Germans Get Over and French Make Them Retire—Battle Situation Declared Satisfactory for Allies—Looks Like Intent to Strike Farther North Than Marne

Held up in their effort to batter their way through the Allied lines near the Marne, the Germans have again turned their attention to the front farther north, in a sector which may be considered as the connecting link between the Somme and Marne battle fields.

The French official report says that the French forces east of Sempligny have continued to drive back bodies of German troops which had crossed the Oise. When the initial plunge along the Aisne had gained extensive ground, the process had created a salient dangerous to the Germans to the west of Soissons.

Further south along the line running from the western suburbs of Soissons to Chateau Thierry the line is standing firm before the German thrust. The French have succeeded in improving their positions north and west of Hautebray, a little village on the right bank of the Hozier river, north of the Aisne.

Paris, June 6.—German forces last night crossed the River Oise in the vicinity of Campigny, but were driven back by the French. The war office so announced today. North of the Aisne the French improved their positions in the neighborhood of Hautebray. There was heavy artillery fighting in the neighborhood of Veully La Poterie.

SITUATION SATISFACTORY. Paris, June 6.—The battle situation is frankly satisfactory, says a Havas Agency review today, and the enemy, temporarily at least, is not likely to make attacks all along the front between Rheims and the Oise. Local attempts seem to indicate that the Germans have renounced for the moment their purpose to win a decision on the battlefield picked out by their commanders on May 27. Nevertheless, the newspapers do not believe that the German offensive is ended. The Petit Parisien thinks that which he expects will have prodigious

THE KAISER PERSONALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR WORLD WAR

Germany Back of Ultimatum Sent by Austria-Hungary To Serbia

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES

Former Head of Krupp's Munition Works Adds Details to Statement of Kaiser's Acts—Systematic Planning to Bring on the War—World Conflict Imposed by Ruler's Personal Military Policy

Guntzen, Switzerland, June 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Germany is wholly in agreement with Austria-Hungary concerning the ultimatum sent to Serbia at the outbreak of the war, says Dr. Wilhelm Muehlen, former director of Krupp's, in further disclosures on the responsibility for the bringing on of the conflict. Emperor William was personally responsible for Germany's participation and forced the German leaders to support his war policy.

Doctor Muehlen, who was head of Krupp's at the outbreak of the war, and who recently started Europe with his disclosures, recently received the correspondence of the Kaiser and Krupp's country place here, where he is now living in retirement. The visit came as the former head of the munition works was making a detailed review of conditions leading to the war and the correspondence with the Kaiser and Krupp's country place here, where he is now living in retirement.

The whole trend of the present work is to show that the world conflict was imposed by the German Emperor's personal military policy and his private engagement with Austria on the eve of the struggle.

Doctor Muehlen gives further details of his conference with Doctor Helfferich immediately preceding the war, in which Helfferich told of the Emperor's plans toward Austria. He said that Muehlen has been fiercely attacked by the German government and the Reichstag, his present version of what happened unaltered. He makes the following addition concerning the Emperor's agreement with Austria on the Serbian ultimatum: "I got the impression that the choice of words had not been a private agreement. He said he was unable to say positively, although he had heard, from reliable sources, that it was Field Marshal Conrad von Hotzendorf, former chief of the Austrian general staff."

Fit and Eager For The Combat—New Evidence of Their Raiding Power is Given Enemy—Artillery and Airmen Also Successful

(By W. A. Willison, Correspondent of the Canadian Press Limited.) Canadian Army Headquarters, June 6.—For four weeks the Canadian troops south of Arras have been giving the enemy lively days and nights. Our troops have done really excellent work and time neither diminishes their eagerness nor weakens their strength. Indeed, they have just given the enemy another signal proof of their raiding prowess by bayonetting and bombing their way along hostile trenches, capturing nineteen prisoners, three machine guns, one light trench mortar, blowing up machine dugouts and inflicting heavy casualties. Men of Central Ontario with other troops carried out these latest operations. They were everywhere successful in their attack.

USING THE PAPERS IN "LUST OF CONQUEST"

Warning of Catastrophe at Present in Germany Under Present Censorship

Amsterdam, June 6.—Allegations that the German censorship is growing more stringent were made at the opening sitting of the Reichstag on Tuesday by Baron Von Rechenberg of the Centrist party and Deputy Bauer, a Socialist. Matters were growing continually worse, Deputy Bauer said, and the censorship increasingly had placed itself in the service of the "lust of conquest," even meetings for equal suffrage being forbidden although their aims coincided with government policy.

