THE CHIEF OF SOVEREIGNS!

Lord Rosebery's Graceful Tribute to the Memory of Queen Victoria.

Duke of York's Illness Said To Be Accompanied by Pneumonic Symptoms---Preparations for a Gorgeous Funeral Pageant.

New York, Jan. 31.—Rumors were expressing sorrow at the death of Queen Victoria and of congratulation on the accession of King Edward current late last night in London, says once. Don't miss this opportunity of a Herald dispatch, that the Duke of Cornwall's measles are accompanied by arranged to return to her husband's bedside as soon as she can hurry back from the funeral. All official reports unite in minimizing the attack.

According to a London dispatch to the World, the London Daily Express announces on what it claims to be the "highest authority," that it has been decided that the Duke of Cornwall and York is not to be created Prince of Wales, and, in fact, that the latter title is to be allowed to remain in abeyance for some years.

VII. There was a crowded attendance, Lord Rosebery, remarking that he would pass lightly over the congratulatory part of the programme, said his majesty's speech at the privy council meeting had sufficiently indicated the laws by which he intended his reign should be governed, thus promising to make his rule no less illustrious than that of his parent. Lord Rosebery then dwelt in eloquent terms on the life and death of Queen Victoria, saying that in the whole history of mankind no death had so touched such a large number of persons in the entire world. There was scarcely an intelligent individual in the civilized world, but was profoundly moved. He wondered if her subjects yet realized how much they had lost and what an enormous weight the Queen had in the councils of the world. It was not brilliancy or genius which could supply the advantage she gave Great Britain by her fund of knowledge, which was unequaled by any constitutional historian. It was no disparagement of other kings to say she was the chief of the European sovereigns, and her influence in the councils of patients where the councils of patients were less than the councils of patients where the councils of patients were less than the councils of patients were less than the councils of the councils cils of nations was always for peace, freedom and good government. All the field marshals of the British army able to endure the fatigue will ride with their staffs. The naval corps will also take part in the procession, which will be two miles long. The war office directs that Beethoven's and Chopin's funeral marches only shall be played. From the time the coffin reaches London to its departure guns will boom

SATURDAY PROCLAIMED A HOLIDAY. Toronto, Jan. 30.-The government of Ontario last night issued a proclamation appointing Saturday "a public holiday to be observed as a day of general mourning by all persons throughout our Province of Ontario." This settles all doubt as to the legal position on Saturday. Premier Ross says that all banks, legal offices and other places which are required to close on Dominion Day and similar holidays must close on Saturday. So far as Ontario is concerned, therefore, the Dominion proclamation is supplemented by this further ruling.

ANOTHER YEAR OF GO'D WORK.

Annual Congregational Meeting of First Presbyterian Church.

Encouraging Reports Presented-Pastor Declines Proposed Increase of Salary-Resolution Regarding the Queen's Death.

For a congregation of comparatively small numbers, including very few members, if any, who may be termed wealthy, to contribute, during the year, a sum exceeding $14,000, is an accomplishment that justified the spirit of honest pride apparent last night at the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian Church. The church is now in its 69th year, and with years has come increasing success in the great work in which it is engaged. Only ten years ago the revenue of this church amounted to some $3,000, and in 1900 to $14,000, though this includes the century fund, while the same decade has seen an increase in membership from less than 200 to 486. This growth is remarkable, yet in a way not to be wondered at. It was proven conclusively last night that the congregation is working zealously and harmoniously, that it is giving generously, and evidentily by means of considerable self-denial, and also that the congregation, appreciating the value of its esteemed pastor, desires to assist him in all pos-sible ways to make the First Presbyterian Church a power in well-doing. THE QUEEN'S DEATH.

This being the first opportunity for congregational expression of the loss sustained by the British Empire, by the whole world, and especially by the Word-advancing church, in the death of Queen Victoria, the following resolution, moved by Mr. John Cameron, was adopted by a silent standing vote: "Resolved, that the members and adherents of the First Presbyterian Church, of London, Ontarlo, in annual congregational meeting assembled, de-sire to give expression to their deep sense of the loss sustained by the empire, and by every good cause throughout the world, in the death of the beloved Queen Victoria. They recognize the broad impartiality of her rule, the constitutionality of her reign, and the majesty of her example as one who, by precept and life, lent her influence to whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report. And this congregation further extend to the Queen's successor, King Edward VII., their loyal assurances, and their prayer that God will make him a means of blessing to the empire and to the world. And that a copy of this resolution be sent to his excellency the governor-general, with the request that it be forwarded to his majesty."

THE SESSION STATEMENT. The meeting opened with singing and prayer, the pastor, Rev. W. J. Clark, presiding, and Mr. L. Gibson acting as secretary, in the absence of Mr. A. Mc-Pherson, who is ill.

The session statement was read by Mr. Harry Bapty, who has resigned his position as clerk of the session, to be succeeded by Mr. L. Gibson. Its main clauses were as follows:

"It cannot be forgotten that we have entered upon not only a new year, but also a new century, and it is natural also to remember at this time that in one more year the congregation of the First Preabyterian Church will have attained the age that is allotted to man-70 years. As we look back we have great reason to give thanks for all that God has wrought for us and by us, and forward with hope and courage. It is impossible to enter into a detailed review here, but inasmuch as the present pastorate is now over a decade old, it is interesting to note the fact that from a total revenue of some $3,000 at the end of 1899, the receipts went up to some $10,000 at the end of 1899. The membership has also increased from less than 200 at the end of 1899, and this notwithstanding the heavy drain there has been upon the membership by deaths and removals. "The representatives of the oldest seneration have been colled 'It cannot be forgotten that we have the heavy drain there has been upon the membership by deaths and removals. "The representatives of the oldest generation have been called away very rapidly the last few years. During the year just closed Mr. Adam Murray, an elder and member since 1835; Mr. Robert Reid, active in the affairs of the congregation since 1840; Mrs. William Grieve, also an old-time member; Mr. Andrew Denhoim, sexton for over 37 years, have been called away. We greatly regret we have been called upon to suffer the loss of Mr. H. M. Lay from the session and congregation. Messrs. A. A. Maver, T. B. Miller and A. P. Templeton have been an added strength to the session, and will be increasingly useful.

"There have been fourteen deaths in the families of the congregation, five of these being little children. The Lord hath been calling the lambs home to his heavenly fold. Fifty-three have been fourteen baptisms during the year.

"The session has been greatly encouraged with the response made to the appeal of the church towards the century fund, and the generosity shown in the large proportion assigned to the work of the church at large. There has been in many cases real self-derial, and the biessing will surely follow. There has been received in cash, $7,210 07; promises to pay, $409 50; making a total of $7,628 57; and as the time limit does not expire until the 1st of May, we are hopeful that $8,000, the full sum aimed at, may be yet attained.

