CONTESTED ELECTIONS. London, July 16.—The steady increase in the Unionists' strength has again been the feature in today's polling for members for the new Parliament. The returns received up to midnight show the election of 213 Conservatives and Unionists, 45 Liberals, 13 McCarthyites, and 4 Parnellites, making a net Unionist gain of 31 seats. If the counties follow the lead of the boroughs, reverting to Unionism in the same proportion, the party wire-pullers estimate that Lord Salisbury will control a majority in the Commons of 90 over the combined Liberal and Irish memlers. Such a sanguine view, however, if in no wise assured of being realized. The Liberals build their hopes upon the results in the counties to check the Unionist flood and largely neutralize the early success of that party.

London, July 16.—Sir William Harcourt will probably stand as a candidate for Sutherlandshire, John Mc-Leod having offered to stand aside for Warmington, Home Ruler, who represented the division in the last Parliament declined to content these ment, declined to contest the seat, has greatly encouraged the Liberals.

Among the features of today's polling was the retention by Mr. W. C. Gully (Lib.) of his seat for Carlisle by more than double the majority he received in 1892. This is not only a source of gratification to the Liberals, but also a snub to Mr. Balfour and his

The rejection in East Nottingham of Mr. Arnold Morley, the late Postmas-ter-General, sent the fourth ex-Minister from the Liberal benches. Right Hon. Henry Hartley Fowler, Secretary of State for India in the late Cabinet, who was opposed in the east division of Woolverhampton in 1892, was reelected by over 1,000 majority. One of the surprises of the day was the re-turn of a Conservative for Northampton as a co-member with Mr. Henry Labouchere, whose long union with Mr. Bradlaugh, and later with Mr. Mansfield, has caused the constituency to be regarded as unalterably Radical. Mr. Labouchere will not fail to see the humor of the situation. The side pull of the Socialists Robertson and Jones is chiefly answerable for the defeat of Mr. Harford, the other Liberal candi-rejection of the Labor candidates in many electorates is noteworthy: The defeat of such preminent trade unionists as Geo. Howell in Bethnal Green, and W. R. Cremer, of arbitrage fame, in the Haggerston division of Shoreditch, is a heavier and more significant blow to the Labor party than the overthrow of a dozen windbags and hunters after notoriety like James Keir Hardie, who was de-feated yesterday in Westham. In-deed, the conversion of the East End of London to Unionism, as shown by the results in these and other districts, is a remarkable feature of the contests. The Conservatives made six gains in London today, and even where the Radicals retained their seats, as Mr. James Stewart in the Hoxton division of Shoreditch, and Mr. Pickersgill in the southwest division of Bethnal Green, the majorities were greatly reduced. It is notable that while the Unionist Parsee Brownagree has overthrown "Strong Man" Howell, the former's co-religionist, Lord Salisbury's famous black man, has fallen.

last election the Liberal majority was Edinburgh, south division-R. Cox (Con.), 4,802; H. H. Paul (Lib.), 4,708. Conservative majority, 94. At the election of 1892 in this district the Liberal candidate polled 4,692 votes and the Unionist candidate polled 4,261 votes, a Libera Imajority of 431 votes. The Conservatives win another seat. The Times this morning gives prominence to a letter signed by Mr. Stielar McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, in which Mr. McKelway says he regards the elections in Great Britain as a check to Socialistic tendency, and thereby of value to every division of the English speaking world.

London, July 17.-The following members of the House of Commons have been elected without opposition, in addition to those already recorded: Cork, southeast division-Andrew Commins, Anti-Parnellite.

Cork, east division-Anthony J. C. Donelan, Anti-Parnellite. Sussex, middle or Lewes division-Sir Henry Fletcher, Bart., Conservative. GREAT EXCITEMENT IN SOUTH-PORT.

The greatest excitement prevails in the Southport division of Lancashire today, where the Hon. George N. Curzon, the sitting candidate, and a Conservative, is contesting his seat against Sir Herbert Naylor-Leiland, the Liberal candidate. Both candidates married American ladies, and these are taking an active part in the campaign.
The two candidates, accompanied by their wives, are driving about rallying their forces, and great squads of men and women, as well as horses and dogs, are to be seen on all sides wearing the favorite colors of the rival politicians.

Further candidates returned unopposed are: Buckinghamshire, Aylesbury division-Ferdinand James De Rothschild, Waterford City—John E. Redmond Parnellite, 1,708; Fardwell, anti-Parnellite, 1,229; Parnellite majority, 559. At the last election Mr. Redmond polled 1.638 votes to 1,248 polled by his opponent. D. Sheehy, the anti-Parnellite candidate. Thus the Parnellites' majority has been increased from 390 to 559 votes, a gain of 169.

Dublin University—Kenny, Liberal, 3,661; the Right Hon. David R. Plunket, Conservative, 3,205; Liberal majority, 456. At the last election all the candidates were Conservative, and the Liberals gain a seat.

There are lively times today at Leeds, especially in the west division, where Col. North, the Conservative candidate, is said to have good prospects of defeating the Liberal candidate, the Right Hon. Herbert J. Gladstone, son of Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone. Col. North, with his family and half a dozen secretaries, a number of servants and horses galore, is occupying the principal hotel and is conducting a clever campaign. He points particularly to the humble cottage in a poor part of the town where he was born. Col. This shows a total vote of 10,496 for the Anti-Parnellite candidates and 9,-960 for the Parnellite candidates. At the last election the Anti-Parnellites polled 10,032 votes, showing a gain of 464 votes. On the other hand, the Parnellites, at the last election, polled 6,-263 votes to 9,960 polled at this election —a gain in Parnellite votes of 3,697, against the Anti-Parnellite gain of 464

INVITATION TO MR. BLAKE. London, July 16 .- The council of the Liberal Association of South Islington recently adressed a letter to Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., asking him to contest the constituency named at the present election. The letter states: The Conservative majority at the 1892 election was only 321, and we believe that if you favor us by standing against Sir A. Rollett we could return you with a majority of 500. Mr. Blake, in acknowledging the invitation, says: "Pray express to the South Islington Liberal Association my deep sense of the honor proposed to me. I am, however, obliged to say that my duties towards Ireland claim at this juncture my entire attention and my undivided allegiance, and wholly preclude my acceptance of their flattering offer. I have already wired you this result. I am, Awakens Widespread Interest and Universal Horror.

Holmes Believed to be Guilty of Three or Four Murders.

His Motive for the Freadful Crime-Philadelphia Authorities Undecided as to their Course in Holmes' Case.

THE NEWS IN PHILADELPHIA.
Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—The finding of the bodies of the Pietzel children in the cellar of a nouse in Toronto has created a sensation in police cir-cles in this city. The authorities are convinced that they were murdered by H. H. Holmes, who is now in prison in this city, awaiting trial on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Association of $10,000. The question is whether Holmes will be held for trial here on the charge of murdering Pietzel, or be taken to Canada to answer for the death of the two little girls. It is believed that since the Philadelphia murder antedates the Canada crime by nearly a year, the man will have to stand trial here.

