

Mr. Wheatear took his papers from the Midland Counties, sold some fat cattle 'one day at a market town, which was considerably beyond his usual radius, and received in payment good banknotes and gold amounting to two or three hundred pounds. He stowed away the money in a bulky pocket-book, which he carried in his pocket, and deposited in an inner pocket of his undershirt, for there was just space of his own bank in the town, and he was therefore obliged to carry his gains in cash. While counting over the money in the presence of the buyer, he suddenly became conscious of someone eyeing him intently, and looking inquisitively at the pocket-book. In a glancing, he encountered the gaze of a dark, heavily-bearded, determined-looking man, who was watching him with a very keen and sinister expression. Mr. Wheatear instinctively started, and the stranger, seeing he was observed, disappeared in a twinkling. Mr. Wheatear, who had a very disquieting effect upon the farmer's mind, and somehow the fellow's face seemed to haunt him for the rest of the day, though he did not come across him again.

As he could not return home that night, there being no direct communication, he was obliged to go on to a neighbouring town, where a trap was to be sent to meet him the next morning. After a good dinner at the inn he adjourned to the smoking-room for a quiet pipe and a glass of grog before turning in; and as he could not find space for carrying the money in the company, but without the forbidding-looking individual who had startled him in the morning. The recognition was apparently mutual, for the fellow kept glancing furtively at Mr. Wheatear under his shaggy eyebrows, with evident interest. This unexpected recognition, however, did not shake his prehensions, for it really seemed as though he was being followed and watched. He took occasion to draw the waiter's attention to the man, but could learn nothing about him except that he was a stranger. After fidgeting in his chair for a few minutes, he went to his bedroom at once for there he would at least be safe from having his pocket picked, and would avoid the man's persistent gaze.

His room was on the second floor, at the end of a narrow passage, which was approached by two or three steps from a landing. He had no room of his own, but he had to put up with what accommodation he could get, and from the air of stuffiness which pervaded the apartment, there was reason to suspect that in ordinary times it was used as a lumber room. A large open press stood in a corner, containing old coats and hats, and a bedstead, with the mattress, while underneath the bed—a decrepit four-poster—was the skeleton of another bedstead, and some corner-poles.

Mr. Wheatear took note of these details while making a careful tour of inspection. He was just in that nervous frame of mind which causes a person to be especially alive to take elaborate precautions against intruders before putting the candle out. Mr. Wheatear could not nothing whatever to excite alarm; in fact, he felt vexed and humiliated at his pusillanimity. He was rather startled however, at discovering that he could not see the man apparently, to be so close, being rusty, for he had an uneasy suspicion that the stranger downstairs contemplated paying him a nocturnal visit. He hesitated a moment whether he should ring the bell and get the defect remedied, but he finally consoled himself with the reflection that, as the doors were locked, the man could not get in, and was hardly possible for a thief to enter without making noise enough to wake him. Mr. Wheatear was a sturdy old gentleman, though close upon sixty years of age, and he therefore got into bed without more ado, having first taken the precaution to place the pocket-book containing the money in his right hand.

For some time all was quiet, and, by degrees, as stiffness began to reign in the leg, he succumbed to a pleasant drowsiness, and at length drifted into slumber. He had scarcely dropped off—at least, so it seemed to him—when he was suddenly aroused to consciousness by a moving sensation beneath his hand. He started up, and the pillow seemed to be gliding away from him. He sprang up instantly, and as he did so, his startled gaze encountered the sinister face of his acquaintance of the morning. The next instant the man was gone, having apparently withdrawn quickly from the ray of moonlight which shone through the door. Mr. Wheatear felt the drapery of the bed rustle as the intruder moved away towards the door.

The farmer at once darted out of the room in pursuit, but in doing so he caught his foot in the counterpane, and fell heavily on the floor. The shock dazed him for a moment, when he groped about rather feebly for the matches, and, finding none, he went to the door, where, alone, the man having disappeared, and closed the door behind him; but he saw at a glance he had been robbed, for the pillow, which had evidently been drawn from under him, lay upon the floor, and his pocket-book was gone.

