Highland Light, Mass., March 11.--The three-masted schooner W. H. Oer, bound for the Kennebec for Baltimore with lumber, grounded at Bayside this noon during the rain and fog and remains long aground outside the bar. She was hoisted just outside the bar by the crew of the Highland Light, but the schooner's crew decided to stay by the vessel in the hope that tugs will arrive tonight in time to pull her off before the wind changes. If the wind increases from the southwest, she may have to go ashore, otherwise there is a good prospect to save her.

THE REPLY OF GREAT BRITAIN ON THE HAY-PAUNCELOTT TREATY.

Text Withheld But Tone Is Known--Will Not Have Abrogation of Clayton-Bulwer Treaty--The Way Left Open For Negotiations.

Washington, March 11.--The answer of the British government to the Hay-Pauncelott treaty, made to the senate, was received today by the British ambassador and communicated to Secretary Hay. The British answer is a dignified but complete rejection of the senate amendments and it leaves upon the United States government the responsibility for any further action that may be deemed expedient. Washington, March 11.--No opportunity offered this afternoon for the conference between the president and Secretary Hay respecting the British answer, therefore, it cannot yet be said what action, if any, will be taken by our government. It is stated that there is no hurry, even in the event that it shall be decided to invite Great Britain to join in fresh negotiations as to an isthmian canal, congress not being in session to consider a treaty now foreseen by the officials of the state department. The treaty was signed prior to the opening of the 56th congress and was submitted to the senate in Dec. 1890. It at once encountered opposition in that body, but after considerable delay, was ratified after several amendments had been adopted. The chief issue was made on what is known as the Davis amendment. While in terms this did not give the United States a right to appropriate the right of this country to adopt such measures in regard to the canal as were deemed necessary for the proper maintenance of American authority. After extended debate in executive session, this and two other amendments to the treaty were approved by the senate and ratified as amended. The two other amendments abrogated the Clayton-Bulwer treaty and struck out the provision that the United States should not enter into negotiations to express their approval of the canal. As the amendments created conditions which the British government had not concurred in when the original treaty was made, it was necessary to present the instrument in its amended form. It is understood that one moving consideration in the minds of the British statesmen who considered the answer to be made was their determination to affect not only Great Britain and her interests in the canal, but all the maritime nations of Europe and of the world at large, as the complete neutralizing of the canal under the terms of the treaty would have the effect of conferring the same rights and usage to Germany, France and other nations that were enjoyed by Great Britain. It was rather in the character of trustee for the maritime nations that the amended treaty was considered; furthermore, an important consideration was the effect of the new instrument in completely wiping out the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and the rights which Great Britain claimed under that document. Some of the British statesmen held that there should be a quid pro quo, if British claims under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty were surrendered, it also was held that Great Britain had certain vested rights in Central America which had given place to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, so that if the treaty was to be succeeded by something less substantial, then the old vested rights of Great Britain were obliterated without any adequate return. At the same time the understanding here is that the sentiment of British officials was to avoid a breach or issue with the United States and if possible to arrange a common basis of agreement. In some British quarters it was held that too much friction already had been caused by the canal issue, since the United States was willing to invest the hundreds of millions of dollars required for the canal's construction and then admit to the commerce of Great Britain and the world at large. It was but just to give the American government a certain degree of authority over the canal, particularly where its military necessities required such authority. In this spirit and with these conflicting considerations, the matter has been pending before the British cabinet since the result of the formal answer communicated by Lord Pauncefoot. The effect of the British answer cannot be to restore the life of the Hay-Pauncelott treaty so far as now appears. That document had a distinct limitation within which it could be ratified and no doubt seems to exist among officials that the period expired when the senate advised the British government to do so. Therefore, the answer is chiefly important, as making clear the attitude of the British government alongside the attitude of the American government. With the two positions thus clearly defined, it remains to be seen whether the United States government will carry on such further negotiations as may reconcile differences and bring about a common ground of action.

1,000 MORE MEN.

Col. Steele Will Take Out This Many More FOR CONSTABULARY.

Now In Ottawa and Will Talk Subject Over With Governor General Today--Has Accepted Division Command in Baden-Powell's Police.

Ottawa, March 11.--Col. Steele is to leave for the work done in connection with the despatch of the South African police. Col. Steele said that he had accepted command of one division in South Africa of Baden-Powell's police force at a salary of $5,000 and $2,000 for expenses. He did not intend to go with the first detachment. He was going to raise 1,000 more men in Canada for South Africa and would remain for a couple of months. Tomorrow he is going to meet the governor general and talk over the matter. Major Merritt, of Toronto, was here today seeing the minister of militia about raising 1,000 regulars for South Africa. It is understood that the minister of militia told him that whatever men were raised for service abroad it would require to be done under the auspices of the government.

