

A VERY HEAVY MOVEMENT OF GERMAN TROOPS

Is Reported Towards the Southern Roumanian Frontier

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 2.—A despatch to the London Times from Paris says: Information received in Paris seem to show that the Germans are preparing to bring the full weight of their effort upon the southern Roumanian frontier, toward which a heavy movement of troops is reported to be in progress.

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL

By Courier Leased Wire. Petrograd, Sept. 2.—"Southwest of the village of Toboly, thirty-eight miles northeast of Kovel on the Stokhod, the enemy resumed the offensive but was repelled by the fire of our infantry.

TO PRESERVE ANCIENT MONUMENTS

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 2.—The Greek Government has sent a note to the belligerent powers, says a despatch from Athens, dated Friday, to the Exchange Telegraph Company, asking them "during military operations in Greek territory as well as in the event of a siege bombardment to preserve the ancient monuments and other national treasures."

As the ancient monuments and treasures of Greece are situated principally in Athens the note has given rise to some comment in the Greek capital.

THE RUSSIANS Drive the Turks Out of an Important Persian City.

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, Sept. 2.—The Russians have driven the Turks out of Sulthanabad, a city nearly 200 miles inside the Persian border, according to a despatch received in official quarters here. It was said "large Russian reinforcements recently sent into north Persia probably could check the Turkish advance on Tehran, the Persian capital, unless unexpectedly large Turkish detachments were sent up from the Baghdad army."

EMBARGO ON COAL FOR LONDON DISTRICT

Rumor of Short Supply on Hand Caused Greatest Rush in Years. London, Ont., Sept. 2.—The Michigan Central Railroad announced yesterday to shippers here that an embargo has been placed on coal coming into Canada for this district over the Niagara frontier. No information is obtainable as to what conditions prevail at other border points, and Londoners are hoping for relief through a lake connection and the London and Port Stanley Railway.

KING CONSTANTINE. QUEEN SOPHIA. VENIZELAS AND CROWN PRINCE GEORGE.

FRENCH OFFICIAL

Paris, Sept. 2.—"On the Somme front there was considerable activity on the part of the enemy and of our artillery, notably in the sector of Maurepas and immediately south of the river. The Germans made violent and repeated attacks on a portion of the trenches taken by us on August 31, south of Estrees. They succeeded in occupying some parts of these positions at the cost of appreciable losses.

SENATE WILL VOTE THIS EVENING ON EIGHT HOUR BILL

By a vote of 239 to 56 and sent to the senate, where at the night session it was substituted for a similar measure prepared by the Interstate commerce committee. In both houses the measure was debated hotly.

Vote in House of Representatives Was Carried 239 to 56—Measure Hotly Debated

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, Sept. 2.—Not later than 6 o'clock this evening the senate will vote on the Adamson eight-hour day bill, passed yesterday by the House to effect a calling off of the railway strike. Strong belief prevailed that it would be passed without amendment and sent immediately to President Wilson, for his signature.

BULGARS EVACUATE POSITIONS AT THREE IMPORTANT POINTS

HEAVY FIGHTING They are Retreating Towards a Low Lying Spur of Hills Expected in the Balkans in September, October and November.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 2.—(New York Times cable)—A Daily Chronicle despatch from Petrograd says: Naturally only the higher command knows the plan of campaign that has been arranged, but most Russian military experts consider the chief Roumanian effort will continue to be directed against Austro-Hungary. Transylvania would be attacked thus from three sides. The three months to come—September, October and November—are considered most suitable for active military operations in the Balkans. We may therefore expect heavy fighting to begin in the immediate future.

IN GOOD SHAPE By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 2.—Business in general is maintained at a record-breaking pace and railroad tonnage is limited only by shortage of equipment. Grains and other food stuffs are being rushed to market, and the enormous bank exchanges and clearings at reserve centres are themselves strong proof of the easy domestic monetary situation.

Bulgars Return to Attack; British Retake Ground Recently Captured by Enemy; Chief of the Bulgarian Staff Has Taken His Own Life

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 2.—Noon—After repeated and violent attacks last night the Germans re-occupied part of the trenches taken recently by the French on the Somme front, south of Estrees.

Returned to Attack. Paris, Sept. 2.—12.05 p.m.—The Bulgarians returned to the attack last night on the western end of the Macedonian front. The war office announced to-day that an assault delivered by them in the Vetrenik sector was repulsed by the Serbians.

With Regard to the Crisis in Greece—Committee of National Advance Issues an Appeal

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 2.—A despatch to the Petit Parisien from Saloniki dated Friday, says that a committee of national defence composed of Lieut.-Col. Zimbrakakis and other prominent military men and civilians has been proclaimed as the provisional government of Macedonia. All the gendarmes and cavalry, says the despatch, have joined this movement.

A Manifesto Paris, Sept. 2.—An Athens despatch to the Wireless Press says the newspapers of that city publish a manifesto by General Lapatistis appealing to the Greeks to enroll as volunteers in the army which will protect Greece from its enemies. A Havas despatch from Athens quotes Lapatistis as saying the Greek elections which had been set for October 8, will be useless, and urging prompt action on the part of the Greek government to avert disaster.

He will be a visitor at the Merion Cricket Club there for the amateur golf championship of the United States, which opens on Monday. Two or three other Brantfordites will also probably visit "Medion" for the final games of the end of the week.

Mr. J. G. Hamner, Farm Superintendent of the Illinois State Farm, Ill., was a visitor in the city this week. Mr. Hamner was formerly one of Brant County's best known stock breeders. He is one of the judges at the Toronto Exhibition, and leaves here for the State Fair, at Seattle, where he will be the judge of horses. Mr. Hamner is one of the best known stock experts on the continent. The Illinois State farm has no less than 4,000 pupils on the roll.

A real Canadian Tea Shop has been established at Folkstone, England, called "The Dew Drop Inn." The decorations are all rose pink, and the young ladies dispensing tea are dressed in the same hue with dotted muslin caps and aprons. The idea originated with Mrs. McAirt, wife of Major McAirt, of St. John, N.B., and the staff includes a number of well known society girls from Toronto, Ottawa, Saskatoon, Montreal and St. Catharines. The proceeds from the daily teas go to buy comforts for the men in hospitals, and this is an added reason why so many soldiers respond eagerly to the invitation—if you change the spelling on the sign board and "Do Drop In."—Canadian Courier.

Miss Grace Breedon has returned from a trip to Boston, Mass.

Miss Lottie Large entertained informally at the tea hour on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Brophy, of Rochester, N.Y., is the guest of Mrs. H. R. Harris, Darling St.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill-health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in spoonful of limestone phosphate in spoonful of water. This cleansing wash to the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, aching head, hollow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

A swarm of bees settled on a switchbox and tied up a whole railroad at Mount Vernon, Ill.

BILLION DOLLAR CROP EXPECTED

After a thorough canvass of various points throughout Western Canada, Dr. McGill of the Dominion Grain Commission, is quoted in Calgary as saying that Alberta would have a crop as good as last year, that the Dominion would have a billion dollar grain crop and that the grain crop of the three Prairie provinces would be little, if any, behind that of last year.

"The country as a whole never looked better than it does at present," said Dr. McGill. "The weather was made to order, as you might say and I am of the opinion that this year's harvest will be another wonderful one."

Those who contemplate going West will do well to remember that the most fertile districts in Western Canada are served by the lines of the C.N.R. and that this season they can travel from their home districts to destination Canadian Northern all the way.

