The Helmet of Navarre

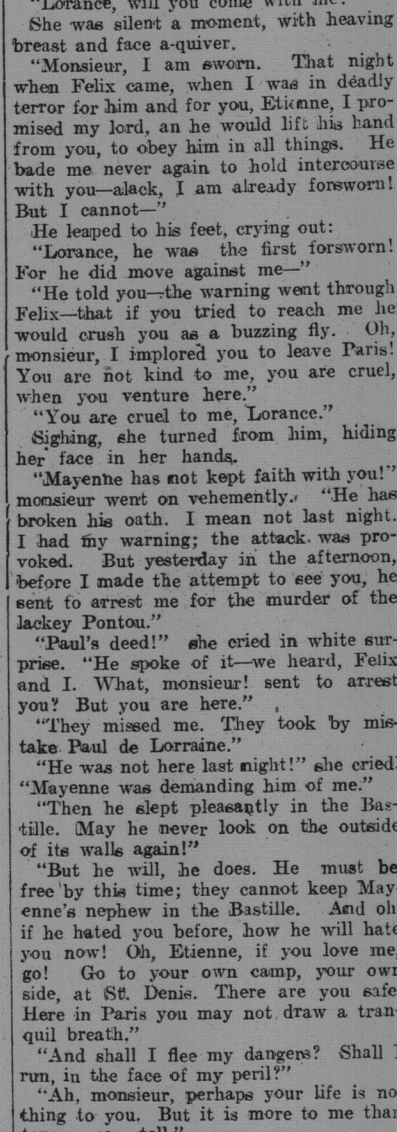

BY BERTHA RUNKLE. GROSSET & DUNLAP Publishers: New York.

...as I in my turn have been loving and obedient. It was only two nights ago he told me M. de Mar must be dead to me. So then I have held no intercourse with him. Last night he came under my window. I was not in my chamber, as you know. I knew enough of the affair till M. de Mar came in bleeding. It was not by my will M. de Mar came here. It was by the will of M. de Mar's mother. I implored him to leave Paris. If, indeed, he comes here, he risks my heart. It is no joy to me, no triumph to me, but a bitter distress, that any honest gentleman should risk his life in a vain and empty quest. M. de Mar must go his ways, as I must go mine. Should he ever make attempt to reach me again, and could I speak to him, I should tell him just what I have said now to you.

post in the background, trying to get out of the eye of Mlle. de Tavanne, who had been staring at me the last five minutes in a way that made my goose-flesh rise, so suspicious, so probing was it. On my retreat she emitted a move her eyes from me, but only to watch M. le Comte as a bound watches a thief. It was a miracle that none had noticed on him before, so richly had he been. I perceived with sickening certainty that Mlle. de Tavanne had guessed something amiss. She turned by herself with suspicion, with knowledge. I waited for breathless moment to moment for announcement. There was nothing to be done; she had us in the hollow of her hands. We could not flee, we could not fight. We could do nothing but wait quietly till she spoke, and then submit quietly to arrest; later, most likely, to death.

face brimming over with mischief. She lifted into the room, crying:
'I knew it! I knew it was M. de Mar! The grey eyes! M. le Duc has done with him as he thought proper, forsooth! Well, I have done as I thought proper. I unchained Mme. de Montpensier's monkey and threw him into the nursery, where he's screeching the baby nearly into spasms. I've carried the cloth-of-gold coverlet up on top of the tester, where he's picking it to pieces, the darling! They won't be back—you're safe for awhile, my children. I'll keep watch for you. Make good use of your time. Kiss her well, monsieur.'
'Mademoiselle, you are an angel.'
'No, she is the angel,' Mlle. Blanche laughed at him. 'I'm but your warder. Have no fear; I'll keep good watch here, you in the petticoats, that were a boy the other night, go to the farther door. Mme. de Nemours takes her nap in the second room beyond. You watch that door; I'll watch the corridor. Farewell, my children! Peste! think you Blanche de Tavanne is so badly off for lovers if at she need grudge you yours, Lorraine?'
She danced out of the door, while I ran across to my station. Mlle. de Montpensier, standing bewildered, ardent, galetel, and laughing, rapt in tears.
'Lorraine, Lorraine!' M. Etienne murmured tremulously. 'She said I should die yet.'

