Mr. Hawkins explained that the Parks Board have no jurisdiction in regard to boulevards and trees planted thereon outside the park boundaries, and that the board have protested against the partial destruction continually being done all along Brant avenue.

Asks for Increase. Miss Gertrude Ryan, assistant teacher in the commercial department, wrote asking that her salary be increased from $700 to $800. This was referred to the school management committee. The opinion was expressed by a member of the board that it was time to consider an increase in salary when the maximum of $1600 had been reached under the system which allows for an increase in salary of $50 a year until the maximum has been reached.

CELEBRATION OF HUGUENOT LANDING ON JUNE TWENTY-EIGHTH.

On June the 28th the people of New Rochelle, N. Y., will celebrate the 225th anniversary of the landing in 1688 of the French Huguenots in America. The above pictures show some of the objects of interest in connection with this event. The actual coming of these early settlers from France will be reproduced. A ship, an exact imitation of the one on which they came to America so many years ago, has been built, and this will float in New Rochelle Harbor on the day of the pageant and will be escorted by scores of the young men of the city, made up to look like the Indians who surrounded the strange French ship when she approached land 225 years ago. Many men of prominence throughout the country have been invited to be present, including the President and Vice President, Secretary of War Garrison, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, the French Ambassador, J. J. Jusserand, and others.

The Soldiers Are Home Camp Was Splendid

Pretty Tired Lot of Dufferins and Dragoons Got Home Last Night—Interesting Features of the Camp.

The Dufferin Rifles returned from Niagara camp last night about 11 o'clock, all looking fit and fine. The officers and men were all burned brown as Indians. The soldiers had all the appearance of a regiment of regulars.

Trip Home. The officers and men were all pretty well tired out, when they arrived home, as they had a tedious journey from Niagara to the city. They were up at daybreak and had breakfast about six. The Regiment remained about noon, and it was about two o'clock before the train started out. They were side-tracked all along the line and did not reach some until nearly 11 o'clock. The officers and men are very indignant about the poor transportation given them by the T. H. & B.

At the Armories. When the Regiment arrived at the armories, Lieut.-Col. Howard addressed the men and complimented them on their splendid showing at camp. The Colonel stated that he had received many compliments from superior officers congratulating him on the showing made by the 38th. He said he was proud of the officers and men for the way they had conducted themselves while at Niagara. "Not one complaint reached my ears," said Lieut.-Colonel Howard. He asked the Regiment to turn out full strength on August 14, when the Regiment go to Hamilton to take part on Military Day during the summer carnival.

After the brass band played the National Anthem the Regiment was dismissed.

Lieut.-Colonel Howard Honored. While at camp, Lieut.-Colonel Howard was honored by being presented with an Imperial officers decoration for his 20 years service as an officer in the militia. Colonel Moore in making the presentation.

spoke in glowing terms of the long and faithful service of Lieut.-Col. Howard. Col. Moore also spoke of the high esteem in which Lieut.-Col. Howard is held by other commanding officers of the Militia Department.

First Class Arrangements. The arrangements at camp were fine, stated Major Genet, the best seen there. The food served to the men was of the very best, and they were made as comfortable as possible while in camp.

The rank and file spoke well of the food received, and one and all declared it to be the finest outing the Regiment ever had.

A very pleasant affair took place at camp yesterday when Sergt. Chas. Taylor was presented with a long service medal, W. F. Cockshutt, M. P., made a short address, referring to the long and faithful service of Sergeant Taylor. Mrs. Cockshutt then came forward and presented him with a long service badge.

Captured Prisoners. During the sham battle Sergt. Hopper of E. Company captured a member of the 77th and brought him to Captain E. H. Newman. The captive was made to carry blank ammunition into camp. He was released after the battle and allowed to go to his regiment.

The bugle band was chosen to play the first and last post at the military tattoo. Sergt. James Mellor had his band in good shape and the boys acquitted themselves nobly.

Bands Honored. The brass band, 35 strong, under Conductor Frank Johnson, played in front of the officers mess while dinner was being served. The band was considered by all the best musical organization in camp, and received many flattering compliments.

SUFFRAGETTES AT MARTYR'S FUNERAL

Elaborate Preparations For Funeral of Miss Davison To-Day.

First Martyr of the Cause Receives Honor From Fellow Workers

[Canadian Press Dispatch] LONDON, June 14.—The suffragette militant as well as non-militant made elaborate preparations for the funeral to-day of Miss Emily Davison, who met her death interfering with the King's motor when it was running at full gallop in the Derby on June 4. A special train brought the body of the woman suffrage "martyr" from London to Victoria station, where a coffin composed of between 5000 and 6000 women was organized to carry across the city through the streets to St. George's Hall, Bloomsbury, where the service will be held.

Women gathered early in the morning in the vicinity of militant suffrage headquarters, where the blinds were drawn and a huge banner hung from the roof. Many detachments of women arrived from the provinces to take part in the parade. Most of the women were dressed in white with purple sashes, and wore black bands on their arms, while they carried wreaths and wreaths of white flowers.

After midday twenty bands were to furnish the music for the procession assembled at the Victoria station, where there was a great number of wreaths bound with the colors and banners to be used in the procession. One of these was the legend, "Fight On; God Will the Victory," and another, "Unconquerable and not Afraid."

The coffin bearing the coffin left the station soon after 11 o'clock. The coffin was covered with a purple cloth and accompanied by a sufficient guard of honor dressed in black wearing black sashes. The program which had been arranged for the funeral procession was through the main streets of London between the Victoria station and the Albert Hall, and when the officials of the suffrage cause suggested that the coffin should parade through the quiet streets they became highly indignant and announced that they would pay no attention to the police, and would insist on a collision with the police.

SHE WEPT: SIGHT RESTORED

NEW YORK, June 14.—A Londoner, blind for eleven months, a Manchester girl recovered her sight suddenly while weeping bitterly at the graveside of her grandfather on Thursday. The facts of the previous blindness and of the present ability to see were confirmed by doctors yesterday.

County Court Was Adjourned Until Monday—Cases on Friday

Judge Hardy after hearing Bailey v. Taylor, a non-jury case adjourned the June session of the County Court until Monday morning.

Bailey v. Taylor. Henry Bailey, the plaintiff asked for $500 damages from the defendant Lloyd Taylor. Bailey is a steamfitter and Taylor is a carpenter. They were working at the home of Mr. John T. Hewitt at Brant avenue on Feb. 14, when friction arose between the parties. Both claimed that they were attacked. Bailey came down stairs with a floor plate in his hand and Taylor thought he was going to be hit and to protect himself hit Bailey with the hammer. The plaintiff got $75. Division Court costs.

Clement vs. Smith. In the case of J. S. Clement vs. Charles E. Smith, a dispute over real estate commission, $125 was awarded the plaintiff. This was the last jury case.

Sills vs. Swinton. On Monday His Honor will hear Sills vs. Swinton, E. G. Sills of this city is suing J. Swinton of Hamilton, for the balance which the plaintiff alleges is due for work done and material supplied on the defendant's house in Hamilton. Mr. W. M. Charlton will appear for the plaintiff and Mr. J. W. Bowley, K.C., for the defendant. His Honor has fixed dates for nearly all the other cases.

Hamilton Sidetracked. The Grand Trunk Railway will inaugurate changes in its time card on June 22 which will vitally affect Hamilton. The Montreal to Chicago de luxe express train will pass Hamilton, by instead of stopping there for five minutes each morning and leaving at 9.05 a.m. It will go straight through the Junction Cut. The Hamilton passenger train each way between Hamilton and Toronto, in the early hours, it is said that the Eastern Flyer will also pass Hamilton on the return trip, making an unbroken run from Brantford to Toronto. By eliminating the Hamilton stop almost half an hour of time will be saved.

BRANTFORD CORDAGE COMPANY WILL MAKE BIG ENLARGEMENT

The Brantford Cordage Company have decided to make a large addition to their plant, including the installation of at least 100 additional spinners and other preparation machines. There will be a large expenditure of money on the most modern machinery and devices, and the capacity will be increased over 3000 tons of binder twine annually.

This, of course, will involve the employment of a large number of additional hands. The popularity of the company's products and a fine organization are responsible for this increase in the factory facilities, as under present conditions it has been found impossible to handle the increasing home and export business, and many large orders have had to be refused.

This is the last strictly Canadian Cordage Company in existence out of some nine companies organized at about the same time, and both prison plants are also closed.

The placing of binder twine on the free list has made this particular line of business in Canada most difficult, but this individual plant is now three times as large as originally and in splendid condition. The concern has been unusually fortunate in buying raw materials, and were in shape for large profits had it not been for the fire in January, two months before prices were fixed at several cents higher per pound than last year. Manila fibre advanced no less than 90 per cent. in four months.

The new warehouse is about completed. It is a fine building, and capable of taking care of the increased output. The new machinery has been ordered and will be ready for shipment in a few weeks, and building operations will be started shortly.

THE INFORMER RECEIVES STAB

"Budgie" Webber Attacked By Gunmen But Refuses to Talk.

[Canadian Press Dispatch] NEW YORK, June 14.—"Bridgie" Webber, one of the four gamblers who testified against Police Lieutenant Becker and the gunman convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, another gambler, was stabbed in the shoulder shortly after midnight this morning under circumstances which he seemed loath to explain.

He was in the St. Vincent's Hospital this morning suffering from pain and weak from loss of blood, but his wound will have no serious result unless blood poisoning sets in. Although branded by some of his former associates in the underworld as a "squealer" in the Rosenthal case, the "informer" closed up tight when detectives tried to pry from him at the hospital this morning the story of the attack upon him.

At first, Webber tried to hide even his own identity, and the fact that he had been wounded. The stabbing occurred on East Eighth street. Webber tried to walk away on the arm of a friend, hiding the wound, but on Broadway in front of Grace church he sank exhausted and admitted to a policeman that he had been stabbed. An ambulance carried him to the hospital, where the flow of blood was stopped and where later Webber's identity was discovered.

ODDS FAVOR AMERICAN TEAM

Another Big Polo Match is Scheduled For To-Day At New York.

[Canadian Press Dispatch] NEW YORK, June 14.—All conditions were favorable to-day for another thrilling battle in the international polo cup series. The ideal weather for the game, such as the first contest was favored with on Tuesday has continued all the week, and under fair skies to-day, the green at Meadowbrook, on Long Island, was in a fine shape for fast work.

The gossip among the 20,000 or more enthusiasts who began looking to the course this morning, was considerably more hopeful, from an American viewpoint, than when the crowds turned out on Tuesday, dubious over the prospect of a successful defense of the cup from the challengers. The assurance given by the defeat of the British team however, by a score of 5 1/2 goals to 10 to 7 in favor of the British to an event thing, and to just to explain sport loving majority, regardless of bets, there seemed a certainty of a close and exciting struggle, with the chances slightly in favor of the home men.

Twin Colts. Mr. Ross Swartout of Newport formerly of Brantford, is the proud possessor of twin mare colts, a recent addition to his stable. Both are not under control before it reached the main building. The gas plant, however is completely gutted.

CRAZY MAN AT LARGE

The police department were called up this morning on the telephone at about 8 o'clock and told by a woman that there was a man under the T. H. & B. Bridge which crosses the Grand River and that he had shot at a train which was crossing the bridge and also that he was undressing and acting like a crazy man. P. C's. Feller and Blanchard responded with the patrol. When they arrived there they found a man there but he did not prove to be the right one. The Willows were searched but the "desperado" could not be located. One of the policemen said that probably the woman had seen a man with his hand up and at the same time a torpedo on the track was exploded.

RAILS ARRIVED.

A quantity of rails arrived in Galt for the Lake Erie & Northern Railway and when unloaded will be placed on the ties which have been laid along the line of construction.

NO STRIKE ON MONDAY

Official announcement was made this morning that there will be no strike of the carpenters on Monday. There is no reason to believe that any agreement has been reached yet satisfactory to both parties. The men will continue to work nine hours a day, which is the bone of contention.

I.O.D.E. Look Scouts Over

Last night the Headquarters Patrol was presented with the Brant Chapter I. O. D. E. rifle won in the recent marksmanship competition. The patrol was drawn up in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, and as the ladies of the chapter took their seats on the platform it came sharply to the salute. A display of scoutcraft was then given. Messages in Morse and semaphore were quickly transmitted, the messages being given and checked by the ladies. The vice-regent of the chapter, Mrs. G. J. Smith complimented the instructors on their Royal Life Saving Society work and expressed deep interest in the various badges which they wore. All members of the patrol wore their swimming and life saving badges and can carry out the practical work of life saving in the water as smartly as they illustrate the work on land.

The rifle team was then lined up in front and before the rifle was presented, the vice-regent on behalf of the Brant Chapter, gave a brief address. Mrs. G. J. Smith congratulated the team on its all round efficiency and expressed the appreciation of the Daughters of the Empire for the fine work which the scout movement is carrying out. "I have much pleasure in presenting this rifle on behalf of the Brant Chapter to a patrol which is living up to the high ideals of the movement, and wish to assure you that the Daughters of the Empire will be pleased to help you at any time," the vice-regent said, as Instructor James G. Matthews received the splendid rifle on behalf of the team.

