James Robinson's Representations Bring Furniture Industry Here.

ROBINSON PRAISED

MIRAMICHI LAND

President Anderson Says His Enthusiastic Representations Brought Co. Here

NOT A BIT DISAPPOINTED

Head of Furniture Industry Looks Forward to Large Future Development.

As the new furniture factory is now nearly completed and on the eve of commencing operations a reporter for the Advocate was pleased, yesterday, to get an interview with Mr. O. G. Anderson, President and General Manager of the Company concerning the new industry. Mr. Anderson said that although the plant was not actually complete just now, he had every hope that such would be the case within a few weeks. The arrival of the last car of machinery had been unexpectedly delayed but same is now on the way, and preparations are being made to have the machines placed in position without delay. The exterior of the main building and that of the dry kiln building have not yet been finally completed, but this work will not in any way impede the commencement of operations inside. The main building is 64 ft. x 120 ft., 4 storeys high, with large well spaced windows and with elevator in the centre running to the top. The dry kiln building is a two story structure, 40 x 80 ft., in one department of which the engine is placed. The boiler house is a commodious structure, in keeping with the main buildings. The roof is metallic, thus making the building practically fireproof. The offices of the Company will be situated in the north end of the main building on the ground floor, and a special siding of the I. C. R. is under construction to run right to the shipping room platform adjacent thereto. The whole plant, Mr. Anderson stated, is equipped with the very latest and most improved machinery to be had on the continent. Considering that Canada and the United States are pre eminent in this class of machinery and that the selection of same and the buildings in which they are quartered, have been the result of such an experience as Mr. Anderson's, the people of Newcastle and the Miramichi can well be proud of this acquisition. There must have been a deal of thought and close application exercised to bring such a detailed equipment into such a perfect system as prevails throughout the plant. In this connection Mr. Anderson was led to observe "Of course the layout and selection of the machinery is somewhat of a study as is also the construction of the buildings and the material used. In this latter respect we feel in duty bound to acknowledge the kind assistance of not a few of the business men of Newcastle and along the river, notably among whom is Mr. James Robinson; in fact, it was largely Mr. Robinson's enthusiastic representations of the Miramichi that brought us to this locality in the first place. We have not been disappointed, and look forward to large future development." The output of the factory, Mr. Anderson states, will almost exclusively consist at the start, of chairs, but other articles of furniture will be added later. The Advocate wishes the Company all success.

JAMES ROBINSON

AGAIN SELECTED

He Was Received By The Chatham Convention With Open Arms

UNANIMOUS CHOICE.

Splendid Reception Accorded Conservative Leader On Friday Evening.

VICTORY ASSURED

Mr. James Robinson should feel proud of the splendid reception accorded him at the Chatham convention on Friday evening. He was welcomed as the liberal conservative standard bearer with open arms. Outside of the delegates a large crowd attended the convention from Newcastle and other points. Mr. W. A. Hickson, president of the Association called the meeting to order shortly after eight o'clock. He began the proceedings by saying that the convention had been called to select a candidate to represent the Liberal Conservative party in the coming contest. It was time for a change of rulers - time to put an end to the rule of the party of broken promises - and he felt sure that Northumberland would do her part. The prospects of Conservative success in the Dominion were bright, and he looked forward confidently to victory in the impending struggle.

The following delegates went forward and signed the roll.

CHATHAM - Wm. Lawlor, Jas. D. Johnston, W. J. Connor, Jr., Angus Ulock, Geo. Hildebrand, John Coleman, Chas. Sargeant, Donald Fraser, S. U. McCulley, F. E. Neale.

NEWCASTLE - John Clarke, R. L. Maltby, R. T. D. Aitken, Geo. S. Stothart, D. Morrison, T. W. Butler, John Dutton, Wm. E. Fair, Jas. E. Russell, R. H. Gremley.

AINSWICK - W. M. Battie, John D. Savoy, Wm. Gratton, James Stymiest, James W. Robertson.

GLEBE - James Cameron, Wm. V. Ulock, Thos. Fitzpatrick.

BLACKVILLE - Edward Hayes, Andrew Connor, Bernard H. McCamish, Richard N. McCarthy, M. J. Donaghy.

DELS - Everett J. Parker, John Betts, John Bryenton.

LEWIS - W. A. Campbell, J. L. Stewart.

BELSHIELD - William Whyte.

ROSELAND - L. Doyle, Hugh H. Lumont.

NEWTON - John W. McMillin, James E. Johnston, Wm. Jones, Patrick Hogan.

SOUTH - Jas. H. D. Aiton, Everett J. Goodfellow.

LONGVIEW - James Kelly.

The delegates were directed to retire to another room for the purpose of selecting a candidate.

Mr. J. L. Stewart was called to the chair.

Mr. Edw. Hayes nominated James Robinson as the Liberal Conservative candidate, and Mr. D. Morrison seconded the nomination.

Mr. William Lawlor suggested, that as some persons had expressed doubt in regard to Mr. Robinson's attitude towards the party, Mr. Robinson be sent for and asked to state his views.

A committee was sent after Mr. Robinson and that gentleman declared himself entirely in accord with the Liberal Conservative party. He had not changed, but was the same as ever. It should be chosen as the candidate he would do his share of the work that might be necessary to win, and wanted the delegates and their friends to do their share. If another man were nominated he would work as hard to secure his election as if he were the nominee. He was heart and soul with the great Liberal Conservative party, and believed it would win in the coming contest. If he should be elected, and the time should ever come that he could not act neatly with the Liberal Conservative party in Parliament he would hand back to the constituency the trust that had been reposed in him. (Cheers.)