Arrangements have been made whereby passengers may travel in comfort. Colonist and lunch counter cars being a feature.

The first of these excursions will be run in August, the date will be announced later.

For further information apply to nearest Canadian Northern Agent, or write to R. L. Fairbairn, General Passenger Agent, 68 King St., E., Toronto.

THE SITUATION

News from Greece is of a more or less indefinite nature, but that matters there are in a most chaotic state is very clear. King Constantine, in his desire to side with Germany, deliberately ignored the oft-repeated contrary advice of Venizelos, and now he has landed himself in a peck of trouble. His reported abdication has not yet been officially confirmed, but it would seem to be the only way out for him. The known facts are that his people in Macedonia are in rebellion against him, and that an allied fleet of twenty-three war ships and seven transports is at the port of Athens.

In the Somme region the Huns have been making tremendous and furious counter-attacks against both the French and the British. They have only made slight gains, while their losses have been enormous.

The Russians continue their successful operations, and the Italians have commenced an offensive in Southern Albania with good opening results.

Gen. Smuts reports from German East Africa that he has occupied the seat of government, and that the Teutons are in full retreat.

The opinion grows that Germany has reached a point when she must shorten her lines, and in this regard the abandonment of a portion of Belgium is spoken of.

LOCAL GRIT ORGAN SHOULD EXPLAIN

"In a little more than a fortnight the Ontario Temperance Act, so-called, will go into operation, and will remain in operation, unless after a referendum, which is to be held after the war, the people of the province decide to do away with it. In the light of the North Perth and Southwest Toronto bye-elections, in what spirit it is to be greeted by its parents, the Hearst government?"

It is only a little while back that the self-same Expositor was claiming that Rowell was the one and only true daddy of the measure. It claimed that it was the voice of Hearst but the parentage of Rowell. Does the organ now wish to go back on the Ontario Grit leader in the matter? By the way, it was the self-same Expositor which not so very long ago had this to say of the Minister of Militia:

"Sir Sam Hughes is on his way back to Canada to meet the charges which have been preferred against him in connection with the fuse contracts, and it is only fair to a man who, despite a good deal of bump-on-the-head and loquaciousness, has undoubtedly rendered valuable services to Canada, and to the Empire as a whole, in a time of great emergency, that judgment should be suspended as regards his connection with these transactions until he has had an opportunity to be heard. Sir Sam unquestionably has his shortcomings, but of his dishonesty, in a personal sense, he has not yet been accused."

Well, at the enquiry, the personal integrity of Sir Sam was absolutely demonstrated. And having paid the tribute quoted, where has the organ been latterly with regard to Sir Sam?

THE ZEPPELIN RAIDS

So far from affrighting the English as a people, the Zeppelin raids over old Albion have aroused far more curiosity than alarm, and have served to strengthen the grim determination of the inhabitants, if indeed any such impetus was needed.

The damage, beyond the murder of many innocent non-combatants, including women and children, has been infinitesimal, but in the Fatherland the results are recorded in the papers as enormous and paralyzing. Here is a sample of the stuff which is handed out there:

"Undeniable reports regarding the ship attack of July 28-29, July 31-Aug. 1, and Aug. 2-3 confirm that very heavy damage was caused. A hall which was under construction, with a remount depot, was completely destroyed. Most of the horses perished."

"At the mouth of the Humber a light-house was destroyed. A small cruiser, with three funnels and one mast, was badly damaged. Below Grimsby two munition sheds were completely destroyed. Ships anchored between Grimsby and Cleethorpes harbour establishments, and in the neighborhood of Cleethorpes, were seriously damaged."

"The damage caused in Hull amounts to millions. Several arms and munition works were destroyed, as well as other establishments of military importance. A panic broke out among the population when they realized that the anti-aircraft guns could do nothing against the airships."

"The harbour of Immingham has been closed on account of the extensive damage caused in the docks and the coal depots. In the region of Norwich there were several cases of destruction on the railways. To the south of Cambridge a large factory was set on fire. Near Yarmouth a battery of searchlights and anti-aircraft guns was destroyed. In Harwich an airship shed in course of construction was brought down. In Dover the docks were bombarded for half an hour, and fires were observed there."

"Woolwich and the surrounding districts were seriously damaged, and several munition factories were hit. In the eastern suburb of London a cotton-mill used for the manufacture of shell-cases was completely destroyed. Over a thousand men and women have been put out of employment. Several large bridges across the Thames, including the footbridges of the Tower Bridge, were damaged. In the docks several warehouses and landing-piers were destroyed. Ships anchored there were partly seriously damaged. In one dock numerous ships, including a large English steamer, which were supposed to take provisions to France for the troops, were destroyed by fire. Many persons were wounded, some seriously, by the anti-aircraft fire. In the Thames a torpedo boat was hit by our bombs, and sunk."

"In Oxford, near London, two munition factories were destroyed. The surroundings of the factories were still on fire the next day."

When the Huns are hamboozed by such lies as the above there is small cause for wonder that they actually believe the British to be the aggressors in the present war, and that John Bull deliberately incited hostilities for his own sinister purposes.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Now don't work too hard on Labor Day.

No wonder the political pot of the Balkans is boiling so much with Greece under it.

Gen. Smuts has occupied the empty seat in German East Africa, while the Teutons are forced to hoot it.

There will be no issue of the Courier on Monday, but the usual bulletin service will be maintained.

Along with the approach of winter there is the advance in the price of coal, which is cold comfort for those who need cooled comfort.

PALE, WEAK GIRLS

Grow Into Weak, Despondent Women—How to Overcome the Trouble

Healthy girlhood is the only path to healthy womanhood. The passing from girlhood to womanhood lays a new tax upon the blood. It is the overtaking of the blood that makes growing girls suffer from headaches and backaches, from paleness and weakness and weariness, from languor, despondency and constant ill health. Unhealthy girlhood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood and a life of misery. Nothing but the blood-building qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood to meet these new demands. In this simple, scientific way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give growing girls new health, and makes their dawning womanhood bright and attractive. Miss A. Sternberg, Halleybury Road, New Liskeard, Ont., says: "I have much reason to be grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they restored me to health. I indeed, they did not save my life. In 1914 I began to feel run down, and the doctor who was called in said that mine was a bad case of anaemia. I lost flesh, always felt tired, and got so nervous that I could scarcely hold a cup to take a drink. My heart would flutter alarmingly. The doctor did not seem to be able to help me at all and my family and friends all thought that I was in a decline and could never recover. I was in bed for some weeks when an aunt came to see me and urged that I try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My father got a supply, and by the time I had taken three boxes there was a noticeable improvement, and from that on I steadily progressed toward recovery. I continued using the pills for some time longer, and they restored me to my old-time health and strength. I shall never cease to praise this medicine, and to urge all weak run down girls to give it a fair trial, as I have proved in my own case their great merit."

You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEWS FROM SIMCOE

Inquest on Dead Chinaman—Jury Finding in the L. E. and N. Fatality.

Simcoe, Sept. 1.—From our own correspondent.—The following coroner's jury sworn in by Coroner Dr. Richardson, viewed the remains of the dead Chinaman at Elwood's undertaking parlors and took a look through the room in the Battersby House in which the man was found dead: Wm. Burgess, Chas. Chadwick, Wm. Gilbertson, Jno. Goodland, Lorne Green, Geo. Knight, T. E. Langford, (foreman), H. Wood, Robt. Vance, John McLeod. The inquest will be resumed in the town hall on Friday, Sept. 8th, at 8 o'clock.

