Bold Horse Thieves' Daring Robbery In
Dover

Dr. McFarlane Reports
Two Animals
Missing

Daring horse thieves broke into the stables on the farm belonging to Dr. McFarlane, in Dover, about eight miles out, last night, and stole two very valuable farm horses.

The description of the two animals taken is as follows—Brown Clyde mare, white star on forehead, white hind fetlocks, 1,500 lbs., three years old; black Percheron mare, white wedge on forehead, 1,200 lbs., three years old.

The doctor, who lives on Victoria Avenue, this city, received word of the robbery this afternoon, and promptly notified the county police. Messages giving a description of the stolen animals have been sent to all the surrounding towns and villages.

WHO OWNS THIS STOVE?

Valuable Household Effect
Left on King St.
Sidewalk

Both Rev. Fr. Prudhomme
And Ex-Ald. King
Disown It

The police are at present much puzzled to know what to do with a stove which has been left standing on the sidewalk in front of ex-Ald. James King's hardware store on King street. The stove is a waif in its own way, but nevertheless has considerable history behind it, and though the long, cold evenings will soon be prevalent, no one seems to care to claim ownership to this interesting household effect.

The stove once proudly decorated the showroom of King's hardware, but eventually was purchased by Rev. Fr. R. Prudhomme, of Big Point, who had it installed in his residence. Whether the stove did or did not prove satisfactory has not been learned, but at any rate the stove's next experience was a journey to Chatham in one of Lethbridge's wagons, and it was left on the sidewalk, ownerless and alone, in front of its former home in the hardware store. Rev. Father Prudhomme and ex-Ald. King both disclaim ownership.

As the hardware man has refused to take the stove off the sidewalk, and as such an obstruction is contrary to the city by-laws, the police have written to the reverend gentleman to see if he cannot be induced to remove it.

Meanwhile the stove maintains its vagrant attitude on the King street sidewalk.

HACKETT—BURKE

A happy event took place yesterday afternoon, at the home of Elder Stewart Lamont, Lydian Avenue, when Miss Mary Elizabeth Burke, of Berlin, was united to Mr. John Walter Hackett, a prosperous young farmer of Tilbury East, where they are well and favorably known, and will in the future reside. They left on the evening train for their home amidst the usual congratulations from their many friends.

DIED AT PERTH

Put In Bay, Sept. 5.—The Put In Bay House, one of the leading hotels on this island, was destroyed by fire late Tuesday night, together with most of its contents. The guests saved their belongings.

Great Crowds Will Attend Mr. R. L. Borden's Big Meeting

S. B. Arnold, Secretary of the local Liberal-Conservative Association, has received word that the C. P. R. and the G. T. R. will give reduced rates to all people wishing to come into Chatham next Saturday from all points within a radius of 80 miles.

This reduction has been given on account of the visit of Mr. R. L. Borden, which will be made to this city on that day. These tickets will be good until the following day.

From present appearances, there will be a big crowd in Chatham to hear Mr. Borden, who will make two addresses in the Opera House—one in the afternoon at 2.30 and the other in the evening at eight o'clock. Word has been received from Blenheim, Dresden, Wallaceburg, Tilbury and other towns in the county, to the effect that large deputations are arranging to come in, and there will no doubt be many people turned away. On this account it will be advisable for those who are anxious to secure even standing room to be on hand early.

This is Mr. Borden's first meeting in Ontario during his tour, and it will be a very important one. The speakers he brings with him, and whose names have already been announced, are all men of prominence, so that a great treat is assured all who are fortunate enough to be able to attend.

DR. BRAY IS POPULAR

Medical Journals Give Him
Very Complimentary
Notices

He Will Move to His New Home in Toronto in October

Dr. J. L. Bray returned to Toronto on Monday, where his duties as Medical Registrar in connection with the Fall examinations will occupy his time until about the 7th of October, when he will return to the city for a few days to settle his business affairs before leaving permanently for his new home in Toronto.

The Canadian Practitioner and Review, in commenting on Dr. Bray's appointment, says—

"The new Registrar, Dr. John L. Bray, of Chatham, requires no introduction to the profession of Ontario. No man in the Province is better or more favorably known. He was for many years one of the most prominent and one of the most active members of the council. He has sometimes been what is called a fighter, but he has been the sort of a one that all Britishers respect, that he has ever fought in the open. He deserves credit, moreover, especially for the large amount of constructive work which he has done in matters relating to the status of the profession and the council's curriculum. It was a graceful act on the part of the council to elect him to the new position by a unanimous vote."

The Canadian Journal of Medicine and Surgery says of the appointment—
"Dr. John L. Bray, of Chatham, Ont., has been appointed as Registrar of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Dr. Bray is not by any means a stranger to the profession, being not only well-known throughout Western Ontario, where he has practiced most successfully for many years, but has served several terms as member of the council, and is, therefore, well acquainted with the general business of that body. We welcome Dr. Bray to Toronto, and feel that he will be not only an acquisition to the profession of our city, but carry out his new duties as Registrar of the College in an eminently satisfactory manner."
Dr. Bray graduated from Queen's in 1888, and received not long ago his M.D. in recognition of his long services to the profession.

The Queen's Medical Quarterly says—
"Dr. J. L. Bray, of Chatham, was the unanimous choice of the Council to fill the position of Registrar. No other name was mentioned for the position. Dr. Bray has been the representative of Division No. 1 in the Medical Council for 27 years, has occupied every important office, and knows the workings most thoroughly. We wish him success, comfort, and long life in his new position." Each of these journals also gave flattering notices to Hon. Dr. Lyne, the retiring Registrar, and complimented him most highly on the able manner in which he had conducted his duties while in the position.

"SIS IN NEW YORK"

A fairly large attendance was present at the production of "Sis in New York," at the Brisco Theatre last night. The show appeared to meet with considerable favor from the audience, and took especially well with the young men in the gallery. The specialties were, perhaps, the best feature of the performance, and the two comedians received considerable applause in their several comedy acts. The cast was well up to the mark all through.

C. H. MILLS GOES BACK

Respected Chatham Citizen
Will Return to Berlin
to Reside

Maple City Loses a Man Who Has Been a Source
of Public Benefit

It will be welcome news to the many Berlin friends of Mr. C. H. Mills to learn that he will return to Berlin shortly to again associate himself with local interests. The Berlin Leatherette Company has been organized with a capital stock of $10,000, and the charter has been granted. The gentlemen financially interested have offered the management to Mr. Mills, and he has accepted it. He will be here about the 20th of this month. It is understood that Mr. Jos. Bowers, who was connected with Mr. M. M. Brickner, has disposed of his holdings to several gentlemen who have come into the company.—Berlin News-Record.

What is evidently welcome news to the people of Berlin is certainly welcome news to Chathamites. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mills have made many friends since coming to Chatham a short time ago, and it is with the deepest regret that these will learn of their departure to their former home.

It is understood that Mr. Mills has disposed of his interests in the firm of Thomas Stone and Son, to his partner, Mr. Spencer Stone. Mr. Mills has shown since he came to this city, that he is the kind of a citizen that progressive cities need. He is the secretary of the Chatham Board of Trade, and was one of the chief instruments through which the Board was re-organized. He is a business man of unquestioned ability, and a man thoroughly respected and admired. Chatham was fortunate in securing him in the first place, and he will long feel the benefits of the work he has done, even though his residence has been short. His position as secretary of the Board of Trade will indeed be hard to fill. Their many friends will all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Mills continued and unbounded happiness and prosperity in their Berlin home.

PASSED AWAY

Rosie Cedar, wife of Wm. Cedar, of the fourth concession, Dover township, aged 23 years, passed away Friday evening.

The funeral took place Monday morning at 9.30 to Pain Court Church and Cemetery.

WAS DROWNED

E. J. MacIntyre received word yesterday of the drowning of George Stephens, son of Chas. Stephens, of Dresden. The little lad, who was about eight years old, was bathing in the river, near Dresden, when he met with the fatal mishap.

The deceased was a nephew to Mrs. E. J. MacIntyre.

3027 IS A SUSPECT

The owner of automobile number 3027 has been found. As was previously stated in The Planet, auto number 3027 is charged with burning up the pavement one night last week, at a rate, the police believe, to be faster than regulations allow of.

The result is, that the proprietor of number 3027 will be served with a summons to appear in Court to explain the alleged misdemeanor on the part of his benzine buggy. The case is slated to be tried in Police Court Monday.

ESTIMATES ARE LOW

No Sign of Extravagance
in Connection with Library Board

Janitor Rush Can Get up
Steam With Gas In 17
Minutes

A. Sheldrick and Dr. Charteris were engaged in some tall figuring at the meeting of the Library Board last evening. They had recently heard some argument as to what their estimate for the year amounted to, and they were anxious to set things right. Mr. Sheldrick was busy using up all the bank paper in his vicinity, and the doctor was deep in mental mathematics.

"I don't see how anyone could get it in their head that our actual estimate is $1,900," finally announced the father of Chatham's Free Library.

"It is not anything like that," replied the doctor. "Our actual estimate for the year is only $1,550, when the debenture, which we have to pay on the site, is deducted. The city is getting the use of a fine, new, and up-to-date library away below what it formerly cost them in the old one. At that time our estimates amounted to $1,700 and $1,800 a year."

"We paid rent, then," remarked Mr. Sheldrick, "but the fact is our debenture to the city—$175—amounts to just one dollar less than what we formerly paid out in rent. A lot of people overlook the fact that we found the city book $175 each year, and though we put our estimates at $1,900 in order to comply with the regulations, Chatham is getting the use of the building and its books for almost $400 less."

(These present at last night's meeting of the Library Board were Chairman Wm. Anderson, A. Sheldrick, Dr. Charteris, and Secretary Twohey.)

A communication was received from the Library Bureau of Canada stating that their factory at Ottawa had been destroyed by fire, but that they had made arrangements to supply their patrons with their needs just as prompt as formerly.

During the past year the Board has had considerable trouble over the payment of subscriptions to magazines, newspapers, and other periodicals. They have been getting this class of literature through local newsmen, and though they have made their payments promptly to the middlemen, bills continue to come in from the publishers. In regard to this matter Dr. Charteris said that the Board would next year have to consider the advisability of buying direct from the publishers. Then they would not have to notify them every time they paid the newsdealer.

An account from the Chatham Gas Company for $7.54 was ordered paid.

After the meeting the members adjourned to the boiler-room, and had Janitor Rush light the natural gas, which has recently been installed under the boilers. They appeared to be well satisfied with the new apparatus. Janitor Rush says that he can get up steam in seventeen minutes with the natural gas.

CAUSE OF IDELAY

The Mayor has received a letter from General Manager McKendrick, of the head offices of the Warren Bituminous Company, at Toronto, explaining the delay occasioned on Thames Street.

Manager McKendrick stated that there was some slight friction with Blight and Fielder, who have the contract for the concrete work, not rushing the work fast enough. Blight and Fielder at present have so many large contracts in hand that it has been difficult to get men.

