Chairman Smith Speaks of the Enforcement of the Liquor Law in West Kent

Other Comissioners Were Not Present-No Discussion as to Proposed Changes in Law

"The liqu'r law must be strictly en-"The fiqu'r law must be strictly on-forced. If you adhere strictly to the rules and regulations of the Liquor Act your licenses for the coming year are assured." are assured."

are assured."
These words, addressed to the assembled hotel keepers of West Kent at a meeting in Harrison Hall this morning, explain the avowed position of Chairman T. A. Smith, of the West Kent License Board.

The meeting was called to discuss with the hotel keepers themselves the position the Board has taken on matters in West Kent. There was an impression that it was called to discuss the rules and regulations set down for hotel keepers and to possibly re-ceive suggestions as to what amend-ments should be made to the present liquor law. There were many present who were prepared to go into the matter of regular hours for selling liquor, etc., with a view to improv ing present conditions, but this mat-ter was not touched upon at the meeting.

Mr. Smith, in opening the meeting, delivered a lengthy address, explaining his position fully. Mr. Mitchell, of Wallaceburg, was unable to be present, owing to an accident and a pressing business engagement pre-vented Mr. Martin from attending.

"I appreciate your coming here to-day," said Mr. Smith, when he had ex-plained the absence of his colleagues, plained the absence of his colleagues, "but I do not appreciate the action of those who have stayed away. It is quite necessary for your own interests as well as ours that you follow out the instructions of the present administration at Toronto who were elected to enforce the liquor law. They say they do not believe in local option, I myself am a temperance man, but I do not believe in local option, but I do believe in local option, but I do believe in the strict enforcement of the Liquor Act. I do not say you can live up Act. I do not say you can live up to it strictly, but you can as far as it is possible. It rests with you whether we have local option or not. The people will want local option if you don't live up to the law. I know one hotel keeper in a neighboring town who, through his actions, forced local option on that town. If you conduct your husiness in a local war. duct your business in a legal way we will not have local option.

"I know one or two hotel men in Chatham who are not living up to the law, but they will have to turn over a new leaf. There is another license time coming and we will cut off any man's head if we find he is violating the law. Those who are keeping the law may know that their license are seaward who we had to be a seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may know that their license are seaward and the law may be a keeping the law may know that their licenses are assured so long as I have anything to do with it. This will be done regardless of color, creed or politics. No hotel man who keeps the law will have to cringe in order to secure his license and he will not be kept quivering in his boots when the license time comes around. That is not an honest or a many way to is not an honest or a manly way to conduct the business of the Board. You will not have to get men of influence to plead for you to the members of the Board.
"The temperance people say the liquor interests should be done away liquor interests should as done away with. I tell you a hotel cannot exist without a bar. It is a rank failure. If you force the bar out you injure the city and county. The day of the country hotel is not gone, and if I had been acting for some neighboring townships there are some I would not have out off. The country hotel is just as essential as the city hotel.

is just as essential as the city hotel.

"Thanking you again, I would once more impress upon your minds that it is to your own interest to keep good hotels and live up to every letter of the law."

SPLENDID PARK

A. C. McKay, of the enterprising firm of Taylor & McKay, returned yesterday from a ten days' holiday spent at Algonquin Park. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ecclestone, of New York city.

Mr. McKay is enthusiastic over the possibilities of this grand provincial park. The Government, he says, are wisely aiming towards its development and the laws governing it are exsellently obs. rved. There are hundreds of deer—and all have the freedom of the preserve. The party enjoyed an ideal vacation.

Western Ontario Conservatives in Caucus at London Put Themselves on Record Against the Practice

A meeting of the Western Ontario Conservative Association was held in London yesterday. Among those present were P. H. Bowyer, M. P. P., J. E. Johnson and C. N. Anderson, Leamington; G. A. Fraser, Thamesville; F. L. Arnold, Kent Bridge; B. W. Wilson, Ridgetown, and James McVittie, Blenheim. The meeting was very largely attended and very enthusiastic. In the election of officers for the succeeding year's work P. H. Bowyer, M. P. P., was chosen for the important post of the first vice-presidency.

The meeting put itself on record in the most emphatic terms against the "salary grab." An extract from the resolution on this subject reads: "That we also condemn in unmeasured terms the unjustifiable increase of salaries, the granting of continuous accounts." A meeting of the Western Ontario measured terms the unjustifiable increase of salaries, the granting of continuous pensions to ex-Cabinet ministers, increasing the sessional indemnities to members of the House of Commons and Senate, whereby the Dominion treasury is being plundered of nearly half a million dollars yearly."