HOLMES' CAREER. Superintendent of Police Linden is impressed with the belief that Holmes is a triple murderer, and said: "That man Holmes is the most infernal liar I ever saw or ever have been brought in contact with. Holmes persisted in claiming that Minnie Williams has possession of these children, and he was so much in earnest with this statement that I placed confidence in it, and caused every clue in that direction to be worked out to its fullest extent. I have not learned of the whereabouts of the woman, and almost believe her to be a myth. I certainly think that Pietzel was murdered, and further, I think all talk of a dummy substitute is all

CHIEF LINDEN'S THEORY. "My theory of the disappearance of the children is that they, too, were murdered. The motive is plain when we look at the facts surrounding the case. The older of the girls identified the body in the cemetery as that of her father, and upon her testimony rested the chance of convicting Holmes on any charge. His willingness to plead guilty on the charge of conspiracy led us to believe that something must be back of the case." District Attorney Graham, when seen this morning, seemed to be displeased that the finding of the bodies should have been given so much publicity. "Holmes now knows as much about the case as we do," said he, "for he is given the papers at the prison every day." Mr. Graham declined to discuss the features of the case, and was not prepared to say how he would act in case the Canadian authorities demand

Holmes on the charge of murder. THE MOTIVE. The motive for the horrible crime originated first in a plot arranged by Pitezel and Holmes, by which the for-(Lib.), 2,517; G. St. Pancras, south division—Sir J. At three o'clock this afternoon, the following was the result of the general of the general hiding, and Holmes was to see to it that a body was found and identified as that of the missing Pitezel. The find was made, but from positive evidence the body was proven to be that of the real Pitezel, who had probably been murdered by Holmes to make the tragedy the more perfect and the money the more secure to himself. Holmes' police record began when he was arrested at St. Louis, charged with forgery. He was afterward released and went to Philadelphia, where he opened a small establishment for the manufacture and sale of a preparation for cleaning clothing. His partner was known as D. F. Perry, and soon Perry was left to conduct the business alone, Holmes making himself scarce. One day Perry was found dead in a small upper room in the building leased by himself and Holmes, and then Holmes turned up to identify Perry as Pitezel, the identification being made complete by the aid of a little daughter of the dead man.

The insurance money was paid in full, and then Holmes took his family and those remaining of the Pitezel family, and started to travel from place to place. A noted train robber named Hedgepath had been called into play by Holmes at a time when the scheme looked dubious, and, under promise of receiving $500 when the fraud was complete, he had entered into the scheme. The money was not paid by Holmes, and Hedgepath "peached" to the officers, who at once caused an investigation, resulting in the arrest of Holmes in Boston in November last. He was returned to Philadelphia, and was convicted on a charge of conspiracy, with intent to defraud.

Mrs. Pitezel was also arrested, but was released, as it was found that she was innocent of any intent to defraud the company, and she felt keenly the death of her husband, undoubtedly murdered by the man who posed as her friend.

HAD DESIGNS ON THE MOTHER.

Philadelphia, July 16.—President
Fouse, of the Fidelity Mutual insurance Asociation, says: "Everything points to the fact that Holmes plotted to destroy the entire Pitezel family, and as Howard also disappeared it is probable that he was killed. The belief is also that he attempted to destroy Mrs. Pitezel in Burlington, Vt., by having her handle a can of nitroglycerine that he had left in the house she occupied.

Mrs. Pitezel, the mother of the murdered children, is at present supposed to be at her old home in Galva, Henry county. Ill., with two of her children, a daughter, aged 17, and a baby. She went direct to Galva after Holmes had pleaded guilty.

AN IMPORTANT CLUE. Toronto, Ont., July 16.-Little developed today in connection with the Pietzel tragedy. Directly, the most in teresting incident of the day was the ascertaining of the identity of the expressman who took the trunk to and from the house of death. He is now a street railway conductor and could not be spoken with till midnight. He says briefly that he remembers the trunk was a heavy one and gives a description of it that proves it to be identical with that found in Holmes' possession when arrested.

Another link brought to light was the finding of the bedstead and mattress which Holmes brought into the house and left there on his departure. Mrs. Macdonald, who succeeded Holmes and preceded Mr. Armbrust as tenant of No. 16 St. Vincent street, informed the detectives tonight that she had found the articles in the house when she took it, and took them away with her when she moved to 17 Russell street, her present address. Detectives Geyer and Cuddy called upon her to-night and inspected the articles. An unusually intelligent jury was empanelled by Coroner A. J. Johnson at the morgue this evening. The proceed-ings were formal and brief, and the real work will commence tomorrow night at police headquarters, when Detective Geyer will likely give his evidence. The jurymen, nearly all of whom are well known and respected business men, are: Messrs. Jos. E. Sutcliffe, David Davis, Thomas Leeming, John Rrimer, Hubert McKendry, Thomas Claxton, John Symons, Sydney J. Davis, Robert Wright, Frederick S. Roberts, Donald Sutherland, Andrew Sinclair and Wm. L. Smith. Mr. John Brimer was chosen foreman, and the jury speedily got through with their horrible task of viewing the remains. The only evidence taken was formal-to establish the identity of the remains in the morgue as those which had been found in the cellar. Detective Cuddy, Geo. Hunt, the caretaker of the morgue, and Mr. Humphrey gave evidence to establish this and then the inquest adjourned until tomorrow evening. HOLMES VIRTUALLY CON-

FESSES. Philadelphia, Pa., July 17.—H. H. Holmes, alias Herman Mudgett, according to one interpretation of a remark made by him, has virtually confessed to the murder of the two Pietzel children, whose bodies were found in the cellar of a Toronto house. It was learned at the office of the district attorney that during the two hours' in-terview Holmes had yesterday with three members of the district attortorney's staff he said: "I suppose I'll swing for this." This is the only remark from his lips which in any way would tend to criminate him, and the district attorney takes this as a practical admission of Holmes' guilt. Not-withstanding Holmes' remark, his counsel says he can prove an alibi in his client's case. He says that Holmes was not in Toronto when the Pietzel children were murdered. This, he states, can be proved by Mrs. Howard,

Imported Canadian Plumbers Arrested

in Buffalo-Michigan Miners Idle. Buffalo, N. Y., July 16.—Inspector DeBarry has apprehended half a dozen more Canadian plumbers who came here in response to advertisements or solicitations to fill the places made vacant by the strikers. He says their port of entry seems to be Wilson, N. Y., and he has ordered strict surveillance of that port. Ishpeming, Mich., July 16.—Every iron ore mine in Ishpeming and Negaunee is idle, about 3,000 men being out. A mass meeting of Negaunee and Ishpeming miners was held today, and by vote it was decided to remain out until the mining companies advanced the pay of the miners to $2 per day and the laborers to $1 75.

Detroit, July 16.-The question of enjoining the International Cigarmakers' Union from boycotting L. Kuttnauer & Co. was taken up by Judge Swan yesterday afternoon, the judge deciding in favor of the cigarmakers.

"LITTLE BO PEEP

Had lost her sheep and couldn't tell where to find them." So the old nursery rhyme says, and it goes on to bid her "leave them alone, and they'll come home and bring their tails behind them." All this may be true of lost sheep, but if you have lost your health you cannot afford to leave that alone. It will not come back of its own accord.