The resolution nominating Mr. Robinson was put and carried unanimously.

The delegates returned to the hall and Mr. Stewart reported the selection of Mr. Robinson as the candidate.

The announcement was loudly applauded and Mr. Robinson, who was called to the platform said he felt proud of the nomination, proud to stand before the public as the nominee of the Liberal Conservative party of Northumberland. He would do

Premier Tweedie, Home From British Columbia Speaks Of Crops Etc.

PREDICTS GRIT VICTORY.

Believes Laurier Government Will Be Sustained Out West.

Premier Tweedie and Mrs. Tweedie returned to Charlton yesterday after an extended trip to the Northwest.

Mr. Tweedie states that the trip was a most enjoyable one in every way.

As far as the weather was concerned, but one rainy day was encountered. Everywhere in the west, Mr. Tweedie stated, there are signs of great prosperity. The wheat crop this year is an excellent one. When asked concerning the outlook in the coming election, Mr. Tweedie said that there seemed to be no doubt that the 27 constituencies in British Columbia, Manitoba and the Territories, at least seventeen will return supporters of the Laurier administration. While in Vancouver Mr. and Mrs. Tweedie were tendered a reception by the Maritime Province Association, and Mr. Tweedie was presented with an address. This association has a membership of one thousand former citizens of the Maritime Provinces who are now in the west. Among the provincials Mr. Tweedie met in the west were Mr. Joseph N. Ellis and Mr. W. dekk. Farris. In addition to Vancouver Mr. Tweedie visited a number of western cities among them Winnipeg and Calgary. Seattle across the boundary line, was also visited. Mr. Tweedie was particularly fond in his praise of Winnipeg, which he pronounced to be a splendid city, rapidly growing. On being asked if there will be any local elections in the near future, Mr. Tweedie smilingly shook his head and said, "Not for a while yet."

EMMERSON COMING.

The Advocate learns that the Hon. H. R. Emmerson will arrive here to-day.

what he could to ensure success, and looked for them to do their part and not leave him to fight the battle alone. It had been said that he had not made a speech in Parliament. That was true, and it would be better if many of those who had done so had kept their seats. Good was accomplished by work, not by talk, and he had worked as hard as any man could in the interests of Northumberland. The county's interests were his interests. He believed that the Conservative party was coming into power, and would do his best, as the standard bearer of the party in this county, to win success. (Cheers.)

21 Pungent speeches were also made by Messrs D. Morrison, R. A. Lawlor, W. A. Campbell, J. L. Stewart, Dr. Cox, T. W. Butler, C. J. and Maltby, J. W. Robertson, Patrick Hogan, John McMillin and Wm. Jones.

Mr. F. E. Neale moved the following resolution - Resolved, That this meeting heartily endorse Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the Liberal Conservative party, and is in full accord with the policy of the party as laid down by him.

On motion of Mr. R. A. Lawlor it was resolved to proceed to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

President Hickson said he had been in the chair for several years, and would like to retire in favor of some one else.

Officers were chosen as follows:

W. A. Hickson President.

F. E. Neale, First Vice Pres.

R. A. Mardochy, Sec. Vice Pres.

Jas. F. Maher, Secretary.

At the suggestion of Mr. Lawlor it was resolved that the party to each parish be requested to form a Parish Association, with President and Secretary, and notify the officers of the County Association.

Three cheers were given for the King, three for R. L. Borden, and three for James Robinson.

Votes of thanks were given to the President and Secretary for their long and effective services, and these gentlemen made speeches in reply.

THE FARMER'S REALM. Practical Suggestions For The Improvement of The Farm.

SELLING THE APPLE CROP

On Sept. 21st the farmers in the vicinity of Ingersoll, Ont., assembled to the number of about 75 or 80 to inspect the work done by the power spraying outfit managed in the vicinity by the Dominion Fruit Division. The object of the demonstration was to show that spraying might profitably be done as threshing is usually done in Western Ontario, one man taking the contract for doing the work of a large number of his neighbors. A circuit embracing 3300 trees was contracted for and Mr. J. C. Harris was employed to do the work. He succeeded in spraying the whole number of trees four times with one outfit at a cost of something less than 20 cents a tree. The apples in the unsprayed orchards in that district are so scabby as to be practically worthless. The contrast between the sprayed and unsprayed fruit is therefore very marked.

The audience assembled at the orchard of Mr. J. C. Norsworthy and inspected very carefully a large number of trees, counting and grading the apples. Some unsprayed orchards were visited and again some sprayed orchards until six or seven had been inspected. The results may be summed up as follows. In the sprayed orchards 90 per cent. of the fruit would grade No. 1, while in the unsprayed orchards not more than 15 per cent would grade No. 1. In some cases only 16 per cent. of first class fruit was found and on some trees it was difficult to discover a perfect apple. The cost of spraying about 20 cent per tree or 10 cents per barrel, and it is a fair estimate to say that for every 20 expected in spraying there was increased value of about $1.00.

The inspection was witnessed by Prof. Hutt, O. A. C., Guelph, Mr. G. A. Putnam, Superintendent of Farmers Institutes, Mr. F. W. Hodgetts, Secretary Ontario Fruit Growers Association, and a half dozen correspondents of agricultural papers.

Incidentally many points in general orchard culture were taken up. Prof. Hutt drew attention to the fact that, even though cultivation and pruning were neglected in some of the sprayed orchards the trees were well loaded and the specimens large. He pointed out that had the season been dry these fine samples could not have been obtained. Mr. Putnam spoke of the success which had attended the operations of the fruit shippers' associations at Walkerton, Chatham and St. Catharines, and especially commended this system of disposing of their fruit.

