PEOPLE OF NORTH SAANICH PETITION FOR RURAL DELIVERY

Had the Choice of a Post Office in North Saanich or a Rural Delivery From Sidney and Decided to Take the Latter As Being the Greatest Advantage.

North Saanich, and the west coast of the peninsula, including Deep Cove and Union Bay, in the past have not had the post office facilities that perhaps they were entitled to, and as a result have been forced to make the journey to Sidney for their mail. This was very inconvenient to a great many of the residents, and after a canvas of the district it was decided to petition the authorities and ask them to establish a rural mail delivery from Sidney, covering all the main roads in the districts of North Saanich, Deep Cove and Union Bay. Their petition was accepted by the department and an official notice was sent out some time ago giving the information that a rural delivery route would be established on September 15, and the postmaster at Sidney was instructed to procure the names of those desiring boxes.

Over thirty of the residents have already handed in their names and paid the three dollars for the putting up of the boxes in front of their residences. This fee, the only one charged by the department, is for the purpose of covering the expense of installing the same.

Mr. James McNaught has entered into a contract with the government to carry and deliver the mail on this route every morning, and will leave the Sidney office for the first time next Monday at 11 o'clock, and every morning, except Sunday, thereafter.

THE ROUTE

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings after leaving the Sidney office he will proceed down Beacon avenue to the East road, then south to Breed's Cross road, and down that road to its junction with the West road, following this road to Union Bay.

From there he will proceed to the junction of the East and West roads, near Deep Cove, and will then follow the East road back to Sidney, a distance of approximately twelve miles. On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday this route will be reversed, giving all the same advantages as to early delivery.

Mr. McNaught will carry with him on all trips a full supply of stamps, money orders and other necessities. In fact, it is the aim of the department to make the rural delivery as near as possible a travelling post office. To obtain a postal note or money order from him, all that is necessary to do is to give him the money, for which amount he will give a receipt, and the following morning he will deliver the order asked for. It is also part of Mr. McNaught's duty to collect all mail found in the boxes and deliver it at the Sidney post office in time for the outgoing mail at 3.30 o'clock.

The postmaster wishes it to become generally known that it is necessary for all letters addressed to people on this route to bear a two-cent stamp. Letters bearing only one cent will not be sent out. This extra cent is the only revenue derived from any rural delivery and must be strictly adhered to.

The following is the list of those who have already procured boxes:

J. J. Blackman, W. M. Townner, F. A. Williams, F. W. Webber, Geo. Clark, A. Thornton, A. Reddings, J. B. Reddings,

J. T. Reddings, R. S. Griffin, P. R. Wilkin-son, Marshall Harman, R. G. Kennedy, W. McIlmoyl, H. Musgrave, W. A. Stewart, F. W. Sproule, A. Jones, Miss D. L. Exely, Alex. McDonald, M. Hewett, N. Copeland, J. Emery, L. Brethour, T. McLean, J. R. Davis, J. A. John, H. Logan, W. R. Armstrong, Miss Houghton.

SAANICHTON AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY'S ANNUAL SHOW

October 3rd and 4th are Dates Selected
By the Management. Other News
Items of Interest

Mr. Edgar John having resigned the secretaryship of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, Mr. H. P. Allburry has taken his place, and this society will hold their annual show on October 3rd and 4th. The prize list is now in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution in a few days. The V. & S. Railway company have given $25 towards the prize list of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society. The B.C.E.R. have also promised something.

Mr. Crawford, after enduring torments of the dust fiend, the automobile, has taken to oiling the road near his store.

Mrs. Christien, wife of Captain Christien of the whaler Brown, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. French, of Keating, aged 32 years, died at the St. Joseph's hospital on August 8.

Mr. J. Walker is recovering from ptomaine poisoning.

The new school house is now opened. The two acres of land on which it is built cost $1200 and the building at least $2000, whilst the school house only recently erected is abandoned except for one day in the week when it will be utilized as a manual training school and the other building alongside it will remain unused absolutely. Surely this is wanton waste of money. Is it not possible for the trustees to invent some means of utilising these two buildings erected at great cost. Here we have no library, and no public place, except for school children, to study. The bar of the Prairie tavern is the only educational institution open for the young men of Saanichton. At small expense a small library of standard works could be installed and the clergy of the various districts might be induced to enlighten us with a lecture once a week during winter. Such an institution would raise the tone of the whole district. Perhaps the "Ladies' Guild" could assist in this; they have done wonders in improving the church buildings, but all religion has relation to life, and there is such a thing as ecclesiastical. An educational institute would increase the value of property and in a thousand ways improve our social conditions.

Mr. H. Allburry has placed his office adjoining the B.C. Electric Saanichton station on sale and is about to leave Saanichton. He is recovering from an accident.

Committee Extends Thanks

The committee that handled the athletic meet on August 30th, wish to take this opportunity of thanking the following very generous contributors to the prize list: Victoria Phoenix Brewing Co., Silver Spring Brewing Co., Harvey & Briggs, Duncan and Grey, Ridiger & Janion, D. Colony Farm Stock at Provincial Exhibition

New Westminster, B.C., September 9—A feature of the provincial exhibition which will be held in New Westminster from September 30 until October 4, inclusive will be the exhibit of stock from the Provincial Farm Colony at Mount Coquitlam.

These fine specimens of thoroughbreds, which have been gathered together at an expense of thousands of dollars including clydesdales, shires and hackneys, and some of the best of the exceedingly fine holstein cows, will be on exhibition only and will not enter any of the contests.

Dr. C. E. Doherty, under whose auspices the stock has been obtained has decided to enter the animals for competition only at shows outside the province and they will be seen at the International Stock Show in Detroit in November and December.

