I. P. O'Connor Cables That Asquith and Lloyd George Are Certain to Champion Land Reform, Which May Divide Ranks -Home Rule Inevitable-Canada and Imperial Navy.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser by T. P. O'Connor, M. P.] London, July 27 .- Keenness in political interest shows no signs of abatement. Indeed the present week reached a high water mark. Intensity of political feeling during the week is chiefly due to First Lord of the Admiralty Churchill's tremendous demands for further increase in the navy, accompanied by the ultra-frank references to Bermany.

MIXED FEELINGS. Churchill has thus produced strangely mixed feelings, especially among his fellow Liberals. On the one hand horror of an increase in armaments and hatred and dread of war were shown in the stoney silence with which the Liberals listened throughout Churchill's skillful and daring appeal to arms

And yet on the other hand, except for the small "peace-at-any-price" minority, the bulk of the Liberals voted unwillingly but solidly to profess friendship for further armaments.

This feeling of inevitably and almost despairingly bowing before an adverse fate, is increased by the want of all prospect of diminution of naval burdens in future years, everything on the contrary pointing to their further and further expansion.

VIEW OF UNIONISTS.

Another proof of the obsession in the English mind of German aggression Another proof of the obsession in the English mind of German aggression is given by the response from the Unionists to the latest naval increases, for Anticipated Break-Down of Althey demand even more gigantic preparations than Churchill offers. Thus we have the spectacle of two great nations being apparently dragged unwillingly, but inevitably, into an abyss of ruinous armaments and such exasperated national feeling as ultimately makes war possible on smallest provocation.

RADICAL AND LABOR.

The Radical and Labor sections proposed as an alternative to this outburst of universal jingoism the breaking away by England from the entente with Russia and France, as the provocation to Germany which created the great German fleet. This alternative was rejected with equal decisiveness, Sir Edward Grey, secretary of foreign affairs, and Premier Asquith declaring with emphasis that England must cultivate alliances as a counterpoise to the German triple alliance. Meantime this fierce arming against each other by two emphasis that England must cultivate alliances as a counterpoise to the German triple alliance. Meantime this fierce arming against each other by two nations is now widened by the presence in London of the Canadian ministers to attend the secret meetings of the imperial defence committee, which is the most powerful body now in England, and the brain of the political military and naval preparations for war. Indications are arising that the circle will widen still further till it brings in Australia, and even South Africa into the naval preparations. New Zealand has already placed its Dreadnought at the disposal of the admiralty. the disposal of the admiralty.

CANADA'S CONTRIBUTION.

Confident forecasts appear in the London papers of gigantic contributions from Canada, but the Canadian ministers remain dumb, and have still to face their own community with mixed populations. This perilous international situation is accompanied this week by the similarly complex situation of internal politics. At all recent by-elections the radical land reformers have thrust themselves and their policy in the forefront of the battleground, and have made a new departure inevitable in the Liberal party. But this preliminary stage of land reform, especially when advanced by avowed single taxers, separates instead of uniting the Liberal ranks.

Capitalist and land-owning secti ns already utter cries of revolt, and the Unionists take advantage of the contradictions in the Liberal position by asking awkward questions in Parlia ent. All this reacts against the position of the ministers, and especially of Chancellor Lloyd George, and has led to constant rumors of his early resignation. These rumors are without foundation, but it is certain that Lloyd George intends to put himself at the head of a big land reform movement next October, which while different from the ringle tax extremists' plan, will still send Unionist landlords into furies of the wafter, who yesterday identified "Bridgie" Webber and Jack terror and vituper tion, and may antagonize some moderate sections. CAPITALISTS AROUSED. ASQUITH WITH CHANCELLOR.

The Liberals' fate in this crusade will depend largely on the nature of the proposals, and also what backing Lloyd George gets among his colleagues. Asquith, it is believed, will agree in the main with Lloyd George, but Lloyd George's relations with Churchill are strained partly through Churchill's complete change of front on the question of the navy, and partly through Churchill's hankering friendship for Unionist landlords, to whose stock he belongs. One unexpected effort of all these tremendous new issues is to bring home rule into clearer perspective, first as essential to imperial unity, and sec ondly as a small issue in the face of such gigantic perils. HOME RULE INEVITABLE.

