KING VERY ILL

THE CORONATION HAS BEEN INDEFINITELY POSTPONED.

CONDITION NECESSITATED AN OPERATION

Successfully Performed Yesterday—His Majesty Progressing Satisfactorily Latest Despatch

London, June 24.—12.46 p.m.—Sir Francis Knollys, the King's private secretary, has issued the following medical announcement in regard to the serious illness of King Edward VII: "The King is suffering from perityphlitis. His condition on Saturday was so satisfactory that it was hoped that with care His Majesty would be able to go through the ceremony. On Monday evening a recrudescence became manifest, rendering a surgical operation necessary to-day. [Signed] Lister, Thomas Smith, Laking, Thomas Barlow, Treves.

At 2.46 p. m. the following bulletin was posted at Buckingham Palace: "The operation has been successfully performed. A large abscess has been evacuated. The King has borne the operation well, and is in a satisfactory condition."

CONDITION TODAY SATISFACTORY
London, June 25.—9 a. m.—The King did not rest well the fore part of the night, but did later and his condition is satisfactory.

It is believed that four or five weeks must elapse before the King will be able to undergo the arduous labors of the Coronation Ceremonial.

KING'S CHANCES OF RECOVERY.

The Montreal Herald yesterday ascertained the nature of His Majesty's illness from several authorities on surgery in that city.

"What is the nature of perityphlitis?" Sir William Hingston was asked. "It is a circumscribed, limited peritonitis, commonly the result of appendicitis, and it requires early surgical interference."

"What would be the results of an operation, speaking generally?"

"If a person were of middle age and healthy, I should think, as we all hope and pray, that the chances are altogether in his favor. It depends largely on circumstances, however. There is an individuality in each case, which can be considered only by the attendants at the time."

Asked if the King's age and stoutness would militate against his chances, Dr. Ball said: "If he is healthy His Majesty's age will make no difference. It is not the operation itself which is so dangerous, but the condition of the patient when it is performed."

A well-known physician says "Perityphlitis means inflammation of the tissues surrounding or connected with the caecum or large intestine. The inflammation may be the result of

LIFE HANGS BY A THREAD.

As the Reporter goes to press at 4 o'clock a special despatch is received from New York, stating that the King's life hangs by a thread and unless he gains very rapidly his recovery is doubtful.

HOLIDAY CANCELLED

Ottawa, June 24.—In consequence of the King's coronation being postponed the government has issued a proclamation withdrawing the public holiday on Thursday. The proclamation was signed at noon by Sir Henry Strong acting as Governor-General.

A queer heron was contained in the will of a French gentleman, lately deceased. He showed his great interest in the red-headed girls of his native city by leaving them $20,000, the annual interest of which is to be devoted towards providing dowries for them. Nature—and not art—must color the locks of the girls who would benefit by this will.

A Gananoque gentleman has a marguerite which is probably the largest one of the kind in the world. The plant is seven feet five inches tall, six feet two inches wide, stem, four inches in diameter with one large root. This plant will drink two gallons of water each day, has been in flower for two years and ten months continuously, and has had as many as 1,100 flowers at one time. The plant is now six years old and is the admiration of many people.

The Brockville curing room for cheese will be completed and ready for operation this week. It will have accommodation for 2,700 cheese and several thousand can be stored in boxes. The temperature will be regulated by means of ice. The Woodstock station, having similar accommodation, will be completed in a week or two. The temperature there will be maintained by means of mechanical refrigeration. The average temperature will be 55 or 60 degrees, except in smaller chambers used for experimental purposes. Provision is being made at both stations for the curing and handling of cheese, in addition to the ordinary work to be done.

Every few days we see loads of travellers passing through, all destined for New Ontario, and we learn that the rush to get into the new country this spring has been so great that every available lot within a long distance of the roads has been taken, and new settlers have been forced to tramp miles through unbroken woods to get to unclaimed land. The local road commissioners report that it is impossible to get the roads extended because all the men are more anxious to do clearing on their own farms than to accept good wages for working at road-making. Mr Southworth and Mr. Campbell are now looking into the situation to devise some means of remedying the difficulty. There is also reported to be a congestion of freight on the steamboat line running from Temiscaming village to New Lishear.

KITCHENER'S FAREWELL

To the British Army Who Fought in South Africa.

GEN. FRENCH ALSO SPEAKS

Circular Issued by Gen. DeWet—
Total Surrender of Boers 18,500
—Canadians to be Rewarded for Meritorious Conduct—The Arrival of the Corinthian.

Johannesburg, June 19.—General Kitchener delivered a farewell speech at a banquet here to-night that was attended by seven hundred citizens. Lord Milner was present as the civic head of the new State.

Lord Milner, in proposing a toast to Gen. Kitchener, paid a tribute to his will of steel, untiring energy, and military skill.

General Kitchener, replying to a toast describing him as the man who had won their freedom, said the army had done its best to do its duty. He praised Johannesburg for the part its men had played in the war. The regulars, both officers and men, admired the Johannesburg corps, which had stood staunch in danger, and held what they had gained. They had tasted the salt of life, and its savor would never leave them. They should keep their horses and rifles ready, and their bodies physically fit, but should settle down and work for the Empire. Their opponents had shown the abilities and tenacity of purpose of a virile race, and they should be welcomed into the Empire. They would constitute an asset of considerable importance to the Empire. The chief lesson of the war was the knowledge that all Britons fought shoulder to shoulder. Those who had helped them knew they in South Africa and elsewhere would help their countrymen when needed.

The speech was enthusiastically received.

Earlier in the day, the Imperial Light Horse, which was at Ladysmith, and which was prominent throughout the war, and other Johannesburg corps, were reviewed by General Kitchener.

Speech by French.

Cape Town, June 19.—General French has sailed hence for England. In a speech upon leaving Middleburg, Cape Colony, he said he hoped the rebels would be met halfway in a friendly spirit, as much must be allowed for ties of blood and sympathy.

DeWet Issues Circular.

Bellefontaine, Orange River Colony, June 19.—Gen. DeWet has addressed a circular to his adjutants, in which he says:
"Let me tell you that you and I and every burgher can win the heart of the new Government by our future conduct, and of this conduct I am not in the least doubtful."

Surrenders Total 18,500.

London, June 19.—Continual surprise is caused here at the revelation of the large number of Boers who are still in the field at the conclusion of the war. The surrender of 700 men at Calvinia, Cape Colony, yesterday, the majority of whom were Cape rebels, brings the total of surrenders up to date to 18,500 men.

For Meritorious Conduct.

London, June 19.—A supplementary issue of the Gazette announces that the following Canadians who participated in the South African War have been recommended for meritorious conduct: Surgeon Piset and Captain Burstall, of the Royal Canadian Regiment; Troop-Sergeant Carly, of the Strathcona; now a lieutenant in the Imperial Yeomanry, and Pte. E. F. Waddle, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Lost Only Twelve Horses.

Ottawa, June 19.—The Allan Liner Corinthian, which arrived at Cape Town yesterday with the last of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, lost 12 horses en route, a very small percentage, considering the number she carried—750.

PRaise FOR CANADIANS.

Lord Roberts Continues His War Reports.

GALLANTRY OF MOUNTED RIFLES

London Despatch.—The Official Gazette to-night publishes a long despatch from Lord Roberts, being a continuation of the field despatches written when he was in command in South Africa. Lord Roberts speaks highly of the Canadian contingent, especially in connection with the successful attack on Coekson's camp, March 31, 1900, in which he says the Canadian Mounted Rifles sustained the heaviest loss of the day. He paid a high tribute to the gallantry of Lieut. Bruce Carruthers. In conclusion, Lord Roberts says he wishes to record the fact that in April, 1900, Queen Victoria entrusted him with four woollen scarves worked by herself, which she desired to be distributed to four distinguished private soldiers of the colonial contingents of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. The selection of the recipients in each case was left to the colonial officer commanding the contingent. The Canadian scarf goes to Private, now Lieut., Richard Thompson, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, for personal gallantry in the field.

