A Big Combination of Cattle Shippers Successfully Firmed.

The Bottom Out of the Egg Business—Better Outlook for Good Cattle in England—The Flour Market Still Unsettled.

[Special to the Advertiser.] MONTREAL, April 25.—The initial step of what will no doubt prove to be the most important move in the history of the live stock trade has been made by Robt. Bickerdike and John Crowe. They are applying for letters patent granting them a charter to carry on business in live stock, fadder, agricultural and other products under the name of the Bickerdike & Crowe Cattle Company, with a capital of $100,000.

The local markets are glutted with cattle, and the drovers lost heavily to-day. Choice steers sold at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4; medium steers, 4c to 4 1/2; large oxen and bulls at 3c to 4c, and common stock at 2 1/2 to 3c. There was an over supply of hogs, and prices eased off about 10c per cwt in consequence, $5 50 to $5 65 being the range. Sheep and lambs are in demand at the market, and common calves are a drug on the market.

There are rumors about about shippers buying extensively in the country, but the Montreal men say positively they are doing nothing. The first boat to load will be the Promona, which will take 700 head for John Crowe to Neweast. By the time the next letter reaches you the season will be in full swing. The outlook is none too bright, but the shippers say one of the most successful seasons in the history of the trade opened up three years ago with the condition of affairs almost identical with those of the present.

The Allan, Dominion and Beaver lines have made their rate for May 60s, which is 10s higher than that of last season. The Allan is charging 5s extra for insurance, BUTTER, CHEESE, ETC.

New cheese is coming in more freely in lots of 40 and 50 boxes, which is costing at 10c to 11c per lb, according to quality. The new goods are offering freely with that of last season, and if the warm weather continues the season will be earlier. The report about the Ingersoll shipments is denied. Advices from London and Liverpool report the market dull. The Liverpool cable is down to 5s. The market is going down it is likely to have a deterrent effect. Last year new cheese was a factor in the English market, and at this time the cable was 49s.

The movement in butter is still confined to a small jobbing trade. Receipts of new butter are small, and all offering sells at good prices. Old creamery remains as it was. The stocks are still heavy and have a depressing effect. Some sales are reported at 18c to 20c. New creamery is quoted at 22c to 23c, townships at 19c to 21c, Brookville at 19c to 20c and Western at 16c to 18c.

The flour market is still in an unsettled condition, no arrangement having yet been made concerning the Newfoundland difficulty. Some dealers say that the trouble will have the effect of building up our export trade with Great Britain; but prices must advance on the other side before business can be done at any price. Sales are being made at low prices here. Consignments of straight rollers have been closed out at $4 35 to $4 50, according to size of lot and quality. Manitoba are offering freely at reduced prices, but are moving slowly. The range for strong bakers' is very wide, choice city brands selling from $4 75 to $4 90, and other qualities at $4 35 to $4 70. Western millers are competing for business in oatmeal, and are cutting prices right and left; but the movement is small. Mill feed is quiet and steady, quotations being as follows: Bran $15 to $15 50; shorts $16 to $16 50, and middlings $17 to $18.

The grain market is quiet. Sales of No. 1 regular Manitoba wheat are reported at 77c to 78c for May; red and white winter wheat in the West at prices ranging from 80c to 87c. Corn is quiet at 51c to 53c in bond. There is a good inquiry for peas for export. Advices from the Stratford district are easier, at 58c to 59c per 60 lbs; prices here are 76c to 78c per 60 lbs about May, and 74c to 75c in store. Feed barley has been sold during the week at 42 1/2c, and making at 58c. Several transactions are reported in oats on private terms for May shipment; but 33 1/2c to 34c per 60 lbs is about the idea. No. 2s are quoted at 33c, and others at 30c to 32c per 60 lbs. Malt is selling at 70c to 75c. Buckwheat is quiet at 55c on spot, and 56c to 58c for May. There is no change in seed, quotations being as follows: Red clover, $7 50 to $8; Alsike, $7 to $9; Canadian timothy, $2 to $2 15, and American, $1 85 to $1 90. A sale of ten bales of hops is reported at 2 1/2c.