Thus home rule is found no longer to be a trump card for the Unionists in the elections, the masses of the English people regarding it as at once an inevitable and a less serious question than such issues as the German peril, revolutionary land reform, and closer relations with the colonies for mutual

The enormous success of Asquith's reception in Dublin helped to increase the general conviction that home rule is assured, while the suffragette outrages have given a blow to the suffragette movement for the moment. A further sign of the times is that no English newspaper now pays any attentive the suffragette movement of the suffragette movement of the suffragette movement of the suffragette movement of the suffragette of the suffragette movement of the suffragette outragette outragette outragette movement of the suffragette outragette movement for the moment.

tion to Ulster threats of civil war, and barely reports even the attack of Orange workmen on the Catholics in the Belfast shipyards.

It almost looks as if England is in a mood to regard home rule as already settled, and to pass on immediately to a discussion of other and more The general situation was not affected by another Unionist ambuscade on Friday, which brought the Liberal majority down to three, but such episodes reveal the necessity of constant vigilance, and will result in better attendance and a closing up of the Liberal ranks.

Fifty Thousand Dock Workers and Families Have Been in State of Semi-Starvation Since Early in May-Trouble Started Over Employment of Non-Union Man.

London, July 27.—The strike at the London docks, which started early in May, and has caused about 50,000 dock workers and their families to live in a state of semi-starvation for ten weeks, was declared at an end today by the

THREE GOING THE ROUNDS

Alleged Spongers Are Said to Have Lived Cheaply in East London.

Three boarding-house spongers are making the rounds in the East London district. They made their appearance on Rectory street and secured accommodation at the Grand Trunk boarding hotel, telling Mr. Kennedy, the proprietor, they had employment in shops. They appeared regularly their meals, but were somewhat punctual on arriving home at night, and frequently appeared in a somewhat intoxicated state. At the end of a week, Mr. Kennedy asked for a settlement, but when they showed an empty pouch and no promises he promptly ejected them. She trio then secured quarters at Mr.

Poll's, who keeps a small grocery at the corner of Rectory and King streets. After they had slept there one night, their past history became known, and the police were informed. But the "deadbeats" must have been on the qui vive, for they never returned.

They reported to have come from Windsor, but it has been ascertained that they never worked in the vicinity. They were a smooth-looking trio and should be looked for.

Montreal, July 27.—Hesitating in front of a street car whether to go forward or go back, a little boy, John Graham, was struck and killed last night.

BLACK CAT SAVED BALLPLAYER FROM COUPLE OF BROKEN RIBS

Pitcher Jacobson, of St. Thomas, after knocking a couple of foul tips, he turned on one of Furssedonn's fast ones Had Kitten in His Shirt When Hit By Ball.

that ever occurred on a baseball diaternoon during the game between London and St. Thomas. While walking to Pinafore Park previous to the game, in company with Umpire J. Ira Davis, Pitcher Jacosson, of the St. Thomas team, noticed a black kitten running across the path ahead of him.

Ball players, as a rule, are superstitious, and Jacobson is no exception. He ran ahead and gathering up the kitten remarked to Umpire Davis that it was a sign of good luck and he would carry it to the ball park and let it loose on the diamord during the game.

As J. Ira is full of these kind of tricks and scented a chance to pull off some of that comedy "stuff" of his, he and Jacobson framed up a scheme to chase the cat across the diamond in an exciting moment of the contest. Now, Listen!

At the ball park, Jacobson went on the third base coaching line in the fourth inning with the kitten hidden under his shirt. Powers came to bat, and, in black cats as an omen of good luck and hammered it with terrific force just outside the thirdbase line.

Jacobson was right in the path of the ball and he had no time to get out of the way. The pellet struck him in the breast, and the thud could be heard all over the lot. To the surprise of the fans and players, who at least expected the pitcher had sustained a few broken ribs, "Jake" went on coaching as though nothing had happened, and a big laugh went up from the stands.

Kitten Was Dead. After the inning, however, Jacobson retired to the players' bench and reached under his shirt for the kitten. When he brought it out it was stone dead, the ball having crushed its skull in. Jacobson showed the cat to the St. Thomas players and also to some of the London players. Before the game was over the story had spread all over the grounds, and it was considered the most remarkable thing that had ever happened on a ball lot in this part of the country. Today Jacobson is going around congratulating himself on the fact that he picked up the cat. Had he not had it with him, he would likely have been in the hospital now nursing a few broken benes. "Jake" is now a strong believer

LONDON, SATURDAY, JULY 27. LESSONS FROM THE CENSUS.

