Say "No, I cannot Afford It"

Mr. Theo. H. Price of New York is responsible for the following very timely article, which is well worth reading:

The time has come when we must be willing to be eccentric in our economy. We must be willing to wear old clothes and make them over. To ignore the periodicity of the seasons insofar as our head gear is concerned. To clean our own shoes instead of paying five or ten cents for a shoe repairer to do it. To buy our own low-price shoes instead of the fashionable establishments whose extravagant rents we pay in the price demanded for the distinction of dealing with them. To tell the shopkeeper that he is charging too much and leave his wares unthought. To carry our own parcels home and demand a reduction for doing so. To save strings and wrapping paper and make kindling wood out of the boxes instead of throwing them out to be taken away by the garbage man. To use less light and less fuel. To walk when we do not really need to pay a nickel for a ride. To teach our children that they can be happier with a few things than with many.

Those of us who are old enough to have been children 30 years ago are utterly appalled when we consider how many things that were then a thought of now have become "unnecessary necessities." To go to the theatre then was an event. Now it is a weekly if not almost a nightly habit. To dine away from home was then almost unheard of. Now hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent each evening in this country for dinners in restaurants.

The phrase "week-end" had not then been invented and most people spent their Sundays quietly and restfully at home. Now rarely everyone has to go on what Samanthy called a "pleasure exertion" that involves no small expenditure. Their children were brought up to do their share of the household work and profited by the education that they acquired in doing it. Now they must be "provided with amusement." Their

Then we were taught to "turn down the gas" when we left the room. Now the electric lights are allowed to burn. Then the household who kept a carriage and horses was unusual. Now we shamefully apologize if we do not own a "motor." Then we had in plain rings and used the same napkin for at least three meals. Now we must have fresh ones every time we sit down to the table. Children then used slates and pencils which cost a few cents and lasted months. Now they must have paper pads for each of which we pay nearly the price of a slate. If we were any happier or wealthier for all that we think we must have today there might be some justification for the enormous increase in expenditure that is involved, but are we?

There is no statistical record of happiness by which comparison can be made, but if there were it is very doubtful whether the present would show any improvement over the past, and the increase in the number of divorces suggests that life may not perhaps be as blissful as it was fifty years ago.

As to health, it is true that our longevity is greater and our mortality less than it was in the past, but the improvement in this respect is due to the advance of medical science and not to our increased expenditures and self-indulgences. Perhaps we shall be still better off physically if we return to the habits of our fathers insofar as purchasable pleasure and self-satisfaction is concerned.

One thing is however certain. All the laws the government can pass and everything toward reducing prices will avail but little unless we live up to the spirit by which they are inspired and have the moral courage to say, "NO, I CANNOT AFFORD IT."

Potato Chop.

Chop fine the whites of four hard boiled eggs and add to two coffee cups of cold boiled potatoes chopped rather fine. When well tossed together add a cupful of broken English walnuts or hickory nuts and the smallest sized bottle of stuffed olives cut in bits.

Season all to taste with onion juice (obtained by rubbing the onion over a grater), salt and pepper. Melt half a coffee cup of butter, add to it the juice of half a lemon and mix thoroughly with the potato mixture. Arrange on a platter and grate over the top the four egg yolks, arranging as a narrow green border around the edge about three tablespoonsful of chopped parsley.

Every Woman's Right.

To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active, happy life. To nine out of every ten suffer years of agony, usually from some form of bloodlessness. That is why one sees every side, pale, thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping features—sure signs of headaches, weak backs, aching limbs and uncertain health. All such suffering women should win the right to be well by refreshing weary bodies with the new, rich, pure, and completely transformational, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

The new, rich red blood is applied in abundance by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body.

Through the use of these pills thousands of women have found a prompt cure when suffering from anemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, rheumatism, general weakness and those ailments from which women alone suffer. There is no part of this broad Dominion in which you will not find some former sufferer who has regained health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this is the reason why these pills have been a favorite household remedy for more than a generation. If you are ailing and will give the pills a fair trial you will find renewed health and happiness in their use.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Uses For Blackberries.