"The thanks of the congregation are due and are hereby extended, throughthe session, to all who have aided in the work of the congregation throughout the past year, the board of managers and especially the treasurer; the Sabbath school staff, those who lead us in the service of praise, the ushers, and all others who have helped to forward the interests of the congregation.

"We fook forward hopefully. Very great changes have taken place in the last decade of the congregation's history. A modern school room is one of the necessities of the near future, Let us see to it that humbly and yet with abiding faith in God we undertake all responsibilities devolving upon us as a congregation, and may each individual honestly endeavor to bear his part. Tord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us," W. J. Clark, moderator. Harry Eapty, clerk."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

The Sunday school report, submit-ted by Superintendent John Anderson, was considered very satisfactory, and was adopted unanimously. During the year there were 250 scholars on the roll; 54 names were added, and 52 were removed. The highest attendance was 206. The average attendance during 1900 was 158. The loss of a number of earnest teachers was regretted, but, fortunately, worthy successors had been secured. The collections taken up were all devoted to missions and schemes of the church. This year the total amount raised was $295 75, which showed an average of $1 86 for each member of the school. The teachers and officers were hopeful for the future, and urged the parents to send the pupils regularly and supplement the efforts made at the school to impart a knowledge of the Bible to the children.

MISSIONARY WORK.

MISSIONARY WORK.

The membership of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, as reported by the secretary, Mrs. E. R. Turnbull, was 69, and the average attendance 36. The total contributions for the year amounted to $158 12, and the balance, $134 67, had been handed to the presbyterial treasurer. In addition to this a box of clothing, sent to the Northwest, was valued at nearly $90, and an appeal to the church, made by the society on behalf of the Indian famine fund, brought in $148 25.

Mrs. C. C. Swift, reporting for the Lades' Aid Society, told of a membership of 47, with an average attendance of 25. The work of the society resulted in the contribution of nearly resulted in the contribution of nearly $300, besides being of much assistance to the congregation in other

The missionary committee of the church reported two contributions of $829 90, and requested increased effort during the ensuing year, when the strain of the century fund will have been removed.

Miss M. Reid presented a gratifying report for the Victoria Mission Band. The meetings held were all interesting and resulted in much good. A box, valued at $36, was sent to the Northwest, and the band's share of the ship was 37 and average attendance 27.

The Young Woman's Home Mission Circle is the youngest organization in connection with the church and one of the most flourishing. Fifty-one names are enrolled on the membership list and the average attendance was 24. The total amount contributed by the band was $82 78.

Mr. J. Charles Riach, for the Young Men's Club, reported the excellent success that is accruing to its members, from the observance of its rules. The club is practical and helpful. Its officers are: President, Rev. W. J. Clark; vice-president, Mr. Ed. Reid; second vice-president, Mr. J. C. Riach; treasurer, Mr. John Sharp.

Mr. J. B. Aikenhead, secretary, read the report from the Society for Bible Study, of which the membership is 85. During the year 43 helpful meetings and one social evening were held. THE MANAGERS' REPORT

Mr. Clark then vacated the chair, and for the remainder of the evening Mr. R. G. Fisher, chairman of the board of managers, presided. In presenting the report of the board, he said that the church had done very well indeed. Where all the money had come from he could not imagine. Theirs was not a rich congregation, yet he believed they had a report that could not be duplicated in Ontario. It was truly gratifying to know that the congregation had contributed nearly $14,000, exclusive of the amounts raised by the church organizations. The hope was entertained that an effort would be made to do better during the year, in the contributions in envelopes towards the revenue fund. The total amount received from various sources throughout the year, including in full the century fund, but excepting mission and other societies' work, was $13,071 22. After paying on mortgage $1,-065, the percentage of the century fund

The board rejoiced with the congregation on such pleasing results, and most gratefully expressed its appreciation of the liberal and hearty response to the call of the century fund, and entertained the hope that the amount aimed at, $8,000, would be on hand in time for the final remittance. The retiring managers were: R. K. Cowan, Walter Simson, Ed E. Reid, W. J. Craig, Arch. McPherson, Wm. Tytler. As Mr. Tytler had withdrawn from the congregation, the five first-named only were eligible for re-elec-tion; also one to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Templetonseven members in all to be elected. The board made the following recom-mendations: That an increase of $100 per annum be added to Rev. W. J. Clark's salary. That the sum of $800 be placed to the credit of the session for choir purposes. That the constitution of the church be amended so that adherents may be eligible to act as managers. That $100 be granted the Sunday school of the church. That the ushers now officiating be re-elected, viz.: C. J. Riach, J. A. Sharp, J. M. Ferguson, F. Grant, J. Hynd, J. B. Aikenhead—with others added.

The report was signed by Arch. Mc-Pherson, secretary.

The report was considered clause by

Mr. Clark himself first referred to the recommendation that the amount of his salary be increased $100, saying that while he cordially appreciated it, as an expression of their kind feeling towards him, yet he could not accept it.

Though this decision practically negatived the recommendation, it gave an opportunity to several of the members.

The first was, "That from and after this date, adherents, as distinguished from communicants, shall be eligible to be members of the board of managers, to a number not to exceed one third of the total members of the said board." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Is Surprising in Its said that the idea of the original recommendation was good. There was splendid material among the adherents splendid material among the adherents that might well be utilized on the board of managers. Still it would not do for them to control that body, the majority of which should obviously consist of those in full membership and amenable to the session.

Mr. Andrew Greenlees was heartily in accord with Mr. Cameron, he said, and if there was any rule against adopting his proposal, it was more hon-ored in the breach than in observance. He, too, considered that the number of adherents on the board should be lim-

The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Cameron's second motion was to the effect that a communicant's membership on the board of managers should not be held to render him ineligible to act on the session, and vice versa. He moved this, he said, because it was difficult to get good men for either board, and when there were men on one who had the time to spare, and the necessary ability, it was undesirable to prohibit dual membership. It would be useful to have the two boards a little more in touch when there were good men on each.

Mr. Henderson objected on the ground that one board attended to the spiritual needs of the congregation and the other to its business affairs, while Mr. Greenlees, who also dis-acreed with the mover in this instance, objected on the score that the satis-factory performance of the duties factory performance of the duties of two boards would be well-nigh impos-sible. However, this motion also carried. The clause that a grant of the

All the ushers were reappointed, Messrs. W. Simson and C. F. Complin were elected auditors, and members of the board of managers were elected by ballet, as follows: Messrs. John Moore, C. G. Jarvis, R. K. Cowan, Ed. Reid, A. McPherson, F. W. Merchant,

Mr. Henderson having previously urged upon the board of managers the necessity of personally interviewing members of the congregation who do not contribute to the revenue of the church by the envelopes, so as to increase the amount subscribed, a motion was made by Mr. Thomas Bryan and carried, to the effect that the secretary mail the envelopes quarterly to each member and adherent, so that more general use of this system of subscription might be made.