THE TRIAL COLLAPSED

Judges Sustain Mr. Kennedy in Port Arthur Seat.

o Many of the Charges of Mr. Preston Failed That Counsel Threw Up the Sponge-Aitkens' Vote Nullified For Corrupt Practice - Mr. Aylesworth Will Not Proceed With Cross-Petition Against Mr. Preston.

Port Arthur, Sept. 15.—The election trial collapsed yesterday afternoon.
Mr. Hellmuth, counsel for thepetitioner, Mr. Preston, late in the afternoon er, Mr. Preston, late in the afternoon, after many of his charges had falled, said that he would not continue the case. In view of the discussion already reached in the charges submitted, he could see no use continuing, as there was little hope of accomplishing anything. The justices then dismissed the action, sustaining Mr. Kennedy in the seat.

Argument occurred between the counsel as to the validity of Aitkens' vote, and it was decided that his vote should be nullified for corrupt practice. In the case of Sutherland and Saunders, the justice did not agree as to annulling of these votes. Justice Maclennan was of the opinion that Sutherland did not have a corrupt motive in mind when he supplied liquor. His object was to make money, not to influence votes.

As for Saunders, he was guilty of accepting a bribe.

Justice Teetzel agreed that both mer

Justice Teetzel agreed that both men were guilty of corrupt acts, and that it did not matter what the motive was back of the upplying of whiskey. The final consider ion of this question will be given in '_ronto.

Mr. Aylesworth, for the respondent, Kennedy, on the collapse of the petition, stated that he would not proceed with the cross-petition. It had not been entered in a spirit of vindicativeness, and he had no desire to disqualify Mr. Preston. Mr. Hellmath asked that costs be given Mr. Preston in the cross-petition, as they had brought numerous witnesses a long distance at a heavy expense. The question of a heavy expense. The question of costs was reserved for consideration in Toronto, where the costs will be proportioned to each party.

It is generally understood in fact, so stated, that Mr. Preston will take the case, so far as the charges affecting Aitkens are concerned, to the court of appeal, in an endeavor to establish agency.

Aitkens was found guilty of corrupt practices personally in supplying whispractices personally in supplying whiskey and money to voters at Hymen's Crossing. The charge of agency falled of proof, he having a certificate of a scrutineer in blank, the name of the polling place not being named. This omission the judges held was fatal in the charge of agency.
Mr. Preston hopes to have this decision reversed by the court of appeal.

Match Between English Pilgrims and Kent County Postponed Till Wednesday

Effort Being Made by Chatham Management to Get the Game Trnasterred Here

A wire from the English touring "Pilgrims" to President McDonald this morning states that the tourists will be unable to play two games in Detroit on Monday and he communicated with Chatham asking a postponement of the match with the Kent County players until Wednesday next. The Englishmen find the playing of so many matches in rapid succession is very fatiguing. The match between Kent County and the tourists has accordingly been post-poned until Wednesday next.

Contractor Wallace Entitled to Balance of Contract Frice From Tilbury East

A decision of interest and importance was this morning handed out by Judge Dowlin in the case of Wallace and Tilbury East. The plaintiff was the contractor for the repair of the Askew drain in the said township and sued for the balance of the contract price—his claim being contested by the township by reason of the fact that the engineer would not give a certificate of completion. Judge Dowlin holds that the work was completed and, in any event, the engineer did not go on in time. According to the evidence the plaintiff, he held, should obtain a certificate of completion from the engineer. As result of his findings His Honor allows the plaintiff $194.52 and costs

WHO DID IT?

Who made the peace? There seem to be even more claimants for the honor than there were for Homer's birthplace, says the Toronto Star.

Some people labored under the delusion that the peace envoys were sent out to make peace, but the newspapers soon knocked that theory on the head. The public was given to understand that while Komura and Witte might go through the motions, the submarine cable was the real negotiator. The diplomatic outfit at the Hotel Wentworth had so little to do with it that a witty Parisian newspaper suggested that Rockefeller might turn the trick by paying the indemnity. It was quite evident that the envoys were looking for lateral pressure, and it is just as evident that they got it in large quantities.