ACCIDENT AT AYR.

A fire which came close to being a fatal one, occurred here yesterday about one o'clock when the gas plant of the John Watson Manufacturing company exploded and ignited oil. The results were serious to three or four of the employees, Mr. Albert Melvin, foreman of the moulding department, being severely burned about the face, neck and hands, while Messrs. Richard Watson and John Urquhart received slight burns. The fire was not under control before it reached the main building. The gas plant, however is completely gutted.

LIBERALS DO NOT SEEM TO LIKE WHITEWASH

Complete Exoneration of Ministers is Distasteful to Many.

Criticism is Directed in The Liberal Press Against Committee.

[Canadian Press Dispatch] NEW YORK, June 14.—A cable to The Tribune from London says: The opinions on the report of the Marconi committee on the whole follow party lines, but even in Liberal quarters the feeling is pretty general that the majority report should not have so completely exonerated the ministers involved. "The Nation" a leading Liberal weekly says: "The view of a section of the party is that Lord Murray should be repudiated, that Sir Rufus Isaac should resign and that Mr. Lloyd George should express his regrets. As to the future a good many Liberals consider that much depends on Mr. Lloyd George's speech in the forthcoming debate in the House. It is certain that the debate will have a powerful influence either for good or ill on the fortunes of the party."

Regret is expressed that the report of the Liberal chairman should have been thrown over by what was in effect a party vote, and all the more so because many of the rank and file of Liberals consider Sir Albert Spicer a good report and in accordance with the evidence, and think that the report which has been carried against him by Mr. Falconer, Mr. Booth and the other Liberal members of the committee and their allies has a too obviously whitewashing character.

Even as a matter of policy or strategy, there are Liberals to be found who deem the attitude adopted by the chairman was far better for the Liberal party. It may be added that friends of the Prime Minister believe his views to be that it is his duty to carry out the operation of the parliament act in respect to the bills now before parliament and not to be deflected from that course by any personal issues. There was a scene of much animation yesterday when the report and the minutes of the proceedings were issued from the vote office, and members for some time studied and discussed the documents in the lobby.

DIABETIC VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Diabetic Veins. When I worked hard the soles would become swollen and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dropped it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I determined to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my best boss told me why I was off work so much and told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, who had had taken treatment from them himself and knew I could get my veins cured. I wrote them and got Dr. New Milton Treatments. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

HENRY C. LOCUST.

HEAT WAVE STRIKES

40,000 Workers Out in the Midlands and the North

Whether the hot weather has made men disinclined to work, or whether it is merely a coincidence, is hard to say, but it is certainly curious that with the arrival of the heat wave a series of extensive labor disputes has broken out in the Midlands and the North. This unrest takes the form generally of a demand for a minimum wage by unskilled workers. In every case the strike has been brought about without notice to the employers.

The following is an approximate list of the men on strike or locked out:—
Black Country Tube Workers, 30,000
Bradford Carters, 3,000
Sheffield Carters, 3,000
Falkirk Ironmolders (lock-out), 4,000

In addition there are a number of minor disputes throughout the country.

A sculptor has been engaged to design a monument and a poet may be hired to write an epitaph in memory of the dear departed.

LIFE.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never take it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most fortunate. They do not live, but exist; for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more bounding. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

An Accident.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 13.—Unexpectedly encountering an engine approaching from the opposite direction while he was riding a motor speeder on the track two miles east of Midway on the boundary branch of the Canadian Pacific, J. M. Davidson, agent at Midway, aged 33, sustained serious injuries. His wife, who was riding with him was so seriously hurt that she has since succumbed and their one year old baby in arms had a miraculous escape from death, being merely shaken up and bruised. Davidson's arm was severed close to the shoulder and he is suffering terribly from shock.

Did Gregg Punch Graney?

CLEVELAND, O., June 14.—From Philadelphia yesterday came the story of a fight among the Cleveland baseball players as the outcome of their fifteen-inning game at Boston.

"Glad" Graney, left fielder, was slugged by Pitcher Vean Gregg, the report says. Gregg took Graney's task for an error which paved the way to five runs for Boston, tying the score in the ninth and making Gregg go fifteen innings to win.

A battle followed, and when Graney appeared at Philadelphia yesterday he had a black eye. Neither he nor Gregg would discuss the affair.

A Pretty Type of English Home

The name of Ann Hathaway is suggestive of flowers and open air, gardens with the linen bleaching in the sunshine, and the smell of lavender, spinning-wheels and copper kitchen ware, low rafters and a scent of roses. A little difficult to live up to, perhaps, but not impossible if simplicity is the keynote of the whole.

Begin by tinting the plaster all over the house a deep cream, or if you are building the house yourself, have it colored before putting on.

Use for the curtains and upholstery in the living room an old English chintz, with a cream background thickly covered with a running design of the English briar rose, accentuating its color by using two little stiff-backed chairs near the open fireplace. The chintz had best be made into slip covers, for it gives with its ruffled petticoats, and old-time look, impossible of attainment if tacks are used, and seems much more expressive of the comfort that lies beneath their covering. A few rush-bottomed chairs, a long table almost bare with the exception of the low rose-filled bowls reflecting themselves in the bright polish of the table, the high old china, pot-pourri, standing near the windows, where every breeze sends the odor of their spicy contents through the house, all tend to enhance the old-time atmosphere. On the floor waxed and shining, the round hand-sewed rag mats lay demurely in front of each chair and sofa, unconsciously making you feel that rugs were made to walk on, and floors to be kept from scratches. So you picture yourself continuously stepping from one to the other carefully avoiding the bare floor. Even if it does make your exit a little circuitous or force you to take steps a little too far apart to be as dignified as you would like, and if by any mischance the necessity of touching the bare floor arises, you can always tiptoe, and for some reason known only to psychologists you always do.

As we step into the dining room, nothing there disturbs the old-time look. The low "dresser" is covered with old pewter, and the fruit painted rush bottomed chairs stand in well-behaved rows against the walls, while the rag carpet and net curtains, the latter done in a border of square-bodied animals nowhere to be found except on old-time needlework, express at once the love existing between the mistress of the house and her needle. Even the pot of pansies on the table, where the flowers, with their saucy little upturned faces greet you as you enter, and let you carry away with you the hearts-ease they so freely give.

In the hall, all we find is a beautifully carved chest, which stands just at the foot of the stairs, and teaches its lesson that beauty is only skin deep, for its use as a seat as well as a chest is daily proven.

Upstairs we find staid waxed floors with round and oval rag mats placed where needed most. The quaint single beds with their three-paneled headboards, the chest with its oblong mirror hung above serving both as a dresser and chest, the little slender stand near the bed, with its brass night light, the rush bottomed chairs used here also form the furnishing of all the bedrooms alike. For curtains the white dimity is used, finished with the ball and tassel fringe reproduced from Martha Washington's time.

To further carry this all out use the dimity bed spreads edging them also with the same fringe. Embroider the bureau and table covers in cross-stitch of little animals, the same funny little variety of unknown species found running up and down the dining room curtains.

Another very attractive feature sometimes found in very old houses is that of having the window shades made of flowered or landscape muslins, which make the most fascinating pictures as the light filters through them onto the dimity curtains.

Furnishing To-day's House

By Louise Goodloe Falconer

The general character and style of home illustrated, is right in line with much of the old English type of building. Many of these homes are seen through England and they are growing in number in this country. It has the feeling and general style of the "Ann Hathaway" in the treatment of its roofs, cornices, etc. The construction is the same as our modern cement houses, or built with metal lath on wood sheathing and cemented with a rough pebble dash on the exterior.

The house sits low to the ground and the stories are 8 feet 6 inches and 8 feet in height and the cornices brought down low. It has the broad appearance with a front facade of 43 feet, exclusive of the piazza at the right side, and a depth of 25 feet. Basement is full and complete under the entire house, the foundation being concrete and the exterior cement on walls carried down clean to the grade line. A house of this character requires ample grounds, and is well suited to a rural location and, with plenty of trees and foliage about it, has a quaint and homelike appearance. It is estimated to build this home, exclusive of heating and plumbing, in the manner herein described, for $5,000.

The entrance is through a liberal vestibule to a central hall with platform stairs leading up in front at the left of the vestibule and underneath an ample coat closet. There is a large window on the stair platform lighting the hall. At the right of the entrance is the main living room, extending across the end of the house.

The second floor has five good bedrooms, three of which are for the family use and a door connecting the main hall with rear hall out of the two servants' rooms, making that portion separate and distinct from main part of house. The third floor has an ample space in which to finish wishes of owner.

The roof is designed to be shingled and stained, the use of tile on the roof would add very much to the value and appearance of the house, but would also add $500 to the cost.

THAMES IRONWORKS

Order from the High Court Steps Sale of Machinery

Just as the second day's sale of the plant and machinery of the Thames Ironworks Company at Greenwich was beginning on Wednesday morning, the auctioneer stated that he could not proceed, as he had just received an order from Mr. Justice Eve at the High Court to the effect that the property had been disposed of as a going concern. It is understood that the sale does not include the value of the site or buildings. There were some 150 people present when the auctioneer made the announcement, and disappointment was expressed that the sale was not to be proceeded with. It is hoped in Greenwich that the works will be opened in a few weeks' time, and will give employment to a large number of men.

The Thames Ironworks property at Canning Town, where the Thunderer was built, has been disposed of to the Great Eastern Railway whose line adjoins the site. The plant and machinery, however, will be sold by auction, and it may be taken for granted that, as far as shipbuilding is concerned, the history of the yard has come to an end.

CANADIAN REPRESENTATIVES IN THE BRITISH HOUSE

The number of Canadians who have been able to go over to the Old Country and become members of Parliament, almost for the asking, has been remarkable.

Of course, the most notable man from here who achieved that distinction was the late Hon. Edward Blake, who sat as a Nationalist. He was a big man intellectually, and some of his Canadian admirers predicted that he would reach high office, but although he achieved general respect, he somehow failed to meet expectations.

Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist, is another brilliant Canadian, but as an M.P. he has not shone to any extent. Like many other writers, he is not a popular or effective speaker, and when he does get up to talk the House speedily becomes quite empty.

Another Canadian M.P. at Westminster is Joe Martin, who still has the habit of running amuck politically, just as he did here. His most recent exploit has been to denounce the London Times, whose existence and power he is likely to affect just about as efficiently as Canute kept back the sea.

Of all Canadians, Hamar Greenwood has gone the furthest and seems likely to achieve further importance. Bonar Law, the Conservative leader and next Premier, is, of course, a native of Canada, but only in the sense of birth, because of his achievement has, from his earliest years, been across the herring and.

NOBLE WORDS.

The following is taken from the columns of the Gazette, published at Niagara Falls, New York State:—

"The hundredth anniversary of the fight at Stony Creek was celebrated on the battlefield, where a monument was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. Just as all traces of war have long ago been obliterated from that lovely, peaceful landscape, so there remains after the lapse of a century none of the bitterness engendered by the strife of 1813-14, which was also in the nature of fratricidal strife. To us Americans the people across the border are not regarded as probable, hardly as possible enemies—not even as foreigners. Probably the people of no other two countries, living under different flags, are so closely allied in sentiment, in ideals and in their ways of looking at most things, as well as in speech, as we and our neighbors. We will celebrate the anniversary of the victory of heroic Commander Perry on Lake Erie later in the year, and Canada will take the same sympathetic interest in that celebration as Americans displayed in that at Stony Creek yesterday. No right-minded American will resent the celebration in Canada of the doughty deeds that were done and the successes achieved by men of British blood when they saved Canada for the empire in 'the brave days of old.'"

SOME MORE OF KING'S NON-SENSE.

If there is any public man in Canada who can talk more political bosh than Mackenzie King, he had not been heard of up until the time of going to press.

He was speaking yesterday in Erin and charged the Borden Government with "misrepresentation and cowardice" on the navy question. He followed this up with the succeeding baldpate (Globe report): "On the great issue of the navy, now before Canada, Mr. King declared that the Government was trying to hide its shame by saying that Britain would build the Dreadnoughts that were to be provided by Canada, when the ships to be built by Britain are actually those contemplated when the Admiralty's program was presented early in the year. 'They prefer,' said Mr. King amid rounds of applause, 'paralysis to performance, coercion to courage, dishonor to distinction.'"

It was strange, too, that after Mr. Borden had proclaimed from the house-tops that there was an emergency he did not ask the country for authority to do something to meet that emergency. "They were either true or were the utterances of a man with hallucinations. If there is no emergency he has been deceiving you. He has been willing to send $35,000,000 out of this country in order that he might retain office."

It would take some kid in a kindergarten school to beat nonsense like the above.

