impossible to carry on a nation-wide cam-

Even when they reached the plateau the situation was still difficult, for they found themselves in a country where everything, even water, must be brought up with great physical exertion.

Unless the city council agree to send the purchase of additional steam pump equipment to the people in January, T. J. FACES COURT-MARTIAL Turned Over by Civil Official to Face More Serious Charge.

Camp Borden, Ont., Sept. 27.—Lieut. Col. Lapan, and the staff of the School of Infantry, with some 160 probationers, entrained this evening for Niagara-on-the-Lake in connection with the military camp being established there. The n.c.o.'s class of the school of Infantry, which is at present on two weeks' leave of absence, will return to Camp Borden on Monday, October 1. They will remain until the end of the week, when they will leave by train for Toronto and take up their quarters in the north resident of the University of Toronto.

Somewhat of an unusual turn was given to the proceedings of the Barricade court this morning when Lieut. Col. Macdonald, assistant judge advocate, requested that the case against Pte. Norman Cecil Kitchener Boshier of No. 3 special reserve company be dropped, and the accused be returned to camp. The request was granted, and all the parties, including the prisoner himself, seemed pleased.

ANZACS COMPLETE THEIR CONQUEST CANADIAN CASUALTIES INFANTRY. Positions Taken in Latest Drive Have Been Consolidated. ENEMY LOSING HEART. German Says Allies Too Strong and That War Will Be Over in Spring.

British Front in France and Belgium, Sept. 27.—The British today continued to strengthen the line to which they battled their way yesterday. The Australians completed their conquest of the German positions at the eastern extremity of Polygon Wood. Two places secured here represented the entire remaining trouble spots along the Anzac line, some points along the Anzac line, which has northward to the east of Polygon Wood. There has been much hard fighting in this section, but today the weary Germans apparently withdrew to more favorable ground further back and the Australians pushed forward.

On the northern front of the new offensive in the region east of St. Julien, some interesting German prisoners were to be found today. A number of the prisoner cages were filled with a nondescript lot of middle-aged men, who looked far from men of the warrior type. They said the Germans had used up all of their 1918 class, and that as the 1918 class were not ready they were calling up old men.

CITY WELCOMES HEROIC AVIATOR

Enthusiastic Crowds Greet Major Bishop, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., at Union Station. HONOR FOR CANADA Valorous Airman Adds Lustre to Her Name Thruout the World.

"Hello, Billy!" A simple greeting, but extended wholeheartedly by Mayor Church, on behalf of the people of the City of Toronto, as Major W. A. Bishop, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., Canada's premier aviator and hero, stepped from the train in the Union Station at 5.45 last night.

Major Bishop was met at the train by the officers and band of the 8th Miltissauga Horse, to which unit he formerly belonged. Between two densely-packed rows of enthusiastic people in the subway entrance, the major and his self-constituted entourage passed, then up the stairs and along King, and, by way of Bay, to the city hall, where fully four thousand people awaited the arrival of the procession.

CONTROLLER CORRECTS WRONGFUL IMPRESSION States He Did Not Insinuate Orange Order Was Responsible for Flag Incident.

Controller John O'Neill yesterday issued the following statement in reply to the published allegation that the controller had insinuated that the incident of the degradation of the flag was used by the Orange Order to the detriment of Commission.

"I desire to state that I did not refer to the Orange Order as being at the bottom of this whole matter, what I meant was that I do not recognize either of them as representative of the Orange Order, as my experience and association in many ways with gentlemen connected with that order is that they are far above the actions and intentions attributed to them. As some of my most close associates are men belonging to that order, I cannot but strongly contradict the statement. What I resent is the interference with public matters and the good of the city by certain factions. However, I am quite satisfied to leave the decision in the hands of the citizens of Toronto as to whether they have ever taken any part, political or otherwise, in matters that were not for the best interests of the city at large, regardless of whether they are of social connections. One thing that I will endeavor to do is to appreciate every citizen that is worthy of the name, but I will not be misled by any man in the council or representing the citizens, who are representing the interests of factions organized for no other purpose than to interfere with the proper administration of the city in regard to positions and interference and dictation with heads of civic departments.

MAJOR SICK AND TIRED OF TALK ABOUT WILSON Asks Newspapers Not to Pester Him With Questions Regarding Flag Incident.

Major Church wants to hear no more of the flag incident. He stated yesterday that he had had enough of it. "Don't talk to me about the flag," he said to the newspaper men who questioned him on the matter. "Forget it. I am sick and tired of it. Anything else but that."

aldrome; finding no machine about, he flew on to another aldrome about three miles southeast, which was at least 12 miles the other side of the line. Seven machines, some with their engines running, were on the ground. He attacked these from about 50 feet, and a mechanic who was starting one of the engines, was seen to fall. One of the machines got off the ground, out at a height of 60 feet. Captain Bishop fired 15 rounds into it at very close range, and it crashed to the ground. A second machine got off the ground, into which he fired 30 rounds, and it fell into a tree. Two more machines then rose from the aldrome. One of these he strafed at the height of 100 feet, emptying the rest of his drum of ammunition. This machine crashed 300 yards from the aldrome, after which Captain Bishop emptied a whole drum into the fourth hostile machine, and then flew back to his station. Four hostile scouts were about 1000 feet above him for about a mile of his return journey, but they would not attack. His machine was very badly shaken by machine gun fire from the ground.

MAY ISSUE CALL IN COMING WEEK Proclamation to be Followed by Registration of Men in Class One.

The provincial registrar, Mr. Glyn Oiler, has opened his offices in the old Board of Trade Building on Yonge street. Here a staff of six assistant registrars and 180 clerks will classify, file and distribute papers concerning all men who are liable to the colors under the terms of the act. It is also pointed out that the final call to duty will be made by the Ontario registrar, and not by the military authorities.

THE PUBLIC BE DAMNED! IS TIMELY PHOTODRAMA Remarkable Picture Shows How Food Profiters Keep Prices High.

