Corset Aids to Health and Beauty.

At the root of the ills to which feminine flesh is heir to is incorrect corsetting and tight lacing. These are by no means synonymous terms. One may be incorrectly yet loosely corseted. To-day it is the exceptional woman who laces her corset so tightly that her figure assumes an unnatural contour. Ten years ago many women did. This improvement is to some degree to the credit of the wearers of corsets, but to a still greater degree it is to the credit of corset manufacturers and the mandates of fashion. Women who have just regard for their health and beauty realize that the normal waist measurement is an important adjunct thereto. This is proved by the fact that all ready-made garments are two inches larger around the waist than they were two years ago, which means that most women who used to wear a 22 corset now wear a 24, and so on through the different sizes.

Leading physicians all admit that women require support for the abdomen. Support is entirely different from suppression. If the abdomen is suppressed, a lot of trouble is brought on, the first sign of which is constipation. The colon cannot function properly. More depends upon the colon than most people are aware of, even some physicians. The direct results of restricting the action of the colon are weakness, insomnia and dyspepsia; the indirect results are too numerous to mention and would be superfluous because the prevailing styles in corsets conform in a great degree to nature's demands. The wise physician raises his voice not against the use but the abuse of the corset. A corset which supports the abdomen will never be condemned by those who are conversant with the structure of the human body, masculine or feminine. More men wear abdominal belts than is dreamed of by the public. Some of the most advanced scientists state that women can wear corsets now which conform to the latest fashion without sacrificing their health.—Harriet Edwards Fayer, in Women's World for July.

ONE MORE SPLENDID CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Quebec Man who Suffered for a Long Time from Kidney Disease Finds a Complete Cure.

Allen's Mills, Portneuf Co. Que., June 17th. (Special).—Another splendid cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills is that of Michael Gauthier, a well known resident of this place. Mr. Gauthier was for a long time suffering with a pain in his head caused by kidney disease, and at length got so bad that he had to quit work. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. He is back at work, strong and hearty, and naturally he feels that he wants all who suffer from kidney disease to know that they can find a cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. For Dodd's Kidney Pills not only cure the pain or ache that is causing the most distress, they put the kidneys in good working order and all the impurities and poisons are strained out of the blood. The result is that new strength is carried to every part of the body. That's why so many sufferers cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills aim up their condition. "I feel like a new man." New energy is new life. You can't have it with sick kidneys. With healthy kidneys you must have it. Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys.

Where's Mother.

When Father came from work at night, Before he'd wash his hands and face, Or hang his hat upon the peg, His glance would wander round the place, And if dear Mother's sunny head Was not within his vision's ken, He'd search for her from room to room, Upstairs and down and all, and then He'd stop and ask: "Where's Mother?"

But if he found her in her chair, He'd pucker up about the lot, And pick a mess of early greens, Or fix a chicken for the pot; He'd mend a fence, or set a hen, Or do some other homely chore, With only now and then a glance Toward the half-open kitchen door That seemed to ask: "Where's Mother?"

Slim Sallee.

Red McGhee says: Some guys're like a butcher block. They let the world just knock an' knock an' bang an' slash an' hack. They never whimper, whine, or cry; wheeze—just take the wallops at their case an' stand firm in their track. I tell you where youse guys can find the sort o' chap I've got in mind—he fits it to a T. He stands up better than two yards an' pitches for St. Louie's Cards. His name is "Slim" Sallee.

Just ask some critic what Slim's got. He'll tell you nothing, like as not—no curves an' little speed. Some other guy you ask'll say that Slim in childhood learned to pray an' make his patrons heed. An' then you'll find still other guys who'll claim that Slim can hypnotize the batters from the box. But all this stuff don't bother Slim. That's why I'm here comparin' him to all those butchers' blocks.

Kyle Working North.

Capt. Parsons, of the S.S. Kyle, sent the following message to the Reid Co. yesterday, via Grady: "Arrived at Grady at noon Tuesday; wind S.W., fresh, with fine weather; from Spotted Islands to Grady, heavy sheet ice close to land; from Long Island to Indian Harbor, ice about five miles off the land."

OPERATIONS PREVENTED.—Yesterday the local fishermen were unable to get on the grounds owing to the high wind and heavy sea that prevailed.

MINARD'S LIMENT CURES DIPHTHERIA. MINARD'S LIMENT CURES BURNS, ETC.

CUBA.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slawh"

Cuba is a long lean island lying in the back yard of the United States, south of Florida. It is a republic, subject to good behaviour, but its constitution guarantees it the privilege whenever it tries to Mexicanize itself. Cuba is about 750 miles long and from 100 to 200 miles wide. It is low and sandy, with breakings out of small mountains in spots, and has a climate that would grow leaves on a hardwood floor. Birds, bees, bugs, flowers, trees and malaria are so thick in Cuba that man has to fight for room for himself. However, there are no wild beasts to speak of since Weyler and his hired help left about fifteen years ago, when General Shafter and Colonel Gorgas of the United States army exterminated both the Spanish government and the yellow fever-bearing mosquito. These were the two most fatal diseases in Cuba, and since their disappearance the population has increased so rapidly that Cuba now has more people than Iowa and almost as many as Chicago. Cuba is so hot that clothes are worn merely for style. The banana flourishes there and the poor man harvests five crops of pineapples a year. But what has made Cuba rich is her sugar and tobacco. Cuba produces half the cane sugar of the world and almost all of the good cigars. The United States takes almost all of the sugar but a few of the cigars escape to Europe, where they can be found after a very painful search by the American tourist.

Cuba was discovered by Columbus in 1492 and he supposed it to be part of the main land. It was very unlucky for Cuba that this was not the case, as it enabled Spain to hold the island for over 400 years. As often as a new crop of Cuban patriots could be grown, the island revolted, but it had very little success until the Maine was blown up in Havana harbor. The explosion was the greatest of record. It blew the Spanish out of the Western hemisphere and made Cuba a republic.

Since then, Cuba has been very prosperous. It has a fine modern constitution which it has learned how to operate after one failure, when W. H. Taft had to go down and steer the republic for a short time. The United States has sat by the elbow of the Cuban government for about five years in all. In those five years yellow fever was abolished, the ends of the island were connected by railroad, the school attendance was tripled, good roads were built and several thousand tons of dirt were dug out of Havana and Santiago. And yet, when the United States tried to intervene in Mexico some of the Mexicans objected. Cuba is supposed to be a light born republic, but this is not the case. More than half the population are active born, billy white Cubans, and another quarter are Spanish and other whites. But the negro is as good as the white man in Cuba and votes with him side by side. This ought to attract an enormous immigration from the southern states, and it would if Cuba was astute enough to raise more chickens and watermelons.