The Warren Company, however, have given instructions that the work must be rushed, as it is to their interests as well as the citizens, that the paving should be finished before the cold weather sets in. They are also at considerable expense in maintaining their plant here.

A FEARLESS STAND.

There is one plank in the platform advocated by R. L. Borden, who will appear in the Opera House here next Saturday, which may seem to be somewhat advanced, namely: "A thorough and complete reformation of the laws relating to the civil service, so that future appointments shall be made by an independent commission, acting upon the report of examiners, after competitive examination." That Government appointments to the civil service are a source of weakness rather than of strength to the party in power has long been known, and probably the better element in both parties would be glad to see the system done away with, but neither has hitherto had the courage to propose it. Mr. Borden is to be commended for his bravery in advocating what will no doubt come sooner or later. Mr. Borden's remarks on the subject are here given:

"I need not dwell upon the importance of this. Of necessity some appointments must be left to the responsibility of the executive; appointments to the judicial bench and certain other high public offices are of this character and the people have it in their power to compel an honorable and decent duty. There are also many minor appointments which could not for the present be brought within such a system. But, for the rest, I prefer a competitive system of appointment to the present partisan system. Three-fourths of the time of members supporting a government is occupied in dealing with matters of patronage. Party pressure and party service have more weight than character and capacity. The public service is cumbered with useless officials. I am convinced we will perform a great public duty by establishing in this country that system which prevails in Great Britain under which a member of parliament has practically no voice in or control over any appointment in the civil service. Upon attaining power we shall without delay enter upon and complete the necessary investigation to guide us as to details, and this investigation will be promptly made."

DISTRICT

DRESDEN

Dresden, Sept. 4. — Mrs. P. M. Thomas, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. J. Smith, of Detroit, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith.

School opened Tuesday with a very large attendance, and all the teachers resumed their duties, excepting Miss Wheelahan, who will attend Normal. Miss Mowat, the gold medal graduate of the Toronto Normal school, has accepted a position on the staff.

The twin children of Mr. and Mrs. J. Christner died recently, after a short illness. The remains were interred in the Dresden Cemetery.

A sad accident took place on Tuesday, when George, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stephens, was drowned. A number of little boys went on the river in a boat and began to rock it. George fell out and, being unable to swim, was drowned. The funeral will take place Thursday from the family residence, the Rev. Norman Lindsay officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Young, of Orono, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gregory.

Miss M. J. McKim, of near Triperville, spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. C. Hughes.

Mrs. Alex. Webster gave a children's party on Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter's two little friends from Detroit, who are visiting here. The children had a most enjoyable afternoon, and enjoyed especially the out-of-doors supper, which was served under a number of big shade trees.

Miss Irene Law and Miss Rheta Rodkin entertained a number of their young friends on Monday evening. The girls were asked to represent some character, and their costumes were very pretty.

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Church will give a social at the home of Mrs.

STORM AT ERIEAU

Erieau, Sept. 3.—One of the heaviest electrical storms that ever visited Erieau was witnessed by the residents last night. The day had been more or less threatening, and towards evening storm clouds gathered in the west, but passed around on each side, only to return about ten o'clock with increased violence. The storm was preceded by a strong gale, then followed the torrents of rain and continued thunder and lightning. It was evident to the cottagers that considerable damage had been done by the lightning, for as soon as the storm abated, the reflections of at least five fires could be counted between Cedar Springs and Shrewsbury.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Ex-M.P. Shot.

Kingston, Sept. 4.—On Sunday evening, about 8 o'clock, James Reid, ex-M.P. of Enterprise, went over to see a friend from St. Louis, who was staying at a neighbor's house to be ready for the hunting season. His friend had a new gun, and both men were leaning forward to examine it, when it exploded in the hands of the owner, shooting Mr. Reid in the right hand, right thigh and the left side of the face.

The injured man was brought into the city, but was able to go home by the afternoon train, and is resting as well as can be expected.

SELECT YOUR MEDICINE WITH CARE.

In debility and weakness medicine should be mild and far reaching. Many pills and purgatives are too harsh, are drastic instead of curative. Excessive action is always followed by depression, and knowing this, Dr. Hamilton devised his pills of Mandrake and Butternut so as to mildly increase liver and kidney activity, flush out the elementary canal, tone and regulate the bowels. Thus do Dr. Hamilton's Pills eliminate poisons from the body, restore clearness to the skin, bring strength and that sweet restorer of health—sleep. Best medicine on earth, 25c. per box at all dealers.

Three Dead; One Dying.

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Three men are dead, one dying and a dozen or more injured, as the result of the rear-end collision between two inter-urban trolley cars from Albany, during a pouring rain Monday evening.

The collision was primarily due to the motorman on a Schenectady bound car being blinded by the head light of an Albany bound car, and falling to see a standing car ahead of him and which his car struck.

Saw Many Chathamites

Ex-Mayor Geo. W. Cowan Had an Interesting time on Recent Trip

He Is Enthusiastic over Vancouver and May Go Back

As was announced in Tuesday evening's Planet, ex-Mayor Geo. W. Cowan, returned on Sunday from a very enjoyable and profitable trip through the Northwest and British Columbia. In a short conversation with a Planet representative on Monday, Mr. Cowan gave some interesting information in reference to his trip. He left Chatham on the 1st of August, at 12 o'clock, and before going, he announced to his friends he would be back inside of a month. He arrived back on the 1st of September, at 11:57, three minutes to the good. This is running pretty close, but he kept his word, which, by the way, was one of the prominent characteristics of the popular showman.

"We went by way of St. Paul and Minneapolis," he said to the Planet, and had the privilege of seeing this great farming district when it was at its best. The land, however, is mostly rough, and there are no many wheatfields. The crops all looked well when we passed through in August. On the third of August there was a frost all the way to Winnipeg, and at that time the people were most anxious about the crops, but we learned afterwards that no great amount of damage was done. It is a late season all over, and they, being two weeks behind us, even were quite nervous as to the amount of the damage. It is a miraculous thing that the crops escaped as luckily as they did.

"At Winnipeg we saw many things to interest us. It was my first visit to this western metropolis, and on this account I was particularly interested. We saw many old Chathamites, including Chas. McPherson, who is now General Passenger Agent for the C.P.R. east of Winnipeg. He made it very pleasant for us in the way of securing berths for us in the way of securing berths for us. We saw saw 1000 Smyth, son of Henry Smyth, who is with the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and there is an air of prosperity about his looks and manner. Chas. Dunn is also there. He has charge of a large departmental store. James Ross, formerly in the carriage business here, is now in the insurance business there. Every little while during our whole trip we would run across a Chatham man, and they are all prosperous and respected.

"In Calgary we saw Geo. Lamont at the station. We did not see him there. He was surprised to see us, as also was Mrs. Lamont. They are quite loyal over Calgary, and wanted us to stop over. It was quite an effort to get away, but we had to push on.

"Our next stop was at Banff. This is a beautiful spot. Coming from a country, we were surprised when we arrived at Banff and saw the magnificent scenery which surrounds this place. There is a variety of it, and the sight-seeer could not help but be charmed with the interesting walks, driveways, etc.

"Laguna was one of the prettiest spots visited. The traveler gets off a small station and is driven in stages three or four miles up the mountain side to a large beautiful hotel. From the front all that is visible is the hotel, but when you go through to the back a large, beautiful lake opens to your view. This lake—Lake Louise—is enclosed by mountains on all sides. You can climb up the mountains above to see a lake—Mirror Lake—2,000 ft. above Lake Louise. By still going up another 2,000 feet you arrive at Lake Agnes, and the view from this point is simply gorgeous. Looking down you can see the other two lakes, and the large hotel looks like a digit box. I certainly never saw anything like it before. Going up the mountains you can see clear blue ice 150 feet projecting down through the crevices. Another peculiar thing which we noticed was the number of small streams trickling down the mountain side. These are the sources of some of the biggest rivers.

"We stopped over two days in Camfrap. It is a good town, and is also surrounded by mountains. The views from here are also very fine. It is a great railway center. Here we saw apples five and six inches diameter, grown this season. It is pleasant there in the summer and not very cold in the winter.

"The trip down alongside the Fraser River to Vancouver was very fine. Across on the opposite side of the river could be seen the old Government Road, except where the landlides had wiped it out. Along the route we saw Chinamen washing gold in the river, and Indians fishing for salmon and drying them on the rocks.

"Vancouver, in my opinion, is a wonderful place. It has grown wonderfully during the last few years. Its population has doubled in the last five years, and the growth is greater to-day than it has ever been. It stood twelfth in the cities of the province in the number of building permits taken out during the month of July. We spent ten days in this city.

"Real estate is booming in Vancouver, but this fall it will be even more brisk than ever. Places which were common and woods a short time ago, are now built up solidly with handsome residences. Here we met Ben Vosper and his brother Sam, formerly of this city. Both are doing well. Mr. McCrossen, formerly of this city, is in the dry goods business there. Their son, John McCrossen, is senior electrician for the city. Miss Randle, formerly of Thos. Stone and Sons, is there, as also is Fred Quinn and Will. Guernsey. Gordon Doherty, formerly of Salmon's Stationery Store, is doing well there in a good position. Herbert Robertson is there practicing law, and John Woods in the lumber business.

"At Victoria we saw John Cartier, formerly of Austin's Store. He is now manager of a department for the David Spencer Company with a stock of $100,000 under his charge. Dr. Herman Robertson is in Victoria practicing his profession. He and Mrs. Robertson were very glad to see us, and wished to be remembered to their Chatham friends. Miss Lattier, another Chathamite, likes Victoria, but I thought I detected in her voice a strong desire to be back in the Maple City again. We met Harry Green, a brother of Art Green, of the Postoffice staff in Victoria. He is looking well, and is evidently prosperous and happy. It was a surprise to me to see how the people of Victoria take life easy. It is a great place to go if a man wished to retire.

"We spent one day in Victoria, and then I went via boat to Seattle, and afterwards to Portland, Salt Lake City, and Denver. At Salt Lake City the train I had intended to take was wrecked and several hurt. I was delayed a little longer than I thought I would be, and it was only owing to this that I escaped the wreck. At Kansas City the heat was awful. At Springfield I visited my brother, H. Cowan, who is Supreme Secretary of the Loyal American Insurance Societies. The trip was a most enjoyable one throughout, and I (as I may soon have the opportunity to repeat it."

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith and Miss Belle and Fannie will remain in Vancouver for a couple of months, where they will visit Mr. Smith's brother, W. S. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smith made it very pleasant for the party while they were in Vancouver. They are reading on Cosmo Street, which is one of the most desirable residential streets of Vancouver.

DON'T USE GREASY LINIMENTS.