Some people brag that they never bother about colds. They "let them go the way they came." Alas, too often the victims go to a consumptive's grave. Remember that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery removes Golden Medical Discovery removes eruptions, blotches, pimples, ulcers, scrofulous humors and incipient consumption, which is simply scrcfula of the lungs. ### DRIVING BACK THE OCEAN.

The Gigantic Work of Reclaiming Land

in Holland. The people of Holland have under taken a gigantic work, by means of which they expect to recover the larger portion of the territory now covered by the Zuyder Zee, the inland sea of the country, and twn it again into a fertile farming region. It is now just five centuries since the inundation of that part of the Netherlands now covered by the Zuyder Zee was completed, the encroachments of the sea having been going on for 225 years, previous to which time the territory was covered with forests.

By the most stupendous exertions about 350 square miles of conutry has already been recovered by an elaborate dyke system, which has gradually reclaimed section after section that was lost, but the new scheme transcends the previous work in extent and importance. The towns of the region which had become of considerable importance as seaports through the bringing of the waters of the ocean to their doors have lost considerable of that importance through the difficulties of navigation and the transfer of the trade to the North Holland canal and the Y ship canal, which connects the metropolis with the ocean. On this account the remnants of com-merce are not worth as much to the towns as the country would be after it is reclaimed, and therefore there is general acquiesence in the plan to drive the ocean out.

On account of the great cost it will be distributed over a period of 33 years, so as to make it less oppressive and to make the benefits gradually bear their share of the expense. A colossal sea wall is first to be built from North Holland to Friesland, shutting out the tides of the ocean. This wall will be 216 feet wide at the base and the top will be 17 feet above the sea level, while along the inner side and at some distance below the top will be a track wide enough for a top will be a track wide enough for a wagon road and a railway.

After the sea is barred out the inclosed space to be reclaimed will inclose within separate embankments foru areas containing in the aggregate 750 square miles. One of these areas will be first drained by pumping the water over the embankment, the water finding its way to the sea through the main channel, and as the shallow portions become exposed they will be successively brought under cultivation. It is calculated that within ten years 25,-000 acres can be made annualy available, and in the end the inland sea will be reduced to a channel about fifteen miles wide called the Ysselmeer, communicating with the sea by locks at Wieringer, with Amsterdam by a branch three miles wide, and by an other with the mouth of the Yssel. The plan has received the sanction of the Government, and the engineers pronounce it feasible.—Milwaukee Jour-

Etta was about 12 years old. Up confess themselves unable to explain it. Etta was about 12 years old. Up to the 1st of January she was strong and full of life. About the first of the year the child seemed to be literally overflowing with animal spirits. She said it hurt her to keep still. The mother watched the child closely for two weeks, and not once did she see the child at rest. Etta began to grow thin from the constant motion, and a physician was called. He said the child was suffering from a disease of the nerves, but that she would outgrow it. On April 20, however, the disease assumed a violent form, For several hours on that day the child was in convulsions and screamed in agony. After a time the convulsions ceased and she became spechleess and motionless. Since April 20 she lay on her bed utterly oblivious to those about Her eyes were closed and her breathing regular, but otherwise she was as the dead. The child continued in this condition until 2 o'clock yesterday morning, when the watchers saw her shudder. She sighed, opened her eyes, and said naturally to her mother:

"They are coming for me, mamma."
"Who?" asked the mother.
"The angels," said the child.
She began to talk of where she had been and what she had seen during her long trance. She talked as one who had returned from a long journey. At 3:30 o'clock, while in the middle of an animated description, the child cried in ecstasy; "I am going back; kiss me, mamma." Then she fell back, her breathing ceased, and fifteen minutes later the physicians pronounced her dead.

The child was buried yesterday afternoon, although many believe that she had fallen into another trance. The physicians, however, applied tests and are certain that life had fled.—Hallister

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy. Montreal, July 15.-There is still a good deal of talk here among classes over the recent dispatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines be-

Of the Salvatien Army - Interesting Statement by Adjutant Miller The "Advertiser" is requested to publish the following:

To the Readers of the 'Advertiser": Citizens of the City of London,—By kind permission of the management of the "Advertiser" I have been enabled during the nine months it has been my privilege to act as super-intendent of the Salvation Army Workman's Hotel to bring before you the needs of the home at various times, and also to acknowledge the kindness of various citizens in sending articles of food, furniture, etc., to enable us to finance the institution. Having been directed to lay down my command and proceed to another sphere in the Master's vineyard, I wish to praise our Creator for the work accomplished from Oct. 30, 1894, to July 1, 1895, and to lay before you the vital points of accomplishment:

Number of beds supplied ..........8,116 Number of meals supplied......20,563 Number found temporary employment outside institution .. 161 Number employed in Salvation

Assistance to men by giving employment to them in wood yard sufficient to secure, supper, bed and breakfast has entailed a financial loss upon the management of the Salvation Army Workman's Hotel, but if the citizens will rally round my successors, Ensign and Mrs. Fox, late of the shelter work in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal, as nobly as you have assisted me, this deficit will disappear, as the larger part of donations given has necessarily had to be devoted to the alterations and furnishing, etc. This having been almost swept away, will free the superintendent's hands in steering safely in future the institution's financial prosperity, and consequent benefit to the poor of the community of the city of London. I remain, yours sincere-FRED. T. MILLER,

London, Wednesday, July 17.

INCOMPETENT MINISTERS. Mr. Laurier's motion declared that the Government had failed to deal with the Manitoba school question in the manner demanded by the best interests of the country. It was not expected that the majority of this passing Parliament would vote otherwise than they have done. Mr. Laurier's concrete resolution was intended rather to give voice to public opinion universally prevalent.

Is not the opinion universally prevalent alike among Liberals and Conservatives and neutrals, that nearly every blunder that could have been made in connection with the Manitoba school question has been made?

The members of the Government are divided amongst themselves-they have no Sir John Macdonald to guide them -they are held together solely by the desire to cling to their offices and emoluments until the latest moment.

The original blunder was that of sending a coercive, blustering mandate to Manitoba. But the blunder was committed, and it was a blunder beyond recall as regards some of its conse-

should do even now Arst of all is to the control of it. In Canada the Libwithdraw absolutely its offensive coercive note to Manitoba, Sir John Macdonald would never have been guilty of the folly of such a note. His course would have been to transmit the dispatch from the Colonial Office containing the views of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to the Manitoba Government and then to await Manitoba's reply.

It may be asked, why was not this course adopted? Why the bulldozing attitude instead? The reason is clear enough. At the time the peremptory mandate was sent to Manitoba, it had been decided by the Ottawa Ministers to go at once to the country, and it was hoped to scoop in Catholic votes throughout the Dominion by exclaiming, "Look, you Catholics, see how we are coercing Manitoba for you; therefore give us your votes!" For it was votes that concerned the Ottawa Ministers-not principles.

The result has not flufilled expectations. The Ottawa Minsters have secured neither the confidence nor the respect of either Catholics or Protestants. They are not considered by public opinion to possess ability or courage to handle large questions, and it will be with a sense of relief that the country will see them before the lapse of many months pass into merited ob-

UPPER HOUSES A MENACE.

