CANON DEVEBER

LAI TO REST

Impressive Services Held Today At St. Paul's

A LARGE FUNERAL

The Pall Borne by Brother Clergymen—Dean Partridge Spoke Eloquently of the Deceased's Life and Work—A Tribute from St. Paul's Pulpit.

Impressive ceremonies marked the burial of Rev. Canon DeVeber, which took place from St. Paul's (Valley) church this afternoon.

The body, which was encased in a black broadcloth casket with silver mountings, was taken to the church early this morning and laid in state before the altar.

The Holy Eucharist was celebrated at 8 o'clock for the benefit of the relief fund and mourning. Rev. A. G. Hamilton-Dicker acting as celebrant. The casket was covered with a pall upon which were placed the floral tributes.

The choir stalls, pulpit, prayer desk, lectern and font rail were draped in black with bows of violet ribbon, and seats for the mourners were marked off with black silk cord. Pews were also set aside for the congregation, who were admitted to the church before the general public.

The choir and clergy assembled in the vestry at 2.15 and about 2.30 the procession entered the church passing from the vestry on the north side to the chancel, and chanting the opening sentences of the burial service to Gregorian tones.

All the city clergymen were present and among those representing the diocese were His Lordship Bishop Kingston, Very Rev. Dean Partridge, and Rev. Canon Richardson, Rev. Leo Hart, Rev. A. D. Dewdney and Rev. W. O. Raymond.

The cortege formed up as follows: Clergymen and choir, the vestry and wardens, hearse, mourners and general public. On reaching Fernhill, the choir rendered the hymn, "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er," and then followed the committal and burial.

Among the many floral tributes were: A cross of white carnations and smilax from the Messrs. Sydney Smith, cut flowers from Mr. Reid, a cross of cream roses and smilax from A. O. Earl and numerous others.

The funeral was largely attended by all classes of people, by whom Canon DeVeber was loved and respected.

A Pulpit Reference

Rev. A. G. H. Dicker, rector of St. Paul's church, made eloquent reference to the death of Canon DeVeber, who for more than 30 years was the rector of the church.

He said in part: "It has been well said that we cannot see the star while the sun is shining, but when night draws her curtain across the sky, the star, in all its beauty gleams out to our view. So it is that in the hurry of life, we only partially know our friends, and are perhaps ignorant of the best and highest parts of their natures. Then death comes, and

WITTE'S NAME CAUSED RIOT IN A SYNAGOGUE

Police Called to Quell Disturbance at Meeting of Chicago Jews—Leaders Arrested and Several People Wounded.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The police were called to quell a riot last night in the Russian synagogues, at Clinton and Judd streets, where Adolph Kraus was addressing a Jewish meeting. Several persons received slight wounds and ten men and women were arrested. Mr. Kraus was giving an account of his interview with Mr. Witte, the Russian envoy at Portsmouth, at which he asked justice for the Jews through Mr. Witte's good offices.

"We may trust the Jews," Mr. Witte said, "but he will do all in his power to ameliorate the sufferings of the Jews," Mr. Kraus said.

Chief Clark was investigating the matter this morning, but stated that he had not received as yet the full particulars.

"TIP" O'NEIL BACK HOME

John (Tip) O'Neil, the well-known baseball player, who has been making a name for himself in the baseball world, arrived home this morning on the Boston train.

He is recovering slowly but surely from the injury and hopes to be all right again by the end of the month.

Regarding his plans for next year he could not speak definitely. He has been thought by the Chicago National League team, but does not know yet whether he will play with them or not.

He says the present season is the most successful he has ever had, except for the fact that he has been injured or laid up two or three times.

He has not made up his mind yet whether he will stay in St. John this winter or go to Boston, as he has been offered two or three good positions at the Hub, it is possible that he may decide to go there.

The Milwaukee team, of which he was a member, secured second place in the American Association and was a very close second at that.

BUSINESS SOLD

The business of the Penobscot Natural Sulphur Spring Co. has been sold to a New York mineral water company, which will take possession probably about the end of the week.

The new owners will run the spring near Penobscot. The business has only been running about six weeks, and the proprietors, Samuel and James Watson, will, it is said, receive a nice city sum.

