PROMINENT IRISH STATESMAN BEFORE THE CANADIAN CLUB

T. P. O'Connor Having Toured Canada from West to East Makes His Last Appearance in This Country Before a Halifax Audience.—In Eloquent Speech Appeals to the Sympathy of Canada in Home Rule Cause.

(Halifax Recorder)

The Canadians Club's luncheon yesterday was one of the largest attended functions ever held by that club. The attraction was another address by T. P. O'Connor, M. P., and although the large majority of those present had already heard him speak, they wished again to listen to his eloquence and wit.

When Judge Wallace the president of the club had introduced the speaker, "The Day" was given a welcome equal to any he had received. He said that in the many audiences that he had addressed in Canada he had never felt more at home than here in Nova Scotia. In this province he found the original of many of the old settlers, many of whom came from Ireland and here found that spirit that made him feel so much at home. On this occasion he found himself surrounded by men from the British Isles, or whose fathers had come from there. On his right was a Scotchman, like Gladstone a Grand Old Man.

This would be his last speech in Canada on this trip, and he was much impressed with the solemnity of the occasion after his trip from coast to coast. He considered the greatest thing in the world to be the beginning of the new second birth that Canada has seen in the last few years. Here, soon, instead of eighteen or twenty millions of people would be found a hundred million. The fact that the Irish cause had found such immediate and enthusiastic response in Canada did not mean, and should not mean, any laud for the British Isles. The regard for his own race was but a useful and necessary complement to the other races. Combine the steadiness of the English, the energy of the Scots and the fervency of the Irish and there would be a quality of grace that might form a great ennobling homo among the races of the world.

Like all leaders in reform, the leaders of the Irish party had been subject to attack and misunderstanding. That his appeal in Canada met such prompt response was largely due to the essential fact that he only asked for Ireland the same condition that exists in Canada: one National parliament, and an administration on broad lines for local control of local affairs.

The four nations comprising the British Isles have many differences and each should be allowed to decide its local affairs as it is here. Over and above these there should be one supreme parliament to deal with matters of national importance, pertaining to foreign affairs, the army and navy, etc., and all combined might reach the same ideal that exists here, where there is local liberty and national unity.

In the West he had visited the schools of Regina and there he had found children of many nationalities, all together and all Canadians, which he considered something to be admired. These children of all nationalities were, as it were, placed in a caldron and mixed together and came out not Irish, English, Slavs or Austrians, but Canadians.

In time all the bitterness that existed between the Irish and English would have entirely disappeared. It was not with the masses of the English people that the Irish had the disagreement, but with the landed interests—the landlords and the House of Lords.

In conclusion, Mr. O'Connor said that he had gained much by this visit to Canada, and in leaving he wished to say that he would always be a loyal and devoted admirer and friend.

Mr. O'Connor in a farewell message to Canada says:

"In Nova Scotia where my tour ended, I found an atmosphere congenial to one who comes from the Old Countries—a New Scotland, a New Ireland, with the adventurous spirit of the New World commingled delightfully with something of the perfume of the Old World atmosphere."

Derelict in Bay of Fundy

St. John, N. B., Nov. 1.—Drifting about the Bay of Fundy, in the path of steamers and sailing craft, the little schooner Maggie is a derelict at the mercy of the wind and tide.

Her crew of three escaped when she struck at the entrance to Quaco harbor Saturday night and Sunday they stood upon shore with their glasses and watched the boat drift away toward the Nova Scotia shore.

The Maggie, a schooner of 36 tons, sailed from St. John on Friday. The ### blow during the night and Saturday

was too much for her and carried away her foretopmast head. Then it was that her skipper decided to seek shelter in Quaco harbor. As she was about to enter the harbor she ran aground, and a few minutes later began to fill.

The two took to a small boat and, after a struggle, succeeded in reaching land. Warnings have been sent out, but it is feared the Maggie may cross the path of some steamer or schooner with disastrous results.

The vessel is owned in Mattland, Nova Scotia, and was in command of Captain Burgess of St. John.

Murder Theory in McGregor Case

Now Believed That Body of Missing Man is in Lake.

Digby, Nov. 6.—There were some new developments today in the McGregor case. Hundreds of searchers have been through the woods on both sides of the railway track from Jordantown Station to Digby, and many searchers have also been as far west as Bloomfield. Detective Hanrahan, Chief of Police Bowles and your correspondent went as far as Delaps Lake, fifteen and a half miles from Digby.

It is now learned that on the night of October 18th or early on the 19th, a trolley was heard to pass Ken's Bridge near the house of the house of the missing man about midnight, going west, returning east about four o'clock a.m. This trolley was heard at various places along the line and its whereabouts have been more or less traced to Burton's Lake, about twelve miles west of the McGregor homestead.

Burton's Lake is situated on the south side of the railway track, a short distance from the line, but not visible from the train. Opposite this lake on the north side of the track were the marks where a trolley had been taken off the track but left closer to the rail than is the usual custom by men employed on the section.

There is a probability that McGregor's body may be in the lake. The return trip of the trolley towards Digby was a rapid one, it passing the Jordantown Station at a tremendous rate of speed.

Detective Hanrahan, as well as Chief of Police Bowles are working hard to clear up the mystery, and the Detective has gathered a lot of evidence. That McGregor has been murdered and his body concealed is the opinion throughout the entire community.

Section foreman Robinson, White, and others along the D.A.R. are rendering every assistance possible to locate the trolley which made its strange run on the fatal night, and the men who "pumped" it over the inclines, and let it run wild over various down grades for it was a trolley "going some" in places especially on its return. A lot of excitement prevails here tonight and every one is anxious to learn the latest concerning Edward McGregor's strange disappearance from his home on the night of October 18th.

Postponement in Execution of Dr. Crippen

Hearing of Appeal Causes Change in Plans—Trying to Obtain Reprieve Now.

London, Nov. 7.—It was officially announced that Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, would not be executed tomorrow, as originally arranged, for the reason that the law provides that two weeks must elapse between the dismissal of an application and the carrying out of a sentence. The exact date for the execution has not been fixed. Meanwhile solicitor Newton Crippen's counsel, is drafting a petition for a reprieve.

November 23rd has been announced as the date for the execution. The Philadelphia Press this morning published an interview with Francis T. Tobin, a lawyer of that city, who stated he was in possession of proof that Belle Elmore, for whose murder Dr. Crippen has been sentenced to death, was alive and hiding near Chicago. Mr. Tobin intimated that he would ask the State Dept. to direct the U.S. Ambassador at London to lay the matter before the British Home Secretary.

BOSTON CANADIAN CLUB
Boston, Nov. 3.—The Canadian Club has arranged its annual banquet to be held in the Parker House on Nov. 22nd. It will be the most important celebration in the history of the club, for it will inaugurate the campaign for peace for one hundred years between the United States, Great Britain and Canada.

Are You Loyal to Your Community

No word appeals more strongly to the average person than loyalty. We all love to be spoken of as loyal to family, friends, country and to our ideals. We should also include our home city.

There is no doubt of our sincerity in this, and we would feel very much offended were it questioned, but is this loyalty always of the high sort; is it intelligent and active, or is it sometimes a sentimental and pleasing fancy with which we delude ourselves?

The happiness of a city depends largely on the prosperity of the community as a whole, and this prosperity depends in part upon the amount of money circulated there. The more money the people send away for things they can buy from their own merchants, the poorer the community will become and, conversely, the more they spend at home, THE MORE THE PLACE WILL THRIVE.

Do those who patronize distant mail order houses ever think of the harm done? If all the good people in Boston, for instance, should ignore the local merchants and for one year buy all their supplies in Chicago, Buffalo and New York, there would be "For Sale" signs on the city hall, Young's, the public library and the old North church. The same principle applies to all communities.

PATRONAGE OF HOME MERCHANTS IS THE LIFE OF A CITY. The mail order houses by offering attractive (if) premiums with different goods, have drawn from us large amounts of money which, if spent at home, would have helped to pay for schools, paving, and general civic improvement. Outside business houses do not pay any part of our taxes.

But, "Business is Business" some say. Yes, but business is more than that. IT IS RECIPROCAL, and it should be apparent to everyone that business dealings with those who are working for the same local interests as ourselves will be far more productive of good, than trading with people who are far away, who buy nothing from us, and whose only interest in our community is the amount of money they can get out of it.

Do you recall when times have been hard that these mail order houses ever extended you credits to help you over the hard places? Will they? Not in a thousand years—IT'S MONEY DOWN, OR NO GOODS. The local merchants are the ones to whom we must turn for assistance, but how can we do so with good grace or reason unless we support them in prosperous times!

They are alert, intelligent and progressive, and, if given the opportunity, will sell better goods at the same, or lower prices, than the mail order houses can or will and deliver them at once—no express charges, no long delays, no disappointments.

Let us cease, then, enriching a few people in whom we have no sort of interest, at the cost of lasting injury to our own community. Try supporting our own home business for a time.

Surely, loyalty, in this instance, means SPEND YOUR MONEY AT HOME.—Exchange.

RURAL TELEPHONE SERVICE

The Scotts Bay Telephone Company was formed some time last spring for the purpose of constructing and operating a telephone line on the road from Canning to Scotts Bay. The line has been completed on a two wire or metallic system. Subscribers are connected with the Valley Telephone Co.'s system and Canning Exchange. Arrangements have been made so that they are allowed the same privileges of other subscribers in Canning and vice versa.

The work of hauling and setting the poles has been done by the people who have the service. The placing of the wires and installing the telephones was arranged for so that the Telephone Company's employees did the work for them.

