Bombardment By German Artillery In West Flanders Continues

Also Further Infantry Attacks on Allies East of Ypres — Striking Comment in New York Herald Cable

Paris, Dec. 4.—The official announcement says—"The Germans are continuing their bombardment of the allies' lines in West Flanders. Further German infantry attacks are being launched against the Anglo-French positions of Ypres. A full scale battle on the greater part of the front.

"In the Argonne region several attacks of the German infantry were repulsed by the allies, notably the attacks made against the northwest corner of the forest of Lagrange. In Lorraine and in the Vosges there were some artillery engagements. In Alsace there was nothing to report."

STRIKING COMMENT.

New York, Dec. 4.—Under the caption of "An air raid on Krupp's" the Herald says editorially—

"The daring and skill of the aviators in the service of the allies again has been demonstrated, according to the despatches, this time by an attack from the air on the Krupp gun factory at Essen.

"Even Dr. Bernhard Dernburg may be able to detect a difference in the methods pursued by the opposing forces in the western theatre of war as applied to fighting from the sky. To damage the great war factory of the German empire, is one thing; to hurt bombs on the women and children of cities without possibility of obtaining military advantage, is another. It will be interesting to note what parallel the apologists for the Kaiser will be able to draw between Essen and Antwerp."

THE KING AT THE FRONT

London, Dec. 4.—The Daily Mail correspondent in Northern France telegraphs—

"King George inspected the British troops yesterday in the region of Bailleul and Armentieres, south of Ypres. He had a great reception from the soldiers, especially from those in the trenches, and the bomb proof shelters which he inspected. He spoke to the officers and men, expressing his admiration of the splendid fighting they had done. A desultory German cannonade is going on in the district the king inspected."

"King George in the inspection of the allied troops on Tuesday was accompanied by President Poincare, King Albert of the Belgians, Lord Kitchener, General Joffre and Sir John French."

DESPERATE EFFORT TO CROSS YSER

FROSTRATED; GERMANS LOSE HEAVILY

London, Dec. 4.—Before dawn yesterday a large force of Germans crossed the flood waters of the Yser by means of a broad raft, says the correspondent of the Daily News in Northern France under date of December 3. The venture was a desperate one for not a man who set out on it could have been ignorant of the fact that death was almost certainly awaiting him. The rafts were punned through the shallow waters in dead silence and in utter darkness. Each carried fifty or more men and some machine guns. In preparation for dawn a further fleet of rafts drawn by motor boats was waiting on the German side of the muddy water, but before dawn came the plot was discovered.

When daylight did arrive the artillery of the allies met the advancing Germans with devastating effect, despite their losses, the Germans, driven even to madness, still essayed the crossing until mid-day. Several rafts were upset in mid-stream by the fire of the French guns and a great number of Germans were drowned, while others were shot.

LANDING TROOPS AT ANTIVARI

London, Dec. 4.—A Central News despatch from Berlin gives a rumor that several transports, escorted by British and French warships, have reached Antivari, Montenegro and the Austrian ships guarding the coast retired before them, but Austrian aeroplanes are active making disembarkation unsafe.

GERMANS ARREST BELGIAN DOCTORS

Amsterdam, Dec. 4.—A flushing correspondent says that Belgians are impatient because German have arrested fifty-five Belgian medical men, who believed that they had been granted safe conduct. They have been imprisoned in Heildberg. The Germans say it is retaliation against the French.

Burgomaster Max of Brussels complains that he has been transferred from a fortress to a convict prison and treated like a desperate criminal rather than a military prisoner. He had declined to pay part of the indemnity levied on his city by the Germans.

BODY NOT YET FOUND

There is still no sign of the body of the painter who fell from the new bridge into the falls and was drowned. The Dominion Bridge Co. have cabled the chief of police in St. John's, Nfld., where the man is believed to have a sister. Nothing more is known about him, as there was no information found among his effects. His death was purely accidental and due to losing his balance. There was no breakage of gear.

NEW PARTNERSHIP

The Royal Gazette this week contains notice of the formation of a partnership between Patrick J., and Philip Fitzpatrick as general directors to continue the business for so many years carried on successfully by their father, P. Fitzpatrick in Waterville street. The new firm is to be known as Fitzpatrick Bros.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Phelix and Pherdinand

Issued by authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, R. F. Sharp, director of meteorological service.

Synopsis—A depression now developing over the east gulf states is likely to become important and cause stormy conditions from the Great Lakes eastward. The weather is now fair over Canada and for the most part moderately cold.

Fair and colder

Maritime—Northwest shifting to northeast winds, fair and colder.

New England—Forecast—increasing cloudiness tonight, probably followed by rain or snow late tonight and on Saturday; fresh to strong northeast winds.

CARVELL DECLINES THE LEADERSHIP, WOULD STAY IN FEDERAL POLITICS

Strong Address at Conference in Fredericton Today—Committee to Select Chieftain and Report This Afternoon

Fredericton, N. B., Dec. 4.—Another step towards good government for New Brunswick was taken this morning when the same representative gathering which last night acclaimed Messrs. Carvell and Dugal as men who had blazed the trail by exposing corruption rampant in the administration of the province met in convention and discussed plans for a platform for the new "Abolish the Bag" party and appointed a committee which will report this afternoon on the choice of a leader.

C. J. Osman of Albert was chosen chairman of the convention, which met at 10:30 in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, and P. J. Higgins, secretary. On being called upon, Mr. Carvell made it plain that he wished to remain in federal politics, and represent the combined constituency of Carleton-Victoria after the next election. "I am old enough now not to mind what might be said about my running away if I were to forsake the federal field," he said, "but I do not consider it my duty or a necessity at the present time for me to enter provincial politics as leader. The province does not want an orator or a shining light in the political firmament, but a plain business man who has made a success of his own business. We have seen the result of making premier a man who was a failure in life before he entered politics; a man who did not have two co-pessers to resist against other, and who now leaves the financial affairs of the province in a hopeless condition. I must say I feel ashamed this morning to acknowledge that I am from Carleton county, where such a man as the premier of New Brunswick was nominated as a candidate for House of Commons."

Mr. Carvell spoke of the importance of formulating a new policy for the administration of crown lands and of the highways of the province. In referring to the proposal to issue bonds for $5,000,000 to expend on permanent roads, he said: "Lord forbid that this policy be carried out if the present crowd is to handle the money, for there would be another carnival of boodling, besides which the Valley Railway grant would pale into insignificance."

"But we need not worry. In the eyes of the financial world with this government in power New Brunswick is bankrupt. They could not raise $50,000 in the markets of the world. Remember, New Brunswick is not bankrupt; she has immense resources and can pay a reasonable expenditure, but we must have a change in the men in charge of affairs, and I assume that a change will come at the first opportunity."

A committee, consisting of the following, was then chosen to consider the choice of a leader and report in the afternoon—S. S. Ryan, A. B. Copp, Geo. W. Upham, Geo. M. Bryon, O. M. Turgeon, M.P.; A. T. Legg, L. A. Dugal, Dr. C. A. Murray, A. T. LeBlanc, R. T. Hayes, Amadote Anderson, J. E. Porter, Geo. F. Burden, M. A. Smith, E. S. Carter and Geo. H. King.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley spoke briefly, and the discussion on crown land policy and other matters was continued by John Dickie of Restigouche, P. J. Vesiot, W. F. Todd, of Charlottetown, J. E. Porter and others.

NO INTENTION OF TAKING ACTION AGAINST BERRY

THE GOVERNMENT

What Will Follow The Stepping Out of Premier Flemming?

The announcement by Premier Flemming that he has resigned his office and his seat in the legislature in order to accept the nomination in Victoria-Carleton opens up another interesting situation in the Conservative party.

It is expected that Hon. George J. Clarke, who has been acting premier, will be asked to accept that office and form a government of his own. To do so he will need another member and this is supposed to be the time when J. B. M. Baxter will be rewarded with a seat in the cabinet. He would be expected to take the portfolio of attorney-general, become minister of lands and mines.

There is one difficulty in the way of this arrangement and that is the claims of other politicians and other sections of the province, who feel that to the appointment on the ground that others are more entitled to recognition, as well as because St. John already has one member of the cabinet, for instance, is not represented, and there is liable to be strong opposition from that source.

When asked about the government situation this morning Hon. George J. Clarke, acting premier, said that he knew nothing of the change except what he had read in the morning papers. He did not know when the resignation of the premier was forwarded to the lieutenant-governor but he had not received any official information on the subject. "Whatever the government will do it will do right, as it has always done since 1911," he smilingly remarked.

POLICE COURT

Four men charged with drunkenness were disposed of in the police court today.

THE WHEAT MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 4.—After opening 1-8 to 8-8 higher, the wheat market hesitated somewhat, but then scored a moderate new upturn.

Twenty Thousand Canadians Still Under Canvass But They Will Be Housed by Christmas

Newfoundland Contingent at Salisbury Plain Sent to Garrison Duty in Scotland — Severe Gale Overturns Many of the Tents

Salisbury Plains, Dec. 4.—The Newfoundland contingent has been ordered to Fort George, Inverness, Scotland, to do garrison duty there.

Two hundred Canadian horses have been stolen from the lines. Twenty thousand Canadian troops are still under canvass, but it is expected that all will be housed in huts by Christmas.

One thousand men are engaged daily in the construction of railway to serve the needs of the camps stationed here.

In the severe gale of Wednesday night that swept over the greater part of the country, hundreds of tents of the Canadian contingent were blown down.

DIVIDED IN OPINION AS TO ITALY'S STATUS

Many Think Premier's Statement Means Readiness For Declaration of War

Rome, Dec. 4.—Many members of parliament consider that the statement of Premier Salandra in parliament, in which he advised that Italy maintain an attitude of watchful and armed neutrality and made a reference to what he termed the just aspirations of Italy, together with a demonstration by the members, means that Italy is now ready to declare war.

Deputy Labriola summarized his opinion by saying that "one word more from Salandra would have meant a declaration of war."

Others think the phrase regarding the aspirations of Italy was misunderstood, and that he might instead have alluded to the existence of an Italo-Austrian agreement delimiting the Italian frontier by the peaceful annexation of a portion of the province of Trent. A few express the fear that Austria may interpret the events in parliament as a challenge. A committee of deputies has been formed, and its members are endeavoring to induce their colleagues to refrain from speaking on the premier's statement in order to give the vote of confidence in the government greater solemnity.

CELEBRATION WHEN NEW DOCKS OPENED

Hon. Messrs. Hazen and Rogers and Sir Thos. Shaughnessy to be Here

Arrangements for the formal opening of the new government docks in West St. John were discussed at a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade at noon today.

The opening will take place on December 10 and Hon. Robert Rogers, Hon. J. D. Hazen and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy have promised to be present. They will arrive at noon on that day and will be met at the station by a delegation from the board of trade, a procession of the men from the works on the West Side, and one of the city bands. They will be escorted to Hon. Mr. Hazen's residence and afterwards will be the guests of the Board of Trade at luncheon in the Union Club.

In the afternoon the public exercises will be held at the docks which will be decorated with flags and bunting and speeches and music will form the programme. A special C. P. R. train will run from the Union station to convey those who wish to be present.

The ministers will return by the C. P. R. train on the same evening.

The council this morning also considered a communication from the secretary of the Inular S. S. Company giving the reasons why they were forced to withdraw the steamer Westport. As several communities will be left without communication the secretary was instructed to take up the matter with the department of trade and commerce to see if any arrangements can be made to continue the service.

The Maritime Forward Movement was discussed and approved and the board decided to send representatives to the Amherst meeting.

BOY FINDS HUMAN HAND AND FOOT AND STRANDS OF HAIR

Montreal, Dec. 3.—Mystery surrounds the finding of a human hand and foot by a Polish boy in the foreign quarters of Point St. Charles yesterday. It is a left hand and left foot, with strands of a woman's hair attached. Though cleared they appear to have been torn from the body of some person, probably a corpse. They were wrapped in brown paper.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A pleasant time was last night enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernies in Union street when several friends called to congratulate them upon the first anniversary of their wedding. They were the recipients of many pleasing remembrances. Refreshments were served and a delightful time had in games, speeches and music.

