemings and the Walloons ought to be an integral principle of the administration, and should give to each the certainty of being understood when he speaks his own language, and assure to him his full intellectual development, especially higher education."

In regard to the future status of Belgium, he declared: 'Belgium, victorious and freed from

CONDITIONS GOVERNING CADET TRAINING

By Special Authority, Airmen Were Made Officers in Canada.

Conditions governing the cadets trained in Canada by the Royal Flying Corps are outlined in a special statement from the R. F. C. as follows: Cadets who were enlisted in the R. F. C. in Canada prior to April, 1918, were promised a commission on completion of training. By special authority of the war office by the R. F. C. Canada, who allowed a commission to all cadets when they finished the training given in Canada and were proceeding overseas, although they still had some months' training to undergo in England to qualify completely.

Cadets retained in Canada as instructors were also commissioned, and by further special authority privileged to wear "Wings" when they had completed the probationary period as instructors. This authority to commission and grant wings was a special privilege to the R. F. C. in Canada, as cadets in England at the same stage of training did not receive the same privileges. On being commissioned cadets received a uniform allowance of $208 minus the cost of the "walking out" dress provided them during their training. This dress was complete with the exception of officers' rank badges and was in addition to the two uniforms given them on enlistment. Cadets were informed that they received their allowance of being commissioned only and were given a list of purchases of uniform or equipment made prior to their being commissioned was entirely at their own expense and risk.

Subsequent to April 1, the date of the formation of the R. F. C. cadets on enlistment came under two headings: (1) Those who would receive commissions on completion of full training, and (2) Those who would be given the rank of sergeant, pilot or observer. On completion of training in Canada, they are sent overseas either as flight cadets or sergeants, as the case may be. Only those who are retained as instructors are commissioned and granted wings.

Flight cadets are provided with a "walking out" dress, the balance of their outfit allowance being credited to them on their last pay certificate and issued to them when commissioned in England. Sergeant pilots are provided with the ordinary issue clothing as are other n.c.o.'s and men. These new conditions are stated plainly on the application form, which the cadet signs.

Regarding the 40 cadets who completed their Canadian training at Beamsville last Tuesday, two were enlisted prior to April 1, and under ordinary conditions would have been commissioned. As long as training continues, more cadets will be turned out under the same conditions.

As the air ministry have ordered the R. F. C. in Canada to cease sending pilots to England, a large number of new instructors required now is negligible, there is now no authority to give commissions to those enlisted prior to April 1, further it is obvious that any further and unnecessary expense to the country is had policy, the leading of more officers on the country, when they are not required, is patently the wrong course to pursue.

As regards the obligations of some cadets for uniforms already ordered and paid for, all cadets were warned not to purchase further equipment until they had actually received their allowance, as they were provided with one complete officers' uniform, minus rank badges, as well as two sergeants' uniforms for routine drill and training. So, that any obligations they are under are understood entirely at their own risk and with full knowledge of conditions.

DR. STRATTON ADVISES BUREAU OF STANDARDS U. S. Bureau Sets Example, Assisting Maintenance of Commercial Supremacy.

That the results of the war are not all on the debit side of the books of the allies and the United States was made evident in an address delivered before the Royal Canadian Institute by Dr. S. W. Stratton, director of the United States Bureau of Standards at Kingston, on Saturday evening. After taking into consideration the huge cost of preparing for and continuing the war and the enormous cost of life, the allies and the United States were scientifically, at least, far ahead of what they were in 1914, and they had wrenched from the German and their commercial freedom, never again to be enthralled.

According to Dr. Stratton Canada can accomplish just as much as the United States in these achievements, and it would be of great help to her if she will establish a bureau of standards as has been done at the capital. The American bureau will be prepared to give any assistance possible.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

EARLSCOURT RIVERDALE BOILING WAX CAUSES FIRE. REAL ESTATE IMPROVES.

On Sunday morning about 11 o'clock a fire at 104 Glenridge avenue, Earlscourt, broke out. The fire was quickly put out, and it was quickly extinguished by the firemen. The house is a new one and the parties had only moved in the day before.

The architect has made considerable changes in the plan of the new hall to be erected for the Earlscourt Great War Veterans, caused by the decision to build a brick building instead of a frame as originally intended. The city by-law calls for all new buildings erected on the south side of St. Clair to be of brick.