CANADIAN NORTHERN BEGIN OPERATIONS AT SAANICHTON

A Small Army of Men Go Into Camp and Begin Work on Right of Way Near That Town

On Monday of this week the people of the neighboring town of Saanichton were very much surprised when there appeared in their midst a large body of men, numbering between eighty and one hundred, with all the necessary equipment for a large camp. On inquiry it was learned from the foreman of the gang that they were the first contingent to begin work on the new road bed of the Canadian Northern railway on the Peninsula. Some little difficulty was experienced in selecting a suitable camping ground, as in all probability the camp will remain on the one location for several months, and it was necessary to choose a place that would be comparatively dry during the rainy season. The Tsuattg Indian Reservation, close to Saanichton, was deemed the most suitable on account of its close proximity to the right of way.

Mr. McDonald is the sub-contractor for this particular part of the road and it is his intention to work both north and south with two separate gangs of men in order to rush the line along as quickly as possible.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvert wish to thank their friends for the many beautiful floral tributes and kind words of sympathy extended to them during their recent bereavement in the loss of their infant daughter, Winnifred May.

SHOOTING SEASON OPENS ON SEPT. 15—GET YOUR LICENSE

For the Convenience of Local Nimrods the Provincial Game Warden Has Appointed Mr. J. J. White, of the Sidney Trading Company, Issuer For This District

The fact that a license is a necessary part of the equipment for the opening of the shooting season, is now a generally recognized fact, but there are always a few of the lovers of this sport in every locality who are not conversant with the law in regard to hunting during the open season. For the benefit of all we publish below a copy of the notice received by Mr. J. J. White on his recent appointment as issuer of hunting licenses for this district, from Mr. A. Bryan Williams J. P., the Provincial Game Warden.

All residents of the province of British Columbia who wish to carry firearms, to trap, or act as guides must first obtain a license.

The following are the fees to be charged: ORDINARY LICENSE, $2.00. This license only permits the holder to hunt birds and deer (but not moose, wapiti, and caribou). GENERAL LICENSE, $5.00. This license permits the holder to hunt birds and all big game.

SPECIAL LICENSE, $10.00. This license permits the holder to hunt birds, all big game, and also to trap.

GUIDE LICENSE, $5.00. This license only allows the holder to act as a guide.

All licenses are issued subject to the provisions of the "Game Act," and expire on March 31st of each year.

Farmers must have licenses. The "Ordinary License," will, however, be issued to them free of charge, but only holds good on the land on which they reside, a description of which must be on the back of the license.

Prospectors must have licenses. The "Ordinary License," will, however, be issued to them free of charge, but only to hold good during the open season, and while they are actually engaged in prospecting.

Indians are exempt from all licenses. The Canadian Militia are exempt while on duty.

Licences can be obtained from the Provincial Game Warden, any deputy Game Warden, or Government Agent, or or other persons hereafter authorized to issue same.

Any resident can obtain a license by sending the necessary fee, which must be accompanied by proof of his being a resident (qualification is, being actually domiciled and in actual residence in the province for six months.)

Farmers applying by letter must give the number of acres and a description of their land.

Prospectors applying by letter must give the number of their miner's license, date of issue, and by whom issued.

Licence will not be issued to boys under 16 years of age unless at the request of a parent or guardian, who must undertake that the boy will only carry firearms under his supervision, or that of some responsible license-holder.

Pump or repeating shot-guns: The use of automatic guns is strictly prohibited. Pump or repeating guns must not have magazines capable of holding more than one cartridge.

Pit-lamps: It is illegal for a person to have in his possession headlights and firearms between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise.

Dogs: It is unlawful to allow dogs to run deer at any time or to hunt birds between April 15th and August 1st.

Prohibition of shooting in vicinity of Vancouver and Victoria. Further limitations of shooting on salt-water in the vicinity of Vancouver and Victoria have been made. See "Game Act," or inquire for particulars.

SIDNEY MAN HONORED BY MEMBERS OF ASSOCIATION

At A Meeting Held In Vancouver by Veterans of the Royal North-West Mounted Police

Mr. S. A. Kelly returned on Monday from Vancouver where he had been attending the annual general meeting of Royal North-West Mounted Police Veterans Association. Captain McIlree and Mr. Kelly were appointed delegates from the Victoria division. A very large and enthusiastic meeting was held and many matters of importance were dealt with. The original officers were unanimously re-elected and S. A. Kelly was added to the headquarters executive with rank of Inspector. The association is growing very fast, divisions being in the process of formation in most of the larger cities and in London, England.

MANGELS FOR POULTRY.

A Cheap Food to Grow Where There is Room.

In the production of mangels as a poultry food, very small areas, or comparatively large ones, show a decided profit when given over to the culture of these beets. They have proved to be one of the best and one of the most popular of the roots used as poultry food, because of the ease of growth and of their very heavy yielding qualities. They grow to immense size, and will produce a good many tons of roots per acre on good soil, are easily stored with little expense, and are highly relished as a part of the daily ration throughout the winter months.

It is desirable to grow as nearly as possible straight, smooth roots, free from side branches, and in order to produce these the soil must be plowed deeply and carefully fertilized, and harrowed or disced, until the surface is finely pulverized and even. Varying conditions of soil and culture will produce such a vast difference in results that it is difficult to give any set rules as to distances and depths of planting, but ordinarily they should be sown in rows two feet to two and a half feet apart, and about three-quarters of an inch in depth, and when well started should be thinned to six inches or eight inches apart.

Mangels are normally high in carbo-hydrates and can be safely fed in quite large quantities, but require with them a grain or other food comparatively rich in protein. They aid greatly in keeping the flock in condition during the months of close housing. We cut the mangels lengthwise in halves, and hang them on large nails along the sides of the pens and the hens will eat the entire inside down to the rinds. Another winter we shall try them for ducks, first running them through a root cutter, shredding them and then mix with ground feed.