Filtration of Water Supplies

The quality of water for human consumption depends upon the polluting and purifying influences to which it has been subjected before reaching the consumer. It is well known that the general health of a community using a sewage polluted water gradually falls lower and lower and the death rate increases proportionately. Of the diseases most frequently following the use of an impure water, typhoid fever holds, at the present day, the most prominent position in the public eye. It is a curious fact, as yet unexplained, that the change from an impure water to a pure supply diminishes the sickness and death rate, not only from typhoid fever, but also from tuberculosis, pneumonia, and other serious diseases. It is also a fact that in certain cities using a sewage polluted water the death rate from typhoid fever is many times more than that for cities using a filtered water supply taken from the same source.

Generally speaking, there are two methods in use for the filtration of public water supplies: they are known as the "Slow Sand" filtration and "Mechanical" filtration. In the former type, the water filters through beds of sand and gravel at varying rates of from two to five million gallons per acre every twenty-four hours, according to the character of the water. In mechanical filtration, a precipitate is first added to the water, which is then passed through a medium of sand under pressure, the rate of filtration being many times more than in the slow sand filters.

The type of filter best suited for any particular water must be carefully considered before adoption by a municipality, and this can only be done by a competent sanitary engineer. When either system can be used, it resolves itself into a question of primary cost and annual maintenance. The slow sand filters cost, approximately, $30,000 per million gallons of the daily consumption and about ten per cent, of this per annum for operating; while a mechanical filter costs about one-fourth, and, if carefully operated, a high degree of efficiency as regards purification can be obtained. This is well exemplified at Chatham, Ontario, where for some years filters of this latter class have been in operation, the water treated being that of the river Thames.—Commission of Conservation, Ottawa.

McCurdy Will Make Flight on Saturday

Daring Young Nova Scotia Aviator All Ready to Make Overseas Flight.

New York, November 7.—The overseas flight by Aviator J.A.D. McCurdy, from the deck of a Transatlantic liner, fifty miles out, to Governor's Island, in New York harbor, has again been changed. Originally set for last Saturday, it was postponed until November 24th, because of bad weather and is now advanced to November 12th, next Saturday, to take place from the deck of the Hamburg-American liner Pennsylvania, which will sail at noon. As in the first announcement, McCurdy plans to carry a bag of mail. Glenn H. Curtiss, for whom McCurdy flies, says: "Nothing short of a gale will prevent the flight. I have every confidence that McCurdy will land the United States mails on Governor's Island."

Bay of Fundy Fishing Fleet

The oldest inhabitant engaged in the fishing business cannot remember any autumn, with the exception of this one, when there were no small fishing vessels fishing in the Bay of Fundy, making Digby their headquarters. The Digby fleet now consists of vessels large enough to go to the westward where they find more profitable fishing. Of course the most of their fares are sold here, but occasionally they sell a quantity of fish in Yarmouth. Quite a fleet of gasoline boats, however, are fishing in the Bay when the weather permits. About all these boats are owned at Victoria Beach, Port Wade and Bay View.—The Digby Weekly Courier.

ANNUAL MEETING OF RECREATION HALL ASSOCIATION

Trustees Elected for Ensuing Year.— Loan of $400 Raised to Complete Building to Cost Approximately $800. Contributions from the Public Desired to Assist in Carrying Out This Worthy Object.

The inaugural meeting of the Annapolis County Recreation Association was held on Monday, 24th ult., Mr. Karl Freeman occupying the chair. For the information of those interested it should be stated that the "Annapolis County Recreation Association" is the name given to the body corporate, who have kindly undertaken the charge of the County Hospital Recreation Hall, now nearly completed. The name, it is felt, is hardly adequate, but the following excerpt from the "Act of Incorporation" will probably make the matter clear:—

The Association shall have power (2) To construct, purchase, erect or maintain a hall or building for recreation purposes, entertainments and all other such uses and purposes as the Association may from time to time determine for the inmates of the Annapolis County Charitable Institutions situated near Bridgetown, in the County of Annapolis.

(c) To apply from time to time any of the funds of the Association for any of the purposes of the Association, and to do all such other things as are incidental or conducive to the carrying out of the above objects or any of them."

At the outset of the meeting the Rev. E. Underwood, Rector of Bridgetown, was asked to be Secty-Treasurer of the Association, and he having consented was duly elected.

Election of Trustees for the ensuing year, according to Section 4 of the Act of Incorporation, resulted in the following Board—Messrs Alfred J. Hiltz, John A. Myers, Karl Freeman, Dr. M.E. Armstrong, of Bridgetown, and the Warden of the Municipality of the County of Annapolis.

A Committee was also appointed to draw up bye-laws for the governance of the Association, such bye-laws to be adopted subject to the approval of the Governor-in-Council. The matter of finance was then taken up. The Treasurer reported having received from various sources

Mr. Hiltz reported liabilities outstanding of upwards of $340. After some discussion it was deemed expedient to raise a loan of not more than $400.00 with which to offset these and finish the building. The meeting then adjourned to await the report of the Committee on bye-laws.

In connection with the above we append the Treasurer's report of income to date by which it will be seen that those interested in this philanthropic work have yet considerable to do in the way of raising money to offset the $400 borrowed to meet the cost of constructing the Hall. It is felt there are many who would yet like to contribute and the appeal is made to such to send their contributions to the Treasurer or to Mr. Hiltz, the Superintendent of the County Hospital. No word of praise can be too great for the way in which both Mr. Hiltz and Mr. Myers, the Superintendent of the County Home have worked in connection with this undertaking, giving time and labor incessantly. Indeed, but for them, the Hall could not possibly have been built at the modest figure of approximately $800.

Amount previously acknowledged $432.23
Hon. O. T. Daniels 5.00

The Vacancy in the Senate

Eastern Chronicle.—We were under the impression that the intention was to call Premier Murray to the Senate, but we are informed that there is no such intention and that the Premier's health is good and that he will be back to work very soon. We also understand that the seat in the Senate vacated by Hon. J. D. McGregor when he accepted the Lieut.-Governorship is to be bestowed on Mr. Hance Logan of Cumberland.

Curing Catarrah

Accept Our Advice and Try This Remedy at Our Risk

Catarrah is a disease of the mucous membrane. The mucous membrane is one may say, the interior lining of the body. Catarrah therefore may exist in any part of the system.

When the catarrah poison attacks the mucous membrane, inflammation and congestion are produced and nature fails to throw off the accumulated poisons. The organ which has been afflicted ceases to perform its proper function as nature intended it should. The result is, complication upon complication, which may lead to other even more serious afflictions.

We want you if you are a sufferer from catarrah in any form, to give Rexall Muc-Tone a thorough trial. Use it with regularity and persistently for a reasonable time, then if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every cent you paid us. This is certainly the fairest offer that any one could make and should attest our sincerity of purpose. It comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at The Rexall Store, W. A. Warren.

Nov. 2nd.) One day last week Mrs. Archibald Burns entertained a company of her relatives and friends. Among her guests from a distance were, Mrs. Judson Balcom, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Balcom, of Lawrencetown, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Balcom and daughter, George, of Margareville, and Miss Gladys E. Cleveland. Mrs. Burns, who is the oldest lady in our community, was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. Frank Hogan. As age intensifies affection and friendship, a most enjoyable day was spent with the venable hostess.

Mr. Lamert Nichols and sister, Lolla, of Aylesford, spent Thanksgiving the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Israel D. Parker.

Miss Hettie Parker, one of our popular young lady teachers, came from Smiths Cove to spend Thanksgiving with her parents. She was accompanied by her friend, Miss Nellie Sully.

Miss Hattie Mills, our teacher, spent Thanksgiving with her parents at Granville Ferry and Mr. Agnes Gesner, of the teaching staff at the Ferry, was home with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. Wm. Gesner.

Montreal, Nov. 3.-Surgeons at the Royal Victoria have just released a patient of twenty-seven nails were extracted and who suffers no ill effects. The man is a vandyville performer and swallows nails as an occupation, permitting nature to rid his system of such encumbrances. Occasionally they sting and collect, requiring an operation.

Shiloh's Cure

It is urged that men should vote as they pray, but as a general rule do not. We know little about that, but we have noticed that men, generally vote as they grumble.-Eastern Chronicle.

Many school children suffer from constipation, which is often the cause of seeming stupidity at lessons. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Liver Tablets are an ideal medicine to give a child, for they are mild and gentle in their effect, and will cure even chronic constipation. Sold by all dealers.

PERFECTION A. WINS RACE AT MIDDLETON.

Middleton, October 28.-The last race meet held here was the best of the season. Although the weather was cold, the horses travelled well and some of them in the three-minute class graduated, and next season will have to start in a faster class. In the green race, Mr. Dumont's 'Dan' won, with Mr. Fhinney's stallion, by Border second. In the three-minute class, Lady Evelyn won the first two, distancing some of the field. The third heat also went to Perfection A. and the races were called off for the day.

When another day dawned the track was heavy and it was raining. R.W.E. eventually won the three-minute class, and Perfection A., the 2.28, stepping the last mile in 2.25. H.C. Lydiard captured second money with Perkin's Bell Mack, third.

In the 2.22 class, six horses started. Perfection A., after losing the first heat to Lydiard's flyer, took the next two, distancing some of the field. The third heat also went to Perfection A. and the races were called off for the day.

Joker's Corner

A FAIR SETTLEMENT.

Up in Minnesota Mr. Olsen had a cow killed by a railroad train. In due season the claim agent for the railroad called.

