

PAINFUL MONOTONY OF OPERATIONS STILL FEATURE OF SITUATION

Allies Claim That City of Lille is in Their Possession—The Question of Turkey is the Dominant One—Egypt is Sphere of Interest.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] LONDON, Nov. 2.—War has not yet been formally declared on Turkey, but the withdrawal from Constantinople of ambassadors of the Triple Entente powers is regarded in London as being equivalent to a signal for hostilities, which Turkey has anticipated by a naval raid in the Black Sea, and by a reported land expedition which is said to have penetrated into Egypt.

Evidence accumulates that Turkey intends to proclaim a holy war. Ample measures, however, it is asserted, have been taken by Great Britain and Russia against this possibility, and it is evident that the first trouble is expected to arise in Egypt, where, it is said, the khedive intends to ask Great Britain for an explanation of her attitude towards Turkey.

EFFECTS OF WINTER ARE NOW FELT AT BERLIN IN THE BIG CONFLICT OF NATIONS

North Sea Tremendously Rough—German Capital Gets Little News Except From Outside Sources—Work by the Aeroplanes.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] BERLIN, Nov. 1, via London, Nov. 2.—The effects of the approaching winter on the campaign already in East Prussia and the campaign in Poland has been waged for some time under most disagreeable conditions caused by rain and snow storms.

A severe storm is now raging on the North Sea, making life uncomfortable for the naval outposts because of the rolling and plunging of the torpedo boats and submarines. German life savers yesterday rescued the crews of three German commercial steamers which were wrecked off Heligoland.

A SAD EPISODE AFTER THE BATTLE OF THE MARNE.

THE EAST TOKENS OF ESTEEM TO THE FALLEN—A SCENE NEAR THE VILLAGE OF BARCY, FRANCE.

This drawing is from an original by Paul Thiriat, special correspondent and artist in France for this newspaper, the New York Herald and the London Sphere, and shows a scene on the battle field near the village of Barcy, in France. "Two Frenchwomen," writes Mr. Thiriat, "are laying a 'tomb'—flowers to those who have fallen from the ranks of the army of civilization."

INVASION OF CANADA SAID TO BE PLANNED BY THE U.S. GERMANS

[By Special Wire to the Courier] MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—The stories that the Germans of the United States are contemplating a raid on Canada, have been given emphasis by a letter received by William Galbraith, former mayor of Westmount on Saturday. The letter, which came from the vice president of one of the biggest railroads in the Western States, said:

"I overheard a conversation last night on a steamboat going from Norfolk to Richmond. It was between Germans, and to the effect that all the German singing societies, which are 500,000 strong are carrying on a propaganda of secret arming and other arrangements to the purpose of attacking Canada from this side. It will pay Canada to be on her guard against anything like this. The Germans here are bitter partisans, and will attempt anything to beat the British, and involve this country in the conflict."

EVERY HOPE IS HELD FOR REAL SUCCESS

Balance of Gains Made Admittedly in Favor of the Allies.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] PARIS, Nov. 2, 6.50 a.m.—The allied troops, according to official information here, are still determinedly meeting the latest vigorous offensive movement of the Germans in Belgium and in France. To date the French and English assert that the balance of gains is in their favor and they look to see the failure of the German offensive in this section, indicated, soon by a general and definite withdrawal of the enemy upon the right bank of the Yser.

SCRAPS OF NEWS ALL INDICATE THAT BATTLE IN FLANDERS HAS BEEN WON

[By Special Wire to the Courier] LONDON, Nov. 2.—The correspondent of the Times in Northern France, telegraphing under date of Sunday, sums the situation on the battle front by stating that the allies are daily creeping on toward Ostend, which is now hardly occupied at all in a military sense. The number of Germans holding it is so negligible, he says, that if the allies achieve a definite victory on the river, Ostend will fall unresistingly into their hands.

correspondents at different points in the field of operations in Northern France, report the continuous success of the allies who have reached within four miles of Ostend, namely Leffinghe. The German attack, it is stated, is mainly in the direction of Leffinghe and Slype.

"ON-TO-CANADA" CRY OF GERMANS RESULTS IN DEFENCE MEASURES

Police Received Tip That Desjardins Canal Was to be Blown Up—Police and Detectives Rushed to the Border From Hamilton and Toronto.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 2.—Throughout the night railway detectives and local police stood guard over the railway bridges crossing the Desjardins canal, following the tip furnished the local authorities by the Dominion police of a German plot to wreck these structures, the tunnel and the Welland canal. The tunnel here has been under guard since the war broke. While Superintendent Gordon of the Grand Trunk, and other railway officials here, were inclined to place little credence in the rumored plot, it was evident from the precautions taken in sending a squad of armed men out to the canal that the authorities were taking no chances. A guard will be maintained now night and day.