It is not in Great Britain or Canada only that Upper Houses are a menace to good government. In the colony of New South Wales they have produced a deadlock by throwing out a Government measure which aimed at the abolition of customs duties and the introduction of a policy of free trade instead. The new budget scheme, as explained by Mr. Reid, the leader of the Government, was based upon a redistribution of the fiscal burdens whereby all customs duties except those upon spirituous liquors and narcotics were abolished, and a new tax was to be levied on land and income. It was not intended, however, to bring the new policy into operation abruptly, but to take a period of seven years for its completion. In this way, following the example of Great Britain when free trade was introduced there, and the scheme which Mr. Laurier favors for Canada, it was hoped that no shock would be given to the trade of the country, and that no interests would suffer. A land tax of one penny in the pound was calculated to yield, for the first fiscal year $2,000,000, and an income tax of sixpence in the pound, with a $1,500 exemption, to give $540,000. With $1,000,000 to be saved by retrenchment in the public service it was estimated that the deficiency to be produced by remissions of the tariff effected in the first year would be made good. The Minister, in presenting his scheme, | Canadian poets is becoming too prosy.

quoted figures to show that the land tax would amount to about $10 per annum in the case of 11,000 holdings, from $10 to $30 in the case of 2,800 holdings, and over $200 in 1,600 cases; and strangely enough about 8,000 of these cases, or more than half of the whole, are of men living in Europe.

The London Times describes the budget speech as "the most absolute declaration of free trade principles which has yet been made by a responsible Ministry in the British colonies," and expresses the belief that should the measure become law the other Australian colonies will be constrained to follow the lead of New South Wales. But the land-holders and wealthy men of the colony are hostile to it, and the Upper House, representing those interests, have dealt very promptly with the bill. On the 19th of June the measure was given its third reading in the Legislative Assembly, and next day the other Chamber refused to read it by a vote of 41 to 4. One of the objections is said to be the exemption clause in the provisions of the income tax, which is spoken of as giving color to the assertion that the Premier has allowed himself to become the tool of the Labor party, upon whose vote he

This is a criticism which ought to tell in his favor, however, and he would be more in line with just ideas of taxation had he provided for a progressive rate—the principle adopted by Sir William Harcourt in last year's budget in regard to the death duties. But Mr. Reid and his party are in no humor to be balked by an Upper House, for in his speech he foreshadowed what their course was likely to be in anticipation of what that Chamber might do. He represented, he said, the heart of an direct taxation. was prepared to of the Ministry upon the land tax. He claimed as the constitutional right of the Lower House the power to determine the form in which the taxation of the colony should be imposed, and he finally asserted, amid loud cheers, that if, when the people had definitely pronounced their will, "the Parliamentary machinery will not act in accordance with the rights of the electors and taxpayers of this country, then that machinery must be altered."

The ring of those manly words will doubtless meet with a ready response from the people, and if the Ministry is sustained at the general elections soon to be held in New South Wales the Upper House will not have long to wait for its fate. There, fortunately, the constitution allows the Government to add nominees to the Upper What the Dominion Government House in sufficient numbers to insure plicated task on hand in reforming the Senate. But the task will be accomplished. The policy against the House of Lord's announced the other day by Mr. Gladstone must be the policy of Liberals against Upper Houses everywhere.

Mr. McCarthy's Motion.

the motion to go into supply, rose to make his motion on the Manitoba school question. Since the refusal of the Government to veto the act, every step they had taken since he ascribed as an unwise one. An effort had been made to make the public believe that the remedial order had been passed by the Government, acting in a judicial capacity, but this was disposed of by Premier Bowell's admission when hearing the appeal, that the Government accepted full responsibility. An effort had also been made in the Haldimand election to induce the electors to be-lieve that her Majesty the Queen had made an order and that the Governor-General had simply passed it on to Manitoba. Mr. McCarthy dwelt on the haste shown by the Government in hearing the appeal and making the remedial order. Manitoba was given ten days to appear and the reason given for refusing the adjournment Manitoba asked for in order to present her case properly was that a decision was necessary before the Manitoba Legis-lature prorogued. Now the argument was that a delay should take place. THE GOVERNMENT'S THREE-

FACED POLICY. Mr. McCarthy stated the three views put forward by the Government in different places, and on different occa-First, that in making the remedial order, the Government was first simply passing on the order of her were considered. He did not care which of these views the Government adopted, but he would like them to tie themselves down to one. (Laughter.) Mr. McCarthy proceeded to discuss the question whether in the negotiations for the entrance of Manitoba, and the bill of rights drawn up and brought to Ottawa in 1869 or 870, there were contained any condition for separate schools. Mr. McCarthy spent some time in proving that the last decision of the udicial committee of the Privy Council was not a mandate to the Canadian Government. He quoted both the Lord Chancellor and Hon. Edward Blake in the argument to show that after the appeal of the minority was heard the further action of the Government would be political, and they might grant the appeal in whole or part, or refuse to entertain it at all. Anyway, the Government of Canada could not be bound by the opinion of any court. Mr. Mc-Carthy buttressed his position by an opinion from Christopher Robinson, Q.C., the eminent Conservative counsel. When the appeal was taken at Ottawa, the merits of the case should have been considered—the fact that illiteracy prevailed among the children of the minority, and the fact that the object aimed at was not attained. Mr. McCarthy, to whom the whole House was listening, went on as fol-"The Province of Manitoba is not fully represented here, and is represented by men who do not care much what becomes of their Province. The Minister from that Province has been called on to hand in his resignation." Mr. Foster - Oh, that's what you

Mr. Daly-I am quite able to take care of myself. Mr. McCarthy-Well, we'll see about that. There is a small representation here, yet the hopes of this country depend upon Manitoba and the Northwest. Interfere with Manitoba, attempt to coerce Manitoba, and you will yet rue the day. I warn you against an attempt to trample upon the rights of a Province without cause, without vestigation. Mr. McCarthy went on to charge, on the authority of Mr. Sifton, the head of the Department of Education in Manitoba, that public money was given to separate schools which were kept open only one or two days in the week, and the money went to the support of the Roman Catholic churches.

consideration and without proper in-

This assertion created a stir, and the following members either rose or made an interjection: Messrs. Bergeron, Lariviere, Tisdale and Montague. The accuracy of the assertion was questioned, and Mr. McCarthy retorted that if the request of the Manitoba Government for a thorough investigation was granted it could be proved. "How was it." he asked, "that separate schools could be dispensed with in British Columbia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and yet be required in Manitoba, where the Roman Catholic proportion of the population was but 13 per cent? It was after 10 o'clock before Mr. Mc-Carthy came down to the recent declaration of the Government that they would call a session next January, and if under this threat Manitoba did not reverse her policy before then, coercive legislation would be enacted. That legislation was to be on the lines of the remedial order, which ordered the re-establishment of the separate schools formerly existing under the control and management of the Roman Catholics. Did this Government propose, he asked, to continue to exist for six months ed, to continue to exist for the furpose of implementing the remedial order? Referring to Mr. Clark Wallace, Mr. McCarthy said he should be with him in this fight, but he was absent from the House and would shirk the vote. If this agitation was dropped in Quebec, the school question, Mr. McCarthy as-serted, would settle itself in two years.