A firm of Danforth avenue realty brokers recently purchased 20 houses on Rosebath avenue, on the west side, the property of a resident who is leaving for California. Five of the houses were immediately sold at prices ranging from $2750 to $3850.

The 34th anniversary of Gerrard Street Methodist Church was commemorated by both services yesterday with crowded congregations. Chas. W. Bishop, general secretary of the national Y. M. C. A., gave an inspiring and statesmanlike address in the morning.

Residents on North Dufferin street, outside the city limits, are complaining of the water main which were placed on the avenues as far back as 1880 and have not yet been connected with the city pipes. It is contended that the sewerage, which will soon be here, will work of this kind being done.

Opposition for Miller. Rev. Fred Miller of York Township is to be opposed this year by a prominent member of the British Imperial Association, who has been asked to run because he promises to clean up a lot of arrears of work in the county which many streets and avenues in the township are absolutely without lighting whatever, and after dark it is dangerous to walk, as there are many pits, ditches and creeks, more or less filled with water.

Work on the Bloor viaduct street car lines is so far advanced that today's effort should see the double tracks on the new roadway between Parliament and Sherbourne streets linked up and the route ballasted in two more days.

Complaints are frequently heard in the Danforth district in the neighborhood of the Carlaw avenues, regarding the lack of a sewerage system. A movement is on foot to have the sewerage system connected to the district sewerage system.

Funeral of the late George Brown took place from the residence of the late Mrs. W. Reynolds, at 238, G.R.C., A. F. and A. M. Many members of the order were in attendance.

Leslie munition works, "C" plant, is a regular hive of industry at the present time. The building is being installed and machinery is being installed for shells, the order of the U. S. A. Government of the new administration building.

A large number of dead trees in the Rosedale have been cut into lengths and carted to the city yards by the workmen of the parks department for winter use by the citizens.

Alexander MacGregor, barrister, will meet all subscribers of the Muskoka and Lumber Company living east of the River Don, at the Toronto Avenue School, Todmorden, at 7.30 this evening, when arrangements for delivery of their orders for cordwood or a refund of their deposits will be made.

With the American Army of Occupation, Nov. 24—American engineers today laid the last rail connecting Verdun and Metz, having virtually rebuilt nine miles of the track. It is over this line principally that the forces of occupation and regular service will begin probably tomorrow.

DANFORTH

Work on the Bloor viaduct street car lines is so far advanced that today's effort should see the double tracks on the new roadway between Parliament and Sherbourne streets linked up and the route ballasted in two more days.

The double tracks, which are to be laid at the Parliament street end and are being laid out half the distance. The remaining portion of the bridge deck is already graded and the bridge deck work is well advanced.

With the tracks joined up street car service will be resumed before the end of the week. The macadam roadway for wheeled traffic on the new roadway is completed after the street car service has been put in operation.

LACK POSTAL ACCOMMODATION. Complaints are frequently heard in the Danforth district in the neighborhood of the Carlaw avenues, regarding the lack of a sewerage system.

THE CENTENARY OF METHODISM

Toronto Churches Celebrate Hundredth Anniversary of Its Founding.

BEGAN AFTER A WAR Had Its Birth in Reconstruction Period Following Conflict With America.

Methodism yesterday celebrated its centenary with inspirational enthusiasm at all the churches in Toronto; large congregations attending in many instances. Among the stirring addresses of the occasion was that of Rev. C. A. Williams, upon "The Miracle of Methodism," delivered at the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, St. Clair avenue, and equally inspiring were those delivered at the Metropolitan Church, by Rev. R. P. Bowles, chancellor of Victoria College, that of Rev. Newton Powell, of Trinity Methodist Church, upon "The Bridge of Centuries," of Rev. W. E. Baker, pastor of Wesley Memorial Church, upon "The Faith of Our Fathers," of Rev. Archer Wallace, of Berkeley Street Methodist Church, upon "Comparisons Between Yesterday and Today," and many others.

With very real gratitude and daring hope, we commemorate this inspiring occasion," said Rev. C. A. Williams at the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church. "John Wesley, one of God's bravest pioneers, ever told the world that Methodism was the friend of all, the enemy and despoiler of none. Professor Leckie, the historian, has said of Methodism that the advent of Methodism in the 18th century was a truly dazzling episode in the history of the world, while the historian, Green, pointed out that Methodism had inspired the attempt to ameliorate the conditions of the poor and unfortunate, to abolish the slave trade and to enslave religion.