Col. W. W. White and members of the 3rd Regiment C.A. will leave here, either Saturday or Monday next for the annual drill at Peterawa, Ont., Col. White said this morning that he had not yet received word which day they would leave. He had asked for transportation so that they could leave on Saturday by C. P. R. but had not yet received a reply. If they could not go by the C. P. R. they would likely leave by the I. C. R. on Monday.

Diavolo, the man who leaps the chasm at the Fredericton exhibition, was badly injured today in attempting to carry out his performance. He fell heavily to the ground on his face and was knocked unconscious. It is thought he will recover.

through its darkness, the star of their spiritual life gleams before us. It might be thought that in our late bereavement, William DeVeber, we had an exception to this rule, and that while he was yet with us, his virtues were appreciated by all. Yet even in this instance it is probably true that of late years only a few realized the inestimable value of his life to the church and community.

"How realistic and firm he was when principle or conscience were at stake. How absolutely unselfish—ever seeking to exalt others, and place himself in the background. How sincere in his religion and daily converse, and how the commonest things he did were governed by Christian principle and referred to God in prayer. Indeed during the past years we had without realizing it, been privileged to see as our friend and teacher, one who was a true saint of God if ever one lived on this earth."

was saying when suddenly a member of a Jewish society sprang to his feet. "Do you trust a Russian politician?" he shouted.

Before Mr. Kraus had time to answer there was a shout from several hundred men and women in the audience: "Down with Witte," "Down with tyranny," came the shouts.

While the excitement was at its height the doors of the synagogues were locked and someone telephoned for the police. In a few minutes several patrol wagons filled with officers were on hand. The leaders were arrested and the meeting was dispersed.

SECOND EDITION THEY WANT

ANOTHER ST. JOHN GIRL

MAKES A DESPERATE ATTEMPT ON HER LIFE

Annie Craft Drank Poison in King Square This Afternoon ---Esta Spicer, a Native of Nova Scotia, Twice Tried Suicide in Aberdeen Hotel Rather Than Marry the Man Whom She Could Not Love.

Annie Craft, daughter of Abraham Craft of West End, made a desperate attempt on her life this afternoon while sitting in the King square.

Nothing could be learned, however, aside from the bare fact that the young woman had taken a poisonous substance and was in a critical condition.

What led up to her rash act is at present unknown.

At A. C. Smith & Co.'s it was stated that the poison taken by the girl was a liniment intended for external use.

The bottle in which the poison was contained was taken in charge by the police. Chief Clark says it was a poison procured by prescription.

The unfortunate girl is a daughter of Abraham Craft of 6 Lullow St. She had been employed as a domestic servant and for the past three months has been living in a situation. Her father, mother, two brothers and one sister reside in the West End and she has a married sister living in the United States.

Miss Craft has not been in robust health and was discharged from the hospital only about three weeks ago.

There was another case of attempted suicide in the city last night. A girl named Esta Spicer, who belongs to Nova Scotia, and is employed in the Aberdeen Hotel, took carbolic acid and then laudanum. Dr. Lewis was summoned and attended her and she is resting easily today. She is 19 years old.

It is stated that the girl's mother wanted her to marry a man in Nova Scotia and she objected. She got a doctor's certificate to the effect that she was not fit physical condition to be married, but her father wrote back, it is said, declaring that she must marry the man. Then she took the poison, in an attempt to end her life.

KOCH KILLED HIMSELF WHILE WIFE LISTENED AT THE SPEAKING TUBE

Williamsburg Lawyer, Whose Wife Had Left Him, Shot Himself in Vestibule After Calling Wife to Speaking Tube to Hear the Report.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Assenting reluctantly to listen to one last word from her husband from whom she was estranged, Mrs. Henry Koch pressed her ear to the speaking tube leading from her apartment in New York to her apartment in Williamsburg.

In a letter found after his death Koch declared the woman had forsaken him. Koch not only brought friends to bring about a reconciliation, but called him to Williamsburg, where he had called his wife to the speaking tube to hear him shoot himself.

Koch was a well-to-do lawyer living in Williamsburg. He and his wife had separated some time ago, the husband retaining the old home, which was presided over by the 35-year-old daughter, Mamie, and the wife taking up her residence in East New York, with three younger children.

In a letter found after his death Koch declared the woman had forsaken him. Koch not only brought friends to bring about a reconciliation, but called him to Williamsburg, where he had called his wife to the speaking tube to hear him shoot himself.

