SHOULD INTEREST YOU

The following article taken from the Strathroy Despatch of July 4th, should interest you and your customers :

A few days ago we were invited by the management of the Strathroy Canning Co. to visit their plant and comment as we saw fit upon the conditions existing there. Yesterday afternoon we accepted the invitation, and were shown over the premises by the Secretary, A. Leitch. The Company was not apprised of our visit, and we saw nothing outside of the daily routine.

We first entered the department devoted to threshing peas, or in factory circles, known as "vining." Three up-to-date machines are employed in this work, the result of their operation at times more than supplying the factory proper with needed produce. In this building is also situated a carrier extending the entire length of the spacious building. This is a new innovation, and permits of the continuous intake of peas being conducted to any part of the building at a moment's notice.

At this early stage we were impressed by the efforts of all concerned to adhere to the motto adopted by the Company,— "Cleanliness."

The recent exposure of the canned meat methods in the United States, and the subsequent investigation by the Government, has, we are pleased to state, no bearing whatever upon the output of Factory No. 21 of the Canadian Cannery, Limited. Whatever the conditions may be in the United States, the Canned Goods packed at Strathroy are perfectly clean and wholesome, and are packed under the most rigid sanitary conditions. In support of this contention the Company invites inspection of their plant at any hour of the day by any person interested, or authorized to make an investigation of any nature.

The remarks as above are equally applicable to each of our thirty odd factories. In ordering canned goods it will pay you to stick to brands as follows, viz :

"Canada First," "Little Chief," "Log Cabin," "Horseshoe," "Kent," "Auto," "Lynnvalley," "Maple Leaf," "Lion," "Thistle," "Grand River," "White Rose," etc.

"QUALITY and CLEANLINESS," our Motto

Yours respectfully,

CANADIAN CANNERS, Limited

Leaving the viner, the peas are conducted by the process of machinery along a lengthy table, where any particles of refuse, such as portions of vine or other nature is carefully removed. The peas then enter a washer, where they are carefully cleansed of the smaller particles of objectionable matter not detected by the eye.

It is worthy of note that during the journey of the peas from the viner to the shipping department, they are not touched or tampered with by human hands.

Being thoroughly cleansed the peas are ready for cooking, and are conducted to a room devoted to that purpose. In this, as in all other departments, the utmost cleanliness prevails, the purest of water only being used. They are then put through a spacious cooler, after which they are placed in cans by a filler, a new machine recently installed. The cans are then carried along to the capper, and carefully sealed, guaranteed at this final stage of the process to contain nothing but the purest and most wholesome product.

The floors at the factory are kept most scrupulously clean, and a department is set aside for the convenience of employees who desire to "wash up" upon changing from one run to another. An abundance of clean towels is always at hand for this purpose.

In conclusion, we might say that, by personal inspection, we discovered that the cleanliness of the factory itself, and the employees, is the most important thing insisted upon, and, so far as we could see, the business is maintained upon conditions to which the most zealous sanitary inspector could take no objection. You are invited to call at the factory and inspect the plant.

Easy, VERY Easy

To account for the success of Red Rose Tea is easy, very easy.

FIRST.—The tea is good and has always been good, honest value—better than most people have been accustomed to.

SECOND.—The retail grocers and their clerks have always taken the most friendly interest in Red Rose Tea—perhaps because I have the most cordial, friendly feeling toward them, and am always glad of an opportunity to express it.

What rubbish to talk of “forcing a merchant to sell your goods.” The merchant that can be forced is not worthy of the name. His influence with his customers is greater than that of any advertising—but the right kind of advertising will help the friendly merchant and clerk toward greater success.

This is where Red Rose Tea and Red Rose advertising come in. They help the merchant increase his business.

If you are not handling this tea will you write me a friendly note of inquiry?

Increase Your Canned Goods Trade

You can do it to the extent of 25 or 30% very easily this season, and at the same time entrench yourself more firmly in the confidence of your customers.

How To Do It

It is not difficult. We have done it many times over. The wholesalers and retailers who handle our goods have done it:

THE SECRET OF IT—Selling a line of Canned Goods far superior to any other on the market, a line of goods you can and do recommend unreservedly and which you push vigorously. That line of goods is of course The Old Homestead Brand.

Dress your windows with Old Homestead

Place Old Homestead conspicuously on your shelves

Tell your customers the merits of Old Homestead

Show the handsome Old Homestead Labels

You will be surprised how your canned goods sales will increase. You will be gratified with the way your customers will praise the goods. You will reap a handsome profit on increased sales.

Don't accept any other brand. Insist on having Old Homestead or write direct to

CANADA'S PRIDE

SEASON 1906

We have now fully equipped our factory with all latest machinery, making it modern and up-to-date and will pack a full line of FRUITS and VEGETABLES. We are situated in one of the best districts for producing a fine flavor, which was fully demonstrated by our pack of last year.

We would specially call your attention to our system of naming the different grades of peas, as on the label of each can is shown the exact size of the contents; the different grades being known as Nos. 1, 2, 3, which assures the consumers of getting exactly, what they are buying, instead of the great variety of names now employed, which no one understands. We respectfully ask that you give our goods a trial and allow the consumer to be the judge, ASSURING you we will pack, only, a HIGH-GRADE QUALITY, which will create a demand. Remember the brand "Canada's Pride," the best yet.

The close companionship of such regulation and yet undesirable neighbors in a store as Fish, Cheese, Meats, Fruits, Vegetables and other self-assertive articles cannot impair the freshness and aroma of "SALADA" Ceylon Teas, which are preserved and sold only in airtight sealed packets.

This is a vast deal more than can be claimed for bulk teas, which are forever "going off" in flavor and deteriorating in value. "NO DENYING THIS FACT."

"SALADA" Green Teas are putting Japans just where "SALADA" Black Teas have put China Congous—"Out of Business."

TO MANUFACTURERS AND SHIPPERS

DEAR SIRS,—

We wish to impress upon you the fact that Winnipeg and Calgary are the largest commercial centres in The Great West. We are in daily touch with all the wholesale grocers at the following points: Winnipeg (9), Kenora (3), Brandon (1), Lethbridge (1), Calgary (5), and Edmonton (2). We have large and commodious premises at Winnipeg and Calgary and are doing one of the largest brokerage businesses in this territory. We sell exclusively on commission and handle all lines sold by the wholesale grocers from A to Z.

If you are not represented in this territory we will be pleased to have you communicate with us; we secure business for a large number of the leading Canadian and United States houses and we can do the same for you.

If you wish to have your goods pushed among the wholesale grocery trade, write us, forwarding samples and prices.

We store in Winnipeg and Calgary all classes of goods and distribute cars at a moderate rate.

Firms in Great Britain or Europe when in the market for Rolled Oats, Oatmeal or Mill Feed, write us for c.i.f. prices any port.

Windsor Table Salt

You must look into the by-ways and hedges of the past for convincing proof that "quality" tells in the long run—there are financial wrecks there without number. And the figure of the grocer who was tempted to buy doubtful goods for a little saving on price looms up like a lighthouse in a dense fog. It pays to buy standard goods like

Pure, White, Crystalline

Windsor Table Salt, because it is all salt every single time. No impurity in it, because it is sifted, not ground. No "caking," because every drop of moisture is dried out of it. Remember the wrecks of the past when tempted to buy salt said to be "just as good as Windsor."

RISING SUN STOVE POLISH
SUN PASTE STOVE POLISH
 IN CAKES IN TINS

Safety is the First Consideration.

Some manufacturers of stove polish try to induce you to sell an inferior article—often a highly inflammable, dangerous and explosive polish, which is liable to severely burn your customers, possibly horribly disfigure them, and perhaps burn them to death. These deaths and accidents from explosive stove polishes are not rare by any means, as we can prove to any one from the news columns of the daily papers.

Remember that RISING SUN Stove Polish and SUN PASTE Stove Polish both give you a good margin of profit and are absolutely safe in the hands of the user. You can carry them in your stock with safety. Insurance companies are liable to object to paying losses in stores where inflammable goods are kept on the shelves without permits.

CEYLON

BLACK AND GREEN

My friend you will easily remember the early battle of Ceylon Tea for recognition on the Canadian market. It is not so long ago and our competitors made noise enough, to make it impossible to forget. You can't blame them. They were hard hit.

The fertile young island of Ceylon had every requisite for growing tea of the finest quality. British enterprize and cleanliness "made" these teas so well and at such excellent values that

RETAIL MERCHANTS' CONVENTION

Meeting of Ontario Provincial Section at Ottawa—Programme of Business and Pleasure—Complaint Against Telephone Companies—Resolutions Submitted—Freight Rates and Mail Order Business Discussed—Promise of Government Redress—A Fling at Trade Papers.

The convention of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, Ontario Provincial Section held at Ottawa on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, July 3, 4 and 5, and reference to which was made in our issue of the 6th inst., was a most successful assembly. Delegates from all parts of the province signed the register, and although the first days' proceedings was attended by but a small number, the arrivals on Wednesday made up a very representative body of retailers.

The program arranged for the convention was as follows:

Tuesday morning, July 3, 10 o'clock—Receiving of delegates at the City Hall and arranging business program.

Afternoon 2 o'clock—Opening of session by President A. L. Geen, Belleville; address of welcome, Mayor Ellis; address, D. Murphy, president board of trade; address, Hy. Watters, president local branch; general business.

Evening, 7.30 o'clock—from Post Office—Trip to Britannia-on-the-Bay, Aylmer and Lake Deschene.

Wednesday morning, July 4, 10 o'clock—Tally-ho and cab drive from city hall to the driveways and experimental farm.

Afternoon, 2 o'clock—General business.

Evening, 8 o'clock—General business.

Thursday morning, July 5, 10 o'clock—Interview Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Afternoon, 2 o'clock—Pleasure trip to Rockliffe Park, rifle ranges and royal shanty. Music and refreshments.

President's Address.

President A. L. Geen, Belleville, occupied the chair and in his address referred to the splendid growth of the association during the past year, the number of branches in Ontario having grown from 65 to 130, and the increase in Manitoba and Quebec also was most encouraging, due to the excellent work by the general and provincial secretaries and their enthusiastic organizers. The association was still young and it behooved them to go carefully in touching questions of import to the trade—there were many weak spots that good counsel would no doubt strengthen. Unity of purpose was the guiding star of its members, for in unity there was strength, and in time the affairs of the association would be placed on a sound and solid basis. He thanked Mayor Ellis for his pleasant words of welcome, also the Ottawa branch for the entertaining programme provided, and no doubt all delegates would enjoy themselves thoroughly.

Henry Watters' Address.

Henry Watters, president of the Ottawa branch, in apt words and hearty manner referred to the bill of entertainment provided for visitors, and endorsed Mayor Ellis' welcome. He referred to the Criminal Code, certain clauses of which were to be brought to the attention of the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the Cabinet, as being inimical to the best interests of the retail trade of Canada, and he urged united action towards securing justice and equality.

Wholesale in Preston.

B. W. Ziemann, Preston, Ont., referred to a wholesale grocery house in Western Ontario which was undertaking to start a retail business in his town, where goods would be sold at wholesale prices to bring the retailers to terms. The grievance on the part of the wholesale firm was that the retailers would not buy from it because it sold at wholesale prices to hotels, boarding houses, etc.

Telephone Companies.

The demands of the Bell Telephone Company were discussed. Delegates complained of the poor service in some cities, and of the merchants being compelled to pay for the telephones six months in advance.

Addresses were delivered by Messrs. F. W. Forde, chairman of the Ottawa Grocers' Association; G. W. Shouldis, chairman of the Master Bakers' Association of Canada; A. J. Warnock, H.

H. C. Ellis, President Ontario Section Retail Merchants' Association.

H. Mockler of Durham; A. J. Kerr, of Elora, and R. J. Crowder, of Wingham.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were proposed and committees appointed for bringing in reports on same. These resolutions were ultimately passed after some strong discussions. As will be noticed, some of the resolutions are of a character which many members deemed outside of the province of the association to touch, and considerable discussion resulted before the same were put through:

"That whereas communications have been received requesting our association to co-operate with all other business associations to settle all questions of international dispute by arbitration, that this association deems it advisable to unite our efforts with the other business bodies as being in the best interests of commerce.

"That whereas a resolution has been forwarded to this board asking us to take up the question of freight rates regarding the transportation of sugar and determine if the freight rates are equitably applied between the various cities and towns of this province, that the chairman appoint a committee to examine into and deal with the matter.

"That whereas a large number of manufacturers place in and upon packages of goods coupons and presents for the purpose of encouraging the sale of their wares, this association request the Manufacturers' Association to take some action towards securing legislation that will stop the sale of goods placed upon the market by such unfair means, and that we pledge our support to the securing of such legislation.

"That the executive of this association be instructed to watch the Dominion legislation now in progress re co-operative associations and take what action they deem advisable to safeguard the interests of retail merchants.

"Whereas great inroads are being made into the retail trade throughout the province by mail order concerns, therefore be it resolved, that the executive committee of the Ontario provincial board take the matter into consideration with a view to finding some remedy.

"That whereas some discussion has arisen through the columns of a few trade journals criticizing the manner in which our association is organized, we believe the criticism is unfair and not in the best interests of the retail trade of the Dominion, and this association again affirms the general plan of the organization as being in the best interests of the retail trade.

"That it is the opinion of this convention that some action should be taken to regulate the manner in which telephone companies conduct their business with retail merchants, and we advise that the executive officers deal with the matter.

"That it is the opinion of this convention that it should be made compulsory that all claims for loss sustained on goods going by express or freight be adjusted within thirty days from the date of claim, and that the matter be referred to the Dominion board to be dealt with.

"That it is the opinion of this convention that each local branch should adopt what plan it considers best suited to its needs to provide for the protection of its members from bad pays.

"That this convention considers that it would be more convenient and advantageous if the Municipal Act were amended so that municipal elections would take place on the first of February or the first of March instead of on New Year's Day as at present.

"That whereas a considerable quantity of gold and silver goods are being placed on the market and misrepresented as to quality, this convention strongly urges the passage of the bill now before the Dominion Parliament respecting the proper marking of all gold and silver goods.

"That whereas the present criminal law discriminates against retail and wholesale merchants, and allows labor unions to do what we are not allowed to do, this convention strongly urges the Dominion board of our association to make even changed.

"That where association of Canadian Government to sell to the names of the neighborhoods of this a Dominion Government board this request a done, this collection of the association."

Committee

The committee consisted of: General A. Warnock, A. R. J. Crowder, Provincial Mackler, H. C. Ellis, H. C. Mann.

"That whereas the Postmasters' Association of Canada applied to the Dominion Government to give them the right to sell to mail order concerns lists of names of those persons living in their neighborhoods, and whereas the executive of this association protested to the Dominion Government through the Dominion board against the granting of this request and thus prevented it being done, this convention fully endorses the action of the Dominion officers of the association."

