A MESSAGE

TO ALL RED CROSS WORKERS IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

During the last four and a half years I have made many appeals to you on behalf of the Red Cross Society, whose work has always been very near to my heart. Your ready response and deep interest have proved a source of strength both to myself and to our Provincial Executive, and the assistance which you have rendered in making the work in New Brunswick a success, has ever won my grateful appreciation. In all your efforts I have been with you in spirit, and I feel that, whatever the coming years may bring in the way of Red Cross endeavour, your response will be as loyal and sincere in the future as it has been in the past.

THE WORK OF THE CANADIAN RED CROSS SOCIETY IN THE PROVINCE OF
NEW BRUNSWICK
DURING THE YEARS OF THE GREAT WAR.

COMPILED BY ELSEY V. N. CLEMENTS

Secretary New Brunswick Provincial Branch Canadian Red Cross Society.

NO one who has lived during the last five years will soon forget that August day in 1914, when the British Empire declared itself to be on the side of righteousness and honour, and entered the Great War, to take her part, to sacrifice, and to spend the riches of her manhood, her power and her wealth without stint, in the cause of that liberty so dear to the heart of every free nation.

And as quickly as the Empire donned her armour, just so quickly did the Red Cross spring forward to take its share in the binding up of wounds, and to work for the healing both of body and spirit for which it has ever stood. And now, although the Armistice is signed and the sound of the guns has ceased, the work of the Red Cross still goes on and will continue as long as there is a sick or wounded soldier to be cared for.

The New Brunswick Provincial Branch has many to thank for courtesies received. Colonel Marshall, Chairman of the Executive at Toronto, and all the members of the Headquarters Staff have ever been ready to answer the many questions which of necessity we have asked. Our relations with Mr. Milburne, the Superintendent of Transportation have been most satisfactory, and it was always a pleasure to have the Overseas Shipping Depot, under his direction, established in St. John during the winter months. The various transportation companies have carried all our supplies free of charge, not only during the period of actual warfare, but for six months after the Armistice was signed. The Press, the New Brunswick Telephone Company, the Sun Insurance Office, the North West Fire Insurance Co., and many others have been most kind, and the Local Branch in St. John gave a portion of the building which they occupied on Chipman Hill for our provincial work.

This little book is an endeavour to record in so far as it is possible to do, the work of the Society in New Brunswick, and is an appreciation of every effort made by every individual who helped, and who responded to that call to service for which the Red Cross stands.

In tracing the organization in New Brunswick, we must go back to the days of the South African War, when Lady Tilley was at the head of those who did such good work then. It was fitting therefore, that when the call came again, she should resume her position, and become once more the leader of the work in this province. This she did at the request of those then interested, coming up from her summer home in St. Andrews to organize and start the Society in St. John and elsewhere, and she received from Toronto her appointment as Organizing President for New Brunswick. From the very first her interest has been untiring, and she has ever been ready to help and direct with wise council and good judgment, eager to give generously to the Red Cross the benefit of her years of great experience.

Inquiries at once began to come in from cities, towns and scattered country districts, and there are now seventy-nine duly chartered branches, as well as many auxiliaries which have been actively engaged in the work almost since the beginning.

The Provincial Branch was organized early in October, 1914, with the following officers:

HIS HONOUR LIEUT.-GOVERNOR WOOD

LADY TILLEY

These officers remained the same until the Annual Meeting in 1915, with the exception of the Secretary, Miss Elsey Clements, taking this office in November, 1914.

Some changes were made each year, and in 1917 Lady Tilley resigned as Treasurer, and Mr. C. B. Allan was appointed in her place.

We have been called upon to mourn the loss of two of our members — Mr. J. A. Belyea and Mr. Philip Grannan — both of whom ever took a deep interest in the work, and whose deaths were very deeply regretted.

At the Annual Meeting in 1917, the President of each Chartered Branch became a member of the Provincial Executive, and it was further enlarged by the appointment of a Special Appeals Committee. In the early part of 1918 two other committees were appointed, viz.: The Sphagnum Moss Committee, and the N. B. Provincial Hospitals Committee. The officers for 1918-1919 are as follows:

Patron:

HIS HONOUR LIEUT.-GOVERNOR PUGSLEY

Presidents of Chartered Branches represent their respective Societies at provincial meetings.

Although reference is made to all these committees later on, some mention should be made of their work just here.

SPECIAL APPEALS COMMITTEE.

This committee was appointed to carry out the campaign for the British Red Cross Fund, October, 1917. They were most successful in their efforts and consented to become a Standing Committee ready to be called upon when needed.

N. B. PROVINCIAL SPHAGNUM MOSS COMMITTEE.

This committee was appointed in 1918 to undertake and superintend the work in connection with the gathering of the sphagnum moss and the making of the then badly needed dressings. Their report appears elsewhere, but the New Brunswick Provincial Branch wishes to record its appreciation of the work done by Mr. Wm. McIntosh of the Natural History Society, the Convenor, whose knowledge of the moss was most extensive, and whose services so cheerfully given were invaluable. And thanks are also due to Mrs. F. J. Harding, the Convenor of the Surgical Department, whose never failing interest and energy did much toward making the work the success it proved to be.

THE N. B. PROVINCIAL HOSPITALS COMMITTEE.

When the Red Cross was requested by the Militia Department to take up the work of supplies, visiting, etc., for the military hospitals in Canada, this committee was appointed to attend to the work in this province. Mrs. L. P. D. Tilley is the Convenor, and Mrs. Frank R. Fairweather, Secretary-Treasurer, and the report of work accomplished, given later on, shows how deeply interested its members are in the welfare and happiness of the returned men who must still spend their time in hospital. The Ashburnham Branch, in Fredericton, also has a committee which cares for the men in the large hospital there, and they too have been able to do a great deal of very excellent work. These committees will, of course, continue their efforts on behalf of the men, as long as there is the least possible need.

THE N. B. PROVINCIAL RED CROSS PORT COMMITTEE.

This committee was appointed near the end of 1918, when it became known that thousands of soldiers' dependents would be landing during the winter months, at the port of St. John, with Mrs. J. A. McAvity, Convenor, Mrs. M. E. Lawrence, Secretary, and Mrs. J. Roy Campbell, Treasurer. The report of their work speaks for itself, but too much praise cannot be given to those who worked so hard and faithfully to give to the strangers landing in Canada for the first time, a truly Canadian welcome, one which furnished practical aid in time of need, as well as the kindly word which was to make them feel that they were indeed coming "home." No hour was too early in the morning or too late at night for these women, who lost sight of self in their desire to help others, and who were ever ready to respond to every call upon their time and energy.

In connection with the work of all these committees it is a pleasure to state, that although the work was at times very heavy indeed, no single member received any remuneration, giving their services most freely to the cause which they all held dear.

GENERAL WORK, EMERGENCY CALLS, SPECIAL APPEALS.

The general work of the Society has been the making and forwarding of the needed supplies, and contributions of money toward the hospital work, and for the purchase of those articles which it was necessary to buy.

Circular letters have been sent out by the Provincial Branch from time to time, setting forth the needs of the Society, and each month the bulletins, and other literature issued by the Central Council at Toronto, have been forwarded to the Red Cross Auxiliaries, Women's Institutes, various chapters of the Daughters of the Empire, and other patriotic societies interested in the work.

Lantern slides were provided by the Central Council showing the work of the Society in the hospitals and at the front, and these through the efforts of Mrs. Lawrence, who added several to the set, and Mr. McIntosh who very kindly provided a lantern by which they might be shown, were taken to several parts of the province, and exhibited for the benefit of the Red Cross branches or auxiliaries of the locality.

EMERGENCY CALLS.

HALIFAX DISASTER.

Two emergency calls stand out very clearly in the records of the Red Cross during the last four years. The first was the call which came at the time of the Halifax disaster, December, 1917, when the terrible explosion caused such havoc in that city, and the part played by the Canadian Red Cross Society is one which will never be forgotten. The little sketch hereinafter printed serves to give an idea of what it accomplished there.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

The second was in the fall of 1918, when the influenza epidemic swept the country from one coast to the other. Our province did not escape, and during this serious and trying time, the Red Cross through its Provincial and Local Branches was able to be of great assistance. In some places it was found necessary to open emergency hospitals, and to many of these, more particularly in the country districts we were enabled to send the supplies so greatly needed. Here again the Surgical Committee of the St. John Local Branch is worthy of mention, for its members worked early and late in the making of the pneumonia jackets for which there was always a demand.