"FAVORED NATION" TREATIES

London, June 6.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—In the House of Commons yesterday R. D. Holt, M. P. for Hexham, asked what treaties containing the most favored nation clause the government had decided to denounce. Hon. Law replied that this would be dealt with in a statement which he promised as soon possible. The matter was very complicated one. The foreign office had been communicating in regard to the problem with foreign countries and the colonial office with the dominions. It had already been indicated that the government had decided to have a free hand after the war. (Cheers.)

Indeed, they have just given the enemy another signal proof of their raiding prowess by bayonetting and bombing their way along hostile trenches, capturing nineteen prisoners, three machine guns, one light trench mortar, blowing up machine dugouts and inflicting heavy casualties.

At the same time, under another bombardment, British Columbia troops were giving a good account of themselves against enemy positions further south. Here two parties attacking along either side of old communication trenches, penetrated an enemy outpost line. Several wounded and unaccounted for were taken, but sharp fighting, in which the Germans suffered many casualties, while we also suffered losses, though light ones in view of the nature of the operations and the resistance offered.

While our artillery has been so successful our airmen have also done fine parties on the march. The morale of the opposing troops is good in some cases, as proved by experiences of the last two raids, the general morale of the enemy is not high. Prisoners speak bitterly of their officers, some of whom are extremely unpopular and are never seen in the front line, but leave the inspection work to their sergeant majors. An outstanding instance is told by captured men who declared that after one of our recent raids on neighboring battalions the commander of one of the raided companies received the Iron Cross for successfully re-establishing his posts two hours after he had returned from the operation entirely from the shelter of his dugout.

NURSES THROWN INTO THE OCEAN

Eleven People Missing After Collision at Sea

EXPLOSIONS FOLLOW BLOW

Life-boat Carrying Large Party of Nursing Sisters Overturns—Women Jump Into Sea—Other Vessels Come to Rescue

London, June 6.—Three passengers and eight members of the crew are missing from the steamer Kentworth Castle which was severely damaged by explosions after collision. The steamer, which carried about 300 passengers, reached a British port on Wednesday. The passengers included Henry Burton, South African minister of railways and harbors, and other prominent persons who, however, were saved. The collision occurred a little after midnight and was followed immediately by two explosions. The liner, which previously had been damaged forward, began to sink by the head as the fore compartments filled with water. The bulkheads, however, effectively kept the vessel on top, though her bows were torn and twisted by the explosion.

There was great confusion as the passengers hurried to the deck in their night attire and went to their boat stations. Fortunately the electric lights did not fail, except forward, and the boats were launched speedily. One boat turned over, throwing a large party of nursing sisters into the sea. Many passengers, including several women, became frightened and jumped into the sea. A large number of passengers were taken off by other vessels.

KEEP UP SEARCH FOR THE U-BOATS

Washington, June 6.—While nearly forty hours had passed since the German submarine Emden was sighted off the Atlantic coast had disclosed their position, efforts of the navy department to hunt down the raiders had not lessened in the least today. Instead the search was being extended to more southern regions in the belief that the German undersea craft, after sinking the Norwegian steamer Eidsvold late on Tuesday off the Virginia Capes, hurried southward in hope of finding a locality in which naval patrols were not so strong.

ANOTHER CASE OF BRUTAL TREATMENT

London, June 6.—The crew of a German submarine was brutal in its treatment of the crew of the Glasgow steamer Ellakton, sunk some days ago, says Reuters Limited. The steamer was shelled for three and a half hours. The British captain returned the gunfire until his ammunition was gone and then abandoned the vessel, which the submarine crew boarded and sank by bombs. The captain was taken prisoner on board the U-boat. The drinking water in one of the life-boats was removed and the Germans also took the mast, sails and all the oars, except two, leaving the British to find land as best they were able. The other lifeboat, which was not molested, was picked up by a schooner near Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Tuesday. The first lifeboat suffered great hardships and did not reach Las Palmas until nine days after the other boat.

The Germania-Herold proceeds to review and analyze Liechnowsky's revelations. Having instituted investigation through German sources, it declares that the genuineness of the memorandum cannot be doubted, and admits that the knowledge of these facts will cause the struggle within citizens of German descent in America, which some overseas still are laboring under, and which they are still still distressed. In order that fellow-citizens of German descent shall judge for themselves the Germania-Herold proposes to commence today a verbatim publication of the Liechnowsky document with such additional facts relating thereto as it has been able to secure.

