TENDERS!

Valuable Freehold Timber and Farm Land.

Tenders will be received at the Office of the undersigned up to 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday, May 4th, for that large piece of land situate at Baker's Sliding, on the Reid Newfoundland Railway, only 3 miles from Brigus Junction, and belonging to the Estate of the late Sir W. V. Whiteway.

This splendid tract of land, comprising 8 square miles—4 of which being on each side of the track—and as the railway runs through the centre, is easy of access, and has some splendid stretches of Birches and Spruce thereon—the Birches on one side and the Spruce and Fir on the other. It is also an ideal spot for farming, and there would be no trouble experienced in loading produce, as there is a siding where cars can be loaded at ease.

Another desirable feature in connection with the property is that the party buying same would be the SOLE owner of all waters on the land, thereby excluding all fishing and shooting over same without license. There is good fishing in the ponds and gullies which abound on same. It is also an ideal place for Sheep Raising, being away from the ravages of all dogs. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

CHAPTER III
OFF TO LONDON.

Sixty or seventy years ago there were not the facilities for traveling as we lucky, or unlucky people, of the present day possess, and Hugh, though the son of a wealthy sire, had not seen the metropolis before.

It wanted half an hour to the grand dinner-time of seven as he turned in at the Marble Arch, drawn as by a loadstone by the string of horses and carriages, for Hugh loved horses, and, even with a heaving heart and the misery of a vanished home and an uncertain future ever before him could not resist the temptation of leaning against the iron railings and watching the procession of riders mounted on the finest cattle in Europe; for whatever else we behind-the-world English come second in, we take the lead in horse-flesh.

After this rest he walked down Piccadilly and through the busy streets until, toward night, he reached the humble thoroughfares of the East End.

At a coffee-shop which looked clean yet unpretending, and which bore the legend "Beds" in a corner of its window, he engaged a room for the night, feeling half confuted by the great city and its noises.

In the morning he breakfasted on a cup of coffee and a huge crust thinly scraped with an oily substance set down on the bill as butter, and strolled out to think on a plan of action.

Like all men whose knowledge of the world is bounded by a country village, Hugh had looked upon London as the golden El Dorado in which one had but to set one's feet and find employment and a fortune; but when he had reached it he was confounded by its magnitude and saw no way to turn.

He knew no craft save that of a farmer, had no friends, no letter of introduction.

What was he to do? As he asked himself this question he wandered on regardless of his whereabouts, until the spectacle of a huge wall, to which the high walls round the Dale were but pigmies, roused him from his reverie and set him making inquiries.

"This is the docks," replied a man, dressed like a sailor on shore for a holiday.

"The docks?" said Hugh. "Where the ships start from?"

"Yes," said the man. "Pretty nearly all of 'em. Which might you be lookin' for? The 'Mary Ann' or the 'Neptune'?"

"I am not looking for either," said Hugh.

"Oh, beg your honor's pardoning," replied the sailor, taking a long strip of negrohead from his pocket and cutting a slice off with a large clasp-knife that hung suspended from his waist by a tarred rope. "I thought you was a-goin' in on o' the emigrants."

"The emigrants?" said Hugh, a sudden thought flashing through his brain. "Are there a number of emi-

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Mrs. Phillips Sends an Encouraging Letter to Expectant Mothers

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"I too, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for five months before my baby was born and it has made me much better in health. I was always very ill when my other children were born, but with this one I had a much easier time. He is a big healthy boy now, three years old, and I believe it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that made me so well. It is certainly a good medicine for every woman. I cannot say too much for it, and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. W. PHILLIPS, 5430 Kingsessing Avenue, West Philadelphia, Pa.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such letters is that this famous old root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness.

For special advice in regard to such ailments write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its many years' experience is at your service.

grants going out in those two ships there?"

"Yes," said Jack. "The 'Neptune' be a-go'in' to Australia, and the 'Mary Ann' be a-go'in' to the Cape."

"The Cape of Good Hope?" said Hugh.

"In course," retorted the sailor, starting at his ignorance; "there aint no other as I knows on, leastwise as is called 'Cape.'"

"Ah!" said Hugh. "And which do you consider the best place for an emigrant, the Cape of Good Hope or Australia?"

"All depends," said Jack. "If you're goin' gold-huntin', I should say Australia's the place; but if farmin' an' cattle-keepin' is the game, I'd say steer clear to the Cape."

"Have you been to either of the places?" asked Hugh, his heart beating with a flush of new hope.

"Have I been?" repeated Jack, stopping his munching and slapping his thigh with astonishment. "Well, that's a good un! This 'ere'll make my tenth to the Cape, please Heaven."

"And you like it?" said Hugh, almost ashamed to worry the man with any further questions, yet anxious to gain all the information he could, for something whispered to him that he was standing at the cross-road of life, and that a great deal depended on the path he took.

"Like it?" repeated Jack. "Well, middlin'. The climate is fair enough, an' the tackle aint bad, but the Hottentots is p'ison."

"Hottentots!" said Hugh, whose knowledge of geography, as the reader will have discovered, was rather limited. "Are there black men there, then?"

Jack nodded.

"There be," he said, concisely; "black as ink, and cunning ones, too."

"You don't seem to like the Hottentots," said Hugh, with a smile.

"I hate 'em," said the sailor, heartily. "They're as nasty a lot as ever was turned out—leastways most of 'em. They stole my 'baces and a keg of the ship's stores last voyage, the thieves! Hottentots'll take the eyes out o' your head and grin in your teeth while they're doin' it, shiver my timbers if they won't!"

Hugh could not repress a smile, sad and earnest as his thoughts were; and, still wanting more information, he proposed that they should go over the way to a little, low-browed public house with a representation of an extremely lively-looking sailor in very clean, white trousers hanging up over the door as a sign, and get something to moisten the hunk of tobacco, dirt, and treacle in the corner of Jack's mouth.

With a quarter of old Jamaica before him, Jack waxed friendly, and wound up a general summary on seaman's life, with the advantages and disadvantages of a life on land—in which, according to his view, the disadvantages preponderated—by informing Hugh that the "Mary Ann" was only waiting for one or two able-bodied seamen to leave the docks, her cargo and passengers being already stowed aboard.

Hugh thought for a moment, then surprised the sailor by suddenly asking him if he thought the captain of the "Mary Ann" would accept him in place of one of the missing men.

Jack looked him up and down, and scratched his head.

"You come along to the skipper, my hearty, and hear what he says," he replied.

Hugh walked to the door at once, and, stopping only to finish the ale which Hugh had left, Jack rolled out after him.

The skipper of the "Mary Ann"—a little man with a brown face and gray eyes that danced, when he laughed, like the waves he had so often traversed—after saying Hugh for a moment and rubbing his shin, told him he would do; and Hugh, agreeing to work his passage out to Cape Town, signed the name of "Laurence Harman" on the roll-book.

So Hugh Darrell, the heir to the Dale, existed no longer, and from his ashes sprang Laurence Harman, sea-

CHAPTER IV
THE FRUITS OF PRIDE.

I will instruct my sorrows to be proud. For grief is proud, and makes his own stoop.—SHAKESPEARE.

For twenty minutes after Hugh had left the house, Squire Darrell stood stern and motionless at the door through which the stubborn son had passed.

At the end of twenty minutes his frown relaxed, and he commenced pacing the handsomely carpeted room, muttering:

"The impudent jackanapes! What is the world coming to, when one is to be beard by the young scamps who owe you everything, even the very breath that—that—I wonder how long he'll wander up and down the village?"

This was said more softly, for the squire had never a doubt that his stubborn son had been playing heroic, and that he would come in with the candles, perhaps a little sulky and obstinate still, yet safe at home.

But the candles came, and no Hugh. Nay, the candles burned down in their sockets, and still the chair opposite the squire's, in which Hugh used to smoke his cigar or look over the country news sheet, remained empty.

There the squire sat and went through a battle, his pride warring against his natural affections, in which the latter, unused to being called upon, were utterly routed by the pride which was always in arms.

At midnight the squire was white, yet firm. He rang the bell until it rang like a county alarm, and when the servant hurried to the room, sternly ordered him to lock all the doors and get to bed.

The man, who was quite ignorant of the termination of the last quarrel between father and son, ventured to stammer that Mr. Hugh had not returned.

The squire brought down his fist upon the table with an exclamation.

"If you mention Hugh Darrell's name to me again, you rascal, I'll kick you out of doors after him!" he roared; and the man, white and all excitement, hurried down to the kitchen with the news that Mr. Hugh had been turned out-of-doors, and that it would be worth more than any one's head was worth to even name him to the squire.

One of the village tradesmen, happening to partake of ale and cake in the kitchen at the moment, hurried off to the village with the weighty news, and before morning the tenants and trades-people had received their warning not to give the fatal name tongue if they valued their leases and the Dale custom.

All night the squire tossed about on his bed, and waited with that dreary hopefulness which grows at night for the sound of the gate-bell, but no Hugh came repeatedly back to ring it, and he arose in the morning hardened to stone, and now he had got over the first qualms of affection and remorse, as determined as flint.

The squire did nothing by halves, and having disowned his son, he set about removing all traces of his existence. Every article pertaining to Hugh—his old hats, walking-sticks, cigar-cases, and odd knickknacks which strewed the mantel-shelves and corners—were taken up to the room he had occupied, the door of which the squire himself not only looked but screwed up.

Having "done his duty" so far, he sat down to his old oak desk, and, taking out the black-edged letter from his pocket, carefully spread it out before him.

It ran thus:

Sir,—I have to inform you that Mrs. Betsy Darrell died here on the twenty-second instant, leaving behind her a daughter, aged seventeen, and a sum of money amounting to two hundred pounds. As I have ascertained that you are her nearest relative I lose no time in informing you of her decease, and respectfully requesting instructions for the disposal of the estate and Miss Grace Darrell, her daughter.

"Your obedient servant,
WM. LAWSON, Attorney."

After several minutes of profound reflection, the squire, knitting his brows, and taking up a pen awkwardly and gingerly—he already missed Hugh, who did all the correspondence and what accounts were necessary—wrote in reply:

(To be Continued.)

A NEW AND STYLISH COSTUME.

Pattern 3163 is here portrayed. It is cut in 6 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. Size 38 will require 6½ yards of 44 inch material. The width of the skirt at lower edge, with plaits extended, is 2½ yards. This model shows a new basque waist with vest portions. It is suited to matinee as well as slender figures, and appropriate for silk, cloth and wash fabrics.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

A PRACTICAL APRON DRESS.

Pattern 3137 was used to develop this convenient garment. It is cut in 4 Sizes: Small, 32-34; Medium, 36-38; Large, 40-42; Extra Large, 44-46 inches bust measure. For a Medium size 4¾ yards of 36 inch material will be required. As here pictured, blue chambray was employed with striped blue and white gingham for the trimming. Will You Risk Just Twenty Dollars?

A "flyer" on the New York market very often makes a tidy profit if placed in a promising stock. Here's an example:—
15 Shares at $3.50 per share costs $52.50
A one-third cash deposit secures and controls 15 shares. One-third of $52.50 is $17.50, and commission and exchange makes it $20.00. We expect the same stock to sell around $6.00 inside four months, netting over $35 profit besides your original investment. Ask us about it and have us suggest a stock to you.

Germany Nearing Financial Collapse.

Treachery Caused French Losses in Mesopotamia -- Adriatic Difficulty Being Discussed -- Soviet Soldiers Beat Swords Into Ploughshares -- One Hundred Casualties in Indian Railway Accident -- Gold Shipments Will Adjust Exchange.

ADRIATIC SETTLEMENT.

SAN REMO, April 27. The question of the Adriatic Settlement between Italy and Jugo-Slavia was discussed at a meeting in Nice, yesterday, between Vittorio Scialoja, the Italian Foreign Minister, and Anton Trumbitch, Foreign Minister of Jugo-Slavia. When Mr. Trumbitch left Nice, after the Conference, it was arranged that the two Foreign Ministers should meet again shortly at Stressa on Lake Maggiore.

BACK TO THE LAND.

