

EARTHQUAKES IN BIBLE SYMBOLOLOGY

Symbolic Earthquakes--Revolutions.

CLOSING OF THE GOSPEL AGE

Significance of Earthquakes—The Part They Played in Nature—in Grace—Their Association With the Reign of Sin and Death—Grand Results to Be Expected—Stability of the New Order of Things in the Messianic Kingdom—Dark Hour Preceding the Millennial Morning of Blessing.

October 18.—Pastor Russell's text to-day was, "There shall be great earthquakes in divers places, and famines and pestilences; and a fearful sight and great signs shall there be from Heaven." (Luke 21:11.) He said:

It is far from our thought that in itself an earthquake is a sign of the end of the Age; but the prevalence of earthquakes since the beginning of the twentieth century properly enough attracts our attention to "What say the Scriptures?" upon this subject.

Our text is from the Master's own lips—a part of His description of the trouble coming upon the world in the close of this Gospel Age, preparatory to the inauguration of the Millennial Age and its glorious manifestation of righteousness under the King of kings.

The Master was answering a question asked by His disciples respecting the End of the Age and the signs which would mark its close. In the context our Lord told them that they might expect to hear of wars and tumults, but not to be terrified; for although such things would occur, they would not be indications that the end of the Age was near. Then, coming to the events to be expected at the close of the Age, He used the words of our text. He also declared that before these terrible indications of the End of the Age, His disciples would suffer persecutions in the synagogues, churches, etc., for His sake, and for the Truth's sake.

Our Adventist friends have also been calling attention to Scriptures predicting great tribulation upon the world in the very near future; but our message is a very different one from theirs and is used for a very different purpose. Their message is that the convulsions of nature now due will result in "a wreck of matter and a crush of worlds"; but the sister message is that the destruction of this earth to a mass of cinder; and they use this message as a club to drive the wicked to seek protection of the Lord.

Be it noticed how different is our reference to these calamities. We hold with the Scriptures that "the earth abideth forever"; that cold and heat, summer and winter, will continue as long as the earth remains; and that God made not the earth in vain, but formed it to be inhabited. —Ecclesiastes 1:4; Genesis 8:22; Isaiah 45:18.

We have already pointed out that the fire of this Day of the Lord will be a symbolic one, just as the "fiery trials" of the Church throughout this Age have not generally consisted even in part of literal fire; and that the fiery troubles coming upon the world will overthrow present institutions, political, social, financial, and religious—and will engulf the whole world in anarchy. In the Scriptures this is symbolically called in some places a flood and in others a consuming fire.

We have also pointed out that the passing away of present institutions, symbolically called "the heavens and the earth that are now," will be followed by the establishment of "a new heaven and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness"; the reorganization of society along lines of Divine approval, intimated by the words of our Lord's prayer, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth, as it is done in Heaven."

We will not attempt to prognosticate the character of the frightful signs which belong to the closing of this Age; but they are very particularly mentioned by our Lord and were also foretold by the Prophet Joel, saying, "I will show wonders in heaven above and signs in the earth beneath, blood and fire and pillars of smoke."—Joel 2:30; Acts 2:19.

The Apostle Paul refers to the same thing in Hebrews 12:26-28. He alludes to the establishment of the Law Covenant at Mount Sinai and the wonderful manifestations which at that time caused Moses and all Israel to fear and quake. Then he tells us that those events were typical, or figurative, of the still more wonderful shakings, signs, etc., to be expected at the closing of this Gospel Age, when the Kingdom of God is about to be established and the New Covenant about to go into effect between God and mankind at the hands of the great Mediator, Jesus Christ and the Church.

St. Paul declares that the Word of the Lord upon this subject implies the removing of all things that can be shaken, so that only the unshakable things will remain, making these unshakable things be associates with God's Kingdom of righteousness. When with the eyes of our understanding open we look about us, we see very many things that evidently are not permanent, not right, not satisfactory to God and to all who love righteousness and hate iniquity; and when we reflect that the shaking will be such as to loosen and destroy all these imperfect things of the present time, we can imagine better than we can describe the severity of that shaking.

In the Revelation this same thought is expressed under the figure of a mighty earthquake, the like of which there had not been before and will never be thereafter. (Revelation 16:18.) Throughout the Apocalypse the term earthquake is used to symbolically represent revolution. What we are to expect then will be a great revolution, a great earthquake, the great shaking of the present institutions which will overthrow everything that is not of the Lord's establishment and approval.

In the Divine order there seems to be a harmony between the literal and the figurative; therefore the literal earthquakes have their part to play in the great Program. Not only are they to serve the Church as signs corroborating the prophecies respecting the approach of the great Time of Trouble which closes this Gospel Age, but they are to serve also another purpose—a particular purpose.

The Scriptures clearly intimate that our physical earth has not yet attained the grand perfection which the Lord designs that it should have, and be fit for the blessed ones whose home, as the Paradise of God, it shall be throughout all eternity. Be it noticed that the Scriptures clearly point out that the Little Flock, called of God during this Gospel Age to be the Bride of Christ, are to experience a change of nature from human to spirit, which will prepare them for Heavenly conditions, spiritual conditions. But for the remainder of mankind God's provision, according to His Word, is not the change of nature, but a restoration to the perfection of human nature and the development of the earth to that perfect condition which will make it as a whole the antitype of the Garden of Eden—the Paradise restored.

We have already called attention to the fact that the flood of waters in Noah's time was called by the breaking of the last of a series of rings that once surrounded the earth, after the manner of the rings of the planet Saturn. Foreknowing the wickedness that would develop amongst mankind and the power that would be exercised amongst men by the giants of that day (Genesis 6:4) God has so timed the breaking of this last ring that the flood of waters would serve the purpose of overthrowing that order of things and making ready for the next feature of the Divine Program, the present order, which began after the Deluge, upon the coming of Noah and his family out of the Ark.

Similarly, the Scriptures teach, God has reserved for the appropriate time in the end of this Age certain great physical disturbances necessary to the development of the earth and its preparation for the Reign of Righteousness and blessing of mankind, so that the troubles incidental to the change of nature upon the world as disastrous floods, etc., and will co-operate in the bringing of mankind into sore straits and trials of faith and patience, which will result in anarchy and the complete overthrow of the present order of things, but also of the social earth and the ecclesiastical, or "heavenly," institutions, in order that all unstable things may pass away and that the new order of things may be ushered in on a permanent basis, having the Divine approval, and meaning ultimately, the grandest blessing for our race.

From this standpoint a certain class can read the signs of the times intelligently and "with confidence"; and this class the Scriptures call the Lord's Little Flock (Luke 12:32); counted foolish by the world, but counted of the Lord as "the wise" who are to "understand" (Daniel 12:10). Of these the Master Himself addressed these words, "There shall be signs in the sun, in the moon and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming upon the earth; for the powers of heaven shall be shaken." And again, "When these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your deliverance is at hand."—Luke 21:25, 26, 28.

The Lord's consecrated people, possessed of His Spirit, cannot in any sense of the word rejoice at the tribulation coming upon others. Their rejoicing can be only in respect to the glorious things which they hope to experience, and which they know to be near by these outward signs. Their rejoicing is not merely on their own behalf, but also on behalf of the whole world; for they have the assurance of the Scriptures that beyond this Time of Trouble, which looms up as a dark cloud to cover the whole social world, there is a silver lining; and that shortly the glorious Sun of Righteousness will blaze forth, dispel every cloud and all the shadows of ignorance and superstition, and bring to the world of mankind the rich blessings of Divine favor, secured through the precious blood of Christ.

From this standpoint the news of destructive earthquakes here and there appeals to us as incidental corroboration of the prophecies of Scripture which show us that we are very near the long-threatened Time of Trouble. True, there may be a lull for a brief period; but we have confidence that our Lord's prophecy as recorded in our text has a meaning, and that the time for its fulfillment must be very near at hand. We are well aware that the natural man and his scientific leaders will consider the association of the facts of our day with the words uttered more than eighteen centuries ago as very foolish. We are aware that they will say, as the Apostle Peter declared they would, that "all things continue as they have been from the foundation of the world," and that such changes have been going on, and will continue to do so, without any relationship to our Lord's Second Presence and the Time of Trouble which this Age will see (1 Peter 3:3, 4). This is their view—the reverse is ours.

The Word of God teaches us that at this time of transition from the Gospel Age to the Messianic Age we are to expect wonderful contentions of nature and some radical changes in the earth's condition, in order that it may be the better adapted to the wants of man throughout eternity. It is God's own declaration that He will make the place of His feet glorious—the earth, His "footstool."—Isaiah 60:13; 66:1.

Evidently great and wonderful changes will be effected, some of which will be brought about gradually. For instance, we all know of the gradual change of the temperate zone—its extension further and further toward the poles. We notice also the increasing moderation nearer to the equator. Those who recognize the Power of God can have confidence in His ability to perform all the glorious promises of His Word respecting the paradisaical conditions of this earth for the use of mankind during the Millennial Age and the ages to follow.

As already intimated, social upheavals are pictured in the Word of God under the symbolism of earthquakes, "mountains carried into the sea," etc. Similarly, uprisings of the social elements in anarchy are depicted as "mountains"—governments. This is one of the most forceful pictures used, not only in the Psalms, but also in the Revelation and in our Lord's apocalyptic references to the great Time of Trouble which is near at hand. Of this time the Prophet Daniel has declared that it will be "a Time of Trouble such as was not since there was a nation"; and our Lord, when quoting this speaking, adds, "No, nor ever shall be."—Daniel 12:1; Matthew 24:21.

Let us not be misunderstood to be advocating anarchy or revolution of any kind. On the contrary, we are giving heed to the Master's instruction that all who are His true followers seek peace and pursue it, and so far as possible live peaceably with all men; that like Himself they should not resist evil with evil, force with force, but should, in seeking, walk in His paths, and rely upon Him for the results that will be to their profit and His glory.

So far from counselling anarchy, we hold and teach that even the meanest and poorest form of government is superior to anarchy; and in all sympathy and kindness we counsel those who are tending toward Socialism that they are unwise in "hatching cockatrice eggs." Under present conditions Socialism is absolutely impossible. The rich will not give up their advantages without a struggle to the death; and as soon as Socialism shall have gained the power, it will be used to oppress and oppress for the world. For now starting in with Socialistic hopes, will find those hopes vain, and will become so angered, so disappointed, that they will resort to bitter and to the deceptions of their theories and the impossibility of carrying them out, as they intended, along the lines of benevolence. As a result they will be drawn to the desperate methods of the anarchists, that all could see with us what the Scriptures so clearly indicate, namely, the Divine foreknowledge of past, present and future conditions, and the Divine arrangement of these for the greatest benefit of all.

We urge all who are the Lord's to seek more and more to understand His wonderful Plan of Salvation, to glorify Him in their bodies and in their spirits, which are His, and to wait for His time and His manner of bringing in the blessings which all see are so much needed by the poor "groaning creation." Meantime, all such should cultivate the grace of the Holy Spirit, or, as the Apostle puts it, "put on Christ." His character, His meekness, patience, long suffering, brotherly kindness, love, against which things there is no law. Respecting these graces St. Peter declares, "If ye do these things ye shall never fall; for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."—2 Peter 1:10, 11.

These cannot be shaken out of the Lord's hand by any tumult. Indeed, if they be in the disasters of literal earthquakes they will be able to rejoice even in tribulation, knowing that all things work together for good to those who love God.

Salvation Song Popular. The story of a Salvation Army song carolled on the fighting line by members of the horde, who in such a familiar scene in every big city. These are the words:

"I'm a child of a King,
I'm a child of a King,
With Jesus my saviour,
I'm a child of the King."

They were sung by a wounded soldier going to the fighting line in an ambulance, taken up by few of his comrades, and gradually the chorus swelled until a whole army joined in.

An Amateur. Briefly defined, an amateur is one who is less skilled than a professional.

CANADA WILL HAVE A GOOD CROP THIS YEAR

OTTAWA, October 20: A bulletin issued to-day by the Census and Statistics Office gives provisional estimates of the yield and quality of the principal Canadian grain crops, and also the condition of root and fodder crops, as compiled from reports of correspondents made on September 30.

In general the reports confirm the statement issued last month, the average yields per acre being about the same as that estimated for wheat, but being somewhat less for oats, barley and flax.

The total yields for Canada of the principal grain crops in bushels are as follows: Wheat, 28,223,000, oats 311,423,000, barley 24,491,000, rye 2,258,000, 3,587,100, beans 824,400, buckwheat 9,169,000, flaxseed 7,583,000, mixed grains 10,458,000 and corn for husking 14,702,000.

The average quality of the grain crops at harvest time, measured upon percentage basis, 100 representing grain well headed, well filled, well saved and unaffected by any appreciable extent by frost, rust, smut, etc., is for the whole of Canada as follows: wheat 78, oats, 79, barley 76, rye 82, peas 80, beans 82, buckwheat 81, mixed grains 80, flax 84 and corn for husking 80. For wheat barley and oats the figures are considerably below the excellent record of last year, the averages this year being reduced by the prolonged drought in the Northwest provinces the points for the quality of wheat, oats and barley range from 48 for barley in Saskatchewan to 78 for spring wheat in Alberta.

In the Maritime provinces both the yield and quality of the grain crops are excellent.

BOILERS AT HOME AND ABROAD

Thirty-one ocean liners, a fleet many times greater in tonnage than any army of medieval Spain, are being sent to the Canadian army to England. Eleven war vessels were strung by the lines-of-communication system across the Atlantic, one every couple of hundred miles as a convoy.

It was the greatest army that ever crossed the Atlantic, and the most impressive convoy ever seen in our times. The value of that 31,000 soldiers, 8,000 horses and 70 field guns was absolutely guaranteed to the British War Office by the greatest insurance system ever seen afloat. But the Canadian army is no safer on the Atlantic than the Canadian mercantile marine carrying Canadian wheat, bacon, flour and cheese to the ports of Britain. Day in and day out, night after night by all bells the guns of British battleships keep open the trade routes between the fields and the mills and keep the factories of Canada and the markets of England. Thanks to those nimble cruisers, this country becomes a creditor of England who thanks to the navy is financially able to pay her bills in a time of war on the principle "Business As Usual."

This navy-guaranteed trade puts 10 England in our debt hundreds of millions in a year. It enables a large percentage of our population to go on raising wheat, operating mills and factories under absolute safety of transportation. The British navy is the greatest guarantee of our system of transportation, not only of ships but of railways that feed them and are fed by them. With such magnificent insurance every wheel in Canada, every smoke-stack, every power-house, every travelling crane, every spindle and loom, lathe and drill and roller, should go on working as though war had never happened in the world.

With such an impressive spectacle of efficiency on the high seas, it is the imperial business of every man and woman in Canada to spend every dollar possible to keep the factories of Canada operating as diligently as the farms and the fisheries and the mines. The money spent in buying Canadian goods is money spent to justify the protection we enjoy from the British navy. If in a time of dislocation caused by war we cease to put up every dollar we can buy from our own people we are no longer worth that navy's protection.

It's the busy army at home that makes the majesty of the watchdog fleet abroad. Every warship boiler burning on the seas should be backed up by ten Canadian factory boilers burning at home.

"How late can I leave my Christmas Card order this Fall?"