We feel, too, that any record of the service rendered at this time would not be complete without a reference to the work of the V. A. D's. The members of this organization under their Commandant, Mrs. G. A. Kuhring, worked early and late giving freely of their time and energy in caring for those afflicted with the disease. Their help was given not only to the sick in the City of St. John, but they went cheerfully and willingly to any part of the province to which they were called, and by their unselfish devotion many lives were doubtless saved. A diet kitchen was opened in St. John, under the supervision of Mrs. T. E. Girvan, and for six weeks or longer, nourishing food was supplied to those families (sometimes numbering over one hundred a day), whose members were all sick and unable to do anything for themselves. This food was delivered in motors operated by their owners, who volunteered their services for this work.

SPECIAL APPEALS.

Owing to the urgent needs of the British Red Cross, whose operations on the battlefronts of three continents and on the seven seas required large expenditures of money, it was decided, first in 1915, to make an empire-wide appeal for funds to assist in the carrying on of its work.

In the years of 1915 and 1916 this appeal came to us through the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, in compliance with a request received by him from the Governor General of the Dominion. This was also heartily endorsed by the Central Council of the Canadian Red Cross, and we were asked to aid in every possible way to make a success of the effort. All our branches were notified and requested to make some special effort on the day set apart, October 18, which has since become known as "Our Day."

In 1915 New Brunswick contributed over £3,300 and in 1916, £1,500.

In 1917 it was decided that the Canadian Red Cross should undertake the conduct of the appeal, and word was sent to the various Provincial Branches to that effect. Here, a Special Appeals Committee was appointed to carry on the campaign, with F. A. Dykeman, as Chairman, R. G. Schofield, as Secretary, and C. B. Allan, as Treasurer. This Committee was most successful, and there was a most spontaneous response from people of all classes, with the result that contributions amounted to £10,213, or about $50,000.00.

FRANCE'S DAY.

The appeal was made for the French Red Cross in 1916 and 1917, and altogether about $10,000.00 was forwarded as the result of efforts made in this connection.

SPECIAL APPEALS FOR HOSPITALS OVERSEAS.

Three special appeals for overseas hospitals were made, the first in 1915, for the Duchess of Connaught Canadian Red Cross Hospital; the second in 1916, for the Princess Patricia Canadian Red Cross Special Hospital; and the third, also in 1916, for the hospital near Paris which was the gift of the Canadian Red Cross Society to the French nation.

The Duchess of Connaught Canadian Red Cross Hospital was established at Cliveden, the beautiful estate of Major Astor, and starting with accommodation for 130 patients was enlarged by the erection of huts and pavilions, until over 800 could be cared for. It was equipped with everything that was most modern in the way of surgical appliances, and considered one of the most up-to-date hospitals overseas. New Brunswick endowed in this hospital 102 beds, and had there a special ward, known as the New Brunswick ward. At one end of this was placed a shield (the gift of Mr. H. A. Powell, K. C., a member of the N. B. Provincial Red Cross Executive), consisting of the New Brunswick Coat of Arms surrounded by a wreath of maple leaves, the latter beautifully painted in their autumn tints by Lady Tilley. One of New Brunswick's nursing sisters, Sister Edith Hegan, R.R.C., of St. John, was at one time the Assistant Matron in this hospital, and the people of this province have ever been interested in its progress and welfare.

Just recently the Canadian Red Cross Memorial to the forty officers and men of the Canadian forces who died at this hospital, was unveiled by Sir Robert Borden. The Memorial, which is the beautiful figure of a woman with arms outstretched towards the western sky, stands in the Italian garden, guarding the level graves with their simple stones. And to all Canadians, this estate of Cliveden will ever be a bit of Canada carried in the minds and hearts of her many sons who were there restored to health and strength again, after many hours of illness and pain.

The Princess Patricia Canadian Red Cross Special Hospital was originally established at Ramsgate, but owing to the danger from air raids and bombardment was transferred to Bexhill. New Brunswick endowed ninety-eight beds in this hospital.

The hospital near Paris was built at Vincennes and was commenced in 1917, but owing to the difficulties experienced in obtaining material, the problem of transportation and the shortage of labour, was not completed until the early summer of 1918, and in July of that year was presented by Sir Robert Borden on behalf of the C. R. C. S. to the French nation. New Brunswick's contribution to this was the Servery, for which $1,926.00 was subscribed.

The following list covers the contributions for the endowment of beds (at $50.00 each) and for the Servery:

PRISONERS OF WAR.

This department overseas was from the beginning in charge of Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley, who with her voluntary workers laboured unceasingly for the benefit of the Canadians who were prisoners in Germany. The rules and regulations concerning the forwarding of parcels were changed several times, but in spite of the difficulties unavoidably caused by these changes, the work never faltered during the many weary months of war. Had it not been for the C. R. C. S.

parcels of food and clothing, our men would have suffered even greater privations and hardships than they had to bear, and Germany's treatment of her prisoners is too well known to need any comment here.

In the first days of this part of Red Cross work, $2.00 per month covered the cost of parcels, and many individuals "adopted" certain men for whom they thus provided, but as time went on, and the cost of food supplies increased, as well as the number of prisoners, this method of adoption became undesirable, and in July, 1918, the Central Council laid down an entirely new system whereby each province had assigned to it for adoption, those prisoners who had resided there at the time of enlistment, or whose next of kin resided within the province, or who were connected with it through the battalion in whose ranks they had originally enlisted. A circular letter was sent out to all adopters requesting them to send their contributions for this Prisoners of War Fund through the Local and Provincial Red Cross Branches, thus centralizing and simplifying the work of administering this fund.

It must always be clearly understood that every man, whether especially adopted or not, was cared for by the Red Cross, and parcels sent regularly to him as soon as a notification of his capture was received. The following is the list of men assigned to New Brunswick:

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

It must be clearly understood that this financial statement does not by any means represent the money raised in the province for the Red Cross. It is merely the statement of money received by the Provincial Branch for general and provincial funds, nor does it include amounts received for the British Red Cross Society. These amounts were the results of special effort for a special fund and were kept entirely separate from the general receipts of the Branch. Reference to them has already been made. Sums of money were also forwarded direct to the head office at Toronto, a total of $65,969.63 having been sent by the province, which includes contributions from all Societies.

PACKING AND SHIPPING DEPARTMENT.

Since early in 1915, this department of the Red Cross work has been a very busy and important one. Part of the lower floor in the Bank of B. N. A. building, which was occupied by the Local Branch in St. John, was given to the Provincial Branch for this work, and became both the receiving and dispatching depot for the work throughout the province, with the exception of St. John Local, Moncton, Rothesay, and later, Fredericton. These four branches shipped their supplies direct to the Overseas Shipping Depot, reporting their shipments to provincial headquarters.

It was necessary to follow rules and regulations in the forwarding of supplies overseas, and articles contained in the miscellaneous shipments sent to this depot, were sorted and repacked in the regulation boxes in the regulation way. Every branch and auxiliary was asked when shipping, to put a list of contents both inside and outside of all boxes with the name and address of the sender, and also to notify the Secretary of the Provincial Branch, stating how and when the shipment was made and what it contained. A request was also made that garments should be folded in a certain way, so that they would fit into the regulation boxes to the best advantage. When all these directions were followed it simplified the work of a very busy committee, and to those who complied with our requests in this connection our thanks are due.

Mrs. E. T. Sturdee was the Convenor of this committee and was assisted by Mrs. Busby, Mrs. Sherwood Skinner, Miss Ada Bayard, Mrs. W. D. Forster, Mrs. James Jack, Miss Helen Sydney Smith, and Miss Clements, and during the last few months Mrs. Fred Jones and Mrs. Percy Thomson were added to the number. These ladies opened the cases, sorted and repacked the supplies, and nailed and made the regulation boxes completely ready for shipment. During the entire period of their work they were most ably assisted by Mr. J. W. Leavitt whose never failing interest in many ways furnished a help deeply appreciated.

A list of the supplies forwarded is given later, and the Provincial Branch herewith desires to place on record its thanks for the work which made it possible to send forward the thousands of articles of all kinds. This committee perhaps more than any other can appreciate the care taken in the manufacture of these various garments, both knitted and sewed, for many were exceptionally nice.

Christmas Stockings.

The Christmas stockings are worthy of special mention, as although included in the regular supplies they carried with them a message all their own to our sick and wounded Canadians in hospital. For the last three years, the months of September and October have been very busy ones, as it was then that the stockings came in from all parts of the province to be repacked for overseas shipment. Our packing room was piled high with boxes, each with its quota of bright red stockings, some tied with gaily coloured ribbon, some decorated with Christmas seals, some plainer, but all filled with good things, and each bearing its Christmas greeting to some unknown soldier. And we know that the members of our committee in sending these forward, experienced some of the joy both of the givers and the recipients. Many notes of thanks have been received from different parts of England and France, and it will ever be a pleasure to think that the Red Cross in this way could bring a bit of Canada to our men, at that special season of the year, when no matter how far away the thoughts of all turn towards home.