In concluding its lengthy "open confession" this periodical admits that, "in view of the indisputable facts, it is not surprising that the whole civilized world, outside of Germany, attributes to the (Toronto Globe). The delivery of Prussian deceit and hypocrisy toward its own people made the tragedy of war possible. The emperor, the princes, the ministers, the historians and the theologians lied with one another in solemn attestations and ingenious forgeries of evidence, and long indoctrinated in the hatred of British, inevitably believed and passionately exaggerated what they were told. Professor Murray believes that from this condition, in large part, came the brutalities and ferocities of the common people of Germany at the opening of war, whether toward persons who had a right to courtesy, like the ambassadors, or a claim on common human sympathy, like the wounded, and the nurses, and the prisoners. The German masses, in their madness, could show no mercy.

Subsequently, however, word of excessive rains in Iowa led to some apprehension and brought about rallies. Trading was on a rather broad scale. Opening prices, which ranged from 1-2 cent decline to 1-2 cent advance, with July at $1.22 to $1.22 1/2, and August $1.33, were followed by a material further setback, and then by an upturn to slightly above yesterday's finish. Oats paralleled the action of corn. Exporters were asking for offerings of oats and were said to have taken 150,000 bushels last evening. After opening unchanged to 1-2 cent lower, with July 66-2 to 66 1/2 cents, the market underwent a moderate further sag and then recovered completely.

Provisions advanced with grain. At first, though, the market was weak owing to lack of demand.

GUNNER D. STEEVES AGAIN IN HOSPITAL. Frederick, June 6-Dr. W. H. Steeves has word that his son, Gunner Darrell Steeves, has been admitted to the 22nd General Hospital suffering from the effects of shell gas. He also was wounded in last July.

FOREST FIRES. Frederick last night received word of forest fires on the Fraser Company's lands in Salmon River, Kent county, and on lands of D. J. Bowley in the Kent Northern Railway in Kent. There is another at Scott's Sliding, on the Frederick and Grand Lake Railway.

A LITTLE BITTLE. The condition of Mrs. Walter Harris, who was struck by an automobile while waiting for a street car in March road on Tuesday night, has improved, but is slightly improved today, according to information received from the St. John Infirmary.

Americans Find Two Missing Comrades Nailed to Trees—Other Like Deeds Stir Men to Fury

New York, June 5.—American soldiers on the Toul front are conducting warfare which knows no quarter, boiling with wrath at stories of the unspeakable brutality of the Hun in his treatment of Americans lackless enough to fall into his hands, according to Herbert L. Pratt, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, who has returned to this country after spending some months in the Y. M. C. A. work in France.

The story which has moved the Americans most is that an American raiding party which penetrated beyond the German first line trenches came upon missing comrades crucified to trees. Although Mr. Pratt received no official verification of this tale, he heard it so many times, and from authorities who seemed to know the truth of the tale, that he does not doubt the episode occurred.

THE WAR NEWS.

The German drive has been stopped along the whole front, and the correspondents are speculating as to the probable next move by Ludendorff. It is generally believed he will make careful preparations and deliver another heavy blow, in the hope of getting a decision before the Americans can land enough troops to give the Allies a superiority in numbers. Premier Lloyd George returning to London from the meeting of the supreme war council, is described as full of confidence regarding the issue.

London regards the German submarine campaign on this side of the Atlantic as an attempt to terrorize the Americans and induce them to recall their fleet from European waters for purposes of defence, thus enabling the submarine to carry on a more destructive campaign off the British coast. Confidence is expressed that the Americans will not be deceived for a moment, and that the only result of the latest German effort will be a keener determination on the part of the United States to throw the last ounce of energy into the prosecution of the war.

The announcement that the Allies are committed to free Polish state, with access to the sea, and to a realization of the national aspirations of the Czechs and Jugos-Slavs, will have the effect of counteracting German influence in the regions affected, just as the expression of American sympathy has given rise to a new spirit in parts of Russia. The internal conditions in Germany and Austria grow worse, and even in the Reichstag the cry of protest is heard. As time goes on and there is no great victory to compensate for the terrific losses, the feeling of restlessness will grow. Austria is the weak member of the Central union, and in that country may be expected the first outbreak.

During May the British shipsyards made a new high record, completing 197,274 tons of merchant shipping. In one instance a 6,000 ton steamer was completed in nineteen days after launch. The wonderful work done in the British and American shipsyards is greatly helping to win the war.

THE BROAD VISION.

Addressing the Canadian and Rotary Clubs yesterday, Dr. Parkin recalled a speech on Imperial federation he delivered in St. John some forty-two years ago, and added that after this lapse of time and the knowledge since that time he would not be disposed to make any marked change in that address.