"We understand, of course, that the deceased was a very docile and valuable animal," said the claim agent in his most persuasive claim-gentlemanly manner. "And we sympathize with you and your family in your loss. But, Mr. Olsen, you must remember this—Your cow had no business being upon our tracks. Those tracks are our private property and when she invaded them she became a trespasser. Technically speaking, you, as her owner, became a trespasser also. But we have no desire to carry the issue into court, and possibly give you trouble. Now, then, what would you regard as a fair settlement between you and the railroad company?"

"Well," said Mr. Olsen slowly. "Ay bene poor Swede farmer, but I shall give you two dollars." "Everybody's."

THE MICE DIDN'T CARE.

Little Dorothy is one of those children whose danger signal is silence. When she is still, she is in mischief.

The other day her mother became aware of the quiet which boded trouble. She was about to look for the child when, at that moment, Dorothy came in, her face rosy with happiness, and her mouth covered with crumbs.

"Where have you been, Dorothy?" asked her mother. "What are you eating?"

"Cheese," said the young lady calmly.

"Where did you get it, dear?"

"In the mou-trap," exclaimed her mother, horrified.

"Oh yeh!"

"But what will the mice do? They won't have any cheese."

"Oh, dey don't care, mamma! Dey was two moufles in de trap, and dey didn't care a bit."

CORRECTED.

Bob was telling about his visit to the country. While there he had acquired some rustic idioms, and his mother was correcting these as he proceeded—

"Well, we goes up—"

"Went up—"

"Went up on the farm—"

"To the farm—"

"To the farm, and there we see!"

"We saw."

"We saw a little bid—"

"Little child. Now begin again and tell it properly."

"Well, we went up to the farm, and there we saw a goat's little child."

Mark Twain hated a gloomy man. Once a gloomy man sat opposite him. This man would not smile at the most amusing jokes.

"What's the matter with you?" cried Mark Twain. "The stories are all good. Why don't you laugh?" "Ah, sir," said the gloomy man, "how can I laugh, when I remember that every time I breathe a soul passes into the great beyond?" "Good gracious!" said the humorist, "did you ever try doves?"

Editor Monitor:

Will you kindly publish the following letter which is of interest to all residents of Annapolis County.

Nova Scotia Historical Society Halifax, Oct. 1st, 1910

Dear Mr. Howe—

Our Historical Society is moving in the matter of marking in some simple and suitable manner the various Historical Sites scattered over the Province. Many of these, particularly in Halifax, are even now almost forgotten and we find that we have not begun the work a day too soon.

We will commence with the City and make a start with a few tablets on sites worthy of remembrance and we trust to be able to continue the work in every county of the Province.

Kindly send me a list for Annapolis County of places and sites, which may suggest themselves to your judgment, as worthy of marking. We propose to have Tablets of Aluminum, inexpensive and indestructible, the metal will not rust and is far ahead of iron for the purpose in the railroad company."

"Well," said Mr. Olsen slowly. "Ay bene poor Swede farmer, but I shall give you two dollars." "Everybody's."

GREATEST CURE FOR RHEUMATISM IS "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

"I Honestly Believe It," says Mr. Mills

Knowlton, P.Q., Oct. 12th, 1909.

For many years I suffered from severe Rheumatism and the attacks were very distressing and prevented me from doing my ordinary work.

I tried many remedies and physicians' treatments but nothing seemed to do me much good, and I was becoming very anxious for fear I would become a permanent cripple from rheumatism.

I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and this medicine has entirely cured me, and I honestly believe that "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest Rheumatism Cure in the world.

E. E. MILLS, A. S. T. M., Knowlton, Que.

"Fruit-a-tives" not only strengthens and heals the kidneys—but also regulates the bowels, improves the action of the skin—makes the blood pure and rich and free from uric acid which causes Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives"—the great fruit medicine—is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, for $2.50; trial size, 25c; or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

SUNDAY PLOUGHING DECONTINUED

A land company in Saskatchewan had three gasoline engines at work for several Sundays, ploughing. A report came to the Alliance and action was immediately taken. It appears the manager of the company had already appeared in court to answer a charge of violating the Lord's Day Act. He, however, was determined to go on with the Sunday labor, evidently under the impression that he could afford to pay a modest fine because of the extra work done. The Attorney-General's Department was communicated with and asked to investigate. The suggestion was also made by the Western Secretary that in view of the attitude of the manager, action should be taken against the company under Secs. 14 and 15 of the Lord's Day Act, thus securing the imposition of heavier penalties. Word was received from Attorney-General that two men had already been imposed upon the manager—twenty and fifty dollars, that he had ordered a further investigation and was awaiting report, and that the suggestion made by the Alliance would be considered. The manager has, in the meantime, given a pledge that he will not again offend, and reports from the locality say that the work has ceased. Our correspondent, in his last letter, says he understands in good authority, that the "Sunday work is at an end, by order." He adds, "for this we are thankful and grateful to you for kind and ready assistance." W.M.B.

Shiloh's Cure

Where Charity Begins

The public spirited lady met the little boy in the street. Something about his appearance stopped her. She started at him in her next neighborly way.

"The Lady—" "Little boy, haven't you any home?"

"The Little Boy—" "Oh yes, I've got a home."

"The Lady—" "And loving parents?"

"The Boy—" "Yes, ma'am."

"The Lady—" "I'm afraid you don't know what love really is. Do your parents look after you in a moral way?"

"The Little Boy—" "Yes, ma'am."

"The Lady—" "Will you ask your mother to come and hear me talk on 'When Does a Mother's Duty to Her Child Begin?' next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at Lyceum Hall?"

"The Little Boy (exclaimingly)—" "What's the matter with you, ma? Don't you know me? I'm your little boy."

FIGHTING SAM IN COMMAND.

Col. Hughes, M.P., Has Developed Into a "Regular" Soldier.

Col. Sam Hughes has of late years practically become a professional soldier, though nominally but a colonel of the 45th Provisional Battalion of Militia. This year he is commander of Barrfield camp, where the raw troops of Central Ontario have been receiving their annual "licking" condition. Under appointment from the Minister of Militia, he has been loaned to the staff of Major-General Sir John French during his recent visit to Canada, and at the Quebec Tercentenary two years ago he was similarly attached to the Canadian general staff which was associated with the present King, Lord Roberts and Sir Reginald Pole Carew in the great military review. His military fame has arisen chiefly since the South African war of ten years ago, when, despite a sensational controversy with Major-General Hutton which defied all British military conventions, he did very useful work for Lord Kitchener in the latter's cleaning up operations which were in some degree performed by irregular forces. A native of Durham county, he has been a military officer since 1879, and he has held the rank of lieutenant of the 46th Provisional Battalion. Of this regiment he became lieutenant in 1887. He has been many other things. Like his brother, James L. Hughes, he started out as a pedagogue, and many are aware that for ten years from 1877 to 1887 he was teacher of English Literature at St. George's Collegiate Institute, then the only High School in the city of Toronto. Many a Toronto boy can recall with pleasure and amusement the breezy mode that "Sam," as they called him, conveyed instruction in the beauties of our British speech. In 1887 he branched into journalism as editor of The Literary Warbler, but he has made this calling subordinate to a political career, and since 1891 he has been a member of the House of Commons. He has been a member of the House of Commons since 1891. He has been a member of the House of Commons since 1891.

After spending the evening in the bar-room where, according to the custom of those times, he had to be seen, he went to his room. Just as he was about to get into bed an idea entered his rather mulled brain. He would make his buggy safe by fastening the cord around one of the bedposts. He turned in and was soon fast asleep.

The owner of the buggy knew where it was housed, and planned its recovery. During the night he came to the shed with a harnessed horse, and stealthily as possible, he slipped over the vehicle and drove smartly off. The cord suddenly tightened on the sleeping officer's ankle and awakened him with a start. He was dragged out of bed, across the floor, and almost to the window, when the cord broke.

The crown never recovered the buggy.

A few years ago there was seized at St. John's a considerable quantity of Italian cigars and cigars. The officers rightly suspected that the goods had been brought in by a farmer whose home was in the southern part of Mississippi county, about a couple of miles from Alburgh, Vermont.

This farmer was something of a trader, one of his occupations being the buying and selling of hog and butchering them and carrying the meat to St. John's market.

Occasionally he picked up a part of his load from his neighbors in Alburgh, Vt., whom he visited after sunset and whose local market at that time was not very good.

Mingled with the meat, his load often contained large boxes of American cigarettes for which he had regular customers in St. John's. The profit on this portion of his freight was handy some.

Italians in Canada. The Italian authorities in Rome have been for some time studying the possibility of encouraging immigration to Canada. With this object an attempt was recently made to discover how many Italians were in the Dominion. At the present time the figures relating to the total number of foreign immigrants entering Canada do not afford any indication regarding the nationality.

The Canadian authorities place immigrants in two categories—English-speaking and non-English-speaking. The former average about 75 per cent. of the total. Therefore, the number of Italian immigrants is very low. A majority of the Italians found for Canada, however, pass through the United States, and are very often included in the category of English-speaking.

So far as the Italian authorities have ascertained, between 1900 and 1909 about 27,000 Italians emigrated to Canada. By comparing these figures with those of the last census in 1901, when the Italians in Canada numbered only 10,834, proof is afforded that Italian emigration to Canada is increasing.

Manitoba Cattle Scarc. The report of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture contains some pertinent figures on the cattle industry. Last year there were 379,000 cattle in the province; in 1908 there were 415,483 cattle, and in 1907 there were 405,822. The decline of nearly one hundred thousand head in two years in the face of a rapidly increasing population is a serious matter. There is an even more marked decline in the sheep industry. As long ago as 1853 there were 35,400 sheep in Manitoba. The numbers have steadily decreased, until in 1909 there were but 17,222. The hog industry alone seems to be thriving; the numbers have been gradually increasing, jumping from 104,113 in 1909 to 138,111 last year.