CITY LABORERS PAY

The city laborers received their forty-ninth pay envelope today. The amounts were as follows:

Water and Sewerage	$2,929.10
Public Works	4,046.16
Harbor	1,460.18
Ferry	287.61
Total	$8,723.05

RELIEF TO DESTITUTE LABRADOR PEOPLE

St. John's Nfld., Dec. 4.—Relief for the destitute inhabitants of the barren Labrador region has been undertaken by the Newfoundland government and the steamer Kyle is now on the way with provisions.

Doctor Grenfell and others had reported serious conditions. The cod and other large fish were too timid to enter the nets or take bait, the smaller fish held far off shore, potato plants did not appear above the ground, and the berry crop was practically a failure. The people had nothing to live on but bread and tea.

GUNMAN IS KILLED; SEVERAL ARE INVOLVED

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 4.—One Louisville gunman is dead, three others are being held, Toledo man is in a hospital with perhaps fatal wounds, and his wife is held as a witness as the result of a snooting last night.

The wounded man is Harry C. Plummer, until about a year ago a saloon keeper at Louisville, Ky. His wife is said to have fired the shot which killed the unidentified man.

OVERDUE SCHOONER TRILBY SAFE IN PORT AT TIVERTON

Digby, N. S., Dec. 4.—The overdue schooner Trilby, Captain Stephen E. O'Rourke, from Boston for Little River, last reported at Gloucester on Nov. 19th, arrived at Tiverton last night. The life boat, Daring, Captain John W. Hayden, returned to Tiverton last night and succeeded in floating. Contractor Reid's gasoline tow boat and towed her to Digby, a feat seldom performed in the Bay of Fundy at this season of the year.

The government patrol boat "A" Captain Hadley Blackford, is here from Tiverton.

IN THE FRENCH TRENCHES

How An Associated Press Man Was Impressed by Visit

Flanders, via Paris, Dec. 4.—A visit to the French trenches in Flanders by Associated Press correspondent, under the auspices of the French general staff, is here described.

Standing in the shelter of a wonderfully ingenious and deep dug trench on the western front, the correspondent, who undoubtedly is the finest field reporter in European history, the first server is one of utter surprise at the absence of movement and the lack of noise. Within one's range of vision, with a strong field glass, there are probably concentrated no fewer than 100,000 men, yet except for the few French soldiers with rifles in their hands standing or kneeling in the immediate vicinity and loudly speaking over the flat land toward the position known to be held by the Germans, no human presence was noticeable.

A staff officer supplied the information that behind a slight slope some 800 yards away, many German guns were hidden from sight, but only an occasional burst of flame and a sharp whirring sound coming from an indefinite point, told of the presence of this artillery.

A little forest to the left is believed to be bristling with machine guns backed by infantry in rifle pits and covered trenches.

The approach to these positions has been made almost impossible from the standpoint of an infantry attack by barbed wire entanglements strewn with brush and branches of trees and having the appearance from a distance of a small copse of beech.

COURT HEARS ABOUT HORSE TAKEN FROM REMOUNTS AND SOLD

Accused is a Soldier—The Evidence of Transaction—Matter Still Before Court

Evidence was taken this morning in the case of Comd. David White, arrested on suspicion of stealing a horse from the remount depot. Capt. Scott, commanding the detachment of the 20th N. B. Dragoons on duty at the depot, Farmer Sergt. Lyon, veterinary assistant, and James Richards, who purchased the horse from White, gave evidence. E. C. Weyman appeared for the defendant, who appeared in court in uniform.

A well-known judge often relieves his judicial wisdom with a touch of humor. One day during the trial of a case, Mr. Gunn was a witness in the box, and, as he hesitated a good deal and seemed unwilling, after much persistent questioning, to tell what he knew, the judge said to him: "Come, Mr. Gunn, don't hang fire."

After the examination had closed the bar was convulsed by the judge saying: "Mr. Gunn, you are discharged."

FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

The dawn of a better era in the political life of New Brunswick is at hand. There can be no mistaking the significance of last night's and today's meetings of the friends of good government in Fredericton.

A REMARKABLE CONTRAST

Perhaps the most remarkable contrast ever witnessed in the political life of the province of New Brunswick is afforded by two events of yesterday.

But it was not all exposure and denunciation. In clear, calm and measured tones the speakers dwelt upon the duty that now rests upon the people of this province who care more for its good name and for honest government than they do for mere party advantage or any share of the spoils of such a system as has been the disgrace of the province during the Fleming regime.

It was made perfectly clear that it was the desire of those assembled that Mr. Carvell, who has already performed so signal a service for the province, should retire from the federal arena and become the leader of the good government party in the province.

The minister of militia yesterday confirmed the statement that another regiment of infantry and a regiment of cavalry are to be enrolled in the maritime provinces.

His friends were delighted to see Hon. C. W. Robinson at the banquet in Fredericton last night, and to hear his vigorous declaration that the time had come when every man who had a spark of regard for the good name of the province should array himself on the side of good government, and do all in his power to bring about the necessary change.

In the Italian Chamber of Deputies yesterday the whole chamber rose and cheered with enthusiasm when one of the deputies said he wished to ask the chamber to send greetings to "heroic and unfortunate Belgium."

There's a Yankee landlord on the Maine Coast who keeps his old hulk of a summer hotel filled every year with well-to-do guests from the cities who pay high prices for the wonderful scenery and the good meals, philosophically accepting the bleak rooms, the shabby wall-paper, and the threadbare upholstery.

A TORY WAR SONG

One of the features of the Dugal-Carvell banquet at Fredericton last evening was the following—

THE BATTLE SONG (Air—Tipperary.)

Up to see the lumberman a sceler went one day; And when they had heard his tale, the devil was to pay;

Here's a gold mine said Billy Berry, Here's a gold mine said Billy Berry, But of course Kidd doesn't know, Good-bye E. S. Carter, Farewell Dugal dear, Please give my card to Mr. Carvell, For my wife's right here.

Edgar Teed was Fleming's friend, a patriot was he; New said Kidd to Sceler Bill, don't tell your tale to me; I may say to you, however, if you choose to do the deed, And need a man to help you, I would mention Edgar Teed.

Fleming was an honest man, who never gave a bribe; How he scorned the man who did, and all his evil tribe; But of course if a contractor had two thousand plunks, J. Kidd would try to keep them from the opposition skunks.

Happy is the province where such statesmen may be found, Teaching people honesty is not, an art. From St. Croix unto Dunganron, Perth to Campbellton, The noble three have taught us how great victories are won.

Sing a song of Fleming, then, of Berry and of Teed, Let our politics be pure, from graft and plunder freed; Lumbermen adore the trio, and so do we all, For we all pay the fiddler at the Valley Railway Ball.

LIGHTER VEIN.

A drill sergeant was drilling a recruit squad in the use of the rifle. All went well until the blank cartridges were distributed. The recruits were to load their pieces and stand at "ready," and then the sergeant gave the command "Fire at will!"

All the work was mapped out for the new charwoman, but about the appointed time she arrived in tears, says London Tit-Bits. "My poor husband was shot in the battle," she said, "and 'e's passed away."

It seems an unreasonable story, but it is related that a special agent, inspecting a manufacturing plant with the watchman as a guide, pointed out a portable fire extinguisher and asked the watchman if it was kept charged and in order. "Yes, it is on its job for couple of years," replied the watchman, "an' often wondered what the devil does cans was for."—Glebe Pals Now and Then.

It is to be regretted that there are in this province as many people as were at the Woodstock convention yesterday who are even willing to suggest that Mr. Fleming be retained in a representative capacity in the public life of a province which has been so shamed and disgraced by the acts of the government of which he was the leader.

His friends were delighted to see Hon. C. W. Robinson at the banquet in Fredericton last night, and to hear his vigorous declaration that the time had come when every man who had a spark of regard for the good name of the province should array himself on the side of good government, and do all in his power to bring about the necessary change.

WHEELS IN NATURE

No Doubt We Could Find Anything If We Knew Where to Look for it

A Brooklyn man of amazing scientific knowledge has been taking a fall out of G. K. Chesterton, which may be regarded as an athletic feat not easily accomplished. The gentleman detects a scientific error in one sentence in a recent article by Mr. Chesterton, to wit: "The promise, like the wheel, is unknown in nature, and is the first mark of man."

Justice of Peace Praises Dr. Chase's Ointment

After Nine Years of Agony He Escaped an Operation by Using This Great Healing Agent.

As a means of healing sores and wounds that defy ordinary treatment Dr. Chase's Ointment has long stood supreme. It is known far and wide as a positive cure for eczema and piles.

and gradually the new skin is formed and the sore becomes smaller, and smaller, until it finally disappears. It is often wonderful the results which are accomplished in a single night by the use of this great healing ointment. Mr. N. A. Heath, J.P., Fitch Bay, Que., writes:—"Nine years ago I was taken with an abscess, and cannot begin to describe what I have suffered as a result. I was examined by two doctors, both of whom said I would have to undergo an operation to be cured. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment, it has rendered an operation unnecessary, and has completely cured me. I cannot say enough in praise of this wonderful ointment which cured me after nine years of agony."

CALL OF THE FOREST.

Wherein a Prose Poet Gives Vent to His Feelings.

With the voice of rustling leaves and the lure of golden shen the woods are calling. Those whose hearts have ever stood still for an instant at the whirr of the rising partridge, or whose eyes have dimmed for a moment when the quarry broke cover, or who have felt that pause of hesitancy as the cottontail makes his initial dash, will need more than politics or war to keep them in the city.

Yet it is not the lust of slaughter that calls the hunter. There is a witchery about the country in the autumn. It falls upon the tired spirit like the spell of a new motive after old habits have become tiresome. Pumpkins glow like globes of fallen fire amid the shocks of corn; there is a new symphony made by the dry leaves and crackling twigs under foot; there is a restfulness, as though Nature said, "I have done my work for the year and won repose."

Burdens slip from the shoulders, fear fade from the heart. Men who walk with gun on shoulder or drooping from the forearm breathe deeply and think calmly. They are alone and they are free. Perspective is regained and some of the buoyancy of earlier years comes back and is welcome. Whether the bag be big, small or absent the day amid the silences and songs of the autumn woods is gain, all gain,—Barger News.

be of the same or a contrasting material. The average size required 6 1/2 yards of 44-inch or 6 3/4 yards of 44-inch material.

The development of the design is not difficult. First close under-arm seam as indicated; then take the collar seam. Gather lower edge of waist and adjust tabs between small "o" perforations of front edge of right front. Sew stay to lower edge of waist, center, even, small "o" perforation at under-arm seam. Sew flare collar to neck edge as notched. Sew standing collar to shield as notched. Adjust, bringing large "o" perforations in shield and in front together.

Close sleeve seam as notched to large "o" perforation. Gather on cross lines of small "o" perforations. Adjust sleeveband over pattern, single and double small "o" perforations even, lap.

ging sleeveband for closing. Sew in double seam at notch in front, easing any fullness.

Slash center-front of front gore of skirt to large "o" perforation for opening. Take up dart in back gore as perforated. Join gores as notched. Place perforations, crossing on slit perforations, being held to small "o" perforations and press.

Turn girder under right side edge at center, gather 1/2 inch from fold; gather left side edge between double "o" perforations. Adjust being about 1/2 inches long underneath gathers at left side edge and at center-front and center-back. Single small "o" perforations indicate center-front, double "o" perforations center-back. Single large "o" perforation indicates upper edge of girder. Adjust, center even.

The less expensive cotton velvets are used for this model with great success. A fastening may be added and the full color silk repp. It is made without a waist and has a deep girder which may be ferred.

WEEK-END CLEARANCE OF MILLINERY FEATHERS AND MOUNTS AT MARR'S

A Bargain Festival for Friday and Saturday Shoppers—More Room Needed, and Prices Are Cut Without Thought of Profit.