Sam Yuen, who sold the Port Dover laundry to "Dicks" and is now running a restaurant here, threw some light on the mystery to-day. He had a letter a few days ago, from the man now dead, in which he was told the location and forming him of the location and amount of his money, and intimating that he was going to pass over. $400 Yuan has found as directed, the remainder is in the bank. Dicks has not completely paid for the Dover business.

All indications go to prove that death was the result of dope, and while "Dicks" was lying dead in other local Celestials were winding up his affairs.

He did not fraternize with them here.

The body was interred in Oakwood cemetery this afternoon, under Yuan's direction and at his expense.

The inquest in the case of Mrs. Jos. Snively, who was killed south of the Lutesville crossing last Sunday night by an L. E. and N. car, was concluded this evening. The evidence corroborated in every detail our account of the accident in Monday's despatch. Additional facts regarding the night of the car, the whistling, stopping and efforts to get a physician, were given by the trainmen and passengers. The verdict was formal, with a rider exonerating the crew of the train from all blame or negligence. It was shown that the speed was not excessive, the car's equipment was in order and the motorman acted promptly. When Mrs. Snively stepped back towards the track, evidently misjudging width of the car, there was no time to stop.

The board of education spent the evening opening tenders for the building of the new schools. There was a big sheaf of them, and considerable variation in figures. The property having the heating system of the old school put in condition for service at once, as an expert who had examined it, had expressed the opinion that it would be criminal to attempt to use it in its present state.

There was a mere quorum out at to-night's meeting.

The Bell Telephone Company is advertising for men to assist in the work of installing the underground cables for the system in the central district of the town.

MORE AND MORE

Roumania's intentions for not bringing the intervention of Greece, at least simultaneously with Roumania. The Star's correspondent quotes him further as follows:

"With the Bulgarian troops between the Roumanians and the armies of the Entente-Allies, and with the Russians advancing through Dobruja, who can doubt that Bulgaria will seek to sign a separate peace with the Entente. If this should happen before Greece goes in, on the side of the Entente, it would mean the burial of Greece."

The correspondent adds that the idea of a separate peace for Bulgaria is opposed by many of the belligerent states.

AN AUDIENCE

London, Sept. 2.—After an audience lasting two hours on Thursday with King Constantine of Greece, which gave rise to persistent rumors Premier Zaimis, according to a despatch filed at Athens yesterday by the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company, said that Greece maintained her policy of friendly neutrality toward the Entente powers while awaiting events.

London Soldier Dies From Effects of Drugs?

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Yesterday afternoon at the Military Base Hospital on Gerrard street, east, Pte. W. Howarth, of the 114th Haldimand Battalion was taken suddenly ill and died in spite of all aid. The symptoms of his attack suggested that he had taken drugs. The case was reported to the Coroner and an inquest will probably be held.

Pte. Howard was a man of about 35 years. He was married, his wife residing near London, Ont.

When asked how it was possible that drugs could be got to the soldiers in the Military Hospital, Col. Richardson, the C.O., stated that one method was by sending them through the mail.

INCREASED TAXES

By Coroner Leased Wire.
London, Sept. 2.—An increase in Austrian taxes for the purpose of covering the interest on the war loans is reported by Reuters' correspondent at Amsterdam. Under imperial ordinances published in Vienna, virtually all direct and stamp taxes are increased. New taxes are imposed on the receipts of race track betting, and on matches and other articles.

A CONFERENCE

It is understood in connection with the bell ringing and buzz buzzing that a conference is likely to take place shortly between Mayor Bowby and the manufacturers. Meanwhile no further steps have been taken to stop them.

CITY PATIENTS.

There were 23 city patients in the Brantford General Hospital during the month of August, the terms spent there ranging from five days to the full month of 31 days. A total of 512 days was spent by the patients, so that at 70 cents per day, the city's account with the hospital for the month reaches the figure of $363.30.

SHOULD MAKE GOOD

Kelly Harris, well known in Canadian League baseball circles, has endeavored the great game, enlisting in the 213th battalion at Hamilton. If Kelly still retains the aggressiveness which featured his playing in days of yore, with Guelph, Ottawa, Hamilton and other clubs, he should undoubtedly find himself in his new element now.

THE MARKET

High prices still hold sway on all dairy products offered for sale on the market here. Butter and eggs appear to be soaring ever higher, and have already reached almost record prices. Fruit is still scarce, with the exception of apples and melons, though plums were on sale in places this morning. Tomatoes are still plentiful and sell at moderate prices.

THE 215th

Announcement has been officially made from Camp Borden, of the appointment of Major W. O. Morris, of the 170th Mississauga Rifles as Lt.-Col. and Officer Commanding the 215th Battalion, from the present onward. Lt.-Col. Cookshutt will not leave the battalion, but will accompany it overseas and to the front, retaining his present ranking and becoming honorary colonel of the unit, which he has organized so well and with the expenditure of so much time and energy. He will remain in charge of the organization work of the 215th, but the command in matters military is assumed by Lt.-Col. Morris, who, though a young man as yet, is an experienced soldier and one deserving of the position he has received.

FARMERS' PICNIC

The Six Nations Farmers' picnic was held yesterday at Aaron's Grove, 69 Corners, with a very large and enthusiastic attendance, and weather conditions of the most favorable, except for a slight rain shower which came up before evening, putting an end to the sports of the day. The chairman, Asa R. Hill, secretary of the Six Nations' council, opened the gathering with the customary address to all present. Flannel For Babies

Do you know it's been as scarce as gold—that is the right thing.
The British Government has had its grip on all the Flannel Factories. "Tommy Atkins" had to be provided with flannel for his shirts; and it was only now and then that the maker could let a piece or two "leak out" even for his babies. Our order was in for nine months. We have a good range of fine All Wool Great Self Shrunken Flannels at last. Prices 60c to 90c, but they're the genuine article, and they need no boasting. "Take time by the forelock."

Wanted You Help The RED CROSS FUND?
Would you do it more pleasantly if you could do it without expense to yourself. Then save your old rags, rubbers, metal, paper, bottles, etc., for the Red Cross Collectors. Save it. Don't let some pedlar coax you to sell it to him. The little he would give you for it would help to make some soldier boy more comfortable at the front. The Brantford Iron and Metal Co. have agreed to collect for the Women's Patriotic League. Each of their collectors and their horses are supplied with a Red Cross Badge, and you can make no mistake if you ask to see this badge before giving up your junk. They will gladly call for it. Obituary
John Cameron
An old resident of the city, for twenty years an employe of the Watertown Engine Works, passed away yesterday at his home, 97 Eagle Avenue, in the person of John Cameron, in his 72nd year. The deceased was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, and of Brant Camp, Woodmen of the World; also a firm parishioner of Alexander Church. He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, Daniel, of Vancouver, and William of Winnipeg, and five daughters, Miss B. Cameron at home, Mrs. R. M. Copeland, of this city, Mrs. M. McCormick, of this city, Mrs. G. Linscott, of Toronto, and Mrs. F. D. Edmund, of Brandon, Manitoba. The funeral will take place via G.T.R. Galt, for interment. Mr. Cameron was a very fine type of citizen.

ALLIED FLEET OFF PORT OF ATHENS

London, Sep. 2.—Some of the most startling events of the world war are transpiring at Athens behind the shuttered windows of a rigid censorship.

FIVE TIMES

Germs Hurdled Assaults on the British Front in the Somme.