Begins to look as though the whole world is confronted with a long period of beef scarcity.—Toronto World.

SMUGGLING TALES.

Stories of the Evasion of the Officers at the Boundary.

The higher a dam is raised, increasing the quantity of water held back, the greater the liability of the water to overflow the obstruction either by sweeping it away or by cutting out for itself a new channel.

A tariff is a sort of dam to the natural current of commerce which would flow in secret, should the tariff not be held back or at least obstructed by custom-houses.

Smuggling is the leakage around the tariff dam; and as with the water, so with trade, the more that is held out the greater the effort to break through.

For example, when the duty on tobacco was considerably increased a few years ago, it was stated in the House of Commons by members representing frontier constituencies that so far as the border country was concerned, the demand for tobacco would be supplied by means of smuggling.

It would be equally true to say in the contraband trade either to supply individual needs, or for the purpose of an illicit business, that it is all along the frontier, but especially the frontier bordering on the States of New York and Vermont, which has been long settled and where Canadian and United States territory is separated by a hazy line, that the smuggling trade is wrapped up with the local history many smuggling yards.

All inventors who have done really new things can tell a similar story. Morse was ridiculed and criticised when he announced that he could hold instant communication with another man at a great distance. There were thousands of people to find fault with his plan, to poke fun at it—there were few to take an intelligent interest and really try to give him assistance.

M. K. PIPER. PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1910

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a letter from Mr. Howe, of Middleton, regarding the marking of historical sites through the province. The Monitor would suggest one historical spot which might be appropriately designated--the locality called Bloody Creek, a little to the west of Bridgetown, where the English, French and Indian engaged in a sanguinary battle in the early days of the Province. Doubtless there are other localities that will suggest themselves to our readers, and the Monitor would be glad to receive correspondence on the subject.

The Monitor regrets to note, the laxity allowed by parents and the civic authorities in regard to children, both boys and girls on the streets at night. A number of children are in the habit of racing the streets after dark and frequently are found at the railroad station when the evening freight comes in, where they race shouting up and down the platform. If such laxity of conduct is permitted in children of tender years, who ought to be in bed at an early hour, and who disregard even the ringing of the curfew, it will be only a few years before they will become incorrigible. If parental authority cannot deal with them police authority should lend its aid.

Two of our young men who went to Maine last week with the expectation of obtaining work, returned home after a few days unsuccessful search for remunerative positions. Probably they will find themselves just as well off in the end. A journal commenting on the desire of our young people for change remarks--

"Half the people who have left the Maritime Provinces to go to the United States--perhaps more than half--would have been a great deal better off if they had remained at home. They seem to have thought that if they could only get to the place of their desire, making a living would be easier. But they have not found it so. The new problems of life they have had to face may not have been the same as the old ones, but they have been just as difficult, and in many cases more difficult."

THE MOST WORK FOR THE LEAST MONEY.

The late Hon. David Davis once said: "Each year every local paper gives from $100 to $5,000 in free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The local editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men, and in address, man with man, he ought to be supported, not because you happen to like him or admire his writings; but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliant or crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is more of a benefit to a community than a preacher or a teacher. Unhappily as now, we do not mean morally or intellectually but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find the majority of local papers are on the right side of the question. Today the editors of local papers do the most work for the least money of any men at work."

NEW YORK STATE FELT THE STORM.

New York, November 4--A storm of midwinter intensity, which came booming up the Atlantic coast last night bringing with it sharp gales heavy falls of snow and rain left today a broad trail of broken wire communication along the seaboard. Telegraph companies were beset with difficulties in all directions. The storm was apparently severest between Baltimore and Washington all wires being down between those cities. Pennsylvania suffered from a soggy, clinging snow, and wires across the state were either down or worked only intermittently. Early communication with Chicago was obtained by way of Boston, thence to the west. A heavy fall of snow was reported in Scranton, Pa. and the contiguous territory. Communication with eastern points were affected by the storm which brought down the snow coated wires.

Lame back comes on suddenly and is extremely painful. It is caused by rheumatism of the muscles. Quick relief is afforded by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Sold by all dealers.

A Level-headed Judge

Judge Scanlan, of Chicago, does not believe in treating crime with softness. A thug proven in his court the other day to have held up at pistol's point helpless woman and robbed them of their valuables was sentenced to life imprisonment. Nor did Judge Scanlan appear to stand in awe of the mandarin advocates of the "brotherly" treatment of criminals. He did not even provide for occasional bouquets, or any of the other "adorments" of penal life which are coming to be regarded as the criminal's due. Nay, he vigorously declared his wish that all such criminals be treated to the punishment which he inflicted on the convict before him, and wished the case given every publicity as a warning to the disorderly and lawless element.

The judge's course may not fit in with some modern notions of justice and criminal reform, but it meets with hearty approval from the healthy-minded, law-abiding people of the country, many of whom are thoroughly disgusted with present day methods of dealing with crime. As the Detroit Free Press recently put it--

"We no longer believe in punishing criminals in these enlightened days. The weak brother who wanders from the narrow path of rectitude is more to be pitied than blamed, in the modern acceptance of sociology. He should be sent to a glorified Sunday school class, where precepts of righteousness should be instilled into his darkened soul and where he would be taught in a three weeks' course to recognize the error of his ways and to go out among his fellow criminals as an apostle of the better life."

It is a very beautiful thought, and it appeals to no one with more conviction, of its absolute truth than to the thugs and robbers who profit by it. It is high time that the administration of justice of the United States was reformed in the interest of law, order and the safety of life and property in the republic. Already in Canada we feel the beginnings of the evil of attempting to excuse crime and to exalt the criminal. The influence of such a sentiment is evil. Judge Scanlan's grasp of the situation shows that he realizes the dangers of some modern tendencies, and feels that the lives of the enemies of peaceful society should not be made pleasant or than those of the honest citizens. And Canadian lawmakers and courts should take a similar view.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

An interesting event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Whitman on the day and evening of the 31st of October, 1910, being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. All the children and grand-children were present excepting one, making a family reunion of twenty-one. The beautiful day tended to heighten the pleasure of the season. The visiting hours were from 2.30 to 5 o'clock with a reception in the evening. A large number of the community were present.

A presentation address read by Rev. A. H. Whitman in behalf of the family opened the program. The gifts consisted of gold pieces and bank bills. The deceased brother of the groom, Alfred Whitman, of Water-ville, anticipating the day had left a legacy to Mr. and Mrs. Whitman. These were augmented by other presents from friends and neighbors. And what was better than material gifts was the congratulations of those present as well as absent friends.

A very nice solo was given by Rev. Mr. Whitman, accompanied by his wife. Next was a reading given by the latter in her best elocutionary style, entitled "Thanksgiving in the West." Next was a fine original poem given by E. J. Whitman, "Fifty years ago". An address given by Miss Annie Fair to which Mr. P. Whitman briefly replied in behalf of Mrs. Whitman and himself closed the program. Refreshments were served both afternoon and evening. Altogether it was an event long to be remembered by all present.

ROWDYISM IS BAD WHETHER BY STUDENTS OR OTHERS.

(From London Echo.)

Rowdyism is highly reprehensible, no matter who are guilty of it, but when it is resorted to by university students it cannot be too strongly condemned. The young men who made headlines of themselves at the Dorchester Fair may consider themselves lucky in escaping with a fine; some magistrates would have sent them to jail for a time without any option, and it would serve them right. The trouble is that some young fellows have the idea, apparently, that what cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

To Our Advertisers

If you want to stay in business stay in the advertising field. No matter how much business you are doing, keep up the energy that makes it. You might as well cut off your leg because you are running well in a foot race as to cut off your advertising because your business is too good. You might as well tell the insurance man that you are so healthy you will drop the policy for a few years as to stop advertising because the orders are piling up. "Don't need to" is the eventual preliminary to "Can't do it."

The only man who doesn't need to advertise is the man who has retired from business. The only policy holder who doesn't need to pay his premiums is dead.

RAILWAY GARDEN

The inauguration of the flower scheme by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., sixteen years ago, has resulted in there now being over 1,500 gardens on the whole system. Railway stations, round houses, divisional offices, section houses, watchmen's gates, interlocking plants, are adorned with flowers, which the men take care of in their spare time. Those employees are naturally amateur, but their taste and example have spread to the communities across the continent. Enthusiasm and success this year have been greater than ever, showing the good use there has been made of the thousands of packages of seeds, plants and shrubs which were distributed early in the spring. A number of prizes were awarded all over the system for the best gardens, and the winners' names will be announced shortly.

Now the Company is sending out over half a million bulbs for fall planting and early bloom in the spring of 1911. The Company purchases all new varieties of flowers procurable, and the markets of the world are sought for seeds and bulbs. Travellers over the C.P.R. are delighted with the green lawns, brightened by flowers, which greet their eyes, and it is a common occurrence for some flower lover from Europe or the United States to drift into the Company's offices with a carefully prepared check-book in some station garden, to ask the name and how to cultivate it.

Obituary

MISS ELVIRA PIERCE

On Tuesday, Oct. 18th, Mr. and Mrs. John Pierce received the sad intelligence of the death of their beloved daughter, Elvira, whose death occurred at Halifax, where she had gone three months previous for special treatment. The remains were forwarded to the sorrowing parents on Wednesday.

On the following Friday afternoon a large number of sympathizing friends assembled at the home to pay their last tribute of respect to the departed one. Rev. C. H. Haverstock of Nictau, conducted the services at the house and grave. The interment took place at Nictau. The casket was covered with flowers contributed by loving friends. Miss Pierce will be sadly missed at her home, where she had been the comfort and help of her aged parents, and also in the Sabbath School and by her many friends in this community.