He appeared at the house early yesterday, and after ringing the bell was accosted through the speaking tube. He asked his wife to receive him, which she refused to do. He pleaded with her to come down to the door, which was likewise refused. Then Koch begged her to listen a little longer. "Listen, won't you?" he pleaded. "I promise you I will never ask you to listen again to me."

"Well, what is it you want to say?" "I don't want to say anything," was the reply, "only listen closely." His voice was lost in the report of the pistol. The latter shot Koch who had planned his suicide.

AN EXCURSION ON THE HARBOR

Wun Lung Treated Her Patients to a Sail Last Evening ---Some of Them Objected.

Citizens of Charlott who had occasion to take the ten minutes to seven trip of the ferry boat last evening, with the expectation of reaching St. John in time to go to church, were treated instead to a sail around the harbor.

It appears that on that trip the captain remembered that a gangway which was at Sand Point would have to be brought over to this side to be put into commission while the east side floats were removed.

Accordingly, after leaving the West Side, the Wun Lung, instead of proceeding on her usual route, direct to this side, which would have allowed the passengers time to go to church, went to Sand Point, where the gangway was secured, and then making a nice little turn, just to show she could do it as well as the Lullow, she waddled over to the East Side, where the passengers were landed all safe, but too late in many cases for them to attend divine worship.

The round trip was made in about twenty minutes. Some of the passengers complained that the time taken to make the shift was very ill chosen.

SHE STOPPED ALL PAPA'S FUN

A Domestic Row on the Corner of Paddock and Coburg Sts. Last Night.

Residents in the neighborhood of the corner of Paddock and Coburg streets were witnesses last evening to a rather strange incident in this well-conducted city.

The incident in question took place in the early hours of the evening, when the bus had gone to rest, and the young people were enjoying themselves in many places.

It was reported that a certain individual has been troubled with attacks of Yenna, and the instrument with which he is being annoyed is a fair lady many years younger than himself.

This same gentleman has a daughter who, with wistful eyes, has adopted a rather maternal care over her youthful suitor.

Last evening the gentleman and his youthful sweetheart were strolling leisurely about Paddock street, drinking in the pure air, when their pleasure was abruptly interrupted with the appearance of the wife's daughter. In an instant there was a hair chit between the females, and after the sweetheart's frantic cry had been slightly chastened by the angry daughter, the roughly used lady gathered in her sail and flew to a more comfortable part of the city.

The father was led back to his domicile by his angry child, while he muttered words of disapproval relative to the action of his daughter.

MERCER BRIDGE TO OPEN OCT. 17

DALHOUSIE, N. S., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—The inauguration of the Mercer Bridge, erected on the Matapedia River at a cost of thirty thousand dollars by the Quebec government, will be held on October 17th next.

Hons. Messrs. Gouin, Tessier, Allard, Perreault, LeBlond, and Messrs. Maxwell and Kelly, M. P.'s, have promised to attend the ceremony. Excursions for the occasion will be held on the Lady Ellen and the Bay Chaleur Railway.

The Mercer Bridge is situated near the Matapedia station, P. Q., and on only a few acres from the proposed interprovincial passenger bridge to be erected by the Quebec and New Brunswick governments. The Dominion authorities have donated the steel superstructure.

A cable to J. Willard Smith stated that the schooner Chesle, Captain Brown, had arrived at Barbois from Jacksonville with a cargo of pitch pine. All well.

A meeting of the carnival committee will be held this afternoon in the board of trade rooms, when details of the celebration will be talked over.

A fleet of two steamers, one barkentine and twenty schooners arrived at this port within the past twenty-four hours.

Will Ask City to Allow the Street Railway Company to Lay Double Tracks and Otherwise Improve Service—A Resolution of Appreciation.

Prominent residents of the Haymarket Square and Paradise Row route of the street railway system met this morning in the office of James and Schofield, North wharf, and passed a resolution to the effect that the board of works be petitioned to give the St. John Railway Co. permission to double track the route, namely to put down another track from Stanley St. to the foot of Brussels St. to lay down a single track from Union St. up Sydney and along the north side of King Square to Charlotte and to double track Paradise Row, or to lay a single track on Ford St.

A committee consisting of F. B. Schofield, H. A. Austin, Henry Page, Wm. Kerr, R. R. Mitchell and J. King Kelly was appointed to wait on the board of works and present the petition. In discussing the matter the people spoke strongly in favor of the loop service and if the cars were running both ways it was contended the service would be quite perfect.

