BURSTS FORTH IN PATRIOTISM

Hearty Demonstration Provoked by the Splendid Band of Coldstream Guards.

Chatham Grand Rang With Ap plause-Audience rose to sing and Cheer-An Impressive Program

"Great Scott! If we only had had such a band to march to," declared an enthusiastic young non-com. of the city's 24th as he joined in the cheers that greeted the strains of "Rule Britannia," "we could have done anything. No wonder Tommy Atkins is a magnificent soldier, thrilled and inspired by such music."

The 24th Kent Regiment-compris ing our own sturdy soldier lads-had yesterday the privilege and honor of entertaining the members of the famous Regimental Band of His Majesty's Coldstream Guards yesterday afternoon on the occasion of their visit to the Maple City.

The Opera House was filled throughout the presentation of their splendid program-and it was thoroughly enjoyed. The Band is a fine musical organization, one that it is a delight and privilege to listen to. Bandmaster Rogan is a star and could carry an audience under the influence of his baton without the aid of the Band at all.

of the Band at all.

Nearly all the pieces on the program were familiar to Chatham concert goers. The overture to "William Tell," however, never grows stale, while any arrangement of Scottish airs is always heartily welcomed here. And it must be admitted that the overture, Godfrey's "Reminiscences of Scotland," and the arrangement of national airs at the close were given in a manner which left nothing to be desired, except more of the same kind.

The program was not only popular, of the same kind.

The program was not only popular, but was patriotic in a high degree. "God Save the King" was played twice and "Rule Britannia" three or four times. From what had taken place in Toronto some of those in the audience knew what to expect, but it is notorious that Chatham audiences are not demonstrative, and it took some time before Bandmaster Rogan felt he had his hearers sufficiently under the spell of his baton to risk an appeal to their emotions. He showed excellent judgment, however, and when he turned with a suggestive elevation of his baton the audience arose and joined in.

played for his first number "The Bet-ter Land," and for an encore piece, "The Lost Chord," In both he de-voted his whole attention to the musical qualities of his instrument and the possibilities of the melody; there were no frills, no gymnastics, but plain, delicious music, and the result was most satisfying.

Miss Kathleen Howard, the vocalist, pleased both with vociem style and general stage appearance. She would probably have been heard to better advantage in a smaller place. Her general stage appearance. She would probably have been heard to better advantage in a smaller place. Her voice hasn't the volume for a place like the Grand. It didn't stir people by loudness of tone and declamatory effect, but it charmed them by its wonderful richness and flexibility and by her complete mastery over it. The range was not extraordinary, but every note in it was of the purest quality. Along with her voice Miss Howard gives her hearers the impression of an ease and grace of manner that is decidedly taking. While she sang to a capably rendered piano accompaniment, it was a matter of regret that the band hadn't been employed to accompany one or more of her numbers. Such an accompaniment as the musicians could give could not but have added attractiveness to her work.

CHATHAM'S NEW LIBRARY WAS AUSPICIOUSLY OPENED

Appropriate Ceremonies Grace the Occasion-Hon. Mr. Harcourt's Address and Visits to Local Educational Institutions.

Chatham first; others will follow. The first of the many libraries beng built in Canada through the munificence of Andrew Carnegie, was formally opened in the Maple City yesterday afternoon by the Hon. Richard Harcourt upon the occasion of his first visit in the capacity of Minister of Education.

Old Sol smiled down with pleasing countenance upon the opening of the edifice. The weather was great.

The affair was perfectly managed throughout and not a hitch occurred in the proceedings. At 2.15 a procession of five cabs, containing-

In 1890 a by-law to establish a free library was voted upon and passed, after which a board of manageed, after which a board of management was quickly formed, being composed of nine members and the mayor, the same as to-day. Dr. Charteriss aid the city was first indebted to Mr. Carnegie for the library, and in the second place to Albert Sheldrick, who undertook the correspondence with Mr. Carnegie and followed the matter up. Secretary I. L. Davis, who so efficiently attended to the voluminous correspondence and other voluminous correspondence and other matters of details, came in for his share of the credit.

sang to a capably rendered piano accompaniment, it was a matter of regret that the band hadn't been employed to accompany one or more of her numbers. Such an accompaniment as the musicians could give could not but have added attractiveness to her work.

The only criticism which could be passed would be upon the compilation of the program. It was scarcely fair either to Chatham or the band. It was made up a little too largely of musical recreations and trivialities. Whatever was done, was done remarkably well, but the Maple City can stand stronger food in the music line and everybody who attended yesterday's band concert knows that it is just as easy for Bandmaster Rogan's splendid aggregation to entrance an audience with a classic as it is to amuse with' a bit of ragtime.

But this is not a criticism of the Band—it is of the program—and it

But this is not a criticism of the Band—it is of the program—and it is a criticism that will not appeal to those who wanted a popular program throughout.

J. E. D'AVIGNON.

Chairman of the Library Board J. E. D'Avignon, made a short, pithy address. He thanked the local board for the privilege of being present, and congratulated the members for having put up such a fine building. His board was building a library, through Mr. Carnegie, and they had started before Chatham, but owing to delays it would be another month before the Windsor library would be complete. On arrival at the building a reception was given to the Hon. Richard Harcourt in the auditorium on the first floor, and that gentleman mixed and talked freely with the speakers and many guests of the afternoon. The members of the local Library Board were very attentive to their guests and the same marked courtesy was shown to all. In the auditorium were representatives of the different school boards of the city, besides a number of ladies, several ministers and a few doctors and lawyers.

JUDGE WOODS.

Judge Woods was much indebted to the association for their kind invitation to him. He would be 84 years of age next month, and had forgotten about the Mechanics' Institute and being president of that institution. He congratulated the board upon such a fine edifice. The giver, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, he said, was the most remarkable man of the age. He was a wondrous example to the rest of the world, from the King of England down to princes, dukes, lords and millionaires. He presented, as it were, his contempt for money; he has so much indebted to the association for their kind invitation to him. Mr. Stephens congratulated the city upon the wise selection of the Lizbrary Board. The building they had put up was a great credit to thems and was magnificent for the amount of money, appropriated for the scheme. It was the best library the speaker had seen, and he congratulated the board upon providing such a building in so short a time. It with and interested in Chatham's later turned with a suggestive elevation of his baton the audience arose and joined in.

It is difficult to see how anybody could resist such an invitation given under such aircumstances. So much enthusiasm was perhaps never displayed before at a public entertainment by a Chatham audience, and yet we are told that the enthusiasm was mild compared with what the band has provoked elsewhere. Altogether Bandmaster Rogan is a wonderful bund.