To shoppers of the week-end, the Marr Millinery Company offer the most extraordinary bargain values in fashionable feathers and mounts that have ever been known in local millinery circles. The only object of the sale is to gain space quickly on the second floor for their display of new French toys, and prices have been cut down without thought of profit.

The most attractive features include flowers, quills, pompons, black velvet flowers, white velvet flowers, and sprays, at 10 cents each. Also ostrich mounts, black and white wings, stick-up effects, clipped ostrich pompons and fancy feathers, in black and colors, at 25 cents each.

Black and colored ostrich feathers that would be excellent values at $2 and $3 each, are offered, for the week-end, at 50 cents each.

Intending purchasers should pay an early visit to Marr's.

CANADA TO SEND FOURTH STEAMER LOAD TO BELGIANS

Montreal, Dec. 3.—A fourth steamer with supplies for the starving Belgians will be sent from Halifax, and the Central Belgian relief committee, Montreal, is making another appeal for money with which to buy wheat to send on this ship. Already 1,500 tons of supplies are in sight. The relief cargoes on the Tremorvah and Doric, which sailed from Halifax some time ago, and the Calcutta, which is now being loaded there, amount in value to $788,900.

TO ALLOW SHIP TO GO.
Washington, Dec. 3.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Peters tonight instructed Collector of Customs Malone, at New York, to clear clearance papers to the American steamship Bervinck, recently detained by the customs authorities there, pending an investigation to determine whether she had violated the neutrality laws.

The Bervinck was charged with furnishing contraband articles to a German warship outside the three-mile limit. Upon investigation, however, the treasury department found it had no grounds upon which to hold here.

RECENT DEATHS

The death occurred at Brown's Flats yesterday of Samuel F. Belyes. He is survived by two brothers, Howard, of Glenwood, and Albert, of this city; and by one sister, Mrs. Joseph Waspley, of Springfield (Mass.). The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, Brown's Flats.

After a short illness the death was announced yesterday of Arthur Harrison Hilyard, at Dalhousie (N. B.). He was the managing director for the Dominion Lumber Company and the St. Maurice Lumber Company with which he had been long connected. Death was due to pneumonia, contracted some time ago. He was fifty-six years of age and was always very active, being one of the best known lumbermen in the district. He leaves four brothers and two sisters, Thomas and E. J., of St. John; W. W. of Florida; H. A., of Dalhousie; and Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mrs. G. S. Robertson, of St. John. The time for the funeral has not yet been fixed.

At Bass River on Nov. 29—George Campbell died at the age of 88. He was twice widowed and had two daughters, Josephine and Russell, of Houlton, Maine. Mrs. David McNeil, of Campden, village, N. H., and Mrs. Gilbert Arthur, of Petticoat.

Percival Thompson died on Wednesday at his residence in Shediac. Mr. Thompson's death was due to injuries received while working on a dredge of the Rogers' Mill Company's plant at Point de Chenne two weeks ago. He is survived by his wife and four children, Mrs. David McNeil, of Campden, village, N. H., and Mrs. Gilbert Arthur, of Petticoat.

The death of Mrs. Anna B. Robinson, widow of Col. B. A. Robinson, occurred recently at Russell, Man. She was a daughter of the late Col. J. Y. Thurston of this city, and is survived by one son, one daughter and one sister, Mrs. T. R. Christian of this city. Mrs. Albin Sturdee is a granddaughter.

CANADA IN THE WAR

Alex and James Methot, twin brothers, each aged twenty years, have enlisted for foreign service at Dalhousie. The first Canadian resident recommended for the Victoria Cross is Corp. A. W. Waits, of the Royal Munster Fusiliers, a recruit from Toronto. He saved the life of a French officer on the river Aisne.

Ottawa has sent out a request for veterinarians who are able to do so to volunteer for service with the second expeditionary force.

The report that 1,000 prisoners had attempted to escape from the Lancaster; Eng. concentration camp was denied yesterday by the camp commandant.

The Women's Canadian Club of St. John have decided to provide coats for the 26th New Brunswick Regiment.

The Frenchman asked an English sparmaker what he was making. "A yard," was the reply.

"How much have you got done?" was the next question.

"Where did the spar come from?" "The yard." And the Frenchman was very much amused at the lucidity of the answers and amazed at the simplicity of our language.

TORIES NOMINATE J. K. FLEMMING

Discredited Premier Choice in Carleton County

B. F. SMITH FOR LOCAL HOUSE

On the stage was J. K. Fleming, J. K. Pinder, M. P. F., Titus Carter, M. P. P., Donald Munro, M. P. P., B. F. Smith, H. Woods, M. P. P., and Dr. Moorhouse, M. P. P.

The chairman told the audience that he did not know when the election would come but it was well to be prepared. It is necessary, he said, to elect a man to assist Borden, and as you are not able to do it, we have come from Victoria to do it for you.

B. F. Smith, the deposed leader of the Tory forces, placed Premier Fleming in nomination for the federal seat, and said it was necessary to be united in order to win. Fleming had fought many good fights and was entitled to the nomination. He made the usual tirade against F. B. Carvell, but carefully omitted any reference to the reason of holding the convention.

At this point Mr. Fleming and the chairman engaged in a long conversation, and the crowd got impatient and called out to go on with the business.

Titus Carter seconded the nomination in one of his usual unassuming speeches, in which he said the finding of the commission was rank and that he had been driven out of court, and if there had been a higher court judgment would have been reversed in an hour.

Attacked Globe and Telegraph.

He made a bitter attack on the St. John Globe and paid his respects to the Telegraph and Sentinel.

During his harangue, Mr. Fleming said with his face beaming in his hands. Half the audience started to leave the theatre and the chairman had to request the people to keep their seats.

A sensation was sprung when M. Craig arose and said that this proceeding was not fair to B. F. Smith, and he should have the nomination. "I will nominate him," he concluded.

This move was evidently not in the programme and the chairman made the unique ruling that Fleming should be allowed to speak, but that he should not be allowed to vote.

Mr. Fleming, in the course of his remarks, said he did not desire to enter public life, but his friends prevailed upon him to hold on.

The "Telegraph" wants to know when I will retire, said Fleming. "Let me say that I will retire when the people at the ballot box desire it. If anybody can prove that I received money improperly I will retire. John Kennedy gave me an envelope containing money which I did not open, but delivered to the election committee."

He attacked F. B. Carvell viciously, when one in the audience yelled out: "Go for him," they sixty miles away," he was painfully embarrassed, and at each statement kept repeating: "It's the truth, gentlemen. People were leaving and Mr. Fleming requested them to sit down, saying: "I will state my side against yours."

As the audience was that thinning out, M. L. Hayward jumped to his feet and nominated B. F. Smith for the 1916 legislature. Fleming seconded the nomination and said that having accepted the federal nomination himself he would resign the premiership, and his seat in Carleton county.

B. F. Smith wanted to impress on the audience that the campaign would be a clean one and the slogan would be "A clean campaign. I take this stand today." This remark from the "Politique" states man greatly amused the crowd. There is an impression that Fleming will not enter the contest, and that the whole scheme is to help him out of a position of his own making.

The smallest school in England, it is not in the world; it is in—Augusta, where, although there are only five pupils on the register, only two are attending the school. People were attending the school and spend as much time on them as on a larger gathering.

An Opportunity for Household Economy

The great advance in price of cream of tartar—which is derived from grapes—due to inability to care for and market the grape crop in the European countries now at war, can be made advantageous to housewives

Housekeepers will find it more economical and much more satisfactory to use Royal Baking Powder, which is made from highly refined, pure cream of tartar. First, because the price of Royal has not been changed and it will do perfect work; second, because food made with Royal Baking Powder will be finer and more palatable; and finally, because it insures the absence of all danger from alum or similar unwholesome products.

The old-fashioned custom of buying cream of tartar and mixing it with soda, or using sour milk, may be discarded with profit. The high cost and scarcity of cream of tartar furnishes a temptation to unscrupulous dealers to substitute an adulterated product which may be either lime phosphates or alum, that will change the baking strength and may spoil the food.

CONTROLLED NEW YORK LAND WORTH $50,000

John G. Wendel Dead in California—Family Had Not Sold Piece of Property in 200 Years

New York, Dec. 4.—The death of John G. Wendel, head of an old New York city family, which is one of the largest owners of real estate here, will probably serve to throw into the hands of his four surviving sisters about $600,000 of the choicest real estate in the city, says the New York Sun. Much of this property is in unimproved lots and in parcels on which the buildings are of little value.

Mr. Wendel died at the home of his nephew, H. C. Holwedel, at Santa Monica, near Los Angeles, after a recent trip to the Pacific Coast.

The surviving sisters are Mary E. A. Wendel, Rebecca A. D. Wendel Swope, Ella von E. Wendel and Georgiana G. R. Wendel. Another sister, Josephine, died last spring, and, in accordance with the custom of her family, divided her $30,000 estate among her brothers and sisters.

"In 200 years or more we have not sold a piece of property in New York, and we never shall," Mr. Wendel was quoted as saying in 1909.

For ten or a dozen years Mr. Wendel is said to have been one of the largest real estate buyers in Manhattan. Once he got hold of a property, real estate brokers as a rule knew it would be just as well to cover that parcel off their books as possibilities.

Mr. Wendel always turned aside the efforts of various men of wealth to acquire the vacant lands owned by him next door to his city home at 89th and 87th avenue, where when not occupying his house at Irvington he lived for many years with his maiden sisters, Misses Josephine and Georgiana Wendel.

He wanted to keep the vacant property about the only 5th avenue "yard" until one gets up to Andrew Carnegie's house at 91st street—so that his sisters' "pet dog" would have some place to play.

An interviewer rashly suggested to Mr. Wendel a few years ago that the policy of his family of never selling real estate "probably was patterned after the practice of the Astor family."

"We held real estate before John Jacob Astor's crew," Mr. Wendel curtly said. "Sentiment is our reason for not selling."

AN UNUSUAL HAPPENING IN BUSY JEWELRY STORE; CHRISTMAS OPPORTUNITY

The immense Good Will Sale now being advertised by A. Poyas is rather unique in its timeliness, as most sales are conducted after the rush season is over, with the object of cleaning up balance of stock. Mr. Poyas, however, is opening on December 25th, just at the beginning of the Christmas season, and thus the public have an opportunity seldom offered, to buy right at the appropriate time.

In his twenty years experience Mr. Poyas has established an enviable name in the jewelry trade and his present well equipped store and excellent staff bear eloquent testimony to his deserved success.

MORE MEN AND WOMEN IN PROFESSIONS IN STATES

Increase 44 Per Cent From 1900 to 1910—Four Women to Every Seven Men

Washington, Dec. 4.—A half million more persons over ten years of age are engaged in professional pursuits in the United States in 1910 than in 1900, according to figures by the Census Bureau. In 1910 the number of persons engaged in professional pursuits was 1,325,121, compared with 1,289,538 in 1900, or an increase of 44 per cent.

Of those engaged in professional occupations in 1910, 1,191,780 were males and 133,341 females. This compares with 927,981 males and 461,597 females in 1900, the increase of women being 56.1 per cent.

In the decade, the proportion of males decreased in the professions from 83 to 81 per cent, while that of females increased from 84.2 to 83.9 per cent. In 1910 there were four women to every seven men engaged in professional service, a large proportion of the women being teachers.

Some of the most noteworthy percentages of increase follow: Architects, males, 110.5; females 200.1; literary and scientific pursuits, males 102.5; females 120; actors, males 95.4; females 85. The smallest increase was in the number of lawyers, males being 6.5 and females 88.

A SOLDIER'S COMPLAINT.

Dec. 8rd, 1914

Editor Times—
Sir—May I be permitted through the medium of your valuable paper to air a growing grievance affecting the recruiting campaign.

A man becomes inspired with patriotism, deliberates, weighs the odds, then finally marches down to the Army and offers his services. He is medically inspected, approved of, and takes the Oath of Allegiance to His Majesty. In short he is now a soldier absolutely.