At the same meeting the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Be it Resolved that we, the citizens of St. John, here assembled, wish to signify to the St. John Railway Company, our appreciation of the excellent street railway service (with the exception of the Paradise Row route) given by the company during the past three months.

We feel that the company is doing its best to meet the wishes of the patrons of the railway and that due credit should be given them for the improved service.

The general committee of the I. C. R. telegraphers is still in session here. The committee is endeavoring to have reinstated an old member who was a long time in the I. C. R. service in Nova Scotia and who was recently dismissed.

BLACK HAND TACTICS OF GANG OF NEW YORK THUGS

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Irene Grossman, a girl of 16 years, was found clubbed into insensibility in the hallway of her home in West 122nd street early today.

The attack was the culmination of a series of night entries into the Grossman residence, which were intended to enforce, by "black hand" methods, payments of money for immunity from attack. Beginning Friday night, a negro visited the house nightly, appearing to only Miss Grossman and escaping when frightened by her screams. Despite the lookout set for him by the family, he succeeded today in reaching Miss Grossman before she had a chance to give a warning.

The girl's brother told the police that his sister had started for an early morning walk when she was attacked. He heard her scream and ran into the hallway, where he found her unconscious, but saw nothing of the man.

Immediately after the clubbing the police found two pictures in the Grossman home with their faces turned to the wall and notes demanding money written on the backs. On the back of a photograph of Mrs. Grossman was written: "We expect $500 from you, B. F. C." On the back of one of her daughter's pictures was written in the same hand: "We expect $200 from you, B. F. C."

In the two previous visits to the house the burglars had stolen several valuable pictures and more than $400 worth of silversware. Miss Grossman's injuries are not believed to be dangerous.

Information reached the Times newspaper today by special cable that a man was knocked down by an omnibus on the streets of London. He was only slightly injured. The omnibus passed on.

The various civic boards meet this week, including the water board, and the aldermen have another attack of cold.

Why We Are Brood. Civic pride sits in the mind of every citizen who gazes upon the street at the junction of Princess and Prince William streets, beside the City Hall, especially after a rainstorm. Aldermen blame when they pass that way, and gaze with every evidence of a proud consciousness that this is their work, and that every ton of street covering carried down Prince street by the rain and deposited on the wooden pavement of Prince William street, is a monument to their foresight and skill. Also that the holes in the wooden pavement in which pedestrians turn their ankles, or the rough places over which they stumble, are all part of the grand scheme of street construction and repair which was inaugurated years ago, and which will eventually develop into the finest roadway system this side of Swampville. To have such an object lesson close to City Hall and the post office and the ferry, where so many people congregate, is an evidence of the earnest desire of the city fathers to impress upon the people the value of well-made streets.

As the ferry steamer is not licensed to run Sunday excursions, those west side people who started for church on the east side last evening but were taken instead for an excursion on the harbor will take

Financial and Commercial. THE DRY GOODS TRADE

Cotton Price Lists Issued for Spring Trade—Large Increase in Canadian Exports of Cotton Goods—The Wool Market Firmer.

(Toronto Globe.) Canadian cotton mills have issued their price lists to jobbers for spring trade. Some slight advances have been made, but, generally speaking, prices have not been put so high as had been expected, in view of the top conditions and the organized attempts to raise the price of raw cotton. The chief reasons are in shagreen, pillow casing, and some lines of grey cottons. Notwithstanding the reports of scarcity manufactured cottons, reports have been kept up prices for the past twelve months, the increased statistics of our foreign trade for the year 1904, which have just been issued, show that Canada exported $1,173,136 worth of cotton goods, an increase of $22,254, nearly 100 per cent. This went almost entirely to other countries, the total to "other countries" being $1,018,894. The trade with China, the Canadian mills sharing with British and American mills in the increase in business in the east, due to the cheaper price. The Chinese demand increases when raw cotton is cheap and falls off as prices advance.

Cotton Imports. The statistics of our imports of cotton show strikingly the difference in prices of that commodity and its products in the two years. The year 1904 was marked by the high price of raw cotton, which raised the price of cotton up to 7 cents. The year 1905 covered the period when the price of raw cotton fell to 4 cents, and the price of cotton up to 7 cents. Under these circumstances, though the value of our imports show some decline, it was only in value, for statistics of quantity above increase. For instance, the value of raw cotton imported from the United States fell off nearly $400,000. In 1904 it was over $2,000,000, showing an increased consumption of over 100 per cent and consequently increased activity in the business of Canadian cotton mills. The value of our imports of raw cotton from the United States were: 1904, $2,000,000; 1905, $1,600,000. From Great Britain we got $2,000,000.