It is not advisable to gather the roots until weather conditions make it necessary. They may be stored in any cool, dry cellar or buried in hills the same as potatoes.

ONE DRAWBACK.

Harry Lauder told an amusing story the other day of two Glasgow women who met in the street and began to discuss the domestic affairs of a newly-married couple.

"Aye, Mrs. McTavish," said one, "so Jeannie's got mairriet!"

"She has that, Mrs. McAlpine," replied the other.

"An' how's she gettin' on?" the first woman wanted to know.

"Oh, no sae bad at all," was the reply. "There's only one thing the matter. She thinks she could hae got a better man! But, then, there's aye something!"

There is every prospect of a merry Christmas this winter. Mrs. Pankhurst announces her intention to make a lecture tour through Canada.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER BOX

Sidney B.C., Sept. 10, 1913.

To the Editor, "Sidney Review."

Sir.—Your issue of last week contains a notice to the effect that the North Saanich Hydropathic Co., Ltd., intend to apply for a license for the sale of intoxicating liquors. It is pointed out in another column that this license is for the convenience of the guests at the Hydro, and it is inferred, if not actually stated, that the other residents in North Saanich will not be affected thereby.

I have no doubt, Sir, that the intending applicants are acting in all sincerity when they make this statement, but there is a danger against which we, as residents, must be on our guard, and see that we are not taken unawares.

According to the act under which application is to be made, before a licence can be applied for, a bar must be fitted into the premises and should the licence be granted, the management have no power to refuse to serve outside customers when and if the demand be made. The result might, and probably would be, the establishing of another hotel.

Do the residents think that another place where intoxicating liquors can be obtained is necessary or desirable in this district? If so, there is no need to oppose

Do the residents think that another place where intoxicating liquors can be obtained is necessary or desirable in this district? If so, there is no need to oppose the application. But if it is thought that drinking should not be allowed to grow, but kept within the limits of the present time, it would be advisable, while wishing every success to the Hydropathic Co., to oppose this application as strongly as possible.

Thanking you in anticipation that this letter will be inserted in the next issue of your paper, Saanichon News.

We have to record three more victims of ptomaine poisoning. Miss Jessie McKenzie, Miss Ethel Morris and Miss B. Morris. These young ladies were all in Victoria when attacked by the deadly ptomaine. This makes the fourth victim. Mrs. J. Walker was at Keating when she was attacked. Each one suffered severely but all are now convalescent.

Scene—Victoria, Government street, near Parliament buildings. A slight shower makes the road wet. One team of horses is tugging desperately on feet and knees but the load refuses to budge whilst men pry on spokes. A few feet further on and another two horse team having become played out is waiting to gain heart for another struggle.

Visions of the Saanich roads in the future—Well, is it not worth wasting time to enact the scene when the roads will have been paved. Taxpayers put your hands in your pockets for after paving your roads other roads will have to be built where there is the slightest grade. The joy of the happy proprietor will be great in proportion to the misery of the teamster. The horse must go. Why not, now the council is in for half a million dollars, go in for a municipally owned motor service.

If Victoria could have been smart enough her tram lines would have been paying her taxes. Perhaps South Saanich might learn from her experience and and try a cheap transit for the benefit of all.

Sannichon is becoming noted for its floral productions. Mr. R. F. Baily has been sending some of his beautiful Gladioli to the Carnegie Library, and he was told by the librarian, Miss Stewart, that very few persons had entered the library without admiring them.

Better Babies Contest at Provincial Exhibition.

New Westminster, B.C., Sept. 9.—Not an old fashioned beauty show but a contest of correct proportions, fine human mechanism and intelligence.

This is the way the better babies contest is described and that this feature of the provincial exhibition, which will be held in New Westminster from September 30 until October 4, inclusive, will be a success is assured by the fact that it is being held under the auspices of the Local Council of Women.

A committee has been appointed of which Mrs. Van Liew, 108, Oakland street, New Westminster, is chairman and arrangement are now being made for the contest.

Entries must be made before 2 p.m. of Friday, October 3, and judging will commence one hour afterwards.

Obituary.

The funeral took place last Saturday, Sept. 6, of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Calvert, aged 11 months, to the Holy Trinity cemetery. The pall bearers were chosen from the members of the Good Templars lodge, of Sidney, and were Messrs. Alex. McDonald, Sandy McDonald, Nelson Fralick and Rev. Jas. Hicks. The burial ceremony was conducted by the Rev. T. C. Des Barres, both at the house and graveside, and was attended by a very large crowd of sympathetic friends and the floral tributes were very numerous. Mr. and Mrs. Calvert have the sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement, as this was their only child.

The Winter Game of Football

Baseball and lacrosse have come and gone and once again the football season is with us. Soon many of those interested in outdoor sports will be seen in the playing fields pursuing the leathern sphere vigorously and well. Reports from eastern newspapers seem to indicate that a wave of enthusiasm for this fine game is sweeping over the middle and eastern provinces, though as yet only the preceding ripples have reached us here in far west, but our time is yet to come. The reason given for this is that the followers of football there have perfected a remarkably fine organization and are working hard in an endeavour to make football the national game of Canada.

In the old country it is a common sight to see five, ten or even twenty thousand people at a single match, many of them having travelled hundreds of miles to encourage and support their favorite team. The game there possesses such a fascination for its followers that whether it rains, hails or shines yet still they come.

After Big Game.

A party of Sidney sportsmen left on a combined fishing, hunting, and cruising trip to the west coast Tuesday afternoon. They expect to bring back all the big game on the northern part of the mainland as well as discovering three or four gold mines. This very optimistic bunch consisted of W. H. Warne, Jack Roberts, Billy Pollard, Geo Breteour and W. Webb. It is understood that the work in connection with the trip will be divided up as follows: Geo. Brethour, skipper; W. H. Warne, chief steward; Jack Roberts, game keeper; Billy Pollard, chief harpoonist; and Willie Webb, cookee. The Review wishes them all kinds of good luck.