No other Sarsaparilla has the merit by which Hood's Sarsaparilla has won such a high reputation. It is the only one that contains the most powerful purgative, and is the only one that makes Hood's Sarsaparilla the most effective medicine for the cure of all diseases of the blood.

A Kettle Point correspondent says there is a false impression abroad regarding the results of a strike at the mills there. The two leaders who were charged with the offence were offered a raise of 25 cents per day, but would not accept it, and the other men resumed work at a raise of 12 1/2 cents per day.

PERTH. It is reported that the Congregational Church, Stratford, will shortly be sold. There is said to be a debt of $8,500 on the building, and the congregation is unable to make the interest.

Amos Shier, produce merchant, of St. Marys, has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, to Mr. John Clark, bankrupt officer of that place.

Andrew Farber, while running the shaper in the Listowel furniture factory, had one of his hands badly lacerated with the machine. The first finger is much torn, but it is thought the will not lose it entirely.

WENTWORTH. The will of James Blake, of Beverly, has been entered for probate by John Blake, of Walsingham. The property is valued at $7,025—$3,750 of which is realty. It is divided among the children, after $50 is spent in procuring a new communion service for Beverly Presbyterian Church.

WELLINGTON. Angus MacKinnon, M.D., of Guelph, has been appointed an associate coroner for Wellington.

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS: Families Suffer from Bereavement. What a vast amount of sickness and disease in our Canadian homes! Men, women and children dying every day through carelessness and improper treatment! Families are mourning the loss of loved ones who have been consigned to the grave through want of thought and common-sense treatment.

Kidney and liver troubles, impure blood, sluggish circulation, dyspepsia, nervousness, heart troubles and rheumatism, are taking off our people at an alarming rate. Our people place too much reliance on the common advertised remedies of the day, which do not reach the fire of disease into an unquenchable flame. No wonder that honest doctors are sometimes disgusted with popular ignorance.

The tendency is for people to rush after anything new that is advertised. Pills, powders and fluids are swallowed in abundance in the hope that sickness will be banished. Reader, the hope is vain, your work is foolish, you are but shortening your life.

If you are honestly desiring a new life and freedom from your present troubles, medical experts and testimony clearly indicate the common sense plan, and point unmistakably to the great and honest remedy. This God-given agent is Paine's Celery Compound, the people's unfailing life renewer. Thousands of our people who were once slaves to suffering and disease stand ready to speak in its favor.

Paine's Celery Compound is the strong tower of defense for Canadians, when troubles assail and dangers threaten. It never fails in its glorious work; it cures, recuperates and strengthens the man or woman who longs for peace and freedom from disease. It is worthy of a trial, sufferer; it will do all it promises.

How to Develop Good Traits in Horses

It is very desirable and important to be able to catch a horse in the pasture field, which can most always be done when he is treated with uniform kindness. It is often necessary to get up a horse quickly, and if he is hard to catch, the delay thus occasioned may result quite seriously to his master's interest. I never go into a field to catch a horse without a nibble of corn, bit of apple, handful of oats or something else he likes, and as a consequence, never have the slightest trouble in catching him.

In turning a horse out to pasture, never frighten him and make him run away from you by striking him with the halter or bridle and yelling at him. This is a mean, heartless habit, and is apt to make a horse hard to catch. I know a farmer whose horses cannot be caught in the field, and the only way they can be stabled is to get the dogs after them and drive them in.

Should the dogs be away from home some day (or night) when he wants to go for a doctor or to see a sick neighbor, he would doubtless realize what it was to be "in a pickle."

Of the many bad traits the horse may possess that of being brachy may be classed as one of the worst. I think that the author of the expression, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," must have had some experience with brachy horses; at any rate the sage holds good in this connection. Ordinarily it is no difficult matter to keep the horses from becoming brachy when managed with discretion.

Discretion, "aye, there's the rub," for many farmers possess but very little of this essential characteristic. They buy a horse or colt and take it home and turn it right out in a poorly fenced field before it becomes accustomed to the place, and being discontented and anxious to get back to its old home, it pushes down or jumps over the weak, low fences and bounds away like a deer in the direction of its old home. Then the farmer goes after it again and brings it back and turns it out in the same field, and having slightly repaired the fence. But it has now become brachy and has but little respect for fences. It therefore goes forth whithersoever it pleases, regardless of fences or yokes.

