ANOTHER BOY KILLED WHILE PLAYING IN SAND

Wilson Freeland, 13 Years Old, Was in a Cave in Pape Ave. Sand Pits, Waiting for His Companions, When Sides Caved In and He Was Smothered to Death Before Other Boys Could Dig Him Out.

Playing in a sand bank at Smith-street and Egan-avenue yesterday evening, Wilson Freeland, the 13-year-old son of Joseph W. Freeland of 275 Pape-avenue, was caught in a cave-in of a bank of sand, and was smothered to death before help reached him. Dr. J. L. Burns of Broadview-avenue was called immediately, but his efforts at resuscitation were futile. Coroner Greig was notified and an inquest will be opened at the city morgue this morning.

Freeland was playing with some boy friends in a sand bank near his home. They were pretending that they were cave men, and were digging holes or caves in the sand. Young Freeland was more adventurous than the others. He wished to be the defender of the place. The others were attacking. He had gone in and was awaiting their approach. Before they arrived the sand fell in on him. His companions became panic-stricken, but remembered to send for a doctor. In the meantime the children and others who had arrived worked hard to get the lad out. They eventually did so, but he was dead, and all efforts at resuscitation failed.

ACCUSED GAMBLERS ARE WAGING A LEGAL BATTLE

Six Men of Suspected Clique Fight Hard to Secure Bail, But Commissioner Dougherty Effectually Applies Lid—Citizens Supply Funds to Probe the Case to the End.

NEW YORK, July 22.—(Special.)—Write of habeas corpus were issued before Justice Gieserich in the supreme court this evening on behalf of Sam Paul and "Bridgie" Webber, arrested last night and held by Coroner Penberg without bail on the charge that they were accessories before the fact to the murder of Herman Rosenthal, Harvard Marshall, appearing for both men, asserted that no facts had been brought out to show the nature of the case before it occurred and that they were being held in the Tombs without warrant of law and contrary to their constitutional rights.

Justice Gieserich granted the writs, marking them returnable before him, and the accused were served immediately on Warden Fallon in the Tombs. The news that the accused gamblers had begun to make an aggressive fight against the police and the district attorney was flashed about town and aroused the keenest interest wherever sporting men were congregated.

Six Suspects Arraigned.

Jack Rose, Sam Paul, "Bridgie" Webber, William Shaprio and Louis Libby, all held by the police for complicity in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were arraigned before Coroner Penberg to-day.

The coroner sat as a committing magistrate to determine if Rose, Shaprio and Libby should continue to be held without bail and if Webber and Paul should be held at all.

Libby and Shaprio, owners of the grey auto in which Shaprio was assassinated in the scene of the crime and in which the gang escaped, made no objection to returning to the Tombs to await another hearing on Thursday.

Paupers Held for Rose.

Lawyer James M. Sullivan, for Rose, objected vehemently to the admission to bail, he said, District Attorney Whitman promptly put Deputy Commissioner Dougherty on the stand to tell of the voluntary statements of Rose and the other defendants. Rose, who was held at the time it occurred, Mr. Dougherty also told the statements of Shaprio, which corroborated the statements of Rose. Mr. Whitman said that he had shown testimony to warrant the holding of Rose as the man who hired the murder car and took it near to the scene of the murder and hang about until the murder was done. Over Mr. Sullivan's loud protest the coroner held Rose, as he held Libby and Shaprio, until Thursday.

"Bridgie" Webber was held after a short narrative by Dougherty, giving Webber's story of his whereabouts the night of the murder, which was supplemented by Shaprio's statement that the actual murderers got into the grey car at Webber's place and that he met Jack Sullivan there by appointment and collect $150 which Sullivan owed him. Never having been at Webber's before, Webber came along in an open hack, saying he had been at the night in Madison Square Garden, and let him in. Paul waited about some time, but he did not see Sullivan, Rose or Shaprio. At about 1 o'clock he went to bed. Sullivan came in at about 2 o'clock, woke him and told him Rosenthal had been killed, and also produced the $150. Jack Sullivan was held as a material witness in $100.

The coroner's court was jammed with people who had come to hear the evidence.

FRENCH SLAUGHTER TRIBES.

FEZ, July 22.—(Can. Press.)—A French column sent out to chastise marauding bands to the northwest of Safrou, by a cunning manoeuvre, forced the tribesmen to cross a ravine under a concentrated fire from rifles, machine-guns and artillery. Two hundred tribesmen were killed in a few minutes. The French lost three killed, of whom two were officers, and seven wounded.

WHOLE WORLD IS ARMED CAMP EMPIRE PROBLEM COMPLEX ONE

Protection of British Dominions on Every Continent and Ocean Calls for Methodical Preparation Extending Over Years—Four-fifths of Germany's Ships Are Ready for War.

Some of the significant points in Winston Churchill's speech are: "All the world is arming as it never has before. We have to protect dominions and territories scattered over every continent and every ocean, as well."