Mr. McNeill spoke briefly on the topic 'How to sell the Apple Crop.' He strongly condemned selling in bulk. By this method the farmer was selling a product, the quantity of which he was not in a position to estimate, to the buyer who has spent years in buying and was very apt in estimating the quantity of apples on a tree. He also condemned selling apples with the understanding that they be picked and piled on the ground until the packers came to pack them. This usually resulted in a loss of 50 per cent. A much better plan for the farmer was to pick, pack, grade and mark his own fruit, and then offer it for sale. The best was undoubtedly the formation of a co-operative selling society which would erect stores and packing sheds at some central place and have the fruit packed and graded by man who were used to the work. This method would not only effect a great saving in the quantity of fruit to be marketed, but by giving a large number of packages of one variety and of uniform grade would attract larger buyers and secure better prices. With reference to the crop around Ingersoll this year Mr. McNeill said that he could not conscientiously urge buyers to make an offer, inasmuch as in the unsprayed orchards the was almost nothing to buy. Many of the sprayed orchards had been sold and no doubt with proper management the rest could be sold, though the individual farmer was at a disadvantage as compared with the co-operative associations.

PREMIER TWENTHE IN THE WEST.

(Vancouver World, Sept. 23.)
Among the arrivals on the C. P. R. express last night was Hon. J. Tweedie, premier of New Brunswick. Mrs. Tweedie and young son. The party is registered at the Hotel Vancouver. Mr. Tweedie with other New Brunswick capitalists, is interested in making inquiries on Prince Royal Island in connection with a concession with those islands. There is a belief on the part of the capitalists that the capital to be raised for the purpose of the project will be raised in New Brunswick. Mr. Tweedie is the present owner of the property. These properties are said to be in one and it may be that claims attaching to these now being operated may be acquired by the company. This is Mr. Tweedie's first trip to the coast, and he was simply enquired with the management of the company en route. That of the Rockies, and then along the Thompson and Fraser rivers particularly appealed to him. He intends visiting British Columbia and returning to the coast. A committee from the Maritime Provinces Association will wait upon Mr. Tweedie and request him to address the association and it is quite probable that New Brunswick's premier will accede to the request.

DANGER OF LIVING WITH CONSUMPTIVES.

It is a real danger because the sputum of affected persons diffuses itself through the air and finds its way into the system of those who are in contact with them. It exposed to consumption use of the potent healing Catarrhizone the most efficient germicide known. No case of catarrh can withstand Catarrhizone which cures the Lathouse disease thoroughly. Catarrh in the head is cured in a few minutes and bronchitis, asthma and lung trouble are cured to stay cured. If Catarrhizone is employed, I don't know any remedy so good for catarrh and bronchitis as Catarrhizone, writes N. T. Eaton of Knoxville. ### THE VULTURE.

The question is raised whether the vulture knows of its quarry by sight or smell. How does it locate the news of a feast to be feasted? A tiger had been killed.

Colonel Ramsey ordered the carcass of the slain tiger to be dragged out from under the black mango trees into the open. Taking out his watch, he asked us to make a guess as to how long the vultures would take to clean the flesh off the bones. Some one said half an hour. As there was not a vulture in sight, this seemed even better. But Colonel Ramsey gave them ten minutes which proved to be correct. There was one vulture at first seen soaring round and round very high up in the cloudless sky. He closed his wings and dropped on to the carcass with a swoop. In two minutes the sky was full of vultures, all concentrating from every side on the spot, and arriving with all the impetus their drop from a great height gave them as fast as it takes to tell the story. Then there commenced a frightful scene of lateral carnage, every one tearing with sharp, hooked bill at the entrails first, then at the flesh, all fighting for room to get a piece and tumbling over one another with frantic haste. A Boston bank official declares that the new vertical writing fad is breeding a race of forgers. There are several accounts of the manner in which the famous gunpowder plot of 1605 was discovered, but among the students of occult science the belief is that its timely discovery was made by Dr. John Dee by means of a magic mirror. Proof of how general this belief was at one time is given by the fact that in some editions of the Common Prayer Book, published in the eighteenth century, is to be found an engraving inserted before the service for Nov. 5 depicting a circular mirror on a stand in which is the reflection of the houses of parliament by night and a person carrying a dark lantern. On the left side are two men in the costume of the reign of King James looking into the mirror. On the right side at the top the eye of Providence throws a ray on to the mirror-fence are legs and hoofs, as if evil spirits were making their exit.

Something About the Terrible Blaze Which Did Such Damage on the North Shore.

(Correspondence St. John Sun.)
Friday, October 7th was seventy-ninth anniversary of the great Miramichi fire. The appended quaint account of the conflagration appears on a sheet of paper 7 x 9 inches, that was issued Oct. 11th, 1825. This little sheet is supposed to be the only one of its kind now in existence.

FIRE AND HURRICANE.

On the night of the 7th inst. this place exhibited one the most terrific scenes that a general conflagration is capable of producing.

The climate for two days previous was so intensely close and warm, but all doubt was removed as to some great fire existing in the woods, and on the approach of the night of the seventh it commenced its sad devastation.

The wind blew a violent hurricane from the Northwest and brought with it from Douglstown, Newcastle and the surrounding country, such immense clouds of flames and ashes, that it became extremely difficult to retain any position or to breathe at Chatham. The appearance of the heavens was awful, representing as far as the eye was capable of extending but one unvarying body of flames; the effect was frightfully increased from the appalling roar of the fire through the country in all quarters, the air blowing with such violence as to occasion the air to resound with one incessant thunder.