Afraid of Falling Out.

"According to the evidence of the witnesses you were caught just as you were getting out of the window, with the contents of the till in your pocket. Now, what excuse have you got?"—and the Judge leaned back in his chair very complacently. "I know it," answered the prisoner, "and I shall always be grateful to the man who caught me. When I have these somnambulist fits I am in danger of falling out of windows and hurting myself." "That idea never occurred to me," remarked the Judge pensively. "It has often occurred to me," remarked the prisoner with unconscious humor. "That being the case, I will direct a warder—"

"To release me."

"No; but to see that an extra bar is put across your cell window for fear you may fall out."

Thaw to Visit Home.

New York, June 11.—Having secured the consent of the State of New York, Harry Thaw will visit his old home in Pittsburg, to which he has become a stranger since a brief time before he killed Stanford White on the Madison Square roof garden, the night of June 25, 1906.

While in Pittsburg, where his presence is required as a witness in the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County, Thaw will not be at liberty under bail, although he will have a measure of freedom. During his stay there he will be in the custody of a United States marshal.

Grinds His Own Flour

An old gentleman, Francis Harrison, of the Isle of Wight, wrote a letter to the newspapers (of England), saying he had ground wheat for thirty years in a mill of his own and that his wife had done the baking. He was in his seventy-fifth year. He says: "And this explains why my wife and I are so hardy." "Where did you get that mill?" all England roared. "Good Lord!" he told the reporters, "I can't tell where I got it. Think I bought it somewhere in London, but 'twas more than two pounds, but it don't cost me only two pounds, but it has been worth a fortune to me. I was regarded as a frail youth. I had no digestion, my hair was brittle, and I was cranky. Whole wheat flour soon put me to rights." The Bread Reform League has taken the subject in hand, and the cry in England is not for meat, but for whole wheat bread.—Daily Record.

But don't you have to buy a mill and go to all the trouble of grinding your flour.

In

Grape-Nuts

—ready to eat from the package, and delicious—you have a far more perfect food than bread.

In Grape-Nuts one has all the nutriment of whole wheat plus entire barley, including all the vital mineral phosphates of these grains, so essential for proper balance of body, brain and nerves.

Grape-Nuts, because of long skillful baking, digests easily and quickly—generally in about one hour; white bread requires about 3½ hours.

A ration of Grape-Nuts with regular meals goes a long way toward putting one "to rights."

Divorced Life
By Helen Hessing Fueste

The Man in the Second Row

Sick with the feeling that the writer of the mash note was staring at her, Marian obeyed her cue and made her entrance that night with anything but good humor. More than ever she felt that the privacy of her life had been destroyed and that now she belonged to the gazing, whispering men in the audience. Never in her life had she felt so utterly common.

She kept her eyes studiously away from where the letter writer had said he would be seated. She strove to forget the incident, and to live the role she was playing. But always her mind kept reverting to the man in the second row.

In the end, curiosity overcame her chagrin at the situation which had been forced upon her, and she darted a glance in the direction indicated. Before she knew it, before she found it necessary to search for the individual in question, she beheld the red carnation, affixed to a man's coat lapel. Her eyes shot to his face.

To her surprise she beheld neither the callow youth nor the bald-headed foggy type, to one of which she had instinctively attributed authorship of the unsought communication. She beheld, instead, the finely bred, handsome, intelligent impressive features of a man of perhaps forty. There he sat, his eyes intent upon the stage, a bewildering surprise to her preconceived notion of the sort of fellow the letter writer would be. Only for a fleet instant did her eyes rest upon the man in the aisle seat of the second row. The action in which she was a cog whirled her on, and several minutes later she obeyed her cue to exit.

Again, after her second entrance, she felt her eyes pulling in the man's direction. Before she was aware of it, in mechanical obedience to the requirements of the action, she released a smile. When she realized what she had done, she became almost panic-stricken. She had not meant to smile in the man's direction. On sudden edge with fear of the consequences, she continued her work without allowing herself to look across the footlight again.

Her work done, her make-up removed, dressed for the street, Marian passed through the stage door at length with nervous apprehension. Out of the shadows came a figure, intercepting her, and saying:

"Just a minute, Miss Winthrop."

She started in blank amazement at her accoster. He was a poorly dressed, round-shouldered old fellow of nearly sixty, weakened of face with a whining voice. But on his lapel was a red carnation!

"What do you want?" demanded Marian, sharply.

"You kept looking in the wrong direction," answered the man. "You kept looking to the left instead of to the right. See, there's my carnation—there's my carnation," he added with trembling, excited voice.

"Oh," she murmured between her teeth, "I hate myself!"

"I haven't the faintest idea who you are or what you want," answered Marian coldly, hurrying toward the street.

"Wait a minute," whined the voice behind her.

Marian turned the corner and broke into a run when she emerged from the alley-way and reached the street. Filled with a feeling of shame, she halted and boarded a street car, without having glanced back at the weakened creature who she knew was trying to catch up with her.

"Oh," she murmured between her teeth, "I hate myself!"

Dainty Dishes.

NORWEGIAN TRIFLE.

Peel and stew one pound of cooking apples, and sweeten to taste. Then crush to a powder a quarter of a pound of tea rusks and fry in a little butter. Place a layer of apples and one of rusks alternately in a dish, and cover with a rich custard.

COFFEE CUSTARD.

Make a batter with one pound of very strong coffee and strain well. Mix it with a pint of boiling milk, sweetened to taste, then beat the yolks of five eggs, and stir them into the milk gradually. Stand the basin in a saucpan of boiling water, and place over the fire. Stir till the custard thickens.

SAVOURY PANCAKES.

Make a batter with one pound of flour, a pint of milk, and two eggs. Stir into it two teaspoonfuls of chopped onion, and four ounces of finely chopped ham or cold chicken. Season with salt and pepper. Fry the mixture in boiling fat as an ordinary pancake. Roll up and serve with gravy or tomato sauce.

BAKED BANANAS.

Peel the skin from one side of as many bananas as required, and loosen it all round, but do not remove entirely. Then place them in a long baking dish. Dust them with sugar, and bake for twenty minutes in a moderate oven. Make a sauce by mixing a teaspoonful of cornflour with a quarter of a cupful of sugar. Heat the juice of three large oranges add to the sugar and cornflour, and cook till it thickens slightly.