But, alas! behold! tomorrow he is ordered for dental inspection. He hasn't very bad teeth, but they will not do. He is rejected.

The mortification is unbearable. The wife, the mother, may be glad, but imagine his feelings. How can he face his friends, and then the sickening query, "Hello! Bob, aren't you going?" and there's that wretched laughing at him. "Hope you don't get impatient. Humiliation, mortification and melancholy follow upon each other's heels."

And scores are being unnecessarily treated in this manner!

Why on earth wasn't this man physically attested fit to be a soldier before he took the Oath, which properly once taken cannot be broken except by subsequent incapability. This procedure prevails in the British Army, and should prevail here.

The cause is serious—the remedy simple! Let us have no more five-minute warriors who have my deepest sympathy.

F. W. STRINGER.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID SICKNESS

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils, skin eruptions, and are responsible for the restlessness with which many people contract disease.

For forty years, Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. "Get Hood's! No other medicine acts like it."

AIRCRAFT ARE BEST SCOUTS FOR SUBMARINES

Washington, Dec. 3.—Aircraft and their great part in modern warfare at sea, as well as on land, were discussed today before the house naval committee by Captain Bristol, in charge of the naval aviation corps. Captain Bristol, explaining the value of aviators at sea scouts, said that while submarines might not be discovered from the deck of a ship or torpedo boat destroyer, they could be detected by aeroplanes even if submerged fifty to 100 feet under the surface of the water.

Appeal For Aid For Those Destitute

London, Dec. 3, 6.05 p.m.—A pitiful appeal, telegraphs Reuters's correspondent at Petrograd has been received by the municipal authorities of the Russian capital from Lemberg urging that relief be extended to Russian widows, orphans and other destitute persons stranded in Galicia. About 10,000 Russians, the appeal says, have been arrested by the Austrians. The Russian army rescued 2,000. The remainder were taken into the interior of Hungary, and nothing had been heard of them since their departure. The appeal is endorsed by the Russian Governor General of the portion of Galicia now under Russian control.

It is said in the appeal that since the beginning of the war 1,000 men have been executed in Galicia.

SHE MANAGED TO LIVE AND SAVE ON $20,000 A YEAR

New York Society Woman Feared Poverty on Less Than $50,000

New York, Dec. 4.—Mrs. Blanche A. W. Heye, who a year ago sued George G. Heye, millionaire banker, for divorce, when awarded only $20,000 a year for herself and two children, insisted it would be utterly impossible to live on that amount without getting into debt, now declares that not only can a society woman live well on $20,000 a year, but can save money besides.

"It is entirely the rich man's fault if his wife spends large sums of money," she said. "Mrs. Heye at her home at 91 West 32nd street is a New York society woman. Society women are always being criticised for being extravagant, and whenever one of them has the misfortune to be divorced, she is condemned bitterly, and even the judge is liable to criticize her, as happened in my own case. No one ever thinks that possibly a woman has been forced to spend all of this money by her husband, and being accustomed to having everything in his wife's hands, she really believes she cannot do without these things."

"Now there are lots of cases" just like my own where the man leaves a wife with a few hundred dollars and keeps four or five motor cars, with a private garage. And when it comes to caring for his children, he spends more money than a large family could spend for their benefit. I was convinced one year ago that my life would be wrecked because I was to have only a small amount. I was positive that at least $50,000 a year would be necessary to support the children and myself, but we have never been happier than during the last year, and we have not only lived within our income but have also saved.

"Of course there was much we had to give up. We left our $10,000 a year apartment in the Langdon and rented this modest house. Last summer, instead of going abroad, we took a modest cottage at Long Beach. Again we were happier than we were in our handsome country home at Roslyn, L. I. My husband always really entertained and gave unique entertainments and these cost thousands of dollars. The rich men in this city spend far more than they do in ways that are not so apparent. If it were not for the men, the society world would not spend a quarter of what it does. After all, spending money is just a habit."

33 YEARS IN CELL IN CHAPEL AT LAST

Jesse Pomeroy, Murderer of Children, Enjoys Sunday Release From Solitary Confinement

Boston, Dec. 3.—Jesse Pomeroy, life prisoner sentenced to solitary confinement in the Charlestown, Mass., state prison attended services in the chapel on Sunday which was the 35th anniversary of his birth. It was the first time in 33 years that the privilege has been extended to him.

This privilege was granted by action of Governor David I. Walsh and members of the executive council last week. In his early days at the prison Pomeroy was permitted to go to church on Sunday by the other prisoners but with a change of officials 33 years ago came an order forbidding this privilege, "clashed on the ground that the crazy Pomeroy might escape."

Would Bar Girl Users

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Girl users in Chicago theatres have encountered the disapproval of the municipal bureau of fire prevention. An ordinance requiring all theatres to employ more firemen was sent to the council at the instance of John C. McDonnell, chief of the bureau.

"Girl users," he said, "are not equal to men in times of emergency, such as fires and panics."

Several of Chicago's theatres have employed girl users for some time.

KING GEORGE AND THE TOWER

Rich as the Tower of London has always been in armor, it has, only recently, been very much improved by valuable gifts from King George V.

The king was told that he possessed at Windsor Castle certain pieces of very old armor which really formed parts of "tower" suits, and he accordingly gave orders that these should be sent to the city, so as to complete the sets there. The armor is very old indeed, having belonged to King Henry VIII, William Somerset, the Earl of Worcester and others. The helmet of the latter warrior alone weighs close to twenty pounds.

These additions are by far the finest made by the Tower armories since the year 1601, when the whole collection was brought from Greenwich, Hampton Court, and not spent a quarter of what it is present position. Among some of the special suits now to be seen is one which is attributed to King Charles I.

DANDRUFF SURELY DESTROYS THE HAIR

Makes It Dull, Brittle, Lifeless, and Causes it to Fall Out

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

THINK THE STAND PIPES SHOULD BE AT SPRUCE LAKE

Lancaster Board of Trade Hears Report on Important Matter—Patriotic Concert—Street Railway Service Improvement

At a Lancaster Board of Trade meeting last evening the chief item of business was the report of a committee appointed to interview Commissioner Wigmore with regard to the new stand pipe system of water supply.

All of the committee, Councillor O'Brien and Messrs. W. A. Nelson, H. M. Stout and Daniel Campbell spoke on the question and raised interesting facts, but the majority of the board still feel that Spruce Lake should be the place for the stand pipes and many excellent reasons were advanced in support of that opinion.

The city expects to replace the old twelve inch main out the Mainway, which will be a twenty-four inch pipe, but the increase in supply, in the judgment of some, will be more than offset by the pumping into the stand pipes, which will hold about 200,000 gallons of water.

An entire system has to be created to supply the high levels from the stand pipes and the committee noticed on the plans that only as far as the C. P. R. tracks, foot of Fairville, was mentioned in the proposed improvement.

It was said that Moore's Hill at least should be served and that the city also had extensive lands beyond, which should be supplied with water, besides other splendid residential sections in that vicinity, and a plant for increased pressure at the main reasonable proposition to supply the entire parish.

Commissioner Wigmore had assured the delegation that from 85 to 40 pounds pressure would be available on all high levels in Lancaster; as to the exact details of such service he was not in a position to state.

The board deferred definite action, but it is understood that at the next meeting steps will be taken to know more as to the method the city expects to follow as the water service on high levels not only in Besonsfield but Moore's Hill and beyond the board is regarded as far from satisfactory.

Another very successful concert was held in the Gaiety Theatre last evening, in conjunction with the management of the theatre, presented a first class programme which was well received by the large gathering. The theatre had been nicely trimmed with flags, bunting and patriotic emblems, and a large Union Jack was utilized for an effective stage curtain. Much credit is due to Mrs. Dalton for the efficient manner in which the programme was carried out—the proceeds will help swell Fairville's patriotic contribution by many means.

Among those attending the band concert were F. J. Joyce, Miss Besse Myles, P. W. Flewelling, Miss Sadie Coughle, Geo. Dupuis, Baby Elaine, Harold D. Harmon, Dorothy Sutton, Mrs. J. T. Dalton, S. C. Hurley, Mrs. Murray Long, chorus, twenty boys.

Among those attending the band concert were Frederick last evening, from this section were Amadore W. Anderson, Joseph Dwyer, Joseph O'Brien, Frank V. Hannam, and J. Hannam.

The through car connecting with the eight o'clock trip from Fairville is now operating regularly and proving quite a convenience for those who travel to the city at that hour. The board of trade was responsible for the request made to the St. John Railway Company that brought about this improvement in the service.

Some complaints have been heard lately from residents of Millford in regard to the condition of sidewalks, which, after nightfall, in some places are positively dangerous to the limbs of those who are obliged to cross muddy roads every day to get a car, and it is matters such as this about which the highway board should exercise themselves.

BUSINESS IN MONCTON
A Cheerful Report to Board of Trade—The Maritime Forward Movement

Moncton, Dec. 4.—At a meeting of the Moncton Board of Trade last night it was decided to grant $25 towards the expenses of the proposed meeting in Amherst on December 11 in connection with the maritime forward movement.

A delegation from the Moncton board will attend.

The executive reported on business conditions in Moncton. "We confidently assert," says the committee, "that business conditions in this city, with one or two exceptions, were never better than at present."

For November, 1914, building permits amounted to $6,850. Compared with 1913 this shows an increase of $2,660. For the eleven months ended November 30, 1914, building permits totaled $190,080, while for the same period of 1914 the total was $229,668, an increase of $122,225.

"It would appear," says the report, "that the business conditions of Moncton cannot suffer materially, in view of the fact that the Canadian Government Railways alone pay out in the city of Moncton about $2,250,000 per annum for wages and supplies."

ACTION WITHHELD ON REQUEST FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

The Quebec & St. John Construction Co. Winding Up Matter Postponed

Further hearing in the matter of the winding up of the Quebec and St. John Construction Co., Ltd., was had before Mr. Justice McKeown in chambers this morning. A. H. Hanington, K. C., asked that an order be made winding up the company and making for appointment permanent. G. Earle Logan said that he had been instructed by the attorney general to appear and ask for a postponement. While the government had no knowledge of the business of the Quebec and St. John Construction Company, yet the company, as a sub-contractor, was doing work on that portion of the Valley Railway nearing completion. If the company was wound up it might seriously affect the completion of this work and from a standpoint of public good the crown wanted time to look into the matter.

H. A. Powell, K. C., for the Prudential Trust Company, said he thought the request of the crown was reasonable and would consent. D. Mullin, K. C., appeared for the company. Adjournment was made until Friday, the 18th inst., at 11 a. m.

LOCAL BANK CLEARINGS SHOW A LARGE GAIN

The St. John bank clearings for the week ended December 3, were $1,775,732, for corresponding week last year, $1,488,017.

NOTES OF THE BANQUET

In addition to the speeches at the Dugal-Carroll banquet of which a fairly full report is given in today's Times, there were stirring addresses by O. Turgeon, M. P., J. M. Stevens and Senator Costigan. The venerable senator, though in feeble health, remained till the close of the banquet, and in his speech paid a very warm tribute to Mr. Dugal and Mr. Carroll. Mr. Stevens paid a similar tribute, and strongly urged Mr. Carroll to assume the leadership of a good government party in provincial politics. Hon. William Fugleley and Hon. C. W. Robinson also strongly urged this course upon Mr. Carroll, and the suggestion every time it was made was received with enthusiasm by all present.

One of the delightfully entertaining features of the affair was by S. C. Matthews, rendition of his Kaiser Bill song, an original song on the Turk, and a humorous monologue.

Mr. Turgeon, M. P., in the course of his speech referred to the loyalty of Canadians of the French race, and to their appreciation of the liberties accorded them under British rule. He referred in stirring terms to the united front the British Empire now presents to its foes, and paid a warm tribute to the governor-general for his great services to Canada in this trying time. The member for Gloucester was heartily cheered.