The translation from the farm to the titles of a great proportion of the popnlation of the older provinces in the Dominion is the story told in a paragraph in the volume containing the fifth census of Canada, just published.

To begin with, Ontario lost 52,184 tural population in ten years, and gained 392,511 urban. To the 50,000 decrease must be added the natural increase of the farming community in the decade. The West undoubtedly took a large proportion of the farmers, and the Ontario cities recruited their new strength to a certain extent from the adjacent townships. The farmers have decreased and the city-dwellers have increased in Ontario probably in almost as great a ratio as in the United States. The progress of Ontario has been lop-sided when we see that the rural population-the farmers and the residents of villages which are directly related to the surrounding farming communities-in what is fundamentally an agricultural province, with enormous natural wealth, are outnumbered by the dwellers in cities, and towns. There are 1,194,785 persons dependent on agricultural pursuits and 1,328,489 livig in urban municipalities. This will surprise the average citizen, who imagines the farmers are greatly in the mafority.

New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island each had rural losses and urban gains. Quebec alone of the eastern provinces has more than held her own in both classes, increasing ther rural population by 39,951 and her urban by 913,863.

The sex and conjugal condition of the people in Canada is shown in the tables. The females are in the minor-Ity for the whole Dominion, the tables showing 3,821,067 males and 3,383,771 females. Of this number 4,310,514 are unmarried. The married population numbers 2,582,746; the widowed 268,719. and the divorced 1,530. Widows outnumber widowers by two to one.

Publishers often make the claim that each copy of a newspaper is read by five persons. The claim is not exaggerated, as the census shows that each house in the Dominion has an average of 5.096 persons.

FRENCH AND ENGLISH.

We hope not many of his compatriots share certain sentiments and opinions Mr. Bourassa is voicing in his articles in Le Devoir, but one of his complaints is not without reason. He la ments the ignorance of French among English-Canadians; even in Montreal, where the two races live and work together English-Canadians who call themselves educated refuse to acquire the French tongue.

There is an excuse for this ignorance in communities almost exclusively English-speaking. Here in Ontario, except in a few French settlements, a speaking knowledge of French is difficult to acquire, and almost as difficult to retain. The tongue and the ear lose their facility in a language when it is not habitually heard or spoken. A reading knowledge is more easily attained and kept, and should be more generally acquired for its cultural value, but the ability to speak French would be of practical use to few English-Canadians outside of Quebec or the French sections of other provinces. Public men are an exception: if members of Parliament from the English provinces were as familiar with French as the Quebec members with English, or even showed a disposition to learn French, the relations of the two races would be more cordial and sympathetic. The present Speaker of the House of Commons. after spending 33 years in Parliament, had to take hurried lessons in French in order to repeat the prayers in that tongue. The French-Canadian members, all of whom use English, were affronted by such a spectacle, his duty as a public man.

The English in Montreal have no excuse for this neglect. They could pick French up as readily as do the majority of French-Canadians in all walks of life. There is a tinge of contempt in their refusal, which intellisent French-Canadians have a right to resent. It would greatly reduce friction and conduce to good-feeling if the English in French communities showed a desire to return the bilingual compliment. They take the position that French-Canadians are compelled to learn English, while the English can dispense with French for all the purposes of business, and even of social intercourse. This is true, but to refuse to acquire French on such a ground is not respectful to cannot escape from the horror of it. It cannot escape from the horror of it. It blown into the river, but rescued. even of social intercourse. This is the French.

OTTAWAY CAR RAN OVER THE DERAIL

Traffic on Rectory Street Delayed for Some Time.

One of the cars on the Ottaway line ran over the derail on Rectory street, near the Grand Trunk roundhouse last evening and delayed traffic on the line for some time. The car was held up by a freight for a time, and when it went to proceed the derail was not turned back into place properly. When the crew went to run it back on the track by means of plates, they discovered the plates had been set wrong, and the car slewed around to right angles of the track instead. It was nearly midnight before the line was cleared.