No fruit is more delicious in jam, jelly or cordial than the blackberry, for which several excellent recipes are given here.

Blackberry Jam.—Prepare the fruit and allow three quarters of a pound of sugar for each pound of fruit. Crush the fruit, put it over a moderate fire and let boil for twenty minutes; then add the sugar which has been heated in the oven, and boil, skimming frequently until a little amount of jelly on a cold saucer. Store as for jelly.

Blackberry jelly.—Heat the berries until softened and the juice flows freely. Let drain. Heat the juice quickly to the boiling point, let boil for twenty minutes, add three fourths the quantity of heated sugar and let cook for only a couple of minutes, stirring hard. Skim and turn into glass. Second and third extractions may be made from the pulp for the remaining juice may be pressed hard from the bag. Use about one-half of a cupful of sugar to each cupful of liquid secured by extractions two and three.

Ball together all extractions after the first and when well reduced add three quarters of a cupful of heated sugar for each cupful of juice and let boil to the jelling stage.

The frankest excuse given by a slacker in this war was given by a Philadelphia youth who, the other day, made a personal visit to the White House at Washington, and lodged a plea for exemption on the ground that he was "too big a coward to fight."

What did you get out of that that case? asked the first lawyer.

"A hundred and fifty thousand dollars," replied the second lawyer.

"Good round sum, eh?"

"Yes, but I thought the old man left more than that."

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctor stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave as this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCHÉ JEFFERSON, 708 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

Warns Germany of Britain's Power.

Copies of the Rheinische Westfalische Zeitung recently received in London contain a series of articles on the war situation, in which the readers of this organ of the Krupps and leading mouthpiece of the German munition makers are warned not to be too optimistic regarding the future, and great stress is laid upon the strength of the British Empire and its world wide dominions. The writer takes Dr. Von Rehm's hollow to his frequent references to the map in talking about the present situation of the belligerents. The map may show some things favorable to Germany, but it shows other things as well, which make an exceedingly gloomy impression. The Essen paper continues:

"England, which at the beginning of the war was so foolishly and dangerously underestimated, has, during the struggle, attained military and political strength which has almost reduced to silence those in the summer of 1914. England the falling Carthage, the land without conscription, has shown herself as a nation which still rules the world, and to drive back which in order that we may live, still requires all our strength."

"In contemplation of the terrible battles in Europe, and in the examination of our European map, we have forgotten the map of the world, and it is high time that we look at that. While in our immediate neighborhood she remains on the defensive she is yet strong enough in other parts of the world to develop a remarkable offensive, a simple result of the policy of the last forty years."

Make an End of War.

The reason why we do not wish peace at the present time is because we wish a lasting peace. The great reason we have for wishing the war to go on for a while longer is that we wish to make an end of war.

Such statements sound paradoxical, but they are merely the simplest common sense. Peace now would lead to a diplomacy never brought about might be secured by a few years of conflict. The result would be a continuance of the war machine of Germany, made vaster then before. And in other nations it would mean war preparations on a scale to which the world has not in the past been accustomed. We should all be impoverished by the annual expense, as we viewed each other with suspicion and got ready for the conflict which was certain to come.

The only way to make an approximate end of war is to prove beyond dispute that war is unprofitable, and that those who wage it for the sake of selfish or national advantage are bound to come to disaster. If this is not done, then treaty breaking, unwarranted invasions, righteousness and ruthlessness, and all the other abominations construction by the German war machine will have the right of way, and we shall go into a future more hideous than the past has been.

It is for this general reason that Lloyd-George will not at present listen to proposals of peace. It fighting was stopped now, Germany would get ready for the next time. And, as he says, "There must be no next time." Hearts everywhere are naturally longing for peace, and are open to the insidious German suggestions. But this is the very time when, weary as the world may be of fighting, it should steel its heart to all suggestion of a stop. The war must be fought out. The Prussian must be brought to his knees. Germany must be delivered of the seven devils which have possessed her. When that comes to pass, we can sit down to games and calm mak-arrangements for a future which shall be marked by better things than a mad military and naval race for first place.—G. O. Carter Times.