Mr. H. Bapty moved, seconded by Mr. J. Anderson, that hereafter the anniversary services be held the second Sunday in December, and the annual meeting on the second Wednesday in January. Carried.

Special prominence was given to the re-election of Mr. A. M. Hamilton as treasurer for 1901. As the chairman of the board of managers said, "he has done his work gratuitously, has done it cheerfully, accurately and well," and he hoped that he might be here many years to be re-elected treasurer. Mr. Hamilton has been in harness, first as assistant treasurer, and afterwards as treasurer, since 1863—a great record. A vote of thanks to Messrs. Runlans, Gray, Carrie Company for draping the church last Sunday was passed, together with a vote of thanks to Mr. Fisher and Mr. Gibson, as chairman and secretary, respectively. The pastor congratulated the congregation upon the success of the meeting and the bright prospects of

In Some of the Provinces of Prussia.

Shocking Statements Made Against the Germans in China-Verdi's Funeral.

Berlin, Jan. 31.-The Prussian authorities in the Polish province of Prussia have discovered evidence of the existence of secret societies aiming at a revolutionary rising. Many arrests have been made in Posen. One of the ringleaders, Vladislav Bolsierski, a medical student, escaped across the Austrian frontier on Emperor William's birthday. An indignation meeting was held by the Poles in Posen to protest against the recent postal practice of not delivering mail matter addressed to Poles. It was attended largely, and speeches were made by prominent Polish members of the Reichstag and Diet, one of whom said Emperor William must drop the title of Grand Duke of Posen if he will not recognize the Polish language.

ANGLO-GERMAN TREATY.

A dispatch from Vienna says: Extraordinary significance is attached by the triple alliance to present events in England. King Edward's speech to the kaiser is regarded as evidence of a last-ing Anglo-German understanding. It is not thought impossible that a treaty has been concluded between England and Germany. VERDI'S FUNERAL.

Milan, Jan. 30.—The funeral of Verdi took place this morning. All the authorities followed the bier. The ceremony was most simple, and also most impressive, owing to the silent homage of the populace, who were present at the service in immense numbers. The body of Verdi was borne from his residence at 7 o'clock, and placed in a very modest functal car, which, even climbed the trees to get a glimps of the cortege. Several houses were draped with mourning. On the arrival of the body at the cemetery the crowd was so large that two squadrons of carbineers were unable to keep open a space around the grave-side. The body of the composer was interred without ceremony or speeches. CABLE NOTES.

ONTARIO'S BIG LUMBER CUT ONTARIO'S BIG LUMBER CUT.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—The annual meeting Toronto, Jan. 31.—The annual meeting of the Lumbermen's Association of Ontario took place here Tuesday. President Waldie's report showed that last year there had been a decrease in the cut of lumber in the Northern States, with a corresponding increase in the cut of Ontario lumber. Last year's cut was the largest on record, while it is estimated that this year's will be about the same. The new entury was begun with more cut lumber on hand, than a year ago. The outlook for the lumbermen, according to President Waldie, is very bright, both as regards export and domestic trade. mestic trade.

LIEUT. NELLES.

Toronto, Jan. 31. - Lieut.-Col. Nelles last night received a copy of a cable-gram announcing the death at Bloemfontein of his son, Lieut. W. H. Nelles, of peritonitis. Lieut. Nelles had been in South Africa for five years, and during the greater portion of that served as an engineer in railway construction work. Upon the arrival of the Strathcona's Horse at Cape Town he joined that regiment, and later received a commission in the command er-in-chief's bodyguard, and served in that capacity throughout the war. He was assistant adjutant with the Midlands in the Northwest in 1885. and was a graduate of the Kingston Military School, having spent four years in that institution.

IT MAY BE only a trifling cold, but neglect it and it will fasten its fangs in your lungs, and you will soon be carried to an untimely grave. In this country we have sudden changes and must expect to have coughs and colds. We cannot avoid them, but we can effect a cure by using Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the medicine that has never been known to fail in curing coughs, colds, branchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest.

Medical science doesn't seem to be able to cure it. One professor says in a very modest funeral car, which, followed by a few intimate friends, proceeded to the Church of St. Francis, the facade of which bore the inscription: "Peace to the soul of Guiseppe Verdi." The religious ceremony lasted only five minutes. Then a procession was formed, headed by priests, with firemen marching beside the car, and followed by friends of the deceased, local authorities, and leading citizens, bareheaded. A vast concourse lined the route, and people

Rush to Adopt Little Orphans.

New York, Jan. 31.—Never did the women of New York and vicinity make a greater rush on a bargain counter than hundreds made on Tuesday to get bables offered free by George Blair, superintendent of outdoor poor. The demand for white infants far exceeded the supply, and two stray waifs who were sent to the Randall's Island Infant Asylum on the noon boat Tuesday were "spoken for" before they had been in the institution half an hour.

Superintendent Blair, anxious to have the city relieved of some of the little foundlings who are deserted every year, builded better than he knew when he invited the public to inspect his supply of babies. He found his office besleged by applicants. There were some men in the crowd, but the great majority were women. All the little foundlings were selected, with the exception of 40 colored waifs. Not a single colored person called to look on the pickaninnies. The character of the applicants will be inquired into by Superintendent Blair, and if he receives a favorable report each family will get the little one for which it was arst applicant.

The Boycott.

Mr. W. L. Sheldon, a popular writer on ethical subjects, in discussing the ethical aspect of the boycott, shows that the new name stands for a thing that is very old, and, moreover, it is a thing very difficult to deal with ircm the moral point of view. "The boycett is an old weapon appearing under a new name, and with new fittings characteristic of our century. In a sense it is the method which was employed in Athens in the days of Pericles, by which a man in prominence could be 'ostracised' for a length of time, and in this way sent out of the city through a popular vote. The Inquisition was a form of the boy stt, although of a far more violent type. Historically, it has usually been regarded as a means of checking a dangerous use of freedom, holding the opportunities for free action within certain necessary limits. It has been a favorite weapon with the Church, and in the whole domain of religion. Indeed, wherever the rational side of man has been weakest, and the smotional the strongest, there this methou of the boycott has been the mos popular and most effective. It has been employed in all ages as a means of expressing the sense of righteous indignation." It may be used in many ways. In refusing to associate with a really bad man, one form of it is put in operation. A president of an American university suggested recently the use of it for checking shocking corruption among certain classes of wealthy people. "Ostracise such people; shut them out of society." Mr. Sheldon shows that it is very powerful. "The bravest man who thinks he can defy all the world, finds himself trembling and dismayed when people refuse to nod to him. He cowers then like a trembling brute, and his defiant courage may wilt to nothingness before such a mild and seemingly harmless weapon." This weapon may, however, be very dangerous if used carelessly or selfishly. It has in our time taken on respect to the late Queen, on the or- see white the emblem of mourning, new forms, and with some of them the ders of Hon. Mr. Tarte, Minister of and not dismal black. This weapon cannot be abolished altogether, but it may have to be guarded, or the very people who are most prone to use it now may some day find themselves the greatest sufferers from its abuse.