A feature of the program which must not be overlooked was the cornet solo by Corporal Hawkins. He played for his first number "The Better Land," and for an encore piece, "The Lost Chord," In both he devoted his whole attention to the musical qualities of his instrument and the possibilities of the melody:

WARDEN THOS, ROBINSON.

Warden Robinson said it was with great pleasure indeed that he appeared on this occasion. The city and county might well be proud of the Public Library. It was not his intention to make a lengthy speech. He congratulated the board on its enterprise and success. It was the speaker's opinion that Carnegie was getting rid of his millions in the best possible way. In conclusion he thanked the board.

R. G. McArthur, chairman of the Sarnia Library Board, was the next speaker. He spoke of the difficulties which he had met in getting a Carnegie Library for Sarnia. "Some people are opposed to libraries," said he, "on the grounds that they are filled with trashy books. I say this is false. The libraries of to-day are great educating factors." WARDEN THOS. ROBINSON.

HON. RICHARD HARCOURT.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt was then introduced and was greeted with a round of hearty applause. He expressed his great delight at being present at the opening of such a commodious and elegant building.

"I am delighted to be invited to such a prosperous city and such a prosperous county," said he. "I know more of Kent than you think I doyour industries and your educational institutions, and I think enough of you to congratulate all who are pres-institutions, and I think enough of you to congratulate all who are preserved in the manifest evidence of their and prosperity which meets the eye of every visitor to your city. I congratulate the Library committee on its forethought in conceiving the plan for the-library and executing it so well. I also thank Mr. Carnegie for his manificence, Mr. Carnegie has been successful in business—and what Scotchman does not make the most of his opportunities. The brightest condicates of his opportunities. The brightest of his opportunities. The Brightest of his opportunities. The Brightest man's motto is. He is not alone in this, for in the Province of Ontario 84 millions was spent last year for this most worthy cause.

of Ontario 84 millions was spent last year for this most worthy cause.

"If I seek to support my own opinion I would say that a library can be made a great factor of everlasting good, and I can call to witness all of the great men of the world."

Mr. Harcourt then quoted lines from Longfellow, Lowell, Henry Randall, founder of the Copenhagen library, proving his arguments.

"Do you realize that anyone can take a seat in a library of well selected books and hold a Royal Court—a Royal Court and summon to the Court all of the sages and philosophers of other ages who have done a great deal of good and made this world much better than they found it? In a well filled library we have a treasure at our doors, and we should make our children sensible of this great treasure which is within their reach.

"What is the history of the libe."

this great treasure which is within their reach.

"What is the history of the libraries? 602 years ago the library of the University of Oxford consisted of "a few tracts kept in a chest." Now it is a library of over 100 thousand volumes. In 1364 the Royal Library of France consisted of 20 volumes. Egypt in the olden days took a foremost place in libraries and the inscription over the great library at Alexandria was "The Medicine of the Mind." What more appropriate title could be given to a library.

"It is different to-day, howeveer.

"It is different to-day, howeveer, than in those days. To-day anyone can have a library so cheap is the literature, but it is not a matter of books. "Read not many pooks but one book well" is a good motto. The exclamation "Beware of the man of one book," clearly shows that he is a formidable antogonist.

"Some people say that history and fiction conflict, but there is no need of Tiction if history is well written, but fiction well written will invaribut fiction well written will invariably lead to the reading of history."
The speaker then referred to "Baxter's First Innings" as a good book of fiction for boys, and assured the audience that the warden intended to donate several copies of the book to the Chatham library—evidences of surprise from Mr. Robinson and laughter from the audience. He also thought that Mr. Stephens would donate a set of books of history—more surprise and laughter.

thought that Mr. Stephens would donate a set of books of history—more surprise and laughter.

"A boy does not get all of his education in the schools and the parents should see that suitable and interesting reading should be provided for him at home to keep him off the streets.

"There are some books I would advise you not to read—those you can buy for a shilling and keep you awake one or two nights after you read them, according to how high your nervous system is strung.
"Sometimes a boy in a family is picked from the rest and the parent decides to give him an education because he is brighter than the rest. I do not believe in that. I do not believe in that. I do not believe in the word genius. A French writer defines genius as perseverence. I look upon a genius as a man who shuns barber shops and baths. Isaac Newton was a 'genius' and he Isaac Newton was a 'genius' and he

A GRAND MISSION.

What a splendid imperialistic misajonary is Bandmaster John Mackenzie Rogan, of the Regimental Band of H. M. Coldstream Guards Could anything be more timely-as the Woodstock Express has pointed out-than his visit to Canada at this juncture ? Chamberlain could not have hit upon a better plan for booming his imperial movement if he had been thinking it over ever since the Jamie-

The average Maple City audience i very careful of its dignity. It never "slops over," and seldom goes th length of an enthusiastic demonstr tion of approval-except sometime the wrong place :- but John Ma kenzie Rogan won out yesterday.

But he succeeded! He brought th vast and sweltering audience to feet, and compelled it to open mouth and sing and shout and chee

It was not a very enthusiastic i sponse; but it was a great deal for an audience in conservative and self satisfied Chatham. It was something that all the speeches and all the newspaper articles that could be spoken or written between now and the end of the campaign could not

After all, it's very slow business converting people by appealing to their intelligence. A man like Bandmaster John Mackenzie Rogan, with a band like the Coldstream Guards, will do more effective work in a campaign than all the orators and writers that could find room to work.

The opening bars yesterday were an invitation to cheer for Good King Edward, the Peacemaker, and the recurrence of "Rule Britannia" at intervals through the program was the strongest appeal that has ever been made to a Canadian audience for a handsome contribution to imperial

Had he played it once or twice more, the people of Chatham would insisted on giving a contribution, there and then, to help Britannia rule the waves.

THE KENT GERRYMANDER

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—In view of the fact that there may be a general election for the Dominion House of Commons at, an early day, would it not be well to state through your widely read journal how the constituencies of East and West Kent have been gerrymandered. The statement has been made that no change has taken place. Some light on this subject would be appreciated by the elector-Yours truly,

It will be seen that this crazy-quilt allottment of the constituencies is not by any means an even or a fair division of the county. West Kent contains some 6,664 more of population than the eastern constituency.