Respect for Others. "John Wesley is dead," continued the speaker, "but his spirit still lives and will live on forever. The greatest soul of the 18th century goes marching on. I trust not one of us is blinded by narrow bigotry or denominational prejudice. We profoundly love and respect all the other churches in Canada. We admire the historic associations, fine dignity and stately ritual of the Anglican Church, the thoughtful scholarship and sincerity of Presbyterianism, the broad gospel and social ideals of the Congregational Church. Methodism would never arrogate to itself the dignity of being the one and only denomination in the Dominion, or in the world, but we do claim that apostolic success is an inflexible proof of apostolic succession. We claim, along with all other denominations, to be a part of the great living church of God.

Rev. Chancellor Bowles, in his address, pointed out that the Methodism of a hundred years ago was largely inspirational and emotional, and that it fitted the needs of its day. The boldness of this people, said the chancellor, called for such outpourings of expression. Continuing, Rev. Chancellor Bowles pointed to the development of the Methodist preachers of the early eighteenth century. Their endurance and self-sacrifice had been remarkable, and the lives of the people of that day, although simple, had always been rugged and stern. The speaker concluded with the hope that the same spirit of self-sacrifice would animate the Methodism of today.

Takes Religion Too Easily. That the Methodists of today had taken religion too easily and too much as a matter of course was a warning given by Rev. Newton Powell of Trinity Methodist Church in the course of an address upon the "Bridge of Centuries." It was a remarkable fact, said the speaker, that Methodism began in Toronto in an after-war period, shortly after the cessation of being a period of reconstruction. The parallel was striking. In 1818 the world was facing a revolution in France, an upheaval in England, a general reconstruction of the map of the world. It had often been said that the spirit of Methodism had inspired an influence upon the British Empire and belief that within the next hundred years, Toronto might have a population of at least 5,000,000. The city, he stated, might well be expected to extend from the banks of Lake Ontario to those of Lake Simcoe, with Yonge street and Bloor-Danforth street as the twin thoroughfares of a thriving metropolis.

That there was, after all, little change in essentials respecting the teaching and work of the Methodist church during the hundred years was the theme of an address delivered by the Rev. Archer Wallace of Berkeley Street Methodist Church. There was today less disposition on the part of people generally to argue religion. There was, however, a more general attempt to co-operate with all denominations in the presentation of fundamental truths. Methodism had grown appreciatively since the first statistics had been obtained. In 1850 the percentage of Methodists among the population of Toronto was 13; in 1911 the percentage was 19.

CHURCHES' OMISSION OF TUBERCULOSIS

Owing no doubt to the fact that Methodism was yesterday celebrating its centenary, Tuberculosis Sunday was not observed in the churches as was expected. In fact, very few churches of any denomination made any mention of it at all. In a few isolated cases, however, some of the churches devoted a few minutes to the subject, and circulars were handed out by ushers as the congregation left the church.

There was no concerted action on the part of the churches as was expected at all. Tomorrow is to be observed in the schools as tuberculosis day, and the children will be given short lectures by the school teachers on the subject.

When called by telephone yesterday afternoon, Sir William Gage, of the Gage Institute for Consumptives, refused to make any statement regarding the failure, in most cases, of the churches to make any mention of the day.

DEVELOPMENTS AT BORDEN BY R.A.F.

What Use Will Be Made of Splendid Site and Buildings.

Now that the R. A. F. is ceasing activity in Canada the question naturally arises as to what will be done with the large and splendidly equipped camps which have been constructed by them during their two years' stay here. Take, for instance, Camp Borden. Since the C. E. F. first went into Borden it has changed from a dry, sandy waste to a well built extensive camp. The R. A. F. have constructed scores of buildings. It is flanked by 18 large, solidly built hangars with asphalt floors. Asphalt roads run from the hangars to and around the officers' and cadets' quarters, and then down to the men's barracks blocks and so on to the railroad station.