A century ago they were popular. To-day people want something easy to apply, certain in results, and, above all, a clean liniment. When Nerviline is applied aches and pains disappear as the pores absorb its soothing, healing properties. Nerviline penetrates to the core of the pain, eases instantly, and leaves no oily, bad smelling memory behind. Good to take in, capital to rub on, and five times more powerful in destroying pain than any oily liniment. Don't fail to get a large 25c. bottle.

PLACED TIES ON TRACKS.

Tried to Wreck Passenger Train But Danger Was Averted.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The police have arrested two young foreigners, who are unable to speak English, in connection with an attempt made early yesterday morning to wreck the Buffalo special, a fast passenger train on the New York Central, at Jordan, 20 miles west of here.

Ties were placed on the track, but luckily the train was signaled to stop a short distance from the station, because there was an excursion train, carrying New Jersey people back to Hoboken from Niagara Falls, on the next block.

The passenger train resumed its journey under slow speed, and when the obstruction was encountered the pony trucks of the locomotive were derailed, but there was no further damage.

DOMINION FAIR OPENS.

Large Show of Cattle at Sherbrooke Exposition.

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 4.—The Dominion Fair is now under way. All the buildings were opened to the public yesterday morning, and judging was begun, excepting in the live stock department.

The races commence to-day. R. L. Borden will visit the grounds. The cattle show has surprised even the management.

A large entry list was expected and a whole new system of model stabling arranged on a new plan was provided, but the list grew so fast that additional stabling had to be built.

The show of cattle is the biggest that has ever been made here.

In all matters of doubt boldness is of the greatest value.

What we can afford we don't want.

LOST RELATIVE SWINDLE.

Clever Ruse to Entrap the Unwary—Poor Widow Duped.

A particularly despicable kind of fraud has been invented by ingenious swindlers in connection with the inquiries for missing relatives published in newspapers of to-day. Many people have probably noticed that at the head of the "Missing Relative" column a notice is generally printed to the effect that those making inquiries are advised not to forward pecuniary assistance to persons who may reply to the same, until it has been definitely ascertained that the applicants are the persons actually sought for.

The necessity for this warning is amply illustrated by a case which came under the notice of the writer recently. A poor widow, living in the North of England, asked a well-known London newspaper to publish a description of her son, who had been missing for over 15 years. This was done, and, to the woman's great delight, she received a letter written from the East End of London a few days after the publication of the notice, in which the writer stated that he was well acquainted with the person about whom she inquired.

"Kind Stranger." The letter went on to say, however, that the son was in very poor circumstances. In fact, he was practically destitute, owing to misfortune and ill-health. His failure had made him ashamed to seek home, although he (the writer of the letter) knew that the son would be only too glad to return to his mother if he had the means to do so.

Then followed the suggestion that the widow should send the cost of railway fare and a few shillings for general expenses to her son, care of the writer, who would see that the money was received.

All unsuspecting the widow managed to get £35, and, as this she sent to the "kind stranger" who, of course, had never seen her son, and of whom she had heard nothing more. It was only after she had communicated with the police that she learned, through them, how she and others had been swindled by this trick.

"Homing" Turtles. From earthquakes to turtle-fishing is a far cry, but Sir Alexander Swettenham, in the course of his comprehensive duties, has to take cognizance of both.

As Governor of Jamaica, The Manchester Courier points out, he has official authority over the Cayman Islands, where the quest for turtles engages no fewer than 35 schooners and sloops, two-thirds of the number fishing round the Cays, of the Nicaraguan coast. The great trade, of which the turtles were caught in 1906, are shipped to Great Britain and America.

Sir Alexander Swettenham mentions that these chelonians display an extraordinary sense of locality, or "homing" instinct. It is reported that turtles have escaped from Grand Cayman and within three months have been recaptured at the fishing ground, a distance of 300 miles.

Their identity has been established beyond question by their owners' initials cut upon their shells.

Keeping Naval Secrets. The decision of the naval authorities to keep secret the particulars of the new cruiser just launched on the Clyde is a wise proceeding, and the surprise is that they should not have taken such a step years ago, says the Court Journal.

All the British Isles know about the ship is that she is the world's largest cruiser, but it is just possible the vessel is not a mystery to our continental friends, for they are lavishly with secrets. The mystery, which is a stringent act which was passed to prevent official secrets leaking out, but it has failed in its object to an extent, inasmuch as it has not put an end to the nefarious career of the professional traitor, but simply made the method of earning a living more dangerous.

Up to eighteen years ago, until the passing of the Official Secrets Act, the sale of valuable secrets, both naval and military, went on almost with impunity.

Relics of Old Newgate.

It is perhaps a little curious that nothing of old Newgate survives in London's magnificent new sessions house beyond two insignificant relics—a portion of the old galleys' beam, showing the groove worn by the executioner's ropes, and part of the door of the prison yard. Other more interesting relics of this historic prison have been widely scattered. Not long ago the door of the condemned cell was sold by auction for £13 (an enormous figure), and the fittings of the cell, together with the old wall, were bought for £100 for Miss Tussaud's exhibition, the bell, which was cast in 1775, bearing the inscription, "Ye people all who hear me ring, be faithful to your God and king." The steps by which so many doomed men have hurried down the scaffold found a purchaser for £1 12s.—Reynold's Newspaper.

London's Mud. It has been calculated that the cost of a muddy day in London is something like $25,000. This is not surprising when one remembers that no fewer than thirty-two tons of mud are carried about from place to place on the wheels of carts and carriages and horse hoofs. After a wet day, the dry mud brushed from people's clothing amounts to fifteen tons, and a very similar amount is shaken out of the door-mats.

Five Emeralds. Cortes obtained in Mexico five emeralds of wonderful size and beauty. One was like a rose, another in the shape of a horn, a third in that of a fish, with diamond eyes; a fourth like a bell, with a pearl for a clapper; the fifth was a cup, with a foot of gold and with four little chains, each ended with a large pearl. He had also two emerald vases, worth $300,000 crowns each.

BRIDGE INQUEST OPEN

Chief Engineer Reports Faults in Steel Work at Quebec.

Government Commission Sits to-day—Telegram Story Was a Canard—Bridge Company to Dissolve—Engineers Inspect Ruins—Condolence From Lord Elgin—Damage Suit Entered for $25,000.

Quebec, Sept. 4.—The coroner inquest has not so far thrown any new light on the cause of the bridge collapse. The investigation by the Government commission of experts commences to-day. Many railway and bridge engineers are here to inspect the ruins.

Mr. Deans, chief engineer of the Phoenix Bridge Co., told the jury yesterday that the company's engineers were doing their utmost to ascertain the cause of the disaster, and he thought they would be able in a few days to satisfy legitimate anxiety on the subject. He had never heard of any apprehensions of the safety of the structure, and if he had to erect another bridge would not hesitate to build on the same plans.

The International Bridge Workers' Union is represented by counsel. Hon. S. N. Parent, in the course of his examination, said he had wired Theodore Cooper concerning his alleged interview in New York, and Mr. Cooper had replied that he had been misrepresented and had never either sent a message to cease operations on the bridge or had stated that he had done so.

It is understood that the Bridge Co. will be shortly dissolved and the work taken over by the Federal Government. The Government can take over the shares at any time by paying a 10 per cent. advance on their cost.

A Possible Cause. In the engineer's report, submitted to the annual meeting yesterday, Mr. Hoare stated that on Aug. 27, the resident inspecting engineer reported that the ribs in one of the lower chords of the west truss of the anchor arm showed an inward side deflection. The matter was reported the same day to the consulting engineer, and Phoenix Bridge Co., and Mr. Clure left the next day for New York and Phoenixville to discuss the question. Soon after these interviews the structure very suddenly collapsed, but it is at present undetermined whether the cause in question was the cause of the accident.

Mr. Hoare's report created a mild sensation, and it is believed that the cause of the disaster will now shortly be fixed.

First Damage Suit. The first of the damage suits to follow the Quebec bridge disaster was launched yesterday morning, when Zephirene La France issued a writ for $25,000 for the death of her son. The damage claims on a similar basis would amount to $1,025,000.

Condolence From Lord Elgin. Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Lord Elgin, Colonial Secretary, cables to Lord Grey as follows:

Please convey to your Ministers the deep regret with which His Majesty's Government have heard of the Quebec bridge disaster, and express my personal sympathy with those who have suffered and with the Canadian people. (Signed) Elgin.

Eloped With Heiress. Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—Joseph B. Lawrence of London, Ont., a firm hand, was in court yesterday morning, on a charge of abducting Francis Otter of Otterville, Man.

He eloped with the girl, who is only 17 years of age and an heiress. They had reached North Bay, when captured, which caused the boat to heel and it took after them.

He is still in the east, and has not yet been located.

Lipton in a Squall. London, Sept. 4.—Sir Thomas Lipton and a party of guests have arrived at Southampton on the steam yacht Erin.

Sir Thomas and his guests had a lively experience off Southsea. They boarded the schooner yacht Ceylon and were at luncheon when a storm arose, which caused the boat to heel dangerously. Dishes, chairs, etc., were thrown about and smashed.

Venezuela Will Pay. Brussels, Sept. 4.—It is declared here that the Venezuelan Government has informed the Government of Belgium that it intends to begin at once the payment, in monthly instalments, of its debts to those powers which treated Venezuela with consideration when the powers united in their demand that she meet her obligations.

Not So Definite. Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux stated last night that the reduction of drop-letter postage in cities to one cent was being contented by the Department. Nothing definite has been decided, and the question at any rate will have to come before the Governor-General-in-Council.

Five Killed in Wreck. Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 4.—A revised list shows that five persons were killed and eleven injured when a Chesapeake & Ohio local train was derailed a mile below Kanawha Falls Monday night.

Spreading of the rails is supposed to have caused the accident.

Chinese Smuggling Plot. Ottawa, Sept. 4.—The officials of the Customs Department expect, as a result of the capture of 13 Chinamen, landed illegally in the County of Bruden, to unearth a systematic organization for smuggling Celestials into Canada from Newfoundland.

Russell Registrar Dead. Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Alexander Robillard, registrar of the County of Russell, is dead of paralysis, at the age of 75.

He sat for 15 years in the Ontario Legislature as Liberal member for Russell.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with "Preventics" is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. "Old Hundred" Scars Birds. It is a strange but well authenticated fact that the wild creatures of the woods dislike the sound of that solemn hymn "Old Hundred." Muir, the naturalist, proved the truth of this by singing it in the woods of the Sierras to the birds and squirrels, which were very tame from never having been frightened by the report of a gun or other alarming sound. They would come and sit near him upon the branches of trees and listen to his lively time he might sing, blinking their bright eyes as though they liked it, but at the first sound of "Old Hundred" they would beat a quick retreat to their holes or nests and never appear again until he changed the tune. This experiment was made in different places on various occasions with exactly the same result.