RUSSIAN BRAUN.

Take half a pint of gravy, well flavoured with vegetables, and put it in a saucepan to boil. When boiling, sprinkle in two ounces of semolina, stirring well. Boil for a few minutes, then add a quarter of a pound of cold beef or mutton, finely chopped, and pepper and salt to taste. Season with a few drops of lemon over all, pour into a wetted mould, cover with greased paper, and bake for fifteen minutes. When cold, turn out on a dish and garnish with hard-boiled eggs, cut in slices, and chopped gherkins.

DEVILLED CRABS.

Break up one pound of crab meat with a fork, add half a teaspoonful of bread crumbs, the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs, rubbed through a sieve, a seasoning of salt and cayenne pepper, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, a tablespoonful of Worcester sauce, two of tomato ketchup, two of salad dressing, the juice of a lemon, the yolks of two raw eggs, and the whites stiffly beaten. Fill the crabshells, sprinkle with breadcrumbs, and bake for twenty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with slices of lemon.

CHOCOLATE CAKE.

Grate two penny sticks of chocolate finely into a small teacupful of milk, and boil together, then set aside to cool. Beat three ounces of butter, the same weight of sugar, and one egg to a cream, then pour on to the melted chocolate. Sift into this a quarter of a pound of flour. Line a cake tin with buttered paper, pour in the mixture, and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. When cold, make an icing by mixing half a pound of icing sugar with two ounces of grated chocolate in a little warm water; warm the mixture, then pour over the cold cake. Smooth with a knife and allow to set.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Nearly all the Labrador schooners are left for the coast, and the balance will be leaving in a few days. May all success attend them and their crews every one.

Captain made their appearance at Riverhead this morning. This is a very unusual occurrence, as captain have seldom been known to go so far up the harbor.

His Lordship Bishop March arrived by train on Saturday afternoon, and there was much rejoicing by all our citizens. The many flags flying at different points helped in a way to show the pleasure of the people in having Bishop March with them again. We are pleased to hear that His Lordship is in good health.

A fairly good sign of codfish was in the market this morning. Salmon were also fairly plentiful, and sold for 8c. lb.

The weather has taken a decided change for the better, and although the air is quite cool to-day with east wind, still the bright rays of the sun falling evenly on all is very refreshing, and sends a desire through us all to do all the gardening we can.

Hr. Grace, June 16, 1914. —COR.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands, the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modern and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland. —ap17,t

The Rifle Club.

The annual meeting of the St. John's Rifle Club was held at the Club house yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. After the usual reports were read and adopted the election of officers for the ensuing year took place and resulted in the re-election of the following:—

- Captain—J. W. Morris.
- Vice-Capt.—T. M. McNeil.
- Secretary—W. H. Rennie.
- Treasurer—W. J. Higgins.

The same committee as last year was again chosen, viz: S. L. Mews, E. W. Macnab, R. G. Winter, E. S. Ayre, G. F. Carty and A. Ellis. It was decided to begin the series of regular competitions on Wednesday next.

BRINGING BIG CARGO.—The s.s. Sindbad is due here Saturday with a large cargo, including 8,000 barrels of flour. She left Fort William on Thursday last for Halifax and this port.

The Circus.

They grease the circus wagons now, and exercise the spotted horses, and curvy down the sacred cow—and this a harbinger of course is. In training are the acrobats, those dauntless neck-and-shoulder riskers; the clowns invest in steeple hats, and sacrifice their winter whiskers. Full soon the one and only show will set forth from its winter quarters, and we shall to the big tent go, and take our wives and aunts and sisters. We've lived on earth a hundred years, and most things weary me and bore me, but every time the show appears, a glad sensation travels o'er me. I'll never be so beastly old that I unmov'd can see the circus, with charlots of red and gold, and flimflam gents who deftly work us. I like to watch the lion track around his lair in futile rage, to see the camel and the yak, the bughouse monkeys in their cages. I like to see the hippo swim like mermaid, in the dirty water, then turn a fond admiring glim upon the warthog and the otter. Without the circus genial spring would be a tame and plotless story; so come, oh circus, and bring red lemonade and peanuts hoary.

Try Again.

You have, it may be, used ointments, pastes, lotions for Eczema till you begin to get tired of trying things. Well, but you should remember that science is advancing all the time, and that what was not possible yesterday can be accomplished to-day. If you neglect to try Zylex—the newest and best thing that science has yet to offer for the relief and cure of Eczema and other annoying and disfiguring skin diseases—you are missing a great opportunity. It may be that it will cure you. It has cured some very bad cases. Price 50c. a box. Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

Predicts the End Of All Woe.

Elmont, L.I., June 9.—According to Professor William Probasco Grancis, the weather, current events and various astronomical conditions will bring about a marked change in the world after August 21st of this year, when wars will cease for eighteen years and all the world will live in harmony; labor strikes will cease, railroads will never more be over-capitalized, volcanic eruptions will end, farmers will know nothing but success and full crops and pockets full of gold; the San Jose scale will disappear from fruit trees, the Panama Canal will never more be the subject of agitation and all old occurrences will cease to happen.

All this and much more will happen within a few months after August 21st. So declares Professor Francis, the Long Island weather prophet and astrologer, who says that in the past for nearly 50 years he has sent out a forecast that has been beyond remarkable in its correctness.

Professor Francis says there has also come to him a vision of dates that will be worth millions of dollars to the farmers of this country, for if farmers plant on the days that he forecasts they will meet with no handicaps or dry weather, excessive rains or too much heat or cold. In short, conditions will be perfect for bumper crops.

These forecasts, the professor declares, will bring to him a fortune. Mr. Francis expects that he will receive the $50,000 offered by James J. Hill, the railroad promoter, for a solution of crop failures, and is also likely to bring a gift of $1,000,000 from Mr. Rockefeller.

Professor Francis also thinks that many of the nine million farmers of the country are likely to each present him a one dollar bill.

The conditions that will bring about these wonderful events, Professor Francis declares, will commence with a total eclipse of the sun on August 21st, when the world will be darker than at any time since 1842. Immediately following the eclipse the world will commence to be better and continue to improve weekly.

What My Letter Friends Say.

By RUTE CAMERON.

I wish I had space enough to publish all the interesting letters my readers write me. But even if that is out of the question, I'm going to give you extracts from two or three of them to-day.

In answer to my article on profanity a letter friend writes me a beautiful letter, saying that he has made up his mind to break himself of the habit. He adds something about habits which is decidedly worth passing on.