Germany Weakening.

British and United States correspondents at the front agree that indications of Germany's weakening powers and resources are multiplying. The German rank and file is deteriorating in quality. The armies are no longer composed of the men of the prime of early manhood who marched so bravely into Belgium and poured into Northern France. The vacant places have been filled by men approaching middle age and by immature youths of 18 and even 17, thrown into the battle line after a few weeks of military training. Even the crack regiments that were believed to be invincible have not the vigor and confidence that marked their earlier achievements on the fields of France and Flanders.

That Germany is suffering from a still greater inferiority in guns and munitions is another phase of the war situation that is chronicled by press correspondents. Orders have been found in the gun emplacements and on the persons of the killed, wounded and prisoners exhorting officers and men not to employ their heavy cannon without reason and to husband both gun and rifle ammunition. Stewart Lyon, the very capable press correspondent with the Canadian forces in the field, notes that many guns have been withdrawn from the German forward area to escape capture. Loss of guns, says this competent

Barbers Itch Eczema

BARBERS' Itch is in reality a form of eczema. The delicate skin becomes irritated from shaving, a little infection gets in, and soon burning, stinging eczema is set up.

Fortunately, there is cure for Barbers' Itch and Eczema in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and once you have made the acquaintance of this soothing, healing ointment, you will always keep it on hand to apply after shaving. Not every time, but whenever there is roughness or irritation of the skin.

Mr. Chas. A. Duxbury, Masford, Ont., states:—"While out in the Northwest I caught barbers' Itch and eczema who has had it will admit that it is not at all pleasant. It began on my neck, below the chin, and spread until I became almost blind. It itched so bad that I had to scratch it, and that only made it worse."

My friend or mine told me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and I did so. The application of this ointment gave prompt relief to the itching, and it was not many weeks until I was entirely free of this annoying ailment."

Some of the ingredients of Dr. Chase's Ointment are very expensive, and for this reason imitations and substitutes are offered because they afford greater profits to the dealer. They will only disappoint you. The genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment will positively cure.

Editorial Brevities.

Bangor women have undertaken to supply their soldier boys with five hundred sweaters and five hundred pairs of wristlets in two weeks. The yarn is given out at the Red Cross Depot and every Bangor woman and girl is knitting. It is a tremendous undertaking, but remembering the manner in which Red Cross appeals have been responded to in other places there is no doubt that Bangor women will successfully accomplish what women in other sections of the warring countries have already done. Women are justly proud of the fact that no demand for war purposes that has been made upon them has failed of accomplishment. This is true whether the request came for workers in industrial or agricultural areas, in hospital or other relief work; and women everywhere are still ready to do their bit to the utmost.

Reminiscences.

As age lives largely in remembrance, I feel impelled this morning to write something of my past experience, especially as this is the anniversary of an important day in my life. Sixty-six years ago to day I left my boyhood's home in Sheffield, New Brunswick, for Acadia College. It was not very cheerfully done as it is always trying to youth to leave home the first time. Perhaps it was more so to me as I was the youngest member and had been the pet of a large family. I remained in St. John and the next afternoon took passage in the steamer "Fairy Queen" for Windsor, Nova Scotia. The next morning early we passed Wolfville on the way to the steamer's stopping place. Arrived at Windsor I had to remain till the afternoon when two coaches came from Halifax. They were run in opposition by political parties. When I reached Wolfville Prof. Chipman asked which coach I came in. I told him. He then said, "Why didn't you take the other?" I suppose that he was affiliated with the political party that was running the other coach. But as I was an entire stranger and unacquainted with the excellencies and defects of either party, he made no complaint. I was immediately given a room in the college adjoining the one occupied by Thomas A. Higgins and Anthony Phalen. That evening at table I was waited on by a colored gentleman named Solomon, who complained of the students for sending him for so many cups of tea.