Underlying conditions have changed little. The country is enjoying prosperity to near every branch of industry. The exceptions being the bituminous coal trade, in which there is a large over-production, and in certain lines of manufactured commodities, in which the business situation are negligible. The cotton market is a large one, and the price of raw cotton is high, and the public shows little inclination to come into the market on a big scale at the moment. Consequently, a trader's market will probably rise, in which standard shares such as the Good, Morgan and Harman issues, and those of the Pennsylvania group, are a purchase on reasonable and a sale on rallies. Values make price in the time run, and we feel confident that the near future the market will work to a higher level.

A large number of deals were adrift off the Cape this morning, and boats were gathering them up. It is thought that some vessels had lost her deckload—Yarmouth Telegram.

The new steamer Bear River and Orana are at the wharf of the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Steamship Co., ready to receive their cargoes and passengers. The former will sail for St. John, N. B., on Wednesday, and the latter will sail for St. John, N. B., on Thursday.

As a result of the survey held on the disabled liner Bremen, the steamer has been ordered into dry dock at Halifax and will be in shape to start on her regular run on Monday morning. Besides her passengers, about one hundred and twenty of her crew, mostly cooks and stewards, will be sent to the steamer.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 25.—The British Department of the United States has made application to the authorities of this country for the arrest of Capt. McLean, of the steamer Caribou, on the charge of having been accused of poisoning in Behring Sea, and it is believed that the British authorities of the United States will be asked to issue a warrant for his arrest and to forward him to the United States.

THE VIOLA DAMAGED. J. Willard Smith received word yesterday that his schooner, the Viola, had been run down by the steamship Indiana, off East Chop, Vineyard Haven, Saturday, about nine o'clock. Mr. Smith left this morning by train for that place to look after the interests of the vessel. Captain Cole, in command of the vessel, worked her into Vineyard Haven to a safe anchorage in a waterlogged condition. A great hole was made in the port side of the vessel by the steamer. The spar and rigging of the Viola were not much injured. Capt. Cole says that if the vessel had had any other cargo but lumber all on board, the steamer would have had a fight for life. The steamer was not damaged. The Viola hauled from Vineyard Haven, N. S., and registered in Canada, and her manager, owner, J. W. Smith, this city.

THOSE SPECIAL CABLES

For the many kindly attentions which it has received from the St. John Star during the year of its existence, and for some particularly nice things seen even before the first issue of the Times appeared, this journal is duly grateful.

It is therefore a pleasure as well as a duty to call attention to the great value Star readers derive from that paper's special Saturday cables.

No other paper in the maritime provinces has these special cables. The cable rate is very high.

On Saturday the Star, on its first page, featured a special cable from London, with very large headlines, telling of a Toronto man in that city who is seeking after forty-seven years to find his parents. He had been kidnapped from his English home when a boy. It was a story full of heart-interest, and well worthy of the enterprise of the Star in having it specially cabled at great expense from London.

It is true that the same story, word for word, and at considerably greater length, had appeared in the St. John Telegraph on Sept. 15, or eight days before the Star received it by special cable; but this does not detract from the merit of the Star's achievement. It would no doubt have had the story quite as fully as the Telegraph had eight days earlier but for the presence of other cables upon its valuable space.

The Times has been paying out a good deal of money for special features, in order to give its readers the best possible value in an up-to-date newspaper, but has not yet seen its way clear to follow the Star's example in the matter of special cables. The pace is too swift.

THE WHITEWASH BRUSH

The Times on Thursday last quoted the resolution presented to the National Association of Life Underwriters at Hartford by St. Louis delegate, and remarked that it expressed sound doctrine.