Altogether we sent from New Brunswick 11,782 stockings — 3,683 in 1916, 4,202 in 1917, and 3,807 in 1918.

Refugee Work.

In connection with the refugee work, this was about to be undertaken for a period of three months when the Armistice was signed. The need in the devastated regions was very great, as the refugees were not only sadly in need of clothes, but the scarcity of material in the various countries was such that it was almost impossible to procure anything which could be made up into the necessary garments. The appeal was therefore made to the Red Cross to aid in this way in the care of these poor people, many of whom were returning to their native towns to find nothing but ruins upon which to start their new homes.

We were asked in this province to take up the work for Serbia, as it was felt that better results could be obtained if the efforts of the branches were concentrated upon one definite object. Patterns specially suitable for these people were sent from headquarters, and we are indebted to the St. John Local Branch for the samples and patterns made from these, which we were thus enabled to send out to our various other branches and auxiliaries. Altogether they made for us about 200 samples and cut an equal number of patterns.

After the Armistice was signed we were requested to notify our branches to use up for this work materials which they had on hand, rather than to purchase new for the purpose, as a great deal of money would be needed to carry on the regular work of the Red Cross in meeting its overseas obligations, and in caring for the men in our Canadian hospitals, constantly increasing in number. For this reason the work was more or less limited, but we were nevertheless enabled to send forward from our province a total of 7,126 garments — 5,552 sewed, and 1,574 knitted. Some of the unknitted yarn was also forwarded to be used in this refugee work.

Further Supplies.

A list of supplies given out during the influenza epidemic and also to the N. B. Provincial Red Cross Port Committee is given later. Supplies given to the military hospitals are included in the report of that committee.

During the winter months when many returned soldiers were landing in the port of St. John, the Provincial Branch provided 2,911 pairs of socks to be given to the men who were going to the west. These were distributed for the Red Cross by Mrs. H. A. Powell and were greatly appreciated.

Another special call came for some supplies for the hospital on the S.S. Scandinavian, and we furnished for this 218 different articles, consisting of towels, soap, face cloths, personal property bags, bed socks, dressing gowns, pyjamas and handkerchiefs.

Motor Ambulances.

At least six (6) motor ambulances were provided, three through the St. John Local Branch, two through the Rothesay Branch, and one through the Moncton Red Cross.

REPORT OF THE NEW BRUNSWICK PROVINCIAL RED CROSS PORT COMMITTEE.

Hidden in one corner of the great rooms at the immigration building at West St. John, where all winter the Women's Welcome Committee carried on their wonderful work among the soldiers' dependents was a tiny room on whose doors was the Red Cross. The fact that no flaming poster nor glowing advertisement pointed the way to this spot did not, however, prevent a knowledge of its existence becoming known throughout the various departments almost as quickly as the passengers came up from the boats. This room with its contents was the Red Cross dispensary and was the gift of the New Brunswick Red Cross Provincial Branch through the Organizing President, Lady Tilley, to the work of the Canadian Red Cross Port Committee.

On its shelves were all the essentials that go to the furnishing of a complete drug store and dispensary, which in truth it was, on a miniature scale, but with this notable difference — nothing could be bought from its smiling attendants. Never though was the feeling allowed to exist that this was in the nature of a charitable institution. Far from that it was a privilege, and in giving whatever assistance was required, the Red Cross was very glad to express thus practically an appreciation of the services of "our men while overseas." It was this attitude that made the little room a haven of rest and from it flowed a graciousness that sweetened the most trying times of very trying days.

When the Red Cross Port Committee, which was organized by Lady Tilley, and Mrs. Robson of the Repatriation Committee, Ottawa, had decided on a policy of work it was found that to more completely carry out the scheme for assisting the wives and children of the soldiers who during the winter would land at the port of St. John in large numbers, and from there entrain for their homes in all parts of Canada, it would be necessary to have at hand all kinds of first aid supplies and also clothing for the children and the babies. The committee was formed late in December, 1918, and included Mrs. John A. McAvity, Convenor; Mrs. H. Lawrence, Secretary; Mrs. J. Roy Campbell, Treasurer, with an Executive composed of Mrs. George F. Smith, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. J. V. Anglin, Miss Retallick and Miss Addy. The especial purpose for which this committee was organized was to see to the placing of nurses under the jurisdiction of the Red Cross on all trains leaving the port and carrying the dependents of the soldiers from overseas. In addition to this whatever service could be rendered to these women and children and that came under the nature of Red Cross work was also to be given. The Government had placed this matter in the hands of the Repatriation Committee and that body had decided to hand this most important detail of the work to the Canadian Red Cross who would operate at the ports and at dispersal points through Local Red Cross Committees. The work was new and there was no precedent upon which to build. In discussing the matter it was decided that a dispensary with adequate supplies was an absolute necessity, not only for the women and children, who, tired from a long and dangerous journey, would in all probability need many remedies, foods, and so on, but also for the outfitting of the emergency kits which the nurses would have to carry on the trains. The wisdom of the decision to establish a dispensary was more than justified when the first demand left the shelves empty of all but a few supplies. Here is a list of the articles that were always on hand in the dispensary and which in smaller quantities formed part of the equipment of the nurses' kits for use on the trains:

Alcohol, whiskey, iodine, asperin, cascara, ergot, ipecac, syrup of squills, peppermint, mustard plasters, boracic acid powder, camphorated oil, castor oil, bi-chloride tablets, peroxide, zinc ointment, vaseline, glycerine and rose water, adhesive plasters, white pine, analgesique balm, epsom salts, aromatic ammonia, bismuth mixture, spirits of nitre, Nestles' food, malted milk, oxo (in cubes), drinking cups (paper), spoons, fountain syringe, hot water bottles, catheters (glass and rubber), nipples, medicine droppers, bottles, talcum powder, rubber sheeting, absorbent cotton, gauze, pneumonia jackets, dental floss, soap, towels, bandages, face cloths, handkerchiefs, tooth picks, diapers, sanitary pads, tape, safety pins, children's clothing, stockings, cocoa, bed pads, condensed milk.

With the exception of the children's clothing, and indeed some of that was supplied by the Provincial Red Cross, and with the addition of socks which were kept on hand in small quantities only and for extreme emergency needs, the supplies were the entire gift of the New Brunswick Provincial Branch of the Canadian Red Cross.

The buying of these supplies was the work of the Treasurer of the Committee, Mrs. J. Roy Campbell, who also was in charge of the dispensary. In this department she was assisted most ably by Mrs. G. Ernest Barbour, whose wonderful experiences overseas enabled her to meet the demands of the busy hours most patiently and sympathetically. It was not possible to keep a list of the supplies given to the nurses and the V. A. D. workers on duty in the rest room during a day in which over a thousand passengers were demanding some kind of attention. Lists, however, were kept of the supplies given to the nurses going out on the trains, and at the end of the day, or night as the case might be, stock was taken and the shelves replenished before the arrival of the next boat. This was comparatively easy when the committee had to deal with two or even three boats a month, but when four or five came it made this re-stocking of supplies a formidable undertaking. Everything used was plainly marked to avoid accidents and the Red Cross label was placed on all bottles, boxes and cartons as well as on the children's clothing and other supplies. A Red Cross nurse was in attendance in the tiny room and nothing was ever given out indiscriminately. An investigation of the case was made before any remedy was allowed to be taken from the shelves or the room and under no circumstances was this given to the general public. Either a nurse or a V. A. D. was called, and if in their judgment the case merited a more serious treatment the doctor in attendance at the port was called.