The next afternoon I was called up for examination to see if I was fit to enter college. As a young man who had French there he had, I felt no doubt of my acceptance. Dr. Cramp first asked me what I had read in Latin. I told him I had read six books of Caesar, seven of Virgil, every line of Horace's writings that are extant, all of Sallust and several books of Livy. "What about Greek?" he said. I told him I had read Valpy's Delectus, the Greek Testament as a text book in school, and six books of Homer's Iliad. He then selected a portion of Livy which I read to his complete satisfaction. Then he asked me to read a portion of Homer. He stopped me once. I blundered; but I corrected myself at once.

Prof. Chipman then tried me in mathematics. He also wished to know what I had done. I told him I had gone through Bonycastle's Algebra with Diaphantine Analysis, Euclid's six books of plane Geometry, two books of solid Geometry and had taken a course in Land Surveying and Navigation. He asked one question only. I was then judged fit to enter the highest class in College. Wolfville I found to be a beautiful place with a fine class of residents—Dr. Johnson, Drs. Simon and James R. Fitch, John Chase, the Treasurer of the College, and many others that I could name. Father Theodore Harding was still the pastor of the Baptist church. He had reached the outer boundary of life and was waiting for the call, "Come up higher." Dr. Cramp frequently took the evening service.

The male Academy was then in a flourishing condition. Jarvis W. Hart was Principal and Harry W. Johnston Assistant. The old college building, in whose heifer I spent the day reading (the day of the terrible drowning accident) was in good shape. But it was destroyed by fire Dec. 2nd, 1877. Although so many years have passed since I knew Wolfville, I feel a great interest in it still. My attachment to its college is unfeeling, especially as I had three sons among its students at the same time and my eldest daughter in the Ladies' Seminary. Perhaps I will have something more to write at a later day.

Our Ottawa Letter.

Ottawa, August 31st, 1917.—It is fortunate for this country that the government have machinery at hand by which the obstructive tactics of irresponsible partisans can be defeated, and the work of parliament be completed. The deliberate efforts of reckless politicians means fearful waste of time, and big expense to the country. But, if permitted, they would talk on, utterly heedless of those results.

The proposals of the government in regard to the Canadian Northern Railway have been before the House of Commons since August 1st. They have been discussed from every angle. Messrs. Pugsley, Graham, McDonald, Lemieux and others of the obstructionists have repeated their speeches over and over again and on second reading and in Committee; and still they are not satisfied. They want opportunities and time to say those speeches again a score of times; and thus block public business.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier admits that the government cannot permit the country's credit to be shaken by letting the company go into liquidation. Something, he says, must be done to prevent that. But E. M. McDonald and a few more of the reckless bunch clamour for liquidation. They think that probably that would make greater trouble for the government.

As already explained, it was the Laurier Government that tied the C. P. R. on the back of Canada, and the Borden government have to face the complication and deal with it. They intend to deal with it in the right way. They now hold forty per cent. of the stock and intend to take over the balance, sixty per cent., and thus nationalize the road in the public interests.

The C. P. R. wants the road. And its big men have lined up strong opposition to the government's measure. And the Laurier crowd, excepting a few who refuse to be stampeded are the tools of the C. P. R. in this matter.

It would be an outrage of the public interests to let the C. P. R. gobble up the Canadian Northern and thus become the monopolist and dictator of transcontinental transportation; and in addition hold the western provinces under complete control. The Borden government is standing between the public interests and the C. P. R., determined to protect the public whereas Laurier's men have been fighting night and day for weeks to put the country completely under the heel of the C. P. R.

Fortunately, as already stated, the government has the power of "closure," and they use that effectively to stop the stream of tiresome and wasteful speechmaking with which the Laurier machine hoped to defeat the government. As already stated, the government has the power of "closure," and they use that effectively to stop the stream of tiresome and wasteful speechmaking with which the Laurier machine hoped to defeat the government.

At two o'clock they had to vote, and the Bill was carried and the blockers lost four Liberal members, Clark, Turriell, Guthrie and Champagne, who voted with the government for public ownership and against C. P. R. monopoly.