London, Sept. 2.—The Germans last night launched the most violent counter-offensive against the British on the Somme since the inception of the Picardy battle.

When the weather cleared yesterday evening, after several days of incessant rain and thunderstorms, the Germans hurled massed forces against the British positions on a 3,000 yard front.

The German War Office briefly announced this afternoon that German troops recaptured from the British ground lost near Lougeval and Delville Wood, in heavy fighting last night.

In last night's British headquarters report Sir Douglas asserts that last night's attack cost the Germans "very heavy casualties" in points out that the attackers were not only met by a fusillade of British rifle-fire, but also "came under the concentrated fire at various places of our trench mortars and machine guns" while at several points the British artillery wrought havoc among the attacking ranks.

With the return of more favorable weather a resumption of the Anglo-French offensive on the Somme is looked for.

On the Franco-German front including the Verdun area, the incessant fighting brought no change of consequence, only minor engagements being reported.

Driven Out Again London, Sept. 2, 2.15 p.m.—"Last night as the result of a minor operation," says the British official statement, reporting the military operations on the Somme front in France, "we drove the enemy from a portion of a small area intersected with trenches northwest of Delville Wood which he had recaptured on Thursday."

"On other parts of the line there were no important infantry encounters. During the past twelve hours hostile artillery generally developed greater activity and some fairly severe but intermittent bombardments have been carried out by the enemy who used a large proportion of gas shells."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

CONSUMPTION. THIS IS A DISEASE OF THE LUNGS caused by a germ known as the bacillus tuberculosis. This germ causes, in addition to tuberculosis of the lungs or consumption, many forms of tuberculous disease, such as tuberculous meningitis, hip-joint disease, white swelling of the knee, tuberculous peritonitis, etc.

Medical Officer of Health. A.C.C., Orillia. Q.—Why cannot a municipal council dismiss its M.O.H., if the majority of the Council so decide? A.—Previous to the enactment of Section 37 of the Public Health Act, which provides that a medical officer of health may not be removed from office except for cause and with the consent of the Provincial Board, it had become the custom in many municipalities to pass this office around among the local physicians year after year.

By an amendment (1916) the M. O. H. may, if he neglects his duties, be dismissed by the Provincial Board or by the Council on the recommendation of the Board. The idea of the Legislature was the promotion of efficient service to the municipality. Already its good effects are becoming apparent.

CANADIANS RETALIATE IN BOMBARDMENTS ON THEIR FRONT

No Infantry Activity Developed— Much Activity by Patrols

By Courier Leased Wire.

Canadian Headquarters in France—via London, Sept. 2.—The artillery on both sides was active during the past week. On several occasions portions of our front were heavily bombarded by the enemy's trench mortar batteries, but our retaliation was in all cases effective. A particularly severe bombardment was directed against the sections held by a Montreal and a Winnipeg battalion.

No infantry action developed and the reply of our guns eventually silenced the enemy's batteries. Our artillery frequently shelled selected positions and machine gun emplacements in the German line with apparent success. Numerous hostile working parties were disposed of by our shrapnel fire.

At one point a direct hit on the enemy parapet caused a heavy yellow smoke to rise for several minutes. The enterprise of our patrols was well maintained. A French-Canadian battalion was especially active in this respect. A patrol of seven men under Scout Moesess erect within a few yards of a German detached post and then bombed the garrison. Cries were heard and calls for stretcher-bearers were clearly distinguished. The enemy made no attempt to retaliate, but a searchlight swept "no man's land" in an unsuccessful endeavor to discover the party.

Another patrol of the same battalion under Scout Tugan encountered a German covering party of ten men, protecting a large number of their wire entanglements. The French-Canadian immediately attacked the covering party with bombs and drove it in. Our machine guns then opened fire, disposing of the working party and inflicting several casualties. An encounter took place between a patrol of three men of a New Brunswick battalion, under Lieut. Caillat and a party of German scouts. The Germans threw a number of bombs, but without effect. They then ran towards their parapet, pursued by our men. Two of the enemy are thought to have been killed and others wounded before they reach a place of safety.

West of Fort-a-Mousson, the Germans after artillery preparation, attempted to emerge from their trenches near Fey-en-Haye. Our curtain of fire caused this operation to miscarry. Northwest of Regenville, a strong enemy detachment, which was attempting to approach our lines under cover of an explosion was repulsed. Everywhere else the night was calm.

A patrol of five men from a Nova Scotia battalion, under Scout Minnick, had a similar experience. A German patrol was sighted, but returned quickly to its lines on the approach of our men. An ambuscade was prepared and our patrols remained out for the greater part of the night, close up to the German wire, but the enemy did not again appear.

Early one morning an enemy detachment of twelve men attempted to approach one of our advanced positions near the Menin road, but Grenade Officer Lieut. Maxwell and five men of an Ontario battalion, who were holding the position, were on the alert. Fire was at once opened, bombs thrown at the Germans, who were hastily retreated.

The enemy has made an unusually frequent use of rockets, evidently to establish communication between different portions of his lines. The work on our defensive positions made great progress during the week. The Germans blew a small mine close to the trenches of a British Columbia battalion. No damage was done.

Face Sores and Eruptions
Zam-Buk Will Quickly Heal

The approach of Spring finds many people with unsightly face sores, eruptions, boils, etc. In this connection Zam-Buk is invaluable. An illustration of the way in which it cures even the most serious and chronic cases of eruptions, sores and ulcers, is provided by Mr. R. H. Barker, of Glencairn, Ont. He says:

"I never could have believed that any remedy could cure so quickly and at the same time so effectively as Zam-Buk cured me. My face began to be covered with a kind of rash, which itched and irritated. This then turned to sores, which discharged freely and began to spread. I first tried one thing and then another, but nothing seemed to do me much good and the eruption got worse and worse until my face was just covered with running sores. Apart from the pain (which was very bad), my face was such a terrible sight that I was not fit to go out. This was my state when someone advised me to try Zam-Buk. I got a supply and within a week I could see that the sores were rapidly healing. A little longer, and Zam-Buk had healed them completely, and my skin was as clear as if I had never had a sore. We shall never again be without Zam-Buk in the house."

Zam-Buk is unequalled for Spring rashes, eruptions, children's sores, scaly diseases, ringworm, ulcers, abscesses, eczema, tetter, piles, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries and diseases generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations. Zam-Buk Soap, which may be had from any druggist at 25c. a tablet, should be used instead of ordinary soap in all cases of eruptions and skin diseases.

THE VISIT

Of Two Captains of Industry to the Town of Kincardine.

(Kincardine Reporter)

On Tuesday last two captains of industry, with their spiritual guide, gave Kincardine a call and looked the town over. One was Sir Lyman M. Jones, the head of the great Massey-Harris concern. Sir Lyman Jones was always a lover of good horses. In his time he has owned some of the best roadsters and carriage horses in Ontario. He is now cut of the real activities of the industrial world, though still financially interested.

Along with them was the Rev. Crawford Brown, of Toronto, son-in-law of Sir L. M. Jones. He is a vigorous well built sky pilot, and should these two worthies refuse the spiritual admonition he desires to impart to them, he appears athletic enough to be able to insist on their acceptance of the same. The party is staying at Goderich, but the prospects are that after seeing this seat town they will in future want to spend some time in Kincardine.

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES OF RABBIT DOG'S BITE
In Spite of Treatment Has Ossified—Mast Had to be Amputated.