Many requests were made for infants foods which, with condensed milk, oxo and malted milk were always on hand. There was also a constant demand for "something for a headache." This was usually the result of the sea voyage and it was found that a good cup of tea, a rest and an opportunity to bathe the face was more potent than the best advertised headache powder invented. But it would be impossible to enumerate the requests made during the interval spent by the passengers at the pier between the docking of the boat and their entraining for the final journey home. To the baggage already large was very often added some simple remedy for Mary or Tommy, with the assurance that the "Sister on your train will look after you;" a new bottle for the baby and probably a fresh set of clothes. The mothers were so glad of the opportunity the little nursery with its running water and its generous supply of fresh towels gave for the bath that perhaps sea-sickness, or lack of hot water, or a sick baby, or an over-crowded boat had prevented the children getting since leaving home — and sadly the bath was needed. Among many pictures of efficient women is one of a little woman who came briskly into the nursery and undressing her two bonnie girlies bathed them amid peals of delighted laughter from the wee midgits who stood upright in the basins and were showered with pitchers of warm water, then they were dressed in new clean Red Cross clothes over which the mother fairly beamed with delight and "put on chairs to keep clean," while mother proceeded to wash a still smaller baby with the family disposition toward cleanliness and cheerfulness. An interested nurse begged the loan of the midgits and asked if she might give them milk and biscuits, the latter also a Red Cross donation to the canteen and reserved for the children. Hundreds of children were bathed and re-clothed; hundreds of feeding bottles were given to replace those broken or lost on the way out; hundreds of stockings were put on little legs belonging to sturdy youngsters whose mothers had not realized that the rigors of a Canadian climate demanded warmer clothing than that worn in milder England. It was the same story on the trains. The Red Cross nurse spelled comfort and to her the women with the soldiers turned with confidence, while the soldiers themselves, remembering what the Red Cross had meant to them, welcomed her as a guarantee of the treatment Canada had in store for his little family.

The practical side of the venture lies in the fact that the dispensary cost the New Brunswick Provincial Red Cross $926.23. In its work the whole province had a share and contributed to the welfare of the passengers. To some branches and organizations the opportunity for seeing the results of the generous support of the parent society have been greater than with others, but to all the joy of giving has been granted. The official returns state that 10,000 women and children — the dependents of the soldiers — passed through the port. These were all benefited by the work of the dispensary and to them the Red Cross was the link that bound the old and the new worlds together.

M. E. LAWRENCE,
Sec. N. B. Provincial Port Committee.

THE REPORT OF THE NEW BRUNSWICK PROVINCIAL RED CROSS HOSPITAL COMMITTEE.

I beg to submit the following report from June, 1918, to May 1st, 1919.

The Provincial Red Cross Hospital Committee was organized at a meeting held at the residence of Lady Tilley on June 4th last, in response to a request from the Red Cross headquarters at Toronto, that Red Cross Societies operating in local military districts should co-operate with the work of the C. A. M. C. in regard to the care and attention given to sick and wounded soldiers. The work had been done by various societies throughout the city, but our desire was to centralize the work and prevent over-lapping. Under the new arrangement indent forms are supplied the hospitals, and the supplies, comforts and delicacies needed to supplement the work of the Army Medical Corps are supplied as asked for by the A. D. M. S., records of which are kept on the books of both the hospital and Red Cross.

In this way through our various committees under the leadership of our Convenor, Mrs. Leonard Tilley, the patients have been looked after regularly in regard to extra comforts, which help to remind them that we have not forgotten their sacrifices in our behalf.

Through the work of our visiting committee, which has been faithfully looked after by Mrs. Lawrence and Miss Payson, each hospital is visited twice each week by two of their committee and the patients supplied with magazines, tobacco, cigarettes, fruit and other delicacies, ice cream being sent for those on special diet. Three copies of the daily paper are sent each day to the St. John County Hospital and the St. John Military and five of the Montreal "Standard" distributed every Saturday. I should like to particularly mention Mrs. E. R. Taylor and Mrs. Doody, who have been most devoted visitors and given so much of their time. During the summer the Flower Committee, under Mrs. C. B. Allan, did splendid work, flowers were distributed almost every day, these having been sent by thoughtful friends from Hampton, Westfield, Rothesay and other suburban gardens and helped to brighten and add cheer to the wards.

The Drives Committee, under Mrs. H. A. Powell, was practically the most active during the summer. Drives and outings were arranged for the men through the kindness of citizens, who contributed to the hiring of cars, and the owners of motors, who were most generous. Much pleasure was given to the convalescents in this way and many were thus enabled to be entertained at summer homes. The Surgical Committee, under the able management of Mrs. Harding, has proved equal to all demands, particularly during the epidemic, when the pneumonia jackets were much needed. A Sewing Committee has recently been appointed, whose duty it is to be at the hospital three times a week for the purpose of mending, and in this way many garments have already been repaired.

At Christmas, under Mrs. Heber Vroom, with the help of an able committee 475 Christmas stockings were filled and sent to the following hospitals:

For the Christmas dinner, besides the regular rations, we were able to provide turkey, fruit, cake, bon-bons and mince pie (the gift of the Stone Church Circle). Our sincere thanks is due the V. A. D.'s and the members of the Y. W. P. A., who so kindly took charge of the greening and provided a wonderful tree for the patients at the St. John Military Hospital, which all added so much to the Christmas cheer.

On January 30th the patients and staff of the St. John Military Hospital moved to their new quarters, Lancaster Heights, West St. John. A committee was appointed to look after the furnishing of a new recreation room and were able to provide a billiard table, book-case (made by one of the patients), fifty new books, chairs, etc. The cottage situated on the hospital grounds has recently been given over to the nurses and through the untiring efforts of Mrs. F. Fisher and Mrs. Tilley has been made most comfortable and attractive and there the tired nursing sister will enjoy many a quiet hour when off duty.

During the winter eighteen men arrived in St. John, who had been doing outpost duty in various parts of the Empire, most of them having seen service in India, China and Gallipoli, and while waiting transportation these men (all of whom were disabled) were supplied by our Hospital Committee with sweaters, mittens, socks, and mufflers, and before sailing were most hospitably entertained by Mrs. J. V. Ellis at her home.

At Easter the patients were again remembered with fresh eggs, ice cream and salad, each man receiving a dainty box containing chocolate Easter gifts with a personal greeting card. These were placed at each bedside and were much appreciated by the patients.

The N. B. Military Hospital, Fredericton (with an average of 200 patients) has been most efficiently looked after by the Ashburnham Branch of the Red Cross. Their committees have done most excellent work. With a large Visiting Committee they visit the hospital weekly, distributing magazines, fruit, flowers, etc., and any extra comfort desired by the men. Another committee distributes testaments and religious literature and they have supplied a long list of articles, requisitioned for.

I feel that the report of the hospital work would be quite inadequate without a word in regard to Nursing Sister Hegan, Matron of the St. John Military, whose untiring efforts have so endeared her to the hearts of the patients and whose one thought is for their comfort. Her ever ready help has been a great assistance to us in our work.

And now that victory has been won, but with such tremendous cost, our hospital activities must still continue, and we feel that the one wish of those who have made the supreme sacrifice, would be that we look after the comfort of their comrades and still "carry on."

REPORT OF THE NEW BRUNSWICK SPHAGNUM MOSS COMMITTEE.

Sphagnum is the botanical name of a great family of mosses, which form the principal vegetation of peat bogs. Because of its wonderful absorptive qualities, it is valuable as a hospital dressing for suppurating wounds, for bed pads, pillows, splint pads, etc. Examinations show that the best quality will absorb twenty-two times its weight in water, and even the poorest will absorb and hold more water than the best cotton.

Bog moss has been used from ancient times as a treatment for wounds, boils, etc. The impression that its use for surgical dressings is a new discovery is far from correct. It has been commonly believed that the surgical use of sphagnum moss is a modern German discovery, but, like many other German claims, this is without any justification. The first record of its use as a war dressing appears in the year 1014, when, according to Irish traditions, bog moss was used to staunch the wounds of the warriors wounded in the famous battle of Clontarf. An old superstition of the Irish is that the red-colored sphagnum moss was stained by the blood of the slain in some ancient battle, and has grown red ever since.

The Scotch have records of a similar nature. There is a tradition among the older inhabitants in the Highlands of Scotland as to the healing powers of sphagnum moss and its frequent employment for the cure of cuts and wounds. At the battle of Flodden, the Highland soldiers staunched their bleeding wounds by filling them with bog moss and soft grass, and it was said this not only stopped the bleeding but a man with wounds so stopped could fight until too exhausted to stand or hold a weapon.

The use of sphagnum moss as a surgical dressing seems therefore to have originated with the Celtic races, and its modern use is therefore a revival of an ancient Celtic practice.

The Laplanders and other northern peoples were also well acquainted with sphagnum, and used it for lining cradles, for swollen legs, for the treatment of ulcers, etc.

Sphagnum was first employed in a large way during the Russo-Japanese War, when the Japanese used it quite extensively as a first aid dressing. Many of the wounds thus dressed were not inspected until the patient reached Japan, which often took ten days, but almost invariably the wound was in good condition; much better, it is said, than when cotton was used.

The value of sphagnum as a surgical dressing was known perhaps to the majority of the surgeons of Germany, but it was not used to any great extent until the Great War began.