The division proposed in the Hous by Mr. James Clancy, the energetic and popular member for Bothwell, and supported by this journal and the fair-minded electorate of the county is to take the natural boundaries, making the river the dividing line and placing the city in the northera constituency. By this proposal the population is almost evenly diwided, as follows:

STORM IN MANITOBAL

Large Quantity of Wheat Damaged-Winnipeg, Sept. 15.-Saturday's storm and the resulting damage were the chief topics of conversation among grainmen and merchants. Private reports from verious sections give a bad condition of affairs, but state that a few days of bright sunshine and good drying wind would minimize the damage to a great extent. From a good many districts no reports have been received owing to the storm af-fecting telegraph communication. There were five miles of C. P. R. tele-graph wires down between Brandon and Portage la Prairie, and telegraphic business was conducted through the business was conducted through the telephone.

A Brandon despatch says in spite of the bad storm a hopeful feelings prevails that the damage inflicted is slight, if only fine, sunny weather follows. Fortunately all the crop was practically cut. Had it been otherwise far more damage must have been sustained. At cut. Had it been otherwise far more damage must have been sustained. At least a week or ten days must elapse before thrashing operations can be resumed. There is no doubt but that the wet weather will seriously affect the grading of the wheat. One prominent farmer expressed the opinion that there would be very little No. 1 hard. Matters look more cheerful to-day; the temperature has risen and the sun is shining, which will rapidly improve things. The tops of the wheat stacks were blown off by the heavy wind in some districts, and the water soaked down through the stacks. This will, of course, injure the quality of the grain. The storm was worse from Brandon west to Moose Jaw, and south of Souris. Neepawa and Hartney also got their share.

The Liberals have filed protests against the election of Messrs. Hicks and Carroll, Conservative members of the Legislature, elected for Lansdowne and South Brandon respectively.

THE BRITISH GADINE!

REPORT REGARDING YESTER-DAY'S MEETING.

To Meet Again To-day-Resignation of Mr. Ritchie and Others Pre dicted-Mr. Chamberlain Hooted by the Crowd at Downing Street.

London, Sept. 15.-I learn from a reliable source that as a result of yesterday's Cabinet meeting a decision was arrived at on the fiscal question. There were no startling developments, but the impression now prevails that a royal commission will be appointed to make an inquiry. The Cabinet meeting lasted three hours. Another meeting will be held to-day. It transpires that the predicted division in the Cabinet over Mr. Chamberlain's fiscal proposals actually occurred, and that a partial reorganization of the Ministry is probable. Mr. Ritchie, Chancellor of the Exchequer, expressed his unalterable opposition to any change in the fiscal system, and nothing is believed to have occurred to modify the opinion, previously expressed, that he will resign his position. In spite of the South African War Commission's severe criticism of Lord Lansdowne's course as Secretary for War, it is declared that he proposes to remain at the head of the Foreign Offremain at the nead of the Foreign Office, and it was remarked by one who knows his views that he has made quite a different record in his present place than when, as War Secretary, he had to contend with the opposition of Lord Wolseley.

Besides the fiscal question, and the effect on the country of the ophilication effect on the country of the publication of the War Commission's report, some attention was given to the Balkan situation; but confidence prevails that Great Britain will not depart from her policy of advocating the continuance of the concept of powers.

Later inquiry leads to the belief, according to one news agency report, that the Cabinet decided to refer the whole fiscal question to a royal com-mission. It is also stated that at to-morrow's meeting of the Ministry the fiscal question will not be further con-sidered, but that outstanding matters, including the report of the South Af-rican War Commission, will receive at-

Other reliable sources state that the report that the decision on the fiscal question will be referred to a royal commission is without foundation. In any case the announcement is not confirmed by authoritative information. It is conceded however, that the Case is conceded, however, that the Cabi net's discussion of the fiscal question is closed for the present, and that the meeting to-morrow was specially called for the purpose of further considering business of an altogether different nature. Usually reliable sources state positively that the fiscal debate was carried through without fresh developments.

carried through without fresh developments.

London, Sept. 15. — The Daily Telegraph, which is probably the best-informed newspaper on the situation, asserts this morning that the Cabinet erisis was postponed until to-night, and that discussion of the fiscal question will be continued at the carried development.

that discussion of the fiscal question will be continued at the resumed meeting to-day, but that, whatever may be the upshot, Premier Balfour will neither resign, dissolve Parliament, nor summon an autumn session. The Daily Telegraph also scouts the idea of a royal commission being appointed to consider the whole fiscal question.

The Standard asserts equally positively that the fiscal inquiry was finished, and that the adjourned meeting will deal with foreign policies. It understands that the question of imposing preferential tariff or any innovation in Great Britain's fiscal policy has been shelved until an appeal can be made to the country, and that durade to the country, and ing the existence of the present Par-liament the action of the Ministers will be confined to discussion and in-

The Associated Press understands

The Associated Press understands that the rumors of the approaching resignation of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Ritchie, are well founded. Other Ministerial resignations are likely to occur, but Colenial Secretary Chamberlain and Premier Balfour are reported to be standing together and intend keeping up the Cabinet by filling the vacancies. Upon the arrival of Mr. Chamberlain at Downing street he was loudly hooted. A crowd of laborers employed on the new Government buildings in course of erection nearby joined in this unusual demonstration against the Colonial Secretary. Mr. Chamberlain, who was accompanied by Gerald Balfour, President of the Board of Trade, showed his customary indifference to this reception. The police eventually were obliged to form double lines from Mr. Balfour's house to the Foreign Office, so as to enable the Cabinet Ministers to enter the latter place.

BULGARIA'S WARNING.

Plain Language Used in Note to the Powers.

Sofia, Sept. 15.—The Bulgarian Government, through its foreign representatives, has addressed a note to the powers declaring that the Porte is systematically devastating Macedonia and measureing the Christian population, Further, it says Turkey has mobilized her whole army, which cannot possibly her whole army, which cannot possibly be for the sole purpose of suppressing the revolution. Therefore the Bulgarian Government appeals to the humand sentiment of Enrope to prevent the continuance of the massacres and devastation, and to stop the mobilization of the Turkish army.

The memorandum concludes with the plain statement that unless the powers intervene Bulgaria will be forced to take such measures as she may deem necessary.

Mrs. Jas. Kinsella Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Peculiar Medical Case Ends in An-other Victory for the Great Kid-ney Remedy.

St. Malachie, Dorchester Co., Que., St. Malachie, Dorcnester Co., Que., Sept. 13.—(Special).—A medical case of particular interest, especially to women, is causing much talk here. Mrs. James Kinsella suffered from Kidney Disease, which so affected her that she could not sleep and she was obliged for two summers to pass her nights sitting in a chair. To-day she is practically a well woman. Interviewed regarding her cure she said—"I had a pain in my right hip, in the back and was swollen all down that side of the abdomen. I could not sleep at night and I was obliged to sit up in a chair for two summers.

the Hotel Ciera Could Spot The Every Time.