As we told the customer that asked this, if she were to come in to us the day before Christmas we would be able to give her some sort of a card, but we certainly could not guarantee her a satisfactory purchase. We think the attitude should be "How soon" rather than "How late."

Now, we have many dozens of designs, and many dozens—many gross, in fact—of each, but, with the demand we are anticipating this fall, the supply will prove far from being inexhaustible. The cards you would find most attractive will please others as well—they will probably be among the first to go.

Ordering now you have an absolutely unlimited choice. That is what we advise.

THE CALL GOES OUT FOR MEN

Members Required for Second Force Allotted to Divisions.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—Orders having been sent out last night to the officers commanding the various divisional areas and military districts to begin enlisting men at once for infantry regiments for overseas service, it is announced that the various divisional areas, with headquarters as given, will enlist the following numbers:

Southern Ontario (Toronto), one battalion; Western Ontario (London), two battalions; Eastern Ontario (Kingston), one battalion; Southern Quebec (Montreal), two battalions; Northern Quebec (Quebec), one battalion; Maritime Provinces (Halifax), two battalions.

The military districts of the west will recruit as follows:

Manitoba and Saskatchewan (Winnipeg), two battalions; British Columbia (Victoria), two battalions; Alberta (Calgary), one battalion. This makes a total of 14 battalions with 16,000 men. The Quebec quotas include the French-Canadian battalions already authorized.

Orders for the recruiting of 14,000 more men will go out as soon as the War Office states what is wanted in the way of cavalry, artillery, engineering corps, etc. The 30,000 men thus recruited will begin active training, and as soon as there are arms and equipment for 10,000 men they will be sent to England to finish their training and be sent to the front. This will be in about two months' time, and when the first 10,000 sail a similar number will be recruited in the various districts and will begin active training. Another 10,000 will sail as soon as their equipment is ready, and this method will be kept up as long as the war lasts.

My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill. It dulled my mind. It undermined my health and was weakening my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me obnoxious to all, and my foul breath and disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in life was dulled and my faculties impaired. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because I was not stopping it day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality.

But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it FREE. Write me promptly.

RISK JUST ONE CENT

Send no money. Just your name and address on a postal card. Say: "Dear Sam Katz: Please tell me how you cured your catarrh, and how I can cure mine." That's all you need to say. I will understand, and I will write to you with complete information. FREE at once. Do not delay. Send postal card or write me a letter to-day. ## A WORKER WHO IS DOING GOOD WORK.

A gentleman who is going about in a very unostentatious way and accomplishing a whole lot of good is Mr. A. D. McIntosh, district representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the County of Hastings. Mr. McIntosh never heralds his coming with a blare of trumpets, but he gets out and does things. He will probably sue you for damages for the unauthorized use of his name as the result of the publication of this article, for he deprecates self-advertising, and is not looking for laurels for A. D. McIntosh. If he can see two blades of grass, or two rosy apples or even two prize pumpkins growing where one grew before as a result of his teaching he doesn't care the worth of a counterfeit pica-yune who gets the credit. Results are what he wants—not praise.

He is one of the busiest men in the county, but you would never guess that fact if you watched him all day in that neatly-kept office maintained by the department at Stirling or followed him in his endless round of outside activities. He can keep a dozen irons in the fire at once and have them all at just the right temperature when the psychological moment arrives for transferring them to the anvil. He never becomes rattled or sour-tempered. He just goes on as methodically and unhesitatingly as though there were only one thing to do.

At the Stirling office an accurate list is kept of all visitors and the purpose of their visits. It may be some farmer with a new weed for identification, or another tiller of the soil who wants a plan of drainage for his low-land, or a fruit grower seeking information about the best method of slaying caterpillars, or a puzzled stockman who desires to make a record with his registered cow. They all take up the representative's time to heart's content, secure the information, and probably go home to act upon it, for men must realize their need before good advice will reach the point of action. We have seen the total of these visits and it was a formidable enough to make us wonder how the representative could get time to take his meals.

Then there are the practical demonstrations of the proper methods of pruning and trimming orchards, drainage surveys and demonstrations, stock-judging exhibitions and competitions, school fairs, farmers' institutes, the agricultural classes at Stirling high school, the management of a farm at River Valley, and a multitude of miscellaneous official, social and other duties too numerous to count.

Mr. McIntosh's latest activity has been in connection with the movement to gather supplies for the needy Belgians.

Largely as the result of the appeal sent out from the office at Stirling and of Mr. McIntosh's personal work, there was shipped from Stirling on Thursday last a full car of provisions, and clothing, another full car from Central Ontario Junction and a part car from Ivanhoe station—and all this after only three days' work.

Mr. W. Bert Roadhouse, deputy minister of agriculture, writing from Toronto in grateful acknowledgment had this to say:—

"I beg to congratulate you on the enterprise and enthusiasm which you have shown in this matter, which is very much appreciated both by the Department and also, I am sure, by the Belgians. The assortment which goes into the Stirling car seems to me to be a very well arranged and practical contribution, and it is evidence of the generosity of the people of Hastings as well as your hard work. The notice, we recognize, was short, but the response has been very generous."

ABOUT VOLUNTEERING.

In Saturday's Mail and Empire prominence was given to a letter by Mr. A. L. Artus of Toronto upon the subject of volunteering and enlistment in Canada. The contention of Mr. Artus was that Canadians fail to realise the true seriousness of the European situation, and that the gravity of the position has been hidden from them by their responsible leaders. He thinks the optimistic vein can be carried to extremes.

He says at the beginning:—

What are the obvious facts? We have been at war two months. Our enemies are still fighting upon the Allies' ground and not on their own; they have destroyed Belgium and assassinated a quarter of the civilian population; they have received through the heavy fines they placed upon conquered cities large sums in actual bullion. Only last week they took Antwerp, which means that their right wing is firmly based upon a strong citadel, for remember at this moment as a military fact, the allies have not guns so powerful as those of the Germans, so that Antwerp in their hands is much more impregnable than in ours.

He then goes on to show what a magnificent response has been made by the other parts of the Empire.

England has at this moment out of a total of eight million men of military age 1,400,000 actually under arms; that is, one to every six of the population. South Africa, with a large and preponderant population of military blacks, with a white population very largely not of British stock, has nevertheless put practically her whole manhood into the field to crush the Germans forever, both within and without her borders.

Australia, with a population of little over four million, has sent nearly 70,000 men. Edinburgh, out of a population of 600,000 odd, has sent 11,000 recruits. Cambridge University has given 1,500, out of 3,000; McGill, with 1,500, has sent perhaps 200. Wales has enlisted 60,000 men out of a total male population of 800,000.

Canada's response by comparison does not show to our advantage. This is the way Mr. Artus puts it:—

Canada, which, if she only sent one per cent. of her population would have had in England at this moment 80,000, has only sent a contingent of 33,000, the larger part of which are English-born sons of Britain who have come to reside in Canada during the past ten years—that is, men who would have returned to the Motherland at such a call, wheresoever domiciled. According to the 1911 census Canada had 5,619,682 citizens of British and French blood born within her own shores. She also had 784,526 souls born in the United Kingdom. So actually the native-born have sent only one in 1,022 of this number, while the British-born have supplied one out of every 29.

Canada with a population larger than Belgium or Roumania has supplied of her native-born some 6,000 souls. In times of stress and difficulty we are all sons of one mother in one house. Let us talk fairly and squarely looking each other straight in the face and fronting each other with level eyes. Canada with a larger proportion of man-power of military age than any other part of the Empire has done far less than the rest.

Canada has about one and three-quarter million of men between 20 and 40. Surely she will put at once into training 100,000 men to stand by their brothers in this, the greatest conflict the world has ever seen.

He then goes to speak of the pressing need for men as voiced by Britain's greatest military leaders and statesmen:—

"We want every man we can get," said Lord Kitchener, speaking to the Sons of the Blood throughout the world.

"The Germans are a formidable enemy," said Sir John French, writing from the front a few weeks since; "well-trained, long prepared and brave, their soldiers are carrying on the contest with skill and valor."

"The Empire needs recruits," said Premier Asquith at the Mansion House in Dublin the other day. "The Empire needs them at once, that they may be fully trained and equipped to take their part in what will be the decisive fields of the greatest struggle in the history of the world."

In another appeal, Premier Asquith said: "We want everyone who has in days gone by, as officer or non-commissioned officer, served his country. He never had a greater or a more fruitful opportunity of service than is presented to him to-day."

Then the question arises—who is to blame for the somewhat meagre showing in Canada as compared with the rest of the Empire.

Men, men, and yet more men are the present necessity of the situation. Let our Canadian brothers say to their rulers, we men of Canada want and demand as our inalienable birthright that we have the opportunity of taking our fair share of the danger and risks of war. We don't want to feel that our wives and babies have been kept safe behind the courage and self-sacrifice of our English brothers, whilst we went on with our hewing of wood and drawing of water.

We, the men of Canada, demand our right to be made fit for service in the fighting line. Then, sir, those of us, who through age or infirmity, cannot know the intense spiritual joy of himself bearing a musket for his King and country, may sit down and hearten his fellows, whatever troubles or reverses may meet our arms, for we shall know that the man-power of Canada, in its glory and its strength—a real army and not a mere contingent—no less than that of Britain or South Africa or Australia, is actually in the fighting line, and that the war, be it long or short, will, nevertheless, reach an undoubted conclusion—the destruction of the most hellish tyranny that has ever threatened the liberties of the whole world.

When Mr. Artus speaks of "the inalienable birthright that we have the opportunity of taking our fair share of the danger and risks of war," and of the necessity of impressing that fact upon "our rulers" he hints very broadly at where the root of the trouble is located.

The Ontario has no more desire than the Mail and Empire to offer criticism that would have any tendency to destroy the unanimity of our people at the present time. Our only wish is to see this war prosecuted with the utmost of our power until it is brought to a speedy and successful issue. If the party now in power at Ottawa achieves great credit for itself in the process, we will have no complaint to offer.

Our chief hope is to have it said that Canadians did their duty to the fullest requirement and were given ample opportunity to demonstrate that their loyalty to the Empire was not a matter of empty words.

Let us get the saddle on the right horse. We ask Mr. Artus, the Mail and Empire and everyone else who has been complaining about the lack of enthusiasm for enlistment, who is to blame? Who is responsible for the condition that manifests itself? At the end of eleven weeks after the declaration of war, Canada has sent only thirty-three thousand partially trained men to England and has as yet no second force in training? Is this poor showing attributable to apathy on the part of the Canadian-born? Most emphatically it is not. Col. Hughes was himself responsible for the statement that more than two hundred thousand men in Canada had volunteered their services.

What Canadians want is an opportunity to enlist and to become disciplined for the rigors of war. That opportunity has been denied them by the hesitation, the uncertainty, and the lack of direction and leadership of the government at Ottawa.

Eleven long weeks have passed since the declaration of war and only thirty-three thousand men have come forward, and even these have not gone to fight, but to be trained. By December next, if present plans do not miscarry, another ten thousand will be sent. We talk about the slowness of Russia but Russia is a cyclone compared with the militia department of Canada.

In an article in Saturday's issue we showed that Canada should now have had a quarter of a million men in the field undergoing training if we had done as well as Great Britain. And yet we are boasting frantically because we have sent thirty-three thousand men already and expect to send another ten thousand in a month or two!

Let us have less vacillation and shilly-shallying at Ottawa, and there will be no trouble about the fealty and devotion of Canada's sons and their enthusiasm for the Imperial cause.

THE SCORE AGAINST GERMANY.

It is, as the New York Tribune recently said, the cruellest irony of the situation in Europe, that the heaviest penalties of the war have fallen upon the nation which was in nowise concerned in the antagonisms between the belligerent Powers. Belgium's neutrality and independence were guaranteed by both groups of Powers, and yet she has been dragged by Germany's bad faith into the very maelstrom of the conflict, and has been made to bear, so far, the brunt of its ravages. History, as the Tribune says, can offer "no more glaring instance of the welfare of an innocent, neutral nation sacrificed to the perfidy and the ambitious military policy of a more powerful neighbor."

The Tribune remarks further:— "In 1870, when Germany was at with France, Prince Bismarck gave Belgium an assurance in writing that Belgian neutrality would not be violated. But he added that in view of the treaties in force such an assurance was 'quite superfluous.' Bismarck has unfortunately been displaced in Germany by publicists of the school of von Bernhardt and von Bethman-Hollweg. 'We are violating treaties and the law of nations,' said the latter, discussing the invasion of Belgium, 'but will repair the injustice afterward.' The injustice is getting so monumental that it can hardly be repaired in Bethman-Hollweg's lifetime. EVERY BELGIAN SOLDIER KILLED OR WOUNDED, EVERY WOMAN, CHILD AND CIVILIAN SACRIFICED, EVERY BIT OF BELGIAN PROPERTY DESTROYED AND EVERY REFUGEE DRIVEN OUT OF THE COUNTRY ADDS TO THE IMMENSITY OF THE SCORE WHICH GERMANY WILL HAVE TO SETTLE. THE INVASION OF FRIENDLY, TREATY-PROTECTED BELGIUM IS, IN THE OPINION OF ALL FAIR-MINDED MEN, A CRIME AGAINST INTERNATIONAL MORALITY AND AGAINST CIVILIZATION. IT IS ACHIME WHICH IT WILL TAKE GERMAN GENERATIONS TO LIVE DOWN."

RUSSIAN IN WAR TIME.

Stephen Graham, correspondent of the London Times, gives a picture of Russia in a time of war.

"The air is full of hope. All vodka shops have been closed for a month, and Russia at a word from the Czar, has taken on the appearance of sobriety. It has been impossible to obtain alcoholic liquors of any kind, and as a consequence drunkenness has disappeared from the streets, and with it a great army of beggars who not only beg that they may gather 20 kopeks for a bottle."

While there is enthusiasm for the war, there is said to be little ill-feeling against the enemy. The German wounded are well treated and a Russian woman will sometimes say, "Poor one, is it his fault that he is fighting us?" Sausage and German newspapers are provided for the prisoners. "Is it not dull for you here?" they are asked, and the answer is that it would not be so dull if there were only beer.

No doubt the description is colored by natural friendship for an ally. But, as the Toronto Star suggests, it may be one of the good results from the evil of this war that we shall learn to know the Russians better; and it is worth while to try to understand the character and point of view of nearly two hundred millions of people. We are apt to think of the masses of these people as sunk in ignorance. But the most generous culture could hardly produce a fairer flower than that speech, "Poor one, is it his fault that he is fighting us?"

All reports to the contrary, the Russians are still coming, according to Petrograd.

The Director of Recruiting in the Old Country has furnished some interesting figures in response to an inquiry by a member of the House of Commons. They relate to the period August 4 to September 15, the percentage is in each case to the male population of the country:

	Recruits.	Percentage.
England	396,751	2.41
Scotland	64,444	2.79
Ireland	20,419	.93
Wales	19,966	1.94

Scotland, it will be noticed, leads the way, as was, perhaps, to be expected. Since these figures were published there has been a large increase in Irish recruiting, and by this time no doubt, it is comparable with that of the other nations of the kingdom.

IRELAND.

"Ireland is a loyal country, and she would, I know, respond with alacrity to any summons which called upon her to take her share in the assertion and the defence of our common interests."—Mr. Asquith.