No Cause for Melancholy.

We may surely mourn our personal ioss in the passing of the good Queen without becoming national melancho-liacs.—Montreal Gazette.

Certainly, good friend. The position of Great Britain today as a world power, is certainly more satisfactory than it was at the beginning of the last century. And though we have lost our revered Queen, we have had no trouble in having placed upon the throne a constitutional sovereign, who has pledged himself to carry out his share in the government of this great empire with the greatest of care, walking in the footsteps of his lamented mother. It is a peaceful evolution, which only could be effected with so great ease under a constitutional monarchy.

The Chief Danger.

A number of prominent men were recently asked to state what seemed to them to be the greatest menace to twentieth century progress. The answers are interesting, though somewhat bewildering. Mr. Andrew Carnegie says: "I believe that ere the twentieth century closes the earth will be purged of its foulest shame. the killing of men in battle under the pame of war." W. T. Stead, of the Review of Reviews, writes in a similar strain. Sir Walter Besant condemns the increasing of naval armaments, designed, "apparently for protection," but in "reality for aggression."

Some claim that the greatest menace is of a social rather than internaional character. Joseph Arch, the English labor leader, believe the growing evil in society to be "a large accumulation of wealth on the one hand, a large increase of pauperism on the other." President Schurman, of Cornell University, fears most the perverted notion of the exaltation and pursuit of money as the foremost good of life. The safeguard is to be found in our schools and churches and perhaps most of all in the ideals and aspirations of noble souls. Conan

FROM OTTAWA

Vice-Royalty and the Death of Queen Victoria.

All Gaiety Suspended for Months in the Capital.

Dresses That May Be Worn at the Opening of Parliament.

Is Mourning as a Tribute of Respect to the Dead Overdone? -- Why Not White in Place of Black?

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Jan. 30.-We are but one week from the opening of Parliament, and on all hands there is evidence of the fact. But this opening will be unlike all others that have been witnessed since the capital was established here. The death of our beloved sovereign, Queen Victoria, has cast a pall over the capital, and the opening of Parliament, coming immediately after the funeral, and during the time of court mourning, which they tell us will last several months, will partake of the same sombre character. Ottawa has indeed shown its regret for the loss of the Queen in a manner that has left no doubt as to its genuineness. Flags have been for a week floating at half-mast, with the exception of the day on which His Majesty Edward VII. formally ascended the throne, and, whether in the English-speaking or French-speaking quarter, there has been no lack of outward display or funereal bunting. Stores, warehouses, banks and clubs have been draped with black, tinged with purple-which, you know, is court mourning, as understood by the knowing ones, and many of the churches were deeply draped with black on Sunday. In Dominion Methodist Church, of which Dr. Saunders, now of Dundas Street Center, your city, was formerly pastor, not only are the galleries and pulpit draped with black, but two Union Jacks have been placed with crape. The Parliament Buildings of some Eastern countries in this rehave been beautifully draped, out of gard, if in no other, and would like to though not as elaborately as the main much interested in these matters. In no Canadian home has the death of Her Majesty made a more profound impression than in the vice-regal mansion. Lady Minto, from her earliest years, has been a favorite of the Queen, her father being one of the Queen's most trusted generals, and in many ways intimately associated with the royal household. The Countess of Antrim, sister of Lady Minto, now on a visit at Rideau Hall, was also a ladyin-waiting and a close personal friend of Her late Majesty. The vice-regal household are indeed very much affected by the sad event. It is announced that they will go into mourning for six months, and this, of course, will put an end to all entertainment for the season. There were to be amateur theatricals at Rideau Hall this week, and the closing rehearsals, in which children and staff of the household were to take part, were in progress when word of the fatal illness of Her Majesty reached the capital, and they were immediately indefinitely postponed. Whether the vice-regal period of mourning be long or short, there can be no doubt of the reality of the mourning so far as the general public is concerned. On Saturday next, all business in the departments will be practically suspended, many, if not all, the stores will be shut, and the Governor-General and Ministers will go in a body, accompanied by a military escort, to Christ Church Cathedral, where the Archbishop of Rupertsland will hold service. This gathering has been under the especial supervision of His Excellency, who asked the church authorities to have 1,000 seats out of the 1,200 sittings in the cathedral, reserved for the use of himself and those whom he would invite, including the escort. This service is entirely apart from that to be held in other churches. The Methodists, for example, will hold a union service in the Dominion Church; the Presbyterians, Baptists and other churches will also have special services, so that the service arranged by His Excellency will be entirely apart from those in the other congregations. Nor must I omit the arrangements by the Roman Catholic Churches, where masses will be specially said. It may be noted, however, that though Saturday is a holiday, and is so proclaimed by His Ex-ness as usual. No sooner will the Tuneral celebra-Doyle and Max O'Rell fear most the tion be ever than the question of the crowing power of an "ill-balanced, ex- opening of Parliament will be

They mourn, no doubt, as earnestly as do the male section of the community, at the loss of our loved sovereign, but for the very large number who have been getting ready to attend the opening, who have been spending anxious days, It may be weeks or months, over the gay costumes that they were to wear on the floor of the Senate at the opening, at the Saturday evening drawing room, and to the Cabinet ministers' wives and daughters, at the state reception on the evening of the opening, is indeed added tribulation. For their pretty dresses have all to be kept out of sight, and the decree has gone forth that while almost all of these "functions" are withdrawn for the season, even at the formal opening proceedings, usually so gay, nothing but sombre black must be donned. The definite orders issued by His Excellency's chief aide leave no doubt on this score. The gowns to be worn by those on the floor of the Senate Chamber must be semievening dress, and of the deepest mourning. That is they must be black, without a touch of white, purple or any color, and they must be made high in the neck. No hats or bonnets must be It is thus that the vice-regal authorities set the pace for common humanity in these matters. They tell us that the period of mourning is likely to be fixed at three months, and if it is, then good-bye to the festivities usually crowded into the sessional term, for no one is to be met who expects the session to last longer than that time. The change will no doubt bring hardships to not a few in the capital, though not to as many of the inhabitants, in proportion to the whole, as would have been the case if the Queen had died twenty years ago, when Ottawa was not the metropolitan center of population which in later years it has become. Yet the merchants and caterers who reaped their golden harvest because of the festivities incident to the parliamentary opening, and those they employ, will feel the duliness incident to the calling off of all galety very much. For myself, while as sincere an admirer of our late sovereign as any one, I feel that in Ottawa we are inclined to overdo the outward display of regret. Indeed I am not one who believes that the person who most deeply covers herself with crape, or who betakes himself to long-continued gloom is always the most sincere mourner. If I had my way, too, I think I would discard a large proportion of the black garbs usually worn on the death of friends at either side of the pulpit, entwined and relatives. I lean towards the view like Queen Victoria, be long-continued, AN OLD LONDONER.