King knows, or he ought to know, that the offer of the $35,000,000 is to wipe out a long overdue debt and not for the sake of clinging to office. And right here there come the two questions: (1) King claims that said money, and much more of it, should be spent on the building of a navy in Canada and that if it isn't the administration will be licked. (2) King also claims that by sending the money away, Borden is doing so to "retain office."

Where is the man supposed to be at anyway?

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW

Says the Hamilton Herald (Independent):—

"Senator L. O. David has undertaken to explain the reasons why the Liberal majority in the senate decided not to ratify the government's navy bill. In a letter to the Montreal Star the Senator makes the explanation. According to him, the chief reason which influenced the senatorial majority was this: 'There was no emergency; and even if there were an emergency and a pressing need for assistance by Canada to the naval defence forces of the Empire, the construction of three battleships, which would take about three years, would not be the best form of assistance. If there is to be war, thinks the senator, it is probable that it will occur within three years, before the vessels are built.'"

One wonders what these same senators would have done if a bill embodying the opposition naval policy had come up to them for ratification. This policy embraced the building of a navy in Canada—an enterprise which could hardly be well begun in three years. If they balked at the Borden policy because of their doubt whether it would meet emergency conditions which might be developed within three years, how could they have approved of the Laurier proposals? Those three battleships which the Borden government proposed to contribute can be completed within three years, in time for the impending emergency, and may be indeed very likely will be, the British government having decided to start work on them (or their substitutes) immediately. But if the Laurier policy were to be accepted and acted on, it is quite certain that Canada would be able to render absolute no naval assistance whatever in the event of an emergency developing within three years—that is to say, no assistance in the shape of ships or armament.

On the whole, Senator David's explanatory letter might fairly be regarded as evidence of two things:—(1) the fact that the senatorial majority is rather hard up for excuses for its course on the navy question, and (2) the need for senate reform.

Laid at Rest

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon of the late Evelyn Zealand, daughter of the late Samuel Zealand, who passed away in New Mexico, on June 7, at the residence of Mr. David Z. Gibson, 63 Chestnut avenue, to Greenwood cemetery. Rev. Mr. Gordon officiated.

The pallbearers included the following relatives from Hamilton, Capt. Harry Zealand, Major Edward Zealand and Mr. Harry H. Zealand. The deceased led to mourn her loss one sister; Miss Ida Zealand, Detroit, and three brothers; Edward, Cobalt, Herbert of Crookston, Minn., and Theodore of Chicago. Many friends will extend sympathy to the relatives of the deceased.

The Late Mrs. Smith. The following were the floral tributes at the funeral of the late Mrs. J. A. Smith, which took place from her residence in Scotland this week: Broken Circle, family; horseshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Epps; Spruce, Earl, grandson; Mrs. Lewis Winegarden and Harriet; Mrs. James Young, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mulligan, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Willis (Brantford), Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. John Bowden, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill (Toronto), Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Taylor (Brantford), Aunt Minnie (Toronto); crosses, Mr. and Mrs. A. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Dunn; wreaths, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Smith, Scotland Lodge, A. F. and A. M.

Mrs. Pankhurst Arrested. LONDON, June 14.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst was arrested again today and taken to Holloway jail. She had been released on license on May 30, owing to ill-health brought about by a "hunger strike" while she was serving her sentence of three years' penal servitude. Mrs. Pankhurst was leaving the house where she had been staying since her release when two policemen arrested her. She was dressed in deep mourning and was on the way to attend the funeral of Miss Davison.

Of Course He's There MONTREAL, June 14.—Promising that the attitude of the unofficial censors of Delorah in Toronto would not affect his judgment, John H. Roberts, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, said he would see the much discussed play on Monday night when it is produced at His Majesty's theatre here. Continuing, he said that if he found it harmful to morals the members of the company will share the same fate as they did in Toronto and find themselves in the police court within the shortest possible time.

Suffragettes

(Continued from Page 1) The funeral procession started from Victoria station at 2 o'clock. The coffin was covered with flowers and was placed in an open hearse drawn by four black horses. Bands played dirges while the members of various women's societies fell into line behind the hearse, each group headed by its banner and all wearing mourning emblems. Enormous crowds surrounded the station making progress difficult.

Eleven Sections. The parade was divided into eleven sections under the command of the chief marshal, Miss Mary Sophia Allen, who on several occasions has suffered imprisonment for the cause. The suffragettes marched in fours all carrying flowers. The coffin was in the middle of the procession and the clergy of St. George's church, Bloomsbury, marched at the head. The rector of the church, Rev. Charles Ord Baungarten had issued a statement that he was not a sympathizer with the women's militant tactics. With the exception of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who was re-arrested to-day, and "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, who is ill, all the leaders of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant organization, occupied prominent places in the procession. They included the defendants in the conspiracy trial in progress at the central crime court—Miss Harriet Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, Miss Anne Kenney, and Miss Laura Lennox.

Soldiers Return

(Continued from Page 1) Football Champions On the play grounds last night the Dufferin Rifles football club defeated the fast 13th of Hamilton team for the camp championship, by the narrowest margin possible, 1-0. At the call of time, neither team had scored a goal. Ten minutes extra play was ordered, during which time the Duffs with one well planned attack and a deadly shot, beat the 13th goal keeper and won the championship.

Parade State The 38th paraded 296 strong, 21 officers and 275 men, being the largest corps at camp, for which Lieutenant Col. Howard received congratulations on all sides. Officers of the Hamilton, Toronto and other regiments cast jealous eyes on the men which represented the Telephone City's popular regiment. At 6 o'clock yesterday evening the 25th Brant Dragoons arrived in the city from Niagara camp, over the T. H. and B. The men show the effect of being out in the sun as all were burnt brown as a nut. The officers report an excellent camp and a good outing. The cavalry were worked very hard this year and were kept continually on the move. The 25th got off lucky as far as accidents were concerned, only two men were slightly hurt and one horse was all that they lost. The animal broke its leg and had to be shot.

Trustees Meet

(Continued from Page 1) Buildings and Grounds Committee. There have been no tenders received for the terracing and leveling up of the ground back of the Institute, Mr. Ryerson, in the absence of Dr. Frank reported that the board of works and the Parks Board had been interviewed with regard to the work, but neither board would do anything. He suggested that teams be put to work, and that the work be done by the day under the supervision of the architect. The board have the funds, and Mr. Ryerson could see no reason why the work should not be gone ahead with. Upon his making a motion, which was seconded by Mr. Sweet, the committee received permission to go ahead with the work.

Will Prosecute. Boards are being continually torn off a fence at the rear of the school, and the grounds are being crossed by pedestrians. Mr. Burt was instructed to see that a notice informing the public that the board would prosecute offenders were put up. He was told to make the notice read very strong. He Resigns. Mr. D. H. Stewart, teacher in English and History, wrote notifying the board that he was resigning, the resignation to take effect June 30. His resignation was accepted, and the secretary was instructed to send Mr. Stewart a letter expressing appreciation of his services. The resignation of Mr. Stewart is regretted very much by the board. He is going into law. Several members of the board commented upon the fact that teachers have the opportunity to enter other professions which offer larger financial returns. Mr. Sweet expressed the opinion that it was a serious matter for the country to consider when the teaching profession does not offer sufficient inducement for teachers to remain in the profession.

Leave of Absence. Miss M. McCollum, teacher in art, was granted a year's absence. Mr. Burt expressed appreciation of the work of Miss McCollum. School Management Committee reported that they had advertised for teachers to fill the vacancies made by the resignations, and were given power to appoint teachers to fill the positions. There are several applicants. Asked to be on Hand. Previous to an adjournment being made, Mr. Ryerson suggested that Mr. Burt be on hand earlier after the midsummer vacation, in order to organize the classes. Mr. Burt stated that he was already at work. Mr. Ryerson expressed himself as believing that there was too much time wasted during September before getting down to business. He said that he had heard comment on it. Mr. Burt proceeded to show the board the many difficulties of organizing the classes. He will do all that is possible to get the school work proper under way early.

At the Gem

The European press advise that the Kaiser has graciously granted a free pardon to two British officers arrested some months ago for espionage and confined in a German fortress. This is taken as a graceful act on the part of Kaiser Wilhelm during the visit of King George V and Queen Mary to the Fatherland to attend the wedding of the Emperor's only daughter to Prince Ernest of Cumberland. During these times of spy scares and frequent arrests in England and Germany, the feature photo play at the Gem Theatre, June 16, 17 and 18th, entitled "The theft of the secret code." "Snookums—their only child," a screaming farce, and the two splendid family vaudeville acts make up a very pleasing bill. ## OUR BRITISH LETTER Latest News From the Old Land

LONDON, June 14.—Capt. Cecil G. Rawling, the explorer, has recently given English scientists some interesting accounts of a new tribe of pygmies, found by his expedition in Southwest Dutch New Guinea.

These little people known as the Tapiroos, average 4 feet 8 3/4 inches in height. They were found living in the low lying hills of the Kapare river. On the approach of the white men they ran away, but the expedition succeeded in capturing three whose curiosity brought them near camp. At first they were greatly frightened, but kindness won them over and a few months later the explorers were able to establish trading relations with them and were allowed to visit and stay in their village of Wombirni. This village is hidden away in the forest high up the mountain side and was only found after many fruitless attempts. While no open hostility was shown to the whites, they were not exactly receiving with open arms. Of the women and children they saw nothing, but their shrill cries could be heard as they fled up the mountain side on the approach of a stranger.

Describing the men Capt. Rawling says: taken as a whole, that they are well made and wiry, while their color is a dark chocolate. The hair, usually black, but sometimes with a touch of brown or even red, is worn short. Many grow beards. The older men dyeing their red. Like all native tribes they wear necklets of animal bones and other small possessions. Their only covering consists of a covering around the loins. "Their houses and surroundings," said Captain Rawling, "are considerably in advance of those of their large-framed brethren of the plains. To the list of Negroites, which with the Negroites are the known tribes of pygmies inhabiting the earth, must now be added the newly discovered tribe of Tapiroos, who so far as their stature is concerned, take rank next above the Congo pygmies."

Nearly five miles of merchant shipping composed of all kinds of vessels from great transatlantic liners to little tugs which nose them into their berths, will greet King George and Queen Mary when the royal couple pay their state visit to the city and port of Liverpool on July 11.

Since his accession to the throne the King has visited practically every part of the United Kingdom, taking as he does, a keen interest in the industries of the country. He has been down coal mines and through the great steel and iron works, and other factories that bring prosperity to England. His next visit is to Lancashire, from which county he derives his title of Duke of Lancashire, and where he owns great estates. It is to inspect the cotton mills, factories and commerce of England's most populous county, however, that he intends to spend a week there in July.

Liverpool, the capital of Lancashire and the most important shipping port, will be the centre of the festivities in connection with the King's visit. The merchant ships forming a great fleet, the centre of which will be the Mauretania, will be drawn up in the Mersey, and the King on the Mersey Harbor Board's yacht Gadadea, will review them as he does his fleet of warships at Spithead. All the great lines are endeavoring to have their best ships in port on the day of the review, and the fleet will represent in value something like $100,000,000.

Sir Edward Carson, the leader of Ulster Unionists, has again taken up the fight from which he withdrew recently on account of the illness and death of his wife. He opened his summer campaign in Belfast by declaring again that "Ulster would fight" rather than submit to Home Rule, and by urging his compatriots to drill for the day that they might have to battle for their right to remain within the union.

There is no man better able to instill enthusiasm into his followers than Sir Edward Carson, an Ulsterite through and through, there is no more bitter opponent of Home Rule throughout the whole country than this clever lawyer, who is at the top of his profession in England. His remarkable power of cross-examination, relentless and searching, something new in English courts, has made his services much sought after, and hardly a big case comes on now in which he is not engaged.

In politics also Sir Edward's ability as a fighter has brought him to the front. In spite of ill health he has fought year after year against Home Rule, and in the days of the Conservative governments he took part in those measures of coercion which made every Conservative hated in Nationalist Ireland. He has come to be known throughout Ireland as "Coercion Carson," and a priest once said to him: "Sir, if the Irish only hated the devil half as much as they hate you, my trade would be ruined."

Sir Edward is not a great orator but he has a delightful brogue and the ready wit of his countrymen, which always causes the House of Commons to fill when he is down for a speech.

The Chinese have, however, not been discouraged by this reverse, and a stronger army, with better guns, is advancing from Szechuan towards the Tibetan stronghold. Great Britain's protest against this advance has been flouted by the Chinese Government, and today England is demanding the withdrawal of all Chinese troops from Tibetan territory as the price of recognition of the Republic. England's fear, of course, is that a regenerated China in possession of Tibet would be a menace to India.

ASSAULT WITH SASH WEIGHT

Butler's terrible Fight in a Bathroom with Masked Man

Robert Phillips, butler to the Rev. A. A. Severne Majendie, of St. Katharine Collegiate Church and School, Regent's Park, on Wednesday at Marylebone, told an exciting story of a fierce struggle with John Dicks, a typewriter, twenty-three, of St. Martin's place, Camden Town, who was charged with attempting to murder him by striking him on the head with a sash weight in the bathroom, at 2, St. Katharine's, precincts.