BUCHAREST, April 27. Russian Soviet Troops would rather sow Spring crops than go into battle, and this was one of the reasons for the failure of the offensive against the Polish front, in the opinion of Simon Botur, peasant leader of Ukraine, who spent a short time here on his way from Eastern Galicia to Prague Conference. He said that the shortage of men to work on Russian farms had resulted in wholesale desertions from the Soviet Army.

RAILROAD TRAGEDY.

SIMLA, India, April 27. Fifty persons were killed and fifty injured in a train collision on Oudh and Rohilkhand railway near Morahabad, east of Delhi, Saturday. Four coaches were burned in the fire caused by the collision.

A SOLUTION OF EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, April 28. International bankers were in receipt of advices to-day indicating an early resumption of gold imports from London to this country. It was estimated that some fifty millions of metal may come here in addition to an equal amount which was consigned to this market in several shipments of last month.

DEFEAT DUE TO TREACHERY.

PARIS, April 27. The latest information received by American offices from Asia Minor indicate that losses to French troops at Rurfa, northwest of Mesopotamia, were less serious than at first supposed, large detachments, it is thought, have got back into town, while others escaped in other direction. The official version attributes the French reverse to treachery.

CALLING UNDERWOOD'S BLUFF.

MONTREAL, April 27. A railway authority here discussing Senator Underwood's advocacy of an embargo by the United States on raw material going into Canada because of the newsprint shortage, to-day stated that the remedy will be found in the supply of cars. This authority pointed out that the United States Roads still owe Canada a net balance of twenty-one thousand cars. Thousands of cords of pulp wood are usually lying ready for shipment along the right of way of Canadian Railways.

GAS PLANT EXPLOSION.

DESMOINES, April 27. One man was killed and six others seriously injured when an explosion destroyed Des Moines City Gas Plant to-day. The explosion rocked buildings all over the city.

HUNS' BLACK BUDGET.

BERLIN, April 27. Germany's financial collapse is near, according to a statement made before the National Assembly yesterday by Dr. Wirtz, Minister of the Treasury, while presenting the budget for the coming year. He attacked war profiteers, who, he declared, are turning the Nation's economic plight to their own advantage. Pointing to the empty benches in the Chamber, Dr. Wirtz said the real truth of the situation was not adequately realized. He declared that the Army and Navy Budgets had reached their present dimensions because Germany was maintaining a paid defense force, which her former enemies should take into account in demobilizing the old army. This force has cost two billion marks he asserted, while Government has already expended three billion marks on the maintenance of occupational armies in Rhineland and elsewhere. The postal deficit was given as one billion marks. The shortage reported by the administration of state railways was twelve billion. Dr. Wirtz favored an early notation of an internal loan and demanded that Germany's obligations be clearly fixed.

Grand Concert, Canon Wood Hall, Wednesday, April 28th, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of St. Thomas's Women's Association. Admission: Reserved 50c., General admission 30c.

Seen From the Lobby.

House of Assembly, Yesterday Morning. The honorable members looked sleepy after last evening's session, and rubbed their eyes and yawned as the business proceeded.

Sir Michael Cashin, Leader of the Opposition, had the closest attention and warm sympathy of the auditors as he defended his daughter, Miss Cashin, of the attack made on her by certain members of the present Government. His explanation was satisfactory to everyone.

Afternoon.

Several Government members spent their afternoon dozing. I could not find it in my heart to blame them. They were kept up late last night, and even had to be on deck again this morning. Then, again, the sun shone in through the windows of the Opposition side, over the Opposition members, right in the faces of the honorable members. It is not as if they were doing anything. The Opposition did that. Theirs was to sit still and listen.

Mr. Warren, the Minister of Justice, stated, in the course of the afternoon's events, that he would be personally representing the Island in London in connection with the Labrador Boundary Case. It seems that he will not actually plead in the Privy Council, that being done by the country's legal representatives.

A conversation on the cure of fish, carried on across the floors of the Assembly between the Leader of the Opposition, Sir M. P. Cashin, and Mr. John Cheeseman, member for Barin, aroused the interest of all. Sir Michael evinced a truly remarkable knowledge of such topics. Still, when we remember that he himself was once a practical fisherman, we should not be at all surprised.

That France intends sending 75 or 80 new steam trawlers to operate on the Grand Banks in the codfishery, is one of the many interesting statements made by Sir M. P. Cashin.

To remodel the Nfld. Railway would cost at least $10,000,000, stated Sir Michael Cashin. Even then it would be a narrow gauge railway. A broad gauge railroad would cost from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Evening Session.

"A capacity audience," as the theatrical newspaper writers say, attended the House in the evening. I never saw the place so full before.

Sir Michael Cashin continued his speech, begun in the morning session. Imagine speaking from 12 to 1 in the morning; all the afternoon until half past six; and then again at night until half-past ten—7½ hours! Who will doubt the grim pluck of the Leader of the Opposition, after that?

It seems to me that that must constitute the Newfoundland long duration record for speaking.

No matter what might be one's opinion of the logic of Hon. W. F. Coaker's speech, one has to admit that his effort was a splendid one. Mr. Coaker seemed to be in his old trim and, really, his remarks were worth listening to.

Among the many things he told about the foreign fish markets of Newfoundland, was that, in Spain, our fish is eaten raw, like we eat cheese. The Spaniards like our fish "thick, yellow, and with a touch of slime," said Mr. Coaker. "They want that kind and are willing to pay almost anything for it. The less salt there is on it the better they like it."

By the time the House adjourned, at about 12.15, many of the members were feeling none too spry, and nodding heads testified to their sleepiness.

You could hardly blame them, could you?

Baseballers' Annual Meeting

The Newfoundland Amateur Baseball League held its annual meeting last night when Mr. Reg. Dowden, who has conducted the annual proceedings for years, was moved to the chair. The meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic one on record. The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were presented and adopted, after which the H. A. Allen Championship Cup, and the 1919 pennant were presented to Capt. Hiltz of the Red Lions, winners of last year's honours. Splendid watch tobs were also awarded the members of the team, the presentation on behalf of local fandom being made by Dr. McDonald in a very happy speech. Capt. Hiltz briefly replied. Votes of thanks were passed the Press, the Reid Nfld. Co. for courtesies in connection with last season's inter-town games, Mr. D. P. Duff, manager of the City team, the Umpires and Scorers, and especially the Grand Falls Athletic Association for their splendid hospitality. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—H. D. Reid.
 President—J. O. Hawvermale.
 Vice-Pres.—W. J. Higgins.
 Treasurer—H. J. Power.
 Secretary—R. Dowden.

All the officers were re-elected except Mr. Dowden, who succeeds Mr. P. J. Grace, the latter for various reasons being obliged to resign. His resignation was accepted with regret, and he was tendered a hearty vote of thanks for valuable service since the formation of the League. It was decided to have five umpires this year, Messrs. F. F. Chesman, chief, D. P. Duff, T. V. Hartnett, J. V. Colcombe and R. McGrath. The C.E.I. were unanimously admitted to the League. Mr. C. Merner was appointed official scorer, and will choose another to act with him. Mr. B. Channing resigned the position. On motion of Mr. Grace, Mr. J. B. Orr was elected Manager of the city team, and Mr. Fulmore, assistant manager. These with the five captains and umpire-in-chief will form the selecting committee. The matter of insurance for players who may meet with accident during the games will be dealt with by the executive, who will report at a later meeting. Messrs. Clouston, Thomas and Hiltz, the ground committee, will report as to alterations in the layout of the diamond. Messrs. Hartnett and French were elected President and Secretary respectively of the Juvenile League, which it was decided to form on motion of Mr.

Grace, seconded by Dr. McDonald. A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. A. Doyle, was accorded the chairman, who replied briefly, after which the meeting closed.

Good Health and Middle-Aged Man

There was a time when 21 was the age for the young man to marry, and at forty he was expected to have a good-sized family, accompanied by the sense of a life well lived and the arrival at the period when men "settle down" and let the "young folks" have their chance. After 20 a woman was an "old maid" or perilously near that stage of life's game. Scientists have changed all that and now a man is young at sixty and no one attempts to guess the modern woman's age. The magic key of course is good health and in the current issue of Forbes Magazine, Dudley A. Sargent tells how by a system of simple exercises a person may keep healthy when busy. "All that is necessary," says this authority, "to keep a man past middle life in good mental and physical condition is the daily use of all the larger muscles of the trunk and limbs in systematic course of body flexions and extensions."

There ought, thus to be fewer "fired business men," and there will be if all business men look carefully to their own health. There ought to be fewer breakdowns; and there can be fewer. There ought to be, and there can be, an end to the notion that many middle-aged men and women have about themselves and that many others have about middle-aged men and women, that they are "old" at forty, that they must then, or thereabouts give way to the young.

Obituary.

There passed peacefully away at his home on Wednesday morning, an old and respected resident of Portugal Cove, South, in the person of Daniel O'Leary. Deceased had been ailing only a few days and was able to be up and around until the evening previous to his death, and having complained of a severe pain during the day they thought it wise to call medical assistance and Dr. Giovannetti of Trepassy was sent for, came as soon as possible, and did all it was possible for human aid to do, giving however but little hope for his recovery, yet his family did not dream that his death was so near at hand. Fr. O'Flaherty of Trepassy was in St. John's, at the time, but through the influence of Sir M. P. Cashin and other good friends, the Reid Newfoundland Company very kindly ordered the train to proceed to Portugal Cove from Renewals on Wednesday and Mr. Fr. McCarthy of the later place, with whom Fr. O'Flaherty had made arrangements to assist at the bedside of the dying man. But alas! God had ordained otherwise and during the early hours of Wednesday morning, but few minutes warning, the soul of Mr. O'Leary was called to its heavenly home there to enjoy his eternal reward and await the coming of and prepare a place for, those he left behind.

Deceased was very widely known having friends far and near, having been specially marked for his kindness and generosity to those with whom it was possible for him to be friendly, particularly to poor shipwrecked crews, who were cast upon his shore, and he was always ready and willing to feed and shelter those poor fellowcreatures whom fate had cast in his way. He was one of those who so ably assisted in taking up the bodies of the George Washington wrecked so many years ago. Let us now hope that He who promised that a cup of cold water given in His name would not go unrewarded may now give to him in His eternal home all the happiness that his unbounded mercy can bestow. The late Mr. O'Leary was 76 years of age and leaves to mourn him his wife, three sons and four daughters, all married but one, (James, Station Agent of Portugal Cove, South) also two sisters and one brother, besides a large circle of relatives and friends to whom we extend our sincere sympathy—COM. Portugal Cove, South, April 28, 1920.

Successful Entertainment at Topsail.

An enjoyable event occurred at Topsail on Thursday night, April 22nd, when a very successful concert and dance was held in the S. U. F. Hall, under the auspices of the Topsail Memorial Committee. Owing to a slight indisposition, the President, J. F. Bancroft, Esq., was unable to take the chair, so the concert opened with Mr. J. J. Butler ably doing the duties of Chairman. Rev. A. Pittman made a short speech in which he expressed himself delighted to be present, not as a clergyman, but as a patriot, and one with the people in the splendid effort that was being made for so noble a cause. After this the following interesting programme was given:—

- 1.—Chorus, "The Lads Who Fought."
- 2.—Solo, "Till We Meet Again," Mrs. W. J. Hibbs.
- 3.—Farce, "Country Cousins," Misses E. Squires, I. P. Parsons, E. Hibbs, M. Pittman, E. Barnes, and Messrs. H. Butler and G. Barnes.
- 4.—Solo, "A Long, Long Way From Home," Miss M. Abbott.
- 5.—Solo, "Marry 'Arry," Mr. Reg. Hibbs.
- 6.—Chorus, "Bubbles." Interval for Sale of Candy.
- 7.—Piano Solo, Master Ian Cowan.
- 8.—Farce, "Rumpus on Gingerbread Hill," Misses A. Cheator, M. Abbott, B. Norris, G. Butler, E. Squires, Messrs. S. Tilly and N. Barnes.
- 9.—Solo, "It's Nice to Get Up in the Morning," Mr. E. Snow.
- 10.—Solo, "Mickey," Miss Nellie Fowler.
- 11.—Farce, "A Captain's Servant," Messrs. R. Hibbs, G. Fowler and E. Snow.
- 12.—Solo, "Smiles," Miss Elsie Hibbs.
- 13.—Chorus, "Wee Deoch and Doris." National Anthem.