Mr. Wheatear at once rushed to the door, but the thief managed to regain his room, or some other hiding-place, for he was not in the passage outside nor in the corridor. The farmer's cries soon brought assistance, and a strict search was immediately instituted. It transpired that the man had been seen leaving the house in the boat, though the nobility recollected having seen him leave. He had apparently concealed himself somewhere about the premises for the purpose of committing the robbery. He had contrived to escape, however, though how he had managed it was a mystery, unless he had been aided by some other party. A lower half of one of the windows in the smoking-room had been left open for the purpose of ventilation. This, no doubt, had been his means of exit, for the house was carefully searched from garret to basement, and no trace of him was found.

The police were communicated with, and a full description of the man—who was first noticed by several persons the preceding evening—was circulated in the district, but without result. Unfortunately, Mr. Wheatear had omitted to take the numbers of the notes, and did not know the names of the persons from whom he had obtained them, so that the police were unable to trace the culprit, except from his appearance. This no doubt, had been effectually disguised, for he contrived to baffle the vigilance of the authorities, until Mr. Wheatear began to consider his property irretrievably lost.

About a month afterwards, however, Mr. Wheatear was again walking in the same quiet and untroubled manner along Oxford-street one afternoon, he suddenly came face to face with the felt who had robbed him. The former was so convinced of his identity, in spite of a considerable alteration in the man's attire and the hair about his face, that he unhesitatingly gave him into custody to the nearest policeman. The man blustered a good deal at being taken to the police station; but he acquiesced at the preliminary investigation that was made about his person, a large sum of money in gold and small notes of which he could give no satisfactory account. The prisoner gave the name of John Simmonds, and was committed for trial at the next assizes.

When the trial came on, the evidence against the man was overwhelming, though he vehemently protested his innocence; but it was proved that he had been in the hotel several hours before the robbery was committed. But he failed to prove an alibi, and, in fact, called no witnesses; while he could give no satisfactory explanation of being in possession of a large sum of money. On the other hand, Mr. Wheatyear, who testified that it had been the man in his room that night, and the police ascertained that he had taken a passage to America in a ship which sailed on the day after his arrest, the theory being that he had remained in England as long as was necessary to realize his booty by cautiously changing it into small notes, and that it was to be paid over to the farmer.

Two years afterwards Mr. Wheatyear, having attended the same fair where he had encountered the man Simmonds, passed another night in the hotel before referred to, and happened to be put into the identical room where the robbery was committed. It was rather a disagreeable coincidence, but he had to make the best of it, for the house, as was always usual at that season, was full to overflowing, and he had no choice in the matter. When he retired to rest, the locality vividly reminded him of his adventure, and he was not long in becoming aware of nervousness arising from old associations. However, he thought nothing of it, and having no money in his possession of which he could be robbed, even if such an experience were likely to happen to him again, he soon fell asleep.

All of a sudden he woke up and found himself out of bed, shivering with cold, and unable to move. He was rather alarmed at first he realized nothing but a sensation of discomfort; but presently he began to wonder where he was, and what he had got out of bed for. It occurred to him that he must have been walking in his sleep, which was always a startling thing to him, and that he was in a predicament, he groped his way to the matches, and lit a candle. He then perceived that he had been standing in front of an old oak press—the door of which was open. A sudden curiosity induces him to investigate the matter, for he had a vague idea that he had been there some time, and that he had done some mischief. He opened the door and looked into the press, when his attention was attracted by a small, dark object which was half hidden behind a box at the back. With a start, he stretched forth his hand to it, something vaguely familiar in the action striking him. He found that it was a small book which he had seen the identical person before. Mr. Wheatyear was thunderstruck with amazement and consternation, especially when he found that the contents were intact. There was the bundle of bank-notes and the bag of sovereigns, just as he had seen them. He was so startled, he handed over to him, while the pocket-book itself was covered with dust, showing that it had never been disturbed since it was hidden away. With a sudden conviction which flashed upon him like a revelation, Mr. Wheatyear at once recalled that on the eventful night he must have been in the room, and that the pocket-book in the press. The fear of being robbed had no doubt preyed upon his mind to such an extent that his brain was actively apprehensive, while the rest of his senses were numbed by unconsciousness.

The more Mr. Wheatyear thought over the matter, the more satisfied did he feel that he had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a hallucination of the mystery. It followed, therefore, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination. Being at the scene of the supposed occurrence, he could recall every detail distinctly, and had no difficulty in persuading himself that he had been the victim of a hallucination. He was so convinced, he was so sure, that he had been the victim of a hallucination, that he had never been robbed at all, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been the victim of an hallucination.

