LORDS WANT TO TAKE ARMY FROM IRELAND

So That Force Cannot be Used to Subdue any Outbreak in Ulster.

Ulster Banks Said to be Getting Rid of All Their Securities.

London cable to The Daily Mail says: J. L. Garvin, writing in the Pall Mall Gazette, prophesies that the House of Lords will amend the army bill so as to prevent the use of the army in Ulster.

The Financial News records that guarded inquiries are being made in London in regard to the provision of safe custody for securities held in the north of Ireland.

The House of Lords yesterday afternoon resumed the discussion upon the proposal made last week by Lord Willoughby de Broke for compulsory military training of the well to do.

Lord Roberts declined to support the bill which in his opinion offered no practical methods and might accentuate class divisions.

Lord Lucas said the bill proposed to make the rich serve the poor, a thing never done by any eastern or western nation.

The debate was again adjourned.

So far only three bodies have been recovered. These it is practically certain are the bodies of Cohen, Wilmet, and Graham.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 19.—Mr. Justice Lennox directed to-day that E. B. Stockdale, receiver of the Grand Valley Railway Co., pay out $4,800.62, now in his hands; $2,627.50 to following bondholders of the Woodstock, Thames Valley and Ingersoll Electric Railway Company: Wm. S. Dinwiddie, $1,175; Dr. Oenslager $500; Wm. Grier $150; Leonard and Sons $100; D. W. Kern $85; E. Harwood $50; H. G. McKay $5; H. P. MacMason $50; John B. Skyles $10; A. A. In his affidavit in which he asked for these interest allotments, J. G. Wallace, K.C., on application for whose appointment as trustee for the bondholders is now before the court made this statement:

"The earnings of the Woodstock, Thames Valley and Ingersoll Electric Railway Co., for March, 1912 were $1,251.28; April, 1912 $1,569.68; May, 1912 $1,919.74; March, 1913 $1,669.54; April 1913 $1,559.36; and May 1913 $2,131.79. The earnings of the road for January and February of this year are $200 more than they were for the same months last year. Up to date this March is $90 in excess of last month. The earnings that have come into the receiver's hands since June 1, 1913 and up to March 1, 1914, amount to about $20,000. The receiver has always refused to pay over any money to the bondholders of Woodstock, Thames Valley and Ingersoll Railway Company without an order of this court. The receiver must pay the applicants' their costs as well."

BERESFORD IS SARCASTIC AT CHURCHILL

First Lord Gives a Yawn When Lord Charles Speaks.

A Little Incident of the House of Commons Yesterday.

NEW YORK, March 19.—A cable to The Herald from London says: During the debate on the navy estimates last night, Lord Charles Beresford said:

"Why is the First Lord not in the House? It is most unkind to the House and to myself, who sat in the House before he was born, and who was strong for reform on the lower deck when the First Lord was at the business end of a feeding bottle."

Mr. Churchill entered the House directly afterward, and Lord Charles was proceeding to say the First Lord had broken his promises and pledges when Mr. Churchill yawned.

Lord Charles said he was sorry if he tired the First Lord, and he could see right down his throat at that moment. Later Lord Charles said:

"I have nothing to say about the First Lord's flying in the air as I do not suppose he'll ever get any nearer to heaven."

FINES IMPOSED FOR STEALING COAL

Magistrate Livingston Hears Several Charges Against Foreigners Today.

The investigations into the thefts of coal which have periodically occurred from waggons on the Grand Trunk Railway, brought fruit when seven foreigners were charged and convicted at the Police Court this morning for the theft of the coal which amounted to about 4,000 lbs.

The thieves occurred about the 13th of March. The prisoners were composed of two Hungarians and five Poles. They were V. L. Balog and Mary Koratch, Hungarians; Antoneze Nazal, V. J. Russicki, V. G. Mickotogowski, V. J. Homack and Nazol were women. Various amounts differing from 150 pounds to 2,000 were alleged to have been taken by various individuals. Mary Kovatch, was charged with the theft of 2,000 pounds, Honinch 1,000, Russicki 800, Nazol 600, Balog 300, Mickotogowski 200 and Genschalk 150 pounds, the values ranging from seven dollars to 55 cents. Defendants, with the exception of Mary Nazol pleaded not guilty and she stated that she had taken less than the amount named. Russicki claimed his children brought in the coal and he did not know it was there. Mary Koratch said she picked the coal from the track, where she had seen it thrown by some small boys. Her husband had been out of work and she had just collected from the track during that time.

The estimates of the quantity were made upon what was found in each of the defendants cellars, by Mr. Mc-

Close Bars on Saturdays

TORONTO, March 19.—It is understood that Hon. W. J. Hanna contemplates making a number of vital changes in the Liquor License Act during the present session of the Legislature. One is said to be the closing of bars on Saturday afternoons. Another move equally important is the establishment of a central Ontario commission to deal with all licenses and have the issuing of licenses removed from political influence as far as possible. Mr. Hanna has been urged to put the latter policy in force for some time, but there has been strong opposition on the part of a large number of his supporters in the house.

Hear Mr. Ames On British Navy

Much interest is being taken in the lecture to be given on Friday night, in Victoria Hall, by Mr. R. B. Ames, M.P., of Montreal. His subject will be "Why Three Dreadnoughts," and the event is under the auspices of the Borden Club.

Mr. Ames not long ago made a special study of British shipyards and enquired on the spot into the naval needs of the Old Land. The address will be illustrated by photographic slides. Admission will be free and ladies are cordially invited.

Mr. Brewster's Bill Is Favorably Received In Provincial Legislature

Pure Gas Measure Was Yesterday Sent on to the Committee—Western Ontario Representatives Tell What Communities Have Suffered From Sulphur—Government to Act Promptly—Both Brant Members Participate in the Debate—They Are Supported by Other Members—Nuisance Has Got to Go.

TORONTO, March 19.—The Ontario Government is going to take a hand in solving the gas troubles of Western Ontario. This was the statement of Hon. W. J. Hanna yesterday afternoon in the House in speaking on a bill which would demand pure unadulterated gas from companies serving municipalities or else subject them to the forfeit of their franchise.

The district especially in mind comprises Brantford, Woodstock, Paris, Galt and other towns drawing their supply from the Tilbury and Kent regions.

"Something has got to be done about the purification of this gas," declared the minister. "I do not yet know what form it will take. The resolution will probably take the best consideration of the members of the House."

Poisonous, He Says. The discussion started when W. S. Brewster, of Brant, introduced for second reading his bill in amendment to the Public Utilities Act, which would insure his riding and the towns in it a supply of pure gas. That which they were getting now was poisonous and he wished to forfeit the franchise of any company that would not install the necessary machinery to guarantee the health of the communities which used their product.

Mr. Brewster pointed out that if the bill were put through the situation in Brantford and many other towns would be relieved from an unpleasant position in which they were to-day.

The company at fault in particular he referred to as one strictly American in its make-up. Many years ago the company had obtained a franchise for 50 years, but in 1909 it was extended and now they had a perpetual franchise and refused to supply pure gas to the consumer. The speaker quoted doctors' reports to show that the people were suffering from sulphuretted hydrogen, and the medical officer of health said that it caused untold sickness and destroyed very valuable property.

Whole Family Sick. He knew of one whole family that was sick from its use. The parties should be made to supply a pure vapor or their rights would be removed on a by-law of the people.

T. R. Atkinson of Norfolk, arose to give the bill his hearty endorsement and George Pattison, of Waterloo, asked to say a few things of his personal knowledge. The Town of Galt he claimed, was in the affected zone and was lately becoming unjustly treated. After a lapse of years impure gas had been introduced, and although the previous supply had been satisfactory for lighting and heating the new arrangement had brought untold sickness and suffering in its train.

Majority Only Needed For Purchase By-Law

While Brantford ratepayers are urged to vote and vote often on Monday next for the street railway purchase by-law, it will not be necessary to secure any endorsement other than that of a majority to ensure the success of the by-law. A majority of the votes cast is required, and this seems to make things sure. However, it is a case of making assurance doubly sure, and to this end no one should neglect to vote. Opposition to the by-law, which has been hinted at, has not yet come forth, and it is unlikely at this date that there will be any expressed. The argument for purchase, with the 38-year franchise in the balance, has proved entirely convincing. The franchise evil has but a short time to live, and ratepayers can sign the death warrant on Monday next without any fear of a stay of execution.