Third reading of the Bill came on Wednesday evening and the obstructionists were ready again to kill more time. Pugsley started in with a long speech and moved to send the Bill back to committee for amendment. Sir Robert Borden replied to him in a speech that rattled the Pugsley sophistries.

About eleven o'clock E. M. McDonald moved for adjournment of the debate, in ending, of course, to take all of Thursday afternoon with a brain storm, and that other obstructionists would follow him. The government made no objection to the adjournment, but as soon as it was carried Sir Thomas White quietly arose and gave notice of closure which punctured the whole obstructionists game. McDonald had thus only twenty minutes to blow off on Thursday; and there was a melancholy procession of twenty minute obstructionists beating the air Thursday afternoon and night repeating one another's speeches to keep the game going until two o'clock Friday morning, at which hour, under the rules, the vote had to be taken.

The western Liberal machine has played its last card on union government. The manipulators, after consulting at Winnipeg, sent down an ultimatum to Sir Robert Borden to the effect that they would come in if he would step out from the position of Chairman of a War Council.

Naturally the public will ask who they suggested as Prime Minister. In view of the prevailing storm of opinion out west against Laurier, they did not dare to suggest him for the leadership. They suggested Sir George Foster, which shows at once that in any event even the western Liberal machine was convinced that the best qualified men for leadership are to be found in the government ranks.

When You Come to The EXHIBITION

BE SURE AND COME TO SEE US!

Of course you are going to do your best to get away for a few days and take in the Provincial Exhibition this year. They tell us that it is really going to be worth while. Well, when you are down, don't leave the city without seeing us. We want to meet our customers personally. We have thousands of them all over the provinces and are always glad to see them. At the same time don't you think that it would be a good idea to lay in a supply for the winter. We are sure that you will find it will pay you to come and do some shopping in the "Big Store". No matter what street car you may take, it will stop at our store—it's the easiest store in the city to reach by tram. We shall be looking for you.

Sir Robert Borden is truly a great man and a great statesman; and he is full hearted in his earnest desire to have Canada do her utmost in the grim struggle of war.

He called his followers together Wednesday morning and told them the whole story; and without reservation, as a true and patriotic statesman of noble qualities, declared that he was ready to hand over the position of Prime Minister to his old and faithful friend, Sir George Foster. But Sir George Foster would not listen to any such proposal. Nor would Sir Robert Borden's followers entertain it. Never was there a more

It Rests with the Women

Our Women folks, after all, are the real buyers for the whole family and it is to them, especially, that this "Trade at Home" idea is directed.

If the average woman could be made to realize that every time she spends a dollar away from Wolfville she is simply taking that much away from her husband, father, son or brother--she would keep it here.

Every time a dollar leaves here it lessens the chance of our men folks for advancement, possibly an increase of salary--it reduces their earning power.

Will any woman be so thoughtless as to send away money that spent here will circulate from hand to hand

Most women are good, true, loyal citizens, and especially is this true of our Wolfville women.

It surely will only be necessary to have this matter brought to their attention in order that results may follow.

In trading at home our women folks can do their share in the up-building of our town.

Let every woman who reads this think well over the question and then discuss it with other members of their family and their neighbors.

THE WOMEN OF WOLFVILLE WILL SURELY DO THEIR PART

Mr. W. D. Lightball, of the Mount Reform Club, a life-long Liberal and well-known throughout Canada for his great interest in municipal government matters, has issued a letter in which he said that he had previously voiced the ideas of many prominent members of the Liberal party in favor of a patriotic non-partisan stand on conscription. These ideas did not prevail. Now he is compelled to take this stand: "I, for one—and I know there are many like me—will have nothing to do with the shame and disgrace of self-conscription, nor of partisan alliance with anti-conscription under whatever auspices please they may be vetted, nor in company with demagogues and followers of demagogues, however numerous."

The Boy Scouts.

On Sunday last was concluded the sixth annual camp of the Wolfville Troop. Though not the largest it was one of the most successful. No accidents or sickness of any kind occurred and all agree that the boys looked very fit when they returned.

A number of visitors came out to the camp on Wednesday and showed much interest in the camp-treat, and in the sports which took place on the mill pond.