Whether these details were rightly surmised or not, it seemed clear that the man who had been the victim of a

for the aid of discharged convicts. Before doing this, however, he made careful inquiries to ascertain if the man had left any relatives dependent upon him, but without result. His chief consolation was that the prisoner had, to a certain extent, courted his fate by not accounting for the money found in his possession, and by not attempting to prove an alibi which he surely could have done, had he not been unwilling, for some mysterious reason, to disclose his movements on that fatal night.—Truth.

DEVER BROTHERS
 —
SPRING IMPORTATIONS
 —
NEW DRESS GOODS
 In all the Leading Styles.
 —
NEW CLOTHS
 In Scotch, Canadian and West of England.
 —
New Carpets
 In Brussels, Tapestry, Wools, Dutch and Hemp.
 —
New Lace Curtains
AND LAMBERQUINS.
 —
NEW PRINTS
SATEENS.
And Gingham.
 —
NEW LACE TIES,
COLLARS,
 And Fancy Handkerchiefs
 —
NOVELTIES
 IN GREAT VARIETY
 —
 All Departments Complete.
 —
DEVER BROTHERS
 Fredericton, April 11th 1883.

Barker House,
 REFITTED AND NEWLY FURNISHED,
 Queen Street, Fredericton, N.B.
F. B. COLEMAN, Prop.
 Fredericton, March 28, 1883.

J. T. SHARKEY, LL. B.,
 Attorney-at-Law, Notary Public, &c.
 OFFICE :
 QUEEN STREET, FREDERICTON,
 Opp. Officers' Square.
 Fredericton, June 29th, 1883.—1 yr.

QUEEN HOTEL,
 Fredericton, N. B.
J. A. EDWARDS,
 PROPRIETOR.
 FINE SAMPLE ROOMS IN CONNECTION.
 —ALSO—
 A FIRST-CLASS LIVERY STABLE.
 Coaches at trains and boats.
 Aug. 25, 1882.

GREGORY & BLAIR,
 Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,
 NOTARIES PUBLIC,
 FREDERICTON.
 GEO. F. GREGORY. ANDREW G. BLAIR
 Fredericton, March 28th, 1883.

OIL. OIL.
 Per Schooner Zamond.
 3 Barrels Wool Oil,
 " Nuttfool Oil,
 " Southern Tar,
 " Southern Pitch,
 " Extra Cylinder Oil,
 " Black Oil,
 —JUST RECEIVED AND FOR SALE AT—
 R. CHESTNUT & SONS.
 Fredericton, June 20th, 1883.

SEEDS! SEEDS!

HARVEY

—AND—

Canadian Grass Seed,

CLOVER

—AND—

Turnip Seed!

—ALSO:—

Land Plaster,

SUPERPHOSPHATES,

LIME,

P. E. Island Seed Oats,

—AT—

W. E. MILLER & CO'S

Feed and Seed House.

QUEEN STREET,
Opp. People's Bank.

Fredericton, May 16, 1883.

Spring and Summer.

—

Thos. Stanger

—

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

Imperial Hall,

THE BEST ASSORTED STOCK OF

SCOTCH AND CANADIAN

Tweeds

FOR SPRING AND SUMMER WEAR.

Ever Imported into this City.

—

DIAGONALS

IN BLACK, BLUE, GREY, BROWN, ETC.

—

WEST OF ENGLAND

Tweeds, Doeskins and Broadcloths.

Furnishing Goods, Etc.

DAILY EXPECTED

A large and well assorted stock of

HATS AND CAPS.

—

These new and elegant Scotch and Canadian Tweeds will be made into fas-Pomale suits at the cheapest possible rates.

THOS. STANGER,

Opp. Post Office, Fredericton, N. B.

HARDWARE

—FROM—

NEW YORK.

15 CANS and 1 BARREL.

6 CASES containing—Door Bolts, Sash Pigs,
L. Shutter Knobs, Pulleys, Latches, Nail
Sets, Hand Bells, Mugs, Jugs, Hand Rail Screws, Hindorian Saws, Zinc Ovens, Sewing Machine
Oilers, Japanese Drop Hammer, Gauges, Chalk Lines, Table Casters, Hand Straps, Iron Buck-plates, Scissors, Glass Pots, Trunk Locks, Box
Locks, Chest Locks, Caspored Locks, Crocodile
Rings, Furniture Nails, Fancy and Plain, Tanning Chains, Taper Tips for Blacksmiths, Anger
Chisels, Monkey wrenches, Gauge Stocks and Dies,
Butchers Chains, and Socket Chisels.