There was great activity in railway and police circles, following the warning sent out from Ottawa. Railway sleuths, summoned to headquarters at Toronto, were rushed to Hamilton and other points along the line, and Chief Smith despatched constables from the city. During the night danger signal lights were kept burning on the bridge, and all traffic over the high level bridge was under strict surveillance. The information was also sent to the military authorities at St. Catharines, and to-day the guard on the canal will be doubled.

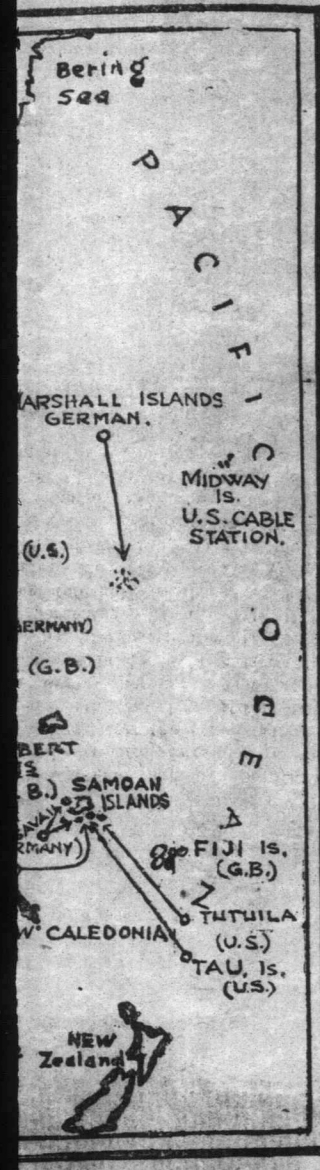

The reported German plot caused quite a stir here, following the alarmist stories of proposed raids from the border by alien enemies of Britain and the request from Fort Erie Council for more adequate protection at that point. It was only recently that Charles W. Heming, chairman of Hamilton Rifle Association, declared that in Buffalo there was a small army of German reservists, better drilled and equipped than the New York state militia. Mr. Heming says that the cry "On to Canada" is frequently heard at German meetings in American cities.

OFFICIAL REPRESENTATIVE WITH RUSSIAN FORCES WRITES OF RECENT BATTLE

British Military Expert Says That German Retreat From Warsaw Has Had Wonderful Effect on Russian Poles—Much Work to be Done.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] LONDON, Nov. 2.—Professor Bernard Pares, the British Government correspondent with the Russian army, telegraphs under date of October 30 the following account of the battle around Warsaw along the Niemen, bahr, Narw, Middle Vistula and the San. "The Germans had not previously tested seriously the strength of the center of this line and the Russian reports issued had so far only spoken of a northern and southern front. Warsaw lay beyond the defensive river line. A rapid seizure of the city before strengthened the Prussian northern front and would have endangered Russian occupation of Galicia. It would also have created a moral effect on the Poles and they might have supported any proposals to negotiate.

"The Germans advanced principally from the southwest, a region largely left in their hands. The German army corps reached a line southeast of Bionik, and at Pruzkow, they were little more than six miles from Warsaw. The cannons shook houses in the city, the German aeroplanes dropped bombs near the railway bridge, the quarters of the general staff and elsewhere, killing over one hundred persons, but not achieving their object. The people were much exasperated and some of them went out to the scene of the fighting.

The sinking of the British cruiser Hermes, outside of the loss of human life, was not important in itself, as her destruction will not in any sense impair the navy.

Heavy fighting between the Allies and the Germans continues still without any outcome which can be regarded as at all conclusive.

The Mayor of Ottawa doesn't like reporters making enquiries at the City Hall, and he recently ordered that those of the Journal be denied admission.

Justice Riddell replied that reporters had no less than the same rights as private individuals, entitled to any information to which any member of the public was entitled.

Mr. George F. Henderson, K.C., for the Journal Printing Co., Ltd., said the idea of the injunction was to deal with the obvious and leave the rest to the trial judge.

KRUPP GUN WORKS
A GIGANTIC CONCERN
Employs Seventy Thousand Persons at One Place—Guns of All Sizes Made

The world's greatest gun factory at Essen, Germany, employs something like 70,000 people. It is somewhat difficult to estimate the extent of the Krupp works, for, apart from the steel works and coal mines, Essen, there are iron-ore mines, foundries, shipbuilding yards and steel works in other parts of Germany, also in Spain and in other countries.