"We make our habits through thoughts, and our habits make us what we are. I got the habit of swearing at a young age by not realizing the degradation of it. I was told that if I swore I would get a whipping. The whipping was the only thing I considered was in the way of my swearing with the other boys. I found I could swear anywhere but in the presence of my parents and not get whipped. So I became a professional and my parents never knew it until I was a full grown young man.

"I found that my teaching was wrong, so I took a different course with my children. I taught them the degrading part in everything. I never told them they mustn't do anything because I would whip them, but because it was wrong in itself, and they haven't got one bad habit that I know of."

The best part of this letter is that it is apparently from a man of no great education (I have corrected the orthography and spelling). And yet in spite of lack of education, he is evidently a deep thinker. Three cheers and a tiger for him, I say. He is the kind of man America needs.

Some time ago I wrote about the strange way in which thoughts of distant friends often slip into our minds without any apparent cause. Apropos of this talk, a letter friend sends in the following comment:

"Some months ago I chanced to read one of your 'Chats' which rather impressed me, as it touched on a subject I have often sought to have explained, but without success. If I recall correctly, you dwelt on the inability to account for alien thoughts, or memory pictures flashing through our brain.

"Thinking that it may interest you, I am sending you a copy of a little poem taken from an issue of the Messenger of Peace, which struck me as a new way to deal with these 'thought waves.'"

"Pray One for Another."
(James, 5:16.)

"I cannot tell why there should come to me
A thought of some one miles and miles away,
In swift insistence on the memory,
Unless a need there be that I should pray.

"Too hurried oft are we to spare the thought,
For days together, of some friends away,
Perhaps God does it for us, and we ought
To read his signal as a call to pray.

"Perhaps, just then, my friend has
Razor fight
And more appalling weakness, and decay
Of courage, darkness, some lost sense of right,
And so in case he needs my prayer,
I pray.

"Friend, do the same for me. If I intrude
Unasked upon you, on some crowded day,
Give me a moment's prayer as interlude;
Be very sure I need it, therefore pray."
"Marianne Farningham."

When we consider that a reverent look heavenward, a thought—God bless my friend—constitute a prayer, does it not seem a little thing to ask that we pray when all unexpectedly and without any apparent reason some far distant friend or enemy perhaps intrudes on us in thought?

Day of Big Warships Past.

An Admiral's Bombshell—Asserts That Naval Officers of the Future Will Live Above the Sea or Under it.

London, June 6.—The problem which the English newspapers discuss this morning is: Has the time come for the abandonment of the continued construction at such enormous expense yearly of marine dreadnoughts?

There is no doubt that the radicals welcome Sir Percy Scott's declaration—that the warfare of the future will be conducted by airships and submarines—with delight; because it means the abandonment of the wild naval programmes which have crippled the great maritime nations of the world.

Sir Percy holds that submarines and aeroplanes have revolutionized naval warfare, and the naval officers of the future will live above the sea or under it.

The strain on their system will be so great that long terms of service will be inadvisable. It will be navy of youth, he says, requiring only daring. With a flotilla of submarines, commanded by daring young officers, he guarantees they would get through defences into any harbor, and sink or materially damage every ship in it.

Navy League Doubts it.

Despite the fact that the Navy League asserts that Sir Percy is premature, the News declares that there is sufficient basis to move away from the old formulae, which in the past have meant the crippling of the Empire's finances, the needless entanglement of the Empire in foreign alliances, and the imperilling of the safety of the British Isles.

The Chronicle, also an advocate of a moderate naval policy, advises Winston Churchill to go easy with his shipbuilding programme, "because there is a sound core for Sir Percy Scott's reasoning, though his deductions may be too sweeping."

Should go Slow.

The Express advises strict caution before a steered and studied policy is abandoned, whilst the Mail says that "the weapons of yesterday and of to-day should not be scrapped by speculative theories."

The opinion is growing here that the time is rapidly coming when there should be another Imperial conference to discuss how best the outlying section of the empire can do their duty to the motherland.

Rob Roy's Birthplace.
House of Lords Prevents Demolition of Historic Spots.

Glasgow, June 6.—The birthplace of Rob Roy, the celebrated Highland freebooter, the place where he died, and his grave, have been saved by a decision of the House of Lords denying the city of Glasgow a right to draw a water supply from Loch Voil and Loch Doine. If Glasgow's request had been granted it would have been necessary, since these lakes are a part of the eastern watershed, to raise the level of the lakes some 50 feet, which would have submerged the Rob Roy landmarks.

These sentimental considerations were laid before the House of Lords in petition after petition, but the decision of that body, sitting in its judicial capacity, was not based upon any of these points. The ancient riparian regulations read that water from an eastern watershed shall not be diverted to western uses, and it was decided that Glasgow must forego its water supply for the prosaic reason that the city is on the wrong side of the watershed.

My Old House.

I hail once more my natal day,
Still in my tenement of clay,
With many favors blest,
Now He who placed the structure here,
Can prop it up another year,
If He should think it best.

Strong hath it stood through snow and rain,
And braved life's fearful hurricane,
While many a stronger fell,
The reason why we cannot see,
But what to us seems mystery,
The Builder knows full well.

But now 'tis weather-worn and old,
The summer's heat and winter's cold
Pierce through the walls and roof,
Tis like a garment so worn out,
To mend there seems no whereabout,
So gone in warp and woof.

The tottering pillars all are weak,
The poor old rusty hinges creak,
The windows, too, are dim;
These light discomforts we'll let pass,
For looking darkly through the glass,
We catch a hopeful gleam.

Nature and Scripture tell us all
This withered frame ere long must fall,
Where, when, or how's unknown:
We'll leave that to the Architect,
And trust His wisdom to direct,
The taking of it down.

And when you see it prostrate lie,
Let not sad tears bedim your eye,
The tenant is not there,
But just beyond time's little space,
He finds with Christ a resting place,
No more to date her year.

So when she walks with you no more,
The world will move just as before,
Tis meet it should be so,
Let each his house in order set,
That he may leave without regret,
Whenever called to go.

Shadfly a Pest.

Prescott, Ontario, June 10. — Although it is a common occurrence at this time of the year for this district to be visited by Shadfly, it appears to be an exceptional pest this year.

When the wind is from the east it is almost impossible to see across the streets. For some mornings past it has been necessary to sweep flies from the sidewalks, otherwise their crushed bodies would form a slippery surface dangerous to pedestrians.

Ten days at most is the life of this particular fly, and the unusual phenomena is attracting people from outside.