The Badge of Honesty

Is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of the ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native cereals such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherry bark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

"The Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and through them the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions are well cured, eczema, scalds and all open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing by applying to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the name used may thereby make a little bigger profit. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

When It Rains in India. While Jupiter Pluvius reigns in India nothing can be done out of doors. The rain at times is simply a white liquid sheet dropping straight down from the heavens, so that no very great stretch of imagination is required to convince one that a deluge is not an impossible event—Wide World Magazine.

GET A GOOD START

Right now is the best time to start taking something to get your Kidneys and System in shape to withstand the sudden changes of Fall and Winter, which bring on Rheumatism and other Kidney disorders.

Mr. Lee was not so unlogicistic concerning the clock arrangements. The bedding and heating, he remarked, left a good deal to be desired. He received only two blankets—one to lie on and one as a covering. The cell was by no means adequately warmed, and if heating arrangements were no better on a bloody cold night the treatment would be most cruel.

Mr. Lee also thought that the bathing arrangements were open to improvement. It was not right, he said, that three men (as was the case with himself and two others) should have to bathe in one lot of water. He had intended to stay at the house during Sunday, and to have performed the usual task on Monday morning, but owing to the crowded state of the tramp wards he was discharged.

Quick Coffee.

A way to make quick coffee always possible is to have it on hand ready for heating. It takes six hours to make it in this way in the first place, but it remains fresh and full of flavor all the rest is needed. Use the usual recipe for drip coffee, one tablespoonful of fine coffee for each cup of water. Put all the coffee in at once and measure the water, which must be cold. Pour the water on half a cupful at a time and let it percolate through. When ready bottle and cork tightly. Heat, but do not boil, as it is needed.—New York Post.

Relics of Crime.

Two interesting additions have just been made to the trophies gathered by the London police in the grim "Black Museum" at Scotland Yard.

The latest exhibit, which arrived recently, is the small morocco jewel case, containing two lumps of coal, which led to the recent conviction of Lord William Nevill on the charge of defrauding a pawnbroker.

"FIGHTING MAC" ALIVE

TRAVELER DENIES THAT FAMOUS GENERAL IS DEAD.

Discredits Suicide Story—Declares Sir Hector Macdonald Is in China—Asserts He Saw Soldier Who Was Believed to Have Killed Himself in Paris—Is Now Organizing Powerful Chinese Army.

A singular story that has both astonished and amused England and Scotland was published in The Manchester Sunday Chronicle last week. It relates to the late renowned soldier, Major-Gen. Sir Hector Macdonald.

The general, it will be remembered, was reported to have committed suicide in an obscure Paris hotel, March 25, 1903, while en route from Ceylon, where he had been in command. He fought with distinction in Afghanistan in the Boer War of 1881 and also in the recent Boer War, in which he commanded the Highland Brigade, and he also figured conspicuously in the fighting against Arabi Pasha in Egypt and the Mahdi in the Sudan.

Claims He Still Lives. The publication in the Manchester paper is to the effect that "Fighting Mac," as Sir Hector was known in military and Scottish circles, is still very much alive, and is now organizing a powerful army for China.

The most circumstantial story bearing on Sir Hector's alleged survival emanates from Johannesburg from a man who recently arrived there from the Far East. He asserts that he saw "Fighting Mac" at Nanking, China, last year, putting his astonishing declaration in the following form: "I know Hector's Macdonald very well, both in Egypt and South Africa. I was in Nanking in December last. I saw a battalion of Chinese soldiers being drilled in European style on a space in the centre of the city, and feeling curious, I walked to where three officers were standing. One of them was Sir Hector Macdonald. He was clean-shaven, but otherwise he had altered very little since the occasion of my last meeting him in Pretoria.

"I was almost breathless with astonishment. I was about to speak to him when his eyes met mine. He turned rapidly round to one of the other officers and said something quickly in Chinese.

Ordered to Leave at Once. "The officer, almost springing at me, shouted: 'Leave this ground at once! I will put you where your friends won't find you in a hurry.' I left Nanking that day for Shanghai, and I found that the fact that Sir Hector Macdonald was in that country was believed by a great many English people.

"On strengthening the story, it is pointed out that no inquest was held on the body alleged to be that of Sir Hector Macdonald; but in official and other quarters 'little' attention has been paid to the matter. The paper's Johannesburg informant, officials believe, was mistaken in his man.

GUARDIAN AS A TRAMP.

Passes Night in Casual Ward of Workhouse As a Test.

A. H. Lee, the member of the Swanton, Eng., board of guardians, who had passed the night in the local casual ward, has related his experiences. Mr. Lee is secretary of the local branch of the Social Democratic Federation, and said that his action was the outcome of a consultation between his comrades, who had heard that the food, bedding and bathing in the casual ward were not all that they should be.

In order to test the conditions for himself he posed as a bona-fide working shoemaker, walking from town to town in search of employment. He had no complaint to make as to the manner of his reception and said the food which was given to him was wholesome and served in a cleanly manner, but he did not think it sufficient for a healthy man.

Mr. Lee was not so unlogicistic concerning the clock arrangements. The bedding and heating, he remarked, left a good deal to be desired. He received only two blankets—one to lie on and one as a covering. The cell was by no means adequately warmed, and if heating arrangements were no better on a bloody cold night the treatment would be most cruel.

Mr. Lee also thought that the bathing arrangements were open to improvement. ## Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

NO INCENTIVE.

How could Horatius keep the bridge. Defying miles of foe-men. And make the people hale him as The very bravest Roman. Obliging those who sang his praise To press the loudest pedal When the reward did not include A bright Carnegie medal?

You wonder how the brave and rash Sir hundred ever did it—Tore off that charge when all the rules Of prudence would forbid it. What was the sense of going up The hill to that disaster Without a medal at the end From our great ironmaster?

When Washington picked up an oar And opened navigation Upon the Delaware that day Ere yet we were a nation, Though congress said, "Dear George you are 'The kid that's all the candy,' He had to plug along without A medal made by Andy.

Our modern heroes do not have To go on unrequited. When they perform a daring deed, No longer are they slighted. Carnegie reads about the case And doesn't mark them zero. Oh, no. He writes, "This certifies You are a full fledged hero!"

So He Could Use It.

"What is he going to call his story?" "The Tale of a Rooster." "That is a bright idea. Then if it doesn't go his wife can use it to trim her hat."

No Chance to Know. "Silas was telling me today that he thinks them high financiers are going to bring on the worst panic this country ever saw."

"What does he know about it? Did he ever run a lively stable?"

"No." "Or work in one?"

"No." "Ever own a barber shop?"

"Guess not."

"Probably he has been to the legislature or something like that. These know it all fellows make me weary."

Blossom Time. The panicles of elder spread. Their starlike blossoms to the sun. The clover lifts a blushing head And brows its petals one by one. The black haw bush with bloom is white. The mullein spreads a velvet leaf. "Dawn where the river's ripples bright Are singing low that summer's brief."

A sweet perfume is in the air. The air is vocal, too, with song From feathered singers everywhere. The liquid luring runs along: The burden of the song is sweet. And sweet the earth, the air above, And brief our season is, petite, Too brief for summer, life and love.

Changed His Mind. "When he was small, he vowed he would lick the teacher if he ever got big enough."

"Not much. Just a few years later she had to get out an injunction to keep him from marrying her."

Might Help Him Along. "He called me a liar."

"Sue him for damages."

"But I am a corporation claim agent, and the jury might decide that I was benefited rather than injured."

HOW TO ASSURE OLD AGE.

English Official Shows How to Become a Centenarian.

The remark of Wynn Westcott, at an inquest at Bethnal Green, that the best way to prolong life is to retire to a workhouse, is indorsed by poor law administrators.

"We have scores of inmates over 80 years old, and quite a number just about 90 or a little over," an official of one of the largest London workhouses said recently.

We have had centenarians, although we have not one at present, but I have no doubt that two or three out of our scores of octogenarians will easily live into the 100 years. Most of the workhouse centenarians are women, and it is undoubtedly a fact that the proportion of centenarians in workhouses is larger than that outside.

"The conditions are ideal. There is regular and good food, regular hours, genial company, medical and nursing attendance, warmth, fresh air and contentment. The way that old people pick up on coming into the workhouse is quite remarkable.

"Old soldiers of 50 or 60 come in almost at the point of collapse. They are often broken down owing to want of food and excess of alcoholic liquor. But after a few months of workhouse life they generally recover, and some of them live on for twenty years or more.

"The latest returns for the metropolis show that there were last year nearly 50,000 men and women over 60 years of age in the London workhouses. Of these, 12,016 were between 65 and 70 years of age; 12,311 were between 70 and 75 years of age; 8,309 were between 75 and 80 years of age, and 4,168 were over 80 years of age.

"The returns omit the most picturesque figures—those of inmates between 90 and 100 or over 100, but I believe that there are several centenarian workhouse inmates in London."

Intense Heat in India. Intense heat prevails throughout Upper India, and there is a condition of famine. Everywhere the monsoon is being eagerly awaited.

British soldiers in Allahabad and Cawnpore are suffering from apoplexy. Several are reported to have succumbed. Cattle are also dying for want of fodder.

Famine prices prevail in many districts, and people have been driven to the extremity of selling their jewelry in order to buy grain.

A swarm of locusts passed over Lucknow recently, and the native inhabitants killed as many as they could and ate them.

On the continuation of the drought 500 Mussulmans at Allahabad spent the day in prayer and fasting.

They were beginning to despair when heavy rain fell, and they had to wade through water knee deep before they could reach their homes.

A Case of Changed Personality. There was the incident told of Edwin Forrest, playing an engagement in Boston as Richard III., and who became so imbued with the spirit of the departed king that in the duel he drove his opponent across the stage, out through the stage door and down the alley to the main street before he could be dissociated from the personality he had assumed. I should imagine that many have had similar experiences in a greater or less degree, and I know that I frequently discover myself in the position of conqueror myself.

TO PROBE C. P. R. WRECK

Searching Enquiry Will be Made Into Causes of Disaster

Victims are Progressing Favorable Claims Agents Are Busy

Toronto, Sept. 5.—Hon. J. J. Foy, Attorney-General and acting Premier, acted promptly yesterday morning in ordering an enquiry into the railway wreck at Caledon on Tuesday when seven lives were lost.

Although not doubting the possibilities of the coroner's jury, which had already opened an inquest at Caledon, Hon. Mr. Foy took advantage of the fact that one of the victims had died in Toronto to consult Dr. Arthur Jukes Johnson, chief coroner for the city, and request him to commence what will really be a Government enquiry into the causes leading up to the wreck.

The Attorney-General placed the services of Inspector Rogers of the provincial detective force at Coroner Johnson's disposal, and he is now at work upon the case.

A stenographer will be present, and the evidence will be taken in full to-night and at any subsequent sittings. A. Bell, son of the dead man, was called. He had viewed his father's body and he wiped his eyes as he was sworn. He told of driving his father to the Caledon station from his farm in Melancthon Township, Dufferin County.