Committees on Resolutions.

The committees on these resolutions consisted of:

General business—F. Darnley, A. J. Warnock, A. J. Kerr, C. J. Provost, R. J. Crowder.

Provincial affairs—M. Moyer, H. H. Mackler, Henry Watters, B. W. Ziemann.

Dominion affairs—F. W. Forde, J. A. McManus, H. C. Ellis and G. W. Shouldis.

Secretary's Report.

E. M. Trowern, general secretary, read his report at the meeting on Wednesday, and same was the most satisfactory in the ten years' history of the association. There were now 135 branches and 2,555 members, not including Toronto, in Ontario alone. The Northwest Association had grown to a marvellous extent, and the Quebec division had grown similarly.

He referred to the amendment which had been made to the Transient Traders' Act. The Act as it now stands is very satisfactory, any by-laws can be passed by city, town, township or village councils to prevent transient traders of all kinds from selling without a license. He fully outlined the amendments and pointed out what had been gained.

The association had considered the proposal to form a fire insurance fund of its own, but had decided that it would be better to insure in an outside well managed and strong company.

It opposed the motion brought up in the Legislature by which the business tax at present in force would be charged to a personal tax on all the merchants' stock whether paid for or not. The motion was not pressed.

At the recent session of the Legislature a bill was brought up to prevent merchants from having signs projecting on the street, and even signs on the buildings. The association aided in having this bill defeated.

Outside Retailing.

E. R. Fisher of Ottawa spoke of men who came into that city from Toronto, take orders for all kinds of clothing, pay no taxes, and are under no expense except hotel expenses. He maintained that this should be stopped.

Mr. Ziemann spoke along similar lines. In the small cities agents came in from larger cities and took orders. In large cities agents come in from London and Glasgow.

Can Protect Themselves.

Mr. Trowern said that the law regarding transient traders, just passed by the Provincial House, would cover that. A by-law can now be passed by the city council preventing this practice.

Treasurer's Report.

F. C. Higgins, treasurer, brought in his report, as follows:

Membership fees collected by Mr. Eadie, organizer, were $2,600; fees collected by Mr. Brubacher, $2,500; fees collected by Toronto branch, $744. Total receipts, $5,844.

The expenses were: For Mr. Eadie's salary and expenses, $1,305; for Mr. Brubacher's salary and expenses, $1,250; and for expenses in Toronto branch, $367; refund to branches, $1,277.07; head office expenses, $1,644.50. There was no balance and no obligations. There had been no special calls on the merchants. The report was only for 11 months and therefore the receipts were much less than they otherwise would have been.

No Auditing.

The treasurer's report, while in the main satisfactory, led to some criticism on part of the members. It appears that no proper audit had been made, the expenses of the various organizers having been vouched for by themselves. This did not appear to be on business lines, and Messrs. Forde, of Ottawa, and C. W. Kelly, of Guelph, in referring to this procedure, considered that as this was a business association it should be conducted on business lines. A result of the discussion was the appointment, under motion of H. C. Ellis and R. H. Crowder, of a special finance committee, consisting of Messrs. Higgins, Kelly, Forde, Crowder and Secretary Trowern.

F. W. Forde, Chairman Entertainment Committee.

Entertainment Appreciated.

"The delegates of the convention wish to place on record the high appreciation of the way in which the Ottawa branch has entertained them."

Mr. Ziemann, in moving this resolution, said that it was impossible for the delegates to express adequate thanks for the magnificent reception given them by the Ottawa branch.

Mr. Moyer, of Toronto, said that he had not at all expected such a lavish entertainment. It should be told throughout the province. It was a remarkable reception.

The resolution was carried with three hearty cheers and singing of "They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

"I wish to join with the mover and seconder of this resolution in expressing thanks at the unbounded generosity shown in this entertainment. We expected a good deal from Ottawa, but the entertainment has far exceeded all our expectations," said Retiring President Geen.

Mr. Forde in receiving the resolution said he thought there was no better way of advertising a city than by using the delegates well. H. C. Ellis spoke along similar lines.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president, A. L. Geen, of Belleville.

A vote of thanks was tendered the press of Ottawa for the very full and correct reports given.

A vote of thanks was also tendered the mayor, council and chief of fire brigade for the use of hall, and the turnout of the brigade.

Mr. Eadie, Mr. Impey and M. Brubacher, organizers, were similarly honored.

Address of E. D. Smith, M.P.

E. D. Smith, M. P. for Wentworth, addressed the convention on the subject of "Pure Food," and his remarks were of value to members, as he explained the features of adulteration condemned by the Pure Food Act. The Act, he said, to prevent adulteration is fairly strong. If a food be adulterated it has to be labeled that it is a compound. Yet, he said, the word compound did not convey the impression that ought to be conveyed. He was in favor of the articles used in the manufacture of the goods being named on the label. He claimed that the jam furnished to the soldiers in camp is specified to be pure jam, yet if the records are looked up it will be found that no pure jam had been purchased.

Sugar Freight Rates.

Considerable discussion came up over the freight rates on sugar. The complaint came from Port Hope, where it is claimed that the "equalized" rate of freight from Montreal is 15c. per cwt. to Port Hope, in car lots, while the rate from Montreal to Toronto is only 3c.

A resolution regarding this was left to a committee to be appointed.

Manufacturers' Prices.

The resolution against the manufacturers placing prizes, coupons and other enticements in packages of their goods was discussed. A cereal manufacturer, it was claimed, placed painted dolls, painted toys with hair and other adornment in the cereal without wrapping them up, and therefore injured the cereals. The association was strongly opposed to business being done in this way.

Mr. Trowern said he believed that if the retailers took action the manufacturers would move in the desired direction. He said that the retailers did not wish to appear to be making demands. They stood in the same position regarding the amendment of the criminal code. It was decided to authorize the executive to discuss the question with the manufacturers.

The resolution calling attention to the effort to have a bill put through Parliament to authorize the formation of co-operative associations in this country was left to the executive to watch the advances and inquire into the plans of the promoters.

Mail Order Business.

The resolution pointing out the inroads being made on the retail trade by the mail order concerns brought forth the argument that the mail order business should be taxed, as these firms sold over the country where they paid no taxes and competed against merchants who paid heavy taxes. The order business was like the peddling trade and should be likewise taxed. The resolution was left to the provincial executive.

Trade Journals.

The criticisms of some trade journals in which they advised other associations to be formed separate from the general association brought forth much discussion. The speakers severely criticized the statements of these journals.

"You can't place your hand on a trade journal that ever helped an organization," said Mr. Trowern. "The history of every trade journal has been downward. I don't condemn the trade journals, we should take them, but let them keep their fingers out of the organization work. Association work is difficult enough without having journals, trade journals, putting difficulties in our way."

A resolution was passed confirming the general plan of the organization of the association as being in the best interests of the retail trade.

The resolution on trade journals was one that provoked considerable discussion, and many members felt that this was a question in which the association was not interested, or, if interested, it should be in support of trade journals, and the secretary himself advised members to subscribe to same. What he condemned was the apparent interest of certain trade journals, notably The Canadian Grocer, and Hardware and Metal, in advocating the formation of trade associations separate from the general retail merchants' association.

It was whispered by several members that if that was the rule desired by the association it would be as well for the Retail Merchants' Association to stop printing a trade journal, not one cent of revenue from which was recorded in the treasurer's report

It is no Help.

It was felt by a number of the delegates that the Retail Merchants' Journal was rather a hindrance than otherwise. As the representative from Wingham expressed it, they had forty-six members in that branch, and not a member, nor he, as president, had received a copy in four months. Others spoke of similar cases.

Good Trade Papers.

W. H. Seyler, of the MacLean Publishing Co., publishers of The Canadian Grocer and Hardware and Metal, who was present, was accorded the privilege of a few remarks, and in plain words clearly demonstrated that nothing that had ever appeared in the columns of these papers could be deliberately construed as being inimical to the good objects of legislation and improvement of trade conditions attempted by the retailers. Rather could it be said that it is now, and always has been, the policy of these papers, and all other genuine trade papers, to improve the conditions of the individual branches constituting the general body of retailers. No body of varied trades was stronger than its weakest link, and by strengthening the separate links the Retail Merchants' Association could only gain benefit. Criticism of any organization was the right and duty of every journal and, as Mr. Impey, Toronto, expressed it, "Surely the Retail Merchants' Association in its conduct of affairs should not consider itself above criticism—rather should it invite it." Neither the MacLean Publishing Co. nor any other legitimate trade journal would forego its rights to criticize, and, if necessary, condemn anything not considered in the best interests of individual branches of trade, or trade generally.

Resolution Not Well Received.

After Mr. Trowern, the secretary, had explained, according to his light, the intent of the editorial in The Canadian Grocer of June 29th, "Grocers Should Organize," and intimated that not a member of the staff of the MacLean Publishing Co. had any knowledge of trade from actual experience, or ever sold a dollar's worth of goods, etc., the resolution passed, many members refraining from voting, knowing, as they did, that the member of the MacLean Co. present had sold over a million dollars' worth of groceries, and had a trade experience compared to which the mover's was a peanut stand affair. As admitted to the reporter by a number of the most prominent members of the association at the close of the session, the resolution was considered by them as one that should not have been forced through.

Election of Officers.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was held and resulted as follows: H. C. Ellis, of Ottawa, former first vice-president, was unanimously elected president of the Provincial Retail Merchants' Association.

First vice-president, B. W. Ziemann, Preston.

Second vice-president, F. C. Higgins, Toronto.

Treasurer, M. Moyer, Toronto.

Provincial secretary, E. M. Trowern, Toronto.

Auditor, C. W. Kelly, Guelph.

Decision as to the next place of meeting will be left in the hands of the executive. The time was also left with that body.

Interviews Government.

At ten o'clock, July 5th, the members of the association marched in a body to the Parliament Buildings, where they were joined by the Montreal delegates, who had come over by special train to the number of 120. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier; Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, and Hon. Wm. Patterson, Minister of Customs, received the delegation in the Railway Committee Room. A. L. Geen, president; E. M. Trowern, general secretary; J. A. Beaudry, secretary for the Province of Quebec, and Henry Watters, president of the Ottawa branch, addressed the Government on section 520 of the Criminal Code. The anomalous position in which merchants are placed by certain clauses in this section (which is reproduced herewith) was very clearly set forth by the different speakers, that of Mr. Trowern being particularly lucid and emphatic. Several questions were asked by the Premier and his colleagues, and the Premier, in dismissing the delegation, agreed to give the matter the closest consideration by himself and the Hon. Minister of Justice. It was too late now to promise immediate action, as the House was in its closing days, but he would arrange for a further consideration with the committee of the association shortly after the prorogation of the House. It is expected that an interesting and fuller explanation will be made by the committee appointed to this meeting.

Section 520 of Criminal Code, with Desired Amendments.

The words in black are the amendments desired.

"520. Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to a penalty not exceeding four thousand dollars and not less than two hundred dollars, or two years' imprisonment, or if a corporation, is liable to a penalty not exceeding ten thousand dollars and not less than one thousand dollars who unlawfully conspires, combines, agrees or arranges with any other person, or with any railway, steamship, steamboat, or transportation company.

"(a) To unduly limit the facilities for transporting, producing, manufacturing, supplying, storing or dealing in any article or commodity which may be a subject of trade or commerce, or

"(b) To unduly restrain or injure trade or commerce in relation to any such article or commodity; or

"(c) To unduly prevent, limit or lessen the manufacture or production of any such article or commodity, or to unreasonably enhance the prices thereof; or

"(d) To unduly prevent or lessen competition in the production, manufacture, purchase, barter, sale, transportation or supply of any such article or commodity, or in the price of insurance upon persons or property.

"2. Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to combinations of workmen or employees, for their own reasonable protection as such workmen or employees or to wholesale or retail merchants for their own reasonable protection as such wholesale and retail merchants.

No prosecution shall be commenced under the above section 520, without the fiat of the Attorney General for the province in which the charge is laid.

Closing Session.

After a brief closing session of the association in the council chamber of the city hall, the members agreed to meet for a trolley ride to the Rideau rifle ranges and the Royal Shanty. At two o'clock trolleys were taken to the shanty, where a splendid repast had been prepared by the local committee and speeches and music were indulged in for a few hours. The local committee were Convention Echoes.

President-elect H. C. Ellis deservedly received the congratulations of the members. He is one of Ottawa's brightest grocers and a hard worker in grocery trade matters, and his work in the Retail Merchants' Association is of the best.

That moonlight ride from lovely Britannia-on-the-Bay to Aylmer was most enjoyable. A pleasant surprise was tendered the delegates when the steamer passed Mr. C. J. Provost's, treasurer of the Ottawa Grocers' Association, Summer residence, in the shape of a display of fireworks. This little attention was much appreciated.

President F. W. Forde, of the Retail Grocers' Association, was here, there and everywhere, looking after the comforts and enjoyment of the delegates. Where there is work (or fighting) to do there you will find Fred Forde.

George Shouldis, president Bakers' Association of Ottawa, was a host in entertaining and his genial smile and friendly voice were a thing to remember. What a team Forde, Shouldis, Warnock, Provost and Brennan make for organization and entertainment!

M. Moyer, Toronto, was the Solon of the convention, while that magnificent Teuton, Ziemann, from Preston, rolled out the Queen's English in tones that caused attention and commendation. Big in frame and big in ideas, Ziemann is a card to draw to.

That German trio with its songs of the fatherland was an entertaining feature of the Aylmer trolley ride.

Ottawa as a convention city leaves little to be desired. Its beautiful location, splendid drives and considerate council make for a good time for all.

GREEK FRUIT SELLERS IN CANADA.

Editor Canadian Grocer:

Dear Sir:—I am interested in an article on page 36 of your last issue relating to the Greeks handling fruits in Canadian cities.

For several years I have been watching these sons of Hellas in various towns and cities in the States, but your publication is the first so far as I know to raise the question as to why the Greeks have been so phenomenally successful in this business in such a short space of time.

Coming into this country with little or no knowledge of our language or customs they appear to forge ahead, and while their successes are not astounding as compared with trust operations these days, still the main point is, as you show, they succeed.

I hardly believe it would be exaggerating to say that 75 per cent. of the Greeks coming to this country engage in the fruit business. There must be some reason for this that will, in some way, account for their success. In the first place, I think they follow the business because it is almost second nature with them, coming as they do from a semi-tropical country that has always been famous for its fruits. To my mind it is doubtful if they would make as great headway in handling some other line, as hardware, for instance. The fact that they know how to display their line to best advantage means quite a good deal, and the Greek has an artistic temperament par excellence. I am sometimes struck with the great care they exercise in keeping their corner stands; very few small merchants scrutinize detail so closely as the Greeks. Not only must all decayed or imperfect fruits be separated from the best, but the tiers must be dusted and the fruits wiped at regular intervals. Too frequently the average American seems to consider such slavery to detail as being cranky and unnecessary.