In those days there were three points of view—imperial federation, continental unity (or annexation), and Canadian independence. Indeed there was a fourth, which was the point of view of the great mass of the people, who insisted that the time had not arrived for any change in the relations of Canada with the rest of the Empire. The imperial federationists were greatly in earnest, and Dr. Parkin is doubtless right in assuming that their discussion of Empire problems carried on in all the overseas states, had a good deal to do with the wonderful response made when this war broke out. It is not necessary to say that one of the most eloquent and enthusiastic advocates of closer relations within the Empire was Dr. Parkin himself, and through his association with other powerful minds in the mother country and the sister states came the great opportunity afforded by the Rhodes Scholarships to continue the work to which he had brought such great energy and ability. Canadians have watched his career with a keen personal interest, and are glad to-day that his strong personality and his clear vision are at the service of the Empire in drawing closer the bonds of sympathy between the great British democracy and the democracy of the United States.

Dr. Parkin is not less the champion of a united Empire than before, but he realizes that world conditions have so changed as a result of the struggle between the ideals of the Anglo-Saxon or Anglo-Celtic democracies and those of the autocratic nations of Central Europe that the most vital need now and for the future is a close and sympathetic co-operation between the British Empire and United States. We have travelled fast and far in forty-two years, and at this moment, as Dr. Parkin points out, with the smaller nations strangled, Russia in chaos, France and Italy near exhaustion, and the neutral nations terrorized into helplessness, it became the task of Britain and America to save the world for democracy.

Dr. Parkin rejects to be able to testify that a wonderful change has come over the spirit of the American people, and that they are getting a new and clearer vision of the part the British Empire has done and is doing for democracy in the world. The prejudices created by a study of perverted history, and by the clamor of Britain's enemies, are giving place to a clearer insight and a truer appreciation of the joint responsibility of the British and American democracies now and for all time to come. Dr. Parkin would have all Canadians encourage the growth of this new sentiment, and at the same time divest themselves of prejudices they may have cherished in relation to the United States. His St. John audience, perhaps because of Loyalist traditions as likely as any in Canada to entertain such a prejudice, heartily applauded his appeal. The British Empire has been drawn infinitely closer since Dr. Parkin advocated imperial unity years ago, and now it is his privilege to plead for that greater union, not political but of the spirit, between that Empire and the great republic which also to-day is risking all in defence of ideals common to them both.

Referring especially to Canada, Dr. Parkin is impressed by the abounding prosperity, and sounds a needed note of warning against that absorption in wealth-getting and pleasure-seeking which would shut out the vision of a world redeemed from its littleness, and a humanity freed from its selfishness and lust for wealth and power. If we fail to get the broader vision, and fail to devote our energies after the war to a struggle at home against the same spirit Germany has made so manifest, then we shall prove ourselves unworthy of the sacrifice made in our behalf. Dr. Parkin would have Canada learn a lesson from England's experience in India. The fifteen thousand English civil servants in India know in advance that they have before them only the prospect of a salary, perhaps some mark of distinction earned by service, and at the end a pension. The mere prospect that any one of them is a grafter is enough to drive him out of office. The high sense of honor and of service manifested by these English officials in India has won that country and we see the same devotion of India to England in this war. It is the task of Canadians, after the war, to make politics clean, and show the world an example of the highest honor in public and in private life.

When any ill-informed and prejudiced American (and the number of them is rapidly growing less) tells Dr. George R. Parkin that England is a tyrant nation, he refers them to India, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. When they talk of putting kings out of business he is able to show them that President Wilson has more autocratic power than King George, and that in the opinion of such British countries as Australia and New Zealand the United States is as yet unfamiliar with the real principles of democracy. He is able to point out that while the Americans can change their minds politically only once in four years the British democracies can throw out a government whenever they feel like it, and whereas labor is practically unrepresented in the American congress it rules in Australia, and in the British parliament are seventy representatives of labor. All this, of course, is pointed out, not as a rebuke to the United States, but as proof of the fact that the British Empire is thoroughly democratic, and in no sense a tyrant power, bending reluctant nations to its autocratic will. The more the Americans study modern British history the more they will be convinced that the great Anglo-Saxon powers should stand together for the world's good.

It is an inspiration to hear Dr. Parkin, and to get a glimpse through his eyes of the larger problems of world politics, and of national duty in the greatest crisis the world has faced.

IN THE OPEN AT LAST.

The St. John Standard has at last broken silence and shown where it stands in relation to the fight of the people of St. John against the attempt of the New Brunswick Power Company to make them pay dividends on watered stock. The Standard says:—

"It is hoped that until the commission's decision has been made there will be no prejudgment of the case. In the past certain newspapers have indulged in more or less exaggerated language, in an effort to paint the directors of the N. B. Power Company as pirates and freebooters, although those gentlemen have always borne a good reputation in St. John as business men and citizens, and it is also reported that the newspapers which became hysterical over the company's request were not actuated solely by a desire to serve the people."

