"KYRA," OR
The Ward of the Earl of Vering.

CHAPTER XV.

It is some weeks since Percy Chester and Kyra, the Indian girl, fled from the clutches of Mr. Jackson at the inn of Wanah, and once again we are at an inn. This time at an inn of unexceptionable respectability, not to say gentility—the "Vering Arms," in the High Street of Vering, under the shadow, so to speak, of Vering Wood.

It is still winter, and Mr. Tapling, the landlord, stands at the door, alternately glancing down the road, made red by the just dying sun, and at his old-fashioned watch. Evidently Mr. Tapling expected somebody, and with some impatience, and evidently that somebody was a somebody, for Mr. Tapling was too important an individual to be impatient about a nobody.

"Train's late," he remarked to his better-half, who seemed to be as anxious as himself. "I've noticed that it all is late when it's of consequence that it should be punctual. It seems to me that the folks at the railway don't care for nobody. Ah, here it comes! Send up to Mr. Gringe to say he's here."

Mrs. Tapling hesitated. "Haven't we better wait until we really see that he has come, my dear?" she remarked. "He mightn't have come, after all, you know."

Mr. Tapling turned, rather irritable. "Maria, if you'd been in service up at the World, and know as much of the Verings as I do, you'd know that none of 'em ever breaks their word or fails to keep an appointment. I'll bet the license of the 'Vering Arms' that Mr. Percy is in that fly coming up the hill."

Mrs. Tapling turned to do as she was bid, utterly vanquished by the offer of such a tremendous wager, and in two minutes more the pair—horse fly dashed up to the inn, and the landlord was at the carriage door.

"Mr. Percy, welcome, sir," were his first words, the next one, as he opened the door, was an exclamation of respectful but unbounded astonishment; for as Mr. Percy Chester stepped out of the fly, he turned and offered his hand to a young girl whose beauty struck upon the landlord like a supernatural vision; it was so dark and so unexpected. One moment of unmitigated surprise, and then he was all respect and attention. With the greatest care and respect on his part, Percy lifted the young girl from the carriage over the damp pavement, and placed her in the wide hall.

The landlady came bustling out as he did so, and, like her husband, stood stricken dumb with the same

Nerves Were So Upset Could Not Endure Noise

Neuralgic Headaches and Extreme Nervousness Caused Keenest Suffering—Lasting Cure by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Once the nervous system gets run down everything seems to tend to make it worse. You worry over your condition, are unable to get the required rest and sleep, noises excite and irritate you and the future is most discouraging.

The nervous system does not get the proper nourishment from the food you eat, so you must have something also to lift you out of the run-down condition. You may find that your experience coincides with the writer of this letter and be encouraged to put Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to the test.

You will make no mistake in employing this food cure, for, acting as it does hand in hand with Nature, it is bound to do you good.

Mrs. Jas. Jensen, Gwynne, Alta., writes: "About ten years ago I was troubled with severe attacks of neuralgia and nervousness, and was for kind of amazement. Mr. Chester was not slow to remark the effect caused by the girl's appearance, and a frown, swift but dark, crossed his face.

"Well, Tapling," he said, in his quiet, commanding way, the Vering tone and manner; "you expected me, I see."

"Yes, sir, and heartily glad to see you, sir," said the landlord, quite recovered by this time, and anxious, by increased respect, to atone for his moment of transgression.

"And what news from the World?" asked Percy, with deep anxiety.

"Just the same, sir, as Mr. Gringe telegraphed. I've sent up to say you were here, sir; and the rooms are quite ready, sir."

Percy nodded, then took Kyra's hand.

"This little girl is a ward of mine," he said. "I want the rooms for her. She is tired, I have no doubt."

At this hint Mrs. Tapling flew with respect at the lithe figure clad in rare and costly furs, and knelt down beside her.

"I'll take her upstairs, sir. There's a splendid fire, and dinner, and tea, too, sir, is all ready," and she bobbed a little curtsy.

"Very good," said Percy; and then he half drew, half led the young Indian to the motherly Mrs. Tapling.

Kyra looked from one to the other with calm, almost piercing scrutiny, but clung with wonderful tenacity to her guardian.

"Go with this lady, Kyra," he said, bending down slightly. "She will take all care of you—until I come back."

She looked up at him, and slowly drawing her hand from his advanced, with the lithe grace of a young savage, and placed the little, fur-gloved hand in the fat warm one of the landlady.

With a motherly smile of affection and admiration Mrs. Tapling clasped it and led the way upstairs.

Percy rapidly buttoned his sealskin coat again and looked up at the clock.

"I've kept the horses in, sir," said the landlord, eagerly.

"Yes, thanks; they shall drive me to the lodge gates and I'll walk the rest."

"Won't you wait and have something to drink—something warm," pleaded the landlord, with almost tender anxiety. "I've got a glass already made." And he handed a salver with a glass of brandy-and-water.

Percy just put his lips to it, out of regard for the landlord's thoughtfulness, then turned toward the carriage.

"I'll go at once," he said; then, as the landlord closed the carriage door, he added, "I need not ask you to take all care of my ward—Miss Kyra. I leave her in Mrs. Tapling's charge."

Mr. Tapling looked more than he could say in the way of assurances of his devotion to any charge left him by any of the house of Vering, and the impatient horses dashed off.

Mrs. Tapling and Kyra climbed the great wide stairs, and entered the grand room of the hotel. It was an old-fashioned room, splendid with crimson damask hangings, numerous pictures—mostly portraits of the Verings—and walnut wood furniture. A blazing fire roared and cackled in the wide fireplace, wax candles—it was dusk by then—lit up the wide expanse of comfort with a cheery, welcoming aspect. It was the first English room Kyra had seen, for she had traveled posthaste from America to Liverpool, from Liverpool to Vering, and her whole mind was thrilled by it; but not a muscle of her face moved, her eyes were as calm and composed as those of the pictures on the wall. She was an Indian, and the emotion of surprise was one of shame and degradation.

"There, my dear!" said Mrs. Tapling, leading her to the fire, "let me take your things off here before the fire—there's another in your bedroom. Not as I thought as it was to be yours, for Mr. Percy ordered it for himself, as we thought; but there—Lord save us, what beautiful furs! And they've come from foreign parts, any one can see!" and the good soul held up her fat hands in awful admiration, as she peered Kyra of one costly fur after another. "Why, you're all furs, my dear, like a young princess, as perhaps you are for what I know. There—are your hands cold, my dear?"

"No," said Kyra, who would have made the same reply if her hands had been frostitten.

"No; warm as toast. And you are hungry, I'll be bound. There!" and she pulled one of the long embroidered bell ropes. "We'll soon have dinner ready. Will you come to your room, my dear? I beg your pardon, Miss—Miss—what name shall I call you?"

"My name is Kyra," replied the girl, with a steady look, and in a voice liquid and musical, so strangely so, that the landlady remained on her knees for a moment afterward, as if she had been listening to some strange musical instrument.

"Kyra, what a pretty name, and what is your Christian name, miss?"

"My name is Kyra," repeated Kyra, distinctly.

The landlady nodded her head once or twice meditatively, then rose.

"Come with me, my dear," she said, "and I'll show you your room; and we'll have dinner ready by the time you've washed and made yourself straight."

In ten minutes the table was laid with the best plate, and furnished with as delicate and artistic a menu as the "Vering Arms" could produce; and a few minutes afterward Mrs. Tapling re-entered.