She made no answer, save to look at him as at a madman.
'Nay, I mean not now, past the century. I am not so crazy as that. But you will slip out, you will find a way, and come to me.'
Silently, sadly, she shook her head. His arms loosened, and she freed herself from him. But instantly he was close on her again.
'But you must! you will, you must! Ah, Lorraine, my father is won over. He bids me win you. He has sworn to welcome you; when he sees you he will be your slave.'
'But my cousin Mayenne is not won over.'
'Devil fly away with your cousin Mayenne!' M. Etienne retorted with a vehemence that made me shudder, lest the walls have ears.
'Ah, you are free to say that, monsieur, but I am not. I am of his blood, and dwell in his house, and eat at his board.'
He was looking at her with passionate ardor, grasping her actual words less than their import of refusal.
'Are you afraid?' he cried. 'Are you frightened, heart-root of mine? You need not be, mignonne. You can contrive to slip from the house—Mlle. de Tavanne will help you. Once in the street, I will meet you; I will carry you home to hold you against all the world.'

"Monsieur, go! You must go!"

Very important it is in this age of competition to have a clear cool head, strong heart and steady nerves. The mind must be clear, work and worry, fall to the lot of the average business man—his heart, and a nerve system will not stand it. It gives them too much work to do. Women also are doing the same thing attending to their household duties and looking after their social obligations. The constant strain under which they have to continue day in and day out, the irregularities of habits and loss of rest will soon shatter the strongest system. Before long you become nervous, starting at the least sudden sound, the heart flutters and palpitates, speaks float before the eyes, the pulse becomes weak and irregular, you have faint and dizzy spells, lack of self-confidence, rush of blood to the head, irritability of temper, shortness of breath, starting in sleep, sensation of pins and needles, sleeplessness, restlessness and finally physical breakdown or nervous prostration.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS are the remedy you require to restore your strength and health. Their extraordinary nutritive power manifests itself immediately they are taken. Through the medium of the nervous system they impart a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body. Many have been cured, among them being Mr. Ray T. Coomer, Wallington, P. E. I., Mrs. E. Kilmer, Humberstone, Ont., Mrs. C. McDonald, Portage la Prairie, Man., Mr. Walter Cleveland, Baywater, N.S., Mrs. Owen Martin, Alma, N.B. and thousands of others. The price of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is 50 cts. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25. Can be procured at all drug and general stores, or will be sent on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Montreal, Quebec, Can.

...he it we hear no more of him.' Mlle. de Montpensier retorted, tired of the subject she herself had started. 'He was never tedious himself, M. de Mar; but all this solemn prating about him is duller than a sermon.' She raised a dainty hand behind which to yawn audibly. 'Come, madame, let us get back to our purchases. Ma foi! it's lucky these jeweller folk know no French.'
M. Etienne was himself again, all smiles and quick pleasantries. I slipped off to my room.

...the door; that I ever turned them in my shame. I have no business to know that anybody should bow her face upon her lover's shoulder, her hand clasping his neck, motionless. He pressed his cheek against her hair, holding her close; neither had any will to move or speak. It seemed they were well content to stand so the rest of their lives.
Mademoiselle was the first to stir; she raised her head and strove to break away from his locked arms.
'Monsieur, monsieur! This is madness! You must go.'
'Are you sorry I came?' he demanded vibrantly. 'Are you sorry Lorraine?'
His eyes held hers; she threw pretence to the winds.
'No, monsieur; I am glad. For if we never meet again, we have had this.'

Gluten and Cellulose both enter largely into the composition of a grain of wheat. The object of the scientific miller is to retain as much of the gluten as possible whilst extracting all the cellulose from the flour. Gluten is the real strength giver and is contained in the inner "skin" of each grain of wheat. Cellulose is a hard and almost pure white fibre surrounding the gluten and starch cells. It is absolutely indigestible, but its presence cannot be detected in flour except by special chemical tests. In the milling of "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR the flour passes through special purifying processes which, although they remove all cellulose and waste matter, retain all the gluten and nutrient unharmed. Consequently, this brand is more nutritive and more economical than ordinary flours. ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT. Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Limited. Montreal. St. John. Winnipeg.

LAST WEEK'S BREAK IN THE STOCK MARKET

How the Speculators Misjudged Their Market --- Cause of the Liquidation --- It Strengthened the Position of the Investment Market.