Among the exhibits produced were a box of soap, a sash weight, a correspondence and a black mask, which was found in the bathroom.

Mr. Freke Palmer, solicitor, who prosecuted, explained that Dicks was formerly a pupil at St. Katharine's Collegiate School, the headmaster of which was the Rev. A. A. Majendie, who took a great interest in all the pupils who had passed through the school. He paid for Dicks to be sent to Canada, with a view of his settling there. He returned however, and Mr. Majendie then had him educated at the Polytechnic.

Mr. Phillips, whose head was bandaged in the attack upon him, said he had only taken one step into the bathroom when, without a word being said, he was struck five or six blows on the head. He struggled with his assailant, who was masked, and eventually wrenched the sash weight from his hand.

Mr. Plowden took the weight into him, and said he did not know how Mr. Phillips escaped being killed after receiving one blow from such a weapon.

"The doctor says it is wonderful that he escaped with his life," said Mr. J. Palmer.

"It is a miracle he is alive," remarked Mr. Plowden. "I should have thought one blow would have killed him."

Mr. Phillips, continuing, said he told Dicks to clear out of the house or he would kill him. He then followed him downstairs and out of the house, and gave him into custody.

Mr. Freke Palmer said Dicks' feet were frost-bitten, and he had to have them amputated, and that was why Mr. Majendie was very kind to him, and sent him to the Polytechnic to learn shorthand and typewriting. It was also only fair to state that Dicks had been for four years in a reformatory and that five years ago his father committed suicide by throwing himself in front of a train.

DRAMATIC ARREST IN LEICESTER SQUARE

Sequel to Fierce Encounter With Thieves at Streatham.

The dramatic arrest of five men and a woman at a public house in Leicester square on Wednesday was a sequel to an encounter with thieves in Ribblesdale road, Streatham, on the previous Thursday evening.

Constable Tucker when patrolling Ribblesdale road, in the evening, noticed that part of the glass panel of the front door of No. 90 had been cut away. His suspicions were naturally aroused, and he sought the assistance of a sergeant, who took up a position at the front door while Tucker went to the back of the premises. He was actually trying the door, when a man sprang out.

Tucker grappled with him and a severe struggle ensued, but another man appeared, and struck the constable some heavy blows on the face and head with an iron instrument inflicting a severe wound on the jaw and several scalp wounds. Dazed and almost unconscious, the constable released his hold, and both men, by climbing three fences reached Nimrod road, where they took different directions.

One man was pursued by Mr. Smithers of Nimrod road, and Mr. Fleming of Gracedale road. He dashed down a cul-de-sac and on trying to regain the road was held by Smithers. After smashing his pursuer's eyeglass, the fugitive struck him on the head with an iron bar and when Mr. Fleming came up he too was struck and wounded on the head, and the thief escaped. Meanwhile his accomplice had scaled a wall and escaped on to the common.

The thieves secured jewellery and money from the house, and one of them left a bowler hat which was knocked off during the struggle with Tucker.

Since then Detective Inspector Estance, of Brixton, and Detective Sergeant Lee, of Streatham, and several other Scotland Yard officials have been engaged in hunting down the miscreants. Two days ago they could have arrested two men on suspicion, but refrained, in the belief that they were members of a dangerous gang of swell criminals.

The two men were shadowed and the moment for action arrived on Wednesday evening, when they, with three other men and a woman, met in a public house in Leicester square. An ample force of officers in plain clothes was at hand. The men and women were actually in conversation when the officers, who had entered the house suddenly, seized them and intimidated that they were

"Sometimes I Could Hardly Walk!"
2 Boxes of Gin Pills Cured Me

I SUFFERED from Kidney Trouble for five long years. I also had Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles—could not sleep at night—and sometimes could hardly walk. I was treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over fifteen pounds, was very weak, and friends, who had not seen me for some time, were astonished. One day, I met one of our leading hotel keepers, who had been cured by Gin Pills, and he advised me to try them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

Before I had used one box, I felt a big change for the better, and before the second box was gone, I was completely cured. I assure you I can hardly believe it for I had known what I know now about Gin Pills. I would not have spent over one hundred dollars for nothing, when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me.

prisoners in connection with the robbery. One of the men was found in possession of a fully loaded revolver.

Two of the men arrested—Henry Ross, alias Pearl, aged 24, giving an address in Westminster Bridge road, and Jack Bender, aged 22, of Fleury Court, Houndsditch—were charged at the Southwestern Police Court with housebreaking and larceny in Ribblesdale road, Streatham, and with causing bodily harm to Constable Richard Tucker. Bender, who was smartly dressed and held in his hand a velvet trilby hat, was charged with causing bodily harm to Mr. Harry Smithers, publisher, of Nimrod road, address in Westminster Bridge road.

Detective Inspector Estance said on the way to the police station Ross said, "I don't know what we are going for." The other man said, "£500. Its for knocking the copper about—what was in the paper."

One Yonge St. Moving Picture Shows Sources of Revenue

Mr. C. B. Watts of the Dominion Mills Association in communication with the Board of Control to-day insists that the city charge an extra cent for electric signs and sign boards, and have a municipal tax on moving picture theatres. He pointed out that one Yonge street theatre earned a dividend of 140 per cent in the first year of operation. He thinks all picture theatres earn about 40 per cent per annum. The Controllers decided to meet Mr. Watts and talk it over with him to-morrow.

British Parliament News

Parliament reassembled on Tuesday for the most critical part of the session, and with the promise of another Government Bill of first-class importance. This promise was made by Mr. Asquith as follows in a letter to the Liberal candidate at Altrincham:—

"The great system of national health insurance has only been in operation a few months and is proving of immense value to working people. As was expected, experience has suggested some amendments to the Insurance Act, and a Bill embodying these amendments will shortly be laid before Parliament.

The only leading measure which has reached its Committee stage in the House of Commons is the Plural Voting Bill but the three rejected measures of last session—Home Rule, Welsh Disestablishment and Scottish Temperance—will go to a second reading in the next few weeks. There will be only a formal Committee stage, as the Bill must leave the House of Commons precisely as they left it in the first session to come under the operation of the Act. During this stage the Opposition will be given an opportunity for suggesting amendments that may lead to a compromise with the House of Lords.

Members were in holiday mood and summer dress. When Mr. Denison-Pender (U.) took his seat for the Newmarket Division, a Labour member called "Three to one bar one." Mr. Geo. Roberts (Lab., Norwich) under the ten minutes' rule brought in a Bill to provide for the establishment of county boards, which would take into consideration all the varied circumstances of the district, fix a minimum wage for the agricultural labourers, and also regulate the hours of labor. The Bill also provided for a compulsory weekly half-holiday.

The Hon. Hary Lawson (U) succeeded, by 119 to 40 votes, in securing the insertion of an instruction in the London County Council Tramways Bill precluding the Council from introducing a system of trackless trains, whether the Borough Councils liked it or not.

Mr. Lloyd George, in reply to Lord Edmund Talbot, said the Home Rule Bill would be taken on June 9.

Labor Party Denounced.

During the discussion on the Appellate Jurisdiction Bill, which provides two more Law Lords, Mr. Martin (L.), the former Premier of British Columbia, was warned by the Speaker of irrelevancies. Mr. Martin moved the rejection of the Bill, and Mr. Watt (L.) seconding the rejection, said he hoped the country would be made aware of the fact that the Labour party on Tuesday voted for an additional plume at £6000 pounds a year, and now that it was being discussed there was not a single representative of the Labour party in the House. The fact of the matter was the Labour party in the House was a stupendous fraud.

(Cries of "Oh")
Sir, I said that the Imperial Conference were of opinion that two new Law Lords should be appointed. The fact that the Dominions had recourse to the final court of appeal in this country was one of the great connecting links of the Empire. He moved the closure.

Whilst the division was in progress Mr. Wardle (Lab., Stockport) walked up to Mr. Watt and remarked, "You will regret what you said." Mr. Wardle's action was greeted with some Ministerial and Labour cheers. Apparently he referred to Mr. Watt's statement earlier in the afternoon that the Labour party was a stupendous fraud.
The motion for the rejection of the Bill was rejected by 299 votes to 22, majority 277, and the second reading passed.

TITLED LADY AND HER BETS

Farthing Damages in Action Against Mr. Sievier - Book-makers Plaintiff.

An action for libel brought by Mr. Frank Paget, Turf commission agent, against the proprietors of the Winning Post and Mr. Robert Standish Sievier as editor, ended in the King's Bench Division, on Tuesday in a verdict for the plaintiff with one farthing damages.

The defendants had pleaded as to a letter complained of that it was true in substance and in fact, and as to an article published in the Winning Post of Dec. 21, 1912, that in so far as it contained expressions of fact they were true and that the opinions were fair comment.

The plaintiff's case, stated to the court, on Monday, was that in April, 1912, Lady Charles Conyngham owed him £28 on account of bets she had made. He instructed his solicitor to apply for payment in respect of a cheque given by her. Lady Charles Conyngham communicated with the defendants. Then the plaintiff's solicitor received this letter from the offices of the Winning Post:—
"Dear Sir,—Your letter addressed to Lady Charles Conyngham has been placed in our hands, not legally. We unhesitatingly inform you she has been the dupe of many welschers, among them your client Frank Paget, whom you describe as of Sudbury House, Hollen street, Oxford street. Your client has a small office there, and the dairy company who are his landlords insist on him paying his rent in advance. We describe it as an office; as a matter of fact, it is little else than a letter-box, as he is never there. Your client has pleaded the Gaming Act and is a defaulter.

"We propose to publish your letter to this lady, together with our reply, in our next issue." The Editor.
In the paper there appeared an article headed "Fraudulent Commission Agents." In that article was the statement: "Overwhelming evidence can be produced that Paget has seldom paid anybody."

Frank Paget, examined by Mr. T. M. Healy, his counsel, said he had carried on business as a bookmaker at Sudbury House for almost three years. In April, 1912, he received a letter from Lady Conyngham and made several bets with her. At the weekly settlement she owed him £28.

Is there any truth in the suggestion that you ever welsched her or carried her in any way? Not the slightest. Knowing that the Conyngham family were a big racing family in Ireland, I accepted her bets.

Paget admitted that on several occasions he had been unable to pay his debts. He had an accident to one of his eyes and was in hospital for a long time. But when he was doing business with Lady Charles Conyngham he had about £900 to his credit in the bank. His letter was written to Lord Charles Conyngham, not to Lady Charles Conyngham.

Bookmaker's Real Name.
On Tuesday Paget was cross-examined as to his name. He admitted his real name was Edmund Hildsheim. He started his business in 1911. Previous to that he had been a bookmaker on the course.

Counsel: "Do you know a number of persons have complained about your welsching them?"
"No, I have never welsched anybody. I object to the word 'welsching.' It means taking money on racecourses and running away with it."

Counsel put to the witness a number of instances in which it was said he had not paid money to successful clients.

Mr. Paget admitted that he had not paid in some cases, and added, "I will tell you why if you like."

Witness declared that all England had been scoured to find "these few cases against me, some of which I dispute."

Mr. Rose Innes: "I think all England is rising to the sound of your name." (Laughter.)

No evidence was called for the defence and counsel then addressed the jury.

The judge refused to make any order as to costs.

FROM GREAT LAKES TO THE ROCKIES

Women Sing the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Saskatchewan Lady Adds Her Testimony To What Has Already Been Said of the Great Work Dodd's Kidney Pills are Doing.

CAESARVILLE, Sask., June 9. (Special).—The scarcity of female help in a new country subjects the women of the prairies to unusual strain, and careful observation has established the fact that this strain first makes itself felt in the kidneys. For this reason Dodd's Kidney Pills are making an enviable reputation from the Great Lakes to the foothills of the Rockies.

Everywhere you will find women singing the praises of the great Canadian kidney remedy that has banished their pains and weariness, and brought them back to health. Among the many is Mrs. Edgar Cowen, an estimable lady of this place.

"I have found Dodd's Kidney Pills very beneficial," Mrs. Cowen states. "If anything I can say will help any sufferer, I am glad to add my testimony to what has already been said."

The kidneys strain all the refuse material out of the blood. If they are out of order this refuse remains in the blood, and becomes poison. That's why sound kidneys mean pure blood and good health. Dodd's Kidney Pills make sound kidneys.

A YAWN AND A STRETCH.
Did you know that a good, wide, open mouthed yawn is a splendid thing for your whole body? This is the opinion of an English hygienist.

It is one of nature's most evident demands for a rest. Some people think they yawn because they are sleepy. But that is not so. They yawn because they are tired. They may be sleepy, too, but that is not the real cause of their yawning. You are sleepy because you are tired, and you yawn because you are tired.

Whenever you feel like yawning just go ahead and yawn. Don't try to suppress it unless you are out in very formal society, where your hostess would be grieved.