St. Thomas, Sept. 2.—Geo. Dynes, blacksmith, of Southwood Station, is in a critical condition here as a result of a bite several weeks ago from a dog said to have been suffering from rabies. Dynes was given the Pasteur treatment at Toronto, and after returning home, his arm began to ossify. It is now stone hard. In an interview yesterday with a London specialist, Dynes was told that he may have to have his arm amputated to prevent a spread of the disease over his entire body.

THE RECENT VISIT OF KING GEORGE TO THE FRONT

Interesting Story as to What Britain's Monarch Did While There—Shows Himself to be Absolutely Fearless

The following interesting account of the recent visit of King George to the battle front is taken from a London paper, whose special correspondent was with the party.

During the past week the King has been with his armies in the field. Without any great ceremonies—indeed, without any kind of formal programme—he has travelled about among the troops, and has gone out into the battlefields over which, during recent days, they have advanced victoriously after desperate fighting. All the traffic and turmoil of war have surged about him, day after day, and the endless procession of the Empire's manhood in the fighting ranks—the youth of England and of all the Dominions—has passed him on the roads, not in review order, but as the men go up to the trenches and do the work of war.

The King has taken certain risks—he would have been glad, I know, to have taken more—and he has gone to places well within range of the enemy's guns and still bombarded from time to time. He has seen the devastation of war, not done in ancient days, but at a few weeks or less ago, and has stood amidst its wreckage and ruin, where the ground is a graveyard of gallant men, and where all the evil spirit of war broods over the litter and the rubbish heaps in the enemy's old trenches.

Historic Meeting.

The King is quite fearless. I have seen him standing on the edge of a great shell-crater underneath the ghastly ruin of a fine old building which had been shelled by long-range guns only four days before his visit, and might at any moment be shelled again. People about him were a little nervous for his safety, but he lingered there as though there were no danger in the blue sky above him. He wandered about on the battlefield for several hours, and was eager to go right forward. The soldiers were astonished, and glad to see him in such places. All of them have used the same phrase about him: "It was very sporting of him."

On Saturday there was an historic rendezvous when his Majesty, with Sir Douglas Haig, commanding the British Armies in the Field, had a meeting in a chateau of France with the President of the French Republic, General Joffre, and General Foch. On Sunday the King attended a religious service among his troops, and on the following day motored to La Panne, where he visited the King and Queen of the Belgians.

Apart from the interest of seeing the King with his armies in the field, the visit has awakened old memories of history and romance here in France, as far back as Crecy, when another King of England and another Edward, Prince of Wales, stood on the same soil watching the scenes of battle. And there have been charming pictures to see in the gardens of old French chateaux, to which the King has come to visit his generals, with French peasants peeping in the background, and French and English officers gathered round the steps, and the Royal Standard on the King's motor-car coming with a little glitter of gold and scarlet between the trees.

But the essential character of the visit has been its informality, the absence of all ceremony, and it has been most interesting to see the King chatting with officers and men in the roads and in the fields, walking into the men's billets, and going about the lines without an escort. It was in such a way that King Haig went among his men before the battle of Agincourt, and it is the best way.

The King's Arrival.

It was on the morning of Tuesday, Aug. 8, that his Majesty arrived in the port of Boulogne. There had been no announcement of his visit, and the first inkling of what was happening was when the Royal cars, and various representatives of the French army and navy went on board to be received by the King some time after his ship had arrived in port, and then his Majesty, looking very bronzed and well in Field-Marshal's uniform, came on shore with his suite, including Lord Stamfordham, Sir Derek Keppel, Lieut-Colonel Olive Wigram, and Major Thompson, and inspected the guard of honour.

Nearly 75 per cent. of these men had been wounded in the present war, and are only fit for garrison duty, but they looked very fine and fit on parade, and the King gave them a word of praise before driving away to the chateau where he was to pass the night.

In the afternoon he visited the Commander-in-Chief at General Headquarters, where he studied in detail the general position of the armies in the field.

At midday on Wednesday, Aug. 9, the King visited the headquarters of a division which was established in an old French chateau. Here, below the steps, he was received by the Commander-in-Chief, the General commanding the division, and a number of staff officers, including the Prince of Wales. A tour was then made in the adjoining villages, where some companies were encamped. It was a pretty scene, with the sun striking through the glades and making a lacework pattern of light upon the tents and the luncheon tables of the officers under the trees.

Some of the officers were doing bayonet exercises, others were doing physical drill. The cooks were busy with the next meal of the day. All the sun and not interrupted when the King came through, watching it all, and chatting with officers and men.

On a Sinister Height.

His Majesty and the Prince of Wales took luncheon at the headquarters of an Army Corps, and in the afternoon proceeded to an observation post, from which the King was able to get a broad view of the battlefields in the neighborhood of Souchez and Neuville St. Vaast, looking up to the Vimy Ridge. The way to this post was through ruined villages, destroyed by shell-fire nearly two years ago, when the French in Our Captured Sector. The high whistling note of heavy shells went screaming in invisibility. The King listened to the music of death, and looked upon historic battlefields—the Labyrinth la Tardette, Souchez, Vimy—where thousands of young Frenchmen flung themselves upon the enemy with supreme self-sacrifice, where for more than a year there was almost death and a fighting above ground and below ground, and where, now, for many months, British troops have held the lines, under terrible shell-fire at times, on the edge of hostile mine-fields, and on the lips of enormous craters, here they have fought as heroes.

The King was vastly interested, and there was no need to tell him the history of these things. Later in the afternoon the King visited a trench mortar school, and saw a demonstration of target practice. Perhaps the most sensational display watched by the King was the work of our quick-firing mortars. Eight guns fired sixty rounds at an entrenched position, and with extreme rapidity flung out round after round, which burst with deadly accuracy upon the line of trench.

On Thursday, Aug. 10, the King had his most memorable experience—perhaps the most remarkable during his reign. He went further than the edge of the battlefields, where thousands of his troops are still fighting, but well out into that stretch of ground which bears that battle and the relics of those who fought and fell.

He went into the trenches they had left before they scrambled over the parapets for that great adventure, and saw the litter of their old life still lying there—cartridge clips, scraps of letters from home, bits of clothing, the odd hat and ends of trench life—and then went across to the German trenches which they captured under shell-fire and machine-gun fire, in that great, irresistible tide of passionate endeavor which swept through the fortress were there, and shelled ever since, from time to time, by occasional bursts of shrapnel and tear-shells.

It is a sinister place, very weird and awesome at dusk, when owls are hooting in the broken brickwork, and when the light strikes through the great rents in the walls of ancient barns and the broken rafters of roofless houses. Weeds and wild flowers have grown in a tangled way over some of these ruins, and there is the scarlet flame of poppies in old shell-holes.

As the King passed through looking about him, silently, the guns of the two great armies were at work, and the vibration of their fire shook the crumbling walls of the village, and brought down some of the loose stones. A solitary sentry saluted the King as he went by. Half a mile away from him lay Mametz, another village fortress of the enemy's before our men smashed it, and before our men carried it in a great assault. Straight in front of the King was Contalmaison, with the ruins of the chateau, which one day I saw our guns bombarding, still standing among charred tree trunks as gaunt as galleys, without a branch upon them.

The day was misty. More distant views were difficult beyond Mametz lines of the enemy, and, careless of all their losses, went on. The King went forward over the same ground and stood at a point from which he could see many of those places whose names will be written always in English history on the hearts of the many men and women whose sons were here—Fricourt, Mametz, Contalmaison, Montauban.