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in strength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDERICK, Saugerties, New York.

W. B. Utsey, St. George's, S. C., writes: I have used your August Flower for Dyspepsia and find it an excellent remedy.

London, Thursday, April 28.

THE LONDON OUTRAGE BEFORE PARLIAMENT.

The facts in the London election case are now well known to the majority of the people of Canada, and Mr. Lister's Parliamentary recital of the occurrences leading up to the stealing of the seat belonging to Mr. Hyman, M.P., can but accentuate the impression that a great public wrong remains to be remedied.

Briefly, it has been shown that Judge Elliot, after the election had been held, and after six superior court judges had declared that his decision was neither in law nor equity, counted 128 bogus voters for Mr. Carling by this means overcoming the majority of 22 polled by the legitimate electors for Mr. Hyman.

Judge Elliot took this course, notwithstanding the fact that he knew these had names had been properly investigated by his son-in-law, the revising officer, and their owners had been declared not entitled to vote. The superior courts held that the votes so counted were properly removed from the list, and, though Judge Elliot kept back his decision until after the election, and asserted that he desired to be guided by the decision of the superior court judges, he finally expressed his utter contempt for that decision. Such a course, as pointed out by Mr. Lister, has no precedent in any court in Canada or England.

No serious attempt was made to combat the facts laid bare by Mr. Lister and stated in the petition. No man of standing on the Government side cared to defend the steal. The defense put forward was lame in the extreme. The citizens of London, who for the purpose of getting the matter before the House, had petitioned for an investigation, are strong Liberals, it was said. Granted that they are so, is abuse of them an answer to the serious charges made against Judge Elliot not only by them but by Mr. Lister, on his responsibility as a member of the House? If need had been, we have no hesitation in affirming, the formal petition would have been signed by more than one-half the electors of London.

One of the most serious charges against Judge Elliot is that his decision was the result of partisan bias, and Mr. Lister promises to produce evidence that he carried his bias so far as to act as political editor of the London Free Press during the election. This charge has not been denied by the apologists for Mr. Carling and his agent. But an attempt is made to palliate the offense. It is alleged that judges have a perfect right to continue political partisanship and take an active part in political campaigns. Only by taking that ground have the defenders of Judge Elliot any ground to stand on. They know that it is seriously alleged that Judge Elliot, whose remarkable twistings and turnings in the London voters' list case, the only tribunal open is asked to investigate, was joint editor of the London Free Press with J. L. Payne, a Dominion Government employe—a factum of Mr. Carling—during the recent campaign. They know the violence of the expressions of the judge on the public streets, and they know that all this went to prove that the judge was scarcely the man to give an unbiased decision in a case involving the defeat of his personal friend. The answer of these men is that a judge is perfectly right when he acts the partisan, that it is not wrong for him to edit a party paper during a conflict, the final adjudication on which is in his hands.

The public has never conceded any such liberty to a judge. Parliament has expressly legislated against any assumption of partisan powers by a judge. The law, wisely, we think, declares that a judge shall not vote at an election. What is such a provision in the statutes but a continual reminder to the judiciary that they have nothing to do with politics, that they shall scrupulously abstain from even taking the first step towards assuming a partisan position in regard to public affairs?

By no such plea as that now advanced to shield Judge Elliot can it be fairly urged that no investigation should be made into his conduct. Mr. Lister could very fairly have argued that the charges made were sufficiently serious to be sent to a commission at once, but he adopts the fairer course of asking that Judge Elliot shall first have the petition sent to him, and that the charges and any answer that may be made to them by Judge Elliot shall be sent to a special committee of the House, which shall report as to whether or not the accusations shall be investigated by a commission.

There are indications that the old dodge will be resorted to of saying that the charges are not specific enough, or serious enough. These are most absurd and illogical excuses. Let any fair-minded man read the accusations and then say if he can honestly assert that the charges are not both ample and serious enough, if proved, to drive the participants in the London outrage from the bench and from the House of Commons. Any attempt to smother a full investigation can only be taken as a confession that Mr. Carling and his aids dare not face the exposure of their conduct.

THE NEW SOUTH.