"There is an earnest desire upon the part of the dominions to assist in the common defence of the empire, and the time has come to make that disposition effective."

"Four-fifths of the German navy is maintained in full, permanent commission, making it constantly and instantly ready for war."

"Cool study and methodical preparation prolonged over successive years, can alone raise the margin of naval power."

"We should learn from our German neighbors the way in which policy marches unwaveringly to its goal."

"The number of ships we shall have to build in the next five years in order to maintain the 60 per cent. standard will have to be raised from the figure at which we had hoped it would stand, namely, from three next year, and four, three, four and three, in the succeeding years, to five next year and four in each succeeding year."

"It is proposed to raise the number of battleships in full commission from 23 to 32, and there will also be a second fleet of eight vessels."

"The admiralty has received information indicating that one of the Mediterranean powers is contemplating another considerable naval program. If this be true, it will constitute a new fact requiring prompt attention, not included in the forecasts I have given of future naval construction."

"There is no necessity for maintaining superiority in the Mediterranean over the combined fleets of Italy and Austria, with which nations relations were most friendly."

"The right way to maintain British interests in the Mediterranean is to employ the smallest number of modern ships, good enough for the work that will have to be done."

GERMAN NAVAL POLICY WARNING TO ENGLAND MORE SHIPS DEMANDED

Five Battleships Will Be Built Next Year and Four in Each of Succeeding Four Years—To Strengthen Fleet in Mediterranean, Altho Situation is Not Acute There.

LONDON, July 22.—(Thru Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Right Hon. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, introducing in the house of commons this afternoon the supplementary naval estimates, said that the direct cause of these additional estimates was the new German naval law, which he proceeded to examine in detail. Its main feature, he said, was the increase in the striking force of ships of all classes immediately available, and its general effect was the maintenance of four-fifths of the German navy in full permanent commission. This meant that it was constantly and instantly ready for war. Such preparation was remarkable and so far as he was aware found no example in the previous practice of modern naval powers. The German plans, he added, involved a remarkable expansion of strength and efficiency.

Mr. Churchill, discussing the general question of the growth of modern navies, said that cool study and methodical preparation prolonged over successive years could alone raise the margin of naval power. It was useless flinging money about on the impulse of the moment. The strain was should have to bear would be long and slow. No relief could be gained from impulsive and erratic action.

We should learn from our German neighbors the way in which policy marches unwaveringly to its goal. We must have an ample margin of strength instantly ready. There must be steady and systematic development of our naval forces uninterruptedly directed and pursued over a number of years.

Only a Beginning.

"These supplementary estimates," said the speaker, "are, of course, only the first and smallest instalment of the extra expenditure which the new German law entails upon us. The number of ships we shall have to build in the next five years in order to maintain the sixty per cent. standard will have to be raised from the figure at which we had hoped it would stand, namely, from three next year and four, three, four and three in the succeeding years, to five next year and four in each succeeding year."

"The Germans," he added, "are spending about £1,000,000 a year on submarines, and we cannot allow our lead in submarine to be diminished. The estimates also include £160,000 for a fleet repair ship, attachable to the third battle squadron."

It was proposed to raise the number of battleships in full commission from twenty-eight to thirty-three, and there would also be a second fleet, consisting of eight vessels. We should have from the year 1914 and onwards five battleship squadrons, of which

Nicol Kingsmill Dead

One of the old guard in Toronto legal circles passed yesterday in the person of Nicol Kingsmill, K.C. Mr. Kingsmill was 78 years of age, and had suffered from paralysis for the last decade. He died at his home, 34 Poplar Plains-road. The funeral will be at Niagara, after a service at the Toronto residence to-morrow morning at 9.15.

Mr. Kingsmill was solicitor for the Canada Southern Railway, having held that position since the inception of the road. He was also one of the vice-presidents of the railway. The Canada Southern is under the control of the Michigan Central Railway.

Mr. Kingsmill earned the title king's counsel by long and earnest service at the bar. His family was large, he outlived several of his children. One son, Walter B. Kingsmill, and two daughters, Edith and Maud, survive their father.

The late Mr. Kingsmill was the son of Col. Wm. Kingsmill of Niagara, and the brother of the late Judge John Jucherau Kingsmill. His nephew, Rear-Admiral Charles Edward Kingsmill has commended the Canadian marine service since May, 1908.

Directors of Pease Foundry Co. Issue Statement Showing That P. H. Patriarcho and Sheridan Voted McKinnon Out of Directorate Two Years Before Sheridan Was Ousted

In connection with the lamentable death of John T. Sheridan, who committed suicide at New Toronto on Saturday afternoon in the office of the Pease Foundry Co., the directors of the foundry yesterday stated that the Sheridan interests, mostly P. H. Patriarcho, two years before Mr. Sheridan was voted out of the control, had voted Mr. McKinnon out of the directorate.