There can be no gaining the fact that the photoplay, "The Public Be Damned," which has enjoyed so tremendous and successful a run during the past few weeks, and which will be presented for the last day tomorrow, was singularly lucky in the time chosen for its presentation. It came to Toronto at a moment when, for various reasons, the attention of the people had been directed to the gentile and general custom of the food profiteers.

"The Public Be Damned" has shown how the little game is worked. Before it came the people knew that pieces of the food profiteers—a campaign which turned the thoughts of every householder, of every housekeeper in the city, on the necessity for food conservation.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 28.

The Willing Conscripts.

Many of the draftees, under the Military Service Act will be men who come gladly to the colors, eager to fight for liberty and civilization. They may have had good reasons for not volunteering up to this time. Some of them took the position that all should serve, and held back until the government adopted the common-sense and all but universal plan of conscription. But in this lies the danger that the slacker will lag behind under the compulsory as they did under the voluntary system. The proclamation soon to be issued will make nearly 700,000 men liable to military service; the government is only authorized to draft 100,000. Hence the possibility of those who come first being taken first. Undoubtedly in some sections of the country men subject to the proclamation will not respond until they are sent for, and others will go to considerable time and expense prosecuting their claims for exemptions before the military tribunals and the appellate courts.

Canada, unlike Britain and the United States, has a conscription law without registration. This course was deliberately adopted as more economical and expeditious, and it may work out all right. From a purely military standpoint the result will be splendid, because men of good spirit will be chosen. Many think it might have been wiser, however, for the government to have adopted the recommendation of Brigadier-General Senator Mason, and have registered all Canadians of military age before the need for conscription became imperative. General Mason suggested registration in connection with the voluntary system, and in an able speech delivered in the Dominion Senate on May 4, 1916, he said:

What I would propose for Canada would simply be a registration of all men of military age, from 18 to 45, and have them divided into classes so that men would be classified according to their ability to serve at the front, or the necessity for them remaining at home for war purposes or other purposes of the country. I would not go as far as they have gone in England, because that is both expensive and extensive, more so I think than was necessary; but I would like to see registration adopted along the lines I have just stated. The effect would be, as Lord Milner states there, economy; men would not be allowed to offer themselves if the nature of their occupation rendered it necessary that they should remain in the country. On the other hand, men who are eligible for service, physically fit, but unwilling to go, would be urged to enlist; and the recruiting officer, having lists of those ear-marked men, as I might call them, would know to whom to go and whom to let alone.

The need for more men has become so imperative that none can doubt the necessity for more conscription legislation by the next parliament. General Mason recently placed before the senate and the country some startling figures on the subject of casualties and enlistments. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1917, the casualties among infantrymen numbered 67,036, while the enlistments during the same period only totaled 42,523, leaving a shortage of 24,513. For the months of April and May, 1917, the record is even more alarming. In brief tabular form they read:

Infantry casualties	21,364
Infantry enlistments	3,002

Shortage

 This appalling ratio has continued through the summer and fall, until now it can be fairly said that only one man volunteers for every ten men who are put out of action. Sir George Foster therefore computes that the maple leaf will disappear from the western front by the middle of next summer unless the conscription law is promptly and efficiently carried out.

Pretty Small Potatoes.

There is not the slightest doubt that to the average citizen the food controller is the most interesting official in the Dominion, and, may we say it with all due respect, the most unsatisfactory. Nine people out of ten probably who read the statement yesterday about the report of the fruit and vegetable division on the price of potatoes, with the food controller's subsequent comment, went away with the impression that potatoes would be $1.25 a bag after October 1. But the food controller did not say so. He assured us all that he had power to fix prices, more power even than Mr. Hoover—power to do anything he please. He won't please, however, altho everybody is saying, "Do please."

The committee reports that potatoes should be $1.25 a bag, but Mr. Hanna has not pleased yet. By the first of October potatoes may be $3, for all we know; and then Mr. Hanna will tell us that it would never do to confiscate the property of those who have purchased in good faith.

"There must be no hoarding of potatoes this year," declares Mr. Hanna, and he denounces the miscreants that leave car loads of them to freeze on the track so as to reduce the supply and enhance prices. "Such an action should be made a criminal offence," he says. Should be! But if it should, why is it not? Is he not food controller, with plenty of power, and can't he get an order-in-council passed at once as a war measure making such a crime subject to the criminal courts?

Mr. Hanna says the problem is how to get people to eat the potato drop, which is twenty million bushels greater than last year, and provides a ten million bushel surplus. One way, and the best way, and in the belief of many the only way, is to keep prices down. Mr. Hanna is not satisfied with anything so easy as the adoption of the price at $1.25 a bag. He has a more elaborate plan which is calculated to postpone doing anything until the car loads of potatoes are freezing on the tracks once more, and prices are about $1.25 a peck. This is the trouble with Mr. Hanna. When we want a hair-spring trigger action, he works with a slow fuse a mile long.

Mr. Hanna is strongly of the opinion that no undersized potatoes should be used for consumption in the larger centres. It isn't safe to say very much about small potatoes in this connection, but when this report is considered and the disposition of it, small potatoes is the only thing to be thought about.

Volunteers and Draftees.

We have two indignant letters—one from a lady, one from a gentleman—on two phases of the war organization. The lady is of the opinion that none of the draftees should be allowed to win the same uniform which has been honored and glorified by the volunteer soldiers; and the gentleman thinks we should have no compulsory service at all, because, he states, "The Kaiser can be beaten by a British volunteer army." Our two friends represent the opposite poles of feeling in this matter, but a little reason will make their sentiment practical. Everyone must sympathize with the ideal aims which both have in view, but life is an eternal compromise with opposing ideals for the purpose of overcoming the worthless thing.

