"There ain't as many apples from the Settlement as the show in the rink as I'd like to see. The rink is out our way. MR. BINKS IS INDIGNANT. Mr. Peter Binks, a local business man, is indignant at the way people send to Montreal and Toronto for goods that they could buy cheaper at St. John. "It's an outrage," said Mr. Binks. "Our own merchants give employment to people and pay heavy taxes, and yet these mail order houses send stuff down here by the ton to sell orders. You can't build up St. John if that's the way they do it. They are up for their own town and its business, how can a St. John merchant pay wages and taxes when the money he ought to get is sent to Montreal or Toronto? I'm glad the board of trade is taking up this matter. I hope they'll make the people pay."

time to time. They are not at present hard-pressed for accommodation, but a structure designed for this special purpose would prove a great convenience.

The board of trade would like to see public meetings held to discuss the question of civic taxation. Anything that would awaken public interest and lead to a reform of the present system would be of great benefit.

The St. John Railway Company have also agreed to remove the poles from the two blocks on Germain street, where paving is now being done.

An Ottawa despatch states that the government will probably ask parliament to vote $80,000 for the relief of Campbellton. This will greatly benefit the stricken town, and no doubt encourage some who have been holding back to proceed with the work of rebuilding their establishments.

The Victoria Colonist (Conservative) says: "Some of the papers are discussing what Canada's fleet will do, when she gets one, in case the United Kingdom is at war."

A well-known minister, writing to the Times, says: "I consider the Evening Times to be an ideal paper. Its influence in our country homes is pure and elevating."

In a reference to the apple show the Standard this morning says: "The visitors to the exhibition were delighted with the showing made and many also expressed their surprise. On all hands were heard expressions of commendation of the enterprise of the provincial government and particularly of the good work of the agricultural department and the officials. There is little doubt that as a result of the exhibition and the great interest taken in fruit culture by the members of the government, this important branch of agriculture is destined to flourish in this province as never before."

These praises partake somewhat of the nature of fulsome adulation, and likewise omit all reference to the gentlemen who raised the apples.

Ye the fruit growers are here, and it is the fruit of their labors the people see in St. Andrew's Rink. There were fruit growers before Hazen and there were fruit growers before Lundry. Indeed these two orchards and their produce are chiefly interested in the fruits of political expedite work.

There are rumors of an early appeal to the people, and the government would value greatly the votes of the fruit men. The latter will not fail to note, however, that they are relegated to second place in connecting with the apple show, while the chief credit is taken by Mr. Hazen and his colleagues, who probably do not know a Pippin from a Stark, unless both are labelled.

Now, if the government really desired to boom the orchard industry, why not make good roads, over which to haul the apples to market?

The Baptist churches of the city are not new, but seems now to be regarded with more general favor by leading men in the three congregations than when it was last considered. The union of the Brussels and Waterloo street congregations with that of Leinster street would form one strong body, having both the numbers and the means to carry on effective religious work without being hampered by debt or financial difficulties of any sort.

There is more of the spirit of union now than formerly in all the churches, and men are more concerned about the great matters on which they agree than about minor points of difference. The plan to unite these three churches, or even two of them, would doubtless have very beneficial results.

The union would not lessen, but increase their power for good. The most hopeful indication is that the strong men of each congregation appear to regard the movement with favor.

Every citizen should visit the apple show in St. Andrew's Rink. It is a revelation of the possibilities of New Brunswick as an orchard province.

The board of trade asks that a fair test be made of the respective advantages of St. John and Halifax as mail ports. This test has never been made.

Chicago society women have taken of the case of the striking garment workers, and added an interesting complication to the conditions with which the police have to cope.

In the new town of Campbellton, which will one day be an important city, being built according to a plan, as Mr. Vivian M. P., has suggested that all towns should be built? A little care in advance would avoid much trouble and expense in later years.

One of the needs of St. John, that will doubtless be met when more pressing demands have been attended to, is a large hall where public banquets and functions of that sort could be held. The various clubs and organizations in the city would find such a building very convenient from

WATCH OUR WINDOWS

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

We have a family cat. She is an extremely gentle little ball of silver grey fur with benevolent yellow eyes. Such is the amiability of her disposition that we call her "Sweetness." Like the cat of washing powder fame, "she has never scratched yet."

That doesn't sound particularly alarming, does it?

And yet this inoffensive creature was the cause of a tremendous scene yesterday afternoon.

A visiting lady with a sturdy little boy of five or six years old was in the living room with me when Sweetness took into her head to stroll in and pay her respects.

The youngster looked up, caught sight of the little furry creature strolling towards him, and with a series of blood-curdling shrieks, which must have convinced the neighbors we had gone insane and started murdering each other, and a leap which by no fault of his just failed to upset the lamp, landed in his mother's arms.

It was sometime before I grasped the situation and left the room with the astonished Sweetness.