STREET LIGHTS WILL BE INSTALLED VERY SHORTLY

The Contract for Five Lights on Beacon
Were Signed This Week by Board of Trade Committee.

The regular meeting of the Sidney Board of Trade was held in Berquist's hall on Tuesday evening last. In the absence of the president, Mr. J. B. Kelly, Mr. J. J. White was requested to take the chair on the motion of Messrs. H. A. McKillican and G. A. Cochran. Secretary Gordon Dixon, being absent on a holiday, his position was filled by Mr. S. Kelly, and the meeting proceeded to take up the work in hand. The only question of importance that came up for discussion was the lighting of the streets and considerable discussion took place over the report of Mr. F. A. Murray, chairman of the street lighting committee appointed by the board several weeks ago.

In opening negotiations with the B. C. Electric Co., the Board of Trade asked for quotations on five lights, one at the corner of each street from First to Fifth, for a term of one year. In reply the company quoted the cost of installation at $75, and stated that they would supply current for these five lamps from dusk to midnight throughout the year for $75 more, making in all $150. The Board of accepted this proposition and appointed a committee of two, Messrs. F. A. Murray and D. M. Evans, to canvas the business men and citizens for subscriptions to make up this amount.

In making their canvas the committee approached Mr. A. M. Ego, proprietor of the pool room on the corner of Bazan Ave and Second St., and that gentleman told them he did not feel inclined to contribute to the lighting of Beacon avenue, but would guarantee the funds necessary to put up an extra light on the corner of Second street and Bazan avenue. The committee saw no objection to this and both parties went ahead and collected funds to establish the six lights, Mr. Ego turning his money over to the committee on Monday last. Mr. Murray accordingly reported in favor of installing this number.

Messrs. F. North and H. A. McKillican took objection to the clause in the report covering the sixth light, stating as their reason that the board had only made arrangements with the company for five lights, and that the board should not place itself in the position of incurring further liability by signing the contract for the installation of six lights, and moved an amendment to this effect.

A lengthy discussion followed, some of the members taking the ground that as long as the parties desiring the light were prepared to finance, as they were in this instance, and had already contributed enough money to keep the light going a full year, that the board had a perfect right to consider the proposition in connection with the other lights. A vote was accordingly called for, Mr. Murray's recommendation being defeated and the amendment carried by a fair majority.

This means that it will now be necessary for Mr. Ego and the parties who subscribed for the light on the corner of Second street and Bazan avenue to make their own contract with the B.C. Electric and also any other parties in other parts of this town who desire this nightly accommodation.

A communication was received from Mr. Van Sant informing the board that he had submitted the proposition of the railway company installing a light at their station to the superintendent of the

V. & S., and that gentleman made the statement that in view of the fact that the money stringency still existed, and the poor prospects of Sidney prospering in the near future, he did not think it advisable to spend the sum of $30 to show the people of this town that the company had a station here after nightfall.

Another communication that brought a smile to the faces of the members was received from the department of public works in answer to the board's request that the department send a capable engineer to go over the roads in question with a committee of the Board of Trade. We have not got a copy of the letter, but it read something like this: "Secretary, Board of Trade, Dear Sir: We have instructed our engineer to proceed to Sidney and go over the roads in question with the road superintendent."

Just so.

The question of establishing a pound in Sidney was brought to the board's attention by a communication from the department asking that names be submitted for the office of poundkeeper. J. R. Bremman's name was the only one placed before the members and the secretary was accordingly instructed to forward it to the department.

The matter of asking the post office department to establish a mail box on the V. & S. gasoline-electric car was brought up and a committee of two, Messrs. G. A. Cochran and S. A. Kelly, was appointed to interview the postal authorities.

No other business offering the meeting adjourned.

The Gladiolus

In all the floral world there is none to equal the variety of this enchanting flower which is too little known. The best specimens are simply delightful; dazzling scarlets, classical greys, beautiful blues, and yellows and whites some delicately frosted and with shades and tints bewitchingly beautiful.

Belgium claims the production of the first variety of merit, Gandarensis, in 1841. Victor Semonil claims the next for France a few years later, and Max Leichtein of Germany, comes next. He sold out the result of ten years' work to Child's of New York, in 1892. Then came Groff, the Canadian banker, and probably he leads the world today. But Kelway, of England, has produced some marvelously fine varieties and some of the French are beautiful.

In 1908, Primalinus, a new species from the Victoria Falls, where the waters of the Zambesi river fall perpendicularly 400 feet, was introduced by J. M. Thorburn. This variety is hooded as if to shelter the pollen from the mists and sprays of these gigantic falls.

The Gladiolus is easy to grow from bulbs, or more correctly corms, and not the rose itself, the queen of flowers, can vie with it in diversity.

NEW RECORDS ARE MADE IN EGG LAYING CONTEST

Association Wins Five Prizes at Edmonton Exhibition on Eggs from Different Pens in Contest

The monthly report of the second international egg-laying contest, held under the supervision of the provincial department of agriculture, at the Exhibition grounds, Victoria, has just been sent out. Mr. J. R. Terry, director of the contest, makes the following statement in regard to the different pens:—

Very fair weather has been experienced during the month; rain fell on two occasions only. For the first time during the contest Class II have produced more eggs during the month than Class I. Considering the hot weather and this being the natural moulting season, the month's yield must be considered good.