The train was an hour late, and he left his father there. This was the last time he saw him alive. At six o'clock that evening he learned that his father was seriously hurt, but it was not until he arrived in the city yesterday that he learned of his death.

His sister, who lives near the home-stand, is critically ill, and has not been told of her father's death, nor will she be at present. The rest of the family, two daughters and three sons, living in Winnipeg, have been notified, but will not be able to attend the funeral. The body will be sent home to-day, and the funeral held there at once.

The son came to the city by the same route on which his father had come. He passed the scene of the wreck where the cars are still piled in disorder.

Dr. A. J. Harrington, who made the post mortem, said that Mr. Bell came to his death from hemorrhage and shock, due to tearing of the spleen.

After the session Dr. Johnson said to the press:

"We will go into this matter to the end. If blame or responsibility can be found and fixed it will be done no matter who is hit. Every scrap of evidence that can be had will be heard."

It is reported that the inquest at Orangeville was opened on the bodies of five dead and the chief witnesses. This will place the whole responsibility of placing the cause of the disaster on the shoulders of the Toronto investigation. It is likely that a complete hearing of evidence. The railway company will be represented by counsel.

The condition of the injured at the Western Hospital was last evening reported to be quite satisfactory, except Mrs. Ronson, who has a broken back and for whom there is little hope of recovery.

Crown Attorney McEwen of Brampton visited the scene of the wreck yesterday.

While passengers on the train persist in saying that the speed was unusual and excessive, Engineer Hodge and Fireman Ross declare that the train was running only between 15 and 20 miles an hour. Conductor Grimes refuses to make a statement.

The inquest at Caledon presents two unusual features: one, that the enquiry is being held as to the death of the entire six instead of only one, as is the custom, and the other that the foreman of the jury is Alexander McLeish, the farmer who saw the accident occur and who is therefore an important witness.

Three witnesses to the run-off, Mr. McLeish, Jos. Ferguson and a neighbor farmer, who refuses to talk until the inquest, and James Cannon of Caledon East. The last named was driving down the hill in the face of the oncoming train and saw the whole catastrophe.

M. J. McCall, one of the Dominion Railway Commission inspectors, has left for the Horsehoe to make an investigation.

C. P. R. claims-agents are reported to have gone promptly to work endeavoring to effect settlements with the families of the victims of the accident rather than have the matter taken to the courts.

James Ross, residing at 70 East Duport street, fireman on the engine of the wrecked train, sustained a scalp wound and was scalded about the face and right arm. His injuries, however, are not serious.

C. P. R. Wanted to Abolish Curves. The Ontario Government is more than ordinarily interested, perhaps, in view of the following statement made by Andrew Dods, who writes:

"I notice your strictures in to-day's World in reference to the C. P. R. maintaining dangerous curves at Caledon Mountain, and while the railways are often to blame, I feel they are not in this case."

"About three years ago the C. P. R. applied to the Government for leave to change their route as to join the Credit Valley line at Inglewood and out at this dangerous curve, but the Government refused to allow it at the solicitation of William Stubbs, the member for Cardwell."

"Now, this was a case where the people's representative for leave to change their route as to join the Credit Valley line at Inglewood and out at this dangerous curve, but the Government refused to allow it at the solicitation of William Stubbs, the member for Cardwell."

EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED.

Supposed to Be Work of Russian Revolutionist.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—The Prussian railway administration has offered a reward for the discovery of the person who wrecked the St. Petersburg-Berlin express between Strasburg and Rehfeld, near Berlin, shortly before midnight, resulting in eleven persons being injured. Presumably it was the work of an anarchist or Russian revolutionist, who hoped to kill a member of the Russian Imperial family who is said to have been on board the train.

The train was derailed, several cars were telescoped, and afterwards caught fire. An examination of the scene of the wreck at daylight showed that the bolts had been removed from fish-plates of a fifty-foot rail, resulting in the latter becoming deranged after the locomotive had passed over it. The persons injured were mostly commercial travelers and two army officers. It does not appear that any one on the train, but the Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch, with a staff of six officers, is expected to arrive here to-day on his way to the German army manoeuvres, when he will be the guest of Emperor William. The officials of the Prussian railroads are unusually alert at present owing to the frequent accidents, which have recently occurred.

FATALITY AT LAMBTON.

Young Gardener Breaks His Neck in Wagon.

Lambton Mills, Sept. 5.—A shocking accident, by which George Atkinson, a well-known young market gardener, lost his life, took place a short distance from here last night.

Atkinson had been to the city with a load of produce. It was while passing through his own gate, on his return, that the accident occurred.

While no one was near at the time and saw the affair, it seems that Atkinson had a projecting board on the wagon, which had probably been used as a seat, caught the young man between the wagon and the gatepost, jamming him and breaking his neck.

The horse being brought to a stop. He was in this position three-quarters of an hour before release came, Mrs. McPherson, a neighbor, being the first to see the unfortunate young man.

When released it was found that Atkinson was dead, his neck having been broken.

TWO WOMEN ASPHYXIATED.

Exhibition Visitors Found Dead in Room of Hotel.

Toronto, Sept. 5.—Two women visitors to the exhibition are dead as a result of blowing out the gas at the Osgoode Hotel, West Queen street, Tuesday night. They are Mrs. Janet McEwing, Harlock, Huron County, 22 years, and her mother, Mrs. John Shannon, 50 years, same address.

With Mrs. McEwing, the husband of the younger woman, and John Watts of Harlock, the two came to the city Tuesday morning. Engaging the room, they spent the afternoon and evening at the fair.

Returning, they retired, the two women occupying room 4, while the men slept in another part of the house. Mr. McEwing turned out the gas for them.

Mr. McEwing became alarmed because he could not arouse them in the morning. The door was forced, but the women were dead and the room filled with gas. The jet was turned on.

SERIES OF ACCIDENTS.

Purser Gordon Seriously Injured—Boy Shot Dead.

Fort William, Sept. 5.—Purser O. B. Gordon, fell from the hold of the steamer Rosedale Tuesday and fractured his skull. His condition is precarious.

S. Worrall, the 16-year-old son of George Worrall, who was accidentally shot on Monday, is dead.

Inverness, Sask., Sept. 5.—Two running accidents occurred here Tuesday, one of which resulted in the death of William Omond, aged 16.

The other, George Snell, had his hand shattered. Gordon was riding when the loaded gun in a buggy, when it slipped from the wheel, and both barrels were discharged into his body.

CIGARETTES STILL POPULAR.

Consumption Increased One-Third—
The Demand for Liquors.

The number of cigarettes entered for consumption in the Government report to the last of July totaled, according to the estimates of the Inland Revenue Department, 331,973,137,
which is almost a third more than the consumption of the preceding year.

The consumption of last year was 293,334,893; the consumption of 1904 was 250,893,337. Ten years ago it was 93,798,000, from which it can be seen at a glance what tremendous strides
the cigarette habit has been making in Canada during recent years. The consumption of tobacco of all kinds
last year was the largest on record,
being estimated at 2,953 pounds per head of population. The consumption of cigars was 194,816,575, compared with 133,827,342 in the year 1905, and 137,276,105 in 1904.

The consumption of spirits last year was 1,947 gallons per head of population, which was slightly higher than the return for 1905. The consumption of wines, amounting to .092 gallons per head,
compared with .091 gallons in 1905,
varies but very little from year to year.

The statement of the Department of Inland Revenue is based on the actual returns of the nine months period to the end of March. The consumption of beer, amounting to 5,585
gallons per head, compared with 5,585 gallons in 1905, is the largest consumption in the history of the country, and goes to show an increased use of these beverages. The consumption of beer, however, has been added to cover the period to the end of June, so as to permit of a comparison with the fiscal year of the Dominion
in its old form.

COMING OF THE JAPANESE.

The Government Preparing to Act in the Matter.

The Canadian Government has been inquiring into the reports from British Columbia as to the large influx of Japanese. The representatives of the Japanese Government state that the agreement made with the Canadian Government a few years ago as to restriction is being rigidly observed. Before leaving their own country the Japanese must procure passports from their Government, and the Japanese Government has never been reached,
and the agreement is still in force. The Japanese, however, arriving in British Columbia are from Honolulu, American territory, and over them the Japanese consuls have no official authority. They can do a great deal, however, in dissuading their people from leaving the Hawaiian Islands, and this will be done. Many of those who have arrived have gone to the United States and some of those now on the way are destined for the Great Northern. The Canadian Government is hopeful that with the co-operation of the Japanese Government they can limit this immigration to such an extent that no ill results will follow
to the western provinces.

Lots of Gold in Yukon.

There is still a golden harvest to be gathered from the gravels of the Klondike hills and valleys. The Government has completed an examination and survey of the gold bearing gravels of both the high and low levels. It is estimated that in the neighborhood where gold is known to exist
and from which gold to the value of $94,750,000 has been taken by crude placer methods, there remains $63-642,620, which may be recovered at a profit by hydraulic mining, dredging
and other advanced methods of gold recovery.

The examination was made by R.
G. McConnell, of the geological survey, assisted by Joseph Kealey, geologist, and F. H. McLaren and F.
O'Farrell topographers.

The estimates does not cover the creeks on the Indian River slope which have produced gold to the value of $24,260,000, making the total output of the Yukon district $119-000,000 to date. It is estimated that there can be still recovered eight to ten millions of gold from these gravels, making the certain future output of gravel gold from the Yukon
over $63,000,000.

Toronto's New Horticultural Building

At last the fruit, flowers and vegetables, which have always been shown in abundance and in supreme quality
at the Canadian National Exhibition,
Toronto, are to have suitable housing.
A handsome new structure has been erected on the commanding site of the old main building, 254 feet in length by 58 feet in width, with three wings 156 feet by 58 feet. The building will be surmounted by a majestic dome 65 feet in diameter and 70 feet in height. Steel, pressed brick and stone have alone been used in the building, which will consequently be entirely fireproof. Provision has been made for electrical lighting on a magnificent scale. In the basement ample temperature-regulated stores will be found for plants and shrubs. When the building is complete it will have cost high on to $100,000.

Nickel Pennies For Canada.

Canada is to have a new nickel
penny. It is probable that the coin will be introduced with the opening of the Canadian branch of the Royal Mint next December. This old copper penny was discarded because they were cumbersome, but there is said to be a demand for the penny coin, and the suggestion is that a nickel two-cent piece would fill the bill. The plan would also mean something to the Canadian nickel industry. The new mint will employ 50 or 60 men. The British mint is turning out per year sixteen million Canadian coins. The new mint will turn out that many or more, up to twenty millions.

BUILT FUNERAL PYRE

Strange Deed of Demented
Woman at St. Lazaire.

Ended Her Life in Tragic Manner—Thought She Had Divine Call to Die—Wrote Last Letters and Immolated Herself in Flames—Could Not Stand Fearful Ordeal to the End.