"You have kept faith with Ireland, Ireland will keep faith with you."—Mr. Redmond.

The following verses, from the "Last Poems of George Meredith" (Constable) are recalled by the speeches at the "Call to Arms" meeting in Dublin:—

Fire in her ashes Ireland feels,
And in her veins a glow of heat,
To her the lost old time appeals
For resurrection good to greet;
Not a shape with spectral eyes,
But humanly maternal, young
In all that quickens pride, and wise
To speak the best her bards have sung.

You read her as a land distraught,
Where bitterest rebel passions seethe,
Look with a core of heart in thought,
For so is known the truth beneath.
She came to you a loathing bride,
And it has been no happy bed,
Believe in her as friend, allied
By bonds as close as those who wed.

A nation she, and formed to charm,
With heart for heart and hands all round,
No longer England's broken arm,
Would England know where strength is found.
And strength to-day is England's need;
To-morrow it may be for both
Salvation: heed the portents, heed
The warnings; free the mind from sloth.

THE NAME OF ENGLAND.

The triumph of the battle
Hath a high and thrilling tone,
And the first deep gun of an ocean fight
Dread music all its own.

But a mightier power, my England,
Is in that name of thine,
To strike the fire in every heart
Along the bannered line.

Proudly it woke the spirits
Of yore, the brave and true,
When the bow was bent on Cressy's field,
And the yeoman's arrow flew.

And proudly hath it floated
O'er the battles of the sea
When the red cross flag o'er smoke wreaths played
Like the lightning in its glee.

On rock, on wave, on bastion,
Its echoes have been known,
By a thousand streams the hearts lie low
That have answered to its tone.

And a thousand ancient mountains
Its pealing notes have stirred,
Sound on and on for evermore,
Oh, thou victorious word.

—Mrs. Hemans

WRECKED BY BOMB

Nine Tenements and Three Stores Blown Up in Montreal.

MISCREANTS ARE KILLED

A Dozen Occupants of the Buildings Have Been Injured as the Result of an Explosion in Frontenac Street—Witness Saw Two Foreigners Place Bomb—Body of One Is Still Missing.

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—Two men who are believed to have blown up a block of nine tenements and three stores in Frontenac street, about six o'clock last night with a bomb, met death in the ruins of the explosion, in which a dozen others were injured, according to the information that Inspector McLaughlin gathered last night in an investigation that he started at the Frontenac street police station, following the explosion.

The body of one of the men believed to have thrown the bomb is thought to be in the ruins, while that of the other is in the morgue. Paul Belanger and Joseph Lefreniere, who say they were passing up Frontenac street at the time of the explosion, told Inspector McLaughlin that they had seen two men who looked like foreigners, carry a big, round, black object into one of the doorways of the block of tenements in which the explosion occurred, at the moment they deposited it on the stairway there was a loud explosion, and the entire block appeared to rise from the ground. They both said that one of the men they had seen carry the object into the doorway, was hurled back on the sidewalk, but the other man did not appear and must have been buried in the ruins.

The two young men were detained as witnesses for the coroner's inquest that will be held.

The explosion occurred while the majority of nine families and their boarders, who occupied the premises, mostly Russians, were at supper. The interior of the building was wrecked from cellar to roof, and how anyone who was inside escaped is a miracle. The explosion not only shattered the block of nine tenements, but it smashed the windows in houses on both sides of the street for some distance.

So far as the police were able to learn last night from the Russians who occupied the tenements in the buildings, none of those who resided in the building were missing.

The police were of the opinion that if there was a body in the ruins it was that of one of the men who are said to have deposited what was evidently a bomb in one of the hallways of the building.

Many of the occupants of the tenements of the house were blown through the windows by the force of the explosion.

So far as can be learned there are two men dead, two women supposed to be dying, one man in a critical condition, four men in hospitals with good chance of recovery, four known persons whose injuries were not severe and probably half a dozen persons more or less injured who were not taken to any hospital.

Late last night the police came to the conclusion that only one body was in the ruins, that of the unidentified second boom-thrower, because the search for bodies was discontinued.

The dead man in the morgue is thought to have been an Austrian, and meant to have caused the death of the occupants of the building because they were Russians. There are Austrians and Germans living in the vicinity of Frontenac and Ontario streets, where the explosion took place.

HE ALWAYS RETIRES.

Von Kluk's Attacks Are All Parts of a Strategic Retreat.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Daily Telegraph publishes the following from W. T. Massey, its correspondent in Northern France. The British army is going ahead steadily, persistently, and irresistibly. Nothing can stop it. Gen. Von Kluk's pretence of getting to the sea is shattered, and probably he would want half a million men to reinforce him before he made another attempt. He is still trying a make-believe game, and wishes the allies to understand his objective is one, or may be two, French seaports, but all the time he is making his attacks, and they end in strategic movements to the rear.

News from the districts which are extremely important supplements what has been told in the official communiques. It is consistently good. Some of our lines are just where they were Monday. They could have been pushed farther east and north-east, but there were sufficient reasons why they should remain stationary.

Germans Admit Terrible Losses.

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 21.—The latest lists of casualties published in the German papers clearly indicate that the claims of the British and French troops to have wiped out whole battalions are absolutely true. Reserve infantry regiment No. 17 lost in one battalion 800 men wounded, apart from the dead, and in another battalion of the same regiment 740 were killed at the battle of the Marne.

Jibuti Under Fire.

ROME, Oct. 21.—The port of Jibuti, in British Somaliland, has been under fire from a German cruiser, causing considerable damage to the terminal buildings of the Addis Abebe Railway. Jibuti is located near the entrance to the Red Sea, opposite Aden.

AN ECONOMIC CIRCLE.

The business of buying goods made in Canada is not a problem.

Its a program of "You keep factories open and I'll keep my wages circulating in Canada for the benefit of both."

The wages of Canada are spent in Canada; three hundred millions a year. Deplete that wage total spent in Canadian stores for the upkeep of Canadian homes, and you strike an ax at the root of business.

Your dollar spent for goods made in Canada keeps the factory open, pays the interest paid on investments, pays the factory wages, keeps the banks doing business, and the stores of Canada.

Germans Forced to Retire Two to Five Miles All Along River.

ENVELOPING CROWN PRINCE

Position of Frederick William at St. Mihiel Grows Worse From Day to Day and Furious Assaults Are Made to Eristrate Him—Big Forces of Troops at Arras Foreshadow Decisive Battle.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Belgian army yesterday made good its excellent beginning against the German advance toward Dunkirk and the other French channel ports.

Ypres was again the centre of desperate fighting, French and British troops gaining strategic positions of value and mastering strongholds.

Along the battle line from Arras to the coast heavy reinforcements are concentrating on both sides and it seems probable that a decisive engagement will take place here between formidable forces.

It was reported from several sources yesterday that a British maritime force landed at Ostend and drove the small German garrison from that port.

The last definite statement of the position of the Belgian forces places them in a position to resist the German advance to the west of Courtrai and but a short distance from Ostend.

Out of the mass of conflicting messages it is clear that the Germans in Belgium are attempting two major operations, first, to cut through the Belgians between Nieuport and Dixmude, and second, to throw back the Franco-British army around Arras.

The statement made Monday that Lille had been retaken by the allies proves premature.

In distinction to the success of the German advance, the progress made by their foes to the west of that point. Here the allied troops have driven the Germans backward and Lille now stands well forward in territory held by French and British forces.

This is also true of St. Mihiel, held by the crown prince, now the most southerly position of the Germans. It is regarded as one of the most surprising developments of the war that Frederick William has taken to himself at St. Mihiel, with the French winning on both sides of the town.

North of Zagry, on the road to Metz, the Germans yesterday combated the French most savagely. The loss of the Kaiser is seen in the increased resistance in this vicinity. He has evidently taken alarm at the close approach of the republic's army to that strong fortress.

On the centre the situation remains in statu quo, but the French and German lines having been weakened until artillery play is practically the only activity.

ROME, Oct. 21.—Austrian losses in action on Oct. 20. Russian and allied forces were estimated approximately at: Officers, 435 killed and 1,539 wounded; men, 4,334 killed and 23,272 wounded; total killed, 4,769; wounded, 24,811.

Only eight officers and 132 men, it was stated, were missing, and the numbers who have been taken prisoners are not given.

ENEMY SHORTEN ITS LINE

They Are Trying to Rest Their Right Wing Further West Along the English Channel, But Without Much Success—After Long Battle for Point of Vantage French Destroy Whole Battalions.

FROM THE BATTLEFRONT, Oct. 21.—(Via Paris.)—The German invaders in their efforts to shorten their lines and rest their right wing further southward upon the English Channel are meeting with a vigorous offensive by the allies.

French marines on Monday put forth a fine effort against the Germans. The troops of Emperor William had tried a surprise attack on the marines Sunday, but they had held the field works against superior numbers.

A thick fog covered the entire region Monday, and the marines accustomed to such weather conditions, crept toward the German trenches. "No shooting," was the order; "use the bayonet."

The marines got within thirty feet of the trenches before they were seen. It was too late for the defenders, who were bayoneted in the trenches and beyond the trenches as they ran.

One of the places where the French had been most harassed is near the elbow of the western line. The important position there had been taken and retaken frequently during the last three weeks.

The French took the position for ten hours. The came a block of the human battering ram, and the French gradually gave way.

Impurities of the Blood Counteracted.—Impurities in the blood caused by defects in the action of the liver. They are revealed by pimples and unsightly blotches on the skin. They must be treated inwardly, and for this purpose there is no more effective compound to be used than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They act directly on the liver and by setting up healthy processes in the liver, they act upon the blood, so that impurities are thus removed, and the blood is thus made pure.

MOTOR BOAT TOOK FIRE

(From Monday's Daily.) A sensational motor boat blaze on the Bay of Quinte on Sunday afternoon was the experience which Mr. Robert Sills and Mr. W. W. Dobbie had near Sills Island about three and a half miles down from the city. They left the harbor at four o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Lafala, a boat belonging to Mr. Sills and containing a 12 H. P. engine. When they were in mid-channel about five o'clock the engine "backfired" and the boat took fire in the vicinity of the engine. Fortunately the fire did not spread rapidly. Messrs. J. Shea, B. J. Black and H. McQuay were on the boat at the time in a motor boat and acted in the rescue. Messrs. Sills and Dobbie were taken out of the boat and as there seemed no danger of gas explosion as Mr. Sills had cut off the supply, they returned and put out the fire with some buckets of water, but not before a large part of the side near the engine had been burned. After the blaze was out, Messrs. Sills and Dobbie reentered the Lafala and she was towed by Messrs. Black and Shea in their motor boat. When it was approaching the hospital it began to get full of water and when the occupants climbed out, it was just level with the surface of the water. There it was left. Whether or not it sank is not known, but the spot is located. Considerable damage evidently resulted to the engine. There is some insurance on the craft. Luckily the boat was clean and had no gasoline floating around in the bottom.

BRIGHT, HEALTHY ATTRACTIVE GIRLS

This Condition Can Only be Maintained Through Rich, Red Blood.

It makes all the difference in the world to a girl whether she develops into a bright, healthy, attractive woman or sinks into a sickly, unhappy, suffering semi-invalid. The girl whose blood is poor and scanty—who is anaemic as the doctor terms it—starts life under the most disadvantageous conditions and more frail than her companions who have rich, red blood. She is more easily fatigued in body and mind, and work of any kind exhausts her in time her health breaks down. She becomes pale, looks worn out, is languid, irritable and nervous. Her heart palpitates violently at the least exertion, and she falls behind other girls in joyous life. Accurate, rich, red blood is the only thing that can restore good health to the many thousands of such girls. This rich red blood can only be obtained through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have given thousands of weak, white-faced, bloodless girls, robust, vigorous, health and high spirits. Here is a bit of proof. Miss Olive Gauvain, St. Jerome, Que., says: "I have reason to be more than grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they restored me to health after more than one doctor and many medicines had failed. I suffered as many girls do from anaemia. I was all run down, tortured with headaches, could not stand any exertion, and had no appetite, though of course I had to force myself to eat. I was in this condition for nearly two years, and though doctoring continually, seemed to be steadily growing worse, and I was very much discouraged and despondent. Finally a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I discontinued all other medicines and did so. In the course of a few weeks there was no room to doubt that I had last found the right medicine. My appetite returned, the headaches began to come less frequently, and color was returning to my face. The continued use of the Pills for a little longer fully restored my health, and I have since continued with active as anyone could wish. I cannot too strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to other weak and ailing girls."

You can get these Pills through your medicine dealer or by mail post paid at 50 cents or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. All that was metal of the late Miss Cadman was laid to rest on Saturday afternoon in Belleville cemetery, the Rev. R. C. Blagrove, officiating. There was a large attendance and many beautiful flowers marked the public's attention. The bearers were Messrs. H. Ashley, J. H. Murdock, A. Sills, Geo. Sills, N. Shorey and T. J. McCready.

Doing Their Duty. Bishop Fidwell who occupied the pulpit at Christ Church yesterday has a brother second in command in one of the Indian regiments now in France. He has already lost a cousin on the battle-field and has two nephews in active service. It is also of interest to note that Capt. Abell who is to command F. company of the Canadian contingent which company includes the boys from our own Fifteenth regiment was a pupil under the tutorage of Bishop Bidwell years ago in England.

C., left for Chicago, Sat. afternoon where he will spend a few days on business. Mary Agnes, aged two years and six months, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Argent, passed away yesterday. Tickell and Sons' undertaking rooms, Front St. The body was accompanied by the husband, two sons, R. C. and Alex. Hay, and two daughters, Grace and Maggie, all of Wolsley. This morning the Rev. A. S. SUNDAY BUSY AT SALISBURY

LONDON, Oct. 19. — Sunday has been anything but a day of rest on Salisbury Plains. The camp begins to wear the aspect of great liveliness. The weather has been rather chilly all day. There has been no rain, thanks to its situation, though even weeks of downpour would not render the camp permanently uncomfortable. The general health among the contingent is excellent. A few minor casualties have been reported, chiefly among the men handling horses. The steeds were all tethered in the open and badly needed grooming. Veterinary department is working smoothly, the men having a ample supply of wholesome food and comfortable bedding. The Sunday papers contained many appreciative references to the arrival of the Canadians as well as photographs, though the photographer who has been rather lean time among the Canadians who ventures near the dock approaches has about as short a life as a rat in a crowd of soldiers. A small regiment of camera men has journeyed especially to Plymouth, eager to fix the first Canadian to set ashore, but all such hopes were dashed by policemen imprudently supported by the inextinguishable press representatives of every kind, despite the official intimation that descriptive accounts of the landing of the Canadians would be welcomed. The Weekly Dispatch, cartoonist has a happy effort yesterday depicting Germany and Austria as babies in the woods with the Canadian soldier in bringing a maple leaf to assist at their burial. One Sunday paper writer observes: "When the troops were landed, one of the things that struck the onlooker was the freedom of good fellowship among them. On the shore the officers and men fraternised, and some were seen arm in arm, but when on duty the discipline is of the strictest kind."