It was some time longer before his mother had ceased to murmur "No, no, the wicked old kitty wouldn't hurt him." "Was he frightened to death of the terrible kitty?" and similar courage-inspiring remarks.

When it was possible for her to set the bow down she smoothed out her dress, fastened her hat, and turning to me with the same peculiar pride with which women tell of their illnesses, explained, "Yes, he is frightened to death of cats. We have to be so careful not to let one get anywhere near him. Does he ever see you, when he was a baby and he has never gotten over it. We have had such a terrible time with him."

And for ten minutes the visiting lady related occasions on which bold feline had approached too near her unfortunate Harry.

During the recital Harry stood beside her listening proudly and occasionally prompting her with "And I had to have the doctor, didn't I, mamma?" "And I tipped the table over, didn't I, mamma?"

"He has never gotten over it," the visiting lady had said.

Of course not.

Why should he, when he realizes the pride his fond mother takes in his peculiarity?

Why should he, when everytime he performs he holds the centre of the stage for the next hour or two?

Why should he, when he is continually urged on by the fear-stimulating suggestion of "The terrible kitty won't hurt you," and things of that sort?

Why should he, when every premium is placed on fostering his terror, and none on overcoming it?

Sensible boy—of course he will always regard the appearance of a cat as his cue to take the centre of the stage with a war whoop.

I don't criticize him one bit. I think his course is the inevitable one.

My only blame is for his mother for any mother who, like her, encourages a child to make a fetish of his fear instead of helping him to overcome it.

There are, of course, cases of inborn terror which cannot be entirely eradicated. But such terror surely can be modified and as far as possible hidden.

And even of such cases, I am afraid I am a bit apt to feel like the unempathetic Dr. Johnson when he says:

"There is one species of terror which those who are unwilling to suffer the reproach of cowardice have wisely dignified with the name of 'antipathy.'"

Daily Hints for the Cook

MOCK MACAROONS.
Beat the white of one egg until light (but not stiff) and add gradually while beating one cup of brown sugar. Cut and fold in one cup of finely chopped nuts mixed sprinkled with 14 teaspoonful of salt. Drop from tip of spoon on a buttered sheet, and bake in a moderate oven until delicately browned. This recipe makes two dozen little cakes.

PICCALILLI.
One peck green tomatoes chopped and one cup of salt over top. Let them stand until morning, then squeeze as dry as you can with hands, add four large or five small onions, four green peppers chopped one cup sugar, one-half cup mixed spice in a bag and cover with vinegar. Cook until tender.

CHICKEN FRITTERS.
Cut cold roasted or boiled chicken in small pieces, place in casseroles. Season well with salt and pepper and the juice of one lemon. Let the meat stand one hour then make a fritter batter and stir the pieces into it. Drop by the spoonful into boiling fat. Fry till a light brown. Drain, and serve immediately. Any kind of cold, tender meat can be used this way.

LEMON PIE.
Add to one cup of water when boiling one heaping tablespoonful of cornstarch well with salt and pepper as possible. Boil until thick. While hot add a piece of butter about as large as a small egg, one cup of sugar and a pinch of salt, juice and rind of one lemon, yolks of two eggs; baked with one crust. Use whites of eggs, two tablespoonfuls sugar and a pinch of cream of tartar for the top after the pie is baked and cooled.

Miss Hazel Hess, Winchester Springs, Ont., writes—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad at times, I could not cross the floor for the pain. The doctor could not do me any good and a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought six boxes and now I have been cured for over four years. I will recommend them to every sufferer."

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then the important part must be seen to it. This system of sewerage is not clogged up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, rich in potassium, a medicine that will absolutely cure backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25. All dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millard Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

BOARD OF WORKS

Manchester Line Get No. 5 Berth—Department Funds to be Pooled

At a meeting of the board of works last evening it was decided to recommend for the Manchester line the use of No. 5 warehouse and the Allans, No. 6. A letter from Superintendent Downie of the C. P. R. protesting against the increased rates for wharfage was filed. No action was taken regarding a complaint from A. C. F. Sorrell about excavating work in Kennedy street.

Electric signs over the premises of the Cecil Theatre and H. M. Hampton were approved. It was decided to recommend for D. J. Seely & Son the use of a warehouse on Sydney wharf for $30 for six months. No action was taken on an offer of Mrs. Martin to sell the city a gravel pit at Golden Grove.

It was recommended that repairs be made to the Sydney wharf at a cost of about $250, that a grant of land from the estate of James White for the extension of Crunston avenue be accepted, that Gregory McDermott be granted a lease of the new pier warehouse on paying all arrears of rent, that the tender of the Union Foundry be accepted for a railing in Strait Shore road, and the offer of the N. B. Cold Storage Co. to supply a quantity of asphalt be accepted.