By the hearty applause that greeted each item, one gathered that the affair was reaching the hearts of the audience, and to judge from the laughter, which at times, got almost beyond control, the whole programme was "a scream" from beginning to end. Amid so much that was excellent it would be most unfair to discriminate in any one instance, suffice to say that artists retired from the stage with the honors thick upon them; and all credit is due the performers for the finished manner in which each item was carried through. The music, in charge of Miss M. Abbott and Mrs. A. O. Nurse, was up to the usual high standard; while Miss Ethel Squires, who had charge of the dialogues, proved herself an efficient stage-manager. The supper was excellent, and was under the supervision of Miss I. P. Parsons, who with her aides, did yeoman service. Mr. and Mrs. Hollands were to the fore, as usual, and their special efforts were much appreciated, as was also a generous contribution of candy from Mrs. H. Tomberg. A pleasant surprise was in store for the audience when Master Ian Cowan of the Topsail Road, rendered a charming piano solo. His masterly handling of the instrument proved him the possessor of a style and technique quite unusual in a boy of eleven years.

After the interval President Bancroft was able to take the chair, and in a few well-chosen words, explained the object of the concert, and announced the rather amazing fact that the Memorial Committee had then on hand the handsome sum of one thousand dollars, all of which has been raised since the summer of 1919. He apologized for slight imperfections in the items, as, owing to the prevalence of fire practices could not be properly attended. He expressed the thanks of the Committee to all and sundry who, in any way, helped to make the affair successful, particularly the S.U.F. for the use of their Hall, and the L.O.A. for loaning chairs, forms, etc. The concert closed with the National Anthem, after which supper was served, and dancing was the order of the hour. The sum of $105.00 was realized, bring the grand total up to $1105.00. Well done, Topsail Memorial Committee!

N. B. Any subscriptions for this Fund from friends in the city or elsewhere will be gratefully acknowledged by the Acting Secretary, Miss P. F. Miller of Topsail.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE START UP.

RUTH CAMERON

The Grateful Patient wants to have another talk with the people who want to get rid of that tired feeling or of excessive thinness. I wonder if you remember her. She told me of a book which had given her a start toward improved general condition and increased weight, and offered, if I would tell my readers about it, to send the name of the book to anyone who would send in a self-addressed post card.

As a result, she had to work overtime--and I am afraid may have lost one of her precious pounds--but she says it was worth it. Now the other day we were filing away some of the mail that came in at this time, and we came across a letter that made us both feel that I ought to make some further remarks along this line.

In Too Much Hurry.

"Dear Ruthie (read the letter) Please send me at once that post card telling how to get FAT, and if it works you will have the lasting gratitude of Yours truly --"

There is an eagerness, a tenseness about that letter that touches my heart and at the same time gives me forebodings.

I am dreadfully afraid that the writer wanted to get FAT at once, and if one is naturally thin I don't believe that can be done outside a sanitarium.

The Grateful Patient has been at it eight months and she has gained 12 pounds but they are 12 good pounds, the kind that stay, and there is a vast improvement in her general condition. And she has done it without suspending her ordinary activities.

Some More Rules For Getting That Start.

She wants me, therefore, to counsel patience and persistence to all the friends who are trying to get a start upwards, mentally and physically, and also to lay down these few rules which must be followed in addition to being sure that one is eating enough.

Be sure to rest completely after eating. Do no mental or physical work for half an hour after a meal if you can possibly help it. Soak in all the sleep you can every 24 hours. Eat plenty of fat foods, such things as milk, olive oil, butter, honey, etc. (but be careful, of course, not to overload your stomach with anything it resents).

Be sure your digestive organs are working properly--and that means not only your stomach but your intestines (and these latter should be controlled by diet not by drugs. Consult a doctor on the diet book on this matter).

Exercise, Don't Worry, Be Patient.

If you want to deposit the fat on the healthy and artistic spots, get a doctor or gym instructor to tell you of exercises that will keep down the hips and waist and develop the chest. Do these exercises two or three minutes whenever you get a chance.

Don't worry. Cultivate serenity of soul. Emotions take more energy than mental effort or physical effort. You probably have to keep up a certain amount of mental and physical effort, but you can cut down on the unnecessary emotions.

Be patient. This thing must be attacked from every angle and it's going to take a long while, but the results are worth it. If you gain only a pound a month in a year that will be 12 pounds--and 12 pounds can make an awful lot of difference. Moreover, the second 12 will come easier. If you can only have patience to get the difficult start, the rest is comparatively easy and tremendously interesting.

Oxo Cubes contain the rich nourishment of prime beef in so compact and convenient a form that they are handy for use anywhere, at any time. Just a cube--hot water--and a biscuit or two--and a light sustaining meal is ready.

Wedding Bells.

BOYD-COLLINGWOOD.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized by the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland at the Church of England Cathedral, yesterday afternoon at 4 p.m., when Miss E. Edna Collingwood, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Collingwood, was united in Holy Matrimony to Mr. John Charles Boyd of the Chinese Maritime Customs, eldest son of the late John Boyd of Poole, Dorset, England. The bride was given away by her father and attended by Mrs. Tom Collingwood as matron of honour. The bride's little niece, Miss Mary Collingwood acting as flower girl. The groom was supported by Mr. Thomas W. Collingwood, brother of the bride. A reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, after which the happy pair left by motor for Topsail, where the honeymoon will be spent. After spending a short time here they leave for England enroute for China, where they will make their future home. Mrs. Boyd is well known in this city, and the best wishes of her many friends will go with her and her husband on the long voyage to the Orient, where may every good fortune await them, and their lives abound in all those things that made for happiness.

LEAN AND FAT.

The lean man, when he'd gain in weight, will find the process quite a treat; he is indeed a lucky skater, for all the good things he may eat. His bill of fare may be a scream, and he may food his works with cream, and eat mince pies and doughnuts too. But when a fat man is inclined to lose a ton or so of lard, the process is a dreary grind, the sledging is extremely hard. For him the busy housewife bakes a sickly loaf of sawdust bread; for him there are no luscious cakes, but he must eat bran mash instead. If he would take a midday snooze, he hears the learned physician say, "Be active, if your grease you'd lose, and walk four hundred miles a day. Your fat increases while you sleep, it gains when you are sitting down; go forth, go forth and walk a heap, and circumnavigate the town." The fat man starves and toils and grunts, and when he goes down town to weigh, and note results of all his stunts, he finds he's gained eight pounds a day. Then he goes back to living well, consuming pies and pork and beef, and all the neighbors laugh and yell, and make his life a long-drawn grief.

GOOD TO BE IN THE WORLD. It's good to be in the world just now. With the blossoms back on the apple bough, And the birds at home in the friendly trees, And the sky as blue as the summer seas. For man at the lathe or boy at the plow, It is good to be in the world just now.

It is good to be in the world, I say. With the sunbeams warm where the children play, With the smell of the new turned earth about, And the tulips and hyacinths flashing out, Surrounded by beauty I stand and joy.

It is good to be in the world just now. Forgotten are hatred and greed and lust, And the petty schemings of men unjust, Forgotten the sneers of a thousand foes, And the griefs and cares which each mortal knows, I say, as the breezes caress my brow, It is good to be in the world just now.

New blossoms are nodding and smiling where All has been barren and bleak and bare, And the earth which has lived through its days of pain, Has wakened to loveliness once again, So our sorrow shall pass, though we know not how-- It is good to be in the world just now!

Finger Amputated.

Yesterday at the residence of Mr. Robert Gardner, 69 Gower Street, a successful operation was performed by Drs. Anderson and Burden, when they amputated the little finger of Mr. Harry Peddle's right hand, which had been crushed a week ago, while he was doing some work to a motor engine at Hodge's Cove, T.B. Mr. Peddle has been staying at his sister's home since coming here for treatment, and will be able to leave again for Hodge's Cove in a few days.

The Speech From the Throne.

Judging by the cabled item from Ottawa in yesterday's Canadian Press despatches, the question of the Labrador Boundary is a matter that will have to be speedily adjusted. The Speech from the Throne at the opening of the present session of the Legislature, has to say in this regard, that "an agreement has been arrived at as to the submission of the dispute (between Newfoundland and Canada) to the adjudication of His Majesty's Privy Council, and it is thought probable that some substantial progress towards a final settlement of this long outstanding controversy may be made during this year." The Government think it probable that some settlement may be arrived at. They are then, not certain on this point, and meanwhile there is a project on foot to exploit a portion of the Newfoundland territory of Labrador by an American syndicate, into which due enquiry should be made by the administration.

The text of the cabled item referred to tells that a million and a half acres of pulp wood forests on Newfoundland-Labrador is being acquired by a United States Securities firm. The surveying of this area has already been made by means of photographs taken from aeroplanes, and the corporation has practically completed arrangements to take over the forests and commence operations. It would be interesting to know when and by whom this deal was put through, what concessions were granted this American Corporation and if the Newfoundland Government has any connection with it, what guarantees are given that the output of pulp wood will be supplied British trade absolutely. If the Newfoundland authorities have no knowledge of the transaction which gave to Americans the huge complement of one and a half million acres of our Labrador territory, they should at once institute enquiries into the bona fides of the transfer, and let the public into their confidence. Such news coming from Ottawa should cause all "seriously to think." The very fact of the despatch being sent from the capital city and seat of the Federal Government of Canada is suspicious, and conjecture is rife that there is being a "double cross" placed somewhere.

In the debate on the Address in the Upper House, Monday, Hon. George Shea, illuminated the dark phases of the Fishery Regulations with the light of his profound wisdom, and in doing so touched upon matters of which he knows so little about that his lack of knowledge of the subject would be more than sufficient to fill all the books in the Legislative Library, but Mr. Shea is a modest man and before speaking at all he admitted his ignorance, which was entirely unnecessary. Actuated more by a desire to defend the Government than to disprove the statements of Hon. W. B. Grieve, Mr. Shea laid a lingual lanche in rest and gallantly "had at" the Editors of the Opposition Press, heroically censuring them because they had refused to believe in the beneficial results which were to accrue from the enforcement of the most ridiculous piece of executive blundering that ever emanated from an administration calling itself intelligent. While Mr. Shea spoke, the listening powers of Honorable members and audience,

"Were awed, and every thought in silence hung
And wondering expectation."
They had not long to wait, for thoroughly warmed up to his subject, the honorable gentleman waxed eloquent, but alas! supremely illogical. Had any legislative councillor, other than Mr. Shea, made such a startling declaration that the editors spoken of in such a flattering manner, knew no more about their subject (Fish Regulations) than he did himself, we might perhaps, be inclined to agree with him, but we most humbly decline to be placed—even by Mr. Shea himself—in such close association with a man whose stupendous ignorance of Fish and the Fisheries has been exhibited on more than the present occasion, and not only upon these alone, but upon every other subject that relates to the welfare of this dominion. To accept a position in Mr. Shea's category might be flattering to Mr. Shea, but—No, thank you.

Of Interest to Poultrymen.

Elsewhere the publication of an address delivered by Mr. Walter Reid before the members of the Newfoundland Poultry Association, is being taken up, the perusal of which should be of interest to all Poultrymen. Mr. Reid is an experienced raiser of fowls, and has sent birds reared by him to the big Indianapolis show and won five Silver Cups against the best breeders of America. In the present address therefore he is thoroughly at home with his subject.

Sacred Concert To-Morrow Night.

The Sacred Concert by the united city, choir to be held in the R. C. Cathedral to-morrow night, promises to be a unique musical event, inasmuch as it is the largest gathering of our best singers that has ever taken place. The concert has aroused a lot of interest, and Mr. Hutton has received telegrams from outport people asking him to hold tickets for them. The sale of tickets has been successful and it looks as though the spacious edifice will be crowded with an appreciative audience.