KIDNEY DISEASE IN EVERY SYMPTOM

Why Mrs. Mark Found Quick Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills. New Brunswick Lady who Suffered for Six Years Tells How She Found Relief. Misson Harbor, Gloucester Co., N.E. Oct. 19 (Special).—"For some five or six years I was troubled with backache. I tried many tonics, but kept growing steadily worse, until I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. They gave me almost immediate relief." This is the statement of Mrs. A. Mark, well-known and highly respected here. Asked to give more particulars in regard to her case, Mrs. Mark said: "My trouble started with a cold, and gradually grew worse. I had stiffness in my joints and cramps in my muscles and suffered from neuralgia. I had heart flutterings and headaches, my sleep was broken and unrefreshing and I was always tired and nervous. I had dark circles under my eyes, I was irritable and often dizzy and had a bitter taste in my mouth all the morning. I also had attacks of rheumatism. "It just took three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills to fix me up." Every symptom Mrs. Mark mentions spells kidney disease. That's why she found such quick relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

An Oil That is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here the good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and demand.

THE EMPIRE'S GUARD.

An original poem written for The Ontario, by J. H. Kennedy, Allisonville, upon the departure of the Canadian first contingent for active service.

To every honest Briton there's a nation's guarantee And of equal rights his sons are all assured, And the guarantee grows stronger as they rally round the flag; No soldier very has a Briton yet endured.

Now they're standing at the ready though the foemen's arm be strong, And they're standing at the ready over the sea To defend the noble flag that has stood a thousand years The emblem of our country's liberty.

If their loyalty be doubted in the rush for worldly gain Though to tread the martial road be sometimes hard, When the danger hour has come see them swiftly falling in How they swell an honored Empire's mighty guard.

Then shame upon the traitor who would seek to hoard his gold Or selfish seek advantage from the war One drop of British blood in the struggle at the front Is worth a troop of misers with their store.

NEW MOUTH FOR DRAIN.

The public works department is engaged at present in closing the gaping and noisome mouth of the Catherine street drain where it empties into the river at the footbridge. The stone has been cut away in the river bank beneath the outlet and a huge pipe is being put in and concrete work built to the top of the drain. The purpose is to shut off the foul odors in summer and protect the piping in winter and spring from the ice.

ATTACK ON HEALEY FALLS.

It is currently reported about the streets of our quiet town that a threatened attack on the works at Healey Falls was hipped in the bud by an alert guide. The worst feature of the case is that boasted patriots were the attackers.—Havelock Standard.

VICTIMISING PEOPLE.

Chas. Ross and Wm. Barr were sentenced to thirty days in jail for victimising people, among whom was Mr. B. Smith of town, by their short change methods. The prisoners are brothers and belong to a respectable family in Rochester. Mr. Smith got the money he lost in Peterboro.—Havelock Standard.

TURNER SETTLEMENT.

HIS HEALTH IN A TERRIBLE STATE

"Fruit-a-tives" Healed His Kidneys and Cured Him

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., Aug. 26th, 1913. "About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys were not doing their work and I was all run down in condition. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised, I decided to try them. Their effect, I found more than satisfactory. Their action was mild and the result all that could be expected. My kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old-time vitality. Today, I am enjoying the best health I have ever had."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

A study for teachers, lawyers, doctors and educationalists. "Is Canada for Canadians," answered and awaiting explanation. Is Ontario an asylum for quacks of delusive medical cult?

Nearly one-half a century ago the writer of this, having had an experience as MASTER of three Prince Edward Co. village and country schools, and as Master or Principal of one of the public schools of the City of Ottumwa county of wapello, Iowa, attended his first meeting at Eddyville, Iowa, said meeting being a TEACHERS' INSTITUTE at which every public school teacher of the county was present.

"This Institute which lasted one whole week, each teacher was billeted, and his time at the meeting was allowed as if engaged in teaching. To be brief I may state that at that time our Canadian Common schools then as at this date, were supposed to be in advance of the same schools in the eastern, but more so, even superior to those of the western states.

Not so, as we are told, as MASTER of the Ottumwa, Iowa, Montgomery village, Illinois and the Millersburg village, Pennsylvania schools taught me much that our Ontario Common schools were not as really as our Province believed. And I say here that having had an acquaintance with the teaching at the first school at Aurora, Illinois, and since, with one of the very best High Schools in the world, I am of the opinion we are not so much "it," as we blindly think we are.

Not only at this, my first Institute was the public school teachers of the county present, but several of our eminent professors from the State University and Colleges and High schools were with us for the whole week.

Each day's session embraced the hours of the ordinary school. One hour was taken up with the presentation and discussion of a school interest, and in to discussions, professors and the humblest teachers freely argued, and gave their views. Every evening, from 8 until 10.30 p.m. at the town hall, all teachers and a fine representation of the citizens were present.

Brief addresses, dialogues, music, by first class local, and other talent, the town's orchestra, in fine, a varied and charming selection of entertainments etc. found much attraction to teachers and town's people.

On Friday evening, the closing of our Institute, we were given a most gorgeous reception or farewell by the town council and citizens. This farewell consisted of an elaborate dinner of several courses, brief addresses and entertainments of a most delightful character, men, distinguished teachers, State singers, readers and entertainers did their best to please; instruct and honor us.

And to do further honor to us—or to notify everyone of us, the string band, or orchestra of Des Moines was present and it is needless to state the dancing was prolonged until 3 a.m. and was indeed, pleasing sight to see old Joe Johnston, L. D. (High mathematics, State University) as he carried the brilliant, Venus like, charming Miss Lizzie Browning of the Sugar Creek school, through the Fremont's reel and the Circassian circle, while I, the writer of this selected the spotless Miss Fryall B.A. (Harvard) Teacher of Science, at Oaklons Academy as my partner in Sir Roger de Coverley. The hostess, that my paper callar and dicker nearly melted that night, is not cheering at this date—and ever since, when seeing or eating an onion, I think of Miss Fryall B. A. her mummy, serene face, her thoracic fitness, her fine dancing qualification and her withered smiles.—No! Miss E. Gladys Frylls B. A. (Howard) I'll not forget you—especially your breath and your radiant complexion. XET SCIROH in those days had no talcum perfumed powder—Altho' in North Hills—there were fons of talc. Anyway as old Josh Hopkins, Editor of the Willow Creek Gazette often used to say "A lovely time was had" I endorse his wise judgment and remark.

to a [H] S. attorney? Not Home inducement and interests compelled A. H.—the brilliant and scholarly barrister to return to Toronto, where in his office. Adelaide, in 1875 I last met him—and he, the Ex-Common school teacher, became the author of a law book on Admiralty proceedings, which is today an authority and is found in every lawyer's office in Canada.

"I am not married and probably never will be," said A. H. "and I never forgot Miss Lizzie Browning, teacher of the Sugar Creek school, in fact, old friend I was over to Iowa, some several years ago and from reports I learned she had married a fellow from Missouri, and was assisting her husband in holding down a Lomestead in Western Nebraska.

"This year since last we met and we never will meet again, yet her bright smile haunts me still—and ever will haunt me," said A. H. "A. H. is dead—died in 1912—and I have learned that he never forgot the Sugar Creek school's main Reader. I could fill this page with further description of romance connected with the life of A. H. and the particulars of the INSTITUTE meeting. Several pupils of his and mine became senators, doctors, lawyers etc. He and I agreed that there was no superior education in school teaching—especially by men and this view, advocated later by D. MacPhail, Montreal, is more than ever confirmed and believed by men, and all educationalists. I may state that to and from the town in which this institute was held, each teacher was given a free rail-road ticket and five dollars as a retainer or as a "good wish," but no teacher paid any board; for we were, as I stated, directed to free lodgings and board among the very best people of the town.

I have named Miss Frylls B. A. (Harvard or State University) — of Oaklons Academy, but she is no more on earth. Shakespeare's words, "Lay these art the smallest that we have on earth, if thou shouldst die and leave the world no copy of thyself," never applied to her and my opinion, in fact, believe is that her remains are being interred at that of some Egyptian Princess mummy in the reign of Sesostris or before Romulus and Remus had been suckled, or the Memoriam was in all its glory.—for some College Museum or antiquities.

My first Institute was held at a college which at that time was very much honored, but of late years it has been giving university degrees as M. A., Ph. D., D. D., etc., in many professions, through the influence of a certain Ph. D. therefore it is no wonder that Central of Indiana, and National University, Chicago have given us so many REVISED DOCTORS and others who attach B.A., and M.A. even "Doctor" to their names—even if the United States' mail service interfering with high diploma titles, considering that "FRAUDULENT" and dishonouring to her State Universities and Colleges. Are not the holders of such easily-obtained degrees to be lawfully designated as FRAUDS, even if their diplomas are so neatly and so artfully heralded then?

In those early years—in the sixties—which I have named, many medical students, who held Ontario teachers' certificates, secured schools in the Western States, for the salaries there were a double of those in our Province—and as we were welcomed, many went to secure the means to pay for their medical course, and I trustfully state that many of these were becoming M. D.'s—finally settled in the Western States. I was one. This truth well illustrates the falsity of the statement—"Canada is for Canadians" and even at this date an Ontario teacher would have more trouble to secure a recognition of his certificate in a sister Province than in any state.

As regards to Medicine, it may be well to mention that in consequence of its course of five years' study—and more than $100 to secure our Provincial license, but few public school male teachers, are enabled to bear the expenses in order to secure the honorable degree of M. D.

Suppose the young Ontario M.D. a Licentiate of our Province wishes to locate in any one of our Provinces, especially one in the west, he would have to pass an examination and pay $100 or more for the license, and if he pass the Dominion Medical Board—cost $100—he must have a Provincial license as qualification besides his degree—but if he has only M. D. and obtains the Dominion license, he can become an Ontario licentiate by paying the Government. If an M.D.—an Ontario licentiate wishes to practice in any one of our Provinces, he must pass Dominion Medical Council, if he has had ten years' practice. Examination is not required, but in this as in the first mentioned condition, the $100 must be paid—and when obtained, another Province may require an examination and high registration fees. No one state sets up so great an obstacle to medical license to Ontario doctors than any one of our Provinces. So Canada for Canadians? Not bad to be born in, but a hard place to be allowed to live in and secure medical license.

Lawyers, Dentists and Pharmacists have many and equal difficulties to surmount, when seeking licenses in other Provinces, and no wonder exists that so many doctors, lawyers etc., seek homes in the U. S. where distressed to better their financial or other interests.

"Is Canada for Canadians" when such conditions exist, or when a young M. D. Toronto or Queen's University, not holding license of the Coll. Phys. Surg. Ontario is liable to arrest and imprisonment for practicing Medicine—when a Chiropactor or Osteopath, M.D.—or Christian Scientist, self educated and assumed

WORLD DID NOT COME TO AN END ON SUNDAY

Though Many Predicted That October 18th Would See the Finish of Things Mundane—Rev. W. G. Clarke Speaks on Religious Illusions.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather of a large congregation assembled at the Tabernacle, on Sunday night, to hear the answer given by the pastor, Rev. W. G. Clarke, to the question "Is the world coming to an end today, October 18th."

The text chosen was the closing verse of the Parable of the ten Virgins. "Watch therefore for ye know whether the day nor the hour." Matt. 25-13.

An air of expectancy pervades this whole parable. It all looks forward. The desire to know the future is natural. Some people make a living by capitalizing that desire at 50 cts. per. All of us are more or less concerned about the future.

Many Bible students believe that God's Word contains an exact description of things to come. Especially in Daniel and Revelation and in regard to the exact time of the Second Coming of Christ.

The decade 1910 to 1920 became the accepted period with some with-in which time Christ should come. As the decade advanced the very year 1914 was claimed as the year.

The first half of 1914 passed, and the desolating and all, but universal war began in Europe. At once these teachers seized on this satisfactory fulfilment as the Aragogodon that should usher in the end of the age.

The very day was named, viz. the 18th October. And now the 18th of October is here. Nineteen of its 24 golden hours have and still others are not. Not if this text speaks truth that we know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh.

But he is not deceived in saying "My Lord delayeth his coming." He may come to you or to me before the quickly speeding hours of this 18th October have run their course. "Be ye also ready."

RELICS OF WATERLOO.

Interesting Collection of British and Canadian Arms of One Century Ago.

A drum that reverberated across the smoky and bloody field of Waterloo is still capable of its martial beat in Belleville today. Over ninety-nine years ago on June 18th, 1815, this instrument played no mean part in the defeat of Napoleon. Today that drum is owned in this city by a citizen who treasures it above price, but does not desire the name made public.

The exhibits include two pistols, a brass model of a cannon, a musket and bayonet, a cannon ball, and a pistol of American Civil War fame. The authentic relic is believed to be an authentic relic of the battle of Chryler's Farm, Nov. 11th, 1813, during the war of 1812.

An interesting study is the old musket which is known to have been used at Chryler's Farm. On the butt is the date of issue 1805. "Tower" was its manufacturer. The gun is in an excellent state of preservation and is equipped with the old triangular bayonet, which was twisted on the end of the gun barrel. Needless to say it is a heavy long weapon with a huge bore.

The collection is a side by side made in "Midtown Corn. 1850," which passed through the American Civil War. Another specimen is a model of an improvement on the muzzle loading cannon of the old days. This was made by a captain in Kingston and presented to a resident of Belleville. It must be over eighty years of age.

Mr. McCorkell while showing the collection remarked how, in the death dealing arms of warfare humanity has made greater progress in the last hundred years than in almost any other line of effort. Point was lent to this contention by the sight of the firearms of one hundred years ago, on which the destiny of Empires such as Britain, France, Germany and Russia, were decided but which today would be useless against the modern scientific firearms.

Mr. Bleeker says "These weapons have defended your country in the past. Now fortify yourselves with goods made in Canada."

FALL IN.

Since the commencement of the war there has been a very general and serious criticism of the Fifteenth and other regiments of the Canadian militia, because the officers and members have not come forward in greater numbers to volunteer for foreign service. Our own impression is that the fault-finding has been overworked. Its tendency is mischievous, and to many honorable and courageous men in the ranks it is certain that grave injustice has been done.

There are cowards, and men who lack patriotism, unquestionably, whose names are enrolled with our militia. There is also probably quite as high a proportion of cowards among those who have never fired a Ross rifle or donned a uniform.

o o o o

This question of volunteering is one that every Canadian must answer for himself. It is different in France, Germany, or Russia. In those countries the government does the answering without consulting the individual.

For the first contingent a call was issued for 22,500 men and the response came that nearly double that number were ready to go. In fact we heard Col. Hughes state in Toronto early in September that the number who had volunteered amounted to 200,000. The Colonel has the habit of talking in big figures, but there is no doubt that there was a gratifying answer to the first request for men willing to go to the battle-front. Belleville and Hastings county between them contributed two hundred and seventy members to the force assembled at Valcartier—a considerably greater proportion than was sent by the remainder of the dominion.

Much of the criticism we have heard is misdirected. It blames the local regiments for faults that exist much higher up in the department.

This war has proved conclusively that our militia system is nothing but a joke. Last year we spent upon it over fourteen million dollars and what have we to show for our money?—a few armoury buildings at Hardscrabble Hollow and similar centers, and sixty-five thousand red-coated men, about eighty per cent of whom couldn't hit the side of a barn at two hundred yards. To get men to fight our battles we have gone to the plough and behind the counter, and secured raw volunteers, who never were inside a uniform, and who couldn't tell the difference between open formation and a hollow square.