Goldwin Smith on Edward VII.

[Toronto Sun.] Edward VII. has opened his reign with an address remarkable for good feeling and good taste. He sees more clearly than some indiscriminate panegyrists where his mother's real merit as a constitutional monarch lay. He has done well in preferring the English name Edward to the German name Albert. The name of Edward the Confessor, saintly king of the Saxon line, was cherished by the conquered Saxon as the symbol of lost liberties and the watchword of effort for their renewal. Revived in the person of Edward I. it was a passport to the affection of the people. Of all English kings the first Edward may perhaps be deemed the greatest; Eng-land, and not England only, but all nations under parliamentary government, are reaping the benefit of his

It is a singular thing that in the popular view of disease the interdedence of the several organs of the body is lost sight of. The heart, for example, is diseased and it is treated as if it were entirely separated from, and independent of, every other organ.

The fallacy of this opinion is shown by the cures of heart "trouble," liver "trouble," kidney "trouble" and other so-called "troubles," effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discov-Primarily the "Discovery" is edicine for the cure of diseases of the stomach and blood. But it cures diseases of organs seemingly remote from the stomach, because these diseases have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

"I was so tire, and discouraged if I had had my choice to live or die I would have preferred to die. My husband heard of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and he bought a bottle. I took that and the first half seemed to help me. I took air bottles before I stopped. I am perfectly well, and am cooking for six boarders. It has been a God-send to me."

DOMINION GRANGERS IN SESSION AT TORONTO

Address of Master Jabel Robinson-Loca Granges Being Revived.

Toronto, Jan. 31.-There is a large gathering of delegates at the annual meeting of the Dominion Grange now being held here.

Jabel Robinson, M. P. of West Elgin, master of the grange, in his address said a good many local granges have been revived that have lain dormant for years. Mr. Robinson says if wealth, voting power and population were considered, more than half the members of the commons should be farmers, whereas there are only farmers out of 213 members. The gal profession is represented by 65. Among the reforms urged by Mr. Robinson are election of senators by direct vote of the people, the control and operation of railways by the government, but if this cannot be done at once, the appointment of a railway the institution of rural free mail delivery and the extension of education on agricultural subjects in the common schools.

The special committee to draft a resolution of condolence to the King and royal family on the death of Queen Victoria, presented for the council's approval the following memorial, with the recommendation that it be cabled direct to the Hon. the Secretary for the Colonies, London,

This memorial of the Council of the County of Middlesex, in the Province of Ontario, Dominion of Canada, expresses the profound sorrow, which in common with our fellow-subjects we feel, and which now fills the hearts and homes of ourselves and our constituents in consequence of the death of Her Majesty Victoria, Queen and Empress, a sorrow which springs from love of one who has bestowed such incalculable benefits upon our fathers, ourselves and our children, through her wisdom and devotion as a sovereign, her exalted example and her ever-flowing appreciation of and sympathy with the feelings of her people. Time has assimilated this love to that which blesses and binds the home, more than from that due from subjects to sovereign, and today we mourn for a heartfelt bereave-ment. We humbly offer our symour symventilation. On returning from the court house the council was addressed by the engineer on the matter of ventilation. He advocated a system similar to that in the county buildings, which has proved quite satisfactory. He pointed out that by agreement with the city council, that body had to be consulted re any proposed alterations in the

MUTINY AT ST. HELENA

West Indian Troops Terrorize the Inhabitants.

Insubordination Suppressed Only by Force-Trouble Arose From a Quarrel With Blue Jackets.

London, Jan. 30.-The West Indian troops, stationed at the Island of St. Helena (where Gen. Cronje and a large number of Boers are held prisoners), mutined early during the month, raided the town, terrorized the inhabitants, injured many of them, defied their officers and were subdued only when faced by the muzzles of rifles. The censor suppressed the news, but the Associated Press has received the story by mail.

The trouble started with a row on the night of Jan. I between some Blue Jackets and a party of West Indians. On the following night the West In-dians broke out of the barracks and raided the town with clubs, and razors tied to sticks.

THEY RAN AMUCK. cutting and beating women, children and men indiscriminately, and attacked the Sailors' Rest, tearing out the doors and windows.

All the efforts of the officers to suppress the mutineers were futile. When ordered to the camp they refused to obey, and threatened to dynamite the town. A strong naval force then was landed, the available troops were col-lected, and the streets were paraded and guarded all night long. SUBDUED.

At daybreak the troops were drawn up, with loaded rifles, in front of the place where the West Indians were barricaded. The latter was ordered to surrender, and were notified if they did not do so they would be fired upon. The mutineers were cowed, and allowed themselves to be taken to the camp, where they will remain under guard until a troopship shall arrive to re-

WAS THERE NEGLIGENCE

Case of Brown vs. London Street Railway Heard on Appeal-Judgment Reserved.

The following case was heard at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, Tuesday: Brown vs. London Street Railway Company—Gibbons, K.C., for plaintiff, appeared from the judgment of Meredien, C.J., entered on the findings of the jury in action for damages for in juries caused to plaintiff, who, while attempting to cross Dundas street at Colborne street, in the city of London, was knocked down by a car. Plaintiff complained that the car was being run at a high rate of speed, and no warning of its approach was given to him. The jury in an answer to questions found that the defendants were guilty of negligence in running at too high a rate of speed, in not sounding the gong, and in not having the car under proper control, and that the injury to plaintiff was caused by their negli-gence. They also found in answer to the fifth and sixth questions submitted to them that the plaintiff, was guilty of contributory negligence in not using more caution in crossing the railway tracks, and they then assessed the plaintif's damages at $600. The action has been tried three times. On behalf of appellant the charge and questions were objected to in that it was assumed that defendants had no responsibility until they became aware of plaintiff's danger, instead of, as the fact is, that the motorman was bound to look out, and that he ought to have become aware of it. It was contended that there was no evidence of contributory negligence—that the proximate cause of the accident, as found by the was the defendant's negligence, and the affirmative answer to the question, "Was the plaintiff guilty of contributory negligence?" taken with the other findings, brought the case within Rowan vs. Toronto R. W. Co., 29 S. C. R., 717. That it was absurd and inconsistent to hold that the ac-cident was caused by the neglect of the defendants on three grounds, want of warning and running at too high a speed, and also to hold that it was caused by plaintiff's neglect. idgment should be entered for plaintiff or there should be a new trial and a further question put to the jury to answer, that though the plaintiff had been negligent and his negligence might in fact have contributed to the accident, yet if the defendants could ary care and diligence have avoided mischief, the plaintiff's negligence will not excuse them: See Radley London and N. W. Railway Co., 1 App. Cas. 754, and see also an able review of the law in question by Ferguson, of the law in question by reguson, J., in Forwood vs. City of Toronto, 22 O. R., at p. 355. It is perfectly clear that defendants' negligence was the proximate cause of the accident according to the findings, and the plaintiff's negligence (if any) is not "contributory negligence," with the legal meaning of that term. Hellmuth for defendants, opposed the appeal and contended that upon the evidence for the plaintiff twelve reasonable men must find that he had been quilty of contributory negligence, and therefore there should have been a non-suit, but admitting that not to be so, then the finding as to the contributory negligence by plaintiff is final and should not be set aside. The case is distinguishable from Rowan's case, because here the jury did not use the word "possibly," but the simple affirmative, and in the next question explained in but the simple affirmative, what the negligence consisted, and then they lastly find that the defendants' servants could not with the exercise of reasonable care after plaintiff's position became apparent have prevented the accident, thus the CONTROL IN SOUTH AFRICA. The accession of King Edward VII. has been proclaimed in the Dutch territories of South Africa, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. There is no reason to doubt that the king shared his mother's opinion respecting the justice and necessity of the British campaign in South Africa. What is uncertain is his judgment respecting Mr. Chamberlain, who, during Queen's closing years, seemed to be her favorite minister. The King has always been a true non-partisan in British polities, dealing impartially with leaders of both parties, and concealing his prejudices and preferences.