The development of the Southern States is rapidly assuming proportions rivaling the great West. The greatest production of cotton in any one year before the war was in 1860, when 4,670,000 bales were produced. In 1891 the production had grown to 8,652,000 bales. The output of cotton-seed oil has increased $24,000,000 in value in ten years.

In iron the product in 1889 was 397,000 tons; in 1890 it had grown to 1,780,000 tons. In manufacturing, too, the increase is enormous, especially of cotton goods. The South started after the war without capital and broken in spirit, and they had to compete against the established industries of the North. All the evidence goes to show that they are doing it successfully. Growth of population, increase of factories, increased value of real estate, are apparent everywhere in the great community adjoining us, where freedom of trade between the several States gives scope for the development of their industries. They would be all the better for a further extension of their markets by a world-wide "freedom of trade," but that, too, is coming.

In the meantime we must submit for a while to the policy of commercial isolation. The United States papers have these days full descriptions of the vessels being built for their lake trade. Four large steel steamers at Wyandotte, four wheelbacks at Duluth, and general activity in all the yards, promise a tremendous increase of tonnage this year. We must look on and appreciate our neighbors' activity.

The telegraph announces a $2,000,000 purchase last week by an English syndicate of mining property in Montana. New capital, new development, enlarged output are the rule east, south and west of us. To call attention to these things is "running down the country" in the eyes of the patriots for revenue only who are not so idiotic as they seem. How long do these people want to continue the experiment of isolation and restriction?

Surely the Conservative masses must see as well as their Liberal friends that our magnificent natural industries are stagnant and undeveloped, simply because we have not the stimulus of the market provided to our neighbors.

It is all very well for the crowd who are looking to the Government for some office to be content, but the country cannot be run to find places for political hacks for ever. What we want is such development and progress as comes from increase of population, opening of mines, building of ships and working of factories, with a continental market. The New South, impoverished by the war, has arisen again, and we regret to say the statistics of her growth and prosperity show a condition we must envy. Why must Canada be pointed out as the "slow" part of the continent, when she is the fairest and most bountifully supplied with natural products?

Why does British capital continue to discriminate against us, while our "patriots" are waving the flag so frantically? If they are so stupidly loyal that they do not want to trade with the people of the United States, why do they not get the British inventor to come here rather than have him enrich the Yankees by developing their resources? Simply because the Englishman invests in the United States to enrich himself, and he is utterly oblivious to the cries of the restrictionist patriot. In fact, the investor has probably never heard of the Canadian jingo, and is quite unaware that it is his noisy loyalty that sustains the empire.

Places by the score will be made for the needy political hangers-on, but that is not the kind of success the people are looking for. When are they to have their turn?

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Outing (New York) For May opens with a cycling article "By Wheel from Havre to Paris," in which J. W. Fosdick gives a pleasant description of a charming route. A number of clever drawings by the author and Henry S. Watson embellish the article. The number is a strong one throughout.

The Vegetarian Federal Union, from its headquarters in London, announces the discovery of the vegetable as an article of food for man as well as beast. If boiled they are "like delicate turnip tops, and may be eaten like spinach on toast, with poached or fried eggs, and with a little olive oil or mixed with cream."

A new cure for hydrophobia has been tried by Prof. Murri at the Pasteur Institute in Milan. Hydrophobia developed on a man who had undergone the Pasteur treatment, with paralysis from the waist downward, and Prof. Murri made a subcutaneous injection of the virus in his "fixed form." A complete cure followed.

The remarkable birds of Manitoba are described in the new volume of the "Proceedings of the United States National Museum." In the spring season of the year thousands of prairie larks there salute the day by singing all together in a splendid chorus of song, pouring out their rich, strong voices from every little height and perch, singing with all their might. They sing all day, and at night joyously hail the moon.

A paper on photography applied to the detection of crime was read by Dr. Paul Jeserich at a recent meeting of the Photographic Society of Great Britain. Photography can be of good use for the detection of forgery. In an enlarged photographic picture erasures and alterations can be more clearly seen than in the original. But above all, photography can demonstrate differences in inks which cannot be perceived by the eye. The tints of the inks that are called black are either brown, red, green or blue in shade. As with ordinary sensitive plates yellow and green subjects are rendered dark, and blue ones light the same will follow in photographing inks of various tints.