There is splendid accommodation there for 120 officers, 500 cadets, 120 warrant officers and sergeants and 900 men, comprising 15 buildings with a total accommodation of 1800. These buildings are all heated for winter accommodation from a central heating plant. A baseball ground and a comfortable, yet economical, scale has been seen with prodigality with the result that a once dry, dusty plain has been turned into a clean, pleasant camp. A baseball ground and a cricket pitch have been leveled and sodded. Tennis courts have been built. Near the cadets' quarters a nine-hole golf course has been constructed. A large concrete and tile swimming pool was put in this summer. Near the men's barracks is a quarter-mile track enclosing a splendid football ground. The Y. M. C. A. put up a building costing roughly $20,000.

Altogether it is a magnificent camp and it seems a great pity that some use cannot be found for such a splendid camp. Medical officers' reports show that it has been exceptionally healthy, the dry warmth in summer and the steady cold in winter being conducive to good health among the troops.

TO DELIVER NEW SHIP TO MUNITIONS BOARD

Fort Arthur, Nov. 23.—The steamer War Karma was called for Montreal to be delivered there from the Port Arthur Shipbuilding Company to the Imperial Munitions Board, thus finishing the contract on the local company with the board, all the ships having been delivered on time. The next boat to be built will be for the department of marine. The only boat remaining to be delivered this fall is the seagoing tug Murray Stewart, to sail Monday evening.

DESERONTO DEMANDS TRIAL OF EX-KAISER

A resolution to bring the ex-kaiser and others of his ilk to justice was unanimously passed by a standing vote of the municipal council of the corporation of the Town of Deseronto. The members of the municipal council, on behalf of themselves and the citizens of Deseronto, hereby request the prime minister of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, who is to represent Canada at the meeting of the war council, to demand of that war council, on behalf of all those belonging to British and allied countries, whether military or civilians, who may have suffered thru the course of the late world war, that all such war criminals and their associates be tried and condemned by such court as the allied and allied countries designate; and further, that all those of the German people or their allies who may have been in any way responsible for such atrocities as have been committed during the war be similarly dealt with, so that none may escape.

THE HOTELS OF THE CENTURY.

Government of the People.
 Last Friday evening's celebration by the Empire Club was notable for the radical character of the speeches delivered. Both in tone and substance they savored of the new era after the war rather than of that which preceded it. It might be well if more public meetings could be held at which the dominant thoughts of the people could find expression. The people need to be in countenance of their own convictions, and they are not so likely to be outwitted by self-constituted leaders if what they are thinking finds expression in their own presence. Democracy needs to hear its own voice.

Hon. Mr. Rowell's suggestion that the ferment which was overturning the thrones of Europe would not stop there, and that the autocrats on this side of the Atlantic must look to themselves if they were not to be overturned also, met with a warmer reception than he might have expected. The world, however, is not in the throne-wrecking business, and is not particular whether it is autocratic, plutocratic or demagogic seats that are to be upset. Government must be broad-based upon the people's will. As the people's will is handicapped in various proportions of from 45 to 55 per cent. in the elections that are held from time to time, Mr. Rowell might consider the European ferment in connection with a little practical democracy, such as proportional representation.

The governor of New York, Hon. Mr. Whitman, touched on the relations of labor and capital, "useless each without the other," and predicted closer co-operation. Government suffered from its aloofness of attitude. It belonged to the people, and the people to the government, he said, and they must work together. How can they work together, however, if the government never represents more than half the people and may very easily, under our system of elections, only represent one-third?

Hon. James M. Cox, governor of Ohio, was not less democratic and radical in his views. He was optimistic as to the future of democratic rule. But here again there arises the question whether we have democratic rule. We certainly do not have it in France as it is in Switzerland, or in Belgium as it is in Belgium. We talk a great deal about democracy and are still willing to be governed by minorities. We maintain a system which makes control by a minority possible. Moreover, it is a system that kills the interest of the average citizen in politics, because he knows his influence is nullified and his vote is thrown away. No system of democracy can succeed that does not give every elector a direct and full interest in the result. Proportional representation is the only system that brings this about.

Keeping Him on a Leash.
 Most of the objection in the United States to having President Wilson attend the peace conference appears to arise from two or three interested factions. There are the people who still think that the United States should have nothing to do with European affairs, but confine itself to matters inside its own boundaries. A presidential visit to Europe is for them an infringement of the principle behind the Monroe Doctrine, and if the choice of testing it between the world and the Monroe Doctrine they prefer to see the world totter.