It would be splendid if every man who is drafted into the army by law could be graded according to his willingness to go. It is surprising to many to find how large a proportion of the volunteers were compelled or constrained to go by various conditions and influences, and crept unwillingly at first, but could not evade the pressure of public opinion or the influence of friends and relatives. On the other hand, there are many who would have been glad to go who felt the necessity of recognizing the obligations and responsibilities of their civil life, and who will be delighted to be relieved of these by the call of the national authority. These men are as truly volunteers in spirit as any who have gone to the front.

There are others again who, poor in spirit, unable to muster the preliminary courage of the man who finds an easy attraction in the recruiting sergeant's ribbons, yet when he finds himself in the ranks, inspired with the mysterious strength of esprit de corps, turns out to be as brave as a lion and does deeds of distinguished valor. The records of the war, the intimate letters and diaries, the numerous narratives of personal experience that have been published, are full of these things.

This brings us to the second letter and the hatred of our friend, representative of such a large and influential class, who object to anything savoring of "conscription." What we have is not conscription, the many authorities are strong for that. We have only the selective draft, by which enough men who are better fitted to serve at the front than to do anything else at home will be chosen to carry on the work of those who have been defending us and fighting our battles for three years past.

It would have been glorious if a volunteer army of Britain's could have beaten the Kaiser. Unfortunately that is just the difficulty. The Kaiser has come very near beating us. Our volunteers were exhausted. Our armies were on the decline. Those who talked so finely about the brutality of Germany and the sorrows of Belgium were not sufficiently strong in action to keep the ranks full. Great Britain had to adopt conscription, if we call it that, tho we prefer to say national service. The French, Belgian, Italian, Serbian and Russian armies are already conscript armies, as are those of our foes. For a small war a volunteer army served very well, but when the whole world goes to war those who think that a voluntary army is sufficient for the chief combatant are a little behind in understanding the situation. Our great ally, who has saved the situation, who has made it certain that whatever happens the war will be won, adopted compulsory service from the start. It was the only wise, the only reasonable, the only democratic thing to do. All the soldiers of the United States are on the same footing.

Nor is it un-British to adopt the selective draft or compulsory service. In the very dawn of the national life among the Anglo-Saxons military service was compulsory. Those who were exempt were slaves. It is much the same in Canada today. The basis of the Norman hosts was compulsory service, those who were hired being despised as mercenaries, tho they were strictly volunteers. The Tudors and the Stuarts also used conscription, and Cromwell and the parliamentary forces relied upon it. Nor can we ever forget as long as we are Britons that the great naval wars of England were supported by the press gang, the most iniquitous form of conscription ever practiced, and the pressed men proved to be as heroic and as patriotic in most cases as any in the crew.

The real fear that most anti-conscriptionists harbor is the bogey raised by some foolish persons, that because we must replenish our armies now by whatever necessary means we have at our disposal, we shall therefore continue to be a military nation after the war and build up such a militaristic system as Germany has done.

All history is against the idea. Those who are forced to serve are usually least inclined to endure such conditions. The more draftees there are, the stronger will be the influence against militarism. It is the volunteers who have the military spirit, and it is they who are fighting. Our volunteers are of a different stamp and our draftees will be noble comrades for them, we doubt not.

SIX MONKS ACCEPTED FOR MILITARY WORK.

Six of the monks at Mount St. Bernard's Monastery, Whitwick, Leicestershire, are being called to the colors, three having been passed for foreign service and three for home service, while one was medically rejected. Hitherto they have been exempt from military service—but it is understood that the conditions in this regard have been modified by the war office. It is 73 years since the monastery was opened when the first mass was said there by the late Cardinal Wiseman.

THE TORONTO WORLD

CURING BATTLE-BORN STUTTERING.

BY P. TYE.

Prte. A—goes back to France tomorrow. He has spent 18 months in hospital learning to speak. "Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers." That is a longer hospital term than usual.

He didn't want to go back (none of them do), but it goes in another of those important little trivialities which these war weeks are filled. It means that England's army surgeons have discovered a way to cure stuttering. But their discovery, like scores of other valuable by-products of the war, goes unnoticed before the immediate urgency of the latest from Petrograd, the daily "unprecedented" artillery duel in Flanders and the other scorchings at the Newcastle race meeting.

This is the way the discovery is described: "The actual treatment is too complicated for description before any but physicians, but it classifies stuttering with the phobias, hysteria and anxiety neurosis. It is based on the theorem that no matter how great an effort the stutterer may consciously put forth to cure himself, his stuttering, his unconscious desire to preserve his ailment as a safeguard against the society of other people, is greater—at base, a timidity neurosis. In other words, there are practically two classes of stutterers: those who do not stutter and those who do."

"We have discarded all the old ways of treating stutterers, many of them widely known frauds, advertised by quacks who have made excellent incomes out of them. The election cure we have found to aggravate the difficulty in most cases. The 'talking' cure results in a queer, strained voice which is more grotesque in the end than the stuttering was in the beginning. The hypnotic treatment I personally have had no faith in. I have never heard of a cure by hypnosis."

"Our discovery which so far has proven successful, is aimed in the direction of a complete relaxation of mind and body, a restoration of confidence, and the establishment of an equilibrium of emotion, a correctness of thought and of character."
 Prte. A—, on the night of Dec. 22, 1915, was detailed as sentry on the deathhouse in a camp in France, with instructions to knock the door every fifteen minutes to frighten the rats away. He went on at 9 p.m., and duly kicked on the door. At 9.15 p.m. he kicked on the deathhouse door again, and a voice from within answered his kick: "What are you all you kicking about?"
 Prte. A—fainted.

He was found unconscious the next morning 100 yards from the deathhouse door, and lay unconscious six days. He was taken to a hospital, where a medical station then, for "bolls and facial paralysis," and was sent to England, a confirmed stutterer, altho never before in his life he had been a stutterer. (The medical station then, for "bolls and facial paralysis," and was sent to England, a confirmed stutterer, altho never before in his life he had been a stutterer. By the way, was a drunken soldier whom a comrade had looked in earlier in the day to sober up, and who had been forgotten.)