The service rendered to the people by the Standard is so plain that he who runs may read.

The commission to investigate the affairs of the New Brunswick Power Company has been appointed. It is composed of able men. The city must now lose no time in preparing to have its case presented by the ablest counsel available.

The Portland, Maine, electric railway has been refused authority, at least until December next, to increase its fare to six cents. Meanwhile its affairs will be thoroughly investigated.

Hereafter when a hospital ship arrives the soldiers will be taken to their respective military districts and will report in the latter place, he transferred to the military hospitals instead of the clearing depot. SUGGESTS COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE AT CHURCH

Toronto, June 5.—Capt. C. McKinnon, chaplain with the overseas forces, was the principal speaker at yesterday afternoon's session of the congregational Union of Canada.

Captain McKinnon is principal of the Pine Hill Presbyterian College, of Nova Scotia. In the course of his address he said that he had recently read, in a Montreal newspaper, a remark which he construed as of a slighting character regarding the compulsory religious services overseas. A comparison was made with the voluntary services in a favorable nature.

"I think that public opinion of Canada should be such that it means to have our young men gather together at religious services, and I think it ought to insist on such a thing," he said, and he proposed to attend once a day that church which he belongs," said Captain McKinnon.

"As for the chaplain, when he returns to his congregation in Canada, some may find him a little troublesome. You would not object to the pipe he smokes, but he has learned that there is such a thing as compromise," he said.

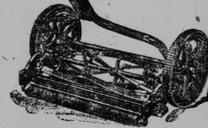

FIRST VICTIM OF N. Y. LOAFING LAW JAILED

Providence Man Gets Six Months at Syracuse

Syracuse, N. Y., June 5.—Henry McDonald, twenty-nine, of Providence, R. I., is the first victim here of the anti-loafing law. He was arrested at Baldwinville and arraigned before Justice Meays, who, after lecturing him on his lack of patriotism by idling his time when industries and farmers all over the country were crying for help, sentenced him to six months hard labor in the county penitentiary.

McDonald has been here for three weeks and during this time has not done any work. He spent most of his days fishing and he believed to have slept in the woods at night. He committed no crime, had money and could not be arrested until the new law became effective. When arraigned he boastfully declared that he never had worked, didn't care to work and would not work.

For Oxfords are a necessary part of any man's happiness from the first warm days of spring, and they certainly are the correct thing as far as right dressing goes.

"The Doctor and the Woman" at Imperial, a Powerful Story—Gorgeous Stage Setting

A large crowd of people attended the Imperial's midsummer opening yesterday when the new stage setting and Mary Roberts Rinehart's hospital love-story "The Doctor and the Woman"—were joint attractions. In six reels the screen play held everybody in the closest attention and scored a success most unmistakable.

This same programme will be repeated this afternoon at one show only, starting at 2 o'clock with the miscellaneous reels and beginning the feature at about 2:30. The amateur show then starts at 4 o'clock. In the evening the Imperial will have its two shows as usual.

FUN PREDOMINATES IN GEM'S NEW SHOW

Sprightly Vaudeville Acts and Rich Comic Picture With Pathe News Weekly

Sprightly vaudeville acts and excellent picture entertainment mark the Gem's new programme, presented last evening. There is fun galore in "A One Night Stand," a comedy picture in which "Lois," noted acrobatic comedian, has the principal part. There are very amusing scenes as he quips the acts in a theatrical show which is presented on a nerve rather than merit. Incidents behind the scenes cause a turmoil of laughter.

The Pathe News Weekly is a very interesting budget of pictured big events in the world. There are excellent views of the Americans in camp and on their way to battle, King George and Queen Mary, baseball and other matters of interest.

In the vaudeville, Marcel Ogilvie is first presented. He is a boy accordion player and a master of the instrument. He plays a variety of selections, and all with marked skill and expression. His performance was very pleasing.

Grumley and Gulport are two comedians in a blue-face turn. They start entertainingly in duets and one has a good dance. A checker game with a lot of comedy business in it concludes the act.

Gregory and Butler, man and woman, give the closing number. They start with comedy chatter and some eye-play and singing, but devote the best part of their time on the stage to an excellent exhibition of juggling with hoops and hoop rolling. It was very fine work and was followed with close interest and drew rounds of applause.

The Gem will continue this programme until including Friday night, with all changed on Saturday afternoon.