Montreal, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Joseph Lalonde ended her life in a tragic manner in the Village of St. Lazaire, a few miles from Vauhallon last Sunday.

She had been acting strangely since
the death of her husband, six months ago, and spent several hours gathering fence rails on her farm. When the funeral pyre was ready, she wrote several letters, stating she had decided to respond to the call of God.
The letters were found afterwards in an old hat, suspended from the limb
of a tree. Then Mrs. Lalonde removed her clothing and set fire to the logs and wood, perishing in the flames.

This affair took place just when high mass was being said in the village church, and the discovery was not made until after the congregation had been dismissed. During the service the flames reflected through the windows of the little church, and it was thought to be nothing more than rubbish burning.

The charred remains of Mrs. Lalonde were found a few yards from the burning embers. She was apparently unable to stand the frightful ordeal and had jumped out of the fire after she had been fatally burned. She was face downwards, with the grass clutched in both hands.

Several small children are left orphans.

STRIKERS WRECK VESSEL.

Police Charge Rioters With Revolvers

Antwerp, Sept. 4.—The rioting dock
laborers boarded the British steamer Agencia on Monday, destroyed her freighting implements and seriously injured one of the engineers. They also took possession of the British steamer Sydney, tossed a number of tools and trucks overboard and did
other damage.

Their violence so terrified the men
at work on board a number of ves-
els that they fled to the shore.
The strikers lay in wait at the railroad station and made attempts to interfere with the English and German strike-breakers as they arrived.
The strikers captured an omnibus to convey strike-breakers to and from the wharves and threw it overboard.
The violence increased to serious proportions yesterday, when at least a dozen persons, including strike-
breakers, were attacked and badly wounded. The police charged repeatedly, firing their revolvers at the rioters.

Eight Drowned.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 4.—News
has just reached here that Mrs. Louisa Hill Garabai, wife of a farmer, and seven children, were drowned in a flood resulting from heavy rains in Alamo Creek last Friday night.

TALE OF A SEA-GOING MONKEY.

Captain of Steamship Reports a Sci-
fide Due to Wounded Pride.

The British freighter Errol recently arrived at the Bush Stores after a 12-000 mile trip from the far east.
Aboard the freighter were a number of Chinamen, members of the ship's crew; a few Chinese chow dogs, Jap speak, and a lot of monkeys. Capt.
Lockhart is the sponsor for this story:

When the good ship was two days
out from Singapore a large monkey
one of five aboard ship, escaped from its cage and bolted through the hawse pipe, to the outer rim of which it clung, defying every mother's son of the crew to catch him. The monkey had not been affable or tractable during the trip and had made friends with only one person, Li Tam, the Chinese steward. Li finally coaxed the simian aboard ship, when one of the officers commenced to belabor it with a stout piece of rope. When the officer had concluded the beating he threw the rope on the deck and as it fell it curled up in the form of a noose
—a hangman's noose. The officer noticed it and exclaimed at the monkey: "That's what we ought to give you!"

The monkey was put back in his cage with the bit of rope which he had gathered up. The officers thought he wanted to play with it and saw no harm in that. Next morning, when the keeper of the animals made the rounds, he noticed that the self-same monkey had escaped on the previous day had escaped again. A search was at once instituted, but the monkey could nowhere be found and all hope of finding him was given up.

But later in the day, when Li happened to glance up at the rigging, he discovered his simian friend dangling
at the end of the rope, just as if a hangman had passed the noose over his head.

"Of course it was done by design,"
he exclaimed the captain to one of the incredulous who were listening. "It was not an accident. The monkey was overcome with humiliation because of the beating and had decided to take the officer who made the remark about the hangman's noose at his word."

HOW FOG AFFECTS THEM.

Birds Become Entirely Confused During Heavy Fogs.

Nothing has such a bewildering effect as fog. Only animals which find their way by scent can go about in it
with any certainty, says Chums.
Birds are entirely confused by it.
Tame pigeons remain all day motionless and half asleep, huddled up,
either in or just outside their pigeon
houses.

Chickens remain motionless for hours during heavy fogs. No bird sings or utters a call, perhaps because it fears to betray its whereabouts to an unseen foe.

During one very thick fog a blind man was found wandering about a certain district in London.
This man was in the habit of coming up every day from the suburb, carrying notes and parcels, and had scarcely ever lost his way before.

Asked why he had gone astray (for
he was quite blind, and it was supposed that weather would have made difference), he said that in a fog the ground "sounded quite different."

THE CAMEO.

It Gets Its Name From the Cutting,
Not From the Stone.

The true nature of a cameo is very much misunderstood by the public generally. Most people think it is the stone itself, when in reality the method of cutting is what produces the cameo.
The real meaning of the word is unknown, its derivation having never been discovered; but, correctly speaking, cameos are small sculptures executed in low relief on some substance precious either for its beauty, rarity or hardness.

There are emerald cameos, turquoise cameos, shell cameos, coral cameos.
Indeed, any substance that lends itself to carving in such minute detail can be used for cameo cutting, and nearly all precious stones, except diamonds,
have been so used for intaglios, but never for cameos. Emerald is the most common precious stone from which cameos have been made, and there are some very fine emerald portrait cameos in existence, notably those of Queen Elizabeth in the British museum. Shell cameos were first made in the fifteenth century.

Banded onyx is generally used for cameo work because of its hardness
and coloring, and it is this fact that has caused the misapprehension, the stone
being used so much in making cameos
that it has now become better known as "cameo" than by its right name.—
St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ANIMAL TRAITS.

Reminders in the Foal and the Calf of Their Wild Ancestors.

It is an interesting study to note in domestic animals the traits of their wild ancestors. There are some characteristics, of course, which are readily recognizable as being similar to those of animals still in a wild state, and for this reason they give a fair idea of the life and surroundings of progenitors. The habits of the dog and cat are too familiar to comment on, but take the foal and compare his traits
with those of the calf.

The foal when a few days old can gallop as fast as he ever can in after life. He never leaves the dam and takes nourishment in small quantities,
avoiding a full meal, which would impede swift escape. In lying down he attempts to make a concealment, and when he stands his head is held high.
These habits show that the animal's ancestors spent their lives in the open and not in the forests and that they were great travelers.

The calf, on the contrary, fills himself with milk and is a poor traveler.
When danger approaches his first impulse is to conceal himself. He holds his head low in order to look under the branches of the forest. All his characteristics point to the fact that the ancestral home of cattle was in a moist, wooded country, while the primal home of the horse was the London Chronicle.

A Chinese Solomon.

Two Chinamen, brothers, well advanced in age, quarreled over a piece of land which they had jointly inherited from their father and went to law.
The native magistrate heard the testimony on both sides and determined that both were wrong and both right,
according to the different points of view. Therefore, instead of rendering a judgment in favor of either, he ordered that both be locked up in a cage with their heads fastened face to face and kept there until they settled their quarrel. The cage is a sort of cage in which prisoners are placed with their necks locked into a hole in a board. It resembles somewhat the stocks which were used for the punishment of malefactors in olden times.
When the brothers were placed in the cage, they were both very stubborn and indignant, but toward the end of the second day they began to weaken, and on the third day reached a satisfactory settlement and were released.

Costly in Human Lives.

In ancient times the great engineering works were costly in human lives.
The making of the Red Sea canal is said to have involved the loss of no fewer than 120,000 Egyptians. Bue-kle's examination made him believe the number to have been somewhat exaggerated, but he gives it as still a guide to the enormous waste of human life in those days. The men who kept 2,000 slaves engaged for three years bringing a single stone from Elephantine to the pyramids did not care a great deal so long as in the twenty years in which one of the pyramids
was building there were forthcoming
the 300,000 men required for the work.

Seeing Vesuvius.

..... By JAMES LEWIS.

Copyrighted, 1907, by Mary McKeon.

Robert Gaston was a bachelor of thirty-eight and was known to be fairly wealthy. He was a clubman in a conservative way. He was also a patron of the theater, but not of actresses. Now and then he made a bet on a horse race or an election, but he did not ride to the hounds or participate in wild revelry. He was a bachelor of good character, and why he did not marry was something no fellow could find out.

Nothing is a mystery to one who knows. Mr. Gaston knew that he was simply waiting for the right woman to come along and arouse the romance in his nature. That he had romance he felt quite sure, but that the right woman would come he had begun to doubt. He had prevented a girl in financial distress from leaving into the river, but she was older than he and did not appeal to him. He had stopped a runaway cab horse and saved the woman inside the vehicle, but she turned out to be a bachelor girl, who coldly thanked him and said that she was about to vault on to the horse's back and stop him herself. At a theater panic one night he had seized a pretty girl in his arms and hustled her out, but she had told him that she was already engaged and had offered him a dollar in cash for his exertions.

Between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-eight Mr. Gaston had had at least fifteen narrow escapes from calling up that slumbering romance that would lead to admiration and love, and he had finally come to the conclusion that it would have to be something out of the beaten track and might never happen at all.

How little do we know what a day may bring forth! On a certain Sunday Mr. Gaston sat in the smoking room of his club and read the six volume Sunday papers and was satisfied and content. On Monday he decided to sail for Italy and see the volcano of Vesuvius in operation. No one had ever suspected him of a partiality for volcanoes. He had not rushed off to the Johnstown flood or the Galveston disaster or the Baltimore fire. He had never been known to attend a prize fight or pay a visit to the morgue, and he had once turned pale at sight of a bleeding finger on the hand of a club waiter, but now he wanted to sail far away and see a volcano belching destruction for twenty miles around. Such is man!

Five days from the date of making his decision Mr. Gaston sailed for Naples. His steamer was not overcrowded. He would find plenty of standing room at the deck rail when he reached port. This would be one of the occasions when the front seats were not reserved for ladies. It was two days before the old bachelor suddenly discovered that there was an extremely good looking young woman aboard in charge of the captain. His heart gave one jump, and then he turned away. He was off to see volcanoes and not to look after comely women. Besides, the captain whispered to him that Miss Davidson did not care to make acquaintances on the voyage. By way of revenge Mr. Gaston did not stare at her at the table, as did all the other passengers.

Four days had passed, and he had met Miss Davidson face to face a dozen times, and neither had seemed to see the other. Then he passed her vacant steamer chair and found her purse lying where she had carelessly left it. Finding a lady's purse, whether on land or sea, calls for immediate action. Mr. Gaston was in search of the captain to hand it over, with contents untouched, when he met the young lady face to face and had the hardihood to address her. She at once responded smilingly. Yes, it was her purse, and she was under a thousand obligations, and so they introduced themselves to each other and sat down for a chat.

She had told the captain that she didn't care for introductions, but she was willing to make an exception in Mr. Gaston's case. Mr. Gaston was on board for the express purpose of going to Naples to see a volcano humping itself and hadn't expected to speak to a woman en route, but he was also willing to make a solitary exception.