Hospital Social Service.

The Problem of the Sub-Normal.
 The new conception of service to mankind is nowhere more strikingly evidenced than in a hospital. Here medical science, not only cures human ills, but with its new social service, seeks to solve community problems by making an intensive study of those evils that are the underlying causes of disease and untimely death. No service today is more important than that which seeks for the means of a thorough understanding of human beings from the mental and moral, as well as the physical, standpoint.

What are the community problems that are brought to a hospital to be treated? Those of the insane, the feeble-minded, those suffering from venereal diseases, occupational diseases, industrial accidents, the unmarried mothers, and other social cankers. How many of all these things can be prevented? If we had an enlightened public and a social conscience? Eventually state medicine will take up these problems energetically, but in the meantime the hospital, by its public interest and its best to awaken public interest and create a broader knowledge.

Feeble-Minded Predominate.
 In three years at the psychiatric clinic of the Toronto General Hospital over 248 people have been examined, 451 of whom were insane and 133 feeble-minded or idiots. The insane, the feeble-minded, and the remainder figure continually in juvenile court, police stations, in the Mercer, the Haven, the rescue homes, the hospitals and sanitariums, and in the institutions and to their own hurt. A farm colony suited to their needs could soon be self-supporting, and we would be doing them the greatest service by guarding these individuals from the results of anti-social acts.

In two and a half years there have been admitted to the hospital over 248 feeble-minded people. What is there in store for these children? Why do they exist in the city? What are the moral and the moral fibre of the unknown fathers with their evaded responsibilities? When will we have laws that will protect the weaker ones among us?

Social Diseases.
 Finally, there is the problem of venereal diseases. In the patient department since December, 1916, there have been treated in the special treatment clinic for syphilis 688 patients suffering from this disease alone, and the dangers from gonorrhoea are as great, if not greater. These specified problems form a vicious circle. The insane, the feeble-minded, and the moral imbecile create venereal disease and illegitimacy, and they in turn produce feeble-mindedness and insanity. With this knowledge given to the public by the hospital thru its social service department, all social agencies will be capable of more intelligent action. The clergy must have a better understanding of their people, the teachers of their pupils in the school, the lawyers and the clients of the social agencies will be capable of more intelligent action. The clergy must have a better understanding of their people, the teachers of their pupils in the school, the lawyers and the clients of the social agencies will be capable of more intelligent action. The clergy must have a better understanding of their people, the teachers of their pupils in the school, the lawyers and the clients of the social agencies will be capable of more intelligent action.

Our social service department is not merely that of curing diseases or giving relief in poverty, but rather educating the normal to a higher sense of responsibility to himself and his neighbor, and protecting the abnormal against himself and the normal and immoral forces that surround him. In Canada, with its boundless opportunities, its open spaces, there should be little sickness, and people should be taught that all preventable diseases are little less than crime against society.
 The social service department of the Toronto General Hospital, with its knowledge and statistics, stands with helping hands outstretched to the world for the social betterment of humanity.

FIGHTING THE HUN IN FRANCE AND CANADA

POLITICAL NEWS

There seems to be something like a lull in the political activity which immediately followed the prorogation of parliament. The local politicians on both sides are confident of a December election, but there are signs of postponement.

The most significant thing that would have been an election this year is the fact that Sir Thomas White, the minister of finance, has decided on a big campaign for the new Canadian war loan of one hundred and fifty millions of dollars, and that it will need all his attention and all the attention of the people to whom the appeal is to be made during the months of October and November; and that the needs of the money for the country and for the war, and to assist the mother country in her purchases of munitions and provisions in Canada, are so pressing that they could not afford to have the flotation interfered with by political discussions and partisan appeals. In fact, Sir Thomas White has gone to the bankers and bond dealers of the country, and they have framed up a campaign, to be public to take up the bonds in large and small amounts, and to do this they have organized a Dominion-wide plan for advertising and canvassing. Those, therefore, who have the flotation of the loan at heart, including the minister of finance, will not care to have it go hand-in-hand with an election fight.

Moreover, the conscription law is not being delayed, nor yet is it being rushed, and the government can scarcely have the election until the conscription law is in working order and producing results.

From Ottawa come rumors of union government, and they are reinforced by press despatches from the west. Parliament is to be dissolved next week, but writs for the election of a new parliament will not be issued for some time after that, and until they are issued we cannot know what the date of the election will be. Nearly all the nominating conventions in this province have been called off for the present. As a prominent Conservative politician put it yesterday: "We cannot hold our conventions until we know whether we are nominating a Unionist or Conservative candidate."

Hugh Guthrie, conscriptionist Liberal M.P. for South Wellington, is to address his electors on Oct. 2. If anything like a union government has been formed, Mr. Guthrie should know all about it. He is the one conscriptionist Liberal who has, since the passage of the conscription bill, consistently supported every measure brought forward by the Borden government. All the rest "backslid." Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer took no part in the debate upon the federal franchise bill, but it is generally known that he did not favor the measure.

The Montreal Gazette thinks it is all rubbish to talk of Sir Wilfrid Laurier having a solid Quebec behind him. Quebec, it points out, is by tradition Conservative. Even in landside years, like 1904 and 1905, the popular majority in favor of Laurier was very small. The conscription bogey, it believes, will disappear when the people see the law actually in operation. Men of high standing are serving on the local tribunals, and they have been chosen from both political parties. The Gazette is, therefore, quite confident that the government can carry a number of seats, if its case is fairly and moderately presented. The cry that Quebec is going solid for Laurier, the Gazette thinks, is raised by the politicians of both parties, who hope to gain something by making Quebec "an Ishmaelite of the federation."

Ex-Speaker Marol, writing in the Montreal Herald, says the judges in Quebec have made admirable appointments to the local tribunals. In nearly every case the mayor or the village notary has been selected, and the people already feel that the law is to be moderately and fairly enforced. Altho Mr. Marol, as a member of the house, bitterly opposed the conscription bill, he now declares that Canadians, as law-abiding people, must not only obey the conscription law, but do whatever they can to make its administration a success.