If you can stretch at the same time that you yawn do that, too, for it is another way of nature's stretching and relaxing the muscles. Indeed, if you are very tired and do not feel like yawning there is nothing that will rest you so quickly as to sit on a straight backed chair and lift the feet from the

How Prominent People Have Gained Wealth and Popularity.

Famous Hypnotist Perfects Simple Method That Enables Anyone to Control Thoughts and Acts of Others, Cure Disease and Habits Without Drugs, and Read the Secret Desires of People—Through Thousands of Miles Away.

Wonderful Book Describing This Strange Force and a Character Delineation Post Free to All Who Write at Once.

The National Institute of Sciences has appropriated $25,000 toward a fund for the free distribution of Prof. Knowles' new book, "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of Eastern Yogis and explains a wonderful system for the development of Personal Magnetism, Hypnotism, Telepathy, Powers, and the curing of diseases and habits without drugs. The subject of practical character delineation is treated extensively. It will, without any effort, enable you to read the secret thoughts and desires of others thousands of miles away. The all-time endless stream of letters requesting copies of the book and character delineation clearly indicate the universal interest in Psychology and occult sciences.

"Rich and poor alike benefit by the teachings of this new system," says Prof. Knowles, "and the person who wishes to achieve greater success has but to apply the simple rules laid down." That makes wealthy and prominent people owe their success to the power of Personal Influence there is not the slightest doubt, but the great mass of people have remained in utter ignorance of these phenomena. The National Institute of Sciences has therefore undertaken the somewhat arduous task of distributing broadcast, without regard for class or creed, the information heretofore possessed by the few. In addition to supplying the books free, each person who writes at once will also receive a character delineation of from 100 to 500 words as prepared by Prof. Knowles.

If you wish a copy of Prof. Knowles' book and a Character Delineation, simply copy the following verse in your own hand-writing:

"I want power of mind,
Force and strength in my look,
Please read my character,
And send me your book."

Also send your full name and address plainly and address your letter to: National Institute of Sciences, Dept. 1313, No. 238 Westminister Bridge Road, London, S.W., Eng. If you wish you may enclose the stamps of your own country to pay postage, etc.

Which Are You?

There are two kinds of people on earth to-day. Just two kinds of people—no more, I say.

Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood. The good are half bad, and the bad are half good.

Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth, You must first know the state of his conscience and health.

Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span, Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.

No; the two kinds of people on earth I mean, Are the people who lift and the people who lean.

Wherever you go, you will find the world's masses, Are always divided in just these two classes.

And oddly enough, you will find too, I wean, There is only one liter to twenty who lean.

In which class are you? Are you raising the load Of overtaxed lifters who toil down the road?

Or are you a leamer, who let others bear Your portion of labor and worry and care?

ity in every well brought-up boy and girl's education.

Nowadays women are entering the various professions with a rapidity and success which would have made our grandmothers gasp. In almost every walk of life, that until a generation ago had been man's prerogative, women are succeeding in a way that most astound those who feel that her place is at home and practice the polite accompaniments she may have learned at boarding school and not descend to anything as vulgar as earning her living. Whatever may be said for and against women's right to work, there can be no two opinions as to her capacity, when she determines to battle in the world for her birthright. There can be no doubt that the woman who works hard at something worth while is healthier and happier and wiser than the one who does not. There are, of course, a large number of women, "who toil but neither do they spin." They have no hobbies—and someone has said, "to be happy every one should have a hobby." The women who really work, organize their homes well, excel in their occupations daily in some useful work, are invariably happy, and in consequence, their conversation has a note of practical optimism that is very cheering to be sure. They are realizing more and more to have something to do, gives a wider, more satisfying outlook on life, and gives them dollars in their purse instead of cents.

The Sox were blanked in the eighth, fifth and sixth, but secured the seventh, in the eighth and the score was up in the ninth. Both teams drew blanks in the second. Guelph helped selves to one in the fifth, a sixth and in the seventh, and the eighth.

Three home runs were his delivery. Behan, Wright, Shafer taking one each.

Matty Lamond lifted one of ten for the locals in the making four home runs in the seventh.

The Brants got away to start and had the Leads down in the second. Guelph helped selves to one in the fifth, a sixth and in the seventh, and the eighth.

It was a hard game to do the crowd got the worth money, even if the local do out second best. The Leads hit streak on, and hit right and left. They made hits to secure twice as many.

It was an ideal day for ball players on both teams played ball than the day before. This team is going to be a trou in the league, and the to beats their own for the pen keep up the clip they have been lately.

The Red Sox played with snap yesterday, and are come too shortly, and when look.

With a change of luck they will make them all step.

It will be up to Harry Dorstop the visitors to-day and last game of the present series.

It seems to take the local time to get started, and doence hitting until the pretty nearly over. Kane got of lovely hits, but had to re the game on account of ankle. His place was taken

ANOTHER THRILLER WENT TO THE ENEMY, GUELPH

Terrible Swatfest Went Into Extra Innings—Four Home Runs—Chubby Coose on the Firing Line—Score Was 11-8—Some Brilliant Fielding Stunts Pulled Off.

Friday, the 13th was certainly an unlucky day for the Red Sox, as they made 13 hits and 8 runs, while Guelph secured 21 hits and 11 runs.

It was a strenuous game which was lost the same as on Thursday, in the ninth. They fielded better, ran bases better and outdid the Sox by a large margin.

Three home runs were made off his delivery. Behan, Wright and Schaeffer taking one each.

Matty Lamond lifted one over the fence for the locals in the second, making four home runs in the game.

The Brants got away to a good start and had the Leafs down 2 to 1 in the second. Guelph helped themselves to one in the fifth, 2 in the sixth and 1 in the seventh, and 1 in the eighth.

The Sox were blanked in the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th, but secured three in the seventh, 1 in the eighth and tied the score up in the ninth.

Both teams drew blanks in the tenth. In Guelph's half of the 11th two singles and a home run netted three runs, a lead which the Sox found impossible to overtake, and the game went to Guelph 11-8.

It was a hard game to lose, but the crowd got the worth of their money, even if the locals did come out second best. The Leafs had a batting streak on, and hit the ball right and left.

They made enough hits to secure twice as many runs. It was an ideal day for ball and the players on both teams played better ball than they have before.

This Guelph team is going to be a troublemaker in the league, and the team that beats them out for the pennant will have their hands full, providing they keep up the clip they have been going lately.

The Red Sox played with more snap yesterday, and are bound to come to some top shortly, and when they do look out.

With a change of luck the Brants will make them all step. It will be up to Harry Donovan to stop the visitors to-day and take the last game of the present series.

It seems to take the locals a long time to get started, and don't commence hitting until the game is pretty nearly over. Kane got a couple of lovely hits, but had to retire from the game on account of his sore ankle. His place was taken by Engleish.

Summary—Home runs—Behan, Wright, Lamond, Schaeffer. Two base hits—Kane, Durham, Coose, Lamond, Wiltse, Wright, Fryer. Sacrifices—Fryer. Hit by pitcher, Wagner, Burrill. Bases on balls—Coose, Schuyler, 2. Double plays—Lamond, Ivers, and Tesch; Behan and Schaeffer; Slemm and Lamond. Left on bases—Brantford 9. Guelph 8. Stolen bases—Slemm, Behan, Dunn. Umpires—Jacobsen and Evans.

NOTES Jacobson worked at the plate yesterday and Evans on the bases. Joe Dunn beat out a bunt along the third base line on the first ball pitched. Wiltse popped to Ivers and Wright fled to Brundage. Fryer singled and Dunn was caught going to third on Slemm's fine peg.

Slemm duplicated a fine throw he made Thursday when he threw Dunn out at third base from right field.

Kane shifted his batting order again putting Durham up first. Durham let the first two go by then fled to center.

Wagner's single in the first round was third was a sharp one. Then Kane singled driving Wagner home play. Three runs. Behan caught the liner and stopped a good Red Sox rally.

Kane started the sixth with his third single of the day. Ivers fled out as usual. Then Brundage struck out for the second time. It was truly painful. Slemm fled to short. The old punch wasn't there.

Wiltse did not even attempt to get Wagner's bunt in the ninth. Wagner went to second on Burrill's infield out and came home on Ivers' smash to right. Brundage failed to deliver a hit flying to short. Slemm's hit tied the score, and it was another extra innings affair. Schuyler was derailed in favor of Dorbeck.

The double umpire system worked to perfection. Messrs. Evans and Jacobsen gave excellent satisfaction.

It was a case of the fans again getting their money's worth.

Every ball Guelph hit in the tenth was hard hit, but they were right at the fielders.

Lamond got to second in Brantford's tenth, but died there.

When Slemm hit safely in the 9th he at first drew two strikes, then three balls and bingled the next one. He stole second on the first ball pitched. Tesch fled to Fryer.

Wiltse first man up singled in Guelph's tenth, then Wright doubled. Slemm misjudged the fly thinking it was ticketed for a homer. Fryer was out Coose to Ivers and the fans implored Chubby to get out of the hole. Then Schaeffer with two balls and two strikes poled a homer.

Duff Slemm had a gala day in right and gathered in a number of difficult flies.

Dunn robbed Tesch out of a single in the fourth. The Red Sox were retired on three flies.

With one out in the fifth, Wiltse for Guelph hit to the left field line for two bases. Wright's single scored him. Wright stole second and went to third on Lammy's bad peg. Durham's throw to the plate caught Wright, however, easily. Fryer getting to first.

Schaeffer singled to right, but Brady ended the spasm going out by the old reliable Wagner to Ivers. Guelph scored one with all this action.

It was one, two, three for the Red Sox in the fifth.

In Guelph's sixth, Daniels hit a ball for a single to centre. Brundage failed to reach Schuyler's fly. Dunn singled but Brundage threw to second forcing Schuyler. Dunn stole second, went to third on Matty's bad throw, and then stole home. It looked as if Lamond had him a mile, but Jacobson said no.

It looked decidedly all off when Behan hit a homer over right field fence in Guelph's eighth.

Lamond and Coose both hit for two baggers in the eighth. Durham ended it by flying to Fryer.

When the scorer got through he found Guelph had 21 hits.

Mr. Wright is some hitter! He got a homer in Guelph's seventh. Then Mr. Fryer doubled. Schaeffer was out to Ivers and Slemm threw Fryer out at the plate.

The seventh looked like a good inning for Brantford. Tesch singled and Lamond hit to the fence. Durham doubled scoring Tesch. Schuyler then hit Wagner and Burrill in a row forcing another. Durham scored on Ivers' hit, but Brundage hit into a double

Sporting Comment

It cannot be said that during the last two days the fans have not been getting their money's worth. Two eleven-innings battles in two days looks like some excitement.

It looked as if both the fans and Manager Kane were asleep. Sometimes a manager yanks a pitcher, and sometimes the fans yell to have him yanked. Neither happened at the ball park yesterday, although with Donovan warming up, Kane doubtless intended to apply the hook. At that, big chances were taken with our valuable utility man, Chubby, the way Guelph hammered the ball back at him yesterday. There were hits to the front of him, hits to the right of him, and bingles to the left of him—21 in all. Other fielders were also taking serious chances.

While Brantford lost yesterday, the Red Sox did mighty well to accumulate eight runs on 13 hits, and to make everything count. Outside of hitting ability, Guelph is not so much, after all. We need pitchers, and we need a couple of hitters on the club. While Coose had to go to the firing line, Lefty Smith nursed an injured knee, which he received in Berlin. The pitching staff now consists of Coose, Clermont, Donovan and Smith, the latter being crippled.

Durham, from Depew, N.Y., made his debut at third base yesterday, and played nice ball, although a little nervous breaking in. He seemed to have the faculty of hitting the ball on the nose, and incidentally is a speedy runner on the bases. President Nelson may have uncorked a good man in Durham.

Brundage seems to have fallen away in his hitting. In fact, all the outfielders have looked weak at the stick recently, and herein lies an inherent weakness of the club.

Owing to the work Kane has had to do in left field, he may sojourn in right field awhile until his ankle is improved. Yesterday his hitting was immense.

Lamond was credited with two bad throws yesterday, but only one was bad. There seems to be some misunderstanding between Tesch and Wagner as to who is to cover. At least, Tesch does a race-horse stunt every time he is called upon, and misses his man.

London Free Press: When the expected home game series with Brantford, Peterboro and Hamilton commence, the London club will be greatly strengthened by the addition of two pitchers, a new infielder, and Oske Neale in the outfield. Thus the Tecumseh will present a line up much changed over the one which St. Thomas and Hamilton defeated earlier in the season.

Neale will report on Thursday, as transportation has already been forwarded to the Parkersburg student. Advice to the club is to the effect that Neale is hitting the ball with more frequency, and if such is the case, he will displace Clickinger, who has been out of his regular hitting stride for the past three weeks.

Barry, the former Brantford first baseman, who had a trial with the Yankees last spring and later was loaned to the Jersey City Skeeters, was sold yesterday to the Troy club of the State League. The Trojans also have purchased Kull, a pitcher from Newark.