"Do tell us how you can spot then "Do tell us how you can spot them so quickly," said one of the girls who had been standing near the hotel clerk who was relating some of his experiences, taking it all in: 'then I shall know what to do and how to conceal my identity as a bride when I come to Quebec sometime—perhaps," she laughed. 'Well, there are ways and ways of telling," said the clerk confidingly. "Some brides always wear new shoes even with their last season's travel-

even with their last season's travel ing suit; then others have a whole new outfit from top to toe: of course if they have their gloves off, we can tell by a new and shining wedding

"There was a bride here last week, "There was a bride here last week," he grinned, "who thought she was going to fool every one; she wore old clothes and carried a battered old traveling bag. Her shoes showed signs of wear, and even her wedding ring was old—probably her mother's. She didn't call her husband 'dearest,' nor give him any languishing looks; she even went off and left him to smoke alone, while she sat on the other side of the room and read a book. She knew how she sat on the other side of the room and read a book. She knew how many lumps of sugar he took in his cofice and didn't blush when the English waiter called her 'Miss,' and if the thing hadn't happened nobody would have known but what she had been married five years.

"But after she'd been here two or three days she cappe up to the dock

'What was the name?' I said, as I went to look over the heap of boxes waiting to be delivered. Mrs. C. C. W.—, she said. I looked them all over. 'None here, ma'am,' I said. 'There's only one from the furrier's you mention, and that's for Miss Hayward.' 'Oh,' she said,' 'That's mine!' 'Why, how's that?' I began, when she turned red as a beet and said, 'I—I forgot and gave them the wrong name; you see, I have only been married since Thursday,' and she snatched the box from me and fairly ran to the elevator, not even waiting for me to ring for a boy to take it up for her.

Why an Indian Paints Mis Face Every paint mark on an Indian's face is a sign with a definite meaning, which other Indians may read. When an Indian puts on his full war paint, he decks himself not only with the honors and distinctions won by his own bravery, but also with the special honors of his family or tribe. He may possess one mark of distinc-tion only or many; in fact, he may be so well off in that respect that. like some English noblemen, he is able to don a new distinction for every occasion. Sometimes he will wear all his honors at one time.

Then he is a sight worth traveling

Among the Indian tribes is one designated by the symbol of the dog-fish, painted in red on the face. The various parts of the fish are scattered about on the surface of the face; the long snout is painted on the forchead, the gills are represented by two curved lines below the eyes. two curved lines below the eyes, while the tail is shown as cut in two, and hanging from either nostril. When only one or two parts are painted on a man's face, it is an indication of inferiority; when the whole animal appears, even though in many oddly assorted parts, the signs indicate a high rank.

Very peculiar are some of the honorable symbols painted on the Indians' faces. There are fish, flesh, and fowl of all kinds—dog, salmon, devilfish, starfish, wood-peckers, eagles, ravens, wolves, bears, sea-lions, and sea monsters, mosquitoes, frogs, mountain goats, and all manner of mountain goats, and all manner or foot, claw or beak marks—each with a special meaning of its own in the heraldry of the woods and plains; however little they signify to the white marks.

Analysis of Conned Meats.

The analysis of the Marine Department have just completed an analysis of 99 samples of canned meats. Of this number one meat in two samples was quite spoiled, in three others it was slightly spoiled, and the remaining 94 were in good condition. None of the slightly-spoiled samples contained boric with this exception all samples containing preservatives were found to be in good condition. The only preservative discovered was boric acid, which was found in 21 samples, representing the products of W. Clark & Company, Montreal; Canadian Packing Co. London: Laing Packing presenting the products of w. Classic & Company, Montreal; Canadian Packing Co., London; Laing Packing Company, Montreal, and Beardsley & Sons, New York. In no case did the quantity of boric acid found exceed the limit fixed by the British Parliamentary commission, viz., .05 per mentary commission, viz., .05 per cent., and in most cases it fell mark-edly below that amount.

Northwest Colleges.

Edmonton's Methodist College is assured. It is to bear the historic and honored name of McDougall, and Prefessor Riddell, of Winnipeg, has been chosen for Principal. The college seems destined to be denominational. Its promoters are anxious to have a residence one of the features. The Western Canada College, at Calgary, has made a fair start, but the Presbyterians who launched the scheme have abandoned the modified form of denominationalism which was at first proposed for it. The Presbyterian Church, none the less, is distinctly friendly to the project. Northwest Colleges

Story of Reger Mortimer, Who Conspired Against Edward II.

Against Edward II.

Roger Mortimer, after being one of the most zealous adherents of Edward II., conspired against him, and was sent to the Tower. Having escaped to France, he subsequently, with Queen Isabella, the wife of Edward, made a descent upon England. Edward was taken prisoner and murdered in Berkeley castle, his son, Edward II., being placed upon the throne in his fifteenth year. For three years Mortimer exercised absolute power in the name of the young monarch. He assumed a splendor even outvying royalty, and, like all favorites, grasped at riches and honors. At length the conduct of the Queen-Dowager and Mortimer became so openly scandalous that young Edward resolved to take action. The guilty couple resided in Nottingham castle, where every precaution was taken to secure their safety. A strong military guard was placed at the gates at night, while the keys were conveyed to the Queen. Eland, the governor, however, had been won over to the side of the young King. By him, Edward's followers were admitted through a passage under the castle still called "Mortimer's Hole." Making their way to the bedchamber the party burst open the door and killed two of Mortimer's friends who attempted to make a defence. Queen Isabella rushed in terror from her bed, implorof Mortimer's friends who attempted to make a defence. Queen Isabella rushed in terror from her bed, imploring her "sweet son" to spare her "gentle Mortimer." Her tears and entreaties for "her worthy knight, her dearest friend, her beleved cousin," were in vain. The Lord of the Marches and dictator of the Kingdom was led away in custody and dom was led away in custody, and on the morrow brought before Paron the morrow brought before Par-liament on the charges of having usurped the Royal power, of having procured the death of Edward II., procured the death of Edward II., and for many other crimes and misdemeanors. In the informality of the times Mortimer was not allowed to make any defence. He was declared at once guilty from the notoriety of his crimes, and was hanged at the Elms, near London, on Nov. 29, 1330. Edward then took the Government in his own bands and 29, 1330. Edward then took the Government in his own hands and shut his mother up in her house at Risings, her allowance being reduced to £3,000 a year.

THE MIRACLE OF RADIUM.