C. L. B. Old Comrades to Purchase Club Rooms.

At 8.30 last evening, the C.L.B. Old Comrades held a largely attended meeting in their club room at the Armoury. A lot of important matters were discussed and it was decided to offer a silver cup for competition in the sports, which will be held in May. It was also decided to purchase the club rooms now owned by the Railroad Brotherhood and adjoining the Armoury. Teams for the various sports to be held during the coming summer will be entered. After a busy session the meeting closed at 10.30 p.m.

Star Football Team.

At a meeting of the Star Athletic Association held last evening in the club rooms, it was decided to enter a football team for the coming year, and the following were elected as officers for the team:—B. Hart, Captain; J. Sullivan, Vice-Captain; E. Kavanagh, League Delegate; and L. Payne, Secretary. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and business of importance was transacted.

Sale and Concert This Evening.

Large stocks of plain and fancy work, home cooking, etc., will be offered at bargain prices at the Spring sale being held this evening by the St. Thomas' Women's Association at the Canon Wood Hall. A grand concert will be held at 8 p.m., and all who attend are assured a pleasant evening's enjoyment.

Case of Suicide.

Charles Prowse Found Drowned in Long Pond—Pockets Full of Stones.

Yesterday afternoon, while playing near Long Pond, two boys named Coe and Richardson, espied the body of a man lying in the water near the shore. They quickly ran to the C. of E. Orphanage nearby and reported the finding to the matron, who telephoned the police. Inspector General Hutchings with Serjt. Long and Constable Lee, drove to the scene and recovering the body had it conveyed to the Morgue. An examination proved death due to drowning. The unfortunate man, Charles Prowse, aged 60 years, was for a long time not mentally strong. Formerly he was a checker at the old Coastal premises in the East End. On a couple of occasions he was an inmate of the Insane Asylum, and the search of his clothing yesterday, revealed the fact that the man had suicided, as his pockets were filled with stones. A widow and several in family are left to mourn.

Prizes Presented at Smoker.

A large gathering attended an enjoyable smoker held last night at the C.E.L. Club Rooms. Mr. Joseph Long presided in his usual capable manner. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a valuable gold watch to Mr. C. E. Hunt, who for the past ten years, has held the office of President. One of the oldest members in the person of Mr. F. C. Willis, made the presentation, and in doing so eulogized the work of Mr. Hunt in connection with the organization. Mr. Hunt made a graceful reply. The prizes won in the card tournaments during the winter were also presented the winners being Messrs. C. Skeans, C. Butler, G. Heath, E. Bradbury and E. T. Snow. Special prizes donated by the President and Vice-President were won by Messrs. C. Godden and E. Churchill. Mr. Joe Boone, who steered the C.E.L. team to victory in the Football Race at the Regatta, was the recipient of a handsome pipe.

C. C. C. Athletic Association.

The C. C. C. Athletic Association held a largely attended meeting last night when extensive plans for the coming season were finalized. Major Leo Murphy presided and the following committees were appointed: Finance Committee—Major J. J. O'Grady, Major Leo Murphy, Mr. T. J. Moran and Dr. M. S. Power; General Sports Committee—P. F. Collins, E. J. Brophy, Jas. Parker, Capt. Bulley, J. M. Darcy, P. J. O'Grady, Jno. Fagan, Wm. Duggan, M. Smith, N. A. Galag, T. Fennessey, T. Morrissey, T. Duggan, T. Dohoney, Le. Kavanagh, J. Brown, G. Squires, J. J. Clancy, J. Aspell, J. Bell, J. Aylward, R. Redmond, P. Parsley, Dr. M. S. Power, E. T. Furlong, Major J. O'Grady, Major Leo Murphy, Capt. W. J. Clare, Capt. Gerald Byrne, M. C. T. J. Moran, Lieut. T. R. Christopher.

Dance Committee—Dr. M. S. Power, T. Ellis, W. Duggan, J. Jackman, W. Thompson, T. Duggan and J. Brown, with the officers.

The presentation of the cup and medals won by the Football Team so ably captained by "Doc" Power last year, will take place after the League meeting, and on next Tuesday evening the whole association meets again to complete other arrangements.

There is an admittedly large amount of good material in the Cadets' different branches, and the Corps will be ably represented in the football and regatta events by some of our most popular athletes.

The many friends of Miss Winnie Winsor, formerly teacher at the Commercial School, will regret to hear that she is seriously ill, and grave fears are held for her recovery.

Women's Missionary Society.

The Sixth Annual Convention of the Carbonar District took place at Lower Island Cove, on the 21st and 22nd of April. The meetings were full of enthusiasm, bright and interesting programmes helping to make them a success. Six sessions were held, each one being a help and inspiration to all present.

On Wednesday morning a delegates' Conference opened the Convention. Mrs. John Maddock, district organizer in the chair. At 8 o'clock the real work began, nineteen delegates responding to the roll call. Mrs. (Rev.) Pickering, President of the Lower Island Cove auxiliary welcomed the delegates. We were fortunate in having with us Mrs. Lindsay, Branch corresponding Secretary, who replied to the address of welcome, and took charge of the Consecration and Memorial Service giving a very hopeful address. Members who passed from the Society to higher services were affectionately remembered, and the old hymn, "There is a Land of Pure Delight," sung in remembrance of them.

After the meeting a pleasant social hour was spent, when we enjoyed a delicious tea, kindly provided by our hostesses. Splendid papers on different phases of the work were given at the meetings by Mrs. Adam LeGrow, Misses C. Taylor, Hudson and Cooper, and two addresses by Mrs. Lindsay. Reports of auxiliaries, circles and bands were sent from every society in the district, numbering thirty-three. Mrs. John Maddock gave a review of the year's work, which showed an increase all along the line. The musical part of the programme added greatly to the enjoyment and success of the meetings. Mrs. John Maddock was re-elected district organizer, and Miss Gertrude Penney district Secretary.

Young-Adams Co.

REPEAT "EAST LYNNE" TO-NIGHT
By special request the Young-Adams Company will repeat that, "East Lynne" to-night. This is a piece that is fully dramatized. Miss Marie Adams appears as Lady Isabel and Madame Vine. Beginning to-morrow night and for the remainder of the week the company offers a play that is sure to appeal to the taste of every theatre fan, entitled "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by Harriet Beecher Stowe. The play sticks very closely to the famous book but is played in a new version in which Ice and Bloodhounds are not used, but a much more consecutive version than usually used, because the story is told by many characters without the continuous changing of scenes—which mean nothing. Miss Marie Adams will appear in an unusual role, that of a Topsey, black-faced part, which is one scream of laughter from start to finish. Mr. H. Wilnot Young will also be seen in an unusual role, that of Uncle Tom, a dear old Negro slave who is always happy although subjected to much harsh treatment. Miss Marguerite Young will appear as Little Eva, a most fascinating role. In this bill the entire cast will play.

French Custom Being Introduced.

The first attempt at introducing the French custom, among ladies, of carrying lap dogs to theatres and movie shows, was made at a certain city moving picture house last evening. The lady in question did not seem to know that the custom is to carry a poodle, and turned up with a crackle, which was rather overgrown, too, and really required an effort at carrying. Many ladies in her immediate vicinity looked enviously at her possession, and—to judge by the looks on their faces—determined that they, too, would have a dog for next show or die in the attempt. So that, therefore, the curious, mere men, should keep their eyes open to witness the spectacle of ladies attending movies with crackles, terriers, poodles, pups, young Newfoundlanders, setters, pointers, Chinese Blacktons, Eskimos St. Bernards, Pomeranions, hounds, collies, King Charles Spaniels, chow dogs and pups or anything in the canine shape that they can lay hands on. This practice should be officially encouraged; because, besides ridding the streets of the mongrel nuisance, it will inculcate the germ of refinement into the minds of the canine population. If the dear young ladies could only be persuaded to carry the stray cats, also, what a Heaven it would be for the thousands who have been afflicted by their nocturnal music! Someone should really introduce a Bill of Endorsement in the House. Perhaps the Premier will take the tip?

Jones Election Petition.
Mr. Howley opened the case for the respondent, Dr. Jones, who was sworn and examined. In a statement by the defendant he said he felt then and now that it was not necessary for him to spend a five cent piece to get elected. The examination continued up to recess hour and will be resumed this afternoon.

The Programme of the Sacred Concert will be published in to-morrow evening's "Telegram". Please cut it out and bring it with you as it is the only one that will be printed.—apr28,11

Altogether Erroneous.

An item published in the city newspapers on April first, stated that the premises of Vardy & Sons, Hickman's Harbor, T.B., had been completely destroyed by fire, with a loss to the owners of the sum of $30,000. This report was entirely misleading, and has caused much annoyance to the parties concerned, so much so that Mr. Renben Vardy, one of the principals, has been obliged to come to town on business connected with matters arising out of this report; and he desires to state that the fire referred to was only of small consequence and all matters relative thereto have been satisfactorily adjusted.

Some Queer War Money.

Some very odd kinds of money were brought into circulation during the war, owing to the scarcity of copper and nickel. Germany issued hundreds of millions of five-pfenning and ten-pfenning iron coins, the later output of these pieces being coated with zinc to prevent rust. Iron coins were likewise minted by the Governments of Sweden, Norway and Denmark. The Germans issued one-pfenning pieces of aluminum, and in Algeria also aluminum coins of five centimes and ten centimes made their appearance in circulation. Germany issued mullin notes, and the local governments in that country and in Austria printed paper money of the smallest value ever known, representing one-fifth of a cent. Even more curious was the pastebord money issued in France. It was in denomination up to five francs, and was of different colors and shapes—square, round, octagonal, oval and diamond-shaped. This "card money" was guaranteed by the local municipalities, and was good only for use in transaction with merchants of the town where it was issued.

There are good seats remaining yet for the Mammoth Sacred Concert in the R. C. Cathedral on to-morrow evening. Go and secure them.—apr28,11

To-day's Messages.

DANGEROUS DERELICT.

BOSTON, April 27. The British steamer Westgate, which was abandoned by its crew on April 18th, while on a voyage from New York for Halifax, was reported as a derelict, dangerous to navigation, in a radiogram from the steamer Tarantia, New York for Gibraltar, to-day. The message said the Westgate, with masts gone and high out of water, was drifting in a position about five hundred miles from New York.

AERIAL MAIL PERILS.

ORANGE, N.J., April 27. Three hundred pounds of mail were burned late to-day, when a postal plane on its way from Washington to Newark, became lost in a fog over the Orange Mountains, grazed some trees on the hillside crashed to the ground and burst in flames. Wesley Smith, the pilot, was only bruised.

CARRANZA NEXT.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mex., April 27.—More than fifty thousand soldiers in Mexico are now in revolt against the Carranza Government, it was announced at military headquarters here to-day. Nearly half this number, it was said, have joined the revolutionary forces in Sonora. Sonora troops continue to fortify mountain passes in the east, through which Carranza forces are expected to attempt to enter Sonora.

AN IMPOSING DELEGATION.

BERLIN, April 28. The German delegation to the Spa Conference, called by the Entente, will consist of the Chancellor and the Foreign, Home and Finance Ministers, says the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

SYLVIA IS A "BOLSHEVETTE."

WASHINGTON, April 28. Documents, purporting to have been signed by Sylvia Fankhurst, British Suffragette leader, James Gordon and Clara Zelof, promising assistance in "reading Bolshevik propaganda throughout the world, were found in the possession of three Communist couriers, arrested in Latvia, the State Department was advised yesterday.

BUTCHERED IN HOUSES.

SAN SALVADOR, April 27. Men, women and children, to the number of eight hundred, were killed in the recent fighting in Guatemala City, according to latest advices received here from Guatemala. Numerous adherents of Cabrera who remained faithful to their chief, were killed in their own houses the advices say.

LARKIN GUILTY.

NEW YORK, April 27. James Larkin, Irish Labor Leader, charged with criminal anarchy, late to-day was found guilty by the Supreme Court jury, before which his case was presented.