Among the vessels in the river a number were cast on shore, three of which, namely, the Concord, and Canada, together with the brig Jane, were consumed, others were fortunately extinguished after the fire had attacked them.

At Douglstown scarcely any kind of property escaped the ravage of the fire, which swept to the surface everything coming in contact with it, including the extensive mercantile establishments of Messrs. Gilmour, Rankin & Co. William Abrams & Co. together with their vessel then on the stocks as also all the property of numerous others leaving but little for the unfortunate inhabitants to fly to the shore, and there, by means of logs, canoes, rafts of timber, timber logs or any article however ill calculated for the purpose, endeavor to escape from the dreadful scenes to reach the town of Chatham, numbers of men, women and children perishing in the attempt.

The town of Newcastle with all the surrounding settlement, became a total waste, excepting about fourteen buildings, among those which were laid in ashes were the court house, church, barracks, jail and the miles through all parts of the interior of the country where mercantile, farmer and timber business were carried on to a great extent, the greatest ravages and desolation took place.

From the magnitude of the fire, and the dreadful violence of the winds, it is almost impossible to form an accurate idea of the extent of the loss of lives or property.

The remote settlements from the entrance of the river to the extreme source of it present to the eye the dreadful havoc of this calamitous event, particularly those of the North-west Branch, the Bartibog and Nappan, some of which have scarcely a place of habitation left, and the lives that were lost are innumerable; the shores at almost every change of the wind exhibiting dreadful spectacles of the burnt and drowned.

In some parts of the country the cattle have all been destroyed or suffered greatly, and the very soil in many places has been parched and burnt up and no article of provisions to speak of has been rescued from the flames, either at Newcastle, where almost every important mercantile establishment perished, or at Douglstown.

The hurricane raged with such dreadful violence that large bodies of timber on fire, as also trees from the forest, and parts of the flaming houses and stores were carried to the rivers with amazing velocity, to such an extent, and affecting the water in such a manner as to occasion large quantities of salmon and other fish to resort to the land hundreds of which were scattered on the shore of the North and South-West branches.

Chatham at present contains about five hundred of the unfortunate sufferers who have resorted to it for relief, and are experiencing some partial assistance and almost every hour brings with it numbers from the back settlements burnt, wounded or in the most abject state of distress, and it is reported nearly two hundred more have been actually discovered.

At this scene the heart sickens to see the widows, widowers and orphans that are without clothing, homes or the means of sustenance, and it is impossible at this early period to say how many females have been added to the dead, or have survived to know that a father, mother, sister or brother has been devoured by the flames or perished by the wave, not only from the circumstance of numerous families in the back settlements not yet being heard of, but also from the want of information regarding the fate of large lumbering parties in the interior of the wood, who it is feared have fallen victims to the flames.

In a situation therefore, of such unparalleled distress and calamity it is hoped the hand of humanity will be extended to relieve the peculiar sufferings of our fellow creatures, and administer a balm to the torn feelings and wants of those who have in this most distressing manner been deprived of their dearest and best, and cast on the humanity of the world perfect beggars.

SURPRISE TO DOCTORS.

Most doctors are astonished at the results obtained by Doctor Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema, salt rheum and itching skin diseases which are often considered well nigh incurable. By word of mouth from friends to friends the exceptional merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment have gradually become known until it is now standard the world over and has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine.

The spiritual seance was in full blast.

Miss Nettie Blackmore, Minneapolis, tells how any young woman may be permanently cured of monthly pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"YOUNG WOMEN:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. I soon had the best reason in the world to change my opinion of the medicine, as each day my health improved, and finally I was entirely without pain at my menstruation periods. I am most grateful."—NETTIE BLACKMORE, 28 Central Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.—$2.00 per bottle if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

If there is anything about your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will hold your letter in strict confidence. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free.

What Some Nova Scotia Bakers Say

about the success they have had with Royal Household Flour

The Largest Bakers in Eastern Canada, Morris, Limited, Halifax, say:

In answer to your inquiry as to whether we could suggest any change that would be an improvement to "Royal Household," we emphatically answer "no." The great satisfaction we have had with your "Royal Household" this last nine months, using over 5,000 barrels in that time, has been an extreme pleasure to us. We are using this flour mostly for bread, also using nothing else for our pastry, for which we have a very large sale.

The oldest bakers in Dartmouth, say:

"Royal Household" flour is as near to perfection in the results obtained as it is possible for any flour to be. In the history of our baking business, now established for half a century, we have never had anything to equal it.

The leading baker in Annapolis, says:

This is to certify that I have used considerable quantities of "Royal Household" flour during the present year and find it to be a good article indeed; suitable for family purpose in all the requirements of bread, biscuit and pastry. I regard it as equal to any flour on the market. It is the best hard wheat flour for pastry that I have ever used.

Came and smashed his head against the window of the "White Caps" in Carlow county. He had been struck by the coincidence of the name, but he had not dreamed that the Carlow Harkness was his friend until Helen's telegram had reached him that evening.

He shivered. His name was spoken from within, and Horner came out on the steps with the two eminent surgeons, and the latter favored him with a few words which he did not understand. He did understand, however, what Horner told him. Somehow the look of the sheriff's Sunday coat, wrinkling furiously from his broad, bent shoulders, was both touching and solemn. He said simply: "He's conscious and not out of his head. They're gone in to get his automobile statement." And they re-entered the ward.