Shortly after the beginning of the war it began to be feared in England that there might be a shortage of cotton, and experiments were made with various materials — oakum, wood-pulp and even sawdust — in the hope of finding some satisfactory substitute. It was at this time that attention was called to sphagnum moss.

In 1914, sphagnum dressings were given a thorough try-out at one of the large war hospitals in Scotland, and the results proved so satisfactory that sphagnum was at once recommended for general use. By September, 1915, sphagnum dressings were formally accepted by the British War Office, and in 1916 the work had become a national industry.

The sphagnum work in Canada has been more recent than that in Europe. During the summer of 1916, Dr. John B. Porter, of McGill University, collected samples of mosses in eastern Canada and sent them to Britain for approval. It was late in the season before definite reports could be obtained from these samples so comparatively little was done before the bogs were frozen. In the spring and summer of 1917 the work was continued by the Canadian Red Cross, under the direction of Dr. Porter. No very large number of dressings was made, yet bogs containing suitable moss were located, and the organization perfected.

On May 7, 1918, Dr. Porter, accompanied by Professor R. B. Thomson, of the University of Toronto, visited St. John to investigate the sphagnum bogs in the vicinity, and found moss of excellent quality in considerable quantity.

On the following day, a meeting of the Red Cross Society was held, at which Dr. Porter explained the purpose of his visit, and stated that the British military authorities had asked the Canadian Red Cross to supply sphagnum moss dressings for the use of the British army.

As moss of suitable quality is only found near the sea coasts, it was felt that the active co-operation of the members of the Red Cross in the Maritime Provinces was necessary for the success of this important work; and in view of the fact that moss of excellent quality had been found in New Brunswick, Dr. Porter suggested the formation of a committee for the purpose of carrying on this work.

In accordance with this suggestion a Committee on Sphagnum Moss Dressings for the Province of New Brunswick was formed, the following persons being named as members: Lady Tilley, Mrs. John A. McAvity, Mrs. Fred Harding, Miss Elsey Clements, Mrs. Harold Lawrence, Miss Dorothy Jones, Miss Hazel Dunlap and Mr. William McIntosh. The committee was organized on May 8, 1918, and at once prepared for active work.

Canada was asked to provide twenty million sphagnum moss dressings, but only one million was promised, and New Brunswick was asked to supply one-third of these. A call was sent out, through the newspapers, for assistance in gathering moss. Many persons were written to, and Mr. Peacock, Director of the Home Efficiency Clubs, directed the staff of teachers working under him to act as agents.

The public responded splendidly. Samples of the suitable mosses were sent to all wishing to assist, with the request that they return specimens of the mosses found in their locality. Scores of persons replied, but it was soon found that some training was necessary to secure even a measure of success. Most of the samples submitted were not of the proper variety, or, the useful varieties were of so poor a quality as to be practically useless.

While the publicity and educational campaign fell short of the results desired, it was successful in putting the committee in touch with a number of persons who rendered valuable assistance and it created a sympathetic atmosphere throughout the province. The actual work of collecting was begun in May, and continued throughout the summer. Some details of this work may be of interest.

Immediately upon the formation of this committee, the Junior Association of the Natural History Society of New Brunswick offered the services of its members. In May they spent two days at Smith's Pond, when fifty-six bags of excellent moss were procured. In August, forty-three members of this organization spent nearly two weeks at Ludgate Lake; a carload of very high grade moss was gathered here. Later, thirty-one bags were obtained at Nerepis.

Miss Elizabeth McKinnon and Miss Anne Orr organized parties at their summer homes, and gathered about forty bags of moss.

The total amount obtained by this organization was six hundred and seventy-three (673) bags.

The second largest contributor, the St. Stephen Branch, collected over sixty bags, and their moss was the best received from any branch. Mrs. Vesey, who was in charge of the work, and Mr. James Vroom, who gave the workers the benefit of his botanical knowledge, are to be congratulated upon their success.

About fifty bags of moss were received from Grand Manan, most of which was of excellent quality. Miss Marie Felix and Miss Inez Henderson organized this branch.

Thirty-two bags of moss were received from Newcastle, most of which was gathered and roughly graded under the direction of Miss Louise Manny.

These were the largest contributors.

In addition to the above, forty-one bags were sent in by various organizations and individuals, making a total of eight hundred and fifty-six (856) bags of moss received from all sources.

The work of grading and drying was commenced immediately after a supply of moss was received.

The following is a summary of the work accomplished by the different circles grading and sorting the moss in St. John:

The regulations of the Board of Health closing all public meetings during the Spanish influenza epidemic virtually stopped the moss work for five weeks. This was a serious set-back, but, immediately upon recommencing operations, the work was resumed with new vigor. The work was arduous, but the splendid band of workers carrying on this branch of Red Cross endeavour, would not permit the output to decrease. Indeed, when orders came to cease work, the grading had become established on a systemized working basis, and could have been carried on indefinitely.

On March 26th, the last working day, sixty-two ladies graded moss in the Natural History Museum, and the week's output was well up to the maximum. This means much, for in the earlier days of the work, when the desultory grader was in evidence, a great deal of moss was graded, and graded very poorly.

On March 27th came the word from headquarters that no more dressings were needed for overseas, and the work was stopped immediately. Over one hundred bags of graded moss were on hand ready for making dressings, and only about sixty bags remained to be graded.

Although sphagnum for surgical dressings has been largely a result of the Great War, a makeshift for a necessity that had arisen, yet there is every reason to believe that it will not be disregarded now that the war is over. The inexpensiveness of the moss, its high absorbency, its abundance in certain parts of the country, and its superiority over gauze and absorbent cotton clearly indicate that it is a very important hospital equipment, and points to the time when sphagnum moss dressings will take their place as a regular commercial product called for by the modern hospital.

WM. MCINTOSH.

REPORT SURGICAL COMMITTEE SPHAGNUM MOSS.

From August 1st, 1918, to May 3rd, 1919, the Surgical Committee, assisted by the Daughters of the Empire, made thirty-three thousand two hundred and seventy-seven sphagnum moss dressings (33,277). Ten thousand three hundred and thirty-three (10,333) were done in ten days for the Siberian unit.

Rothsay has ably assisted us in our work, making three thousand four hundred and sixty-seven (3,467).

Sussex has also helped very materially making two thousand (2,000).

Thus the total number made is thirty-eight thousand, seven hundred and thirty-four (38,734) for the province of New Brunswick.

During the winter port season my outside emergency committees, St. Andrew's Ladies Aid, Westfield Patriotic, and Knox Church, made hundreds of bedpads from this moss for use at the immigration building and emergency hospitals.

All my committees have been most faithful in their work and have been of great assistance to me in every way, for which I am most grateful.

Respectfully submitted,

IDA K. McL. HARDING.

RED CROSS AT HALIFAX (A Sketch).

The Halifax disaster has been written of from many points of view and each and all reveal in the narrative the wonderful outpouring of human sympathy, which perhaps found its largest expression in the work which was carried on under the banner of the Red Cross.

The first close connection that the Provincial Organization had with the practical side of the relief work — after, of course, the supplies that went with Mr. Milburne, who left St. John with the first workers on the night of the disaster, December 6th, had been packed — was a request to meet a train carrying a hospital unit with equipment and personnel, and supply them with the Red Cross brassards, without which an alien society could not operate in Canada. With the assistance of the military these were obtained, and twenty minutes after the telegram had been received, the brassards were being sewed on the arms of the different members of the unit.

In the Red Cross rooms on Chipman Hill, St. John, from the moment that it was known how greatly aid was needed, the scene was one of busy activity. From the ground floor to the upper story busy women worked far into the night, packing supplies and making those surgical articles for which the demand seemed to be unlimited. And scenes like this were duplicated in many other parts of the province.

The sorting and packing of the second-hand clothing was the work of the Women's Council, and much could also be said of the school children, both those in the private and public institutions, who were ready with busy fingers to give every aid they could to the other children so in need. During the entire winter and at Christmas when an effort was made to provide good cheer for the children in hospital, the girls of Witanstede and Netherwood contributed through the Red Cross their no small need of assistance.

At the city halls and public buildings, in every home throughout the province busy women laid aside all thoughts of self and asked "what can we do?" Bandages were rolled, old cotton collected and as the news of the extent of the disaster grew, money, nurses, civilian workers, city officials all offered a service that was gladly accepted and sadly needed.