London, March 11.--General Botha is willing to surrender. He asked an armistice in order to communicate with General De Wet and Mr. Steyn. Should they decline it is believed, nevertheless, that General Botha will surrender the entire force and are burying all their guns. The railway from Lourenço Marques to Pretoria is now open. The chief issue was made on what is known as the Davis amendment. While in terms this did not give the United States a right to appropriate the right of this country to adopt such measures in regard to the canal as were deemed necessary for the proper maintenance of American authority.

bled TO DEATH.

Michael Keenan Found With Hand Cut Off.

MURDER OR SUICIDE? Police Believed Murder Theory, But Statement Made That Keenan Had Been Seen Early in the Day With a Hatchet--Mind Was Unbalanced.

Shubencadie, N. S., March 11.--(Special)--David Emack, one of the victims of Sunday's shooting affray, died from his wounds at 2.30 this afternoon. The shooting is the one theme of conversation all over town. Such a wild scene has never before been witnessed hereabouts. Five men, all armed, fought like demons, and it was not until three dropped from wounds, one of them mortally injured, did hostilities cease. The row grew out of a family feud and only finds its equal in the MacCoy-Hatfield feud in Kentucky some years ago, the members of whose families fought every time they met and shot to kill on sight. That is exactly what occurred yesterday. The men met with set determination to put an end to the trouble. For months past there has been bad blood between the Lantz family and Sam Noble's household. Their houses are on the same side of the road, almost within stone's throw of each other. They are neighbors and the occupants of each can see the other family. The whole cause of the trouble originated over a load of stone which one of the Lantz boys was removing from the roadside near Noble's property. Noble protested against the stone being taken, and as a result trouble followed. The Lantz boys resented the claims made by Noble and ever since the trouble has been getting worse, until yesterday at noon the climax was reached. Emack and Ettinger gave a reporter his story of the affair when requested. He said that the trouble had been brewing ever since last summer when Lantz attempted to remove some stone from Noble's property. "By the way," he says, "Mr. Noble adopted me and I tried to protect his interests. We have had, Emack and myself, several fights on various occasions with the Lantz boys. Yesterday afternoon about 12.15 o'clock I and Emack started out on the road for a walk. We had only gone a few paces when we met Hardy, Ettinger and Archibald Lantz coming from church. I or Emack did not speak a word, neither did the Lantz boys. We were all walking towards each other. When we got within five yards of the Lantz boys they pulled their revolvers out and blazed away at us. The first shot, I think, was from the youngest boy. It struck Emack in the stomach and he fell to the ground, but quickly recovered himself. Then I drew my revolver and commenced firing. The unfortunate man was alive when first blood was welling out from the side of his head. He was killed by the second shot. The other boys were not hurt. I climbed over. It gave me but little protection. Just as I was scaling the fence another bullet struck me on the thigh and I toppled over. As soon as I recovered myself, leaning on the fence, I emptied my revolver at Lantz. I could not say whether any of the shots took effect or not. Emack, I do not think, was shot, as the first shot injured him too badly. The revolver I used was of 38 calibre and every chamber, of which there were five, was loaded. I fired them all. The wounds I received are very painful, but the doctors say they are not serious. The shots which struck ploughed my flesh and followed the bone in both cases but the doctors succeeded in getting both of them out. Continuing, Ettinger said: "Lantz even tried to hit me but Dave and I were self. After the light was over, both of us walked into Noble's and then sank down on the floor exhausted from loss of blood." Emack, when seen this morning, was suffering much. He did not feel disposed to say much about the affair. He appeared somewhat sullen and adverse about making any statement as to the past he took in the shooting. "The first bullet," he said, "struck me in the stomach and I fell and when I got on my feet again I made at my assailants. Then another shot struck me on the right shoulder and, as I made for

MOTION TO SUBMIT C. P. R. LAND GRANTS TO THE SUPREME COURT.

Mr. Davis Wants This, and Also That the Entire Land Grant Be Patented—Matter of Iron Bonuses--The Canals.

Ottawa, March 8.—In the house today Mr. Dymond introduced a bill to incorporate the Government Land Act, giving the Government a large number of other private bills were also introduced.

Mr. Davis (Saskatchewan) gave notice that upon the motion to amend the bill to incorporate the Government Land Act, he would move a resolution that steps should be taken to submit to the Supreme Court the question of the land grant of the C. P. R. in respect to the matter of the duration of the term of exemption; also that the entire land grant should be patented forthwith.

Mr. Morrison, of New Westminster, called attention to a prospectus of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company of Sydney, N. S., which estimates that the company will during the next seven years earn royalties from the dominion amounting to $8,000,000. In view of the probable development of the iron industry in Canada, he thought it was possible that the amount earned would be doubled. Besides, there were the Camp Steel Company, which would have to pay out very large amounts. It was apparent that the dominion would have to pay out very large amounts. It was apparent that the dominion would have to pay out very large amounts.

While not wishing to interfere with any vested rights, he pointed out that the interests of the steel companies were large capitalists not in need of assistance, and that it might be proper to take steps for the purpose of preventing further vesting of interests accruing.

The minister of finance said he was not disposed to give any answer that would be expected of him. He stated that the bill would have to be respected though he could not say how far he would go. He stated that the bill would have to be respected though he could not say how far he would go.