(New York Post, Saturday) It is seldom that such a collapse in security prices as that of last Thursday occurs, without some special reason which Wall Street tries to give off-hand. As a rule, the rumor mongers will fill the financial district with disquieting stories to help along the decline, but none of these were given out that day. Even the crop report news was better and the situation appeared generally cheerful. Yet Reading quickly fell 7 1/2 points, Hudson and Hudson 4, Colorado Fuel & Iron 3 1/2, New York Central 1/4, Union Pacific 1/4, and Steel common 1/4. This break so demoralized the market that there was a general rush to get out, few persons apparently caring to hold stocks at any price. Nobody knew what was the trouble, and brokers, on being pressed, gave no satisfactory reason. Only a fortnight before some of the large operators, including the pools, believing that the market could be advanced before the July dividend of $10,000,000 was paid out, engineered the usual "demonstration." The speculation, thinking they could get a portion of the July money by exciting public buying, began to abort securities lower down, then tried to work them up at which they had been acquired. On the theory that a violent advance always attracts buyers, the same tactics were resorted to in putting up two or three active stocks as to which efforts had been made for a week or more, but the speculation found that their efforts had been in vain, and the market fell a little after the crop figures came out last Monday, but the movement was short lived, and the pools becoming suspicious of one another, "closed." Then the inevitable crash followed, and Thursday's performance reported chiefly a contest as to who should get out first.

SITUATION IN EUROPE IS CAUSING CONCERN

Russia's Troubles Might Cause Demand for Gold -- The United States Position is Otherwise Reassuring to the Financial Interests.

(New York Post, Saturday) While it will be several weeks yet before definite news can be had concerning the outcome of the crisis, the prompt action held out by the Russian government, whose estimate is certainly reassuring. If weather conditions continue favorable and the damage reported this week from certain sections of the Northwest does not prove excessive, there is reason to expect a total yield of nearly 70,000,000 bushels. This would give the single exception of 1901, when all records were broken in the yield of 78,000,000 bushels. It would be folly to count with certainty upon such a harvest, since the crop is just entering upon the season when severe trials are often encountered. But the fact that so little deterioration was experienced last year in the interval between the June estimate and harvest affords ground for hope that conditions during the next month or two may be just as propitious, with a total production fully equal to the satisfactory total of twelve months ago. Our foreign trade figures are also highly suggestive of the prosperity the country still enjoys. The May figures for merchandise exports and imports were by far the largest on record, as were also the eleven months' totals. The importation of $33,000,000 foreign gold last month was never before equaled in the country's history, the movement being the heaviest ever witnessed in a single month. This extraordinary inflow was called for by the completion growing out of the San Francisco disaster, the banks of New York have already gained $17,000,000 on the movement, so that nearly half the total withdrawals have been returned. This has eased the money situation here.

OTTAWA, June 19.—In the house yesterday afternoon, Col. Hughes asked if the report concerning Mr. Aylsworth's resignation was correct, and Sir Wilfrid denied it. Sir Wilfrid also announced that morning session in the house would commence on Wednesday. When the house went into supply on a supplementary estimate of $50,000 for immigration, which was subsequently passed, Mr. Monk brought up the Preston matter, and said that he would later move for Preston's dismissal. Mr. Oliver said the government would investigate the whole question of the London office.

IMPROVING "How is your new servant, Mrs. Upmore? I heard she was ill." "She's improving. She was able to sit up this morning and give notice."

Hair Falls "Losing it, day after day? And doing nothing to save it? As though you can lose your hair and keep it, too! Then stop this falling. Stop it at once! You can certainly do so with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It feeds the hair, gives it strength, keeps it in place, and it makes the scalp healthy, cures all dandruff, and keeps the hair soft and glossy. Try it and be happy!"

THE WATERWORKS

Many weeks must yet elapse before the city receives the new water supply. Engineer Barbour estimates that it will take from six to eight weeks to finish the inlet from Lake Latimer. This would bring us to the first or middle of August, instead of the first of July or earlier in the summer, as was predicted some months ago, for the completion of the contract work.

IN RUSSIA

The primitive savagery that marks these murders of Jews in Russian towns throws a lurid light on the condition of society in many parts of the empire. It would be folly to expect people who can be guilty of such wanton and revolting butchery to be capable of a sane and tolerant self-government, affording equal rights of opportunity to all citizens.

The statement that the Car contemplates the dissolution of the Douma cannot surely be well founded. In this crisis it is the buffer that stands between him and revolution, and its members may well refuse to be dismissed until the conditions in the country have become less threatening.