There were many other clats, but it was not until the last day out that Miss Davidson solved a problem that was puzzling the bachelor. She was going to Italy to claim a large estate left by her grandmother. She had the papers with her. She was an orphan and had no relative to come with her, and her New York lawyer and her maid had accidentally been left behind when the steamer sailed. She must go to a hotel in Naples and wait for them, though she would be in consultation with an Italian lawyer meanwhile, and some preliminary steps could be taken.

The romance that had been buried deep in the heart of the old bachelor began to thaw out. It thawed and bubbled and rose to the surface. It began, admiration. Mr. Gaston wouldn't have made a wager that it wouldn't end in beguiling love. The thing that was needed had come to him at last. On arrival at Naples the captain took Miss Davidson to a certain hotel, and Mr. Gaston went to another, but of course Mr. Gaston could call at any proper hour. He did call.

There was old Vesuvius belching away and scattering ashes and fireworks all around, and hundreds feared that Naples must be destroyed, but he was not among them. He was falling in love with Miss Davidson, and Naples must stand. Together the two saw the old hill doing her stunt, but their talk was mostly in regard to that grandmother's fortune. It amounted to millions of dollars, and Miss Davidson was the only heir. It would be a great responsibility for her, and she almost dreaded getting the money. Alone in the world and immensely wealthy, how could she tell whether a man sought her hand for love or the long green?

At this point Mr. Gaston reached out and took her hand and said something in reply, but as there happened to be an eruption just then—a sound like ten thousand mad bulls bellowing at once—the young lady never caught the words. She took them to mean something at least brotherly, however, and hung to his arm a little more tightly. Mr. Gaston was now in love. He was ready to bet a new hat on it. He was ready to propose marriage. He was willing to bet two hats on that. He must go a little slow, because he was no fortune hunter and wanted the girl to satisfy herself on that point.

A week passed, and then Miss Davidson received a cablegram from her lawyer stating that he would be delayed two weeks longer and that she should begin preliminary proceedings in the suit. Mr. Gaston did not see the cablegram, but he did see the lawyer who called on the helmsman. Miss Davidson insisted that he should be present at the interview as the only dear friend she had in all Italy. Vesuvius belched and roared and threw rocks over 200 feet high, but the interview took place just the same. The lawyer went over the case, which was a sure thing. It was as sure as that an American trust company could run the price of potatoes up a dollar a barrel and not go to jail for it.

Everything was ready to begin business, but there would be need of money—quite a bit of money. Being a foreigner, Miss Davidson must put up $10,000 before filing the suit, and then there would be need of $5,000 additional to bribe officials and get the papers started on the right road. The American lawyer would bring the money when he came, but that would mean more delay. When you are going to sue for millions left by your grandmother, you can't begin too quick. If you foot around too long, a hundred other heirs will rise from their graves to hold out their avaricious paws.

When the lawyer had departed, Miss Davidson was almost in tears. She hadn't the cash to advance. Her lawyer was taking the case on a chance, and $1,000 was all she could raise. She succeeded in chocking back a few sobs and then suddenly smiled and said it would make no great difference. If she had not the money, that must end it.

Right there was where Mr. Gaston spoke his little piece. He had loved her from the instant he found the purse in the steamer chair, and now that he could be of use to her his love welled up like a spring on the Catskill mountains. He would advance the money to the lawyer. She must not say him nay. He wanted her for his wife, but he would not make a formal proposal until she had had time to study him and make sure that he was tested, but instead, even while she protested he left her dear presence to fix things with the lawyer. You may be in Naples and your bank account in New York, but things can be fixed in a day to transfer any sum named.

The next day as Mr. Gaston came into the presence of the one loved she blushed and returned the pressure of his hand. Old Vesuvius still whanged away, but she was quiet compared with Gaston's heart. For one day only! On his next call he found the helmsman missing. After anxious inquiry he learned that she had taken the train for Genoa. He might have telegraphed and had her and the fake lawyer arrested, but he decided not to do so. He had loved and lost, and without another look at the famous volcano he took the steamer for New York. When his club friends asked him to describe what he had seen, he said there was nothing to describe. To one man only did he open his bleeding heart, and he was somewhat comforted to hear the other exclaim:

"The deuce you say! Why, the same girl got $10,000 of my good money in the same way last summer! Glad I'm not the only easy mark in this old world!"

Oldest Artificial Leg.
What is said by the British Medical Journal to be the oldest artificial leg in existence is in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. It was found in the tomb of Capua and is described in the catalogue as follows: "Roman artificial leg. The artificial limb accurately represents the form of the leg. It is made of pieces of thin bronze, fastened by bronze nails to a wooden core. Two iron bars, having holes at their free ends, are attached to the upper extremity of the bronze. A quadrilateral piece of iron, found near the position of the foot, is thought to have given strength to it. There is no trace of the foot, and the wooden core had nearly crumbled away. What skeleton had its waist surrounded by a belt of sheet bronze edged with small rivets, probably used to fasten a leather lining. Three painted vases (red figures on a black ground) lay at the feet of the skeleton. The vases belong to a rather advanced period in the decline of art (about 300 B. C.)."

Hard Work.
"Your enormous fortune has resulted in comfort and ease for yourself and your family."

"Well, I know that it has," answered Mr. Camox. "It has compelled mother and the girls to put in a terrible amount of hard work giving me lessons in etiquette."—Washington Star.

SENTENCED TO THE LASH.

Four-Year Term Also Imposed on Man at London.

London, Ont., Sept. 3.—Thomas Tavender was on Saturday sentenced to four years in Kingston Penitentiary and twenty lashes for an assault on Emma Matthews, an eight-year-old girl. The offence on which Tavender was convicted was committed on June 30 last, at the Mount Elgin Institute near Munster, during the absence of the child's parents. Tavender was arrested on July 12, and acknowledged his guilt.

YOU PREVENT HAY FEVER, OR CURE IT

In a prompt, pleasant and effective way, by inhaling the germ-killing, throat and lung healing Catarrhoxone. "Delightful to use, simple in its operation, free from stomach nauseating and destroying substances. It is a marvel of scientific efficacy. Catarrhoxone kills the germs that excite the disease, heals the inflamed surfaces and prevents absolutely a recurrence of the malady. Catarrhoxone cannot fail to cure Hay Fever, because it destroys its cause. Druggists, 25c., $1.00, or mailed to your address. It is price is forwarded to Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Detectives Foil Black Hand.

New York, Sept. 4.—Caught in the act of taking money from a victim whom they had threatened with death, three Italians, who the police believe are leaders of the Black Hand Society, were captured yesterday by detectives after a wild flight on a trolley car on Second avenue, in which one of the Italians was shot while diving through the car window in a final effort to escape.

THE CAUSE OF HAY FEVER.

It's a microbe that floats in the air, gets into the throat and lungs, develops rapidly, excites inflammation, etc. The cause is as simple as a thistle in the finger. Extract the thistle, away goes the pain. Destroy the Hay Fever germ—you get well. That's why Catarrhoxone acts so marvelously in Hay Fever. Its fragrant vapor to you brings cure, but to the microbe death. Catarrhoxone is as quick to act on these microscopic organisms as lightning. Prevents as well as cures, and is always successful. Druggists, 25c., and $1.00, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Harvest About In.

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—The weather is fine throughout the whole of the west and the crop outlook is vastly improved.

Outing in Southern Manitoba

is progressing rapidly and the harvest will be over by the end of the week. In Northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan outing will be started about the end of the week or the first of next week.

SPORT ON LABRADOR COAST.

Fishing and Exploring on the Lonely Northern Shores.

Mr. Lawrence Mott, writing to The New York Herald of a sporting and exploring trip on the Labrador coast, gives a list of streams and bays in which great quantities of salmon and sea and brook trout are to be found. At various points on the coast caribou are plentiful, and at others there is good bear shooting, an abundance of wild fowl, etc.

In the course of his interesting article Mr. Mott accuses the Newfoundland Government of laxity in the matter of enforcing the game laws. He says:

It seems a pity that His Majesty's rivers should be despoiled of their yield of salmon simply because of negligence on the part of the Newfoundland Government and a glaring insufficiency of proper wardens. Archibald Douglas, now stationed at Portmouth, England, did all he could to prevent this evil. His officers likewise; but there remains a stupid "non-chalance" on the part of the Newfoundland Government itself. In their own island they do everything right, but neither salmon are netted illegally in their rivers or not, and the same holds true of the caribou.

A great many of the Newfoundland skippers take their wives on the Labrador; poor, thin women, that come for some twelve months, and at night, by the flare of a kerosene torch, help to clean and salt the day's take of cod. The quarters on the average schooner are dirty and small; four men, including the skipper and mate, sleeping at, two men to a narrow bunk. Forward, with only a stowaway board, partition (rarely a solid bulkhead) between, is the after or main fish hold. The stench is therefore overpowering to one not used to it; and when on rainy, cold nights, the little, but always most efficient stove is set going in the fore hold, the atmosphere in their wet, slime soaked clothes the reek is nauseating—but healthful.

The struggle for a bare existence, the continual slavery of the sea, creates a callousness in these characters—usually seen in their utter carelessness as to their own lives. It is known that "d'fish" are in a certain bay, or on a certain stretch of shore, and they will up all night, or day, fog or storm, and away. Ice is thick on the coast all through the fishing months, and fogs hover on the horizon.

The sort of warden that is appointed for a certain river is somewhat as follows—I describe John Smith, at the River of Ponds: A long, lank individual, with no common sense—else he would not have taken the job of four months' work at $40 for the whole lot. He will use his own nets under cover of darkness on the plea that he has to be on the river to do duty, meanwhile shoving in groundless complaints against those who try to thwart him.

Take it all-in-all, to "do" the Labrador fishery of one's own (chartered, if you prefer), in quest of sport, curious and interesting people, glorious scenery, most healthful climate and in comparative safety, is a delightful way of spending three months. Take a man who says: "Yet I am willing to take the many discomforts in the way of bad weather and high winds, charter a schooner such as I had; let him engage a crew that work well together, and, most important of all, a 'clever' skipper, and I can assure him of royal days with his fish."

To add briefly, I would suggest that a sportsman might begin his cruises northward from Port-aux-Basques, Nfld., and fish the west coast rivers upward rapidly. We did this and found some fine streams, where the fish are undisturbed, and the flock commonly called "sports" from the States and England.

On a trip of this kind one gets an insight of the cheerless lives of the fisher folk up in the barren North. Nearly all work and no play. Yet they live hard and the rough heathen natives have much that is generous and kind. For example, when we arrived at Tub Harbor a group of fishermen came aboard. They had seen our American ensign and thought that we were a trader and that it was our duty to help them. We had no chart of Gros Water Bay, and one of them at once offered the worn, tattered sheet that he used on his own vessel. The chance that he might not see it again never entered his mind. He would not steal from us; why should we carry off what he had? That is the way those people argue.

Vancouver's Chinatown.