Another thing I have noticed is that the Greek is usually satisfied so far with being a retailer. His mind apparently stops short of the various ramifications involved in the wholesale game handling either deciduous or citrus fruits, but I am led to consider if the Greek who succeeds in a retail way will not eventually become a wholesaler, and by continuing the process indefinitely dominate the fruit business entirely. They are a factor to be reckoned with in retailing, and when we consider they have only been a few years in this country we may form some idea as to what they will do in the future if they keep up their past and present stride.

The height of Greek culture, as we see it in this country, is "Ten centa fiva banan at dees peanutta stan." Their capital is usually small and their operations restricted, I grant, but I am reminded that many of the largest clothing and other establishments now in this country owned and operated by Hebrews had an equally obscure origin, probably in a peddler's wagon or in an insignificant corner store in a small village.

I maintain that you have raised a very live question in your valuable magazine when you ask if the retail fruit business is to be controlled by the Greek merchants, or if it shall be regained by the retail grocer who has lost it, temporarily at least, and we regret to admit, to a shrewder competitor. I incline to the opinion that any drastic legislation in this country tending to eliminate the fruit stands, peddlers, hucksters, etc., would be a real menace to the fruit and produce interests, but I am at a loss to understand why more native born Americans have not engaged in the business, unless it is because the Greeks and Italians owing to their familiarity and long experience with fruits, etc., do not entitle them to be classed as superior fruit men. It can hardly be denied that these latter people sell a large amount of stuff that would be next to impossible to dispose of otherwise and that a large percentage of their business is handled on a very small margin. But the tendency of all modern business, I believe, is to extend the output and work on a closer margin of profit. Small profits will, therefore, have little or no effect on their future successes so long as they keep growing in the business. I am informed by a leading Greek here who has made a phenomenal success, and who by the way is already in the wholesale class handling fruits, that in 1885, the year in which he came to Chicago, there were 45 Greeks in the local colony. Now there are 10,000 and they all seem to be making money and are mostly engaged in the fruit business. I incline to the belief that the percentage of increase among the Greeks here has been about the same as in other cities in the States.

While it is purely in the realm of the academic to estimate what changes will be wrought in the next sixteen years, I think it fair to assume that we shall see some startling developments in the fruit business at the hands of our Hellenic friends, whose nostrils were perhaps filled in childhood with the soft odors from vine-clad hills, and who perhaps plucked fruits and flowers from Hymetus before they could master alpha, beta, gamma. But let's be fair to the Greeks and give them credit for being intelligent and industrious; they are perhaps entitled to their success. Trade may be cajoled for a day, but the real master of commerce sooner or later finds his own, and maybe the Greek is a better master of fruits than we. Anyway, he bids fair to teach us a lesson in business as his forefathers did so many years ago in art, war and philosophy.

Yours very truly,
W. T. SEIBELS.

SPLENDID CROP PROSPECTS.

The prosperity of Canada being directly dependent upon her agricultural industry, it is gratifying that reports received from authoritative sources find the crop prospect very satisfactory. Interest in this regard turns primarily to the west, with each year a greater field to be reckoned on. Thousands of acres of rich prairie are being broken by the settler every day, and next season will add their quota to swell the immense grain product. Last year's yield, considered by the acre or as a whole, was wonderful, and if Nature is propitious the crop now in the ground will, by reason of increased acreage, far surpass it. What the influx of people will be during the present Summer it is difficult to estimate, but it will constitute another movement of the entering wedge that is to bring this fair Dominion a population of fifty millions in a few decades, and raise Canada's standard to a high place among the nations of the world.

All this means an agreeable situation to the merchant, providing always that he temper the modus operandi of his business with the precautionary measures suggested by the conditions surrounding him. He may accept the feeling of optimism with which the whole west effervesces, but he must introduce qualifications for present protection before figuring far into the future. He has been, and is, playing an important part in the upbuilding of that vast country in a way that is not necessarily coincident to the ordinary process of trading. He has exerted one of the most powerful influences that have been directed to placing the settler on a good footing, and putting the greatest acreage in seed as soon as possible. To those farmers who have shown the proper industrious disposition he has extended the most liberal credit, thereby permitting the use of an enormous capital in acquiring land and improving it that would otherwise have been held back for current expenses. It is the first year or so, while he gets no returns from the soil, that the settler feels most keenly. The merchant has tided him over that period safely, with the assurance that the first crop—which is generally calculated to set the owner on firm ground, with something to spare—would be followed by a settlement. This policy has been of inestimable benefit, especially to the homesteader, whose capital is small, and who, until the required duties are performed, has no freehold property to secure his paper.

Of course the merchant could not be so indulgent without the aid of the wholesale houses, and with long credit extended all round, the value of accounts outstanding at one time has been enormous. Naturally, harvest should see the books balanced up, but collections in the past have not been satisfactory. The farmer very often succumbed to the land fever—knowing that this is the last Great West, and that prices would never be so low again—and invested money that should have been devoted to settling his bills. Land greed is a hard thing to fight off, and in a new, rich country it is rampant. The screws had to be tightened up a little by the merchant, and now collections are better. They should continue to improve, particularly in those districts where more than one crop has been marketed. The temptation to buy while prices are advancing is great, but the farmer should square his accounts first. He must be urged to do so by every reasonable means. In the districts where prosperity has made its appearance—and in the west it often does very quickly—cash business should be encouraged as far as possible.

The merchant is now buying Fall stock. If the crop comes up to expectations business conditions will be good; if not, the times are likely to be pretty hard. It is not our wish to hold a pair of blue glasses to the merchant's eyes, but merely to emphasize the need that he has for caution. The outlook just now is splendid, and we pray that the brightest hopes may materialize. At the same time, let the possibilities exert their proper moderating influence.

THE VALUE OF CREDIT.

When a man's credit is gone he has little left that is of any commercial value. Experience he may have, and social position, but without the standing which stamps him as a man who will meet his obligations, it is a bootless task for him to try to carry on a successful business.

A banker's confidence in the man to whom he lends money is based upon the experience, the application and the character of the man. And character plays no small part in the essential elements considered. But it is not enough simply to be honest. Many a man is honest and nothing more. He must be able to accomplish things, for without this he cannot be considered a good risk.

There is no royal road to credit: its building is the work of years. It is one of the most precious things in a man's business career, and should be guarded zealously and, above all, it should not be dishonestly take advantage of when once established. In every deal, credit plays its part with cash. If it were not so there would be little chance of a man with limited means rising above his present station in life, and only those who were fortunate in already having money could do business to advantage. The security of the largest business houses in the land today was founded upon their credit—their ability to make good—quite as much as upon the amount of their worldly possessions.

RAILROAD DISCRIMINATION.

The average shipper has long since ceased to evince marked surprise at anything a railroad may do or charge. The workings of the railroad mind are past finding out, or even the elucidation of an A. G. Blair. Still the shipper occasionally runs across such a flagrant example of wrong-headedness as to excite his interest if not his surprise.

Such a case was recently brought to the notice of The Canadian Grocer. A large shipper has been accustomed to send quantities of crockery from Hamilton to St. John, N.B., paying 62 cents per hundred pounds. A short time ago he had occasion to send a shipment of the same class of goods to Hamilton, Bermuda, and on his freight bill discovered that the railroad's charge to St. John was 29½ cents, because the goods were going through to Hamilton, Bermuda.

By a little calculation it was seen that he could ship his crockery through St. John a thousand miles out into the Atlantic to Bermuda and back again to St. John for less money than if they were shipped no farther than St. John in the first place. This is charging what the traffic will bear with a vengeance.

THE PURE FOOD BILL.

The Pure Food Bill which has just passed into law in the United States is severe in its penalties. The penalty for the first offence is a fine not to exceed $500, or a year's imprisonment for any person who manufactures, sells or offers for sale any article of food, drugs, medicine or liquor which is adulterated, misbranded, or which contains any poisonous or deleterious substance. But although this law seems to cover the ground completely, it has no care for anyone but a citizen of the United States. The importation of adulterated food is prohibited, and the importers are liable to a fine of from $200 to $300 with imprisonment, but such is not the case with the preparation of foods for other countries. It is expressly provided that goods for export shall not be deemed to be adulterated or misbranded when no substance is used in their composition which conflicts with the laws of the foreign country for which it is intended. Thus, for good Americans a special brand of meat must be prepared, but for Britishers, Canadians, and all other foreigners, anything that can be unloaded upon them may be used.

It is assumed, no doubt, that others know enough to protect themselves, but in view of the odium which now surrounds the product of American packing houses, it is only reasonable to think that everything possible should be done to re-establish or re-create the standing American meat once had.

Considering the whole question, the packers have got off easily. There are to be sufficient and suitable inspectors appointed to see that all places where food is prepared are fit for such work, and that no diseased animal or deleterious matter is used in the food, but it is the Government, and not the packers, who have to pay for the inspection. Nor do they have to affix the date of packing on the cans. It was held that goods once packed do not deteriorate with time, but while this may be true, it is doubtful if the public will feel quite like believing it.

EXPORT TRADE INCREASING.

Trade returns for May and June recently obtained from the Montreal Board of Trade give silent but eloquent testimony of the development of our export trade. While every line has not shown an increase, taken as a whole export shipments for the first two months of the season have been ahead of the shipments for the same period last year. As an instance, wheat exports for May and June, 1906, were over double those of these two months in 1905. On the other hand, butter exported was some thirteen hundred odd packages under last year's figures for this period. The flour trade has developed wonderfully, and shipments show an increase of over one hundred and twenty-four thousand barrels. The lard trade has grown very much also. Meat shipments have not been large, in fact there has been a decrease, but as a good deal of the meat shipped through Montreal comes from the States, this is not to be wondered at considering the recent exposures in Chicago. Cheese exported was much ahead of last year. Other lines which are important in export circles showed corresponding increases or decreases, as the case might be, but generally the former by a good large margin.

SUGAR PRICES COMPARED.

It is interesting to note the action of the sugar market as regards prices, this year as compared to last, from January to June inclusive.

A SPLENDID TRADE JOURNAL

P. L. Cherry, British Vice-Consul, Astoria, writes under date of July 3rd :

"I am in receipt of the number of the CANADIAN GROCER sent to this vice-consulate. It is a splendid number."

The market opened the year 1905 at $5.45. By the end of January the price had advanced to $5.75. February 9 saw a decline of ten cents. From that date the price declined, ten cents at a time, until it stood June 27 at $5.

The price quoted the beginning of 1906 was very much lower than that demanded in 1905. January 1 $4.30 was the price asked. Up to June the market fluctuated considerably, advancing one week and declining another. February 9 $1 was asked. Between that time and the end of June the price fluctuated more or less, at the latter time the price quoted being $4.20.

The figures below show how the market acted :

TO PREVENT FRUIT DECAYING

What it is and How to Prevent it—Formalin as a Preventive—Will Keep a Week Longer.

The treating of ripe fruit for preservation has always been a subject of great interest. The following particulars of experiments at the Kew Laboratory, London, England, cannot fail to be instructive to both grower and dealer: it is well known that the rotting or fermentation of ripe fruit was proved by Pasteur to be due to the presence of living organisms—fungi and bacteria on the surface.

From this starting point it was inferred that if these organisms could be destroyed the period during which such fruit could be kept in a perfect condition, could be considerably prolonged; and a series of experiments conducted in the Jodrell laboratory at Kew proved the inference to be correct.

The fruits experimented upon, were ripe cherries, gooseberries, grapes, pears, and strawberries. The fruit was not selected but purchased from shops, or in some instances from vendors in the streets.

The Time Result.

The following shows the number of days during which the fruit after special treatment, remained perfectly sound, after a similar quantity of untreated fruit from the same lot had become mouldy or decayed: Cherries, 7 days; gooseberries, 7 days; grapes, 4 days; pears, 10 days; strawberries, 4 days.

The above applies in all cases to fruit that was perfectly ripe when experimented upon, but it was ascertained that if fruit is treated before it is quite ripe it is equally well preserved, and the normal course of ripening and the flavor are not in any way interfered with, as is the case where fruit is kept for some time in a refrigerator.

The Importance of the Subject.

This fact suggests that the method of fruit preservation described here, although valuable in extending the duration of home-grown fruit in good condition, will eventually prove to be of the greatest importance in enabling our markets to be stocked with many delicious kinds of tropical fruits, which under present conditions never reach us. A careful examination of ripe fruit from the West Indies, intended for exhibition at the Crystal Palace in connection with the Colonial Produce Exhibition, showed very clearly that the decay of such fruit as mangoes during the voyage, was due entirely to mouldiness and fermentation set up by fungi and bacteria that were present on the surface of the fruit before shipment and not to an inherent tendency to decay or to become over-ripe on the part of the fruit.

What Decay Really is.

It is common knowledge that the decay of ripe fruit originates from bruises or wounds on the surface, and thence rapidly spreads both internally and over the surface. Unfortunately it is not so generally known, although equally true, that the decay of the bruised or wounded part is entirely due to the presence of the germs of fungi or bacteria, which develop rapidly, feeding on the sugar or other substances liberated from the bruised tissue. Fermentation and decay follow and quickly spread from one fruit to another.

Use to Prevent Decay.

Similar treatment might be applied with advantage to certain tropical fruits that do reach us in fairly good condition, as bananas, where too frequently the unsightly and injurious blackened "skin," caused by an external fungus, could be easily prevented. Apples, pears, oranges, lemons, etc., would also repay similar treatment.

What is the Best Method.

The method of treatment described below is very simple, inexpensive, and perfectly free from danger.

In the case of fruits where every part is eaten, as strawberries, etc., the fruit should be immersed for ten minutes in cold water containing 3 per cent. of commercial formalin (= 40 per cent. of formaldehyde). On removal immerse the fruit for five minutes in cold water, and afterwards place it on wire-netting or some similarly open material to drain and dry.

When the fruit has a rind or "skin" that is not eaten, the immersion in water after treatment in the formalin solution can be omitted with advantage.

Formalin Top.

Various other preservatives were tested, but when the whole of the requisite points—efficiency, ease of application, cheapness and absolute freedom from danger arising from its use—were taken into consideration, formalin stood first.

WHAT IS GRAPE FRUIT?

There is little doubt that much confusion exists as to what is really grape fruit as distinct from the allied citrus fruits passing under such names as pumelow (invariably spelled pomelo in the United States), shaddock, forbidden fruit, paradise fruit, and others. These fruits are all, or nearly all, larger than the largest orange, and they are uniformly of a pale-yellow color. In texture the rind may be smooth or even polished. It is seldom rough, nearly always firm and not very thick. The pulp is pale-yellow or greenish-white, sometimes pink or crimson. The juice bags of the pulp are more distinct than in the orange; very juicy, somewhat sweetish, with a distinct, but agreeable, bitter flavor. In shape these fruits vary a good deal. Some are quite globular, others somewhat flattened at the top and tapering below, forming a pear-shaped body.