On the left of the King was Fricourt, and he looked down upon the white ghostliness of its ruin with its broken stumps of trees and the up-turned trenches and the broken brickwork of houses that are now but dust and ashes in this refuse heap which is filled with corruption. Half a mile away from him lay Mametz, another village fortress of the enemy's before our men smashed it, and before our men carried it in a great assault.

There is no reason why at any moment there should not have been a black puff of German shrapnel over the King's head. There is no life insurance in these places, and the King took the risk like other men, and thought no more about it.

Across No Man's Land, as it was before our men regained it for France, the King went with his officers, avoiding the shell craters which have churned it up and the barbed wire which still straggles about, and the litter of broken sand-bags, and all the debris in the wake of battle. Then for a little while he stood above one of the old mine-fields looking into the deep mouths of craters blown up by the enemy and ourselves to hurl a section of trench sky-high with all that might be in it. The worst horror of war was there for the King to see, after it had passed and done its work, and to those about him he said, "It is wonderful how human beings could live through it."

Climbs a Parapet. The drama of all that had happened here stirred the King's imagination and he seemed to see very clearly the vision of the fighting that had gone over our ground. When he walked through our old first line trenches he turned and smiled and said, "Now, I will climb over the parapet."

"It is not so easy as it looks, sir," answered one of the officers, but the King refused the helping hands held out to him by the Prince of Wales, and scrambled up alone. Close by there was a little mound of earth in the middle of a shell crater with a wooden cross upon it bearing the inscription:—

Here lies the body of an unknown British soldier. The King saluted the grave and a look of emotion passed over his face. "Some gallant fellow lies there," he said. "It is a pity he has not been identified."

Near by was another grave, which the King noted because there lay on it a trench helmet pierced by a shell splinter. The inscription on the cross showed that the grave contained the bodies of two soldiers of the Border Regiment killed in action on July 1. The King asked whether the helmets were of real service, and the officers with him assured him that they had saved many men from shrapnel bullets and splinters, although they could not resist direct hits from rifle or machine gun bullets.

The King was much impressed by the terrific effect of our artillery fire on the enemy's trenches, which had been churned up as though by a giant steel plough, but he was able to see also the resistance of the German dug-outs to almost any kind of shell fire. He went into one of them, which was at least 35 feet deep. "I should not go right down, sir," said one of the generals. "We have not had time to clean them out yet, and they are not very wholesome."

"Not so Well Off Now." The King agreed that there was an evil smell about the place, and did not go into the very depths of it. He was interested in a German bedstead with a spring mattress lying outside, and pointing to it, remarked, "They evidently thought they were going to make a long stay, and they know how to take care of themselves." Suppose it was only the officers who had these luxurious things?

He was surprised to hear that the men had them too. "They were very lucky," he said, "but they are not so well off now."

The King and his generals were not alone in this part of the battlefields. Large numbers of soldiers were going about the business of war, and they were astonished beyond words to recognize the King. Astonished and enthusiastic.

It seemed to them, as I have said, "sporting" thing, which is their highest tribute of praise. The word was passed along and, when the King returned hundreds of soldiers, mostly Northampton, had gathered along the road to give him a "send-off."

With them was their little mascot, Joseph Lefevre, a 12-year-old Belgian boy, whom they had adopted and placed on the enrolled strength of their regiment. Joseph is the son of a Belgian soldier who fought for his country two years ago, was wounded and taken prisoner, while Joseph's mother, so the Northampton say, was foully murdered by German troops.

King Speaks to Joseph. Originally Joseph was found by some men of the Black Watch wandering round Ypres, and for a good many months now he has been with the Northampton men, who have put him in khaki and conferred upon him the rank of lance-corporal. The King approached the Northampton

Your Dollars Go a Long Way

—In the Hands of The Belgian Relief Committee.

NEVER before has relief work been done on such a huge scale, or with anything approaching the efficiency with which it is being carried on in Belgium. Faced with the appalling task of feeding a starving nation, the Belgian Relief Commission has done magnificent work.

Scores of the ablest and highest salaried business men of the English speaking world have given their time free, to perfect the organization and carry on the work. Operating expenses are phenomenally low. Business methods are applied to every feature of buying, shipping and distributing food—and accounting for every dollar.

The result is that millions of Belgians are being fed at an average cost of around $2.50 per family per month! Compare that with your own meat bill and you will begin to realize what it means.

But even this provision is possible only through the generous and sustained contributions of thousands of people. Canada has been doing nobly, as she should. Many have been regularly giving enough to feed one—or several—Belgian Families. How many can you afford to support?

REV. MR. BROWN TELLS OF HIS VISIT TO OCEAN GROVE

It is a Remarkable City For Peace and Order—United States Feeling Regarding the War—Pen Picture of Billy Sunday

It was my good fortune this summer to spend a few weeks by the sea at Ocean Grove, N.J. It would indeed be difficult to find a more ideal spot for a holiday than Ocean Grove. The boundless expanse of blue that stretches far before you is a constant inspiration, and to its music many a weary one has found rest and rejuvenation. I am not surprised that those who have been raised near the sea can never forget its charm, and often feel the call of the sea to return to it. No wonder the great poets and thinkers in all ages have been inspired by the sea to write some of their most illustrious lines. He who is not moved by the comradeship of the sea has little in his soul to which the great things of nature can appeal. Often the words of Byron came to me:

There is a pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a companionship on the lonely shore,
There is a society where none intrudes,
By the deep sea, and music in its roar.

Ocean Grove has many things in common with other cities, but some things out of the ordinary that place it in a class by itself. It is the nearest approach to the New Testament picture of the New Jerusalem coming down from heaven that I have yet met. Where would you go elsewhere and find 10,000 people in church twice on Sunday? Where would you go and find a city with 30,000 of a continuous population policed by two officers? Where else would you find a city with no law court, no police station? There was but one arrest last summer, and that on suspicion. Sunday in Ocean Grove is a day of absolute quiet. There is no traffic whatever. The gates are shut from midnight Saturday night until midnight Sunday night, and no vehicles of any kind are allowed to move through the city on the Lord's day. Here is one city that has a perfect Sabbath. It is indeed a wonderful sight on Sunday to see such a congregation, to listen to such an audience sing an old favorite hymn like "We're Marching to Zion," or "All hail the power of Jesus name." Ninety-two men took up the offering in seven churches. Outstanding ministers of different denominations preach in the auditorium, one of the most popular for years has been Dr. Cortland Myers of the Boston Temple (Baptist). He preached this year to crowded congregations and lectured on Monday evening on "Preparedness."

The interest in the war on the other side of the line seems to be almost as deep as here. It is the one great topic of comment. The papers give more space to it than most of our Canadian dailies, and the editorials show a deep insight into its most minute details. The prevailing sympathy of the best Americans is undoubtedly with us. There is an old proverb which runs "straws tell which way the wind blows." I found that one of the most popular songs there this season was one we often hear at home, "Keep the home fires burning." After it was sung the audience would often break out into prolonged cheers. The sympathy of the people for our cause was often shown too on Sunday by applause when favorable reference to our cause was made from the pulpit and in other addresses during the week by the same sign.