Mr. Morrison suggested there should be a bounty on land reforested and produced in Canada, calling attention to a resolution of the amalgamated boards of trade filed in the House of Commons on February 10, 1895, to the effect that the Dominion Government should grant a bounty of 50 per cent on iron and steel produced in Canada.

On estimates of the public works department being taken up, Mr. Dymond proposed that the Government should grant a bounty of 50 per cent on iron and steel produced in Canada.

Mr. Tarte next proceeded to review various means of improving the trade of the St. Lawrence by the provision of feeders. He explained that the project would enable the large lake vessels to discharge their cargoes from the west at a Canadian port instead of being forced to go to Buffalo because there has been no accommodation on the Canadian side.

The grain discharged from the west at Buffalo is carried to Montreal by the St. Lawrence canal, a distance of 375 miles.

Mr. Tarte next referred to the Parry Sound route, which he said would be a great benefit to the north. He stated that the project would enable the large lake vessels to discharge their cargoes from the west at a Canadian port instead of being forced to go to Buffalo because there has been no accommodation on the Canadian side.

Mr. Haggart called attention to the project of improved accommodation at Montreal harbor and also expressed approval of the French river scheme, which he said to connect the St. Lawrence with the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

On motion of Mr. Dymond a resolution was passed that the Government should grant a bounty of 50 per cent on iron and steel produced in Canada.

Mr. Haggart defended the construction of the St. Lawrence canals and said that their construction was justified because of reason of the canals being there they did more than anything else to fix transport independent of the water.

to make sure that the rifles were taken in good faith. He did not think it reasonable to issue rifles to that class who shoot simply for pleasure.

The leader of the opposition asked whether the Government had given any consideration the question of training young men in the riding and management of horses. He also thought it seemed desirable to train some to shoot while on horseback.

THE NEWS AT OTTAWA

Fall River Mills Will Be Asked to Curtail Production for a Time.

Fall River, Mass., March 11.—The selling committee of the Fall River Manufacturers' Association, having reached an opinion as to the necessary step to relieve the present stagnation in the print cloth market today announced that a special meeting of the general body would be called within a day or two at which time a proposition from the selling committee would be placed before the general body calling for a curtailment of production by local manufacturers for a term of weeks or months, to be determined by the manufacturers themselves. This proposition the committee expects will receive the endorsement of the mill men in the association.

In taking this step the committee has been able to compromise the factions in the local mill circles, one interest advocating curtailment by general agreement and the other a reduction of wages and curtailment either independent or in common. The selling committee makes no proposition on the wage question.

At present there is a surplus of about 2,000,000 pieces of cloth in this city, equal to the full production of the mills for eight weeks. The weekly production here amounts to about 250,000 pieces and it may be decided to curtail for a term of weeks during which the production of the mills may amount to the present stock on hand. Such a move would have an effect similar to the purchase of two million pieces of goods without placing that amount in buyers' hands.

NEW MATERIALS.

What is Shown For Costumes For Early Winter.

Among the new materials are many having a fiber or design which runs cross-wise. These are to be avoided by short or stout women, but for the too slender type are exactly what is needed.

Visiting Gown. The bodice and skirt are embroidered in the form they are to follow, the design of flowers in the natural colors being combined with and embroidered into applications of real lace.

Sleeves. They are the characteristic feature of the Toilet. The sleeve is more and more the domain of novelty and is relied upon to give character to the costume.

Princess Gown. Moreover, the whole aspect of the figure is changed by them. The narrow, clinging effect of the shoulders makes the neck appear longer and the waist much larger, a result becoming to very few women.

UNDERWEAR.

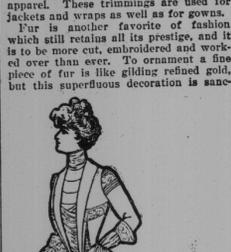

Lace and Embroidery—Corset Covers and Petticoats.

Lace is popularly considered a less substantial trimming for underwear than embroidery, but as a matter of fact it lasts longer unless a very delicate kind is chosen.

Silk Petticoats. The bodice and skirt are embroidered in the form they are to follow, the design of flowers in the natural colors being combined with and embroidered into applications of real lace.

Coming Fashions. Prospects for the wardrobe of the Winter Season. Taffeta is still to be worn through the autumn and winter.

"FIT-REFORM" GARMENTS for SPRING.

We are now showing a full line of the styles and patterns of "Fit-Reform" garments for spring. It is not necessary for us to repeat to those of you who are acquainted with the merits of "Fit-Reform" garments their superior qualities over ordinary ready-made clothing, but to those who have not tried "Fit-Reform" we would say it is a brand of tailor made garments ready made.

None but strictly pure wool and approved fabrics of tested quality and pattern are used in the making. It is made to fit the regular, stout tall short and slim men and variations of each. Try on the garment nearest your figure, then alter it to fit your personality. While we say it is made to fit by altering garments sometimes, too much stress can't be laid on the ability to fit the majority without alteration.