Then there are the pro-Germans, who are still sufficiently numerous, and who do not wish to have American principles too largely in evidence when the sentence of Germany is being considered. President Wilson is committed to some very anti-Hitlerian sentiments. Pro-Germans would naturally prefer some one with less weight than President Wilson to represent those sentiments.

It is probable that the political objection is the strongest. If a Democratic president goes to Europe and makes a big diplomatic hit, on top of the big military victory already achieved, it will be both the Republicans to catch up on such a lead. Hence the idea that he should be prevented going to Europe at all. If it had been President Roosevelt instead of President Wilson there would probably have been a different set of newspapers and people objecting. The political sun would have shone at another angle, and the shadows would all have been lying in another direction.

To the outsider not interested in domestic or presidential politics and solely concerned to see the war program of the entente carried out in its diplomacy it does not appear that the presence or absence of President Wilson can make much difference to Europe. There is already substantial agreement on all essentials, and it is doubtful, on the one moot point, the freedom of the seas, whether Admiral Sims would disagree with the British point of view upon it. A United States navy, double its present size by the year 1920, would probably find the British idea of freedom of the seas a more democratic and a more practical one than that entertained by Germany. The Saturday Review alarm that President Wilson would give away the allied case need not be regarded seriously.

Why should there be any nervousness about President Wilson getting outside the boundaries of the United States? Is there a monarchical superstition growing up that will presently develop into a regulation to confine him to the District of Columbia? Is freedom to come down to a matter of red tape after all, or is democracy so distrustful of itself that it is unwilling to permit the man of the house to use a latch key? If liberty is to be mummified and wrapped in the ceremonies of precedent there are bound to be revolutions ahead of us.

Leaguers of the Nations.
 We are always apt to be swept off our feet by a fine phrase or a catchword. Just now the League of Nations probably has taken hold of the popular fancy, appearing as appearing to offer a way of escape from war for the future. No one can offer any objection to the principle behind the idea of a League of Nations, but we must not be too sanguine as to immediate results.

It is not a new idea. Tennyson, after the Crimean war, wrote of the "Parliament of Man, the Federation of the World," and it has inspired many an imagination since then, but nothing came of it. W. T. Stead wrote years ago of the United States of Europe, but Germany stopped the way. The late czar imagined a League of Peace in his celebrated report, and The Hague tribunal looked like the coté where all the doves of peace would nest. But Germany flattered the devotee and there was an end of the czar's dream. No one even suggests that the peace conference should be held at The Hague in the Palace of Peace.

From all which it must appear that we must not be too precipitate about a League of Nations. It is even whispered that Italy is not observing a strictly correct attitude regarding the Dalmatian coast, and the emphasis laid by Hon. Mr. Rowell the other evening on Britain's determination to maintain the freedom of the seas on her ancient basis, whether it was for the benefit of the governors of the States of New York and Ohio or not, stirred the audience to loud approval.

Germany is in a mood either to join or to be invited to join a League of Nations, and the honorable committee of unconstructed and unconstructed nations which are trying to shake themselves down into organic being have not yet reached the maturity, the stability, nor the self-consciousness which will be necessary in members of such a league, not merely to maintain their own rights, but to be prepared for the greater and more difficult duty of maintaining the rights of others.

It must not be forgotten that the League of Nations is not meant for self-protection. It is essentially for the protection of others. In this war the only nations that acted entirely for others were Britain and the United States. The violation of Belgium called Britain to arms. There was more direct national interest to call the United States into the conflict, but the government at Washington solemnly renounced any advantage from the war when the declaration was made.

Britain and the United States, then, are likely to be the League of Nations for some time to come, with France and Japan sitting in. The United States has set out to double her navy. Until the unconstructed ones are at least adolescent and Germany attains a state of grace, it is not unlikely that Britain and the United States will have to accept the task of keeping order and preventing the unruly peoples from destroying each other.

A Line of Cheer Each Day of the Year

THE STRONGER LOVE.
 To love one's fellow-man and daily strive
 In every way to keep that love alive,
 Is fine indeed;
 And it grows stronger for the depths of hate
 We feel for evil things abominate
 Of wrong and greed.
 Wherefore, when men for love upon me call
 I grant it to them freely, one and all.
 Yet ever press
 With hatred unalloyed upon the ways
 Of friends who lurk along the darkened maze
 Of wickedness.