It is significant, however, that Hon.

Albert Sevigny, minister of inland revenue, who carried Dorchester last January before conscription was introduced, is now to contest Gaspé. This might indicate that Mr. Sevigny finds the anti-conscription feeling too strong for him in his present riding. It is also reported that Mon. Rodolphe Lemieux may run in Gaspé against Mr. Sevigny.

Three knights, much in the public eye, and more or less mentioned in connection with the passage of the conscription bill yesterday, they were: Sir Clifford Sifton; Sir George Foster and Sir Edward Kemp.

CANADIANS ON LEAVE FIND LONDON LONELY?

Chaplain, in Letter to the Press, Asks That English Homes Welcome Officers.

London, Sept. 27.—Is London unfriendly to overseas officers on leave? Not intentionally, perhaps. Nevertheless, many Canadian officers come to the conclusion apparently that of them in the metropolises, and they get the idea that Londoners are unsociable with the man from the dominions. An army school chaplain, being left entirely to the whimsical and often questionable society of hotels, "Officers of the Canadian corps," says the chaplain, "are, for the most part, a fine type of high-spirited gentlemen, whom it would be both a privilege and a pleasure for any English family to entertain."  Sammy—"Too likely to get caught. Ever since Dad swore off New Year's Day, he's been sneaking around there to smoke his own."

ANARCHY IN RUSSIA STULTIFIES ARMIES

OFFICERS MURDERED Government Shows Utter Powerlessness to Deal With Situation.

Stockholm, Sept. 27.—An American who has spent ten years in European capitals and whose position compels him to be a dispassionate observer...

LEAVE ON LONELY? Officers.

In London officers who refuse to go to the front are being hunted by the better class as hunting the streets of Petrograd for men who are willing to become officers...

"The smaller villages and towns are filled with Russians who refuse to go to the front. Young Russians of the better class are hunting the streets of Petrograd for men who are willing to become officers...

"I sat in the war office at Petrograd when the report was received of the murder of nearly one hundred officers at Viborg and of the preparation of proscription lists against officers in Tammerfors."

"Newspapers in Helsinki carry daily accounts of military deeds of violence and of the murder of officers and civilians by soldiers, often accompanied by robbery. The government has not dared to do more than announce that these matters will be investigated carefully."

"The bolsheviks are gaining the upper hand in Petrograd and are increasing their strength in Moscow. I venture to predict their eventual supremacy. I know this means almost the elimination of Russia as a factor in the war and places new burdens on America."

"The government's utter powerlessness was shown in connection with its exile of a number of 'dark forces.' The bolshevik took them from a train at Viborg, and are now sending them en masse to Petrograd, and the government does not dare to insist that its deportation order be carried out. The bolsheviks' demonstration of joy over the fall of Riga held in front of the war office, was suffered by the government in silence."

"Such facts, together with the government's rapid changes in personnel, form and policy demonstrate the seriousness of the situation."

"When Korniloff issued his ultimatum the news was received with joy by a great proportion of substantial citizens, and even men in the government departments told me of their secret hope that he would come to Petrograd. The comments from King" lish and American newspapers rejoicing at Korniloff's failure were rejoiced with amusement by these people, who saw in his success the only possibility of saving Russia. A factory near Nizhni-Novgorod, manufacturing war materials and employing 15,000 hands, has just closed because it has been impossible to meet the wage demands. Armies are being reorganized by the workers; their whole time drafting wage schedules, and nobody may be hired or discharged without the consent. Laborers unloading wood from barges at Petrograd won in one day a strike for an increase of from 43 to 52 rubles daily.

ARTILLERY ACTIONS ALONG FRENCH FRONT

Heavy Battery Work Extends to Monastir, Albania.

Paris, Sept. 27.—The official statement issued by the war office tonight reads: "There were intermittent artillery actions over the greater part of the front; the action was more spirited in the sector south of Alais and north of Douaumont. An enemy surprise attack in the neighborhood of Eaucourt, on the right bank of the Meuse, failed under our fire."

"Belgian communication: The artillery has been quite active during the last two days. We carried out a bombardment in the night on the enemy communications and destroyed several of his works and observatories. Our trench artillery carried to our advantage a bombing engagement north of Dixmude."

"Yostens, in co-operation with the French and British artillery, our batteries took to task several German batteries in the region of Dixmude. Today an enemy reconnaissance was repulsed with grenades north of Dixmude."

"Our airplanes carried out their daily missions. Eastern theatre, Sept. 26: Calm prevailed along the front. Our batteries carried out fires of destruction on the enemy. British aircraft have bombarded enemy encampments in the neighborhood of Doiran."

TORONTO WOMAN IN TRAGEDY OF WEST

Found Dead in Winnipeg Hotel and Husband Seriously Injured.

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—After lying dead on a bed for three days with a bullet wound in her forehead, the body of Mrs. W. H. Mather, Vancouver, was found in her room in the Royal Alexandra Hotel. Her husband, W. H. Mather, B.A., her husband, formerly professor of literature in Simpson College, Iowa, disappeared in the same way. The body of Mrs. Mather was found in the room when the police arrived. Both his wrists had been slashed with the blade of a safety razor. A note was found in the bed under the body of his wife. He will recover.

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Mather was a Vancouver girl, having resided here the past twenty years. Twenty years ago she came here with her parents, Edward and Mary Mather. Her father, Edward Mather, was for some time an alderman of the city. Mrs. Mather had been in ill-health and dependent, and her relatives feared that the thought of a possible fatal culmination caused the couple to decide on a suicide pact. They were married three years ago. Last week Mrs. Mather received a letter from her daughter in which she stated she would come to Vancouver in the course of the next few weeks. This letter was from Winnipeg, and was the first intimation that the family received that the couple had left Oshawa, Ont., where they had their residence for some time.