John Masefield, England's New Poet tBy Special Arrangement With the Winnipey Telegram.

Henry Newbolt, Alfred Noyes, G. K. Chesterton and John Masefield are the four greatest younger poets of England today, but the greatest of these is John Masefield. This new singer of the people is intolerable, and it has has been fluting his carols in the ear of the British public for twelve years, and there is every indication that he is coming into his own. Two recent publications, "The Everlasting Mercy," a spiritual poem, and "The Widow in the Bye Street," as realistic a poem as in some minds. We believe that the any English poet ever produced, have had a large sale, and have received much praise and much abuse in the press of two continents. They are marked by an accent of such originality, that to use B owning's simile, they are like "fresh-poured red wine Yesterday was ladies' day at the of a mighty pulse." In "The Everlastswimming pool, and in accordance with ing Mercy," Mr. Masefield pictures the rapture of a sinner converted from the error of his way. It is the old familiar idea of joy in Heaven over one sinner that repenteth, but mark how the genius of this new poet takes hold of that common-place and glorifles it:

> The water's going out to sea And there's a great moon calling me But there's a great sun calls the And all God's bells will carol soon

For joy and glory and delight He translates the spiritual exaltation of the recovered sinner in this starza, which makes nature sympathetic with the human soul:

O glory of the lighted mind, How dead I'd been, how dumb, how blind. The station brook to my new eyes,

Was bubbling out of Paradise.
The waters rushing from the rain Were singing Christ has risen again.

Masefield, then, is to be regarded as a new poet of the Browning order, a man, who is chiefly interested in the concerns of the human soul. But he has another string to his bow, He is a great sea poet. Twelve years ago, when he issued his first book of ballads, he gave the world some fine sea pieces, but his latest poem eclipses all previous efforts. It appears in the urrent number of "The English Review," under the laconic title, "Ships." In this poem, written in the heroic couplet, Masefield has embodied fond recollections of the old vessels which he knew so well when he sailed before the mast on the high seas and when many years the poet, like the famous novelist, Joseph Conrad, was a sailor, and he speaks of that whereof he knows. Swinburne wrote beautifully of the sea; so did Tennyson and honeymoon trip? He appears to be pretty level-headed. How did they win outstrips them all in freshness of Kipling; but Mansfield, the ex-sailor, phrase, in naturalness, and in the true accent of devotion as a British who returns thanks with heart and lips "for the great queenliness of all those ships."

> In the opening lines of the poem he says that he cannot tell the wonder of those old sailing ships, nor their magic, "Magic that once thrilled through me to the bone," but he misses them now when he visits the banks of the Mer-

Now follows a rhymed catalogue of hose fair vessels of long ago, a list which reminds one of the catalogue of men and ships in the second book of With Homeric simplicity, Masefield touches off each vessel with some epithet or phrase, as in the following lines:

NOTHING IN L., H. & B. BYLAW TO GUARANTEE SATURDAY RATES

It Is Said There Was Talk on to London unless made with the G. W. R. or the G. T. R. Mr. J. H. Flock Speaks. the Subject, but Nothing of a Legal Nature.

The question of cheap fares to London on the Huron and Bruce on Saturdays is again agitating some of the citizens, and an investigation will probably be conducted in an attempt o discover whether or not an agree ment with the company does exist. Up to the present time no trace of such a document has been found, and at the city hall it is doubted that such an arrangement was made by the city which the line was bonused by Lon-

Old residents of the city declare that they remember that some sort e fan arrangement was discussed, but was never incorporated in any bylaw. The low fares were given for a time, but were later abandoned, and have not been restored. It is the concensus of opinion that the whole question is in th hands of the Dominion railway mission, and that body would have the right to say whether or not lower res should be iven.

There io no doubt that this matter was discussed when the railway was built, some 41 years ago. Some declare that it referred only to the line running to Hyde Fark and not to the When the Grand Trunk absorbed the Great Western it discontinued the reduced fares, and they have never been resumed.