Some interesting observations relating to the surgical treatment of wounds by birds were recently brought by M. Fatio before the Physical Society of Geneva. According to the Medical Record, he quoted the case of a snipe which he had often observed engaged in repairing damages. With its beak and feathers it makes a very creditable dressing, applying plasters to bleeding wounds, and even securing a broken limb by means of a stout ligature. On one occasion he killed a snipe which had on the chest a large dressing composed of down taken from other parts of the body, and securely fixed to the wound by coagulated blood. Twice he had brought home snipe with interwoven feathers strapped on the site of fracture of one or other limb.

The Westminster Review for April opens with an article by Thomas Scanlon on "Mr. Chamberlain's Pension Scheme." Mr. Scanlon writes from the position of the friendly or beneficial societies, and his paper is a thoughtful and valuable contribution to the study of state aid in old age. Matilda M. Blake contributes a novel paper on "The Lady and the Law," in which she presents some interesting suggestions on the legal status of women. The economic aspects of religion are discussed by the Rev. Walter Lloyd in an article entitled "An Economist on Church and State." J. A. Newton-Robinson makes an interesting "Study of Mr. Marlon Crawford" and his novels, which is one of the series of studies of living novelists now appearing in the Review. A. A. Hayes writes strongly on some aspects of America and American life in an article on "The Unknown Country."

CURE SICK HEAD

Stick to the cure and you will be cured. The Little Minister will be resumed on Saturday.

Mer Unruly Tongue

Look you, Miss Palmer! If you stick yourself in the way again when Mr. Allen is here you'll be likely to get your walking papers!

And with this Irene Minton swept proudly on her way, thereby running into the arms of her mother, who had entered the room while she had been speaking.

Irene Minton was a young lady of twenty-two, tall and shapely—she loved to fancy herself queenly—with a face certainly handsome; hair dark and glossy and eyes large and full, with a fiery snap in their gleaming lights; the other features of stately regularity; the one prominent characteristic present in every look and every tone being pride.

Her mother was a small meek-faced woman, proud of her queenly daughter, and by her governed in many things.

Lizzie Palmer—just now called Miss Palmer by Irene—was a blue-eyed golden-haired girl of nineteen, rather below the medium height of women, but of perfect form, light and graceful, with a bounding health and vigor in every motion and in every tone, as well as in the hearty ring of her genuine laughter.

Lizzie was a sort of Cinderella in the merchant's family. In the other years when she had been but a child, her father had been Mr. Minton's partner in business.

And Minton had promised, solemnly, that he would not fail to watch over her. So Thomas Palmer had died content.

Lizzie's treatment and we are forced to declare that the treatment had not been what Thomas Palmer had supposed it would be. Lizzie Palmer knew very well what Mr. Minton had promised her father, she had held her in his arms, and kissed her, and promised to make her life pleasant, so far as he could.

"Oh, my child! my child!" the mother cried when the other girl had disappeared. "Why will you not curb that unruly tongue of yours? Why should you speak to Lizzie in that manner? Since when have you come to call her 'Miss Palmer'?"

"Irene," pleaded her mother with all the persuasion she could command, "I would not uphold Lizzie in any wrong, and you know it. When she came into the hall last evening she had no idea that she would meet Charles Allen there."

"My dear child," the mother replied, with extraordinary energy, "that event is the dearest wish of my life. When I can see you the willing wife of Charles Allen I shall be content, so far as your earthly interests are concerned. I do not think of his wealth or gold and silver—though it is far, far beyond the wealth of your father—so much as I do of his worth of mind, of character, his standing in society, and his good name wherever he is known."

"Irene," pleaded her mother with all the persuasion she could command, "I would not uphold Lizzie in any wrong, and you know it. When she came into the hall last evening she had no idea that she would meet Charles Allen there."

NOTES OF RECENT INVENTIONS.

The man who observed that he would not go abroad until he could cross the ocean in a car may not have to wait so very long after all for the realization of his hopes.