ROCKEFELLER'S GREAT GIFT
Part of Enormous Fund to be Given to War Stricken.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—To lose no time in carrying out its decision announced yesterday to help the destitute non-combatants in Europe, with the Rockefeller millions, the Rockefeller foundation was engaged today with plans for getting the first relief ship away to-morrow and immediately sending its own commission to Europe, to direct further work.

This is the first time that the Rockefeller foundation, whose endowments amount to $100,000,000 has undertaken charitable work in such direct and wholesale ways.

ADDRESSED BROTHERHOOD.

Speaking about the war at the P. S. A. on Sunday, Judge Hardy said that the Germans had been preparing for this vast conflict for 30 years. Their two objects were revenge on France and mastery over Britain. The honor of the German nation is ruined for centuries to come. The Germans have been brought up to believe that might is right, and that whatever they do, right or wrong, it is done with God's sanction, hence all this barbarity in which they are indulging. But try as hard as they can, they will never rule Britain, because Britain stands for freedom, and the German nation has not got freedom. They never will have freedom until the military despotism is crushed. Solos were rendered by Mr. J. Hills in a very efficient manner.

TO PULL TOGETHER.

The need of the civic officials pulling together has been felt for some time and for the purpose of discussing the best way of bringing about this desired end a meeting of the city officials was held in the council chambers Friday night. The duties of the various heads were outlined and the manner in which one department should dovetail into another was also outlined by the Mayor. These meetings were to take place at intervals and they were for the purpose of promoting a good spirit among the officials of the city. The spirit which prevailed last night was good and should the officials work in concord with the sentiments there expressed, there is little fear but that all will be harmony within the grand old city hall.

Laid at Rest

The Late Mrs. Ryan.

The funeral of Mrs. John Ryan, who passed away so suddenly on Thursday last took place on Saturday morning from the family home, No. 6 Albion street, and was attended by many loving friends. At St. Basil's church a solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. J. P. Gleeson, of Sarnia, a cousin of the deceased, assisted by Rev. Father Doyle; while very Rev. Dean Brady led the choir in the impressive and beautiful musical service. Mrs. Ryan was for many years a member of St. Basil's choir, and several of the former members who had been associated with her there, assisted in the rendering of the music at the funeral mass. The church was filled with mourning friends. At the grave Dean Brady read the solemn burial service, in which Revs. Father Doyle and Gleeson assisted. The pallbearers were Messrs. E. J. McIntyre and J. P. Ryan, nephews of the deceased; Mr. J. P. McKenna of Toronto, a cousin; and Messrs. M. J. O'Donohue, W. Lahey and Walter Kelly.

Mrs. Ryan was a daughter of the late Thomas Lannon and Mary McDermott and has lived all her life in Brantford. A brother, Thomas H. Lannon, lives in Jacksonville, Fla., and two sisters, Mrs. D. L. Colter of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. G. H. Kane of Los Angeles, Cal., are surviving members of her family. Mrs. E. H. McDermott and Miss Anna McDermott, aunts of the deceased, and Mr. E. L. McDermott, all of Kane, Pa., and Mr. P. Gleeson, of London, were among the mourners.

To the sorrowing husband and children the sympathy of the whole community has been extended, the numerous floral tributes and mass cards received giving evidence of the kindly feeling in which the deceased was held by many kind friends.

At the evening service at St. Basil's on Sunday, Dr. Brady, before his sermon, made mention of the sorrow felt among the congregation at the sudden death of Mrs. Ryan. He assured his hearers that her life was such that she was at all times prepared to assure the final summons.

PARIS STAYS WITH COUNTY

County Council Also Decides to Send Carload of Flour to the Belgian People.

The County Council met on Saturday when they held a brief session. It was decided to send a carload of flour to the relief of Belgian sufferers through the European war. The question of the separation of Paris from the county was gone into and it was decided to endorse the resolution passed by the committee appointed by the county council and from Paris to deal with the matter and report to their councils. This means that Paris will stay with the Brant County as per agreement for the next five years with a fixed assessment of $1,600,000, which will relieve them of all payments for roads and bridges in the county, assumed by the council.