Mrs. Tapling looked round the table and then at her charge with some little anxiety.

"I hope everything will be as you like it, miss," she murmured, adding mentally, "If I'd only known what they eat in your country I'd a got it, if it 'ad been birds' nests or toads. There's some of Mr. Chester's favorite dishes."

"Kyra is pleased," said the girl, quietly.

Mrs. Tapling, who seemed to be completely under a spell, when her beautiful young curiosity opened her lips, bobbed a curtsy, and set a chair perfectly at the table.

"I'll stay with you, miss, if you please," she said. "Now, James," in an undertone, "the soup."

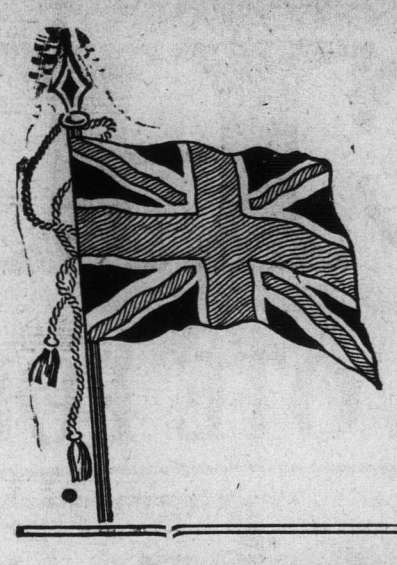

If the good soul expected to see her young guest attack the soup with her fingers, or exhibit any heathenism of the kind, she was greatly disappointed; Kyra chose the right spoon, held it properly, and partook of her soup with all the critical gravity of any lady from Belgravia. Mrs. Tapling was enchanted and awed. Fish—a splendid salmon—was received as familiar diet—sherry was sipped—cutlets, duck, rissoles, all partaken of with an air of admirable breeding, and then for the first time the child—she was nothing more—as the landlady kept assuring herself, in despite of her wonderful art of intelligence and self-possession—the child spoke.

"Kyra will have no more," she said, speaking in the same musical tone, and with a little imperious sweep of her small brown hand.

With the most profound obedience, the waiter removed the last of the sweets, and brought her a dish of rose-water. With great gravity she dipped

Opening of the Baseball Season

B. I. S. 200 100 09 x-18
Cubs 120 001 000-1

A very cold northeast gale was the weather handed out to the Baseballers and "fans" yesterday when the opening game of the series was played between the B. I. S. and Cubs resulting in a win for the former by 12 runs to 4.

Prior to the game's beginning the volunteers now in training, numbering upward of 700, under the command of Major Montgomery, arrived on the field as guests of the Baseball League, and Marched Past His Excellency the Governor, who was present with his staff. The players of the competing clubs paraded at the rear of the Volunteers and a very pleasing spectacle was presented which greatly pleased the bleacherites.

Umpire-in-Chief Chesman then called "Play Ball" and Mr. Gosling, Chairman of the Civic Commission, amidst great applause, threw the first ball over the plate to catcher McHenry, of the B. I. S., and thus formally began the fourth season of League Baseball in Newfoundland to be opened. This is the custom wherever baseball is played, and has been adhered to here since the League was inaugurated.

A delightful treat was given the spectators by the rendition of an excellently prepared program by the C. C. Band under the direction of Lieut. Arthur Bulley, who very kindly offered their services for the occasion in view of the entire proceeds being given to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club. Despite the unpleasantness of the weather about $300.00 was raised. This includes the gate receipts and the refreshments served by the Ladies' committee who worked most untiring and assiduously.

THE GAME.
The game started at 3.15 with the Cubs at bat. In this inning they scored once, while the B. I. S. succeeded in making 2 runs. In the second inning the Cubs made 2, while the Irishmen were blanked in the second and third but managed to secure 1 in the fourth. It was not until the sixth that the Cubs crossed the plate again, which finalised their scoring. At this period the game practically resolved itself into a pitching duel and was quite exciting but in the Irishmen's eighth inning, their twirler, Carew, started a batting rally and before the Cubs recovered from their surprise the latter had 3 runs salted down. Thereupon their spirit was broken and the changing of Hall for Pearce on the mound proved to be of no avail and victory was snatched from the Cubs almost at the last moment. The game was exciting and at times spectacular but the frigidity of the weather made voluble enthusiasm very latent. The B. I. S. have a very strong line-up and the infield is quite formidable, but in the early stages of the game wild throwing was at times prevalent and this probably accounted for the Cubs' runs. Pitcher, their new sunflower distinguished himself as owing to the high wind it was difficult to judge flies, and his double play to Campbell was particularly brilliant. Of course the mainstay of the team is their battery Carew and McHenry. The former's pitching was most effective and he has a large and varied assortment of the necessary curves and shots. For the losers, Tessier hit well and made the only three-bagger for the afternoon. Hall, their sturdy little pitcher, has quality if not quantity, and after a little experience will have to be reckoned with. His battery mate, Clouston, also has the game well in hand and they should make an admirable team. Both teams will have to improve their batting, though probably the cold weather and high wind made their hitting ineffective yesterday. Mr. F. V. Chesman was Umpire-in-Chief with Major Montgomery watching the bases, and a particularly pleasing feature of the game was the absence of ragging the umpires both by fans and players. Mr. P. E. Outerbridge looked after the score sheets in his usually efficient manner. The second game of the series will be played next Wednesday when the doughty old warriors—the Wanderers and Red Lions—will meet in battle array.

Despite the unpleasantness of the weather about $300.00 was raised. This includes the gate receipts and the refreshments served by Ladies' committee who worked untiring and assiduously.

THE GAME.

The game started at 3.15 with the home team batting first. They were once, while the B. I. S. succeeded in making 2 runs. In the second innings the Cubs made 2, while the fishermen were blanked in the third and third but managed to score 1 in the fourth. It was not until the sixth that the Cubs crossed the plate again, which finalised their being. At this period the game was decided, itself into a pitched battle and was quite exciting but the fishermen's eighth inning, their lead, Carew, started a batting rally before the Cubs recovered from the surprise the Mac-men had 3 runs scored. The response to the ball was broken and the changing of the ball for Pearce on the mound proved to be of no avail and, victory was decided from the Cubs moment the last moment. The game was exciting and at times spectacular but the weather made the enthusiasm very latent. The Cubs have a very strong line-up and which is quite formidable, but in the early stages of the game wild pitching was at times prevalent and probably accounted for the Cubs' pitcher, their new sunflower, finished himself, as owing to the wind it was difficult to judge and his double play to Campbell particularly brilliant. Of course the instancy of the team is their batsman, Carew and McHenry. The former's batting was most effective and made a large and varied assortment necessary curves and shots. The losers, Tessier hit well and the only three-bagger for the season. Hall, their sturdy little catcher, has quality if not quantity, and a little experience will have reckoned with. His battery with Clouston, also has the game in hand and they should make a formidable team. Both teams will try to improve their batting, though they the cold weather and high made their hitting ineffective yesterday. Mr. F. V. Chesman's Umpire-in-Chief with Major Montgomery watching the bases, and especially pleasing feature of the game was the absence of ragging the umpires both by fans and players. Mr. El Outerbridge looked after the sheets in his usually efficient manner. The second game of the series will be played next Wednesday when the doughty old warriors—the fishermen and Red Lions—will meet in an array.

Motor Boats.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good-Old Slivash." A motor boat is a small, frail vessel, afflicted with a gasoline engine and an amateur mechanic. When the engine is in full cry and the machine is making threats, the boat sometimes develops a speed of fifty miles an hour in its efforts to get away from both of them.