The directors yesterday issued the following statement:

"With regard to the unfortunate death of the late Mr. John T. Sheridan, formerly its president, the directors of the Pease Foundry Co., Ltd., have nothing further to say than the following:

"1. That at the time of the change of management, in May, 1911, there was no lien and no loan such as is spoken of by one of the city papers. But there was a cash purchase of the company's stock to the extent of $35,000, the proxy for which was given to Mr. D. J. McKinnon, who is now president. Further, that if the readers of any of the city papers are curious enough to inform themselves as to the standing of the company, they will find that set forth in Bradstreet's and Dun's. The first five months of the company's current financial year have been the most prosperous in its history.

"2. That altho Mr. McKinnon and his friends did displace the late Mr. Sheridan from the directorate of the company, it was only reversing what had been done two years previously, when Mr. McKinnon was left off the directorate and P. H. Patriarcho elected in his place."

Permanent Naval Policy Will Be Fruit of Future Deliberation, But in Meantime Canada Directs To Add to Existing British Program, Directly Strengthening Naval Forces of Empire—Aid Will Not Be Unworthy of Canada's Dignity—Asquith Concedes That Canada's Request for Representation is Reasonable.

LONDON, July 22.—(Thru Reuter's Agency.)—Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in the course of his notable speech on Britain's naval policy in the house of commons, said: "We have had repeated conferences with Mr. Borden and his colleagues at the admiralty, and they are now in possession of all the facts. We discussed with them with the utmost freedom and confidence what action should be taken to surmount the difficulties obstructing such action. So far as the admiralty is concerned, there will be no difficulties which shall not be surmounted. There is, however, a strong distinction between measures dealing with the requirements of the immediate future and the elaboration of a permanent naval policy. The latter will require much fuller discussion than has been possible hitherto."

Aid Worthy of Canada

"Mr. Borden and his colleagues authorized me to say that they shared this view and that any special action which the immediate future may require of them will not be delayed. Pending the settlement of a permanent naval arrangement they wish that the aid of Canada shall be an addition to the existing British program, directly strengthening the naval forces of the empire and a margin available for its security. They tell me that the action of the Dominion will not be unworthy of the dignity and power of Canada. More than that, I am not entitled to say. The decision of the Canadian Government will not be announced until the ministers have returned to Canada. Meanwhile, I would suggest that the less the question is speculated upon the greater the public convenience will be."

Asquith, referring to the Right Hon. R. L. Borden, prime minister of Canada, who was in the gallery, Mr. Churchill paid a tribute to the efforts of the Canadian ministers, but declared that no announcement of policy would be made until Mr. Borden and the other Dominion ministers who had been in conference with the admiralty had returned to Ottawa and consulted with their colleagues.

Hand of Strong Friend

"It has been," he said, "a source of comfort and encouragement during these last few weeks to have by our side the prime minister and other ministers of the Dominion of Canada. It has been like the touch of the hand of a strong friend when serious business is to be done. The task of maintaining the naval power of the empire under existing conditions is a heavy one. All the world is arming as it never has before. We have to protect dominions and territories scattered over every continent and every ocean as well. We understand the truth of Mr. Borden's words, that the day of 1911 is too late for preparations."

"There is an earnest desire upon the part of the dominions to assist in the common defence of the empire, and the time has come to make that disposition effective. Apart altogether from material aid, the effect of the arrival on the blue waters of these new nations of the British Empire cannot be measured."

Safety in Unity.

"A united British Empire means the safety of the British Empire and that of the peace of the world. It is only by the beginning of an operation in defence must be accompanied by the beginning of an operation in policy, then I say that both measured by defence and by the policy of co-operation of the dominions with the United Kingdom, it would be an incalculable benefit to the strength of the empire and the general cause of peace."

Admiralty United.

In conclusion, Mr. Churchill ridiculed the charges which had been drawn of imperialist and economist sections of the cabinet waging a savage and perpetual war, only suspended from time to time by unsatisfactory and unnatural compromises. "The questions with which I have been dealing," he said, "are not such into which compromise could easily enter. It is easy to change a minister, but it is not easy to change facts. They are unavoidable and have to be dealt with however unpleasant are the consequences. The policy which I have submitted is the policy of the admiralty. On behalf of the admiralty I ask nothing that is not necessary, and I have not asked anything that I have not got."

Asquith's Acknowledgments.

Right Hon. Mr. Asquith, the premier, in the course of his speech, said that he was glad to see the German navy so strong and that he declared that the British Laborites would join the Laborites of Germany in opposing the constant increase in the naval appropriations.

Lord Charles Beresford criticized the increase in the naval program as insufficient. He prophesied that the country would go on adding more ships until it induced Germany to follow suit each year, but not enough—just until war came.