An ingenious resident of Bridgeport has worked out an invention which should become a great boon to unfortunate afflicted with deafness. It is briefly a device which makes the deaf hear. It is the same to the ears as glasses are to the eyes, and consists of soft rubber disc and spring, so shaped that when inserted in the ear it will focus the waves of sound on the natural drum of the ear with such intensity that the afflicted person receives impressions from the outside that nature had seemingly desired to withhold.

A patent bowling machine has just been tested in England for the use of cricketers in practice. It is found to be more entering in its aim than most mortal bowlers, and takes the middle stump of expert batsmen as easily as though the batsman used a feather instead of his bat.

Peterburg has arranged and placed on exhibition a clock with a photograph attachment that will repeat at an hour set, according to the possessor's desire, such recorded announcements as may be committed to it. This is the New York Tribune rightly calls a great boon to the tired house-mother, and adds that in the nursery the solemn time-piece could be made to say: "Children, it is time to get up; dress quickly, and do not dawdle."

Parties in Pennsylvania have for some time past been producing a gas for illuminating purposes, the quality of which they claim is far superior for the use named than any other now made, and can be manufactured at about half the cost. The result is reached by means of a feeder and a number of retorts, the latter being kept at a certain degree of heat, and the oil is forced through them into a tank which is kept full of water.

Dr. Burgess' Good Work.
 With good buildings, a medical superintention like Dr. Burgess, of high reputation, whose skill has already been shown in the record of the hospital, and the drag of the existing debt removed, there is every reason to expect that the Protestant Hospital for the Insane will enter upon a career of enlarged success and will receive the support of a generous public, of which past liberality has been the promise.—(Montreal Gazette). The doctor was formerly on the staff of the London Asylum for the Insane. His many friends here will rejoice in his success.

A Pitiful Story.
 A lad giving his name as Groombridge arrived on the Sarnia train Wednesday and told a pitiful story to listeners at the G. T. R. station. He said his home was near Fort Huron, to which place he had walked to catch the train, and that his father and mother had made his life a misery by their cruel treatment of him. He could stand it no longer, and had run away, with the intention of going to his aunt, a Mrs. Groombridge, who, his mother had told him, kept a store in this city. He always drew a name for the less for that. While waiting in the waiting-room he went into a fit, and was brought around through the efforts of an official. The boy is apparently rather simple-minded, but talked rationally. He says he will go to his former home near Paris and try to obtain work if he cannot find his relatives here. He had only a few cents in his pocket.

A Prince of Prestidigitateurs.
 Herrmann has been drawing big houses in Toronto this week. Says Tuesday's Globe: "Many prestidigitateurs of inconspicuous ability have appeared before Toronto audiences, and their tricks have been gone through and seen through so often that it is now difficult to muster a corporal's guard when they make their appearance. But with the fascinating Herrmann it is all very different. This prince of prestidigitateurs, in his inimitable, inseparable, inexplicable attire, always draws a big house, made up of the best the city can offer. And this was just the sort and condition of the large audience that greeted him at the Grand Opera House last evening. A great many of them had no doubt seen Herrmann before, but they appreciated him none the less for that. They were amazed at his new tricks—he had a number of new and excellent ones—and amused by the old."

Splendid Scene Effects.
 Those who like a first-class melodrama, sensational, while not extravagant, can have their heart's desire at the Grand Opera House. Seldom does a production with such elaborate scene effects appear in the city. "It is a play of plays which goes with a rush from a river view to a murder at Memphis until it ends with retribution on the suspension bridge in sight of Niagara Falls, above the roar of the cataract is heard and the mist is seen rising from the whirlpool into which real water is running. As in 'Silver King,' a young man thinks he has committed murder. Another man for revenge commits the crime. Walter is hunted and his faithful Mary tries to protect him, flying with him. The villain pursues them. They are blown up on a steamboat, betrayed at a railway station, decoyed to a den in Chicago, and finally escape to Niagara. The steamboat explosion is very startling. The railroad effect shows a station master's and telegraph office, with the arrival of a long freight train followed by the fast mail, which picks up the mail bag on the fly, is said to be the best that has ever been produced, and a closing picture of the Niagara Falls is a work of art made real." So says an exchange.

