UNPAID PEW RENT

Causes Trouble in a Windsor Church--Worshiper Requested to Leave,

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 7.-There was a sensational scene at St. Alphonsus Roman Catholie Church, this city, during the farewell services conducted by Rev. Father Bayard. According to church regulations pew rents must be paid semi-annually, and if a month goes by and the rent is overdue, the pew may be sold. During the services Mr. Edward Harrahan, in company with Miss Baby, took possession of a pew for which he owed rent. Previous to last Sunday the pew was advertised for sale, and highest bidder. The senator was to have taken possession Sunday. When Mr. Harrahan and Miss Polynoid him that the dervishes, and Mr. Harrahan and Miss Baby entered the pew, Father Bayard requested them to vacate, saying it belonged to Senator Casgrain. They refused until ordered out by the priest "in the name of the church." Then they took another seat.

A little later the senator entered the church and entered the pew, entirely ignorant of the scene which had occurred a few minutes before. The incident has created considerable talk in the community, as all the parties connected with the affair are well known.

SHOT IN THE HEAD

Brantford Lady Struck by a Rifle Bullet Fired Through the Window.

Brantford, Sept. 7.-Mrs. Nathaniel Wing, Cayuga street, Eagle Place, was accidentally shot in the head on Monday, and had a very close call from instant death. Some young men were practicing shooting at a target in a neighboring back-yard, and a bullet from the rifle came into the Wings' house through a window. Mrs. Wing was in the act of stooping over to wring out some clothes at the moment, when the bullet struck her in the top of the head, glancing along under the scalp, and inflicting a nasty wound, then striking off from the skull and lodging in the lady's back hair, which was done up in a tight knot. Had Mrs. Wing been an inch higher at the time, death would immediately have resulted. It is not believed the injury will be serious, though Mrs. Wing received a terrible shock. An example should be made of careless boys who persist in

NEW DEPARTURE IN EGYPT.

London, Sept. 7 .- The war correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Omdurman says: "After the entry of the troops into the dervish capital, it was found necessary to further bombard the khalifa's house. Gen Kitchener and his staff were standing in the vicinity and narrowly escaped being killed by the shells. I estimate the enemey's killed at more than 15,000." A dispatch from Khartoum announces that five British gunboats have pushed up the White Nile. This is regarded here as highly significant. HOW HOWARD FELL. A special from Omdurman says: "Herbert Howard, the correspondent of the Times met his death owing to his eagerness to get the first news of the fate of Carl Neufeld and the other European prisoners of the khalifa. He pressed into the city before it was safe to do so, and was making his way all alone in the narrow way leading to the prison, when he was attacked and

HUGGED DEATH.

"The finest display of heroism on the dervish side was made by the khalifa's brother, Yantub, with his adherents, who, utterly regardless of our terrific fire, made a superb attempt to retrieve the day's fortunes. of those cities join in unwonted chorus of ungrudging praise of the British troops. The Temps, of Paris, for in-stance, says that "the British army has given proof of that valor, at once disciplined and impetuous, which is the grand military virtue of the race." BALACLAVA REPEATED.

The papers here enlarge proudly on the charge of the Twenty-first Lancers at Omdurman, which they describe as a second Balaclava. Making all allowances, it was undoubtedly a brilliant feat. It was the maiden engagement of the regiment, which was re-cently converted from hussars. They were ordered to prevent the broken partment. enemy from returning to Omdurman, NEW STEAMER ROUTE TO CANfive miles distant. They charged to within thirty yards of the dervishes. when suddenly they found themselves confronted by 2,000 hidden reserves. They did not hesitate, though they were exposed to a withering infantry fire, but began to hack their way through the enemy, who stood twenty deep. They struggled through, but every one who fell was instantly hewn to pieces by the fanatical dervishes. The brunt of the fighting fell on No. 2 company. A corporal of this com-pany, who arrived on the far side of enemy, drenched with blood and reeling from weakness, was ordered to fall out. Waving his bent lance, he shouted, "Never!" and called to his squadron, "Form up, No. 2." After cutting lances through the enemy, the lancers bleading, and blown to lancers, bleeding and blown, re-formed steadily. Col. Martin refused to allow them to charge again. ordered them to dismount, and to pour a carbine fire into the dervishes. This fire drove the enemy back into the line of the Anglo-Egyptian fire.

Another incident of the charge was the gallant attempt of Lieut. Montmorency, Capt. Kenna and Corporal Swarbuck, to recover the body of Lieut. Grenfell. They kept the enemy off with their revolvers, and placed the body on a horse, which, however, shied, render-ing their attempt fruitless.

FOR ANNEXATION

Philippinos Favor Joining With the United States-Spanish Prisoners To Be Ransomed.

Manila, Sept. 7.—At a meeting of 20 leaders of the Philippinos of all sections, called to discuss the policy of these islands, eighteen of them were emphatically in favor of outright annexation to the United States, and two were in favor of a republic. The general native opinion is best to adopt U. S. Significant Movement of Britis in the Politische Correspondenz, it is believed in Paris diplomatic circles that the United States has decided to annex the entire Philippine archipelago, and it is suggested there that Spain is now resigned to a surrender of the islands for a consideration. Perhaps this must be regarded as a feeler; but it takes the wrong view in supposing that there could be any pargain between the United States and Spain. Much will depend on the tes-timony of General Merritt and the other officers who are going to Paris. It is believed here that Admiral Dewey also will be called to Paris, and that the counsel of these officers will exercise a strong influence in favor of annexation. The Spanish Cabinet has decided to prevent the newspapers from printing accounts of the sessions of the cortes. The Spanish newspapers generally blame the government for attempting to control the debate of the cortes, saying their convocation is useless if closed doors are added to the silence imposed upon the press.

The cabinet has authorized the foreign minister, Duke Almodovar de Rio, to negotiate with the Philippine insurgents to ransom the five thousand pri-

THE DREYFUS CASE. Paris. Sept. 7.-The newspapers regard the revision of the Dreyfus case as being assured, saying that the prisoner's counsel will now make strenuous efforts to secure a public retrial. The Matin says that Col. Picquart yesterday signed a demand for the provisional liberation of Dreyfus. The government denies the rumor of the death of Dreyfus, and the fact that M. Faure has left the capital is regarded as indicating that matters will be quiet for a time. Paris, Sept. 7 .- The Figaro today says the cabinet council, just held, unanimously agreed upon a revision of the Dreyfus case, and directed the minister of justice, M. Sarrien, to take the necessary steps to accomplish it. The Matin today announces the discovery of facts implicating the officers of the general starf, adding that Gen. Turks Set Fire to the Town of Candia. Mussulmans Fired on by British

Troops-The Situation Serious.

Canea, Island of Crete, Sept. 7. -Candia is being bombarded by the British troops, which have been acting as police since the Greek war. They are fighting the Mussulmans, riots are in progress, and fires have broken out in various parts of the city. The Mussulmans started the disturbances. The Turks set fire to the whole town of Candia. The only warship there at the time of the outbreak was the British gunboat Hazard, which landed a party of marines to assist the 130 British troops there. Candia, Island of Crete, Sept. 7. -Candia is in a state of anarchy. A collision between the Mussulmans, who were demonstrating against European control, and the British authorities, who have been installing Christians as revenue officials, culminated mans and the British troops. Riots took place in various parts of the city, outbreak was fiercest, a warship sta-tioned in the harbor began firing shells, with the result that a portion of the city is in flames. The greatest confusion and uproar prevails. The trouble began with the attempt of the British military authorities to install Christian officials. They had appointed a council of international control to administer the tithe revenues, and a detachment of soldiers was stationed outside the office as a precaution. A of Mussulmans, who had been demonstrating against the Christians, attempted to force an entrance the office. The British soldiers fired and wounded several. The Mussulmans ran for their arms, and re-turning, attacked the soldiers. Other Mussulmans spread rapidly through the Christian quarter, shooting into windows and setting many houses and

What We Owe to Our Own Generation-Discourse by Rev. Dr. Talmage.

Washington, Sept. 4. - In this thinner. And Isaiah shrieks out: discourse Dr. Talmage changes our lifetime from a meaningless generality to practical helpfulness to the people now living. Text: Acts, xiii., 36: "David, after he had saved his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep."