Lord Kelvin's Theory Regarding the Perpetual Emission of Heat.

New York, Sept. 14.—The Sun to-day has the following special from London:—What Prof. C. V. Boys London:—What Prof. C. V. Boys termed "the miracle of radium" has naturally received much attention in scientific circles. At the meeting of the science branch of the British Association Lord Kelvin, in a paper which he read, made an interesting suggestion in connection with its persential emission of heat at according to petual emission of heat at, according to M. Curie's calculation, a rate of about M. Curie's calculation, a rate of about on centigrade calorics per gramme per hour. He said that if the emission of heat at this rate went on for 10,000 hours there would be as much heat as would raise the temperature of 900,000 grammes of water I degree centigrade. It seemed utterly impossible to Lord Kelvin that this would come from the store of energy lost out of a gramme of radium in 10,000 hours. It seemed, therefore, absolutely certain that the energy must somehow be supplied from without. He suggested that ethereal waves might in some way supply energy to radium while it was emitting heat to matter around it.

A NUTMEG MATCH

The Godding Comedy Company, a repertoire organization of consider able merit, opened a week's engagement at the Grand last evening with the presentation of "A Nutmeg Match."

The production was light comedy, sparkling with humor and clever situations, and pleased a large audience. The cast was strong and the rood.

TO-NIGHT.

To-night the Godding Comedy Co. To-night the Godding Comedy Cowill present the four act society comedy-drama, "Life in New York." The play has a tone vein of pathos and yet is full of rich comedy. It also permits of elegant wardrobe and special scenic effects. Mr. Godding is said to have a part in the cast that admirably fits him. The specialties will be changed each and every night during the week's engagement.

Henrik Ibsen's drama, "Ghosts," is based on one of the old Mosaic laws, the transgression of which has brought bitter travail to men and the transgression of which has brought bitter travail to men and women throughout the generations. In this day when life is considered not only as a science but an art, plays like "Ghosts" are of vital interest. They lay open before our eyes those dark places in modern life which the sunlight of truth has not illumined. They point to the plague spots and bid us heed. The lesson is a powerful one, and Ibsen with his daring pen has hewn the way that other play-wrights are hesitating to follow, yet see in it the road to higher things in dramatic literature. Edith Ellis-Baker, who heads the company presenting "Ghosts," is one of the school of moderns who cry for the stage, "Let in the light and let us see life as it is." She believes that herein lies the way to make the stage of greater educational make the stage of greater education value. She exploits the delicate of expression that finds its best ponent in Signora Duse and Mrs. Fiske. She has surrounded herself with a company of artists that guarantees an intellectual performance of the great Ibsen play.

At the Grand Monday evening, September 21st. Fiske.

"QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER."

It is estimated that the great rural drama, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," has been witnessed by more than a million persons, and at the rate the play is drawing this season the two million mark is likely to be reached before the season closes.

So widely has the fame of this story extended the name of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" has long ago been accepted as a household word—one that stands

Sawyer" has long ago been accepted as a household word—one that stands for fun, fact and fancy. There is more fun in "Quincy Adams Sawyer" than ever put into a single play before. The incidents are built on fact or reality and are therefore true to life itself, while the characters, fictious in the story become, as nortricious in the story, become, as portrayed by sympathetic artists, distinct, natural living types such as are found everywhere in the country. It is a credit to the public's taste that it takes so kindly to this clean wholesome drawn of New England wholesome drama of New England life which is individual among all rural plays because of its fidelity to nature and absence of old-time features.

The production is to be seen here September 29th at the Grand Opera House, and the story of the young country girl, goes to singing schools, sleigh rides and husking bees, fights the town bully and figures in many more experiences, will want to be seen by all who wish a few hours of genuine amusement.

The Shamrock's Designer.

Mr. G. L. Watson, the designer of Shamrock III., who was married recently at Putney to Miss Marie Lovibond, was born in the year 1851, in which the schooner America captured the now historic America Cup in the celebrated match round the Isle of Wight. Mr. Watson's apprenticeship was served on the Clyde. His first famous yacht was the ninety-ton cutter Vanduara, which beat the hitherto invincible Formosa, awned by the then Prince of Wales, seventeer times in succession during her first season. His first yacht of worldwide renown was the Scottish challenger for the America Cup, the Thistle, and the most successful of all was the King's Britancia. He also designed for Lord Dunraven (who was at his wedding) the three Valkyries, two of which raced for the cup.

Mr. Harcourt closed his address by wishing the people of Chatham much enjoyment from their magnificent new library. DR. MAY.

Dr. May, inspector of public lib-raries, was then called upon and he dwelt on the history of libraries in Ontario.

Dr. Holmes moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Harcourt and Fred. Stone seconded it. Both mover and seconder spoke in high terms of Mr. Harcourt and his excellent address.

A tour of inspection of the city schools was then made.

AT SEPARATE SCHOOL. the young ladies on the platform, an exceedingly pretty young lady, with much feeling and effect read a carefully worded address of welcome, at the close of which she presented Mr. Harcourt with an artistically illuminated address, the handiwork of the scholars of the academy.

The honorable gentleman's reply was evidently from the heart. He was deeply thankful for the address and welcome and felt highly honored. The reader of the address he complimented in the highest manner and appreciated the words of compliment and honors tendered him.

The speaker dwelt on the work of the school, on the languages taught, and concluded a masterly address by expressing the great pleasure it gave him to visit such a fine institution.

AT SEPARATE SCHOOL.

A chorus of welcome by the pupils of the senior form greeted the Minister of Education at the Separate school after that worthy had been most hospitably received by several members of the School Board, Father James and Mother Geniveve.

After looking over some composi-tion and drawing work of the pupils, the honorable visitor made a very suitable reply to the children's most hearty welcome and highly compli-mented them upon their work. All the rooms of the school were visited and presented an excellent appearance. The trustees and teachers were most courteous in their usage of the visitors.

"A Dream," the song rendered by Miss Olive Mather, was all the title called for in Miss Mather's rendition.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

Principal Plewes and the managers of the Central school gave the visitors a hearty handshake and welcome to Chatham's largest educational institution. Soon after the arrival 800 pupils were ensembled in the lower halls of the school and a welcome chorus rang out. Principal Plewes then asked Mr. Harcourt to say a few words to the children.

He had spoken to many audiences but never mere magnificent than the present one. There was none more fortunate than these children, and he hoped they would make the best of their opportunities. He spoke of the teachers and their salaries. He said they were far from overpaid and they were not like Carnegie in that they couldn't find a place for their surplus cash. There was great applause when the Minister announced a holiday for Friday next.