Peterboro Wins again from the Champions.

OTTAWA, June 14.—Peterboro grabbed the second of the series here yesterday when Sterling held the Senators to four scattered hits, while the Petes got to Lefty Rogers heavily in the fourth, and fifth innings, walloping him for nine safeties in these two spasms and putting across seven runs, three in the fourth and four in the fifth. This was all they needed and they won 7 to 4. Rogers was replaced by Lill in the sixth and moved over to first.

Auld Was Wild.

LONDON, Ont., June 13.—Fitzpatrick was saved from a bad blow-up in the second innings of yesterday's struggle with Berlin and thereafter performed in a manner that made victory certain for the Tecumsehs. Auld occupied the box on behalf of Keenan's men and allowed only five hits, but his defeat was due to his wildness. The score: Berlin . . . . . 02000020—4 10 5 London . . . . . 11010210—6 5 2 Auld and McAvoy; Fitzpatrick and Matteson.

Saints Take Second Game from Hams, 4-0.

ST THOMAS, June 14.—The Saints administered another whitewash to Knotty Lee's Colts here yesterday in one of the fastest games of the season. Clements and Donahue hooked up in pitcher's battle, but the St. Thomas twirler was given sensational support, while the play behind the visiting slabsman was ragged at times. In the second innings Needham booted Wright's grounder, he stole second and scored on Fisher's bad peg to third. Another came in the fourth when Wright, tripled, and crossed the plate on Ort's sacrifice fly.

Two more were added in the fifth, when Inker was given a walk, Clements got an infield hit towards third and went to second on Needham's overthrow at first. Inker scoring. Kustus was safe on Shortstop Mingle's error, and Clements romped home. In the eighth innings one of the most brilliant pieces of fielding witnessed at Pinafore Park was pulled off. The visitors had a man on first, with one out, when Forgee went away back of second and scooped a hot grass cutter with one hand, resulting in a double play. This with Eddie Wright's three-base smash, featured Hamilton plays here to-day, the first Saturday game of the season.

New Pitcher Signed; Trout Goes Back.

President J. J. McCaffery of the Toronto Ball Club, wired from Montreal as follows:—"Pitcher Gaw has reported. Catcher Trout" goes to Peterboro. Fitzpatrick and Graham in lead shape."

The new twirler secured by the Toronto club is the Spar of the New England League. Last year with the Brockton, Mass. club, Gaw won 17 and lost 10 games. Brockton finished fifth in the league race with a percentage of .500. Gaw played altogether in 42 games and batted .252. It is understood that the Toronto club paid $3,000 for the release of the pitcher, who went into the box a few hours after reporting and broke Toronto's losing streak.

Schultz has been playing first base with a broken finger and a lame ankle. As expected, Catcher Trout goes back to Peterboro for more seasoning, though he gives promise of being a good backstop.

Football Betting in Scotland.

GLASGOW, June 13.—In Scotland at all events, the authorities are doing all they can to put down betting on football. A case came up before Sheriff Lee at Aldrie in which it was proved that a bookmaker employed a number of runners to assist him in street betting on football games; whom he undertook to defend if caught in the act and pay any fines inflicted. He, it was stated, had an income from this class of betting of £350 a week, at a cost of £20 to £70 payment on wins. That was on football coupons alone. The Sheriff imposed a modified fine of £80, and commented strongly on the system of football coupons and its injury to the game.

King George's Racer Won.

LONDON, June 14.—The King entered eleven birds in a homing pigeon race organized by the Lynn and West Norfolk Homing Society. The birds were liberated at Guildford, and ten returned to the Sandringham lofts. The King won with a bird whose velocity was 1,250 yards a minute.

Miss Harvey Is
The Golf Champion

Results of the Play At Hamilton—Woodstock Lady Proves a Winner.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
HAMILTON, June 14.—The finals in the Ontario Ladies' Golf Championship, played here yesterday afternoon between Miss Florence Harvey and Miss Jeanette Grantham, resulted in a win for Miss Harvey, who defeated her opponent by 4 up and 3 to go. Miss Harvey, who has not been able to compete in this tournament for several years, played truly championship golf from beginning to end. Miss Harvey won first hole in 6 to Miss Grantham's 7. At second hole Miss Grantham put her second shot out of bounds, and Miss Harvey, playing fine second, was just short green and won hole in 5 to 7. At third both contestants playing well, divided hole in 4. At fourth hole both had good drives and brassies, Miss Harvey being a little short on her approach succeeded in halving in 5 by putting down long putt. At the fifth Miss Grantham had splendid drive, good approach, and won hole in 4 to 5. Sixth played perfectly by both and halved in 4. Seventh was won by Miss Grantham in 6 to Miss Harvey's 8. Eighth hole halved in 6 and ninth played in par 8, both holding long putts, which resulted in another half, this leaving Miss Harvey 1 up at the turn. Tenth hole halved in 6. At eleventh both had beautiful drives and brassies, Miss Harvey driving in 5 to Miss Grantham's 6. Miss Harvey played twelfth hole under par, resulting in 4 to Miss Grantham's 5. At thirteenth Miss Grantham pulled her drive, and hole went to Miss Harvey in 4. Driving fourteenth Miss Harvey's ball hit fence, but a splendid recovery put her safely over track. Miss Grantham with a beautiful drive just off green went in 4 to Miss Harvey's 6. Miss Harvey finished match at next hole in 4 to Miss Harvey's 6.

In returning to club-house, the prizes were presented by President Geo. Hope. The trophy for the Ladies' Championship of Ontario was won by Miss Florence Harvey; runner-up, Miss Jeanette Grantham; Gross score won by Miss Frances Scott; second net resulted in a tie between Miss Grantham and Miss Morrison, Miss Grantham winning.

IN BRANTFORD

Hemstrought Says He Doesn't Mind Going Up 12,000 Feet.

Hemstrought, the aviator, who is to give an exhibition of flying at Agricultural Park to-night, was a visitor at this office this morning. He is a young man, light in build, and quite reserved, even under the crossfire of a newspaper reporter. He stated that he had been in the aviation game three years and had given many successful flights. Asked as to how high he would take his machine to-night, he said it depended largely on the field. He had gone up anywhere from 1,000 to 12,000 feet, and said that distance didn't make any difference to his feelings. To those who have never seen an airship go up, to-night's performance should prove a novelty.

Hemstrought has an impediment in his hearing, due to the effects of high altitude he has travelled in.

His Curtiss aeroplane arrived yesterday and was taken over to Agricultural Park.

Jockey and Stock Breeder
London Mail: Danny Maher, the famous jockey, who has just become a naturalized Englishman, has purchased a delightful residence, known as the Elms, with a good sized holding of first class arable and pasture land at Crowwell Butler, about nine miles from Nottingham. Here he goes in for breeding pedigree short-horns, and last month one of his young animals carried off first prize at a Nottingham cattle show.

The Elms was at one time the home of a leading Nottingham solicitor. It is situated in one of the finest hunting districts of England, being within easy reach of the meets of the Belvoir, Quorn and Lord Harrington's packs, and Danny Maher keeps some hunters in his stables.

During the flat racing season Maher has little leisure for visiting Crowwell Butler, and only at weekends does his motor car attract the curiosity of the villagers, who all refer to him as "Danny." During the winter, however, he spends a large portion of his time at his country retreat, and rarely misses riding to hounds when there is a meet in the neighborhood.

CARNIVAL WEEK
IS GOING AHEAD

Great Performance is Promised for Brantford July 5-12.

Preparations for the big carnival to be held here during the week of July 5 to 12 are progressing favorably and the ball club, in charge of the work of promotion report excellent progress in the various details in connection with the event. The Colonel Francis Ferrari Shows United have been engaged to furnish the attractions and many novel amusement features are promised. The midway will represent a veritable Coney Island with all of the features of Surf, Avenue and the midway. There'll be bands and processions, a mammoth trained wild animal show that has never been equalled in the history of the world. No corner of the globe has been considered too remote to make this collection the most unique on earth. Performing together in a colossal steel girt arena which absolutely insures the safety of the public, their bearing toward their trainer and one another being as amiable as that of a family.

Another meritorious attraction and one with a reputation of long standing is Sam Gumpertz, Dreamland, freak show, while a number of sensational free acts and performances will be included in the all fresco fete of amusement and frolic.

It is advertised by the management that it is without a peer in point of performance, and it would seem as if this boast is justified in a combination which includes as many shows. The Ferrari Shows has for years been conceded a place in the front rank of carnival companies and in most points it has been given first place.

WEST END HOTEL RAIDED

Burglars Gag and Bind Two Night Porters—Safe Rifled.

A sensational burglary and outrage took place at the Berkeley Hotel, in Piccadilly, early on Thursday morning. The two porters on duty, being assaulted, bound, and gagged, while the safe was rifled of money and jewellery valued at $3,000.

About three o'clock cries of "Murder" and "Police!" were heard proceeding from the hotel, and officers hurried to the front door, but found it locked. They forced an entrance, and in the hall stumbled over the prostrate form of a night porter named Henry Gowers, bleeding from a serious wound in the head. Another night porter named Arthur James was discovered bound in an office, also on the ground floor. He, too, was injured about the head, but, fortunately, only slightly. It was James' cries which had attracted the attention of the police. He was also gagged, and rendered unconscious, and it was about an hour and a half after the attack before he was able to give the alarm, which for some time passed unheeded.

James told the police that he and Gowers had been suddenly assaulted by a number of men—three or four, he believes—but he could give only the vaguest description of their assailants. Gowers was taken to the hospital and detained.

Obtaining admission by means of a duplicate key to the strong-room, in which the guests store their valuables the thieves, who made their entrance into the hotel over night, escaped by way of the luggage-lift in Berkeley-street.

The burglars acted with amazing calmness. Having disposed of the porters they attacked the safe, and apparently succeeded in opening it without much difficulty. They took lady's grey suede bag and a small number of French coins. The appearance of the safe indicated that a false key had been used, as none of the hotel keys are missing. That the thieves must have had a very complete knowledge of the interior of the hotel is obvious. The alarm did not ring.

How the Thieves Got In.
For a time the police were puzzled to account for the fact that all the doors were locked when the alarm was given. It was found, however, that a pair of double doors giving access to the hotel from Dover-yard had been left open up to a late hour on Wednesday night, and it was no doubt by this means that the burglars made their way on to a fire-escape staircase, which took them to a platform on a level with an upper floor. At this point they evidently pushed back a window leading to a landing overlooking the night porter's box, which gave them the opportunity of choosing their own moment for the attack. Among the jewellery missing is a pearl necklace consisting of graduated pearls. There is also a number of antique rings set with pearls, diamonds and emeralds, and several opal brooches. One brooch has an inscription on the back, "N.M. a date, and the words "From Dada." Divisional Detective-Inspector Carlini and Detective-Sergeants Vanner and Smith were immediately placed in charge of the case, and although the material on which they have to work is of a very slender character, they are exceedingly hopeful of making an arrest. A chisel a foot long was left behind by the burglars. It is stated that the greater part of the jewellery stolen belonged to Miss F. Moore and Miss Cissie Andrews.

The police say that at the present time there is a gang of burglars staying in various parts of London whose methods are of a particularly daring nature. So serious a view does Scotland Yard take of the affair that Chief Inspector Fowler, who was formerly attached to the Vine-street division, has assumed charge of the investigation. He it was who arrested several men who carried out the £80,000 art robbery at the late Mr. Wertheimer's residence.

It is stated that the contents of the safe are insured at Lloyd's.

The poor demand respect rather than sympathy.—C. F. G. Masterman.

(Special Dispatch)
LONDON, June 14.—THE celebrated portrait of Edmund Kean, by George Clint, A. R. A., only picture for which the engraver had ever been induced to sit, will be offered for sale at Sotheby's month. The late Sir Henry Irving, who held Kean to be the greatest of British actors, had many relics of him, but the study of Kean, as Sir Giles Overcross for the large picture, "A New Way to Old Deeds," was his most cherished possession.

When Kean first appeared in the portrait of 1838, the terrible intensity of his acting aroused all London. On his return home after his great triumph, he greeted him with "Well, well, well, did Essex think of it?" It was on the occasion that the contemptuous actor rapped out the historic reply, "—L. Essex! The pig rose at me."

Kean could not be persuaded to sit for his portrait, but Clint persisted where others had failed, and with the help Reynolds, the engraver, the actor's mate friend, obtained the sittings.

1320 the large picture, "A New Way to Old Deeds," was exhibited at the Royal Academy, and crowds thronged to see it.

Later an Irish family, the Nugents, obtained the picture, and on leaving the estate they had it boxed up and packed away in a "strong" in the attic for 20 years. Then it was bought by a dealer, from whom Irving purchased. For some years it adorned the famous beefsteak room, and in 1888 the Lyons master lent it to the Garrick Club. On death it was sold at Christie's, the purchase being made by the actor's son, Bram Stoker, who died a year or two ago.