Dr. Bier Had a Narrow Escape

Dr. Bier had a miraculous escape from death yesterday when he was butted along in front of a Market St. car yesterday afternoon.

The doctor had visited a chemist's shop and had left his rig at the door. Whilst he was in the shop the horse walked away down the street and was a considerable distance up Market St. when he looked out. Not seeing his rig, the doctor stepped out into the middle of the road and stood looking at the disappearing vehicle. Before he was aware of it a street care bore down upon him and the catcher caught his ankles whilst the upper portion of his body struck the car and rebounded. Then again his ankles were caught and his body thrown off its balance and the rebound from the car once again resulted. This went on for some yards before the astonished driver could bring the car to a stop at the corner near Foulds' fruit store. When it was stopped the doctor was able to walk away, and it was found that only his ankles were any the worse for the experience. The surprising thing about the occurrence was how the doctor managed to prevent himself falling to either side. If he had slipped to either side it is possible that he would have sustained most serious injuries. He is fortunate in being able to resume his duties this morning with no more than a memory of the affair.

Hon. J. A. Tessler, was elected by a majority of 276 in Three Rivers by-election occasioned by his appointment to a portfolio in the Government as Minister of Roads.

Scarcely Even In Great Britain

Farm Laborers to Canada, It Is Said, Would Have to Have Their Expenses Paid.

MONTREAL, March 19.—A London cable to The Gazette says: Referring to a recent statement that Ontario farmers were sending over to obtain 1,000 laborers, Agent General Reid stated yesterday that it would be impossible to fill such an order unless all expenses were paid, as agricultural laborers were difficult to procure. Two parties have been gathered together as the result of the winter's campaign. One party of 120 sailed yesterday by the Virginian under contract of Mr. Goodliffe. They will go to Haldimand county. Another party of 1963 sail on Saturday by the Empress conducted by Summers Gill.

GREAT PRAISE TO SIR CHARLES FROM BRITAIN

Last Surviving Father of Confederation Gives Memoirs.

His Splendid Service to Canada is Duly Recognized—A Tribute.

MONTREAL, March 19.—A London cable to The Gazette says: Sir Charles Tupper's "Recollections of sixty years" published yesterday by Cassels, is given prominent notices in the London dailies, some using his photo and styling him "the last surviving father of Confederation."

The Daily News says: "At 92 Sir Charles gives to the world, his memories of the sixty years of political life. It is not a book; it is an astonishing compilation of old letters, speeches and extracts from diaries, the whole knit together, in a sort of unity by an unquerable self-confidence and a straightforward policy. As a revelation of the mind of one empire-builder it is priceless."

The Daily Chronicle, under the caption "A man of empire," observes: "One could have wished that Sir Charles had made these recollections more personal. The whole book is documentary evidence of how often and how ably he has served our country, Canada, and that greater country, the empire."

The Standard says: "Throughout his long and active public life, Sir Charles has shown himself in advance of his generation in his advocacy of great causes. His services to Canada and the empire have been great and the writing of this volume is not the least of these services."

The Morning Post opens thus: "If we had an imperial order of elder statesmen, Sir Charles Tupper's name would be among the first three on the list. He still keeps the manly self-sufficing look of John Bull unchanged by crossing of the Atlantic. He still as when he persuaded Canada to reject reciprocity, says at a crisis what every imperialist is thinking."

The Post points out that Sir Charles was Sir Charles choice for the leadership of the Conservative party. Sir Charles is still making Canadian history by proxy and The Post expresses the hope that Sir Charles will live to see Confederation completed by the inclusion of New foundland.

BRANTFORD GIRLS TO APPEAR IN HAMILTON CASE

Two of Them Were Summoned Yesterday as Crown Witnesses.

Hamilton last night by a detective from the force of that city to give evidence in the case against R. Gow and A. McKay, prominent Hamilton business men, to-day. One of the girls resides in Eagle Place and the other resides in the North ward. Both girls are said to be of most attractive appearance. The charges are of a very serious character against the men, and the Brantford girls will give evidence for the Crown. The case is being conducted in camera. A Hamilton note says:

Three more girls, two from Brantford and one from Toronto have been summoned to appear in the Mackay-Gow case, to receive their preliminary hearing in police court at Hamilton to-day. The names of the girls, it is said, were furnished to the police by Jeannette Smith, the girl being held in custody. This makes a total of twelve girl witnesses besides the three men subpoenaed yesterday, who will give evidence.

Jeannette Smith, the principal witness in the case, had a short interview with her mother in her cell yesterday morning, and seemed greatly cheered up. She has been in custody now for two weeks, and complains of nervousness.

That the trial in the police court at least will be held in camera was confirmed by the magistrate. This is the first time since he had been magistrate that such procedure has been adopted.

THE LOOSE, PRACTICAL COAT FOR RAINY WEATHER

A raincoat should be big enough to slip over a tailored coat suit, or a sweater—if the day is both wet and cold. This is a new raincoat of tan rubberized cloth. It has a clever cut, with straight lines that do not suggest bulkiness, and the yoke motif and buttoned tabs give a touch of modern snappiness. The coat-fronts fasten securely with snap buttons, and the big tabs are mainly for ornament. The collar may also be lapped and buttoned snugly about the throat.

OXFORD STREET LADIES PAY DEBT

Successful Contest Closed With a Banquet on Tuesday Night.

Early in the year the Ladies Aid of the Oxford Street Methodist Church took upon themselves the task of raising a sum of money to liquidate a debt standing on the parsonage furniture. The amount to be raised being about $180.00. With this object in view they entered into a friendly contest, dividing into two factions, 'The Reds' and 'The Blues'. During the contest each side worked faithfully and well, and on Tuesday evening of this week the contest was brought to a successful close, the event being celebrated by a banquet sumptuously provided by the ladies of both sides.

Invitations were generously issued and accepted, and a large number attended to do justice to the spread. At 8.45 p.m., the guests took their places at the table, and after grace had been sung, the Toastmaster Rev. A. E. Marshall, pastor of the Church, rose and said he had a very important announcement to make, namely, that the proceeds of the contest had been totalled and far exceeded their most sanguine expectations, the total amount raised being $423.88.

Of this amount, the Blues had raised a sum exceeding the original amount of the debt, namely $189.88, but it was the Reds who were to have the honor of being winners in the contest. By their zealous efforts, and working together they had raised the magnificent sum of $234.00.

After a few well chosen words of praise to the winners, and congratulations to the Aid, as a body, the guests were informed they were at liberty to do justice to the repast before them. The good things of the table were courteously dispensed by several of the young people of the Church.

When all had finished the Toastmaster rose and proposed a toast to 'King and Country' the guests rising and singing the National Anthem. The toast was most gallantly responded to by Mr. Ed. Tipper.

Miss Olive Robinson, then favored the guests with a piano solo. A toast 'To our City' proposed by Mr. H. Whittaker, was ably responded to by Mr. S. P. Pitcher, followed by a solo 'Killarney' by Mrs. A. E. Marshall.

Toast 'To our Church' was ably proposed by Mr. A. Goodwin, who gave a short history of the Church from its inauguration to the present time; Mr. Geo. Butler responding.

Miss Beatrice Steel gave a reading which received a well deserved encore.

Toast 'To the Ladies' proposed by Mr. E. S. Braund, and responded to by Mrs. A. E. Marshall, who said that all members of her sex could lay claim to the title of lady, but it was only the few who could lay claim to the title of 'Woman,' God's greatest handiwork.

Solo "Will there be any stars in my crown"—by Mrs. Tipper. Sung by special request.

Toast "To the Gentlemen" by Mrs. A. Goodman, responded to by Mr. H. Dimelow.

Duett, Mr. and Mrs. A. Goodwin. Toast 'To The Reds' proposed by Mrs. O. Myers and ably responded to by Mrs. Masters.

Reading by Miss E. Glass, which received a well merited encore.

Toast 'To The Blues', proposed by Mrs. Brantford, and responded to in a few well chosen words by Mrs. E. Glass.