This month's record shows the leaders in Class I. to be so near to each other that the finish is still in doubt. Any pen in the first six may change places before October 2nd. The present competition has been remarkable for the way in which the leading pens have fought for the mastery all the time. In looking over reports of other contests it will be noticed that the leading pens have been always a long way in the lead and a great difference shown in the totals. During this contest, pens have been able to pass each other frequently by producing a very small number of eggs in excess. In Class I. it may be noticed that among the first six there are three different strains of Leghorns, all of which are excellent. Pen 17, at the eleventh hour, takes a rest (3 of the birds are practically bare of feathers), and allows Pen 4 to occupy second place. Pen 5 appears to be challenging Pen 15 for premier position. Pen 14 has to share sixth position with Pen 1 (Anconas). Pen 6 moves up two places.

Top Scorers—Pens 4 (110), 1 (106), 8 (105), 12 (101), 6 (97), 16 and 18 (95 each), 15 (93).

Moulters—Pens 3, 6, 7, 14, 15 (all slightly); 16, 17, 19 (heavy).

Broodies—Pens 2, 3, 4, 7, 10 and 20 (1 bird each).

In Class II., pens 32 and 39 still remain in the lead, with pen 31 lessening the distance almost daily between second and third, and incidentally increasing the lead over fourth. Their performance of 124 eggs during the month helped them considerably. Pens 22, 23, 30 and 40 also moved up. It is remarkable that the first four places in this class were up till last month held by four different breeds. Pen 26 laid 16 eggs during last 3 days of month, with only five birds, six eggs being laid in one day.

Top scorers—Pens 31 (124), 22 (118), 30 (109), 24 and 39 (104 each), 27 (103), 25 (102), 28 (100).

Moulters—Pens 21, 25, 26, 27, 31, 35, 36, 37 and 38 (all slightly).

Broodies—Pens 31, 32, 36 and 39 (1 each); 22, 23, 25 and 35 (2 each); 21, 26, 27, 20 and 37 (3 each); 28, 29, 33, 34 (4 each); 24 and 38 (5 each).

In connection with the B. C. Poultry Association's exhibit at Edmonton of young stock, 6 exhibits of eggs were also made. In white eggs, first prize was won by eggs laid by pen 8, together with eggs secured from a member. In tinted eggs, first prize was secured by 12 eggs laid by pen 26 and weighed 29 oz. to the dozen. In brown eggs, 3rd prize was won by a composite dozen, pens 32, 31 and 37's product being represented. Five prizes were won with the 6 exhibits—white 1st and 2nd; tinted, 1st; brown, 2nd and 3rd. Total eggs to date—Class I., 17,982; Class II., 14,503. Grand total, 32,485. Eggs for month, 3,489. Class I., 1,674; Class II., 1,815. Average egg production per bird, 135.3; leading pen, per bird, 175.6; lowest, per bird, 71.

LOST BY A NECK.

A man once was talking about hard luck and his friend was listening with a sour expression. "Why, you don't know what hard luck is!" said the friend. "I have always had it. When I was a kid there was such a bunch of kids in the family that there had to be three tables at meal times and I always got the third one."

"What's hard about that?" snapped the other.

"Why," said his friend, "it was fifteen years before I ever knew a chicken had anything but a neck."

WALKS AND DRIVEWAYS.

Often Overrun With Weeds.—How to Rid by Spraying.

It is a rather tedious process and hard on tools to remove weeds or grass from walks by hoeing or cutting them out between the stones, but there are a number of chemicals or sprays which can be used with good success.

1. Salt.—Take 1 lb. of salt to 1 gallon of water, boil and apply while still hot; or dry salt may be used and then watered in, but this will color the walk more or less and is not quite so effective.

2. Crude Carbolic Acid.—½ oz. of the liquid to 1 gallon of water, will also destroy ants.

3. Sulphuric Acid.—4-5 oz. of the acid to 1 gallon of water. Best applied with a wooden pail.

4. Take 1 lb. of powdered arsenic to 3 gallons of cold water, boil and stir well. Then add 7 gallons of cold water with 2 lbs. of sal soda.

5. Lime and Sulphur.—10 gallons of water, 20 lbs. of quicklime and 2 lbs. of flowers of sulphur are boiled in an iron vessel. After settling, the clear part is dipped off and used when needed.

There is also a number of commercial weed killers in the market which can be bought at seed stores. Applications of weed destroyers should best be made on a hot day or night after a rain, with a watering pot (sprinkler), and one good application is usually sufficient for the season. As the most of them contain poison, either arsenic or acids, great care should be exercised in handling them.—Julius Erdman, Colorado Agricultural College.

THE DIVINING ROD.

Hitherto a great drawback to the successful settlement of many of the numerous islands in the Gulf of Georgia, has been the absence of a sufficient supply of fresh water for domestic and agricultural purposes.

During the last few months, however, borings have demonstrated that there are in many places underground reservoirs and streams of great magnitude, which, when tapped, at once solve this vexed question.

One notable instance occurred on James Island, opposite Sidney, where the Canadian Explosives, Ltd., intend to erect extensive works. Mr. W. P. Owen, the well known boring contractor of Vancouver, assisted by Mr. A. H. Shouse, was successful in locating and tapping a flow of water on the sea shore, below sea water level, which in a pumping test, during four full days, gave an approximate supply of 100,000 gallons per day of 24 hours.

Another instance is the well just completed for Mr. C. J. Taylor, the popular proprietor of the Ganges hotel at Ganges Harbor, on Salt Spring Island. Here a good supply of pure, cold water was found in sandstone rock, so strong that although 20,000 gallons were pumped out during the first day, not the least abatement could be noticed in the flow.

These borings were not put down in a haphazard way or in any old place, but their locations were carefully determined upon by Mr. A. H. Shouse by means of the much ridiculed divining rod. We may divide the world into three classes. Those who believe in this method, those who are sitting on the fence and those who pooh-pooh this method as simply nonsense. But when a man like Mr. Shouse, who has followed this practice for a great number of years, can truthfully testify that out of hundreds of locations he has met with only a very few failures, the most sceptical must admit that there is something in this method, not capable perhaps of a scientific explanation, but at least practically demonstrated.