THANKS
At a meeting of the Carleton Cornet Band committee in charge of the recent patriotic concert, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to help to make the concert such a huge success, the following names being especially mentioned: Major Malcolm McAvity, Major Harrison and members of the second overseas contingent, Rose Bros., McDonald Piano Company, Chas. R. Clarke, S. C. Hurley, C. W. Sifton, W. C. Smith, Frank T. Byles, D. Arnold Fox and the La Tour Glee Club; also, the newspapers. The result of the concert was very satisfactory, the net proceeds amounting to considerably more than $200.

THE HOME GUARD
Co. No. 1, Home Guard, will meet for drill this evening in the Customs House at eight o'clock. Any men over forty years of age who may be interested are invited to attend.

SECY DAGGETT TO RETURN
J. H. Daggett, Secretary of Agriculture, who has been in London, England, for the last few weeks will sail for home on the S. S. Grampan on December 11.

Look Through the Merchant's Eyes

If the manufacturer who seeks a market for his product will look through the eyes of the retailer his advertising course will be clear.

When the retailer advertises he uses the newspapers of his home city—because they bring him business.

It is over the counter of this same retailer that the manufacturer must look for his sales.

If his advertising is in the newspapers, he and the retailer are doing the kind of "beam work" that will bring greatly increased business.

Manufacturers with advertising problems are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

REVOLUTION IN INTERESTS OF GOOD GOVERNMENT IS FORESHADOWED AT CARVELL-DUGAL BANQUET

Great Success Attends on Dinner in Honor of Men Who Exposed Lumber Lands Extortion and Valley Railway Scandal--More Heard of in Carvell's Speech--Reforms Outlined by Honorable C. W. Robinson

Fredericton, N. B., Dec. 3--That a revolution in the interests of good government in this province is coming was made abundantly clear this evening with the gathering of men of both parties in the interests of reform, at a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. hall to F. B. Carvell, K.C., M.P., and Louis A. Dugal, M.P., the men who were acclaimed as responsible for the exposure of an appalling system of extortion in connection with the administration of the crown lands of the province, and the bringing to light of grave scandals in connection with the Valley Railway.

A candidate for Sir Robert Borden and Mr. Hazen, the Liberal party of that constituency welcomes the fight, and when the proper time arrives will deal with this disgraced politician." Mr. Carvell, in the course of his speech, stated, without modification, that A. R. Gould had paid Mr. Flemming $100,000 and got premier's receipts, and that James H. Corbett paid Mr. Flemming $100,000, and that the Valley Railway books, if produced in court, would show large amounts paid to Flemming and other Tory politicians of New Brunswick.

Having laid the foundation for better government, we must then build upon this foundation a substantial structure; and how is it to be done? It can only be done by the business interests of this province, the best element of the farmers, the fishermen and the lumbermen awakening to the realization of the duties they owe to themselves, the province and generations to come, by allowing their names to come before the nominating conventions and forming an alliance with the opposing party and assisting to complete a thorough reorganizing of provincial affairs, not a political party in the sense of the word, but a party from which will spring the best elements representing all these interests, and which when over the province, these two brave men stood by their posts, assisted by Messrs. Dugal and Pelletier, in framing questions and obtaining that information which could be obtained from the hands of an insolent and unwilling government. The Liberal party of New Brunswick (and not only they but the whole body politic of New Brunswick) will never even know, let alone be able to repay to these two men the debt of gratitude which they owe them for their zeal and integrity and real heroism in unearthing the diabolical steals which have recently been brought to light.

Another matter which I think should be given to the public is the fact that when Mr. Flemming saw the net was tightening around him by means of the questions Mr. Dugal was asking, he sent to him an invitation to attend the government caucus and when that failed, he met him on the train and agreed to the invitation, promising various favors should Mr. Dugal fall into the trap. Had he succeeded, our last avenue of obtaining information and bringing to light the crimes of this miserable brigand would have been gone, but, fortunately for us, he did not know his man. Mr. Dugal remained true to his friends, true to his promises and true to the best instincts of his race. He heroically promulgated the charges which have led to such a revolution in public opinion as has been exposed and is here tonight to answer for himself and receive the thanks and plaudits, not only of his political friends but of every other person over the province of New Brunswick, regardless of his political affiliation, race or creed.

During the progress of the investigation Mr. Stevens going over one of the books found an entry of $888,000 as a charge or item entering into the cost of the road, which he immediately called to my attention, and upon consultation that evening we decided we would search the steel, and the next morning, on examining the books of Mr. Hoban, the whole thing came out. Under the legislation authorizing the government to assist the railway company by the guarantee of bonds, in my judgment they are guilty of not $25,000 of bonds nor yet $85,000, but such an amount as would represent the cost of the road, not exceeding the amount of the two bond guarantees, and if the railway company could convince the government that the road cost $1,000,000 more than it actually did, then they would have $1,000,000 of clear cream to divide up among them and their political associates, and once having obtained that, they would have $1,000,000 of money or money worth, but was simply an arbitrary amount of ten per cent. added to the total cost of the road up to that date, and each month thereafter ten per cent. was added for each payment by the company in connection with the construction of the road. For instance, when they paid Mr. Gould $5,000 salary, it appeared in the books as $5,500; when they paid Norman Winslow $8,000 (because he wanted it), it would appear as $8,800; when they paid Jimmy Crockett $1,000 sheer graft (because he wanted it), it appears as $1,100; when they paid $100,000 interest on the bonds, it appears $200,000, and today those books show the road between Gagetown and Centreville to have cost nearly $500,000 more than it actually has cost.

When the result is the Prudential Trust Company, acting on the authority given by the government of New Brunswick, have practically $1,000,000 of our money in their hands which their manager admitted on oath was being loaned out to stock brokers and other borrowers, which might appear proper to him and the Lord only knows where the money is tonight. We hope the securities will some day realize the money which we placed in the hands of these people for private investment. We do know that $700,000 of it is in the form of a note signed by Mr. Gould, Mr. Ross Thompson, which, if constructed, would open up a large amount of business. The government will pretend to say this was impossible on account of the financial stringency, but they forget to tell you that way back in 1912 the bonds for this section of the road were sold and the money obtained therefrom and placed in the hands of the Prudential Trust Company, and has ever since that date been there, or supposed to have been there, for the purpose of extending this road to Andover. Therefore, the claim of lack of money is only a subterfuge. The real reason is because Mr. Gould and certain members of the government quarrelled over the location, and, as a result, the interests of Mr. Gould and the province of New Brunswick clashed, Mr. Gould won out.

eral party and recent converts from Conservatism were present, and it was evident that the new party, which will be called into being to retrieve the desperate political situation in New Brunswick, will have in its ranks the best of the thoughtful, earnest men of the province.

Other speakers included Mr. Dugal, who was heard in both French and English; Hon. Dr. Pugsley, who was given an ovation by many of his supporters at the banquet; Hon. C. W. Robinson, ex-premier; E. S. Carter, J. J. Veniot, F. J. Hughes, J. M. Stevens, K.C., A. B. Copp, O. Turgeon, M.P.P.

W. E. FOSTER.

What was the first objection Mr. Dugal met? These men realized that Mr. Dugal, possessed as he was of only a limited knowledge of the English language, would be unable to discuss his motion unless it was in his native tongue. I happened to be a witness in the gallery of the legislature when a language was presented and there saw a partisan speaker rise in his place and refuse to hear the motion discussed in a language that is spoken by a great many inhabitants of this province. We are, however, proud of the fact and lucky that we live in a land and country of free speech, and that the representative of the county of Northumberland to rise in his place and protest against such proceedings. Mr. Dugal was heard, and you all know the result.

Mr. Carvell said that he has great pleasure in meeting so many friends here tonight, assembled for the purpose of free tribute to the attempts being made for cleaner and decent government than we have been suffering under for the past six years.

The question is so big that it would be impossible with the short time at my command to more than touch the fringe of it. The two great questions involved in the investigation were the crown land scandal and the Valley Railway scandal, and particularly the latter, and other matters referring to the government of our province.

Had this body of plunderers been allowed to finish their work and complete their road, they would have had about $1,000,000 added on to the cost of the work which represented nothing but absolute graft, and had not these charges really understood, the people of this province would have paid to Mr. Gould and his political associates in New Brunswick $1,000,000 of absolute graft to be divided among themselves.

Mr. Carvell did not mince matters in speaking of the collection of the timber graft fund, and declared that within three weeks in his capacity as a legal man he would have returned to him $30,000 more of the graft fund to go back to the men from whom it was filched. To him it appeared a greater crime to devote this fund to corrupting the electorate than to divide it among the electors, and he declared that he would have returned to him $30,000 more of the graft fund to go back to the men from whom it was filched. destroying German cruisers, which are a menace to the commerce of the Empire.

However, this is not the time to enter in detail upon a discussion of this great Canadian and Imperial question, and I refer to it now more for the purpose of emphasizing my earnest protest against the conduct of the members of the government and the newspapers to which I have referred, and whose conduct in seeking to arouse party strife at a time when thousands of young Liberals, with thousands of young Conservatives, the flower of the youth of Canada, are going to the front to fight side by side for the cause of the Empire and to shed their blood in the gigantic struggle against a common foe, should most strongly be condemned.

Now just a few words regarding the investigation and report of the commissioners. We have had commissions and reports in the past; we have had commissions selected for the very purpose of condemning persons whose conduct was being investigated—on one-sided commissions. We have had commissions in which the counsel for the government and the prosecutors—most improperly assisted the commissioners in preparing their report. The same cannot be said of these commissioners or of their report. The commissioners here were of the government's own choosing. The lieutenant-governor, while nominally appointing the commissioners, would, as every lieutenant-governor, guided by constitutional principles would, set upon the advice of his responsible advisers. The fullest investigation was held. Wherever the truth was kept back, it was so kept back upon objection raised and most strenuously urged by the counsel for the government. Therefore the fullest effect and credence can, without hesitation be given to the report. As to what its effect will be upon Mr. Fleming and his continuance in public life, it is not necessary for me now to speak. That will be a matter for the electors to decide, in case Mr. Fleming should ask their opinion of his conduct as disclosed by the report of the commission.

I notice that some Conservative newspapers are seeking to justify or palliate Mr. Fleming's offense by claiming that he was not in charge of the investigation at certain periods of his political life as was had as Mr. Fleming's. Well, it is certainly doing me signal honor by putting forward my political acts as a defence for Mr. Fleming. But how did these gentlemen deal a few years ago with an alleged act of mine, similar to Mr. Fleming's receipts of $2,000 from Mr. Kennedy, a contractor on the Valley Railway, for which he is condemned by the commissioners in their report.

Not on Trial.

Some of you, most of you probably will remember that at a great Conservative meeting held in St. John during the general election of 1908 one of my opponents read an affidavit in which it was alleged that I had at a date when I was minister of public works received a $2,000 note from one Gershon Mayes, a contractor under the government. Every Conservative newspaper in Canada had the story wired to it. For the moment I received universal condemnation. Had the story been true my leader would not have permitted me to remain in his cabinet for a single day. But I was able to show that the affidavit was the result of a conspiracy to destroy me politically—that a false date was given in the affidavit and that the note in question was made before I became minister or a member of parliament, and was made for professional services of an important character which I had rendered to the maker of the note. But applying to Mr. Fleming the same rule which would have been properly applied to me, if I had been proved guilty of the charge made in the affidavit referred to, what answer can be made to this part of the findings of the commissioners? But, Mr. Chairman, I am not today on trial, and in my long professional experience I failed to find that when one man was charged with an offence, it was any defence or excuse to plead that some one else had been guilty of an equal or similar offence. All that I need say is that if my political conduct has been even half as bad as Mr. Fleming's conduct as disclosed by the report of these commissioners, then there are certainly at least two political moral cripples who ought to be relegated to the political bone pile at the earliest possible date.

Let me, Mr. Chairman and friends, in conclusion, express to you again the great pleasure which it gives me to be present tonight. Mr. Carvell and Mr. Dugal deserve the best that we or the people of this province can do for them. HON. C. W. ROBINSON.

not indicated any burning zeal to assist in cleaning up the Augean stables. The whole matter is an incredible blot upon the fair execution of our province. Comments of independent journals refer to it as a provincial matter and a deplorable condition of politics peculiar to New Brunswick. No distinction is apparently made in the eyes of such papers as the Canadian Premier of Toronto, between nominal Premier Fleming and Acting Premier Clarke, any other New Brunswick politician. We are all classed alike as the New Brunswick brand—the lowest, most despised brand on the political market.