ARRIVAL OF KING CHARLES. London, Jan. 30. - King Charles of Portugal, with a large suite, and ac-companied from Dover by the Portuguese minister, Senhor Pinte de Foy oral and his staff, reached Victoria station at noon today. King Charles was met on the platform by Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein in behalf of King Edward, and various officials of King Edward's household. His majesty's equerry delivered an autograph message from King Edward to King Charles, and the latter and his suite were immediately driven to Bucking-ham Palace. King Charles was warmly greeted by the crowds which gathered along the route in anticipation of his arrival. There was no military escort. Later in the day King Edward visited King Charles.

DEVELOPMENT OF STEEL TRADE IN CANADA. Toronto, Jan. 30.—The retiring president of the Toronto Board of Trade, Mr. Kemp, in his address at the annual meeting yesterday, referred to the continued prosperity of the country, and especially to the remarkable development of the iron and steel industry in three development of the country, and especially to the remarkable development of the iron and steel industry in Nova Scotia and Ontario. Mr. Kemp, who has long been prominent in the movement to secure better freight rates, said: "During the past few years there has been a noticeable tendency on the part of our railways, in order to increase their revenues, to steadily advance freight rates to the utmost limit of what it is deemed in their judgment the traffic will stand; also to withdraw from shippers privileges which they have hitherto enjoyed, and to enforce new regulations favorable to themselves and frequently of corresponding disadvantage to shippers." Mr. Kemp expressed the hope that the railways would reverse their policy in the public interest. vs. London Street Railway Co., 30 O.

DETECTIVE COCKBURN.

Tells of the Decline of the Tramp in Ontario.

Vigorous Steps That Were Taken to Drive Them Out-170 Arrested in Three Weeks.

G. T. R. Detective Cockburn was in the city yesterday, and was a visitor at the local police station. In conversation with a couple of press men. he spoke interestingly of the crusade against the tramp nuisance, which was undertaken within the past eighteen months by the Ontario government, in conjunction with the local municipalities and the G. T. R. officials. In the fall of 1899 Detective Cockburn and Government Detective Joe Rogers went out, accompanied by four special detectives, and rounded up over 170 professional hoboes in three weeks. All of these gentry were given six months in the Central Prison. Later expeditions were undertaken, the catch each time decreasing, until today a professional tramp is a rare sight along the line of railways in Ontario. On the advice of the provincial authorities, local magistrates meted out like sentences to the vagrants brought before them, with the result that the noble fraternity of never-works now give Ontario a wide berth. Detective Cockburn also relates many contres between tramps and officers of London, Jan. 36 .- Besides 60 royal the law. One of his stories is of five tramps who boarded an eastbound freight from Toronto, and with flourished revolvers defied the train hands to put them off. A telegram to Bowmanville for police aid failed to find any local police, but reached instead Colonel, then Major Sam Hughes, who, with a dozen of his stalwart Victoria county volunteers, was attending a rifle match at the Durham county town. He formed up his squad and marched them down to the spot where the tramps had detrained and hidden themselves. On the approach of the soldiers the tramps scattered, only to find themselves targets for some rifle practice, which the hardy sons of Victoria county had hardly expected when they left their native lairs around the Kawartha Lakes and Coboconk. It augured ill for their success at the rift butts that not a tramp was hit by flying bullets. However, two of the sons of rest were captured, and two more gathered in later as they were boarding departing freights, while the detectives also found several revolvers which they had thrown away in their flight from Major Sam's cohorts.

Another of Detective Cockburn's anecdotes described how five tramps were arrested at a tramps' "hangout by three constables, and as the party moved off down the track they were approached by a stocky stranger, who demanded the prisoners as his, he having followed them from Peterboro. He reached into his pockets ostensibly for handcuffs, but when he brought them forth the constables found themselves gazing into the muzzles of dangerous-looking revolvers, while the tramps had taken advantage of the diversion created by their champion and late companion to separate over the county, leaving the county the poorer by the loss of seven pairs of handcuffs. On being captured later, the rescuer and pseudo-detective proved to be a noted English burglar. after dropping a sledge on his toes in an English prison quarry, later made his escape from the prison hospital, and had then stowed away and come to America. On being tried, he conducted his own defense with assurance and ability.

ARTHUR COLEY LIVES

Not Dead, as Many of His Friends Thought He Would Be.

Swan Lake, Man., Jan. 28 .- A young man is living here today whom many people in and about Somerset, Man., no doubt think to be in the grave. His name is Arthur Coley, and when he left Somerset in 1894, he was in the last stages of Bright's Disease and Diabetes. "Many will be surprised, I am sure, to find that I am alive," says Mr. Coley, "for I was utterly prostrated with Bright's Disease and Diabetes.

"I did not expect to live. Now I am able thankfully to say that pain and weakness are unknown to me. I am a farmer, and can now do as hard a day's work as anyone, whereas before using Dodd's Kidney Pills I was given up to die with Bright's Disease and Diabetes. This was in 1894. I am well today. Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life. They cure to stay cured."

That famous farce comedy, "Finnegan's Ball," will be presented at the London Opera House Thursday night. The management appreciate the necessity of keeping their farce-comedy right up to date, and during the past summer extensive alterations have been made, so that it will appear like a new piece this season. New music, specialties, songs and dances have been introduced, and all old material put aside. A number of new faces will be seen in the company.

DEATH OF A RESPECTED RESIDENT

Much Regretted Demise of a Shedden Company's Employe-Some Particulars.