Kitchener Too.

The Gazette has published despatches received from Lord Kitchener, dated April 8th, 1902, which refer to the defeat and capture of Lord Methuen. In these messages Lord Kitchener expresses the opinion that Gen. Methuen's reverse was due to the behavior of the bulk of the mounted troops of his command who offered a feeble and ineffectual resistance, and then left the infantry and the guns to struggle against superior numbers.

In another despatch, dated March 31, in which he refers to the action of Brakspruit, Lord Kitchener praises highly the gallant stand made in this engagement by a handful of Canadians in an isolated position. Referring to this matter, Lord Kitchener remarks: "There have been few finer instances of heroism in the whole course of the campaign."

LONDON TRIES ON GEMS.

Many Buildings Illuminated
as an Experiment.

ORDER OF THE PROCESSION.

London, June 23.—The City of London has progressed with its coronation preparations sufficiently to illuminate its chief buildings experimentally for two hours this evening. The Bank of England, the Mansion House, the official residence of the Lord Mayor, and the leading insurance and banking offices were transformed from their usual grey gloom to brilliant spectacles, all their outlines being set out with red and white lights. There were many great crystal flambeaux and crowns with the royal initials formed of various colored electric lamps.

The official order for the coronation day procession has been issued. Nine carriages containing royal relatives, and followed by the carriages of the Prince and Princess of Wales, will leave Buckingham Palace for Westminster Abbey at 9.05 in the morning. The King's procession will leave at 10.30, preceded by an escort of the First Life Guards and four carriages conveying pages, secretaries, mables of honor, and members of the household.

SWALLOWED A RUSTY NAIL.

That and a Piece of Crockery
Did Not Kill Gordon.

HE IS BEING CLOSELY WATCHED

Winnipeg Despatch.—Bridell, the hangman, is in the city. He came in on this morning's train from the east, traveling in the colonist car, where he was an object of peculiar interest to his fellow passengers. The hangman, on reaching the city, did not waste any time hanging around the depot. He is on his way to Brandon, where he will officiate in the hanging of Walter Gordon. The latter has of late become more reconciled to his fate and has paid the closest attention to the ministrations of his spiritual adviser, but vigilance has not been relaxed. He has been watched with the greatest care since the death sentence was imposed, as he at one time showed some desire to make away with himself.

The watch kept upon his every movement in manner was caused by a little incident which occurred just after sentence was passed. Gordon was pacing up and down the reading-room of the jail, when he nonchalantly walked to the window where were some plants. Before the guard could prevent him Gordon had broken off and swallowed a piece of the crockery flower-pot, also a rusty nail that was mixed in the earth. Since that time the prisoner's liberty has been considerably curtailed and a watch kept on his every movement.

MORE RIOTS AT PATERSON

Italian Anarchists Lead the Strikers.

A REPORTER FATALLY SHOT.

New York, June 23.—A meeting of the striking dyers' helpers at Paterson, N. J., to-day was followed by riots, in the first of which Police man Charles R. Hanson and one of the rioters were shot. The dyers' helpers, angered at the apparent failure of their strike, and a considerable number of silk workers, held a meeting. It is estimated that all concerned numbered fully 5,000. The strikers sent details to all the mills in the city to order the men out. Where they refused to go out the strikers stoned the mill, forced their way in and drove out the employees. At the Empire mill there was a desperate fight. A number of shots were fired.

It is reported that a woman who took a prominent part in the riot was shot and killed. Five wounded persons have been taken to the General Hospital. One of these is Harry Harris, a reporter for the Morning Call. He is probably fatally wounded. Mr. Harris was taking a snapshot of the scene with a kodak. He was warned to desist, and was then knocked down and kicked. One of the mob grasped Harris' revolver and shot him. His chance of recovery is very slight.

Anarchists have been fanning the flames of disorder, but so far the Mayor has not asked for troops. Among the agitators is one Galleano, whose speech worked his countrymen into a frenzy, but could not be understood by the labor leaders. The mob followed him in their attacks on the mills. Several of Broedel's old comrades were also with him.

KING'S CHANCES OF RECOVERY.

The Montreal Herald yesterday ascertained the nature of His Majesty's illness from several authorities on surgery in that city.

"What is the nature of perityphilitis?" Sir William Hingston was asked. "It is a circumscribed, limited peritonitis, commonly the result of appendicitis, and it requires early surgical interference."

"What would be the results of an operation, speaking generally?"

"If a person were of middle age and healthy, I should think, as we all hope and pray, that the chances are altogether in his favor. It depends largely on circumstances, however. There is an individuality in each case, which can be considered only by the attendants at the time."

Asked if the King's age and stoutness would militate against his chances Dr. Bell said:

"If he is healthy His Majesty's age will make no difference. It is not the operation itself which is so dangerous, but the condition of the patient when it is performed."

A well-known physician says "Perityphilitis means inflammation of the tissues, surrounding or connected with the caecum or large intestine. The inflammation may be the result of

LIFE HANGS BY A THREAD.

As the Reporter goes to press at 4 o'clock a special despatch is received from New York, stating that the King's life hangs by a thread and unless he gains very rapidly his recovery is doubtful.

HOLIDAY CANCELLED

Ottawa, June 24.—In consequence of the King's coronation being postponed the government has issued a proclamation withdrawing the public holiday on Thursday. The proclamation was signed at noon by Sir Henry Strong acting as Governor-General.

A queer berceuse was contained in the will of a French gentleman, lately deceased. He showed his great interest in the red-headed girls of his native city by leaving them $20,000, the annual interest of which is to be devoted towards providing dowries for them. Nature—and not art—must color the locks of the girls who would benefit by this will.

A Gananoque gentleman has a marguerite which is probably the largest one of the kind in the world. The plant is seven feet five inches tall, six feet two inches wide, stem, four inches in diameter with one large root. This plant will drink two gallons of water each day, has been in flower for two years and ten months continuously, and has had as many as 1,100 flowers at one time. The plant is now six years old and is the admiration of many people.

The Brockville curing room for cheese will be completed and ready for operation this week. It will have accommodation for 2,700 cheese and several thousand can be stored in boxes. The temperature will be regulated by means of ice. The Woodstock station, having similar accommodation, will be completed in a week or two. The temperature there will be maintained by means of mechanical refrigeration. The average temperature will be 55 or 60 degrees, except in smaller chambers used for experimental purposes. Provision is being made at both stations for the curing and handling of cheese, in addition to the ordinary work to be done.

Every few days we see loads of travellers passing through, all destined for New Ontario, and we learn that the rush to get into the new country has been so great that every available lot within a long distance of the roads has been taken, and new settlers have been forced to tramp miles through unbroken woods to get to unclaimed land. The local road commissioners report that it is impossible to get the roads extended because all the men are more anxious to do clearing on their own farms than to accept good wages for working at road-making. Mr. Southworth and Mr. Campbell are now looking into the situation to devise some means of remedying the difficulty. There is also reported to be a congestion of freight on the steamboat line running from Timiskaming village to New Liskeard.

LUMBAGO

A Nova Scotia Man Has Found a Sure Remedy.

Claims That Lumbago Can be Cured. He Himself Had Suffered for 25 Years. Hope for Apparently Hopeless Cases.

Economy Point, N. S., June 16.—Special.—Mr. George S. McLaughlin, of this place, claims to have found a remedy which will cure any case of Lumbago.

Mr. McLaughlin himself has been a great sufferer with this disease, and has sought relief in very many treatments and remedies.

At last, however, he came across a medicine which completely cured him, and which he claims any sufferer from Lumbago should be told of.

He says: "I was troubled with Lumbago for 25 years or more. Sometimes it was so severe I could not turn myself in bed."

"A slight cold or hard lifting would bring on a fearful attack and give me awful pain."

"I had tried many medicines and treatments, but never found anything to do me any good until I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"My brother, who keeps a small grocery store, and sold some medicine, told me that he had heard that they had cured a great many people of Lumbago, and he advised me to try them."