The other members of the government seem to have simultaneously suffered from a stroke of paralysis. Many of them are known to be heartily ashamed of the situation. Hundreds of their former supporters throughout the country at stunts in their condemnation. The indifference and the balky-horse attitude of the acting premier and other members of the executive during the whole course of the investigation have condemned them individually and collectively in the eyes of the public. There are among them, no doubt some good men but they are all in the same cataleptic state. Some microbes has apparently infected them all with the same disease.

A Crisis. To the mind of any close observer of political matters, it must appear that there is at this time in the history of our province a crisis. We stand today as a reproach and a byword among the nine provinces of this dominion. We have two courses open to us. We may shut our eyes and our ears to the appeals of our consciences and allow present conditions to continue. We may say politics is politics. Fleming is no worse than Robinson or Tweedle or Pugsley. Political funds have to be raised. The lumbermen have contributed to election funds. In the words of a member of the government we may say: "The lumbermen here are not in power twenty-five years and will keep this government in power as long."

Our young people may be taught such doctrines and the whole rottenness of the situation may thus be glossed over and perpetuated from generation to generation. We may encourage our boys with the idea that the main object in life is not honorable achievement, patriotic citizenship, living according to the noble precepts of Christianity, but a study of the science of political graft, an emulation of the piratical career of Captain Kidd, and that nothing counts but political power. We may continue to sow such seeds in our province, but what a harvest will result! We must select our public officials according to their ability to exert money and raise political funds and according to their skill in perverting the channels of justice, so that political friends may escape just punishment and political enemies may wrongfully suffer.

By a crafty and lavish use of money we may corrupt the electorate and intimidate the well disposed members of the community until the whole province becomes degenerate and the name of New Brunswick will be a reproach and a disgrace. And we may not have so very far to go. On the other hand, we may have to our assistance the better thinking people of both sides of politics and make a supreme effort in the eyes of the world for good government. To do so it seems to me that a complete housecleaning is absolutely necessary. Let the honest, upright citizen take the place of the blatant demagogue in the councils of the country. To accomplish anything worth while it will be necessary for our best citizens to throw off their lethargy on public questions, to feel that their country should be placed before their party.

They must refuse to be any longer blind to the defects of the politicians of their own political party. They must ever be prepared to make some sacrifice of their time to help along the good work. Let the best men be chosen for political office and not the self-seeking, noisy persons who crowd forward with a liberal use of their elbows and push into the background those who are their superiors in everything that goes to make for good citizenship and good government.

I do not think that any great reformation can come about without a general provincial election and the sooner it comes the better. To ensure a better representation of the best citizens in our legislative halls, I personally am in favor of a complete change in our constituencies. I believe the plan once promulgated by Mr. Hazen but afterwards abandoned by him in the main many advantages. I refer to the division of the whole province into ridings, each electing one member and giving as far as possible a proportionate number of electors to each riding. Somewhere about forty members ought to be enough for the whole assembly.

I would also suggest that management of the crown lands be made as far as possible independent of political influence. It would not be a difficult matter so to arrange this important department that all lumbermen shall receive equal and fair treatment, and I am sure that most if not all of the lumbermen of this province would prefer to deal with the government in a strictly honest and straightforward manner, having the stampage so adjusted that the province will not be deprived of the fair and just revenue and the operator will not be at the mercy of the dishonest and unscrupulous officials. I have faith in the present deputy of the crown land office and many other capable officials of different departments. I believe they will administer affairs honestly if given a fair opportunity.

Our financial situation was probably never so strained as at the present time. The liability direct and indirect has been enormously increased during the reign of the present administration. We will soon be in urgent need of the assistance of our most prudent and conservative financial minds if we are to carry the load of added interest charges, defaulted bonds upon which we are the guarantors and the constantly increasing needs of the many public services.

How to Succeed. If we are to succeed in our efforts we must throw wide the doors and invite to our councils the assistance of all good citizens. We must invite the cooperation of the press as far as possible. We must expect determined opposition from that part of our press which is shackled to the chariots of the old party managers, but if we go forward undaunted by obstacles and criticism and keep before us at all times right principles and endeavor to select the best citizens as our standard bearers I firmly believe that our efforts will at length be crowned with success. I still have faith in the public if we trust them and strive by our actions and our principles to prove that we are in earnest and honestly striving for the uplifting of the standards of political life. If we enter into this work honestly and endeavor to leave to our younger generations a clean and honorable record, we will have accomplished something and, win or lose in the political arena, we will not have labored in vain.

A. B. COPP. In the course of his admirable speech A. B. Copp said in part— It is with more than an ordinary degree of pleasure that I come here tonight to join with a number of the citizens of the Province of New Brunswick to do honor to Mr. Dugal, Mr. Carvell and his associate counsel, who have been engaged in the recent inquiry that has been conducted in this province, regarding the leasing of the timber lands of the province, and the building of the Valley Railway, the report of which investigation has, after what we consider unreasonable delays, been given to the public. To those in the province who were absolutely ignorant of the intention of Mr. Dugal to prefer publicly the said charges against Mr. Fleming, the announcement of the same having been done created a great sensation throughout the province, not only, I may say, among the premier's own political friends, but also among the citizens of the province as a whole who were naturally slow to believe that a man in whom the electors of the province had placed their confidence by such a large majority could or would so abuse that confidence as outlined in the charges so preferred. Waited in Vain. The public awaited with some anxiety, it is true, for a statement from the man against whom the most serious charges had been made, but alas! they

THIS NEW MEDICINE SAVES YOU MONEY

We are druggists right here in your town and make a living out of the drug business, but it is because people have to have drugs and not because we like to see people suffer—we don't. Our duty is to render the best service we can, and when someone is ailing, we are interested in seeing them take the best medicine there is for their particular trouble. We don't recommend "cure-alls," as we don't believe there are such things. We don't want you to spend more than you have to. Some of you get small wages, and when you're sick, none at all, and you should get the most you can for your money. We recently came across a new remedy for increasing strength and building up people who are run-down and emaciated. We know that a slight trouble sometimes grows into a serious one, and to stop it in the beginning, will save you money in the end. This new compound is called Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is the best remedy, when you are run-down, tired out, nervous—no matter what the cause. It doesn't merely stimulate you and make you feel good for a few hours, but takes hold of the weakness and builds you up to a healthy, normal condition. It is a real nerve-food tonic and builder of good blood, strong muscle, good digestion. It contains Hypophosphites, which tone the nerves, and pure Olive Oil, which nourishes the nerves, the blood and the entire system. Pleasant to take. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. We promise that if you are not perfectly satisfied with it, we'll give back your money as soon as you tell us. Sold only at the 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00.

The Rexall Stores 100 King St., 473 Main St., and 559 Main St. waited in vain. But finally the statement was made by one of his colleagues for and on his behalf that the charges were absolutely untrue and he (Mr. Fleming) was entirely innocent of any wrong-doing, and he was prepared to meet his accusers and prove to the public the falsity of the said charges. After this statement had been solemnly and officially given to the public, it was only natural that the personal and political friends, as well as the press supporting the gentleman who is officially known as the Honorable J. K. Fleming, accepted the same in good faith and awaited with patience the opportunity to be given Mr. Fleming to prove his statement, and after considering the facility of the said public and secret conclaves, pluri-mages to Ottawa, etc., a royal commission was appointed to investigate the said charges—a commission against whom I am sure there are none who would be rash enough to cast a slur, insinuation, or even a criticism, and if in the selection of so important a tribunal politics were even given a conditional politics were even given a conditional

During the interval that elapsed from the preferring of the charges in April last down to the time of the opening of the investigation many anxious enquiries were made by the friends of the government to their representatives in the different councils, and they were constantly assured from time to time that everything was all right and when the evidence was taken it would be shown that the charges were groundless and were made for political purposes only, and that Mr. Flemming would be acquitted of any wrong-doing; in fact down in our county some of our representatives went so far as to tell their friends that they had personally made a thorough examination into the books and all matters pertaining to the building of the valley railway, and they could personally guarantee that everything in connection with this undertaking was absolutely straightforward and honestly carried out; and after this information had been repeatedly given out one of those who in his own estimation at least is a leader of Conservative thought and action in our county stated that "Mr. Dugal was only a cheap Frenchman anyway, and he would soon be put out of the house."

Condemnation of Mr. Flemming. The commission continued their work and you are all well aware of the outcome of the enquiry, and when you consider that the counsel for Mr. Dugal were forced to depend entirely upon the evidence they could get from hostile and unwilling witnesses, and taking into consideration also the fact that every effort was made by the best legal talent in the province who represented the government through its attorney general, Mr. Flemming's own private counsel, and they taking advantage of every legal technicality known to the able practitioner, to shut out as much evidence as possible that in the scale of justice would weigh against their client, I feel that they are to be personally congratulated on the result of their efforts, and the report of the commissioners, after giving the accused the benefit of every possible doubt--their verdict is a complete and thorough condemnation of Mr. Flemming on the one hand and a perfect vindication of the action taken by Mr. Dugal on the other; that when the facts were made known to him that he honestly and courageously formulated and preferred his charges from his place in parliament, believing he was doing so in the interests of the people of this province and fully realizing the responsibility of his position as a member of the house of assembly.

So far I have briefly referred to the facts of the case, from the preferring of the charges down to the filing of the commissioners' report with His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, thence through the different avenues until it was given to the public, and when it was so made public, it was only what one would expect when we saw what the responsible and reasonably independent press of the country without exception and without regard to politics demanded the resignation of Mr. Flemming from the government as well as from public life.

This is a matter, however, between Mr. Flemming, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, and the other members of his government, and one in which I am not personally concerned; nor do I think we as opponents of the present government (if you can dignify it by that name) need be concerned as to what action is taken by him or them, or that action can only be temporary. They may procrastinate, they may take advantage of every subterfuge known to politics, they may, as the drowning man grasps at straws with the hope that they may be saved from the whirlpool of distrust and dissatisfaction in the minds of the electors of this province, but all this is only a temporary harbor of safety, sooner or later, and the time when the very long delayed, they must appear before the bar of public opinion, their record must then be laid bare, they must then explain under what conditions and why the lumbermen of this province were induced to pay many large sums of money, so generously handed over by them to Mr. Flemming or his agents, or why the contractors on the Valley Railway were so eager to contribute so handsomely to the personal expenses of Mr. Flemming. There will be no legal objections to be offered, argued, rejected, or sustained by the free electors of this province will be the jury before whom must not only Mr. Flemming but his colleagues and his supporters in the house, who, by their very silence, have countenanced and upheld the worst forms of political corruption that has ever been known in the political history of our country, and have brought disgrace, humiliation and shame to the province of which we have always been so justly proud.

How About Others? Although in the charges made and proven by Mr. Dugal, Mr. Flemming only been involved, and while I have no desire to implicate those who may be innocent, yet from my experience of twelve years as a member of the provincial legislature, I confess it is somewhat difficult for me to imagine that other members of the government, being confidential colleagues of the premier, would not have had their suspicions aroused to such an extent at least that they would have made some of the enquiries regarding the matter that was known to a considerable number of persons who were not members of the house at all, and therefore it seems to me somewhat strange, that if the other members of the government as well as its prominent supporters in the house were entirely ignorant and innocent of what was going on that when the tree of knowledge was planted in their political garden and they were at last obliged to eat thereof the plants brought out and evidence adduced did not seem to be a genuine surprise to them, and instead of resenting and denouncing the actions of their leader, they all at once began to make excuses and the facts proven were only trifling and the same had been done by other governments although not disclosed. It also must not be forgotten that while the supporters of the government plead ignorance of the administration from the county of Northumberland must have had some estimation that all was not

HAD INDIGESTION FOR OVER 10 YEARS. ALMOST DESPAIRED OF EVER GETTING WELL.