Nelles-Platt.
 At the residence of the bride's father, 468 Ridout street, last evening, two popular young Londoners were united in matrimonial bonds. The groom was Mr. Munro T. Nelles, of the firm of Anderson & Nelles, druggists, and the bride was Miss Wanda M. Platt, daughter of Mr. Frederick Platt, The Dean of Huron tied the knot in the presence of a pleasant company of friends and relatives. The bride was prettily attired in white bengaline and was assisted by Miss Douglas, of Detroit, and the Misses W. W. W. and Miss Platt, of this city, who also wore handsome costumes of the same color. Mr. Charles A. Platt, brother of the bride, was the groomsmen. After the usual wedding luncheon and a shower of congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Nelles boarded the train for Chicago to enjoy the honeymoon. A charming array of presents attested to the esteem in which they are held.

Death of a Former Londoner.
 A well-known ex-Londoner died this week in the person of Mr. Wm. Burgess, of Chicago. He was born and reared in this city, and was the son of the late Stephen Burgess. He was a nephew of Dr. Wm. William Saunders, of the Experimental Farm, and of ex-Adm. William Skinner; a brother-in-law of Mr. Andrew Dale, and was otherwise extensively related in London and vicinity. Mr. Burgess started life on the railway, and was the fireman on the first locomotive that crossed the Suspension Bridge at Niagara Falls. He married a daughter of the late Conductor Fogg, of King street. About ten years ago he removed to the States, and latterly occupied a responsible position on a railway, where he was killed in Chicago. He successfully underwent a surgical operation for the removal of a tumor, but his system had been so weakened by previous illness that he was unable to bear the exhaustive effects. Deceased was a man of splendid character, and many Londoners will hear of his demise with keen regret. He leaves a widow and three children. His mother resides in this city.

Determined to Withdraw.
 The following letter has been sent to Mr. Andrew Thompson, honorary secretary of the Western Ontario Bible Society: "My dear Mr. Thompson—My attention and that of others interested has been directed to an advertisement calling a meeting of the subscribers to the Western Ontario Bible Society for the purpose of electing a board of management for the current year. From the names proposed to be submitted in a resolution to be moved by Rev. Mr. Courtice, as reported in the newspapers, it would appear that the resignations determined on at a meeting held at the deanery on the 21st inst., as well as the resignation of the Bishop of Huron, have been altogether ignored by the old board in nominating the new. Would you be so good as to call the attention of the meeting of subscribers to this fact, and to state that the action then taken was not a whim or temporary irritation, but a well considered and final decision."

The names of the gentlemen present at the meeting held on the 21st inst. are appended, and the resolution to withdraw from the Western Ontario Bible Society was carried unanimously. Presbyterian—Rev. Messrs. J. A. Murray, W. J. Clark, M. P. Halling, W. M. Roger, J. Ballantyne, Anglican—Very Rev. Dean Innes, Rev. Archdeacon Marsh, Canon Richardson, Davis, Smith, Revs. W. M. Seaborn and Shortt. Baptist—Rev. Ira Smith.—Congregational—Rev. Robt. Aylward, and Messrs. A. Thompson and G. F. Jewell. I remain, dear Mr. Thompson, yours faithfully,
 GEORGE M. INNES, chairman.

BOOTS AND SHOES
 Marked in Plain Figures and Sold at One Price Only.

HUBERT ASHLANT, having for some years past felt dissatisfied with the hattering two-priced system of dealing, which has long been prevalent in the retail trade, has decided to mark all his immense stock of Boots, Shoes, Slippers, etc., in plain figures, to be sold at one price only, and at such low cost that no customer can fail to see good value. While obliged to meet a demand for all grades, I shall not study the shoddy or cheap line, but cultivate such goods as can truly be recommended. I am daily opening out new and stylish spring goods. These new lines are bought right and are all being marked at lowest possible cash prices, and in the course of a few days all goods previously in stock will be re-marked in plain figures on the same system. I believe this one-price dealing will be appreciated by my old customers and by the general public. I desire my customers to be dealt with honorably, and I allow no willful misrepresentation of goods. If any shoe does not turn out satisfactory for its cost, please return to me and I shall be only too pleased to make it right, as no retailer manipulates his own goods, and errors may be drawn at any time. Therefore take advantage of this TRIAL TRIP OFFER NOW.