It seems that if any such clause was ircluded in the agreement, it only held good on the L., H. and B. proper, which never came into London, and connects with the old G. W. R., now

'London's contribution was $100,000. At the time the bylaw was drawn up there was some talk about giving a low rate for Saturday excursionists, together with a low rate on wood and provisions. So far as my memory goes, there was nothing incorporated in the bylaw which gave a grant of $100,000 to the road making it compulsory to give a low fare. some papers showing my part in the transaction, but I am unable to find where they are. However, that is my recollection of the matter. When the Huron and Bruce was taken over thy the Great Western, all the documents in connection with the matter were taken to the head offices of the company at Hamilton. I do not think a single document emains in the city, except some papers may have in my possession. That is all know of the matter.

Living Up to Agreement. Grand Trunk officials state that the ompany are now living up to the agreement. Week-end fares of 10 cents more than a single fare are in vogue during the ummer months for the week-end, and even if less than a single fare were given the difference would be slight for the majority of the towns along the line. City Clerk Baker and Mr. J. Grant Henderson, commissioner of industries, quently there would be no cheap rate state that they know of no such bylaw.

It Is Said Couple Were Seen in This City Some Time

Last March the police of this city were notified to be on the lookout for Walter Kelly and Mrs. D. Alexander, of Toronto, who had left Toronto and Mrs. Alexander's husband and family of four small children without notice kind. The local police have not had any trace of them since the notification was received.

However, interest in the case has been revived by the statement of two or three of Mr. Alexander's friends, who say that they have seen both the woman and man in London. Another so believing reason the receipt of a letter by Mr. Alexander postmarked "London," which contained some clippings of an insulting nature.

The search for the missing couple will be renewed with more vigor, not that Mr. Alexander wants to resume relations with his wife, but because h wants to provide a home for his children who are now in a home in To-rento, where one of them has been very ill for the past few weeks. they are found a criminal charge will be laid against Kelly, who is a machinist by trade.

JON LOST A RAGGED GAME: ERRORS AS COMMON AS HITS

St. Thomas Made Nine Bungles and Were Outhit by Indians, But London Could Not Win the Game-Gilhooley Had an Off Day at Short.

St. Thomas, July 26.—According to the oldest inhabitants there have been some pretty "punk" ball games perpetrated upon the natives of St. Thomas, but the one pulled of by Stewart's section-hands and Mr. Barrett's bunch today was the most wretched of all the miserable exhibitions. Although the Saints landed on the big end of the tally, it was more by good luck than good playing. Several times they tried to hand Mr. Barrett's crowd the laurel wreath of victory, but just as many times did the Redskins hand it back, although not exactly in the same manner. The final score was 8 to 6, with London on the losing end.

Harry Furssedonn officiated in behalf of the Indians, and he pitched a rattling game. Had he been given good support, he would have beaten the Saints eagly game. The Saints had an off day in the field. The 2:09 pace, last on the program, furnished the best sport of the day. In the hister theat George Penn led around to the distance stand, when Babe came with a shame. STEVENSON'S RINK WON M'NEE TROPHY

Defeated Lochead's Rowing Club Rink in Final Contest for Consolation Prize.

THE TOURNAMENT CLOSES

Bell and Beltz in First Series of the Scotch Doubles, and Brown and Lashbrook in Second.

The W. O. B. A. tournament of 1912 has been finished, and the bowlers have all departed. Yesterday afternoon the finals of the McNee trophy, the consolation event for rinks, was played, and Mr. John Stevenson's rink defeated their club-mates, John Lochead's four.

This game was worthy of these two crack quartettes. Two better bowlers than Joch Lochead and John Stevenson it is hard to find. Both have been contestants for the Labatt Trophy on more than one occasion, and when they skip a rink the spectators are always assured a fine exemplification of the great game. Stevenson made a fine up-hill battle. He did not get going as soon as his opponent, but when he did start there was no denying him, and he kept adding point to point until he made it certain that the McNee Trophy would remain in his possession for a year. Willis T. Cox, Jos. Weld and A. W. Fraser gave him excellent support all through the tourney, the former being particularly good.

Lochead's rink bowled splendidly at all times. They had many hard-fought battles, and showed excellent form in every game.

times. They had many hard-lought battles, and showed excellent form in every game.

The Doubles Winners.