He concluded by moving: "That this House hears with regret the statements recenty made defining the policy of the Government respect ing the Manitoba school question, and is unwiling by silence to allow it to be assumed that at the session to be held in January, any more than at the present session, it is prepared to pass a law to restore separate schools in Manitoba on the lines of the remedial order of March 21, 1895.

was insincere or had become insincere since he had become, if not a political outcast, a political desperado. In the most insulting language Mr. Tupper declared that Mr. McCarthy, as a member of the House, was ineligible to discuss this question, because he had been the paid counsel of Manitoba in the hearing of the appeal. Dealing with the merits of the case, Mr. Tupper quoted the Lord Chancellor to show that in his view there was a compact with the minority guaranteeing separate schools. He laid stress on the view of the judicial committee that there was the grievance, and there was an appeal, and consequently action. He defended the remedial order as necessarily per emptory. The main thing aimed at was to make its meaning plain. Legislation should follow, but there was some hope held out in Manitoba's answer that renewed negotiations might yet result in settlement. He described himself as an ardent advocate of remedial legislation. When the time came they would act with force. They had called a halt for a time. They wishe i to sound Manitoba in a friendly spirit. He argued for a separate school system as a compromise obtaining in Canada. He did not mean that its weakness should be re-established in Manitoba. The draft bill had eliminated some of the weak points. He was prepared to die politically for the policy to which the Government was committed. When the time came the Government would act with zeal.

Mr. Lariviere moved the adjournment of the debate, upon which Mr. McCarthy got up and warmly resented what he termed an unjust attack upon him, because he had acted as Manitoba's counsel. He quoted authorities to show that the rule did not apply in his case. He especially resented the attack from a Tupper. The history of Canada had been disgraced by the Tupper family.

Sir Hibbert replied, and quoted the English Hansard to show that his contention was right. Mr. Martin quoted the London Times' report of the debate, from which the Hansard is condensed, in rebuttal, and warmly defended Mr. McCarthy.

Mr. Daly supported Mr. Tupper's The House then adjourned.

Lady Aberdeen occupied a seat on the floor of the House all through the debate on the Manitoba case. A GREAT HONOR Bestewed on Canon Richardson of London-Addresses an Immense Throng in Boston.

It was quite an honor bestowed on Canon Richardson, of this city, on Sunday last, when he was invited to preach the sermon in Trinity Church. Boston, from the pulpit of the late celebrated Phillips Brooks. The Boston Herald

"Standing room was at a premium in Trinity Church Sunday morning, when in addition to the regular congregation of the church, hundreds of Christian Endeavorers sought to attend the services in the edifice made famous by the lamented Phillips Brooks. They thronged around the entrances in hundreds, each wearing the badge of the organization, and eagerly besought the ushers to allow them to gain admission.

"When the services commenced at 10:30 the entire seating space of the vast auditorium was occupied, and there were hundreds of people on the outside, endeavoring to gain entrance by the various doors leading to the altar enclosure, and to get within hearing distance of the pulpit
"Rev. Canon J. B. Richardson, of London, Ont., was to deliver the sermon, and there was a considerable desire to hear him, as he is an old favorite in Boston. His sermon fully met the expectations of the congregation, and was a clear, logical and eloquently presented plea for the unification of the various denominations of the Christian Church. He alluded at length to the Pope's recent letter to the English people, written with the object of uniting the English Church with the Holy See, and while he found some things in the letter which he could not agree with, he expressed the grati-fication which he felt at the proof which the letter afforded that there was a widespread and genuine desire to unite all Christians in the fold of Christ."

Canon Richardson said among other things:

"Whatever unity we may attain to as Christians, this much is certain, it must be a unity in diversity. This must be so even if we were all to come and rest on that symmetrical quadrilateral I have mentioned. "May there not be a spiritual unity at least among us now—an interde-nominational fellowship attained even under our present diversified forms of Christian communion and polity? I think so, and I cannot help feeling that this very attainment is to be had and is being had in this great and wonderful and world-wide Christian Endeavor movement, which is so powerfully represented before you in Boston just now.

"Christian Endeavor stands for loyalty-intense loyalty to the church and congregation with which it is connected. It stands, too, for interde-nominational fellowship. "Sectarianism is the phariseeism of the modern church. We rejoice today that there is no provision for it in this theocratic movement. The divine order of the new life is Christ, fellowship, co-operation, conquest. Broadness and intensity are cardinal principles in Chritian Endeavor, and offset importance in the Christian life. Shakespeare tells us of the parties who exchanged eyes and got a new fond-ness for each other. That is exactly what interdenominational fellowship will do for the followers of the Mas-

The notorious John Palmer, of the East End, who a week ago was committed for trial on a charge of robbery, was in the Police Court again this morning charged with neglecting to support his wife, Sarah Palmer. Mrs. Palmer, heavily veiled, was in court, but did not wish to proceed with the case. Deputy Crown Attorney McKillop, however, would not consent to its withdrawal, and called upon Mrs. Pal-

"I am going to deny the charge," said the prisoner, as his wife was about

Mrs. Palmer's story showed that her let was an unhappy one indeed and that but for charitably-disposed persons she and her three little children might possibly have starved. In June, 1894, Palmer came home from Toronto after a six months' vacation in the Central Prison, and for a little while he supported his family. He began to get reckless, however, and finally Mrs. Palmer and the children had to make their own way. Shortly after New Years the mother was compelled to go to the hospital for treatment for enlargement of the liver, and for a loathsome disease which has badly disfigured her face and made her appearance in public without a veil an impossibility. For five months she was under the care of the hospital staff, and was discharged on June 1: "When I went to the hospital the three children were taken care of by charitable ladies, Palmer contributing nothing for their support," said Mrs. Palmer, only after close questioning. "Two of them are in the orphans' home now and one is in a private family. And the only assistance Jack has given me since I came out of the hospital was $1 worth of groceries and 50 cents in money. I have been looked after by kind ladies; otherwise I might have starved."

And Mrs. Palmer stepped out of the tex crying bitterly. "Do you wish to be tried before me?" asked the magistrate. "No, certainly not," replied Palmer, in a snappy manner. He was thereupon committed. Palmr's past reputation has been bad. Thomas G. Billings, a swell young man from Brantford, just struck town, and got overloaded. He was disand 'got

This impression, however, does not obtain among the best posted business men of the city, who generally agree that the bank will go into liquidation at the end of the time of suspension, 90 days. The bank started business in 1835, has a paid-up capital of $1,200,000, and a reserve of $600,000. Its note circulation as per last statement was $746,798.

SMUGGLED IN SLEEPERS.

Chinamen Caught at Windsor in a Wagner Car.