A few days ago M. Witte was elated at the guile he had displayed in the deliberations at Portsmouth Navy Yard. Expanding in the sunshine of success, he called the correspondents together, handed out a beautiful floral tribute, and had his back scratched in turn. Since that time he has received a telegram from his Imperial master which puts another complexion on his glory and gives him reason to revert to his original suspicion that he was play ing a dog's comedy. It transpires that the Czar, who has an hereditary right to all the wisdom in Russia, was the real peacemaker. He did not want peace at all, and ac cordingly proposed terms that Japan could not accept. When Japan did accept then he took credit for knowing that Japan was out for peace at any price. This disposes of M. Witte's claims. Far from acquiring merit, this great Russian states man gets a sharp slap on the wrist for parting with half of Sakhalin. Komura, as the Star points out, was overruled by the Elder Statesmen in Tokio and also by the illustrious virtues of the Mikado, from whom all blessings flow.

President Roosevelt seems to be the person that Europe, by a tacit understanding, has decided to blame for it. President Rocsevelt takes all the bouquets with an air of having deserved them. Enthusiastic Americans talk of a third term for him in the White House. It has also been suggested that a great temple of peace be erected with his ikon over the altar. If the temple is built, it is to be hoped that the Japanese will not be asked to contribute, having already given $6,000,000 to the good cause through surrendering the indemnity. The strange thing about it all is that President Roosevelt was as much surprised at the final terms of settlement as anybody else could have been. For a man who was acting as the deus ex machina he knew amazingly little about it.

The utterances of the Japanese newspapers and the rumors of rebellion that come from Tokio indicate that the Japan magnanimity which was supposed to have a direct bearing on the peace treaty was not a national impulse. This magnanimity was instigated from the outside. Meanwhile, like Erer. Rabbit, Great Britain is lying low. However, it is significant that three days after a new alliance with Japan was announced, terms of peace were arranged at Portsmouth, N. H. The anwillingness of British capital to carry on the war may have had something to do with it, not to mention a widespread desire among European chancelleries to have Russia back in her place in the concert of powers as a check to the restless ness of the Kaiser.

Togo's flagship, the Mikasa, the most powerful vessel in the Japanese navy, has gone to the bottom with 600 officers and men. This loss-probably the result of a mere accidentis greater than any that the whole naval power of Russia was able to inflict in the course of 18 months of

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

In Germany the telephone has been operated by the Government since its first introduction. The outside construction is very thorough but the interior equipment is not kept abreast of the times.

The German-method of operating in the Central Office is peculiar. In the larger centres, where there are several branch exchanges as in Montreal and Toronto, a subscriber who requires a connection must first call the exchange with which he is connected and ask for the exchange with which the party with whom he wishes to speak is connected. Having got the operator on the second exchange he then asks for the number required, and after being connected he must ring the subscriber for himself. Thus the subscriber is obliged to work his own way, so to speak. The service is cumbersome and slow, but talking results are said to be fairly good.

In Berlin there is a flat rate of $45.00, and in Hamburg $40.00. This applies to either office or residence and the average rate is higher than in Canada-very much higher in the smaller exchanges. They have also a measured service rate, but comparatively few avail themselves of it.

Development of the telephone service is slow in Germany, and in this respect cannot compare at all favorably with Canada. Rural service, which is receiving so much attention here, is apparently not thought of in Germany, nor in fact, in any of the continental European countries.

In Russia also, telephone service is entirely in the hands of the Government. While there is little information that is definite it is universally conceded that the rates are high development slow, and the service bad.

Wherever there is exclusive Government ownership there is the same story. It was on this fact that one of the expert witnesses based his assertion that "with a fair field a Company would beat a Government out every time in a competing telephone service."

There is nothing in the reports from the countries of Europe of any considerable area which would be an encouragement to change our system of telephone service for theirs.

We shall discuss conditions in Sweden in our next.

With a blending of laughter, thrills and tears, "The Wayward Son," a fascinating story of home life, comes to the Grand to-night with a complete scenic outfit and a large and capable company of metropolitan players.

players.
That this stirring drama created such a sensation in New York, where it has just finished a record-break-ing engagement at the Grand Opera House, is owing, in a great measure, to the startling realistic locomotive rescue scene, in which a full sized engine and tender dashes on the stage in a blinding snowstorm. No-thing more thrilling has ever been presented on the stage.