1 Case Wood Carls.
Mineral Knobs,
Bin Locks,
Serrated Knives,
Tapered Goggles,
Porcelain Knobs,
1 Barrel Cow and Sheep Bell.

Just received and for sale as usual by
R. CHESTNUT & SO NS

POTATO BUGS.

PURE PARIS GREEN

JUST RECEIVED:

2 Drums Pure Paris Green in Bulk.
Parties wishing the Pure Paris Green should not purchase that which is done up either in tins or packages as only that in bulk is pure & kill.

Fredericton, June 20th, 1883. Z. R. EVERETT.

PURE PARIS GREEN

JUST RECEIVED:

3 Drums Pure Paris Green. in 1, 2, 3, 4, lb. tins.
6 Cases

—FOR SALE—
JAMES S. NEILL.

P. S.—Do not buy any cheap Paris Green, it must be adulterated and will not kill the Bugs. Call at Neill's, and buy the genuine.

Fredericton, June 20th, 1883. J. S. N.

Just Received:

BRANDON'S

PURE

PARIS

GREEN

—AT—

DAVIS, STAPLES & Co

Fredericton, June 20th, 1883.

1883. EXHIBITION. 1883.

An Exhibition will be held in

ST. JOHN, NEW BRUNSWICK,

Commencing on Oct. 2nd, 1883,

open to Exhibitors from every part of the Dominion.

THE Dominion Government, the Provincial Government and the City of St. John have all promised liberal Grants of Money for Premiums given for the Exhibition, and have also promised in addition to those already on the ground.

The Exhibition will be open for all kinds of Agricultural Products, Live Stock, and Manufactures, and will be an excellent opportunity for the Manufacturers of the Dominion to show their productions to the people of the Lower Province. Premium Lists and Circulars giving full particulars of the Exhibition, and sent every where free, on application.

WILLIAM L. ENCHES, Secretary.

Fredericton, June 29th, 1883.

CITY TAXES

THE Assessment Roll for the year 1883, is now in the hands of City Treasurer. All persons whose names are hereto notified that they are entitled to a

DISCOUNT
—OR—
FIVE PER CENT.

On the amounts of their respective Taxes, if the same be paid to the City Treasurer at his office, in the City Hall, Fredericton, on or before the 20th day of December next, after which date no discount will be issued, and 50 cents cent incurred on all Taxes remaining unpaid on the 20th day of December next.

JOHN EDWARDS, City Treasurer.

Fredericton, June 1st, 1883.

PER SCHOONER ACARA,
From Boston.

10 Barrels Red Pine;
4 Barrels American Coal Tar;
4 Barrels Pine Oil;
6 Satt Pans; Wagon Wheels;
3 Cases. Ship board and landed as usual.
Just Received and for Sale as usual.

R. CHESTNUT & SONS.

Fredericton, May 30, 1883.

NAILS. NAILS.

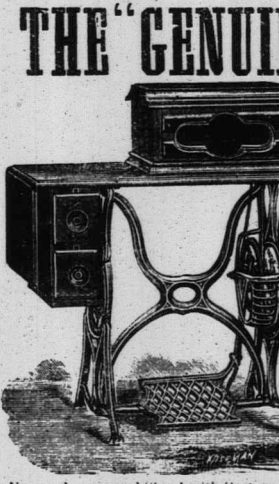

300 LBS CUT NAILS assorted from 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734,

1883 Spring and Summer Suits

WEASLE

HAVE A
$60 NOW IS THE TIME
Spring and Summer Suits
BEFORE THE RUN
A PERFECT FIT
Particular attention paid

THE "GENUINE"

New and improved Stand with Casters and an adjustable hardened Steel Centrifuge; Girth perfect mechanism in the adjustment of all. Best Sewing Machine in the World. Full and complete list of our various machines since 1875-76 are given with each machine.

The William's Manufacture
BRANCH, HALL'S BUILDING
CALIFORNIA

D. McCATHERN

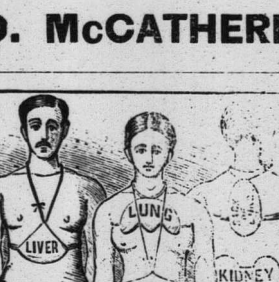

EASY TO LEARN. MOST DURABLE

The Raymon

PIANOS, ORGANS

All of which will be sold at

D. McCATHERIN

YALMOUTH, N. S., Oct. 15th, 1882.
TO DR. BENNETT & HERBON, 63 Horsefield Street, John.