The death of Mr. Robert Gray, of 275 under circumstances that were unusu- western Ontario for 1901 is 501,000,000 ally sad. For more than 47 years he had been connected with the Shedden Forwarding Company, of which his brother, Mr. Thomas D. Gray, is local agent, and, in fact, was in the company's service longer than any other employe in the city. More than a month ago he became ill, and the consequent worry over his health and his forced discontinuance of work, shattered his nervous system completely. It was on Jan. 2 that he stopped work.

This morning he left the house, which is in the Shedden stable yarls, where Mr. Gray was stableman, and, lesp.te the protests of his wife, went towards one of the outbuildings. Further than their desire to have him stay in the house, Mrs. Gray and her daughter, who lives at home, did not worry about han for it had been his custom to roam about in the vards.

Sometime between 10 and 11 o'clock, W. F. Wellman and Wm. Michael were working in the stables, and the latter had occasion to go to another building. Immediately as he entered he saw the instrimate form of the aged stableman, suspended by a short rope from the north wall. He called Mr. Wellman, and together they examined the body, in which, by this time, all life was extinct. The rope was fastened about his neck, but would not have permitted him to hang free, so that to complete the deed, the despondent man had to bend his knees. He was in this half-kneeling attitude when found. His brother, Mr. Thomas Gray, was in the office on York street at the time. He had just received word from the Shedden headquarter that his ailing brother's time would be allowed to him. Knowing that this good news would cheer him, Mr. Gray was about to go to the house and tell him. He was just starting over, when Mr. Wellman's telephone message came, urging him to come to the stables at once. When he understood what had hapened, he ordered the body cut down. By this time Mrs. Gray had come into the yard looking for her husband. She asked the men where he was, and they had to tell her, as gently as might be, the terrible bereavement that she had suf-

HEART PALPITATION AND NERVOUSNESS

Twin Troubles That Afflicted Mr. E. J. Ennis. Brockville, Ont.

He Has Peen Completely and Permanently Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

There are many people at the present time whose nerves are unstrung, heart affected and general health impaired. To such we offer Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as the latest and best remedy that science has produced for such troubles. These pills have a wonderful effect on the nerve cells of the body, giving them new life and electric energy; they strengthen and regulate the heart, and make the blood rich and nourishing.

Read what Mr. E. J. Ennis, Brockville, has to say about them: "I feel like a new man since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I have not taken any for two weeks, and the reason I did not write sooner was because I wanted to see if my cure was permanent, and I believe it is.

"I had been troubled for more than a year with nervousness and palpitation of the heart, and, in fact, was run down in health, only weighing 135 pounds before using the pills. I now weigh 152 pounds and never felt better in my life.

"Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I consider simply wonderful, and I don't know where I would be now if I had not taken them."

He recovered her hat, and one of her gloves, and with these tell-tale articles out of the way, no one would ever suspect the thrilling accident that had transpired there under that frowning cliff.

The girl lay unconscious, and taking a tumbler from the coach box, the man went down to the margin of the sea and procured some water, with which he bathed her face and hands, working and procured some water, with which he bathed her face and hands, working vigorously over her for several minutes. In the coach box there was a bottle of wine, which he had brought along to solace himself with by the way; he poured some of this between Tina's lips and had the satisfaction of seeing her swallow.

"She will live," he said, a flash of for illuminating his face.

"She will live," he said, a flash of joy illuminating his face.
Almost as he said it, Tina opened her eyes, and gazed with a look of wonder into the eager face bending over her.
The look of wonder almost instantly changed into one of terror, and with a shudder she put up one hand and weakly tried to push him away from her.

She had recognized Monsieur La Fort!
A scowl distorted his features at her act, and he drew back out of sight, and act, and he drew back out of sight, and stood thinking for a moment. He then took a small vial from his pocket, poured a few drops into the glass, to which he added wine from the bottle, and holding this to her lips told her to drink.

She was too weak and faint yet to realize much; the wine was pleasant to her taste, and she swallowed it thirstily. Monsieur La Fort then drew the curtains of the carriage over the windows, shut the door, climbed to the driver's box, and turning, drove rapidly back in the direction from which he had come.

It did, indeed, seem as if the fates had favored him, for he had come to the Isle of Wight for the very purpose of abducting Tina, if he could find her, and he was even then bound for Carisford, intending to fasten his horses in some secluded spot near the earl's grounds, and then prowl about until he could either meet his victim or find some way to lure her from the mansion and get her into his power.

He had only a few days previously discovered whither the family had gone; he had haunted the vicinity of their city residence for weeks, bent upon this discovered whither the family had gone; he had haunted the vicinity of their city residence for weeks, bent upon this very scheme, and followed them immediately to their country seat.

He ought to have returned long ago to Brussels to attend to his business there, but his passion for this lovely girl, which amounted almost to insantity absorbed every ether at the statement of the search of t girl, which amounted almost to insanity, absorbed every other feeling so completely that he found it imposssible to go and leave her behind.

He had, therefore, written Madame Fouchard, giving her minute directions about managing a while longer alone, ordering her to push the royal laces toward completion, and allow nothing to happen to them at her peril.

He was in high spirits now over the success of his scheme and the unexpected and easy manner in which it had been accomplished, although his delight was somewhat damped by the fear that she might have suffered some internal injury from her fall that would prove fatal, and it would be a bad thing to have her die upon his hands. He kept stopping every little while in secluded places to see how she was, but she appeared to be sleeping soundly from the drug that he had given her; there was no expression of pain upon her face, no indication of fever, and he tried to hope that nothing serious would result from the accident.

He drove directly to Cowes, reaching

It was quite dark, and engaging a man to assist to get his sick daughter on board, the removal was accomplished without either awaking Tina or attracting undue attention.

Monsieur then gave the man a guinea for his services and to return the carriage to the livery where it belonged, and then took up his post by his sleeping charge.

As soon as they landed upon the opposite shore, he had her placed in a danger of her claiming assistance if she should awake. It was nearly ten o'clock when they arrived in London. La Fort's plan was to convey his captive to some quiet lodging, where he could obtain medical advice to assure himself that she had sustained no serious injury, and then, as soon as she should be able to travel, compel her to return to Brussels with him.

compel her to return to Brussels with him.

He had resolved to try to win her by every art of which he was capable, and if this failed, he would work upon her fears by still holding the consequences of that theft over her until she would be glad to consent to go with him. He found little difficulty in conveying her from the coupe on their arrival to a carriage, for she had partially recovered from the stupor occasioned by the drug, and was able to walk with assistance, although she did not seem to realize whom she was with as yet.

It was half-past ten when the car-riage stopped before a respectable house in St. John's Terrace.

La Fort never mistrusted what he was doing when he took her there; he had chosen this locality because it was quiet and retired, and a long distance from the earl's city residence.