Regarding conditions in Canada the financial editor of the Toronto News says: "The great increase in Canadian exports for the elapsed eleven months of the fiscal year already reported in the News is an encouraging factor in the financial situation. The big influx of new population is another, and still another is the great demand for labor in many lines, reflected by the 'climbering' of salaries on ocean vessels coming into Montreal. The crop outlook is good. On the other hand, when the stock market is considered, it must be remembered that many securities are at a high level that does not attract investors. Moreover the heavy commercial demands for money have not left any plenitude of funds available for stock market purposes."

Fishery Commissioner D. G. Smith writes to the Daily Telegraph that he is vigorously endeavoring to get after every saw-mill man who pollutes a stream with saw-dust. It would be well if persons in districts where the offence is committed would communicate with the commissioner, and aid him in securing evidence. The protection of the fisheries is of more general value than the personal profit of a lumber operator.

Once more the news from Winnipeg makes us envious. We quote: "The Winnipeg electric street railway have announced a schedule of rates for power and lighting, consequent upon the completion of their electrical power plant on Winnipeg River at Lac du Bonnet. It is very satisfactory to the citizens, guaranteeing a reduction of from 50 to 70 per cent. in rates."

The Democrats of the United States turn to Bryan to escape from Hearst. The Democrats of New York state turn to Jerome to escape from Hearst. The yellow journalists meanwhile endeavor to consolidate a party of his own. The chief trouble Mr. Hearst has to face is the fact that he has been found out.

Fall River, which has been the scene of many strikes and disturbances in the textile industry, may be approaching a solution of the difficulty. The Manufacturers' Association has offered to guarantee the operatives a profit sharing dividend of five per cent. If this is not satisfactory they offer to refer the matter to arbitration. The unions have the proposition under consideration.

A leading land operator in the west tells a Winnipeg newspaper that in ten years Saskatchewan will have a population of over two millions. He says there is as much new ground being broken by farmers this year as is already under crop, except in the older settled districts, and that the influx of immigrants and development of the new province are simply wonderful.

Regarding the market for birch timber, the London Timber Trades Journal says: "Birch is altogether overdone. For both logs and planks prices are weakening. The rupture in the tinplate trade, of course, has a good deal to do with the slow consumption; but even had that been in its normal state the import has been far too heavy."

The mystery of the lost Cresmer children certainly should not be left without further attempt at solution. The fact that two children have utterly disappeared, and that no trace has been found, should stimulate such an enquiry as would solve the mystery.

The question of church union will doubtless be discussed in the Methodist conference, which opens at Margsville tomorrow. This conference will be one of special interest this year, as the general conference will meet in the autumn.

The committee of the Women's Council had hoped to be able to secure teachers in this city for the supervised playgrounds, but has thus far failed to discover qualified persons willing to undertake the work.

Presumably the buildings committee of the school board will not unnecessarily delay its report relative to quarters for the manual training department. It is important that arrangements be completed to introduce the system.

Following the great Christian Science meetings in Boston, a number of preachers in their churches assailed Christian Science from their pulpits. This will more effectively advertise the new faith.

"The people of the west will agree with Mr. Emerson that the more railways they get the better it will be. That is why they welcome the Hill lines."

HUNTER WILL NOT STAY

But Engineer Barbour Hopes to Get Competent Man to Take Charge of Distribution System.

There was a special meeting of the water and sewerage board yesterday afternoon, when Engineer Barbour was heard in reference to matters connected with the extension to Loch Lomond. He announced that Resident Engineer Hunter would not remain to take charge of the distribution system, but he hoped to be able to secure a suitable man for $200 a month.

It was decided to lay a new ten-inch main in Water street in the section where the granite block paving would be placed. The 10-inch main for Delhi, Charlotte and Sydney streets were also ordered laid, and a new 6-inch main on the north side of Queen square. Lake Robertson is to be cleared of stumps and vegetable matter at a cost not exceeding $2,500, and a new gravel bed is to be built through the woods, over the city's property, from the Loch Lomond road to the dam. The chairman and recorder were appointed a committee to arrange a settlement of the difficulty regarding sewerage running into Loch Lomond from the Barker House. Engineer Barbour said the regulating valves would be delivered about July 15.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c. per bottle. MILLMEN ORGANIZE

The organization of a millmen's union was completed last night at a meeting in Union Hall. The election of officers resulted as follows: John Martin, president and walking delegate; Wm. Murphy, 1st vice-president; James Rolan, 2nd vice-president; James Walsh, treasurer; E. De Grasse, recording secretary; James McGowan, financial secretary; Herbert McIntyre, sergeant-at-arms. The election was followed by the drawing up of by-laws. President Martin yesterday received a communication from the deputy minister of labor, Mr. King, who asked if he could be of any assistance in arranging matters.