Shaddocks or Pamelows.

These fruits have been ranged under the giant citrus (Citrus decumana). This is supposed to be a native of the islands of the Pacific. It was introduced into the West Indies from China about 150 years ago by Captain Shaddock, in compliment to whom, since that time, the fruit has always been known in this part of the world as shaddock. The term shaddock may be correctly applied to any of the larger members of the giant citrus. The word pumelow, so widely used in India and Ceylon, is supposed to be a contraction of pomum melo, the melon apple.

All the larger fruited sorts may, then, be called either shaddocks or pamelows: these are merely the western and eastern names for the same thing and are perfectly interchangeable. There are two well-marked varieties one being globose, with the flesh of a pale pink color, and the other pear-shaped, usually with a deep pink or crimson pulp.

The Forbidden Fruit.

As regards the small fruited sorts, these, according to Dr. James Macfadyen, the author of the Flora of Jamaica, may be either globose, when they are called forbidden fruit, or pear-shaped, when grape fruit (so called because the fruits grow in clusters like a bunch of grapes) is the older name. The name forbidden fruit (from a fancied connection with the Garden of Eden) is tolerably old in the West Indies.

The True Grape Fruit.

As usually happens, when a name has become familiar in commerce, it is eventually applied in a much wider sense than the original one. Thus, the term grape fruit has become so general that any moderately large fruit, provided the skin is pale yellow, thin, and smooth, and the pulp of a delicate flavor, is designated by it. The fruit commonly called grape fruit in New York is really the forbidden fruit of the West Indies. The true grape fruit is pear-shaped, and, according to Macfadyen, when obtainable at its best, is preferable to the forbidden fruit. The latter are in great demand, and they are regarded as the most refreshing and wholesome of any of the citrus family.

The grape fruit is not a shaddock nor a pumelow. It is quite a distinct fruit and possesses exceptional merits. It is in great demand in America chiefly because it has been so highly recommended by the medical faculty for its valuable dietetic and tonic qualities. It is also very refreshing and is regarded as a specific for dyspepsia.

Inferior Fruits.

There are, doubtless, many inferior sorts of grape fruit. In fact, in the West Indies, the plants have been allowed to run almost wild. No care has been taken to select the best varieties, or to bud or graft them, so as to keep them uniformly at a high standard. There is no need to grow the thick-skinned and bitter sorts, and those with a dry, cottony pulp, while there are varieties, both of the apple-shaped and pear-shaped fruits, with a silky skin, full of juice, and of a most delightful flavor, with just enough bitter to give a piquancy and suggest its valuable tonic qualities.

THEY WILL TRY AGAIN.

The Keystone Sugar Company will again appeal to the citizens of Chatham to vote on a by-law to establish a sugar refinery at that place. It is said that the proposition will be put in a different form this time, and that it will appeal more favorably to the electors. The vote will be taken on July 20.

metrical effect. It is a good point to have the stock well exhibited. It is a constant reminder to the purchaser of articles wanted that might otherwise be forgotten, as well as having a suggestive merit. Note the silent salesman. It is safe to say these cases soon pay for themselves. Mr. Riley has been in business only five years, but already has made a creditable showing.

BUSINESS PERSONALS.

J. G. Comb, grocer, Palmerston, has been spending his vacation at Southampton.

Mrs. Bert Soward, wife of General Merchant Soward, of Minden, Ont., has been visiting in Toronto.

St. Clair Balfour, of Balfour, Smye & Co., left Hamilton on his western trip Saturday, the first trip under the new firm name.

W. T. Holcomb, representing Surprise Soap, Co. in Montreal, has joined the ranks of the benedicts, having been married in Newark, N.J., on June 25.

C. L. Marshall, manager of the agency department of the MacLaren Imperial Cheese Co., Toronto, was another caller at the Montreal office of The Grocer during the early part of the week.

J. E. Labrecque, of the American Pure Food Co., who has been confined to his home recently with hemorrhage of the lungs, is convalescing. He has left for the country, where he will spend a couple of months.

THE QUAKER BRAND CANNED GOODS

We have been agents for this brand of Canned Goods since the factory was first established and they have given us perfect satisfaction. They have also been particularly pleasing to our customers and the consumers of Canned Goods in New Brunswick. This was most emphatically confirmed during the recent strife among the handlers of Canned Goods, during the Fall and Winter of 1905. When all the wholesale dealers were cutting prices 15 to 25 per cent., in many instances away below the cost of production, our customers preferred to buy Quaker Canned Goods at a living margin of profit, knowing full well that their neighbors were paying exactly the same prices for the same brand of goods and that there would be no cutting of retail prices. This enabled us to handle fully 20 per cent. more goods during this season than any other previous year, without any complaint either from customer or consumer.

We shall continue to handle Quaker Brand Canned Goods during the season of 1906, and can assure our friends that the quality will be fully maintained and the prices will be as low as is consistent with the high quality of the goods and cost of production.

Thanking our friends for past favors and trusting to receive your continued support, we remain, etc.

QUAKER CANNED GOODS

The above goods are now pretty well known to the trade, so that it does not require much talk on our part to make them sell; in fact, we are usually oversold. Still we believe it does not come amiss to take an occasional page in The Grocer, particularly at this season, to let our friends know that the Quaker, while usually a peaceful citizen, is always in the ring when it comes to a fight for trade. Perhaps the best advertisement for these goods is to call attention to the pages in this edition of The Grocer as to what our friends say in the matter. These people have been handling Quaker goods for years, and we think the trade will listen to their statements as more in the line of disinterested statements than anything we might say. If we had time, space and inclination, we could publish quires of the same kind of talk from consumers. In fact, if continuous praise of the Quaker, which we are receiving almost hourly from a thousand and one sources, had the usual effect, we would have to buy a new hat every day in the year.

QUAKER SUGAR^{and} CREAM CORN

The above is a line that we have been packing for two years, and we have never made a customer for it that we have not been able to retain. The raw material is grown from select Maine seed, where they grow and pack corn that sells for just double the ordinary corn packed throughout the United States. While this is the case in regard to the quality of Sugar and Cream Corn, we are not looking for any fancy price for it. It can be retailed at all points in Ontario at 10c. This will be the established price whether there is a scarcity or a large pack. We believe at this price it is the best value in canned corn on the market. This is our one specialty, and we will stake our reputation on it. We know that all that is required is for it to become known to secure an enormous sale. While the outside of a package doesn't cut much figure unless the inside is all right, we believe when you have a combination composed of the highest quality inside the package and a handsome light-tinted embossed label on the outside, the two combined make a package that won't lie around on grocers' shelves long enough for defacement.

The Bay of Quinte district is as widely famous for the quality and flavor of the Fruits and Vegetables grown in its peaceful valleys, as the Quaker is noted for his proverbial honesty.

When the Quakers established their canneries in the heart of this famous fruit and vegetable producing area and equipped it with the most modern canning plant in the Dominion, the grocery world assumed a sceptical attitude toward the company who were venturesome enough to enter what they considered a field already over-worked.

The success of Quaker canned goods was almost immediate, the bright, attractive labels compelling attention and the genuine goodness of the contents establishing a standard which has become the envy of competing packers and the delight of the numberless consumers who look for the Quaker label when they buy canned goods.

We are pleased to be able to inform our numerous friends in the Northwest THAT WE WILL, AS IN THE PAST, CONTROL QUAKER GOODS FROM WINNIPEG TO THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS. Anticipating the increased demand, we have ordered more generously than ever this year.

MONTREAL GROCERY CLERKS' PICNIC

Some four hundred persons attended the seventh annual picnic of the Montreal Grocery Clerks' Association, which was held in Newport, Vt., July 4. Unfavorable weather conditions, particularly in the morning when the excursionists left the city, prevented the turning out of a larger number of people. However, the association covered all expenses and still had a goodly sum on the right side of the ledger. When the excursionists left the Windsor station at 8 a.m. it was raining heavily. It was still raining when the train pulled into Newport, but the sun came out about two o'clock and the balance of the day was an ideal one, except for the wet ground.

Credit must be given the officers of the association for choosing such a delightful spot in which to hold their picnic. Newport, situated on the shores of pretty Lake Memphremagog and surrounded by the many hills of Vermont, would be hard to equal in natural beauty.

Owing to the satisfactory manner in which all arrangements were attended to by the officers, everything went off without a hitch, although on account of the day being an American holiday, it was rather difficult to obtain dinner for all without some considerable trouble.

However, this problem was soon solved, and then the excursionists wended their way to the Memphremagog Driving Park, where the programme of sports was carried out very successfully. There were twenty-six events, all of which were keenly contested. Two of the numbers, the string swallowing contest and the soda biscuit competition created considerable amusement for the onlookers. Following is the programme of sports and the winners of the different events:

Tug of war between members of Grocery Clerks' Association and non-members—won by non-members.

Tug of war between citizens of Montreal and citizens of Newport — Won by citizens of Newport.

Several retail grocers, members of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association, were present. The traveling fraternity was also very well represented.

After dinner the president of the association, Mr. Lacroix, gave a short address, speaking of the growth of the association since its founding by the present treasurer, Mr. J. B. E. Poirier. P. Daoust, president of the Grocers' Association, also said a few words. Further addresses had to be dispensed with owing to the shortness of the time at the disposal of all.

The excursionists entrained for Montreal at 7 p.m., arriving there about 11.30 p.m.

Notes.

J. B. E. Poirier, founder and treasurer of the association, made many new friends among those who took part in the excursion by his unfailing courtesy and his desire to please everybody.

G. Lacroix, president, and B. Guenette, secretary of the association, were both very much in demand throughout the day and were kept busy looking after the welfare of the excursionists, which they did in a very satisfactory manner.

Walter C. Gaden, of Red Rose tea fame, was on hand. Both going and coming on the train the chorus of one of the Red Rose tea songs was heard quite frequently. The clerks seemed to be familiar with the refrain.

EXPORT TRADE INCREASING.

Trade returns for the two months, May and June, giving figures on the export trade through the Port of Montreal, are very satisfactory. They show that, although some lines show a decrease in the amount of merchandise shipped, speaking generally, the tendency has been towards increased shipments. Wheat shipments, for instance, are over double those for the same period in 1905. Flour shipments show a tremendous increase over last year. Cheese shipments are over 43,000 boxes ahead of May and June, 1905. In butter exported there has been a slight decrease, which, considering conditions, is only natural. Over 7,000 more packages of lard were shipped than during these two months in last year. A considerable decrease, 8,790 packages, is noticeable in meats, hams and bacon. This may be due to the recent Chicago exposures, or to some other cause. Canadian packers state that they do not find any decrease in their export business. Considerable American canned meats, etc., are shipped via Montreal, however, and it may be that the decrease is in these.

The table hereunder will give some idea of the trade during May and June this year as compared with the same period last year:

GROCERY STORE BURGLARIZED.

The grocery store of A. Legault, corner of Ontario and Orleans street, Montreal, was robbed one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. Legault upon returning home on the evening in question, were surprised to find that their store had been entered from the rear. The till was forced open and the money extracted therefrom, while liquor and tobacco to the value of $30 was also stolen.

EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING

McKENNA'S AD.

McKenna, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., always has good newspaper ads.

The "canned goods" specimen illustrated on this page measures up pretty well to what a retail grocer's advertisement ought to be.

Notice the number of "our's" and "we's"—placing the emphasis on McKenna more than on the goods sold in his store.

Notice how in almost every sentence you feel that somebody is personally addressing you.

McKenna's ad is worthy of being kept as a pattern.

A CORRECTION.

In last week's page the explanatory lines below specimen ads should have been transposed.

CIGAR ADVERTISING.

If there is one line of goods that pretty nearly everybody in our town sells it's cigars. I guess it's so in every town. That being the case it will please a good many dealers to know how to make a little more money out of these goods.

We sell cigars, but for a long time they didn't earn their salt. They are making money now and I think it's the advertising that has done it. Advertising will do about anything, I believe.

We used to sell cigars just as most of the rest do. We had a show case full of them and a lighter on top of it and whenever any one asked for a cigar we sold them one. At that rate we sold as much as three dollars' worth of smokes some days. I'll bet the boss' nephew smoked up the profits on more than that himself. He used to help himself whenever he went to a meal.

Now it's all different, though.

I studied into the cigar business a little and saw that we were giving people a pretty poor value when they bought cigars. I didn't notice any one coming back and asking for more. That set me thinking.

I found a man who knew something about the cigar business and about the ways of taking care of cigars. I got a lot of pointers from him and some more from a traveling cigar salesman. I cleaned up the old case and put new price-cards on all the cigars, made them with white ink on black cards, and marked all our five-cent straight cigars "six for a quarter." Then I got the boss to buy some good stock, some good "fives," "tens," and even better.

I didn't want to do any advertising until we had something that would stand advertising. Then I began to tell the smokers what we had for them.

I sent mailing cards to all the young fellows who buy good cigars, and made the reading something that they would not throw away without looking at it. I'd have the girl typewrite these cards between times. They were worded something like this, for instance:

"Dear Henry:—What have you been smoking lately? I did think that the cigars in this town were getting too bad for any use, but the other day I dropped into Smith's and say, they have begun over on their cigar trade. I got a quarter's worth of "Beavers," six for 25c., and they are great, the best "five" I ever smoked. Go in and tell them to give you one and charge it to me.

"Yours as ever,

This was the first card. Then a week or so later I sent out another to the same list and made it about like this:

"Dear Henry:—Jack told me to write and ask you whether you had tried the 'Beaver' cigar yet. He's just dotty about it himself and talks about nothing else when his friends drop in for a smoke. I am not much of a smoker myself and find it hard to get a cigar that I really enjoy, but I followed Jack's advice and the 'Beaver' is all to the good. We're thinking of a 'Beaver' club. Better get in line. Tell Joe about it, too.

"Yours as ever,

"BILL."

You get the idea? I carried on quite a follow-up system along this line, cutting off from the list any of the men whom I knew had been in and bought cigars. I had a little different and more dignified form card for older men, men who smoke good cigars but who might be offended by anything bordering on familiarity in the way of an ad. Then, too, I had a form still more familiar than I used on some of the sports. The plan is not expensive to carry out and is a sure help to the cigar trade. You can advertise cigars in a way that you could not advertise other goods, you know.

In connection with this kind of advertising I got up some pretty nice windows, and cigars are goods that respond to a window trim right off.