From the Red Cross rooms on Chipman Hill to those in the Technical College at Halifax, was a distance spanned in memory by a journey with relief workers, newspaper men, anxious relatives looking for loved ones, with nurses and doctors and civil workers all intent on the one thing, to do that which was necessary. In the train were representatives from almost all New Brunswick towns, here the mayor of Fredericton with a party of nurses, there a representative from the town of Sackville with nurses and assurances of practical financial aid; here St. Stephen, there St. Andrews, here one found a Campbellton nursing sister and there a man from Prince Edward Island, all with the one thought of helpfulness in mind. As the train drew near to Halifax, the evidences of the extent of the disaster became more apparent, and in a softly falling snow-storm that mercifully covered the torn and twisted area, the workers left the train and found shelter where they could in a city that, although disorganization was written large across it, was meeting this terrible trouble in a spirit of calmness that was wonderful.

The natural Mecca for Red Cross workers was the Red Cross building and here Mr. Milburne was found, the centre of a system of reconstruction and rehabilitation that later was to win admiration from relief workers all over Canada. A dispensary was established and a system was organized for the distribution of supplies that were coming to the assistance of stricken Halifax from all parts of the Dominion. As an evidence of the co-operation of the people, Mr. Milburne asked that a wire be sent to the N. B. Provincial Branch at St. John, asking for blankets and women's night dresses. The telegraph systems were tied up, but the operator knew the necessity and three messages were sent, each centralizing on Lady Tilley, the Organizing President of the Provincial Red Cross. The blankets and gowns, through the assistance of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., left

St. John on a special leaving on Sunday afternoon, and were being distributed almost before the committee realized that the message had gone through. Once again mattresses were sorely needed for a temporary hospital being established for children, and the getting of them was placed in the hands of one of the members of that indefatigable band of Maritime Provincial Travellers, whose services will never be forgotten. He was a New Brunswick man and where he got the mattresses and how, he alone knows, but before night fell the babies who had been lying on the floor were comfortably asleep on them.

Thousands of boxes were unpacked in the Red Cross rooms and it brought a sudden mist to the eyes when a box was opened, that showed how carefully the needs of the moment had been considered. From the Fredericton workers were boxes in which the children's clothes were all marked with the size and number contained in the packet, a detail, but one which in the midst of demands running into the thousands, is remembered for the time it saved. The boxes from St. Andrews are remembered too, for their careful consideration of the lack of everything that existed in Halifax at the moment. It was a tired woman, who at the end of a long day sobbed over the completeness of a box from Rothesay, where, in the carefully folded napkins for the babies, were the safety pins. "I can see that woman," she said, "and I wish she knew what such care and thoughtfulness means to us." These were small things, but it was the small things which made or marred the day's work.

In the relief rooms established in the city hall, and in various buildings in the different sections of the city, New Brunswick workers were found on all sides. In the hospitals the doctors and nurses from New Brunswick relieved those from Halifax who stuck to their posts until obliged to give up through sheer fatigue. A visit to an American hospital resulted in the discovery that for a few days this hospital was staffed by nurses from New Brunswick, which province is also able to take to itself credit for the efficiency of the doctor in charge who was a St. John man, and who had been associated with the General Public Hospital in that city. Among the welfare workers who remained for some time in Halifax in connection with the child welfare work was a Newcastle nurse, who this past winter has been among the nurses who went from St. John under the Red Cross in its work on the trains carrying soldiers' dependents. In connection with the special work for the children, the St. John School Board sent a doctor and a member of the Board, both women, who not only did an immense amount of relief work, but were able to bring to the Red Cross word of much needed assistance in the districts where they operated.

No attempt has been made in these brief memories of a time when under the Red Cross all men and women worked to alleviate a suffering more intense than words can describe, to individualize the work. It would be impossible to give a list of supplies forwarded, but with a generosity that beggars description, from all over the Dominion, money and offers of assistance poured into the Red Cross. With its brassard on one's arm, one was more powerful than the king on his throne. Cars were commandeered, workers selected and medical supplies conserved. A system of transportation was inaugurated, and another of distribution that was perfect was arranged by the Red Cross. Hospitals were visited thrice daily and their smallest as well as their greatest needs supplied through the unfailing agency of the Red Cross, back of which stood the generosity and sympathy of the people. For weeks after the immediate needs were attended to the Red Cross carried on, bringing relief to the blind schools, to the hospitals, to the sick and needy, and establishing itself more and more firmly in the hearts of the people as an agency through which their assistance in time of great distress may be most nobly expressed.

Sent Halifax Relief Fund: One packing case hospital supplies, six barrels and two boxes second-hand clothing.

Supplies Local Isolation Hospital during the influenza epidemic: Twelve pairs pyjamas, forty-nine pneumonia jackets.

During the last year our society has made monthly mite collections which brought in over $2,500.00. This money was very much needed when it was almost impossible to raise funds by teas, etc., and the society thanks again those of our townspeople who helped make the plan successful.

The different committees did splendid work and each deserves great credit for the good results obtained.

Out of our society a Field Comfort Branch was formed to attend to the comfort of local boys at the front. The ladies of this committee worked devotedly and letters from men in the trenches have proved how packages from their home town have been appreciated. The Field Comforts raised their own funds, which, enlarged by generous donations, proved sufficient for the heavy demands on them.

The Chatham Red Cross wishes to thank once more all those who in any way aided the work of the society, for the sick and wounded soldiers in hospitals, etc.

DOAKTOWN RED CROSS SOCIETY, PARISH OF BLISSFIELD, NORTHUMBERLAND CO.

Although an important business centre in a mixed farming and lumbering community Doaktown is not as its name might imply an organized village or municipality.

The membership of the Red Cross Branch was never very large. Twenty-six active and six associate members has been our average enrollment.

Special efforts have been made from time to time by which the help of the community has been enlisted. A very large part of the good accomplished has been the outcome of the steady self denying efforts of the membership.

The branch was organized October 6th, 1914, and continued its war work until March 31st, 1919.

FREDERICTON RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The Ashburnham Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was organized in Fredericton in the spring of 1917, chiefly through the efforts of the Rt. Hon. the Countess of Ashburnham.

The nucleus of the society was the Ashburnham Club, which, since the beginning of the war, had been doing war work. This club handed into the treasury, $624.35.

During the two years one hundred and fifty members have joined the society and among these are twenty-seven life members.

In the year 1917-1918 the society raised $2,491.89, which, with the generous donation of $624.35 from the Ashburnham Club amounted to $3,116.24. Of this, $2,760.86 was spent, leaving a balance of $445.38 for the second year 1918-1919 when $7,126.10 was raised. Thus for the two years the society has had at its disposal $10,242.34. Of this large amount only a balance of $492.65 remains. All this money has been raised by dues, donations and entertainments.

A large amount of this has been spent for materials to make the required Red Cross garments, in the making of which we have been assisted by people living in all parts of the province.

The following articles have been already sent:

Socks, prs.	3,740	Pyjamas, suits.	1,067

In addition to these hospital supplies two hundred and thirty Serbian garments and twenty pounds of yarn have been shipped.

Of the 3,740 socks sent away, 1,934 pairs have been knitted by our President, Miss Anderson, through whose untiring efforts the society has been so successful.

The current expenses show that the sum of $810.50 has been spent for the Military Hospital. The society has helped this institution in every way, both with money and work.

The Rt. Hon. the Earl of Ashburnham, a life member, has most generously furnished carriages, coaches and sleighs for driving returned soldiers from the trains, as well as for weekly pleasure drives for men at the hospital.

We cannot say too much of the kindness, work and generosity of the Earl and Countess of Ashburnham, as well as of our President, Miss Anderson. Without their valuable assistance, both with most generous donations and endless work, we feel that the society would never have attained its present success.

REPORT OF LANCASTER BRANCH RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The Lancaster Red Cross Society was organized February 22nd, 1915, and the reports submitted are from that date to April 8th, 1919.

The following ladies have served on the executive during the whole four years:

Mrs. Anglin, President; Mrs. McKiel, First Vice; Mrs. Dunlop, Convenor of Cutting; Mrs. Hanson, Convenor of Knitting; and Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Scott replaced Mrs. Worrell in 1916 as Treasurer and Mrs. Wilson replaced Miss Compton as Secretary. Both officers resigned as they were leaving the city.

The society has participated in all forward movements tending towards relieving suffering at home, as well as carrying on the regular Red Cross work. At the time of the Halifax disaster this society sent forward cash, hospital supplies and children's garments.

During the "flu" epidemic this society took full charge of West St. John, Fairville and Kingsville, visiting the sick and distributing food, co-operating with the V. A. D. diet kitchen in the city.

When the soldiers' dependents began to arrive in January last, this society, not only took its turn on the Welcoming Committee, but has made and given away through the Red Cross port dispensary nearly 1,400 children's garments. These warm garments have been found absolutely necessary here and on the trains going west. They form part of the nurses' kits.