Harkness' eyes were bandaged. The lawyer was speaking to him, and as Horner went awkwardly toward the cot Warren said something indicative of the sheriff's presence, and the hand on the sheet made a formless motion which Horner understood, and he took the pale fingers in his own very gently and then set them back. Smith turned toward Meredith, but the latter made a gesture which forbade the attorney to speak to him and went to a corner and sat down, with his head in his hands.

"John, is it you?"

A sleepy young man had been brought in, and he opened a notebook and took a stylographic pen so that the ink might flow freely. The lawyer, briefly and with unequal agitation administered an oath, and then there was silence.

"Now, Mr. Harkness, if you please," said Barrett insinuatingly, "if you feel like telling us as much as you can about it."

He answered in a low, rather indistinct voice very deliberately, pausing before almost every word. It was easy work for the sleepy stenographer.

"I understand. I don't want to go off my head again before I finish. If it were only for myself I should tell you nothing, because if I am to leave I should like it better if no one were punished. But that's a bad communitarian error. They are everlastingly worrying our people. They've always been a bother to us, and it's time it was stopped for good. I don't believe very much in punishment, but you can't do a great deal of reforming with the Crossroads unless you catch them young, before they're weaned. They wear them on whisky, you know. I realize you needn't have sworn me for me to tell you this."

Horner and Smith had started at the mention of the Crossroads, but they subdued their ejaculations, while Mr. Barrett looked as if he had known it, of course. The room was still, save for the dim voice and the soft scribbles of the stylographic pen.

"I left Judge Briscoe's and went west on the pike to a big tree. It rained, and I stepped under the tree for shelter. There was a man on the other side of the fence—Bob Skillet. He was carrying his gun and hood—I suppose it was that—on his arm. Then I saw two others a little farther east in the middle of the road. I think they had followed me from the Briscoe's or near there. They had their foolish regalia on, as all the others had. There was plenty of lightning to see. The two in the road were simply standing there in the rain looking at me through the eyeholes in their masks. I knew they were others—plenty—but I thought they were coming from behind me—the west."

"I wanted to get home—the courthouse yard was good enough for me—so I started east toward town. I passed the two gentlemen, and one fell down as I went by him, but the other fired a shot as a signal, and I got his hood off his face for it. I stopped long enough, and it was Force Johnson. I know him well. Then I ran, and they followed. A little ahead of me I saw six or eight of them spread across the road. I knew I'd have a time getting through, so I jumped the fence to cut across the fields. I hit in a moment, and I saw them all and then I was in a trap. I jumped, and they came to me, but one of them was on a road leaned over and smashed my head in, rather with the butt of a gun, I believe. I came out from the fence, but they made a little circle around me. No one said anything. I saw they had ropes and saplings, and I didn't want that exactly, so I went in to them. I got a good many masks off before it was over, and I can swear to quite a number besides those I told you."

He named the men slowly and carefully. Then he went on: "I think they gave up the notion of whipping. We all got into a bunch, and they couldn't get clear to shoot without hitting some of their own, and there was a lot of gouging and kicking. One fellow nearly got my left eye, and I tried to tear him apart, and he screamed a good deal. Once or twice I thought I might get away, but somebody lammed me over the head and face again, and I got dizzy, and then they all jumped away from me suddenly, and Bob Skillet stepped up and—shot me. He waited for a flurry of lightning, and I was slow tumbling down. Some one else fired a shotgun. I think I can't be sure, about the same time from the side. I tried to get up, but I couldn't, and then they got together for a consultation. The man I had hurt—I didn't recognize him—came and looked at me. He was nursing himself all over and groaned, and I laughed; I think at any rate my arm was lying stretched out on the grass, and he stamped his heel into my hand, and after a little of that I quit feeling."

"I'm not quite clear about what happened afterward. They went away—not far, I think. There's an old shed, a cattle shelter, near there, and I think the storm drove them under it to wait for a shack. It seemed a long time. Sometimes I was conscious, sometimes I wasn't. I might be drowned, but I suppose the rain was good for me. Then I remember being in motion, being dragged and carried a long way. They carried me up a steep, short slope and set me down near the top. I knew that was the railroad embankment, and I thought they meant to lay me across the track, but it didn't occur to them they were my friends, with melodrama—and a long time after that I felt and heard a great banging and rattling under me and all about me, and it came to me that they had disposed of me by hoisting me into an empty freight car. The odd part of it was that the car wasn't empty, for there were two men already in it, and I knew them by what they said to me."

"They were the two shell men that cheated Hartley Bowlder, and they weren't vindictive. They even seemed to be trying to help me a little, though perhaps they were only stealing my clothes, and maybe they thought for them to do anything unpleasant would be superfluous. I could see that they thought I was done for and that they had been hiding in the car when I was put there. I asked them to try to call the trainmen for me, but they wouldn't listen or else I couldn't make myself understood. That's all. The rest is a blur. I haven't known anything more until those surgeons were here. Please tell me how long ago it happened. I shall not die, I think. There are a good many things I want to know about." He moved restlessly, and the nurse soothed him.

Meredith rose and left the room with a needless step. He went out to the stairs again and looked to them to check the storm of rage and sorrow that buffeted his bosom. He understood lynching, now the thing was home to him, and his feeling was no inspiration of a fear lest the law miscarry. It was the itch to get his own hand on the rope. Horner came out presently and whispered a long, broad, profound curse upon the men of the Crossroads, and Meredith's gratitude to him was keen. Barrett went away soon after, and Meredith had a strange, unreasonable desire to kick Barrett, possibly for his sergeant's sake. Warren Smith sat in the ward with the nurse and Gay, and the road leaned over and smashed my head in, rather with the butt of a gun, I believe. I came out from the fence, but they made a little circle around me. No one said anything. I saw they had ropes and saplings, and I didn't want that exactly, so I went in to them. I got a good many masks off before it was over, and I can swear to quite a number besides those I told you."

