TWELFTH YEAR.

OTTAWA'S ANNUAL PAGEANT

A DAYLIGHT NOCTURNE IN THE SENATE CHAMBERS.

The busy and bald little chief of the Black Rod Goes through the usual genuflections, the Cannon Booms from Nepesin Point and Stanley Talks to the Unbilled Hosts of the People's Representatives.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Yes, said Col. Tyrwhitt to Dr. Landecker as the western contingent drove up on the Pullman car to the Russell in the early morning. "It is a beautiful day. The sun shows a very good day." Whereat everybody laughed.

The weather of the morning, "frosty yet kindly," continued through the day and the consequence was there was a grand turning out of the legions to see His Excellency open Parliament.

Ottawa people seem never to weary of the annual pageant. They look forward to it with all the eagerness of the child for his first proposal, and when the occasion at length comes it finds her flushed, trembling, but radiant.

The scene in the Senate after months of neglect comes to the front with a rush in the people's affections. The plebeian Commons was treated with contempt to-day, while the doors of the Senate were besieged by a wriggling, pushing, pushing multitude with tickets of admission to the various galleries. And when they got there they presented to their gaze a sort of day-dream, in which the paradox may be permitted—a study in lady's levities.

The atmosphere of the chamber was decidedly hot, but the whispering, fluttering crowd in the gallery endured the temperature with unflinching fortitude. His Excellency arrived, his coming foreboding for 15 minutes previously by the boom of cannon from Nepesin Point and Stanley Talks to the Unbilled Hosts of the People's Representatives.

Then began the mystic work of that wonderful personage, the Usher of the Black Rod, (not the Rucker of the Black Rod, as some reverent western heathen called him).

After a series of bows and genuflections timed by brass bands, the busy and bald little gentleman departed for the other chamber to inform the Commons that His Excellency is ready to receive them.

He was not long in returning with Speaker White in his train and the unbridled hosts of the people's representatives.

When the Speaker had rested his front against the brazen bar, looking as if he intended to enter into a long and arduous career, His Excellency communicated the following facts to him and such others as might be interested in the matter:

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE, GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.—It affords me much gratification to see the commencement of the Parliamentary session and to be able to congratulate you upon the important matters which have been discussed and upon the abundant harvest with which Providence has blessed all parts of the country.

The lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, a fellow subject and a profound sorrow. The sympathy with His Majesty and His Royal Highness, which has prevailed in the Dominion, is a tribute to the affection which binds us together as a people.

A MONTAGU A MURDERER.

LOD ROBERTS DAUGHTER-IN-LAW QUITS OF MANSLAUGHTER.

The Little Thing Is Locked in a Dark Room for Three Hours by Her Governor and Tightly Traced to the Victim of Manslaughter.

RELEASÉ, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Annie Margaret Montagu, wife of Robert Montagu of Coleraine, County Londonderry, and daughter-in-law of Lord Montagu, was again arraigned to-day.

The first witness called was Miss Doxall, the governess who repeats the evidence she had given before the coroner's jury to the effect that the little girl had committed some misbehavior for which she, the governess, had placed her in a bare, dark room.

She afterwards informed Mrs. Montagu of what she had done, whereupon the latter was evidently much incensed at her daughter's action, went to the room and locked the little girl behind her back with a stocking. She then tied her up with a cord to a ring in the wall and left her.

At the expiration of four hours, she found that the stocking, in some unaccountable manner, had slipped up around the child's neck and she had been strangled to death.

Further evidence was submitted to prove that Mrs. Montagu was guilty of the crime. The hearing on the second charge, charging her with cruelty to children, was then proceeded with.

Miss Wallace, formerly in the employ of Mrs. Montagu as a nurse for her children, testified that Walter Montagu, the 4-year-old son of the defendant, was upon one occasion taken to the room in the morning and allowed to remain till late in the afternoon. His dinner was taken from the house and put on the grass before him.

On another occasion Miss Wallace missed the boy from his usual place in the house. When she saw him again the backs of his hands were pulled up and looked at through his face and neck. She had also heard Mrs. Montagu beating the child badly in the dark room.

Mrs. James, formerly a nurse in the Montagu household, testified that she had seen Gilbert Montagu, five-year-old, with marks of cord around his neck and with pieces of cord fastened to his wrists. Another woman, another son of the accused, had also been locked in a dark room. Mrs. Montagu had said to her that she did it to save their souls; she did not mind their bodies.

Mrs. Montagu was with her in the morning and sorrowful at the sight. Her husband and brother sat beside her through the trial.

The nurse, Mrs. James, deposed that she saw the accused dragging her son to the room in the morning. This testimony caused a sensation.

A housemaid named Campbell deposed that she saw Gilbert Montagu stripped naked and beaten with a scourge until his whole body was lacerated, that he was then thrust into a dark room where he remained all night, and that she was unable to sleep on account of the moaning and pleading with the accused to let Gilbert out of the closet.

Mrs. Montagu was committed for trial on the second charge.

The Right Hon. Lord Robert Montagu, P.C., in the words of the present Duke of Manchester, the husband of Miss Connelley, was present.

Ellen Mary, only daughter of John Conroy, Esq., of County Antrim, who was married to Lord Robert Montagu, was also present.

Mr. Gilbert Montagu, Esq., of Millicent, was also present. He is a member of the House of Commons.

DR. SPOHN'S POST MORTEM.

HIS POLITICAL DIAGNOSIS OF EAST SIMCOE WAS WRONG.

The film main film He Prescribed in Liberal Doses Did Not Agree with the Patients, Consequently They Failed to Carry Out Instructions and the Result Was of Course What Might Have Been Expected.

ORILLIA, Feb. 25.—The bye-election in East Simcoe to-day for the Commons resulted in the return of Mr. Bennett (Conservative) by about 25 over the unseated Liberal member, Dr. Spohn. This is the first time a Conservative has represented the district, which was created by the Redistribution Act of 1882. H. H. Cook (Liberal) was elected in 1882 and 1887, and Dr. Spohn (Liberal) in 1891.

Majority for Bennett 25. Modera and Ward not heard from which will probably indicate the majority 25. The seat was carried by Dr. Spohn at the general election by 207. The doctor was unseated on a successful attempt made to disqualify him.

A RED-HOT FIGHT. Night's Efforts Being Put Forth by the Politicians. The Patrol Branch.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Tomorrow will decide one of the keenest political battles ever fought in this city. From the moment that Mr. Hyman (Liberal) was unseated the friends of both candidates have been engaged in a struggle for victory for their respective sides and both are equally positive of success. The city has been roughly patrolled by both parties day and night this week and considering the large number engaged in this branch of the high the high feeling which has prevailed but few collisions have occurred, and these, as a rule, did not amount to much. To-night the patrol has been doubled and every move made by the one is being carefully watched by the other.

MEMBER OUT OF THE RACE. It is Believed He Cannot Carry More Than 30 of the 80 Seats.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—The prospects are that Mr. Marché will certainly be beaten in the forthcoming provincial elections. The Star and The Witness of this evening contain extra strong arguments in favor of the province to vote for the new Conservative Government and thus save the province from being taken over by the Liberal Government. The Witness especially asks Liberals to vote against Mr. Marché's candidate. The best opinion I get here says Marché cannot carry more than 30 seats out of the 80.