But that resolution was not adopted. Instead of censuring those responsible for the conditions disclosed by the inquiry in New York, the association applied a liberal coat of whitewash. It will be interesting to place the resolution they were asked to pass beside the one they did pass, for comparison. The St. Louis delegate moved:

Whereas, the public press, official committees, life insurance departments and executive inquiries have disclosed methods and practices in the management of some life insurance companies which, if not criminal in their nature, appear to be grossly irregular and in violation of the principles of the trust involved, and that whereas, these disclosures threaten to create, in the minds of the uninformed, suspicions regarding the integrity of management of all life insurance companies, and to bring the business into general disrepute, be it

Resolved, That the National Association of Life Underwriters in convention, that the members of the association, who have been chiefly instrumental in inspiring confidence in the minds of policy-holders and in building up the magnificent structure of life insurance, owe it to ourselves and to those who have reposed confidence in us to oppose those influences which would tear it down. To demand that, if crimes have been committed, the criminals shall be punished, and that those who have violated their trust shall be deprived of their trustworthiness. To urge and insist that we are not willing to support misconduct in the home office. We oppose concealment or evasion, and demand such publicity as will lead to a correction of abuses wherever they may be found.

The resolution which was actually adopted was as follows:

Resolved, That the National Association of Life Underwriters record the fact that the funds of the policy-holders in life insurance companies of America have during the past half-century been administered with fidelity, integrity and ability, which recent events have tended to emphasize; and, be it further

Resolved, That for the best interests of the policy-holders and the companies, both of which in a special sense are committed to us, the association suggests full and free publicity of all the operations of the life insurance companies as best calculated to minimize future opportunities for evil and to retain the confidence of the public in the best, and what will surely grow to be the greatest system of organized beneficence in the world—the business of life insurance.

It would have been much better had the association preserved silence. The Boston Transcript aptly observes:

"Recent events have served to emphasize 'the fidelity, integrity and ability' with which life insurance has been conducted, and it is likely to be some time before the public will be able to see selfishness and dishonesty by any chance creep into the management. Recent events have demonstrated that in certain instances, the managers of big companies have greatly profited at the expense of the policy-holders. That is, by using their power they have made operating expenses immediately burdensome by the payment of excessive and unearned salaries to officials; salaries based upon the self-estimate of those who were to receive them. To call transactions of that nature a 'system of organized beneficence,' is to insult the intelligence of the public.

Much of the profit in this system of 'organized beneficence,' in the case of some of the big companies, appears to have gone to the directors and high officials, some banks and trust companies, promoters, and political agents. This is not a time for whitewash, but for the shovel brigade.

CANADA'S DESTINY

Will the budding empire of freemen content to lose its identity in that of its great neighbor to the south? Will 6,000,000 sturdy Canadians, every one of them a politician born and bred, agree to constitute a minority of 1 to, say, 13 at Washington when they can manage their own affairs in their own Canadian way at Ottawa? To paraphrase Horace Greely: Young man, of north I see. This quotation from the New York

Globe shows that at least one American newspaper knows something about the feelings of the Canadian people. The Globe observes that "the American papers have, of late, contained numerous news items dealing with friction along the border—lumber troubles between loggers of Maine and New Brunswick, 'flag incidents' on the lake coast, and pursuit of American fishing vessels by armed Canadian tugs in Lake Erie—all of which serve to remind the busy American for the moment that a proud and self-reliant people live between us and the Northern Lights;" but that despite this fact, "if the average American should be asked to predict the future of this Canada he would probably reply somewhat as follows: 'Oh, she'll join us when she gets tired of roughing it alone,' or, in other words, Canada will, some day, fur her distinctive flag, press her maple leaves between the covers of her bell-shaped school histories, put away her pecky little bears in moth balls, submit gracefully, and be annexed."

The New York Globe says that in the middle eighties there was an annexation sentiment, but that today "one can travel from Halifax to Vancouver and scarcely meet, though he be diligently sought for, a single non-pure annexationist." The Globe, however, still makes the mistake of believing, though it admits that "Canada is to most intents and purposes a nation now," that her people seek independence. The same man who would find scarcely an annexationist from Halifax to Vancouver would also have difficulty in finding many persons, outside possibly of a few in Quebec province, thoroughly convinced that what Canada needs is independence.

It is quite true that there is some feeling of unrest, not with regard to the present, but with regard to the future relations of Canada with the rest of the empire. Any thoughtful citizen will admit that the time for a change in that relationship is relatively near, but the national sentiment does not tend toward separation. It earnestly seeks the way to a closer relationship that shall be mutually satisfactory. Opinions differ as to the course best calculated to produce this result, and it is no light task that confronts the statesmen of the empire; but they have the assurance of a national desire for that which they seek to attain.