Motor boats are used by men fond of machinery, and keep them from taking more valuable things apart and repairing them. When a man has a motor boat and two bushels of tools he is perfectly happy and will not stay at home Sundays, and attempt to dissect the plumbing or repair the furnace or tune the piano or revive the door bell. A very small boat with an engine in it two sizes larger than an alarm clock will keep two strong men busy all summer, and will even prevent them from adding to the horrors of a presidential campaign by talking politics—for motor boats take precedence over politics or the cost of living when two boat owners are conversing.

A motor boat is very simple, unlike an automobile, and can be started very readily by putting in a new spark plug, adjusting the vibrator, replacing the carburetor, repairing the feed pipe, tightening the propeller, renewing the batteries and straining the water out of the gasoline. When this is all done the boat will start immediately and proceed with the utmost cheerfulness to a point eleven and three-quarter miles from civilization, at which place it will go into a state of coma for the rest of the day. The man who tries to navigate any motor boat, no matter how expensive, without an auxiliary engine in the shape of a stout car, is not wise.

Every child's room should have a private desk or table where he may write. Here he should have a stock of pens, penholders, pencils, pads and writing paper, and he should be trained to use these materials frequently. Such a bit of property helps him to cultivate neatness and order.

If he evidences slovenliness at first, the mother should urge him to orderliness and inspect his desk until he has attained neatness. It should be impressed upon him that this is part of his training, that as a man he will always need to keep his papers in place and in order, and that if he is to be in the employ of others, it will be to his advantage to have formed good habits in such matters.

The child will take pride in possession of his own desk and pens, and this will lead him to the cultivation of the use of pen and ink. KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Everyday Etiquette!

"If one has received an invitation to a wedding in a distant place and is unable to attend, is it correct, to send one's cards instead?" asked John. "Yes, those who cannot attend a wedding should send their cards to the bride's parents or the person in whose name the invitation is issued, so that they will arrive on the day of the wedding," advised her father.

Canals Huns Hate.

Soldiers Now Guard Great Waterways. Big inter-oceanic canals are the arteries of the world's commerce; and it is, therefore, not surprising that they should be plotted against in time of war, and by enemies like the Germans.

Had von Papen and his gang of Hun dynamitards succeeded in blowing up the Welland Canal, for instance, they would have cut the only Canadian waterway connecting the American great lakes with the sea. They would also, in all probability, have drowned some thousands of American and Canadian citizens. For the Welland Canal, in order to get round the Niagara Falls, drops some hundreds of feet sheer the course of a few miles. This it does by a series of gigantic locks, ranged one above the other, like steps of stairs. The idea of the conspirators was to dynamite one of the upper locks, so that the resultant flood might destroy the others, and eventually sweep away the bridges along the Niagara river, with their inhabitants. Had they succeeded there would have been a flood catastrophe unequalled in the world's history.

Dynamite in Suit Cases. Exactly the same idea occurred to certain Irish-American dynamitards in 1896, and these, nearly succeeded in carrying their design into execution. There is a curious similarity, too, between their methods and those adopted by von Papen's secret service agents. Each meant to blow up the canal at the same spot, each carried the dynamite to Niagara concealed in suit cases, and so on. The Germans, in short, copied the methods of the Irish-Americans down to the minutest detail.

Similarly, the Corinth Canal, Greece's great inter-oceanic artificial waterway, has twice since the war been secretly attacked and its destruction attempted by desperadoes in the pay of Austria; and it is now guarded on both banks and at every few yards by Greek soldiers. The Suez Canal, too, has been attacked both openly and covertly; and should war break out between Germany and the United States, we shall doubtless hear very shortly of plots to destroy the Panama Canal, the supreme triumph of engineering skill. The Hun stops at nothing to gain his nefarious ends.—Pearson's Weekly.

Friday the Thirteenth.

In New York there is a Friday-Thirteenth Club, which defies superstition by meeting whenever Friday falls on the thirteenth of the month. Its president considers himself the luckiest man on earth, and reckons all his luck comes to him on Friday the 13th. He was born on Friday the 13th, for instance, which may be lucky for him; but what about the rest of mankind? He graduated on Friday the 13th, and he met his fiancée—poor girl!—on the same fateful day. He also arranged to be married on Friday the 13th. At college his room and desk were both numbered 13, and whenever he travels he chooses the berth numbered 13.

The crew of the Fram, in which Nansen made his remarkable voyage to the Arctic, consisted of thirteen men, and in spite of three winters spent in perpetual night, they all returned to civilization. The Fram got back to port on August 13th; and Nansen records in his diary, "Kirk presented us with thirteen pups, born on December 13th, 1893, for thirteen men."

The Insurance Act contains some curiosities in this respect. The Maternity Benefit came into force "after January 13th, 1913." The Act also provides that a man totally disabled shall be paid £13, at the rate of 10s. a week for twenty-six weeks.

America has reason to trust the number thirteen, for it was her thirteen colonies which revolted and formed the U. S. A. During the memorable time a London paper, referring to the colonists' belief in the "unlucky number," issued the following jibe: "Thirteen died clams are a rebel's portion; Washington has thirteen toes, and thirteen teeth in each jaw; a regular rebel family consists of thirteen children, each expecting to become a general at the age of thirteen; and thirteen paper dollars are worth one penny!"

A grim and terrible banquet was held some years ago by the Thirteen Club at a well-known London restaurant, which still stands and appears to flourish. It was given in Room No. 13; a large mirror was shattered to announce dinner; from the reception, the company, each sporting a peacock's feather, passed under a ladder to the dining-room, where they sat thirteen at a table, at thirteen tables, on which all the knives had been laid crosswise. Mr. Harry Furniss, who still lives, presided, and at his usual hearty meal.

"My wife was simply speechless with indignation when I came home at three in the morning." "You always were lucky. Nothing like that ever happens in my house." "Are the fish biting now?" asked the stranger. "Yes," replied the boy. "But you ain't allowed to catch 'em." "Do you mean to say you don't fish?" "I don't exactly fish. But if a fish comes along and bites at me I do my best to defend myself!" SUSU.—The a.s. Susu left Joe Batt's Arm at 9.10 a.m. to-day. MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DIS-TEMPER.

Recruiting in Canada and Newfoundland.

By a coincidence, we have before us at the same time two papers which furnish matter for an interesting comparison. One is a pamphlet entitled "Canada and National Service," the other the report of Mr. Blackall to the Recruiting Committee of the campaign recently conducted on the South and West Coasts by himself and his assistant recruiters.

Our attention should be particularly directed to Canada at this moment, when she is adding to the tale of past heroism further brilliant achievements, bought at the price of further sad losses. As Verdun and the French, so Ypres and the Canadians will be forever associated. This pamphlet, which we can only notice generally here, is, briefly, a memorial recently addressed to Sir Robert Borden by representatives of all parts of the Dominion, urging upon him the necessity of reforming the existing system of recruiting. Canada has pledged herself to raise half a million soldiers. Already more than 300,000 have been enrolled. There is now talk of raising an additional "Kitchener" battalion as a Canadian tribute to his memory. But it appears that the difficulty is in obtaining not the numbers but the right kind of men. In general, those men who can least be spared, and men belonging to those industries and occupations which can least spare them, have been the men to come forward. The system is "wasteful," "uneconomic," and the mission is sought for the purpose of "taking a census of all men in the Dominion from eighteen years and upward, specifying these married and unmarried; classifying the men according to their occupations or their fitness or preference for certain kinds of work; and classifying the industries with a view to the restriction or ultimate elimination of such as are non-essential to the welfare of the country or not economic factors."