Solo 'The Dear Little Shamrock' by Mr. W. Richards.

Toast 'The President, and the Ladies Aid' proposed by Mrs. Robinson. The President, Mrs. J. Feely, responding.

Solo, Mr. E. S. Braund. Toast 'To St. Patrick and His Country' by Mr. J. Feely, responded to by Mr. W. Mooney.

Quartette "Come where my love lies dreaming," Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Whittaker, Messrs. Braund and Whittaker.

The proceedings were then brought to a close by the singing of "All hail the power of Jesus' name."

REV. CHAS. DEACON LOST LIBEL SUIT

Former Brantford Pastor Was Multed at the Guelph Assizes.

A libel action was tried at Guelph yesterday before Mr. Justice Middleton and a jury which has caused great interest throughout this part of the country. The action was an after-clap of the local option contest which took place in Fergus on January 6, 1913. The defendant is Rev. Charles Deacon, a former pastor of Sydenham St. Church in this city, now stationed at Tara, but formerly at Fergus, and the plaintiff is a prominent resident of Fergus. Plaintiff charged the defendant with the publication of a letter in the local newspaper in which the defendant referred to the plaintiff as a man who had been guilty of unfair play, and as one who was one of "the devil's helpers," and with the use of other language "of a ridiculous and contemptuous kind." The jury brought in a verdict finding that the language used by Rev. Mr. Deacon was libellous, and awarded the plaintiff, Mr. Steele, $5 damages. His Lordship also awarded plaintiff his costs of the action. H. Guthrie, K.C. for plaintiff; E. F. B. Johnston, K.C. for defendant.

Balfour Street Church Bazaar

A very successful and largely attended bazaar was held yesterday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of Balfour street Presbyterian church. The bazaar opened at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and from then until a late hour at night there was a continual rush of business done. Those who for various reasons could not attend at night came in the afternoon and enjoyed a cup of tea or coffee and other refreshments or else bought some of the many articles which were offered for sale.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the booths looked exceptionally neat, each one being filled substantially with the goods which they offered for sale.

The Fancy Work Booth which was in charge of Mrs. McCormack and Mrs. Anthony, did a rushing business all afternoon and evening. Aprons, waists, centre-pieces and other little tick-nacks caught the crowds' attention and were rapidly bought up.

The Home Made Booth in charge of Mrs. Laird and Mrs. Sharp also did a rushing business. Canned stuff of every description, pies, cakes and home-made bread, all sold rapidly, at exceptionally low prices.

Perhaps no other booths did quite so much business as did the refreshment booth in charge of Mrs. Manse and Mrs. Laird. The rush on them was continued all the afternoon and evening.

Two of the young men of the church Messrs. Reg. Raynor and H. Laird looked after an ice cream booth for the ladies, which also drew a very neat sum.

Altogether the ladies are to be congratulated on the splendid success of their bazaar from which a good substantial sum was realized which will go towards the funds of the ladies aid.

The officers of the Ladies Aid are as follows: President, Mrs. J. Booth; vice-president, Mrs. J. Wylie; secretary, Mrs. S. Danby; treasurer, Mrs. John Doer. A great deal of credit is due these ladies for the success of the bazaar as they have been untiring in their efforts to make a success.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

the proceeds of the contest had been totalled and far exceeded their most sanguine expectations, the total amount raised being $422.88.

Of this amount, the Blues had raised a sum exceeding the original amount of the debt, namely $199.88, but it was the Reds who were to have the honor of being winners in the contest. By their zealous efforts and working together they had raised the magnificent sum of $224.00.

After a few well chosen words of praise to the winners, and congratulations to the Aid, as a body, the guests were informed they were at liberty to do justice to the repast before them. The good things of the table were courteously dispensed by several of the young people of the Church.

When all had finished the Toastmaster rose and proposed a toast to 'King and Country' the guests rising and singing the National Anthem. The toast was most gallantly responded to by Mr. Ed. Tipper.

Miss Olive Robinson, then favored the guests with a piano solo.

A toast 'To our City' proposed by Mr. H. Whittaker, was ably responded to by Mr. S. P. Pitcher, followed by a solo 'Killarney' by Mrs. A. E. Marshall.

Toast 'To our Church' was ably proposed by Mr. A. Goodwin, who gave a short history of the Church from its inauguration to the present time; Mr. Geo. Butler responding.

Miss Beatrice Steel gave a reading which received a well deserved encore.

Toast 'To the Ladies' proposed by Mr. E. S. Braund, and responded to by Mrs. A. E. Marshall, who said that all members of her sex could lay claim to the title of lady, but it was only the few who could lay claim to the title of 'Woman,' God's greatest handiwork.

CALLLED HOME.

By the death of Hon. William Paterson, a man of much continued prominence in the public life of Canada has been called to his reward.

Although not a native of this city, he was from the early age of 15 so closely identified with the community and its interests as to be to all intents and purposes one of her sons.

Without any special advantages of a worldly nature, he commenced to arrive very early, and a natural predilection towards public life led him through various positions on the then Town Council to that of Mayor.

He was 33 years of age when he defeated Sir Francis Hincks for the Dominion House in the riding of South Brant.

His entry into the political arena occurred for him at a very propitious period. He was running against a non-resident and the Liberal cause was in the ascendant.

However, even if the circumstances were adventitious, no one doubts that sooner or later his abilities would have won him a place in the councils of the nation.

He was one of the very few men who survived the Liberal reverse of 1878 and then continued election after election to get back into the House throughout the Conservative reign of 18 years.

Then when his side did once more secure the reins of office, he, for the first time, lost his seat to Mr. Robert Henry in 1896, and another constituency had to be found for him in North Grey.

His inclusion in the Laurier Cabinet as Minister of Customs was for two reasons—proved services, and the desire to reassure the manufacturers, many of whom had become uneasy with regard to Laurier's free trade pledges.

Mr. Paterson's chief asset consisted of his undoubtedly great powers as a campaign speaker. A natural orator, he was not only happy in illustration, and forcible in presenting the issues of the day as he saw them, but he also exhibited a fine sense of humor.

Added to these things the fact that nature had endowed him with a most sonorous voice, and there is small cause for wonder that his platform services should have been in such demand from one end of the Dominion to the other.

He was in this regard the most hard-worked member of his party—too hard, very many of his friends used to think, especially in later years. However, he always responded most readily and was able to go to high pressure throughout election after election because of a splendid and well-cared-for physique.

His wife was also a true helpmeet to him during the stress of public cares. The deceased was a man of deep religious convictions, and often delivered addresses at the Farringdon Church, of which he was a prominent member.

He was the soul of probity, and followed his sense of what he deemed to be right to a punctilious extent. One illustration will suffice. In former days members of the Commons used to receive mileage money from the treasury and then accept passes from the various railways.

Mr. Paterson never did that, but always paid for his tickets. His course in this regard was eminently characteristic of the man.

In the home circle he was a most thoughtful and generous husband and father, and as a citizen and business man the soul of integrity.

It was the fortune of war for this paper to oppose him politically for a great many years, but he always extended a handshake after any fight, including the one in which he met with reverse. The Courier bears with will and unreserved tribute to his ability and many sterling qualities, and feels that the bereaved have at least the consolation of the sweet savor of a life well and conscientiously lived.

THE CITY'S LURE

Governor Glynn of New York is to be commended for his attempt to remove some of the idle men in New York City to the farms.

But most of the 320,000 idle men in New York city who might be persuaded to leave town passed many a farm where labor was in demand on their way there.

In the eastern states the movement of the rural population away from the land into the cities has been going on for a long time and is constantly becoming greater. The cause has been attributed to difficulty in making what is regarded as worn-out soil compete with the boundless virgin west. But now it has been discovered that the land is being forsaken in the west also.

From Kansas, supposed to be the most typically agricultural state, comes the complaint that farmers are giving up their homesteads and moving into the towns.

Many counties in it have suffered a serious loss of population from this cause. And the lure of the city is having its effect upon the farmers of Texas, as a statement issued by the bureau of extension of the Texas State University shows that between 1900 and 1910 the rural population shrank from 77.7 per cent. to 69.3 per cent.