After the garments come from the workroom they undergo careful scrutiny, and if up to the standard required the satin label with makers name and price stamped on same is sewn into the inside breast pocket of coat which is a guarantee of perfection.

It's time you should know the best ready-made clothing. No better time than now.

Table listing clothing items and prices: SUITS, OVERCOATS, TROUSERS, with prices ranging from $10 to $18.

The Time Table Distributing Company of Canada have placed in the Royal Hotel copies of their folder cases containing the time tables of the principal railways of Canada and the United States. The cases comprising 64 pockets are very neatly made of quartered oak with nickel rods, and it is the intention of the company to have them placed in the principal hotels in the maritime provinces with whom it has exclusive contracts. A travelling agent will be employed to look after the cases and keep them filled with the latest time tables issued by the railway and steamship lines, and experience has proven that this will be a great convenience to the travelling public. This system of distribution has been carried on for a number of years in almost all the cities and towns of the United States and has been found to give most satisfactory results, so much so that transportation companies have for a long time felt that it should be introduced into the maritime provinces.

Worden, John W., farmer, Baywater, N. B. Ward, Bertram M., farmer, Stetson, Me., U. S. A. Wilson, Robert F., blacksmith, St. John, N. B. Memories of Lady Smith night, with its stormy history, were revived last evening when the New Brunswick detachment of Baden-Powell's constabulary took their first step in the direction of their future field of operations in South Africa. Bitter winds and stinging sleet greeted them as they emerged from the drill hall, and with steady tramp swung about toward the depot, musicians in front and friends, relatives, admirers, mere spectators and others crunched ahead, behind and on either side, panting, elbowing, shouting farewells and getting their good-by glimpses of some familiar face and form. It was the small boy's seventh heaven. His mind, pregnant with expectation and agitated by conflicting rumors, knew no repose and he roamed uneasily about the line of march or crouching in doorways, looked out upon the storm and waited. By 8 o'clock the quota in the drill hall had formed up and, fronting them, stood a table holding housewives, or according to the martial phraseology, "houses," neat packages each comprising needles, thread, yarn, buttons, pins, scissors and other little articles that most men would require when out on their own devices. These houses were distributed, each man receiving one, by Mrs. Edward Sears, Mrs. Thos. Walker and Mrs. H. H. McLeod, who made the presentations on behalf of the Red Cross Society and Soldiers' Wives League. Lieut. McLean, on behalf of the detachment, thanked the donors for their thoughtful and useful gifts. Mayor Daniel then delivered a farewell address in which he alluded to the long journey which the men were about commencing and to the honor which was theirs in proceeding to the front to uphold the splendid record of the Canadian troops who had preceded them. Canadians in Africa had a reputation and this latest contingent to the dark continent must not allow that reputation, in any way, to be lowered or tarnished. They were joining an honorable corps, a body of horsemen largely resembling our own Northwest Mounted Police and it might be that, before many months passed, they would be encountering the enemy; but, whether in action or in the less stirring scenes of patrol or garrison duty, they would bear themselves as good soldiers and worthy followers of their comrades who had gone before. In many respects the detachment could ill spare them. They were robust, intelligent young men who would be more beneficial to their country by being in it than away, but the extent of their three years' service he would welcome them back all the heartier for their voluntary absence which was caused by the noblest of motives. His words were met with tribute to the worth and military zeal of their commanding and recruiting officer, Lieut. McLean, after which he concluded his remarks by a formal farewell. Lieut. McLean then responded to the mayor's address in a brief, earnest speech made on behalf of his detachment. He thanked the Mayor for his kind and timely, to speak, it was found that the major was absent. By this time a very extensive crowd of spectators had gathered. Later the 62nd Fusiliers band, which was in attendance, struck up appropriate music. The detachment was put in line and the necessary formalities done with and finally, about 9.30 (standard), the detachment, in column of fours, stepped out from the depot, and at their head, and set smartly off for the depot, where a huge assembly had collected. With difficulty and eventually reach the cars which at 10.10 o'clock, amid a hail of cheers, slowly pulled out for Halifax. The following day the following were rejected: N. B. Colwell, Exmouth street. Jno. Outram, Port Hope. J. H. Oates, Bathurst. E. C. Folkins, Millstream. H. C. Simmons, city. W. L. Wright, Carleton. Arthur Hayden, who decided to go west instead. Among the men accepted were those belonging to the list contingent: Messrs. Month and Redmond. Each of the detachment was presented with Testaments by the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Mr. Lordly's New Factory. Last October witnessed the inauguration of a new woodworking factory in this city. Mr. Stirling Lordly, for many years prominent member of the Lordly Furniture Company, so favorably known throughout the province, is the promoter and the success which has attended it since its establishment is gratifying. The factory is equipped with everything which is used in modern machinery and in every requirement and appliance, is thoroughly up-to-date. At present there are more orders on hand than can be filled in the next few weeks and the workmen are kept busy on a government order for furniture for the new terminal and hospital building on Paradise Island. Mr. Lordly designed the furniture and the pattern and workmanship are characterized by taste and beauty, but make a specialty of school desks and office furniture, which, by reason of their special reference to utility and strength, are slightly and ornamental. A nice line of tables is also being made by the firm, 400 extension tables under course of manufacture for the trade. Mr. Lordly has had a long experience in his particular line, and his knowledge of it is practical. The success of his venture is most encouraging and he numbers among his patrons the best known houses in the provinces.