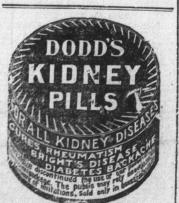

"Florodora," the great English Musical Comedy, is a bright, pretty and beautifully costumed show. The book is by Owen Hall and the music by Leslie Stuart. The book is clean and consistant, and the music par-ticularly catchy, and it is a fact that one is reminded more of the great works of Gilbert and Sullivan than any comic opers in years.

LATE SENATOR D. WARK ABSOLUTE

PASSING OF THE OLDEST LEGIS-LATOR IN THE WORLD.

In His 102nd Year, His Feat of Living Was a Mechanical Wonder Worthy More Than Passing Thought-Force of Dynamite Discounted-His Experiences Overpowers the Thinking Imagination—His Public Career.

In Senator Wark's death the oldest Legislator in the world has passed away. Extreme age and weakness are given as the reasons, there being no trace of disease in the weary old frame that was knit before Waterloo was fought. As a mechanical wonder, the feat of living more than a hundred years is worth more than a passing thought. If one could calculate the physical horse-power exerted during his life by a man of such age, the force of dynamite would appear trifling indeed. The experiences a human being of his age must have undergone, even had his life been passed much less eventfully than that of Senator Wark, must be equally overpowering to the imagination. Life surely was an old story for the Senator, and one cannot help feeling that the end must have been met with con-In Senator Wark's death the oldest ing.

On Feb. 19, 1804, David Wark was born in Londonderry, Ireland. He settled in New Brunswick the year he was of age, and true to his race, almost immediately began to manifest an interest in politics.

Mr. Wark entered Parliamentary work in the New Brunswick Assembly bly in 1842, and sat until 1851, when he was summoned to the Legislative Council of his Province. One of the points agreed upon at Confederation was that in the manning of the Senate was that in the manning of the Senate a certain number of Legislative councilors should be appointed from each Province, and that both sides of politics should be represented. Mr. Wark was a Liberal, and was chosen as one of the Liberal representatives of New Brunswick in the Upper House. He saw Confederation completed, he sat through four Administrations; he discussed all the subjects that have come up from time to time, and atcome up from time to time, and at-tended thirty-six sessions of Parlia-

Senator Wark's death leaves but one member of the Upper House, Senator Miller, who was appointed at Confederation. There are, nevertheless, some aged men in the Red Chamber. The octogenarians number among them Hon. J. C. Aikins, Hon. Boucher are Reveloperville. Hon. Alexander. Viment. Waiter—I'm sorry, sir. We have no hash on hand to-day, sir.

them Hon. J. C. Alkins, Hon. Boucher Vidal, Hon. Peter McLaren, and Hon. J. R. Gowan, Mr. Alkins and Mr. Vidal are total abstainers, and no doubt to this fact attribute their vitality. In the group a very prominent man is Mr. Gowan, who has served as a soldier, a judge, an educationist, and a legislator. For forty years he administered justice in the County of Simcoe with marked success, bearing all the difficulties of pioneer life, and giving his fellow-countrymen the advantage his fellow-countrymen the advantage of his extensive and accurate knowledge of the law. Called to the Upper House, he has been one of the ablest of law-givers there, applying to constructive work a trained and impartial mind.

structive work a trained and impartial mind.

Senator Wark's physique is sufficiently described by his extreme age, and by the fact that his mind was clear to the last. In build he might be described as a "big little man." He lived simply, and was most careful of late years in his diet. He ate no beef, mutton, or pork, but partook of fish and fowl. His breakfast consisted of oatmeal porridge and a slice of bread. Another slice of bread and a sup of tea for his evening meal. Pie and pudding had been banished from his table for many years; but we do not infer that in his younger days he lived according to all his later rules. The Senator was a total abstainer, and a man singularly devout. On both sides of politics his venerable figure will be missed; and although in no sense of the word was his death untimely, it is simple truth to say that it will be profoundly regretted by a wide circle of friends in public and private life.

A Fateful Needle.

Norway tradition invests with a peculiar interest a natural stone obelisk some twenty-five feet in height near the old church of Augvaldsnals, on Karmeon Island. The pillar leans toward the walls of the old church, and the peasantry believe that when at last the tip of the obelisk shall finally rest against the wall of the church the world will come to an end. Even the minister shares this superstition, and the stone has been reduced in height by sundry chippings when it has seemed that it approached dangerously near to the wall.

The stone is known as St. Mary's Needle and is celebrated throughout that locality. A Fateful Needle.