One of the easiest and best windows I ever made up was one of a brand of cigars that we had just stocked pretty heavily. I built across one corner of the window a big brick chimney and and fireplace with a simple board mantel. The bricks weren't bricks but boxes of cigars, all of one brand with the label showing.

The whole thing made a design of regularity and symmetry, repeating the label. On the mantel I sat an open box of the cigars, also matches, an ash tray and a pipe or two. On the chimney above the mantel I put a fancy card advertising the cigars and in the fireplace put a lot of the boxes promiscuously with a card reading, "Good to burn. Costs a nickle to burn one."

Of course that left some window space to use in decorating with the cigars, or with any other brands that you want to put in, though as a rule a cigar window will pull harder if you make it all one brand. That makes it look as if you had something there that you pinned your faith to and were willing to recommend.

Put in plenty of good, catchy price and sign cards telling about the cigar and the stock it is made from. Before you go at the cigar advertising though, see that you have a first rate line of goods and know how to take proper care of them so that your customers will want to come back for more.—Brains.

E.A.B.

SAND WILL DO IT.

I observed a locomotive in the railroad yards one day,
It was waiting in the roundhouse where the locomotives stay;
It was panting for the journey, it was coaled and fully manned,
And it had a box the fireman was filling full of sand.

It appears that locomotives cannot always get a grip
On their slender iron pavement, 'cause the wheels are apt to slip;
And when they reach a slippery spot their tactics they command,
And to get a grip upon the rail they sprinkle it with sand.

It's about the way with travel along life's slippery track;
If your load is rather heavy, you're always slipping back.
So if a locomotive you completely understand,
You'll provide yourself in starting with a good supply of sand.

If your track is steep and hilly, and you have a heavy grade,
If those who've gone before you have the rails quite slippery made,
If you ever reach the summit of the upper tableland,
You'll find you'll have to do it with a liberal use of sand.

If you strike some frigid weather and discover, to your cost,
That you're liable to slip on a heavy coat of frost,
Then some prompt, decided action will be called into demand,
For you'll slip way to the bottom if you haven't any sand.

You can get to any station that is on life's schedule seen
If there's fire beneath the boiler of ambition's strong machine,
And you'll reach a place called Flush-town at a rate of speed that's grand
If for all the slippery places you've a good supply of SAND.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

QUEBEC MARKETS.

FLUCTUATIONS—
Fish—Revised.

Montreal, July 11, 1906.

Since last week there has been very little change in the grocery situation. Orders being received by jobbers would indicate the amount of business as being just about what is usual at this time of the year. Collections are not as good as they might be, and many wholesalers find difficulty in obtaining what have formerly been good accounts all along. This is not noticeable to a very great extent, but nevertheless in some cases this condition exists. The jobbing trade is interested greatly in the sugar situation at present. Business passing is very large. Many houses have bought enough, apparently, to last a month, only to repeat the order within a week or ten days. This is ascribed largely to the fact that the fruit season is now about commenced. Prices are steady. Canned goods present no new features. Dealers daily expect quotations on California canned goods. Tea continues very little changed. Advices from Japan do not bring any news of importance. Molasses is unchanged, very little business passing. There is nothing new in coffee, while the spice market is firm and strong. Foreign dried fruits are, speaking generally, in fair demand. Nuts of all kinds are advancing. Some new comb honey has been offered, but stocks are very limited so far. There is a report that the bean crop has been more or less injured. This will have some effect on the market this season.

CANNED GOODS—Canned goods are practically unchanged from last week. Business continues steady. Tomatoes are not in any more request than usual since the decline mentioned in our last report. Corn and peas are moving fairly well. Canned fruits are not as much in demand as they have been, due, no doubt, to the increasing arrivals of green fruits and berries. Dealers are daily expecting quotations on California canned goods. It is anticipated that apricots will be considerably higher than last year. Peaches will be higher probably, while cherries and pears will be either the same or lower.

SUGAR—Sugar at present is interesting. There has been a very large demand throughout the week, due doubtless to the fact that the fruit season is beginning. Many houses bought sufficient sugar, as they thought, to last a month, only to repeat the order within a week. Prices are firm. Despite the feeling last week, no advance has occurred.

TEA—Since our last report there has been practically no change in the tea situation. Business locally is about fair. Advices received from Japan state that the second crop teas are short, and not of particularly good quality. Medium grades Japans are strong and in good demand. In Montreal prices on new Japans are very well maintained. It is reported that the Americans are buying China greens evidently at a large advance over last year, something like 12 per cent.

SYRUP AND MOLASSES—Molasses continues rather quiet. Very little business is being done in any quarter. Orders placed with the jobbers are small, calling only for such quantity as is required for immediate consumption. Corn syrups are practically on the same footing as molasses, very few orders being placed beyond those made necessary by orders requiring to be filled at once.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS—Very fair business is passing in dried fruits. New crop figs are now being quoted to arrive. They are on about the same basis as last year. No quotations on Valencia raisins have yet been given out, but dealers anticipate higher prices.

Currents are firm at the primary market. There is a considerable quantity, something over two hundred tons, booked for Canada from Greece, which are expected to arrive the end of this month. Brazil nuts have been advanced. Shelled almonds show no change, but it is expected that they will be higher shortly. Another advance is expected in walnuts. Tarragona almonds are now quoted 13½c. Prunes are moving freely in some quarters. Many lines are being quoted which are not standard brands and the result to the trade is disastrous.

SPICES—Locally a firm and strong market prevails. Reports from New York state that the market there is steady in all lines. The demand for peppers is steadily increasing. Cloves are in good demand, and prices are likely to go very much higher. Whole nutmegs are quiet, while ground are in large demand and bring good prices.

EVAPORATED APPLES—No interesting feature has appeared on the evaporated apple market. Prices are still unchanged at 12½c. to 13c.

BEANS—Reports are to hand stating that the crop of beans has been more or less seriously injured by insects, necessitating in many cases replanting. This will have the effect of doing away with all surplus stock, and no doubt the shortage will be felt all next season. Prices have not been changed since last quotations.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

FLUCTUATIONS:—

Jams—Advanced ¼c.

Tomatoes—Weaker.

Corn and Peas—Very firm and scarce.

Business generally is good, although feeling the easing off consequent on the holidays and hot weather. Sugar continues firm; in fact an advance was expected before this by many. But while local prices are firm and refiners are compelled by the consumptive demand to keep up large stocks, the firm feeling has been offset somewhat by an easier market on raws during the past week.

Canned goods, with the exception of tomatoes, are firming up. Tomatoes are easier, and some shading is being done on lists. It is understood stocks are larger in these goods than in other lines.

CANNED GOODS—Peas and corn are firming up considerably, and those who are holding any stocks are fortunate, for there will not be more than enough to go over. Tomatoes are weaker, and now that the new crop is in sight there have been some pretty low quotations made on them, although prices are nominally the same. Stocks generally will be pretty well cleaned up before the new pack comes in, as they are light now. Salmon canners feel that canning will be costly this year on account of the scarcity of labor and advance in the prices of fish, tin and solder. The sockeye salmon run has commenced, and on the 10th sockeye nets were allowed to be used. So far the run is good, but it is early yet to give any definite idea of the volume this year.

SUGAR—There is no change in sugars although daily an advance was expected. The demand is becoming very heavy as the preserving season comes in, and refiners are compelled to carry heavy stocks. Were it not that raw sugars had eased off a little there is no doubt that an advance would have been made. As it is, the market continues firm, and an advance is even yet not improbable.

COFFEE—The coffee market is steadier this week and prices generally have undergone a decline. There have been further reports of small beans, but the new crop already seen is of good quality, soft and ripe. The world's visible supply at the beginning of the new crop year is 9,636,563 bags, or a decrease during the past season of 1,628,000 bags. The world's consumption of coffee during the year just closed, as shown by the seaport deliveries, has increased by about 579,000 bags, the figures being 16,742,000 bags last year, as compared with 16,163,000 bags the year before. The culture of the last crop is figured in detail by a well known Havre operator as follows: the quantities being given in bags: Rio, 3,244,000; Santos, 6,983,000; Victoria, 401,000; Bahia, 216,000; total Brazil, 10,844,000; other kinds, 3,948,000; total all kinds, 14,792,000.

TEA—Teas have been quiet all through June. In Indian teas good liquoring kinds are firmer, but the common sorts show a continued weakness. China teas are bringing full price. The quality, generally, is good, but the crop will be short.

DRIED FRUITS—The outlook for the new Californian crops are causing more speculation than the present holdings, which are small. Turkish figs and Valencia raisin reports show a marked crop decrease, but both speak of a good quality of fruits. The indications are that all Old World fruits will bring good prices this year.

Vancouver, B.C., July 6, 1906.

The most interesting fishing season in the world, the run of sockeye salmon on the Fraser River, is on. The fish are not to be caught in the regular sockeye salmon net until July 10, when the season fixed by the Fisheries Department begins, but the fishermen fishing for Spring salmon have caught quite a few sockeyes, and as the latter are as a rule much smaller than Spring, the larger ones only are being caught, as the mesh of the Spring salmon is so much larger than the sockeye net.

Of course it is too early to say what the run will be, though it is not expected to be large, this being one of the three "off" years in the mystic cycle of four. Up the coast the run has been on and reports indicate that results there will be fairly good. The run of Spring salmon, which was rather disappointing, last week took on quite a spurt. At the mouth of the Fraser River half a ton of fish to the boat was the high catch, while 1,300, 1,400 and 1,500 lbs. per boat were frequent results. As the fishermen have been receiving 5c. per lb. for Spring salmon these big catches netted a handsome sum for one day's haul.

Several Fraser River canneries have been packing Spring salmon and the cold storage plants at New Westminster and Vancouver have been freezing all they could handle. Two of the canneries have begun to pack sockeyes, so many having been received.

Summer commodity rates having been declared by the steamer lines and the White Pass Railway Company for shipments to Dawson, the northern traffic is beginning to assume active proportions, and for the next six or eight weeks the bulk of the next season's supplies will go forward.

Lack of water in the Yukon is reported as handicapping the clean-up on the creeks, which otherwise promised well.

Local health authorities are getting after a brand of condensed milk which has been in the market two or three years, though the factory at which it was made has been shut down for some time. Analyses made by Dr. Fagan, provincial health officer, proved that it was dangerous for food, and several hundred cases have been seized and condemned to be destroyed. Great danger of ptomaine poisoning from its use is alleged. Instances of bad effects from the use of this particular milk have been given locally. The merchants who have suffered loss through the seizure threaten the authorities with suit for damages.

Local market features are chiefly confined to the fruit section. The strawberry season, which has been fitful and unsatisfactory, is nearly over, and so far as the lower mainland is concerned has not yielded nearly as much as was expected early in the season. Up country, from the Nelson and Kootenay Lake district, large shipments of extra choice fruit have been made to the prairies, and good prices realized.

The raspberry season is following the strawberry and the crop is an enormous one, as it indeed always is. Local cherries are rapidly displacing those imported from California and from Oregon. Local stock is of very good quality, the price being quoted wholesale at 6c. to 8c. per lb., which is a little lower than other years.

Local apples, even choice varieties, are extremely scarce. The first California apples are on the market, but too green for anything but cooking.

In produce, butter is steady at 25c. for local fresh creamery and not enough for demand. Eastern butter is not much in evidence. Local fresh eggs are scarce. They bring 27c. to 28c. wholesale and despite this price, considerable quantities are brought from the eastern markets.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS

Halifax, N.S., July 10, 1906.

Business in all branches of the grocery trade is good, and from the present outlook it will continue so throughout the season. There is lots of work going on in the city, and the Works Department is paying out fortnightly $10,000 for labor. Prices generally are pretty steady.

BUTTER.—The pastures throughout the province are now at their best, and butter is coming in quite freely. The local supply is equal to the demand, and all the butter is of good quality. Prices are easing off some as the receipts increase. Pints are quoted at 21c. to 22c., small tubs 20c. to 21c. and large tubs about 19c.

BEEF AND POULTRY.—Good beef is quoted at 8½c. to 9c., mutton 7c. to 9c., lambs from $2 to $3 each, and veal 5c. to 6c. Fowls are 60c. to 80c., and chickens 75c. The latter are very small, but the demand for them is good. Turkeys, last year's birds, are quoted at 16c.

VEGETABLES.—New American potatoes are now quoted at about $1.25 per bushel. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick potatoes are about done on this market, but lots of island stock can still be had. They are quoted at 45c. and 50c. per bushel. The commission houses here are now handling a considerable quantity of small American vegetables, such as carrots, beets, turnips, etc., which retail at about 8c. per bunch.

STRAWBERRIES.—With the favorable weather this week, large quantities of Nova Scotia berries have reached the market. All the berries thus far marketed have been of excellent quality, large and well ripened. An average of from 150 to 200 crates have arrived each day for local consumption. They are quoted at 12 cents per box wholesale and retail at 15c. From now on it is expected that the receipts will double the figures above mentioned, and a substantial decrease in the price is looked for.

SUGAR AND MOLASSES.—Prices of sugar and molasses are steady and both are in good demand. The steamer Korona, which arrived here a few days ago from Demerara and the West Indies, landed 14,373 bags of sugar from Demerara, and from Barbadoes 124 puncheons of molasses, 100 barrels, 700 hogsheads and 3,000 bags of sugar, and from St. Kitts 2,568 bags and 62 barrels of sugar. The total weight of the cargo landed was 2,500 tons.

GROCERS' EXCURSION.

Quite a large number went over from Toronto to Niagara Falls Wednesday last, on the grocers' and fruit dealers' excursion. The weather was pleasant and a good day was spent.

BACK TO FIRST LOVE.

Thomas T. Cartwright has again entered the service of E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, after five years spent in the retail business in St. John's, Nfld., and will represent his old house in the "Old Colony."

It is 12 years since Mr. Cartwright began to sell Royal Yeast Cakes in Newfoundland, and his friends say that if there is a man, woman, child or dog on the island who does not know the genial Tom he must be a new arrival.

A traveler in Newfoundland travels in state, the only means of communication with the outports being by schooner chartered specially for the purpose.

Mr. Cartwright succeeds Mr. Gilman, who shortly after his arrival on the island was threatened with pneumonia and had to return.

Mr. Cartwright spent the past week in Toronto, and as much of it as could be spared from business in Mr. Dobic's splendid new motor car.

EBY, BLAIN CO'S NEW SIGN.

The Eby, Blain Co. are putting up a large electric sign about 80 feet above the ground level, looking over Toronto bay, which will be visible at a distance of fifteen miles. The letters will be 15 feet in height by 8 feet in width, and it is said by the British American Sign Co., who are doing the work, to be the largest sign of its kind in the world. There are over 1,000 lights in the sign and about 15 miles of wire will be required in the connections. The mechanism is so arranged that the wording of the sign can be changed from time to time, and any desired group of letters used. It will be operated by an electric flasher specially constructed, and it is expected that everything will be in operation in two or three days.