"He Kept Us Out of the War" was about the only comment favorable to the Wilson administration by his supporters that I heard. Many of the best Americans do not think this is any complement to Wilson. His fondness for note writing was the subject of many pictures, cartoons and jests. Bunches of ink, loads of papers and pens were to be seen in one of the popular cartoons being taken into the White House, and under it was written "More Notes." There is a unanimity of opinion expressed by men gathered from all over the country that Wilson is doomed to certain defeat Nov. 3. At a great convention of Roman Catholics held in the city of New York during August, the "swaying attitude" of the President was bitterly assailed and denounced. Hughes looks like a sure winner, and it would appear from reports in the papers that he is having a sort of triumphal march throughout the country. "Teddy" is to come to his aid later, and it seems clear that if Hughes is elected Theodore Roosevelt must be admitted that Roosevelt has lost caste with many of his former friends and admirers. Still he will undoubtedly prove a valuable asset to Hughes in the election campaign, as he is a great campaigner, and afterwards in the government, if he is elected to the presidency.

The Music This Year was up to the usual high standard for which Ocean Grove is so far and justly famed. Among the best artists were "Schumann Heink, Alma Gluck, the noted Irish tenor, John McCormick, Mme. Raphael and others of less fame. Philip Sousa furnished two band concerts. Five hundred young people dramatized "Joseph" in a way that drew great houses, as it had to be repeated five times. This was one of the finest musical dramas of its kind ever presented to Ocean Grove audiences and won great praise. The orchestral accompaniment was well high as beautiful as the play itself. Those who heard it will never forget it, and the biblical record will glow with new light. The scene where Joseph was reconciled to his brethren, was most moving, and was effectively handled by masters in their art.

BILLY SUNDAY was up to the greatest attraction of the season was the coming of Billy Sunday to the Grove for the first time. There was an advance sale of seats that brought a fine sum to the Association and every available place was taken long before he spoke. It was my good fortune to hear him just once. He preached with his old time fervor and power and many of his "stunts" in the pulpit seemed quiescent with the fire of his eloquence and the over powering emotion by which he and his hearers were borne along. In the midst of one of his burning sentences he threw off his coat and went to it in his shirt sleeves with a renewed vigour. After setting forth the character of the Turk in his usual choice diction he shouted as through a megaphone "If you ever hear me say a good word about a damnable old Turk take it for granted that I am bug-house." But apart from all his eccentricities no one will ever forget his message. When he jumped up on the chair at the close of his sermon and called for all who would dedicate their lives to Christ to stand thousands rose to their feet. Billy Sunday will conduct a ten days' mission in Ocean Grove previous to going to Detroit where a tabernacle to seat 20,000 is being built.

Those who have the opportunity of visiting this famous summer resort will do well to avail themselves of the privilege. Those who wish to live in style can do so here as accommodation can be had as high as $8.00 per day and as low as $5.00 per week. You can live as quietly as you please or have plenty of excitement and change. The healing tide of the old ocean pours itself over all alike and it is a great sight to see old and young, rich and poor, by the thousands, availing themselves of this opportunity. The terrible plague that visited that section of the country this summer cast a dark shadow over all. Mothers lived in daily terror that their children might be stricken. Children were not wanted at the hotels and boarding houses as the proprietors were afraid of quarantine should the disease break out in their place. It is good to know that the plague is abated.

PURE, RICH BLOOD MADE BY HOOD'S

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a de-pendent state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so successful in the treatment of so many ailments. Get it today.

PORTUGAL NEXT ONE

Active Preparations to Take Part on Side of the Allies.

By Courier Leased Wire. Lisbon, Portugal, Sept. 1.—Several persons were wounded in conflicts between civilians and troops last night, near the house of parliament. These clashes followed a session of the parliament which adopted several military measures recommended by the minister of war and a resolution of confidence in the government.

A Reception. London, Sept. 1.—(New York Times cable)—A despatch to The Morning Post from Lisbon says: The president last night gave a reception to the officers of the expeditionary force and others. Major Norton Mattos, Portuguese Minister of war, announced August 28, that Portugal would soon participate in the war, fighting on the side of the allies. Portugal mobilized on March 16, a week after Germany declared war on her, following the seizure of thirty-six German and Austrian steamers in the Tagus River. Previous operations of the Portuguese in Africa were due to a treaty with Great Britain, which provides for the mutual protection of their colonies against the assaults of a third power.

Very sincerely yours,
LLEWELLYN BROWN.

And Now the Tobacco Ball

Jack Ryan of Los Angeles, has a new one. The Angel flinger is always uncoiling some newfangled kind of a delivery. Jack's latest could best be called the "tobacco ball." That, however, would be nothing new, as pitchers have been known to squirt tobacco juice on the ball ever since the art of chewing tobacco was first invented. Others say that Jack's new delivery is nothing more or less than a new way of delivering a "spitter," so as to control the direction of its break. Whatever it is, Ryan figured it out during one of the rainy days when the Angels were here last. Early one morning Jack announced to Frank LeRoy Chance and the rest of the gang that he had evolved a curve that would set them all down. The day before he had spent experimenting with the spitter. After leaving Portland he tried it out in Salt Lake. His ability to make the ball break four different ways aroused the suspicions of umpires Phyle and Doyle and they scrutinized the ball, but could find nothing wrong. The same thing happened last Thursday when Ryan beat the Tigers.

The entire Vernon team clustered about the ball and submitted it to a searching investigation. Umpire Ed. Finney, after the game, declared that he could find nothing wrong with the sphere, excepting the cases when he threw two out which had been cut by wet netting. It will be remembered that Ryan originated the "mud ball" here last season. It is the height of his glory to get hold of a ball that has been roughened by hitting the sand, or in some other manner, and toss it to a batter, for the veteran can make it curve thirty-six different ways.

Mrs. Samuel Van Horne and daughter, of Kingston, were badly injured when their horse ran away.

RETALIATORY LEGISLATION

As Threatened by the United States in Trade Matters.

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Sept. 1.—An Assailed Press dispatch from Washington says that the United States Retaliatory legislation striking the Patent office in connection with American trade has been added upon an existing bill of government after extended conference between state department officials and leaders in congress. It was stated officially today, with explanation that revisions were into the shipping bill and the pig revenue bill were the first in the policy. Up to now a bill of Retaliatory legislation has been passed solely on the equity of the case and the sense of justice of belligerent nations, but despite recent protests on various phases of the blockade at the time which this government has deemed as illegal in a sweeping trade measure and discriminating have been increasing, consequently the official attitude of the government has reached a limit of its patience in reliance direct diplomacy and has after discussions between Secretary Lansing and members of Congress to empower the President to employ commercial retaliation. This course would have been some time ago. It was indicated early that all plans of retaliation posed were obviously illegal. The amendment to the bill adopted by the Senate will give the President discretionary power to prohibit the importation to this country of products which cannot be imported into the countries from the United States. This is aimed directly at the British embargo restricting the shipment American tobacco which is said to be an attempt by British intent to depress the value of the American product and then monopolize sale.

The amendment to the shipping bill, which already has passed House, gives the Secretary of Treasury discretionary power to issue clearance papers to all shipping to take American merchant on other grounds than lack of sailing vessels. It is designed to fill the voids of American firms of British commercial black list.

RETRALIATORY LEGISLATION

Is Threatened by the United States in Trade Matters.