GERMAN NAVAL POLICY

four squadrons would be in full commission. There would thus be thirty-three ships against Germany's twenty-nine. This might not, perhaps, be considered a very satisfactory proportion, but having regard for the character of the vessels, the arrangements proposed would, in the opinion of the admiralty, be adequate to the needs of the years 1914 and 1915.

Proceeding Mr. Churchill dwelt extensively on the question of manning the navy, declaring it to be necessary to make large additions to the personnel for the next four years. He foreshadowed an increase of pay and promised to make definite proposals at the autumn session. A royal commission under Admiral Fisher was about to be appointed to enquire into the application of liquid fuel to warships. The enquiry, which would be along business lines, portends no sudden or extensive changes in the methods of naval construction.

Situation Changed.

Coming to the subject of the Mediterranean fleet, Mr. Churchill pointed out that the naval position there was about to undergo very important changes in view of the advent of Italian and Austrian dreadnoughts. He turned altogether to the assumption that those two powers would build no more powerful vessels, who had never had a quarrel with us and with whom we had been long upon the most cordial and most friendly terms. There is likely to combine together in attacking us. He demurred also to the suggestion that we ought to maintain, apart from our general supremacy and apart from our margin in home waters, a local superiority in the Mediterranean over the combined fleets of those two powers. It was determined to withdraw the six older battleships from the Mediterranean and to replace them by four battle cruisers of the Invincible type. These Invincibles would go out in the winter.

More Powerful Cruisers.

Further the armored cruiser squadron would be replaced by more powerful armored cruisers, and a torpedo station would be established at Alexandria. The four Mediterranean battleships now stationed at Gibraltar, replacing the old Atlantic fleet, will be raised to eight as a minimum, reserving the two powerful vessels which are to be ready in 1913, to be provided for the subsidiary base, enabling them to operate in the Mediterranean if necessary.

"All the movements of the Gibraltar squadron will be regulated by the main situation, but its existence and position must not be overlooked when I come to deal with the arrangements for the Mediterranean. It will be necessary to provide two extra destroyer flotillas, one this year and one the year after next," he said.

An Unnecessary Burden.

Mr. Churchill further declared that the maintenance of local supremacy in the Mediterranean, apart from the general supremacy, would mean a three power standard, plus an additional 50 per cent. preponderance over the strongest naval power. This would impose a burden unjustified by any vital fundamental need. The command of the Mediterranean cannot, he said, be treated as something wholly separated from the general command of the sea. Any attempt to confine naval supremacy to any particular water was false strategy and bad politics. It was not proposed to indicate the naval dispositions which the admiralty should adopt to meet the various contingencies which might arise. It was clear, however, that the force suited for war in the Mediterranean would be comparatively old vessels, recently representing the Mediterranean fleet, which would become an easy prey for a few powerful modern ships.

Quality, Not Quantity.

The right way to maintain British interests in the Mediterranean was to employ the smallest number of modern ships, good enough for the work that would have to be done. Even without the Gibraltar battle squadron the Malta squadrons would be most formidable and unapproachable in speed by vessels of equal power, now rare. This combination of speed and gun power offered the highest advantage, especially for trade protection. In conjunction with the French navy it would be superior to all possible combinations.

"It is true it will constitute a new fact, requiring prompt attention, not included in the forecasts I have given of future naval construction."

Statistics show that London has the greatest number of telephone instruments of any city in Europe, 172,000, which is one for every 26.3 inhabitants. In Stockholm the telephone is far more extensively used than in London, for the Swedish capital has one instrument for every 4.7 of the population. Berlin has one telephone for every 16.6 persons. Paris one for every 36.7, and Rome one for every 60.5. At the bottom of the list stands Madrid, with one telephone for every 124 inhabitants.

HUGE CRABS THAT HUNT BIRDS.

Sportsmen who visit that part of the British Empire known as the Island of Sokotra, say that no hunter can successfully compete on even terms with the enormous crabs that hunt on its coast. The sportsman, according to The New York Sun, is always being checked out by the big crustaceans.

The lagoons swarm with fish and are the resort of large flocks of duck. A difficulty in getting any of this game lies in the presence of these crabs.

The queer and hideous creatures appear to be amphibious, for they excavate tunnels in the banks of the lagoons and then lie at the dry end of the openings to watch. Travelers tell of the decidedly human hunter has had a successful shot he is by no means certain to reap the benefit of it. At the report of his gun the crab appears and claims the bird; the whole of it and never a part.

One sportsman dropped a big sandpiper in the water some 20 yards away from the opposite bank. A crab rose from the bottom and dragged down the bird. Then the sandpiper in some way escaped and came bobbing up again. A shot was ready for his pursuit. The minute the big crab rose to regain its quarry the sportsman let it have the other barrel. Bits of crab and bits of bird started

Mr. Reginald Pott dealt with the topic of "Wages for Wives," which has recently been discussed in the "Woman's Platform" of The Standard, in a lecture at the Algonquin Club, Grafton-street.