Now we have little difficulty of this nature in Newfoundland, where it is not so much a matter of finding the right sort of men as of finding the men at all. In Mr. Blackall's report such sentences as these recur again and again: "A large number of people met in the Parish Hall," "The two volunteers came forward," "The schoolroom was packed to overflowing." No volunteers came forward. The chief reason is given by Mr. Blackall, "Unhappily," he says, "all along the coast, the strong and able men at this time of the year are shipped and away from home."

We merely quote from these documents because we think that from Canada, more than any other country, we should take our lead and example. Fighting, after all, is only a business, like others, and in many cases it is not nearly as essential. We welcome every recruit that joins the Regiment, but even more, if possible, every addition to our Reservists. It is our boast that we are a maritime people; we should fulfil it. "The Navy," said Lieut. Lamden, "is giving us three meals a day. What should we do without the Navy?" The question will not bear asking, still less answering. But we might modify it—"What should we do for the Navy?"

Now, more than ever before, are men wanted. We are on the eve of a supreme effort, calling for supreme sacrifice. There is one question, transcending all others, for us to ask ourselves: are we rowing our weight in the boat? Let us look to Canada and answer it.

NEWFOUNDLANDER WOUNDED.—Constable Fahy, of Bay Bulls, received a message yesterday from Headquarters at Ottawa, that his son, serving in a Canadian battalion, had received a gun shot wound in the eye, and had been admitted to Cameron Hospital.

OUR VOLUNTEERS.—The volunteers were given a half holiday yesterday after going through Swedish and section drill on the Parade grounds.

TO REPLACE HIS BROTHER.—Mr. Grant Trappell, son of Mr. R. H. Trappell, leaves by this evening's express for Winsor, N.S., where he will enlist in a Canadian Field Battery. His brother, Corporal Don Trappell, who was a member of the 13th Battalion, C. E. F., was killed in action over a year ago while fighting in Flanders. While the Empire has families such as the Trappells and others we need not fear the Huns.

AT THE CRESCENT.
The programme at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day is a great one. The Selig Photo Company presents: "The Face in the Mirror," a powerful two reel feature, a story of high society crooks. The Biograph presents "His Last Wish," a melo-drama with Irma Dawkins and Jack Pixley. The Essanay: "Broncho Billy Sheepman," a strong western drama featuring G. M. Anderson; and the Edison a very funny comedy: "Cartoons in a Seminary." Professor McCarthy plays a new and classy musical programme. This is a great holiday show don't miss it.

FARMING.

The farmer drives his team a field and whistles as he goes. 'Twas thus some bygone poet spied of things no poet knows. Few poets ever pushed a mule across a rocky farm, or laboring with rusty tools, disabled back and arms. Burns was the only farmer I can remember now; and he believed the life too hard, and gladly soaked his plow. I've never heard a farmer lift his voice in ardent song, except when, at the noonday shift, he heard the dinner gong. I used to drag my weary tones the furrowed field along, and I put up a thousand groans, where I turned loose one song. The farmer has so much to do, before the day takes wing, so many errands to pursue, he has no time to sing. He only whistles now and then, when he would call the dog, to chase from out the corn again, some stray boar-headed hog. His eyes are fixed upon the sky, to note the weather signs, for rain will rust his growing rye, and spoil his pumpkin vines; and drought will kill the beans and peas he planted in the spring; and, thinking over things like these, he falls to snile and sing.

Local Druggists Repair What Famous Surgeons Cannot Touch

Shattered nerves are beyond the reach of the Surgeon's knife. What will repair them? Dozens of people right here in your home town will bear testimony to this fact. Zotic—the health tonic—has set them on their feet again. This famous combination of glycer-phosphates—the actual elements of the human body—Cod Liver Oil and delicious tonic wine, supply the very elements that worn out nerves require. In a quiet way the action of Zotic is truly marvelous. Without a trace of narcotic it induces sound sleep. And following that, better and better digestion. And following that a final and complete rebuilding of the nervous system drained of vitality. Two weeks' faithful use of it will convince you. Because you have been so often misled, expecting much and receiving little, we offer outright to refund the purchase price of Zotic if at the end of two weeks you cannot report real progress toward better health. Start trying it to-day. Sold by T. McMurdo & Co., Sole Distributing Agents for Newfoundland.

LABRADOR PORTS.—The S. S. Meigle will sail for Labrador ports on Monday.

SCHM. MILDRED.—The schr. Mildred, Capt. Hearn, left Bahia for Barbados a few days ago.

DEPARTURE.—The s.s. Portia left St. Jacques at 9 o'clock this morning, coming east, due here Saturday.

INCREASE OF WAGES.—Commenting to-day the employees of the Dock and railway shops, who have not received an increase of wages within the past two months, will be granted a 10 per cent increase by the R. N. Co.

POLICE COURT.—Only one prisoner appeared in court to-day before Mr. C. H. Hutchings, K.C., who presided. He was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct while in charge of a horse. On depositing $1 he was released.

DOWN WITH THE DUST.—Mr. G. M. Barr has set an example worthy of imitation by other business concerns in the city. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Barr had a gang of men cleaning up the lane leading to his waterside premises, and when everything was ready the surface was covered with a good coat of oil, which will keep this place "dust free" for a considerable time.

GOING NORTH.—The s.s. Prospero sailed for northern ports this afternoon with a full freight and these saloon passengers: T. Burke, J. W. Hodge, J. Richards, H. J. Duder, A. Batton, N. James, A. House, C. Guy, E. Guy, Rev. Tulk, J. Moore, F. Moore, E. Maybee, P. Noel, A. Roberts, J. J. Norris, S. Grady, J. Revereley, W. H. Reid, J. Chaffey, H. J. As here shown, serge was used with figured silk for vest, collar and skirt panels. The sleeve in wrist length has a two piece deep cuff. In short length it is finished with a cuff cut with points.

The Pattern is in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. It requires 6½ yards of 44-inch material for a 36-inch size. The skirt measures 2½ yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

A Dainty and Comfortable NEGLIGEE.

1716—Ladies' Kimono.

Figured challie, dotted mull or dimity, any pretty lawn or crepe, also silk, cashmere, nuns' veiling and albatross, batiste or linen may be used for this style. The sleeve is lengthened by a gathered ruffle. The collar is in ruffle style, and meets the smart revers of the fronts.

The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium and Large. It requires 5½ yards of 36-inch material for a Medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Making One's Self Ugly.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

What a very big difference for better or for worse this expression can make in a face! Beside me on the trolley the other day sat a woman who, at first glance seemed to me extraordinarily ugly. Then I looked again and saw that half the unloveliness of her came from her position and expression. She had one hand at her face and was pulling out her lower lip. Her brows were knit in deep thought, and, however well that sounds in fiction, in fact it is a very unbecoming trick. Her shoulders were stooped forward. She would never have been pretty, she had a very large nose and a coarse skin, but she would not have been ugly enough to draw a second glance of distaste if she hadn't distorted her face by her expression.

Keep The Hands Away From The Face.

Children ought to be trained not to put their hands to their faces. The skin of the face is delicate and suffers unnecessary contamination from the dirt and germs which the hands are likely to carry.