Besides her grief-stricken parents, one sister and four brothers mourn their sad loss. May God comfort and sustain them in their sad hours of affliction.--COM.

POTATOES LIKE MONEY

Main Farmer Realizes 21,000 Barrels in Land Trade.

A Bangor despatch says--There was recorded in Aroostook County last week a real estate transaction in which potatoes figured largely as a medium of exchange. George H. Klipped recently exchanged his farm on the Centre Line road for that of Isaac Kilcollin, receiving 11,000 barrels of potatoes to boot. He then sold the Kilcollin farm to Reuben Vandine for 10,000 barrels of potatoes, thus realizing 21,000 barrels for his original farm of not over 100 acres. The potatoes are worth at present $1.15 a barrel, but later in the season a much higher price is expected.

The old, old story, told times with out number, and repeated over and over again for the last thirty-six years, but is always a welcome story to those in search of health--There is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

Why You Should Insure in The Traveller's Life Assurance Company of Canada

BECAUSE the insured is relieved of further premium payments in case he becomes totally and permanently disabled, through accident or disease. LOCAL AND SPECIAL

A meeting of the Bridgetown Rink Company is called for this evening.

H. Price Webber's Boston Comedy company will play an engagement here the first week in December.

In the list of nominations furnished us from the Clerk's office last week there was an error, Mr. Weaver's name appearing as a Conservative.

The two opponents in Ward Two are Liberals.

John Tebo, Jr., who has been under examination at Digby, on suspicion of stealing money from Edward McGregor, the missing man, has been remanded to re-appear before the Court on Monday next.

A New England dinner will be served by the ladies of the Baptist church in their reception room, Wednesday evening, Nov. 10th. Dinner served from five to eight. Also an apron sale in the vestry below.

Rev. Dr. Just attended the Memorial service for the late A. McE. Patterson held at Horton on Sunday last, and gave an address in behalf of Mr. Patterson's services as an educationist.

Practice commenced on Monday evening in St. James' school-room for a Carol-Cantata entitled "The Babe of Bethlehem," to be rendered some time within the octave of Christmas in St. James' church. The chorus will consist of twenty voices.

Unusually open weather has prevailed during the month, with much humidity. The severe storm of midwinter intensity which prevailed along the Atlantic Coast last week did not reach our Valley. Today brings a lower temperature and a flurry of snow.

A movement is afoot for the organization of a "Boy Scout" brigade for Bridgetown. Rev. E. Underwood has been in correspondence with the leaders of the movement and a number of citizens have shown their interest in the scheme. It is expected that a County Secretary will soon be appointed.

The C.P.R. pictures exhibited by Dr. Armstrong with the assistance of Rev. W. H. Warren on Saturday evening last did not draw a very large audience, owing probably to the rainy evening and bad roads. The proceeds for the benefit of the Recreation Hall Fund amounted to eleven dollars and ninety cents.

W. A. Chute, the well-known building mover from Annapolis, was called to Halifax by Bishop Warrall in connection with the moving of the St. Stephen church, one-eighth of a mile, to the cathedral precincts. This is considered one of the largest jobs of the kind ever attempted in the lower provinces, says the Halifax Herald.

The Epworth League of Providence church are providing a most important lecture for Friday evening of this week. Dr. Armstrong will lecture upon the subject of "Tuberculosis." The mention of this subject should ensure a large audience in the lecture room of the church. The chair will be taken at seven 7.30 o'clock. A silver offering will be taken.

On Monday of last week the death occurred from pneumonia of Glen Gillis, a well-known guide and respected resident of Dalhousie. On the day of his funeral the death of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gillis, occurred from the same disease, the mother having contracted the disease from nursing the son. Mr. Gillis leaves a widow and several young children for whom much sympathy is expressed.

The Methodist church of this town is preparing to celebrate its thirty-ninth anniversary on Sunday and Monday, the 20th and 21st of this month. Rev. W. H. Hearst, D.D., who was the minister on the circuit when the church was built, will deliver the Anniversary sermon. In connection with the exercises of Monday a congregational banquet will be held. A full program of the services will be published in next week's Monitor.

While in the woods south of Bloomington on Monday, says the Middleton Outlook, Mr. G. Parsons suddenly felt a shower of sleet strike him and heard the report of a gun close at hand. He and his companion, Mr. McClafferty, shouted and they heard two persons running away. Mr. Parsons had received one shot in the forehead, one in the hand and two went through his heavy clothing to his stomach. Who the parties were who acted so carelessly and cowardly is not known. It was fortunate that the shots had nearly spent their force or that received in the forehead would have proved fatal.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

New York and Massachusetts have both elected Democrat governors.

Dr. A. A. Deelman has had eight connection added to his telephone service,—three long rings.

The steamer Boston now leaves Yarmouth at five o'clock instead of at six as through the summer.

The Davison Lumber Company are opening up a new camp on the Cherryfield Road and another at Falkland Ridge.

The collection at the Union Thanksgiving service, donated to the Infant's Home was seven dollars not nine as previously stated.

The Odd-Fellows are giving an "At Home" in their Hall on Thursday evening next, as an anniversary celebration of Crescent Lodge.

Middleton is discussing the lighting question. Some ratepayers favor gasolene, others acetylene while others favor installing an electric plant.

There's satisfaction in getting all of the value that a dollar will buy—and there's thrift and prosperity in it too. It will pay you to read the Monitor's advertising columns.

Rev. A. T. Dymman, a native of this province, now pastor at West Roxbury, Mass., has been extended an invitation to accept the pastorate of the West End Baptist church of Halifax.

A case of small-pox was reported recently at Wolfville, Dr. A. P. Reid, of Middleton, who was called upon as provincial health inspector, reports the case carefully dealt with by Dr. DeWitt.

Moose hunters have only one more week, the season closing on the 15th inst. But few successful hunts have been reported this season in this locality compared with previous seasons. The partridge season closed on Nov. 1st. The birds also are reported somewhat shy.

Hymeneal.

MORSE-WHEELLOCK.

An event of much interest took place at Lunenburg last week when Dr. L. R. Morse, one of Annapolis County's brightest young professional men, was united in marriage to Miss Etta M. Wheellock, a popular Domestic Science teacher.

The marriage took place at the home of the bride, Rev. L. F. Wallace officiating, assisted by Rev. H. S. Mellick. The wedding march was rendered by Mrs. L. F. Wallace, sister of the groom. The bride was attired in a becoming travelling gown of blue broadcloth. After the ceremony, a collation having been served, Dr. and Mrs. Morse left on a brief wedding trip.

A large circle of friends and acquaintances will unite with the Monitor in hearty congratulations and all good wishes.

SENDING ROLLING STOCK.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is beginning to send rolling stock to the Dominion Atlantic Railway. This week a big engine (311) passed through Truro en route to Kentville. It is presumed this engine will be followed by others, and that they are being sent down to move the apple and farm produce traffic.—Truro Sun.

CHILD SETS HOUSE AFIRE—BABY BURNS.

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 2.—While his mother was absent for a few moments today Michael King, aged four, secured matches and set fire to the house and his fourteen months old brother Joseph died of suffocation. The mother saw the smoke issuing from the window of the house but was too late to save the baby's life.

LESS WAR, MORE LAW.

The only two powers that ever have or ever can govern human beings are force and reason—war and law. If we do nothing one we must have the other. The problem before the world is how to decrease the area of war until war vanishes and law envelopes the world.

CORONATION JUNE 22ND

London, November 7.—King George has issued a proclamation fixing the date of the coronation as June 22nd.

"Oh, God that men should put an enemy into their mouths to steal away their brains." The above words are credited to the immortal Shakespeare.

Millions have read them and felt from experience the force of their truth.

PERSONAL

Miss Rogers, of Halifax, is the guest of Mrs. H. L. Bentley.

Miss Belle Hilton, of Middleton, visited her friend, Miss Emma Patterson recently.

Mr. W. A. Chelley has returned from a trip to Boston, combining business with pleasure.

Mr. Manly Benson has returned home, after spending the past four months in United States.

Miss Emma Johnson remains on the stenographic staff of the Royal Bank, formerly the Union.

Miss Agnes McMillan, of Annapolis has been spending the past week with her aunt, Mrs. Murdoch.

Mr. Loran Manthorne and sister, Miss Mildred, visited relatives at Torbrook for a few days recently.

Miss Fannie Nichols, of Aylesford, spent a few days recently with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fletcher Bent.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Walker have moved from Greenville to Bridgetown and taken possession of the house recently purchased from Mrs. J. E. Sancton.

J. H. McDaniel, lately manager of the Union Bank at Lunenburg, has been transferred to Jaquet River, N. B. as manager of the branch of the Royal Bank there.

Miss May Jackson, of South Tremont, Kings Co., and Miss Almada Jackson, of Melvern Square, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. N. Jackson.

R. W. Elliott, formerly manager of the Bridgetown branch of the Union Bank, for the past year at North Sydney, has been transferred to Antigonish where he will be manager of the Royal Bank.

J. E. Bell, accountant of the Royal Bank staff of this town, left for Woodstock N. B. yesterday to which branch he has been transferred. His successor here is Mr. Perry of the Royal Bank staff of Sydney.