Yesterday afternoon and night the Royal Gwent Welsh Singers gave concerts. At night the hall was well filled. The success achieved rivalled those of the two preceding nights. The audiences were well pleased and frequent encores were well responded to. Owing to the success of the preceding concert, Mr. Hesser has decided to give additional concerts to-night and to-morrow night.

Cards, Please!

A young married lady had just acquired a new brougham and a new footman to match. "John," she said, one day, "we will drive out to make a few calls. But I shan't get out of the carriage; you will, therefore, take the cards that are on my dressing-table and leave one of them at each house we stop at." "Very good, ma'am," answered John, and he ran upstairs to fetch the cards. After they had driven about a considerable time, and cards had been left at a large number of houses, the lady remarked: "Now we must call on the Deles, the Framptons, and Grahams." "We can't do it," here broke in the footman, in alarm; "I've only the ace of spades and the ten of clubs left!"

Collision in the English Channel.

Special to Evening Telegram.

SOUTHAMPTON, To-day.

The North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm 2nd, which left Southampton shortly after noon yesterday for New York with a thousand passengers lies at anchor off Netley with a big hole in her side, caused by a collision with a Liverpool grain steamer Incomore, from a Black Sea port for Antwerp. The Incomore is a much smaller boat than the German steamer, and is in dock here with her bows badly smashed. The collision occurred in the English Channel, thirteen miles South of Nab Light-ship in a dense fog. Just how it occurred and on which vessel lies the responsibility cannot be ascertained at the present time. Officers on the Kaiser have permitted no communication to be held with any one on board. They have refused to give out any information. Such scant details as have been obtained came from the Incomore. That vessel had virtually come to a stop because of the danger of continuing under way in such a thick fog, when suddenly there loomed up just ahead of her the huge bulk of the Kaiser. Both captains did their best to avert a collision, but the short distance separating the two vessels rendered their efforts ineffectual, and the Incomore struck the liner on the starboard side amidship. The force of the impact crumpled up her own bows and tore a big gap in the Kaiser's side. The steamers stood by each other until it was ascertained that neither were in need of immediate assistance, then both started slowly for Southampton. The fore-part of the Incomore rapidly filled with water, but the stout bulkhead confined it there, and although so much pushed by the bows that her propeller was half out of water, she managed to crawl into port, and found that the impact crumpled up her bows extended a length of twelve feet and in width ten feet.

According to a statement issued from an officer of the North German Lloyd Co. the Kaiser was rammed by the Incomore at 3:30 yesterday afternoon at right angles and scraped along for some distance, but the water-tight doors in the bulkheads kept back the water which leaked in to one compartment. Directly the fog came on Captain Dahl had closed the water-tight doors to be ready for any contingency. The Kaiser had a hole below the water line amidships but the extent of the damage is not yet ascertained. After waiting on the spot for half an hour the Kaiser returned to Southampton. No one on board was injured, but the boats were got ready for swinging out, but were not swung out. There was no excitement on the vessel.

A Crop of Collisions

THE LESSON LEARNT.

It is somewhat singular that just at the time everybody's attention is directed to the investigation of the terrible disaster which occurred on account of the collision in a fog in the St. Lawrence between the Empress of Ireland and the Storstad, there should be reported actual collisions and narrow escapes from collisions between steamers in a fog. A few days ago a news despatch told of a collision in a fog in mid-Atlantic between the American liner New York, and the Dutch Lloyd liner Pretorian. Fortunately there appears to have been little or no damage done. This morning comes reports that a collision was narrowly averted in a thick fog between the collier Cabot and the Florizel, off Beaver Harbor. The collision was averted by the presence of mind of both captains, who saved the two ships from a head-on collision. Both veered to port, passing within twenty feet of one another. The escape will be hailed with satisfaction here. Hard on the news of the Florizel's escape came the news of a collision between the big North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II. and a grain steamer. The collision occurred in a fog in the channel, and both steamers made for Southampton. The grain steamer is on dock with 12 feet by 10 of her bows broken in, and the German liner has a hole in her amidships below the water line. No lives were lost. The bulk head of the grain steamer stood the strain of the water coming in at her bows, and the German liner had her water-tight doors closed when the fog came on. The lesson of the Titanic and the Empress of Ireland bore fruit and no doubt contributed to the safety of the thousands aboard the big German steamer.

Never count your chickens (or ducklings either) before they are hatched, is a good motto. Yesterday one of our citizens (who loves poultry both in the barn and on the table), secured 12 beautiful duck eggs and intended putting them under a hen for hatching. In imagination he could see 10 or more ducklings running around, and also could imagine having the pleasure of carving them. After his tea last night he proceeded to the barn to put the eggs under the hen. He climbed up the nest, and then secured some hay to make the nest. He then began to descend, and then a cuss! The air became sultry, and he wondered for he put his No. 10 right into the basket with the highly prized duck eggs. Six were broken and only six were put under the hen. Perhaps he'll blame the rats but this is the facts of the case. "Make Hay while the sun shines, but never count your chickens before they are hatched."—COR.

Conflicting Testimony.

Special to Evening Telegram.

QUEBEC, June 17th.

Out of the testimony that three very little fresh light, on the disaster to the Empress of Ireland, the Dominion Commission inquiring into it to-day managed to extract a few points which however only serve to make confusion worse confounded, and indicate that the evidence of the Empress and the Storstad officers, conflicting as it does, suggests that a similar state of cross purposes may be found to be the final explanation of the wreck. At the morning session, Bulter Aspenwall, K.C., acting for the Can. Pac. Railway extracted opinions from chief officer Tutinense of the collier, according to the diagram he had drawn of the respective positions of the ships when they saw one another just before the collision in the fog. He thought the Empress which was travelling fast should have cleared the wreck. At the morning session, Bulter Aspenwall, K.C., acting for the Can. Pac. HALIFAX, June 17.
 A collision at sea between the Red Cross Liner Florida and the Dominion Coal Co.'s steamer Cabot, was narrowly averted east of Egg Island yesterday afternoon, during a thick fog. The Cabot arrived at Halifax and reported that on yesterday afternoon off Beaver Harbour, she was plowing through a heavy fog at eight knots, when the Florizel, bound east, was seen to loom up through the mist. Presence of mind on the part of both captains saved the ships from a head-on collision. Both veered to port, passing within 20 feet of one another.