It doesn't require any profound knowledge of military tactics to ascertain the fact that a defence system that costs fourteen million long green hard-earned dollars per annum, and then tells us to look for defence outside the system is a crazy delusion and a criminal waste.

Are we asking too much when we state that fourteen million dollars properly spent should have given us at least a small army ready to take the field at twenty-four hours' notice? Should not that amount have produced a militia force the members of which at least would understand the mechanism of a service rifle and have a fair degree of accuracy in shooting? Showy dress uniforms, mechanical precision in the line of parade, and ability to play a good game of whist are all well in their place, but they count for precious little on a modern battlefield.

We are all immensely well pleased with ourselves here in Canada. Only ten weeks have elapsed since the declaration of war and we have landed 33,000 men in England who are to go through a thorough course of training and then proceed to the real business of war! If our men had won a decisive battle against the Germans we could scarcely have done more crowing than we have about this colossal accomplishment.

Rev. A. R. Sanderson stated in a sermon last Sunday night that he hoped to see Canada sending from 350,000 to 400,000 men to fight the Empire's battles. That seems like a pretty large order, but is it as big as it looks? Britain has issued a call for one million volunteers in addition to her regular army and the 150,000 in her navy. If Canada were to undertake as much the call would already have been issued for 250,000. Grasp that idea before you do any more crowing about what Canada has now done.

o o o o

We have at the end of ten weeks

sent 33,000 men to England for further training and our minister of militia has also gone over to inform them about the amazing efficiency of his department. A further contingent of 22,000 men will be called for in a few days, and will be ready to take the field—some time.

Will there be 22,000 more to volunteer? Unquestionably. We have not the slightest hesitation in stating that the number will be greatly exceeded and that there will be a greater proportion of Canadian-born than in the first contingent.

Let us not therefore make charges of cowardice and lack of patriotism against our young men until we find that those who are in a position to respond do not answer the call.

And even then, consider the fact that Canada is a non-military nation, that we have enjoyed peace within our confines for one hundred years, that we are far removed from the scene of strife and it takes time for the sense of danger to our national well-being and ideals to "soak in."

o o o o

The Ontario will not be numbered among those who assume to believe that the young men of Canada, of Belleville, are less valiant and loyal than the conscript hirelings of Europe.

If only our government and the militia department will awaken to the fact that the Empire is at war, and that Canada should if necessary pledge her last man and her last dollar, we have no doubt about the magnificence of the response that would be made.

Instead of that the minister of militia races off to England, there is a lackadaisical shuffling and pretending in the militia department, and Bob Rogers tries to divert our energies and attention from this cruel war to the pleasantry of a general election.

Give our young men, and especially our young militia-men, a chance before we condemn them as cravens and poltroons.

o o o o

In the meantime we will close this somewhat rambling dissertation by quoting a poem by Harold Begbie, "Fall In," which we regard as one of the few good poems that have appeared since the beginning of the war:—

What will you lack, sonny, what will you lack
When the girls line up the street,
Shouting their love to the lads come back
From the foe they rushed to beat?
Will you send a strangled cheer to the sky
And grin till your cheeks are red?
But what will you lack when your mate goes by
With the girl who cuts you dead?

Where will you look, sonny, where will you look
When your children yet to be Clamor to learn of the part you took
In the war that kept them free?

Will you say it was naught to you if France
Stood up to her foe or bunked?
But where will you look when they give the glance
That tells you they know you funk'd?

How will you fare, sonny, how will you fare
In that far-off Winter night,
When you sit by the fire in an old man's chair
And your neighbours talk of the fight?
Will you slink away, as it were from a blow,
Your old head shamed and bent?
Or say—I was not with the first to go,
But I went, thank God, I went?

Why do they call, sonny, why do they call
For men who are brave and strong?
Is it naught to you if your country fall,
And Right is smashed by wrong?
Is it football still and the picture show,
The pub and the betting odds,
When your brothers stand to the tyrant's blow
And England's call is God's?

"MADE-IN-GERMANY."

It is to be feared that a grave injustice is going to be done some of our Belleville merchants by this agitation against "Made-in-Germany" goods. The intentions of those who are back of the movement are patriotic enough, but in its practical working out it is possible that it may inflict greater injury upon our own citizens than upon the enemy.

McIntosh Brothers, Mr. Sulman and other Belleville merchants have in stock thousands of dollars worth of goods that were "Made-in-Germany" and carry a label giving witness to that fact. These goods were purchased before war was thought of, in the regular course of trade.

It is easy to advise the gentlemen concerned to remove the label, but in many cases the fatal words are stamped in metal or enamelled in such a way as to make removal impossible without damage to the goods. What are these merchants to do with such stocks in order to remove the curse?

If you examine the lead pencil you are using you will probably find the words stamped upon it, "Made-in-Bavaria" or "Made-in-Germany."

In certain lines of trade such as toys and pencils and other small wares, Germany has pretty nearly monopolized the trade of the world. We cannot expect our merchants to destroy their stocks of such goods even though we are at war. The government has asked them as well as all citizens of the Empire to refrain from trading with Germany during the continuance of the war. There is no doubt that all will refrain from assisting the enemy by refusing to send them business either directly or indirectly while the war lasts. It would be difficult to do anything else, even if a merchant were inclined to do otherwise for his own profit. Trading with Germany just now would be a difficult and roundabout process.

Let us be patriotic, but at the same time let us be sensible. We can at least trust our local business men's honor far enough to know that any goods they may have of German-made origin were secured before the declaration of war. There should be no more hesitation in buying such goods now than six months ago.

We do not advocate the buying of German goods to the exclusion of our own. As far as may be, let your purchases in war time be such as will give employment to Canadian or British workmen. But at the same time we must recognize the fact that there was a very great commerce between Great Britain and Germany before the war began, and, abhorrent as we may think it, there will be a great commerce between Great Britain and Germany after the war is ended.

Such an outcome is inevitable in the community of nations. No country can live entirely to itself; Austria makes better hats, Bavaria better lead pencils, Germany better aniline dyes, England better tweeds, and Canada better flour, than all the world beside.

Non-intercourse during war is all right, but after hostilities are at an end, nature will reassert herself and commerce will be restored to natural channels. At the same time "Canada First" and "Britain First" are good mottoes either in war or peace. In the past these mottoes could have been acted upon to a far greater extent and more to our own advantage than has been the case.

In Great Britain we understand that the government has provided a stamp to be placed upon such German-made goods as were in stock there before the war. It is hard to see how such a scheme could be practically worked out. But perhaps something of the kind might be done here. In the meantime we will be quite safe in trusting to the integrity and loyalty of any merchant who may have such goods in stock.

LOYAL RAWDON.

For a plain practical demonstration of patriotism we must all take our hats off to Rawdon township. A month ago they held a public meeting at Harold and in a few minutes secured subscriptions amounting to $320 for the Patriotic fund. Not satisfied with this they appointed canvassers to work through the various school sections and the report of their work is given in detail in the last edition of the Stirling Leader. Here are the totals reported:—

School Section No. 3	$161.00
" " " 5	120.00
" " " 8	170.00
" " " 12	60.50

All of this makes a further total of $502. Then as if this were not enough two cars of provisions and supplies were loaded at Central Ontario Junction and another car at Stirling to be forwarded to the Belgians. A very large part of the goods in those cars was supplied by the loyal people of Rawdon. In addition to all this the dairymen contributed a day's make of cheese from the various cheese factories. And Rawdon is not understood to be peopled by millionaires. No subscription exceeded ten dollars. But Rawdon is peopled by something better—patriots, by those who believe in deeds rather than words.

HURT HIS DIGNITY.

It may not be true, but chances are that it is, for there are few travelled people who have not met this particular type of Englishman or who have not listened with more or less amusement to his "grouching" even in piping times of peace.

According to the London correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star, this particular sample of the type had motored from the city to Dovercourt, close to the Harwick naval base, for an outing, and was returning after dark when he was ordered to halt by a sentry. He tells the story himself in the following picturesque language:

"This is England, you know, so I just waved the beggar that it was all right and drove on. What do you think the swine did? He shot my tires, sir! Shot my tires and I almost went into the ditch. Then he came running up and threatened to stick his bayonet through me, and insisted on seeing all sorts of papers before he was convinced that I wasn't a blooming German spy. Might as well be in Russia. I wrote to Kitchener and to the Times, but Kitchener hasn't had the civility to reply and the Times hasn't published my letter. I don't know what the country is coming to when an Englishman cannot motor about in his own country without having his tires ruined by the territorials."

The incident is worth while as demonstrating beyond all question that Great Britain is really awake, and that no longer is any attention being paid to the smug, self-complacent element, which, most likely, would object to being made to suffer personal inconvenience even though the Germans were landing on the shores of the Island Kingdom. It is high time gentlemen of this breed got their bumps.

The British Consul General in New York the other day declined a gift of fine white linen handkerchiefs which was proffered for the use of the soldiers at the front, on the ground that British soldiers are not allowed to carry white handkerchiefs, "because an enemy, seeing them, might mistake them for a signal of truce or surrender." And when British soldiers fight there is no surrender.

Mr. F. H. McGuigan, formerly of the Grand Trunk system, proposes that fifteen thousand trench diggers be sent from Canada to the front. Explaining the matter, Mr. McGuigan said that very little military knowledge would be required, although each man could be given a rifle in order to protect himself in case of a sudden attack, and with motor cars they could be easily moved from the different points along the line of battle. In fact, he says that no equal number of men in the allied armies could ever do as much good as his suggested contingent of trench diggers from Canada.

There will no cessation of the weather. The hardships of the millions of soldiers in the field will be greatly increased and the sick roll of the armies assume alarming proportions. Harshness is the lot of the soldier, but it will be the peasantry and the poor of the cities and towns that will suffer most. When armies pass over a country they strip it bare, and nothing is left in their wake but ruin and desolation. Thousands of the inhabitants are left without shelter and with little food. Winter means terrible privation to these unfortunate people. Food they must have and shelter and fuel, but how can these wants be supplied in the districts ravaged by the war? It is not probable that we will be permitted to learn much of the distress and suffering during the winter. The different governments will conceal the facts as far as possible. Imagination can scarcely picture the conditions that will prevail.

The Monetary Times very sensibly remarks:—

Those who have started the talk of a general election in Canada are poor imitations of good citizens. The British Empire is engaged in the greatest struggle of its history, and the first in which the concentrated labour, energy and sacrifice of its units have been needed. To make political capital of the situation is nasty work. If certain members of the Dominion cabinet want a general election, they should recognize, first, that the people of Canada do not want one. Our citizens could not be enthusiastic in a political fight at home, when such a war rages abroad. About the causes, justice and stakes of that war, all Liberals and Conservatives in Canada are agreed. We may well be content with the leadership of Borden and the loyal assistance of Laurier. There is no need whatever to celebrate the government's policy with a general election. Whichever party had been in power, the same policy would have prevailed in this time of crisis.

THE DESTRUCTION OF SENNACHERIB.

Byron's deathless poem "The Destruction of Sennacherib" has been recalled to the minds of many since the German "wolf" came down on the Belgian "fold." The destruction of this modern Sennacherib has not yet been accomplished, but there is still a God of Battles and Belgium will be avenged.

The Assyrian came down like a wolf on the fold,
And his cohorts were gleaming in purple and gold;
And the sheen of their spears was like stars on the sea,
When the blue wave rolls nightly on deep Galilee.

Like the leaves of the forest when summer is green,
That host with their banners at sunset were seen;
Like the leaves of the forest when autumn hath blown,
That host on the morrow lay withered and strown.

For the angel of Death spread his wings on the blast,
And breathed in the face of the foe as he passed;
And the eyes of the sleepers waxed deadly and chill,
And their hearts but once heaved, and for ever grew still.

And there lay the steed with his nostril all wide,
But through it there rolled not the breath of his pride;
And the foam of his gasping lay white on the turf,
And cold as the spray of the rock-beating surf.

And there lay the rider distorted and pale,
With the dew on his brow, and the rust on his mail;
And the tents were all silent, the banners alone,
The lances unlifted, the trumpet unblown.

And the widows of Ashur are loud in their wail,
And the idols are broke in the temple of Baal;
And the might of the Gentile, unsmote by the sword,
Hath melted like snow in the glance of the Lord!
—Byron.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY SENDS FOOD TO BELGIANS

At Picton on Wednesday a car was loaded with 300 sacks called for by 300 cases of evaporated fruit. This was a first contribution by Prince Edward County council and will be forwarded to Halifax from whence a ship which has been placed at the disposal of the Admiralty will carry it to its destination.

Learning of the arrangements whereby clothing and provisions might be sent direct to the Belgians, Warden Collier, who is at present at Oakville wired Mr. A. P. MacVannell, asking him to confer with the County Councilors with the result that a special meeting was called for Tuesday and arrangements made for despatching the above shipment in time to connect with the steamer at Halifax. The flour was procured from the Glenora Milling Company and from the Bloomfield mill, while the evaporated apples were bought from Mr. Harvey Starks, Cherry Valley, and J. G. Jarvis, Black River Bridge.

Mr. Royal Church and Mr. A. P. MacVannell looked after the details and procured a carload of provisions which will surely be very acceptable to people who have been driven from their homes.—Picton Times.

Last night some 60 boys of the Jr. Dept. of the Y.M.C.A. sat down to a bountiful supper which was provided by the boys' parents. After supper Mr. McBride, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee took the chair and a program of short speeches and music was carried out by Mr. Baldwin sang "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary" and the boys all joined heartily in the chorus. Mr. Bailey, President of the Y.M.C.A. spoke of the Y.M.C.A. as a Christian organization and was listened to with keen attention. Mr. Hess had some good things to say to the workers or employed boy along educational lines. Mr. Simpson spoke about leadership and inspired in the boys a desire to become leaders. Mr. Allison spoke of different activities in the boys' department and especially upon the necessity of a strong clean body, and a right relationship with God. Dr. Kimmell as an ex-physical director in the Y.M.C.A. and in a large normal school in Indiana, encouraged boys not only to be athletes, but above all to be Christian athletes. The juniors have been organized. Four groups with ten boys in a group and three members of the junior leaders corps is in each group. These groups will meet for Bible study once a week and will also compete against each other in athletics and aquatics for badges which will be awarded each month. Duesberry, H. Holland, E. Kember, E. Taylor, A. Boyd, K. VanAllen.

CHOKED TO DEATH ON PIECE OF PORK

Miles Martin, of Yarker, Meets Unusual Death. Shortly before six o'clock last Thursday night Miles Martin, a farmer from Yarker, choked to death on a piece of ham that he was eating. The man entered Beefsteak Jack's restaurant on Brock St. Kingston to partake of some ham and eggs for his evening repast; and a piece of the meat became lodged in his throat with the result that in a few minutes he was dead. He was seen to topple over from his chair by one of the attendants at the eating house and first aid was rendered him but he had passed away before anything could be done for him. The police and Dr. Mundell, coroner, were summoned and the latter deemed it expedient that a post-mortem should be held over the remains to ascertain the cause of death. The remains were removed to R. J. Reid's undertaking parlors and this morning Dr. W. T. Connell of Queen's University performed the post-mortem. The result of the examination was the finding that the deceased came to his death by a piece of ham becoming lodged in his throat, causing almost instant death. The deceased was a man of about fifty years of age and was well-known in this vicinity. He was a frequent visitor to the city and had many friends. Until about a year ago he had a farm in the Wilton district but sold it and went to Yarker where he had taken another. His death came as a great shock to his wife and family who have the sympathy of many in their bereavement.