DEAR SIR,—I desire to express my feelings of profound gratitude to you who have helped me so much by the use and application of your wonderful Pain-Exterminator. I was sick about two years and spent a large sum of money, but received very little benefit until I tried your absorbent treatment. When I commenced using it this summer I could scarcely walk across the floor. I had such a weakness as now and now I can walk a mile at a time and attend to household duties, and feel only too glad to recommend the truly great treatment to any person or persons who may be afflicted as I was. You are at liberty to make any disposition of this note you may deem proper.

MRS. R. HIGGARD.

Remedies can be bought any time from GEORGE H. DAVIES, who is the agent at Fredericton. March 9th, 1883.

The Maritime Bank

OF THE
DOMINION OF CANADA.

Authorized Capital, $2,000,000
Paid Up Capital, $698,000

Head Office, St. JOHN, N. B.
THOMAS MACLELLAN, ALFRED RAY,
PRESIDENT. CASHIER.

FREDERICTON BRANCH :
A. S. MURRAY, - - - Agent.
J. A. & W. VANWART, Solicitors.

WOODSTOCK BRANCH :
GILBERT W. VANWART, - - Agent

DIRECTORS :
JESSE WOODMAN, M. P., Sackville.
A. STEPHENSON, Esq., Merchant, Fredericton.
JOHN MCILLIMAN, J. & A. McMillan, Booksellers
Jas. Hepburn, of J. & W. P. Harrison, Flour Merchants, Vice-President.
THOMAS MACLELLAN, Bank of Halifax.
JOHN FARLEY, of Farley Bros., Indianists.
HOWARD P. KNOWLTON, of Trip & Son, Shipowners.

CANADIAN AND FOREIGN AGENTS.
Bank of Montreal and Agencies.

WEXFORD—Union Bank of Lower Canada,
Jas. Thompson, of J. & W. P. Harrison, Flour Merchants—Merchants' National Bank,
THOMAS MACLELLAN, Bank of Halifax,
LONDON, E. C.—Imperial Bank (Limited)
P. & O. Company, Ltd., Agents for India,
INDIA, CHINA AND AUSTRALIA—Bank of India and West Indies—Colonial Bank.

IOANS granted. Deposits received Exchange made at and money telegraphically at all accessible places.
Letters of Credit, Cash Transfers, and other Financial business will be promptly executed. Correspondence solicited. Collections—Foreign and Domestic—made on favorable terms, at lowest rates.
Very fully adapted to customers, and business transacted on favorable terms.

Special Notice regarding the Shares of the Bank's Stock, the rates of interest allowed on Special Deposits, and other matters will be cheerfully furnished.
Fredericton, March 6, 1883

THUMB LATCHES, &c.

SUIT RECOMMEND:
2 CASES Containing Thumb Latches, Door Locks, Bellows, Shell Brackets, Cupboard Catcher, Door Knobs. For sale low.

Z. R. EVERETT.
Fredericton, March 3, 1883.

SHEEP SHEARS, Etc.

JUST Received—2 do. Sheep Shears, 29 doz. Manure Forks. For sale low.

JAMES S. NEILL,
March 5, 1883.
ORIGINAL ANTI-CORROSION PAINT.

For Sale By
JAMES S. NEILL
Fredericton, May 30, 1883.

Get Your House in Order!

Landing this day for

ELY PERKINS:
BROOMS, Pails, Scrubbing, Stone and Shovel Brushes, Spices, Currants, Raisins, Walnut Bark, etc. For sale at lowest rates.
Fredericton, April 25, 1883.

Summer 1883.

WINDMILLS

ARRIVED.

TO HAVE TO YOUR "O.S."

Made Up in First-Class Style

SEE COMMENTS.

EVERY TIME.

to Cutting as usual.

W. E. SEERY.

"EUREKA."

Simplicity Singleplied.

Reliability Reassured.

25 Years the Peoples' Choice.

Handmade in Finish.

Self Threading, Check Lever
Eyelid and Needle Clamp.

Success without a Parallel.

Reputation without a Peer.

Undisputed Determined.

Perfect in Construction.