"I commenced a treatment, and in a short time all the pain left my back and it became as stout and strong as ever."

"Wonderful to say I have had no return of the terrible Lumbago since."

"It is now some years since I was cured, and I have said nothing about it, for I was afraid it would come back, and that I would have to keep on using the Pills in order to be well."

"But now I am satisfied it is gone forever, and I feel that I am safe in making this public statement."

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure any case of Lumbago or Lame Back, for they helped me out and nobody could have it much worse than I had."

Canada. City M. O. N. Dear to my heart is my native land, the favorite child of a free-born race, now making her first appearance upon the stage of the world's action and playing her part with dignity and grace.

A soul of a poet; a soul of Academe; a fair Columbian hopes, and a larger vision of a great future northern land; such is she.

Oh, my own true love, my country; dear to my heart as heaven's light on darkened eyes; dear as the tender flower growing in the green wall to the poor prisoner; accept the tribute of my swelling breast.

Never will I forsake thee, dear lovely land, nor prove faithless by accepting the hireling wage of thy life for thee; and when the great future lies heavily upon my heart, I will breathe my last with head resting upon thy sympathetic bosom.

New York Central and Hudson River Railroad. The above name is a household word and the superior excellence of the road should be sufficient to attract most people, but now that the rate is the same to New York and points east as by other lines no further recommendation should be sought. Everybody will tell you it is the best.

The Gardeners of Paris. No less than 250 gardeners are employed year in and year out to watch over the flowers that render Paris so exquisite, says The Sketch. The Autone Conservatory, where they are all produced, is supervised by men who are positive experts in the art, and it is rare that the designs in the gardens are spoiled by a withered flower. With the incoming of spring they are sending out flowers by the million.

WOULD FOREGO A THRASHING Attempt to Intimidate a Judge That Proved a Signal Failure. While Judge William M. Shipp was presiding in the court in Nash county, North Carolina, some years ago, a jury of twelve good men and true, according to the Tarheel standard, brought in a verdict which the judge did not approve, and he told the jury that they had committed perjury, and they were a set of fools, and did not have sense enough to sit on a jury.

One of the jurors was a Mr. Westray, who had been graduated from the State University and was a large land owner, and was known as the most successful farmer in the county. He was in high favor with the jury, and he determined that for one he would not submit to it. He said he could present it without going to jail, so at the recess for going to jail, Mr. Westray approached the judge and asked him, as a matter of law, pertaining to the prerogatives of a judge, if he, the judge, had any authority of law to say what he said to the jury. Judge Shipp answered that he certainly did have that right by law, otherwise, he would not have committed perjury. Judge Shipp then put this question: "Judge Shipp, if I should here and now propose to give you a general thrashing for a year, would you consent to take it like a man for your part as an individual, or could you fall back on your judicial prerogatives and refuse to do it?"

The judge said that in that event the prerogatives would come into play, and he might faint, and that he would heed Mr. Westray at the expense of the county for two years. Mr. Westray then said, "Very well, judge, if that be the case, you will forego the thrashing," and he walked off.

HARD TO GET A START IN LIFE.

The old story of the merchant who advertised for a young man, and, as a test of character, offered each applicant a bundle, knotted with twine, to open, and selected the youth for the vacant position who did not cut the string, but patiently labored over the knots until they were untied—that was good in the old days.

Now, the merchant would say to himself: "The position is worth a dollar a day, or ten cents an hour for ten hours' work. If that young man takes fifteen minutes' time, worth two and a half cents, trying to have a piece of twine worth one-eighth of a cent, he is no good to me."

"Billy" Rice, negro minister, used to tell the story of a man who picked up a pin as he was leaving the office of a great merchant, after an unsuccessful quest for work.

The merchant, seeing the man's action from the window, called him back and gave him employment, which kindness he repaid by becoming owner of the entire business in an incredibly short time.

"Billy" used to end his story by saying that he tried that scheme once, when he was looking for work, dropping a pin carefully on the floor as he entered. He stated his wants to the proprietor, who not only had no employment to offer him, but remarked to his partner as they picked up the pin: "Say, if that fellow's so small as to steal a pin off the floor, how much do you think he'd leave in my till?"

THE WARDROBE OF THE POPE

Vast Number of Garments Required by Custom—Priceless Lacos in It.

Few rulers are surrounded with more ceremony and magnificence than the princes of the Church. As for the Pope himself, etiquette and tradition have imposed upon him a sumptuous magnificence, and the wardrobe of Leo XIII. is the largest and most costly the wide world has to show.

These large rooms in the Vatican are given over to it, and many servants are constantly at work keeping the vestments in order. There are garments set aside for each day in the year, and varying in color, weight and value according to the occasion and the season.

In Lent, the Papal raiment from shoes to the slipper of the Easter days demand other colors. The Easter season calls for white. Other holy feasts call for other colors. The most sumptuous and costly are of priceless old lace. Nowhere in Europe is there a more valuable and interesting collection of lace.

The slippers of the Pope are legion, and each pair is of finest velvet. The right slipper, which is kissed by pilgrims and other pious visitors, bears a cross in gold embroidery; while the left is embroidered the crests, tiara and pallium which make up the crest of the Roman Church.

But the slippers fade into insignificance before the value of the numerous crable pairs of gloves. These gloves are of finest white wool.

That sounds modest, but, as it happens, the wool is embroidered in costly pearls. The material for the gloves, as for all woolen garments taken to the Pope, is made from fleeces of a special flock of sheep dedicated to this purpose, and owned by a family that has since the middle of the sixteenth century enjoyed the privilege.

From this herd of fifty sheep, a number of lambs are set aside each year. On Jan. 21st these lambs are taken to the Pope and, in an impressive ceremony, receive the Papal blessing. After that they are kept for a year at a convent near Rome and are exposed to the most elaborate and penitential fashion.

The year being passed, the lambs are shorn and the mass weaved the fleece into pallium for the Pope. The pallium, a long strip of white wool, adorned only by a gold cross at each end, is the most sacred of priestly vestments, and is worn around the neck and body, the ends falling over the left shoulder. Before Pope Leo XIII. wore one of his many palliums it was first for a certain length of time upon the sarcophagus of St. Peter.

Many of the papal vestments are set with rich jewels and stiff with gold and silver; but those gorgeous garments are seldom worn since the Vatican lost its temporal power, and the Pope has given up grand public ceremonies. One of the jeweled robes, the famous cappa magna, or great cap, is a thickly set with gems that its weight alone would prevent the old and frail Pope from wearing it.

Pope Leo XIII. is fond of jewels and has a remarkably valuable collection of rings, but only three of them are official. The Fisherman Ring, carved with a representation of St. Peter fishing, is the Pope's official signet ring and is destroyed at the death of the wearer, a duplicate being made for his successor.

SHE CRIED WHEN SHE PUT HER CLOTHES ON. This is what Miss Jessie Stephenson, of 30 Hartington Road, there, says when writing to the proprietors of St. Jacobs Oil, the remedy which cured her. "I was very bad with rheumatism. I could not put my clothes on without pain. I always had to have assistance to dress myself. I consulted a doctor of St. Jacobs Oil and after his contents were used I was much better. I used the contents of two more bottles, and now I am able to do my work as usual. I would recommend anyone troubled with rheumatism to use St. Jacobs Oil."

Miss Stephenson's present condition is a very great contrast to what it was before she had used St. Jacobs Oil. She was practically helpless, suffering the greatest agony, but now she is free from pain and able to do her work. Surely such evidence as this is most convincing that St. Jacobs Oil "Conquers Pain."