A week at the Y. M. C. A. canteen each year has been conducted by the society.

Total number of articles sent out, 40,832. Included are 13,100 pairs of socks, 17,712 sewed garments and 10,020 miscellaneous articles, such as soap, compresses, pads, cigarettes, etc.

MONCTON RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The following report is submitted by Mrs. Cecil W. MacManus, Secretary-Treasurer of the Moncton Branch Canadian Red Cross Society:

The Moncton Branch Canadian Red Cross Society, organized November 2nd, 1914, with twenty-seven charter members, and has grown until today we have 329 enrolled as follows: 151 life members, 120 active members and 58 associate members.

Mrs. W. A. Ferguson, whose untiring energy was a constant inspiration, has been President from the beginning, being unanimously returned to office each year.

The splendid amount of $27,506.65 has been raised from all sources since organizing. Special mention should be made of the Junior Red Cross, which, for the past two years or more, has given noble assistance in raising funds. The Upper Coverdale Sewing Circle did a very large amount of work, and, through Miss Alberta Ryan, gave most generously at all times, endowing beds in the Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia Hospitals; help was also received from Mrs. Wemp, the Women's Missionary Aid Society of Notre Dame, and other outside places.

It would be impossible to mention individual members when so many have done commendable work and have been ceaseless in their efforts. Many members earned their life membership fees by such methods as selling home cooking, catering, making and selling fancy work, doing laundry work, ushering at the theatre, and in various other ways; also two of the officers this year sold victory bonds and contributed their entire percentage amounting to $743.98.

Several hundred pairs of socks were brought in by Mrs. John M. Brown, of Sunny Brae, and the late Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Brown's mother, who was past ninety-five years of age and who knit over 100 pairs in the last year of her life.

PASSEKEAG RED CROSS SOCIETY.

During the early days of the war we felt that we must do something to help with Red Cross work, and after talking it over a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Hendricks to discuss what would be best to do, and it was decided that more effective work could be done if we organized. The Passekeag Branch of the Red Cross Society was therefore organized October 1st, 1914, at the home of Mrs. M. E. Rupert, the following officers being elected: Honorary President, Mrs. J. J. Ryan; President, Mrs. C. J. Hendricks; Treasurer, Miss Ada McVey; Secretary, Miss Dorothy Hendricks; Director of Work, Mrs. Thos. Earle.

Being a scattered country community we met alternately at the homes of Mrs. Hendricks and Mrs. McVey, during the first two years, quite regularly, but later owing to unavoidable causes not so frequently. However, we kept the work up in our own homes, and also supplied yarn and materials to any who would help.

The members of this society in addition to their Red Cross work, forwarded socks to the Rexton boys at the front, and special mention is made of Mrs. McInerney and Mrs. Forster for packing and sending these forward.

ROTHESAY RED CROSS SOCIETY.

In bringing with this brief report the war time activities of the Rothesay Branch to a close, the present officers feel that there are a few outstanding features which contributed so largely to the success of the work that it is fitting to make brief mention of them here.

The operating expenses were reduced to a minimum through the generosity of friends who contributed largely, and in such a manner that made record of them impossible in any tabulated report. The circles at Kingston, Clifton, Hammond River, Gondola Point, Quispamsis and Fairvale sent repeated contributions of money and work, and the committees, especially the buying, cutting, tea and shop committees, on whom fell very heavy work, served most faithfully and energetically. But above all, the gratitude of the branch is due to its two primary officers, elected at its opening meeting in August, 1914, and who were the only officers of the branch for four years. It was largely through the devotion, enthusiasm and generosity of Mrs. John H. Thomson, the President, and Miss Muriel Robertson, the Secretary-Treasurer, that the branch became the influential and effective organization that it did. At the close of the fourth year, the resignation of Miss Robertson was accepted with sincere regret, and the absence of Mrs. Thomson for several months necessitated the appointment of a Vice-President.

Meetings were held twice a week, from 2 to 5 p.m., in St. Paul's Church schoolhouse for over four years. The average attendance was good. It was in a great measure due to the fact that the meetings were held regularly with officers and committees always present, that the work of the Red Cross was kept constantly before the community, thus insuring its interest and support.

Other sources of income besides the weekly teas and the "shop" were a lending library, summer market and war garden. The garden fetes, held during the first three summers of the war, brought in large sums of money. But numerous gifts of money, the regular monthly subscriptions, and the "Drive," held in the summer of 1918 and which brought in over $5,000.00, were outstanding sources of income, none of which offered any inducement to people to give, beyond the necessity and duty that the appeal of the time involved.

ST. JOHN LOCAL BRANCH RED CROSS SOCIETY.

St. John Local Branch Canadian Red Cross Society, was formed by Lady Tilley, August 18th, 1914, and worked at first in St. John's Church school room till November, when the old bank of British North America was given for its use.

With the executive as a centre the branch was enlarged to include circles in the city and throughout the province (a list of these is added).

Under the direction of the Needlework Committee (who also took charge of the buying and planning of work), cutting committees, meeting twice a day, prepared garments to be fashioned by these circles. From the circles too came quantities of beautifully knitted socks while very considerable sums of money from the same source helped to swell our funds.

The Yarn Committee bought and gave out yarn, with such success that at the end of the war the average was one thousand pairs of socks per month.

The Surgical Committee's work included bandages and dressings, pneumonia jackets, and toward the end of the war consisted chiefly of the sphagnum moss dressings of which upwards of 35,000 were made.

Included in the shipments from this committee were thousands of pounds of absorbent cotton and sterilized bandages "the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Burden, of Boston" and more than nine hundred pound tins of ether donated by Mr. C. Walker Craibe, of Detroit.

The conservation of waste paper was enthusiastically inaugurated and carried on for many months, under the supervision of the head of the packing department. Owing to various circumstances, change in the market conditions, the long railway haul, etc., it was found not to be a money making proposition and was therefore regretfully abandoned.

Appeals were made each year for France's Day, July 14th; for the British Red Cross on October 21st, Trafalgar Day. The special effort for this appeal amounting, in 1917, to $38,000.

Christmas stockings, one thousand strong, have come in each year. Thanks to the committee who cut and gave out the stockings as long as a demand came.

The C. W. C. A. Committee included in its activities the Valentine appeals for socks for sailors and the sending of maple sugar collected by the DeMonts Chapter I. O. D. E.

The Shipping Department has been responsible for sorting, packing and sending the 291,324 articles which went from this branch before October 1st, 1918.

Newspapers were sent each week both to England and to South Africa by this committee, assisted by St. George's circle and the pupils of the Witanstede School.

The Publicity Department kept ever the aims and needs of the organization before the public. It is largely due to this department that no special appeal for our own fund was necessary until January, 1918, when St. John contributed $32,000.00 in one day. The monthly bulletin and annual report were also the work of this committee.

Three motor ambulances, sent through this branch, are the gifts of Messrs. T. H. Estabrooks Co., the Maritime Commercial Travellers Association and the Maritime Branch Knights of Pythias.

Funds for carrying on the work have come from far and near, chiefly from St. John, but also throughout the province, and indeed from the United States.

In fact it was only necessary to make our needs clearly understood to have the means to supply them come to hand.

It is not possible to make special mention of any of these kind donors but each and all may feel how large a part they played in the carrying of our work to a successful issue.

SHEDIAC RED CROSS.

The Shediac Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society was formed August 30, 1914, by a few ladies of the town. Miss Evans was chosen as President, an office which she has held until the present time. During the four and a half years since the organizing of the society the work has gone on without interruption — the members have met once a week for sewing and the giving out of work. The first meeting in each month is devoted to the business of the society. There have been many ways of raising money beside membership and life membership fees — bazaars, rummage sales, tag days, house to house canvasses, teas, concerts and lectures have all proved successful.

The total receipts of the society up to the present time are $6,700.18. Special appeals have been responded to from time to time. The following amounts have been sent the various funds:

Drug Fund.	$485 00
Various Hospitals.	274 00

ST. ANDREWS RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The St. Andrew's Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was organized by Lady Tilley on August 27th, 1914, with Mrs. G. H. Stickney, President, and forty-two members.

Weekly meetings have been held ever since until March 21st, 1919. We have had an average of ninety members enrolled and working, each anxious to do their best to add to the comfort of the men wounded and in hospital.

During the four years the society has raised by work and contributions of kind friends, $5,150.00.

Total number articles forwarded to Shipping Depot, St. John, 39,499.

In response to a special appeal 334 pairs of socks were sent and twenty pairs mittens and scarves.

Four large cases of Christmas stockings have been sent for wounded Canadians in hospitals overseas.