TOMATOES

Perhaps there is no other vegetable that is more universally popular in Canada than the tomato. It is a tender plant and requires delicate handling. For instance, the least touch of frost is ruinous and thus it cannot be put out too early in the season. The earlier varieties of tomatoes should be planted three feet each way or four by two and a half feet for greatest ease in getting among the plants. Care should be taken in transplanting them not to disturb the soil about the roots of the plants. As cut worms are often troublesome about the plants, the tomatoes are set out, it is a good plan to make a little collar of paper and put it round the stalk of the plant about two inches below and two inches above the soil. After planting, the chief thing where tomatoes are concerned, is cultivation. The surface soil should be kept loose from the time the plants are set out until they meet one another.

The commonest method in the home garden is to train tomatoes to stakes or wires. In this way they can be kept very clean and are more attractive-looking than those growing on the ground while the fruit ripens more quickly, especially when surplus leaves are ripped off to allow the free play of the sunshine.

FRUIT CROP REPORT

Statement by Fruit Commissioner's Branch, Department of Agriculture

Ottawa, May 30.—Throughout Ontario, the weather has been extremely favorable, particularly during blossom time, when conditions were ideal for pollination. This applies also to the whole of Eastern Canada. In Nova Scotia, the crop is dry and almost too warm during the greater part of May. Heavy rains on the 29th have, however, been followed by a lower temperature. There was a slight frost in the Annapolis Valley on the night of May 29. In the St. John's district, the crop has been injured to some extent. On Prince Edward Island it has been fine and warm since May 15. Conditions in British Columbia were quite favorable until May 24, when a very heavy frost struck the coast and inland valleys. Tomatoes were particularly affected, and as there is a scarcity of plants for replanting, the crop of tomatoes in British Columbia will probably be greatly reduced. Strawberries were also seriously hurt. Serious damage is reported to all stone fruits in Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton and Salmon Arm. So far as we can judge at this time the injury to apples and pears was not as serious as to other fruits.

Apples.

The apple situation is quite different to that of a year ago. At that time, it will be remembered, Nova Scotia expected a large crop, while in Ontario the prospects were very unfavorable. Today the condition is reversed as regards those two provinces. The Nova Scotian crop, with the exception of a few varieties, will probably fall considerably below 1917; late varieties are particularly light in Ontario prospects are generally quite promising, perhaps more so in western Ontario, Georgian Bay and Prince Edward county; in all districts, however, the crop promises to greatly exceed that of a year ago.

Just how seriously the British Columbia crop has been reduced by the frost of May 24, it is difficult to estimate at this date. Apparently, however, the apple crop has been less injured than other fruits. We may therefore presume that in spite of the frost, earlier estimates are fairly accurate or but slightly reduced. It is quite possible that the total output of the province will equal that of last year; this is due to the number of trees just coming into bearing. The average yield per tree is expected to be less than in 1917.

Peaches.

Very considerable damage has been done to peach trees in Niagara by the severe winter. The injury is apparently not confined to any one section but is spread over the entire Peninsula. Conservative estimates place the number of dead trees at almost 10 per cent of those planted, while there is every likelihood that others will die during the summer. These losses will seriously reduce the crop which is not expected to reach 80 per cent of other districts in Ontario, including Essex, Kent, Halton, Lambton and Huron counties, the injury has been even more extensive. In these counties many trees have been seriously reduced by frost, the injury being distributed over about the same area as noted under "Plums."

Grapes.

Grape vines in Niagara have come through the winter in good condition and an average crop is expected.

Pears.

In the Burlington district of Ontario the crop is generally light, though Anjou and Sheldon had a good showing of bloom. On Bartlett, Clapp, Duchess and Winter Nellis the bloom was light to fair. The total crop is expected to be only 35 per cent of last year in this district. In the Niagara district all varieties bloomed heavily and promise a good crop. A heavy crop is also expected in Lambton. Reports from Huron county and the Georgian Bay district indicate a fair crop, about 50 to 60 per cent of normal has been blossomed freely in British Columbia and though injured in some localities by recent frost, have not been affected as seriously as the stone fruits and small fruits.

In the Niagara Peninsula the standard varieties promise about 75 per cent of a normal crop. Japanese varieties are generally lighter in fact, all tender varieties have suffered winter injury. The Burlington district will probably have a crop between light and medium or about equal to last year. Bradshaw had only a light bloom; Lombard, Imperial Gage and Reine Claude, light to fair. A light crop is expected in the Georgian Bay district and in the Essex Peninsula. In Western Ontario some of the Japanese varieties were badly winter killed, and are practically a failure. Other varieties are fair. Lambton county, however, reports a good bloom and the fruit has set well.

The crop is below average in the Nelson district of British Columbia. A full crop was expected in the Okanagan valley but has been reduced by the recent heavy frost. Reports from Penticton indicate the crop will probably not be as great as last year. Blackberries have been frozen badly in parts of the Niagara Peninsula.