The Senator and the Hat. The other day "on the avenue," Washington, I saw a man wearing glory, a Panama hat, tickled in a store. It resembled an inverted potato, plus a rim, and had big dents, as if knuckled about in all sorts of weather. A grave and revered senator, whose eyesight is not so keen as it used to be, and whose tastes ran into the bizarre, whose tastes ran into the bizarre, read the "1000" for "810," and, stepping jauntily in, deposited two V's on the counter. "It's a hundred," said the dealer. The senator nearly dropped down dead. "Great Scott! That's far too steep, far too steep for me. What would the missus say?" He mumbled out at a snail's pace on 240.—New York Press.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, etc. How He Won Fame. Speaking of haggis, the Boston Journal recalls the experience of a favorite actor who was accustomed to spend his summers in Wilton, Maine. There he acted, when, as the actor, was a farmer, "skilled" critic, "the liver, sweetbreasts, kidneys, etc., were thrown away. He offered to purchase these delicacies, but though he got the goods, the "sturdy" farmer scorned his proffered gold. Not long after he observed as he walked through the village he was the exposure of all eyes, and was followed by a wondering if not admiring crowd, chiefly of the young. "Alas," thought he, "I cannot escape my fame; my glory as an actor has followed me even to this obscure hamlet," and he was mightily puffed up till he overheard one yell shout to another: "Bill, there goes the fellow who eats innards."

Minard's Liniment Cures Dandruff. Pampering the Throat. "Yes, I know—another cold!" said a doctor. "I do not know what medical men would do if it were not for you women." And he turned to the creature of furs and wraps, smiling to the effect of appreciative smile, and continued: "Remove your bonnet, please! Do you realize that the high season will be upon you around their necks are responsible for nearly all the colds that your sex gets? It is so. Winter and summer alike you will insist upon wrapping your delicate necks in high stiff velvet, cloth, linen or chiffon covering. If it be not this, why it is a yard or more of ribbon drawn tightly about the neck, and naturally the neck gets tender and over-sensitive to the fancy bandages and swathing that are forever about it. With the first draught there is a cough."

FOE TO RHEUMATIC PANGS Warships are Sheathed with Asbestos to Keep the Sailors Healthy. When the navy turned to building ships of steel it was remarked that unless some device was adopted for offsetting the effect of heat conduction from the metal it would be only a matter of a short time before our officers would be suffering from rheumatism.

The introduction of metal chairs, tables and other pieces of furniture into a few years ago and now there is not a single one of wood of any size to be found in an officer's room on a modern warship. He sleeps in an iron berth, keeps his clothes in a steel chest, while the floor, ceiling and walls of his compartment are of the same metal. Since the adoption of the steel armor for the hull of warships a great deal of trouble has been experienced in making habitable the quarters. The heat of the room condensed on the metal and in a very short time the compartment would be so hot that the use of a sheeting of asbestos placed next to the metal and held in place by a framework, this is found to absorb the moisture in a satisfactory manner. This is also taken to see that the heating is not built against the outside of the walls, but against one of the side faces as possible from the metal that comes in contact with the water.

SOMETHING ABOUT GREAT VOLCANOES.

The terrible catastrophe of St. Pierre has directed attention to other volcanoes, of which about a thousand are known. Of these, 325 are not all extinct; any one of them may, at any time, renew an activity which, so far as is known, is but suspended. Vesuvius was considered by the ancient world as extinct until the period of the destruction of Pompeii. From 1306 to 1631 this volcano was again quiescent—during a period of three centuries.

The volcanoes of Iceland are in perpetual activity. Etna, Vesuvius and Stromboli are now intermittently active. The volcanoes of Japan were very active in the Province of Murcia in 1819. The Azores, the Canaries, the Cape de Verde Islands, Isle Bourbon, the Philippines, Java, Japan, Hawaii, Mexico, Central America, Ecuador and other States along the Andes, Terra del Fuego, are countries containing volcanoes perpetually active. The Azores and the Hawaiian Islands, in fact, nothing but volcanoes rising from the sea. Alaska contains several active volcanoes, and the Northwestern States of the Pacific include mountains that have become quiescent in very recent times. A glance at a map of the world on which the volcanoes are marked will give a vivid idea of their distribution. This is not a random one, as a map will clearly show.

Quiescent volcanoes that are becoming active usually give warning by earthquakes. This was not the case in Martinique, however. The crater began by pouring out huge volumes of smoke composed of gases and steam, and then came volcanic ashes, pumice, and every now and then volleys of red-hot lava and stones—lapilli and pozzolano, porous masses of white-hot lava are thrown out in spiral forms, accompanied by explosive sounds. Through the clouds above the crater lightning flashes, and the clouds themselves are illuminated by the glare of the lava beneath. The lava itself may be thrown out by explosions, or it may open ways through huge fissures in the side of the mountain. In very violent eruptions the whole head of the mountain may be blown off, or the mountain may be driven apart, as at Krakatoa. The volcanic ashes are sent out in vast quantities, and, being light, are carried to enormous distances.

The ashes of Vesuvius have fallen in Constantinople. The ashes from St. Vincent in 1812 covered the whole of Barbadoes; those from Sumatra in 1815 were carried 700 to 800 miles in large quantities. The ashes from Krakatoa in 1883 filled the upper air and produced the red sunsets of that year, which continued for months. The gaseous cones from this volcano are deadly. In Java the number of men who have perished has been found covered with the dead bodies of wild animals—tigers, deer and the like. It was no doubt, waves of noxious gas that killed thousands at St. Pierre. Some faint idea of the energy of volcanic forces may be had by considering the pressures necessary merely to maintain a column of lava at the level of the summit of a high mountain. Tenerife is 3,710 metres in height. A pressure of about 1,000 atmospheres is necessary to make the lava flow from out its crater. The Martinique volcano was 2,370 metres high, and the pressure was, at the minimum, 300 atmospheres.

Cottonation Gas Illuminations. The extensive use of gas illumination at the approaching coronation festivities in place of electricity is surprisingly universal in these days of electric signs. It would seem that so august an institution as the Bank of England would certainly show "immaculate job of light." SEELEY'S BAY

The 41st quarterly session of Leeds District division B. of T. was held in the Orange hall, Ellenville, June 18th, over 65 delegates from the different divisions being present.

- 1. That a vigorous effort be made to secure as large a vote as possible in favor of the Ontario Liquor Act on the 14th of December next.

Mr. Wm. Coleman's condition remains unchanged.

Mr. Geo. Johnson, of Warton, is visiting friends here and vicinity.

A Neal is burning another kiln of tile this week, the third for this year.

A Leadbeater has the improvements to his barns and stables nearly completed.

Geo. Moore is building a concrete wall under his barn and stables and will put down a concrete floor in his stables.

Mrs. J. Chapman and Miss B. Gilbert are attending the Christian Scientists' convention at Boston, the past few days.

Mr. G. D. Gilbert of the firm of Gilbert Bros. left last Wednesday to deliver a number of buggies that had been sold at Plevna.

G. R. Hawkins commenced the brick work of his new residence this week. Mr. Wm. Randall, of Kingston, is the contractor.

Mr. A. Jackson is getting the foundation ready for his new grist mill which will be erected on the old brick yard lot which he has purchased.

PRICES SLOWER.

Owing to Victoria Hall being engaged for the public school exhibit, Thursday afternoon, the regular meeting of the Brookville Cheese Board was held in the council chamber.

Next week's meeting falling on Thursday, Coronation Day, which has been declared a public holiday through out the British Empire, some discussion took place on the advisability of making a change, and it was at last unanimously decided to meet on Thursday as usual.

The president signified his intention of hereafter convening the board sharp at 1.30, commencing the sale of cheese at 2.

The offerings are increasing weekly, Thursday's figures showing a total of 5,494 boxes of which 2,696 were colored and 2,798 white.

Colored cheese had slightly the best of the demand throughout, though the market ruled strong for both kinds.

The following factories were among those who disposed of their offering at prevailing prices: Elbe, 100; Greenbush, 80; Glen Buell, 75; Janetown, 75; Mallorytown Union, 80; Plum Hollow, 90; Ronon's 30; Union Valley, 85.

MEMBERS OF MISSION CIRCLES MEET IN ATHENS

Instructive Addresses Delivered by the Delegates—Work in a Healthy Condition.