By Courier Leased Wire.
New York, Sept. 1.—An Associated Press dispatch from Washington last night says: Retaliatory legislation striking at the Patent Office in support of domestic protests against interference with American trade has been decided upon as a general policy of the government after extended conference between state department officials and leaders in congress. This was stated officially today, with the explanation that provisions written into the shipping bill and the pending revenue bill were the first steps in the policy. Up to now a high official pointed out the United States has relied solely on the equity of its case and the sense of justice of the belligerent nations, but despite frequent protests on various phases of the ill-effects blockade, the principle of which this government has denounced as illegal in a sweeping note, trade pressure and discrimination has been increasing everlastingly. Consequently, this official declared, the government has reached the limit of its patience in reliance on direct diplomacy and has decided after discussions between Secretary of State Lansing and members of Congress to empower the President to employ commercial retaliation. This course would have been taken some time ago, it was intimated, except that all steps of retaliation proposed were obviously illegal. The amendment to the revenue bill adopted by the Senate would give the President discretionary power to prohibit the importation into this country of products which cannot be imported into foreign countries from the United States. This is aimed directly at the British embargo restricting the shipment of American tobacco which is said to be an attempt by British interests to depress the price of the American product and then monopolize its sale. The amendment to the shipping bill, which already has passed both Houses, gives the Secretary of the Treasury discretionary power to refuse clearance papers to all ships refusing to take American merchandise on other grounds than lack of space. This amendment is designed to reach allied vessels which refuse to accept the goods of American firms on the British commercial black list.

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brought The Joy Of Health After Two Years' Suffering

MADAM LAPLANTE

For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant Headaches, and had Palpitation of the Heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the Constipation was dreadful. I suffered from Pain in the Back and Kidney Disease. I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-lives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no Headaches, no Palpitation, no Heart Trouble, no Constipation, no Pain or Kidney Trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-lives" that gave me back my health."

By Courier Leased Wire.
Berlin, via London, Sept. 2.—"The cargo space in all our ships has been taken up for a long time, and there is no prospect that other shipments can be accepted," is the stereotyped answer returned by the Ocean Navigation Company, owners of the merchant submarine Deutschland to all inquiries whether freight for America will be accepted by their new mercantile submarines. The owners of the submarine line declined to act as common carriers, as they find it to their advantage to buy dye stuffs, medicaments, copper, etc., on which there is an enormous difference in price between Germany in America. These articles they sell in their own hands, instead of merely collecting part of it in the form of freight charges.

Music and Drama

It is genuine pleasure to note that "The Bohemian Girl" will be presented here shortly by the Aborn Opera Company. Organizations engaged in the presentation of the operas of the Balfe class deserve the substantial support of all discriminating patrons of the Grand Opera House shortly.
"It Pays to Advertise."
It took Cohan and Harris' fancy, "It Pays to Advertise," finally making the tired business man laugh. According to tradition, the tired business man is a most difficult person to please, but once he sees Ambrose Peal, one of the characters in the farce, go about his commercial life and finally succeed through a wonderful campaign of publicity, he is bound to laugh. Cohan and Harris' farces were always good laugh-developers, but this latest farce, which ran for one solid year at the Geo. M. Cohan Theatre, in New York, is the prize winner of all. If you don't believe it, acquaint yourself with the play on the coming of this play shortly to the Grand Opera House.

OLD WORLD NOTES

A heroic woman is Violet Pope, the ferrywoman on the Thames at Kingston. The other day, four children fell into the river and were being carried down the stream, the river, owing to the rains, being unusually rapid. Several people on the bank went to the rescue of the little ones and succeeded in bringing two back to the side of the river. The other two were too far amid stream for them to reach. Miss Pope took in the situation at a glance, and rowed in her ferry to the rescue of the children. She jumped overboard as one was drowning, and swam with him, and then seizing the other, continued to swim to the bank. She was quite exhausted on landing her charges, but revived on hearing the cheers that were given her by a gathering crowd.
Miss Sarah MacNaughton, the authoress of "The Fortunes of Christina McNab," and world-wide traveler, died a few days ago at her London residence, 1 Norfolk Street, Park Lane. Miss MacNaughton was known to be critically ill for the past day or two, and the end was not unexpected.
An aeroplane presented by the Indian Rajahs was compelled to descend near London owing to engine trouble, whilst on a journey from the Midlands to France. The wing was slightly damaged, and the propeller broken in a remarkable manner. A dog dashed at it as the machine was running along the ground at high speed, and was instantly killed, the propeller being smashed.

ONE ON PITTSBURG

Along in 1914 a youngster named Bigbee was proving a sensation with the baseball team of the University of Oregon and a crafty and far-seeing Pittsburg scout signed him—and then somebody back in Pittsburg released him without so much as a trial. The youngster finished school and went out to make his way in baseball.
Recently the Pittsburg club paid $5,000 to Tacoma for his contract. He is the same Carson Bigbee released by Pittsburg without a looking over in 1914. The scouts who have watched his work say he is not a second Ty Cobb, but rather he is a second Willie Keeler. He is a little fellow, fast as a flash, who can hit, run and field, and unless his dope is all wrong he should be a star in the game for some time to come.

STORAGE BATTERY ECONOMY.

In order to get the very best results from the electrical system on a motor car, it is necessary to get the full amount of current delivered from the storage battery to the electrical system. In covering the subject the Willard Storage Battery Company of Cleveland, emphasizes the care that should be exercised in keeping terminals and all wire connections clean and tight. A loose connection or a terminal which may have some acid on it after the battery has been filled, will become corroded and create a greater resistance for the electrical current to pass through. This, naturally, weakens the strength of the current and at the same time wears out the connections by eating through them. After filling a battery with water, it is well to wipe off the top carefully with a piece of waste or an old cloth dampened with ammonia or washing soda solution, and to see that all wires are fastened tightly before the car is put into operation again. Points like these may seem simple to the average car owner, but by carefully following the instructions of battery experts, better starting and lighting service are sure to result.

London, Aug. 31.—(Montreal Gazette)—It has been decided to erect a permanent monument of Kitchener on Marwick Head in the Isle of Birsay, Orkney, near the sunken reef, where the Hampshire went down. Newark outfielder, Witter, misjudged the clout, the ball hit him upon the nose. He was hit by the ball, giving the Mackman a four-baser.
Nashville has secured from the St. Louis American League club Pitcher McCabe and Outfielder Tobin, to report Aug. 12. Outfielder Lee, who has been playing with Nashville, but who belongs to St. Louis, will be returned when the two men report.
Options on six players in the General League were claimed on Aug. 5 by Manager Roger Bresnahan in a letter to Secretary Farrell. Four are with South Bend. They are Pitcher Abe Bowman, Firstbaseman Beall and Pitchers Hill and McCall. The other two—Infielder "Dutch" Hoffman and Outfielder Jack Fluhrer—are at Springfield. All were farmed last spring.
The Springfield club, of the Eastern League, has signed Pitcher Jack Ferry, late of the Columbus American Association club, and Infielder Jimmy Sharpe, of Pennsylvania.
Tom Downey, former American Association and Southern League infielder, whom the Vernon club tried to obtain this spring, has been purchased by Cliff Blankenship, skipper of the Bees, from the Little Rock club of the Southern League.
Pete Falsley, formerly Yale outfielder has been handed his walking papers by Manager George Witte, of the Albany club, of the New York State League. Falsley's aspirations to become a star professional have apparently petered out by this time, as this marks the second set-down for him since he took up professional ball. Two years ago he received a try-out with the Pittsburgh Nationals upon the recommendation of Jim Callahan.
There will scarcely be a dissenting voice to the following from the New York Journal: "For no manager in the country does the baseball profession feel so sorry as for Donovan. Every baseball man appreciates the joy of an unexpectedly good showing. To have such a record as Donovan was compiling halted by a sinister sequence of injuries is nothing less than 'murder'—as language goes in the world of sport."