The millmen have not decided what they will do in the matter.

IN THE HEART OF THE WOODS

Such beautiful things in the heart of the woods! Flowers and ferns, and the soft green moss! Such love of the birds, in the solitude Where the swift wings glance and the tree-tops toss; Spaces of silence, swept with song Which nobody hears but the God above; Spaces where myriad creatures throng, Sunning themselves in his guarding love. Such safety and space in the heart of the woods. Far from the city's dust and din, Where passion nor hate nor man intrude, Nor fashion nor folly has entered in. Deeper than the hunter's trail hath gone, Glimmers the fern where the wild deer drink; And fearless and free comes the gentle fawn. To look at herself o'er the grassy brink. MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

ACCORDING TO HIS LIGHTS.

A man had been employed to make an inventory of the furniture in the house. He was so long about his task in the parlor, however, that the mistress of the mansion went to see what he was doing. On the floor lay an empty bottle. On the sofa lay the man sleeping sweetly like a tired child. But the inventory had not been wholly forgotten. At the top of the page stood a solitary entry, "One Revolving Carpet."—

THE RIVOT COURTBOUS.

Two matrons met by chance at a reception. As they ate slices of cake and drank champagne, they talked of their daughters, both this season's debutantes. "Dear Helen is going everywhere," said the first matron, envying her shoulders to keep up her ermine stole. "She is invited simply everywhere. She keeps me on the go." She sipped her icy wine and added: "Your daughter doesn't go out at all, does she?" "Oh, no," said the second matron. "You see, she became engaged at Christmas, and doesn't have to."

THE INQUIRY DEPARTMENT

"Is the use of hair dye a cause of brain softening?"—George. No, a weed. "Will the constant use of lemon juice on the face injure the skin?"—Eustie. I should say it would. Eighteen hours a day is plenty of time to keep your face in lemon juice.

"How should chloroform be used in removing green paint stains from a white duck skirt?"—Hasty. Administer the anaesthetic in the usual way and when the skirt appears to have succumbed entirely cut out the paint spot with sharp scissors.

"When should white flannel and duck trousers be worn?"—Algie. In winter, of course, and then they would look like wash clothes. You would not want to wear them in the summer. You would find them more comfortable during the white-trousers season. If you feel that you really must wear them, go to your room and lie so, meanwhile keeping perfectly quiet.

"I have just moved into a house in whose basement a dog was kept by the former tenant. As a result the cellar is full of fleas. How can I get rid of the pests?"—Indignant. Fine, go to the former tenant and, in as pleasant a tone of voice as possible, ask them for the loan of their little Fido. The only way they may be worn simultaneously is for you to wear one and the other to wear one and the other more comfortable during the white-trousers season. If you feel that you really must wear them, go to your room and lie so, meanwhile keeping perfectly quiet.

"The question you spring in a very serious one. Al, unless you make it clear whether your hair grows on you or on some other person, I cannot definitely advise you. If it is your own hair I would suggest one of two schemes: Treat it with Orleans mortar twice a day and you will have no trouble making it stay where you put it. Or have a barber remove it and put it in a safety-deposit vault. If the hair is not native on your scalp—indigenous, as it were—any of a dozen easy schemes ought to suggest themselves to you for making it stay where you want it. You will find life full of such serious questions as this. Oscar.—Sieve Man in Montreal Herald.

The morning papers published graphic stories of the recent horrible massacres of helpless Jews at Bialystok, Russia. The corpses of the victims were terribly mutilated and bestial outrages were perpetrated. The Russian douma has adopted a defiant attitude and will not entertain any message from the throne for its prerogation. The Russian situation continues to grow increasingly serious.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

The F. M. A. Dramatic Club gave a very pleasing entertainment in the Opera House last evening, when they produced a musical extravaganza entitled "The Gypsy Festival." The costumes were very bright and pretty, the scenic effects were good, the choruses well balanced and well trained, and the soloists did their work in a conscientious and painstaking manner. There was a large audience and they showed their appreciation of the young people's efforts by generous applause.