Farewell Banquet to J. E. Bell

On Friday evening last the young men of Bridgetown tendered Mr. J. E. Bell, of the Royal Bank staff, who has been transferred to Woodstock, N. B., a farewell banquet, at the Grand Central Hotel. At 10 p.m. the dining room doors were thrown open and the sight was one to gladden the inner man. The table was tastefully decorated and loaded with all kinds of good things. After the diners had satisfied themselves they had all they could comfortably carry away and the cigars had been passed around, the toast master, Mr. O. S. Miller, arose and reminded all of the nature of the occasion, by speaking in very fitting terms of the universal regret felt by all on account of Mr. Bell being transferred and wishing him success in his new field of labor, at the same time welcoming his successor, Mr. Perry.—COM.

HIGH SCHOOL REFORM.

Writing in the Canadian Courier, Mr. Norman Patterson contends that the collegiate institute for high school must be reformed. The old time high school teacher educated boys chiefly for the professions. It is now felt that these schools must be so conducted as to educate the boys for work on the farm and in the factory as well as for the professions. The present system has a tendency to rob the rural communities and send the brightest youths away to the cities. Mr. Patterson quotes from a recent address in Toronto by the principal of Ridley College, St. Catharines, to the effect that the beautiful fruit farms of the Niagara peninsula are occupied by families who have recently moved there. The old families are gone and most of them disappeared because the boys were educated out of the district and into the professions. Yet, he says, the newer settlers have turned the district into a great garden, quadrupled the price of land, and are making great yearly profits than those of the average professional man.

LIFE AMONG THE HOLY GHOSTERS

Sarah Joseph's Story—What Women Endure for Sandford.

The Boston Traveller of recent date publishes the following story, as related to its reporter during her stay in Yarmouth after her release from the west. Kingdom, which was ashore on Big Mud Island. Miss Joseph relates—

The power of Pastor Sandford is believed by his followers to be so great that he can accomplish all things. In fact, we must believe in him implicitly, we must bear the evil influences of the devil. Even when our vessel struck the rocks on Mud Island we believed it the work of the devil. We thought, yes, every one of us, that had Sandford been on the ship personally it would not have happened. He is a truly wonderful man. He has a magnetic personality, is so kind-hearted and so ready to aid us that one cannot help but believe in him in anything he says. I joined the colony in Jerusalem seven years ago.

LURED TO FAITH BY GLOWING PROMISE.

My brother Whappy had a few months before become engaged as a valet and induced me to call and see him. I went to the house in Jerusalem. It was very clean, the walls were so white and everybody appeared so happy. I remember that Mr. Whittaker and his wife, who has since left the colony, were there. I had three years before been converted to Christianity by a Baptist missionary, and had learned to speak English quite well and became greatly interested in the colony.

Mr. Sandford met me and told me all about the religion, "We have the primitive religion," he said, "and are so happy." He told me about the colony in Shiloh, how it was growing in size and influence, and asked me to join. He did not make me any rash or foolish promises, but said I would always be happy, and that Heaven would be the reward of all his followers. He said he was the true representative of Christ.

I believed him and joined. Little then did I think that I was leaving my parents and all I loved to devote seven long years to Sandford and his teachings. My mother knew nothing about this, and had seen me but once since I joined the colony. That was during my first year. She pleaded with me, but I had become so imbued with the strange influences of Sandford that I turned a deaf ear to her appeals. All of us had work to do, and my task was teaching. I began to teach the children of the party (about seven of them) my native language, and the more I taught that I shall not do an injustice to any of Sandford's followers. I want to say that all of them are splendid types of God-fearing people. Like myself, they follow the leadership of Sandford, but should not be condemned for their faith. The horrors of hell are pictured on them daily by Sandford and naturally enough they become frightened to leave lest the devil and his wicked influences should get them. With the exception of visits to Alexandria and a place called Joppa, where other colonists of the faith were located, I spent practically six years in Jerusalem.

The life was much the same day after day. We spent much time in prayer and giving blessing to God for what we received. In fact, we believed that in prayer we could win anything in the world and that regardless of persecution from those in the outside world prayer would always remain our protector.

In the house where I lived in Jerusalem the people were always changing. I don't know the purpose of this, but a family would rarely remain more than six months before it would go to some other colony. One day about Christmas time of last year I was told to pick up my belongings and make ready for trip to America. I am not positive about the dates, but I think it was on New Year's day that I left Jerusalem for Joppa.

NAMES OF THOSE ON KINGDOM.

I was then put aboard the Kingdom and until the wreck was on the ship with the exception of a few days spent in Shiloh about the middle of March. On board the ship when we sailed was our leader, and the following: Capt. Perry, Mr. Whittaker, Mr. Sellick, Mr. McKay, Mr. Cummings, Roland Whitton, Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Sinclair, Ralph Merrill, Mr. Olson, Ralph Payne, Mr. Murray, Mr. Brown, Mr. Hay, Mr. Ed. Miller, Mr. Harrod, Mr. Curtis, Floyd Clark, J. F. Bolstin, Mrs. Brown and two children, Mrs. Harrod and two children, Mrs. Lustin and three children, Mrs. Sellick and three children, Mrs. Murray and three children, Mrs. Mabel, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Stenacker, Miss Jameson, Isabelle Hughey, Miss Miller, Susie Lawrence, Mrs. C. F. Bolstin, Mrs. Davis, John, Miss Eliza Whitton.

It was pleasant during the long voyage. In fact, as I have said before, we believed that no harm could befall us when Sandford was with us. He told us that in the future the older members of his cult or those who had been loyal to him would in the future live on the sea in order to avoid the wicked and dangerous influences which we would meet ashore.

Every day we had divine devotion and every day Sandford told us of his great power.

Everything which was promised in the Bible he said would come true, and saying that he wanted me and that he being the disciple of God, we must obey him if we hoped to have everlasting happiness.

GIRL HURRIED AWAY.

When we arrived in Portland I was taken to Shiloh. I only remained there for about two weeks. Mr. Sandford had learned that my brother was endeavoring to reach me, and saying that he wanted me to be free from the influences of my family, he dispatched me once more to the Kingdom. He also said that I was a member of the crew and would not be allowed to remain to any great length.

At Shiloh Mr. Sandford was becoming much discouraged. Every day he said that he would visit the place, and take away some friend. This displeased Mr. Sandford very much, and he told me that if his converts could be kept aloof we would be free from interference. I have since learned that he was compelled to leave the place which he had taken in order to maintain us. I am, as a result of what I know, firmly convinced that Sandford intends to take the few remaining ones of his flock and desert Shiloh forever.

When we sailed from Portland and had the trouble with Mr. Whittaker, Mr. Sandford, Capt. Perry and Elder Whittaker became frightened about me. The proceedings which brought me to court came so unexpectedly that after they were over and the Kingdom joined the Coronet which Sandford had boarded a few days previous, I was transferred. I remained on the Coronet only a short time, for Capt. Perry said he would keep outside of the three-mile limit and that I had better come back to the Kingdom. Once we landed on an island off the Maine coast, but as Sandford knew that my brother would make trouble, we were careful to keep out of the jurisdiction of the Maine officers.

HELD BY FEAR OF SANDFORD.

I loved my brother and longed to see him, but was frightened that my soul would be lost if I disobeyed Sandford. When I was in the court in Boston I was frightened to say I wanted to leave. Before we left the ship they had told me about dreadful things which would happen if I left, and I could not resist that dominating spirit of my advisers. As I have said, we spent the summer cruising along the coast, dodging the officers. We were always in touch with Sandford, who had decided to remain aboard the Coronet.

I did not know the meaning of it all but was told that it was merely religious persecution. I can see now why Sandford did not want us to come in contact with the world. He feared that we would do as others had done—desert the faith.

The report that we were intending to establish a colony in the East struck us, and on the day we struck Mud Island Capt. Perry told us that we were to go south. It was about nine o'clock when we struck the rocks. The fog was very thick and the sea very rough.

The children began to cry, but the women fell to their knees and prayed. It was a dreadful night, but the faith that I had in Sandford's power was such that I did not fear. Several in the party—I will not give their names—began to lose faith in their leader—began to lose faith in their leader when the vessel struck, because they had been told that he could avoid such things. The next day we were put ashore and entered the fisherman's hut, where my companions were housed.

SAYS OTHERS WILL LEAVE.

I am sure that several in the party will leave when they secure funds, for they no longer place confidence in Sandford. I shall never forget the excitement among the women when my brother and yourself landed on the island. Two of the women rushed into the house and said my brother had come and there would be trouble. I went up to the little loft and saw the boat on the beach and presently I saw Whappy talking with two of the fishermen.

I watched you (the Traveller man) go toward the wreck and later heard you talk with Capt. Perry. I heard you say that if I wanted to get off the island I would go and then I heard Capt. Perry say that I would have to meet my brother. I shall never forget that meeting. Whappy pleaded with me and told me about the folly of my belief. He is a Christian and I believed him, but not for a long time. Elder Whittaker was determined that I should not leave and the women were frightening me with the same sort of talk I had heard so much about for seven years.

One of them said your tug would be sunk on the way to Yarmouth, and that the devil would get me the moment I left. When I talked with you and told you I wanted to go with Whappy, many of the women turned against me. Once, twice, twenty times, I was going to change my mind, but my mother's love in Jerusalem was surging through my heart.

Then I heard you say to Mr. Whittaker that you did not want any fooling about the matter, and I guess they made up their minds to stop talking. I cried when I packed my trunk, for I was leaving many good friends.

Conditions on the island are bad. Everybody is crowded into the shack and food is none too plenty. I have heard that conditions at Shiloh are very bad, but not having personal knowledge I do not care to discuss that.

I think now after seven years of exile that Sandford is a dangerous man for society. He has wrecked many homes, separated families and reduced many, I am told, to poverty.

I had nothing when I joined them, and I have nothing now. As for the others left, I am sure they will soon leave, for Sandford's funds are too low to stand out much longer.