INGENDIARY FIRES AT BRIGHTON.

The Brighton Ensign says: The burning of four barns within two weeks in this vicinity has aroused considerable suspicion. About one o'clock Monday morning Mr. F. H. Larzer's barn was burned. His tenant, Mr. Frank Murrey, upon discovering the fire made haste to the scene, but the fire had gained such headway that he only managed to save the horses, pigs and some harness. The season's crop was in store, and Mr. Larzer suffered heavy loss as he had only a small amount of insurance. Wednesday night last Mr. Sam Stanton's green-house, on the Lake shore road, was discovered to be on fire, but in time to save the building. Whoever had planned to do the job returned the following night and again set fire to the green-house. This was again discovered and put out before much damage had been done. Failing in both attempts to destroy the green-house the fire-bug tried his arm on the barn about 3 a.m. (Thursday) and succeeded in its destruction. The building was so greatly enveloped in flames when discovered that the rescue of the contents was impossible. The barn contained the season's crop, and Mr. Stanton is a very heavy loser, now having no insurance. Readers will recall that on Friday night, Sept. 25, Mr. John Brown's barn was burned, and on Monday morning, Sept. 28, Mrs. Robert Hewitt's.

FOOTBALL.

Back of the rolling mills is a level stretch of ground that was once a cricket field, but now serves the purpose of a cow pasture and a football field. Here on Saturday afternoon, was played a splendid game of football between the fifty lads from the O.S.D. and a husky eleven collected from the rolling mills and other places too numerous to mention, and chiefly from the rolling mills. The latter boys proved to be good players but, being unfamiliar with one another's play, they lacked combination and the game proved to be a match between a well-practised football team depending much on team play for success, and an eleven composed of good individual players, among whom there was little attempt at combination, and with the usual result — team play won, the deaf boys coming out the victors by 2-0. And there is no getting away from the fact that the deaf lads are a splendid team, and play the game for all that is in them. Every boy on the team seems to know his position and plays it well and seems to know just where there is a team mate to whom to pass the ball. The city boys also put up a good game. Eves and Johnson, at full back did great work, while A. Knott and Grant were, perhaps, the pick of the forward line. Among the deaf boys, where all did so well, it is hard to particularize. One goal was scored in each half. Green got the first on a free kick from out near center field and Martin the second one as a result of a nice rush on goal.

GREAT GROWTH OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

There has been a rapid growth in the Sunday school work of Ontario during the last few years. The number of Sunday schools has increased from 5091. This is not the greatest evidence of growth. It lies in the increased enrollment in the schools, due to the pressing and popularity of the Adult Organized Class Movement, the Gracie Roll and the Home Department. The enrollment in the 5256 schools is 615,541. A careful classification of the counties and cities will be made again this year at London and Kingston (Oct. 27-30 and Nov. 4-6) at the Twin Conventions of the Ontario Sunday School Association. The territory is graded and classified by standards under the headings "Organized above Standard" and "Organized above Standard" and "Banner," besides "dead" territory. T. ce conventions celebrate the 49th annual gathering of the Provincial Association Next year the Golden Jubilee gathering will meet in Toronto in the last week of October.

Fire on Sunday evening about 6.45 destroyed the frame dwelling of Mr. B. A. Sanford on Pinnacle street. The house and most of the contents were burned. The blaze is thought to have originated from an explosion of gas in a stove which soft coal was burning. There was some insurance. Boys and School Property. Two boys from Cannifton were charged by the trustees of the school before Magistrate Masson with trespassing on the school property and doing damage to some books in the school house. The case was up for trial this morning but the parents of the boys, having appealed to the trustees and having paid all costs, the trustees withdrew the charge with the consent of the crown attorney, Mr. P. J. M. Anderson and Mr. W. D. M. Shorey for school trustees. Mr. Cummings of Berlin is in the city.

A CRIME AGAINST CANADA.

The government at Ottawa is still earnestly considering the advisability of precipitating a general election in the immediate future. Canada has about as much need for a dominion election just now as she has for a war with the inhabitants of the planet Jupiter. But Hon. Robert Rogers has formed the notion in that wooden head of his that fighting the German war machine is not trouble enough for the respectable people of this ambitious young country to take on at once—they must also be asked to mobilise against the Rogers election machine.

The Liberal party is represented as grovelling and quaking with craven misgivings. To crush them into innocuous desuetude or some other condition equally awful, would be a cinch, and at the same time a punishment fitting the crime of getting in the way of Kaiser Robert's well oiled roller.

Kaiser Wilhelm miscalculated the opposition of insignificant Belgium, possibly Kaiser Bob underestimates some of the elements of opposition in this Canadian dominion.

In a political sense the Liberal party could ask for no better stroke of fortune than to have an election forced on them at the present time.

An unnecessary election in the midst of this disastrous war would be little short of treason and a crime against Canada.

If Robert Rogers or any other machine politician imagines that the genuinely patriotic people of this dominion would tolerate having the bitterness, the dissension, the disturbance to business of a needless election forced upon them he would find out his error when he came to dig himself out after the polling.

The Liberal party have no fears in regard to the verdict of the people either now or at any time in the future when an election may be called. But there is no doubt that if their opponents were to try now deliberately to disunite this country, at the time of a grave national menace, by bringing on a general election, they would be swept out of office by the greatest majority ever recorded against a party in the history of Canada.

Sir Robert Borden and a number of the respectable Conservative newspapers are, we believe, standing out against this criminal and insane proposal. But Hon. Robert Rogers is obsessed with the idea that there never will be so opportune a time to flap the flag and shout himself back into office as during the stress of war. The flag did wonders for the Grand Old Party and was officially adopted as the trademark of the machine in 1911. "Patriots" of the type of Honorable Robert can fool some of the people all the time by perfervid flag-flapping. But the great majority of the population of Canada regard this war as altogether too serious a problem to have its successful solution imperilled because Robert Rogers wants a five-year extension of time to continue his policy of patriotically plundering the dominion treasury.

There is not the slightest excuse for an election at the present time. The period of the present parliament will not expire until Sept. 21, 1916. There is no issue dividing the parties. The war credit was passed without discussion. The Liberals have supported with the utmost loyalty every measure that has been brought forward for the defence for the national interest. Their only complaint is that more has not been undertaken and accomplished by the party in power. An election, during the time of war, when feelings are aroused to a high pitch of intensity, would be unprecedented in bitterness, and further enlistment would be imperilled. Over fifty thousand young Canadians off to the seat of war would be disfranchised. The proposal is as grotesque as it is mischievous.

If there were only some way in which Hon. Robert and his co-machinists could get the exclusive credit for defeating the War Lord, it would be a great stroke. If there were no danger of them smelling powder we fancy some of them might go to the front and help to keep the emblem of the machine waving. But unfortunately the work in Europe requires real men and genuine courage and patriotism, and Lord Kitchener has placed no embargo on accepting the services of the detested and disloyal Grits or "Separatists" as our local contemporary blandly persists in calling them.

To bring this terrible war to a speedy and successful termination, Canada requires the devoted and loyal services of every son either at home or abroad. To sow the seeds of disunion while powerful enemies are battling to overthrow the empire of which we form a part, is the work of traitors.

If an election is forced upon them the Liberal party will fight it with no misgiving as to the result, but for the sake of Canada and the greater empire, they will hope that no such crime will be perpetrated by reckless and greedy politicians.

THE STRENGTH OF THE NAVY.

A little book on the Navy by Percival A. Hislam, "The Navy of To-day," has something to say regarding the strength of the British Navy. The total number of officers and men authorized for the active list of the Navy in 1914-15 is 150,000, in which figures are included the Coast Guard and the Royal Marines. The number is higher than it has ever been before in British naval history. In the year of Trafalgar (1805) the number voted was 120,000. The great increase that has been brought about in recent years is attributable mainly to the expansion in the fully commissioned fleet.

Individual ships, Mr. Hislam further points out, have not varied a great deal in their manning requirements. "The most important ship in the British Fleet which defeated the Spanish Armada, the Triumph, had a complement of 780. The finest sailing ships of the line, built for the Navy in the 'forties of last century, required 880 officers and men to man them; while a battleship of to-day needs about 900 if she is a super-dreadnought, and from 750 to 850 if she belongs to an earlier period." Some of the battle cruisers have a crew of 1,000 owing to the army of men required in the stokeholds to feed the furnaces. With ships burning oil-fuel the engine-room complement is greatly reduced.

KAISERISM IN CANADA.

No longer ago than the end of July last, the Kaiser and his "fighting staff" thought they saw an opportunity of snatching a victory for themselves. They were not at all concerned about others. Public opinion, public decency, did not matter to them. "The end justifies the means," was their motto. Their end was personal aggrandizement—the gratification of their vile, selfish desires.

What has happened since then? Their anticipations have been falsified. Their plans have failed ignominiously, as a whole and in detail. Their supposed prescience has proved but vain imagining. The whole world not only despises but abhors them, for their vicious undertaking has culminated in senseless brutality.

Surely there should be a lesson in this for those of reckless ambition in every land. Nowhere apparently has this lesson been less appreciated than in Canada, in a certain political ring, of which Mr. Borden's Minister of Public Works, is the centre. The indications are that Hon. "Bob" Rogers and his "staff" are bent on playing the Kaiser role in Dominion politics. Some of their newspaper organs are promoting and supporting their schemes. They, evidently, are under the impression that "The Day" has come for them. An election, they are as determined to have as was the Kaiser to have war. The decencies and proprieties of public life seem to concern them as little as they did the Kaiser. They regard an implied agreement with their political opponents as little as did the Kaiser the neutrality of Belgium, which his country had guaranteed. With the same despicable end as the Kaiser, they have unblushingly adopted his motto—"the end justifies the means."

In the British Parliament, before it was pro-rogued Mr. Bonar Law and Mr. Balfour publicly asked Mr. Asquith, in the interests of the Empire to prolong by Act of Parliament the life of the present British Legislature, for a year or more, if necessary, so that there might not be any possibility of a general election occurring before the end of the war. Mr. Asquith promised his favorable consideration. The parties in the Old Country have tacitly agreed that there shall not even be a contested by-election during the war. Where a vacancy occurs it is understood that a man of the same party as the one vacating the seat, be he Liberal, Unionist, Nationalist or Labor, shall be returned unopposed.

Yet, in the face of such an example not only to Canada but to the world, Hon. "Bob" Rogers and his henchmen have evidently set themselves to force on a general election in this country. It remains to be seen what the Conservative Party have to say to the proposition. The Liberals of the Dominion are not, as a party, greatly concerned with regard to their decision. They are not of the opinion, at present, that Sir Robert Borden and the better elements of his party will permit any such gross outrage upon the public life of Canada, any such foul treason to the best interests of the Empire. They do not in the least fear the outcome of such an appeal to the people of the Dominion, should it be decided upon. They have every confidence that all the decent Conservatives of the country would unite with Liberals to defeat those making such an appeal in their name.

But we earnestly hope that the Rogers' conspiracy may be nipped in the bud by Sir Robert Borden and those whom he leads. This country cannot afford to be made an exhibition of in the eyes of the rest of the British world, at this time.

A PROTEST.

To free our soul let us say now with all the force we can that we are sick and tired of hearing—"It is not on the German people we are making war, but on the German militarists." The statement is all rot! Germany's army is the German people, every man of them is behind the Kaiser, lock, stock and barrel. The German Emperor and the German army officers are demons, while the German people are kind and gentle. Indeed! Ask the fathers, mothers and children, the outraged women and girls left alive in Belgium about the gentleness of the German soldiers—now soldiers who only six weeks ago were running the farms and workshops of Germany? Ask the Belgian captives who are now in fetters reaping the crops of Germany, about the gentleness and Christian spirits of these German soldiers who only a few weeks ago were farmers and artisans? Ask the Belgian boys, whose hands were chopped off so that they could not carry arms, about the human affection of these German soldiers? A fine gentle people indeed! who would burn towns, shoot the inhabitants, or brain them with their rifles, and who could not ask for a meal of victuals without pushing a revolver into the harmless householder's face. A lovely spirit of meekness, forsooth, that would strew deadly mines in the sea where harmless fishermen ply their calling. In fact, the ancient hordes of Goths and Vandals who overran Europe in medieval times were not more cruel, not more inhuman than those German gentle people who are day by day held up before us as a highly civilized, cultivated and Christian people. For Heaven's sake, drop this miserable cant! —New Glasgow Chronicle.

INTERNAL DANGERS.

The armies on the continental field form one force that will bring the war to a conclusion; another is the much vaster army of consumers at home. One of the reasons why the Socialist organ, the "Vorwaerts," was suspended was because it made this fact clear, a fact unpalatable to the authorities at Berlin, in view of internal conditions. The Vorwaerts said:

"Unemployment is already afflicting hundreds of thousands—nay, millions. The Kreuz Zeitung has already coined the expression, 'The internal danger.' If we do not succeed in mitigating the consequences of this unemployment among the masses of the people and saving those who have not gone to the front from the terrors of starvation, this will be of no less far-reaching importance than the defeat of our army. We have by the help of public means taken up the fight against the spectre of unemployment. But the result hitherto has been very poor. This is the most vulnerable point which we see at the end of the first month of the war."

All the manufacturing countries have been finding out that no nation can live to-day unto itself. The position of Germany, with its imports cut off by England's sea power, is especially difficult. It is learning how dependent its trade is on foreign supplies. It cannot lightly regard the loss of imported raw material for its industry. Without enormous imports, which must now have ceased, a great part of the country's factories that require wool, cotton, silk, flax, timber, oil, rubber, and other materials, had to stand still. The rapidity of this internal economic exhaustion in Germany will hasten the coming of peace.

The dislocation of trade wrought by the war has surprised even the United States which has hitherto prided itself upon the self-contained nature of its resources. It has been found that innumerable industries depend upon Europe for some one process or article. The need is so general that it is causing consternation and will be keenly felt when the present supplies of materials are exhausted. The steel trade got its ferro-manganese from Germany; the textile industry its dyes; platinum for its electrical industry from the Ural mountains; the manufacturers of soap, glass, matches, fertilizers, of all articles requiring potash as an essential raw material, found their supply cut off. In all countries the manufacturers are realizing with a new vividness the vital fact that the finished articles of one industry are the raw materials of another.

Industrial England and America have quickly awakened to the necessity of meeting this new situation. It has taught them a lesson they will forever profit by. The raw material now wanted can be provided in the Empire or in the States as well as in Germany. The way has been left open to Germany in the past but it never will be again. New industries will immediately be opened up to provide the accessories of manufacture which have hitherto been monopolies of Germany.

It would be worse folly to imagine that the day of reverses is over for the Allied armies. Reverses are to be expected but, at the same time, up to the present the situation is far more favorable than many competent authorities in the Old Country anticipated.