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—The militia department is anxious that all officers and non-commissioned officers who have returned from the front shall report at the earliest possible opportunity to the headquarters of the military district to which they belong. The services of these men are needed in connection with the training of recruits obtained under the Military Service Act, and it is desirable that their names and addresses be in the possession of the officer commanding their military district. In so far as possible it is the intention of the militia department to place the training of returned officers and non-commissioned officers in charge of returned officers and non-commissioned officers who have seen actual service at the front. Officers who report to England, and who have the opportunity of reverting to the rank of lieutenant in order to get to the front and those who prefer to remain in Canada will be given preference when the new appointments are made.

PEACE IS REMOTE, SAYS NORTHCLIFFE

Enemy's Food Situation Distinctly Better Than a Year Ago.

Atlantic City N.J., Sept. 27.—Warning vehemently against the 'dream of a speedy peace,' Lord Northcliffe made a burning appeal to the American Bankers' Association in convention here this afternoon for a 'pull together' spirit.

"This is our motto," he said. "Every man and every woman putting their very souls into the war. The Hun must be crushed. The evil thing he has reared must be driven out of our lives and the way to do it is with steel on the battlefield and with silver bullets in the world's markets. Let us get the people to understand this vital fact and victory is assured."

"We find a remarkable unanimity of thought and purpose between the bankers, the insurers and the mass of the people. We find the food situation in Germany and Austria distinctly better than it was a year ago. The capture of supplies in Rumania, no less than the extension of cultivatable areas throughout the lands of the central powers, has relieved the tension in our own garden produce. Enemy losses initiative."

"At the front defence being easier and less costly than attack the Hun has been able to dig in and to dig in more extensively. Digging in requires less effort than digging out and the amount of food available and the way it is disposed of."

HARD TO ESTIMATE ITS VALUE, HE SAYS

Toronto Contractor Says Tanlac Has Unusual Merit.

H. V. Palmer Says He Has Recommended it to Many of His Friends.

H. V. Palmer of 31 St. Vincent street, a lifelong resident of Toronto, and well-known as a concrete contractor, in a recent statement regarding the benefits he has derived from the use of Tanlac, said:

"The results of Tanlac in my case convince me it is a medicine of unusual merit. At least it is by far the best I have ever found, and I take genuine pleasure in recommending it to others."

"About three years ago I had an attack of pleurisy and pneumonia, and I have suffered from a general run-down condition ever since that time. I just had that tired, worn-out feeling, no energy and ambition, and it seemed that my strength was entirely gone. I would get up in the mornings feeling very poor, and what little I forced myself to eat seemed to do me very little good. I would go off to my work in the mornings in a half-hearted way, and I would come home at night almost exhausted and feeling so tired and bad I could hardly get any supper. My normal weight is one hundred and seventy pounds, but I fell off to one hundred and sixty. I was simply 'all in' and my looks showed it."

"So many people were telling in the papers what Tanlac had done for them that I got a bottle and I began to feel better. I had just a few days. Well, when I finished my third bottle I was feeling altogether different. But I didn't stop at that; I kept taking it, and now I have used six or seven bottles and am enjoying good health again. I have gained back all my lost flesh, and that tired, depressed feeling has given place to one of buoyancy and vim and I can now work all day without any inconvenience. My appetite has improved and I can eat what I want without the least trouble from it. I have no more coughing spells in the mornings, and altogether I'm feeling stronger and better than I have in three years. It would be hard to estimate the value of Tanlac has been to me, and I have personally recommended it to many of my friends."

Tanlac is sold in Toronto by Tamblin's Dispensary and by one regular established agency in every town. (Advertisement.)

EVERY SHIP IN U. S. TO BE TAKEN OVER

Washington Will Requisition American and Foreign Vessels.

Government Will Assume War Risk on All Craft Employed.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Every American merchant vessel of more than 2500 tons dead weight capacity available for ocean service will be requisitioned by the government under the new shipping board announced today in a statement giving the charter rates at which the vessels will be taken over during the war. The government will assume the war risk on all ships chartered in the United States. The chartering will be in the hands of the shipping board's chartering department.

In most instances, except where required for actual government service, the ships will be turned back to their owners for operation on government account, subject at any time to any disposition the shipping board may see fit to make. The rates announced will not sharply exceed the present charter and ocean freight rates charged by American vessels. It is the intention, it is understood, to apply the same rates to foreign ships chartered in the United States. The chartering will be in the hands of the shipping board's chartering department.

The government will assume the war risk on all ships chartered in the United States. The chartering will be in the hands of the shipping board's chartering department.

The services of these men are needed in connection with the training of recruits obtained under the Military Service Act, and it is desirable that their names and addresses be in the possession of the officer commanding their military district. In so far as possible it is the intention of the militia department to place the training of returned officers and non-commissioned officers in charge of returned officers and non-commissioned officers who have seen actual service at the front. Officers who report to England, and who have the opportunity of reverting to the rank of lieutenant in order to get to the front and those who prefer to remain in Canada will be given preference when the new appointments are made.

HISTORY OF BALL CLASSIC AMERICAN IS THE LEADER

Has Won Thirty-Three Games to the National League's Thirty-One in the World's Series—Longest Series Was in 1912 When Red Sox Downed Giants.

New York, Sept. 27.—In view of the keen interest in the world series which will surround the coming world series between the New York Nationals and the Chicago Americans, the records of the inter-league contests of the past season are of unusual prominence.

Since that year the winning clubs in the American League have met each other in a series of the best four games out of seven.

During these series, sixty-six games have been played, giving an average of five and a half games per series.

The longest series was in 1912 when the Boston Americans defeated the Philadelphia Athletics in seven games.

VETERAN T. CANNON CLEVER AND HONEST About Rich and Skilful English Jockey Who Recently Passed Away.

London, Sept. 27.—Tom Cannon, Sr., as he was latterly called to distinguish him from his son of the same name, died the other day at 72 in Springfield House, Stockbridge, his residence in Hampshire, where he had a long training establishment.