St. Stephen's Guild. At the meeting of St. Stephen's Church Guild last evening Rev. A. S. Morton, B. D., delivered an excellent lecture on The Story of the English Translation of the Bible. The lecturer, in an interesting and instructive manner, traced the history of the Bible down through the ages. At the close of the lecture spoke of the revised version. Miss Knott delighted all present by singing He will Give His Angels Charge. A hearty vote of thanks to Miss Knott and Rev. Mr. Morton was moved by Rev. Dr. Macrae, seconded by Mr. F. W. Wisdom, and cordially tendered by Mr. R. T. Leavitt, who, in the absence of the president, presided.

MUTINY. Twelve Men in Irons on the Steamer Camperdown.

New York, March 10.—Sunday plum duff aboard the Camperdown for dinner and station house tea and bread for supper were the rations served to many members of the crew of the British tramp steamer Camperdown today. The ship came with a load of Cuban sugar consigned to Munson & Co. and instead of proceeding to her dock after leaving quarantine she dropped her anchor to pier A from which dock they were taken to the police boat patrol. When the patrol steamed up alongside of the Camperdown the police found twelve men in iron charged with mutiny. Six of the prisoners were firemen and six seamen. The patrol transferred the prisoners to pier A from which dock they were transported in parol wagons to a police station where they arrived in handcuffs and a charge of mutiny was recorded against each of them. The men were registered as Thomas Fenton, Andrew Hager, James Wilson, David Rosenberg, John Sullivan, Stewart Houston, William Sampson, Edward Patrick, Fred Johns, John Culberg, Carl Motson and Peter Linguist. The Camperdown, while on a voyage from Cuba to New York, grounded on Cape Lookout shoals off the North Carolina coast on March 4. She was gotten off two days afterward without assistance or difficulty and apparently uninjured. When Capt. Smith gave orders for the steamer to proceed to destination part of her crew mutinied, refusing to obey the order to proceed, but offered no interference. According to Capt. Smith's interpretation of the law, refusal to obey orders constitutes mutiny. The British consul was notified this afternoon that the men were locked up in the Church street station and it is probable that they will be taken before a United States commissioner tomorrow. The Camperdown remained at anchor.

DIGBY NEWS. Wedded in the West—Property and Business Purchases. Digby, March 9.—Word has been received of the marriage of Mr. Edwin Gilpin Ambrose, son of the late Rev. John Ambrose, D. D., formerly rector of Holy Trinity church, Digby, and afterwards stationed at Herring Cove, Halifax county. The wedding took place at Pinches Creek, Alberta, N. W. T. The bride being Miss Anna Thomas, eldest daughter of Mr. J. Heron, of that town. The ceremony was performed in the Presbyterian church by the Rev. H. B. Grant. The bride is well-known in many parts of the province and was a member of the N. W. M. P. contingent that visited London during the Jubilee. Miss Anna Thomas died at Brighton on Sunday, aged 41 years. An only father, Mr. Chesley Thomas, is the only member of the family now living. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon. The remains were interred in the Barton cemetery, the services being conducted by the Rev. W. Turner, of Weymouth. Repairs will be commenced in the early spring along the water front of Mr. J. L. Peters property. A number of logs which will be used for the purpose are now piled on the east side of Water street. Mr. Orbin Sproul has purchased the Starratt property on Queen street. He will erect a double tenement. This will prove a good investment, for Digby has, at present, no empty houses. Several Digby people went to St. John this week to hear Allani.

Mr. Wayland Van Barcom has purchased E. T. Turnbull's well established livery business in this town and will take possession of the same on April 1. Turnbull is a member of the firm of Turnbull & Co., retail grocers, and will devote his whole time to the new business.

Mr. Rhodes Home—Several Lectures Promised. Amherst, March 9.—Mr. N. A. Rhodes, of Rhodes, Curry & Co., has just returned after a most delightful sojourn of a few weeks at Pinehurst, N. C. Mr. Rhodes has become an enthusiastic golfer that the people of Amherst would not be surprised if he provided at his own expense a fully equipped golf links in the coming season. Mr. M. D. Pride left by Thursday's P. R. for St. John where he will be joined by other maritime boat and shoe men for a trip to Boston, New York, Montreal and other business centres in the interest of their different companies. It is by taking these frequent trips abroad that Mr. Rhodes is enabled to keep the standard of the Amherst Boot & Shoe Company product equal to that of any of the larger cities.