IDA TALKS ON DEMOBILIZATION

Demobilization appears to be the passion of the day. Everywhere you go you will hear someone talking about it, and strange to say, nearly everyone manages to agree with the other fellow. Great minds think alike, but the extent of being of the opinion that it will be about one year before the entire army is demobilized, and but a few weeks before the last drafts that went over by re-returned to civil life.

It sounds so very easy, and so extremely nice to the ordinary mortal, the fact having the boy's mother, that the extent of life, and business once more ago, is going to happen, providing, of course, that business men will stick to the ship, and not get panic-stricken at the thought of a coming slump; because, while the things are going to happen, it is clear why, usually the half of man has much to do with the other half of it. Naturally, the munition factories cannot be expected to keep running, as in the days of war, but the army and navy, and the many thousands who are out of work when they do finally get their discharge, that is, they will not reconcile themselves to it. At first it will be hard to make them, but they will have to work longer, and possibly harder, for a time, until the price of food adjusts itself, where is the difference?

Women who have been employed at munition plants, and who have been drawing well-filled pay envelopes, for which they worked hard, are going to feel the blow more than the male workers. Unfortunately, in numbers of cases these women have not saved their wages, they have spent them with a free hand and an open heart, and they are going to be hard up when the work and the money would not be there for them. That day has passed, and what is left is a small amount of money, which they are unable to spend. The mission of the church in the past has been confined to the preparation of souls for eternity by the help of certain dogmatic theories, without even attempting to realize heaven here on earth, tolerating, in cases condoning, the most crying wrongs and injustices. The next of words is to tell him that his wife was at home. The girl promised to tell him as soon as he came in. In a measure relieved, Ruth continued.

"Perhaps I've been too lenient, too easy," she said to herself as she hurried back to her work. She had been unable to eat, and had only taken a cup of strong tea. Every nerve in her body was agitated with her emotion. Yet she could not decide what to do. Finally she made up her mind that for once she would question Brian. He must tell her where he had been and with whom. Then she thought: "He may not come up to the apartment again tonight. He doesn't know I am at home." And acting upon impulse she stepped in a public telephone booth and again called the office. Brian had not yet returned, but she left word to tell him that his wife was at home. The girl promised to tell him as soon as he came in. In a measure relieved, Ruth continued.

TORONTO'S LEAD IN VICTORY LOAN

No More Racing—Must Await Ottawa's Announcement of Final Results.
 There is to be no more race about it, but Toronto has not yet hauled down her flag in the friendly competition with Montreal for the highest Victory Loan total. The following statement was issued by J. W. Mitchell, chairman for Toronto, last night:

"So far as the public is concerned the race between Toronto and Montreal ended on Monday night, when the results were announced at public meetings held in both cities for that purpose. The competition had been increasingly keen as that day approached. The two cities were neck and neck, and it was evident that the final day's work would bring out every ounce of energy each organization could muster. Under these circumstances the chairmen for the two cities agreed on a plan for simultaneous announcement of results on Monday night, after the figures had been transmitted in code and held in trust until the last minute. The results given out that night showed Toronto with a total of $144,350, and Montreal $142,423,966.

"Both cities recognized that owing to the great pressure upon the banks, the enormous volume of business handled on Saturday and Monday, and the shortness of their staffs, there was danger of not having all subscriptions reported to Victory Loan headquarters that day. Since the campaign closed, Montreal has reported additional figures. Toronto also has received some supplementary returns, and still leads Montreal, but in my judgment no useful purpose can be served by issuing any further figures until the official results are finally announced from Ottawa some weeks hence."

Demobilizing R.A.F. Members
 At Jesse Ketchum Barracks
 Demobilizing the R.A.F. members in Toronto district will likely be carried out thru the Jesse Ketchum barracks and start within a few days. It is expected that 100 men a day, from the various aviation corps, will be examined. On Saturday a large number of the R.A.F. cadets reached Toronto from the Camp Borden aviation ground. They stated that by today few aviators will be remaining at Borden. The cadets are being put on indefinite leave.

THE WIFE
 By JANE PHELPS

Brian Remains Out All Night—Ruth is Anxious.