As in the other schools, a song of welcome awaited the visitor, the pupils on this occasion being assembled in the auditorium of the school.

Mr. Harcourt's address at the McKeeugh school was a fine one and inspiring one to the young folks. Very pretty boquets of flowers gathered from the gardens of the school were presented to both Mr. Harcourt and Dr. Charteris, the latter for the Library Board. A very pleasing address accompanied each boquet, the first read by John McCorvie, Jr., son of the school trustee, the presentation being made by Miss Eunice Paxton, and the second address being read by Miss Georgia Baines and presentation by Master Garner Scullard. It had been intended to have toasts, but owing to Mr. Harcourt's engagement at the convent they were dispensed with. main longest in the memory of the honorable minister of education for Ontario, was the reception tendered him by the ladies and lady students of the Academy of Ste. Ursula. It was exquisite.

Welcomed at the entrance by the sisters of this splendid institution, the visitors were led through the spacious corridors to Ste. Cecelia's hall, where on the platform, which was most tastefully decorated in the colors of the academy—pale blue and white—arranged very prettily were a number of the pupils ranging from the cute little tot to the fair young lady. It was a sight most pleasing to the eye to see the smiling countenances of a score or more of pretty girls daintily dressed in white and wearing the colors of their school, bow low as their visitor entered the hall.

The stage was girded with a repetition of frauds of the Martineau kind, are refused, and because, while Mr. Fielding refuses them, he declines to give the Auditor-General his reason for doing so. The power of refusal to sign letters of credit is, Mr. McDougal maintains, "such a vital one to enable the example. to enable the carrying out of a proper and sufficient audit that I feel compelled led to give my statement of the facts that have apparently induced this extraordinary action of the Minister of Finance."

"I think," declares the Auditor-General, "it would be a most dangerous practice if every month great bundles of checks representing the expenditure of millions of dollars should be transported from one department to another, and finally to the audit office, without being accompanied by a stateanother, and finally to the audit office, without being accompanied by a statement showing exactly the checks included in these bundles. If any checks should be mislaid or abstracted between the time they were returned by the bank and the time they were finally audited by the audit office, it would be impossible under the present arrangement to locate where the loss had taken place."

"I speak freely and without circumlocution in regard to Mr. Fielding, because my dealings with him have been so pleasant, so far as my feelings go, that I cannot imagine anyone supposing me affected by anything but the highest respect for him. ### POWERS OF THE AUDITOR.

The Auditor-General's Statement on the Difference Between Him and Mr. Fielding-New Senators for eral last evening sent a letter to the press, justifying his action in refusing to sign letters of credit to the Government departments. He takes it for granted that the object of Mr. Fielding's bill is to take from the Auditor-General the power of refusing to sign letters of credit, in order to remove the difficulty which now exists in having departmental credits stopped. He states, however, that no act can remove the present difficulty. It arises, he claims, because the facilities for the audit of the checks by the departments, which, it appears to Mr. McDougall, ought to be provided, to prevent the think," declares the Auditor-Gen and if there has been any breach of either it has been by the Minister of Finance, who has, unconsciously he hopes, failed to observe them.

"As an honest official of an honest country, I could not pass an application for a credit if I knew that I would not be in a position to repay the bank. I am, however, quite certain that the bank would have the sympathy of the public, under our banking system, in its effort to get its pay from the Government, if the checks were signed by the persons in whose names the credit had been issued, always assuming that the checks were properly filled up."

The Auditor-General contends that he has, presumably, the right to get what he claims, and that it is for the person who contends that he has not

Gladys Deacon, "the American beauty," met with an extraordinary accident at Mrs. Adair's faucy dress ball the other night in London. A lady who was walking in front of her tripped, threw up her neels, and one shee flew off, striking Miss Deacon sharply on the chin, causing a bad cut. At His Majesty's Theater, a few nights later, when Claude Lowther's play, "The Gordian Knot," was produced, Miss Deacon still had a plaster on her chin.

The French have found a reason for the popularity of the cake walk in Paris. The thing is French! One of the negroes at the Nouveau Cirque, interviewed by a Paris paper, says that the origin of the dance was French. According to this latest account, some of the French refugees from the court of Marie Antoinette introduced the minuet into New Coleans about the lime of the Paris. Orleans about the time of the Revolu-tion, and it was the native imitation of the most fashionable dance in Europe that was afterward developed into the

The Declaration of Independence is to be seen no more by the public, an order having been issued that henceforth the historic manuscript shall be kept under lock and key in a great fire and light-proof safe. This decision has been reached as the result of an examination of the document by a committee of the American Academy of Sciences, recently in session in New York, who acted at the instance of Secretary Hay, whose attention had been called to the sad state of the famous document. Most of the text of the Declaration is still legible, but only one or two of the signatures can be made out. There is only a trace of the autograph of John Hancock, the first to sign. The document from time to time will be photographed in order to measure as nearly as possible the result of the protective steps.

Chicago had to get along for over three order to measure as nearly as possible the result of the protective steps.

Chicago had to get along for over three weeks with soiled linen on account of the strike of thousands of laundry girls and men. Every union laundry in Chicago was closed. John Chinaman and a few scattered non-union laundries kept at work, but they could not begin to keep the city's clothes and household linen in order. Untidy collars and cuffs, soiled shirts and shirt waists, spotted table-cloths and napkins were the rule in hetels and private homes. The old nammy of slavery days reaped a harvest. Some laundrymen, who thought to be shrewder than their fellows, fixed up great bundles of linen and shipped them to neighboring towns, thereby hoping to promote the neatness of their customers; but the union was on the alert. Wagons were followed to stations, the place of shipment ascertained, and the laundryworkers there notified that "scab" work was coming to them. In most cases these laundry employees refused to do the work, and the hundles were shipped back to Chicago.

A curious factor in a recent divorce suit is the modern "Freekfast Food" the work, and the bundles were shipped back to Chicago.

A curious factor in a recent divorce suit is the modern "Breakfast Food" found upon so many tables. Mrs. Seccombe has brought suit against her husband, A. H. Seccombe, in San Bernardino, Cal., for divorce. She alleges that for five years past he has forced her and his children to maintain life largely upon "health foods." She gives the following as the Seccombe bill of fare: Breakfast—Bolled rolled cats with milk, or granose flakes (wheat); an occasional soft-boiled erg; Zweiback and nut butter; occasionally carmel "cereal" (wheat coffee). Dinier—Zwieback and nut butter; beans boiled in salt water and baked; potatoes boiled with jacket; vegetables, in season, boiled in salt and water; green fruit, in season. All ments prohibited; also coffee and tea. She alleges that this diet has been "scarcely sufficient to maintain life, and not sufficiently nutritious to maintain the family in health." She says that her husband persisted in discussing these foods and their merits at table, and in declaring repeatedly that "meat is poisonous." peatedly that "meat is poisonous."