Chamcook, Bocabec, Bay Side, Elmsville and Grand Manan have sent large parcels in our boxes and have at times contributed sums of money.

Since the beginning of 1919 we have worked for the Serbians and on March 21st a case was shipped containing hospital supplies and sixty Serbian garments.

Members of the society also gave to each man enlisting a box of useful and needed articles.

I feel that special mention should be made of the loyalty and devotion of our President, Mrs. G. H. Stickney, who has been constantly in attendance and by example as well as precept has stimulated the workers to give of their best — and Mrs. Stephen Shaughnessey, too, merits the thanks of all the workers — she has cut out and prepared personally, every garment made by the society, and there are many others that I would like to mention if space were available. Our thanks are due the rector and corporation of All Saints Church for the use of a heated room, free, for all our meetings.

NINA R. ANDREWS,
Secretary.

ST. GEORGE RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The St. George Branch of the Red Cross Society was formed in September, 1914.

For four years we have carried on a very successful and harmonious society. A large part of our general fund has been raised by monthly collections, a system which has proved most satisfactory. We have also raised money by concerts, teas, tag days, etc.

Very generous aid in both work and money has been given by the outlying districts of Letete, Back Bay, Mascarene, Second Falls, Scotch Settlement, L'Etang, Black's Harbour, Bocabec and Utopia.

We have had practically the same officers during the entire four years, with the exception of the Secretary's office which has been filled by three different members.

Special mention must be made of the wonderful way in which Mrs. J. Sutton Clark has filled the office of President, her heartfelt devotion to the cause and untiring efforts have been an inspiration to every member.

Among many who have done good work, we must give special credit to Miss Mary Magowan, who, though practically an invalid, has knitted 365 pairs socks.

The people of St. George, especially our business men, have supported the Red Cross nobly and have been ever ready to respond to appeals for money or other assistance.

During our four years of work our total receipts have amounted to $5,462.13. Expenditures $4,525.91 as follows:

N. B. Provincial Headquarters Hospital Supplies.....	$1,050 00
British Red Cross Fund.....	350 00
France's Day Fund.....	100 00
Christmas Stocking Fund.....	50 00
Prisoners of War.....	25 00
Red Cross Supplies.....	2,950 91
	$4,525 91

Supplies Forwarded.

Socks, prs.....	3,084	Bandages.....	500
Day Shirts.....	824	Refugee Garments.....	50
Hospital Shirts.....	1,050	Garments for Halifax Sufferers.....	100
Pneumonia Jackets.....	86	Christmas Stockings.....	25
Cholera Belts.....	200

We also raised a special fund apart from Red Cross work to send Christmas stockings to all the boys from St. George and vicinity.

Much of this work was contributed by the aforementioned country districts. We have on our books the names of twenty-six life members.

GRACE G. MACCALLUM,
Secretary.

ST. MARTINS.

The St. Martins Branch of the Red Cross Society was organized October 15th, 1914, duly incorporated and a charter granted by the Provincial Branch in November, 1915. In addition to the St. Martins Branch, auxiliary branches were formed at Great Salmon River, Greer Settlement and West Quaco. These branches worked faithfully and well, especially in knitting socks.

Since its organization the branch has forwarded to headquarters, the following articles:

Pneumonia Jackets.....	30	Wash Cloths.....	729
Bed Socks, prs.....	68	Night Shirts.....	9
Handkerchiefs, doz.....	160	Bandages, doz.....	90
Wristlets, prs.....	38	Knit Socks, prs.....	723

	61	Garments for Serbian Relief.

Sent to Halifax Relief:

Articles of Red Cross Supplies..... 363

Each year Christmas boxes were sent to the St. Martins boys overseas.

Contributed $10.00 to the Duchess of Connaught Hospital Fund; $50.00 for a bed in the Duchess of Connaught Hospital and $25.00 to the British Red Cross. The total receipts of the society being $1,544.90, expenditures $1,384.05, leaving a balance on hand of $160.85 and Red Cross supplies valued at $50.00, also a sewing machine.

Special mention should be made of Mrs. J. S. Lynch, who has acted as President ever since the formation of the branch. It is not too much to say that to her energy and devotion, the credit of the good work done is largely due. At the annual meeting, held October 10, 1916, she was made a life member of the society as a token of appreciation of her services and her untiring efforts on behalf of the society. Mr. W. B. Bentley was also made a life member at the annual meeting, held in December, 1918, in appreciation of his assistance given to the society. We are also much indebted to Councillor J. A. Howard, who, in May, 1917, secured a grant of $500.00 from the Municipal Council.

Our chief income for 1918 was derived from the Red Cross dinner given on August 7th, the day the St. Martins Shipbuilding Co. launched their first schooner. Owing to the assistance given us by the Shipbuilding Co., and the generosity and hard work of the members and volunteer workers, $323.45 was cleared.

We desire to place on record the society's thanks to those who, unable to attend our meetings, worked so faithfully at home for the cause.

St. Martins, N. B.

Secretary-Treasurer.

MRS. ROBERT MCFEE, Secretary.

SUNNY BRAE RED CROSS SOCIETY.

This local branch was instituted in October, 1914, and we are probably one of the smallest branches in the province working under its own charter, but our members preferred independence rather than to be subordinate to any other, although being so near the City of Moncton many of the residents of our town belong to and work for the Moncton Branch.

During our existence as a branch we have contributed:

TOWER HILL.

The Tower Hill Branch of the Red Cross was organized September 12th, 1914, with Mrs. Pollard, President; Mrs. Wm. Hyslop, Vice-President, and Miss Ella Lindsay, Secretary, and a membership of seventeen. Mrs. Pollard, although an elderly lady, remained President for three years and devoted much time to the success of our work and every appeal she made for assistance met with a generous response from friends and neighbours.

Two other elderly ladies, Mrs. Catherine Simpson and Mrs. Nancy Towers (not members) were ever ready with their knitting needles when work was on hand.

In addition to these 15 lbs. yarn and 64 garments for Refugees.

In regard to workers, Mrs. Jackson was a very faithful and conscientious worker until her death in the early part of 1917, when Mrs. Mark Newman was appointed President. Mrs. Hannah Nash, a lady long past eighty has knit more than 200 pairs socks and Mrs. Beverly Lank has pieced and sold twenty-one quilts, thereby increasing the funds considerably, and all have been interested and helpful.

MRS. ATWOOD SAVAGE, Secretary.

WOODSTOCK RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The Woodstock Red Cross Society was organized September 22nd, 1914, with the following officers:

President, Mrs. W. P. Jones; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. John H. Watt and Mrs. A. D. Holyoke; Secretary, Mrs. E. R. Teed; Treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Hartley.

Meetings were held every Tuesday, the first Tuesday in the month being the regular business day. With the exception of the Secretary all officers remained unchanged until the society closed. Much credit is due to the untiring efforts of the officers for the splendid work which was done.

When the war seemed to be going against us and the outlook was dark indeed, our members never faltered but went steadily on, endeavouring to do all they possibly could to help our soldiers win the war. We are glad to say that our efforts have been crowned with success.

In connection with the work of societies other than the chartered branches, we wish to thank most sincerely the many Women's Institutes, Chapters of the Daughters of the Empire, and other patriotic organizations who help in the Red Cross work. What they did is by no means completely recorded here, as many of them worked for the St. John Local Branch, in making up the supplies which they provided. A glance at the list of circles in the report submitted by them will show how large the number was. Mention must also be made of the Home Efficiency Clubs, organized in the country districts and in the schools, who took up as part of their endeavours during the winter of 1917-18 the work of the Red Cross. These clubs, over 200 in number, co-operated with the nearest local branch and were able to render assistance to the workers which was much appreciated.

And in bringing this report to a close we feel it most fitting that a slight reference should be made to the part played by the Red Cross on Armistice Day. In the procession of November 12th, in the city of St. John, the Red Cross had its float beautifully draped in white with its emblem emblazoned on the sides, and overhead the banner under which so many have faithfully worked during the years of war, showing that, while it had sorrowed with those whose sufferings had been great, so did it rejoice that hostilities had ceased. A promise too for any work yet to come.

New Brunswick sent its quota of doctors and nurses, many of whom were decorated for their bravery and devotion to duty, and of every one she is justly proud.

And to those who perforce had to remain at home, the Red Cross will ever be the significant emblem of the opportunity which enabled them to pour forth in loving service the affection they held for the individual soldier, into the broader stream of love for that humanity which the Red Cross has served too well. Each many feel that they had their share in a work which made it possible for many men of all ranks, from the highest to the lowest and in every department of army life, to say sincerely and with the deepest meaning:

“God Bless the Red Cross.”