There is no doubt about it—Edna May is a favorite of London. Recently an Englishman of more than average intelligence was asked what was the best play in London and without hesitation he declared "Edna May."

Miss Edna May

The entertainment abounds with bright and catchy music, and as a whole is a very pleasing one. The soloists were—Misses Kathleen Hogan, Alice O'Regan, Bessie Wetmore, Stella Pyne, and Florence O'Neill; Messrs. M. T. Morris, D. J. Higgins, W. H. Toomey and F. L. Barreletto.

Miss Kathleen Hogan, as the Gypsy Queen, had the leading part, and she acquitted herself admirably; the solo "Dreamland" being particularly pleasing. The other members of the cast and those having solos acquitted themselves very creditably.

The Maypole dance and little girls' fancy drill were well executed, and elicited generous applause. A very pleasing feature of the entertainment was a medley of selections by the Cecilia Orchestra, composed of young ladies with string instruments, under the leadership of Professor W. C. Bowden.

Taken as a whole, the production was a great success, and reflects much credit on the formation of an "Actors' Day," on which all actors, playwrights, etc., are to consent to forego salaries, royalties, etc., the proceeds to be devoted to certain theatrical charities.

BARTRUM CAUSES DEMENTIA. A pathetic incident has been brought to light as a fruit of the recent San Francisco horror. The story came out in a court at Oakland where a once famous actor faced a jury on the charge of insanity. Charles Ziliani is sixty years old and for many years was an idol of the Italian stage. He has not followed his profession since coming to America several years ago, but has been living quietly in San Francisco with his brother, who has been playing in the orchestra of one of the theatres. The theatre was destroyed by the earthquake and the musician, of course, lost his place. He is comparatively a young man and of the artistic temperament which knows not frugality. The care of his elder brother exacted his meagre income to its full extent, but he did not worry. His talent constituted an asset that at any time could be turned into a salable commodity. He took no thought of the morrow. Therefore, the disaster left these brothers destitute. The younger man met the exigency with all the serenity of youth. He went to work. His portion was to use the pick and shovel, and he came home at night with every muscle begrimed, calloused, but with an elastic cheerfulness and courage undaunted. His violin was his solace.

The situation had a different aspect to the older man. He believed that his brother's cheerfulness was assumed. He could not understand the optimism that encouraged the other from day to day. Being too feeble to work himself, he ate sparingly of the supplies purchased with the meagre reward of his brother's toil. His nights were wakeful and his scant sleep troubled with dreams. He felt himself burdened and a hindrance, his mind succumbed. He became noisy and destructive and kept his brother awake nights reciting parts from the Italian plays in which he had acted.

There was but one course, and the young musician followed it after much mental debate. PUPILS WERE FRIGHTENED

Several Hundred Pupils in Montreal Convent School Become Panic Stricken--An Exciting Time.

MONTREAL, June 18 (special)—Seven hundred girl pupils in a school were thrown into a panic this afternoon, when one of their number rushed in screaming that she had been chased by a man with a knife. The cry disorganized the classes and the girls, despite the efforts of the nuns to quiet them, rushed from one room to another.

Their screams attracted passersby, who, fearing that the building was on fire, called out the fire brigade, who were followed by police parties. A coal cart, with blackened face, who climbed through a window into one of the class rooms to rescue the inmates from what he thought to be a burning school, increased the fears of the terrified girls.

Thinking the cartster responsible for the trouble, a police captain ordered his arrest, and when he was led from the school the crowd set upon him. The efforts of the police, he was roughly handled, but at the police station the unfortunate victim of circumstances was able to convince the police that he was playing the role of a hero and not the villain. The nuns found it necessary to dismiss the school owing to the nervous condition of the girls.

FINED $25 FOR KEEPING LIQUOR

William J. Cunningham, reported by Inspector J. B. Jones and Officer Finley for keeping liquor for sale without a license, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 in the police court this morning.

The defendant said that the inspector visited his place on Britain street on Sunday last and found liquor there. He has a beer license, but did not sell the liquor on Sunday. Cunningham said that he had applied for a liquor license, but did not get one. Judge Ritchie told him that the law was very severe in the matter, and that it called for him to forfeit his license if the commissioners desired it.

Inspector Jones and Officer Finley also said a visit to James Miller's house on Britain street, but found nothing but empty bottles. When the inspector and the officer visited Cunningham's shop they saw the signboard behind the counter by means of a window, while a mirror enabled them to see five men in a row sitting very quietly.