Berlin claims the Germans have captured 296,969 prisoners. As they claimed over 300,000 before the war was three weeks old it looks as if there had been a serious break-down in the German claiming department.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

The Township council met this morning when a fully representative assembly gathered. The business of communications, which were as follows, and the passing of accounts:

The Township engineer reported that the gravel drawn for the McIntyre bridge of poor quality and not suitable. He had instructed the contractor to re-sit it and use it proportionately.

A number of Township ratepayers situated between Mohawk Ave. and Robinson avenue on the Hamilton road asked for drains upon their land and sent a petition in to that effect. It was signed by ten ratepayers.

The Brantford and Brant County poultry association applied for their annual grant.

The E. H. and B. Railway Co. asked the Township if there was any by-law upon the subject of cattle roaming upon the tracks as a man named Charles Curtis, who had a cow killed upon their tracks, claims that he has the right from the Township to allow his cattle to roam upon the highways.

Robert Buckle of 22 Wallace street requests that the Telephone pole in the centre of his driveway be removed. The Machine Telephone Co. has promised to give the matter their attention.

Mrs. H. Boney of Mohawk Street asks for relief.

The matter of Mrs. Isabella Harrison's residence in the Toronto asylum will be dealt with by the council.

City Treasurer A. K. Bunnell has closed list of dependents and wives of volunteers who lived in the Township. There were thirty-three families.

The Council then adjourned to meet again this afternoon.

Private Albert Smith of Montreal was killed at the Canadian contingent's camp at Salisbury.

$6,000 GRANTED FOR CIVIC WORK BY ASSOCIATION

The Brant Patriotic and War Relief Association met in the Y. W. C. A. on Saturday last when the business transacted was light and the meeting of short duration. The principal item of interest was the passing of a resolution granting the Social Service League $6,000 towards the payment of the proposed park drive.

The resolution passed was as follows: That the Brant Patriotic and War Relief association, the importance of conducting civic work and the construction of the Park Drive from the rear of the O. I. B. grounds to West Mill street and along the West Brant Dyke, according to plans and estimates of the City Engineer, and that this association subscribe to the social service league the sum of $6,000 to be expended upon the work, for the cost of labor (this not to include team work), and the Mayor be urged to proceed with this work, as far as possible under present conditions.

The committee dealing with the matter decreed that the union of the Brant Patriotic and War Relief association be left in abeyance for the present.

The sum of $500 in cash was voted towards the Belgian Relief fund. This concluded the business of the association which then adjourned.

The Cabinet of Italy, with Premier Salandra, presented their resignations.

DR. HUTCHINSON AT OLD CHURCH

Former Pastor Park Baptist Visited the City on Sunday.

Large congregations greeted the Rev. Dr. Hutchinson, D.D., at both services yesterday in Park Church. The morning subject was "Christ, the Foundation Corner-stone of His Church," based upon the words found in Eph. 2; 19-22. First, the Reverend gentleman pointed out that having come into the relationship with God, they were no longer strangers or foreigners to Him spiritually, but were fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God, meaning the family or church of God, and secondly the church or household of God, included all denominations of believers in Jesus Christ, and that this great family of the redeemed believers, the church of the living God, rested upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, that is to say upon the faith of the apostles and prophets, the prophets testifying of the Messiah who was to come and resting their faith and belief in the promised Messiah, while the apostles rejoiced in testifying in the Messiah who had come, thus Jesus Christ himself became the chief cornerstone of the spiritual building. Mr. Roberts sang a solo in splendid voice.

Prof. J. R. Cornelius presided at the organ. Many old friends at the close of both services gathered around Dr. Hutchinson, and gave him warm greetings.

Rev. E. Hooper of Bronie, preaches next Sunday in Park Church.

The Rev. C. W. Rose, who recently resigned as pastor of Park Church, had a most hearty reception by the church in Amherst, Nova Scotia, very large congregations attending his ministry each Sunday, and he is much encouraged in his work.

GERMAN PRESS BLAMES RUSSIA, PRAISES TURK

Man Was Also Insolent to the Down-Trodden, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 2—"It must be emphasized that it was not Turkey, but Russia which started the war," says the Lokal Anzeiger, in commenting on the Russian-Turkey situation. "Turkey's attack on Theod-ostia was a natural sequel to the outrageous Russian attack on Turkey's integrity. The breach of peace was Russia's work."