There has been slight injury to strawberries in Quebec, but in most instances small fruits have wintered well. Particularly favorable reports have been received from New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

The early blooming varieties were completely destroyed in the Salmon Arm district of British Columbia, reducing the total crop there by about 30 per cent. Considerable injury was also done in the Okanagan and Kootenay Valleys.

PERSIAN LAMBS.

(Detroit News.)

The stoppage of importation from Russia will not cut off altogether America's supply of Persian lamb fleeces. Although these animals have been grown in practically no other part of the world except Bokhara, in Asiatic Russia, a four-handed Kansas farmer has recently imported $35,000 worth of the karakul sheep and put them to pasture on his 2,000 acre farm at Cottonwood Falls.

The fashion of wearing Persian lamb and astrakhan originated with the natives of the province of western Asia. When travelers saw the lustrous, tightly curled black fleeces of the Karakul sheep, they were so impressed by them that they purchased many of them and took them to western Europe where fashion soon took them up. So popular did they become that the price has risen 145 per cent in fifteen years.

The Kansas farmer who heard of this thought he would experiment at raising this breed of sheep. His selected animals were crossed with native Lincolnshires, and the lambs are found to be hardy and to bear the valuable pelts of their ancestors in Bokhara.

THE LATE MRS. JEREMIAH HOLLAND.

The funeral of Mrs. Jeremiah Holland, whose death occurred at her home in Melrose, N. B., on Sunday, June 2, took place on Tuesday morning. Service was conducted in St. Bartholomew's church by Father Landry, parish priest of Sackville, assisted by Father DuFour of Dorchester. Solemn requiem high mass was sung by Father Landry. The choir of St. Bartholomew's church furnished appropriate music.

There was a very large number of friends at the funeral, many from distant points, including a large number who motored from Dorchester, Sackville and other points, to pay their last tribute of respect.

The pall-bearers were the four brothers of the deceased—John Sweeney, who recently moved to Dorchester from Melrose; Dennis Sweeney of Melrose; Michael D. Sweeney of St. John, and Hon. F. J. Sweeney of Moncton. Interment took place in St. Bartholomew's cemetery at Melrose.

Mrs. Holland was a native of Melrose. She was the youngest daughter of the late Jeremiah Sweeney of Melrose, and had made her home there until her removal to Sackville about ten years ago, after which she removed with her family to Dorchester, but recently returned to Melrose. In addition to her brothers already mentioned, Mrs. Holland is survived by her husband, Jeremiah Holland, one son, Frank of the depot, one daughter, Nora, and one sister, Mrs. P. G. Mahoney, of Melrose.

For their glory tens of thousands, and even millions, of men are slaughtered. Their scheming bring war after war. If, instead of power and honor, they were treated to the violent death they have brought to so many others, the lesson might go far towards discouraging their kind in the future. STORIES OF J. G. BENNETT

He Stood by Paper and Refused to Leave Paris When Germans Were Advancing

James Gordon Bennett of the New York Herald was one of the personalities about whom anecdotes cluster until they form almost a literature in themselves.

With a newspaper to give wide publicity to many of his preferences, with a wide acquaintance all over the world to pass on curious stories about him and a long life almost every day of which furnished material for new tales, he became probably the subject of more anecdotes than any other American living.

An illustration of his bent for practical joking of an odd kind, which is fresh in the minds of New Yorkers, was his appropriation of the mottoes, "All News That's Fit to Print" from the New York Times, and "It Shows for London" from the New York Sun, which he printed on either side of the top of the front page in the Herald. Harry S. Brown, an editor and writer, who was associated with Mr. Bennett for twenty-five years until 1916, said yesterday: "I passed many persons in that office who had been told that he did it for pure deviltry. It was his idea of fun."

Mr. Brown added that back of the many oddities thickly encrusted on the surface of Mr. Bennett's character, as it was known to the public, was a stretch of courage and principle which had been insufficiently appreciated.

He never showed to better advantage, he said, than in the way he stuck to Paris during the advance of the Germans, street mills, and the Paris Daily Mail moved away, but the commodore would not budge. He ran so short of printers that he was reduced to getting out a two-page paper. I was then in London and he sent us word that he would keep on printing on the paper as long as he had a printer in the city."

"While I was in the London office we were getting very blue as the Germans advanced from day to day. He learned from our messages how we felt and took us to task sharply, told us that there was no danger of losing Paris, said that the French were gathering strength and that the Germans were falling into a trap. He was a great student of military strategy all his life and he had the situation accurately mapped out. When attempts were made to induce him to leave Paris, he said that he would keep on printing his paper until the Germans got there, and if they ever did get into Paris he would keep on printing if they would let him. His example had a great effect on the courage of the people and gave them a hearty respect for Americans. His paper became the rallying point for patriotic Americans.