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble. The stomach becomes unsteady you have a raw, debilitating feeling in it. After a meal you feel that you must get rid of that nasty, bilious, burning sensation. It is not necessary for you to be troubled with indigestion if you will only try that old and well-known remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, which is a combination of nature's best known roots, herbs and barks for the cure of all stomach and blood troubles. Mrs. Mary MacKay, Hunter's Mountain, N.S., writes: "I was troubled with indigestion for more than ten years. I tried several doctors' medicines claiming the power to cure, but all without success. Having heard of the many cures effected by Burdock Blood Bitters, I decided to give it a trial. After taking two bottles I was completely cured. My appetite which was very poor is now good, and I can eat most everything without any disagreeable feelings. I can strongly recommend B.B.B. to anyone suffering from indigestion." B.B.B. is manufactured only by The F. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

How to be Sure

Shopkeepers and merchants throughout the Dominion are giving magnificent support to the "Made in Canada" movement.

Occasionally a shopkeeper, through lack of accurate information, may express the opinion that a certain class of article is not made in Canada, or is made only of an inferior grade.

If you are conscientiously trying to give "Made in Canada" goods first call in all your purchases, do not be content to relax your efforts just because you happen to receive this answer.

The shopkeeper may be perfectly sincere in his opinion, but there are other people who are more likely to have full and accurate information.

Why not write direct to the Canadian Manufacturers Association, Montreal, Toronto or Winnipeg? They have agreed to constitute themselves a general information bureau for the assistance of those who are trying to live up to the "Made in Canada" idea, and a line to them will always bring you prompt and reliable information, as to how and where to obtain the article you desire most conveniently and most quickly. If it is not made in Canada they will frankly tell you so.

right from the action they took in the house during the last session of parliament, and if the knowledge of what was going on had come to their ears, it is much harder for one to believe that the other supporters of the government were entirely ignorant in the matter. It seems to me, however, we are more concerned in what useful lessons can be drawn from this terrible exposure that may inure to the benefit and advantage of our province generally. I may say that I am not here for the purpose of rejoicing over the fact that a public man, although a political opponent, has fallen short of fulfilling his obligation he owed to his native province, and the duty he owed to his party. We are here to show our appreciation of those who realizing the duty they owed to the people of the province quietly, deliberately, and after due consideration undertook a most unpleasant task personally. A few of the papers supporting Mr. Flemming and his government have tried, although in vain, to take the sting out of the indictment that has been made out against Mr. Flemming by keeping personal abuse upon the head of Mr. Carvell. This gentleman has so far been quite able to take care of himself privately and publicly, and in so far as that phase of the matter goes, I am quite content to let him continue these private or public matters assisted by their papers, who owe their existence to the fact that they are subsidized by moneys illegally taken from the people of this province, abuse Mr. Carvell, the more he will be respected and honored by the right-thinking people of this province.

A Matter for the Province. But this, let me say, is not a personal matter between Mr. Flemming and Mr. Carvell; this is a matter affecting the Province of New Brunswick as a whole and not the county of Carleton alone; this is a question that cannot be decided by a bye-election in Carleton County. The Province of New Brunswick is faced with a perplexing problem, party politics as they have been abused during the last few years have not only brought dishonor, disgrace, and shame to our province, but it has also brought us to a point that, to save us from a very unfortunate financial position, there must be an early and complete change, the crown lands of our province, our greatest asset must be conserved, useless officials must be dispensed with, unnecessary extravagance for party purposes in connection with our public expenditures must cease, reform must be instituted, the interests of the citizens of the province must be considered and not that of the designing and hypocritical politician. Let those of us who are in opposition tonight pledge ourselves that if shall be our honest endeavor without regard to party politics, personal ambitions or any other consideration to do our part to place in power in the province of New Brunswick a government composed of strong, honest, capable men who are willing to band themselves together with an honest endeavor to administer the affairs of this province in the interest of its people; let us continue the good work so well started by those to whom we meet tonight to do house, let us as a party continue to assist in clearing the political atmosphere, and while it may be necessary to expose graft, let there be no shirking of our duty, until the province of New Brunswick has outlived the memory of this terrible blot on her political history.

Letters of Regret. Among those who were unable to be present but who were heartily in sympathy with the object of the banquet were W. S. Loggie, M. P., of Northumberland, who wrote that his eldest son having just gone to the war kept him closely tied to his business desk; Robert B. Simms, of South Knowlesville, Carleton county, who in a characteristic letter said he was strongly opposed to teachers closing schools for political purposes, and consequently did not attend; Hon. I. J. Tweedie, who was kept away by professional business; John McMulkin, detained at home by illness, and Isaac W. Carpenter, of Queens, a former representative, while regretting, because of the unsatisfactory means of transportation, his inability to attend, extended his most hearty congratulations to the guests of the banquet and to Mr. Carvell for exposing the professedly honorable Flemming government. "I am satisfied that Mr. Dugal is a true blue, or he never would have made the charges in his place in the house last winter in the face of such an overwhelming opposition." Senator King, who is absent in western Canada; Dr. J. E. Hetherington, who is spending some time in North Carolina.

HAD SAME COUGH FOR SEVERAL YEARS

Woman Fifty Years Old--Coughed More or Less Since Childhood--Found No Relief Until She Got Vinol.

Dayton, Ohio--"I want everybody to know what Vinol has done for me. I am now fifty years old and ever since I was a young girl I have had a cough most of the time, and sick headaches which left me weak and with no desire for food. "I took all kinds of medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good. Finally my druggist asked me to try Vinol, saying that if it did not help me, he would refund my money. I felt so much better after taking one bottle I bought more. Now my cough is entirely cured. I have no more sick headaches. I have a good appetite and feel better than I ever did in my life, and I cannot recommend Vinol too highly."--Mrs. J. C. SCHNEIDER, Dayton, Ohio. Vinol is not a secret nostrum, simply a combination of the medicinal elements found in cod livers, together with tonic iron, contains no oil and is delicious tasting. We ask every man or woman in this vicinity suffering from chronic coughs, colds or bronchitis, and every weak, run-down person to try Vinol. The Ross Drug Co., Limited, St. John N. B.

Is All You Should Pay This Season

IT is enough to get good tailoring if you deal here. Overcoatings and Suitings by the hundred—every one of them British woollens brought to Canada by our famous "Mill-to-Man" plan. Long-wearing fabrics—just the kind to suit your ideas of economy and mighty fine looking when tailored for you in our big modern shops. Try us with Suit or Overcoat—you'll become one of the thousands of our satisfied customers.

So far the wide-spread tendency to economize has had only a stimulating effect with us, inasmuch as it has brought orders from men who, a few months ago, would have considered fifteen dollar tailoring too cheap to be good. We are running to capacity, giving employment to hundreds of Canadians. Business is flourishing and mail orders are and have been coming in so fast that we have found it necessary to open five new stores—making ten stores in Canada—to look after our Canada-wide business. It's an ill wind that blows no one any good.

STALLINGS TELLS HOW "BLOOD AND IRON" WON BRAVES TITLE

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)
George Stallings has been telling the inside of the Boston Braves system of playing baseball, and the inside story of the world's series. His yarn printed in a weekly magazine, is a distinct benefit to the literature of the game and rather a rebuke to a lot of these ball player writers who allow someone to write a lot of slush and sign their names to it.

"WINONA"

Stallings wrote his own story. It reads Stallings all the way through and it is just as vital and gingery as Stallings is on the bench.
Stallings tells how he, Mitchell and Evers stirred up the fighting spirit of the Braves and kept that gallant bunch of business battling and going at top speed. But he is a bit too modest about his own part, and while he tells of the goal-getting assault upon the Athletics he does not tell it all.
I was with Stallings and his team in New York the night that Smith broke his leg—with the world's series right at hand. The injury of Smith was a terrific blow to the Braves, and Stallings himself was very blue—while talking to me—and very brave and hopeful whenever one of the players came near. Just before the team started to Philadelphia Stallings outlined his plan of action.
"We're going right at them," he said. "We're going to try to rush them off their feet and fight them until they quit."
"I think they will quit. No team ever has played them that way. They have been a hand-shaking championship team. If we go down there and hold a reception and shake hands all round they'll beat us. If we go at them, rough them, show them we are not afraid and that we're there to beat them we'll have them worrying.

"Every team that ever has played the Athletics has been licked before it started. The other team has done all the worrying and all the guessing. Now we'll see how they like worrying and guessing. I think if we can get them started, and worry them they'll be just as liable to play bad ball as we are."
"I'll fine any player on my team that shakes hands with one of them, and I'm going to send the boys at them blood raw."
It was wonderful to see the Braves carry out Stallings' plans—and you know how they worked. The Athletics did all the worrying and when the Braves saw that the champions were flustered they pulled off stuff they never would have dared try.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Thickness

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.
Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair to naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair, just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking a small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair, it gives a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

NOT SO MANY SHIPS SUNK BY KARLSRUHE

British Skipper of Indrani Says Some Are Being Used as Aids to Warships

The baffling cruiser Karlsruhe, wherever she may be, has not sunk so large a number of merchantmen as she is credited with sinking.
That is the declaration of two deep sea British skippers at New York who talked about her elusiveness and her efficiency. The reason she did not sink the merchantmen is because the officers and men in her business as a commerce destroyer.

One of the British skippers who talked did not want his name used. The other, who arrived recently on the Cunarder Frankonia, is Capt. Neil Pilcher, former master of the Far East freighter Indrani, down in the records as having been sunk by the Karlsruhe, but still in service in the scout squadron of the Karlsruhe.

Capt. Pilcher while skipper of the Indrani and on his way to Rio from Norfolk, was overhauled by the Karlsruhe after being lured within her reach by one of the merchantmen that flew the British flag—which normally she was entitled to carry—and promptly held up and despoiled.
"We were captured by the Karlsruhe," Capt. Pilcher said, "on September 17. After she had taken most of our cargo that she might need out of the Indrani, her commander and crew mounted in concealed positions, six four-inch guns on her, retained her Chinese stokers and sailors and put all the white men aboard the German steamship Creffield, which had sailed from Antwerp on July 1 for San Francisco by way of South American ports, and was held up by the Karlsruhe to help her in prey on our commerce."
"I must say that the Karlsruhe's captain and officers treated us with great kindness. All of us were allowed ample time to take off our baggage and put it aboard the Creffield. We spent thirty-five days on her before we were landed at Tenerife with other officers and men of British ships captured by the Karlsruhe. In all there were six officers and men of the engineering and stokehold force.

"The steamship Comdor was not sunk as reported and still believed. A large part of her cargo, including oil in cases was taken aboard the Karlsruhe and attending ships, as were all her stores, and she was manned and officered in part by men from the cruiser.
"I feel certain that the swift and costly Vandyck of the Lamport and Holt line was not sunk by the Karlsruhe. Her speed alone would have made her a fine acquisition to the Karlsruhe's decoy and protective squadron, and besides, she had many things aboard that were needed by the Germans.

"The plan of the scout ships was to sail off in several directions from the cruiser and look for merchantmen and British warships. They had a code of signals, which, in conjunction with wireless on some of the merchantmen, enabled the Karlsruhe to keep 30 miles or more away from the danger of British cruisers and to be always within call when a prize hove in sight.

"The Creffield always cruised with the squadron and, because she was filled with the officers and crews of captured ships, the Germans did not pay so much regard to her as the scouting vessels. After her skipper got a wireless message from the Karlsruhe telling him not to land the Chinese firemen and sailors as they would be needed on the other ships which were short handed. All the British officers and sailors who landed at Tenerife with me united in saying they were well treated by the Germans."

SOME SPEECHES BY KAISER
Following are samples from speeches of the Kaiser delivered in the years preceding the war:
"We are the salt of the earth; we must show ourselves worthy of our great destiny."
"There is only one law—my law; the law which I myself lay down."
"The best word is a blow—the Army and the Navy are the pillars of the state."