David, cowboy and stone-slinger, and fighter, and dramatist, and blank verse writer, and prophet, did his best for the people of his time, and then went and laid down on the southern hill of Jerusalem in that sound slumber which nothing but an archangelic blast can startle. "David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep." It was his own generation that he had served; that is, the people living at the time he lived. And have you ever thought that our responsibilities are chiefly with the people now walking abreast of us? There are about four caparations to a century. about four generations to a century now, but in olden time, life was longer, and there was, perhaps, only one generation to a century. Taking these facts into the calculation, I make a rough guess, and say that there have been of uncounted multitudes, who with at least 180 generations of the human family. With reference to them we have no responsibility. We cannot them to the control them to the control to the control them. teach them, we cannot correct their bread. teach them, we cannot correct their teach them, we cannot soothe their sormistakes, we cannot soothe their wounds. Their sepulchers are deaf and dumb to anything we might say to them. The last regiment of that great army to have enough to wear. God looks they have enough to wear. God looks they have enough to wear, and knows just they have enough to wear, and knows just they have enough to wear. them would avert his head to see what tion are carefully taken in civilized we wanted. I admit that I am in sympathy with the child whose father had mother's face, said: "O mother, I can-not leave him all out. Let me say, thank God that I had a good father once, so I can keep him in my pray-there are generations to come after our earthly existence has ceased. We shall not see them; we shall not hear any of their voices; we will take no part in their convocations, their elections, their triumphs. We will in no wise affect the triumphs. We will take no part in the triumphs triumphs. We will in no wise affect the 180 generations gone or the 180 generations gone or the 180 generations to come, except as from the gallerles of heaven the former generations look down and rejoice at our victories, or as we may, by our behavior, start influences, good or bad, that shall roll on through the advancting ages. But our business is, like ing ages. But our business is, like lungs now breathe, and whose hearts now beat. And, mark you, it is not a silent procession, but moving. It is a "forced march" at twenty-four miles a with that celerity, it has got to be a quick service on our part, or no service at all. We not only cannot teach the 180 generations past, and will not see the 180 generations to come, but this generation now on the stage will soon be off, and we ourselves will be off with them. The fact is, that you and I will have to start very soon for our work, or it will be ironical and sarcastic for anyone after our exit to say of us, as it was said of David, "After he had served his own generation by the will of God, he fell on sleep."

Well, now, let us look around ear-to it that, as far as we can, they have enough to eat. The human body is so constituted that three times a day the body needs food as much as a lamp needs oil, as much as a locomotive needs fuel. To meet this want God has girdled the earth with apple orchards, orange groves, wheat fields; and oceans full of fish, and prairies full of cattle. And notwithstanding this, I will undertake to say that the vast majority of the human family are now suffering either from lack of food or the right kind of food. Our civilization is all askew, and God only can set it right. Many of the greatest estates of today have been built out of the blood and tribute 70,000 skulls, and Bagdad 90,000 human skulls, and that number of people were compelled to furnish the skulls. But these two contributions added together made only 160,000 skulls, while into the tower of the while into the tower of the world's wealth and pomp have been wrought the skeletons of uncounted numbers of the half-fed populations of the earth-millions of skulls. Don't sit down at your table with five or courses of abundant supply and think nothing of that family in the next street who would take any of those five courses between soup and almond nuts and feel they were in heaven. The lack of the right kind of food is the cause of much of the drunkenness. After drinking what many of our grocers call coffee, sweetened with what many call sugar, and eating what many of butchers call meat, and chewing what many of our bakers call bread, the laboring class feel so miserable they are tempted to put into their nasty pipes what the tobacconist calls tobacco, or go into the drinking saloons for what the rum-sellers call

What mean ye that ye grind the faces of the poor?" It is an awful thing to be hungry. It is an easy thing for us to be hungry. It is an easy thing for us to be in good humor with all the world when we have no lack. But let hunger take full possession of us, and we would all turn nto barbarians and cannibals and fiends. Suppose that some of the energy we are expending in useless and unavailing talk about the bread question should be expended in merciful alleviations. I have read that the battlefield on which more troops met than on any other in the world's history was the battlefield of Leipsic—160,000 men under Napoleon, 250,000 men under Schwarzeberg. No, no! The greatest and most terrible battle is now being fought all the world over. It is the the finest passage in one of the great musical masterpieces, the artist says, was suggested to him by the cry of through, and they cried: live us bread!" And all king rode through "Bread! If outlawry had its way, it would rend each hour being a mile. Going and tear and diminish, until, instead of three-fourths of the world not properly attired, four-fourths would be in rags. I will let you know how the redistribution will take place. By generosity on the part of those who have a surplus, and increased industry on the part of those suffering from deficit. Not all, but the large majority of cases of poverty in this country are a result of idleness or drunkenness, either on the part of the present sufferers or their ancestors. In most cases the rum jug is the maelstrom that has swallowed down the livelihood of those who are in rags. But things will change, and by generosity on the part of the crowded wardrobes, and industry nestly, prayerful'y, in a common sense way, and see what we can do for our own generation. First of all, let us see and sobriety on the part of the empty wardrobes, there will be enough for all

God has done his part toward the dressing of the human race. He grows a surplus of wool on the sheep's back, and flocks roam the mountains and valleys with a burden of warmth intended for transference to human comfort, when the shuttles of the factories, reaching all the way from Chatta-hoochee to the Merrimac, shall have spun and woven it. In white letters of snowy fleece God has been writing for a thousand years, his wish that there might be warmth for all zations. While others are discussing the effect of high or low tariff, or no tariff at all, bones of unrequited toil. Again, let us look around and see how we may serve our generation. What shortsighted mortals we would be if we were anxious to clothe and feed only the most insignificant part of a man, namely, his body, while we put forth no effort to clothe and feed and save his soul. Time is a little piece broken off a great eternity. What are we doing for the souls of this present generation? Let me say it is a generation worth saving. We remark what wonders of telegraph and telephone and the sethoscope. What improvement in electric light over a tallow candle! But all these improve-. ments are insignificant compared with the improvement in the human race. In olden times, once in a while, a great beer. Good coffee would do much in and good man or woman would come driving out bad rum. How can we serve our generation with enough to eat? By sitting down in embroidered shippers and lounging in embroidered shippers and lounging about them. We put a halo about the people of the past, but I think if the times demanded them, it would be brand, and through clouds of luxuriant found we have now living in this year smoke reading about political economy and the pollesophy of strikes? To the Christian's body that was hot with raging fever, so that the attendants must by sheer force keep on the blankets, it will be the cool sleep. To those who are thin-blooded and shivering with agues, it will be the warm sleep. To those who, because of physical disorders, were terrified with night visions, it will be the dreamless sleep. To nurses and doctors and mothers who were wakened almost every hour of the night by those to whom they ministered, or over whom they watched, it will be the undisturbed sleep. He gave a brief but interesting account of his trip to the coast and elsewhere, having traveled nearly 7,000 miles. Mr. Pedley then referred to the present circumstancs of the church and the struggle that had existed for three years. This would, he said, be his deiding year. A BLUE FORECAST. Hamilton Herald: It is not unlikely that the jig is up with the Canadian League. The Chatham team, which has been tottering on the brink for some days, has practically tumbled into the abyss. Deserted by Daniel J. WORK OF RESCUE. The moment the crash came, everyone within reach hurried to the scene, and soon the river swarmed with boats and tugs on their errand of mercy. Many a horribly mutilated man was quickly rescued, and as soon as it was reasonably certain that every living creature on the wreck had been taken off, the tug Beaver started for Cornwall with its load of sufferers. She was met at the wharf by a special car of the Cornwall street railway, and soon all the injured were tenderly placed in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, and every physician within reach was quickly on the spot.