Anyhow, where it was impossible, water was struck and the owners of the wells are delighted, as with them the water question was as acute as the cost of high living.

A New York girl committed suicide because she could not get work, and yet on that very day the paper that chronicled her death carried sixteen columns of advertisements of "Female Help Wanted." Lack of work is not what troubles most people, but lack of inclination to do the work that is offered.

SELL THE MOULTING HENS.

Many May Be Disposed of Now to Make Room.

Every poultry keeper has more or less hens, which for some reason he decides not to keep over for the following year. The following instructions regarding the disposal of such hens, written by W. E. Vaplon, of the Colorado Agricultural College, is particularly useful in this connection:

"One hundred days from June 1, your hens will have completed their season's work. If the hens would stop laying gradually and evenly, one by one, you would have one hen less laying each day; in a week you would be boarding seven loafers, in two weeks fourteen, etc. In a few weeks the eggs from the flock will not pay the feed bill, and for the remainder of the season the flock will be a dead loss.

"Prices now are higher than they will be 100 days from now when plenty of young stuff will come on the market; does it not seem the part of wisdom to sell the hens as they get through business? It is not likely that the hens older than one year will come back to the lay, but do you know the old ones? Or do you know the young ones that are worth keeping through several months of idleness?

"Another advantage of culling now is the added house room the young stock will have, and house room on the farm is always scarce. No business can support loafers, and every thing on the place not laying eggs (this includes roosters), or not putting on flesh, the young, growing stock, should go to market, week by week."

Straight Talk.

The Fernie Board of Trade is the only board of trade worthy of the name in Canada. By comparison all others are but spurious imitations of the real thing. The Fernie institution works under the direct aegis and authority of the municipality and does things with a boldness that is positively refreshing. It is obvious that there are no pikers on the Fernie board. The bulletin they got out is absolutely fearless and absolutely truthful in its statements, all of which are carefully verified before publication.—Calgary Eye Opener.

Writing English.

Edward Bok, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, writing in a recent number of The Outlook, complains that the American colleges are not teaching young men and women even how to write a letter. The indictment would be almost as true of Canadian educational institutions as of American. The elementary schools give less attention to English composition than to any other subject, and this applies to both public and private schools. If there is anything that a Canadian child should learn it is to write good English. It is the most elementary of all subjects except reading. Yet how many boys or girls can write a decent letter or essay a month after passing the High School entrance examinations.—The News.

The Business Men

Finch's barber shop on Beacon avenue is the place to get a hair-cut or a shave. Everything is up-to-date in this popular torsorial parlor.

Mr. H. Finch, the popular barber on Beacon avenue, has been appointed agent for the Standard Steam Laundry, of Victoria. This laundry does excellent work and anyone desiring to patronize it can do so by leaving their parcels of laundry at his shop in time for Thursday morning's train.

If you want comfort, buy a "Resteezie," from the Sidney Furniture Company. They have blankets direct from the mills, good and cheap. Feather pillows from one dollar a pair to six-fifty. Bedstead springs and mattresses from ten to twenty-five dollars complete. Dressers and stands at city prices. Give your orders for air-tight heaters. They will soon be needed.

The University of British Columbia has opened offices in the Carter-Cotton Building Vancouver. The president will superintend the organization from that place until permanent buildings are erected at Point Grey.

A FEW REASONS WHY

Your Name should appear on the Subscription List of your Local Paper :

The first, and probably the most important is the fact that a Subscription List is to a newspaper what a stock of dry goods is to a store keeper, his principal asset. It is by far the greatest asset a newspaper can possibly have and without a good, large, well paid up Subscription List, the manager of a newspaper cannot appeal to the advertisers.

The second reason is almost of as much importance as the first. If you are a property owner in a certain district, and feel that you would like that district to advance as rapidly as possible, do you not owe to the local newspaper something in return for the work it is doing for one and all in its weekly or daily publication?

The third reason is a question. Did you ever see or know of a town that ever amounted to anything, that did not have a newspaper?

There are a great many more reasons why you should come forward and support the local paper, and we will give some of them next week. In the meantime kindly remember that the Review, postpaid to your address for one year will cost you the small sum of $1.50 Please send your name at once.

SOME CURIOUS PROBLEMS THAT HAVE WORRIED MANY PEOPLE

A court of enquiry has just decided that it can make little of the tragic puzzle of the Mountsward, a big steamer which left Baltimore some months ago to cross the Atlantic and was never seen again.

As the pilot was going ashore outside Baltimore he carried with him a letter the captain had asked him to post to his wife in England. This letter contained the ominous sentence, "Goodness knows if we shall ever see England again."

But why they did not nobody will ever know.

The most curious of all sea stories, in fact, one of the most amazing mysteries in history, is that of the ship Marie Celeste, which sailed some years ago from Boston to the Mediterranean with thirteen souls on board, including the captain's wife and little daughter.

Just when she was beginning to be regarded as missing she was found a hundred miles west of Gibraltar. The sea was calm as a mill-pond. Every sail was set, but there was not a living soul on board. She was found to be perfectly water-tight and with ample stores. The log showed that she had met excellent weather all the way across.

In the cabin a half-finished meal was on the table, with the chairs slightly pushed back. The captain had evidently just knocked the top off a boiled egg when he suddenly left the room forever.

A nightgown for the little girl was on the sewing machine, with the sleeve half-sewn. The crew's quarters showed no sign of a struggle, either, only a departure so swift that everybody had left the ship in the clothes he stood up in.

The problem has been the talk of deep sea sailors ever since. What possible situation or incident could have made those on board the Marie Celeste leave her so suddenly? And how did they leave at all? For all the boats were still on board. The captain's watch was still ticking, just above his bunk, so that the tragedy, whatever it was, must have happened just before the ship was found.