Nelson's christening shirt also is to be sold at Sotheby's this month. The article is fully authenticated by Mrs. Garrick whose husband was nephew of Admiral Robert Barlow, first cousin to Lady Nelson, sister-in-law of the great Admiral. Mrs. Garrick, writing to her brother, Richard Wyatt, says: "I have had the shirt to possess them (the christening shirt, some other Nelson relics), please refer them and I shall send them to the Duke of Devonshire, or the Duke of Wellington, or to Queen Victoria, through Sir Henry Ponsonby. And send you his reply, will please return unless you wish to keep."

There will also be sold at Sotheby's set of boxwood draughtsmen used by Napoleon during his passage to Elba. The table is now in the possession of Lord Rosebery. Other Napoleon relics are but worn by the Emperor when First Consul, and his flintlock sporting gun.

"Alastair," an artist who will not reveal his real name, and who has exhibited some of his remarkable work in America, is now in London holding an exhibition of the Dowdswell Galleries, in Bond street. His work, which is in black and white, color, according to some critics, reflects influences of Goya, Beardsley and Cassandre, and reveals much talent.

It is a fact that many of them are illustrations to such works as "Mlle. de Maupin," "The Girl in the Blue Coat," "Carmen," enough to suggest their general character. That he is a clever draughtsman is not doubted, with an eye for stimulating combinations of color, a feeling for contour and skill in execution.

Mr. F. C. B. Cadell, who is exhibiting the Ballie Gallery, is an effective colorist with an attractive freshness about his work. Particularly in painting still life form to which his best pictures belong. "Clothes," a study of lingerie and a "Still Life," oranges and lemons on a red cloth; "China and Glass" and "Blue and White China" are excellent examples.

Lady in White Hat, in a black dress and a rose at her breast, is the best of his figure studies, and a very fine one it is.

Opinions as to which are the most successful of Herr Wilhelm Kuhnert's pictures at the Fine Art Society's Gallery may differ according to their varied interest to the spectator. He opens up a new world to the artist, in which the apocryphal can wander with impunity. Here the big game and wild animals of Africa and the tiger of India are set free of their native haunts. They are realistically rendered, for Herr Kuhnert returned recently from a shooting expedition in Africa, through which he carried both rifle and paint box.

Lions and lionesses on the warpath, elephants on the move, buffalo herds, sebr deer, hippopotami, antelopea, foxes and giraffes are to be seen on these aptly canvases, some eighty in number, which picture and sport are tastefully and effectively blended.

Miss Helen M. Bulkeley's water colors in Venice, Scotland and St. Bartholomew's Great, at the Ryder Gallery, Albert street, reveal exceptionally fine quality tones. She is most successful when painting open country or such architectural subjects as do not require precision of line for their effective representation. The church of St. Bartholomew lends itself well to her possession of the finished drawings, "Bluebell's-Wading," "Aunt Mauder, Hanoon," and "A Highland Character" are among the most admired.

SNAPPY SHORT COAT FEATURE OF NEW PARIS TAILORED SUITS.

No. 8—Taffeta Is Again in Vogue, Mignon Dressell. Copyright by N. Y. H.

No. 1 and 2—Typical Spring Paris Afternoon Tailored Suit Models. Mignon Dressell. Copyright by N. Y. H.

No. 7—The New Barred Check Coat Combined with Gray Wool Skirt. Mignon Dressell. Copyright by N. Y. H.

HERE is no doubt that the drail little new short coats show the most marked change in the tailor made suits from those of last season. They have the vague shaping that goes with the skillful tailoring and have as a rule three-quarter sleeves. They are richly trimmed with braiding when they are not made elaborate by being fashioned from some of the new brocade or matelasse materials. In shape they are something between a bolero and a short coat and give to the figure new contours. Invariably becoming if well made, they appear to lengthen the lower part of the figure, which makes it look more slender and of greater height. Besides the draped skirt of last season, these coats are worn with skirts that have the new short tunics that are arranged on the skirt in various ways. These are often combined with a lower draped part or one of contrasting material. Directly from Paris, the models shown on this page indicate the great variety that is found in the detail of these smart spring models. No. 1 has a black satin skirt gathered into the waist line in the back and brought up into draped folds in front, the edges crossing, the lower curved corners thus allowing for ease in walking. The bolero is of a white crepon design that nearly covers a black ground, and is faced with black satin on the lower edges, as are the odd shaped cuffs. The sleeve seam is piped with satin and the coat closes without crossed edges caught by a white cotton ornament. The smallish hat has a rolled brim, and a ribbon strand and bow holds in place a cluster of curled birds' plumes.

No. 2 in the same photograph has the new skirt already spoken of. These new skirts often have the air of being the basque of this new tiny coat, especially as in this case, when the short tunic is of the coat material and the lower part of a contrasting fabric. In this model of blue taffeta the lower part of the skirt is of blue plaid, the plain taffeta forming the bolero and the upper tunic part of the skirt, which acquires the modish flare by two bias folds posed at the edge of the short, plain yoke. The coat is braided and is dotted with little crocheted buttons, and an ornament with pendant fringe drops from the waist at the back. A white collar with a little rosette fastening falls over the collar edge. The hat is one of the new poke shapes and has a white cloth crown and a dark brim rimmed with blue. A ammal wreath and ornament is the only trimming.

In No. 4 a tailored suit made of blue serge, the skirt is wound around the figure and lapped over in front so far that the front edge is not stitched down at all, but flies free. There is an effect of pocket making the short tunic and narrow bands along pocket flaps are placed on the diagonal coat seam. The coat lines vary a bit from the other models, the tails are a little longer, and the collar is of white satin. No. 12 is of the new spongy cloth. Of light beige, it is trimmed with applied motifs of taffeta, a wide band making the short tunic and narrow bands decorating the coat fronts and sleeves. No. 12 is of the new wide wale silk serge in the modish grayish taupe shade, and is

AFTERNOON DRESSES ARTISTICALLY BLOUSED AND DRAPED.

AFTERNOON gowns show in almost all cases the bloused waist and draped skirt. Even if the folds are left out there is, nevertheless, some simulated effect. It is but the new way of showing the material, the negligence about the waist in an artistically careless bow in front and the material mounts up in a bib, decorated on the side edges with buttons and loops. A beaded bag that hangs by braided rings is carried, and the hat, on severe tailored lines, has the elongated ornament that is posed so oddly on the brim this season. Such models make charming afternoon gowns, as their simplicity of line and drapery prevents them from being too much of the town about town. Even more simple is a dress snipped at one of the early spring races, depending on its graceful color contrast, of king's blue and silver gray for its elegance. The long blue tunic, lightly gathered into the waist, is uneven on the lower edges, crossing in front and finishing to one side. The underskirt, the feet and the sailor collar and rolled cuffs are of the silver gray. The vest is veiled by Milan lace and apparently fastened by rows of small buttons at each outlying side.

There is a great deal of difference in the new bloused bodices to those who are interested in eloque details. Some jackets blouse but slightly over the belt and do not affect the neatfulness of the upper part. There is quite another blouse that is so loose that the sleeves and blouse seem in one. A dainty sailing Medici collar tops off a lovely afternoon dress of apple bengaline silk of a yellow ochre tone, pictured on this page. This Medici collar is of applique lace attached to a low cut vest of this same lace. The top of the robe is all chiffon, posed over chiffon so that it is as modishly diaphanous as the evening dress. The chiffon, which matches the bengaline, has the very loose blouse, kimono shape. The edges of the loose show sleeves are of the applique lace, washed in an original manner to one side, both skirt and tunic open at the side. The tunic cut with an uneven edge, a wash of the material, the negligence about the waist in an artistically careless bow in front and the material mounts up in a bib, decorated on the side edges with buttons and loops. A beaded bag that hangs by braided rings is carried, and the hat, on severe tailored lines, has the elongated ornament that is posed so oddly on the brim this season. The hat is of gray straw with the double straw brim. A broad band of gray velvet encircles the crown, and a wreath of tiny gray and blue flowers outlines its upper edge. Another lovely gown model portrayed on this page is of white and blue. Heavy Bulgarian embroideries give an exotic touch, marking decorative pockets on the sides and shaping the sleeves into odd lines. Below this the wide blue swaths the body, falling in long fringed ends; the skirt is a fanciful but demure draping of the material. Blue chiffon forms the plain yoke, cut a little lower than round neck depth, and the sleeves are also lined with the blue chiffon. One of those graceful skirt shapes that are so collar, the lower part falls into it in some places, smoothly in others. A slender silk cord around the neck fastens the upper part, and a large braided ornament and tassel, and the slits cut for sleeves are outlined with the same cord. The lower part is caught up to make draped folds. Of black straw, the small hat has the brim covered by a light yellow crepe and a wide fold of it lines the brim edge. A tiny bunch of field flowers is posed at the side front.

SPRING NOTE. An evening dress, though we are bored by the eternal repetition of the satin fourfold and the nylon tunic, is a little of the old repeated assertion that tunics are "out"—there is really an extraordinary variety of styles. From the draped robe more than slightly bouffant and wide across the hips to the clinging sheath every form of line of drapery seems to be permitted, and coloring was never so gay as it is now. The mingling of different materials is a note that makes it impossible for the commonplace of imitating to intrude itself, and the introduction of fur among the evening silhouettes, the filmy lace and the gleaming silks, has given to the gowns of this season a charming and unlooked-for distinction.

Loving Husband Succeeds Where Fond Mother Had Failed.

In a cosy apartment two women sat talking the other day. One was plainly past middle age, the other in her early twenties. The subject under discussion was the right and the wrong way to bring up children. "I realized some years ago that I had failed miserably in my attempts to bring up the perfect daughter," the elder woman was saying; "but it is only now, when Blanche has, in a sense, ceased to be a daughter and is instead just a bustling young matron over whose actions I have no control, that I can bring myself to talk about that failure."

"Blanche, as you know, is my only child, and I think I must have been the most self-conscious mother that ever fussed over the trimming of a cradle. I was one of four sisters who were reared, in a way that seems atrocious when I look back on it, on almost nothing at all. How we worked and fought and climbed! How loyally we joined forces at a critical time! "Even in my early teens I used to dream of a daughter and of the chaotic surroundings I should make for her—the dainty white bedroom with its inspiring pictures, the special book shelves, the garden, the grand piano, the finely tucked lingerie and the perfectly appointed bathroom. My own impressionable little soul responded so quickly to fine stockings and delicate gloves that I used to think that a girl must necessarily be good and charming if she never wore ugly things. "Blanche, poor girl, never did. She never knew what it was to 'make things do,' and there was never any hurried drawing together of a hole or the substitution of pins for hooks before she could go out. It wasn't until after she married a comparatively poor man and began to complain with remonstrance that cheap paper patterns that Blanche got any active pleasure out of dress at all.

"And I took even more care about the furnishing of her mind. All the things I had keenly desired to learn were instilled into Blanche by the earliest process. And at the end of her teens she was still a healthy, appetizing, rather indolent creature of gentle manners—and no more. She had no ambition, no initiative; she had not even a strong dislike. Either as a help to me or as a companion she failed utterly. "I was brought to the realization of my girl's negative character one day when I met the daughter of an old friend. I remembered her as a shabby and not too carefully washed little girl with a bad accent, but now she was an eager spirited creature of eighteen, full of theories and

SIMPLE FROCKS FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

DRESSMAKERS are vying with each other to provide tempting frocks for young girls. They do not underrate the value of a trousseau in the near future, or the possibility of gawking the smart young married woman. Needless to say, simplicity is essential in this connection, that simplicity which is so very, very expensive to achieve. Many of these youthful frocks for evening wear have pleated skirts and simple bodices. Folds of chiffon or rayon form the simulated sleeves, the line of the decollete being outlined with tiny flowers or the narrowest of diamante work, pearl trimming or silver beads. Frocks of white nylon or crepe de Chine have garlands of tiny pink roses, forming bretelles on the crossover bodice and looping up the graceful draperies of the skirt or over-tunic at either side. Evening coats for young girls are fashioned of the most filmy materials, and silk crepes, rhines embroidered in silver, pearls and moonlight beads. The coat proper is often set into a deep hem of brocade satin or ribbon well below the hips, to give that look of restrained simplicity which is a feature of the present modes.

decorative that they add special style to the ensemble. To wear over the elegant gown there are very few short coats of moire, silk matelasse and pongee materials that are draped along the newest lines, with the Watteau Callot frocks or the Paquin cuffs along the lower edges. These also have bright linings, striped, or of cabnet colorings and designs. Bengaline silk has been introduced this season as a wrap material, but looks a little odd, though for morning it is desirable because of its lustreless surface, and for cuffs and revers it lends a contrasting note to the materials with a sheeny surface. Revers are not noticeable on these wraps, and the peculiar style feature is

CHAPTER XII. PAT DOWN BURROWS.

The Halliday lived but a few rods from the Sutherlands. Yet it was dusk when Miss Halliday rose to depart Frederick naturally offered his services as her escort.