The New York Globe and other American journals have understood that while Canadians value their Canadian citizenship they are not less proud of their citizenship in the British empire. And those who come to us from other lands, including the United States, and become citizens of Canada, which binds them to the glorious traditions of a great empire, and associates them with its brilliant achievements in the world of today. If in the course of time Canada should develop a desire for independence, it will be because only along that path will she be able to achieve her high destiny; and the signs of such a change are not yet in the sky.

The St. John Star naturally expresses surprise that the Times on Friday did not chronicle the death of a venerable citizen who passed away that morning. The fact that the gentleman who engaged to notify the papers of the sad event ignored the Times does not excuse the staff for their failure to learn the news in the ordinary course of their work, even though one member was off duty that day. In this affair they appear to have followed the very bad example set them by the St. John Star when a well known citizen died on July 18th, and which it has frequently set them since.

The Canadian Labor Congress, in session in Toronto last week, declared itself in favor of "legislation permitting the mechanics and artisans of Canada to enjoy the privilege of education on lines of electrical engineering, chemistry, wood-craft, modeling, etc." This is also a declaration in favor of manual training in the public schools.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson, in an interview in Ottawa, intimated that passenger and freight rates on the I. C. R. may require some change in the direction of higher rates, in order to reduce the deficit.

It now appears that Gaynor and Greene, the embassiers, will have to go back to the states to stand trial. Canada has sheltered them far too long.

China will reorganize her army. The object lesson presented by Japan has not been lost.

AN IMPROVED CHURCH

Sunday School, Reading Room and Class Rooms Soon to be Added to the Tabernacle.

A number of improvements have been made to the Tabernacle Baptist church, through the energy of its pastor and members, and in a short time a Sunday school room, library and reading room will be ready for the accommodation of the growing membership.

When the church was built the basement was not finished, but work on this portion has been going on for some time now, and after an expenditure of about $600 the church has a fine school room, with smaller rooms off it. An astyrene gas plant has been installed, and when used for the first time at last evening's service proved an immense success. For the coming winter months a class of young men will be formed from the church and congregation for bible study, and a reading room will be conducted in conjunction with it.

NICODEMUS AND JESUS

Rev. P. J. Stackhouse Preached an Eloquent Sermon on This Theme Last Night.

"Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews, the same came to Jesus by night."—John 3, i. This was the text from which Rev. P. J. Stackhouse preached to the congregation of the Tabernacle Baptist church, at Haymarket square, last night.

He said: There is a peculiar fascination about the character of Nicodemus and his visit to the Saviour has many elements of the dramatic about it. We know so little and it is easy to imagine so much. The name is mentioned only in the fourth gospel and each time it is stated he came to Jesus by night.

Some scholars claim he came by night to learn more about his teaching, but my own impression is he came by night because he was afraid to go in the day time. In other words, Nicodemus was a cowardly enquirer. His question is a very excellent quality, but caution carried too far becomes cowardice. The man who is always thinking of the personal consequences of his actions, who will not ally himself with a good cause, because it is unpopular, who believes in standing passively by, and who, whether it is the ecclesiastical or the political machine, and is always spreading the gospel of "go easy," will accomplish about as much as a cat chasing its own tail.

Nicodemus was an "ambitious" enquirer because, in a phrase of Ian MacLaren, "he saw in Jesus' face the note of reality and spirituality." He had a restless conscience, he had watched Jesus, he had heard him speak, he had brought the light of heaven to his face and majesty to his eyes.

This is the Nicodemus type of many men and women living in this modern world. Nicodemus was anxious, that was why he came to Jesus. Nicodemus was a "convicted" enquirer. I do not know what it was that convicted him. Perhaps upon the Mount of Beatitudes he had listened to Jesus in a way that touched his heart, about God's love and immortality. Perhaps it was his God-like character that won attention. However, he was convinced that Jesus was a good man.

Nicodemus was a "puzzled" enquirer. He came seeking to know more. He thought perhaps that Jesus would perform some special miracle for his benefit, or would solve some theological problem. He thought maybe he would receive a revelation from above and get it for himself. The modern man is liable to take the same thought. He thinks that he is a creature of habit, and that as he is at 20, 30 or 40 years so he is at death. He says, how can a man be born again when he is old? Now to a man old in sin and with the habits of his first Christianity comes with the gospel of hope.