Nickel Plated Loose Balance
Wheel for Winding Bobbins.

Dress thread, Treacle and Elast Wheel Winding cannot work in new and elegant designs; it causes many people in this position procure it for using elsewhere. The Company's Written Guar-

uring Compny, Montreal, STORE, FREDERICTON.

L AT

HERIN'S

EE THE-

VING MACHINE

NO NOISE. IT DOES THE BEST WORK.

IN THE MARKET. EASY TO LEARN.

and is the Best.

—SO—

NS AND STOOLS,

the Lowest Possible Prices.

Phoenix Square.

30 YEARS!

A IMPORTANT TRIAL OF THIRTY YEARS decided, and a large class of our noble people have given their verdict that

Minard's Liniment!

Is the Best Lotion for Rheumatism and Pain Destroyer in the world. Five hundred Med. and Men endorse it, and it is their practice, and believe it will warrant the name.

KING OF PAIN.

$100

Will be paid for a case it will not cure or help of the following diseases

Diphtheria and Rheumatism

Scalds, Chills, Cuts, Sprains, Lumbago,
Blenorrhoea, Burns, Toothache, Head Brains, Old
Sores, Rheum, Stings, Frost Bites, Bruises, Old
Sores, Wounds, Eczema, Pains in the eye or back, Contracture of the Muscles.

There is nothing like it when taken internally for Cramps, Colic, Pimp, Colds, Coughs, Pleurisy, Hiccoughs and such. It is used for it perfectly harmless, and can be given according to directions on any bottle without any danger.

A Positive Cure for Warts and will produce a fine smooth skin. It will remove all kinds of warts that have fallen from disease, as thousands of testimonials will bear witness. A trial will convince the most sceptical that the above is true. Send to our testimonials of distinguished men who have used

Minard's Liniment

And now have a beautiful crop of Hair, and hundreds who will tell you that it is true to say that by the use of Minard's Liniment they have obtained a new growth of Hair.

W. J. NELSON & Co., PROPRIETORS,

BRIDGewater, N. S.

Geo. H. Davis,

Wholesale Agent, Fredericton,

Bridgewater, N. S. Dec. 14, 1882.

EVERY MAN

In York wants the cheapest and best Store he can get. Try us out call at

The New Foundry

WEST END QUEEN STREET,

Opposite the Orange Hall, where you will find a new kind of COOKING stove called the

"FARMER"

The heaviest castings, best draft and cheapest store in the city. It has been having been discovered to give perfect satisfaction. It not only saves for its family and will refund your money, and make you a present of five dollars. Constantly on hand a new and first-class assortment of Porcel, Close and Cylinder Stoves. Fancy and ornamental castings of all kinds done cheaper than the cheapest in this city. We pay cash for old iron or against the trade for our established Iron Works.
"Quick sales, small profits, and first-class workmanship."

O'Toole & M'Caffrey

West End, Opposite Orange Hall,
Fredericton, Feb. 8, 1883.

REVOLVERS AND CARTRIDGES

JUST RECEIVED:

1 Case Revolvers and Cartridges.

Z. R. EVERETT

Fredericton, June 20th, 1883.

Refrigerator and Freezer

REPUTABLE Size for family use, has been
A thoroughly tested, saved at least fifty per cent.
of ice, gives a dry atmosphere in the body of the Refrigerator, keeps meats, fish, butter, eggs, milk, etc., in perfect condition for an unlimited time.

—JUST RECEIVED AND FOR SALE BY—
R. CHESTNUT & SONS,
Fredericton, June 20th, 1883.

NOTICE.

THE partnership heretofore existing between JAMES L. LUMBERICK & D. H. LUMBERICK, has been by mutual consent, any persons having any claims against the late firm will render the same for payment to JAMES L. LUMBERICK & CO., who are authorized to collect all bills and to pay all debts of the late firm. Any person indebted to the late firm is requested to make immediate payment of their several accounts, which are now being rendered, by the first day of JULY next, the business of the late firm of LUMBERICK & CHESTNUT will be closed up by that time, and any accounts standing after that date will be passed into an attorney's hands for collection.

JAMES L. LUMBERICK & CO.
Fredericton, May 14th, 1883.

[illegible]

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page. The left portion is a light gray area with faint, illegible text and some small dark specks. The right portion is a dark, almost black, vertical band, likely representing a shadow or the binding edge of the page.