To win men for the farm is a worthy aspiration, a wise benevolence and a patriotic duty, but in most cases it must begin with the boys. Matured inefficiency and deep-seated repugnance to country life are characteristics of our jobless multitudes. They are poor foundations for a stout and happy yeomanry.

STREET RAILWAY.

The property-holders of Brantford should not under-estimate the importance of the proposed taking over of the Street Railway as a municipal enterprise, and at the same time there is no need for hesitation with regard to the assuming of that responsibility.

It is safe to say that many a private corporation would be glad to get the system under like terms, or even much higher, and with proper management the corporation can equally well make good.

We have been a long-suffering people with reference to this road. Public convenience and service have been made secondary considerations, and the cars in appearance would disgrace a hamlet. Under such conditions the surprise is that the earnings should prove as large as they do, and that they can be made much better is, of course, not open to question.

Let the people have up-to-date cars and an improved schedule, and these things, together with their own proprietary interest in the project, should work marvels.

It is well worth the trial, and in any event it is better to have this city the boss of the situation with regard to any other new deal, should such a necessity arise, which does not seem at all probable.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Quite cool again after the hot spell.

That young fellow, Sir Charles Tupper, at the age of 92, has just published a long volume of reminiscences.

In the old days the late Hon. A. S. Hardy and the late Hon. William Paterson were two very hard men to fight in this riding—without doubt the biggest pair from one constituency for the Dominion and Ontario Houses.

Rowell managed to keep the Ontario House in session until 4.25 in the morning. No doubt he feels very proud of himself, and will receive a message of congratulation from Clark of Red Deer, who last year at Ottawa helped to keep the House sitting continuously for one week. Who says that the Liberal party is shy on statesmen?

Birthdays of Note

THURSDAY, MARCH NINETEENTH

This is the natal day of the Premier of Quebec, the Hon. Jean Lomer Gouin, who is now fifty-two years of age.

Sir Lomer is in many ways the most contradictory French-Canadian in political life to-day. The popular impression of the French-Canadian politician is a man of the Laurier or Bourassa type, gifted with brilliant power of oratory and with wonderful power over his audiences.

The Quebec premier, however, as far as temperament and training goes, is much more like an Englishman. His stolid features resemble to a certain extent those of the British bulldog and he is equally steadfast and determined. Notwithstanding the lack of fireworks, he has obtained a strong hold on his compatriots and during the nine years that he has been premier, has given them a progressive government.

THURSDAY.

When Thursdays come with smiling eyes all other days seem cheap and vain; I always think we ought to rise and hand it a gold-headed cane. Thor, son of Odin, god of war, believe me, reader, was a peach, and when a scrap he lusted for, the other gods, let out a screech, and so for him they named this day—a hint that we should gird our loins, make war on sloth, foul habits slay, and gather in the sparkling coins. In olden days they used to wave around in blood and dead men's bones, but all such customs are decayed with ancient swords and ancient thrones. We do not fight to-day with clubs, with maces or with bombs and fists, yet we must meet the war like dubs who try to swipe the pudding first. The battle in the busy mart is fiercer than was Flodden Field, and strikes more terror to the heart, though ne'er a clingsword more martial fire. And Thursday brings new war to warriors who are distressed, it nerves the arm that's prone to tire, and fills with zeal the languid breast. If this is false—if Thursday fails to nerve us for a further strain, well may the gods indulge in wails—the Son of Odin lived in vain!

WALT MASON.

FINES IMPOSED FOR STEALING

Donald, a coal dealer, Detective Chapman and G. T. R. detective F. G. Gordon.

Mr. McDonald said the stolen coal was a special brand named Miller Creek and it was the only kind in town. It was a particular kind of steam coal and easily distinguished from ordinary coal. The wagon containing the coal had only arrived on March 12th and on the 13th, over eight tons were missing. He had made the lowest possible estimate of the quantity found in the cellars. The quantity however, did not matter to him as he was not making up the cost.

Frederick Gordon, detective testified to finding the coal in the different houses.

Detective Chapman said he visited eighteen houses in search of this particular kind of coal and found it in several of them. There was, however, a kind of soft coal in almost every cellar visited. All the male defendants in the box gave the same story, and stated they were not thieves, and what coal was found in their cellars had been bought. One went on to say that his father was not a thief and he had never stolen. They were all residents of some standing in the matter of years and they mentioned this fact without exception.

The Magistrate found that all the defendants were guilty and decided to convict.

Russicki was fined 15 dollars or two months. Hominch $20 or two months. Mary Koratich $20 or two months. Antonetz Nazol $20 or two months. Mark Galog $15 or two months. Michotogiski $15 or two months and Genchalk who elected to be tried by jury was sent for trial.

"These thefts have got to be stopped," said the Magistrate "or we may soon find these people taking the Grand Trunk away."

Myra Winegardner received what goods and chattels she had left at the house of Chas. Winegardner, whose house she had kept at the court this morning and her charge against him for conversion was dismissed. She claimed she still wanted a skirt and he claimed she had had an opportunity to take everything away, and had left the skirt as not worth taking away. He had sold it with other apparel to a junk dealer for 25c. She admitted having owned the skirt for about six years but said she was careful on her clothes. The Magistrate decided in favour of defendant, who had signed an agreement and paid $100 to clear the house absolutely of the woman.

Gerald Twiney, a vagrant, has been incarcerated for a week, patching up a damaged arm and now it has been repaired he was let out and advised to leave the city.

Charles Roantree obtained liquor although he is a billed man and he has had time to speak and tell the name of his supplier, but still he was silent at the court and he was fined $10 and costs for his refusal to speak.

A Board Bill. Presenting a rather unkempt appearance at the court this morning, W. A. Hurley was charged with owing board. He admitted owing his board to Jos. Randall of 161 William street, but said there was no intent to defraud. His past history was looked into and it was found that he had left Stratford and London owing money. He hails from Michigan and said he only desired employment and he would try everything straight. It was said he had misrepresented himself and to have this investigated, it was decided to remand the case.

The case of George Vier, who was charged with the conversion of $46.70 was remanded until Monday.

To Have a Surplused Choir. It will probably be made at Easter. The choir will have a surplus of members and it is thought that the choir will be able to perform at the church.

WIDESPREAD REGRET FELT

Sketch of Life.

The late Hon. Wm. Paterson will be remembered as one of the great forces in Canadian Liberalism, whose influence contributed in a marked degree to the defeat of the Conservative Government in 1906 and the incoming of the Liberal regime in the administration of which he played an important part as Minister of Customs throughout the entire period of fifteen years. His last prominent connection with the public life in which he was a conspicuous figure was to serve as partner with Hon. W. S. Fielding in the negotiation in Washington of the reciprocity agreement, the rejection of which ended the period of Liberal administration.

Mr. Paterson was born at Hamilton, Ont., on September 19, 1839, of Scottish parents. His parents dying from cholera in 1840, he was adopted by the late Rev. Dr. Ferrier; and removed with the Ferrier family to Caledonia, in Haldimand county. He received his business training in the house of the late Ignatius Cockshutt, a prominent Brantford manufacturer, but as early as 1863 he commenced business on his own account in partnership with the late H. B. Leeming as manufacturers of biscuits and confectionery; and on the latter's retirement in 1876 he became sole proprietor of the business, which afterwards grew to even more extensive proportions. Later on Mr. Paterson took his son into partnership under the firm name of Wm. Paterson and Son Company Limited.

A Born Politician. Mr. Paterson was fore-ordained for the political world. He was not long in Brant county before he distinguished himself in oratory in the Farringdon Debating society. In 1869-71, he served as Deputy-Reeve of Brantford. During the winter of 1882-83, he was Mayor of the city, while in 1882 he was elected to the House of Commons for South Brant defeating Sir Francis Hincks. He sat for this constituency until 1896, when he was defeated. During the next four years he represented North Grey, from 1900 to 1904 North Wentworth and Brant, and from 1904 to 1911 the constituency of Brant. He entered the Laurier Administration at its formation in 1896 as Comptroller of Customs, holding that portfolio afterwards until the name of Minister of Customs—until the government's retirement in October, 1911.