FOR SALE BECAUSE OF ILLNESS.

This business consists of a good stock of new goods, vermicelli, macaroni, etc., French beans, French peas, chocolate, cocoanut, olive oil, mushrooms, sardines, castile soap, wines, liquors, book accounts, good will and store fittings.

The whole stock is worth about $25,000.

MANITOBA MARKETS

(Market quotations corrected by telegraph up to 12 a.m. Thursday, July 12, 1906.)

MARKET NOTES.

Jams and marmalades—A general advance.

Matches—Another advance of about 5 per cent.

For the midsummer season trade is very active and one large house reports difficulty in arranging holidays for its staff because of the unusual rush for this season of the year. Values are steady in most lines.

N. B. MARKETS.

St. John N.B., July 10.

Tourist travel has now set in and the city is full of strangers, chiefly Americans. In business, while there is nothing of particular interest, markets are firm and a general good demand rules. Owing to some competition rather lower prices are being quoted on hops. In rice firm values rule. Stocks are light, new rice having been much delayed in arriving. In spice, cream of tartar is still low. Cloves are firm, and rather higher. Ginger is high, particularly Jamaica. Pepper unchanged.

OIL.—Burning oil prices are unchanged. Fall business has been largely book-is a good motto to pursue in business and while we are all human and make mistakes, still the fellow who is thinking all the time will eventually "get there"

Last year in the face of a great big pack of Tomatoes we circularized our customers on October 11th and urged them to stock up on this line, and those who took our advice made money.

Now just remember this fact that our country is growing rapidly and the very portion of it that is growing fastest is the West, and, as they are the people who use large quantities of canned vegetables, in our opinion, you can make no mistake ordering freely.

We give you the choice of several first-class brands and will guarantee to please you, both as to quality of goods and attractiveness of labels.

IT WONT COST YOU ANY MONEY to send for a sample of our Maybell Ceylon Orange Pekoe.

Do this and you will see the best bit of value in tea you have seen for many a day.

PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS

RELABELLING CANADIAN HAMS

Canadian Product Called "English" and Re-shipped—Also Done in Other Canadian Goods—Can. Hold its Own Against All.

Speaking of the market for hog products in the island of Jamaica, G. Eustace Burke, Canadian commercial agent there, says:

"I have to report that all lines in the above are ruling high both of United States and English manufacture. Of course in the case of the countries referred to, the raw material must also have advanced in Canada. But at least in hams and bacon varieties I cannot again too strongly emphasize my convictions that the Canadian product ought to hold its own against all comers.

"It would hardly be convenient to give names and addresses, but I am credibly informed that large quantities of hams and bacon find sale in this island as 'English' products from well known English exporting provision houses, when as a fact the sources of origin are well known to be Montreal and Toronto packers, the respective goods being merely canvassed and re-labelled in England for shipment hence.

"There is no doubt in my mind that even at a slightly enhanced price Canadian cured small sized hams, 7 to 12 pounds, and breakfast bacon slips, as also Wiltshire cut lean bacon (all bagged) could replace the United States article, of which the brand of Ferris & Co. enjoys an enviable demand."

The Canadian Grocer took the trouble to take the matter up with some of the large packers to ascertain if such had been brought to their knowledge. The Ingersoll Packing Company says: "We do not know whether Canadian hams are being branded as stated, but we are sending your letter to our London house and have asked them to reply to it. We will let you know their answer." F. W. Fearman & Co. say: "It is quite possible that Canadian hams and bacon are being prepared in England and re-shipped to the West Indies. This has been done to Canadian goods before, which have also been shipped to France, and it is quite likely that it is being done." Park, Blackwell Co. "were not aware that Canadian goods were being sold through English houses and re-labelled English product, but if it is true it only shows the good name Canadian bacon is getting when it is being marketed as the product of England, as it has always been believed heretofore that there was nothing so good as that manufactured in England." The Wm. Davies Company and others say that not a large quantity of Canadian hams go to Great Britain, but that it is quite possible that Wiltshire bacon is being cut up and shipped abroad from the Old Country.

CHEESE AND BUTTER BULLETIN

The remarkable advance in prices of cheese keeps merrily on, and the most surprising feature in this respect is that the British importers continue to send their orders over the cable, reluctantly following our advance, but they have to buy the goods for some reason or other, and, finding that they cannot obtain them at any lower prices, they buy them at current market quotations.

Now, this is all very fine, but from the farmer in Canada to the consumer in Great Britain, everybody acknowledges that current prices are too high for this season of the year, and everybody is anxious to dispose of his goods as quickly as possible. Of course the farmer is reaping the benefit. He gets abnormally high prices for his milk, the Montreal merchants buy the cheese at high prices under keen competition, then the importer in Great Britain gets his offers from the Montreal exporters, and, needing the goods to supply his customers, he buys them. When the balance sheet is drawn, it is found that the farmer has got the money, and the middlemen have either not made any money or they have actually done the business at a loss. This great business, amounting to many millions of dollars annually, does not seem to be conducted on sound business principles, and "pity 'tis, 'tis true."

The receipts in Montreal last week were 106,863 boxes of cheese and 29,324 packages of butter, against 106,202 boxes of cheese and 43,476 packages of butter for the same week of last year, or a total since May 1 of 651,997 boxes of cheese and 204,522 packages of butter, as compared with 629,478 boxes of cheese and 237,479 packages of butter for the corresponding period of last year.

The shipments were, last week: 108,681 boxes of cheese and 18,222 packages of butter, against 94,959 boxes of cheese and 35,573 packages of butter for the same week of last year, or a total since May 1 of 649,615 boxes of cheese and 98,124 packages of butter, as compared with 586,844 boxes of cheese and 139,609 packages of butter for the corresponding period of last year.

These figures show an increase in the receipts of cheese of 22,519 boxes, and an increase in the shipments of cheese of 62,771 boxes, and, further, a decrease in the receipts of butter of 32,957 packages, with a decrease in the exports of Butter of 41,485 packages.

The object lesson is, naturally, first, a larger make of cheese and a smaller make of butter; second, a smaller stock of cheese and a larger stock of butter in Montreal; third, a less production of milk. The first two arguments are accounted for by the relatively higher prices of cheese against butter, and the third is owing to the condition of the season.

At the present writing we are confronted with abnormally high prices for cheese, but, whatever the reason may be and surely there is a reason for it, the goods are in demand, and there is absolutely no accumulation anywhere as far as we can see. It may be possible that the retailers in Great Britain are being stocked up with June-made cheese which, of course, does not figure in the stocks at distributing points, but it is also possible that the goods go into actual consumption more on account of the existing canned meats scare. However, whatever the reason may be for the current high prices, nobody on either side of the Atlantic has the courage to put away any cheese for the future. It is believed that British houses have contracted large quantities of June cheese to their customers. They have certainly tried to cover their "shorts" here, and we understand they are heavy losers this year, as there are not many Montreal houses sold "short," and it may make a difference in the demand when these "short sales" are filled, but, meanwhile, the statistical position is very strong.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

By Our Own Correspondent.

Business in the produce markets here has been on a satisfactory basis throughout the week, although, this being the half-year and consequently the season for stocktaking, the amount of business transacted has not been out of the ordinary.

The general tone of the butter market has been one of some quietness, no change in quotations having occurred. Some 9,000 packages of Australian butter have been delivered, but there has been no rush of buyers, and the finest grades have only realized 98s. and 100s., with occasionally 102s. Finest parcels of unsalted make 104s. at best. New Zealand butter is scarce, not more than 6,000 boxes being received during the week. Choicest brands are, consequently, realizing good prices, there being little to be had under 105s. Lower grades make 100s. There is some Canadian butter on hand, offered at 102s. and 104s., but the season has not yet opened up and the trade is not just yet really interested in it. In the Manchester market, however, Canadian butter has sold quickly throughout the week, although in Liverpool, Irish creameries being easily obtainable, the demand for Canadian creameries is not great. Perhaps it would not be out of place here to warn shippers to see to their packing, particularly the grease-proof wrappers. Although there was a noticeable improvement last season over the previous one, still there were instances when Canadian butter was found to be spotted, a fact which was ascribed by some to the inferior grease-proof paper. It would be well, too, if more attention were given to the individual requirements of each market. In this connection the regular reports of the Canadian Commercial Agents may be studied with advantage, containing, as they do, pointers of real value.

The cheese market in London has been steady throughout the week, but, like the butter market, it has been characterized by no out-standing features. To all the markets large quantities of Canadian cheese have been delivered, not less than 52,500 boxes having come to London alone. In spite of these large supplies, however, a healthy tone prevails, and the consumptive demand appears to swell in proportion as larger quantities are on offer. Stocks at the depot are now about 30,000 boxes, which is only a few thousand boxes more than at the time of our last report. That the consumption should be so good has somewhat astonished certain individuals, who have always maintained that a prolonged period of hot weather, such as England has had during the past few weeks, tends to kill the consumptive demand for cheese. Sellers speak highly of the all-round quality of Canadian cheese, and complaints have been fewer this season than ever before. It is very evident that shippers are taking greater care, or else are becoming more familiar with the needs of buyers on this side. At the time of writing, cable quotations from Canada are very firm in tone, but with fair supplies in hand here buyers are not eager of acceptance, and apparently are waiting to see what change will occur. New Zealand cheese is scarce, and white is making 64s. Colored New Zealand, however, is not in demand, and holders find it difficult to effect a sale.

Canadian bacon is selling steadily, although the tendency is towards the dull side.

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

MONTREAL.

PROVISIONS—There has been no change in provisions since last report. Business is moving fairly well in most lines. There is a very good demand for lard at figures quoted. Hams and bacon are selling steadily, although the prices are rather high. Pork is on the quiet side owing to high price and little demand.

BUTTER—There is a little better feeling in the market this week. Some English houses have been inquiring the last few days, but while some business has resulted, the market cannot be called active. It looks, however, as if the English market would be operating more freely in a week or so, and as a result prices locally are firmer.

CHEESE—Higher prices rule in the country again so that quotations have had to be marked up once more. Westerns now being as high as 12c. This extraordinary high price for June make has, no doubt, been mainly caused by the short sales both here and in England, and until these are supplied, prices will not decline. Shipments continue heavy, 108,000 boxes being shipped last week. As a consequence stocks in Montreal at present are not very large.

PROVISIONS—A good demand with a firm market are still the conditions of the week's business. There seem to be no indications of any falling off in the prices of hog products so long as the present demand and scarcity of hogs continues.

BUTTER AT FAIRS.

The Government of Alberta will have tents at the Fall fairs containing a working dairy, where demonstrations on the cream separator, churning and working butter will be given. Other tents will show poultry fattening crates and other profitable appliances used in this business.

MORE COLD STORAGE.

James Alexander has under contemplation a large cold storage plant in Montreal that will be equal to any in size on the continent. It will be a public warehouse.

JUNE'S EXPORTS TO BRITAIN.

British imports from Canada for June were as follows: Cattle, 21,318, valued at £369,172; sheep and lambs, 1,450, valued at £2,177; bacon, 119,818 cwt., valued at £312,678; hams, 30,712 cwt., valued at £79,915; butter, 19,712 cwt., valued at £98,075; cheese, 198,257 cwt., valued at £565,542.

SOLD SHORT WEIGHT.

A merchant on the Bonsecours market, Montreal, E. Valiquette, was sentenced in the Recorder's Court to pay a fine of $10 and costs or go to prison for two months for selling butter 14 ounces to the pound.

NEW WAREHOUSE TO BE ERECTD.

A building permit for the erection of a butter and cheese warehouse was granted Lovell & Christmas, Montreal, on July 6. The new building is expected to cost $36,000.

PRICES STILL SOARING.

With bacon hogs bringing from $7.50 to $7.60 f.o.b. country points, it almost seems that the top price is reached, yet even at this figure there is but a small number of hogs coming into the packing houses. There is a scarcity of hogs all over the world. In Ireland disease has wiped out large herds of swine. In Denmark the same conditions prevail, and as Denmark raises the same class of hogs as are raised in Canada, the scarcity is all the more felt. Canada is producing only half the number of hogs she did two years ago, and until more farmers go into this business there can hardly be any lessening in price. Packers are not paying the present high prices because of the money they are making, but because they must take care of their trade, and as it will take a long time for the present supply to catch up to the demand it would not be surprising to see prices go still higher. At any rate the indications are that they will hold their own.

HOLBROOK'S ANNUAL MEETING.

At the annual meeting of Holbrook's, in London, Eng., a short time ago, Major Sir Carne Rasch, M.P., who presided in moving the adoption of the report and accounts, said trade might be considered on the whole satisfactory. Trade had been bad all over the country, and most companies had been either passing their dividend or paying a very reduced amount. In that company they had crept gradually up to the position they now occupied. Twenty years ago they paid a dividend of 2½ per cent., then they paid 6 per cent., then 10 per cent., then 15 per cent., and this year they recommended them to pay a dividend of 18 per cent., with a bonus of 2 per cent. on top of it. He did not think many companies could compare with them in profits which they recommended for division, or in the manner in which the trade had been carried on during the last twelve months.

He would like the shareholders to remember that their vinegar trade—and they were the largest vinegar makers in the United Kingdom—was the cow that gave the milk; and he hoped the shareholders would insist that whoever might compose the board in the future should see that the management of the company did not give the cold shoulder to the vinegar trade. That was the staple of the company, although, of course, they traded in paper-made paper bags—and in baking powders of every description, and they also made pickles and sauce.

A final dividend of 12 per cent. on the ordinary shares, making 18 per cent. for the year, and a bonus of 2 per cent. was declared, and Col. G. W. Wood and Mr. Ernest Callard were re-elected directors, Messrs. Smallfield, Rawlings & Co., auditors, and it was also agreed to increase the remuneration of the directors for the current and succeeding years by £500 per annum.

WALL PAPERS

Our salesmen represent a factory established for fifty years; every man in it practical and skilled in this particular business, and every bit of machinery of the best and latest model. You can depend on the quality of the STAUNTON LINES because we are just as particular in buying the raw materials for our papers, and select them from the original sources as carefully as if we were making Wall Paper for our own homes instead of selling it to you. It takes time, and experience too, to know just where to get and how to choose the best materials. Think of that when you are considering what factory to buy from.

When the STAUNTON salesman opens his trunks, you will see many pleasing surprises in values and prices, as well as new achievements in designs and colorings. We are showing many attractive and fast-selling specialties in addition to our standard lines.

Wait for the STAUNTON salesman.

FLOUR AND CEREAL FOODS

Alberta's Good Crop—Spring Grains Now Doing Well—Big New Flour Mills for Calgary and Lumsden.