During his long connection with the turf he had a breath of stardom as a jockey, and he was as renowned for his unswerving integrity as for his skill in the saddle.

Tom Cannon's magnificent horsemanship was as well known in France as in England, where it was the fashion to requisition English talent for the races over there.

He practically grew up in the saddle, for his father was a horse dealer, and at 7 years old he was as much at home in the saddle as in a chair.

FRESH WATER FISH SOLD BEFORE NOON

Inauguration of Ontario Government's Scheme Proves Highly Successful.

VERY SMALL SHIPMENT

Much Larger Lot From Lake Nepigon to Be on Sale Saturday.

The provincial government's fish arrived in Toronto early yesterday morning, and only one fault was to be found, there was not enough. This, the first shipment, was only a trial, and only a ton of it was forwarded to the public among the following: The Robert Simpson Company, the William Davies Company, J. T. Kirk, 434 College street; Hamilton Co., 448 West Queen street; C. Carnegie, 588 West Bloor street; and O. P. Carnegie, 1181 West Bloor street.

It sold retail at 12 1/2 cents per pound, and was, at the best, a little better than the people at the Toronto markets, even if the various government agencies refused to deliver it.

There were only two kinds of fish brought in by the officials today, namely, salmon trout and whitefish, but it is thought that sturgeon and pickerel will be included in the next lot to arrive. Licenses to fish in Nepigon waters are being refused by the Ontario Government in order to maintain a monopoly over the product, which is being sold to the public at cost. All fishermen now working at Lake Nepigon are in the employ of the government, and are paid so much a pound for their daily catch. This is the method being used by the government to control the supply, said an official yesterday.

Ministry Pleased.

The Hon. P. J. Macdormid was greatly pleased over the success which attended his first effort. He regretted that there was not more to meet the demand, but states that he expects the second shipment tomorrow night, and that it will be on the market early Saturday morning.

New Professor of Anatomy at Ontario Veterinary College

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Prof. S. Sisson as professor of anatomy at the Ontario Veterinary College for the coming session, which begins next week. Prof. Sisson was a number of years ago, demonstrator of anatomy in this college, but for the past sixteen years he has held the position of professor of anatomy in the Ohio State University. He has taken a year's leave of absence from the latter institution, which time he will spend in Toronto. He is the author of a book on veterinary anatomy, which work is used as a text book in nearly all the veterinary colleges in this continent and in Great Britain.

If You Want Evidence

That Hemorrhoids, or Piles, Can Be Completely Cured Read These Letters—Both Are Sworn Statements.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 27.—Next to personal experience the sworn statements of reliable people are the strongest evidence obtainable. If you have any doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment will positively and completely cure piles these letters should convince you. Mr. Samuel Parker, fruit grower, Grimsby, Ont., has made the following declaration before Mr. W. W. Kidd, notary public, of the same place: "I do solemnly declare that I was troubled with bleeding piles and was advised to go to the hospital to have an operation performed. My wife said: 'No; get a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment.' I did so and have used it according to directions while living in Manitoba and obtained a complete cure, for I have never been troubled with piles since. I am now seventy years of age and want to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to all sufferers from piles. My wife has used it for itching skin and obtained complete cure."

Mr. Donald M. Campbell, Campbell's Mountain, N.S., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment with great success for hemorrhoids, or piles, of fifteen years' standing. After trying all kinds of so-called pile cures three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment gave me a complete cure. I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and there are no others so good. You may use this letter if you wish for the benefit of others who may suffer as I did."

Sworn before me, Murdoch Gordon Campbell, J.P., in the County and of Inverness County.

G.N.W. TELEGRAPHERS DETERMINED TO WIN

Deportation of Imported Operators Necessary to Prevent General Strike.

At a meeting of the G. N. W. strikers yesterday afternoon, W. R. Wheatley, secretary of Toronto local C. T. U. A., stated that he had received a wire from International President S. J. Koenekamp to the effect that 12 of the strike-breakers who were brought into Montreal had been deported, while the others were held under an indictment until next Wednesday. James C. Mitchell, chief immigration inspector, is looking after the business at this end of the line. It was stated that if the strike-breakers in Toronto were not deported, all the C. P. R. telegraphers and pressmen would call a general strike. The representative of the C. P. R. pressmen, who was present, stated that the pressmen had pledged their financial support to the G. N. W. strikers' cause. Sub-chief of the G. N. W., S. Havelock, who was at the meeting, is the only official who has deserted the G. N. W. and joined the striking telegraphers. Great enthusiasm was shown on all sides, and the operators are determined to win. Favorable reports have been heard from all over Canada.

Local Officials Know Nothing Of Proposed Meet at Windsor

An advertisement appearing recently in a well-known racing journal announced a race meet of several days or more to be held on the Devonshire Track, Windsor, commencing Saturday, September 29. Hon. T. W. McGarry, provincial treasurer, was absent from the parliament buildings yesterday, but J. White, solicitor to the treasury department, stated that no notification of such a race meet or tender for a license had been received. It is therefore probable that the officials who propose to conduct the meet do not intend to interview the government on the matter at all.

ALDERMEN DISCUSS SALE OF ABATTOIR FOR THE EMPIRE

Some Members Declare Proposal Means Black Eye to Public Ownership.

DUNN OPPOSES PLAN

With a Proper Manager, He Believes Business Would Be Profitable.

Some of the members of the city council are not taking kindly to the proposal to sell the civic abattoir to the William Harris Company, and declare that it will mean a black eye to public ownership. Ald. John Dunn, the veteran cattle man who fathered the proposal to enter the dead meat business, very strongly condemned the proposed sale yesterday. But the majority of the council members spoke in favor of the report of the finance and property committees. The question will be discussed at a special meeting of the council this afternoon and it is probable that action will be deferred pending consideration of the advisability of continuing the operation of the institution and if there is any possibility of the city making the abattoir remunerative and a benefit to the citizens.