CHAPTER XXIV.
 Breakfast time came and yet Brian had not returned. Ruth drank some strong coffee and made ready for the office. Had something happened to Brian?—Once the thought came to her that she would call Mrs. Curtis, yet Mollie King's address, and call her and ask if she knew where Brian was, but her pride intervened. If he should be—if he had remained out with her so late he thought best to go to some down-town hotel instead of coming home. Ruth would only have humbled herself unnecessarily. Or if Mollie had not seen him and Brian was with someone else, she would have had Mollie see her anxiety and that would be almost as bad.

Ruth looked so pale and worried when she reached the store that Mollie, the moment he had welcomed her back, asked if she were ill. He had not mentioned the business upon which she had been engaged. Ruth's appearance alarmed him.
 "No, I am not ill. I didn't sleep well," she could not avoid contrasting his very evident regard for her with Brian's seeming carelessness. He looked anxious, too. His voice had a real concern. It made Brian's relocation the more glaring.
 "That noon she went home during the lunch hour, something she never did. She thought—perhaps there might be some word of Brian. But when she looked up and down the street, she saw that there was nothing.
 "Should she call his office? Her pride said "no," her anxiety "yes." There were many accidents in New York streets, due to reckless driving of motor cars and other causes. Brian might have been hurt. She called his office, unable to endure the thought. He might even then be lying in some hospital.

"No, Mr. Hackett went out about half an hour ago. Who shall I tell him called?"
 "Never mind, I'll call again," Ruth had no need to disguise her voice. No one would have recognized it. She started back to the shop quivering in every nerve, angry, anxious, undetermined what to do—what attitude to take toward him when he came home.

"Perhaps I've been too lenient, too easy," she said to herself as she hurried back to her work. She had been unable to eat, and had only taken a cup of strong tea. Every nerve in her body was agitated with her emotion. Yet she could not decide what to do. Finally she made up her mind that for once she would question Brian. He must tell her where he had been and with whom. Then she thought: "He may not come up to the apartment again tonight. He doesn't know I am at home." GUELPH'S HONOR FLAG OFFICIALLY PRESENTED
 Guelph, Nov. 24.—The Victory Loan campaign in South Wellington was officially brought to a close today, when the honor flags won by the various sections of the district were presented. The ceremony took place in front of the city hall at noon, with J. W. Lyon in charge. Major Newcastle received the flag won by the city, and that won by South Wellington was received by Judge Hayes. Both of them made addresses. Following this event a banquet was held at the Royal Canadian Cafe, when all the canvassers and workers in the district were the guests of J. W. Lyon, chairman; C. L. Dumber, vice-chairman, and D. M. Samson, organizer. Mr. G. Cowell, Hamilton secretary, presented the final statistics for South Wellington. He stated that in the City of Guelph there were 437 subscribers for a total of $144,350, or $116 per capita for the population, or one out of every 8.75 of the population.

MAJOR T. P. GRUBBE GOES WEST
 Major T. P. Grubbe, M.S.A. officer at Toronto military headquarters, has been transferred to military districts 10, 12 and 13 in western Canada, for a similar duty. He served overseas with a Toronto Highland unit.

That is a most disagreeable East wind. I nearly always catch cold in this kind of weather

"Well, I seldom have a cold, and you know that I go out, no matter what the weather is like."
 "How do you account for that?"
 "For one thing I always try to dress to suit the season, and then I am careful to keep my general health in good condition."
 "As far as that goes, I am never very sick, but I do catch cold easily. I have always been inclined to be anemic. The doctor says the blood is thin and I lack the reserve force necessary to ward off disease."
 "That used to be my trouble, but a friend told me about using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to build up the blood and make it pure and rich, and I followed her advice."
 "How did that help you?"
 "Well, as I understand it, the germs of disease cannot make much headway when the blood is rich and red. If they do get into the system the red corpuscles in the blood overwhelm them and good health is maintained."
 "There may be something in that."
 "My experience proves it, for I used to be easy prey for every cold or contagious disease that was about."
 "Well, what causes pneumonia?"
 "Pneumonia, the doctors say, is usually the result of catching cold when you are tired and the system in an exhausted condition. That should be a warning to everybody to keep their vitality up to high-water mark."
 "I never just thought of it that way before, but I guess you have studied this thing out about right. What did you say you used?"
 "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. When I first used it I was pale and weak and much rundown in health. My head ached frequently, and I had spells of indigestion. It took about fifteen boxes of the Nerve Food to get my system in good healthy condition, but it changed my whole life, for I have been so healthy ever since."
 "How long ago was that?"
 "And have you never used any since?"
 "Yes, I have used a few boxes at odd times. Sometimes in the spring I don't feel any too brisk and find the benefit of using some Nerve Food, but I think nearly everybody is the better for a little restorative treatment then."
 "Well, I must say you make out a good case for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. There are so many of the same opinion I believe I will go in for the 'red blood' idea and see if I cannot prevent colds and steer clear of the gripe and pneumonia."
 "You can obtain Dr. Chase's Nerve Food from all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto, at 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75. You are protected from imitations by the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., which are on every box.