Detroit, Mich., July 17.-For a long ime past the customs officials have suspected that Chinese were being smuggled across the border from Canada in sleeping cars. The suspicion was verified late last night, when some important arrests were made on a Wagner sleeping car which had just crossed the river from the Grand Trunk Railroad and was being switch-ed to the Wabash road. Division Superintendent Chamberlain of the Wagner Company entered the car, accom-panied by Special Treasury Agent Wood and Inspector Carney. The conductor, Frederick R. Lincoln, of Buffalo, and Porter Chas. McLain, of Chicago, were obliged to permit the officers to inspect the berths, although they protested that there was a woman in the stateroom. In this compart-ment were found four Chinamen with Herbert Johnson, of Windsor. Johnson, the conductor and the porter were arrested, and with the Chinamen, went to jail in default of $1,000 bail each required by the court commissioner.

Nearing Completion.

Free Library Building Will Be Finished by Sept. 1.

Over 6,000 Books-Will Cost on an Aver age $1 Each—City Council and Free Library Board Both Want the Mechanics' Institute Surplus.

Work is progressing very rapidly on the new free library building, and Architect Matthews expects to have it completed without trouble in the specified time-Sept. 1. Some time will be necessary to put the furnishings in shape, and it may be well on towards winter before the library is thrown open to the public. The reading room will probably be opened sooner than the library proper, as there will be less to do in that connection. The Conservatives take possession of the Mechanics' Institute on Aug. 1. The Institute library has been turned over to the Free Library Board. It consists of about 2,500 volumes and will prove to be a splendid nucleus for the new library. It is expected that the first catalogues will contain the names of over 6,000 books. The work of selection is necessarily slow, and Librarian Blackwell has just completed the list of works on Biography, History, Geo-graphy and Travel. These books cost an average of about $1 50 each. It is thought that the library can be furnished at an average cost of $1 per volume. The Mechanics' Institute Board has $659 on its hands, and as the board expires with the Institute it is obliged to get rid of it. There are rival claimants for the amount just now, both the Free Library Board and the City Council wanting it. The City Council adopted a resolution requesting the Institute Board to hand the money over to the city treasurer and the books to the Free Library Board. but there promises to be a vigorous fight before the mandate is complied with. The Free Library Board think themselves entitled to the sum, and the Institute Board side with them.

HARCOURT IN HARNESS.

London, July 17 .- At a meeting at Tredegar last evening, over which Mr. Warmington presided, the following telegram was read: "Your generous offer is gratefully accepted. The reading of the message was greeted with round after round of cheers. Mr. Warmington, who is a wellknown Q. C., in 1892 defeated his Conservative opponent, Mr. W. H. Meredith, by such an overwhelming majority that the Unionists had resolved not to contest the seat. Now, however, it is understood that upon Sir William's having taken the field, they have determined to fight, and will nominate a Tory, Mr. W. E. Williams. The polling has been fixed for July 23. The most that the Tories can hope for is to reduce the Liberal majority somewhat.

STAMBOULOFF SHOT AND STABBED.

Sofia, July 16.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon Stambouloff was still alive, but his condition is pronounced to be hopeless. He has fifteen sword cuts on his head and one of his eyes has been de-troyed. Although the attempt at murder was made on a busy street, no one came to his assistance. Everybody seems to be convinced that the police were in the plot to assassinate the ex-Premier, as five members of the police force, who were near him when the attack commenced, made no attempt to

Later in the day M. Stambuloff recovered consciousness, and a magistrate was at once summoned to his bedside to take his deposition. The ex-Premier said that he recognized among his assailants two men named Holn and Tufektchiew, the latter of whom had been condemned in Turkey to 18 years' imprisonment in Contumaciam for murdering M. Vulkovitch. Witnesses declare that the police prevented M. Stambuloff's valet from pursuing his master's assailants. They state that the inspector arrived shortly af-ter M. Stambuloff fell to the ground, and struck the valet upon the neck with his sword, inflicting a painful wound.

DEATH IN THE CHAIR. A New York Murderess May Meet It

There. New York, July 16.-Maria Barberi, who murdered her lover, Dominico Cataldo, because he abandoned her, was last night found guilty of murder in the first degree, and will, if the verdict is allowed to stand, be the first woman to reach the death chair. The case will be taken to the Court of Appeals, and if that court does not order a new trial the governor will be appealed to to commute the sentence to imprisonment.

The recorder's charge was unfavorable to the defendant. He said in conclusion: "You must exemplify justice by your verdict. A jury has nothing to do with mercy. The law knows no distinction of persons. The law does not hold a woman less responsible than man. The female sex is sometimes used as a cloak for most horrible crimes."

HELD 500 MEETINGS. The Christian Endeavorers Were Besy While in Boston.

Boston, July 16.—The fourteenth international Christian Endeavor convention came to an end last night. During its continuance more than 500 meetings have been nold. Approximately 50,000 men and women have come from all corners of the North American continent as delegates. Others have come from strange and distant lands, and the most powerful nations have been represented in this vast gathering.

Dr. H. P. Grove, of the Chicago University, presented a resolution addressed to the Queen of England, urging upon her attention the terrible condition of the Christian subjects of Turkey, and praying her, in the name of a common faith and an outraged Christian conscience, to use her great influence and authority to help those who are perishing, and to give that country a safe and just government. The resolution was received with great applause, and on a viva voce vote was carried with a mighty shout.

The declaration of the platform and principles of the Society of Christian Endeavor, approved by the unanimous voice of the convention, in part says:
"We reaffirm our increasing confidence in the interdenominational spiritual fellowship through which we hope, not for organic unity, but to fulfill our Lord's Prayer that they all be one. This fellowship already extends to all evangelical denominations, and we should greatly deplore any movement that would interrupt or imperil it." Christian Endeavor stands always and everywhere for Christian citizens. It is forever opposed to the saloon, the gambling den, the brothel and every like iniquity. It stancs for temperance, for law, for order, for Sabbath keeping, for a pure political atmospherein a word, for righteousness.

AMENITIES OF THE BATTLEFIELD.

Occasionally Absurd and Show Plenti-ful Lack of legic, Archibald Forbes says that the abstract theory of the "amenities of war" is preposterous. You strain every effort to reduce your adversary to impotence; he falls wounded, whereupon, should he come into your hands, you promptly devote all your exertions to saving his life and restoring him to health and vigor, in order that he may go home and swell the ranks of your enemy. This is, no doubt, humanity, but it is supremely illogical.

Marbot recounts in his memoirs per-haps the most absurd application ever made of the theory of the "amenities." In the battle of Austerlitz a body of beaten Russians, about 5,000 strong, strove to escape across the ice on the Satschan Lake. Napoleon ordered his artillery to fire on the ice, which was shattered, and men and horses slowly settled down into the depths, only a few escaping by means of poles and ropes thrust out from shore by the French. Next morning Napoleon, riding around the positions, saw a wounded Russian officer clinging to an ice floe a hundred yards out and entreating help. The emperor became intensely interested in the succor in the man. After many failures. Marbot and another officer stripped and swam out, gradually brought the ice floe toward the shore, and laid the Russian at Napoleon's feet. The emperor evinced more delight at this rescue than he had manifested when assured of the victory of Austerlitz. He had no compunction as to the fate of the unfortunates whom his artillery practice of the day before had sent to their death.