He said that the phrase, "Wages for Wives," was a little suitable and perhaps a trifle true, than would be "Helios for Husbands" under existing conditions. Here and there were marriages that might be called "Parisian in character," but they were not the wife's allowance reimbursed to a commercial traveler, to be spent; only directly or indirectly for the benefit of the family.

Mr. Pott, in his lecture, pointed out that the wife's allowance should be a definite share of the super-surplus, free from all central or dictation, with which to purchase "undiluted self-expression."

He insisted that he was not basing it on the speculative, but on the calculated surplus. To arrive at this it was necessary to deduct half a dozen forms of usual expenditure, including a relatively liberal allowance for the husband and the customary one for the wife, beside suitable savings. This still left the remainder, which he estimated, nominally, of large amount, the husband alone divided; but the wife should have a definite share of this super-surplus, free from all central or dictation, with which to purchase "undiluted self-expression."

Mr. Pott then expounded what he termed a practical scheme, which he varied with variations, practically all incomes. He insisted that he was not basing it on the speculative, but on the calculated surplus. VEGETABLES SOLELY PLAY DROP IN PRICE PRESENTED

Buying on Fruit Market Was Miss Haswell and Strong Phillips-Shaw Stook Company Not Brisk, and Red Currants Company Gave "Green Stockings" at the Royal Alexandra.

Small, green, and generally dead-looking, the first consignment of Canadian apples arrived on the Toronto fruit market yesterday. They came in from Grimsby and do not command a very high price, the basket being offered at fifty cents. It will be some weeks before Canadian orchards can produce perfect apples. Another novelty on the market is the shipment of white turnips, which made their first appearance late last week. They are now plentiful and the price has gone down considerably.

Monday is a bad day on the market, as the growers do not pick berries or vegetables on Sunday. Accordingly, there were no beet or egg plants on sale, and green peas were very scarce. Cabbages sold very cheap, going as low as 75c a bushel. Red currants shipped in last week still decorate the platform and the dealers try to sell them at five cents a box.

Yesterday's prices are: Raspberries, 15c to 25c a box; blueberries, $1.10 to $1.25 a basket; cucumbers, 85c to $1.25 a basket; tomatoes, $1.50 to $1.65 a basket; beans, 60c a basket; green peppers, $3 a bushel; asparagus, $3.75 a barrel; cherries (sour), $1.10 a bushel; lemons, 45c a case; canteloupes, $3.50 to $3.25; American apples, $1 to $1.25 a bushel; peaches (6-basket crates), $2.25, (carrots), $2.30, (California, crates) $1.25; cabbages, 50c a basket; marrow, 75c a basket; plums (small), $1.50 (large), $2 to $2.25; celery, 10c a bushel; pears, $3.50 a case.

He insisted that he was not basing it on the speculative, but on the calculated surplus. To arrive at this it was necessary to deduct half a dozen forms of usual expenditure, including a relatively liberal allowance for the husband and the customary one for the wife, beside suitable savings. This still left the remainder, which he estimated, nominally, of large amount, the husband alone divided; but the wife should have a definite share of this super-surplus, free from all central or dictation, with which to purchase "undiluted self-expression."

Mr. Pott then expounded what he termed a practical scheme, which he varied with variations, practically all incomes. He insisted that he was not basing it on the speculative, but on the calculated surplus. To arrive at this it was necessary to deduct half a dozen forms of usual expenditure, including a relatively liberal allowance for the husband and the customary one for the wife, beside suitable savings. This still left the remainder, which he estimated, nominally, of large amount, the husband alone divided; but the wife should have a definite share of this super-surplus, free from all central or dictation, with which to purchase "undiluted self-expression."

Seasonable Recipes

Tomato Rarebit. Put two tablespoons of butter into the chafing dish and, when melted, add two tablespoons of flour and stir until well blended; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, three-fourths cupful of cream, and as soon as mixture begins to thicken add two-fourths cupful of stewed and strained tomatoes mixed with one-eighth teaspoonful of soda; then add two cupfuls of soft mild cheese, cut in small pieces, and two eggs, slightly beaten. Season to taste with salt, mustard, and cayenne, and serve, as soon as cheese has melted, on crackers.—Washington Herald.

Doughnuts Without Eggs. One and one-half cups sugar, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons melted lard (dip from your frying pan), one-fourth teaspoon ginger, nutmeg to taste and flour to make as soft as can be handled. Doughnuts make them too stiff. Dip each one in a basin of boiling water, which you keep boiling on the stove conveniently near. Be sure to dip it quickly, just as soon as it is lifted from the hot oil. It won't soak and will keep moist much longer.—Portland Express and Advertiser.