Jimmy Bell and Fred Beitz are the champions in the doubles. This is nothing unusual for this pair, as they have been there before. After a hard battle through the large entry list, Bell and Beltz were pitted against W. A. Strowger and Thos. Reid, of the Toronto Granites. The latter did not show the form of earlier contests, while Bell and Beltz were very good. Parnell Morris and Jared Vining won third money in this event, the fourth prize going to Dr. W. J. Fear, Aylmer, and his partner, Albert Chambers. In the second series, Frank Brown and W. J. Lashbrook, won from Henderson and Simkins, of the Oakland Club, Toronto, in a good battle.

The prizes were well distributed geographically, and the bowlers all seemed perfectly satisfied.

APPEAR READY FOR ANNEXATION

Pottersburg, Ealing and City of London Held Joint Meeting.

THE FIRST DEFINITE STEP

Fifteen Mills on the Dollar Regarded was a Fair Tax Rate for the Next Fifteen Years.

The first definite step towards the annexation of Pottersburg and Ealing was taken Friday night, when commitees from the suburbs met a committee from the city council to discuss terms. Pottersburg was represented by Messrs. Haney, Cairncross, Angus, Reavely, Morrison and Orr, while Messrs. Gould, Saunders, H. Pocock, Finch, and J. Homister looked after the interests of Ealing. Mayor Graham, Ald. Spittal, Ald. Coles and Ald. Bennett were the city representatives. Judging from the tone of the meeting. the annexation scheme will probably go through. Ald. Spittal acted as chair-

Increasing Boundaries. Ald. E. H. Johnston introduced the deputation, and Ald. Spittal explained the reasons for calling the conference. Some time ago, the council had decided to increase the boundaries of the city in order to provide factory sites. It was necessary that the commissioner of industries, in order that he might do his work more efficiently, should have factory sites, and efforts were made to take in a portion of the land lying east of the city, along the interswitching line. The larger scheme had developed

So far as the city council was concerned, it was thought that the best terms the corporation could grant would be a tax rate of 15 mills on the dollar for a period of 15 years. This was simply the general rate, the debenture rate having been deducted. According to the flowing handed him the benture rate having been deducted. Acin the world made of fruit and the

Mr. Gould, of Ealing, was the first to address the meeting, and explained the action of the recent meeting held there. They were perfectly willing to come into the city on a basis of a fixed assessment for 20 years, with the tax rate at 13 mills. They had come to the conclusion that the assessment of 1911 should be continued during the period of the agreement. They would-also want electric light, water, fire protection, mall delivery, etc., within a year or two, at least. He was perthe city, their assessment would be boosted. The low tax rate and highassessment would mean that the rest-dents of the village would pay high taxes as the present residents the city, to which they would not agree. Mr. Gould declared that playgrounds should be provided, for which they would be willing to pay a reasonable sum. Street Car Service Wanted. "Above all, we want the assurant that we will have street car service as early-as possible," he declared. "We need that badly."

Mr. Haney, chairman of the Fottersburg deputation, supported Mr. Gould's "We were under the impression that the rate of taxation was to be 13 mil said Mr. Haney. "We did not think it would be more. A discussion followed as to the tax rate. Mayor Graham pointed out that it would be impossible to agree to a 13-mill rate.

"That is less than you are paying now," he declared. "Both your assessment and rate will go up a great deal. do not think it fair to ask us to take you in for less than you are actually paying now."
Rate Reasonable.

Mr. James Homister, Mr. H. Pocock, and others spoke, finally, declaring that a 15-mill rate was very reasonable, and they were willing to accept it. M Homister made a strong plea for promise from the city council that Eal-His worship promised that, and the

Mr. Hanes was desirous of knowing when the annexed portions would re-ceive water and light, etc. The Pottersburg Line.

The status of the street car line to Pottersburg created some discussion. Some of the delegates were of the apinion that as Pottersburg had assistwould not count as mileage. However, model. The pattern is cut in the agreement between the company

FIRE CHIEF WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Head of Local Department Will Go to Denver.

At a minority meeting of No. committee held Friday afternoon was decided to recommend that Fire Chief Aitken attend the annual convention of the Fire Chiefs' Association of America, to be held in Dezver, Col., Aug. 17 to 20.

Ald. Ashplant and Ald. Murphy, the only two representatives of the council present, were heartily in favor of this, declaring that it was necessary for the chief to keep in touch with modern methods of fire-fighting and the proper appliances.