The Tageblische Rundschau says that Turkey's action had been expected for a long time by the whole world after the Anglo-French efforts against the porte.
"Turkey is to be congratulated on its honorable decision," continues the paper. "We sought no allies, but we welcome the heartier, one who takes our part from recognition of its own best advantage."
The Tageblatt says that the first blow struck "in defence by the Turkish fleet in the Black Sea hits hard at Russia, which at the end of the last century held out a threatening hand to seize Armenia and also asked Germany's aid. The paper adds:
"The second blow of the Turkish fleet, it is hoped, will be aimed at England, which for a long time has pursued an ambition for weakening Turkey."

100 MORE BOER REBELS SURRENDER TO BOTH.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The surrender of one hundred rebellious Boers without fighting at Brandville and Understedorsn, South Africa, is reported in a statement from the Official Press Bureau.
A Reuter despatch from Cape Town states that Colonel Conrad Britz, who has been engaged in suppressing the original rebellion started by Lt.-Col.
Maritz in North-west Cape Province, reports that the invasion of the Cops has been finally broken.

Better Aid —Medically is Urgent Need

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The hospital accommodations in Northern France are insufficient to cope with the number of wounded being received, according to a medical correspondent of the Times.

Writing from Boulogne, the correspondent says:
"The hospitals are full, but the stream of wounded continues and will continue. The plain facts are that the hospital accommodations in Northern France are insufficient.
The policy of shipping as many wounded as possible to England is being pushed to a dangerous extreme."
"There is a great and serious lack of efficient and experienced surgeons and nurses. A great majority of the wounds treated are caused by shrapnel. They become infected quickly and demand surgical treatment of the most thorough character. With these cases time is a big factor. It is dangerous to select cases to subject the patient to a long trip to England."
"Many more hospitals must be established in hotels, casinos and houses behind the firing line.
Surgeons of wide experience must be sent. Finally antiseptic surgery must be practiced and not aseptic surgery. The latter, which aims at cleanliness without the use of germ-killing substances, is useless where infected wounds are concerned. There are good reasons for believing it is surgeons of wide experience to have widely practiced. Skilled needed rather than young fledglings. The same holds true of numerous delicate operations. It is equally necessary to have in the hospitals staffs of nurses who have had three or four years' course of training."

A NAVAL BASE

Zeebrugge, about fifteen miles east of guns and nitro from appearances, to utilize the place as a naval base.

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1905, 1906, by A.
Conan Doyle.

"The gold pieces shall be well spent, sir," said he. "What is lost to the Church is gained by the loser."

But a most unexpected chance developed the Bishop's altar cloth of its costly meaning. The King's gerialcoat having struck down a rook, and finding the sport but tame, betough herself suddenly of that noble hero, which she still had to atone for by over Crouksbury Heath. How could she have been so weak as to allow these silly, chattering rooks to enter her away from that lordly bird? Even now it was not late to atone for her mistake. In a great spiral she shot upward until she was over the heron. But what was this? Every fiber of her, from her great to her deck feathers, quivered with jealousy and rage at the sight of this creature, a mere peregrine, who had dared to come between a royal gerialcoat and her quarry. With one sweep of her great wings she was up until she was above her rival. The next instant—"They crab! They crab!" cried the King, with a roar of laughter, following them with his eyes as they bedied down through the air. "Mend thy own altar-cloths, Bishop. Not a great shall you have from me this journey. Pull them apart, falconer, lest they do such harm to an injury.
And now, masters, let us on, for the sun sinks toward the west."

The two hawks, which had come to the ground interlocked with clutching talons and rustled plumes, were torn apart and brought back bleeding and panting to their perches, while the heron after its perilous adventure stepped its way heavily onward to its safety in the quarry of Waverley.
The cortège, which had scattered in the excitement of the chase, came together again, and the journey was once more resumed.

A homestead which had been riding toward them across the moor now quicken his pace and closed swiftly upon them. As he came nearer, the King and the Prince cried out joyfully and waved their hands in greeting.

"It is good John Chandos!" cried the King. "By the rood, I have mis-ered your merry song and your more! Glad am I to see that you have your citole slung to your back.
Whence come you then?"
"I come from Tilford, sire, in the hope that I should meet your majesty."
"It was well thought of. Come, ride here between the Prince and me, and we will believe that we are back in France with our backs to the sea."
"What is your news, Master John?" Chandos' quaint face quivered with suppressed amusement and his eyes twinkled like a star. "Have you had sport, my liege?"
"Poor sport, John. We flew two hawks on the same heron. They crabbed, and the bird got free. But why do you smile so?"
"Because I hope to show you better sport ere you come to Tilford."
"For the hawk? For the heron?"
"A nobler sport than either."
"Is this a riddle, John? What mean you?"
"Nay, to tell all would be to spoil all. I say again that there is rare sport betwixt heron and Tilford, and I beg you, dear lord, to mend your pace that we make the most of the daylight."