Had Not Strength To Do His Work

Was laid up for a month and suffered greatly but cure came with the use of Dr. Chase's Remedies.

While Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is extraordinary as a system builder it is only slightly laxative and persons inclined to constipation and liver or kidney disorders obtain the best results by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at the same time, taking one pill at a dose as often as is required to keep the bowels active.

Mr. FREDERICK WHITTAKER, 906 Queen's Avenue, London, Ont., writes:—"I used nine boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and six boxes of his Kidney-Liver Pills for a run-down system and now feel like a new man in every way. Before beginning this treatment I had been laid up for a month, as I had not the strength to stand up at my work as machinist and suffered much from headaches, stomach troubles, and pains in my legs."

"If I ever got run down in health again I shall not be long in trying these medicines, for I have proven their excellence."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 25 cents a box. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 95 cents a box. Both of these remedies are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of the money, are on every box.

paring broth, and they insisted that the two latter delicacies be fed to the patient at once. They were still in ignorance of the truth about the Crossroads and spent the day of it was Sunday partly in getting in the way of the attendants and partly in planning an assault upon the Rouen jail for the purpose of lynching Slattery in case Harkness' condition did not improve at once. Those who had heard his statement kept close mouths until the story appeared in full in the Rouen papers on Monday morning. But by that time every member of the Crossroads White Caps was lodged in the Rouen jail with Slattery. Horner and a heavily armed posse rode over to the muddy corners on Sunday night, and the sheriff discovered that he might have taken the Skillet and Johnsons single handed and unarmed. Their nerve was gone. They were shaken and afraid, and to employ a figure somewhat inappropriate to their sullen, glad surrender, they fell upon his neck in their relief at finding the law vindictive.

It was a wet, gray day. The wide country lay dripping under formless wraps of thin mist, and the warm, drizzling rain blackened the weather beaten shingles of the station, made clear reflecting puddles on the unevenly worn planks of the platform and dampened the packing cases too thoroughly for occupation by the station lounge. The bus driver, Mr. Bennett, and the proprietors of two attendant "cut under" and three or four other worthies whom business or the lack of it called to that locality awaited themselves of the shelter of the waiting room, but the gentlemen of the Herald were too agitated to be confined save by the limits of the horizon.

They had reached the station half an hour before train time and consumed the interval in pacing the platform under a big cotton umbrella, addressing each other only in monosyllables. Those

It took nearly a week to persuade the people of Platville that it was better for them to go home, and it was only the confidence inspired by the manner of the two eminent surgeons (they lay in wait all hours to interview these gentlemen that did persuade them to return—and the promise of two daily bulletins.

As many of them said on their return, Platville didn't feel like the same place, and a strange thing had happened—for the first time in five years the Carlow County Herald missed five altogether. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday passed. Mr. Fishbe only sat staring out of the dingy office windows with Parker in a demented silence. There was no Herald; there was no one to get it.

In the Rouen hospital John Harkness feebly moved on his bed of pain. His constant delusion was that the universe was a vast, white heated brass ball and he a point at the center of it, listening, listening for years, to the braying hum it gave off and burning in hot waves of sound.

Finally he came to what he would have considered a lucid interval had it not appeared that Helen Sherwood was whispering to Tom Meredith at the foot of his bed. This he knew to be a fictitious presentation of his fever, for was she not by this time away and away for foreign lands? And also Tom Meredith was a slim young thing and not a middle aged youth with an undeniable stomach and a baldish head who by the proreostrophic necromancy of fever assumed a grotesque likeness of his old friend. He waved his hand to the figures, and they vanished like figments of a dream; but, all the same, the vision had been real, it was enough for the lady to look excitedly pretty. No one could help wishing to stay in a world which contained as charming a picture as that.

But the next night Meredith waited near his bedside, haggard and disheveled. Harkness had been lying in a long stupor. Suddenly he spoke, quite loudly, and the young surgeon, Gay, who leaned over him, remembered the words and the tone all his life.

"Harkness" said away across the ward, "I saw you in a vision. She was in a vision with me."

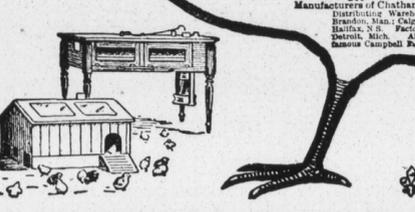

"What is it, John?" whispered Meredith huskily. "You're feeling easier, aren't you?"

And John smiled a little, as if, for the moment, he saw and knew his old friend again.

That same night a friend of Rodney McCune's sent a telegram from Rouen: "He is dying. His paper is dead. Your name goes before convention in September."

CHAPTER XI.

MR. ROSS SCHOFIELD was engaged in decorating the hotel room with blue satin ribbon, the purchase of which at the Dry Goods Emporium had been directed by a sudden inspiration of his superior, Mr. Parker of the composing force. It was Ross' intention to garnish each chair with an elaborately tied bow, but as he was no sailor and understood only the intricacies of a hard knot he confined himself to that species of ornamentation, leaving, however, very long ends of ribbon hanging down after the manner of the pendants of rosettes. Mr. Schofield was alone at his labor, his two confederates having taken themselves to the station to meet the train from Rouen.