I cannot tell just how a seed germinates, but I can show the possibility of its growth. As practical illustrations, take Paul of Tarsus, Africans, John Newton, and even Jerry the drunkard. The death of the sinner is not the death of the man, proving man can be born again even when he is old. In conclusion, he said: Perhaps there are some here like Nicodemus, dissatisfied with life and yearning for something nobler. You have but to submit to the leadership of Jesus Christ and take Him as a Saviour with all it involves. You may have it tonight. It is 20,000 fold Galilee, death, but a glorious reality.

LETTER FROM LT.-COL. MACSHANE

St. John, N. B., Saturday, Sept. 23, 1905.

To the Editor of the Times. Sir—Graft is the word of the day. Not the graft of the linguists, but the new graft, which from its varied aspects has required the skill of three great men as Lord Chief Justice Russell, Justice Brewer, and Cardinal Gibbons to explain. The late parliament gave a tangible evidence of the application of Dominion politics by finally merging the two political parties in one, when they joined in raiding the public treasury, and in privy or consent of their constituents.

The worst of it is that their action seems to indicate a growing indifference to the relation between representative and constituent. In many ways they have showed the disposition of assuming the character of masters rather than servants of the public. The new Pacific railway and the M. P.'s additional subsidy are cases in point. If these great questions had been submitted to the electorate according to constitutional usage, many unpleasant consequences would have been avoided in the future.

That our new masters (perhaps) contemplate new invasions of our rights indicated too plainly in the speech of the minister of railways referred to in the letter of Mr. W. F. Hatheway in the Telegraph of the 22nd inst. The public opinion of Mr. Emmerson's address at Moncton with his equal "heart to heart" talk with the subordinate officials of his department, was in exceedingly bad taste. Subordinates' rights as citizens are as inviolable as any other class until found out in wrong doing. Indeed, to discipline any kind of servant, much less public servants, coram populo, is undesirable.

But the salient point of the minister's speech, and the limit for the endurance of the people, his masters, is in the sentence: "If we cannot make ends meet then I say the end of the Intercolonial as a government operated road is in sight. I am fully imbued with that idea, and I think the trend of events bears me out." To say the least of it, this is very important, and it is to be feared it indicates the entire sense of the cabinet. But when speaking of "making ends meet," did it ever occur to this minister first to make the rates of the I. C. R. conform to the rates of the line which he is in possession, or who have their eyes on his possession, or adopt such other measures as the public rights require? Mr. Hatheway's letter is well timed, and well conceived, and let the minister of railways not forget that his coadjutors in the cabinet he is himself a public servant, and will in good time be held to account for the public rights in the I. C. R. J. R. MACSHANE, Lt.-Col.

MINNESOTA LUMBERING John McElwaine Writes to Tell How Lumbering Operations Are Carried on in the West. Friends of John McElwaine, brother of W. L. McElwaine, the Sydney street resident, will be pleased to hear that he is doing well in the states. Mr. McElwaine is employed with a lumber concern in Blackduck, Minnesota, as a surveyor. A letter was recently received from him in which he gave a few particulars of the way in which the lumber business is carried on there. The company with which he is employed covers a road fourteen miles long and fifty feet wide which is so level that a team can be seen for eight miles in it. This is used by the company for the hauling of their lumber, the straight and level road being a great help to the business. In rafting or stream driving the men lie right on the rafts. Instead of having to shore every night the logs are kept going, and the trips are thus made in less time. On the rear raft, a small shed is erected, where the men's meals are cooked and where they sleep. Mr. McElwaine says that this is a great saving of time, as, if the men had to go ashore to sleep and eat, they would often have to travel four or five miles before a suitable place would be found to stop for the night. Capt. J. H. Cross of the west side, has received a pair of silver mounted marine glasses from the French government. The presentation was made for the rescue of the crew of a French fishing boat off Sydney in 1904, when he was in command of the battleship Pydis.

MORNING NEWS IN BRIEF. Local On Friday evening a carboy of nitric acid was broken in F. C. Wadley's engraving room. The acid spread all over the floor, burning everything with which it came in contact. Some also made its way through the floor to J. M. Driscoll's office and damaged the furniture there. The police of Moncton on Saturday night raided three gambling houses and arrested sixty-three people found therein. Clarence L. Wheaton, of St. John, and George Graham, of Yarmouth, have entered the Cobb Divinity School, Bangor.