At latest accounts the seventeen injured are doing well, but several are, it is feared, mortally wounded. The latest estimates of killed, given by the Phoenix Bridge Company, is fourteen, but there is a possibility that the fatalities will exceed this estimate. Following is a complete list of killed and wounded, as nearly as can be given

The cause of the sudden crumbling away of the pier is generally thought to have been the action of the water upon the concrete foundation. All the piers have been put in upon a concrete foundation. Pier No. 2 had stood the test of the ice last winter without perceptible damage. The only admissible theory, therefore, seems to be as already stated-the action of the swift current upon the concrete. In the meantime the grim fact remains that fourteen men have been called to their last account, and seventeen others seriously injured—some fatally. There is absolutely no sign of the pler. has disappeared as completely as if it were a card house.

THRILLING EXPERIENCES. Some of the survivors tell thrilling stories of the sensation they experienced during their rush through the air. Some men on the top of the traveler miraculously escaped without wetting a foot.

FROM THE AMERICAN SIDE. Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 7 .- A most appalling disaster occurred near here yesterday, and its result will probably make a death list of 40 to 50. The great railroad bridge being erected across the St. Lawrence River by the New York and Ottawa Railroad, now under construction, gave way about noon, sending upwards of 60 workmen down with the debris into the mighty rushing river, 60 feet below. Thirtythree of the victims have been taken to the hospital at Cornwall, on the Canadian side of the river, and eighteen of these are dead. It is expected that the death roll will not be completed for many days. The workmen were largely from the New York side of the river. A number of the victims were Indians from the famous St. Regis tribe, whose reservation is in the northwestern part of Franklin county. STORY OF AN EYE-WITNESS. An eye-witness to the terrible affair says he was sitting on the bank of the river, watching the busy workmen above him, when suddenly, without warning, there came a fearful crash, and two spans of the bridge collapsed, and the immense mass of timber and iron dropped down, and the agonizing shricks of the men who were being crushed in the wreck were drowned by the rushing water. He saw floating bodies coming to the surface, and the work of rescue began. This was hopelessly inadequate, there being only a few boats in the vicinity and very few men who would undertake to swim out into the turbulent waters. Many who might have been saved were drowned before help could reach them. Bodies came to the surface for a moment, and then passed out of sight, perhaps forever. It was a terrible and heartrending scene. Even those who got to land alive were in such condition that many died on the way to the hospital. Among those who are missing so far are Cyril H. Campbell, William Jackson, Craig and W. C. Bubby. About 40 of the men are Americans. The remainder are mostly Indians. Every man of the division went down with the wreck. Many of those who escaped climbed up the ironwork, which still rested on piers at either end.

EIGHTY-TWO MEN WERE ON THE STRUCTURE. Hogansburg, N. Y., Sept. 7 .- The latest news makes it probable that the death list will reach fully 30. As far as can be learned 87 were on the pay roll, of whom 82 reported for work yesterday morning. Of this long list 38 have been accounted for. Allowing that some of those unaccounted for will turn up after the excitement, the probable list of dead and injured will in all fikelihood reach over 25, and may reach 30. Among those thrown into the river was the foreman, Thos. Brady, whose home is in Pottsville, Pa. He had not been accounted for up to a late hour.

Cobdenism and Sugar.

The Canadian Manufacturer says that Cobdenism is disintegrating the Empire and as an example cites the the usual manner by the Presbytery of refusal of the British Government to impose countervailing duties on bountyfed sugar for the benefit of the West India sugar planters. The Manufacturer has chosen a poor weapon for its attack on Cobdenism, which stands for unflinching free trade. The case of ougar is one of the strongest that can be adduced on behalf of free trade principles. The British Government hesitates to impose countervailing duties not from a blind adherence to Cobdenism so-called, but from the plain standpoint of pounds, shillings and pence. Never was the commercial value of free trade more clearly demonstrated than in this instance. The short-sighted policy of bounty paying countries means millions of pounds yearly in John Bull's pocket. The British get their sugar cheaper than do the Germans and French who export it. In fact the Germans and French go down in their own pockets in order to save John Bull going deeper into his. As a result the bounty-fed British consume 86 pounds of sugar per head per annum, while the average German can only afford 26 pounds and the average Frenchman only 30. Not only this, but cheaper sugar has enabled the British to excel in manufactures of which sugar is a raw material. The French and Germans bonus the British jam and confectionery business. So much for Cobdenism. The distress of the British West Indies, caused by the stagnation of the sugar industry, is engaging the attention of the home government. Any attempt to impose countervailing duties on bounty-fed sugar, which has driven the West Indian product from the market, would be strongly resented just now not only by free trade theorists, but by the hard headed business interests and taxpayers generally. They know that it simply means millions taken from them and given to the West Indian sugar planters. It may be they will be induced to submit to some such sacrifice for the sake of the disaffected colonies. If so, it will not imply a renunciation of Cobdenism. It will be a self-inflicted loss, a generous but reluctant departure from a beneficial principle. If it succeeded in crushing the bounty system on the continent Great Britain would revert to the present profitable conditions. The British do not worship Cobdenism as a fetich but they appraise it at its utilitarian value. The sugar question as we said before, proves that value in a most practical and conclusive

A Cool Million.

The General Conference of the Methodist Church in session at Toronto has decided to raise a special fund of a million dollars, before the close of the century, i. e., within the next sixteen months. ## Friendly Words From Neighbors.

The change that has been wrought in the attitude of the United States towards Great Britain since the Spanish war, is as marked as it is gratifying. For example, the British victory in the Soudan is heartily rejoiced in by United States journals as a triumph for civilization. The following from the Detroit Free Press, fairly represents the almost universally friendly tone of the newspapers published south of the great lakes:

"Thus Anglo-Saxon prowess gains victories under the banner of St. George as well as under the Stars and Stripes. It is the same indomitable spirit that conquers great obstacles in both English and American armies. And as Englishmen were but recently rejoicing over the victories of Yankee ships and armies and sending us their congratulations, so now we Americans can take pride in the great victory at Omdurman. The Maine was avenged when Cervera's splendid fleet was pounded to pieces on the Cuban coast. Gen. Gordon's cruel death was terribly avenged last Friday when 15,000 Mahdists went down before the withering fire of Sir Herbert Kitchener's English and Egyptian soldiers.

"And it is not vainglorious to say that the triumph of the Anglo-Saxon cause both of these campaigns will be highly beneficial to civilization. The wonderful progress which Egypt has made in civilization and in material prosperity under the English protectorate is known of all the world. success of the campaign against the Mahdians means the continuance and expansion of British influence in the land of the Nile, and in consequence the advance of civilization into the heart of Africa. Likewise, let us not doubt the triumph of the Anglo-Saxon means the advance of the highest interests of mankind. England and America have reasons to congratulate each other over the successes that have lately come to each. Such victories mean the advance of Anglo-Saxon ideas, and the spread of freedom and good government in the world."

This is by no means the first opportunity Mr. Clark has had to go elsewhere. But as he is the last man to exploit calls for self-glorification, these invitations have been, not once nor twice, nipped in the bud before they had time to become generally known.

It is no matter for surprise to Mr. Clark's congregation to learn that his services would be eagerly welcomed elsewhere. Gifted with an unusual power of natural eloquence; sane in his judgments and utterances; a tireless reader and strong thinker; possessed of the saving gift of common sense: thoroughly courageous, and not afraid to stand up in his free pulpit, when necessary, against any passing current of opinion; broad and tolerant in his views, and rightly esteemed by men and women of every class and creed-Mr. Clark adds distinction to the pulpit of Canada.

The Western Fair,

London's magnificent annual exhibition begins on Thursday of this week. It bids fair to be the greatest Western Fair ever held in this Western metropolis. The exhibits of every class will be much above the average. The art exhibition, in the new annex, will be crowded with pictures of special merit. The attendance will break all records. If you want to see your friends the Western Fair is the likeliest place at which to find them. Our own citizens should go to the Fair early and often, and show full enthusiasm for what is one of the two best all-round exhibitions held on the continent of America. Let every flag be flung to the breeze while the Fair lasts, and let such a welcome be extended to the thronging multitudes as will cause all who visit our beautiful city a desire to visit again.

With the Anglo-Egyptian army, the Anglo-Russian understanding, the Anglo-German agreement, and the Anglo-American alliance, it looks as if Britain's "splendid isolation" had passed into history.