The Abyssinians, even at the court of Emperor Menelik, still eat their meat raw, inserting a strip in the mouth and cotting it off when there is enough for a bite. A Frenchman who died in Constanti-

Plans to build electric street car lines in Peking have aroused a great protest from the natives, who say the cars would be very harmful to the poor, as a large number of coolies now make a living by hauling passengers in rickbaws or on wheelbarrows.

HOW TO WIN A HUSBAND.

Woman's sphere in this 20th century is not limited any more than is man's. She can occupy almost any business position or profession, and yet the popular view of womanhood is that she best fits the position of wife and mother and head of the household. Every girl should know her heart and also know that her womanly system is equal to the strain of marriage. If a girl is nervous and irritable ten chances to one it is due to some trouble peculiar to womanhood.

to one it is due to some trouble peculiar to womanhood.

Cupid has no place in a girl's heart if she is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down, worn out for no reason that she can think of. The weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are only symptoms. Go to the source of the trouble and correct the irregularity. Stop the drains on the womanly system and the other symptoms will disappear. This can be done easily and intelligently. So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of leucorrhea, female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of the womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"Health was completely broken down when I began it use, and I was in dreadful pain most of the time, but ten bottles cured me."

"Pavorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

THE WEREWOLF.

A Human Monster In Which the An-

The word "werewolf" simply means a man transformed into a wolf, and the belief in such transformation seems to have been at one time widely diffused over all the countries of Europe, Asia and some parts of Africa.

According to the ancients, a man thus transformed into a wolf or other ravenous beast was believed to become possessed of all the powers of such a beast in addition to his human abilities to reason. His appetite also became enormous and could only be appeased by being glutted upon hu-man flesh. During the latter centuries of the dark ages the belief in werewolves was as common and as wide-spread as was the belief in witches, which it in some respects resembled. The belief, senseless as it was, gave rise to much brutal persecution of the accused, and the various systems of torture were usually successful in get-ting a confession of guilt and the subsequent burning or hanging of the wretched confessor.

In Great Britain, where wolves were scarcely known, the werewolf tales of the continent were hardly credited, but later on, even in "enlightened England," they believed that witches could transform themselves into cats could transform themselves into cats and hares, a belief at least analogous to the "loup-garou" superstition of the dents were also heard, when it was continent. continent.

DEFECTIVE SIGHT.

Some Callings That Are Bad For Persons With Weak Eyes.  Systematic examination of the eyes of school children seldom fails to show that a considerable proportion of them have defective sight and will therefore be placed at a disadvantage if in after life they engage in employments for which normal vision is desirable. Some useful suggestions on the practical side of this question will be found in Dr. Wilhelm Feilchenfeld's "Gesundheitspflege des Auges." He says, for instance, that sufferers from sensitive eyes, with easily irritated conjunctiva or with chronic or frequently occurring inflammation of the lids, ought not to engage in work which is either assoclated with the production of much dust, such as baking or milling, or which involves exposure to a dazzling light, such as the occupation of a furnace man. Individuals in which symptoms of ocular fatigue easily come on ought not to choose an occupation which requires straining of the eyes by long continued near work, such as sewing, knitting, copying or shorthand writing. Individuals with progressive shortsightedness must avoid all occupations which entail great exertion upon the eyes. They should not engage in study or become clerks or mechanics, tailors, dressmakers, fancy needleworkers or quilters.-London Lancet.

PEOPLE WHO SUCCEED.

They Have a Very High Sense of the Way to Do Things.

If there is that in your nature which demands the best and will take nothing less and you do not demoralize this standard by the habit of deterioration in everything you do, you will achieve distinction in some line if you have the persistence and determination to fol-low your ideal.

But if you are satisfied with the cheap and shoddy, the botched and slovenly, if you are not particular about quality in your work or in your environment or in your personal habits, have not confined themselves to the beaten tracks; they have never been satisfied to do things just as others do them, but always a little better. They always pushed things that came to their hands a little higher up, a little farther on. It is this little higher up, this little farther on, that counts in the quality of life's work. It is the constant effort to be first class in everything one attempts that conquers the heights of excellence.

The Bird Woman. In the records of the journeyings of Lewis and Clark it is written of Sacaawea, the "wonderful bird woman," that she "contributed a full man's share to the success of the expedition, pesides taking care of her baby." Yet not a cent did she receive for her services. Her husband, whom the explorers mention as an idler and a wife beater, received $800.33, including the price of a horse and lodge purchased Cat Medicine.