WESTBURY, L.I., June 17.
 No previous International Polo struggle ever closed under such tense excitement. Conditions when the eighth and final period opened were that the American four were leading by a fraction of a point. Despite their desperate efforts they could not hold the advantage. Each team secured a goal in this period; but the defenders, in their anxiety to clinch a victory, transgressed the rules by sharp crossing, and were penalized for fouling. So it came about that just as the sun sank in the West, Capt. Barrett, of the Hurlingham Club's successful four was carried to the club house on the shoulders of English adherents, bearing Union Jacks, whilst the American Polo devotees began to discuss plans for a 1915 invasion of England in a fresh quest for the cup. The score for the second game of the series was 4 to 2 3/4.

LONDON, June 17.
 The peril of the two rival volunteer forces in Ireland was responsible for the votes of censure debated by both the Lords and Commons yesterday, the Government being blamed for inaction, both now and in the past. Although Ministers defended themselves by throwing the onus on the Opposition, it was noticeable that the Marquis of Crewe changed his attitude regarding his refusal to say anything about the Amending Bill, and promised its production at the beginning of next week, while the parent Bill could be deferred in accordance with the wishes of the Opposition. Considerable excitement was caused by Lord Crewe's announcement that the Premier had been in communication with Sir Edward Carson during the recess. Sir Edward's explanation about Mr. Asquith consulting him on the map of Ulster, and the Premier's assertion that the communication was of a private character, showed that it could not be regarded in any way as a renewal of the "conversations."

Catholic Cadet Corps

No. 6 Company, Bell Island.

No. 6 Company of the Catholic Cadet Corps, paraded at Bell Island on last Sunday afternoon. There were over 80—rank and file—in attendance, besides a large number of friends of the Brigade. The Chaplain, Rev. J. J. McGrath, P.P., and Chairman P. P. Power were present, and both addressed the company, after which the former read a communication from the Lieut.-Colonel, C. O'N. Conroy, Esq., announcing the following appointments:

Captain—Leo C. Murphy.
Lieuts.—R. Costigan (Senior), R. Pine.

The following promotions were also authorized: Privates Ronald Jackman, James Connors, William Connors and Archibald Power to Lance-Corporals.

Good Conduct Stripes for attendance at drill were presented to the following: Privates Michael Jackman, Edward Basha, Philip Power, Gus Connors, James Lahey, Patrick Murphy, Leo Dobbin, Gus Delaney, Robert Lahey.

Hearty cheers were given for the Chaplain, Captain Murphy and the new officers, after which the lads were dismissed. This event marks a new epoch in the history of the C.C.C.—namely, the extension of its good influence and organization to other points in the Colony besides St. John's, Bell Island—the first place to acquire this honor—should feel proud of the distinction.

Grand Falls Theft.

Constable Martin, of Grand Falls, arrived by yesterday's express with two boys, who were recently convicted of theft and sentenced to three months imprisonment. The young lads entered Wood's Candy Store at Grand Falls by the aid of a false key and stole a quantity of goods and some cash. Though quite young, the offenders have already gained an unenviable reputation at Grand Falls for breaches of the law.

St. John's Gas Light Company.

Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your works and I found 20.5 per cent of NITROGEN. Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manures. Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.

Yours truly,
D. JAMES DAVIES, B.S.C., F.C.S.
Analyst and Assayer.

To-Night's Match.

The B.I.S. and Colegians will be the players in to-night's football match. The personnel of the teams is as follows:

B.I.S.—Clare, goal; Kavanagh, T. Duggan, backs; Brown, Burke, W. Duggan, halves; Shortall, R. Jackman Kelly, E. Brophy, E. J. Brophy, forwards.

Colegians.—C. Quick, goal; Bond, Barrett, backs; H. Barnes, J. Pike, E. Barnes, halves; Maddock, Smallwood, Hutchings, Noonan, C. Quick, forwards.

Home's Report.

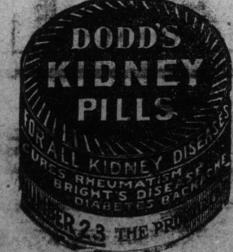

The s.s. Home, which arrived at Lewisporte at 9 p.m. yesterday, reported to the Reid Mill, Co. as follows: "Made all ports of call except Shoe Cove and Tilt Cove, owing to thick fog full of ice going north; thick fog returning and did not see any. Caplin plenty in Hall's Bay and good sign of codfish at Exploits."

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

A QUIET TIME.—All yesterday the police had it very quiet and up to last midnight made only one arrest.

FELIDIAN SPORTS.—The Felidian sports were postponed yesterday owing to the unfavorable weather; they will come off this afternoon.

Fishery Report West.

The latest report of the fishery between Odein and Rushoon is: "One trap is in the water and 5 boats and 11 dories and skiffs are fishing. No bankers, but two schooners from the grounds have returned. Prospects are not very bright and there is no bait in this locality. There is no improvement in the lobster fishery; the weather lately has been very rough with S.E. and E.S.E. winds. One schooner—the Western Annie, Jos. Cheeseman, master—has returned from the Gulf with 100 qts."

Empress of Ireland Enquiry at Quebec.

Special to Evening Telegram. Quebec, June 16.—Evidence amplifying known contentions in regard to the cause of the disaster on May 29th, was brought out to-day at the opening session of the investigation by the Dominion Commission, of which Lord Mersey is Chairman. So far the main arguments of Captain Kendall are that he was stationary when rammed by the Storstad, whilst the owners of the collier declare that the Empress placed herself in front of their vessel which indisputably had the right of way. Capt. Kendall was on the stand for several hours, and gave a straightforward account of the events of the terrible morning along the lines of his testimony at the Rimouski inquest.

New chapters illustrating the horror of the disaster, were added by Capt. Kendall in his testimony, the most startling being his description of how a sheet of flame burst from the Empress, after she was rammed, the smoke of the collier evidently penetrating clear through her boilers. The first authentic account was also given of the distressing scene enacted when Capt. Kendall, on the verge of collapse, met Capt. Andersen, as the former reached the Storstad. Apparently Kendall was taken away insensible. He vehemently argued that the collision was inevitable, when the Empress came at them in the fog. It was not till after it had occurred that he had given the order to close the water tight bulkheads by which three compartments had been exposed to the sea.

Questioned by Lord Mersey as to why he stopped his ship when he had turned his green light to that of the Storstad's in conformity with the rules of navigation, Capt. Kendall claimed that he took this step as a safeguarding measure owing to the fact that the British Judge is Chairman of a Canadian Commission, whilst Butler Aspinwall, an English lawyer, is leading one section of the interests involved, and Haight, an American lawyer, the other.

