The object of the operation was to relieve the obscurity of the eye of a patient which was caused by inflammation and which produced in time an opaque surface. The patient was a servant girl, who se ion was concerned, by reason or the whithen coating, which made both of the orbits opa-que, and she was so nearly blind that objects of considerable size were barely distinguish-able at the small distance of five feet. The operation took place at the Germantown hos-pital under the immediate direction of Dr. L. W. Fox. The operation, leaving all tech-nical language in the description out of it, is of a rabbitt's eye to the eye of a human sub-ject. As it is the first operation of the kind ever occurring in the world, the success of it has been a matter of interest among the pro-minent opthalmists of the country.

It would be foolishness for the voters of this county to handless their appropriations. suing the independent course which he pledged himself to the voters of this county that he would take, it shows their weakness