Little Queen Wilhelmina has promised to abide by the constitution, which requires her to obey the advice of her responsible ministers. When it comes to choosing a husband, however, Wilhelmina will probably consult only the Queen of Holland.

There seems little doubt that Great Britain and Germany have agreed to support each other in certain lines of foreign policy. Both peoples are intensely practical. They do not like each other, but they do not let this interfere with business.

The school board last night took a shy at the Normal School site. Anyone who imputes political bias to the majority of the trustees or hints that they are actuated by any motives other than pure regard for the city's interests, is, of course. libelling those lofty civic partiots!

The soprano, the tenor, the contralto, likewise the basso, have all returned from their holidays; the choirs are filling up, and the musical services of the churches will flow on at full tide. By the way, why is it that most anthems are pitched in keys beyond reach of the average voice?

The Farmers' Advocate points out that Norway, Sweden and Denmark have in all 75 agricultural schools, and in proportion Canada should have 40 instead of less than a dozen. Conservative legislators at Toronto sometimes talk as if Canada, or at least Ontario, should have none at all.

The billeting system dies hard, but it seems to be doomed. The system was inevitable, and justifiable, when the country was new, and hotel and scarce. But there is now no justification for its continuance, and it will very soon depart into limbo with the primitive system under which the preacher and the schoolmarm "boarded round." The Methodist General Conference at Toronto has a notice-ofmotion for a wrestle with the antique method.

The more the Soudan campaign is studied the more remarkable does it appear. The whole cost to the British taxpayers so far has been less than £2,000,000, nearly half of which is represented in permanent assets, such as telegraph and ralway lines. Compare this with the campaign of 1885, which cost £5,600,000, and ended in disaster. The equipment of the present Anglo-Egyptian force is beyond all praise. Every device is employed for the comfort and sustenance of the troops in that burning climate, and from all reports the British fare as well as if on their own soil. The sick are being carried up the Nile on gunboats, and it is safe to say there will be no duplicate of the Santiago horrors.

The book has the official approval of the Department of Education, and may be used as a text book in any high or public school, if so ordered by a resolution of the trustees. Mrs. Hoodless has made a thorough study of doinestic science, and in her admirable work has reduced it to practical form for the tuition of school children. It teaches them the peculiar merits of various food products, and the most approved and hygienic modes of cooking. The rules are stated with such lucidity that any child can comprehend them. The book should do much to advance the domestic education of our school girls.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

A Smiling Land. [Manitoba Free Frees.] A magnificent harvest is now assured to Manitoba. The farmers and business men of this province have something in common to smile ever.

> Overcrowded. [Hamilton Herald.]

"There's always plenty of room at the top" is a saying that doesn't apply to the thermometer these days,

They Went Prepared.

[Montreal Gazette.] The soldiers sent to the Soudan have special dress, goggles for their eyes, pads for their spines, and are generally looked after in a way never be-fore heard of. They are going into a come back in better shape than did the United States troops from their recent expedition. Kitchener's seems to be an expedition where the margin of mishaps is reduced to a minimum.

Cheap at the Price. [Ottawa Journal.]

Uncle Sam's war bill will be $281,-000,000. But that is a low price if for nothing more than the new friendship between the United States and Great Britain.

Strong Language.

[Chicago Chronicle.] The men who ordered a summer campaign in a fever-infected country, and made no adequate preparations to troops are responsible for succor the the woes of an army sent out as if for a picnic with a lot of boys in the staff department.

Kingston's Sorry Plight.

[Kingston Whig.] In England the school authorities have provided for the instruction of the feeble-minded and vicious by themselves and by special teachers. Just what has been advocated in Canada, and what may have to take place in Kingston before very long.

Worth Watching.

[Pittsburg Dispatch.] It will be worth while to watch the outcome of the Egyptian campaign to see whether British management will result in anything like the distress and suffering entailed by our own campaign at Santiago. Conditions are not quite the same, but the scene of British operations is at a slightly lower latitude than Cuba.

Canadian Cheese.

[Chicago Times-Herald.] The fact that Canada sends 58 per cent of the cheese imported by Great Britain while the United States send only 24 per cent is explained by the thorough organization of the Canadian dairymen, who are united in an endeavor to produce a uniformly high grade suited to the demands of the English market. In the Province of Ontario alone there are eighteen associations of cheesemakers, representing 1,206 factories, with an annual output of 100,000,000 pounds.

Czar's Protest Strikes Home.

[Springfield Republican.] We have at different times asserted that to annex the Philippines and embark upon the imperialistic policy in both hemispheres would soon cost the American people very nearly as much each year, including war pensions, as the total annual cost of the armies and navies of France and Germany combined. The statement has never been successfully challenged; the imperial-ists dare not discuss it. What has enabled the American people thus far to escape the frightful burdens of which Nicholas II. so earcomplains? It is that same po-"isolation" which Washington enjoined upon us, but which our wise men of today are saying we have outgrown. The country seems full of fool politicians, fool editors, fool clergymen, fool judges and fool professors, who talk as if our political isolation were a curse like popular illiteracy or tuberculosis. Entanglements other nations will be for our good," said one newspaper recently. vaporings, when considered beside the words of the czar, seem utterly bemeath the common sense for which Americans are noted.

Opening of the Fifteenth Annual Conclave in Hamilton.

Election of Officers and Provincial Priors-The London Preceptory's Big Turnout-Windsor the Next Meet

Hamilton, Sept. 7 .- The fifteenth annual conclave of the sovereign great priory of Canada, Knights Templar, yesterday morning in the Masonic Hall with a large attendance of delegates and visitors. Mayor Colquhoun, on behalf of the city, extended a hearty welcome to the members of the sovereign great priory, and M. E. Sir Knight D. F. MacWatt replied. When regular business was begun Supreme Grand Master MacWatt delivered his annual address. It referred to the growth and excellent financial standing of the priory, and to the deaths of the year, and gave a record of the official visits. The membership is 1,832, the additions for the year being 164, and the removals by death, etc., 88, making a net gain of 76. A clause of the address of interest was: "I notice in my reading that Knight Templarism was introduced into Canada in the year 1800. This being so, it seems to me desirable that our centenary in 1900 should be celebrated in a fitting manner. To do so properly, preparations should be made, and I therefore deem it advisable to call the attention of great priory to this at an early period."

The grand treasurer's report shows a surplus of nearly $20,000 on the year's business, after liquidating all indebtedness. OFFICERS CHOSEN.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Supreme grand master, M. E. Sir Knight D. F. MacWatt, Barrie; deputy grand master, R. E. Sir Knight J. V. Ellis, M.P., St. John, N. B.; grand chaplain, R. E. Sir Knight J. R. Battisby, D.D., Chatham; grand chancellor, M. E. Sir Knight W. H. Whyte, Montreal; grand treasurer, R. E. Sir Knight O. S. Hillman, Hamilton; grand constable, R. E. Sir Knight W. D. Tawse, Guelph; grand marshal, R. E. Sir Knight C. W. Postlethwaite, Toronto; grand treasurer, R. E. Sir Knight A. A. Campbell, London; grand council (elected), R. E. Sir Knight D. L. Carlrik, Windsor; Dr. Walker, St. Stephen, N. B.; W. G. Reid, Hamilton; C. F. Wansell, Toronto, and W. Roaf, Toronto; (appointed), R.E. Sir Knights J. S. Dewar, London; William Gibson, M.P., Beamsville; J. L. Tressider, Montreal; Harry Collins, Toronto, and L. G. Archibald, Truro, N. S.

priors later on. The credential committee reported 126 representatives in attendance On motion of R. E. Sir Knight W. J. Carson, of London, the next conclave of great priory will be held at Windsor, the date in September to be definitely filled by the grand master. After the installation of officers by M. E. Sir Knight Malone, the Sarnia ptory, under command of V. E. Sir Knight Dr. Johnson, exemplified the degree of the red cross before the great priory in an exceedingly correct and impressive manner. Following this, in the evening, twenty sir knights of Richard Coeur de Lion Preceptory, No. 4, of London, under command of R. E. Sir Knight A. A. Campbell, worked the novice and installation degrees of the Order of the Temple in an exceedingly precise and impressive manner, winning many encomiums for their correct rendition of this portion of the degree. The same preceptory continued the work and exemplified the consecration ceremony, to the great pleasure of all who witnessed it. Then followed the degree of Malta, by Richard Coeur de Lion Preceptory No. 7, of Montreal, under command of E. Sir Knight Phillips. Their work was also well done. The Windsor, London, Sarnia, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal Templars fraternized as only Knights Templar know how subsequently, and were hos pitably entertained by the Hamilton fraters, who did everything in their power to make the stay of the visitors one of pleasure. The London Preceptory had the largest turnout at the great priory meeting, and were much admired for their military bearing and appearance.