Mr. Rhodes, who was to have lectured on Joseph Howe, the Statesman, last night was obliged, owing to illness, to postpone the lecture. Amherst is to have two of Halifax's distinguished clergymen here during next week. On Monday evening Rev. Dr. Black, pastor of St. Andrew's church, is to deliver a lecture in St. Stephen's church, subject, Crochet and Fallacies, and on Wednesday Rev. William Johnson, of Grand street church, will lecture in the Methodist church here on England and Englishmen. Dr. Black will occupy the pulpit of St. Stephen's church Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. W. E. Bates, pastor of the Baptist church, is confined to his room with an attack of a gripe.

Mohammedans Rioting. Bombay in a ferment, and there has been fighting. Bombay, March 9.—The city is in a ferment and the Mohammedans are rioting. NINETY-THREE AND HEARTY. Celebration of Birthday of Mr. Linus Seelye, Carleton. There is a pretty story told of Queen Victoria and Jenny Lind, which shows how the modesty of two women, the queen of England and the queen of song, caused a momentary awkwardness which the gentle tact of the singer overcame. It was on a night when Jenny Lind was to sing at her majesty's Opera House that the queen made her first public appearance after the memorable chartist day. For the great artiste, too, this was a first appearance, for it was in the beginning of her season at a place where, a year before, she had won unparalleled fame. It happened that the queen entered the royal box at the same moment the prima donna stepped upon the stage. Instantly a tumult of acclamation burst forth. Jenny Lind modestly retired to the back of the stage, waiting till the demonstration of loyalty to the sovereign should subside. The queen, refusing to appropriate to herself that which she imagined to be intended for the artiste, made no acknowledgment. At length when the situation became embarrassing, Jenny Lind, with ready tact, ran forward to the footlights and sang God Save the Queen, which was caught up at the end of the solo by the orchestra, chorists and audience. The queen then came to the front of her box and bowed and the opera was resumed.—London Express. Victoria and Jennie Lind. How the Queen of Song Relieved An Embarrassing Situation. MAN'S RIGHT TO A CHOICE

BY H. S. CANFIELD.

This was the philosophy of Margaret Wynne, as stated to her friend Alice Mabry.

"I believe we women make a mistake in failing to study the pleasures of men. We think too much about ourselves and know too little about them."

"I believe that we have been denied our proper share of the world's government; I believe that advantage has been taken of our physical inferiority; I know that I am mentally stronger than nine-tenths of my male acquaintances."

"He will be to me," said Alice, "only a provider of things which I want. I shall respect his name, and I may come in time to have a sort of lukewarm liking for the man himself; but he will not understand me, I know, and I shall not try to understand him."

"That Margaret said: 'O friend, I feel that you are wrong, and I feel, too, that the coming years will show to you that you are wrong. The best thing in life is happiness. It is attainable by only a few, but, at least, all of us can try to approach it. Since marriage is the goal of woman, she should make her race with the understanding that she is to be content when it is reached. I shall be glad to bake, to sew, to make of the place in which my husband and I shall live that sweetest of all places—a home, I shall not desire to go out of it and seek for presidencies of struggling women's clubs. You go your way; I go mine.'"

Now, it is without saying that when two young women sit down in confabulation of this kind there is always the shadow of a male loomer in the background.

In this instance the "he" was Chas. Swopa, a lawyer, with his way to make in the world, and a person of considerable talent, which might develop into remarkable abilities if properly backed and encouraged.

Margaret Wynne taught school; Alice Mabry was not put to the necessity of work, having inherited a reasonable income from an aunt who had conveniently died.

Margaret was of plain face, but plump and of graceful figure, with large gray eyes and a steady look of frankness in them. Alice was distinctly beautiful.

They both loved Swopa. It was the wish of Margaret to win him by coming to understand him and so fitting her to aid him in the career which she saw opening for him. It was the wish of Alice to win him by the force of her beauty and therefore to advance herself to higher things, using him as a stepping stone.

He wanted to marry one of them; that was all he knew. Margaret, in her leisure time, rode with him, walked with him, played golf with him, even basted him at handball, surprised him with her knowledge of the leading baseball players of the country, diligently studied the records of cooking, and on one evening quoted Coke upon Lyttelton to him in a way that made him open his eyes.

Alice received him with cold propriety, not neglecting to look her handsomest. In speaking of Margaret to male friends Swopa called her "comforting." In speaking of Alice he called her "glorious."

He felt often that he would give the world to possess Alice, yet there came to him the faring reflection of how pale possession becomes when the flush of passion is worn from it. He felt, too, that in the long battle with the world how he would need to have his hands held up, not in the arena itself, but in that retreat to which every honest fighter is entitled when the stress of the day is past.

A Swopa of 200 years before would have seized the one woman, because she was the more beautiful, and have borne her away to eat out his heart in bitterness afterward. There has come to the male of the day a realization that love is not all, and that in his struggles with his fellows he needs in the woman who shares his life a friend as well as a lover.

hurt as a proud woman should. They heard of her often through newspapers and magazines. She became one of the leading exponents of the idea that woman is entitled to first place in the world, not because she is able to earn or maintain it, but because she is a woman.