The consideration of the bylaw re-cently introduced by Ald. Murphy to provide for the proper weighing and protection of food displayed for sale on the market, was on the notice, but owing to the fact that there was no querum it was decided to send cument to a committee of the board of health, composed of Dr. E. liams, the chairman; Dr. F. L. Bur-den, and Inspector McCallum. Ald.

Murphy will attend, and explain it to them. It was decided also to recommend that No. 3 committee and Fire Chief Aitken attend the Ontario Fire Chiefs' convention to be held in St. Marys or Aug. 7.
Those present were Ald. Ashplant.

I have been treated by physicians, and have taken every medicine I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I finally concluded that there was no remedy in the world that could cure Constipation. CONGESTION FEARED AT PORT OF MONTREAL

New Elevators May Not Be peror's life were being continued and Ready in Time to Handle the Rush of Grain.

Montreal, July 26. - Scarcely two months will elapse before the movement of the big grain crop will be in operation through the port of Monoperation through the port of Montreal, and there is every fear expressed now that the new harbor commissioners' grain elevator known as No. 2 will not be finished in time to receive Treatment Causes Delusions to grain from vessels which usually de-liver in this harbor.

Major Stevens, of the harbor commissioners, says: "The matter as to whether the new grain elevator will be in readiness for the new fall crop is entirely beyond us now, as we are solely in the hands of the mechanics who are under con-tract to furnish the machinery, which includes the conveyors. We are in hopes that the elevator will be completed before the new crop begins to arrive, but we cannot promise that it ish Medical Association in a report,

The present congestion is attributed solely to this lack of ocean 100, grain space by the harbor commissioners.

Somewhat short of a million bushels more grain had been shipped from Carne 105, Lord Ladas (imp.) 105, this port up to the present date last furnish at their leisure. Mr. George H. Hannah, manager of the Montreal Warehousing Company, under whose jurisdiction comes the Grand Trunk Railway elevator, states that fully one-half million bushels of grain per week has been refused storage at the Grand Trunk elevator this season for lack of room, which they would have had had no injunction been served forbidding enlargement of their plant.

Marlborough Receives.
The Duke of Marlborough received the delegates and guests at the entrance to the courtyard, which accommodates at least 20,000, and they were escorted through the palace and afterwards served with lunch on the broad lawns. Speeches were delivered in the courtyard, which possesses excellent acoustic properties, being inclosed on three sides by the palace buildings. Bonar Law, the leader of the Opposition, Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, and F. E. Smith, another of the keen fighters of the party, delivered addresses, which contained lots of fire. NATIONAL DOCK STRIKE FAILS

London, July 26.—The attempt of Joseph Haveleck Wilson, president of the International Seamen's Union, to organize a national strike of transport workers in support of the striking London dockmen, has failed. It is expected that the failure of Mr. Wilson will lead to an early resumption of work on the London docks.

Ordinary furnaces are called coal gluttons. There may be good reasons for that—we don't know. But—we have built the "Sunshine" Furnace so that it is very easy on coal. Hundreds of peo-ple now using the "Sunshine," and having used ordinary furnaces, declare that the "Sunshine" makes two tons of coal do the work of three. Evidently, the "Sunshine" Furnace saves coal and

There are many more reasons why you should invest your money in "The Understudy of the Sun"-McClary's "Sunshine" Furnace. Call on the McClary agent and ask him to show you all the mechanical reasons and exclusive devices which go to make the "Sunshine" the best and therefore the cheapest furnace you can buy. When a body of Hibernians were re-turning home they passed through an Orange district. They were met at the station; they were hooted and insulted, and a banner was waved in faces. Of course, they ought not to have minded, but they resented it; a scrimmage took place, and some of the little children may have been friendly, though not very intimate, terms with each other. the simple and humble one of recording with his shorthand the speeches of men of all parties, and to do so faithfully and without any party or personal feeling. If today, and during practically all my professional life, I have been able to remain calm and even judicial, in the midst of violent scenes of party passion; if I have been scenes of party passion; if I have been able, as I hope I have been, to give a just and accurate account of meetings, speeches, and personalities, though in no agreement with the views expressed, I owe it largely to the training on mental detachment which I got in these days of my youth when my main occupation was to go to meetings, and to listen and record speeches, in which everything I then held dear, was denounced in language of fiery violence. For a year and a half after my entrance into the House of Commons I wrote the parliamentary description in the Pall Mall Gazette, then a strong Liberal organ and under the editorship of John Morley. The article was anonymous, and few people knew who was its author, and I hope, though I was in active opposition to Mr. Gladstone and his ministry at the time, that I managed to write the article with such impartiality that everybody could recognize it as fair. Indeed, if it had not been, even my good friend, the editor, could not have retained my services.