The hitch came about twenty minutes before the steamer sailed. The young woman passed the examination, but when her brother, Whappy, was questioned he said that his savings, which would have been sufficient to insure the government that the girl would not become a public charge, had been spent in his long pursuit of the barkentine Kingdom.

Although Miss Joseph was destined for the home of N.H. Harriman, a Boston business man, the local officers for the American government could not under the law permit her to leave until Mr. Harriman had filed a satisfactory bond, which was approved in Washington.

CANADA WILL MAKE NO OVERTURES TO THE U.S.A.

Sir Frederick Borden Says Attitude of Canadian People is to Well Enough Alone.

Boston, Nov. 1.—Any proposals the United States may make for reciprocity with Canada will receive careful consideration from the Dominion Government, but the attitude of the Canadian people now is to "let well enough alone."

This was the opinion expressed by Sir Frederick W. Borden, Minister of Militia and Defence of Canada at the International Club tonight. In view of the constant rebuffs with which the Canadian statesmen have received from the United States in their efforts to secure more amicable tariff relations, he said, Canada will make no overtures to this country, and any Reciprocity Treaty which the United States may have to offer will have to be for the interests of all Canadians before it would be adopted.

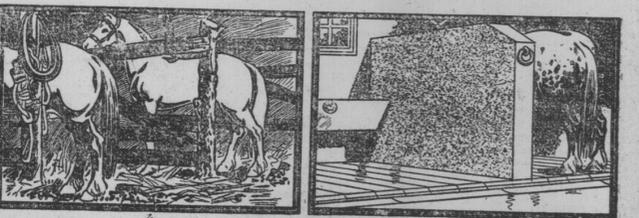

Sir Frederick also declared that the predominant note in the public affairs in Canada today is contentment with its present lot, and the hope that the future may bring forth closer relations to the Mother Country. Canada, he continued, is well satisfied with the present form of Government, and is as independent as any nation on the globe.

W. C. Healy, of Round Hill, Annapolis, enjoys the distinction of having been continuously for a quarter of a century a member of the Annapolis county municipal council. Mr. Healy was elected by acclamation on the first instant, which is evidence of the satisfactory manner in which he has discharged his important duties as councillor for Ward 10, for the last twenty-five years.

THE MARTHAS AND MARYS.

In the intensely interesting study of Christ's life was one of those good motherly kind who made call at the home of his friend, Martha (see Luke 10th). Now Martha was one of the good motherly kind of women who are bound to serve a good meal and do it right. In the words of the Holy Writ she was "umbered about much serving."

Her sister, Mary, however, was not so much concerned about feeding and waiting upon people as she was about the intellectual things and especially about the matter of religion and, as Christ was at that time (and has been ever since) the central figure in the religious world, Mary came and sat at his feet in order to get first-hand the words of life.

Martha did not like that a bit and scolded Mary right there before company and asked the Great Master to send her to the kitchen to help get supper. Now, Christ must have known that the servants and slaves were abundantly able and capable of doing all the serving, for he told her, "Just as he tells many a good woman today." "You art careful and troubled about many things, but one thing is needful and Mary has chosen that good part which I will not take away from her."

I know lots of women who could save large sums of money which they pay out in doctors' bills by paying about half of it out for competent help in the kitchen and for housework, and they could well afford to spend the other half in taking a little trip with husband or daughter, and go on some sort of a vacation. Don't be so "careful and troubled about many things." Yes, I know it is a hard matter, this getting competent help, but if you can't get that help get the best you can and don't worry if the dust does settle on the book case. I like to see things clean and bright as well as any man living, but I would rather see dirt on a inch thick over the whole house than to see it six feet over my wife's grave. It's a fact that many women work themselves to death, trying to keep the house that so and so and special way. The wind which blew the dust in through the front door or the open window keeps right on blowing in a happy, joyous freedom after the careful Martha is old and stiff and lame and ugly with fighting the unequal battle with dust and rain. It keeps coming just the same and finally there is no one to say nay, and then the work of destruction goes on faster than ever. The neat walls and clean floors go down to decay and mass a mass of this, you see, endless work is a thing of the past, better by far that you live in a tent or a cabin and have leisure and contentment than to spend your days "troubled with much serving," and "careful about many things."

Keep out the flies and mosquitoes destroy their breeding places, and kill the mosquito larva, if you can but don't spend the best part of your life accumulating a fine lot of things and the balance of your life in the drudgery of taking care of them.

There are many and better things to do and to be done, and of a kind that will be of benefit, and which shall not be taken from you. Of course some one must serve, food must be prepared, clothing washed and repaired, and many things in the daily routine of life, but I have found there are many ways of avoiding the needless drudgery which many housekeepers go through year after year, and in many cases those who ought not to do the endless drudgery are well able to hire younger and stronger people who badly need the money they could thus earn.

I know a man and, wife whose children are all grown to maturity and have gone to make homes of their own. They have retired from the farm, and built a nice home in town. The man is philosopher enough to take just enough exercise to keep in good health and he enjoys life fully, but the poor mother works harder. If that is possible, than when she was on the farm. The new home, new furniture and other things keep her at work from early morning until late at night. Her husband pleads with her to get a girl to do the work, and for her to take long drives with him about town, and through the country, but she thinks she cannot trust anyone else to care for her beautiful house, her silverware, or her dishes. Her kitchen must be spotless as well as the linen. Well, someone else is going to do the work in that house before long. The husband is taking good care of himself and it won't be long after she is gone until he can easily find some one to come in and be a wife and not a maid of all work.

Before I was married a little over eight years ago the little woman confessed that she did not know how to cook. I told her that I had a cook but did not care to marry her, color was not of the right shade. The colored woman is still a good cook and nothing else, while my wife is, to my notion, the best little wife and mother and homemaker anywhere, and although she has learned to cook, as all good mothers must, she is not required to do much of it and if help fails to do the housecleaning as regularly and as properly as she would like to see it done, we both refuse to see the dust and if the boys do not pick up their plights at night, we sometimes just walk over them and they play with them the next day without the trouble of unpacking them from the toy box.

Don't worry and don't be too careful and troubled about many things.—Health Doctor in Toronto Globe.

TEACH THE BOYS AND GIRLS IN THE FORMATIVE TIME TO AVOID LATER DANGERS

Winnipeg, November 1.—The touring party of the American Purify Federation arrived in Medicine Hat, holding sessions in the afternoon for men and boys in the Methodist church, and for women in the Presbyterian church, were not very largely attended, owing, no doubt to the fact of the delay in the program, there being no morning session as anticipated.

Dr. Bell discussed the question of the white slave traffic and his address was full of startling revelations of which few people in this city had any idea. He laid the blame for the condition of affairs largely on the government of the country whom he stated seemed to delight in the destruction of its boys and girls and make their downfall a source of revenue. The people who allowed the existence of the crime were as guilty as those who practised it. If the church people wished it they could close every white slave market in the country in two weeks. He had a whole lot to say about the conditions in Winnipeg. They were disgraceful in the extreme. The police magistrate had characterized the lecturers as liars and was encouraging the traffic and the maintenance of the segregated areas for purposes of revenue.

He pointed out ways in which the traffic might be combated—by post, copies of the law and by enlistment of the sympathy of the public and the press in the movement. This last was the purpose of their campaign, a campaign of publicity. It was high time that something was being done. The race could not stand the roads of disease, caused directly by the social evil. The haylums were being filled with men for no other cause than that they had attempted to sow their own oats. There were victims of disease in every town, paralysis, rheumatism, insanity, spinal and brain diseases caused from the one source.

Dr. Emma Drake, of Denver, followed this address, pointing out a remedy for the evil. The first great step was the creating of a sentiment against the traffic.

The fathers and mothers of the present were responsible for the remedy in future generations. If their children got wrong information from wrong sources they could look for no other result than secret vice, subterfuge and deceit in the children. The first seeds of immortality in the child lay in the first subterfuge and falsehood of the mother. Parents should realize that the beginning of life was next in importance to the salvation of the soul and questions in regard to it should be answered in a clear true manner. There had always been too great a tendency to magnify the evils of fallen women and let the men go unrebuked. The idea that it didn't matter about the boys should be blotted out if the tide of encouragement should be given too to the fallen sisters to reform, otherwise suicide was all that was left in many cases. Special care should be exercised in regard to children at the adolescent period in life when the child, through lack of sympathy, would be most liable to go wrong if not watched.

It rested with the women of the country to raise the standard of morals. Their influence was enormous, and the morals of a country were no higher than the morals of the average woman.

KEEP THE HEART YOUNG

There are things to be sad over, but there are many more to rejoice over. There are life and youth and love and the beautiful world.

Perhaps you have left youth behind you, but at least you had it once upon a time and many of its memories are sweet.

Some women grieve bitterly over the loss of youth. They cannot make up their minds to grow old, and they call on all sorts of artificial aids to keep old age at bay. But rouge will not make sunken cheeks plump nor remove Time's writing, the wrinkles, nor will false hair deceive any one but the woman who wears it.

There is a beauty in growing old gracefully, and the wise woman does not disdain it.

TO JOIN CARPETS.

If two pieces of carpet are to be joined together, it is a great mistake to make a seam, which causes an unrightly ridge on the right side. The patterns should first be matched, the carpet then reversed and each edge buttonholed firmly with flax thread the color of the groundwork. The two pieces should then be drawn together firmly so that a perfect joint is the result.

To separate the yolk of an egg from the white, break the egg in a small funnel. The white will slip through, leaving the yolk intact.

HOW RICH WOMAN WORKS.