Rubbing the eyes is a particularly vicious trick of this sort. I know a girl who lost half her eyelashes from an inflammation of the eyes and lids caused by rubbing the eyes and getting germs into them.

People who talk with their hands in front of their faces are a nuisance. You have to guess at what they are saying half the time.

Nervousness is the cause of most of the unpleasant tricks. We don't know what to do with our hands, and so we continually employ them in nervous and unnecessary motions. Can You Let Your hands Be Gracefully Idle?

The person who can let his hands lie gracefully in his lap or on the arms of the chair, has acquired one of the fine arts of social converse. A short course (short, because everything has to be short in these days) in expression and repose would benefit most of us.

I looked around the car after analyzing my unlovely neighbor and saw at least half a dozen more men and women who were distorting their faces in one way or another.

The people who were reading were the most free from disfiguring expressions. They were interested, and when we are interested we are apt to look more intelligent and less nervous and ill at ease.

Some Of These Weeds Of Ugliness Have Deep Roots.

Some unlovely expressions are the result of inward unloveliness. "When sin is in the heart it leaps out on the face." Such unhealthy states of mind as discontent, sensuality, meanness, etc., stamp themselves on the face.

But there are other disfiguring expressions that are only unnecessary facial tricks. These are weeds whose roots are just under the surface and which could be pulled up with a little effort.

Self-consciousness is an unpleasant trait when one has too much of it, but we need enough to control our expressions and not make ourselves unnecessarily hard to look at.

Good Prospects at Placentia.

The latest report received by the Board of Trade is from Placentia.

From St. Fitzpatrick (Placentia to Branch).—The total catch is 740 qts. with 290 for last week. No traps but 100 dories and skiffs and six boats are fishing. Prospects are good and there is a small quantity of caplin for bait. Indications of a good fishery here are much stronger than last year as caplin is likely to strike solid this week and the Cape Shore has now a better sign of codfish than for many years.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."

"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggists."

ASQUITH'S CHEERING WORDS

LADYBANK, Scotland. In observance of the thirtieth anniversary of his election to the premiership from East Fife, Premier Asquith to-day visited his constituency for the first time since the outbreak of the war. Addressing a gathering of his supporters, many of whom in past years had been his opponents, the Premier made touching allusion to the death of Field Marshal Lord Roberts as leaving a place in our national life that no one else could fill, and a memory that will live on in the British Empire. Lord Roberts had bequeathed to the country a ray of armies, said the Premier, was for the country to make the use of these. In a survey of the situation, Asquith declared that the advance was one of the most important feats of the war. The Italian Asquith said, were making a real to the Austrian onslaught every day was becoming more and more. As for the French nothing could exceed the valor with which they sustained the defence of the Co-operation among the generals of the Allies was becoming intimate and complete every British assistance had been to General Joffre; the steps would be taken were those by sound strategy. It is a strategic material and economic resource these will prove in the long deciding factors. After speaking the effectiveness of the navy, Asquith said that owing to rashness of the enemy we were ed to see another more stirring dramatic aspect of the war than the night ago. The Nation of May 31st was worthy of the most treasured traditions of the British Navy. ASQUITH'S CHEERING WORDS.
LADYBANK, Scotland, To-day.
In observance of the thirtieth anniversary of his election to the Commons from East Fife, Premier Asquith to-day visited his constituency for the first time since the outbreak of the war. Addressing a great meeting of his supporters, many of whom in past years had been his opponents, the Premier made touching reference to the death of Field Marshal Kitchener as leaving a place in our constitutional life that no one else can fill, and a memory that will live as long as the British Empire. Lord Kitchener had bequeathed to the country an array of armies, said the Premier; it was for the country to make the best use of these. In a survey of the situation, Asquith declared the Russian advance was one of the most brilliant feats of the war. The Italians, Asquith said, were making a resistance to the Austrian onslaught which every day was becoming more effective. As for the French, nothing could exceed the valor with which they were sustaining the defence of Verdun. Co-operation among the general staff of the Allies was becoming more intimate and complete every month. British assistance had been offered to General Joffre; the steps which would be taken were those dictated by sound strategy. It is a struggle of material and economic resources, and these will prove in the long run to be deciding factors. After speaking of the effectiveness of the navy's blockade, Asquith said that owing to the rashness of the enemy we were allowed to see another more stirring and dramatic aspect of the Navy's qualities a fortnight ago. The Naval action of May 31st was worthy at least the most treasured traditions of the British Navy. The Germans were driven back into their ports without so much as making an effort to grapple with the main body of our Grand Fleet and had the temerity to claim what really was a rout as a complete victory. A couple more of such victories, and there would be nothing left of the German Navy worth speaking about. The truth was slowly leaking out but its full extent was not yet realized or appreciated. BRILLIANT BRITISH RECOVERY.
BRITISH HEADQUARTERS.
In France.
Operations in the vicinity of Ypres have passed into a new and, for the British, most satisfactory stage. The Canadians yesterday retook the greater part of the ground lost on June 2, including Arnhem Wood and Observatory Ridge. The British front line has returned to its original position. The German losses are large. Latest reports show about 150 prisoners, including 4 officers, in British hands. The attack began at 2 a.m. and the ground was quickly gained. By noon the situation was comparatively quiet. The Germans apparently did not anticipate so speedy and determined a counter-attack. Abundant evidence was found of the destructive effects of the British artillery fire, which quite prevented them from properly consolidating their position during their occupation of the disputed ground. Whether the British shall choose the loss of the old line, which is now almost destroyed, cannot be said, but it seems assured that the option now rests with them. At any rate, the operation was a most gallant and successful incident, in which the Canadians amply repaid any debt they owed the Germans. The outcome caused great rejoicing in the ranks of the Canadians. It was after two weeks of the most unseasonable, cold and rainy weather known to the oldest inhabitants in this region, making the low ground around the Ypres salient a morass. The Canadians charged amidst a downpour at 1.30 o'clock in the morning, and recovered the Observatory Ridge and Mount Sorrell, important high ground which was still held by the Germans after the first stage of the battle of Ypres on June 2 and 3. So heavy and continuous has been the British artillery fire that the Germans are vainly trying to fortify Mount Sorrell. During their 10 days, they have been unable to move munitions and food stores left there. "We were delighted with the way the guns supported us," say the Canadians, "they gave the Germans a taste of their own Verdun tactics. We are getting Lloyd George's munitions now all right." A German officer taken prisoner paid a tribute

NEW ITALIAN CABINET.
ROME, To-day.
The new Cabinet, that is to replace Antonio Salandra, which resigned last Sunday, has been virtually formed. Paolo Boselli, who will be the new Premier, but will have no other portfolio, is 79 years old. He is a Dean of Parliament, having been Deputy since 1870. He held his first Ministerial portfolio 40 years ago.

AUSTRIA'S VERSION.
LONDON, To-day.
A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Co. from Amsterdam, says the Austrian Press Bureau at Vienna has issued a statement in which it declared that the Russians' claim to prisoners captured is greatly exaggerated, asserting that the Russians' casualties are twice or three times greater than those of the Austrians.

RUSSIANS CUT DOWN MEAT BILL.
LONDON, To-day.
The Duma has adopted a bill calling for abstention from eating meat four days in each week, according to a Reuter's despatch from Petrograd.