It was a wet, gray day. The wide country lay dripping under formless wraps of thin mist, and the warm, drizzling rain blackened the weather beaten shingles of the station, made clear reflecting puddles on the unevenly worn planks of the platform and dampened the packing cases too thoroughly for occupation by the station lounge. ### NEW BRUNSWICK'S VALUABLE FISHING.

Fortunes Paid in This Province By American Millionaires For Salmon Fishing Privileges.

Enormous sums of money are expended by the American salmon fishermen who yearly flock to the waters of northern New Brunswick. Apart from all other expenses the cost of the fishing rights is often great. The rate of increase in values is illustrated by the fact that the angling of the Restigouche and its tributaries was leased some years ago by fishermen who are still catching salmon for $150 a year, while thousands of dollars are now paid annually for the right to fish the waters of these rivers controlled by the government, and $500,000 would not suffice to purchase the remaining riparian rights. Nearly $300,000 has already been paid to riparian proprietors on the Restigouche by the present holders of fishing rights.

The largest owner of fishing rights at present is the Restigouche Salmon Club, one of the most profitable concerns of the kind in the world. Its members have invested many multi-millionaires and capitalists at present but thirty-two in all. Its shares are eagerly sought at $10,000 each.

The headquarters and main club house of the Restigouche are situated at Metapedia, at the junction of the Metapedia and Restigouche rivers. Here the members of the club who have fished by day, wearing the usual attire of anglers in the woods, must observe the club rule of donning evening dress for dinner.

A New York chef supervises the preparation of the meals, and the dinner room has been the scene of many a good fishing story from such past masters of the art as Harry Hollins, the late Dean Sage, the late Robert Goetz, the Rev. W. S. Rainsford and the late Dean Hoffman. Among others who are now or have been members of this famous club, are Wm. K. Vanderbilt, Henry W. DeForest Cornelius Vanderbilt, Philip Schuyler, Henry T. Sloane, Stanford White, Arthur D. Weeks, William E. Dodge, Robert G. Dun, S. Weir Mitchell, John S. Kennedy, John L. Cadwalader and Wm. L. Brezee.

It would require a pretty large chest to hold all the title deeds in virtue of which the Restigouche Salmon club exercises its fishing rights. It is interesting to note that for the New Brunswick side of Tom's Brook and Indian House posts, the sum of $7,500 was paid in 1885, while the Quebec side of the Indian House property, all the way down to about one mile below Tom's Brook, cost $35,000 in 1895. Yet in 1880 S. and J. Wilnot bought the same property for $1,500. The increase in its value was thus 2,300 per cent. in fifteen years. The Metapedia pools were acquired by the club in 1891 for $25,000, the sellers having paid $2,000 for them in 1882 to the resident proprietors.

High prices have also been paid for salmon fishing on the Restigouche by individual sportsmen. In 1890 the late Mr. Robert Goetz purchased the Moore property, about six miles from Metapedia on the Quebec side of the Restigouche, for $200,000. Yet he fished this water, which is about three-quarters of a mile in extent, only on two occasions, and then with poor success, as the owner of the opposite side of the river asserted that the boundary line between the two provinces was the middle of the stream, and all the best of the fishing was on the New Brunswick side of the river. This made Mr. Goetz's purchase of very small value so far as fishing was concerned.

In 1896 Mr. Goetz purchased the McAndrew property, seventeen miles from Metapedia, for $35,000. In 1883 it cost Mr. McAndrew about $5,000.

The Sweeney and Dean Sage estate properties at the mouth of the Upsalquitch, seven miles from Metapedia, were originally purchased from resident proprietors between 1880 and 1885, for about five thousand dollars. The Sweeney lots are now held by Mr. Payne, of Cleveland who paid $35,000 for them in 1895. The late Dean Sage sold part of his rights on the New Brunswick side to his friend, Mr. Clyde, of New York, for $7,000. Harry Hollins became the proprietor some ten years ago, of the Brandy Brook pool and neighboring waters, paying $15,000 for them.

For the Kesigwick pools at the mouth of the river where it enters the Restigouche, and for some of the still lower pools, Archibald Rogers of New York paid $7,000 a few years ago, and they could not now be bought for $70,000.

In addition to the main club houses of the Restigouche Salmon Club, its members have at their disposal a number of comfortable subsidiary camps in different parts of their territory. So far this season the sport has been far from good, though better sport is looked for later in the season, owing to the fish being smaller.

While Billy Florence almost always did his salmon fishing in the Restigouche, Joe Jefferson's favorite river was the Miramichi. Searched second in importance to the Restigouche is the Cascapedia. It is probable that the provincial government could easily obtain a quarter of a million dollars for its fishing rights in this famous stream. For a part of the year it receives $8,500 a year from the Cascapedia Salmon Club.

No fine pools, as far as fishing and no larger streams are to be found in North America than those of the Cascapedia. It has been fished by nearly all the present governor-generals of Canada, and the Marquis of Lorne, now Duke of Argyll, who frequently fished it with his wife the Princess Louise, declared it to be the finest salmon river in the world. It contains more than twenty fine spots of salmon pools.

In one season Lord Lansdowne and his party killed in the river 320 salmon, weighing 7,277 pounds, and in the following year Lord Stanley of Preston, now the Earl of Derby, and his party, killed 300 fish weighing 7,692 pounds. It was on this river that Mr. R. G. Dun entertained President Arthur and the record of American fresh water, a salmon of fifty-four pounds, is said to have been among one of Mr. Dun's catches on the Cascapedia.

Very valuable salmon rivers, including the Washaboo, portion of the Nepisiguit and the Moisie, for the lease of which thousands of dollars have been paid during a single year, are owned outright by Mr. Ivers W. Adams, of Boston.