As briefly intimated in last week's issue the meeting of the Women's Mission Circles of Canada Baptist Central Association was being held the Baptist church here as we went to press.

Mr. Geo. Johnson, of Warton, is visiting friends here and vicinity.

A Neal is burning another kiln of tile this week, the third for this year.

Geo. Moore is building a concrete wall under his barn and stables and will put down a concrete floor in his stables.

Mr. A. Jackson is getting the foundation ready for his new grist mill which will be erected on the old brick yard lot which he has purchased.

THE OFFICERS.

The electors of officers resulted as follows: President—Mrs. Frith, Smith's Falls. Director of Circles—Mrs. Moulton, Carleton Place.

During the session of the Woman's Mission Circle, held in the church, the business meeting of the association took place in the vestry of the Methodist church, and the following appointments were made:

Moderator—Rev. A. M. Frith, of Smith's Falls. Clerk—Mr. John Moulton, Westport.

Committee of arrangements—Revs. G. C. Rock, D. Laing, W. C. Weir, the moderator and clerk.

Place of meeting to be chosen by the committee on arrangements.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After dinner which was served in the basement of the church by the Athens ladies, the afternoon session opened with prayer and praise followed by a short address, "The Grace of Gratitude," by Rev. Mr. Garrett.

then gave an inspiring and helpful paper on the "Importance of Educating Children in Missions." She said this seemed to be the children's, age so many songs and books were now written for the children and how necessary that progress should also be made along the line of developing a spirit of gratitude in children and teaching them to be generous with their young.

Miss J. Allyn, of Smith's Falls, who is studying for medical missionary in India, gave an address on "Medical Missions." She said it carries us back to the time of Christ. Thirty-six of Christ's recorded miracles were miracles of healing.

The church is now awakening to its duties. Imagine our country stripped of hospitals, asylums, sanitariums, etc., and the great need in heathen countries was for the medical missions and the healing of body and soul alike.

Rev. W. C. Weir, of Carleton Place, spoke on the theme, "What is involved in a forward movement for home missions."

A great relief from sin guilt and sorrow was the first requisite and watchmen who fail to give warning will be held responsible for sin and guilt. Isolation and selfishness mean death. The opportunity should be seized at once and not let go by and churches must be planted and golden opportunities improved.

Miss Elma Witte, of Athens, sang very sweetly the song "Abide With Me." Professor Cross, M.A., Ph. D., of McMaster University, Toronto, spoke on "Foreign Missions."

He said the aim of missions was not only to save men from hell but to build up Christian character, and obey commands Christians are to be conquerors of every corner of the world; men are coming together in the world; space is being annihilated, men are studying each other and mingling as they never did before and growing more alike.

The evening session opened with the usual devotional exercises, after which Rev. A. N. Frith spoke on "Preaching in Private." He said schools follow the gospel and spoke for an educated people and an educated ministry. He also spoke of the excellent work done by McMaster University, Woodstock College and Moulton Ladies' College.

Rev. Mr. Sycamore moved the usual vote of thanks to all who had in any way helped to make the convention a success and the Association closed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and the benediction.

Last week's Westport Mirror says: "It is our pleasant duty to state that Westport is now free from, and out of danger of the smallpox epidemic. The hospital has been closed and there is not a house in town quarantined today. The next thing in order will be the payment of accounts."

The man who devotes only a week or two to advertising some new thing and then rails because he doesn't get good returns, is like the boy who studied for a few days and then came home and said: "The law ain't what it's cracked up to be; I'm sorry I learned it."

Senator Davis, of Illinois, is quoted as saying: "Each year every local newspaper gives from $500 to $5,000 in free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is printed. No other agency can or will do this. The editor in proportion to his means does more for his town than any other man and in all fairness he ought to be supported, not because you like or admire his writings, but because a local newspaper is the best advertisement a community can have. It may not be crowded with great thoughts but financially it is more of a benefit than a teacher or preacher."

There were two deer cases heard at the county court in Pembroke a few days ago in which a Renfrew and a Horton hunter were involved. These two men were accused of poaching on the game law last fall, by the game warden, Mr. H. K. Smith, Belleville. The cases were for hunting deer contrary to law. When they found that the game warden was after them they laid charges one against the other, before Magistrate Eady, to which they each pleaded guilty and were fined.

Afterwards the game warden went on with the cases before Magistrate McDonald, and the two hunters were convicted before Mr. McDonald a second time. Against this second conviction they appealed to the county court. The appeal cases came up on Tuesday before the County Judge, who quashed both of the second convictions, leaving the game warden to pay $28 costs in each case.

COOL, CALM BOWSER

LECTURES WIFE ON THE EVIL OF LOSING PRESENCE OF MIND.

He Tells Her What to Do When in Peril—After Pitying the Indecision of Women He Goes to Bed and Meets His Waterloo.

"HERE is a case," began Mr. Bowser the other evening as he laid aside his newspaper—"here is a case where a woman in Chicago lost her life by becoming confused on the street and being struck by a carriage. Forty-nine out of every fifty accidents occur through people losing their heads at a critical moment. You have been very lucky thus far in escaping accidents, but I feel it my duty nevertheless to advise you. It is through no fault of your own that you haven't been smashed up a dozen times over."

"Why should I be smashed up?" asked Mrs. Bowser as she looked up from her book.

"Because you are a woman and because a woman loses her nerve the instant she is menaced by a danger. It wouldn't have surprised me any day in the last ten years to have heard that you were run over on the street. You are just careless enough to walk in front of a trolley car."

"How about your being careless enough to walk in front of a butcher cart?" she asked.

"I never did it. The cart turned a corner on me."

"But you stepped off a car and was hit by a peddler's wagon."

"Never! I was crowded off a car, but the accident was no fault of mine."

"Didn't you run for a car to be knocked down by a bicycle?"

"No, but I was sauntering toward a car when a great big loafer on a bike wobbled around and struck out. Never have I had an accident through my own fault, while my coolness and calmness have prevented hundreds through the buildings, Mrs. Bowser, and at the first signal of danger leap for the middle of the street."

"But you were passing a building a few weeks ago and a brickbat fell down on your head," she protested. "Why didn't you leap for the middle of the street?"

"Because in my coolness I observed that it was only the fall of a single brick instead of a general collapse," he lamely replied.

"Then a single brick is nothing?"

"Don't take that tone with me, woman! I am trying to beat a little sense into your head, and you ought to see it. Suppose you were in a theater when the cry of fire was raised—there without me. What would you do?"

"I'd ask the person next to me where the fire was."

"Certainly you would, and you'd want to know when his or her grandfather died, whether he or she had ever had measles or whooping cough, whether the fire was on the stage or in some factory a mile away, and I'd be lucky to recover your charred bones. Yes, you'd be sure to fool around for ten or fifteen minutes instead of calmly rising up at the first alarm and coolly walking out. By George, but what an idiot a woman is!"

"I'm sorry," said Mrs. Bowser in contrite tones as Mr. Bowser got up and took a walk.

"We will suppose a few cases nearer home," he finally continued as he glared at the cat and fell into his chair. "You are sitting here alone, and you hear a sudden fall downstairs. You run down and find the cook senseless on the floor, with her eyes rolled back and all her limbs rigid. What do you do?"

"I telephone for the doctor."

"Yes; you monkey with the telephone for a quarter of an hour to find that the doctor is out, and when you return to the kitchen the soul of the cook has passed away. Had you placed the dishpan under her head and dashed water into her face she would have been up and at work in ten minutes."

Mr. Bowser had a good deal more to say about coolness and calmness and presence of mind, and Mrs. Bowser had had the tact to let him do his boasting undisputed, and when bedtime came he was so well pleased with himself that he admitted she might almost cross the street without being knocked down by a car or blown up by dynamite. He didn't see the cat wink at herself or he might have suspected that a stone was being prepared for him to stub his toe against. He had been asleep for an hour, and the only noise to disturb the night were the yowls of a cat in the back yard looking for a scrap, when Mrs. Bowser shook him by the shoulder and softly said:

"I am not in the least excited, and of course you won't be, but I thought it best to tell you that I smell smoke."