Correspondents of the London Times give three excellent examples of what we may call intensive patriotism. Here they are:

(a) Wroxall (Isle of Wight)—Out of a population of 460 (227 males), 70 are serving King and country at the present moment.

(b) Altrincham (Cheshire)—61 houses in one street (Chapel street) have sent 81 men to the colors.

(c) Hever (Kent)—Out of a population of 366, 74 have enlisted. These are fine records which it would be difficult to surpass.

The London Times has received from a trustworthy source the text of the German Emperor's Army order issued on August 19. It contained the following passage:—

It is my Royal and Imperial Command that you concentrate your energies, for the immediate present, upon one single purpose, and that is that you address all your skill and all the valour of my soldiers to exterminate first the treacherous English and walk over General French's contemptible little Army. . .

Headquarters,
Aix-la-Chapelle,
August, 19th.

The "contemptible little army" has upset the German Kaiser's apple cart, so to speak.

THE COMMONWEAL.

Bill Smith, he sat at his garden door,
And puffed at the old black clay;
His neat little "missis" was there at his side,
And the kiddies, too, at play.
"Selp me! It's good, old gal," sighed Bill,
"This hour at the end o' the day."

Hans Schultz stood under the linden tree,
And told in the old, old way,
A tale of love to the trembling lips
Of a fraulein. And poets say
'Tis a tale that is told the whole world o'er,
In that hour at the end o' the day.

And a message came from the Lord Knows Who,
And summoned them both away
To take their guns to the Lord Knows Where,
And begone with the dire dismay
Of Bill's little "missis" and Hans pretty Schatz,
In that hour at the end o' the day.

You'd think homely fellows like Bill and Hans
Would "chum" if they met. Strange to say
They lay on their bellies like crawling things
And loaded and blazed away.
Tho' they hadn't set eyes on each other before
They loaded and blazed away.

And Billy sent Hans to Kingdom Come,
And Hans sent Bill and his band.
And Bill's little "missis" and Hans' pretty Schatz
They never could understand.
But Lord, what do womenfolk comprehend
Of the way to govern a land.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IV.—Fourth Quarter, For
Oct. 25, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxvii, 47-50;
xxviii, 3-10—Memory Verses, Matt.
xxvii, 3-5—Golden Text, Matt. xxvii, 24.
Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M.
Stearns.

Here is another instance of God and the devil face to face, as in the temptation in the wilderness (chapter iv), after the baptism at the Jordan. But there it was the devil in his own person, while here it is the devil in Judas Iscariot. First the devil put one thought into the heart of Judas, and later he entered in himself (John xiii, 2, 27). If we would be overcomers we must resist the thoughts that are evil. It is encouraging to know that if we resist the devil he will flee from us (Jas. iv, 7; 1 Pet. v, 8, 9). We must bear in mind that our great daily conflict is not so much with the visible in the form of people or circumstances as with the invisible of the heart of this world, wicked spirits in the heavens (Eph. vi, 12), and we certainly need the whole armor of God to be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

Some one has said that as this was the greatest piece of work the devil ever undertook he could not trust it to any of his followers, and so entered into Judas himself. It was a host of the devil's followers, including the chief priests, elders and scribes, who came with Judas as their leader. Our Lord had said to them earlier in His ministry, "Ye are of your father the devil" (John viii, 44).

It is written that the way in which the betrayer knew where to find Jesus was because He oftentimes resorted thither with His disciples (John xviii, 2). "The wicked (one) watcheth the righteous and seeketh to slay him" (Ps. xxxvii, 32), and he seems to know our resources and our weaknesses. Judas had told the band of followers that he would indicate the man they wanted by kissing Him. This he did, and Jesus suffered it, simply saying, "Judas, betrayest thou the Son of Man with a kiss?" (Luke xxii, 48). How much He bore for our sakes, but how little we seem able to bear for Him! Knowing all things that should come upon Him, He went forth to meet His enemies and said, "Whom seek ye?" They answered, "Jesus of Nazareth," to which He replied, "I am."

Then happened a wonderful thing, an instance of His power, an illustration of the fact that not all the soldiers on earth could take Him if He had not been willing. They went backward and fell to the ground (John xviii, 4, 6). They would never have risen again if He had not permitted, but would have been like the army of Sennacherib, all dead men (2 Kings xix, 35). He allowed them to rise up and come again and take Him. It was then that Peter in his zeal blundered with his sword and took off a man's ear, but our Lord gently rebuked Peter and healed the ear.

How often by our blunders we hinder people from hearing the gospel! It may be by untimely zeal or by some inconsistency or some un-Christianlike word or deed suggested by the devil.

In following lessons we will take up the story of Jesus and Peter and Jesus before Pilate, but now we are asked to continue the story of Judas until the end of his earthly career as recorded in chapter xxviii, 3-10, this portion of the record being found only here. The seeming change in Jesus was when he saw that Jesus was actually condemned. Is it possible that, having seen so much of the power of Jesus Christ and remembering the day when He quietly slipped away from the hands of the people of Nazareth and perhaps recalling His words that no man could take His life from Him (John x, 18), he did not believe that He would ever let His enemies kill Him? He could make a little money and thus feel the high priests and others by seeing Jesus take Himself out of their power.

I cannot tell what His thoughts were, but I cannot forget the words, "It had been good for that man if he had not been born" (Matt. xxvii, 24). The pieces of silver remind us of the money received by Joseph's brethren when they sold him, and also of the prediction in Zech. xi, 12. Verse 9 of our lesson is a little perplexing, as it is said there that the words about the pieces of silver were spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, yet we find them written in Zechariah, not Jeremiah. Our lesson does not say they were written, but spoken, by Jeremiah. If Jeremiah spoke them and Zechariah wrote them, that would clear it all up. Some day we will know, if necessary.

The words of Judas in verse 4, "I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood," are to my mind one of the strongest testimonies on record to the holiness of the Lord Jesus—the testimony of one possessed by the devil, who was in a sense one of the twelve and knew the inner life of the little company and would have seen any flaw in the life of the Lord Jesus if there had been any.

I have often wondered if he was chosen that he might leave this testimony on record. The elders and high priests seemed glad to have dealings with him when he offered to betray Jesus, but now that he seems to have changed his mind they throw him off with the words: "What is that to us? See thou to that!"

SENSATIONAL PROPHECIES BY GERMAN SECRET AGENT

England to be Invaded in Three Weeks' Time by Fleet of Huge Zeppelins—Great Britain to Sue for Peace by Dec. 1st.

New York, October 16.—Dr. Armgaard Kori Graves, once a secret agent of the German Government, has startled members of the Beta Club here by his predictions as to the war. On May 7th, 1914, over two months before the event occurred, Dr. Graves predicted the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand, the outbreak of the war and the invasion of Belgium. At the time he was laughed at, but now the people who heard him are constantly after him for more predictions.

SENSATIONAL PROPHECIES

In a speech he made last week at their request he made still more sensational prophecies as follows: "Liege resisted as long as she did," said Dr. Graves, "because the flying column of Germany sent against the man heavy siege guns. American efficiency engineers have for a long time wondered and been amused by the unwieldiness of German seows and flyboats and wondered what stupidly was responsible for the seemingly unnecessary broad bows and the weight of these slow craft."

SCOWS PUT TO USE

But when war came these same things were put to work that had been cut out for them. The great flying boats were loaded upon them and they were loaded upon them and they were taken over water courses as far as possible and then by tractor drawn up before Liege. Army straightway the Belgium forts were reduced to dust and wreckage that was swept aside as the Germans poured into France. That same kind of heavy artillery was opened up on Antwerp, as reported here and Antwerp's great defences quickly went the way of Liege. I tell you now that within three weeks from to-night England will be dictating to France the terms of peace to be made. "Why? Three weeks from to-day Germany will have ready and I know whereof I speak, 120 submarines equipped with new Diesel engines now being assembled.

NEW FLEET OF ZEPPELINS

Before November, also, Germany will have ready a fleet of Zeppelins (and remember the Zeppelins that so far have been sent over cities are merely the passenger carrying type—such as many Americans have ridden in) equipped with Diesel engines also engines so powerful but yet so light that they will permit of the carrying of twelve tons of explosives to each airship. A non-inflammable gas, the secret of which is known only to the German Government, will float this Zeppelin fleet a gas that has not yet been used, but has been held back so its secret may not be endangered until the supreme onslaught is made.

The secrets of the construction of the Diesel engine have been so carefully guarded that the various parts have always been kept separated at Potsdam Spandau, Stettin and at Wilhelmshofen. In fact the secret of the vital parts of the engine are known only to three persons—the Kaiser, the Crown Prince and to the head of the General Staff."

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colic and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

Acted as Accompanist
The part of accompanist at the church party in St. Michael's Academy in aid of the cadet corps fund was very cleverly taken by Miss Lena O'Rourke, pianist.

Women's Institute
A meeting of the Women's Institute of Queen Alexandra School will be held in the auditorium of the above mentioned school on Monday, Oct. 19, at 4 p.m. Mr. McLaurin, B.A., principal of Belleville High School will deliver an address. All mothers and any other interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

Rev. M. E. Saxsmith, B.A. of Whitby, is in the city a guest at Bridge Street parsonage. He will occupy the pulpit at Bridge Street Church at both services tomorrow.

The funeral of Irene Maria Mossman, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kollong's Asthma Remedy, Friday afternoon, the Rev. R. C. Blagrove conducting the service. Burial was in Belleville cemetery.

PARADE OF XV. REGIMENT

About Two Hundred Officers and Men in Line Last Night.

The parade of the Fifteenth Regiment, Argyle Light Infantry, was the great event of last night in the city. It was no usual march-out, but one in a time of crisis, when the one thought in the minds of men, women and children is that of war and soldiery. In the spring of this year the regiment had its best season's work, the enrollment being over four hundred and fifty men and officers. Since that time a large number of the Fifteenth soldiers have gone with the Fifteenth Contingent and the 34th Battery, R.C.F.A., and are now tented on Salisbury Plains, England in preparation for service in the ranks of the allies in France or Belgium against the German army.

It was with the thoughts of these heroes ready to go to the front, the European war nightmare, and the second contingent which may soon be organized that the members of the Fifteenth answered the order of their commanding officer, Lt-Col. L. W. Marsh and met at eight o'clock last evening at the armories. In spite of the drizzling mist which had been falling, a good number of citizens gathered at the soldiers' headquarters. The turnout of soldiers was remarkable in the absence of Miss Vandervoort who spent the holidays with Miss Nesbit in Kingston. The Patriotic League Ladies were busy yesterday giving out more material to be made up for the soldiers at the Union Hall.

Dr. and Mrs. Pasmore spent the holidays with their sons in Toronto. Misses Fields, of Toronto spent the week-end with their brother Mr. Frank Fields.

BALES UPON BALES OF GOODS BEING SENT

The generosity of Belleville's citizens has never been better exemplified than by the gifts of clothing and donations of cash which have been pouring in for the relief of the Belgian refugees. The collection has been made under the auspices of Quinze Chapter, Imperial Order of the Daughters of Empire, and the gifts have been left at the home of Mrs. E. J. M. Anderson, registrar of the chapter.

Up to the last moment to-day gifts continued to flow in. The clothing is in the finest state of preservation and includes such luxuries as fur-lined coats, unopened cases of shoes and boots from the warehouses of Belleville, scores of ladies' jackets and dresses, and children's apparel.

TO STOP DOGS KILLING SHEEP

A man of wide experience in sheep-raising has offered the following simple scheme to prevent loss through dogs chasing the flock. If a man has, say, forty sheep, he should buy about two dozen small bells, similar to a cow-bell, but smaller, and tie these to the sheep. It is a peculiar thing that a dog will not chase a sheep if it has a bell on its neck, and this is the real solution of the problem. This man followed the above scheme and kept sheep a short distance from a city for twelve years and did not lose one. His neighbors would not follow the advice and three sheep were killed in one night on the next farm.

W. M. S. CONVENTION.

The 24th Annual Convention of the Belleville District Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held at Phillipston Methodist Church on Wednesday, Oct. 14, 1914. The morning session was opened by devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. L. Massey, the scripture reading by Mrs. M. E. Wilson was taken from Deut. 32, verses 6, 7, 8. After the appointment of reporters the delegates and visitors were given a very cordial welcome to which Mrs. (Rev.) Sanderson replied.

On account of the illness of our District Organizer Mrs. H. K. Denyes, the chair was occupied by Mrs. Young in a very capable manner. The report of last year's Convention was unanimously accepted, after which a short address of appreciation was given by Mrs. L. Massey, our honorary President. It was our retiring Organizer, Mrs. H. K. Denyes, who replied thanking her heavenly Father for His great love and care of her. She also wished to thank the sisters for their help and kindness to her; such kindness as comes from the heart of God alone.

Mrs. S. C. Gray of Foxboro was elected District Organizer and Mrs. Most, Belleville, re-elected secretary. A very interesting address was given by Mrs. Bradley on her work among the foreigners of Winnipeg. The reports of the Auxiliaries, Circles and Bands were very encouraging showing an increase in membership and interest in the work. At the opening of the afternoon session the Praise Service conducted by Mrs. (Rev.) Huffman was of great spiritual benefit. An address by Mrs. C. W. Reddick was listened to with much interest as she told of the work among the Indians at Kitimat. Miss E. Scantlebury gave an excellent report of her work at Summer School and Mrs. S. C. Gray gave a very instructive paper on "What Constitutes the Ideal Auxiliary Meeting."

Mrs. M. E. Wilson gave an interesting report of the Branch Meeting. Solos were rendered by Mrs. (Rev.) A. R. Sanderson and Mrs. J. Phillips. The session was closed by prayer by Rev. Mr. Jones of Foxboro. The proceeds of the Convention were $69.36.

The High school said Col. Ponton and Mr. C. M. Reid, had already been appointed to Belleville. High school thereby.

A report was read from Mr. S. A. Gardner relative to delinquency in attendance at the schools. One hundred and eighty three cases had been reported entailing no less than 500 visits on the part of Mr. Gardner. He states that most of the cases are not so much truancy on the part of the children, as lack of appreciation on the part of parents as to the regulations of the Department of Education as to enforced school attendance and concerning the advantages to be derived from schooling. Parents are more to blame than children.

Inspector Clarke's report for September showed:—

Q. N. S.—(a) Registration 480, (b) average daily attendance 437; (c) admitted for first time 68—(d) Registration per teacher.
Q. A. S.—(a) 340, (b) 322; c 35 d 40.
Q. M. S.—a 366, b 390; c 26 d 45.
Grier St.—a 211, b 183; c 27; d 53.
Total 1417. Registered 1277 daily attendance: 176 new pupils and average registration per teacher 45.7.

The attendance at Grier street is excessive. The report suggested changing of a class to another school. Mr. F. S. Deacon said the Department of Domestic Science in connection with the public schools can accommodate all scholars in Belleville desiring to take the course.

There was much discussion on the accounts, the purchase and sale of properties, but most of the recommendations re sale and purchase were referred back.