Gladiatorial Athletica

The Lendon "Lancet" says that athletics in England have developed too much into gladiatorial displays by picked competitars struggling to win prises of to earn wages before huge crowds of spectators, and can hardly be regarded as effective agents in the development of the physical strength and physical activity of the people. There is the same tendency in this country, but the fact merely serves to make more imperative the need of supporting and extending such systems of physical training as have for their chief aim strength and not fame.

For the Farmer.

Over-feeding renders the horse slow, azy and predisposed to disease, and therefore, what is wanted is so to feed horses that they shall be in condition for work. All Looking to Canada.

The Australian pastoralists have suffered such tremendous losses owing to the prolonged drouth of the past few years that many of them are turn ing their eyes to Canada as a mor suitable field for agricultural operations. An illustration of this is furnished in a recent letter from Mr. Robert Caldwell. Chairman of the Couneil of Agriculture of South Australia, to Mr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dominion Dairy Division, who was formerly Dairy Commissioner for New Zealand. Mr. Caldwell says:—"I would be greatly obliged if you could supply me with your opinion of the land that the Dominion Government supply me with your opinion of the land that the Dominion Government are opening up for settlement, and whether you consider the prospects for settlement are equal to what obtain in New Zealand. Perhaps the department have literature on hand that may meet the demand for information that is often being made upon me. I have myself several sons who do not care about the prospects of farming that obtain at the present time in Australia. If inducements offered, they might turn their attention to the grain lands of your great Northwest. We have had a succession of disastrous seasons, but the gloom cloud seems to be lifting, as the present year has had a most auspicious beginning, one of the most favorable we have had for some time. Still there are dry patches on our great island where an effort is being made to obtain rain by artificial means."

Hen Oil For Incubators.

An extraordinary step in the artificial incubation of eggs is the result of some years of labor on the part of Mr. E. V. Boyes, a young North London chemist. He has discovered that "something," the lack of which, from the time of the Egyptian downwards, has qualified the success of all artificial incubators. With the knowlwards, has qualified the success of all artificial incubators. With the knowledge that the perspiration and its complex constituents of a sitting hen are important factors to a successful hatch, Mr. Boyes secured a quantity of the perspiration of a large number of hens feverish with the maternal instinct, and commenced experimenting. He found, on chemical analysis, that it consisted of a fatty matter, moisture, and an ethereal substance of acetic odor, with a little dust or dirt. Further experiments have resulted in his now offering the poultry farmer a novel article of commerce in the form of "hen oil." He claims that by putting a little of this curious concoction into the moisture tray under the egg drawer in the incubator, it will be automatically evaporated and diffused by the internal heat, and will do all the instinctive work of a sitting hen. But this is not all. Mr. Boyes has invented a tablet which will provide the lifeless incubator with "animal magnetism." The tablet also is placed in the moisture tray, and as it dissolves gives rise to a continuous non-varying current which aids in bringing forth a larger percentage of healthy chicks than is at present obtainable.

The constitution of the body when the blood is pure. It is far easier to keep the germ out than to drive it out after it obtains a hold in the system. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medician Discovery is the most powerful and perfect of blood purifying medicines. It increases the quantity as well as the quality of the blood, and enables the body to resist disease, or to throw it off if disease has obtained a footing in some weak organ. Wherever the digestion is impared, the nutrition of the body is diminished, for the blood is made from the food which is eaten, and half digested food cannot supply the body with blood in quantity and quality adequate to its needs. For this condition there is no remedy equal to "Golden Medical Discovery." It cures ninety-eight out of every hundred persons who give it a fair trial. ### MUST ACCEPT RECULATIONS.

MR. FIELDING'S BILL DEALING WITH AUDITOR-GENERAL.

Fixing Grain Standards-Protest of the Toronto Board of Trade-Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Reply-The Grand Trunk Pacific Bill.

Ottawa, Sept. 15 .- The chief feature of the proceedings in the House of Commons was the introduction by the Minister of Finance of a bill to overcome the difficulty which has been created by the refusal of the Auditor General to accept the new regulations adopted by the Treasury Board. Mr. Fielding explained that the regulations designed to prevent peculation were based upon the recommendations of the special commission appointed to investigate the Martineau defalcation. The Auditor-General has taken a position antagonistic to the regulations, and the difficulty could only be cured by legislation. Mr. Clancy offered the objection that it was a dangerous step for Parliamens to clip the powers of the Auditor-General. Mr. E. F. Clarke brought to the attention of the House the resolution passed by the grain section of the Toronto Board of Trade in reference to the delay in fixing the grain standards for Ontario. The Premier promised to call the attention of the Minister of Trade and Commerce to the matter. The remainder of the day was spent in considering the Government's bill for the construction of a national transcontinental railway, and substantial progress was made, an amendment by Mr. Barker, compelling the G. T. R. to pay cash for the common stock of the Grand Trunk Pacific, being voted down.

The morning prayers in the House were barely over when Mr. R. L. Borden entered and took his seat, after an absence of a couple of weeks. He was greeted with loud applause from both sides.

Hon. Mr. Fielding introduced a bill to amend the consolidated revenue and of the proceedings in the House of was the introduction