"By thunder, so do I!" he exclaimed as he sat up in bed and snuffed and snuffed.

"We will be calm—very calm," she continued. "It may be that the whole

THE COUNTIES COUNCIL.

TUESDAY.

The June session of the counties council opened on Tuesday afternoon last, at 4.10, in the council chamber, Brockville, Warden Brown in the chair. The following members answered the roll call: Messrs. Alguire, Anderson, Arnold, Cole, Edwards, Halladay, Hughes, Johnston, Singleton, Watchorn, Weatherhead, Webster, Wilson.

Mr. Alguire handed over to the council a paper on "The Educational Requirements of the Day," written by Wm. Johnston, I. P. S., Athens.

Mr. Webster was anxious to know the result of the communications with the township councils in reference to the county road scheme.

Mr. Watchorn, chairman of the committee on roads and bridges, stated that replies had been received from 12 of the 15 townships, 10 of which were opposed to the scheme as follows: Wolford, Front of Yonge and Escott, South Elmley, Oxford, Augusta, Front Leeds and Lansdowne, Rear Yonge and Escott, Kitley, North Crosby, Bastard and Burgess. The townships expressing themselves favorable to the scheme are South Crosby and Edwardsburg.

A discussion then took place on the conclusion of the South African War and a resolution was passed conveying their sentiments to the public.

WEDNESDAY.

The Counties' Council resumed at 2.30 Wednesday afternoon. The Agriculture report was taken up in committee of the whole.

The usual grant of $100 to each electrical Agricultural Society was recommended, also $25 to each of the township Societies, and $25 to Farmer's Institutes throughout the counties.

The council adopted a resolution granting the sum of $80 to assist in the establishment of a fat stock and dairy show for Eastern Ontario at Ottawa, provided other counties give the various sums requested of them.

HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

The report of the House of Industry was considered in committee of the whole, Mr. Halladay in the chair.

The committee met at the Home on April 4th and following day and talked over with the manager the manner of seeding the farm etc., for the present year. They found everything in connection with the House in admirable shape, and all the inmates fairly contented.

The committee met again on June 6th. They walked over the farm and found everything showing good cultivation. Certain accounts were ordered to be paid. They received the following orders for coal: Ault & Reynolds, $6.75 per ton; Central Canada Coal Company, $6.75, and instructed the Inspector to accept the former.

The report of the commissioner of the Burrett's Rapids' ice pier was taken up and disposed of to the satisfaction of the council.

Mr. Webster, special commissioner appointed to explain the proposed site of a bridge over the Narrows of Delta Lake, reported at length and considerable discussion took place but no action was taken.

The report of the assessment committee was presented and adopted.

The report of the committee of education was then taken up in detail. The following may interest Athenians: "We, your committee, would recommend that a grant of two hundred and fifty dollars be given to each of the High Schools in these United Counties, namely, Gananoque, Athens and Kemptonville.

The report of Andrewville bridge special committee was submitted.

Two by-laws were introduced, one to equalize the assessment, and the other for the assessment for the year 1902 of the united counties and duly passed according to law.

FRIDAY.

The report of the special committee re Otter Creek bridge was then taken up in committee of the whole with Mr. Arnold in the chair. It was decided that Warden Brown, J. B. Arnold and Wm. Weir be appointed a committee to examine the bridge and report.

The report of the committee on county property was then taken up in committee of the whole with Mr. Bracken in the chair. Everything satisfactory.

The finance committee resumed their report with Mr. Anderson in the chair. The committee had before them the fiscal report for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1901, which shows as follows: Total liabilities, $63,945.64; total assets, $36,407.15; total liabilities over assets, $27,538.49.

The total expenditure was $46,269.90. The overdraft at the bank of Toronto was $890.94, on Jan. 1, 1901, the cash in the hands of the treasurer Dec. 31st, 1901, was $202.20, making a total of $47,364.05. A number of accounts were recommended to be paid.

It was further recommended that the treasurer be empowered to borrow from the Bank of Toronto $10,000, which was done.

SATURDAY.

The last session of the counties council was held Saturday.

A grant of $25 was made Mr. Cowan for holding religious services at the House of Industry.

The council then adjourned till November.

ATHENS.

By the Author of Village Verse Stories.

Loved village of a rural sphere
Among the maples growing,
Reflections of a happy past
Are o'er my memory flowing;
The winding brook, the shady nook,
The paths where I walked early,
The grassy hill, the water mill,
Those scenes I loved so dearly.

To-night I wander through thy glens
Where long the twilight lingers,
And strive to paint the after glow
With crude, untutored fingers;
With colors pale I strive but fail,
And turn away down hearted:
Yet day by day each casting ray
Illumes as when we parted.

From thy loved paths I've wandered far,
Those paths so green and ferny,
But memories of thy highways fair
Still cheer me as I journey;
Of all my heart they are a part,
I love them to devotion,
They stay my tears and sooth my fears,
And calm the heart's commotion.

Thou art a vernal garden green
With fragrant flowers implanted,
Made pregnant with celestial bloom
My heart is still enchanted;
Like sweet voiced birds the loving words

I hear again repeating,
In accents kind they sooth the mind
And set my caros retreating.

I loiter in the elm's shade,
Near by the cattle resting;
Again I wander to the wood
Where sweet song birds are nesting,
There to a cot, oh, hallowed spot,
My steps are now retreating,
And as of yore see in the door
My Peggy wave her greeting.

Twas there I told my tale of love
In accents mild and tender,
While clasping to my uncouth breast
Her form so lithe and slender.
We vowed at heart we ne'er would part
Each heart in heart confiding;
Though youth has gone our love lives on Within each breast abiding.

Beloved spot of birth and youth
Peace be within thy portal,
Could I but touch the unmet lyre
And leave thy name immortal;
A wayside poem, some song of home
To gild the lettered pages
And hand to fame thy hallowed name
Down through the coming ages.

THE JOYS OF A BALL GAME.

Exchange.

When the pad is on the catcher, and the pitcher's in his place,
And the batter keeps his optics on the distance to first base,
Then the tension is great on the truly loyal fan,
Who is handing out instruction just as swiftly as he can—

And a thrill of apprehension hits the empire in the spine,
When the roofer's on the bleacher and
the coacher's on the line.

When the roofer's on the bleacher and the sun is blazing down—
Then we lose all thought of labor and the other cares of town,
And we hie on the street car, where the passengers are thick,
And a fellow has to hang on with his eyebrows, if he'll stick,

Till they dumps us at the ball grounds,
where the fence is mostly sign—
When the roofer's on the bleacher and
and the coacher's on the line.

When the roofer's on the bleacher—oh,
the soul inspiring shout,
When the umpire says the player on the other side is out!

Oh, the anarchistic outbreak when the robber says the same
Of a player on the home team when we're playing for the game!

And I wouldn't be the umpire, who can't please either nine,
Or the roofer on the bleacher, or the coacher on the line.

When the roofer's on the bleacher—
the gentle damsel's go
In the middle of the grand stand and they murmur soft and low
That the game is "just too lovely," it is "charming," "dear," and "cute,"
And they reckon every player by the wrinkles in his suit:

And they think some good flypaper to catch flies would be fine—
When the roofer's on the bleacher and
the coacher's on the line.

"It was during this feature of the program," says the editor of the Independent, (Kan.), Reporter in writing up a wedding, "that the only emotional feature of the evening occurred. J. J. Anderson, father of the bride, who never before had shed a tear, found several of them rolling down his sunburned cheeks as he came forward to kiss the bride, remarking that she was his 'last baby.' Immediately several of the ladies began to shed tears, everybody was considerably excited, and in the slight confusion" the writer hereof found himself embracing a lady who stood conveniently near and who proved not his wife. He immediately apologized to the lady and was forgotten. Later he apologized to his wife but with no very definite returns up to date."