Pineapple Souffle. One small can of pineapple, two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons flour, one pint milk, three egg yolks, three beaten egg whites, three tablespoons sugar. Rub the flour and butter together until smooth and add the milk which has been scalded in a double boiler; cook until thick. Add the egg yolks and the sugar; stir for two minutes and then remove and cool when the pineapple juice, or the pineapple mashed for a sieve, and fold in the stiffly whipped egg whites. Place in individual soufflé dishes and bake in a moderate oven from 10 to 15 minutes. Or make into one large soufflé and bake slowly for about 35 minutes.

Garden Bag. A worn hand bag is equipped for a garden bag with the following contents: A sharp knife; note book and pencil for jotting down needs or work to be done, or sometimes an interesting date of planting or blooming; a few pieces of heavy twine for tying up straggling branches; a few small envelopes for preserving seeds which are desirable to keep. With this bag strapped around the waist, one's time for gardening is used so efficiently that every minute counts for work instead of much time being spent in going to the house for things, or doing work twice over.

Potato Scallop With Cheese. Make a sauce with one rounding tablespoon each of butter and flour and one cup of milk. Butter a baking dish and put in six boiled potatoes, cut in thin slices and seasoned with salt. Sprinkle with paprika and a little grated cheese. Sprinkle the top with sifted bread crumbs and lay a few bits of butter round. Brown in the oven and serve hot.

Nut Muffins. Two cupfuls of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one cupful of milk, half a cupful of chopped nut meats.

Health and Beauty Answers

BY MRS. MAE MARTIN

Maude W.: The mussy, "stringy" condition of your hair is due to the use of soap and liquid shampoos containing "free alkali." You can quickly correct this condition by shampooing with canthrox, a teaspoonful of which dissolved in a cup of hot water, is ample for a thorough cleansing. The canthrox mixture thoroughly dissolves dust and dandruff and neutralizes excess oil. Rinsing leaves hair and scalp wonderfully clean and sweet, and the hair dries quickly with an even, rich color. Nothing equals canthrox for restoring the brilliance and silky finish to the hair.

Gertrude B.: I know nothing better to protect the complexion during summer than a plain sprumax lotion. This is made by stirring 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine into 1/2 pint witch hazel (or hot water), then adding 4 ounces sprumax. This is invisible when the skin is imparts a delightful tint to the skin. You will find the sprumax lotion fine for banishing tan, freckles, oiliness of the skin and other complexion disorders. The sprumax lotion will not spot from perspiration, and its use overcomes the need of powder or rouge.

Mayme L.: The dust-laden air of summer is harmful to the eyes, and to banish the smart and to restore the youthful sparkle you should put 3 or 4 drops of a crystal eye tonic in each eye daily. This harmless crystal eye tonic is made by dissolving an ounce of harden to 1/2 pint alcohol, then 40 drops of pure glycerine, and 10 drops of pure water to make a quart. Use each meal and your blood will soon be pure and rich. This harden tonic is unsurpassed as a body-builder, strength-giver, and taster it frequently saves doctor's bills.

Melba M.: Liver spots and pimples are due to impure blood. The instructor should take a harden tonic to expel this poisonous matter. You can prepare this tonic at home by adding 1 ounce of harden to 1/2 pint alcohol, then 40 drops of pure glycerine, and 10 drops of pure water to make a quart. Use each meal and your blood will soon be pure and rich. This harden tonic is unsurpassed as a body-builder, strength-giver, and taster it frequently saves doctor's bills.

Mrs. H.: Make a paste with a little powder-dusted hair and water. Rub the hair for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin, and the hairs have been washed. The hair will tone treatment is harmless and seldom requires repeating, except in aggravated cases.

A. B. C.: No vaseline will stop the hair from falling out. Shampoo with canthrox (see answer to Maude W.), and use this quinquina tonic, then use a little alcohol and 1 ounce quinquina, then stop frequently and the hair will stop falling out. Nothing equals the quinquina tonic to stop the hair from falling out.

IRON HOLDER

One of the very best patterns for an ironholder is a little boat-shaped affair made of white lined with the white felt, and stitched around the edge with red thread. The Montreal Star. This holder is folded shape of a small boat with rounded ends. By having the ends rounded and stitched, the holder cannot slip off the top.

FRUIT JUICES

Fruit juices may be put up without sugar, and will keep well, if every-thing is thoroughly sterilized and the juice put up in absolutely air-tight bottles. This is the only way to keep them from being spoiled. The bottles should be larger than the mouth of the bottle, so they will have to be soaked in hot water to make them soft enough to slip on the neck, and when the bottle is nearly full, force the sterilized cork into the neck, leaving a little space left on top of the cork into which the sterilized water should be poured to render the contents thoroughly air-tight.

VEGETABLES SOLELY PLAY DROP IN PRICE PRESENTED

Buying on Fruit Market Was Miss Haswell and Strong Phillips-Shaw Stook Company Not Brisk, and Red Currants Company Gave "Green Stockings" at the Royal Alexandra.