A Happy Time. T was a happy time, those early days of my life as a journalist, happier, I now think, than any epoch of my subsequent career. There are thousands I dare say of my readers in these pages, who, like me, have known all the grinding sense of imprisonment which belongs to a boyhood of poverty. When you have to regard it as a great luxury to be able to buy a penny pa-per, then indeed there are few of the enjoyments of life from which you are not cut off. And so it was with me. Even the prizes, in one case running to what I regarded as the princely sum of forty pounds, I had to give back for the support of those near to me, which I

MAYOR OF OLD LONDON ENTERTAINS MR. BORDEN

The Canadian Ministerial Party Take Luncheon at the Mansion House.

London, July 26.-The lord mayor of London yesterday entertained Mr. Borden and his colleagues to luncheon at the Mansion House

Mr. Borden, replying to the toast of his health, said: 'When the Duke and Duchess of Connaught return to these shores from Canada they will bring with them the love, affection and esteem of the Canadian people. The duke has made himself acquainted in every way with the great Do-minion and has given evidence of his close association with the ideals and aspirations of the people."

Continuing, the Premier said that Canadians were sometimes reproached little for their intense belief in heir country. They had such a beand they intended to justify so far as in them lay. They desired Canada should work out its own destiny as one of the great nations of the Empire. Those in England could scarcely appreciate the vast task which had been committed to the Canadian people in the development of their territory. They had in their possession not only great territory, but also enormous resources of the most varied description.

British and French-Canadians were working harmoniously together in the task of developing the country. The French were among the most loyal subjects of the King. As one who knew something of the Canadian people, he ould say that the French and British there were not afraid of their responsibility nor unwilling to accept the par-which was their duty in carrying on the traditions of the Empire in that part of the world.

Lord Strathcona gave a dinner and reception for Premier Borden and his colleagues last night. The guests included Mr. Whitelaw Reid, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, Lord Charles Beresford, Cardinal Bourne, Sir Percy Girouard, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Lord Curzon, Sir C. H. Fitzpatrick, Senator Gibson, Sir Edmund Grey, Lord Kit-chener, Sir C. H. Rose, Mayor Geary, Lord Minto, Sir William Osler, Earl Selborne, Sir T. Skinner, A. W. Smithers, Earl Stanhope, Baroness Macdonald, and F. Williams Taylor.

HUMANE SOCIETY DOES GOOD WORK

Interesting Reports Were Made at Regular Meeting Held Friday Night.

CASE OF CRUELTY

Society Will Assist the Police in Prosecution on Tuesday Next-The Funds on Hand,

The Humane Society held its regular meeting Friday night in the board of trade rooms, the president, Col. Gartshore, presiding.

Secretary W. L. Steeves reported the work of the society since its last meeting on July 2. One especial case which required the attention of the society occurred on Thursday, and a sequel in the police court is yet to follow. Henry Hamilin, of Lambeth, is the owner of four horses, three of which are suffering from severe sores about the neck, and lame shoulders. Their present condition is pitiable, and they are absolutely unfit for work. The police are taking a hand in the matter and are prosecuting the owner on one charge, while the Humane Society is using the law in another. Mr. Hamilin appears in the police court on Tuesday next to answer these

To Avoid Pasty, Shiny, Streaked Complexions

(From Beauty's Mirror.) Those who abhor sticky, greasy shiny, streaked complexions should religiously avoid creams, powders and ouges these heated days. There's no need for them, anyway, since the virtues of mercolized wax have become known. No amount of perspiration will produce any evidence that you've been using the wax. As it is applied at bedtime and washed off in the morning, the complexion never looks like a make-up. Mercolized wax gradually takes off a bad complexion, instead of adding anything to make it worse. It has none of the disadvantages of cosmetics and accomplishes much more keeping the complexion beautifully white, satiny and youthful. Just get an ounce of it at your druggist's and see what a few days' treatment will do Use like cold cream.