Weak and Run Down, With Heart and Kidneys in Bad Condition Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I was very much run down, having been sick for several months. I had been trying different remedies which did me no good. I would have severe spells of coughing that would leave me prostrate. I was told that my lungs were affected, and my heart and kidneys were in a bad condition. In fact, it seemed as though every organ was out of order. I felt that something must be done and my brother advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I procured a bottle and began taking it. Before it was half gone I felt that it was helping me. I continued its use and it has made me a new woman. I cannot praise it too highly." MRS. SUMMER-VILLE, 217 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Get only Hood's, because WEEKLY REVIEW. Quite a number of changes occurred this week, the most important ones were lower wheat, oats, dressed hogs, grapes, tomatoes and muskmelons; and higher for eggs and plums.

The supply of all lines was much s usual. The attendance was good, and the demand in general quite steady. The outlook at present is for lower wheat and oats; steady prices for meats and fruits and higher values for eggs.

The following list gives latest values for the principal lines:

Fiscal Year's Pensions Cost the U. S. Government $144,657,879

Debt Decreased-Revenue Receipts and Expenditures Both Increased.

Washington, Sept. 6.-The pension commissioner's report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, shows that during that period 56,737 new pensions were issued, making the total number of pensioners on the rolls on that day 993,714. The amount paid for pensions for that period was $114,651,879; average annual value of each pension $131 79. Comparison shows that more pensions for service in the war of the rebellion were granted during the last fiscal year than were allowed during the entire administration of President Hayes; that the amount actually paid out during the same period was almost as much as was paid during Hayes' entire administration.

The monthly statement of the public debt shows that on Aug. 31 the public debt, less cash in the treasury, was $1,012,870,717, which is a decrease for the month of $34,789,711. The cash in the treasury aggregates $927,144,646. Against this aggregate there are outstanding demand liabilities amounting to $632,657,561, which leaves a net cash balance in the treasury of $294,487,084. The monthly statement of receipts and expenditures of the government for August shows that the receipts from all sources aggregated $41,782,707, an increase of $22,759,093 over August, 1897. The expenditures for the month aggregated $56,260,717, an increase of $22,672,670. The heavy increases are due to the war expenditures on the one side and the internal revenue law or

That we hail with profound satisfaction the amicable relations and deepening sympathies which now exist between the British Empire and the United States of America; that we regard a close and cordial union of these two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race as the best guarantee for the spread of liberty, righteousness, and the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ throughout the world, and that we invoke the divine blessing upon the efforts now being made to settle all differences between Canada and the United States on terms of mutual advantage, respect and good-will." Rev. Wm. Kettlewell gave notice of a motion, seconded by Rev. A. C. Courtice, for the appointing of a standing committee on Religious Reform, with a permanent secretary, who shall give his whole time to the work. The motion set forth that in addition to the prohibition question there were other matters requiring vigilant attention. A resolution by Hamilton Conference was quoted to the effect that "the friends of the saloon are for the most part, the enemies of virtue, and of the Christian Sabbath, therefore, the preservation of the Sabbath from the inroads of false liberalism, the protection of society from impure literature and immoral public exhibitions, the shielding of virtue by raising the age of consent, and the great temperance reform are very closely allied." The second change is to prevent any absent delegate to conference whose place has been filled by a reserve from subsequently taking his seat. This is with the view to prevent the possible manipulation of seats for sinister purposes. Several other changes in procedure are also proposed by Principal Shaw. Mr. H. S. Matthews, seconded by Mr. John Kay, moved that the maximum loan to probationers shall not be less than $120 per year. An extract from the minutes of the general board of missions was put in as a memorial reporting against the custom of Epworth Leagues in dealing direct with the missionaries it supports, and recommending that league contributions be handled by the general mission board.

Rev. J. M. Campbell gave notice of motion, seconded by Rev. Wm. The little one was taken of quickly as motion called forth a storm of protest, the general feeling being that it would kill the twentieth century fund scheme should it be saddled with proposals to pay off local debts. The motion was withdrawn. The date of the public prohibition meeting in connection with the conference has been fixed for Monday next at 8 p.m. The subject matter of the meeting will be the report of the committee on prohibition. A memorial was filed by the Japan conference asking that Rev. Dr. Macdonald, the well-known medical and ministerial missionary, be sent back to them. His resignation has been filed with the mission board.

The report of Whitby Ladies' College was read during the afternoon, showing a prosperous year, and containing an appreciative reference to the service done by the legacy of the late Hart A. Massey.

The C. P. R. traffic for the week ending Aug. 31 was $718,000; for the same week last year, $684,000. The Canadian Pacific Railway has received reports, stating that the Crow's Nest Pass Railway is making rapid progress. There was considerable difficulty in getting sufficient

The C. P. R. Company has issued an official circular accepting the adverse decision of the interstate commerce commission regarding its claim to dif-ferentials. While regretting that it did not have an opportunity to present its case on this point more fully, the C. P. R. receives the ruling of the commission as eminently fair, especially in the case of an American body dealing with a foreign corporation. The com pany states that it will accept without exception, and will be governed by the decision of the committee, while taking care that its rates will be on the basis of those which prevail by any other route. It also states that tariffs covering traffic affected by the decision restoring antebellum rates as far as practically in existing conditions will be filed by the C. P. R. before the 25th

Dust is to be slaughtered by oil on the Great Western lines next summer. This is the first western road and the second in the country to thus exper iment with oil. A novel engine and car is now being built for the purpose at the company's shops. General Manager Stickney is the father of the scheme, and he is of the opinion that it will not only make a hit with the public, but will result in a great saving to the company. He figures that it costs $600 per mile to gravel a railroad. Ten per cent of this gravel grinds up and blows away every summer. It also costs the company $50 per mils to keep weeds out of the roadbed. The oil covered over the roadbed at frequent intervals during the season will prevent dust, keep the gravel from grinding up and blowing away, and make it suicidal for a weed to attempt to get within ten feet of the track. Crude oil will be used, and the cost of distributing it will be about $80 per mile. General Manager Stickney, as well as his father, the president of this road, is a great admirer of a good roadbed. Like the late President Newell, of the Lake Shore, he believes the success of a rai

Entire Whaling Fleet Reported Lost-Eight Boats Caught When Winter Came-Four Others in Langer.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 7 .- The steamer Alki brings the following letter from Capt. J. C. Downing, of the Wolcott, to Austin Claiborne, the local agent of the Pacific Steam Whaling Company: "Juneau, Aug. 29.—I arrived from the westward this evening. The latest from the Arctic is that all the vessels that were caught in the ice were lost. Mason (captain of the Jeannie) is crazy. I obtained the above information from Capt. Ned Lennon, pilot of the gunboat Wheeling.

Mr. Claiborne believes that only the whaling vessels originally caught at Point Barrow were destroyed. This includes the Jessie H. Freeman, Wanderer, Belvidere, Onca, Rosario, Newport, Fearless and Jeannie. Besides the eight vessels named, there were the Belaena, Belona, Narwhal and Mary D. Hume remaining in that part of the Arctic.

Capt. Edwin Goodall, of San Francisco, who came down on the Alki, "Capt. Downing told me that says: the fleet was destroyed in the ice breakup. Lennon was told of the disaster at Kotzebue Sound. Downing heard of no lives being lost, and I suppose no deaths occurred." Agent Claiborne states that the vessels with a whaling outfit were valued at $100,000 each.