AMUNDSEN RETURNING.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 27. Ronald Amundsen, who set out two years ago in an effort to reach the North Pole, is returning to Nome, Alaska, according to a message received by the Navy Radio Station at Cordova, Alaska, to-day from Anadyr, Siberia.

SIGNIFICANT THREAT.

LIVERPOOL, April 27. The Lord Mayor to-day received a deputation representing Irish Societies, who threatened that unless Sinn Fein prisoners were released from Wormwood Scrubbs Prison within forty-eight hours, the port of Liverpool and its industries would be held up by a strike of Irish workers. These workers in Liverpool number a hundred and seventeen thousand.

CAPTURED AND BURNED BARRACKS.

TIPPERARY, April 27. Ballyvader police barracks, in County Limerick, surrendered to one hundred men, who assaulted it with rifles and explosives this morning. The siege lasted three hours. Visitors seized arms, ammunition and bicycles belonging to the garrison, and burned the barracks. Three policemen and one of the attacking party were wounded.

AMERICANS TRIMMED SWEDES.

ANTWERP, April 27. The American hockey team to-night defeated the Swedes in the Olympic contests by a score of seven to nil.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 27. Fire, which spread from floor to floor with remarkable rapidity, started in the large brick building, extending from Prince William to Water Street, occupied by Dearborn and Co., Ltd., wholesale grocers, spice and extract dealers and baking powder manufacturers, and other firms, late to-night, and practically destroyed the interior of the structure. Buildings on either side were also damaged. The total loss was estimated at nearly a hundred and fifty thousand dollars, very largely covered by insurance.

TOUR HELD UP.

LONDON, April 27. Arrangements for a tour of New Zealand by the Prince of Wales, who arrived at Auckland recently on his Australian trip, were disarranged by the sudden declaration of a strike of railway workers, says a Central News despatch from Auckland to-day. Plans were for the Prince of Wales to start his round of New Zealand during the day. It was discovered, says the despatch, that the engine of the train of the Governor General, the Earl of Liverpool, had been tampered with.

MORE PROOF NEEDED.

BERLIN, April 28. The Deutsche Zeitung says the German Government is preparing a note to France, in which a demand will be made for the withdrawal of Allied troops from Frankfurt and other recently occupied districts. The demand will be based, says the newspaper, on the German claim that German troops in the region have been reduced to the treaty stipulations.

POLISH FORCES ADVANCE.

WARSAW, April 28. (By Associated Press.)—A general advance by Polish forces along a 180 mile front into Ukraine was announced in to-day's communication by the Polish General Staff. The movement, it is set forth, is for the expulsion of foreign invaders and Russian Bolshevik.

PROHIBITING EXPORTATION OF IMMATURE FRUIT.

KINGSTON, Ja., April 28. The Government yesterday introduced a Bill in the Legislative Council to prevent the exportation from Jamaica of immature fruit. The competition in the banana trade is declared to have led to the exportation of this fruit while unfit for consumption.

FRANCE BANS CERTAIN IMPORTS.

PARIS, April 28. A decree prohibiting the importation of certain foreign goods has been issued, following a report showing that the total of French imports during 1919 reached nearly thirty billion francs, while French exports did not reach nine billion francs. The decree says that goods shipped direct to France before the publication of the decree will be admitted. Goods imported for re-export also are excepted from the new order.

HE DID HIS DUTY.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28. E. Hyver, private detective, lay in wait yesterday for a thief at a printing office here and arrested his own son. The boy was taken to jail by his father.

RAILROAD TRAFFIC SUSPENDED.

ROTORUAUANG, April 28. Railroad traffic has been suspended throughout the northern island of Switzerland as the result of a strike of locomotive engineers and firemen, but it is not expected to delay the progress of the Prince of Wales, who is visiting this country, as the walk-out is not directed against him. Thousands are involved in the strike, preparations for which were made long ago.

Firemen's Strike.

SETTLEMENT EXPECTED.

It is likely that the Firemen's strike will be settled this afternoon. The ship owners have offered the men $73 per month from the shipping office, and $2 extra from the office of the ship owners. A meeting is being held this afternoon by the firemen when it is thought the matter will be definitely settled. The total amount offered is what the firemen agreed to accept but the difference now is only as to the method of payment.

We think it will please you. Price 30c. a cake.

Pepsodent Tooth Paste is quite distinct from any dentifrice on the market, of different ingredients and designed for a different purpose, that of dissolving the mucin or scum that gathers round the teeth and is such a harbor and breeding place for germs. This is really the secret of its value. Price 60c. a bottle.

Compulsory Knighthoods.

There was a time when to refuse a knighthood not only aroused the ire of the monarch but the official responsible for the collection of revenue. In 1254 all men holding land in Great Britain of the annual value of ten pounds were ordered to present themselves for knighthood or pay a lump sum for exemption from the honour. As knighthood then entailed serious military responsibilities, the Crown reaped a handsome revenue from this order. Edward I. imposed the obligation atreth, and so did James I. almost as soon as he came to the English throne. The Long Parliament abolished compulsory knighthood in 1641, its reason for doing so being to prevent the king from raising money without the consent of the Commons.

Thin Persons Live Longer.

Mr. Lewis Orr, addressing a meeting of insurance actaries in Edinburgh, submitted a table of standard weight, showing how the build of an individual affected his longevity very considerably. The table, which was the first of its kind produced in Scotland, showed clearly the truth of the statement that the heavier the weight the shorter the life. From what they knew of German and Austrian insurance statistics they reached the not uninteresting conclusion that the Anglo-Saxon, as represented by Great Britain, the United States and Canada, individual affected his longevity very was of considerably lighter type, for height, than the German and Austrian, roughly speaking, to the extent

IS JUST OPPOSITE POST OFFICE.

House of Assembly.

Afternoon Session, April 27. Sir M. P. Cashin, Leader of the Opposition, at three o'clock resumed his speech. Touching on the conduct of Government Institutions which, he said, had been prostituted for the past six months, he scathingly denounced the action of the Daily Star, which is controlled by the Premier, of publishing the private life of certain soldiers and broadcasting it to the world. This information was received from the Department of Militia, which is under the control of Mr. Squires. This was done as a threat against a body of men which left for the other side for the purpose of defending the Empire and country, and that their names should be brazenly dragged through the press—or a certain section of it—was nothing less than criminal. Referring to the gift of Admiralty ships, Sir Michael pointed out that the matter had been brought under the notice of the Imperial authorities by the late Government, and he questioned if their acceptance would be an asset or a liability to the Dominion. If they were to burn 30 to 50 tons of coal daily they would be the latter, and in any case he doubted if they could be used successfully in the coastal service. One of these steamers the Government intimated would be used as a sea tug. The late Minister of Marine and Fisheries had given this matter full attention during his term of office, and had consulted with Hon. Sir E. R. Bowring, Newfoundland's Commissioner, while here last summer, in the matter. The presence of such a boat would be filling a want. A speedy, sea-going tug attached to the Fisheries Department was badly needed, and there were many instances where the presence of one would have saved many valuable lives and property. Touching on the Labrador Boundary dispute, Sir Michael asked the Minister of Justice as to the Solicitors employed by the Government on the other side, and who would legally defend our interests. Hon. Mr. Warren replied that he would himself. I congratulate you, said the Opposition Leader, Sir Michael next dealt with the fishery regulations. Hon. Mr. Coaker, he said, no doubt had the interests of the fishermen at heart, but the way he went about this matter was not complimentary to him. He took it upon himself, in consultation with a few friends and Mr. Hawes, to promulgate regulations that were contrary to British justice, whereby a free citizen was not permitted to trade and dispose of his own goods. The result was that fish exportation had practically ceased, great losses had been met, hundreds of thousands of quintals of codfish had been left on our hands, and depression and poor times stalked through the country. Not only that, but the very men who had joined up with Mr. Coaker had found themselves in a hole and were wiring now from the other side that our hold on the fish markets was gone. What should have been done was to consult all the buyers of fish and meet in the Board of Trade rooms, but the output purchaser, firms like Bowring, Bice, Baine Johnston and Co., Goodridge and Sons, etc., had not been consulted; it was a case of the minister tossing up, "heads I win, tails you lose," and neither the one nor the other came down. While he was in Montreal recently he could have sold 4,000 qts. of codfish at $14.00 f.o.b. After wiring here and the would-be purchaser had the Regulations read him, he simply fell over; and it was also true that as a result of the Regulations that codfish which last year was up to 95 shillings was now down to 65 shillings in our best markets. Sir Michael briefly referred to the Water Street "ring" of 40 years ago when the price of codfish was fixed to their advantage, and asked if we wanted to get back to these days again. The coastal service also came in for a share of criticism. The story of the purchase of the Doving boats by the late Government was told, and how Sir John Crobie had run them with a credit on the Government's side, while to-day they were being run at a loss. The matter of the shortage of coal in the city, which was tying up industrial life and even interfering with ordinary domestic life, was also referred to, and Sir Michael considered it pitiful that the Minister of Shipping should appear in the House when he was unable to account for how or why present conditions existed. The five years of the war went on, and no complaints such as are now being offered. And the price had jumped from $15 a ton to $30. Then the Leader of the Opposition came to fishery supplies this year, the high cost of living, and the prices the fisherman would have to pay for his supplies. The great big document of the worthless production of the Speech from the Throne were compared, and both sides of the shield shown. The housing problem, where some $60,000 was likely to be spent to solve the situation, was scathingly dealt with. Sir Michael said he knew where $50,000 was paid for one house in the city, and then to try and "cook" the people of St. John's with giving them workmen's houses for that amount was ludicrously ridiculous. He felt sure that Mr. Coaker never saw that paragraph in the Speech from the Throne before His Excellency read it, because he was too sane a man to let things like that escape his notice, or be a party to it. Dealing with the many omissions in the Speech, Sir Michael asked if anything was to be done as regards the herring fishery, which a few years ago was worth $1,000,000, but is now killed. The programme of farming grants to our soldiers and sailors he characterized as a sham—a fake.

A feature before the afternoon session closed was a passage at arms between the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition. Sir Michael in pointing out that if he were like the leader of the Government in handing out jobs and promises, in all probability Hon. Mr. Brownrigg would be sitting on the Opposition side of the House, but he was not willing to promise him a job. Mr. Brownrigg interjected and said, "I would not sit on that side of the House for a great deal."

"Will you sit down," said Sir Michael. "This is not a hustings; this is the House of Assembly where we are guided by rules and laws, and the sooner you purchase a little book and read them up, if you can, you will stop jumping up like a jack-in-the-box, and stop making an ass of yourself."

Hon. the Prime Minister appealed to the Speaker to the effect that Sir Michael's remarks were out of order, to which Sir Michael replied: "How dare you, sir? Your impudence is equal to your gall. How dare you tell the first Commoner in the land that he does not know how to rule this House? You're boiling over with impertinence, and the quicker you realize it the better for yourself and the House."

The Speaker allowed that Sir Michael had the floor, and raised no objection to his remarks.

Another little passage during that afternoon was when Sir Michael asked the Prime Minister not to equirm, but keep his "Dutch" courage up.

"British courage," replied the Prime Minister. "British courage!" retorted the leader of the Opposition. "British courage, eh! You're the pure bull dog breed, and if Britain was depending on the like of you she would be poorly off, you slacker. British courage is expressed in the two honourable gentlemen who moved the Address in Reply, who come from the men who went 'over there.'"

At 6.30 adjournment was taken until 8 o'clock.

Evening Session.