THE WEATHER.

Following is the weather for the last week in June, also for the month of July as given in Rev. Irl R. Hicks' Almanac for 1902:

June showers with frequent or daily squalls will visit most parts of the country about the 10th to 21st and these reactionary summer storms, will in every probability, continue into and through the Vulcan storm period, extending from the 22nd to the 27th. The regular June solstice will reach its culminating stage during this Vulcan period, bringing startling displays lightning all round the heavens, beginning in the early evenings and continuing throughout the nights. These storms on the whole are not dangerous, but are simply what is called "ash" lightning. To be sure some very active and dangerous storms are probable, but most people will be able to tell them from the flash lightning. Readers should not forget our annual warning not to run under trees in June thunder storms. It is dangerous at any time but especially so in June. The combined conjunction of the Earth, Uranus, Mercury and Sun on June 23rd will no doubt add to and intensify all phenomena during the Vulcan storm period then prevailing. The last two days of June being a return of storm conditions.

The storm chart for July shows that the Venus period is central on the 2nd, reaching, at least to the 20th. The first regular storm period for July is central on the 6th, covering from the 4th to the 10th. There are several reasons why we should expect storms early and late in this period. It is at the centre of the Venus period, Moon is in perigee and new on the 4th and 5th, the Mercury disturbance will make itself felt by the 6th, and the Moon is on the equator on the 10th. Ordinarily the causes bearing on the last half of June and the first half of July would result in abnormal rains and floods, and should the Jupiter drought period prove shorter by reason of its intensity, such results may be looked for, especially in sections we have named for more abundant rains. Marked changes to cooler nights will follow the early July periods. On the 12th and 13th reactionary disturbances will be central, and, owing to the presence of the Mercury and Venus periods, threatening, and even stormy weather will likely run into the Vulcan period central on the 17th. The storms of this period will likely culminate about the 17th to 19th probably holding to the 20th, until after the Moon's full or opposition with Earth and Sun. The opposition of the planet, Saturn, with Earth and Sun also falls on July 17th. This will cause warm weather. The reactionary storm period central on the 23rd and 24th is in connection with the moon's passage over the celestial equator on the 24th. On and touching that day there will be marked storm conditions—falling barometer, high temperature, abnormal humidity, or the season. These thunder storms will bring more bluster and clouds than rain, but will naturally bring good showers to some localities and brief respite from heat to others. A regular Vulcan storm period covers the last six days of July. This does not imply that storms will be raging all this time, everywhere. It simply means that storm conditions usually originate, advancing eastward, growing into more or less storms and storminess, traversing the whole country in from four to six days.

Summing up July, we predict a better month than in July, 1901, but a hurtful shortage of rainfall, the last half, especially being hot and dry.

MICE IN SHEEP'S WOOL.

Adsit Bailey keeps a good many sheep on his farm in the town of Urbans, N. Y. He noticed one day on going out to feed his flock a black spot on the back of one of the sheep. When he went to look at it the spot instantly disappeared. Then another black spot appeared for an instant on the sheep's back and as quickly went out of sight. This time the farmer saw that the black spot was a mouse, and while he was looking at the place where it had been a third black spot came in sight at the same place on the sheep's back and disappeared as the others had. Then farmer Bailey thought it was time to investigate, and he thrust his hand down into the sheep's thick coat of wool and found three snug and cosy mouse nests, each with a new born litter of young ones in it. He lost no time in breaking up those odd mouse colonies, and then looked over others of his sheep, with the result that he found four more in the depths of whose wool mice had chosen warm places to build nests and bring forth their young. Ten nests were found, containing an aggregate of eight young mice. The sheep did not seem to mind the presence of the mice.

A brutal murder took place about midnight Saturday between London, Ont., and Springback, on the favorite drive known as the Pipe Line road, Augustus Ninham, an Oneida Indian, was the victim, but by whose hands he met his death the officers of the law so far have been unable to learn. Ninham had been drinking with some other Indians, but he appears to have been killed by a white man who had struck or kicked him to death.

ALL THE NEWS OF THE TOWN

The Events of the Week Chronicled for Reporter Readers

—Iron Blood Pills cannot be excelled as a system builder.

—Mrs Brown and daughter, Lenna, are visiting friends at Lyndhurst this week.

—Next Sabbath is to be taken up with the quarterly review in the Sunday schools here.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Anderson are spending vacation at Charleston lake the guests of H. C. Phillips.

—Frank Bullis, son of S. Y. Bullis, returned on Saturday from attending the Stratford Business College.

—Ogle Cars, Smith's Falls, was a visitor at his brother's, John Cars, Wellington street, on Friday last.

—Isaac N. Marshall has been appointed excise officer at Brockville in place of the late Ferdinand Marshall.

—Mr. W. C. Dowley, of the High school staff is spending his vacation at the home of his parents at Frankville.

—An elevated verandah is being erected in front of the residence on Main street occupied by Dr. J. F. Purvis.

—This is the time to put in a bath tub for the hot dusty weather. You can get a comfortable, steel-clad, white-lined bath at W. F. EARL'S for $12 00.

—The Presbyterian Sabbath School picnic, which was to have been held on Saturday last but was postponed on account of rain, will be held on Dominion Day, July 1st.

—The Sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered in St. Paul's church on Sunday morning next. Preparatory service will be held in the church on Friday evening.

—Iron Blood Pills has more life-building, blood-building properties than any other medicine. Try them and they will certainly do you good. See that our name is on each box—J. P. LAMB & SON.

—Richard Rowson, ex toll taker at Unionville, was a visitor to Athens on Monday. Richard makes semi annual trips to this burg, on which occasions he puts on his Sunday suit and sports a silk castor hat. He has many friends in Athens who are always glad to have him call, and he spent the greater part of the forenoon in hand shaking with old acquaintances.

—The Holiness Movement people of Athens, Lyn and Peniel circuits intend holding their monthly meeting in Mr. Fendling's grove, Greenbush, shortly. These meetings are for the building up of believers, and the salvation of sinners. They are undenominational in character and who-so-ever will may come and receive all spiritual benefit they can from this meeting.

—Next week's issue of the Reporter will contain a full report of the laying of the corner stone of the New Methodist Church, accompanied by cuts of the old church and the new edifice, together with reports of the speeches delivered by the gentleman who will take part in the ceremony. Extra copies can be had, put up in wrappers for mailing, at 3 cents per copy. Leave your orders for extra copies early.

—H. H. Arnold had the misfortune to have his valuable mare receive injuries which may render it necessary for her to be killed. During Sunday night the mare got the calf of her hind shoe fastened in the ring of her halter and in the struggle to free herself the shank broke and she fell over in the stall with her head under her body. When found her head and body were badly bruised and the muscles in her neck injured. At the hour of going to press we learn that, although the injuries inflicted will not necessitate the killing of the animal, the ultimate effect is uncertain.

—On Friday morning last a gang of corporation laborers under the personal supervision of Reeve Knowlton, with Frank Nolan, of Brockville, (son of contractor Nolan, who has put down most of the granolithic sidewalks in Brockville), as boss workman, commenced putting down a piece of granolithic sidewalk extending along Church street from Elgin to Isaac streets. The rain has interfered with the work somewhat but it is expected that the job will be completed by Saturday night. The job is being done in the most substantial manner and will form a basis of cost for future operations as the work is all being done by the day.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Haskins of Kane, Pennsylvania, who have been spending a few weeks in Athens and vicinity, invited a few of their friends to an outing on Charleston lake one day last week. Mr. Haskins is a nephew of George Topping of Rear Yonge and the party was composed of his cousins viz: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kelly, Addison; Mr. and Mrs. John Topping, Sheldon's Corners, and Mr. Mrs. W. H. Parish, Harri Island. The party spent part of the day fishing, catching enough for a good meal, which was taken at Hog Island. They rowed around among the islands until dark and after taking supper at Cowan Park returned home well pleased with their outing.