At the enquiry to-day Mr. Tutness said that directly Capt. Andersen came on the bridge from below, the Empress came out of the fog. Collision was then inevitable. Capt. Andersen ordered the engines full speed astern. "Why did you not call the captain when the fog first appeared?" asked Mr. Aspinwall. "Because I waited a few minutes to see if it would lift again," was the reply. "But your instructions were to call the captain directly fog appeared," remarked the counsel. "Yes."

BATTLE OF WATERLOO 1815. Napoleon escaped from Elba in March, 1815, went to Paris, and raised an Army, marching to meet the Allied Powers. At this well-known battle the English defeated the French and the arrival of the Prussians under Blucher turned the defeat into a rout. This brought to a close the Napoleonic wars, which had raged for over twenty years. Napoleon surrendered in July and was exiled to St. Helena.

WILLIAM COBBETT died 1835, aged 73. A politician and controversialist who through the medium of his paper attacked both Radical and Tory in turn and by merciless personalities frequently got himself into trouble. It is to live twice, when you can enjoy the recollection of your former life.

AT THE CRESCENT—BIG FEATURES.

The holiday bill at the Crescent Picture Palace yesterday, attracted large audiences in the afternoon and evening. The special feature of the two-reel drama "When Pierrot met Pierrette," a clever story of the capture of a crook and a band of criminals. "The Sponge Industry" was a very interesting illustration of the manufacture of this article. The comedy "What Happened to Freckles," Adventure No. 3 of the famous Preckles series was a subject that created much amusement. To-day the same bill is repeated and to-morrow the usual big change for the week end performance will take effect. "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the historic Southern story that was the chief cause of the Civil War, will be the big attraction next week. This great picture is acted for by many stars. During the past week several alterations have been made at the Crescent. The picture curtain has been raised a couple of feet and the improvement has been very favorably commented upon. The work of painting the interior is now almost completed.

The Seamen's Institute.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—It has been a great pleasure for me on my return from England to learn from the Committee of the Seamen's Institute what it has accomplished in rendering services to the people and the city, and to realize from the large amount of patronage received from the citizens what a real need there was for the accommodation it affords. It has been very gratifying to all the friends who had the pleasure of making it possible, to learn that 7,143 beds have been occupied during the year, that at least 5,200 of these were from the outports; that the standing expenses of the Institute are met by the takings; and that the Institute is practically self-supporting which is the best test of its value. The Committee for the Girls' section of the building also say that they are over-crowded and have to turn away applicants for bedrooms. They have decided to take over all the top floor for their work so that their sleeping accommodation will be doubled, and the night school classes which have been so helpful, will have the better accommodation of the large sitting room. Our Secretary has made this possible by resigning his beautiful suite of rooms directly he realized that they were called for for the service of the people. The generous gift of the large electric room sign, the gift of a citizen, and a token of his appreciation of the success so far accomplished is also very gratifying. The Committee have also informed me that they need the sum of $5,000 for some absolutely necessary improvements to the Swimming Pool, for the hot water service, and for the lavatories; especially with a view of getting full-length baths for the service of fishermen which are constantly being called for, and that there is also need for $1,500 for the first inside painting for the dormitories and corridors for the visitors.

In view of the coming of the Duke of Connaught who is expected to visit the building, it would be a great gratification to all the friends of the work if they had this last sum in time to enable the Committee to make that expenditure by the 10th of July. No one is more aware than I am of the great taxes made upon the generosity of citizens of late, but at the same time I feel certain that the City is proud enough of this building to want our royal guest to see it in its best possible dress. I am glad to start this subscription with $100 myself as a token of my gratitude.

(Sgd.) WILFRED GRENFELL.

Singing, Clog Dancing

AND SIX PICTURES.

At Rossley's to-day there is a specially prepared programme that would be hard to beat. Dan Cusack, the lyric tenor, has three fine songs to-night that should please all classes. Besides his championship clog waltz, there is also six of the best all feature films that can be had in all film-dom. The great drama "When the Desert was Kind," by the Vitagraph players; "Tim Gragan's Foundling," by the Vitagraph players; "After Welsh Rarebit," by the Edison players; "Trixie and the Press," by the Kalem players; "When he Wants a Dog," by the Eclair players; "Live and Let Live," by the Vitagraph players—surely a splendid selection. The great shipment of new films brought out by Mr. Rossley for the Rossley Theatre, are without a doubt the greatest selection of pictures ever seen.

Last week we opened a $5,000 shipment of Men's and Boys' high grade clothing. This shipment should have arrived over one month ago, and is therefore too late for our regular trade.

We also offer Twenty-five per cent. on special clearing lines of Bexhill and other styles suitable for small boys.

We have a large selection of Youths' Rugby, well tailored, neat patterns, and we specially invite the young lads to see these fashionable lines before buying ordinary slop readymades, mere "hand me downs."

Goodrich Motor Tires!

A Large Shipment now in Stock.

SAFETY FIRST

Grips like the sole of an athlete's shoe

The cross bars on a football player's shoes give him a firm footing—he is able to run, jump, make sharp, quick turns with more assurance and safety.

The specially toughened Safety Bars on Goodrich Tires cut through the film and obtain a firm grip on the road surface—thus preventing the skid from starting.

And there's another reason why you should equip with Goodrich Safety Treads—the extra thickness at the point of contact insures extra wear.

Pleasing Presentation

AT K. OF C. ROOMS.

At Tuesday night's meeting of Terra Nova Council, Knights of Columbus, Mr. V. P. Burke, M.A., L.L.D., Lecturer of the Council, was presented with a complete set of Kipling's works, exquisitely bound, as a souvenir of the honors recently conferred on him. Mr. C. P. Eagan, Grand Knight on behalf of the Council, made the presentation and in doing so voiced the sentiments of the Council in extending heartiest congratulations to Brother Burke on the honors achieved, and asked him to accept their gift as an appreciation of the distinction so deservedly bestowed upon their Brother Knight. Dr. Burke was very agreeably surprised, and deeply moved by the laudatory reference to his honors, and replied in modest and appreciative terms, assuring the Knights that the gift would always be cherished as a pleasing memento of his affiliation with Terra Nova Council.

SCARCITY CONTINUES.

There was a very poor sign of codfish on the local grounds again this morning and boats only got small fares.