"BRITISH" NOT "ENGLISH"

To the Editor,—

Might I be permitted to offer some friendly criticism to certain phrases contained in a letter written by John J. B. Flint in your paper of October 15th? My objections are not to the arguments held forth in Mr. Flint's letter but to certain terms used. Below are some of them—"Never was England in such peril." "The time has come when the English army, etc." "Two frightful dangers menace England and France." "If England was never in such peril; if the English army must be used up to have the strength which Kitchener, who is an Irishman, demands what may I ask is the position of Scotland, Ireland and Wales? Why not increase the "English" army by sending some Scotchmen, Irishmen and Welshmen to the front? Soon a splendid Canadian army will be at the front. Will it still be the English army, fighting for England? Suppose we give credit where credit is due, and speak of the British army, fighting for British Canada, Ireland and colonies beyond the seas."

Some writers persist in speaking of England and the English, until those of us, who are not English but proud to be called British are apt to think of the War Lord with his "Meinself und Gott."

M. Robertson

THE CRY FROM MACEDONIA

Here is a fine sample of industrial logic:—

When England went to war, Canada went lower.

When Canada went to war American manufacturers began to plan for the capture of both British and Canadian markets.

Therefore Canada should buy American made goods.

To the naked eye this looks about as sensible as to say that if a horse thief steals one of the horses when you are away from home, you should make him a gift of the driving team which you get back to avoid any hard feelings.

The Canadian who gets articles for the American press to say that now, when Canada is at war, is the time for the American manufacturer to put on an extra campaign to sell his goods in Canada, ought to draw his salary where the articles are published. He might have saved his ink. This war wasn't three weeks old before American writers were proving that American manufacturers should now go out and grab all the European markets in the world.

For instance in Brazil alone they would annex as follows:—
From Germany $48,000,000 a year.
France, $22,000,000 a year; England, $74,000,000 a year.

After you my dear Alphonse: There are eight million consumers in Canada. The only reason they don't ask the American manufacturer to come right in and book the orders is, that we already have something like $1,500,000,000, mostly of good Canadian money invested in Canadian factories, employing Canadian labor making goods for Canadian consumers to buy. When England went to war those millions of invested capital and $1,400,000,000 of annual output and 300,000,000 yearly wages went to war also. Anybody who figures that 31,000 men in khaki represent all the war this country is putting up for the Empire is leaving out his 'dot and carry P'.

When Canada is at war, she fights with her citizen army, her farms and her factories.

Nobody doubts, even without the testimony of Col. Hughes, that our men in khaki will put up with anything a scrap or the old flag as any other fighting outfit in Europe.

Nobody imagines that the Canadian farmer will be so blind to his own interest that he won't work every acre he can turn into and contribute to the food supply of the nation, the army and the navy.

Does anybody dream that the manufacturers of Canada expect to bring up the rear when it comes to preserving this part of the Empire in a state of efficiency in a time of war?

If so it must be the man who in war time runs an "manufacturing district" at great cost out to Uncle Sam—"Come and help us."

HOLLOWAY ST. LEAGUE

The league room was well filled last evening and a pleasant time was spent. Mr. Lawson read the lesson. The topic was taken by Mr. Fredericks who gave a talk on Literature. Miss Helen Stecker gave an instrumental solo and Mrs. Sanderson a vocal solo which were much appreciated. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which a social hour was spent in games and a spelling match.

CHRIST CHURCH REDECORATED; CONSECRATION CEREMONY

(From Monday's Daily.)
 As the culmination of years of parish work came the consecration of Christ Church yesterday. The interior has recently been renovated at heavy expense. The ground on which the church stands was acquired as long as 1882 and for the past five or six years the rector, war-time pastor and parishioners has been doing the entire interior of the sacred edifice. The first step was the procuring of land for the location of the parish hall, the raising of funds and finally the redecoration of the interior.

Rev. E. J. Bidwell, D.D., Lord Bishop of Kingston and co-adjutor Bishop of Ontario was the officiating bishop at the consecration ceremony on Sunday morning.

The impressive service of consecration opened at the south east door of the church, where the Rev. R. C. Blagrove, rector, the warden and the choir received the Lord Bishop, the Rev. R. C. Blagrove reading a declaration as to the church property. After prayer by the bishop, the dedication psalm was chanted. After a dedication hymn Bishop Bidwell read the communion service. His sermon was based on I Chron. 29: "Then the people rejoiced for that they offered willingly because with perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord; and David the King also rejoiced with great joy." The occasion was the gathering of the people with King David to consider the building of a temple to Jehovah. While it was not allowed David to build the place of worship, yet he was permitted the high privilege of making due preparation for its construction and of lessening the task for King Solomon. David had appealed to the people's generosity and love of God with extraordinary success. It was not merely that they saw a great pile of stones and material that they rejoiced but because it was their freewill offering. The writer of Chronicles recalled the heathen piles built by forced labor for the purpose of the perpetuation of a monarch's fame, such as the Pyramids, which caused no joy in the people's hearts. But the pride of the Hebrew race was their temple. Into its walls were built their love and sacrifice. Even when far away they would never forget the font and head of their religious life.

The Hebrews gave us the highest authority for the beautification of temples and churches. Some say that money spent on decoration is a waste and that there are other ways of expenditure. But this is not the teaching of the Bible. It is true God does not dwell in temples made with hands. This assertion also comes from the same Book. No affair is so great as not sacrifice too hard to bear, in the church where we bow down to God. God has made us susceptible to beauty of the cathedral file, the decorated walls and stained windows do appeal to the people. It is not the beauty of the walls and stones so much as the devotion of the people. What God desires is the token of our love. The little village church, the result of sacrifice is more acceptable to God than the stately church not built in love. We are willing to sacrifice for home comforts. This sentiment is beautified when transferred to the church home. It was not for nothing that God took the idea of the family for His church. All through the Bible there is an analogy between the church and home. One of the most potent facts in life is fatherhood and motherhood. Often in old days we are orphaned by circumstances but never in the church except by our own actions and sins and even then a way of return is open. The church is the material embodiment of that idea. We must look upon the church more as home. As much as possible the church should be open to allow communion with God.

The congregation was now in possession of the perfect work and had a right to love all connected with it because it is theirs, representing their self denial and freewill offering. Here the bishop found evidence of strong spiritual life, showing itself in the beautiful work and he rejoiced to find that God had enabled them to bring their work to a fitting conclusion and they are glad to give God of their best, themselves, their lives for His service.

A large number partook of the holy communion. In the afternoon the school had a special session in the church being addressed by Bishop Bidwell. He also was the preacher at evensong. At evensong Miss Anna Ponton sang the solo "Clap Your Hands Together" in the anthem and Mr. Dan A. Cameron rendered with much effect "The Ninety and Nine."

Musical in the morning was Smart's Communion Service in E Flat. Evening—Turner's evening service in F.

THE DECORATIONS

The decorations are unique. The work was executed by the Thornton Smith Company of Toronto. The decoration is a special design by the artists of the firm, the design artist and color artist. These men studied the church and selected the most suitable designs and then toned the colors accordingly. The church is electrically lighted, large lamps being hung in the nave and in the transepts. The floor at the rear and in the aisles is carpeted. The seats are all walnut-stained. The pillars are bronzed. The walls are in a dappled blue. A lace pattern skirts the walls and on the upper walls are various ecclesiastical symbolic designs. At the chancel end of the nave on a light blue background are five circular decorations of a gilded cross in the center and the four Evangelists, two on either side of the cross. On the east chancel wall there is a light blue background are five circular decorations of a gilded cross in the center and the four Evangelists, two on either side of the cross. The total effect of the interior is unique and at times seems to resemble a mediæval painting in its gorgeous coloring.

MAN DIES FROM EXPOSURE

On Friday last Chief Janieson of Colborne was notified that a man was lying ill in a shack in the woods near the G. T. R. track about two miles east of Colborne. When the Chief reached him he found that the man was in a dying condition and could scarcely speak. He administered stimulants and brought him up on a hand-car to the station where medical aid was secured but he did not rally, and passed away in about half an hour without giving his name or an introduction as to relatives, etc. There was nothing by which he could be identified except a medicine bottle bearing the name of a Trenton drug store. Acting on this clue the Chief found that his name was De Lond and that he had been working in Trenton, and that he was supposed to have friends in Oshawa, but no trace of them could be found. The body was taken to Mr. G. M. Peebles' undertaking rooms where it remained until Monday and was then interred in Trinity Church Cemetery at Colborne, Rev. T. O'G. Fenton officiating. He had the appearance of a working man about sixty-five years of age and was supposed to be walking to Oshawa and became ill and died in the shack to rest, but became worse and having no assistance died from exposure.

OUR daily news letter from this thriving town furnished by The Ontario's special representative.

Busy Trenton

THE latest news of the town and surrounding neighborhood is given in an interesting manner.

Trenton Oct 17.—The Ladies of the Trenton Branch of the Patriotic Fund have been quietly working for the relief of the Belgians and as a result of their labors, yesterday, had the satisfaction of forwarding, 22 barrels and 4 boxes of food, clothing, boots and shoes, bedding and cereals. The work in this connection was done so conscientiously that few people knew anything about it. The ladies are entitled to great credit, though they will not admit that they have done more than their simple duty. We are requested to mention the kindness of the Trenton Co-operative Co. in furnishing barrels and sending one of the expert men from the factory to head them up. Several of our valiant young men used the paint brushes to good effect in attaching directions to the shipment. It might be mentioned that some $70.00 was collected and with it goods were purchased which were included in the shipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kinney have returned from their honeymoon and have taken up their residence on Division street.

Mrs. H. A. Thomson returned from St. Thomas last evening.

Mr. M. P. Kinsella, of Buffalo, an old resident of Trenton, sent in to-day a generous contribution to the Patriotic Fund.

The Treasurer also wishes to acknowledge with thanks, the generous contribution of fifty dollars, from I. O. L. No. 296, handed in by Bro. J. H. Cornell.

The total of the fund is close to the $200. mark, which is very satisfactory for a beginning. Those interested hope to see it reach $600. There is every likelihood that every dollar will be required, and much more.

The Parks Commission held its inaugural meeting on Thursday evening at the Town hall. Mayor Kirk opened the proceedings with a few felicitous remarks, after which the formation of the Board was proceeded with. The Chairman elected was Mr. A. E. Cuff and the Secretary, Mr. J. F. Simpson. It was decided to visit the new C. N. R. park property on Monday afternoon, to ascertain what work should be done this fall and winter. The Board assumes charge of all park and boulevard property belonging to the town. Something should now be done to beautify this town and we believe that the newly appointed Board will be a decided factor to that end.

We have just read the leading article in tonight's Ontario, and consider it the best, of the many we have read on the same subject. True it is, that the young men of Canada are not cowards and that the blame for not enlisting more rapidly cannot be attached to them. We are not enamored with militarism, and the disastrous effects of the present war, make us less so than ever. Still, the loyalty of Canadians to the Empire will create such enthusiasm that there will be no lack of men to meet the needs of the moment. No loyal Canadian doubts Britain's justification for taking part in this war, nor the right of Canada to participate therein. If we must part with our boys we will have the proud knowledge that they are fighting for a just and righteous cause.

SUCCESSFUL EUCHRE PARTY

At St. Michaels Academy in Aid of Cadet Corps Fund—Prize Winners—Program of Music.

(From Thursday's Daily.) About two hundred people attended the euchre party in St. Michaels Academy last evening. The stage and hall had been gaily decorated with such pennants as "St. Michaels Cadet Corps," "Rule Britannia" and "British Empire," Canadian and British flags and flags of Erin. The other decorations were palms and ferns.

When the curtain went up, Band Instructor, Leo Barrett, sounded the bugle and Signalling Instructor Ray Peppin addressed a few words of welcome to the audience and stated that the purpose of the party was to provide funds for purchasing uniforms for the cadets.

A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close at 11:30 by the singing of the National Anthem. A good sum of money was realized by the euchre party. The committee in charge of the euchre party was composed of Mr. Charles Whelan, chairman of the Separate School Board, Mr. John Egan, of the I.A.S., Rifle Instructor J. Freeman, Band Instructor Leo Barrett, Signalling Instructor Ray I. Peppin, and Captain of the cadets Harold Barrett.

BURD'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL

No One Blamed For Thanksgiving Day Tragedy at Colborne Depot.

(From Thursday's Daily.) The inquest into the death of Smith Burd, the G.T.R. brakeman, who lost his life on Thanksgiving day as a result of an accident at Colborne, was concluded last evening in the police court room before Coroner Dr. W. W. Boyce. Crown Attorney Anderson conducted the examination of witnesses. The verdict was that the late Smith Burd had come to his death at Belleville Hospital as a result of injuries received at Colborne village, Northumberland County, that death was accidental, the brakeman being on his ordinary duties when he slipped and fell under the wheels and that no blame could be attached to anybody.

A box had become hot on one of the trucks and Conductor Murray had given the signal to stop at Colborne. It was customary to stop the train near the water tank so as to cool the hot box conveniently. Burd received the signal and proceeded to get off the engine near the water tank while the train was moving slowly, his idea being that the train would stop when the truck with the hot box became opposite the tank. The engineer saw Burd place his hand against the tender, as if trying to shove himself away from the train. The engineer at once applied the brakes to the train as he saw Burd drop, but by this time the brakeman had rolled from the platform. His feet having been run over by the wheels.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

England Never in Such Peril as She is Today.

My Dear Sir: Germany is the schoolmaster who is teaching us lessons we must learn. The time has come when the English army must be made to have the same respect for its own demands. If it is not supplied with modern engineering skill could supply. Defended by a large army, wire entanglements surcharged with electricity, so that a touch would kill guns of immense calibre, her fortifications built from the tons of iron and steel hurled against her by a foe so far distant, that the strongest binoculars could not discover them. The lesson we learn is that our great fortified castles and forts, might as well be built of paper. Two frightful dangers menace England and France. One danger the Zeppelins—one that can fly fifty or sixty miles an hour. Immense in size they can carry tons of bombs. It was thought that guns would destroy them but six of them hovered over Antwerp, dropping bombs, which fired and destroyed large portions of the city, and gave the range to the siege guns far away. If these harpies of the air, can do this with comparative safety, what protection have the great cities of the allies against them? It is true, the allies possess armoured airships, which might do something towards their destruction, but if so, why did they not save Antwerp from the Zeppelins. England well knew of the construction of these great air ships, but apparently did not consider it of importance to build them. What is to prevent bombs being rained upon our great dreadnoughts?—One large bomb falling upon the deck, might fulfill its mission. Practically, it appears that our great cities, non-clads, and shipping are very much at the mercy of these air fleets. We have sub-marines, and destroyers. If one little sub-marine could hurt into the little sub-marines, three cruisers, what might not a fleet of them do to our warships? Nets protect ships at anchor. When moving, they cannot be used. We cannot send our submarines into German ports, without great danger from mines. Now, that England is sowing mines, they take chances. Lives are not considered by German officers. While we need them, we also need great airships. Beyond question, within a few days, Count Zeppelin will launch his fleet in the air, and it will be accompanied by the sub-marines. Never was England in such peril, as she is now. Twenty years of preparation by Germany, and 46,000 men working at Krupp's night and day, have rendered Germany for many reasons, the most powerful nation on earth. Men may fight against men, but when you place men against Zeppelins, and all modern artillery, appliances that it becomes a difficult matter. We must send every available man to the front; because if the Allies are to win, every fit and suitable man must be used to save our dear old Motherland and the Lion's whelps.