Chicago, July 16.-The market has been very nervous, with the big bears still hammering at every show of weakness. Crop news from the Northwest is the main support of the bulls. The most important item from that quarter today is the admission of the Minneapolis Market Record (whose editor has been and still is very bearish in his crop advices), that the condition of spring wheat has declined 5 points since July 1, and is now about 97, or 1 point lower than the June condition. It is being more generally admitted that the damage reports are true and when this fact has impressed itself on the trade, as the winter wheat damage did two months ago, similar results may be looked for. There is a small increase in the wheat movement at primary points, but it is still wretchedly small, and the grain is of poor quality, while the demand for old is improving. From 250,000 to 300,000 busnels are reported to have been taken here $6 12½.

PLENTY OF WATER. The supply of water from the city's resources at Springbank continues to exceed the heavy demand, and now the reservoir holds over fourteen feet and the ponds are full. The new pumps have been used six days in the past two weeks in order that the demand could be more easily met, and have thus demonstrated their usefulness. The lower Colville springs and the output of a ditch recently dug by waterworks employes are being pumped into the conduit pipe by machinery secured for the purpose. They are worth 500,-000 gallons a day, and more than make up for the reduced supply from the old springs. The Grand Trunk is still pumping its own supply. Constantinople, July 17.—The attempted assassination of Premier Stambouloff at Sofia, Bulgaria, has created a great sensation here, and serious events in Bulgaria are looked for. Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way, people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

ONE HUNDRED PER CENT.

"The Oakville graduates in our town are, every one, giving a good account of themselves, and the indications are that two or three others will be with you next week." Thus a good friend of Lakehurst Sanitarium, Oakville, has written us from a town in Western Ontario. Two so-called "Cures" had previously "boomed" this town, and their patients, or, rather, their victims. with one exception, failed to receive any benefit. The story of the successes of the Oakville treatment elsewhere reached them under these discouraging circumstances, and a few public-spirited citizens determined that a test should be made. The test was made, and the testimony is one hundred per cent cured. Oakville is henceforth the Mecca towards which sufferers from alcoholism in this town turn for relief. Wherever the treatment is known spent Wednesday of last week at the residence of Mrs. Ellis, Christina street, on their way to Red Wing, Minn., Toronto, xt

The Secret Out.

"What are you talking about?" that lady broke in, angrily. "How do you know she came from the dressmaker who makes my dresses?"

"Why, ma'am," was the reply, "I bouldn't help it. She had bits and vieces of them all in her hand and compared them on the siy. She did not know that I saw her, but I did, and that was one thing I didn't like about For what business had she with any but the blue silk she was sent to

Dr. Cameron smiled and stepped back Into the boudoir. After all, it was a trifling matter which his wife could easily settle. He did not perceive that she had grown startlingly white about the lips, and could nardly speak the words which the occasion demanded. "She had pices like these dresses?" she repeated. "Like how many of them and like which ones? Tell me at once.' The girl more, and more troubled, shook her head. "There was a bit like this one," she returned, pointing to a superb dinnerdress of gray velvet, "and a piece of trimming such as is on that one," indicating this time a lovely tea gown of light brown silk. "And I saw her look very particularly at the white dress, ma'am, and at the buttons on this coat. But them girks all do those things, and I'm sure she took nothing away.

Mrs. Cameron sank into a chair, lookat the luxurious garments in which she had shown like a particular bright star in Washington, and seemed to be seized with a sudden distaste for them.
"Hang them up," she cried, "an whatever happens, don't take them down from their pegs again unless I tell you." Then as the girl moved to do her bidding, she asked again, with a sharp tone in her voice, "Are you sure the pieces you saw were exactly like the dresses she compared them with?"

"Sure, ma'am," was the laconic reply. "I was quite near, and I couldn't have told the two apart, in no case." Genevieve sighed, took off her wraps and advanced to the bouldoir. "I am in a dream," was what her looks seemed to say; but if this was so, the dream must have been dispelled at the threshold, for it was a brilliant, talkative and merrily similing woman that stepthe other room, and with a glance dispelled the frown of thought that had settled upon her waiting hus-

The mystery of this occurrence, so petty and yet so unexplainable, was followed up by one not so petty and yet fully as hard to understand. A gentleman called—that very evening, I think-and affixed to his name on the card these words, Pressing Business. They both saw him, he having sent for both, and after a word or two of introduction, he told his errand in this "I have come," said he, "to ask Mrs. Cameron a very simple question." And turning to that lady, he inquired the name of her dressmaker. Had the ceiling above her suddenly bent down and caved in Genevieve could not have looked more astonished and possibly not more terrified.

"Your pardon," this gentleman continued. "I am abrupt, and you probably think me rude. Let me explain myself. Dr. Cameron, you, if not your wife, probably remembers the affair of the young girl who died in a doctor's gig not long ago from a dose of prussie zeid?" It was now Dr. Cameron who looked amazed. "Mildred Farley?" he inquired, wondering why this name was ever springing up at his hearthstone.

"The same," rejoined the other

"Yes," assented the doctor, with a glance at his wife, which she did not meet, so absorbed was she in the flames of the dancing fire-light before her. "I remember the occurrence well; it was not only sad but mysterious. Can the question you have put my wife have any bearing upon this tragic affair?" "Some," responded the other, looking, however, with a parental smile, upon the still and stately woman, who evidently waiting for him to make his business more intelligible, listened, but said nothing to his enigmatical re-

"Mildred Farley was a dressmaker," this gentleman went on. "And if you read the newspapers you know that and also know that she worked hard at her duties for some weeks before her death. But what is very strange in her connection, and, together with some other reasons unnecessary to state here makes it difficult for the police to settle down to the belief that her death was the simple suicide it at first seemed, is that no one has succeeded in discovering for whom she worked, and to what home she carried the various dresses she finished in that time. For though it may not be material to know this, and may not help the affair forward one jot towards its rightful issue, yet because it is a mystery and an unsolved one, those whose business it is to see every doubtful case made clear, have sent me to this house to see if some light cannot be thrown by you upon

He paused and looked at Genevieve. She at once raised her eyes and surveyed him steadily.

"You think, then, that I knew Mil-dred Farley?" was her question, clearly and coldly uttered. "Did you not?" he asked.

Her lips broke into a smile. "Ask Dr. Cameron," she suggested, and seemed to think she had answered his ques-

Their visitor glanced at the doctor, met only a dubious shake of the head, and continued in a more formal tone. "If you do not know Miss Fariey,

+++++++++++++++++++++++++++ It is strange she should have made the dresses of your trousseau, Mrs. Cameron."

"I don't understand you," was that lady's reply. "My dresses were made by anyone but that girl. This I can assure you most positively, sir."
"You can. We are then brought round to my first question: Who was it that did make your dresses, Mrs.

Cameron? It was smilingly said, but it caused her to flush with great indignation.
"It is necessary that I should tell you?" she somewhat haughtily in-

"If you do not I cannot prevent certain people I know from thinking it was Mildred Farley."

"And why?" Dr. Cameron now broke in. "What reasons have they or any-one to connect my wife with that poor unfortunate.