A young life was suddenly closed yesterday when Evelyn, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jennings, passed away at the age of one year and a few days. TO DEVELOP TRADE.

Japanese Business Interests Form An Important Organization.

Toklo, Sept. 15.—In spite of the strong undercurrent of indignation pervading all classes over the terms of peace arranged with Russia, typical business men here are following a wiser course without repining over an accomplished fact. An important organization representing $\tilde{s}$ leading business interests has been formed under the presidency of M. Iwade, a millionaire, which aims to work for the development of home industries and foreign trade with redoubled energy. A significant feature of the organization is that it consists of a wealthy and conservative element, representing an enormous combination of capital. Its interests and energy will be principally directed towards the exploitation of trade with Corea and China. The organization is prepared to co-operate in this direction with foreign capitalists.

A story related by the redoubtable Charlie Williams tends to show that human nature has not changed much since the days of the writing of the Good Book. Charlie was going down to Jericho, which, on this occasion, was on the Drake Road, Raleigh Plains. When crossing the Jeannette's Creek drain he saw a woman standing among the weeds along the bank. Almost immediately she disappeared. Charlie surmised she had cast herself into the raging waters and scented a tragedy. Just then Sam Kovinsky, junk merchant, chanced along. Charlie told Sam of the incident and his suspicious concerning it. Like the Levite of old, Sam gathered his robes closer about him and passed on. Soon after that a nearby resident same along. Charlie reiterated the story. The N. R. shied to the other side of the road, muttering what he would take if he saw the things Charlie saw. He, to, passed, and was followed by a woman and her boy. For the third time Charlie voiced his fears and suspicions that a drowning had occurred. They, too, passed by on the other side—completing the tale as in Biblical lore.

Charlie, seeing it was up to him to play the role of the good Samaritan, went down to the creek's brink only to find the woman among the weeds on its edge, dead —— drunk.

"She would have been there yet and might have perished if I had not taken her home." says Charlie. "Strange, isn't it," continues Charlie, apropos of nothing in particular, "how many fools there are in this world, and every one of them rich." When Young saw he was caught he attempted to swallow a five dollar bill and when asked to explain this he attempted to by saying his action was due to excitement. the clerk. That functionary smiled, "Daisy Redmond," he answered. "Her father's the big mining man. She booked a seat all alone because he hangs out down in the street. Told me she wanted to see if these eastern dudes could hold a candle to western drivers."

Graul nodded and went outside. It was time to be starting, and he mo-tioned to the guard with the ladder. Miss Redmond flashed past him. "Ready!" she cried, and a moment later, to the intense amusement of the crowd, she had climbed over the wheels and was perched upon the box.

Through the crowded streets the pace was necessarily slow, and the girl turned to Graul. "Do you let them out when you hit the highroad?" she demanded eagerly. Graul laughed.

"I fancy you will get speed enough when we get going. This is just through downtown." "I should hope so," she retorted. "I booked for a coach, not a hearse." "I suppose you will write back to the papers that the eastern dudes are undertakers," he laughed. She flashed a quick glance at him.

"You've been talking to the clerk," she announced. "I am curious to see the difference."
"What do you think so far?" he

"I think," she answered, "that if you ever hit the streets of an Arizona town with that Jellow coat on you'd be sorry."

"Still," he defended, "we can drive

on here."
"Maybe," she said ambiguously. After they reached the open country it was apparent from her glances that she was changing her opinion, and Graul wondered if the drivers she knew of could cut figure eights in the horse show ring such as had gained him a blue ribbon three years in suc

just at the foot of the hill, and a fast freight had just come into sight around a curve. Graul knew that if he did not cross the track before the train reached the crossing he would smash into it and probably kill every one on board. Instead of trying to check the horse he gave them their heads and used the Writing With Milk.

In the course of a trial in France a was read from a man named urpin, a chemist, under sentence of re years' imprisonment as a spy, giving directions to a friend, with a view to establishing a secret correspondence with him while in prison. This led to an official inquiry on the subject by the French authorities, and some strange revelations were obtained, from some of the convicts.

It appears that when information has to be conveyed to a prisoner a formal letter, containing apparently nothing but a few trivial facts of a personal nature, is forwarded to the prison. This is read by the governor, who stamps it and allows it to be handed to the man to whom it is ad-Book sent to the ers free.