Hon. Mr. Fjelding introduced a bill to amend the consolidated revenue and audit account, and in response to Mr. E. F. Clarke's request gave an explanation. It was intended, he said, to overcome some of the difficulties and delays which had sometimes occurred in regard to the payment of accounts against the Government. The two methods of paying money were, first, by issuing a letter of credit to one of the banks in favor of each department, and, second, by an audit of each account. As an illustration, under the first a member could go to a clerk's office, and on satisfying that official he was entitled to the money he could get it at once. Under the second a certificate would be issued asking the Auditor-General to pay the amount, and after examination, on application to the Minister of Finance, the money would ultimately be paid. Under the letter of credit system the money was paid immediately, and the Auditor-General could only state his views in writing on the propriety of paying it, but the other system involved considerable delay. There could be no letter of credit issued unless there was an appropriation. The Auditor-General sometimes went beyond what the Government thought was his power, and they proposed to relieve him of responsibility. It was his duty to audit, examine and adjust accounts, and inquire whether there was no satisfactory explanation he conveyed his views to Parliament in his recort. If there was to satisfactory explanation he conveyed his views to Parliament in Hon. Mr. Fielding introduced a bill to amend the consolidated revenue and there was no satisfactory explanation he conveyed his views to Parliament in his report. If he had a difference with a department he claimed the right to refuse a letter of credit to that department, and thereby stop the payment. ment, and thereby stop the payments to scores of people who might have against that department, about was proposed that when an application was made to the Auditor or the Miniswas made to the Auditor or the Minister of Finance for a letter of credit, if within two days the Auditor failed to do his part, then the responsibility would rest upon the Treasury Board and the Government, and the Treasury Board might authorize the Minister of Finance to issue the credit. The Treasury Board and the Government must be responsible to Parliament. The Auditor might set forth his objections Auditor might set forth his objections in writing, but meantime public business was not obstructed. Another provision was to give the Minister of Finance authority to take steps to repay, the bank's claim where the Auditor de-layed, and where there was no question as to the accuracy of the claim. Another provision covered the case when the Auditor delayed paying accounts which went through his hands. The Treasury Board were empowered, where the delay was unreasonable and where the Minister of Justice was satisfied the account came within the vote, to authorize the Minister of Finance to pay the account. They did not propose to take one iota of power from the Auditor-General, so far as the examination of accounts checkother provision covered the case when the examination of accounts, checking of vouchers, expression of his views in writing, and so forth, were concerned, but for unreasonable delays the Government held he should be relieved of responsibility.

CITY MAY ONLY DIRECT.

Telephone Company Has Wide Authority on the Streets.

Toronto, Sept. 15.—By a decision of the Court of Appeal, delivered yesterday at Osgoode Hall, Toronto fails, temporarily at any rate, in its contention that the Bell Telephone Company have no rights on the streets without the city's consent. Last year the city asked for a declaration of the courts regarding municipal prerogatives, in view of the Telephone Company's acts of incorporation, which are both Dominion and Provincial. The case was heard by Mr. Justice Street, who delivered judgment in March, 1902, declaring "that the defendants have no right to carry any poles or any wires (whether such wires be above or under ground) along any street in the city of Toronto without first obtaining the consent of the municipal Council." The company appealed, and the present decision is a reversal of that judgment. The Court of Appeal was not unanimous, however. Mr. Justice Maclennan dissented from the judgment of his colleagues. When Mayor Urquhart was seen regarding the decision he was not present at the sheet it would be hed hed Last year the city asked for a declara-When Mayor Urquhart was seen regarding the decision he was not prepared to talk about it until he had had an opportunity of reading the statements of the Judges; but he was in favor of an appeal. He thought the city could appeal either to the Suprems Court at Ottawa or to the Privy Council in England. He feels that, with two such eminent Judges as Judges Macleman and Street agreeing with the city's contention, there is a fair prospect of success.

DEATH OF GEORGE PRANGLEY

Former Strathroy Man Dies Under Pathetic Circumstances.

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—George Prangley, 32 years old, a business man at 1,561 Cedar avenue, died suddenly about 8 o'clock Sunday night, as the result of an overdose of morphine administered, it is alleged, in an attempt to relieve him of the ill effects of intoxicants. Early last week one of Prangley's customers accused him of working a short change game, and the fact that anyone should doubt his the fact that anyone should doubt his honesty so preyed on his mind that he drank heavily, it is stated, for the balance of the week. Prangley had been in Cleveland only about two months, coming here from Athens, Mich., where he was proprietor of the largest hotel in that city. About 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. Prangley streams of the stated to get hereals and her target. largest hotel in that city. About 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. Prangley started to get herself and her tenyear-old son, Ralph, ready to go down town. Prangley changed his clothes, and prepared to accompany them. After getting ready Prangley complained that he felt ill, and told his wife he would not go, and so she and the little boy went, leaving Prangley lying down. When she returned about 5.30 she found her husband lying on the bed unconscious. A doctor was called, but when he arrived life was extinct. Mr. and Mrs. Prangley were both from Strathroy, Canada, and had been in this country about three years. Mr. Prangley was a prominent member of Strathroy society, was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and for many years sang in the choir. He was also a prominent member of the I. O. O. F. The remains will be taken to Strathroy for burial Wednesday night.

TEMISKAMING BONDS.

Tenders Opened But None as Yet

Accepted. Sept. 15. - Tenders the Temiskaming & Northern Railway Commissioners for the issue of 3 1-2 pe cent. bonds for $2,750,000, guaranteed by the Province, being at the rate of $25,000 per mile for the 110 miles of the line. None of the tenders has yet been accepted. The present conditions of the money market do not appear at all favorable for placing bonds at a satisfactory price. The Bank of England rate is now 4 per cent. and is likely to advance from 4 to 4 1-2. Many first-class securities, including bonds, on the Canadian and United States Exchanges are selling on a 6 per cent. basis, and it is, therefore, improbable that the commissioners have been offered par for these securities. They must sell them at par to cover the cost of the road and the equipment as estimated. Further, since the credit of the Province is pledged, it is felt that these securities should sell at par when the C. N. R. 4 per cent. bonds, guaranteed by the Manitoba Government, are at a premium. Whether the Temiskaming bonds will be sold to any of of the money market do not appear at are at a premium. Whether the Temiskaming bonds will be sold to any of the tenderers has not as yet been determined, but it is probable that a higher price than any offered in that way may yet be secured.

PURITY.

"The Beer That is Brewed in Glass"

Ours is the only plant in Western Ontario having a glass-lined, closed tank system, which is the only system affording absolute security against pollution of the beer.

Wood rots, green wood rots faster than dry, quickly seasoned wood rots quickest of all, and when exposed to air and water in Brewers' cells wet rot comes on rapidly, and the beer brewed in open tanks is injuriously affected by it.

Our tanks are like a bottle inside, clean, no mould, no slime, no chance for rot. Which is better, beer made in a closed, glass lined, steel tank, or in an old mouldy wooden one?

Color is no indication of strength as producers of thin, washy beer resort to coloring matter and other materials to conceal its weakness. A good beer gives a "full mouth" feeling when drank.

A heavy foam is no indication of good quality, in fact in many localities they demand less foar and more solid beer. Brewers of weak beer often try to tempt the consumer by furnishing a beer charged with Kreusen (beer 24 hours old) and having a beautiful cream, but if used to any extent is sure to produce sickness.

Poor goods are nasty competition and the public should sustain those producing the better goods.

Poor goods are massy competers:
the better goods.
A pure beer is a pleasant beverage and very healthful and should always give off a delicate aroma of hops and malt only. Any other smell or taste is almost