FIVE PREMIERS VISIT TORONTO

Prairie, B.C. and New Brunswick Premiers Stop Off From Ottawa.
NO AGREEMENT

Conference Comes to Good Understanding, But No Definite Results.

There was a galaxy of distinguished visitors in Toronto yesterday, mainly provincial premiers and cabinet ministers on their way home from the Ottawa conference. Hon. T. C. Norris, premier of Manitoba, spent the day with relatives. Hon. W. M. Martin, premier of Saskatchewan, and Hon. John Oliver, premier of British Columbia, were also in the city. Hon. Chas. Stewart, premier of Alberta, and Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer of Alberta, were at the King Edward. Mr. Mitchell will remain in the city for several days.

Premier Stewart reported conditions fairly good in Alberta. The crop had been below the average. There had been drought in the south and frost in the north, but nearly all the farmers had more or less live stock, and the stock was doing well. The grain crop for two or three years before this had been exceptionally good in Alberta, with high prices, so that nearly all the farmers were in good shape. Some might need seed wheat, however, this spring.

REV. DR. RIBOURG ON CHURCH POLICY
 Imperative Duty of Church to Adapt Itself to New Conditions.

Rev. Dr. Ribourg preached the university sermon at Convocation Hall Sunday morning and took for his subject, "Adapting the Church to the New Conditions."
 Dr. Ribourg said, in part: "Upon the ruins of the old world's autocracies, we are called upon to build the temple of democracy."
 "It is the imperative duty of the Christian Church at this juncture to adapt itself to the new conditions, created by the war, so that it may efficiently undertake its task."
 "To christianize and spiritualize some of the churches may spell their financial ruin, for they are under the control of interests which are antagonistic to their mission."
 "There is one thing certain, and it is this: That the churches which will refuse or neglect to prepare themselves for the new conditions will decay and die. The men in the trenches have learned to probe to the realities of things.
 "It is moral towards God and moral towards men, they will think less of the denominationalism of religion and more of its utility."
 "The mission of the church in the past has been confined to the preparation of souls for eternity by the help of certain dogmatic theories, without even attempting to realize heaven here on earth, tolerating, in cases condoning, the most crying wrongs and injustices. The next of words is to tell him that his wife was at home. The girl promised to tell him as soon as he came in. In a measure relieved, Ruth continued.

Upeavals May Unseat Present National Commission, According to Reports Sent Out in Advance of Annual Meeting of Major Leagues Next Month

New York, Nov. 23.—Upeavals in baseball that may unseat the national commission as well as work many surprising changes in the two major leagues, are being predicted in baseball circles here today.

Reports from various major league offices in advance of the annual meeting of the American and National Leagues, early next month, indicate that the spirit of the changes that are being predicted in baseball circles here today.

The offer to Mr. Taft is said to have been made without the knowledge of league presidents and a third member and, it is said, would be a surprise to the powers which have earned him the title of "baseball dictator."

Chairman Herrmann, president of the National League, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Ebbetts, president of the American League, are the present members of the commission in presiding over the annual meeting of the two leagues.

Mr. Johnson, who is said to be the most powerful of the three, is reported to be making a canvass of the situation, are being taken at their face value here, and it is believed that a general election of both leagues, as a whole, is a probability.

Some of the changes that have been suggested as possible are: Discontinuation of the present national commission, or the appointment of a single commissioner, viz. Big Bill Taft.

Requested resignation of Ban Johnson and the election of a new American League head.

Changes in the ownership of several major league franchises.

Adoption of a rule prohibiting a league president or club owner from serving as a member of the national commission.

Legislation establishing closer harmony between the major and minor leagues.