Small, green, and generally dead-looking, the first consignment of Canadian apples arrived on the Toronto fruit market yesterday. They came in from Grimsby and do not command a very high price, the basket being offered at fifty cents. It will be some weeks before Canadian orchards can produce perfect apples. Another novelty on the market is the shipment of white turnips, which made their first appearance late last week. They are now plentiful and the price has gone down considerably.

Monday is a bad day on the market, as the growers do not pick berries or vegetables on Sunday. Accordingly, there were no beet or egg plants on sale, and green peas were very scarce. Cabbages sold very cheap, going as low as 75c a bushel. Red currants shipped in last week still decorate the platform and the dealers try to sell them at five cents a box.

Yesterday's prices are: Raspberries, 15c to 25c a box; blueberries, $1.10 to $1.25 a basket; cucumbers, 85c to $1.25 a basket; tomatoes, $1.50 to $1.65 a basket; beans, 60c a basket; green peppers, $3 a bushel; asparagus, $3.75 a barrel; cherries (sour), $1.10 a bushel; lemons, 45c a case; canteloupes, $3.50 to $3.25; American apples, $1 to $1.25 a bushel; peaches (6-basket crates), $2.25, (carrots), $2.30, (California, crates) $1.25; cabbages, 50c a basket; marrow, 75c a basket; plums (small), $1.50 (large), $2 to $2.25; celery, 10c a bushel; pears, $3.50 a case.

Wages for Wives

Mr. Reginald Pott dealt with the topic of "Wages for Wives," which has recently been discussed in the "Woman's Platform" of The Standard, in a lecture at the Algonquin Club, Grafton-street.

He said that the phrase, "Wages for Wives," was a little suitable and perhaps a trifle true, than would be "Helios for Husbands" under existing conditions. Here and there were marriages that might be called "Parisian in character," but they were not the wife's allowance reimbursed to a commercial traveler, to be spent; only directly or indirectly for the benefit of the family.

Mr. Pott, in his lecture, pointed out that the wife's allowance should be a definite share of the super-surplus, free from all central or dictation, with which to purchase "undiluted self-expression."

He insisted that he was not basing it on the speculative, but on the calculated surplus. To arrive at this it was necessary to deduct half a dozen forms of usual expenditure, including a relatively liberal allowance for the husband and the customary one for the wife, beside suitable savings. This still left the remainder, which he estimated, nominally, of large amount, the husband alone divided; but the wife should have a definite share of this super-surplus, free from all central or dictation, council were not desirous of appointing him.

After a few speeches from members, who praised Mr. Fitzgerald's services to the city, City Clerk Littlejohn read Ald. Chisholm's formal resignation as alderman in ward one.

Chisholm Appointed. This was followed by a motion by Ald. Hilton that the rules be suspended, and when this was carried a second motion that Ald. Chisholm be appointed property commissioner at a salary of $3500 per year, was carried by a vote of 15 to 3, the vote being as follows:

For: Controllers McCarthy, Hocken, Ald. Maguire, O'Neill, McMurrich, Spence, Ryding, Sanderson, Austin, Weston, McBride, Hilton, Graham, Rowland, 15.

Against: Acting Mayor Church, Controller Foster, Ald. McBrien, 3.

Ald. Maguire then brought up the bylaw appointing Ald. Chisholm at a salary of $3500 a year, which was passed on the three readings.

Ald. Maguire then brought up a vote of expediency for the annexation of Moore Park. This was carried.

Ald. Austin attempted to effect a compromise regarding Dr. Hastings' salary so that the medical health officer would receive an increase of $500 instead of $1000, but lack of a quorum put an end to all further proceedings.

A NOISE-PROOF ROOM.

The Dutch Town of Utrecht is said to possess the only absolutely noise-proof room in the world. For a really noise-proof room is essential according to the theory of the constructor of this one, that not only shall no sound penetrate it from without, but also that it shall resist sound propagation, reflection and refraction within.

The solution of the first problem, it is said, comparatively easy. The Dutch Town of Utrecht is said to possess the only absolutely noise-proof room in the world. Mining Market in Quiet Mood—Hollinger on Down-Grade We

WHEAT PRICES AGAIN ON THE DOWN-GRADE

Another Break in Chicago Pit to Accompaniment of Bearish Crop News—Market Has No Resisting Power—Upturn in Oats.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Reports that harvesting had spread as far north as Minnesota and that except in a few counties the whole spring crop of the United States was practically beyond danger from rust, made to-day's wheat market heavy. Closing prices showed a 1/4 to 1/2 cent decline. Latest trading for corn 1/2 to 3/4 cent down, oats varying from 1/4 cent to 1/2 cent up and provisions less expensive. The following are the prices of the principal commodities:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, 1.15; No. 2 hard, 1.12; No. 3 hard, 1.09; No. 1 soft, 1.06; No. 2 soft, 1.03; No. 3 soft, 1.00.