MODEL OF THE EARTH

[London Mail.] The celebrated French geographer, Prof. Elisee Recius, is specially coming over from Paris to lay before the Royal Geographical Society particulars of his project for a gigantic model of the earth. Prof. Reclus' idea is to construct a globe on a scale of eight miles to the inch, this being the smallest sized sphere on which it would be possible to show, correct to scale, the depth of every river and the height of every hill on the earth's surface. The exact replica of the world would measure roughly 84 feet in diameter, or half the size of the dome of St. Paul's. This would mean a distance of 30 feet between New York and London, and Paris and London would be about three feet apart. The scheme is not exactly a new one. Prof. Reclus having had it in mind for some years, and, as a matter of fact, the communal council of Paris had promised a large sum of money toward the construction of such a globe for the Paris exposition of 1900, but unfortunately difficulties arose and the money was not forthcoming. The primary object of Prof. Reclus' visit to London is to interest people over here in the scheme, with a view to raising the necessary capital to carry it out in this country. But, among other things, he wants to obtain the opinions of experts as to the most suitable and least expensive mode of construction.

The globe would either have to be supported on an axis, in a similar manner to the ordinary wooden globes, or-and this seems likely to prove the most convenient arrangement-floated in an immense bath, so as to be easily turned round. When Prof. Reclus first made his project public an eminent English scientist suggested that the surface of the earth be molded on the inside instead of the outside of the sphere, so that an observer suspended in the center of the globe could easily examine any part of it. This idea, however, did not meet with approval, except that it was suggested that if the globe was given a rotary motion a visit to the interior might prove a permanent cure for delirium tremens.

People may be inclined to think that such a globe as descriped would be of small practical utility. But, apart from its many and important scientific uses, it is computed that the thousands of the working classes who would visit such an object would probably learn more geography in a few minutes' contemplation of the earth's surface than in months spent ever maps.

One of the great obstacles in the way of the Sunday school was the lack of interest taken by the pastors. The late Sunday school convention, organized to meet in connection with the general conference, is working very well, and s expected to become a great benefit to the connection. At 2 p.m. conference convened, and the revision of the discipline com-menced, the whole afternoon being taken up. A general good feeling pre-vails throughout, and much business was done. At 8 o'clock, Rev. W. R. Drake preached very acceptably from the Psalms. The evening meetings continue. Today the conference is still in session and the revision of the discipline is in progress.

COULDN'T GET A BED. The Toronto Mail and Empire says: "The rush of visitors to the city yesterday was so great that none of the down-town hotels were able to accommodate all who sought rooms. At 11 ball park, cheering them on to victory. o'clock last night the lobbies were thronged, and strangers were lined up sponsible for many of the errors and three or four deep in front of the clerk's desks asking to be taken in.

The majority of the hotels had to send applicants to private houses for beds. The throng of outside visitors has never been so great at any previous fair time. * * Many persons unable to find a bed, had to walk the streets all night."

THE COUNTY'S OFFER, Chairman Carrothers, of the city hospital building committee, has re-ceived an offer from the county committee. The offer states the county will agree to capitalization at $75,000, and will hand over $15,000 on the condition that they may get it back at the end of 20 years by giving proper notice. They also insist that the cost of patients will not exceed 75 cents per day, and, according to Ald Cost per Ferguson, 3b into a bone of contention, because of the effect it would have on the govance of patients from outside the city. FOR PROHIBITION.

A meeting in the interests of prohibition was held at the Brick Street Methodist Church last night. Rev. Mr. Fisher occupied the chair. The excellent choir of the church furnished the music. The speakers were Mr. E. Fortner, Thomas Brenton and F. H. Heath. The following phases of the question were dealt with: The curse of the traffic; the responsibility of the voter; the revenue; moral sua-sion vs. prohibition. Mr. Brenton said 50 years ago he heard it argued that in ten years moral suasion would wipe the liquor traffic out of the country. The next meeting will be held at Lambeth next Monday evening.

A WOULD-BE SUICIDE.

On Thursday Robert Young, Tilsonburg, became tired of life and bought two ounces of laudanum for the purpose of ending it. That evening, after tea, as A. Dickson and Mr. Crandall were passing his place, he came out, and, after a few remarks, said: "I'll end my troubles," and forthwith swallowed the laudanum. Mr. Dickson immediately went for Mr. Wm. Young, son of the would-be suicide, who, with Dr. McDonald, went over to the house. The old gentleman was found in the barn in a stupor, and had to be carried into the house. A stomach jump was used, and he will recover. He had been drinking hard lately, and the rash act was probably due to that. He says he intends to take another dose as soon as an opportunity occurs.

Wm. J. Brennan, a one-legged tramp, was the center of attraction at the police court this morning. Brennan was arrested by Detective Thomas Nickle on the charge of vagrancy, at the G. T. R. station yesterday afternoon. Though the suspect is poverty-strick-York city, is visiting Miss Kathleen en, he can afford to hire livery rigs, and he drove around the city yester-day. On his vest he wears an Oddfellows' emblem, and also a B. O. R. T. pin. Brennan is an expert panhandler. The members of these two orrines, who has been visiting friends in ders, it is alleged, are his especial prey. In his pocket was found a list which shows that he had been collecting alms for some time, having led people to believe that he had lost his leg in a railway accident, and wished to purchase an artificial limb. Brennan was arrested in July at Port Perry, near Toronto, on suspicion of being the murderer of P. C. Toohey, but having proved to be the wrong man, he was given 20 days in jail for vagrancy. When arrested at Port Perry he had in his possession a rig which he had hired in Owen Sound, and was accompanied by a Mexican boy, who claims to be Brennan's son. Brennan travels under many aliases. He evidently worked a large number of people for quite a sum of money by presenting the following type-written letter to them, and then requesting them to sign the list: "St. Paul, Aug. 7, 1898. "To whom it may concern: "The bearer, L. George Brennan, who is a railroad engineer, has lost his leg through an injury received in saving the life of Mr. Sayer's little child from death by his engine on the Skel-labut division of the Northern Pacific Railway, on the 27th day of May, 1896. He is, to our knowledge a trustworthy and reliable man, and is deserving of any help you may see fit to give him. He is trying to raise money to get an artificial leg, which, through long illness and death in his family, he is unable to purchase. Therefore, we, the undersigned, agree to give him for the above purpose the amounts opposite

Syracuse...... Ottawa .. KNOX VS. GLENCOE Rain caused a postponement of the morning game between the Knox baseball club, of London, and the Glencoe haseball club, in Glencoe, on Labor Day, but a double header was arranged for the afternoon. About 400 people attended the games and "rooted" very vigorously for Glencoe. But it was all for naught. The Knox boys defeated their invincible "all stars" team in both games, and the crowd went away sorrowful. Summers and Gibson occupied the points for the boys from London in both games, and did splendid work, only five scattered hits being made off Summers' delivery in the second game, and only one pass being given by him in the eighteen innings. A number of Londoners went down with the Knox club, and left most of their voices on the Glencoe

Asked about the return of the St. Thomas team from Hamilton on Monday, when it was expected a postponed game would be played on Tuesday, the players had not agreed to remain for the game. Their return tickets were good for the day only, and they did not wish to forfeit them. He expects to be in shape to appear at the Music Hall Friday or Saturday. Mr. Millard's native town is Detroit, Mich., and although only 19 years of age, he has astonished the world by his riding. Last year he won the tournament at the Madison Square Garden, New York, entitling him to the distinction of champion trick bicyclist of America. ## MONETARY MISHAP Man in Toronto Swallows Ten Cents

-His Throat Had To Be Cut to Remove the Coin.

Toronto, Sept. 7 .- A very delicate and successful operation was performed at St. Michael's Hospital yesterday by Dr. Wishart on a man named Patrick McKelvey, of 10 Ontario street. On Monday night the man was holding a ten-cent piece in his teeth, when he went to speak, and the coin dropped down his throat, lodging flat across the larynx.

He was taken to the hospital about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and the house surgeons immediately set to work to use all ordinary means to dislodge the obstruction. Their efforts were without success, and finally it was decided to make an incision in the throat below the coin, and re-move it in this way. With the great-

taken out, and in a few days the patient will be none the worse for his

Strange Scenes Which Occurred at

Joshua Reynolds's Dinner Parties.