The cool night air, and the motion of the carriage over the rough pavements, brought Tina pretty thoroughly to herself, and she began to remember what had happened to her, and to realize the fact that she had been caught in a very fact that she had been caught in a very

When she first awoke to a knowledge of this fact, the shock occasioned by it of this fact, the shock occasioned by it did more toward restoring her scattered senses than anything else.

She was weak and lame from her fall, and her head felt light and giddy, but, to her astonishment, she was not seriously injured.

She knew she was in Monsieur La Fort's power—how, was a mystery to her—that he had brought her to London, and would probably use every means in his power to compel her into a marriage with him.

But when the carriage turned into St.

John's Terrace her heart gave a sudden bound of joy. She recognized the locality at once; she knew every landmark, ity at once; she knew every landmark, and that she was not far from the lodgings of Barbara Beza, who had charged her to let her know if monsieur ever troubled her again, and this she resolved to do now it it was possible. "Where are you taking me?" she demanded abruptly of monsieur, just before the carriage stopped.

He sprang from his seat as if he had been shot.

She appeared so nearly restored to her normal condition, and was so composed, that the drug suggested itself to his mind again. He began to fear that he should have trouble with her when they came to alight.

She pushed the glass away from her. "No, I want no more of that drug,"

"No, I want no more of that drug," he said, quietly.

WALKER CUP GOES TO DETROIT.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 30.—The Windsor bonspiel is over. The Walker cup for this year goes to Detroit, the rinks from over the river having won the finals this morning from Windsor. This makes the second time the Detroit club has won the tankard, and ties them with the local team, they also having captured it on two occasions. The cup becomes the property of the club winning it three times. The game this morning was a remarkable one, Mr. Bartlet's rink playing Mr. Dodds' a neck-and-neck game throughout, and winning by three shots, while the Ashbaugh-Hutton game was most unprecedented, 14 ends being played, with only 14 points being scored. In the whole 16 ends, in fact, there was only one end that more than one point was recorded. The Western Ontario tankard is now on. Windsor is up against Toledo, and Detroit is playing Thamesville. The scores in the Walker cup, semi-finals, were:

Easton, Pa., July 30 .- Paddy Donovan, the Philadelphia pugilist, who has been on trial for several days at Belvidere, N. J., on the charge of manslaughter, in causing the death of Frank Welch, another Philadelphia pugilist, during an exhibition fight at Phillipsburg, N. J., on New Year's eve, was acquitted today. Physicians testified that death had been due to the page of Welch's a clot of bood on the base of Welch's brain. The defense introduced evidence in the shape of two boxers, who gave a reproduction in court of the fight to show that no heavy blows had been struck during the fight, and that Welch's death was due entirely to collapse.

A CAUSE OF HEADACHE.

One Very Common Cause, Generally Overlooked.

Headache is a symptom, an indication of derangement or disease in some organ, and the cause of the headache a taste for surgical and military work, is difficult to locate because so many diseases have headache as a prominent symptom; derangement of the stomach and liver, heart trouble, kidney disease, lung trouble, eye strain weeks ago, Major Septimus Denison, of or ill-fitting glasses all produce head-aches, and if we could locate the orthis city, has been having a pleasant gan which is at fault the cure of ob-stinate headaches would be a much holiday with Mrs. Denison in Switzerland. He returned to London in time simpler matter.

However, for that form of headache called frontal headache, pain back of the eyes and in forehead, the cause is now known to be catarrh head and throat when the headache is located in back of head and neck it is often caused from catarrh of the stomach or liver.

At any rate catarrh is the most common cause of such headaches and the cure of the catarrh causes a prompt disappearance of the head-

There is at present no treatment for catarrh so convenient and effective as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new internal remedy in tablet form, composed of antiseptics like Eucalyptol, Guaia col and Blood Root, which act upon blood and cause the elimination the Union Hall, Lambeth, on Wednesof the catarrhal poison from the sysday evening, Feb. 6. This enterprising tem through the natural channels.

Miss Cora Ainsley, a prominent school teacher in one of our normal schools, speaks of her experience with catarrhal headaches and eulogizes Stuart's Catarrh Tablets as a cure for them. She says: "I suffered daily from severe frontal headache and pain in and back of my eyes, at times so intensely as to incapacitate me in my daily duties. I had suffered from catarrh, more or less for years, but never thought it was the cause of my head-aches, but finally became convinced that such was the case because the headaches were always worse whenever I had a cold or fresh attack of

"Stuart's Catarrh Tablets were highly recommended to me as a safe and pleasant catarrh cure, and after using a few fifty-cent boxes, which I procured from my druggists, I was surprised and delighted to find that both the catarrh and headaches had gone for good."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 50c per package, under the guarantee of the proprietors that they contain absolutely no cocaine (found in so many catarrh cures), no opium (so common in cheap cough cures), nor any harmful drug. They contain simply the wholesome antisep-tics necessary to destroy and drive from the system the germs of catarrhal

THE NECESSITY OF A CHANGE

It is necessary for the welfare of our being in order to preserve our health, we should have an occasional change.

A change of dress is as essential as a change of climate.

Means are required to accomplish either. In the matter of dress Fit-Reform disposes of this question, as it gives to the consumer two suits at the cost of one as offered by the merchant tailor and thus answers one of nature's demands.

We invite inspection at our health resort,

R.] Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 80.-A cable has been received from the secretary of abandoned on Sunday last about state for the colonies, stating that miles southeast of Cape Hatteras court mourning for her late majesty, Queen Victoria, lasts until Jan. 24, 1902. The public will wear deep mourning until March 6 next and half mourning until April 17. In consequence of this intelligence there will be no re-ception at the Government House until after Jan. 24, 1902.

An extra of the Canadian Gazette

Lord Minto is anxious that all the ministers of the crown should attend state service in the cathedral, Christ

Church, which is being organized as a state service. He would like to see them present in their Windsor form. But there is no state church in Canada, and as all other denominations are arranging memorial services on the same day, it is likely that the ministers will go to the churches to which they belong.

The governor-general is a member of the English Church, but in the cabinet there are Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists and Roman Catholics.

STILL ANOTHER TRIUMPH.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. I have also been subject to Quinsy for over forty years, but Eclectric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the Piles nor Quinsy have troubled me since."

Old People.

After a man or woman has lived 50 or 60 years, the machinery of the body is pretty well worn out. Stop a min-ute and think how many miles you have walked in all those years—how many thousand pounds of food you have eaten—how many gallons of water and liquid have passed through and been digested and passed off. How many times you have overdone things in work and pleasure. Do you wonder that you have pains and aches? Isn't it time that you did something for your poor stomach that has had so much work? Get a bottle of Hutch tablets at once. Take three when you go to bed to get the bowels to move freely. Take one after each meal. Take one every time you feel bad. And the first thing you know you'll feel at least ten years