Oats—No. 1 white, 0.75; No. 2 white, 0.72; No. 3 white, 0.69; No. 1 yellow, 0.70; No. 2 yellow, 0.67; No. 3 yellow, 0.64.

Corn—No. 1 white, 0.50; No. 2 white, 0.47; No. 3 white, 0.44; No. 1 yellow, 0.48; No. 2 yellow, 0.45; No. 3 yellow, 0.42.

Provisions—Butter, 25.00; Lard, 18.00; Pork, 15.00.

HOLLINGER DROPS AGAIN PUBLIC INTEREST SMALL

Complete Volt Face in Regard to Porcupine Leader—Shares Down 60 Points—Cobalt List Develops Firm Undertone.

There was a complete volt face in regard to Hollinger in the local mining markets to-day, the recent firm demand for the shares having disappeared almost entirely, so that there was, in effect, no call for the stock. At the same time small selling orders came into play, and these carried the quotation 60 in short order. Elsewhere the Porcupine list was characterized by the most absolute apathy, with no material changes in prices recorded in any section.

The decline in Hollinger ran into 60 points, the shares selling as low as $12.40 during the day. It was also significant as evidencing the turn in sentiment regarding the issue that the highest price realized during the session was $12.50, which was exactly half a dollar a share under Saturday's ruling levels. At the close the stock was still on offer at $12.40, with bids ten points removed.

Whatever the meaning of the episode in the big Porcupine leader, it failed to have any appreciable effect on the general list, which moved along quietly in the even tenor of its way, with no features of any note evolved. Dome Extension sold between 14-14 and 15-15, and the close at 14 3/4 bid was the most outstanding incident.

Porcupine Mines Show Up Well

Engineer John B. Cleveland, formerly with the West Dome, Porcupine sampling the Hudson Bay Porcupine properties for a New York syndicate, returned from the gold camp Saturday. He reports that the working mines are showing up better each day as work proceeds, but that inasmuch as prospectors have left the district, business in general is dull. With more stamp mills running and the returns from the same being made public, Mr. Cleveland believes the public will get a better idea of the camp than they now have under existing circumstances, where the papers are practically barred from authentic news relative to production.

Four Shafts Down At the Dome Lake

Four shafts at the Dome Lake mines are down to the following depths: 170, 160, 170 and 110 feet. Two veins with two shafts on each vein are being worked.

The shafts are from 800 to 900 feet apart and at the 100-foot level drifting is being done to connect up the shafts. The plan is to connect the shafts at each of the veins with the drifts, thus blocking out a large body of ore.

The richest vein is from five to six feet in width and has been stripped on the surface for 800 feet. Sampling along this distance shows an average of $35.00. The sample test of ore sent to the Kingston School of Mines some time ago gave an average of $44 to the ton for 30 tons. The ore was taken from the 70-foot depth of No. 2 shaft.

The 10-drill compressor is working and the management has the ground broken for a 10-stamp and tube mill, which they intend to put in this fall.

INCITED TO WAR BY YELLOW PRESS

So Says Lutheran Pastor Who Will Tour Ontario to Promote Peace

MONTREAL, July 22.—(Can. Press.)—Declaring that the yellow press of Canada, which talked incessantly about war between Great Britain and Germany, were traitors to the empire, Rev. Emil Von Jestinsky, pastor of the German Lutheran Church here, last night announced his intention of traveling thru Ontario as an evangel of peace. He contended that nothing was more unlikely than war between these two countries, if feeling was not embittered by the publication of scurrilous untruths about their relations in the newspapers.

Mr. Jestinsky continued by saying that Great Britain and Germany were the two greatest Christian nations in the world, and their peoples were brothers. Mr. Jestinsky says he would proclaim his doctrine in every part of Ontario where there were Germans, whose support was needed to correct the misstatements being published thruout Canada.

LONDON, July 22.—Cursing the British Government for its refusal to intervene in the dock workers' strike, James O'Grady walked out of the house of commons to-day, swearing that he would not keep his seat among the lawmakers, with women and children starved to death.

O'Grady had been asking Premier Asquith what the administration proposed to do toward the settlement of the strike situation, had received the reply that efforts by the government were impossible, and that the rest depended on the subject, and he received a refusal from the Speaker.

"This is a 4-d scandal!" he cried, tearing up his notes and scattering them broadcast with a furious gesture. Before the Speaker could call him to order he had left the chamber.

Approximately 585,000,000 pounds of copper were produced by mines of the United States, Mexico and Canada during the first half of 1913. This was a record tonnage for a like period and compares with 562,000,000 pounds a year ago and 515,000,000 during the first six months of 1912.

In addition there were imported into the United States to total 122,000,000 pounds, making total copper available for treatment from 707,000,000 pounds, which has the previous record during the period 724,641,478 pounds, against 617,428,227 pounds and 584,861,467 pounds in 1911 and 1910 respectively.