One day, 15 years later, Mrs. Margaret Swopa, out shopping with one of her little ones, missed the child from her side and turned to look for it. She saw a tall woman returning it to the floor after kissing it.

A dark veil was thrown back and there were tears in her eyes. The face was still beautiful, but worn and looked even with the aid of the tears it looked loveless—perhaps forlorn. They gazed at each other.

Alice said, "You were right," then passed quietly on.

Margaret told her husband about it, because she had got into the habit of telling him everything. Something like a shadow of pain was on his face, but he answered only, "It should not have been otherwise. I had my right to a choice and I made it."

TO WIND UP EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION.

Directors Yesterday Took Action Looking Towards This End—Say They Can't Go On Without Government Grant.

A meeting of the directors of the Exhibition Association was held yesterday afternoon, the following being present: D. J. McLaughlin, president, W. H. Turner, Alex. Macaulay, W. F. Barritt, Alfred Markham, S. S. Hall, R. O'Brien, F. A. Dykeman, Jas. H. McAvity, H. J. Deberry, A. O. Skinner and C. E. Everett.

The committee which interviewed the local government reported that it had been unsuccessful in obtaining a grant for the sum of $3,000. During the discussion by those present it was shown that the members of the association in this city had subscribed about $15,000 of stock and the present assets of the association were valued at about $18,000. The debt at present was in the vicinity of $3,000.

Last year the government granted $4,000 to the association for exhibition purposes. The opinion was general that it would be impossible to hold an exhibition with a smaller grant than that asked for by the committee. For the past ten years the members of the association have done all the work gratuitously, labor which in reality belonged to the government. It was thought by many present that the whole assets of the association should be handed over to the city and local government instead of endeavoring to struggle on under a limited grant and becoming only more involved.

The meeting resolved that a committee be appointed to ask the common council and local government to give enough money to pay off the liabilities and put the association in position to wind up its affairs.

The resolution in full is as follows: Resolved, that whereas this association has given its services gratuitously for nine years, during which time members of the association and citizens of St. John have subscribed some $9,800 apart from civic grants, for the purpose of holding an exhibition in St. John, which have been provincial in character, devoted largely to the agricultural interests and beneficial to the whole province. And whereas, the holding of such exhibitions cannot be continued without receiving adequate support from the provincial government, as well as the city of St. John.

Therefore resolved, that in view of the decision of the provincial government not to make a grant asked for by the association, a committee be appointed for the purpose of asking the city council and the provincial government for a sum sufficient to pay off present liabilities, in order that the affairs of the association may be wound up.

The following has been secured to show the amounts received and disbursed in connection with the various exhibitions: Association incorporated in 1888; Exhibitions held in 1890-91-92-93-94-95-96-97-98-99 and 1900.

Commission to Look into Assessment. Common Council Decides on This Course—Expense Limited to $2,000—The Fire District and Other Bills.

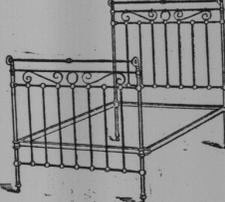

A special meeting of the common council was held yesterday to consider bills for the legislature, and the treasury board recommendation relative to the assessment law and the appointment of a commission.

It was resolved by the council to appoint a commission consisting of three persons to investigate the assessment law and make recommendations, and that a sum not exceeding $2,000 be expended on the work.

The bill enabling the city to hold a plebiscite on the question of holding an exhibition in the city was also discussed. The bill was passed, and the city council will move an amendment that the expenditure be limited to $1,500.

BIG FIVE MINING COMPANY.

Meeting of Directors and Report from Manager Woodworth.

A directors' meeting of the Big Five Mining Company, which is controlled mostly by St. John men, was held on Saturday evening and Mr. Woodworth, manager of the mines, was present. He made very glowing statements of the prospects of the Big Five mine at the meeting. They are now not only working the Jubilee mine, but have sunk a shaft some 40 or 50 feet in the Big Five and the returns from this have been very satisfactory indeed.

The last clean up that was made was some $3,520, and Mr. Woodworth thinks that the clean up for March will be equal to this, if not better, as both mines are showing splendid returns. From the remarks made by Mr. Woodworth at the meeting it would seem that dividends would be received by the fortunate stock holders at no distant date. The company is now in a splendid position, having like $5,000 to their credit in the bank and all bills paid.

The question of buying a mill was discussed and the directors thought it would be advisable to get a mill as soon as possible as it would save a great deal of time and labor if the mill was on either one of the properties. Mr. Woodworth returned to Windsor yesterday morning.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE.

Stories of Notable Men and Women Whom We Know.