A bounteous harvest is the prospect from all parts of the west—greater than ever. There has been some damage to Spring wheat in Northern Alberta by cut worms, but not enough to affect the general yield of that section. Spring grains all over the province are doing well, although there have been reports that the weather has been too cold to push the grain forward. These reports came some days ago, however, and the weather has made great changes since then, so that a wonderful improvement is seen. Winter wheat looks well, and is good for a heavy yield, according to reports from Calgary by an expert from the Western Grain Growers' and Millers' Association. A larger area of Winter wheat is under cultivation, but the yield will be about the same in bushels as last year's, on account of losses in some sections from Winter killing.

FLOUR MILL FOR LUMSDEN.

Lumsden (Alta.) Council has accepted an offer from Ellison & Co. for the erection of a flour mill. The city gives a three-acre site, tax exemption for fifteen years, and a low water rate. The company agree to erect a 150 barrel flour mill before the end of next year, and contemplate increasing it to a 560 barrel capacity within five years, by which they will get additional con-

CALGARY MILLING CO. BUILDING.

The Calgary Milling Co. have commenced work on their $100,000 flour mill. It will be 38 by 96 feet, five storeys high. It will be equipped for a 600-barrel daily capacity. Two 175 horse-power gas producers will supply the power.

MONTREAL.

HAY—There is very little change in the hay market. It is a shade weaker if anything. It is not that there is such a lot of hay offering locally, but more the fact that there is not much going forward, to which this weakness may be attributed.

The Old Country market has declined still further. Latest quotations received from Liverpool are 62-63 shillings c.i.f.

TORONTO.

GRAIN—Both wheat and oats show a further decline this week, but trading is small, and stocks in Ontario points very light. There can hardly be any movement expected for a few weeks yet, but big millers and estimators predict that the world's wheat crop this year will be much smaller than last year, despite the fact that the Canadian crop will be so heavy. This should make good prices again this Fall.

AGAIN PROVEN TO BE THE BEST CREAM TARTAR.

IT is with some feeling of satisfaction that the United States Trade Reports sees a vindication of former indorsements of worthy firms and meritorious articles. We have always given careful attention to inquiries received from readers, and to furnish them with reliable information on any desired subject free of charge. The Reports has the largest circulation of any trade journal of its class in the country, and no other publication could afford to maintain such a large staff of experienced reporters to make these expensive investigations in the interest of its readers.

About ten months or so ago we received inquiries in which we were asked to recommend the best Cream Tartar, and to state where the same could be obtained. We fully realized the importance of the subject and the confidence which would be reposed in our answer. We made a careful and thorough examination along this line, and as a result, found that Gillett's Cream Tartar, made by E. W. Gillett Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont., and Chicago, Ill., was conceded to be the best, and we made editorial commendation accordingly.

Only recently we received many similar inquiries from other of our readers, and to verify the correctness of our former recommendation, we place the matter in the hands of other of our reporters and investigators, who knew nothing of our former indorsement, and, after the most exhaustive research, they also have reported in favor of the Cream Tartar made by the company named, which proves conclusively that their Cream Tartar is doubly worthy of adoption and use by all, and also that the trained reporters of the Reports never do anything by halves.

The Gillett Company is well known for business tact and enterprise, as well as sterling integrity. They owe the great success of their business to their prompt and careful attention to orders, courteous treatment to customers, and the perfect reliability of their products. By their honest endeavors to make nothing but the best, they have built up a reputation second to none in the world.

We strongly advise bakers, caterers, druggists and other users of the goods to insist on getting Gillett's Cream Tartar. It costs no more than the poor adulterated kind.

FRUITS, VEGETABLES AND FISH

Too Much Rain in Some Sections—Potato Rot has Made its Appearance—American Vegetables Being Supplanted.

Black currants and blueberries are on the market this week. They are both up to the average marketed at this time of year, and are bringing from $1 up for the currants, and from $1.40 to $1.50 for the blueberries. The Canadian new potatoes coming in are much better than the stock being sent in from the States, and are in such good demand that they are soon taken off the market. American cabbage have about stopped coming in, the locally grown being sufficiently grown to take their place. In some parts of Eastern Ontario reports have come in that the heavy rains have put back root crops, and that a sign of rot is already visible in potatoes. Vegetables, generally, are looking well, and coming on the market quite freely.

DIRTY JAM PACKING.

The annual report of the inspector of factories and workshops in London, Eng., shows that the conditions there are quite as revolting as anything alleged of the Chicago meat packing revelations. The report on a typical jam factory is as follows: "The boiling room lay between the yard and the stable, and the horses reached the latter through the boiling room. The sanitary accommodation was hardly separated from the rooms where the fresh fruit and uncovered jam were kept and the floors were dirty and undrained."

Another factory inspector found jam pots being washed in "liquid like dark soup, which smelled abominably." The manager informed the inspector that the water was changed "about once a week." When fished out of these evil smelling tanks the pots were allowed to stand until dry, when they were considered to be ready to receive fresh installments of preserves.

EXTENSIVE FISH POACHING.

The New England Fish Co., with its Pacific centre in Vancouver, has lost the monopoly of the halibut fishery on this coast, which it enjoyed for many years.

Seattle and Tacoma fisherman have taken it away, and, according to Canadian officers of the Preventive Service, the Americans have done the trick with Canadian fish.

Captain Newcombe, of the Dominion gunboat Kestrel, which patrols the fishery grounds, says that it is conservatively estimated that 18,000 tons of halibut were caught on the halibut banks off the west coast of Vancouver Island, of which 4,000 tons went to the American company, that is licensed to ship from this port in bond to the Eastern States. The remainder was taken by Americans, and he claims that only 5,000 tons were legitimately caught outside the three-mile limits, the rest being secured by poachers in Canadian waters.

Captain Newcombe says the poaching was done upon so wholesale a scale and with such method that it was impossible for the single gunboat at present in commission on this coast to effectually protect Canadian waters and to make seizures with any chance of conviction except by some fortunate accident.

OUR FRUIT IN ENGLAND.

P. B. Ball, Canadian commercial agent at Birmingham, England, is taking a deal of interest in the fruit-shipping industry, and is doing his best to encourage it. He believes that much more trade in fruit might be done with Great Britain by this country than is done. He is delivering a number of addresses in and around Birmingham on this country, its resources and its products, both industrial and agricultural. He wants all the data he can get about the Niagara district, and says that he would like to obtain a series of photographs taken from the hills around Queenston, showing the fruit farms there, and following the river to its mouth. Shippers and manufacturers should do all they can to help Mr. Ball in the good work he is performing by sending him facts and such pictures as they have. Mr. Ball can be addressed 39 and 40 Central House, Christchurch Buildings, Birmingham.

CANNED AIR.

California air condensed into liquid state and packed for export is the latest product of the Golden State to appear upon the market. It is now possible to eat California oranges which have never left California air in their long journey across the continent.

A plant for the manufacture of liquid air and of oxygen has been erected in the City of Los Angeles, which is the only plant in the country manufacturing these products on a commercial scale with the exception of a New York plant whose output is confined to surgical and metallurgical uses.

Situated in the heart of a warm country, without natural ice and separated from markets by tremendous stretches of hot country, the question of refrigeration of fruit cars is one of the most important which the Californian has to consider.

If, as is hoped, the product of the Los Angeles factory can be used as a successful substitute for manufactured ice, the market is at hand and the new industry is ideally located. Fruit growers, car builders, merchants, shipping agents, and packers await with interest the extended trials which are now being instituted.—Technical World.

APPLE SHIPS.

Issacs & Sons, ship owners and apple buyers, London, Eng., will put on a special line of trans-Atlantic boats during the apple season to carry American and Canadian apples across. H. M. Issacs has been in Toronto for a few days making arrangements with the firm's agents there.

FRUIT SALE IN MONTREAL.

Monday of this week there was a fruit sale in Montreal. Five cars of Californian fruit were sold, good prices being secured. Plums brought from $1.40 to $2.20; peaches from $1.20 to $2; apricots, $2.25, and pears, half boxes, $2.25.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

GREEN FRUITS—Fruit generally is in very good demand at present. Dealers are doing a good business in most lines. Strawberries are becoming scarce, and it will be noticed that quotations are higher this week. Blueberries are now on the market, and very good fruit is offered at $3 per box of 22 quarts. Raspberries were offered for the first time this season, and brought from 18c. to 20c. As they become more plentiful, however, the price will decline.

VEGETABLES—Green vegetables are beginning to arrive more freely locally. Farmers are coming into the city every day with their offerings, and as a rule they have little trouble in disposing of their stock. Prices are well maintained. Montreal cabbage, or what is grown by farmers in the neighboring districts, is selling quite freely from 65c. to 70c. Cucumbers are moving well at 40c. to 50c. Considerable business is being done in tomatoes. These are now quoted from $3.50 to $4. Prices this week are practically unchanged.

FISH—Eastern salmon is becoming very scarce, and in consequence the price has been advanced. Quotations now read 13c., being an advance of 2c. over last week's figure. Fresh halibut continues to arrive in good quantities. Lake trout and whitefish are plentiful, and good business is passing. Dore or

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GREEN FRUITS—A good class of fruit is coming in steadily, and as the season advances the prices come down—sometimes in jumps. Red currants are down to 85c., although some special baskets readily bring $1. Blueberries are on the market, but in very small quantities, and are quickly picked up at from $1.40 to $1.50 per basket. Black currants bring from $1 to $1.25. They are fairly good stock. Last year's apples are quite off the market now, but new ones are coming in slowly. Some early harvest apples are bringing $2.50 per bushel. In southern fruits, Mediterranean sweet oranges are practically done. A large quantity of Georgia melons are expected this week, and when they begin to come in quantity the present prices—40c. to 50c.—must take a drop.

VEGETABLES—Canadian new potatoes are beginning to come in fairly well, but the demand is so heavy for them that the market is constantly short. They are of good size, in fact better than the American potatoes that are coming over. In baskets they run at from 25c. to 35c., and in bushels $1.25. Cabbage, green peas, beans, lettuce, and all locally raised garden truck, are going down in price and up in quality. Cauliflowers are particularly fine, and are being sold for from $1.25 to $2 per dozen. Imported cabbage are falling off, good native grown taking their place. Onions are down to $1.50 per sack.

BISCUITS AND CONFECTIONERY

Light Lunches for Picnics—This is the Season to go After Trade—Attractive Display of Confectionery Brings Results.

Now is the time to display picnic goods and food for dainty hot weather lunches. Crackers and biscuits are an indispensable adjunct to the Summer outing and with the attractive cartons they come in, they make an artistic display. A great deal of the pleasure of picnics is lost by those whose lot it is to prepare the lunches, and when the sandwiches and lemonade have to be supplemented by other edibles to fill out the bill of fare, something already prepared in the way of biscuits and confectionery offers a tempting substitute for foods that have to be made up in the home. Price and descriptive tickets are a factor in attracting attention to such goods. A suggestion of this kind often makes a sale.

MOONEY'S SPECIAL CAR.

The accompanying cut shows one of the Mooney Biscuit Company's privately owned freight cars, mentioned in The Grocer some weeks ago. They make a striking advertisement and show the enterprise which characterizes this firm.

SMYRNA FIG INDUSTRY.

Upon request of a New York firm of importers, U. S. Consul Norton, of Smyrna, has furnished a report on the fig industry of Smyrna. He says:

The fig district is largely along the line of the Smyrna-Aidin railroad. Trees begin to bear in their sixth year and are in full vigor in the fifteenth year. The fruit ripens about the middle of August, when it is picked and dried in the open air for from three to six days. It is then packed in sacks of about 250 pounds each, two of which constitute a load for a camel, and transported to the nearest railroad station. Carts are not employed in this connection, as the fruit is liable to be damaged when the sacks are piled one on the other. The arrivals from the country are promptly bought up by the various great packing houses, who have each a large corps of employes, chiefly women and girls, for the operations of sorting, washing, drying and packing the fruit.

Skillful Sorting.

The sorting of the figs is carried out with great care. Color, but more especially size and thickness, or rather thinness, of skin, guide the classification. The inferior grades, the so-called "hordas," culls or refuse, are eliminated and sold for purposes of distillation.

The better grades are prepared for export in various ways. The least expensive is packed in tinen or other bags, and is used usually for the less valuable qualities. The finer grades are subjected to a certain manipulation before being tightly packed in boxes containing from 1 to 11 pounds. During the manipulation the workmen continually dip their fingers in sea water. As a result the fruit is better preserved and the sweetness is not diminished by long keeping. The term "macaroni figs" is applied to fruit which has been gently rolled between the palms of the hand, so as to resemble an elongated ellipsoid. "Loucoum figs" are prepared by pressing the fruit into a rectangular form, not dissimilar in size and appearance to the oriental confectionery well known under the name of "Turkish delight," or "loucoum."

The Choice Varieties.

The great majority of the choicer figs are packed in layers. The upper side is split and the fig is flattened out. This method allows expert manipulators to give a more presentable appearance to small figs than is possible in preparing "macaroni" or "loucoum" figs. The "macaroni" style of packing involves the least disturbance to the internal structure of the fruit. The "loucoum" style leaves it most nearly the original size, and is the best adapted for any subsequent manipulation by importers. The latter two methods are the most favorable for proper curing during transportation. Boxes of figs prepared by any of the three latter methods are usually exported in crates holding about 330 pounds.

Prices and Dealers.

During the past season (autumn of 1905) prices at Smyrna for the unsorted fruit arriving from the interior ranged from $2.80 to $10.50 per quintal of 125 pounds, according to source and quality. The quotations of the fruit packed for exportation during the same season were as follows, c.i.f. New York, per 112 pounds: Natural figs in bags, $2.25 to $3; same, extra quality, in linen bags, $3.75 to $5.25; figs in boxes, "Erbeilli" $6.25 to $12.50; "Aidin," $5.50 to $10.50; "Odemish," $5.25 to $10; "Sokkia" and "Ayassolouk," $4.75 to $7. Variations in the quotations represent differing grades of size, thinness of skin, etc. The following extensive Smyrna dealers in figs are either American citi-

THE ALBERTA BISCUIT COMPANY.

The Alberta Biscuit Company has been organized at Calgary with a capital of $200,000. The following officers were elected: Vice-president, E. B. Johnston, Minneapolis; president, I. S. G. VanWart; treasurer, H. A. Perley; secretary, F. H. Brown; directors, Messrs VanWart, Perley, E. C. Perry, F. F. Higgs.

Tenders were opened and a contract entered into for the new building, which will cost with machinery complete $50,000. It is expected that the company will be doing business before October 1.

NEW PRESERVING INDUSTRY.

Wagstaffe Limited, whose incorporation was gazetted last week, is a new and interesting addition to the industries of Hamilton. James Wagstaffe, the head of the firm, was for 17 years in the jam and preserving business in England and with free sugar built up a very extensive establishment. When Joseph Chamberlain signed the sugar convention just after the Boer War Mr. Wagstaffe along with scores of other jam makers in England was hard hit and had to go out of business.