Wills were at first oral, as were also gifts of land, and were only morally other fathers of the early church credited Noah with having made a will, and in the fourth century the bishop of Brescia declared all those heretical who denied Noah's division of the world to his three sons by will. The oldest known wills are those of Egypt. Both oral and written wills not infre-encutly contained imprecations on those who should neglect them. The carliest written will in existence is that of Sennacherib, which was found in the royal library of Konyunjik. There is a great sameness about our own royal wills. They mainly relate to beds, bedding, clothes, personal or-naments, gold and silver cups and payments for masses, and are generally

Baron Komura Writes of the influence of the Simple Life Upon the Success of Japan.

The so called "yellow peril" is wholly the creation of the imagination on the part of some interested people of Europe, writes Baron Komura, the Mikado's chief peace plenipotentiary.

Not only Japan and China, but the entire civilized world, will gain immeasurably by our conflict with Russia. The Japanese feel most grati-of the bear to the southeast.

The Japanese people could never have won the victory they have won were it not for three things. In the first place, they were thrice armed by having their quarrel just; secondly, their entire public service was absolutely free from corrupt practices, and, lastly, their mode of life has ever been one of such extremely. has ever been one of such extreme simplicity that their soldiers thus gained an equipment for the stress of war they never could have gained had they, like too many other nations, abandoned themselves to lives of lux ury and sloth and been unwilling, if not unable, to put their hands to strenuous tasks.

The importance of the simple life has in Japan been demonstrated by the whole body of the people just as it has been by a few individual instances in this country.

It will not require many years for Japan to recover fully from the effects of the war with Russia: She will gain also from the growth of commercial and political relations with the Uni-ked States, England and Europe, and I am positive that in the future those who are prophesying about the "yel-low perli" will not find their herrify-ing predictions realized in the slight

Mr. Hugh Watt, Ex-M.P.

The world was startled the other day by the recital of a terrible story from London. It related that a great sensation had been created by the arrest of Hugh Watt, a financier and formerly a member of Parliament for the Camlachie division of Glasgow, the Camlachie division of Glasgow, on the charge of attempting to procure a private detective to assist in the murder of his former wife.

Detective Marshall testified in a London police court that Watt offered him $25,000 if he would induce the woman to come to Watt's flat, where he proposed to kill her by the administration of chloroform and then to remove the small of chloroform with smell of chloroform

Watt was remanded for trial in bail of $3,000. The police found both chloroform and peppermint in Watt's apartments.

Since the granting of the divorce Watt and his former wife have been in the law courts regarding their marriags settlements and much bitterness has resulted from this litigation. A couple of weeks ago the parties appeared in a police court, Watt charging the woman with having assaulted and violently ejected him from her house, where he said he went for the purpose of trying to compromise their business disagreements.

Whiskers and Weather.
Do whiskers grow faster in hot weather than in cold? The correct answer to this question is, "They do." Barbers say that there is an increase of about 20 per cent in business dur-ing the extremely hot spells and that all this increase comes from the men who habitually shave every other day instead of once a day. Although hot weather makes more business for the chin polishers, they do not particularly welcome it. Men are always more irritable and harder to shave. coupled with the increased speed of execution, makes the whole business unsatisfactory for both the shaver and the shavee.

Breaking Up of Representative Gathering is Warmly Resented.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—The breaking up by troops Wednesday at Helsingfors of a meeting of 800 delegates from all towns in Finland, called to discuss the political situation, has aroused great indignation throughout Finland. English Sockers Sustain First Defeat at Hands of Berlin-Score Close

Berlin, Ont., Sept. 13. - The Pil-grims, the English football team now touring Canada, were defeated by the Rangers here this afternoon after a closely contested game, by a score of two to one.

The game was witnessed by fifteen hundred people, there being a good many visitors from surrounding towns. A great many citizens took advantage of the quarter day holiday, which had been proclaimed, and the Athletic Park contained a large assembly of spectators.

The game was called at 4.40 and it was 6.30 before time was called.

After ten minutes' play the visitors scored a goal after much hard work, and the score remained one nothing until half time.

The second goal was scored this way: The ball was kicked across the touch line, thrown in, Waterson kicked to Brinkert, and a clever shot

The visitors claimed an off side, but the referee decided otherwise. Sir Charles, who is a clever goal keeper, lost this by the sun dazzling on his eyeglasses, but it was a fair goal, and Berlin was happy, as they had beaten the all-England team.