Enormous salmon are captured in the Moisie, hundreds of them every year. Washaboo is leased by Mr. Adams to a New York friend for $1,000 a year.

Mr. Jas. J. Hill pays $3,000 a year rental to the government for the lease of the St. John river in Labrador, and its distance from Quebec renders it almost necessary to employ a steam yacht to reach it.

THE SMALL-POX QUESTION.
Any intelligent physician will admit that you don't catch small-pox because someone else has it, but because your constitution favors it. Low vitality always encourages sickness and at this season especially, everyone should take Ferrazine which destroys disease germs and makes the system so strong and healthy that sickness can't exist. Ferrazine is a vitalizing tonic that makes rich, red blood, builds up the nerves, cures nervousness and drives away tired languid feeling. To get strong and keep strong use Ferrazine. It cures head and colds but does not at all drug-get.

Is life really worth living? asked the man with the question habit.

In this 20th century it is just as necessary for a merchant or a professional man to use neat, up-to-date printed stationery as for him to wear stylish clothes and have a respectable place of business. The old saying that clothes do not make the man may be true but in this age a good deal depends on appearance, and the business man who pretends to be such and uses plain stationery does not "cut much ice" with the wholesale houses with which he does business, they too judge by appearance.

It is a matter of considerable regret that the Meister Glee Singers were not accorded a larger patronage here in the Orange Hall last Thursday evening. The audience which greeted them was small indeed. Those who had the good fortune to attend pronounced the attraction the best of its kind ever on the Miramichi. It is a pity that such high class attractions are not better patronized.

A despatch to the Advocate from Woodstock yesterday states that the trial of Thomas and Walter Cammack, charged with the murder of William Doherty began there in the morning. Hon. Wm. A good sized and exceedingly appreciative audience listened to Prof. Brown in the Temperance Hall on Monday night, on adapted Physical Culture and Phrenology. From the way he handled his subjects, he proved himself a master and his advice invaluable. To those afflicted with bodily irregularities and mental deficiencies he will prove a boon. He announced his intention of immediately opening up classes in adapted exercises and guarantees to relieve at once constipation, rheumatism, etc. His explanation of the causes of these troubles certainly upholds his theories, as to the only way of eliminating them as also of building up men and women. His head readings were exceedingly correct. Much enjoyment and general satisfaction repaid all those who had the good fortune to hear him.

I. C. R. Police Inspector Skeffington was called to St. Flavie a few days ago to investigate a case, which he successfully worked out resulting in the arrest of a man named Oullette, on charge of forgery. It appears that last month, when the I. C. R. employees at St. Flavie were receiving their wages, Oullette went into the pay car and signed his name opposite that of an employee named Cote. The latter's pay for the month was $65.50 while Oullette was only entitled to $36. Oullette was almost doubling his pay at the expense of the paymaster. The forgery was of course discovered when Cote called for his pay. An investigation inmediately took place with the result that Oullette was arrested and money recovered.—Events.

The Newcastle Football team were defeated after a closely contested game on Saturday. The Chatham team had the choice of goal and defended the upper one. Newcastle kicked on and in a very few minutes the ball was on Chatham's 10 yard line. The situation was relieved by a kick which was not returned. This brought the ball into Newcastle territory. After a few minutes scrambling the ball was carried across for a try. The try was not converted into a goal. For the remainder of the half the ball was kept in the centre of the field. In the second half there was no score made. Newcastle tried time after time to score but were blocked by the defense work of the Chatham team. The half closed with the ball in Chatham territory. Mr. R. Corry Clarke officiated as referee. The members of the home team are—Forwards Bayle, Allison, Clarke, McNeil, Wright, Beckwith, Ritchie, Creaghans, Quarters, Lingley and Harman, Halves, Treg, Aitken, Gromley, and McKenzie. Full Back, McDonald. The game was lacking in any brilliant plays. The lack of combination was largely responsible for the defeat. If the Newcastle team could only be persuaded to practice it would be vastly improved but without training and practice combination work a football team is not much use. The score was 3-0

Creaghan Building Will be Headquarters of Mr. Robinson During Campaign.

The Conservatives of Newcastle met in the Town Hall, last Thursday evening. The meeting was presided over by Mr. John Clark. The first business of importance was selection of delegates to attend the Chatham convention. When this matter had been disposed of Mr. D. Morrison, M. P., arose and made a few remarks. He suggested the advisability of forming a Liberal-Conservative club.

The following officers were elected: President—John Clark. 1st Vice Pres.—John Dalton. 2nd Vice Pres.—Lt. Col. Matthey. Secretaries—W. H. Belyea.

Suitable rooms have been secured in the Creaghan building and they have been furnished in a suitable manner. These rooms will be the headquarters of Mr. James Robinson during the campaign and his friends and supporters in all parts of the county are invited to visit them.

Local and Personal.

There was a little ripple of excitement in political circles here last week when it was announced that there might after all, be some opposition to Mr. Turgeon. The name of Mr. N. A. Landry was, we believe used, but Mr. Landry has informed his friends that he does not care for politics just now, and the probabilities are that Mr. Turgeon will be elected by acclamation.

Friends of Mr. Wing, the genial and popular manager of the Tracadie Lumber Co. are much pleased to hear that he is rapidly recovering from injuries received in the recent accident, when he was injured by a runaway team.

Considerable speculation is indulged in as to the cause of the frequent visits paid to Montreal, during the past few months, by one of our popular young merchants, and it is thought that an interesting event in his life will be announced shortly.