As Minister of Customs, Mr. Paterson had much to do with the tariff legislation of the country. He was intimately concerned with the revisions of 1897 and 1907, having traversed the country from end to end previous to the latter revision as a member of the Government's (Triff) Commission. His own tariff theory was generally understood to tend in the direction of higher duties than were favored by Mr. Fielding and other Ministers. The natural result therefore was a moderate tariff, free from extremes in either direction.

A Great Campaigner. It was during the early nineties preceding the accession of the Liberals in 1896 that Mr. Paterson first came prominently into the public eye. Probably no member of the Liberal party of that day could more successfully rouse the enthusiasm of his party. Gifted with a powerful voice a flashing eye, and a keen sarcasm, Mr. Paterson was everywhere sought for and contributed not a little to the landslide of '96. Years of office perhaps moderated his temperament, but now and again, teased by some of the fanatical young Conservatives, the "old lion" would be aroused, the dormant fires of indignation be rekindled, and the House would enjoy an unusual spectacle.

Old-fashioned Virtues. Mr. Paterson was a man who cherished the "old-fashioned" ideas of honor, Sabbath observance, and church-going, which are not always in conformity with the tastes of many of affairs. He would never travel on a train on Sunday, and wherever he might be on the Sabbath he assiduously sought out a place of worship. Though stern and unbending in his political relations, he was personally the most kindly and benevolent of men. He was extremely sociable with his friends, and during his long service in Ottawa he was a general favorite in the smoking room.

On the occasion of his retirement from public life Mr. Paterson was the recipient of a non-partisan tribute in November, 1912, when letters of appreciation were read from Premier Borden, as well as Sir Wilfrid Laurier, with whom he had been so long associated.

In connection with Mr. Paterson's long and eminent services as a public speaker, it is interesting to note that since a very last he never rose to address a public meeting without, as he himself expressed it, "as much trepidation as a beginner." No one would suppose from his manner that such was the case. The nervous fingering of his papers was the only symptom of his mental strain. His stage fright lasted for only a few sentences, and then the splendid oratorical voice sounded forth its rounded periods that were the delight of his hearers.

Tributes to the Life of the Late Hon. Wm. Paterson

Mr. Borden's Tribute.

OTTAWA, March 19.—Premier Borden paid the following tribute to the late Hon. Wm. Paterson when informed of his death last night: "Mr. Paterson, for more than a quarter of a century, filled a very distinguished place in the public life of Canada. He was a man of fine ability, an excellent debater and of a kindly nature, which won the affection of the members on both sides of the House.

"I sat in the House of Commons with him for 16 years and I was glad to number him among my personal friends, although we differed strongly in our political opinion.

"On behalf of my colleagues and myself, I desire to extend to his widow and family our sincere sympathy in the loss which they have sustained."

Premier Borden has requested W. L. Cockshutt, M.P., for Brantford, to represent him at the funeral and Mr. Cockshutt will leave here to-day for Brantford.

Triumphs from Former Colleagues in the Commons

OTTAWA, Mar. 19.—News of the death of the Hon. Wm. Paterson was received in the capital yesterday with expressions of genuine regret from members on both sides of the House. The late Mr. Paterson had no enemies in Parliament and his sterling qualities of head and heart were recognized by both Liberals and Conservatives.

Speaking of his late colleague in the Laurier Government, Hon. Geo. P. Graham said last night: "In the death of Hon. William Paterson, Canada has lost a real man. He spent the best part of his life in serving the public well and faithfully. In business he was shrewd yet unimpeachably honest, and these qualities were exhibited in a marked degree in his public life. As a debater and public speaker he had few equals, and what is not generally recognized is a keen and rare sense of genuine humor. Canada is better because William Paterson lived and had a prominent place in her public affairs."

Hon. Frank Oliver said: "Hon. William Paterson was a loyal Britisher, a patriotic Canadian, a good citizen and a successful business man. He was a clear thinker, a close reasoner and an eloquent speaker, and as such he was always one of the strong men of the Liberal party. His acknowledged ability on the platform and in Parliament contributed largely to the success of Liberalism, while the honesty and business ability with which he conducted his department during the whole term of office of the Laurier Government was an important factor in holding for it the public confidence.

"The last important act of his public life was the part he took in the negotiating of the reciprocity agreement. Although he suffered defeat with his party on the issue thus raised, the wisdom and patriotism of the arrangement made. He lived a long and vigorous life, and served well his day and generation."

The Globe's Tribute. The Toronto Globe pays the following tribute: "For the long unbroken interval of forty-two years Mr. Paterson was a prominent member of the House of Commons of Canada. In 1872, at the age of thirty-three, he defeated Sir Francis Hincks in the South riding of Brant, and, with the exception of the four years from 1896 to 1900 he represented some part of Brant county continuously in Parliament from 1872 till his final defeat in 1911. The mere fact that he had such a long and enduring hold on one of the finest Parliamentary constituencies in the Dominion is sufficient to prove that he had both character and capacity beyond the average of public men.

During the first two years of his parliamentary career he was a backbencher in the Liberal Opposition. For the next four he was a rising supporter of the Mackenzie Government outside of the Ministry, during the eighteen continuous years of the "cold shades"—including the leaderships of Alexander Mackenzie, Edward Blake, and Wilfrid Laurier—he was one of the effective debaters in Parliament, and one of the popular platform speakers outside of that arena. By his invincible optimism he did much to sustain his party when it was depressed by four successive defeats. He was the fortunate possessor of a sonorous voice, which enabled him to make himself heard easily in the House, and without much difficulty anywhere else.

When the Liberals came into office in 1896, as the result of the election on the Manitoba school issue, it was almost a matter of course that Mr. Paterson should become a member of the Laurier Ministry. Unfortunately, he had suffered temporary defeat in his own county, and till the next election he represented North Grey. In 1900 he was again elected to Brant, which afforded him a seat till 1911. During the whole fifteen years he was, Minister of Customs, and in that capacity he was intimately associated with Finance Minister Fielding in the laborious preparation of the tariff of 1897, its various revisions, and the reciprocity agreement of 1911. His defeat in Brant in that year was the occasion of his permanent retirement from political life. To all appearance he was still physically strong enough to enjoy a few years of rest from the turmoil and stress of the Parliamentary arena, but it has turned out otherwise, to the great regret of his many friends, and the keen disappointment of the much larger circle of his intimate acquaintances.

Mr. Paterson was, in some sense, one of the martyrs to public duty. A thoroughly good business man, he was sufficiently prosperous in 1872 to give up a considerable part of his time to Parliamentary work, and this was inevitably exacting to the end. Only to the rarely gifted is it possible to find in literature a counterpoise to the somewhat hardening effect of continuous parliamentary and administrative duty. The great majority of public men find their lives so completely filled with increasingly absorbing interests of quite another sort that they lose to a great extent the capacity for recreation of a kind which they might in private life have enjoyed. Political life has its rewards, but too often their cost comes high.

Another Stalwart. Another Canadian stalwart of the old school died yesterday in the person of Hon. William Paterson, of Brantford.

Sixteen years a member of the Canadian Government, and for twenty-four other years a member of Parliament in his native land of Canada, his record as a public man is outstanding.

Mr. Paterson was honored by Sir Wilfrid Laurier with the portfolio of customs, on the organization of the Liberal government in 1896, and continued to hold this office throughout the Laurier regime, though himself defeated in his constituency of Brantford that year. Again in 1911 he met defeat.

His association with the Taff-Fielding pact is the most prominent incident in the public life of the late Mr. Paterson. As minister of customs he negotiated with Mr. Fielding the proposed reciprocity agreement at Washington. He was an ardent advocate of lower tariff and free trade. For many excellent personal qualities he was widely esteemed.—London Free Press.

VITALITY REGAINED KIDNEYS CURED

Health Restored By "Fruit-a-Lives"

HAORNSVILLE, ONT., Aug. 26th, 1913. "About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys and liver were not doing their work, and I became all run-down. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-Lives' advertised, I decided to try them.

Their effect, I found more than satisfactory. Their action was mild and the results all that could have been expected. My liver and kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old time vitality. Today, I am as well as ever, the best health I have ever enjoyed, and I unhesitatingly give you this testimonial for publication if you wish."