Vancouver has a gigantic Chinatown—a Chinese theatre, and a large amount of real estate in the city owned by the Celestials—in fact, one of the wealthiest Chinamen in America resides in Vancouver. A $500 poll tax is assessed against the Chinese who desire to vote. The shortage of labor has even brought up a suggestion that the tax be repealed for a year or so, until the market is supplied. The scarcity of labor is an acute problem, but the Socialist and Labor vote has to be considered. This silenced those who would otherwise declare openly what they secretly desire in the way of labor legislation. Some radical citizens of Vancouver, it is said, are willing to go through an earthquake to eradicate the Celestials.

In some of the Chinamen's establishments an effort has been made to employ the lanky, turbaned Sikhs. Many of these will eat no meat and have a half-starved appearance, which is no endorsement of a vegetable diet. Labor unions are against Hindus to the last end, and while they employ them, they refuse to work with them. These dark-skinned strangers have little desire to speak the English tongue, and their utter ignorance of the prevailing language makes it very difficult to employ them.

Laughter.

Laughter is a most healthful exertion. It is one of the greatest helps to digestion with which I am acquainted, and the custom prevalent among our forefathers of exciting it at table by jesters and buffoons was founded on true medical principles.

ONTARIO LADIES' COLLEGE

(Trifoliate College)

Being in Whitby on the shores of Lake Ontario, under beautiful grounds, furnishes an ideal, healthful home in which to obtain an education. Palatial buildings of modern type, an equipped staff of teachers and unexcelled equipment. Musical Department in affiliation with Toronto Conservatory of Music and under direction of well known teachers—large piano in College Concert Hall. It is close proximity to Toronto enables students to take advantage of the important concerts, etc., held there, while at the same time they are removed from Toronto's many temptations and distractions. The physical, mental, moral, social and religious growth, placed under influences that develop the highest type of refined Christian womanhood.

Will Re-open September 9th. Write for calendar to REV. DR. J. J. HARE, Principal.

Flying Kites For Luck.

On the ninth day of the ninth month, according to the Chinese calendar, all the Celestials, old and young alike, betake themselves to the hills behind their towns and amuse themselves by flying kites. But amusement is not the sole reason for this ceremony. It comes from an old Chinese legend, and if a Chinaman did not fly his kite on the given day he would rest uneasily for the remainder of his life in fear that misfortune would overtake his family. The legend runs that many years ago a certain Chinaman was warned in a dream that a misfortune would come to his home on a certain day. Accordingly on that day he repaired to an adjacent hill and amused himself and his family by flying a kite while he was waiting for the disaster. In the evening, upon returning to the valley in which his house was situated, he found that it had fallen in and buried his pigs beneath it. He and his neighbors joined in thanksgiving for his narrow escape, and in memory of the event every year sees the flight of millions of kites in China.

The Unsocial Young Napoleon.

At dinner during the voyage to Corsica, to which my father invited the passengers who included some officers of his regiment and the two Corsicans, he requested an officer, M. de Belloc, to call a young man who was wearing the uniform of the military school and reading at the end of the boat. The younger man refused. M. de Belloc came back irritated and said to my father: "I should like to throw the unsocial little fellow into the sea. He has an unpleasant face. Will you grant me permission, colonel?"

"No," said my father, laughing. "and I am not of your opinion. His face shows character, and I am sure that he will be heard of some day." The unsocial fellow was the future Emperor Napoleon. Belloc has related this scene to me at least ten times, adding, with a sigh, "Ah, if the colonel had only allowed me to throw him into the sea he would not be turning the world upside down today."—From Memoirs of Comtesse de Boigne.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses. "The eye undimmed, the natural force unimpaired." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very centre of health and the common source of disease, which led Dr. Pieros to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach. The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood,—by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition.

Not a secret or "patent medicine" because ingredients are printed on label; contains no alcohol, is purely vegetable.

Cheap rates to western points will be made by the C. P. R. from Sept. 1st to Oct. 31st. For rates and further information call at the C. P. R. ticket office, corner of King and Fifth streets.

Fatalities at Hull.

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—At Hull, Lab., Mathias Farrier, 18 years of age, while fishing from the rocks above the Big Kettle at the Chaudiere, slipped and was carried by the current over the falls.

Peter Cole, aged 50 years, an employee of the E. B. Eddy Co., climbed a tree to pick buttermilk. He lost his hold and in falling his head came in contact with the tree trunk and he was killed instantly.

A gentleman buying a bottle of Veterans' Sure Cure, said: "This is a small bottle for 50c." I replied, make a calculation. A 12 oz. bottle of other medicine costs $1; the dose is 1 tablespoonful 3 times a day, equal to 1-1/2 oz.; the 12 oz. lasts 8 days. That 50c. V. S. C. bottle contains about 150 days' medicine; 18 3/4 times as much as the large bottle—a saving of $18.00. In the one you pay for water and glass. V. S. C. is concentrated medicine without water. It is the medicine for all diseases; 50c. and $1 bottles. At druggists. Mailed anywhere by The V. S. C. Med. Co., Chatham, Ont.

Strong friendships are not always the most lasting.

Reduced rates to western points, commencing Sept. 1st. Enquire at the reliable, 115 King street, W. E. Ripin, agent G. T. R. and Wabash Railway.

Money goes like a racehorse and comes like a spill.

BLOW TO THE RANCHES.

Severe Winter Has Meant Heavy Loss In the West.

The winter has been an exceptionally hard one on the ranches of Western Canada, and of the Northwestern States. The many reports of losses on the range from storms have not been exaggerated. Almost whole herds and flocks have been decimated. One rancher says that the loss will be about 75 per cent. Out of 3,600 cattle rounded up last fall by a prominent Alberta man, only 400 can be counted this spring. Others are hit even worse.

Where the ranchers had made better provision than the others, by a good supply of hay, and some sheltering sheds, the losses are big enough with all their care. Now is the time that the destructive work of the past winter is getting in its fullest and fiercest type. The weakened animals are dying now in large numbers. Ranchers are seeing their herds slowly dwindling from them, and the vision of wealth are fading away as rapidly as they come. The whole Canadian ranch country is suffering a depression almost equal to the celebrated year of 1902 among the New Mexican ranchers.

Effect on Trade.

What effect will this have upon the West, and upon the cattle trade of Canada? This is a question not easily answered, because of the subsidiary situation. Kansas cattle never came through in better shape; the sugar-beet factories are successfully feeding their thousands. There is a big supply in Ontario of feeders. Against this we have the dearth of good butchered stuff in Ontario, the prevailing disposition to go into dairying in many sections, owing to the good outlook for cheese, has had its effect in the supplies of good cattle. Sheep are more plentiful throughout the country, and hogs are increasing in numbers also, although the latter have not made the ratio of gain that the recent good prices would warrant.

Demand For Cattle.

Many people say that the demand for shorthorn breeding stock in a few months will take a joyous turn, and those who have laid in the best breeding stock will have their innings. It is true that the Angus and Herefords have obtained quite a hold on the West, but there will be a tendency in the future, in all probability, to go in for smaller herds with better care. These smaller holdings will demand more shorthorns than before, and it is because of this prospect that many base their predictions. Beef cattle ought to rise in value as the season advances, but this is an uncertain question. Butcher's cattle will command the fairly good sale for some time, and, taking all things into account, the outlook is not at all pessimistic for the cattle breeder.

State Care of Insane.

Ontario has done nobly in the care of its sick and defective classes, but too often the cry of economy has prevented the best results being attained. In no department has this criticism had greater application than in the State management of the insane. Too much attention has been paid to the care rather than the cure of this class.

It is a matter of comment that all modern authors on insanity insist that recent and acute cases should be treated in small hospitals perfectly isolated from the large establishments for chronic.

No building in America meet the modern requirements, and it is here that the Ontario Government will score a triumph with its Psychiatric Hospital.

The stigma which always, rightly and wrongly, attaches to confinement in an asylum will disappear, and psychiatry will be put on a footing that will keep it in touch with other departments in medicine. The important moments in the treatment of mental cases are in the incipient stages, and people will not send their friends to such times to the asylums. They would be willing, though, to accept treatment in a small hospital, where a legal commitment would be unnecessary, and where the methods of treatment adopted were on purely hospital lines.

Of course a Psychiatric Hospital will be an expensive institution to build and equip, but the investment will be a good one, as every patient saved from chronicity means a saving of $2,000 to the province. Its cost would soon be saved by the cases referred to sound mental health, for after all, insanity is a purely physical disease, just as amenable to early treatment as many other diseases.

Save your dollars by calling at W. E. Ripin's ticket office, 115 King street, if contemplating a trip; if not thinking of going away come and see us anyway, perhaps you will.

BEVAN—JOHNSON

The marriage of Miss Elsie Amelia Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Johnson, and Robert Percy Bevan, took place at eight o'clock on Wednesday evening, at the Trinity English Lutheran Church, Rev. O. B. Yenger officiated. The church was decorated with palms and ferns. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary Rank as the bride entered with her father, preceded by Orma Bevan, as flower girl, and Gena Bevan as page, both attired in white. The bride wore a gown of lace trimmed with white cord a cyme silk over taffeta, a full length train and tulle veil. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. A. O. Clausen was the matron of honor. Her gown was white chiffon over taffeta, and her bouquet was red roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Florence Johnson, the bride's sister, and Miss Margaret Walle, of Boston. The best man was Alec. Richardson, of Minneapolis. John Orre and A. C. Clausen were the ushers. Miss Johnson's gown was white crepe de chine over taffeta, and she carried pink sweet peas. Miss Walle wore white chiffon over taffeta, and carried forget-me-nots. A reception was held at the bride's home, on East Colorado Street. The out-of-the-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Miss Russell, of Okauch-ross, Ont., Mr. A. Johnson, of Blenheim, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Bevan, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson, of Minneapolis, Mrs. May, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Rank and Miss Rank, of White Bear Lake, Mrs. Erickson and daughter Ada, of Minneapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Bevan will reside in Minneapolis. St. Paul Pioneer Press.

FAIR—McGREGOR

Wallaceburg, Sept. 4. — A pretty but quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. Henry McGregor, Wallace street, this afternoon, when her eldest daughter, Miss Elta McGregor, was married to Mr. John B. Fair, a popular young business man of Arthur. Rev. Mr. Cozons, of Wallaceburg, performed the ceremony.

The young couple were unattended, and only the immediate relatives of both families were present. After partaking of a sumptuous wedding supper the happy couple left on the evening train for Sarnia, when they go to Detroit to take a boat, and will spend their honeymoon on the upper lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Fair will reside at Arthur.

GOT HIGH PERCENTAGE

At the meeting of the agents for the Metropolitan Insurance Company held in Toronto Saturday night, the reports of the company showed that Douglas Poile, of this city, stood sixth among all the agents in this province.

Mr. Poile had the highest percentage of any Metropolitan agent in this district, and he deserves to be congratulated on the unique success with which he is meeting in his work.