Sir M. P. Cashin, Leader of the Opposition, resumed his speech, begun in the morning, when the House met at 8.30. He referred to the incident of asking Hon. Mr. Brownrigg to contest St. John's West for his party. Mr. Brownrigg was quite willing to do so, said Sir Michael, provided that he could have the Ministry of Finance and Customs. This the Leader of the Opposition declined to grant, and Mr. Brownrigg would not become a member of the party. Sir Michael then traced the history of the several Governments from 1909 to the present, and squarely connected the Prime Minister with every act of these Governments during that period. Therefore, if he were guilty of wrongdoing during these years, Mr. Squires was equally so, and it was useless for him to try and escape responsibility. He also made the charge that when Squires was in the Government as a colleague of Sir Michael, that he played him false and stabbed him in the back. Sir Michael said he was open to discuss in the House any action of his during his public career, but would not take anything from the Premier lying down. He would defend himself. Sir Michael then turned to the charges that Mr. Coaker made against Squires and vice versa. He quoted extensively from the 1918 Hansard, wherein Squires made charges against Coaker in the Legislative Council and Coaker made charges against Squires in the House of Assembly. The House was dumbfounded to hear Sir Michael read these charges, and challenged both Coaker and Squires to explain to the House what had brought them together after such vile charges and counter-charges had been made against each other. He invited Mr. Coaker to explain all he knew about the Reid-Squires $5,000 transaction. Sir Michael occupied the time of the House till 10.15, delivering a splendid address of 7½ hours' duration. It has been years since the Address in Reply was debated at such length, and the end is not yet. Sir Michael, before taking his seat, moved an

St. John's Woman Gained 17 Pounds in Short Time

Delighted at the Way Tanlac Built Her Up After Every Thing Else Had Failed.

"I too can testify to what a splendid medicine Tanlac is, for after I had been sick for over a year, it restored me to health when everything else failed," said Mrs. Michael Guiney, of 41 Prescott Street, St. John's, Nfld., when in at Connors' drug store the other day.

"Mine was a very bad case of stomach trouble. I never could eat a thing but what I would be seized with pain afterwards, and the gas that formed caused me great discomfort. I got so that the very sight of food upset me, and ate scarcely enough to keep body and soul together. I used to have awful pains across the small of my back, and must have used enough plasters to paper a small room, but they never gave me much relief. I was always having headaches and dizzy spells, when I would simply have to lie down until I felt better. At night I would lay awake for hours, and my sleep was disturbed by bad dreams. I went down in weight from a hundred and thirty-five to a hundred and ten pounds, and was only a shadow of my former self.

"When I started taking Tanlac it was as a sort of last resort, and I hardly expected it to do me much good. But I was desperate, and as it had helped other people I thought I would at least give it a trial. What was my surprise and delight to find that before I had finished the first bottle I was feeling much better. I have taken four bottles altogether, and it really is wonderful how much good it has done me. I now have a fine appetite, and what I eat never gives me any trouble. I've gained several pounds in weight, and feel as strong and well as ever I did in my life. I shall always be grateful to Tanlac and shall recommend it whenever I get a chance."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, and by the leading Druggist in every town.—adv.

amendment to the Address in connection with the H.C.L., which was seconded by Mr. Sinnott, but the Speaker ruled the amendment out of order, as no seconder was available to sponsor it on account of Mr. Sinnott and all the other members having spoken to the motion. In the short time and limited space at our disposal to-day, we are unable to do justice in any way to Sir Michael's splendid effort.

Hon. W. P. Coaker followed Sir Michael Cashin, and for more than an hour defended the fish regulations which he had been instrumental in having made. The regulations would not have been put in force if Mr. W. A. Munn had not undersold a cargo of fish in the Italian market. He blamed the trouble with the Brazilian firms on Messrs. Duder and Monroe, who blocked in every way possible the successful carrying out of the regulations as they applied to Brazil. Apparently from the hon. gentleman's remarks Mr. Hawes and Mr. Coaker are not now pulling so nicely as they were, and there is evidence that trouble is brewing between them. The regulations were recommended to him by business people because they were afraid of conditions facing them and wanted to be saved from an attack of cold feet. Mr. Hawes was selected as agent because he knew Europe better than any other man that he knew of. He was, Mr. Coaker said, a cute, shrewd business man, but would be given no more concessions in the Spanish market than any other buyer.

At 12 (midnight) Mr. Coaker moved the adjournment of the debate until the next session, and the House adjourned until 3 p.m. to-day with the Address in Reply still on the Order Paper.

Best Medicine He Has Ever Taken

FATHER TELLS OF SON'S HELP FROM DODD'S MEDICINES.

He Recommends Everybody Who Has Shaking or Pain in the Heart to Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Birmingham, Sask., Apr. 27. (Special.)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best medicines my son has ever taken."

This is the statement of Mr. Johannes Reinson, a well-known resident here. "When he started to take them," Mr. Reinson continues, "there was not much hope of him. Soon after starting to take the Dodd's Medicines he began to improve in health and now he is well."

He advises everybody who has shaking or pain in the heart to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The Dodd's Medicines act on the two essentials to good health. The Tablets help to digest the food and produce good health. The Pills act on the kidneys, healing and strengthening them, thus ensuring that the blood is kept free from impurities. For the work of healthy kidneys is to strain all impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen the kidneys.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH EUROPE?

The revolution in Germany, which seems more or less a stagemanaged affair and "tricky" at that, is but another sign of the universal unrest and feverishness throughout the European Continent. Talking with a traveller recently returned from Vienna and Buda Pesth it is forcibly borne upon one that conditions in Austria in particular are so utterly hopeless that it is difficult to see how people can go on living under such circumstances. Hungary is perhaps better situated materially owing to her great peasant farming population, but at the first opportunity she will spring at the throat of Rumania. That last-mentioned country, which seems to have benefited more than any other by territorial expansion because of the war, is also in a very dangerous state. Jugo-Slavians are profoundly discontented both with the Serbian regime and also what they consider to be Italian aggression. Poland appears to be in the hands of a Government that, willingly or unwillingly, is being forced on towards the making of territorial claims, that can only breed trouble with regard to Ukraine, Soviet Russia and the Baltic States. Massacres of Jews in Poland and the Ukraine break out at frequent intervals and are putting both of those countries in the bad books of the very powerful and influential Jewish magnates throughout the world. Italy's economic condition is thoroughly bad and revolution never seems more than a street away. In Spain the domination of the military caste is said to be becoming unbearable to the mass of the population, whilst in Portugal, as we know, revolutionary strikes and outbreaks are continually occurring, although little news is allowed to transpire. The contumacious and massacre habit of the Turks is another fruitful source of impending trouble, as also are the proclamations of kingdoms in Syria and Mesopotamia by Arab chiefs.

MINE-SWEEPING RESUMED.

Although all the mine fields were announced to have been cleared by the end of November, it has been necessary to re-commission trawlers for remaining sweeping. The reason is that only the moored mines were removed in the grand sweep of last year. Drifted mines set loose by rough weather are still met, and a proportion may be dangerous. Hence a small number of trawlers will be kept at work. The have not yet reopened in London, however, with their typically Teutonic wall paintings and their capacious hidden mugs of lager.

MOTOR BOATS AT OLYMPIC.

It is perhaps a funny thing with a water loving nation such as ours is that the Motor Boat Show that has just closed at Olympia was nothing like the draw that the motor car show was or even the motor cycle exhibition. No queues waited for admission and it was always possible to see the exhibits comfortably. Motor boating in this country was developing into a fair sized national sport when the war came along and closed everything down for practically six years. Now it is believed that the above show will revive the sport and it was certainly a most interesting exhibition. All sorts of motor boats were shown from large yachts down to motor-driven Canadian canoes and dinghies so tiny that they might well be described in a motor sense as two-seaters or, as one humorist pointed out, motor coracles. Equipment also varied from that required, say, for a Thames motor punt to what appealed to the most luxurious tastes in a millionaire's yacht. The new tender for King George's yacht, the Victoria and Albert, was shown. It is a 25 ft. motor launch driven by a 35 h.p. Green engine and fitted throughout luxuriously, carrying a Cape cart hood on similar lines to that on a motor car. In the building of many of the boats one could perceive the clever modern tasteful touch of the motor car body builder. Apart from the sporting side, there was shown the development of the motor engine for coastal work and trawlers for the fishing industry.

TEUTON TOUCHES.

Everywhere in London one sees again evidences of the German. The second-hand booksellers in Charing Cross Road have been down into their cellars and unboxed all the German books they had, apparently, and are once more displaying them for sale. We have German songs in our concert rooms and a German play is already down for production at a West End theatre. Frankly German articles of other sorts are to be found on all sides. In London's restaurants where the best brands of Hock and Moselle disappeared from the wine list during the war Rhine wines are once more being offered. These are not per-war stocks, but new arrivals in London and these wine imports are increasing. People who still have patriotic conceptions about imbibing these liquids are urged by the newspapers to remember that they can consider themselves acting practically in helping Germany to pay what she owes to the Allies. It was the House of Commons, of course, that first bluntly demanded new stocks of German wines for its restaurant. The German beer halls

Lasky Corporation of New York, has arrived in England to search for fresh talent for the films. The first stage in the process is the foundation of a new producing company, which is to consist of all-British players. A new studio has been built at Islington, in the north of London, and is expected to be ready by April, when a start will be made with the filming of Marie Carelli's "Sorrows of Satan." Mr. Zukon is a well-known figure in the American film industry, and has brought forward a number of famous film actresses. The chief of these are Pauline Frederick and Mary Pickford. Miss Pickford began her career under his management, and was with him for over five years before moving out into a larger field which now yields her an income of about £200,000 a year. During the war Britain has not been able to keep pace with American developments in cinema work, particularly in the discovery of fresh talent. "There are plenty of hidden film stars among you," Mr. Zukon said. "They will take time to find, but I am going to dig them out. I want to find another Mary Pickford."

THE TWENTY-FOUR HOUR CLOCK.

The committee which has been considering the question of the 24-hour clock has, I hear, in the report submitted to the Home Secretary, recommended its adoption. It will be for the Home Secretary to decide whether any steps should be taken to bring the new arrangement into operation. But, as has been explained to me, the committee's proposal is not that the 24-hour clock should be universally adopted at once for all purposes; the idea is that the new time should be introduced first on the railways, in the Post Office, and in State departments, where its application would be of immediate benefit. The extension of the system would proceed gradually as the public became accustomed to it. India, Italy, and France have adopted the new time. No legislation would be required for its adoption here.

A ZOO TRAGEDY.

Last week a veterinary surgeon was called to attend to an enormous python at the Zoo that had broken its jaw in swallowing its ration of one whole goat. The vet succeeded in setting the damaged jaw with plaster of Paris, leaving only the nose uncovered to give the creature air. A Python is not a daily eater, and it was expected that the damage would have been repaired by the time that another meal became due. To his mortification, the vet. was informed a few days later that the patient had died and that he was required to hold a post-mortem on the corpse. It was then found that death was not from the broken jaw, but from an enormous bruise on the body. Some workmen had been employed in remarking a rackery behind the python's pit, and had dropped a great lump of rock on its back. When questioned afterwards, they explained that they had not said anything about it, as they thought that a snake had not got any bones and so could not be hurt.

GUARDS' OFFICER IN JAZZ BAND.

The disabled officers' band, the members of which wear black masks while playing, is very much in demand at dances in the West End. The leader of the band served in the Engineer's, and, although paralysed in both legs, now plays the piano to some purpose. Another commanded an armoured car, while a third was a subaltern in one of the battalions of Guards. I am told there is also a great demand for jazz music in the provinces, and these officers only last week were playing at a dance at Leicester, and are shortly to play at a charity dance in Sheffield. In London, they have played at dances

A Thunderstorm.

HOW IT APPEARS TO A MAN IN AN AIRSHIP.

Have you ever been in the air to watch a thunderstorm grow? If you were merely on the ground looking up, then you see only the bottom of it. The airman is the one who sees just what is happening in a thunderstorm, says Popular Mechanics.

A few hours before the sky was perfectly clear. All at once a few white patches become visible to the eye, and if they quickly begin to dot the whole sky, it is a warning sign. Each fluffy cloud represents the point where moisture rising from the earth has begun to condense. The rapid formation of the clouds means uneven heating of the surface of the earth and the presence of lots of moisture in the air. The clouds grow together, forming a continuous rolling mass of dense vapor, cutting off the flyer's view of the earth.

So far the storm has only been threatening. The clouds have spread sideways as far as they can; now they begin to grow heavier. The heated air from the earth below pushes through the heavy layer and bulges it upward. Higher and higher it is pushed while more and more moisture condenses, and this great bulging mass of vapor, sometimes three or four miles high, has become a thunder cloud. Its bulging tops are called 'thunder peaks' or 'thunder heads,' and they are responsible for the lightning, the heaviness of rain-fall, and the hail we sometimes have in mid-summer.