CUNARD ACQUIRES DOMINION LINE.
LONDON, To-day.
A notice is given of a meeting of shareholders of the Cunard Steamship Company to approve the acquisition of the Commonwealth Dominion line. Sir Alfred Booth, Chairman, says the Cunard interests in the past were centered exclusively to trade between Liverpool and the States with the result that wide fluctuations in earnings were inevitable by recent acquisitions. Sir Alfred believes that a sound balance will be secured enabling the Company to face with confidence fluctuations of trade which may occur after the war.

LONDON BUDGET.
LONDON, To-day.
Fighting around Verdun has dwindled to intermittent bombardments, there having been no infantry attack anywhere on this front since Tuesday, when the French positions west and south of Thiaumont Farm were captured by the Germans, and 739 Frenchmen made prisoners. The Canadians around Zillebeke in Belgium are holding 1500 yards of ground recaptured from the Germans on Tuesday, although the Germans are heavily shelling them. No infantry attacks have been carried out by the Teutons. Latest advices from the Austro-Italian theatre credit the Italians with the repulse of violent Austrian attacks on the Posina front northwest of Schio. On other sectors of this line the Austrians are bombarding the Italian positions. The German auxiliary cruiser Herzmann has been attacked and sunk in the Baltic, southeast of Stockholm, by four Russian torpedo boat destroyers, according to Berlin. Reports from Sweden and Denmark concerning the fight, say it was between a Russian torpedo craft and a German auxiliary cruiser and some torpedo boats and armed trawlers which were conveying merchantmen. In addition to the auxiliary cruiser and German destroyer, 12 of their merchantmen are reported to have been sunk.

GERMAN ADMISSION.
AMSTERDAM, To-day.
The following statement has been given out by Berlin, in connection to the increased power of the British artillery.

VOTE FOR CHURCH UNION.
WINNIPEG, To-day.
The final vote for Church Union is officially recorded 406 to 88. This is much the largest vote ever recorded on the subject at a Presbyterian assembly. Ministers voted for the cause more largely than laymen. Of the ministers 222 voted for, 45 against. Of the Elders 184 voted for, 42 against the proposal. Delay for 12 months was voted down almost unanimously. Rev. Dr. Campbell and a number of others of the minority read a statement declaring that 45 ministers and 43 elders who voted against the Union, now constitute the assembly. They propose, however, to go on doing business under this proposal.

FALL OF CZERNOWITZ.
PETROGRAD, To-day.
The Russians most successful operation in the war is being pressed vigorously along the whole front of Volhynia and Bukovina. Having cut railway communications with Czernowitz from the north the Russians have carried the fighting for possession of that city into its very outskirts. Its fall is momentarily expected.

AUSTRIAN RIGHT MENACED.
LONDON, To-day.
A despatch to the Reuter Exchange Company from Petrograd dealing with the Russian advance in East Galicia, says the Russians hold the Dniester between the frontier and considerably westward of the confluence of the Stripa and Dniester. After the capture of Zale Soszycki and Horodna, their next objective is Kolomea, three marches distant, unless there is some unlikely change in the strategic position. Only prompt retreat will save the cutting of the Austrian right wing. There were only small Russian losses in forcing the Dniester, owing to the brilliantly skilful tactics. This contrasts strongly with the German losses in crossing the Marew and Bruza Rivers. It is now stated that no sectors on the southern front has the enemy yet received appreciable reinforcements.

ZEPPELIN DESTROYED.
AMSTERDAM, To-day.
A Zeppelin was destroyed in a wind storm near Chateilnan in South Belgium on Monday, according to frontier correspondents.

TEN GERMAN STEAMERS SUNK.
COPENHAGEN, To-day.
The Dagens Nyheder names the following ten German steamers as having been lost in the attack of the Russian squadron: Norma, Umesly, Arda, Mecklenburg, Isele, Italia, Detero, Weser, Konsal, Schultz and Algeba.

ULSTERITES CAUSE IMPASSE.
LONDON, To-day.
Negotiations for a settlement of the Irish question have reached a highly critical stage and there is little optimism among those engaged in them. In the first place, the Ulster Unionists demand that the proposed settlement shall be definite and final, as far as the exclusion of six Ulster counties is concerned. This attitude, if persisted in, will destroy all hopes of agreement, as the purely provisional character of the proposed arrangement is only an offset offered to the Nationalists in Ulster and to the provinces for the exclusion of six Ulster counties. John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, met the Catholic Bishops of Ulster and Cardinal Logue at Armagh to-day to urge acceptance of Lloyd George's highest terms. The Nationalist was engaged at the same time in reasoning with his Orange followers to induce them to accept provisional scheme.

LOYD GEORGE KITCHENER'S SUCCESSOR.
NEW YORK, To-day.
The London correspondent of the Tribune cables: "David Lloyd George is to succeed Earl Kitchener as Secretary of State for War, according to well authenticated reports current here to-day. It is understood, however, that in accepting the War Secretaryship Lloyd George will not entirely sever his relations with the Ministry of Munitions. Various successors have been suggested for Kitchener, including Lord Milner and Churchill. The latter is again enjoying Asquith's favor, while his quarrel with Lord Fisher over the responsibility for the Gallipoli disaster has been patched up and they are again fast friends. Both Lord Milner and Churchill, as far as the Cabinet is concerned might be introduced in the direction of the War Office since the creation of the War Council and the turning over of the responsibility for the operations in the field to General Robertson, Chief of Staff. Lord Kitchener's duties had become almost entirely civil and administrative, but fortunately for Mr. Asquith the British public demands as the successor to Lord Kitchener a man of equal calibre. The people will not be satisfied with the appointment of the mere civilian or politician to the post they have been accustomed to associate with the name of Kitchener. Hence Asquith, as he did in the Munition crisis, and in the present situation in Ireland, has had to turn to Lloyd George. He has been reluctant to do this for several reasons. In recent months the relations between the two men have been somewhat strained.

BELGIAN PROGRESS IN AFRICA.
HAVRE, To-day.
Substantial progress for the Belgian forces invading German East Africa, giving them control of the entire northwest section of the colony, is claimed in an official statement issued by the Belgian War Office to-day.

ULSTERITES CAUSE IMPASSE.
LONDON, To-day.
Negotiations for a settlement of the Irish question have reached a highly critical stage and there is little optimism among those engaged in them. In the first place, the Ulster Unionists demand that the proposed settlement shall be definite and final, as far as the exclusion of six Ulster counties is concerned. This attitude, if persisted in, will destroy all hopes of agreement, as the purely provisional character of the proposed arrangement is only an offset offered to the Nationalists in Ulster and to the provinces for the exclusion of six Ulster counties. John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, met the Catholic Bishops of Ulster and Cardinal Logue at Armagh to-day to urge acceptance of Lloyd George's highest terms. The Nationalist was engaged at the same time in reasoning with his Orange followers to induce them to accept provisional scheme.

LOYD GEORGE KITCHENER'S SUCCESSOR.
NEW YORK, To-day.
The London correspondent of the Tribune cables: "David Lloyd George is to succeed Earl Kitchener as Secretary of State for War, according to well authenticated reports current here to-day. It is understood, however, that in accepting the War Secretaryship Lloyd George will not entirely sever his relations with the Ministry of Munitions. Various successors have been suggested for Kitchener, including Lord Milner and Churchill. The latter is again enjoying Asquith's favor, while his quarrel with Lord Fisher over the responsibility for the Gallipoli disaster has been patched up and they are again fast friends. Both Lord Milner and Churchill, as far as the Cabinet is concerned might be introduced in the direction of the War Office since the creation of the War Council and the turning over of the responsibility for the operations in the field to General Robertson, Chief of Staff. Lord Kitchener's duties had become almost entirely civil and administrative, but fortunately for Mr. Asquith the British public demands as the successor to Lord Kitchener a man of equal calibre. The people will not be satisfied with the appointment of the mere civilian or politician to the post they have been accustomed to associate with the name of Kitchener. Hence Asquith, as he did in the Munition crisis, and in the present situation in Ireland, has had to turn to Lloyd George. He has been reluctant to do this for several reasons. In recent months the relations between the two men have been somewhat strained.