William A. Clark, of Montana, famous in Butte twenty years ago as the man who "lived in a brick house" and had "real champagne" in his cellar, wore the same characteristic "prospector's beard" then as now, but as yet had signed for no other worlds to conquer. Mr. Clark was at that time the senior partner in Clark Brothers' Butte bank, the owner of the Daily Miner, and of a large block of stock in the Alice mine. He went to Paris to spend the golden tide of profits which began to pour in on him from his copper-aver mining properties about the time that the electric light and the electric telephone created all over the country an amazing demand for copper conductors. There were French lights in the streets of Butte, then the greatest mining camp in the world, when the sidewalks they illuminated were as yet rough boards. Mr. Clark studied French and French art, and began cultivating himself for a future among the money kings of the world. He is very much the same sort of Celt-American as Mr. Andrew Carnegie, but in Mr. Clark the getting does not yet seem to have yielded to the giving fever. Mr. Clark and Mr. Carnegie are of the same small, combative physique, with the light grey eyes variously described as Scotch and Irish, but clearly acquisitive and man-reading. The Scot who grew up in the east, slaves his the west, let the hair grow. The bearded man lets his money talk; the other talks for himself.

Dr. Voesinger, rabbi of the Congregation Emanu-El, of San Francisco, has given free his services as head of the department of Semitic languages and literatures in the University of California. Members of the medical profession in England will erect a marble statue of Dr. William Gilbert, the famous physician to Queen Elizabeth. Already the sum of £120 has been contributed, and as the minimum amount required is only £100, it will no doubt soon be subscribed.

Colonel Cornelius Gardner, who has been named as governor of the province of Tlaxcala, in Southern Luzon, is a native of Michigan and was graduated from West Point in 1872. He has fought Indians in the Indian Territory in Kansas, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Nebraska.

There still survives a clergyman who took part in the coronation of Queen Victoria. This is the Rev. E. W. Vaughan, M. A., vicar of Llanfair Meirion, Glamorganshire, who is also alleged to have sung as a chorist at the coronation of King George IV. Mr. Vaughan, who is in his sixty-second year, still performs his clerical duties with unimpaired vigor.

Lord Curzon expects that there will be another Indian famine this year, though on a very much smaller scale than the last. Money is being raised in England to present a bust of Max Muller to Oxford University and establish a fund for research in the subjects in which he worked.

Queen Wilhelmina is a great novel reader and her preference is for English books. Being a great admirer of Scott and Dickens, she naturally prefers the romantic school of fiction.

Australian ladies are accomplished horse-women, and it is proposed to organize a thousand of them as a bodyguard of the Duchess of Cornwall and York at the opening of the Commonwealth parliament.

Sarah Bernhardt is now on a tour in the west. There are ten cars to her train; she eats almost no substantial food, and does not touch wine but only beverage being whiskey, well diluted with mineral water.

BROTHER AND SISTER

Meet for the First Time, She Thirty Years in Ignorance of Her Parentage.

New York, March 6.—Mrs. Julia Isabel Smith, the secret of whose birth was made known to her a week ago, after she had lived for 30 years believing herself to be the daughter of the persons who adopted her, had a surprise more pleasant than the first yesterday, when, the first time in her life, she looked at the face of a brother—Frank Bowne, Flushing, Long Island—who until the announcement of the secret surrounding Mrs. Smith's birth had no idea that he had a sister.

No one else was present when brother and sister looked at each other in the parlors of Mrs. Smith's home, Brooklyn. No one would discuss the meeting after it was over, Mrs. Smith stating that she desired no more publicity. Her husband, Dr. Morris Hazard Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Duigan, her parents by adoption, entered the parlor after the meeting.

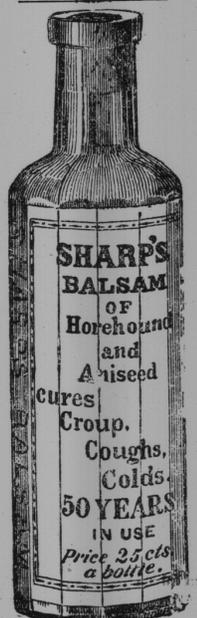

Mr. and Mrs. Duigan and Dr. Smith were introduced to Mrs. Smith by Mrs. Smith, and a happy afternoon was spent in the parlor of Dr. and Mrs. Smith's cozy home. For 28 years Mrs. Smith believed herself to be the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Duigan, and when the announcement was made to her by a lawyer that she was born a Bowne she could hardly believe it. Then followed the story of her birth. William D. Bowne lived the wife he had married in Philadelphia, and when a girl baby came to bless their union, in 1871, he was happy, but only for a short time. Mrs. Bowne died, and the widower ordered that the little child be taken from his sight. In his grief he allowed Mr. and Mrs. James Duigan, then living at Quaker Hill, Conn., to adopt the baby, with the understanding that it should be brought up and led to believe that it was their own child.

As governor of the former South American republics, Sir Alfred Milner will hereafter receive a salary of £11,900 per annum. This is considerably more than accrues to Earl Minto, as governor general of Canada, or to Earl Hopetoun, as governor general of Australia. Among Great Britain's colonial vice regents the official income of the viceroy of India alone exceeds that of Sir Alfred.

Millions of Women use Cuticura Soap. Exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleaning the scalp, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative sores, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery.

On a recent municipal election Dr. Wurttemberg only one person—a young man—voted for the Socialists. The rest of the electorate took the trouble to vote, and elected the whole municipal council.