The energy of a thunderstorm is amazing. A single great cloud may contain billions of pounds of water vapor. The flashes of lightning from clouds to clouds are sometimes 20 miles in length, and when we stop to think that it takes a current of 15,000 volts pressure to produce a spark an inch long, we can only wonder at the immense amount of electricity involved in a single flash. Sometimes the wind from a thunderstorm, or the squall, as it is called, is violent enough to level trees and small buildings, and is improperly called a tornado. There is a big difference. A tornado is a violent whirlpool of air that sweep across the country and twists off trees and roofs in its path. The wind from a thunderstorm blows straight away from the storm and never twists.

Broadly speaking there are three general stages in the development of a thunderstorm. There must be strong currents of moist air rising from the earth, as indicated by the appearance of the white patches of cloud. This condition must continue until the sky is covered. And lastly, the force of these upward currents must be great enough to push the clouds up into thunder heads. A thunderstorm then results.

Colour's Place

WITH THE GREAT RAILWAY COMPANIES.

The Great Eastern Railway Companies, in repainting its carriages, now uses a light crimson-lake in place of the old colour which was that shade of brown known as varnished teak.

In thus changing the colour of its rolling-stock, the Great Eastern is following the example of the Great Western, which in late years has banished the old scheme of tea-brown and cream for a chocolate-red-brown.

Crimson-lake, chocolate, and varnished teak are the colours most in use for the carriages on our lines. Like we associate more particularly, perhaps, with the Midland than with any other line, for the Midland uses it not only for the carriages but for the engines as well, and has achieved in it a rich and distinctive shade.

This is, however, the standard colour of several other lines, including the North-Eastern and Glasgow and South-Western, and may be seen from Southampton northwards into Scotland.

As chocolate is now the colour of the Great Western's coaching-stock, it is carried far and wide over the 3,000 miles of that system alone. Probably the company did well to abandon the small white panels that went with the old tea-brown, for they quickly showed dirt. The North-Western, however, boldly keeps to white for the panels—so boldly that at first sight the coach strikes the eye as being white all over, whereas the lower part is really chocolate.

Brightening Up the World of Travel. Varnished teak is the colour of the Great Northern, the Great Central, and still, in the main, of the Great Eastern; the South-Eastern uses maroon; the South-Western a yellow tint of cream, with dark green for her electric services; the Brighton Objects to Daylight Bill.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Please allow me space in your esteemed paper for a protest against the Daylight Saving Act. It is well known how it was imposed on the country without the people having the privilege of going for it or against it. Hence it is like a high-handed piece of Prussianism. Things are coming to a pretty pass in this country when one man can get up a scheme and dictate to the whole population what daylight can be had and what daylight can't be had. All sensible people know that Providence is well capable of judging how much day and how much night is best for the earth's inhabitants. One would think that three hours of daylight, when the work of the day is finished, are sufficient for most people of the city, the majority of whom are only waiting for sunset—the only part of the summer's day that can be called cool—before taking a walk round our country lakes and roads, after the work and heat of the day is over. It is evident, Mr. Editor, that more daylight is not needed in Newfoundland for the Summer months. We have about eighteen hours of sunshine out of the twenty-four. That is plenty of time for recreation for practical people. As for the outports, last Summer, it caused no little confusion in the majority of the larger settlements. All the mercantile firms ignored the Bill, while the Banks and Railways complied with it. The same applied to the denominational schools. The S. A. and C. E. conformed to what is known as fast or Newfoundland time; while the Methodist and R. C. retained the slow or standard time, and confusion often arose which could not happen were there but one time alone to be kept. Hence it is as much of a wasting, rather than of a saving of daylight. Evidently the only practical thing to be done is to abolish the Act altogether and retain standard time alone. Then none would have reason for complaint. Newfoundland went daylight saving, with Canada and America the past few years, but Canada and America have learned better since and have seen the impracticability of daylight saving, and have discontinued it. It is hoped now while the "House" is in session that Newfoundland will do the same.

Yours truly,
STANDARD TIME.

What Australia and U. S. are Doing for Disabled Men.

(Atlantic Leader.)
In commenting on the war veterans' claims for increased pensions for disabled men, the Winnipeg Free Press says that the demand for more liberal treatment for totally disabled men is increased from the fact that within the last few months both the United States and Australia have raised their scale for such pensions very considerably higher than it is in Canada.
At the beginning of the war the total disability pension in Canada was $480, with additional amount for wife and children. This was later raised to $600, and parliament last year granted an additional bonus of $120 on account of the high level of prices. This, of course, was only a temporary increase voted for the year.
A statement by the British Pension Board to parliament on Dec. 19 last, showed that the Canadian pensions were more liberal than those of any other country. The disability pension (weekly rate) given by the different countries, was: Canada, 47s. 11d.; Britain, New Zealand and South Africa, 40s.; Australia, 30 s.; France, 37s.; Italy, 10s. 4d.; United States, 28s. 10d. The Canadian treatment was reported to be similarly favorable for dependents and partially disabled men.
On Dec. 24, however, the United States raised their total disability pension from $665 for a man without dependents, and $910 for a married man with three children, to $960 and $1250 respectively. And only a few days ago the Australian government introduced a reparation bill which raises the pensions of totally disabled soldiers from $378.60 for a single man and $522 for a married man with 3 children to $20 per week (roughly $1,000 a year) and $300 (roughly $1,500) respectively. Australia's war burden was already very heavy. Her war debt is $1,500,000,000; the new gratuity which she lately gave her soldiers cost $140,000,000, and her pension list was already $18,000,000 a year.
The pension increases granted by the Canadian parliament last year amounted to $5,380,000. Besides the bonus of $120 for totally disabled privates and corporals, the pensions of sergeants was increased in the same way from $637 to $720. A 20 per cent. bonus was given to pensioned widows and parents of privates and corporals, and 13 per cent. to similar dependents of sergeants.
There was a permanent increase from $96 to $120 in the amount allowed to a totally disabled man on account of his wife, and an increase from $144 to $150 in the amount allowed for the first child of a widow; also an increase from $278 to $360 for the first orphan child of a

NEWS NOT PROPAGANDA.—It is great pity, and shows littleness on part of those responsible, that public news service should be so utterly partisan.
In many places the daily postal is only method that people have of being in touch with current happenings. More especially is this so in winter, when mails are exceedingly irregular, and papers from the wide, reach us after a lapse of ten or fourteen (or more) days.
The reign of the late Sir P. T. O'Rath, who handled the compilation of the daily "Public News," it was little more than government propaganda for the Morris and latter the Cashin party.

It is to-day perhaps not quite so partisan, but it takes care to say nothing that might be injurious to the wellbeing of the Squires party, and takes equal care to boost their doings whenever possible.
As the public news service is paid for by the colony it should be what it proclaims itself—a public service free from bias, supplying a brief synopsis of the happenings of the day.
It will be noticed that no word of the extraordinary Woodford affidavit ever appeared in that despatch; though nothing more "striking" to say the least, has happened for some time, and it was the sensation of the year.

We suggest to the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, or whoever is responsible for the compiling of this public message, that he make it a real news service and less of a party propaganda.
PRODUCTION AND ECONOMY.—While indications as to the prospects for the coming fishery are doubtful, ranging from rosy optimism to the blackest doubts, there seems reason to believe that no man who is willing to work, to give a fair days labor for a fair days wages, but may be sure of obtaining steady employment if he wishes.
The man who has the gear and plant would, in our opinion, be wise to stick to his job, but the many who have not built up a fishing room or fishing property, but are more or less in the sense of day laborers at the fishery can, if reports which continue to come from inland be true, find continuous employment during the summer.
This would relieve the fishery to some extent, and while 1918 prices will no more be obtained, there seems reason to believe that with a careful cure and the energy which the Minister of Fisheries is putting into the game, a fair price may be expected next fall.
Anyhow the old days of dread, when a failure in the fishery meant starvation, is probably passed never to return. "Produce and economize" is the watchword to-day, until the world recovers from its late attack of madness.

Rev. Wm. Netten, M.A.
RECTOR OF TRINITY CHURCH, CORNWALL, ONT.
At the evening service in Trinity Hall on Monday evening, Rev. W. Netten, M.A., Rector of Trinity Church, Cornwall, announced that after consultation with the Bishop of the Diocese in Ottawa, he had decided to remain in Cornwall.
Quite recently His Lordship Bishop Roper intimated to Mr. Netten that he wished him to accept the incumbency of All Saints' Church, Ottawa, vacant through the death of Ven. Archdeacon Mackay. The announcement was made from the pulpit of Trinity, Cornwall, by Mr. Netten, and at the request of the warden and leading church members, a meeting of the congregation was held in Trinity Hall, one of the largest ever held in the history of the parish, at which strong resolutions were passed, urging the Bishop not to disturb existing relations, and to Mr. Netten, asking him to remain here as rector. It was pointed out to the Bishop that there were several important activities in the parish, involving large expenditures, which were due in a large measure to the personal efforts of Mr. Netten, and which would undoubtedly suffer from his translation to Ottawa. Mr. Netten himself was assured of the regard and affection of the congregation, which he possesses to a remarkable degree.
The decision of the Rector of Trinity will be learned with pleasure and satisfaction, not only by the congregation of Trinity but by the people of the town generally. Mr. Netten came to Cornwall in May, 1914, and succeeding a long line of popular and beloved pastors, soon established himself firmly with his immediate flock, and by the interest he showed in public questions, especially in the many activities arising out of the Great War, was soon recognized by those outside the Anglican communion as a man among men. A brilliant, scholarly and convincing preacher, with the gift, none too common, of so presenting the truths of religion as to compel each man and woman to make of them a personal application, it is little wonder that the Bishop sought to promote him to what he considered a more important parish. He has a way with him, has the Rector of Trinity, by means of which he has been able to create a remarkable enthusiasm and interest in church matters, which would have been deemed impossible a few years ago. The unanimous desire to keep him in Cornwall expressed by the congregation must signify most convincingly that he possesses their entire confidence. May many years be given him to minister to Trinity under equally favorable conditions.—The Freeholder, April 1, 1920.

Address Delivered at the Annual Meeting of the Nfld. Poultry Association.

(By MR. WALTER REID.)

"My Visit to U. R. Fishel, Esq., Hope Indiana.—The Home of White Plymouth Rocks."

The honor that the Association has accorded me in asking to give a paper on my visit to Indianapolis is one which I feel very deeply and at the outset of my address I wish to express the hope that the remarks I may make may be of interest to my audience and that I shall be able to reward them in some small measure for the honor they have done me by relating as briefly as I can the experiences that I enjoyed during a trip, I remember with very great pleasure because of the great kindness that I received from those who like ourselves, take a great interest in the raising of poultry.

Having heard late in 1912 that the Poultry Exhibition of the Fanciers Association of Indiana, Indianapolis would take place at Tomlinson Hall, from February 3rd to February 7th 1913, I was extremely anxious to have an opportunity of visiting it. Not only was I anxious to see the Exhibition but I was also very desirous of meeting Mr. U. R. Fishel, the President of the Association, of whom I shall have much to say later on. My desire to attend the Exhibition increased as the days went by until at last I decided to take the trip and made my plans accordingly.