One of the most interesting houses in London is said to be on the point of conversion and reconstruction. It is the house in the middle of the west side of Leicester Square, where Sir Joshua Reynolds lived from 1760 to the day of his death. It had previously been occupied by George Morland, the father of the famous George Morland, and was bought by Sir Joshua for £1,650. He spent another £1,500 in additions and alterations, signalized his house-warming by a ball, and set up a magnificent charlot, richly carved and gilded, to suit his new grandeur.

In the dining-room Sir Joshua constantly entertained all the best-known men of his time, including Dr. Johnson, Goldsmith, Garrick, Burke, Sterne, Hogarth, Wilkes, Allan Ramsay, and a score of others, who formed the brilliant Literary Club, of which the great London, Sept. 7 .- At Doncaster today | painter was the founder. There, doubtof their Raphaels, Correggios and stuff, he shifted his trumpet and only took snuff."

At these dinner parties, acording to Malone, though the wine and the dishes were of the best, there seemed to be a tacit agreement that mind should predominate over body. The table, we are told, though set only for seven or eight, often had to accommodate double that number; there was usually a deficiency of knives, forks and glasses, and the guests had to bawl for more supplies, while the host calmly let everyone shift for himself, though he lost not a word, if he could help it, of the conversation.

About the only influence which serves to divert the empress' attention from her home is her delight in being of service to the emperor in attending public functions. She appears with him often for that reason only, when her inclinations would lead her to remain with her family. Several manufacturers of bicycles in Germany and other European countries have already petitioned the empress to accept bicycles of their make, and many of her admirers are hoping she will not refuse all of them. It is not considered good form in German royal circles for the wife of a high official in the German empire to affect any kind of pastime which the empress does not approve of.

"I should rather imagine not. By Jove! it's only poor wretches made desperate who commit such follies.'

A lot of fellows will be delighted when I deny the rumor. I suppose I am to?" "Assuredly," said Gerard, as, their ways diverging, they parted.

Alone, a cloud settled on the earl's features. On what a blind, but glorious paradise, he had been traversing. So society had read his secret? Somuch greater endurance on a ciety spoke of his marriage with Lucille Westbrook as a certainty? How he had deceived himself! Good heaven! had he deceived Lady Westbrook, too Had he acted as a knave? Did Lucille love him? His brain turned dizzy.

No-no-merciful heaven, no! Let him banish that thought. He was sure she did not.

Nevertheless, may she not have misread his intentions, as had society? What wonder, she so beautiful, flattered, courted. Besides, what had Hampton said? "Her cousin, Lord Carisford. has not denied it.

"Oh, fool-fool! idiot that I have been!" he cried, mentally, with bitter blame, as he rode quickly on. "Fool?— rather villain, coward, not to have confessed the ties that bound me! I thought of myself, not her. But it must end at once! Tomorrow at Chiswick I will tell Lady Westbrook my position; after that, society. Then Esmer shall come immediately to town as my affianced wife. I will act rightly at last.' That evening Gerard wrote to Lady Davenant, inquiring if an arrange-ment could not be made for Esmer to visit London. This concluded, he waited-waited for the next day-for Chiswick to make his confession to Lady West'brook.

CHAPTER XVII.

Rarely had the Chiswick nower show been so well and admirably attended as upon the occasion fraught with so sad an interest to Gerard. Never had his heart been heavier, as he rode down from town. It must be confessed his position was a most painful one; the more so as he could not exonerate himself from all blame. Hade he been sufficiently courageous to have owned his engagement at first, all the present suffering would have been saved him; perhaps saved Lucille. But, no; that he could not, would not, believe. Whatever were his faults, that of egotism was not one. Yet, had he so acted, what happiness should he not have lost? As an engaged man, he assuredly would not have held the place of honor near Lady cupants of elegant carriages. Stately heads would incline with gracious smiles. Delicately-gloved hands would salute him gracefully, actions often accompanied by a glance, more eloquent than words, which signified a vacant seat was at the earl's dispo-sal. But he was in no humor to accept the invitation. Suddenly there was a whirl of wheels, and a superb pair of grays, driven tandem, and drawing a handsomely appointed dogcart, came up alongside of him. It contained Jack Doran and the Viscount Combermere. "How do, Letherington!" called the former, who handled the ribbons. "Glorious day isn't it. Have had such a jolly rattle down. These are my own new grays. Beauties, aren't they? Go in harness, like one o'clock. It's a treat to sit behind them. Give your bay to the groom and join us."

"I can't today, Jack. They are truly a splendid pair," answered Gerard, eyeing them with real admiration. "Another time I shall be delighted to have a spin behind them." "Why not now? No time like the present.' "Why not, Jack?" broke in the viscount, throwing away the end of a cigarette, "because Letherington has a pleasanter companion waiting him than sitting with us behind your grays. Lucky dog. I don't blame you, old fellow; would do the same in your place."

"Ah, by Jove, I forgot!" laughed Jack Doran. "What will you give me for a piece of news, Letherington?" "I never make blind bargains," answered Gerard, feeling much annoyed at the turn of the conversation, yet unable, in so crowded a place,

'Well, then, here it is, free gratis for nothing. The Marquis of Santyre's carriage had the start of us by half an hour. By this time Lady Westbrook must be in the grounds. Ta-ta. I'll be your best man if you like, old fellow; but in any case, ask me to the breakfast. Laughing at this witticism, Jack Doran cracked his whip, the mettlesome grays, who had been pulling at the rein set off again at their rattling pace, and Gerard was left behind.

"It was true, then. As Hampton had said, the belief that he was, or soon would be, engaged to Lucille, was universal. It was openly talked about. Had Lady Westbrook been as blind as Ibsen on the Task of Women. Henrik Ibsen, in a speech before the Christiania Ladies' Club, as reported in The Critic, said: "I have been more the poet and less the social philosopher than has been believed. I have never regarded the women's cause as a question in itself, but as a question of mankind, generally. It is most certainly desirable to solve the woman question among others, but that was not the whole intention I have had in view.

Jessie Scheley's Peace Mission.

Miss Schley, who went to Madrid for the purpose of personally urging on the queen regent and Premier Sagasta an early conclusion of peace, was actuated from motives that have determined her mission in life. Her home is in Milwaukee, but for some time she has been studying painting in Rome and Paris. Before leaving Milwaukee she undertook to enter a convent, but was prevented by ill health. Then she opened two schools for poor children, which she carried on at her own expense. This was followed by the establishment of soup kitchens in various parts of the city, by the opening of a home for friendless girls in St. Paul, and the founding of a Roman Catholic Sisterhood, with which she lived for two years. While engaged in her various philanthropic concerns she was a diligent student of art. On going to Paris to continue her studies under Bouguereau, she became interested in the Paris Peace Society, with which the ex-Empress Eugenie is said to have a connection, and last spring became the England that cleans both sides of the active head of the society. Her ambition is to form a league of the Christian women of the world to relieve distress and educate the poor wher-

Indians Lay in Wait for Prospectors in the Yukon.

Ex-Customs Collector McCafferty Thinks the Alaska Diggings Will Soon Give Out.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 6 .- The schooner J. M. Coleman, which has arrived from St. Michaels, brings news that two prospectors were ambushed and shot while drifting down the Yukon in a boat. Indians fired upon the boat, killing one and wounding the other. The wounded man escaped and reached a police camp. The police started, and found the Indians enjoying a prospector's supplies. They were brought to Dawson, where one of the Indians made a confession.

