Food Was Torture—How Iron-ox Tablets Cured R. J. Fowler, of Orillia.

February 19, 1903. It is with gratitude that I can testify to the curative properties of Iron-ox. I was so badly troubled with dyspepsia that whatever I ate caused me so much torture that eating became a dread to me. I was induced to try Iron-ox. I was completely cured and have not had a return of the trouble since. I can safely recommend your medicine to any suffering from dyspepsia or indigestion.

The mantle department also is there, handsomely fitted up with mirrors, and stocked with a fine assortment of ladies' and children's coats, the choice in children's garments being particularly large and varied. The display of skirts, silk and fancy waists, and kimonas, is very attractive. The millinery department upstairs is without doubt one of the largest and finest in the city. It is over 100 feet in length. Gray & Parker have established a magnificent reputation in the line of millinery. The ladies of the city know that as a fact, and they know, too, that this firm offers the newest and most exclusive styles and the most excellent workmanship. They are justified in feeling proud of the success that this department has met with among the ladies of this city. The front part of their store has been remodeled, new counters have been put in, and the whole store from Dundas to Carling street is bright and well-arranged and up-to-date in every respect. A large sale is now being held to mark opening of the newly-enlarged store, and buyers who go to Gray & Parker's have the assurance that their wants will be carefully and courteously

She entered the basement at the rear of the store and took up her watch. Her quarters were cramped and the only view she had of the basement was through a knothole, and she had to kneel to look through that. She waited three hours before Mentz came into the basement. She heard him coming and got her eye fixed at the knothole. Mentz took some goods from the reserve stock, and, after satisfying himself that there was nobody near, he took a silk portiere from beneath his waistcoat and hid it. Then he went back upstairs. Miss Dorothy did not, as most girls would have done, rush up and report the matter to the proprietor. She wanted to get the thief with the goods on him. She knew he could easily ex-

When Ment? had left the basement Dorothy slipped out by the back way and got Policeman McCarthy, who nabbed Mentz as he was leaving the store.