Piracy cannot be the explanation, for the ship's money box was found to be untouched, as well as the valuable cargo, jewelry and loose cash, which were lying about. There was no starvation. There cannot have been any mysterious infectious disease, for the medicine chest had been hardly touched at all. Besides, the cabin tables showed that all the disappearances must have been simultaneous.

The idea that some member of the crew developed homicidal mania and hurled the others overboard and then committed suicide is also out of the question, for there were no signs of violence anywhere. The ship, too, was as tight as a barrel when found and with not a rope out of place.

At first it was rumored that blood had been found on the ship's side and on the captain's cutless. But why anyone who used a cutless should hang it up again neatly on its nail was not explained. And scientific evidence proved the stains to be only rust.

Another strange case was that of the Strathmore, a steamer which was mourned as missing for months. She and her crew of 38, with 15 passengers, had vanished. Memorial services were held for them. A year later half of them turned up. They were found on a desert island in the Straits of Magellan, where they had been cast up with nothing but a few knives and forks and some parasols. These parasols, curious as it may seem, came in very handy. The ironwork was used as needles for sewing skins into clothes.

But when old salts talk of the Strathmore case they shake their heads gravely over the name, as they do over the fact that the people on the Marie Celeste numbered 13. A Strathmore is regarded as doomed from the day she leaves the shipbuilding yard. There have been at least six steamers of that name and every one has had a career of repeated disaster ending in shipwreck.

NEW USE FOR DIVINING ROD.

Efforts to Find by Means of It Treasure at Bottom of Sea.

Paris, Aug. 21.—The divining rod, the efficiency of which has been certified by the Academy of Sciences, is now being put to a more severe test than ever.

At the Straits of Antioche, off La Rochelle, a diver is scouring the ocean bed under the guidance of a man who claims to be able to locate sunken gold with his wand of hazel.

They are searching for a brig which sank at this spot over 90 years ago with a cargo of gold ingots and diamonds and other precious stones to the value of several million dollars.

The efforts of the expedition, which is financed by a syndicate are followed with great interest by the public.

INDIAN SUMMER.

After the death of the flowers,
And before they are buried in snow,
There comes a festival season.

When Nature is all aglow—
Some spirit akin to the rainbow
Then borrows its magical dyes,
And mantes the far-spreading landscape
In hues that bewilder the eyes.

There's a luminous mist on the mountain,
A light azure haze in the air,
As if angels while Heavenward soaring
Had left their white robes floating there.
The breeze is so soft, so caressing,
It seems a new token of love,
And floats to the heart like a blessing
From some happy spirit above.

O beautiful Indian Summer!
Thou favorite child of the year!
Thou darling whom Nature enriches
With gifts and adornments so dear!
How fain would we woo thee to linger
On mountain and meadow a while,
For our hearts, like the sweet haunts of Nature,
Rejoice and grow young in thy smile.

Not alone on the sad fields of autumn
Dost thou a lost brightness restore,
But thou bring'st to a world-weary spirit
Sweet dreams of its childhood once more.
Thy loveliness thrills us with memories
Of all that was brightest and best,
Thy peace and serenity offer
A foretaste of Heavenly rest.

LOCALS and PERSONALS

Has anybody here heard anything about the fire brigade in Sidney?

Mr. Colin Chisholm, of Saanichton, paid Sidney a business visit on Monday last.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kelly paid Victoria a visit on Tuesday of this week, returning to town on Wednesday morning's train.

Some people want to have all sorts of improvements but would pay no taxes. That is impossible. If we want to dance we must pay the piper.

Lord Strathcona's physician has told him that he may live to be a hundred years of age if he will not stop working. Work is the very breath of life.

The football season is now opening and every fine evening a number of enthusiasts may be seen kicking the pigskin on the athletic grounds on Third street.

It seems wonderful that the people of the mining towns on the Island have managed to survive with all the saloons closed. If this sort of thing should continue long something dreadful would be sure to happen.

Mrs. Edward Rudd, accompanied by her daughter Mabel and her baby son, arrived in Sidney last week to join her husband here. Mrs. Rudd made the trip from Liverpool in exactly 11 days. This constitutes a record.

A basket ball team will shortly be organized in town and this favorite sport will help the boys to while away the long winter evenings. It is likely the old hall used last winter will again answer the same purpose this year.

The morning train on Sunday is always crowded with people coming to spend the day in Sidney. If we had a park somewhere near the station it would require a train every hour during the day to accommodate the number of people who would spend Sunday here.

The date set for the Harvest Festival services in the Methodist church is Sunday, October 5. Meanwhile special music has been sent for and is being practised each week. It is hoped that by the date mentioned a choir will be formed as a permanent body.

The golden stream of grain is already flowing east and south from the prairies in exchange for another golden stream that is flowing in. Just a trickle of the latter will be pumped over the mountains to British Columbia and be ferried across to the Island. It will start soon.

Councillor Dunn, of South Saanich, informs the Review that the Bitulithic company, who recently received the contract for the paving of several of the principal roads of that municipality, will operate their rock crushers all winter in order to have on hand enough material to complete the work next summer.

The Presbyterians of Sidney at a meeting held on September 4th decided to hold services here in the near future. Arrangements are now being made for a pastor, and it is expected that the plans will be complete in about two week's time. For the present services will be held in Berquist's small hall.

Mr. J. S. H. Matson of Victoria, has a strike on his hands. The newsboys of Vancouver are refusing to sell the News-Advertiser because the management wants to give them only two papers for five cents instead of three as heretofore. The boys have a union of their own, and they are advertising the fact that the strike is on.

Inspector May paid Sidney several visits this week in connection with the schools here. On Tuesday he met the trustees and discussed the advisability of dividing the present school district into three divisions. In the opinion of the trustees this would be an advantage and if it is done they will be known as Sidney, Deep Cove and West Ward school district. The provincial architect was also present at the meeting to confer with the trustees in regard to the new room to be built on the public school here.