A trip to Foreign lands is always a matter of deep interest to one whose life is spent for the most part in the limits of a City and you can imagine, therefore, how eagerly I made my arrangements and with what delight I finally went on board the ill-fated "Florizel" as a passenger to New York. We left port on Christmas Eve, 1912, and after a very stormy voyage, we reached New York, having first called at Halifax, on the second day of the New Year. The trip had taken six and one-half days, but notwithstanding the fact that I suffered from the ills that those who are unaccustomed to the sea, often suffer in stormy weather, I enjoyed the trip very much and looked forward to a short and interesting stay in the great City of New York before continuing my journey. There is no need for me to speak to such an audience as this, on the sights of that great City, for I have no doubt that many of you have visited there and those who have not done so have probably read about it in articles from the pens of those more adept in descriptive writing than I pretend to be. However, as the twenty-fourth Annual Exhibition of the New York Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association was held at Madison Square Garden, while I was there, and as I had the pleasure of visiting it, I feel sure the members will not have any objection to my taking them there before I leave the great City, in order that they may learn something of the magnitude of the Exhibition itself and of the impressions left with me after my inspection of the birds exhibited there. Madison Square Garden is a tremendous hall, and my first impression when I entered it, was, what a wonderful building it was, and how admirably it was adapted for an Exhibition such as that which was then being held. The whole scene was a very beautiful picture, and this was especially so from the galleries where one could obtain a full view of the arrangements and decorations. According to the Catalogue there were shown 4,318 exhibits of poultry, pigeons and pet stock, a fact in itself bears testimony to the magnitude of the Exhibition. Placed in the centre of the Hall, were a large number of Exhibition Cages which contained Peacocks, Storks, Cranes, Owls, Partridges, Pheasants, Wild Turkeys and other birds; while in a large tank nearby, was a really magnificent collection of Water Fowl, which included Swans, Pintails, Mallard Ducks, Green-Wing White-fronted Geese, Snow Geese and also many other Water Fowl. You can easily imagine what a very pretty picture this made. Interesting, as were all these exhibits, they were not to me the centre of attraction, for that was the Section where the White Plymouth Rocks were exhibited. It was to this Section that I was most eager to go, and it was in inspecting as closely as possible the White Plymouth Rocks there shown that the greater part of my time at the Exhibition was spent. One of the first things that I observed upon inspecting the White Plymouth Rocks was that there was an entire absence of the strain of birds bred by Mr. U. R. Fishel, whom I have mentioned, and whose name is well known to all Fanciers. This was a great surprise and disappointment to me as I was very anxious to see his birds on Exhibition and accordingly when I wrote him next day about the show and about my impending visit to him, I expressed my regret that his birds had not been exhibited as I felt sure they would have won a considerable number of prizes. Another feature of the Exhibition that caused me disappointment was, that there was an absence of many of the big Poultry Fanciers in competition one with the other, as their advertisements led me to believe that they were in strong competition with each other on every possible occasion. The Catalogue containing the names of the Competitors did not contain the names of many well known Fanciers, whose exhibits I was very anxious to see.

I may also say that it caused me very much astonishment that birds advertised for sale at very high prices, ranging from $600.00 to $1000.00, were not in the list of winners. Some birds that won the biggest honors at the Exhibition, were not priced at anything like these figures and it must have been a great disappointment to those who paid these high figures for a bird to find that there were others judged to be better.

Bird Fanciers are like all other human beings in that they are led to think more highly of their own birds than others are apt to do, and even in our own City we sometimes find men who are not entirely satisfied with decisions made at our Local Exhibitions.

It is possible to be very lonely even in a great crowd of people and I missed very much while at this Exhibition, the companionship of some friend who was interested in poultry, consequently I wandered around alone forming my own opinion of the different exhibits and wishing I had Mr. LeMessurier or some other local expert with whom I might discuss matters.

Those who were most anxious to have my attention were the salesmen of the various Poultry Journals who held up all the visitors in turn in the hope of obtaining new subscribers.

It is only natural that among the exhibits there were very many splendid birds and I can remember very well a splendid Barred Plymouth Rock that was sold for $1000.00. May I say at this point that I am decidedly against double decking birds as it entails much greater trouble on the judge who seeks to give them their just merit. The birds are either too high or too low to examine them and in coming to his decision on shape, which is the important part in making his final award is disadvantageous to the judge.

Most of the birds on exhibition at the Garden were very strong in quality, and a very noticeable feature was that they were all larger boned specimens. I must admit that there were on exhibition some very poor specimens that were not any credit to those who owned them. I suppose that this must be the case at every exhibition wherever held.

The Exhibition was of great interest to me, and I enjoyed my visit there very much. As I have already said there were many household pets, and I remember the Cat exhibit, which was exceedingly attractive for they were beautifully arranged in fancy booths.

A day or two afterwards I left for New York at 4 p.m., and arrived the following day at Indianapolis at 12 o'clock noon. I immediately telegraphed Mr. Fishel and left for Hope at 3.10 p.m. We had to change at Greensburg, and remained there about an hour when we resumed our journey and reached Hope at 6 p.m. When I left the train I saw a gentleman on the platform, and something told me it was Mr. Fishel whom I had come to see. Accordingly I went over to where he was standing and he and I shook hands. There was something in the grip that he gave me that assured me I had met a big hearted and generous friend, and that I would receive at his home a very warm welcome.

As it was but a short distance from the station to his home, he did not bring out his motor car, and therefore we walked to his home, which is about fifteen minutes walk from the station. Here I was introduced to Mrs. Fishel to whom my host said: "here is the gentleman whose arrival we have been looking forward to for so long." We then sat down to a very excellent tea, after which I went with Mr. Fishel to obtain his evening mail. We found a very huge bundle of letters and papers, for Mr. Fishel has correspondents from all parts of the world. This is probably a good opportunity to tell you some facts about this gentleman, for whom I have such great admiration, and to give you some idea of the magnitude of the business carried on by him.

Mr. Fishel is about fifty-six (56) years old, and it was about thirty years ago he started the poultry business of which he has made such a great success. During all these years he has been a breeder of White Plymouth Rocks, and so great and widespread has his farm grown, that today all who are interested in that splendid fowl associate with it the name of Mr. U. R. Fishel.

Mr. Fishel's farm at Hope is called "Fishelton," and is comprised of 120 acres of land, on which there are bred thousands of his famous White Plymouth Rocks. This breeding is conducted under a very careful business management, and every scientific appliance that is known to-day is taken advantage of in order that the best possible birds may be bred. The White Plymouth Rocks is bred by him to the highest degree of perfection, and nobody can visit his farm without coming away with an entirely new conception of pure-bred standard-bred poultry.

the farm itself is splendidly located for this particular business.

The site has been chosen by Mr. Fishel himself, and had been greatly improved by him, not only for the purpose of his business, but also by the beautifying of the grounds by the planting of trees and other means. Every comfort that can be given to poultry is given them, and consequently he has developed many thousands of strong vigorous fowls. He has done so because he has thoroughly understood his business, and has a record for honesty in his dealings; furthermore he has been able to make the business a paying one.

Mr. Fishel has now associated with him in the management of his farm, his son, Edwin Fishel, whom I had the pleasure of meeting while there. He has taken a great interest in the business developed by his father, and must be of very great assistance to him in the management of the farm. Mr. Fishel had two stenographers in his office and ten assistants on the farm at the time I visited there. Probably he has considerable more help now, as his business has continued to grow. He is himself the hardest working man of all, for he has made it a rule to arise each morning at four o'clock and work until late in the evening. The prizes that have been awarded Mr. Fishel are very numerous, and have been won at big Exhibitions held in dozens of cities throughout the United States, including Chicago, Great Panama

Pacific, Illinois, Indianapolis, New York, Cincinnati and Cleveland. His record for prizes is a very unique one and equally well deserved. Such a high opinion have I of this gentleman that I could speak for a great length of time of his ability, his methods, his industry and of his never failing kindness.

I have given but a brief outline of his work for I am aware that you all have read much about him. To have been his guest, and to have the privilege of being his companion for many weeks, is a source of the greatest satisfaction to me. Knowing that my long journey must have been somewhat tiresome to me, Mr. Fishel kindly wished me to remain in bed the next morning longer than the rest of his household, but my interest in his farm was so keen that I got up fairly early and went with him to examine the great plant.

It was a magnificent sight, for the 120 acres were covered with thousands of White Plymouth Rocks, and the general appearance of the farm and the equipment of it was very pretty indeed. During my stay, I had an opportunity of examining many of the beautiful birds, including the famous White Plymouth Rock "Louise," which he calls the "Queen of Fishelton," and which he values at $5000.00. There was another magnificent male bird, "King Edward," which was the "King of Fishelton." The thousands of birds that I saw were all in the pink of condition, and all of great shape and color, for Mr. Fishel would not deal in inferior stock. I remember seeing one that I liked particularly well and that I thought I would like to purchase. I brought it to Mr. Fishel and told him I would give him $20.00 for it, but he jokingly replied: "You don't know a good bird when you see it. It happened to be one of the very best birds on the farm and he said: 'The plant is sold that bird will be sold, so you see how near I was of getting a good bird.'"

The daily yield of eggs at the time of my visit was from two hundred to two hundred and fifty dozen.

THE QUESTION IS OFTEN ASKED "WHO IS THIS DR. CHASE?"

The Interesting Life Story of a Practising Physician of Remarkable Skill, Whose Well-Known Medicines and Receipt Book Have Made Him Famous Throughout the Civilized World

Nature undoubtedly intended Dr. A. W. Chase to be a healer of the sick, for from childhood his efforts were bent in this direction. Any crumb of knowledge regarding the human body and its diseases was eagerly grasped and carefully preserved for future use, so that by the time he graduated from the Eclectic College of Medicine, Cincinnati, Ohio, and from the State University at Ann Arbor, Mich., he was qualified as few physicians are when beginning the practice of medicine.

Dr. Alvin Wood Chase was born in the County of Cayuga, N.Y., and spent his boyhood in the vicinity of Buffalo, where he received his early education in a log school house. Even then, it is said, he outstripped his fellow students and entertained the wish to study medicine.

After completing his medical education, Dr. Chase travelled throughout the greater part of Canada and the United States, gaining wonderful experience and invaluable information before he settled down to make his home at Ann Arbor, Mich.

His success in private practice, his scientific investigations in search of better treatments, his work of collecting all the most successful prescriptions known to the profession, the publication of his now world-famous Receipt Book—the discovery of the great family medicines and the perfecting of them by tests made in his own practice, all these are incidents in a busy life of work for the benefit of humanity.

Dr. Chase became one of the most prosperous and well-to-do citizens of Ann Arbor, and was noted for his large gifts to educational and benevolent enterprises. News of his remarkable success in treating kidney and liver disorders, nervous troubles and other forms of serious diseases soon spread abroad and brought appeals for help from all over Canada and the United States.

He began sending medicines to persons at a distance, but soon found it impossible to keep up with the demand on his time, and so resolved to put up his greatest prescriptions in convenient form for home treatment and to place these in the hands of local dealers.

This effort to simplify medical treatment and save the too often unreasonable doctor's bills met with a storm of opposition from members of the medical profession, who feared the effect on their practice and looked with envy on the wonderful success of Dr. Chase.

The many large gifts of Dr. Chase to all worthy objects prove that it was no mere desire for money-making that led him to so place on the market his great discoveries. Like a true physician, as he was, he thought most of relieving the suffering of his fellow-men.

As the details of manufacturing and distributing the remedies increased, it was found advisable to form the Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., of which Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., are proprietors, with offices and laboratories in Toronto, Can., and Buffalo, N.Y.

The success which has crowned the efforts of Dr. Chase to alleviate the sufferings of humanity has been most extraordinary. His name is now spoken with reverence in hundreds and thousands of homes. His Receipt Book remains today the most useful household work that was ever published and has a circulation second only to that of the Bible. His great Family Medicines have won the confidence of the people the world over, and have established a record of cures that is unparalleled in the history of medicine. It would be difficult to imagine a more useful life than that of Dr. Chase.

*Respectfully
A. W. Chase, M.D.*

"The Greatest Good to the Greatest Number"

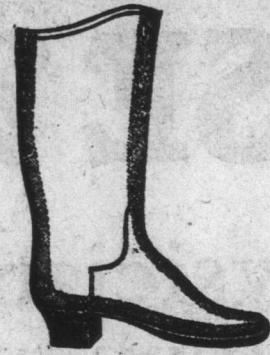

"The greatest good to the greatest number" is a motto which the doctor kept before him throughout life, and in spite of strenuous opposition from fellow practitioners who desired, for the sake of greater financial gain, to keep the practice of medicine shrouded in mystery, he introduced his favorite prescriptions to the general public and published his now world-famous Receipt Book in order that all might read and learn the nature and cause of their ailments and apply the most effective treatment.