—Last Saturday was the longest day in the year.

—The Queen City Oil Co's tank wagon was in town on Monday.

—Use Iron Blood Pills to strengthen the whole system.

—The Sunday office hours at the telephone office are from 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m.

—Miss M. V. Waters of the P. S. staff leaves this week to spend vacation at her home in Perth.

—Master Roland and Miss Nellie Halladay, of Elgin, were calling on friends in Athens last week.

—Jack Chasels left on Monday for Portland where he will spend the rest of the summer in a cheese factory.

—FOR SALE—A six-octave Dominion organ, nearly new, a very sweet toned organ, cheap. W. F. Ripley, Athens.

—Mrs. W. A. Lewis and child, Helen, left on Thursday for a months visit with her parents at Sarnia.

—Mrs. S. J. Stevens left yesterday for Montreal on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. W. O'Shea and other relatives.

—We trust that our correspondents throughout the county will be more prompt in sending in items. Some of them have not sent in a line for several weeks.

—At the recent examinations of the Ontario Medical Association Messrs. W. S. Murphy, B. A., A. H. Singleton, B. A., and Hilton M. Moore, former pupils of the A. H. S., were successful in completing the primary examinations.

—A game of baseball which was to have been played here Saturday between the Smith's Falls High school team and the A. H. S. team was postponed on account of rain. The game is taking place this afternoon, (Wednesday), on the H.S. campus.

—The Rev. Irl R. Hicks' Almanac has forecasted the weather very accurately so far this year. A synopsis for the last half of June and all of July will be found in another column. The Reporter has a few of Hicks' Almanac for 1902 on sale at 25 cents.

—The Thousand Island Sun, located at Alexandria Bay, is now issuing a daily edition besides its regular weekly edition. Mr. Oida, the editor, is a cousin of Mrs. B. Lovrin, and is well known to many Athenians who wish him every success in his new venture.

—The heavy rains throughout June have been hard on plaster in houses with poor roofs. When the hot dry weather comes wooden shingles will dry up and leak worse next rain. Get your house shingled with EASTLAKE Steel Shingles. We put them on as low as $4.00 a square, complete and warrant them not to leak. See our samples.—W. F. EARL.

—We call attention to the careless habit of throwing banana peels on the sidewalk. It is not necessary to describe the result of stepping on one of these slippery customers or the language called forth by the victim. Besides the sidewalks are bad enough in their present state and carpeted with banana peels they would be about as difficult to climb as a greasy pole.

—Following is the example of the wage earners throughout the U. S. and Canada, the corporation laborers on the granolithic sidewalks struck last evening for an increase of 25c per day. Their representative told them to "git" if they were dissatisfied with their pay as he could get plenty of men to take their places. They "wilted" and resumed work this morning at old prices.

—The Toronto Daily Star offers a $15 split bamboo pole to the person catching the largest small mouth black bass in Ontario waters before Sept. 11th next. The fish must be seen by two witnesses, weighed by them, and a statement sent to the Daily Star, Toronto. Here is a chance for some of our local sports to show what can be taken from Charleston waters.

—Newspaper men are blamed for a lot of things they cannot help, such as partiality in mentioning visitors, giving news about some town folks and leaving out about some others. An editor should not be expected to know the names and residences of your uncles, aunts and cousins even if he should see them. Tell him or the reporter about it. It's news that makes the newspaper and every man, woman and child in the neighborhood can be associate editors if they want to.

—One of the worst hail storms that has occurred for years in Athens, came down at noon on Tuesday (yesterday). The hail which descended for scarcely a minute completely covered the ground in places. A few minutes after the storm was over one of the citizens was observed drawing a hand sled down the side walk, in which was seated a three year old child, and the sled slipped along as easily as in the winter. Several sharp shocks of thunder took place during the storm and a section of fence on the Lamb farm on the Wilscotown road was struck by lightning.

Promotion examinations are being held in the Public school here this week.

A scrub baseball team from this "sporty" hamlet counted ties out on the B. & W. Tuesday evening to try conclusions with the "Hungry Valley Bulldogs," a baseball team which has its location in a cow pasture about a mile and a half out on the stone road. Five innings had been played when darkness put an end to the game, the Scrubs winning out by a score of 16-8. The return match will be played next —!!!!

The Jacobites, who from time to time amuse the country by exhibitions of loyalty to the house of Stuart, placarded London in the dead of night proclaiming the Archducess Mary Theresa of Bavaria the rightful heir to the British throne.

The death occurred at her home in Easton's Corners on Saturday of Mrs. Shelah Hawkes after a long and painful illness. She suffered from nervous trouble and for years past there had been no hope of her ever being better. She was the mother of Mr. Clarence Hawkes of Smith's Falls, and of Mrs. J. B. Arnold, of Easton's Corners, and formerly resided in the township of Elizabethtown near Addison. She was a kind hearted Christian woman and lived an active useful life in the community where she had her home for so many years. The funeral was held on Monday.

There are two ways of telling the difference between wholesome mushrooms and the poisonous fungi that so closely resemble them. If they are to be boiled, put an onion with them and if it remains white there is nothing to fear. If it turns black, throw out the contents of the dish, for poison lurks there. A common test is to sprinkle a little salt on the pink underpart, and if it turns black you have real mushrooms. If the pink changes to yellow you have a danger signal before you. If precautions like these were taken with all mushrooms, fresh or canned, there would be less sickness in the world.

No less than 73 townships have commuted and abolished the statute labor system, with a view to securing a better roads by more skilled supervision. About half of these made the change during the last year, as shown by the annual report of the commissioner of highways. The report records a marked advance in public sentiment in favor of better roads and shows that the movement for improvement has attained quite large proportions in Ontario. This is the more gratifying when it is remembered with what indifference the subject was first received by the people. The report contains some valuable suggestions for municipalities proposing to take advantage of the provincial grant, and makes public the regulations governing the grant, which call for a good standard of road-work.

ELIZABETHTOWN FINANCES

Township Council Yesterday Considered Treasurer Halladay's Accounts.

The members of the Elizabethtown council were in session at the court house yesterday taking into consideration the financial position of the township, the treasurer, Mr. John Halladay, being short in his accounts, according to his own acknowledgment, some $4,300. All the members of the council and Mr. Halladay are present. They met at 11 o'clock this forenoon and after a short session, at which nothing of consequence was done, adjourned until this afternoon. In all probability an official audit will be asked for, as that is the usual procedure in such cases, and is necessary in order to obtain the exact amount of discrepancy in the finances.—Recorder.

DEATH OF TRUMAN COWAN.

Friends and acquaintances of Mr. Truman Cowan, son of Councillor John Cowan, of Charleston, were shocked to hear of his death which occurred on Saturday last after a few days' illness. About a week ago he was taken ill while in the vicinity of Plum Hollow putting up a hay fork and was brought home. The physicians pronounced his ailment a severe case of appendicitis and although everything possible was done he suffered untold agony until Saturday morning when death relieved his sufferings. Mr. Cowan has resided in Athens for three or four years, being employed as an engineer the most of the time in the Bullis steam saw mill. He married a daughter of Abel Cardiff, of Elizabethtown, who survives him.

The funeral, which took place in the vestry of the Methodist church on Monday, was largely attended. He was a member of Lonsdowne lodge, I.O.O.F., and they with the local lodge here turned out and assisted in the burial services. The funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. W. E. Reynolds and the interment made in the Athens cemetery.

King's Evil

That is Scrofula. No disease is older. No disease is really responsible for a larger mortality. Consumption is commonly its outgrowth. There is no excuse for neglecting it. It makes its presence known by so many signs, such as glandular tumora, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting and general debility. Children of J. W. McGinn, Woodstock, Ont., had scrofula sores so bad they could not attend school for three months. When different kinds of medicines had been used to no purpose whatever, these sufferers were cured, according to Mr. McGinn's voluntary testimonial, by which has effected the most wonderful, radical and permanent cures of scrofula in old and young.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