Mrs. E.H. Harriman's day is mapped out with the systematic precision of a trained business woman. It allows for no luxurious feminine lapses from schedule. And she permits herself only the week-end as a season of rest from her arduous interests.

When at Arden, for example, she rises early and motors to the Erie station, where she catches the train that reaches New York at 10.45 o'clock. At the Forty-second street ferry she takes a taxicab to her office. This is on the second floor of 474 Fifth avenue, with windows over looking the street.

She reads reports and issues orders steadily until 1.30 o'clock, when she walks to the St. Regis for luncheon and then goes back to the office for two or three hours more thorough and patient work. Her walk and luncheon are thus the only breaks in the routine of her labor, for she returns to Arden only a time for dinner. And this is the average day of one of the richest women in the world.—Women's Magazine.

Social Conventions

The observance of social conventions may vary with the community and the class of people. Position and money give a prominence and distinction to which dignity must be allied if prestige be accorded. Social life throughout various ages has survived by adherence to certain defined principles. To these it is as essential for the simple life to conform as for the most highly placed. The whirlpool of modern life keeps all sorts and conditions of people incessantly mingled in daily work and pleasure.

Thoughtless or ignorant breaking down of convention usually results in a loss of self-respect. It may not be apparent to the individual at first, and frequently when a realization comes refined inclination may be too coarsened for even a vague feeling of regret.

A mother with strict ideas as to the oversight of her daughter may be thought of old fashioned by the young girl. To feel rebellious over some careful injunction of the mother is not an unusual feeling for a girl with little knowledge of the world. Especially is this true where the family life is patterned along simple lines. Those of more pretentious living are early taught to conform to a strict code. Intelligent and loving mothers may be as eager to secure pleasure and happiness for their daughters as the young girls are anticipating. Fondness though should never blind a mother to her duty of safeguarding her daughter.

A strict mother receives her reward when her daughters reach years of discretion and are able to see with the world's eye. The jolly, bright girl on the go and giving scant heed to convention may retain her innocent mind and wholesome nature but there is always the gravest risk incurred. Such irresponsible conduct invariably arouses the censure of the community and the worst construction may be put on very harmless proceedings.

A young girl never gains in attractiveness when trying to ape an audacious young matron. A mother with a strong sense of duty will pay close attention to her daughters' combs and reading. Only so may she keep in touch with the development of character.

BIG GAME ALONG C.P.R.

Fort William, Oct. 28.—Trainers running between Fort William and Winnipeg state that never before in their experience on this road has big game been so plentiful as this fall. C. Freeman, a veteran Canadian Pacific engineer, and his fireman counted five moose today near the track between Shesha and English, about sixty miles west of here. Two moose have been killed by locomotives during the last few days.

Prevent and Relieve Headache

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to refer to Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills as the best remedy we have yet had in our house for the prevention and cure of headache. My wife who has been a constant sufferer for a number of years with above complaint joins me in the hope that they may fall into the hands of all sufferers."

JOHN BUSH, Waterville, Me.

Used Them Four Years. "Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best I ever tried for the relief of headache. I have used them for nearly four years and they never fail to give me relief. I have tried many other remedies, but have never found any better."

JOSEPH FRANKOWICK, 824 Tronby av., Detroit, Mich.

There is no remedy that will more quickly relieve any form of headache than

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. The best feature of this remarkable remedy is the fact that it does not derange the stomach or leave any disagreeable after-effects.

Flashlight Division is still holding on its way. Two members were initiated the last quarter. On Oct. 23rd our twenty-sixth anniversary was held. The Division was organized just twenty-six years ago that night by F.M. Lewis, with thirty-three charter members, two of which are still members. This year we held open Division. The night was stormy but quite a number gathered and a nice program was carried out by our young sisters, after which there were speeches and music and the exercises were closed by singing 'God Save the King.'

THOUSAND DROWNED.

News of Fearful Loss of Life in China is Received.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 3.—One thousand persons were drowned at Chekiang, China, last month, following a rise of the Han river, according to advices received here.

Large areas in the Chekiang and the Kienyung districts were submerged. Yokohama was inundated. Rain fell continuously for seventeen days and 3,000 houses were uninhabitable. Embankments had gone out and heavy losses were feared.

THEIR MISTAKE.

Some Very Strange Oversight by the Home Officials.

The fact that the words "and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas" were omitted from the printed copy of King George's proclamation is, by no means, the only remarkable instance of official oversight. In fact, only a few days later King Edward was described, on the breast-plate of his coffin, as having departed this life in the ninth, instead of tenth, year of his reign.

This curious instance of oversight reminds one that when peace was proclaimed after the late Boer War the Plymouth folk were so enthusiastically engaging themselves in celebrating the occasion that they forgot to send word about the notable event to the lighthouse-keepers at the Eddystone! And for eleven days those quiet men, guarding the lonely lighthouse, wondered what all the display of rockets, colored lights, etc., they saw night after night might mean.

Even more extraordinary was an oversight of the Foreign Office many years ago. The inhabitants of one of the Palmerston Islands, in the Pacific, under British rule, were dependent for much of their food—apart from what their own island produced—on the shipping supplies arranged for them by the Foreign Office in Whitehall. But for nine months not a ship came to the islands, and as the extreme heat was killing the coconuts trees and every other eatable fruit, the plight of the islanders was desperate. The people were without food, and the actual owner of the islands died from want; whilst most of the residents were perishing, and many had actually died. When at last a vessel named The Empire, chanced to call, and thus enabled them to get some food. Then it was discovered that the Whitehall rulers had entirely forgotten to arrange for the usual supplies during that year!

Australian officials have similarly forgotten their duty before-to-day. The food supply of the lighthouse crew on Percy Island, off the coast of Queensland, is supposed to be delivered once each month. But after June, 1900, no food arrived there at all until a British vessel, happening to pass the island in October, landed a boat crew by chance at the lighthouse. Then the sailors were astounded to find there some twenty men, nearly all insane for want of food!

Once, the British House of Commons surprised the inhabitants of Chelmsford by passing a bill which provided in one clause for the rebuilding of a new goal there, and then went on to order, in a subsequent clause, that the new goal should be erected on the site of the old one, and that as much of the old material as possible should be used in building the new place.

So far, so good. But when Parliament, in its wisdom, added yet another clause, directing that the old goal should be allowed to remain, and still do duty until the new one was ready for use, things began to get a trifle complicated.

School Books

(Eastern Chronicle)

Our opinion of the school readers is that the government should put the printing and publishing of them up to public tender and contract, and then, that care should be taken to place the books in the hands of the children as near cost as possible; that is, with no rake off attached thereto. It is, also our opinion that parents have been more worried by changes than by price. If T. Eaton and Co.'s books will be taken the change will be complete and costly.

Last summer at a convention of Ontario school teachers these readers were severely criticised both as to material and workmanship, and it looks as if a change there is in the air. If a change comes, a change would be necessary here, if T. Eaton's books are taken—in fact the province would be subject to the whims of educationists in Ontario.

An interesting bit of history lies in the fact that at one time in this province the law regarding school books was that a section could procure school books from the Department of Education, the Government paying half the cost. This was abandoned by the section.

Another bit of history is that a company in this county presented the schools with the necessary books. This plan gave rise to such wilful waste by the destruction of books that it was abandoned by the consent of parents, teachers and company—the parents being the protestors because the indulgence in waste of books by the children led to habits of waste. So for forty years the system in Nova Scotia is to pay for the books—but it is the duty of the government to take care that the changes are not brought about by impulse, and that the charge for the books is the value thereof.

How King George is Guarded.

There are few more interesting branches of the detective service than guarding royalty, although the responsibilities of such work are tremendous.

Inspector Spencer, who follows King George, must be ready to appear in a lounge-suit, shooting jacket or evening dress, as the occasion demands, and he is never far from his royal master's side. He must know how to deal with a thousand and one emergencies, must be the essence of diplomacy, must prevent the innumerable cranks from worrying royalty when it travels by the train, or other means. One harmless lunatic in the habit of travelling wherever King Edward went, and it was Mr. Spencer's duty to keep this gentleman from seeing his Majesty, except from a distance.

Royal personages, in the majority of cases, communicate their plans to their detectives beforehand, and then have a written program to guide them in making the necessary arrangements for safety. King Alfonso, however, is a notable exception; and on one occasion he dropped through a window, and went off on a shopping expedition, completely outwitting his protectors.

Judges' Gowns.

The London Law Times points out that the silk gown of the bench and bar owes its original use to its having been adopted as a form of mourning at the death of an English sovereign.

On the death of Queen Mary in 1694 the present silk gown was introduced as mourning and, having been found more convenient and less troublesome than the regular dress then worn, has since been continued. The late Sir Frederick Pollock is said to have expressed an opinion in reference to the ordinary costume of the bar that the bench and bar went into mourning at the death of Queen Anne and have so remained ever since. American courts adopted the gown along with the English common law.

To Get Household Statistics.

A novel method has been adopted to ascertain the cost of living in various parts of Australia. To this end the Commonwealth statistician is getting into communication with persons willing to keep a record of their household expenses from July 1 next to June 30, 1911, the year of the census. Persons who forward their names are to be supplied with a suitably prepared book in which to keep the record, which when completed, is to be placed in the envelope provided, and posted to the Commonwealth Statistician.

Forestry in Australia.

Much attention has been paid to forestry in Australia recently. The Victorian Government this winter will plant nearly a million young pines, spruces, and hardwoods, and will sow 125,000 immediately. Probably four million seedlings will be available in 1911. The New South Wales Government now inserts re-forestation clauses in its leases. It is taking this step to prevent undue destruction of the valuable pine and iron-bark belts when the flint scrub is thrown open.