Mr. Frank, who came on the Coleman, says when he left Dawson there was a stampede to Dewey and Sampson creeks, from which fine reports came. Both are in American territory. San Francisco, Sept. 6 .- Capt. John McCafferty, ex-collector of customs for Alaska, and American civil engineer by profession, has arrived here from Dawson City. His summing up of his experience is that the gold placer diggings of Alaska are short-lived, and that there are no true fissure veins in that territory, because the country is much broken up, and because the geological indications are such as to warrant the conviction that there is no gold-bearing quartz in the place. ### How to Holiday.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: It is an old saying that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy,' and the boy is father of the man in this as in everything else. The overworked man is just as liable as the over-worked boy to show its effects. There is no mock sentimentality about this. Any man who has eyes, and knows how to use them can see evidences of it every day on our own streets. There is no mistaking the air of the man who has had his holidays, or is expecting them for that of him whose only holidays are those enforced by sickness or want of employment. The nature of the work appears to make no difference. It is just as evident in a company of clerks or salesmen as of those employed in factory, foundry or machine shop. It would be idle to imagine that an air of depression is kept for show. It unmistakenly expresses the feelings of the man, and shows itself in everything he does-or fails to do. Employers are recognizing this fact more and more, and the number of firms that give their employes regular holidays is steadily increasing. They find it a paying investment, even as far as their annual output is concerned, to say nothing of the cordiality of feeling which is fostered between the office and the shop.

But there are holidays and holidays, and, of course, different ways of spending them. Some find enjoyment in flying around from one place of interest to another, and, but for the truth of the saying that a change of work is as good as a rest, would come home perfectly satisfied with themselves, but almost as tired as when they started. The best way of spending the holidays will, of course, be always a matter of individual taste. To my mind for health, comfort and enjoyment there is nothing equal to an outing on the shores of the lake. I do not say what lake, because London is surrounded by them, all easy or comparatively easy of access, and offering a variety of scenery and surroundings to suit every taste. Few of them are beyond the reach of a workingman's purse. I know a party of young men who spent their holidays this summer among the islands of Georgian Bay. They rented a house, bought and cooked their own provisions, hired a boat and boatman, and had ten days of the best of eating, fishing, boating and bathing, the whole outing costing them less than ten dollars apiece. I might say that with proper household management the provisions they bought would feed three times the number. It is this system of co-operation I would recommend to workingmen. Three or four families could unite on the rent of a cottage. The locality would depend in a great measure upon their means and the number going, as the railway fare would probably be the most important item of expense. The supply of cottages may be depended upon to keep pace with the demand, and just here the firms that are large employers of labor might do a neat stroke of business combining philanthropy with profit. What better advertisement for a firm could there be than a little cluster of houses on the lake shore, known as the McClary cottages, the Leonard cottages, the Mc-Cormick cottages, the Kingsmill cottages, and so on-names that would be kept before the public during the whole holiday season, and relieve their people of all preliminary trouble in their outings? I merely throw out these suggestions for what they are worth, but I believe they are capable of practical application. Yours respectfully. JOHN CONNOR. London, Sept 6, 1898.

Funds of the Convalescent Home Running Low - Donations Gratefully Acknowledged.

The first meeting, after the summer holidays, of the board of management of the Convalescent Home was held on Monday, the 5th. The report showed that there had been an average of four inmates even through the slack seasen. Some had been discharged, able to work, and four remain in the home until their time of residence expires. The treasurer reported that she had been able to meet all demands to date, but that the balance remaining was very small, and that it was to be earnestly desired that friends of the home would not let its good work be at a stand-still for want of a helping hand. The home had never as yet been driven to close its doors upon any on the score of poverty, and the hope was expressed that it would never have to do so in the future. A resolution of sympathy with Mrs. Hopkins, who was absent from illness, was unanimously passed, the same being personally conveyed to her by the president and Mrs. Bullen. The following donations were gratefully acknowledged: Mrs. Bullen, fruit; Mrs. W. J. Reid, a basket of pears and apples; Mrs. Boomer, cakes; Mrs. Harris, Colborne street, apples; Mrs. B. A. Board of Education Will Consider Reducing Salaries.

All Public School Teachers Receiving the Maximum May Be Affected.

Thursday and Friday of Next Week Will Be School Holidays-On a Party Vote the Board Disapproved of the Normal School Site.

The board of education held a reguar meeting last night. The special kindergarten committee, after some months' deliberation, brought in a lengthy report, which was adopted. It included an increase in the salaries of directors from $250 to $275 for the minimum, and from $450 to $500 for the maximum. There was considerable talk of the advisability of reducing the maximum for all public school teachers, except principals, from $500 to $450. The government was censured $450. The government was censured on a straight party vote for the selec-tion of the Normal School site. Applications for leave of absence were received from Miss McDonald, transition teacher at Wortley road school, and Miss Gahan, transition teacher at Colborne street, to attend the Normal College, Hamilton, and from Miss Florence Taylor, of Talbot street, to attend the Normal Kindergaren, Toronto. Granted. Inspector Carson reported that Miss Hay, of Princess avenue school, through illness, would not be able to teach during this month. Miss Hay, the transition teacher, is in charge of Miss Hay's class at present.

The special kindergarten committee, after holding several meetings, recommended the adoption of a list of rules to govern the work of the kindergarten supervisor, directors and assistants. One recommendation was that the afternoon directors and assistant directors be placed on the same basis as the morning directors and assistant directors as to salary, the same to date

'I would favor the amendment," said Trustee Macpherson, "If the public school teachers' maximum were the same. The report was adopted unchanged. Trustee Macpherson gave notice that he would move that the board instruct No. 1 committee to report upon the advisability of changing the scheme of paying salaries to teachers on the regular staff by providing that the maximum salary be $450 instead of $500. There are now fifteen or sixteen teachers getting the maximum salary. said Mr. Macpherson, and while he did not like interfering with what might be regarded as vested rights, he thought it fairer to make the change

THE NORMAL SCHOOL SITE. Trustee Bayly moved: "That in the pinion of this board, the site selected for the purpose of a Normal School is not sufficiently central, and that a site more convenient should have been selected. Further, this board desires to place on record the fact that they were not consulted in the selection and had no voice in it." The agitation for a Normal School in London had been be- | 8 gun by the board of education 22 years ago, he said. Then it was a necessity. Now, with two other schools in the province grinding out teachers in such abundance, he hardly thought it was a necessity. At any rate, to be a success, a good site was most es-sential, and the site chosen condemned the school. The first people to be consulted should have been the board of education, he said. In his contention that South London was a poor location, he said the records for the three schools in that suburb for June last showed 704 pupils on the roll, and the average attendance 633. To get the required number of pupils for the Normal School they would have to draw at least 300 from the rest of the city.

Trustee Boyle, interrupting, raised a point of order, saying the board had nothing to do with the matter. Trustee Bayly was allowed to continue. The school would be a white elephant on their hands if not a success, he said, and as it was not likely to be a success, they should put themselves on record as having no part Trustee Macpherson commented on Trustee Bayly's fondness for making such motions, and referred to the condemnation of the city council last year for not consulting with the board re the amalgamation with West London. Mr. Macpherson pointed out that the minister of education had this year given the city council a chance to select the Normal School site, but the council not only rejected the offer, but ignored the board of education in the matter. Mr. Bayly took good care, however, not to condemn his political friends. "One can't get away from the idea that it is all political clap-trap, and as such it will be viewed," Mr. Macpherson said.

Trustee McRobert, seconder of the motion, denied that he was partisan in the matter. He believed the site should be more central.

Dr. Teasdall implied that Trustee Macpherson had spoken as he did be-cause he lived in South London. The speaker was opposed to the site because it was not more central. was surprised that the government had not made a larger grant for the purchase of a better location. Trustee Bayly defied Trustee Macherson to say in what manner this had been made a political question. If it were political, it had been made so

"ALONE IN GREATER NEW YORK." The big scenic melodrama, "Aione in Greater New York," which has been secured as the attraction during fair week at the Grand, is one of the most pronounced successes of the season. In Detroit, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Louisville and other cities visited, the theaters have been packed night after night with audiences whose hearty indorsement of play and players was displayed in unmistakable terms. As indicated by its title, the play is a reflex of life in the big American me-tropolis, and while the theme is old, situations and incidents are handled in a way that seems to charm and interest every beholder. Manager Whitney, of the Grand, witnessed the Detroit production, and was so favorably impressed that he at once began negotia-tions to have it brought to London, confident that its success in Canada would be fully up to the achieved in the United States. withstanding the heavy expense of this attraction, it has been decided to adopt the popular price plan, and seat reserations can be made at 15, 25, 35 and 50 cents. The box office sale will open at 9 o'clock Friday morning.