Ald. Dunn stated that the abattoir was established for a definite purpose, first, to protect the small man and give him a place to do his slaughtering under proper sanitary conditions, and secondly to put a check on what might be deemed exorbitant prices. In 1914 he had a referendum submitted to the people asking them if they the officials who propose to conduct the dead meat business and the answer was "yes" with about 11,000 majority. He had contended all along that the city should go into the dead meat business as it was the only way that a check could be put on the high prices. They had never attempted to do anything at the abattoir but allow the slaughter of live stock at modern prices and prices in hiding. He did not know whether they had made a profit or loss on this. It was something that the citizens should know.

Sale Only a Blind. He said he regarded the sale as only a blind to prevent the city going into the business in fair competition. With his knowledge of the business he believed that with a proper manager the first year of the abattoir would meet all expenses and pay a small profit. It could do one of the largest local businesses because the sympathy of the consumer was in favor of municipal ownership and in favor of any means by which high prices could be controlled.

The companies at the Junction would give $500,000 to charity rather than have the city go into the meat business," he said. "I believe that first year it will show a profit of $300,000. I have no end to serve, no one to put in any position, and all I am seeking is the best interests of the citizens and the meat consumers."

Ald. Risk, who is one of the members recently appointed by the city council to advise what steps the city should take to reduce the price of meats, declared that he was not much struck with the proposal. He thought that the council should get more information to see whether or not it was possible for the city to make use of the abattoir in the manner at first intended. If he were satisfied that the citizens would receive no benefit by continued operation of the institution he would be in favor of selling it. He thought much of the advice of Ald. Dunn and ex-Ald. Mayne had been strongly in favor of the civic abattoir. Certainly if there was a time when the institution should have succeeded it was during the past two years.

O'Neill in Favor. "It is a black eye for public ownership if we consent to the sale," he said. "I should think that if we can afford opposition it will have a tendency to keep down the price of meat and to advise what steps the city should take to reduce the price of meat, no matter whether there is a deficit or not."

I am not wholly in favor of the proposal," declared Controller O'Neill. "No doubt it has shown a deficit during the last two or three years owing to the fact that the city has not had the support of the people. The conditions of the sale will provide that the abattoir is to be preserved for the use of the city in the event the business which was of course the original intention when the abattoir was established. I cannot support entering the dead meat business, which would involve a great amount of money and I question very much whether we would have authority to do so. We would be speculating with the people's money."

RETURNS TO INDIA. Rev. C. J. Ternansy of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, left Toronto last evening with his wife and three children to return to India by way of Winnipeg and Vancouver. Mr. Ternansy will spend a few days in Winnipeg, and expects to sail for his station in Nepal on October 11 by the Empress of India.

SIX MONTHS' SENTENCE. Samuel Shulman was sentenced to six months in the reformatory for committing a breach of the Immigration Act. Inspected Mitchell of the Dominion Immigration department informed Magistrate Denison that Shulman, who resided in this country some time ago, returned.

SUIT OVER PROPERTY DEAL. Percy W. Lough and his wife Laura were defendants in an action brought before Justice Latchford yesterday in the non-jury assizes by Alfred E. Rosenblatt, who used to have the road made by Lough to his wife in March, 1914, set aside on the ground that it was made without due consideration and with a desire to defraud an out of the house of Lough then owned. The case was dismissed with costs.

SENT MANY TO AIR SERVICE

Thousands of Canadians Amongst the Birdmen Are Now Making History.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Nearly five thousand Canadians are helping the Allies in the air. The number is increasing almost daily, and before long the figure may be such as to suggest that Canadians take particularly well to the new element man has mastered.

Not all of the five thousand are aviators. More than one thousand have joined the Royal Flying Corps as aviation cadets, and more than three thousand are attached to the corps as mechanics, helpers, etc. Upwards of 1500 are in the Royal Naval Air Service as officers; mechanics and helpers.

It is important for the sake of history especially that Canada is so well represented among the aviators. Nothing will appear to historians in the present war, when the art of flying in heavier-than-air machines has gone forward by leaps and bounds, and the world has watched the dream of famous fiction writers come true. The Allies have learned to regard Canada's help in the air fighting as most important, according to recent advices from abroad.

TREND IN MINING MARKET IRREGULAR

Local Traders Anticipate Official Action in Silver Market.

Competent judges of market conditions have expressed the opinion that from now on the trend of the local mining market will be directed more or less by what official action, if any, will be taken to control the price of silver.

The opinion of local traders is that the price of a commodity of world-wide use would have been brought to scorn but for the recent fluctuations of prices on steel and copper in the United States.

The price of silver has risen to a point where it is on a parity with the standard metal, gold.

Minor Liquidation Forces the Price Down Five Points—Uncertainty a Factor.

The Toronto stock market had another bad day yesterday, with Toronto Rails the main feature.

The smallest of the sales broke to 8 1/2 yesterday before a little over one hundred shares of the stock could be marketed.

Local traders have for some time sensed that a weakness existed in this issue, despite the assurances made in some quarters that the 8 per cent. dividend was secure.

SOME ASSURANCE TO DOME SHAREHOLDERS

Present Market Price Unwarranted by Company's Showing.

Numerous reports have been in circulation on the street during the past few days to account for the decline in Big Dome stock to a new low of $8.75.

The rumor which was given most credence was the effect that the Dome mill on account of lack of men would be closed down altogether very shortly.

Leaving Your Problems To Your Family

Have you made your will? It may be hard for you to face so far in advance decisions which would at any time be difficult.

But it will be harder for your family to face the same problems without your special knowledge, and with lessened legal freedom to deal with them.

In making your will, remember that the recognized instrument for dealing with estates is the modern trust company. By having your lawyer write this Company into your will as executor, you make certain that your wishes will be effectively carried out at a cost no larger than your estate would have to meet under the control of a personal executor.