In hundreds of letters received by the Fruit-a-Lives Company, the same expression is used "Fruit-a-Lives is the best kidney remedy in the world". FORMER BRANTFORD MAN —TRIP THROUGH EUROPE— CONCLUDES AN INVESTIGATION

Mr. Fred Salter, Acting for the Grand Trunk Railway, Makes Inquiry Into Immigration Matters.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)
MONTREAL, Mar. 19.—A special cable to The Gazette from London says:

Returning from an extensive trip through Europe, Mr. F. C. Salter, European traffic manager of the G. T. R., admitted that the outlook for emigration as regards the continent was very dull. He had observed that a wave of reaction against Canada had touched not only Austria, but all southeastern Europe. All this region had been strongly affected by an outburst of military patriotism, largely as a result of the Balkan war, and this feeling had been utilized in official and diplomatic circles to incite anti-emigration ideas. It was difficult for anyone used to these countries to appreciate the strength of this revulsion of patriotic fervor. Numbers of emigrants were returning to these countries from Canada, but Mr. Salter thought this would have a beneficial effect as they would ultimately return to Canada, taking friends with them. Both on the continent and in England the best policy at present was to remain passive as a favorable turn must set in a little later.

Mr. Salter is a son of the late Canon Salter of this city and is well known to many Brantfordites.

CENSURE VOTE MOVED TODAY

stand on technicalities. He declared that if Premier Asquith's proposal that the counties of Ulster should vote on the question of inclusion in the Irish Government meant that Ulster was not to be driven from the United Kingdom against her will it would be accepted as a basis of discussion. If, however, it meant that at the end of a certain time the people of Ulster were to be brought automatically under the power of the Dublin parliament against their will the Unionists absolutely rejected it.

The Opposition leader then made his offer of a guarantee that the Unionists would place no impediment in the way of carrying out the will of the people if the government would take a referendum of the United Kingdom on the Home Rule Bill and the local option proposal of Ulster. He promised that if the result of the referendum was in favor of the bill as amended by Premier Asquith's local option proposal, nothing would be done by the Unionists against the putting into operation of the will of the people completely and without delay. If Mr. Asquith refused the course suggested, said Mr. Law, it could only be "because the Government thought, in the words of Winston Churchill, that the question should be settled by bullets rather than by votes."

Premier Asquith, however, looked coldly upon the proposition of a referendum. He said he would not go farther than to say the Government took note of it.

The premier, who spoke only for a few minutes, said the government did not recede from its proposals under which there would be no coercion of Ulster. The scheme, he said, gave a six years trial of home rule before there would be any attempt to bring Ulster under its provisions. He concluded with an expression of his belief that in the government's proposals lay the only hope of a lasting settlement.

The perforation of Mr. Law's speech concluded with the following words: "What about the army? If it is only a question of disorder the army will and ought to obey, but if it is a question of civil war, the soldiers are citizens like the rest of the people. The army will be divided, and that force be destroyed which we depend on for our national safety."

When Sir Edward Carson and Joseph Devlin, Nationalist member for Belfast, entertained the House the atmosphere became heated. The Ulster leader called Mr. Devlin a liar when the Nationalist member declared that Sir Edward Carson at one time had been a home ruler.

"It is an infamous lie," roared Sir Edward Carson, and when the speaker suggested a modification of his language, Sir Edward substituted for it: "The statement is a willful falsehood."

Shouts of protest and cheers in support of both members filled the chamber, and it was some minutes before the speaker was able to make himself heard in an appeal for the avoidance of personalities.

Pleasant Evening and Presentation

A pleasant surprise party was given last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rice, 26 Northumberland street, in honor of Mr. Henry Secord, who leaves this city for Edmonton next week. The evening was spent in euchre, after which light refreshments were served by the hostess. During the evening, Mr. Rice presented the guest of the evening with a souvenir in the shape of a gold mounted pipe, the gift of his friends. They wished him every success in the west, and then the party broke up in the wee sma' hours of the morning.

ROUND-THE-WORLD CYCLISTS ARE HERE

They Arrived in Brantford This Morning—Are Holding Forth at the Theatre To-day.

Herbert Hassler and wife of Vienna, Austria, arrived in the city this morning for St. Catharines. Mr. and Mrs. Hassler are uncommon globe travelers, having started from Vienna when they were twelve years old on a wager of 25,000 crowns, under the direction of the Singer Manufacturing Company of Vienna. They were started without money from the palace of Emperor Francis Joseph at Vienna on January 1, 1904, and they signed an agreement to ride bicycles for twenty-five years and return to Vienna on Jan. 1st, 1929. They are not allowed to leg or steal. They are not allowed to carry a weapon of any kind, and they must sleep in the open air during the months of May, June, July and August, and the only source of revenue they have is by giving illustrated lectures with pictures taken along their route of travel.

They also sell photos of themselves, but they are not allowed to ask for any stated price. The only place they are allowed to sell their photographs is in theatres where they are acting.

On June 12, 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Hassler were at the St. Petro Cathedral in Rome by Pope Pius X.

They have visited Austria-Hungary, Bosnia, Roumania, Egypt, Greece, Russia, Germany, France, Spain, Italy, Cuba, Panama, Mexico, China, Japan and the United States, also Great Britain.

In the theatrical world Mr. and Mrs. Hassler are known as Hopalong Joe and La Tosca, and they have nothing to say but words of praise for the treatment the Canadian people have given them.

The Hasslers are headed for Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal. They must be able at the completion of their trip to speak ten different languages. They have been on this continent three years and a half having covered every state capital in the United States.

BRANTFORD GIRLS

The magistrate said: "I am in perfect sympathy with the crown in its desire to have even the press excluded from this trial. I understand that most of the evidence has been secured by the police from the girl witnesses on this one condition."

The magistrate added that Crown Attorney Washington had asked for this privilege, and it was perfectly within his rights to allow it. He stated that so far as he could remember during his 24 years of magisterial duty he had never done this before.

Deputy Chief Whately, who has had the case in charge, is on the hunt for evidence. Under his personal instruction two plain clothesmen, Constables Pasel and Kay, have been taken to the police station during the past two weeks and examined. No charges were laid against these girls, and what they had to tell was told voluntarily.

The seizure by the sheriff of the Gow residence on Hughson street yesterday has added interest to the case. Mrs Gow is said to have a half share. This beautiful house is richly furnished, and valuable statuary and pictures adorn the rooms.

Mr Gow is still residing in his home on Hughson street, while both he and Mr. Mackay are awaiting their trial. The latter arrived here this morning, but would make no statement concerning the charge laid against him.

Grand River Quiet.

The Grand River rose two feet up to ten o'clock last night but this morning it had dropped three inches. For about a mile and a half above Wilkes' Dam the river is blocked with ice, and the water has broken over the banks and is running in the old river bed across Britton's flats. From there to Paris the river is practically clear of ice. The cold snap which set in to-day lessens the probability of the water doing much damage this year as the thaw made a rush of water and ice down the river which will be checked for a time.

Lights on Saturday

The Terrace Hill circuit of the Hydro Electric will be turned on on Saturday night for the first time. This will leave only one more circuit to finish, that being West Mill street.

Chief Whately and plain clothesmen have been conducting since last summer. Unusual precautions were taken by the police to bar reporters. The newspapermen who tried every possible method to get some place where they could get a line on the evidence, were finally driven from the building, after one of them was taken into custody, charged with contempt of court.

He was given a warning by the magistrate and ordered out of the place. The police had a dozen girl witnesses and a number of others. The evidence, it is said, laid bare scandal which has been on the public tongue for months past. The authorities seek to prove that Gow was the householder of 194 Hughson street south, a lavishly furnished home in the south end of the city, that McKay assisted in the management, and that both men had improper relations with girls under 18 years of age. This is an offence which is punishable with a prison term of two years. The men were committed for trial.

CANADIAN LEAGUE HOLDS STRONG HAND

Clubs of the Circuit Unwilling to Accept Any Unreasonable Ultimatum.

While there is no immediate likelihood of the Canadian League jumping to the Federals, according to President Fitzgerald, the press throughout the circuit expresses the opinion that such a course might be advisable should the league meet with a second rebuff in its application for Class B rating.