A DIAMOND JUBILEE

The sons are Charles, in the United States; James, wholesale jeweller in New Glasgow; Samuel, in New Glasgow; Robert, section foreman of I. C. R.; Oswald, at home; and Joseph in Halifax. The four daughters, who all reside in the province, and five of the sons were present at the anniversary. WILL INVESTIGATE CASE OF MR. GREEN

Supreme Court Judge to Enquire Into Charges Against British Columbia's Commissioner of Lands.

VICTORIA, B. C. June 19.—(Special)—The rumor here is to the effect that Lieut. Governor Dunsmuir has asked Premier McBride to demand R. F. Green, chief commissioner of lands and works on the ground that the odor of that department was too bad to permit him to accept Mr. Green as one of his advisers.

Last session the disposition of Kaiti Island in which Jas. Anderson and his wife figured was the subject of parliamentary investigation and through the commissioner was whitewashed by the committee, a minority report signed by Lester MacDonnell and T. W. Ferguson gave a scathing denunciation of the minister and the band of adventurers, male and female. More recently new charges have been made in the press in which the names of the Andersons again figured and this is said to have caused the governor to act. The government has consented to an investigation by a judge of the supreme court of the last charge.

U. S. Insurance Commissioner Wolfe Does Not Intend There Shall be any Grafting Over 'Frisco Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The following insurance companies, by reason of their failing to comply with Insurance Commissioner Wolfe's demand that they sign stipulations extending the time for the proofs of loss to August 18 or furnish the commissioner with their list of policy holders, have rendered themselves liable to forfeiture of their right to do business in the state of California: American of Philadelphia, the Concord, Dutchess, Globe and Rutgers, Germania of New York of New York, Northwestern Fire and Marine, National Union, North German of New York, Springfield, Security of Baltimore, Trades' Union of Philadelphia, West Chester, and Western Underwriters.

Commissioner Wolfe intends to fight against these companies without delay, unless advised to the contrary by the attorney general of the state. He said yesterday:

"It will be my business to see that these companies are compelled to meet their just obligations. If any reticence will be taken against them by the insurance commissioner of the states under whose laws they are incorporated."

GUATAMALAN REVOLUTION

Revolutionists Deny That Government Troops Have Won any Decisive Victory.

MEXICO CITY, June 19.—The revolutionists deny that the Guatemalan government has won any decisive victory as reported in a Panama dispatch of Sunday. General Toledo is about eight leagues within Guatemalan territory, well intrenched, and making a favorable opportunity for a forward movement. It is stated also that Pineda at any time may emerge from the forests of Paten with his force and make a dash for Quetzaltenango, where President Cabrera, has a large garrison. Salvador states that the government will declare war openly in which case the disciplined army of that country will be placed behind the revolutionists.

CLUE IN CREAMER CASE

Searching Party Finds Thread of Same Material as Little Ralph's Dress.

SAKOVILLE, N. B. June 18.—The search for the Creamer children was continued today by F. W. Sumner, Chief of Police Tingley, Detective Williams, of the I. C. R. and Sheriff McQueen, of Dorchester. They visited the Creamer home first and rigidly cross-examined Creamer and his wife. None of the searchers took stock in the kidnapping theory or in that of play, believing rather that the children are lost in the woods and that the bodies will eventually be found. While searching in the woods Chief Tingley found another red thread of a texture identical with the dress worn by Ralph on the day of his disappearance. The thread is regarded as an important clue and will probably have the effect of stimulating the search for the missing babies.

WEDDINGS

Cameron-Macaulay. Woolastok was the scene of a very quiet but pretty wedding at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Jean Macaulay, daughter of Beverly R. Macaulay, was united in marriage to John A. Cameron, of London, England.

The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. David Lang, of St. Andrew's church, took place at the pretty summer cottage of the bride's father, in the presence of only the immediate relatives. The contracting parties were unattended. The interior of the cottage was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and after the ceremony a luncheon was served. The newly married couple will leave on the C. P. R. express for Quebec and Montreal, whence they will sail on the Dominion line steamer Canada on Saturday for England. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will take up their residence in Norbury, a suburb of London.

Many beautiful gifts were received, testifying to the popularity of the couple. Mr. Cameron is agent for a number of English firms and visits Canada twice a year in their interest.