Coming to Canada, where he conceived there was a good opening for perfectly pure and high-class jams and preserves, he located in Hamilton last Fall and started in a small way as an experiment. His goods, a particularly fine line, met with such favor that he was encouraged to organize a company and secure larger premises. A fine, high, airy brick building was obtained on Vine street, 80x80, where new and improved machinery has been installed for all the processes of preserving and jam making.

A representative of The Grocer was an interested spectator while a lot of berries were preserved and was very favorably impressed with the process and results. Nothing is used but the fruit and pure cane sugar.

A full line of preserved fruits and jams will be put up, including fig and lemon jam. Sealed glass packages of pleasing design are used largely, while what tins are used are all lacquered inside so that there is no contact between the acid of the fruit and the tin surface.

Mr. Wagstaffe has associated with him his son, who is also thoroughly trained in the preserving business.

HUYLER'S OPENING.

On Saturday last Huyler's opened up their new confectionery store at 130 Yonge street, Toronto. A heavy stock of their own confections will be kept on hand, and serving refreshments will be a part of their business.

You can Make as Much Profit on a Box of My Cigars as on $5.00 Worth of Groceries

Lay emphasis on the "my." The "rusty-looking" cigars that some grocers keep around their store wouldn't make as much profit for you as 5c. worth of groceries. Their chief function is to kill custom.

If you get my 500 assortment (some Pharaoh, 10c., some Pebble, 5c.) you'll get cigars as good as those to be found in the best cigar stores, the kind of cigars that make competition easy.

The "500" offer is accompanied with that "Money Back in 3 months" declaration.

TOBACCO AND CIGARS

Only the Best Kept—Men Prefer to Buy Their Cigars and Tobacco from Grocer — Brings New Customers.

If a grocer handles cigars and tobacco he should handle the best. No stock, no matter what the line, should be kept because it is the custom to do so. There can be seen too often in the grocery a box or two of cigars, inferior stock to begin with, and literally in the sere and yellow leaf of age. If this department of the store is run down, the only thing that will build it up is the putting in of a stock, not necessarily large, but good, that will appeal to the trade. Pick a winner, with a small margin of profit, rather than an unpopular brand that can be bought at a low price. The majority of men would rather buy their cigars and tobacco in a grocer's store than in the billiard room or barber shop, and the reason they do not is that they get better goods from the man who makes tobacco a feature of his business, than from the man who carries an ill-kept stock. There is, too, a beneficial effect upon the general business from keeping a choice stock of tobacco. It brings a new class of trade, representatives or heads of families who are not regular customers, and in this way constitutes an advertisement that returns a profit at once.

CIGARETTES NOT DRUGGED.

Victor Williams, Toronto manager of the American Tobacco Company, states that the statement made by E. P. Gaston, of Chicago, before a committee of the British House of Lords that American cigarettes are drugged and manufactured under filthy conditions is absolutely false. Mr. Gaston in his remarks stated that the British public had more to fear from bad cigarettes than from bad meat.

TOBACCO STOCK AUCTIONED.

Philip Jamieson, Toronto, has purchased the entire wholesale stock of the tobacconist, John Ward, 37 Yonge street, at a rate on the dollar. The sale was by public auction, and prospective buyers were in attendance from Montreal to Winnipeg. Some idea of the magnitude of the stock may be gathered from the fact that the lot comprised altogether 138,715 cigars. In addition to the stock of cigars are some $2,000 worth of cigarettes, representing all makers, together with more than $5,000 worth of tobaccos.

JAPANESE TOBACCO.

Charles Edward Russell, in July Everybody's Magazine, tells of the growth of the tobacco and cigarette industry in Japan. Only a comparatively few years ago the Americans introduced their cigarettes into Japan and taught the Japs to want them. But by the time the American Tobacco Trust had invested $12,000,000 in Japan, the Japanese Government concluded that it would be a good business to engage in, and accordingly it went into it. An import duty of 250 per cent. was levied on cigarettes, and thereupon the American cigarettes disappeared quicker than their own smoke, and as a result the trust plants were bought up by the Japanese Government.

NEARLY THREE POUNDS EACH FOR CANADIANS.

Statistics state that Belgium consumes more tobacco per capita than any other nation in the world, using for each inhabitant six and a quarter pounds of the weed. The United States of America comes second with five and one-half pounds, Germany third with three and a half, Austria fourth with three, and Canada fifth with two and three-quarter pounds for every inhabitant.

PUFFS.

The International Cigarmakers' Union announce that the average length of life of union cigarmakers has increased over fifteen years since 1888, and the life of wives of these workers has increased eight years in that period. The percentage of those who die from tuberculosis was reduced from 51 per cent. in 1888 to 24 per cent. in 1905. The establishment of the eight-hour day in 1884 is declared by the union to be the cause of this improvement.

Tobacco is the greatest of all revenue producers. It is taxed by every government on earth. It bears a heavier burden in proportion to its cost of production than any other commodity. The governments of Spain, Italy, Austria, France, Japan and others make a monopoly of its manufacture and sale. England puts a tax on it averaging 1,200 per cent. of its prime cost. It is the stay of nations, the poor man's luxury and the rich man's solace. It soothes and cheers six hundred million human beings.

Suppose "tobacco and its manufactures" had been added to the list of food and liquors the adulteration and misbranding of which is made a misdemeanor in the States, punishable for each offence with a fine of $500 or a year's imprisonment or both? That would be an end to the "la flor de cabbage" and "bartender's revenge" brand of stogies. Perhaps it would not be a bad idea, either.

"Try this," said the cheerful traveler, "this is something like a cigar." "It does resemble a cigar," said the other, when he had taken a few draws.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS

Shipping business throughout the past week has been very good. Grain is still going out in large quantities, in fact shipments to date far exceed those of last year in most lines, but in wheat, particularly. Considerable butter and cheese has been exported since last report. Meats are still rather slow, only occasional lots being shipped. Flour continues in good demand on the other side. Business with other than British ports continues first-class. South African trade is being carefully nourished. Other foreign ports are using more or less Canadian flour also.

Sardinian, of the Allan line, plying between Montreal, London and Havre, arrived in Montreal with a general cargo July 4.

The new C.P.R. liner Empress of Ireland reached Quebec on her maiden trip July 7 having made a fast voyage across.

According to reports given out, the Allan line is not contemplating the building of any new vessels at present, beyond the one now under construction for the Atlantic service. A report came from Glasgow recently to the effect that two new boats, larger and speedier than the Virginian and Victorian, were to be built, but this rumor is denied at headquarters in Montreal. The C.P.R. say that they are not thinking of building any new vessels as is rumored in some quarters.

The Manchester Importer left for the city of Manchester July 6, carrying a general cargo.

A delegation of the leading produce exporters of Bristol, England, recently inspected the new arrangements made by the C.P.R. on some of their boats for the shipping of butter, cheese, etc., to England. The Monmouth, which recently sailed from Montreal for Avonmouth, was thoroughly inspected. The delegation was shown the butter chamber, cold air and refrigerator system, etc., and expressed themselves very favorably on the new arrangements.

Lakonia, of the Donaldson line, cleared for Glasgow with a general cargo on July 5.

The Prah, of the Elder-Dempster line, is in port with a cargo of sugar from the West Indies for the St. Lawrence sugar refinery.

Inland shipping this year has shown a considerable increase in volume over last year. To date there has been between 3,500 and 4,000 vessels entered and cleared the port.

Virginian, of the Allan line, for Liverpool, with general cargo, cleared July 4.

Steamer Haddington, from Fort William, brought into the port July 7, a record cargo of wheat. She carried 75,200 bushels of grain. It is said that this is the largest cargo of grain ever brought into the port. The boat is moored at the harbor commissioner's elevator, where it is unloading. Considerable wheat was loaded from it on to the C.P.R. liner Montezuma.

There have been no changes in the rates this week.

BUSINESS NOTES.

McIntyre & Edwards, of Regina, have sold their grocery business to S. W. Hunter.

T. M. Charlton, Huron street, Toronto, has sold his grocery business to G. H. Cooper.

J. Hickman, grocer, is in his new store at 374 College street, Toronto. Mr. Hickman has purchased the residence behind and built the store to it.

J. A. McCance, of St. Thomas, has had his grocery store remodeled and fitted up with new show cases, etc. It is now one of the most modern stores in the province.

THE LATE G. T. WHELPLEY.

This week we publish a cut of the late G. T. Whelpley, of Fredericton, N.B., who, as stated in The Canadian Grocer of June 29, had been in business for forty years in that city.

WESTERN CANNERS' TROUBLES.

Owing to the scarcity of labor in British Columbia fruit canners are having trouble in getting strawberries to pack. The present price of labor is so high that many fruit-growers prefer to let the berries rot than pick them for the small margin that can be made. It is feared the same thing will be experienced in other fruits later on.

BOYCOTT TINNED GOODS.

British retail associations have forwarded resolutions to the Grocers' Association conference to be held in London this week, recommending that canned goods in stock until there is a guarantee established as to their quality.

BUFFALOES CROSS RIVER.

Buffalo grocers are up in arms, it is said, because their customers their customers are crossing the river to Fort Erie to buy tea in Canada at 25 cents a pound. Tea is on the free list, but an effort will be made by the Buffalo men to have a duty put upon tea coming from Canada.

BUYING AND SELLING

By Thomas E. Oliver

Living Beyond Income—Expression of Ideas—Test of a Buyer's Ability
—The Value of Good Will—Betraying Confidences.

If a man spends, or contracts debts for, say, $2,000 per annum, and his income is only $1,500 per annum, he must steal the difference from some source, even though it be from his acknowledged creditors, and this rule applies not to individuals alone, but to business institutions. Look sharply after such people to see that they do not steal from you, or us. Some claims are made in bad faith, for with some men a dollar counts more than their souls; but all business men are not dishonest, by any means. Therefore, if you believe the claim to be wrong, but the claimant to honestly believe he is right, then, as a matter of policy, it may pay to make a concession if there is not too much at stake; but if, on the other hand, you feel that he is knowingly taking advantage of his position, then it is wise to hold out strongly for your rights, as a matter of principle.

It is not wise to worry over increased expenses while the gross profits increase relatively. Did you ever hear of a trial balance made up of asset items only?

What is the good of an original or novel idea if you do not utilize it? Learn to clinch it before it runs away from you and becomes valueless. Give free expression to your ideas relating to our business, and we will promise to give you credit for those we regard as worthy of it, and forget the others.

There are a great many unsuccessful men, possessing at times greater originality and more natural ability than others more successful, due frequently to the fact that the one possesses more confidence, assurance—or call it egotism, if you wish—than the other. Learn to cultivate this spirit, for without it you are not likely to meet with success.

The average man of means, or one occupying an exalted position in life, is burdened with all kinds of propositions, and therefore must necessarily act conservatively; and this same rule applies to buyers of merchandise. Therefore, do not take offence if you are not received with open arms, and, while your proposition is an honorable one, and of mutual benefit, you must persistently, but politely and tactfully, impress it upon the party of the second part.

When you know at heart you are wrong, it is wise to make such an acknowledgment, which will prove more creditable to your good judgment and manhood than stubbornly sticking to your first point on a false notion of principle.

Every man will perform bad as well as good deeds, and the fair thing to do is take his balance in the average. Don't narrow your view down to his mistakes only. Every successful business house has a profit and loss account.

Natural modesty and common sense might suggest the principle of not over-estimating your own or of under-estimating the other fellow's ability, and the best results will follow; for some apparently sleepy men are in reality very keen, and at times sacrifice their pride in this respect to accomplish their object.

A reasonable course to pursue is to abide by an agreement strictly until you receive positive proof that the other fellow has broken faith, and then to act quickly in protecting your interest without any formal notification. To our minds, a breach of good faith in itself nullifies an agreement.

There is no necessity to worry over the orders for a heavy tonnage of material, representing a large moneyed value, which the average manufacturer needs badly to meet current obligations. He will, as a rule, see that shipments of such orders are made at the earliest possible moment, but we cannot too strongly emphasize the necessity of following up closely the small orders which some short-sighted manufacturers may neglect, because of apparently representing to him a small money value, but which may be holding up the completion of a contract job or a large order representing considerable in value to someone. Give proper treatment to the man ordering a dollar's worth of goods, and he may directly or indirectly bring you orders for many thousands.

The good will of an established business can be appreciated only by thoughtful and experienced men. While the population of the world is increasing, the area seems to be lessening, and the friends you make in the remotest parts of the earth may help your interests through friends and relatives at far distant points.

A junior officer of a large corporation made the following remark, worth quoting: "The president of our company is an able man of strict integrity, but should he make mistakes we must shield him from the penalty; for if our patrons lack confidence in the man directing the policy of the business it would react seriously against our interests." He knew the value of good will in business.

What is the test of a buyer's ability? To my mind, the amount of the net yearly profits of the company he represents, for market conditions largely regulate the selling prices; and, while general economy in the running expenses of each concern counts for considerable, the advantages obtained by the buyer are of more than a little importance. "Goods properly bought are half sold."

The buyer so gloated with egotism that he cannot resist talking freely of his accomplishments is a detriment to the house he represents, as well as the seller, although he may not realize it. You must be careful not to give such people too much of your confidence. The shrewdest buyers are the most conservative and least talkative, and while they may worry you and keep you guessing and make you do the talking, they are not likely to make trouble for you by betraying your confidence. A certain manufacturer's statement is worth quoting, as follows: "Do not quote these special prices to Brown, for he has talked too freely to me of other manufacturers' prices, and I am afraid it is a habit with him; but with such a man as Smith it is safe, and will go no further."

The average sales agent is made to discriminate, not alone because of the standing of the house or the quantities to be purchased, but also between the individual buyers.

Individual buyers of distinctly different types obtain substantial results in a different manner. I know of one buyer of fine principles who does practically all of the talking, and fairly begs the manufacturer for what he wants. I had occasion to criticize him, when his employer sensibly remarked: "I know him to be honest and faithful to his duties, and the results are unquestionably profitable to us."

I also know of another type of buyer, as quiet and modest as a trained nurse, and as mum as an oyster, making the sales agent do all the talking and worrying; and results prove him to be one of the keenest and shrewdest of buyers and a natural born actor; and if either of these buyers attempted to imitate the example of the other they would both be failures.

Every intelligent buyer aims to work in close and harmonious relations with the sales department. Let each show proper regard for the other department, and the combination will add materially to the sales and profits.

Any buyer—in fact, any successful man—taking undue advantage of his position is a snob.

If any man tries to bribe a buyer for his own personal benefit, he would be justified in knocking him down; but it would be more polite to tell him squarely that all rebates on orders or shipments belong to his employers.