Successful use by millions of women for generations and expert scientific opinion have thoroughly established the superior merits of Fire Alarm For Volunteers.

A new water system has been installed at the new quarters for the volunteers at the Prince's and Curling Rinks where over 700 soldiers live. Connected with the system is a fire alarm box directly opposite the east entrance, and with the aid of fire drill, which the men are being taught, there is not much danger of damage by fire.

B. I. S. "At Home."
The annual "At Home" of the B.I.S. Athletic Club took place in the Donegal Hall last night. It was a largely attended and very enjoyable event. At nine o'clock dancing commenced to the strains of the Myron-O'Grady orchestra. There was an interval of an hour at midnight when supper was served by Miss L. Higgins and Mrs. T. Ring. The affair terminated at 2 o'clock this morning.

LLOYD GEORGE FOR THE WAR OFFICE.

LONDON, June 14. It is understood that the Secretaryship for War, made vacant by Lord Kitchener's death, has been offered to Lloyd George. He is expected to accept the portfolio, but not to sever entirely his connection with the Ministry of Munitions. An official statement regarding the War Secretaryship is expected by the end of the week.

ANOTHER CHARGE OF MURDER

DUBLIN, June 14. Another charge of murder, arising from the rebellion was heard to-day before court-martial. Private Watt, of the Irish Lancers, was placed on trial for the murder of Robert Glasister and the attempted murder of Wm.

F. Grey, proprietor of a Dublin hotel. Grey testified that he and Glasister were walking the street near the hotel, over which Watt was standing guard, when the latter put the rifle to Glasister's chest and fired. Glasister was able to walk back to the hotel, but, as he was entering it, witness said, Watt again fired, killing him. Evidence for the defense was that Glasister persisted in passing the sentry, who had ordered him back.

SERVICES HELD IN MEMORY OF KITCHENER.

NEW YORK, June 14. Various British societies in New York held impressive services at Trinity Church, Broadway and Wall Sts. at noon to-day, in memory of Earl Kitchener. The clergy of Trinity Church were in charge. Many distinguished persons were present. Although the edifice is one of the largest in the city, it was crowded long before the service began, and many were turned away.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, June 14. The French carried a small German post near Venizel, east of Soissons. A raid by French troops at Songern, in the Vosges, resulted in the capture of a number of Germans.

FIGHTING AROUND VERDUN.

PARIS, June 14. The fighting around Verdun has once more died down from sheer exhaustion of combatants. An entire division, half of whom were Bavarian and half Pomeranian, was used up by the Germans in twelve separate attempts on Monday to storm the French position north of Thiamont. From this position French flanking fire prevents the enemy from advancing on Vaux plateau. No result having been attained by nightfall, fresh troops were brought up and an attempt was made to turn the position from the southwest. After a desperate struggle a footing was obtained in some of the trenches on Hill 321, half a mile west of Thiamont and a mile east of Bras. No effort was made to increase this advantage yesterday owing, probably, to losses on Monday which, according to prisoners, were exceptionally heavy.

VIOLENT ARTILLERY ENGAGEMENT.

PARIS, June 14. A violent artillery engagement took place last night in the vicinity of Vaux on the Verdun front. There were no infantry actions before Verdun.

HEAVY GERMAN LOSSES.

NEW YORK, June 14. A Paris despatch to the New York Journal to-day says that figures compiled from reports received by the French War Office, stated that the Germans, since the beginning of the movement against Verdun, had 39 divisions of 780,000 men, either completely or partly demolished. These are losses for five months, since the Verdun battles have been raging.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

LONDON, June 14. A despatch from Rome quotes the Russian Ambassador to Italy to the effect that Russian cavalry has reached a point 20 miles beyond Czernowitz.

RUSSIANS OCCUPY SNIATYN.

PETROGRAD, June 14. In the advance upon Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina, the Russians have occupied the village of Sniatyn, 20 miles northwest of the city, the War Office announced to-day. In addition to their previous captures the Russians have taken 20 officers, 6,000 men, six guns, and ten machine guns.

WESTERN FRONT—Along the whole front from southward of Polesia to the Rumanian frontier, our troops continue to drive back the enemy.

During yesterday twenty officers and about six thousand men were taken prisoners. We have taken six cannon, ten machine guns, many artillery and ammunition waggons. The total number of prisoners captured during operations amount to nearly 120,000 men, 1,780 officers, 150 cannon, 250 machine guns. Reports which have been received state that the enemy abandoned at certain points, quantities of various war materials in such bulk as to make it impossible to give exact description at such short notice. As an instance we found abandoned sufficient trails for a field railway 20 miles long.

ITALIANS REPULSE ATTACKS.

ROME, June 14. Austrian attacks along the line of the Posina in southern Tyrol made on Monday night were repulsed by the Italians.

AUSTRIANS ABANDON ITALIAN TERRITORY.

GENEVA, June 14. It is reported from Innsbruck that since June 7th the Austrians have been compelled to abandon between 35 and 45 square miles of Italian territory, which they gained during the first rush of their offensive. The Austrians evacuated Chiasso in fear that their retreat would be cut off. The Austrian General, who was appointed Governor of the Italian province of Verona, is said to have been captured with his troops at Dubno by the Russians.

SERIOUS REVOLT IN BOHEMIA.

GENEVA, June 14. An unconfirmed report has been received here of a serious revolt in Bohemia on June 9th. According to the report there was street fighting in Prague. No details are given.

GERMAN CONVOY ATTACKED.

NYKOPING, Denmark, June 14. Thirteen German merchantmen, which were coming from the north, conveyed by an auxiliary cruiser, some torpedo boats and armed trawlers, was attacked early this morning at a point near Herringe by a squadron of Russian destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines, near the Swedish Baltic Coast. The convoy was dispersed, and the merchantmen fled towards the coast. It is reported that some of the vessels were sunk.

IMPORTANT VICTORY.

COPENHAGEN, June 14. Describing the Baltic fight, the Dagens Nyheder says the Russian squadron won an important victory. The Russians had six destroyers and several submarines and were going at such speed that the Germans were taken completely by surprise. They only fired one shot, then making for port with utmost speed. It is believed, the paper says, that twelve merchantmen were sunk, while a German armed trawler, which arrived at Nykoping, had 150 men on board from a German destroyer that was sent to the bottom. The German auxiliary cruiser Konig, Von Sachsen, was also seen to sink. It is supposed that all the crew were drowned.

THE FIGHT WAS BRIEF.

LONDON, June 14. A Hunter despatch from Nykoping, Sweden, reports a naval engagement in the Baltic between midnight and one o'clock this morning at a point near Herringe. It is supposed that six German armed trawlers, which were seen going northward last night were engaged. Two hundred shots were heard. The fight lasted for forty-five minutes. A German trawler with five wounded men, entered Nykoping. All information was refused.

HOLLAND'S FOOD PROBLEM.