For an after dinner smoke. The Morena cigar.

A large crowd assembled at the North Saanich Methodist Church last Sunday to listen to the discourse by the pastor, Rev. Jas. Hicks. During the service Mr. J. F. Simister sang a solo and the choir assisted in their usual able manner.

Presbyterians and Methodists are joining forces. The union of Manitoba and Wesley Colleges marks a step forward in long discussed question of union. With the educational forces combined it should not be difficult to complete the work.

No matter when you look out on the straits these days you are almost sure to see at least one barge, propelled by a tug and laden with lumber, piles and other material going one way or the other. A good deal of this material is shipped north and south by the mills and other industries in Sidney.

Game Warden Gidley is desirous of correcting the impression that the act passed at the last session of the legislature bars the use of automatic rifles. It is automatic shot-guns, the use of which is prohibited, and not rifles. The distinction is of importance, not only to sportsmen, but to the gun trade.

Dr. Cumming begs to announce to the residents of the district that his original idea of running the North Saanich Hydro-pathic along medical lines will be adhered to, and that no action will be taken looking to the establishment of any hotel license at Resthaven during such time as the policy of the institution remains under his management.

Last week in making the announcement of the winners in the different events at the athletic meet we made a mixup in number 31, 100 yard young ladies' race, under 17. This event should read—1st, Miss M. McKillican, centre table, presented by the Sidney Furniture Co; 2nd, Miss Margaret Simister, pair gloves, presented by the Sidney Trading Co.

Mr. Guy Walker, an old-timer, of Victoria, paid Sidney a visit on Saturday and Sunday of last week. Mr. Walker is very enthusiastic over Sidney and her prospects in the near future, and has a good word to say for the work now being accomplished in the town by the Review. He was one of the first to subscribe for this weekly paper, and never loses an opportunity of telling people he meets about the peninsula and our town in particular.

Captain Buyers' pleasure launch, the "Uvalde," went on the ways at C. F. Williams' boat house on Saturday evening. A new shaft and propeller will be installed and the engine and other parts of the boat will receive a thorough overhauling. A coat of paint will also be applied and when all is finished this splendid little pleasure boat will be in first class shape for almost any kind of weather during fall and winter months.

The gallant Captain Byers proved again his chivalrous and estimable good nature a few days ago and it was his happy privilege to take aboard his launch about a dozen of Sidney's fairest daughters. The occasion was as interesting as it was happy. The sea was favorable and although the sun set ere the trip was completed, the gaiety and good humor was not menaced by any inconvenient sickness. Nor was the appetite of the young ladies impaired by time, although delay was occasioned in embarking. The trip was awarded Miss A. Logan, who successfully competed in the young ladies' race at the Sidney sports.

California said she wanted no Japanese, and these people took her at her word and are leaving the state in large numbers. The fruit farmers are furious, for they cannot get enough people to do their picking, which was formerly done by the people who are leaving. California is learning that you "Can't both have your cake and eat it."

The moving picture show in Berquist's on Saturday evening was attended by quite a large crowd, who thoroughly enjoyed the whole programme. The first film showed many interesting places on the other side of the world. "The Passion Play," an event which takes place annually in Southern Italy, showed some remarkable pictures very distinctly. A feature of the evening was the throwing on the screen several pictures of the militia while in camp here, taken by Mr. Mallander, a local amateur photographer, and were received very favorably by the audience. The manager announces a complete change of films for the performance on Saturday and Tuesday evenings.

Duplicated Some Time

For the past two or three weeks many residents of the town have wondered what the big three-masted ship was doing lying off the coast about a mile and a half, just opposite the wharf of the Sidney Island Brick and Tile Company on Sidney Island. Finally it was learned from the manager of this progressive industry that his company had chartered the big wind-jammer, John C. Potter, to carry a very large shipment of their product up the coast almost to the northern boundary of the province. The shipment is certainly a very large one, in fact, is the largest ever sent out by any industry in and around Sidney, and consists of six hundred thousand bricks, entirely the product of the Sidney Island Brick and Tile Company, and consigned to the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting, and Power Company, of Anyox, British Columbia.

The mining town of Anyox is situated on a beautiful little bay just six miles south of the northern boundary of British Columbia, and is the centre of a very large area of rich minerals. To cope with the rapidly increasing business the Mining and Smelting Company have found it necessary to erect a very large smelter in close proximity to the town, and for this purpose some time ago placed an order with the local brick firm for 600,000 bricks. This order, although very large, will not be sufficient for the purpose required, and it is very likely that on her return the John C. Potter will again be chartered for the purpose of conveying a duplicate of the above order to the same destination.

There are a great many people already located at this progressive little mining town, and the number of men alone on the company's payroll would make a little city by themselves, as it is expected there will be upwards of six thousand men drawing pay envelopes before the first of November.

The ship that will carry this immense load to its northern destination is the John C. Potter, a large three-masted wind-jammer owned by a Victoria firm, and was chosen for this particular job on account of her extra large storing capacity, there being no boilers or other machinery in her hold except the necessary donkey engine used on this class of freighters for loading and unloading purposes. When the loading operations are completed and everything in readiness the tug Amur will throw her towing line aboard and proceed on her long journey north.

The master of the good ship John C. Potter is Captain H. Augustine, who was appointed to this position a little over a month ago, after making a most enviable record for himself as mate on board other large ships plying up and down the coast. He held an officer's commission on board the C. P. R. boats for five years and also served a year on one of the Grand Trunk steamers. While in the latter position and during the brief period his boat was tied up at Vancouver, on the 28th of August, 1912, he was an eyewitness to the attempted suicide of a young lady of the city. The young woman walked out the wharf and deliberately jumped into the water. Without a moment's hesitation the captain doffed his coat and hat and sprang to the rescue. A few stories