George Colford Roosevelt. "He foresaw that America would get into the war as soon as the Germans did their submarine policy, and he did his utmost to bring America in sooner. One illustration of how deeply he felt about the matter was the way in which he forgave Colonel Roosevelt, who he thought was very hard for him to do. Although for years he had forbidden the mention of the name of Colonel Roosevelt in his papers, he was so much pleased with the vigor of America's sooner that he decided to change his policy. He dictated the editorial, called from Europe, in which the Herald expressed sorrow that Colonel Roosevelt was not president."

Mr. Bennett considered that the New York Herald was his own personal voice and would not allow the accent of any of his employees to become apparent, according to Leo L. Reading, an old employee of Mr. Bennett, in an article in Everybody's Magazine. He said that on one occasion, on their trip from Europe to this country, Colonel Henry Waterhouse and Mr. Bennett discussed newspaper methods. Colonel Waterhouse maintained that the Herald would benefit greatly if more initiative was allowed to the staff.

Mr. Bennett would not agree to this, and he proved that he was right, finally. He was so much pleased with the first ship news reporter to the position of city editor and reduce the city editor to ship news reporter. Six Herald men boarded the ship. Mr. Bennett said the first one aboard what his name was. It was Julius Chambers. That day Chambers was city editor, a position which he occupied for three months.

Some twenty years ago Mr. Bennett was seriously injured while trying to break with a coach and four through the arched doorway of his residence in Paris, but recovered fully.

It was the friend of monarchs, the late King Leopold of Belgium, and the late King Edward VII. For the German emperor, however, he appears always to have had an aversion.

His yacht, the Lystristras, was lying at that port. The "Commander" was on shore at the time and as he came back he noticed with a frown that the skipper of his yacht had "dressed ship" in honor of the emperor, as had the master of every other vessel in the harbor.

As the captain met him at the gangway, Mr. Bennett, with a glance aloft, demanded: "What's all that about?" "I thought," replied the captain, pausing, "that if you were on board you would order it done."

"Never mind what you thought. Hereafter, when you are in the slightest doubt about what I want done, do nothing. In that way you can always please me. Order those flags down." Then he went on to the bridge and gave the order to steam out to sea.

Atlantic coast crop reports are, on the whole, very favorable. Southern truck growers report something like an em-

RECENT DEATHS

Gilbert Frederick Pugsley, aged sixty-five years, died on Friday at his home in Parrboro, N. S. He was one of the most prominent citizens of the community and was held in high esteem. Four sons, two daughters, a brother and a sister survive.

The death of Mary Agnes, widow of Richard Davis, occurred on June 8 at her home in St. Andrews. Mrs. Davis, who was eighty-seven years of age, is survived by three daughters and one son.

George McDevitt died yesterday at his home in Shediac, N. B. He is survived by his wife, three sons and one daughter. He formerly resided in St. John.

Mrs. Eunice Read, mother of Rev. W. K. Read, died at the Presbyterian manse in Grand Falls last Thursday evening after a lingering illness. She was seventy-two years of age.

Mrs. James Eaton passed away last Wednesday at her home in Parrboro, N. S., after several weeks' illness. She was a native of St. Martin's, N. B. She is survived by her husband, one son and one daughter; also three brothers and four sisters. Mrs. Kentworth Lewis of this city is a sister.

WHERE IS THE CITY BOY?

The Toronto Star has received the following letter to the Editor of the Star:

Sir,—The following appeared in a letter to one of the morning papers:

Just now my only son, one of the draftees for next week, is away out to work with an equipment worth $700. With him are one of the horses and a colt half broken. Where is the city man or boy that could be trusted out of the burynard with such an outfit?

If comparisons are asked for, I have a son, a city boy, who is "away out to work" with an equipment that cost over $1000. It has a great deal higher horse-power than that of a horse and colt. It is a flying machine, and his job is to go over the German lines in this machine and be fired at by ground batteries, and engage in battle any enemy machines that venture into the air. My other son, also a city boy, is "away out to work" handling an equipment worth much more than $700, and more dangerous than a horse and colt. He has been for nearly two years handling war tools in the fighting infantry on the western front, and has had all manner of adventures. City boys who can learn to ride the clouds and take concertina pills-boxes and machine guns from the Huns can do more than a horse and colt after all.

A CITY MAN. Distinguishing Mark.

"This check is doubtless all right," said the bank cashier politely, "but have you anything about you that would serve to identify you?" "I have a mole on my left elbow," faltered the pretty girl.