The National Association, apparently without making other than the most superficial inquiries, turned the Canadian League down flat. The claim of the league to higher classification is valid and cannot be questioned. President Fitzgerald will appeal to the National Commission. The appeal is not without prospect of success. Should the Fitzgerald circuit, the most prosperous of all Class C leagues, and the superior of others which have been given Class B rating, be again denied that which is unquestionably its due, the Federal League's affiliation will doubtless receive serious consideration by the club owners.

BASEBALL NOTES

Branch Rickey's bright idea to abolish cigarette smoking in the ranks of the St. Louis Browns through giving away two for a quarter cigar, suggests still another scheme. Why not serve free beer after each game to break up the whiskey habit?

It will be recalled that before the world's tour of the Giants and White Sox began, Comisky and McGraw had a hard time lining up enough players for the party. Hardly any wanted to go, and yet it looked to laymen like the chance of a lifetime—to get a free trip around the globe, and as heroes too. Bet Ping Bodie, Rube Marquard and Nick Altrock are sorry now they didn't go, when they think of all the banquets the tourists inflicted their appetites upon.

Recent happenings made it appear as if Johnny McGraw's great managerial talent may have to be called upon more extensively this year than seemed likely a while ago. As it looks now the Giants will have the same strong pitching staff and a remarkable group of outfield talent, but the catching staff has been curtailed by the departure of Hartley, who was traded to Cincinnati, and Wilson who jumped to the Federals, and the infield has suffered by the breaking of Fletcher's finger and the trade of Herzog to Cincinnati, to say nothing of the possibility that Schafer may decide not to play this year. Thus McGraw's pitching corps is the same as last year, the outfield is quite a bit stronger as the result of Bescher's acquisition in the Cincinnati trade and the improvement of Thorpe on the world's tour, as well as the addition of Dave Robertson, the Southern slugger. But McGraw's outfield was so strong last year that even the greatest possible increase in power in this department could not help the team very much. His infield was the one part of the team that showed any considerable uncertainty, and that is the department that is hurt by the recent developments. Thus the National league pennant race may be of a real contest for the Giants than many imagine. If Fletcher is out of the game very long and if Schafer refuses to play, the Giants infield is likely to be made up of Eddie Grant at shortstop, Milton Stock, the youngster, at third and the two regulars, Merkle and Doyle at first and second respectively. But the Giants carry so much pitching and batting power that they may be able to offset any weakness caused by the possible gap on the left side of the infield.

OTTAWA CLUB FAILS IN ATTEMPTED TRADES

OTTAWA, March 19.—Manager Craven of the St. Thomas club made an effort to put through a trade with Ottawa. He offered Pitchers Clement and Howick for Frank Dolan, first baseman, and Bullock, third sacker. Ottawa refused to trade. Dolan and Bullock both hit over .300 last year. Ottawa failed to complete a deal with Toronto for Pitcher Kirley, whom the Leafs recalled from Guelph. Ottawa also made a fruitless bid for Fred Herbert, who starred for them two years ago.

Sporting Comment

Western Star at Hamilton

Dudley, a Western Canada star has been signed by the Hamilton club. He is a first baseman and will be given a thorough trial.

Athletics to Visit Hamilton
The Philadelphia Athletics will play an exhibition game in Hamilton on August 12. At least that much is indicated at the present time. In a letter received at baseball headquarters recently Connie Mack, manager of the world's champions notified the local club to keep August 12 open, as it was an off day with the Athletics and if nothing intervened the champions would come here that day for an exhibition fixture. The local directors are naturally pleased and are beginning to think that Connie Mack's interest in the local club is going to prove most beneficial.—London Advertiser.

Lack of Grey Matter

ST. THOMAS, March 19.—The St. Thomas Canadian League ball players and fans are to-day laughing over the absurdity of the rumor that unless the Canadian League was raised to class B they would join with the Federals.

President C. O. Stanley said that whoever concocted the idea must be possessed of a fine sense of humor or a serious lack of gray matter. "It is the most absurd idea that I ever heard," said another player who has signed with the Saints for the coming season.

"I don't think there is a player in the Canadian League that would agree to the change," said another of the men.

Manager "Midge" Craven said, "Don't think there is anything in it." The Ottawa Senators this season will have a batting cage at Lansdowne Park to be used both in morning and afternoon practice. The cage will be a portable affair built on wheels so that it can be run off the field as soon as infield practice is ready to start. Batting practice in recent years has been the whole career with big league clubs as well as minor league teams. The idea of the cage which is placed directly behind the plate, is to catch all foul balls or wild pitches that get by the batter, thereby saving time as well as ball. Manager Shaughnessy figures a batting cage will give his men just the same as much practice as formerly.

The Ottawa Club endeavored to purchase Billy Wright the hard-hitting outfielder who went to Erie from the Guelph castoffs. In addition the Senators wanted to throw in a player or two with the purchase price, but apparently Erie only has Wright on a string, Buffalo International being the real owners of the slugger.

Erie is shy pitchers. Outside of Stark and Dorbeck they have no moundmen. Osborne, the 6 feet 8 inch, twirler with Peterboro in 1910 will be given a trial. The Sailors, however, have a corking outfielder in Jack Dawson the hard hitter from the Inter-State. Jack Schaeffer and Billy Wright who led the Canadian League with the stick last season. First sacker Frank Gygi is a fence buster too.

Old Country Soccer News

In view of the championship issue being virtually settled, the doings of those clubs near the summit will only possess special interest to their immediate following. Popular attention is bound to be concentrated in the possible happenings at the other end of the table. When it is possible for any two out of nine clubs to become fixed at the wrong end of the merit chart each week's results are fraught with immense attraction. The names of the nine clubs in danger are of such importance in the football world that it is possible that the final placings never created such public attention. Seven out of the nine are past English Cup winners, whose names are ones to conjure with by reason of that fact. Cup—the fame is not easily forgotten by the "Man in the Street." He would be a bold prophet or a blind club partisan who would venture to predict which club will escape the ignominious fate of relegation for some weeks yet. Only one thing is assured, there are stirring games in store for every one of the nine.

There can be no question that most danger attaches to the position of those clubs still interested in the Cup tourney. Players will naturally seek to make further progress in the national competition for the sake of "profit" and "glory," nor can they be blamed for such an ambition. No doubt their club interests are served by success in Cup-ties, but a place in the senior ranks is of more permanent value to clubs and players. It is here where the danger lies, divided attention may easily lead to disaster in the most important tournament. It is possible that goal average may be the deciding factor by April 30th, so very close are the various results up to date. It will not be a good thing for the competition or for the clubs concerned if this should be so. Then there is little time between now and March 16th for any new players of striking merit to be secured by any of the organizations most seriously placed. Probably this rule was never more necessary than it is this season, from the fact that so many clubs with money are fighting for position against one or two who are not in that happy position.

If the final placings at the bottom of the First Division are difficult to estimate, equally so are the ultimate winners of 10 place in the Second Division. There is a saw-saw character in the doings of those teams with most likely prospects of promotion, which is most perplexing to their followers as well as to the general followers of their performances. Woolwich, Leeds City and Hull City look more likely to provide the two who will go up. The recent failures of the defence of Leeds City must be reckoned as minimizing their chance, and any more lapses similar to that at Leicester will blight their prospects beyond recovery. The splendid goal average possessed by both Notts County and Hull City renders them specially dangerous rivals to any others. And on the other side, the possession of two mad three games in hand by Woolwich Arsenal, Hull City, Leeds City and Bratford makes the task of the present leaders a very arduous one, and practically compels them to pick up the maximum points in their ensuing engagements. The whole promotion question is in a most enthralling condition, and may be expected to continue so for some few weeks yet.

Work-Out for Thorpe

Jim Thorpe may have developed in first class fashion, but as Prof. R. L. Goldbery would announce it—"Now that McGraw has got him, what's he gonna do with him?" In addition to Burns, Murray, Bescher and Snodgrass, there is Cooper, a comer; Robertson, a 340 hitter, and two first-class recruits. Breaking into an outfield with eight already on ground may require Mr. Thorpe's ancient training of cross-banking tackle on thelope—Hamilton Spectator.

Hamilton Has Hold-Out

Gilhooley, the fast little infielder, who joined the Hamilton club in mid-season last year, is a hold-out. Gilhooley wants a fancy salary, but it is expected that by the time the reporting date rolls around he will be down to reason in his demands.