"Only a very material one which I leave Mrs. Cameron to explain. In the room of that dead girl were found scraps and ends of silk and velvet, which were preserved by the police as pieces of the goods she had lately been making up into dresses. Among these was a morsel of trimming-here it is -and as this trimming or some just like it was seen by chance upon a dress worn by Mrs. Cameron, it struck one of our agents that she was in all probability the lady who had profited by this poor girl's handiwork." "The conclusions of a man!" exclaimed Mrs. Cameron, with shrill sarcasm. "I suppose there are in this city today twenty ladies with just that trimming on their gowns."

"And with this gray velvet for a dress? And this—I do not know how to call it—for another? And this soft white silk so suitable for a bride's adorning, and-

"Enough, enough," cried Mrs. Cam-eron, putting up her hands merrily as a half dozen samples of various goods and colors fell in a shower into her lan. "I own to these, but I do not own to Mildred Farrey. I know the trick that was played upon me today, and I am sure I thank you gentlemen heartily; but you waste your time; you will never find that she did any sewing for me, however she came into possession of these pieces." And with a half careless, half disdainful smile, she flirted the bits aside, looking so imperious and so charming that for a moment her visitor seemed a trifle abashed and half rose as if to go. "You see, if I had anything to tell, I would," she murmured, graciously. "But I have not. I cannot explain any more than you how these samples from my dresses should have been found where they were. I can only look at them and wonder. Is that enough, sir?"

Mr. Scollie lived with the Grays, and in February, 1894, the Grays' dwelling was consumed by fire, the deceased being burned in the building. The Grays were then arrested in Florida and brought here for trial. A number of witnesses were examined today, the bulk of whose evidence would go to show that the head was not burned off the body, as it appeared when discovered, but must have been severed from the trunk by some other means. The examination will be continued tomorrow. Crown Attorney assisted by Government Detective Murray, is looking after the case for the Crown. Mr. W. A. Stratton is counsel for the prisoners.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system. To cure nervousness, lack of self-contrel, despondency, etc. To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power. To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the

WARNED IN HER SLEEP.

The Wife of a D owned Man Saw the Tragedy in a Dream.

South Haven, Mich., July 16.-Mrs. H. M. Titsworth, wife of the owner of the yacht Artist, who was drowned in the sinking of the boat off this port Sunday afternoon, had a remarkable dream a few nights before the dis-

With great distinctness she saw in her dream the new yacht tossed about the waves of the lake, while her husband and others aboard put forth desperate efforts to save the boat and their own lives. Their labors were fruitless and she saw them disappear beneath the waves. The dream made a most vivid impression on Mrs. Titsworth and her apprehensions being aroused with reference to the yacht, she objected to her husband venturing out in it. It was a terrible blow when the news that her husband in fulfillment of her dream had been drowned, but she said: "I had expected it, but not so soon."

-The picnic of the combined city Presbyterian Sunday schools at Port yesterday was one of the pleasantest and most successful outings of the season. The attendance was large, and the weather delightful. During the day a game of ball was played between St. Andrew's and the First Presbyterian Sunday school boys, resulting in a victory for St. Andrew's by a score of 9 to 6.

Northcott claimed $17 32, but only received $4 25 and costs. On March 1 the plaintiff made an agreement to work for Oakes for ten months at $13 75 per month. On June 22, as the busy season was approaching, he left Oakes' employment and went to work elsewhere for better wages. There was still some money due, which Oakes refused to pay, claiming a breach of contract. The case was settled on a basis of an allowance to the defendant for having to engage new help for higher wages. The case may be appealed.

-Knox Church, South London, held an adjourned meeting of its congrega-tion last evening, to consider plans for extension of the seating accommodation of the church. It was found, on estimates submitted by the board of managers, that the cheapest plan that would meet the present wants of the congregation would cost not less than $600, whereas the original estimate of $3,000 would not only improve the ar-chitecture and conveniences of the church, but would provide ample accommodation for the future, as well as the present need of the congregation.

It was accordingly unanimously resolved that the board of managers be authorized to receive tenders for the extension and remodeling of the church as was originally proposed, and to proceed with the alterations at once, provided the work can be kept within the estimate. The plan provides for the construction of an alcove on the south side of the church, to contain an organ loft, choir gallery and pulpit platform in front. There are to be two porch entrances at either corner on Bruce street, and the seats are to face the pulpit in amphitheater form. When completed the improvements will transform the entire style of the church, converting its interior into a commodious structure. Rev. J. G. Stuart presided

Mrs. Foster, of Kent street, has just recovered from a serious attack of La Grippe. This is the second siege she has had of this influenza, the first of which attacked Mrs. Foster about three years ago, and left her with a very troublesome cough, accompanied with chronic bronchitis, and a complication of other diseases, which made it almost impossible for her to attend church without disturbing the congregation by coughing, and, indeed, Mrs. Foster assures us that so bad were the spasms that she often feared she would burst a blood vessel during one of these severe attacks. It was very natural that under such circumstances numerous friends would recommend as many different "cure alls." She tried Cherry Pectoral, Tar, Linseed and other preparations, but was growing generally worse when a friend who had been benefited by Barkwell's Bronchial Balsam advised her to try that, and in a few days she was out of bed, and the best feature is that she is now entirely freed from all simptoms of the Bronchitis, of which she never hoped to be cured. Mr. Millar, a neighbor, also had a bad cough and was completely cured by the same preparation.

WANTED-A HOME. Mr. J. J. Kelso, Provincial superintendent of neglected children, would like very much to hear of parties who would be willing to give a home to a homeless child. Mr. Kelso has, awaiting homes, a number of bright little boys and girls, from infancy up to 8 years of age, who would do well in the care of kind-hearted people. Agreements concerning these children are of the most simple character, no one being compelled to keep a child a day longer than they desire. This is a field of Christian work in which many good women having nome comforts might well engage. The importance to the community of having little ones efficiently cared for cannot well be overestimated, and the reward for service of this kind will certainly be great. Further information can be obtained by adressing Mr. Kelso, Parliament buildings, Toronto. Information will be furnished at any time as to the best methods of dealing with ill-

WATER RATE REBATES. The water commissioners held their usual fortnightly meeting yesterday afternoon, Commissioner Cowan, Mayor Little, Secretary Elwood and Inspector Plastow being present. The business was largely of a minor nature. In the case of Mrs. Dagg, the period in which the usual discount is allowed on water rates expired yesterday. Mrs. Dagg was nursing a sick son, who was too ill to be left alone, and the day passed with the charge unpaid. She applied in person to the commissioners yesterday for the usual rebate, setting forth the case with clearness and tact, and the commissioners decided, under the circumstances, to grant her request, for which she expressed her hearty thanks. J. Luney applied for a service on Tecumseh avenue. Granted. Applications for rebates because of wrongful charges were received from T. H. Purdom and Mrs. E. L. Ward. They were referred to Inspector Plastow to investigate. M. H. Rowland asked and was granted a one-half inch service at 434 Queen's avenue, instead of a three-eighth inch pipe. A similar applica-tion from W. H. Brown, 946 Elias street, was refused. The latter wrote that when the lawn service was in it took four minutes to fill a pail at the tap. The secretary intimated that Mr. Brown did not pay for a lawn service, and he will be asked to do so in the