Repairs were ordered for the retaining wall in Duke street at a cost of about $100. It was decided to make a common fund of the unexpended balances in the departments and recommend a bond issue for the completion of the work in Alexandra street. It was decided to recommend that the postman at Reid's Point be rented to the E. S. S. Co., at $200 a year and to allow James Pender & Co. to lay a spur track to their plant at their own expense. The engineer said there was still

One of the largest finds made by Curtis Harris, the veteran wild honey hunter of Moretown, Vt., occurred recently when he located 72 pounds of fine honey in a hollow tree in sight of the main highway between Moretown and Middlesex. There were 22 test of honey in that tree, some parts not being over four inches through however. The bees had evidently been working there two years.

He has been in charge of the music at the monster meetings just concluded by Torrey in Kansas, and has been pronounced as a singer superior to Alexander. At 8:30 on Sunday the night meeting will be held. A staff of from fifty to 100 users under direction of Capt. J. T. McEwan, will have charge of the floor arrangements.

AN AWFUL NIGHT IN A POLICE CELL

John A. Segee Says He Will Take Action For Damages Against City

DRUNKS AS COMPANIONS

Filthy Conditions Alleged and He Also Says One Man Had Liquor in the Cell and Was Smoking Cigarettes—Chief Clark's Statement

Because of treatment which he says he received at the hands of officials on Saturday and Sunday last, John A. Segee, of North Street, said yesterday that he intends taking action for damages against the city, claiming that his health was impaired by the condition of affairs to which he was submitted while occupying a cell in central station on those days. Lately, he states, he was not in the place over Sunday, being allowed out on $40 deposit early on that day.

Mr. Segee says that he suffered terribly from the smell of the cell, and from the actions of two men, quite drunk, in the cell with whom he was made to stay. "I had to leave a sick bed to go to jail," he said yesterday, "and the treatment accorded me was not at all what it should have been. First of all, the sanitary conditions are disgraceful. There was no flow of water where there should have been, and as a consequence the place reeked with a very vile smell. To make matters worse, later in the evening a man named Allan, in an intoxicated condition, was placed in the same cell with me, and continued throughout the night to drink gin from a flask and to smoke cigarettes, much to my annoyance, and also, to a certain extent, to my fear. I was afraid that he, being a drunkard, might set fire to the place with his continual burning of matches and cigarettes.

"It was not bad enough for one drunk to be placed in the same small hole with me, but still another, named Smith, was given a berth also, and between his actions and those of Allan, I got little or no sleep. One of the men used the floor of the cell as a toilet place, and when I rapped on the cell and an officer was made aware of the facts, a bucket of water was simply thrown over the floor.

"A pail of drinking water was brought around, with one cup, out of which the three of us were supposed to drink, after these two men, or one of them at least, had been vomiting over the place. Some friends of mine had brought me a lunch, but one of my fellow prisoners helped himself to it, and I went without it. In the morning half a loaf of bread and some kind of liquid was brought me, but being a sick man I thought that this was no food for me, and anyhow I could not eat the bread as it was placed where no one with decency could partake of it.

"A few hours after daylight on Sunday morning, Allan gave a loud cry, and fell to the floor, face downwards, with blood streaming from his nose and mouth, making a most disgusting sight. This was about the last of my miseries, as it was not long afterwards before my friends secured my freedom. But in the few hours I was in the cell I passed the time most miserably, and being ill, I contend that I should have been better cared for. I intend to bring an action against the city because of what I endured."

Chief Clark's Statement

Regarding the statements made by Mr. Segee, Chief Clark said that he could not see that there was ground for complaint. He had allowed Segee out on deposit on Sunday morning on account of his being a sick man, and because the following day was a holiday. Also because he was ill, the chief said the man had been placed in a warm cell. Only lately many improvements had been made in the portion of the central station where the cells are located, the chief said, and the sanitary conditions had been well attended to. As regards three men drinking from one cup, this could not be so, since there was a mug for each prisoner to drink from. The chief invited inspection of the place, and professed little belief in Mr. Segee's statements.

EIGHT ROUND DRAW

Dan Littlejohn and Geo. McDonald of Quebec in Bout in New Glasgow

A despatch from New Glasgow, N. S., reads as follows:

"Dan Littlejohn, of St. John, and George McDonald of Quebec met in a fast eight round draw here on Monday evening. Littlejohn doing mostly all the work. The first and second rounds were the fastest, McDonald opening a cut on Littlejohn's left eye. Littlejohn returned the compliment by cutting open McDonald's eye in the fifth round. From that point Littlejohn looked to be the better man.

The referee gave his decision, as a draw. McDonald challenged Littlejohn to another go to take place in Halifax."

C., counsel for the appellant in the case of the King on the information of Benjamin Grant (appellant) vs. Ellsworth Tufts, (respondent) asked for an adjournment until the next court on the ground that the appeal could be heard only by the court which comprises a judge and jury. Mr. Mullin contended that His Honor, sitting without a jury, was not the court within the meaning of the act. E. S. Ritchie is for the respondent.

His Honor took the view of Mr. Mullin and accordingly postponed the hearing until the next term of the court.

The court adjourned sine die. The non jury cases will be taken up in chambers.