The Prize Ring

Try to Set Record

That a fighter does not have to be a champion to get big money is shown by the wealth which Ad. Wolgast, former lightweight champion, has accumulated in the last six months. During this time the Michigan "bearcat" has cleared up more than $90,000, and with the number of fights he has in sight he is sure to earn close to $100,000 in one year.

With the possible exception of Packey McFarland, this is more money than any lightweight has made in the same length of time. The former champion wants to fight and if Manager Tom Jones would allow it, Wolgast would be seen in action at least once a week. Despite his defeat by Willie Ritchie at Milwaukee last Thursday, the Cadillac fighter made thousands of friends who are unanimous in their opinion that there is plenty of fight left in the German.

Moran Talks Freely

Frank Moran, who meets "Jack" Johnson at the Belledrome d'Hiver in Paris on June 27, the night before the running for the Grand Prix, has been talking pretty freely. Although he was not regarded seriously as a "white hope" when the match was made he declares emphatically that the will win and that in two years he will be worth a million dollars. Hope often tells a flattering tale. However nearly everybody's good wishes will be with Moran. But that fact is calculated to make Johnson more vicious and determined. Moran seems to mainly build his faith on a belief that the gentleman of dusky hue has shot his bolt. Moran, who is 26 years old, says that he has fought 64 fights and never been knocked out. He is a man of superior attainments for a professional pug, having been a college student, football player, baseball player and drug clerk. He uses good English and shows some originality. Quickness of speech proves perhaps that he at least thinks fast. He expects to enter the ring at 200 lbs. Johnson will be 15 or 20 lbs. heavier.

Fifteen Chinks from the Hawaiian baseball league have landed in this country. They little know the terrific risk they are running. At almost any moment they may be set upon by the frenzied Feds and forced to accept $5,000 or $6,000 apiece for six months' work. And if they hold out long enough each one may be presented with a laundry as a bonus.

Tarzan of The Apes

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey Company.

"You have seen again today that Tarzan of the apes is the greatest among you," he said.

"Right," they replied with one voice. "Tarzan is great."

"Tarzan," he continued, "is not an ape. He is not like his people. His ways are not their ways, and so Tarzan is going back to the lair of his own kind by the waters of the great lake which has no farther shore. You must choose another to rule you. Tarzan will not return."

And thus young Lord Greystoke took the first step toward the goal which he had set himself—the finding of other white men like himself.

The following morning Tarzan, lame and sore from the wounds of his battle with Terkoz, set out toward the west and the seacoast.

He traveled very slowly, sleeping in the jungle at night and reaching his cabin late the following morning.

For several days he moved about but little, only enough to gather what fruit and nuts he required to satisfy the demands of hunger.

In ten days he was quite sound again except for a terrible, half-healed scar which, starting above his left eye, ran across the top of his head, ending at the right ear. It was the mark left by Terkoz when he had torn the scalp away.

During his convalescence Tarzan tried to fashion a mantle from the skin of Sabor, the tiger, which had lain all this time in the cabin. But he found the hide dried as stiff as a board, and, as he knew naught of tanning, he was forced to abandon his cherished plan.

Then he determined to fetch what few garments he could from one of the black men of Mbooga's village, for he had decided to mark his elevation from the lower orders in every possible manner, and nothing seemed to him a more distinguished badge of manhood than ornaments and clothing.

To this end, therefore, he collected the various arm and leg ornaments he had taken from the black warriors who had succumbed to his swift and silent noose and donned them all.

About his neck hung the golden chain from which depended the diamond-encrusted locket of his mother, the Lady Alice. At his back was a quiver of arrows slung from a leathern shoulder belt, another piece of loot from some vanquished black.

About his waist was a belt of ivory strips of rawhide fashioned by himself as a support for the bone-nause scar which hung from his father's hunting knife. The lodge bow which had been Kulonga's hung over his left shoulder.

The young Lord Greystoke was indeed a strange and warlike figure, his mass of black hair falling to his shoulders behind and cut with his hunting knife to a rude bang upon his forehead, that it might not fall before his eyes.

Hair was commencing to grow upon his face. All the apes had hair upon their faces, but the black men were entirely hairless, with very few exceptions.

True, he had seen pictures in his books of men with great masses of hair upon lip and cheek and chin; but, nevertheless, Tarzan was afraid. Almost daily he whetted his keen knife and scraped and whittled at his young head to eradicate this degrading emblem of apeness.

And so he learned to shave, rudely and painfully, it is true, but nevertheless effectively.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to bring back color, gloss, thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge and soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. Widow's Romance Terminated In Deportation From Canada

WINDSOR, March 19.—Robert Tait, of Carghill, Ont., appeared in the police court yesterday charged under the Immigration Act with bringing Mrs. Lillian Horne, of Hicksville, Ohio, into Canada for immoral purposes. The case arose out of an advertisement inserted by a matrimonial agency with headquarters in Illinois. Tait wrote the woman more than 75 letters encouraging her to come to Canada, telling her that he had a house furnished in readiness for his bride-to-be.

As a result of the correspondence, Mrs. Horne, accompanied by her two daughters, aged ten and twelve respectively, arrived in Windsor on Thursday last on a route for Carghill. She was taken off the train by the immigration authorities not being able to qualify under the Act, as she only had $11. Mrs. Horne was held at Windsor, and an investigation was made by Travelling Inspector Reynolds of Ottawa, and Inspector Clydesdale of Windsor, assisted by County Constable Briggs of Walkerton, in Illinois. Tait was practically worthless. Instead of being the wealthy man he represented himself to be to the woman, the officers found he had no money and was employed for the most part as a roustabout around the mills. The suit he intended to get married in was obtained on credit, and when the merchant heard of his apprehension he came to the hotel and removed the clothes from his person, while the landlord of the hotel held his chattels for an unpaid board bill. It was learned he had been a section hand at Berlin and had also worked at Listowel and other places in Ontario.

MR. W. P. KELLE OUTBID CITY OF COURSE

Expected Boom Form of an E the Press-S terests Friend

The following communication self-explanatory: Brantford, March 20, To the Ratepayers of the City of Brantford: A copy of the following article handed by me to Mayor Spence yesterday afternoon, so that he has sufficient time to fully consider and answer any statements made therein with which he does not agree. Yours very truly, W. P. KELLE

Brantford, March 19th, Editor of the Courier: Sir,-A short time ago the forid Courier made the announcement that it would be ready to give the views of any one opposed to the purchase of the Grand Valley Brantford Street Railways by municipality. I therefore purposed availing myself of this opportunity to place before the ratepayers some facts and figures which I believe to be absolutely correct.

Let it first be clearly understood that I am opposing the purchase of the Grand Valley and Brantford Railways by the municipality from the standpoint of a ratepayer. Neither the financial interests I represented in making any of these railways, the Lake Erie & Northern Railway Company, nor other railway has ever requested to oppose this purchase.

I am opposed to the purchase of the reason that I think I am amply acquainted with the figures of the case, and for this reason that I do not believe the city can within the next few years pay for these railways anything like a paying basis.

I think I can lay claim to knowledge of the affairs of the forid Street and Grand Valley ways equal at least to that of Mayor, Aldermen and other persons who are advocating this purchase.

The most natural question by the ratepayers was the view of the fact that I was prepared to purchase the street railway price very close to the success of the city. I am now opposing purchase. This is a very real inquiry, and one which I prof answer, I hope, to your entire satisfaction.

The Brantford Street Railway together with the proposed extension would give access to factories Brantford having an in-bound tonnage of from 9, 10,000 cars per annum.

It is a well-known fact that forid is one of the principal centers of the manufacture of agricultural implements, which are marketed partly in the Canadian Northwest the Canadian Pacific Railway, stance, could secure access to tonnage via the Lake Erie & Northern Railway and the Brantford Railway, it should obtain at least third of this tonnage, or say 30 per annum.

In offering to purchase the forid Street Railway I represent annual interests friendly both Lake Erie & Northern Railway the Canadian Pacific Railway.

It requires no very acute intelligence to realize that if the nage could be secured, the in controlling the Brantford Street way could well afford to absorb considerable loss in the operation that company.