LONDON, June 14. Hundreds of Dutch women went to the Prime Minister to-day to demand that measures be taken to enable the working classes to obtain food, by having prices reduced, says Reuter's correspondent at the Hague. The Premier promised to receive a deputation of the women later. The women then went to the house of the burgomaster.

Avoid Harsh Pills, Doctors Condemn Them

Most Pills unfortunately are harsh and drastic; they cause inflammation and great discomfort. Rather like nature is the way a pill should act, mildly but effectively. Science has established nothing more satisfactory as a family pill than the old reliable pills of Dr. Hamilton's, which for forty years have had a premier place in America. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are very mild and can be effectively used by men and women of all ages. No stomach or bowel medicine is more reliable. No remedy for indigestion, headache or biliousness is so effective, so mild, so certain to quickly cure as a 25c. box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Funeral Train to Witless Bay.

The Reid Nfld. Co. have arranged that to-morrow morning a special train will leave St. John's at 8.15 a. m. for Witless Bay where it will arrive at 8.30 a. m. This train has been put on for the convenience of friends of the late Rev. Dean Roche, to enable them to pay the last tribute of respect to a beloved clergyman. The return train will leave Witless Bay at noon and will reach the city at 1.30 p. m. One-way fare will be charged for the trip.

ROUGH ON LOCAL FISHING GROUNDS.

Very few fishermen were on the local grounds yesterday or this morning on account of the heavy sea running. The venturesome ones were rewarded with fairly good fares taken from traps. Fishermen generally are now waiting for caplin to strike in. The "school" usually makes its appearance around these waters about June 20th.

HOLIDAY NICKEL LARGELY ATTENDED.

The holiday programme at the Nickel Theatre yesterday attracted very large audiences and all were highly pleased with the show. "The Romance of Elaine" was continued and it was even more exciting than the previous chapters. The search by Elaine for the missing detective goes on, and the situations are highly sensational. The Selig Co. presented a dainty melodrama—"The Girl and the Reporter" featuring the dainty actress Edith Johnson. "The Plague Spot" is a drama by the Vitagraph Company which was splendidly acted. Bert Stanley sang in his usual splendid style and was highly applauded. The programme will be repeated to-day.

Last Night's Concert.

The combined excellence of the programme and worthiness of its object should have filled the empty seats at the Casino Theatre last night. Nevertheless a large audience, of whom his Excellency the Governor was one, enjoyed a programme excellently rendered a tastefully varied. Frequent encores testified to the audience's appreciation. The orchestra, one of the best that has been assembled here for some time, gave some selections with great spirit; we have a particularly pleasing recollection of the swing of the "Marche Militaire." The Comrades Glee Club were heard in three numbers, given so well that we could have heard them more often. Mr. King is to be congratulated on his choir and the manner in which he leads them. Miss Johnson's violin solo was faultlessly played and elicited the applause always accorded this talented artist. Mr. A. Bulley, on the French horn, contributed another instrumental solo, and was compelled to follow with an encore. The vocal numbers were excellent. An appropriate note was struck by the Rev. W. H. Thomas in Handel's "Sound an Alarm," and by Miss Herder in Elgar's fine song, "Land of Hope and Glory" sung with great feeling and given a merited encore. The two soprano solos of Miss Mare and Mrs. King delighted their audiences; both singers are too well known to concert-goers to need our praise. Mr. Ruggles, who has sung many times for us, and Mr. Williams, who adds to his popularity with each appearance, were splendidly received and had to respond with encores. Mr. O'Neill's recitation, "The Cremation of Sam McGee" was an elocutionary treat, the humorous climax being worked up to with rare skill. The inevitable encore was his favorite "Devilay-Care." It was altogether an enjoyable and well-balanced programme, and is given below.

A feature was the short address by Lieutenant Stan Lumsden, who in simple and modest language told of the Canadians at Ypres and the sad story of the "Prince's Pats." By a few artless touches—he spoke entirely without notes—he brought the conditions of trench-fighting vividly before the eyes of his listeners, more so than many elaborated periods might have done. He ended with an all too short address with an appeal to all who were still eligible to repay the services of the motherland to us. He spoke like a soldier and a man.

"MEASLES."

Hundreds of children are suffering from "Measles" at the present time, and one has to be very careful in trying to avoid the complications that often follow them.

A heavy "Cough" is very prevalent during the present epidemic, and "Pneumonia" is the great danger. Avoid this by keeping a bottle of "Stafford's Phorastone Cough Cure" on hand.

Stafford's Drug Store (Theatre Hill) is open every night from 7.30 to 9.30.

The above preparation is manufactured only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld.

Engines Broke Down.

While crossing the St. Lawrence Gulf the engines of the S. S. Charles Beatty broke down a few days ago and she was obliged to put into North Sydney for repairs. The ship was bound here direct from Montreal with a full general cargo, principally flour. She was under charter to Messrs. Harvey & Co., Ltd. No word of her leaving North Sydney again for St. John's has been received, but it is thought that she is still there.

FRENCH SHIP ARRIVES.—The French steamer Pro Patria reached port this morning from North Sydney via St. Pierre with a cargo of coal to A. Harvey & Co., Ltd.

HEAD WAITER: Yessir, we are a bit old fashioned, as you say—but we find people like it so long as we make them comfortable. I haven't heard no complaints on that score.
GUEST: Good beds and good food, eh?
HEAD WAITER: Excellent beds and good wholesome food—comfortable Gas Fires and 'ot water in every room in the 'ouse.
GUEST:—Gas Fires, eh! That doesn't sound old fashioned.
HEAD WAITER: No, sir, it don't. But we 'ad to move with the times, sir, and it's our business to give people what they want. If you'll excuse me, sir, that 'ave been 'ere all my life, I find that our people mostly want 'ot baths, 'ot water, well cooked food, good fires, good beds and no fussing. We couldn't do that with coal—not satisfactory as I may say. So we puts in gas—everywhere. We cooks by gas, we lights by gas, we 'eats the water by gas and we 'as Gas Fires. So you can 'ave a 'ot bath in ten minutes if you want it, sir, a fire in your bedroom and whatever you like to order for dinner, sir, punctual to the minute.
GUEST: That sounds top-hole—but where's the old-fashioned part come in?
HEAD WAITER: It don't come in, sir, so far as that's concerned. But there's the 'ouse, the furniture, the pictures and—if I may say so—the 'omeliness of the place.
GUEST: (a trifle bored) Well, well I'll have that hot bath right away—if you'll get the bathroom ready.
HEAD WAITER: The bathroom is ready, sir, always. There's plenty of 'ot water, you'll find clean 'ot towels in the 'ot cupboard in the bathroom and the Gas Fire lighted in your room.
GUEST: Right O!—and dinner at 8 sharp, please!
HEAD WAITER:—What'll you 'ave, sir—a nice sole, leg of mutton and sweets?
GUEST: Well, if that isn't troubling the cook too much—I'm rather late, I'm afraid.
HEAD WAITER: No trouble at all, sir. You see, sir, our kind of comfort means comfort for us as well as our people. We don't 'ave no coals to carry, no fires to make up, no bathrooms to attend to—This 'ere gas, if I may say so, saves money and time, and—
GUEST: You may say so at dinner time, please, I'm off to have that bath. . . (ascends stairs slowly) . . . Decent old boy, though he does talk a lot; and a real nice place. Thank heaven, I've struck a decent billet at last! (The bathroom door bangs sharply.)