The prize for nearest tent went to the one occupied by Wm. Ritchie.

Merrill Mason and Arth. Brown. The thanks of the boys are due to those who so kindly contributed financially, and also by sending letters, particularly Capt. Pratt, W. H. Chase, Theo. Stackhouse, Mr. Bullock and Harold Johnson.

Black River.

The Baptist church at Black River, which has been undergoing alterations and repairs, was reopened on Sunday last and presented a very pleasing appearance. An excellent address was given by the Rev. Mr. Mason, of Wolfville, who also administered the rite of baptism to four candidates. Several selections, including 'Master the Tempest' is ringing, were rendered by the choir. At the close of the service the Lord's Supper was observed. The congregation was larger than the capacity of the church. Much praise is due the pastor, Mr. E. A. Robertson, who superintended the work of repairs, and who is a very zealous and energetic worker.

Miss Ceve B. Davison arrived from Boston on Monday afternoon and will spend a vacation of a few weeks in Wolfville.

Mrs. R. D. G. Harris and little daughter, who have been spending the summer in New Brunswick, returned home on Monday.

Mrs. H. A. Sault returned last week from a very pleasant visit to New England and points in the western part of the province.

Misses Florence and Isobel Davidson, who have been spending the summer at their home here, left on Saturday for New England. The latter will resume her position as teacher of English at the Beverly high school, while the former will visit her sister, Mrs. E. W. Cox, at Ware, Mass.

A Missionary for Korea.

A very interesting service was held in the Presbyterian church, Kentville, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 5th, when Miss Alice Bligh, B. A., daughter of Robert Bligh, Lakeville, was formally set apart for work in the foreign mission field of Korea. Rev. Mr. Layton, pastor of the church, conducted the service. Rev. G. W. Miller, Moderator of Presbytery, read the scripture and offered prayer, and Rev. Mr. Forbes, of Scotsburn, Convener of the Foreign Mission Committee, formally designated Miss Bligh to Korea and presented her with an English bible, a gift from the committee, also one in Korean, a gift from the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Miss Bligh then addressed the congregation and narrated the steps that led up to the most important event in her life.

Rev. Daniel Cook, missionary on furlough from Honan, India, spoke on the progress of the work of the gospel in the East.

Perhaps the most pleasing feature of the evening was a very appropriate address by Dr. Forrest, ex-President of Delhousie College, under whom Miss Bligh had taken her college course.

Miss Bligh expects to leave for Korea some time during the present year. Her career will be followed with special interest by her many friends.

Save the Children.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Died in Massachusetts.

AVERY A. FULLERTON. It was with great surprise and universal sorrow that the community learned of the death of Avery A. Fullerton at his home Thursday morning.

Mr. Fullerton had been sick for ten days with paralysis of the bowels but his condition was not generally known to be so serious until early Thursday morning when his case was pronounced hopeless by a specialist who had been called and who told Mr. Fullerton and his family that he could live but two hours at longest. He died in a little less time. Mr. Fullerton was a most genial, friendly man with hosts of friends who regret most sincerely his sudden taking off. He had lived here about 18 years and was very well known. He was 46 years, 5 months and eleven days old. He was born in Nova Scotia, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander A. Fullerton. He was a high school graduate. He was married March 14, 1895, to E. Mabel Smith, Recluse in Mansfield.

For about 14 years Mr. Fullerton was in the hotel business in Boston and for about 8 years in this town. For about 6 years he had been employed by the W. C. Fuller Co. His wife and son Rector survive him as does also his mother, residing in Grand Pre, N. S. He leaves six sisters, Mrs. L. Cogswell, of Wintthrop; Mrs. Walter Stevens, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. John Simpson of Wintthrop; Mrs. A. Nickerson, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Chas. Patterson, of Hortonville; Miss Phoebe Fullerton, Grand Pre, N. S.; and three brothers, Oliver, Ross and William Fullerton, all of Nova Scotia. Mr. Fullerton was the first death among the family of children. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock—Mansfield (Mass.) News.