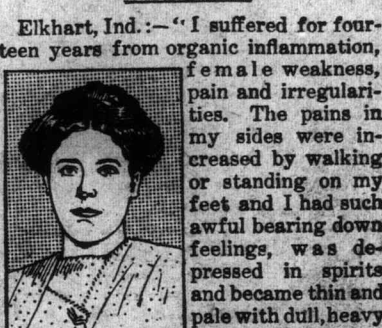

Perhaps she might have felt less confidence if she could have seen the short glances he cast his old playmate as they proceeded slowly away from him. Not that there was any passion in them. He was too full of care for that, but the curiosity which could prompt him to turn his head a dozen times in the course of so short a walk

"You!" he cried. "You!" And for a moment he looked as if he would like to tell to the ground the man before him. But this man was a heavy weight of no ordinary physical strength and

"I should think," she slowly replied, with one quick lift of her eyes toward his face, "that he had entered upon the noblest effort of which man is capable and the hardest. I should have great sympathy for that man, Frederick."

WOMAN SICK FOURTEEN YEARS

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me."

PEOPLE'S PULPIT

If We Deny Him He Will Deny Us

Repudiation of Christ Is a Growing Sin
A Note of Warning Sounded

Seimon by Charles T. Russell, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle

Dallas, Texas, June 8.—The widely known Pastor C. T. Russell, spoke twice here today. We report his discourse from the words of St. Paul, "If we deny Him, He also will deny us." (2 Timothy 2:12).

The address which we are not reporting was the more public one. The Pastor is in the sixties, white-haired, and of kindly, earnest speech which convinced the hearer of his sincerity. He said:

"One of old prayed, 'Give me neither poverty nor riches; lest I be full, and deny Thee, and say, Who is the Lord?' or lest I be poor, and steal, and take the name of the Lord my God in vain." (Proverbs 30:8, 9). Great riches have come to the world within a past sixty years, especially in Europe and America. Instead of the hearts of the prosperous uplifting with gratitude to God, the tendency seems to be away from God, and especially away from His Son, and away from all special thought of a savior in His redemptive work, or a need of it. The pleasures of this life crowd out all pleasure in respect to future hopes and prospects.

There was a time when miserliness and hoarding seemed to have control of all business men. But with the growth of wealth have come a more generous and reasonable view of justice. The folly of miserliness and hoarding, which is now accumulating money and leaving it to others to squander has impressed men of wealth. The rich of America and Europe are giving themselves more to the needs of the prime of life, and giving room for others to take their places in the commercial world. However, especially in America, there is now a restlessness which, turned aside from business, leads into headlong pleasure-seeking.

It cannot be disputed that activity is life, that inactivity spells death. None could wish that our great business men would become sluggards. Our wish should rather be that their maturer years might be gratefully devoted to the promotion of philanthropic plans for the aid of the lower classes, along social and economic lines. It is not necessary that millions of money besides their own would flow into such hands for disbursement along broadly economic lines. The money could be distributed unless the projects were conducted on the highest plane of benevolence, with open accounts.

There is room for such benevolence in every land, but nowhere is it more needed than in countries under British and American control—where commercialism has absorbed some of the best talent, leaving comparatively little opportunity for the less progressive. All over Great Britain and in nearly every state of the Union there are splendid opportunities for such benevolent work. When these civilized lands have been blessed, there are the teeming millions in India, which merely exist under conditions not fit for a good dog.

All these are our brethren of the one blood, St. Paul declares. No one will dispute the necessities of the case. The sympathetic are greatly appalled with the thought of the amount of money and labor that would be necessary to cope with the conditions. Methinks that Heaven looks interestingly on to note how our showers of blessings and riches are affecting our hearts, said the Pastor.

"I am not judging the wealthy. I am merely sounding a note of warning, as the Apostle Paul urged, saying, Warn those who are rich in this world that they trust not in uncertain riches. (1 Timothy 6:17). I believe that amongst the rich there are many noble and benevolent Christian hearts which are in perplexity as to what to do or not to do, with their time and their riches. I am merely offering suggestions based upon my observation in all parts of the world. The need is tremendous.

It seems to me that the Lord, in pouring upon the professed Christian people so great wealth as has come to them in recent years, is proving them, testing them. Inasmuch as they do or do not do according to their opportunities and judgment, they will hear or not hear the Master's voice. Well do thou good and faithful servant." Let us make no mistake. The poor and less prosperous and educated are fast following the example set by the satisfied. Pleasure-seeking is the trend of the whole world. God is being forgotten by the poorer, as well as by the wealthier, and the end of the lane is not far off—a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation—world-wide anarchy—Daniel 12:1.

With the awakening of true Christianity—heart Christianity—has come a substitute, namely, Churchianity. For years Christian faith has been gradually declining, under the attacks of Higher Criticism, Evolution, and under the neutralizing influence of the love great pleasure. Gradually one Bible doctrine after another has been quietly dropped, while Churchianity has been brought to the front more and more as a form of goodness, but wholly destitute of its power.

Conditions in Great Britain and America are serious indeed, yet not to be compared with the conditions of the Germanic and Latin nations. In France probably not more than two per cent. of the population have any real faith, in Germany probably less than ten per cent. In America probably not more than twenty per cent., and in Great Britain probably not more than thirty per cent. still trust in the living God, and a still smaller per cent. regard the Bible as His inspired Message, and seek to distance the world has to go to ignore it entirely!

To the question, the Pastor said, two answers might be given: one answer might be that all civilized people claim to be Christians. In other words, the term Christianity has been substituted for civilization in the minds of the people. As one gentleman replied to this question: "We are certainly not Jews, nor heathens, I reckon therefore we must be Christians."

The other answer to the question, the Pastor said, was that a Christian is one who professes to believe the teachings of Jesus and His Apostles, and who professes to live in accordance with the teachings of Christ and the teachings of the Bible are still believed.

How few believe that Jesus existed as a spirit being before He was born as a man? Christ Jesus—in order to be qualified to give His life a Ransom-price for the forfeit of which He died at all? What the majority believe on the subject seems to be that He merely appeared to die on the cross, but really was as much alive as ever in some spiritual sense. How few believe that He really arose on the third day—the majority, seemingly believing that in some way the Bible account is untrue; and that if Jesus arose at all, He experienced that resurrection on the cross—Luke 24:4; Acts 10:42.

Or coming down to the effect of Christ's death as respects the forgiveness of sins, said the Pastor, how few have any serious conviction that they need a Saviour, or that they could not come to God, if they wished to, without a Redeemer, without a sacrifice, without an Advocate with the Father? It is not necessary to go through the attempt of the last fifty years to ignore doctrines of the past in the present light on the Bible has been a great mistake, which is not bearing its injurious fruit in that very few Christian people know definitely what they believe or what the Bible teaches on any subject.

The effect of all this on the rising generation is disastrous. They see the doctrines of all denominations discarded in pulpit and pew, and especially in the colleges. They perceive that the Bible is classed with the creeds, and is claimed to be their foundation. This is the alarming mistake. The great error of the creeds of the Dark Ages is better for us. But if we lose the Bible, are we not in danger of losing all that has tended to steady our civilization—the foundation of all our faith and hope beyond the present life?

The majority of mankind, with strong animal tendencies which need to be curbed, require an incentive for that curbing. Such an incentive the Bible gives in its promise of everlasting life. But the mistake of our creeds is, that all have eternal life without the Life-giver, and that the question merely is whether we will spend that eternal life in joy or in misery.

This proposition has become so transparently illogical that it is generally repudiated. Human justice fails to appreciate as just as all an arrangement which would create a race with the foreknowledge and foreordination that nearly all of that race would suffer torture throughout eternity. In proportion to the theory advocated in the creeds of the Dark Ages is still proclaimed, in minds repudiate everything, and denounce all religious teachings as preposterous.

The average man needs the Message of life and hope which the Gospel holds out for him in the future in order to make the trials, the discouragements and the sorrows of the present life endurable and in order that these may operate in him, may serve him as lessons in character-development.

In Kingston, Jamaica, I learned that class distinctions, hatred and animosity are growing, and that the ministers of the Christian Churches are having more and more difficulty in maintaining an interest in religious matters, more and more difficulty in securing audiences. Yet when my subject was announced, indicating a hope beyond the grave, Kingston's largest auditorium was packed solid, nearly as many standing as had seats, and as many more were turned away—about four thousand in all. The local clergy were astonished, and tried to account for such wonderful interest in religion.

Finally the minister of the Anglican Church remarked to the Presbyterian minister and myself that the secret of the matter lay in the fact that I was preaching to the people a Gospel of Hope. I quite agreed with this, and trust that the ministers in Kingston may be encouraged to proclaim the same Gospel of Love, the same Gospel of Hope beyond the grave—a hope for the faintly becoming joint-heirs with Christ in His Kingdom; a hope for the remainder of the race, that they will receive only just and reasonable stripes, or punishments for sins, proportionate to their willingness; and that with the Lord's arrangement is graciously to grant all mankind an opportunity of restoration to human perfection in a world-wide Eden. All this is to be brought about through Messiah's Kingdom, and that Kingdom is nigh, even at the door.

The Pastor declared that he well understands the attitude of the rich and the learned, and how they discount the prospects of a social revolution. Reasoning by analogy from the world's experiences in the past, many of the worldly-wise say, "We are amenable to be laws, and will take up with the world's order, and will uphold us and will take care of those disposed to anarchy. Revolution may not come; the struggle may be altogether avoided; but if it come to the worst, brains and money will surely rule. If it is necessary to shoot down in cold

MOTHER SLAIN BY FOUR-YEAR-OLD

Shot Through the Heart
Terrible Fatality at Collingwood

(Canadian Press Despatch)
COLLINGWOOD, June 13.—A mother was slain here Saturday night with a bullet fired in place of her four-year-old son whom she taught how to load and handle. The circumstances of the case as related by eye-witnesses, extraordinary, as to appear precedent.

James Calback, his wife, a son four and a daughter aged two half years, lived with Calback's father in a small cottage owned by latter in Albert street here. On Saturday evening the little boy, plain of violent toothache, father went into the town and bought a supply of remedial drops, which on his return to the cottage shortly before midnight, he administered to the child. The drops apparently relieved, while not entirely relieving boy suffering, and the father took to bed, leaving the mother to attend to the little patient, who was in too much pain to go to sleep.

Known How to Use Rifle
Mrs Calback has been in the act of permitting her son to play with his father's rifle, and according to the story, had taught him to load the weapon, demonstrate the method with empty cartridges. Apparently the empty cartridges were saved for his enjoyment. When Calback went to bed, the boy was sitting beside a table living room of the cottage. The table lay the rifle which he learned how to handle. The boy asked his mother for something to eat, and she brought a tray of toys from her cupboard, a them a saucer filled with cartridges which she evidently believed empty. Subsequent investigation revealed the fact that at least two of the cartridges were loaded with lead.

The boy seems soon to have gotten his rifle, and he absorbed in his toys, and his mother, who was quiet and serene, was in a rocking chair on the opposite side of the table, had ceased for some time paying attention to his actions.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED AT P.A.

An unknown man was instantly killed at Paris station this morning being struck by train No. 1 on Grand Trunk which passes there at 10:13. The body was picked up and carried into the baggage car. An undertaker was called, who charged of the remains which are held for identification.

The deceased was wearing a navy blue suit, about tall, weighing about 155 pounds appeared to be about 30 years of age. In his pocket was found a book with two Montreal addresses written in it. This is the only identification.

The First Baptist.
The services yesterday were attended. The pastor preached the morning of "The Gospel and the Force." There were 339 in attendance at the Sunday School the offering amounted to $24.94 the evening a large audience present and thoroughly enjoyed service of song arranged by Mr. Wright. The choir rendered two choice anthems, sweetly solemn thought, and "Sanctus." Miss Hutchinson sang "Consider and hear Me," splendid effect. The hymns by large congregation were well sung. The pastor preached a sermon on "The Ministry of Song," emphasizing its devotional, evangelistic and comforting mission. Master Errol Gamble, violin soloist, assisted the choir in the service next Sunday evening.

Cut Out Flowers.
TORONTO, June 16.—There is considerable interest taken in the case of Rev. E. E. Powell, rector of Barnabas church, who urged last evening urged his congregation to continue the practice of placing flowers on the graves of relatives. He suggested instead that flowers be brought to the church used for the decoration of the Archdeacon Cody to-day expressed the opinion that this was a matter each individual to settle for himself, and while not condemning the placing of flowers he thought if any change were made in the practice flowers would do the most if taken to the hospitals. Rev. F. Minehan, priest in charge of St. Erhard Roman Catholic church, agreed with Mr. Powell's views.

We manufacture and grind our own, any size, any shade, any shape. We don't take an ordinary frame, give it a fancy name, charge a big price, and say no one else has got it.

Don't be fooled, don't experiment, consult the reliable and most skillful specialist, where the best service, finest glasses, and lowest prices can always be obtained.