"A ruler may be very disagreeable, and I will be disagreeable if I think it necessary."
"The soldier must not have a will of his own—they must all have only one will, and that will mine."
"Only one is master of this country. That is I. Who opposes me, I shall crush to pieces. . . Sic volo, sic jubeo."
"We Hohenzollern take our crown from God alone, and to God alone we are responsible in the fulfillment of duty."
"The mighty German army is the mainstay of the peace of Europe."
"The ocean is indispensable to German greatness. Neither on it nor across it must any great decision be again consummated without Germany and the German Emperor."

"Our German people will be the granite block on which the good God may complete His work of civilizing the world."
"Any opposition on the part of Prussian noblemen to their King is a monstrousity."
"God liveth, as of old. Our great Ally still reigneth."
"My course is the right one, and in it I shall continue to steer."
"Neptune with his trident is a symbol for us that we have new tasks to fulfill. That trident must be in our hands."
"Hurrah for the dry powder and the sharp sword, for the end we have in sight and the forces we are bending towards it, for the German army and the general staff!"—New York Times.

BOWLING.

On Victoria Alleys.
On the Victoria alleys last night team No. 5 took three points from team No. 4 in the five-men league. The grand totals, however, differed only fifteen pins. Riley, of the defeated team, won the prize for the day of the highest string—115.

No. 4:
	Total.	Avg.
Duffy	92	86	84	282	87 1/3
Brown	84	82	82	258	86
Davis	81	87	80	248	82 2/3

Total			458	446	461	1885

Another record for the city league was established last night at Black's alleys when Sullivan made the total of 147, surpassing the total of a few days ago of 139. The game was between the Swags and the Giants and the scores were as follows:

Sweeps:
	Total.	Avg.
Jenkins	114	93	84	301	100 1/3
T. Masters	83	87	77	247	82 1/3
Harrison	83	94	92	269	89 1/3
Gamble	97	79	88	254	84 2/3
Sullivan	84	147	97	328	109 1/3
Total			450	600	448	1898

Giants:
	Total.	Avg.
Smith	87	93	84	274	91 1/3
Masters	78	90	85	253	84 1/3
Cobham	86	87	88	261	87 1/3

Starky	64	88	78	185	61 1/3
Total			389	432	430	1251

The Sweeps thus won by four points to nil. Tomorrow evening the Elks and Hamblers meet.

FOOTBALL.

Will Abandon International Contests.
London, Dec. 3.—Delegates of the English, Scottish, Welsh and Irish professional football associations, at a meeting in London today, decided to recommend to their respective associations that international football matches this season be abandoned.

BASEBALL.

McGraw's Long Chance.
New York, Dec. 3.—John McGraw's experiment of taking fifty-two players to Marlin next spring in the hope of picking at least two or three good players is probably the biggest gambling chance ever taken in the big league.

even two good men the money will not have been spent in vain.

Under a new league rule that is to be passed next month the clubs will have to cut down their teams to twenty men after the season gets under way. This means that McGraw will have to get rid of thirty-two.

To Drop Elberfeld.
New York, Dec. 3.—Kid Elberfeld, who did a turn at assistant manager, coach, emergency scout and substitute shortstop of the Superbas last season, is to be let out by the Brooklyn Club. According to a report he has not been offered a contract for 1915.

Manager Wilbert Robinson will be forced to worry along without an assistant next season, while one of the youngsters is expected to have Elberfeld's job as second aid short-stopper.

Released.

TURF.

Races at Van Buren.
Van Buren, Me., Dec. 3.—Horsemen at Van Buren and St. Leonard's have organized a winter club with 100 members, and are to hold ice races on the Van Buren ice track on Dec. 3, 24, 26 and 31 and January 1 and 3. This track permits half mile heats.

Broke Up Partnership.
W. E. D. Stokes' great trotter, Peter Volo, 2:08 1/4, which won approximately $84,000 in stakes and purses during the last season, was an accident of breeding. His history in this respect is one of the romances of the turf, which shows better than the seemingly well-thought-out plans of the scientific breeder in speed lines.

The owners of Peter Volo's granddam, Scott Hudson and W. P. Knight, had intended to breed a mare called Josephine to one of the popular sires of high-breeding and speed-producing qualities then standing in Kentucky. Their plans miscarried and Mr. Knight, without the knowledge of his partner, had the mare bred to Nervolo, which, in spite of his race record of 2:04 1/4, was an unimpressive piece without a colt to his credit at the time.

Off to Australia.
Honolulu, Dec. 3.—Lalo P. Kahana, world's champion short-distance swimmer, and George Cunha, also one of the best known American swimmers, have left here for Australia to meet the champions of the Antipodes.

Grafton street, after a protracted illness suffered a shock which he suffered on July 9, 1913.

Mr. O'Leary was born in Ireland on Sept. 23, 1844, and learned the trade of boat building in his native land. He came to this country in 1867 and engaged in that work, doing that until he Lake Quinsigamond in 1874. His place was the rendezvous of all the noted oarsmen in the closing years of the last century for training for important races on the lake, including Hanlon, Hooper, Bubeck, Plasted and Teemer.

They Eat Well.
In the last New York six-day bike race it is figured that fully $3,000 was spent for food. Of course, the riders did not consume all of it, but their trainers and handlers were fed in the camps. But the 86 riders ate more than the 100 odd trainers and handlers. For instance, the Cyclists consumed 16 family porterhouse steaks in every 24 hours of the race and these steaks cost on an average $1.25 each. This is just one item of food these riders consumed. They had chickens, lamb chops, and other meats as well. There were twenty-four chefs in the Garden cooking for the riders and their trainers, and their average salary for the week was $300.

This Case Unique.
Dick Stosh, ex-National amateur champion, who was going along well in the professional game until he got "in bad" on account of his bout in Lorain, O. the other night, says he has quit the ring. His manager also has cast him aside because of that Lorain affair, which was declared a fake. A boxer who "fakes" can expect no sympathy, but in Stosh's case there appear circumstances which should entitle him to leniency. He carried with him into the ring a heavy heart because his father had died a couple of days before he fought that night for only one reason that he felt that he must earn the money to help his mother.

News of the Ring.
Ted Nelson an Australian who boxed Buck Cronin in the United States a few years ago, is in the trenches in France.

Gloves as Xmas Gifts.
A lady will always gladly receive an extra pair of gloves, no matter how many pairs she already has. But give her the best. Be sure you see the name DENT'S on the gloves.

Frank Erne, ex-lightweight champion gives two ex-Boston boxers great credit for teaching him something about gymnasium work while training for a bout that was beneficial to him. Erne was a clever boxer and knows all the wrinkles of the game. He says that most of the boxers make a grave mistake punching heavy bags, while training in a gym.

"I used to do it," he says. "Like Weir came into my camp years ago and caught me doing that stunt."
"Get a fast bag," said he. "That thing will make you slower than a snail. Get a light leather bag and hang it up high, so that you'll have to hit up and fast. It'll make your arms ache at first, but you'll find that the exercise will prevent them ever getting weary and heavy in the ring."
"Matty Baldwin is the only man I ever saw who got the idea and you never see Matty's arms getting lory. No, sir, the heavy bag is all wrong."

THE COW AND HER CUD.

The cow's cud consists of a food partially masticated which has been through the mouth and returned for more thorough mastication, says the Rural New Yorker in reply to a correspondent, and the only change the food has undergone is that a part of the insoluble starch has been changed to a sugar called maltose. When the food first enters the mouth of the animal it is ground by the teeth, and the soluble material with the alkaline saliva. In this condition the food is more easily swallowed.

A HEALTHGRAM.
Poor ventilation is the indirect cause of a large proportion of diseases. The offensive smell of a vitiated atmosphere is an indication of its danger.

A correspondent introduces a piece of poetry to the editor of an American newspaper in these unpolished words: "The following lines were written fifty years ago by one who has for many years slept in his grave just for amusement."

John O'Brien of this city was seriously injured by falling from a train near Sussex yesterday. He had called at Amherst and, as he was under age, had returned to St. John to secure his mother's consent. He was without funds and had to "beat" his way down and tried to return in the same way. He was found by section men who sent him forward to his brother's home in Amherst. Both hands were crushed, one hip displaced and he received other painful injuries.

Three Thousand Feet, Dangling in Space, Clinging To Thin Propellor Blade; a Hero in Grease

The Plain Workingman, in Dirty Clothes, Who Became One of the Great Heroes of the Big War—Saving the Dirigible And His War Companions

WITHOUT A WORD MOYER CRAWLED OUT THAT ROD TO THE END.

(By H. J. Phillips, Special Correspondent.)
Paris, Nov. 16, 1914—Moyer is rather a poorly fitting name for a hero. Moyer himself would not impress you as heroic, if perchance you were strolling up Piccadilly and he hailed you with "Keb, sir" or "Taxi, sir?"
He came from somewhere over in the edge of the Whitechapel district of London and arose to the eminence of a job in a garage. By and by he drove a taxi through London streets. Moyer loves machinery and he learned much. He worked for a time for a man who drove a racing automobile, and Moyer was proud to help in the pits during a race.
The young man who employed him as a mechanic grew weary of the auto racing, and, to get more thrills, went into aeroplane driving.
Moyer loved the motors of aeroplanes even more than he did those of automobiles. He understood them. No one considered Moyer a hero. He is a very modest-looking little man. Usually he is greasy bespattered and black from the carbon.

But, when the war came, he went across the channel to France as artificer Moyer, attached to one of the big military airships of the Royal Flying Corps. All the others were heroes. Moyer was only a mechanic.
On September 19 the dirigible airship to the care of which Moyer devoted his time was sent from a point near Ostend to scout over the lines of Germans pressing forward. The trip was a success and the airship was returning. Shells the Germans had fired upwardly there was a shiver that shook the airship from end to end. The thin steel alloy blades of the propeller snapped—one blade flew against the gas bag.
There was another shock that threw the twelve heroes of the crew to the floor of the hanging cabin; to shut their eyes, expecting the great bag momentary to collapse, dropping them 8,000 feet to mangled masses of dead men in the hay fields. The blade had not punctured the bag. The heroes aroused themselves and gazed at each other, faces blanched with horror at the thought of the death they had narrowly escaped.

No sooner had they congratulated each other than they realized they were in a terrible position. The air-ship, without its propeller, was helpless and drifting rapidly in the wind straight back over the German lines. With glasses they in the cabin could see the gas hanging eternal over the battlefield.
Artificer Moyer was busy. There was an extra propeller, and, while the others were discussing their danger, he had found this propeller and was making his way back through the airship. Sticking out from the stern fifteen feet behind the cabin was a thin rod—a rod of steel two and a half inches thick. At the end of that thin rod the broken ends of the propeller blades were fastened by bolts.

Without a word Moyer crawled out that rod to the end. With legs wrapped around the rod, holding only by the jagged ends of the propeller blades, he worked with wrench until the bolts were loosened and he hauled the rest of the propeller downward. Then he slid backward along the rod, secured the new propeller and, again, clinging by legs and hands, he crawled back and drew the new propeller blades over the end of the shaft.
For more than two hours Moyer worked while the airship floated nearer and nearer to the German lines, 8,000 feet in the air.
The dozen men in the cabin were watching, one instant Moyer at his task, the next the country ahead. One with glasses reported that a German war plane was being prepared to rise and attack. Finally, Moyer finished the job and crept stiffly backward, almost paralyzed by the strain. The men in the cabin seized his legs and drew him into the ship.

He reeled, but, standing straight, saluted and said: "All ready, Captain."
An instant later the motors were whirring, the airship described a wide arc and, turning southward, fled with gathering speed.
George Vandergift Laurensen of Reading, Pa., won the highest scholastic standing ever made by any student in Pennsylvania State College. He is a member of the class of 1915 and holds the exceptional record of obtaining an average of 96.2 for his three years' work.
W. L. George finds himself in a unique position. Having British parents, and having lived for the last ten years or so in England, he is practically a British subject and hence naturally an eligible candidate for the British army. On the other hand he was born and brought up in France and served his time in the French army.