COUCH-TAYLOR.
Yesterday afternoon the wedding of Miss Ella Couch, daughter of Capt. Caleb Couch, of this city, to William Pike Taylor, electrician with the Newfoundland Co., was solemnized at Wesley Church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. F. R. Matthews. A large number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony. The bride was prettily gowned in cream serge, with white hat and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. She was attended by Misses Ella Barter and Julia Taylor, whilst the groom was supported by Mr. Walter James, of the Postal Telegraphs. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to Bonnavista, where a reception was held, Rev. and Mrs. Matthews being amongst the guests. The bride was the recipient of many useful and valuable presents. The honeymoon will be spent at Carbonear the former home of the groom. The Telegram joins with the many friends of the happy couple in wishing them many years of wedded happiness.

Regatta Notes.

Much interest is being centred in our big annual event and "the day of the races" this year is being looked forward to being the greatest success ever witnessed at historic Quidi Vidi Lake.
The committee are now preparing for their second meeting which will take place to-morrow night week, when special committees, collectors, etc., will be appointed.
Intending crews are now getting ready. Several crews have already formed up and are only waiting to get the boats to begin practice.
The interior of the new C.C.C. boat is practically done and the builder, Mr. Bob Sexton, expects to put the finishing touches to her about the latter part of next week. The boat will be launched and christened about the 15th July.
It is expected that the most interesting race of the series this year will be the football contest. Every team in the league, we hear, is going to enter. The C.E.I. and Collegians will row the same crews as last year, whilst the Star will have their team strengthened with three of last year's C.C.C. team. The B.I.S. will also have to be reckoned with and the Follidians Saints and Casuals are looked upon as the white hopes.

Tailor Shop Flooded.

Owing to some material becoming caught in the outlet of the wash basin at the store of Mr. C. J. Ellis, tailor, the water that was left running last night overflowed the basin and running through the workshop, leaked into the cutting room and caused considerable damage. Mr. Ellis was informed of the occurrence by some ladies who were passing that way, and was quickly on the scene. With the assistance of friends he removed the greater portion of the stock and this prevented a more serious loss.

Mounted Police.

TO UNDERTAKE PERILOUS TASK.
Regina, Sask., June 11.—To search for the bodies of Harry Radford and H. Street, two explorers and engineers who went into the Polar regions some three years ago, and who are reported to have been murdered by Eskimos, a party of Mounted Policemen under Inspector Beyle will leave Regina about June 20.

It is not yet known how many men there will be in the party, but supplies and equipment must be taken for three years. The task which they are to undertake will be one of the most arduous and probably also one of the most perilous ever embarked upon by members of the famous force of the Northwest.

Sergeant-Major Caulkin, of Maple Creek has been ordered to return to Mounted Police Headquarters here to join the expedition, which will go into the northern wilds. They will commence their investigation in territory adjacent to Chesterfield Inlet. The country which they will have to cover is the bleakest in all Canada. The party will maintain order on Hudson Bay posts, and will also patrol thousands of miles inland.

Personal.

Mr. C. E. Cruikshank, Grand Master of the I.O.O.F., who has been in the city visiting Atlantic Lodge, left by last evening's express for Bonavista and will visit the Lodge in that town. From Bonavista he will proceed to his home in Woodstock, Ont. A large gathering of the Order assembled at the railway station to see the visitor off.

Mr. W. D. Reid, accompanied by Messrs. Wilson, Wallace and Perry, arrived by yesterday's express in the private car Terra Nova. They landed in Port aux Basques on Sunday last and since then had been visiting points of interest along the line.

Just an Ordinary Hero.

WAS BRICKLAYERS' LABORER, WIFE'S HYSTERICAL OUTBURS LED HIM TO TALK ABOUT HIMSELF AND THEN HE TOLD HER SOMETHING.
 Her husband couldn't be induced to speak of the subject, and the story would never have been written had she not confided in her best friend (who vowed she'd keep it secret).

After reading a very modern novel in which the hero was pictured as having the strength of a horse, the heart of a lion, the wisdom of Solomon, the beauty of Apollo, and a supreme disregard for the desires, opinions of other men, her cousin Tom visited the "two-by-four" shop she lived in.
 Tom was a lady's man and an athlete. He was also somewhat of a hero. He had fought in South Africa and once saved a child from drowning. He was a fluent speaker, and adept at turning the conversation into channels which would give him an opportunity to tell of some great deed he had done. He told of his past performances, with just the amount of "mock-reticence, which such men have, and he impressed the little woman.

Mourning Marriage.
 Her husband heard her sobbing quietly after their guest had departed. He asked the reason. She declined to give it. He pleaded. She was stubborn. Then he got angry so did she, and her feelings found vent as follows:
 "Oh, it's you, just you. That's what's the matter. You've never done a thing in your life that any ordinary man couldn't do. You've never fought for your country. You've never saved a girl from drowning. You've never won medals at running or anything else. You're just a common ordinary, everyday bricklayer's laborer—and you'll never be anything else—I must have been mad to marry such a man."

And because he was a man I husband put his arm about her neck. He held her tightly. He put his hand over her mouth when she postulated, and commanded her to listen.

His Defence.
 His wife's friend reports what then said: "Listen, I'm no hero, I married you on twelve shillings a week when I might have left you to be shamed, as you would have had I gone away. I worked my fingers to the bone for you. When times got bad I gave you all the money I could raise, and stowed away a liner bound for Canada."

"I was hauled out on the second day from Liverpool. I'd never been to sea before. I was sick as a dog. They put me to work with the stokers. They were shorthanded, and was only a stowaway. One fellow killed on that trip. I wished it were me. I burned and blistered for you."

Sent For Wife.
 He had to hold her head tight just then, but he kept his grip, and when her muffled outburst ceased he went on: "I got away at Montreal. I worked my way up to Toronto on a lake boat, fringed. I got work in Toronto, and from my first pay I sent you money. I schemed and slaved to get your passage paid out here. I sent for you inside a month, and I sent money to keep you going all that time."
 "When you'd got here, I'd rented furnished rooms for you. You didn't like them, and I took unfurnished rooms, got a few sticks on the installment plan, and worked nights to pay for them."

Pleasant Surprise.
 "When you took sick, I tended you. When the doctor said you must go to the hospital I planned a surprise for you on coming out. I put five dollars down on some land. I got lumber on credit. I built what you said you wanted, 'a home of your own.'"

"It's nearly paid for—thanks to me. I've worked when I should have rested; worked when I was sick; lay awake nights thinking of ways to meet payments; helped you all could, never refused you anything could give, and then you turn on me like this. My wench," he ended solemnly, "I may not be a hero—but I'm a good husband."
 He released his hold about her neck. She wiped the tears off her cheeks, and gently said, "It's me that knows it."