Thus adjured, the King set spurs to his horse, and rode toward the cattered heron in the direction which Chandos showed. Presently as they came over a slope they saw beneath them a winding river with an old bridge of stone and wood. On the farther side was a village green with a fringe of cottages and one dark manor-house upon the side of the hill.

The King's expectations had been aroused and his face showed his disappointment.
"Is this the sport that you have promised us, Sir John? How can you make good your words?"
"I will make them good, my liege."
"Where then is the sport?"
"On the high crown of the bridge a rider in armor was seated in his hand, upon a great yellow steed, and there he stands at our head, as was the wont in our fathers' time, ready to measure himself against all comers."
"Of all Englishmen there was no greater knight-errant than the King himself, and none so steeped in every quaint usage of chivalry; so that the situation was after his own heart."
"He is not yet a knight?"
"No, sire, only a Squire."
"Then he must beat himself bravely this day if he is to make good what he has done. Is it fitting that a young untutored Squire should venture to couch his lance against the best in England?"
"He hath given me his card and challenge," said Chandos, drawing a paper from his tunic. "Have I your permission, sire, to issue it?"
"Sorely, John, we have no cavalier more versed in the laws of chivalry than yourself. You know this young man, and you are aware how far he is worthy of the high honor which he asks. Let us hear his defiance."

CHAPTER IX.

The King looked at the motionless figure, at the little crowd of hushed expectant rustics beyond the bridge, and finally at the face of Chandos, which shone with amusement.
"What is this, John?" he asked.
"You remember Sir Eustace Loring, sire?"
"Indeed I could never forget him nor the manner of his death."
"He was a knight errant in his day."
"That indeed, he was—none better known."
"So is his son Nigel, as fierce a young war-hawk as ever yearned to use beak and claws; but held fast in the mew, up to now. This is his trial fight. There he stands at the bridgehead, as was the wont in our fathers'
all comers."
"Of all Englishmen there was no
greater knight-errant than the King
situation was after his own heart."
"He is not yet a knight?"
"No, sire, only a Squire."
"Then he must beat himself bravely
this day if he is to make good what
to couch his lance against the best in England?"
"He hath given me his card and challenge," said Chandos, drawing a paper from his tunic. "Have I your
permission, sire, to issue it?"
"Sorely, John, we have no cavalier
more versed in the laws of chivalry
he asks. Let us hear his defiance."

The knights and squires of the escort, most of whom were veterans of the French war, had been gazing with interest and some surprise at the steel-clad figure in front of them.
Now at a call from Sir Walter Man-ny they assembled round the spot where the King and Chandos had halted. Chandos cleared his throat and read from his paper:
"A. torn squires, of escuyers," so it is heard, gentlemen.
It is a message from the good Squire Nigel Loring of Tilford, son of Sir Eustace Loring, of honorable memory.
Squire Loring awaits you in arms, gentlemen, yonder upon the crown of the old bridge. Thus says he: "For the great desire that I, a most humble and unworthy Squire, entertain, that I may come to the knowledge of the noble gentlemen who ride with my royal master, I now wait on the Bridge of the Way in the hope that some of you may condescend to accept of a small deed of arms upon me, or that I may deliver them from any yow which they may have taken. This I say out of no esteem for myself, but because I may witness the noble bearing of these famous cavaliers and admire their skill in the handling of arms. Therefore, with the help of Saint George, I will hold the bridge with sharpened lance against any or all who may deign to present themselves while daylight lasts."
"What say you to this, gentlemen?" asked he, looking round with laughing eyes.

"Truly it is issued in very good form," said the Prince. "Neither Claricieux nor Red Dragon nor any other herald of arms could be more fitly did he draw it of his own hand."
"He hath a grim old grandmother who is one of the ancient breed," said the King. "It is not the Dame Ermytrude hath drawn a challenge or two before now. But hark ye, sire, I would have a word in your ear—and yours too, most noble Prince. We do not wish to see a challenge which ended by them all three bursting into a shout of laughter."

By the rood, no honorable gentleman should be reduced to such straits," said the King. "It behoves me to look to it. But, how now, gentlemen? This worthy cavalier still waits his answer."
The soldiers had all been buzzing together; but now Walter Manny turned to the King with the result of their counsel.

"If I please your majesty," said he, "we are of opinion that this Squire hath exceeded all bounds in desiring to break a spear with a belted knight ere he has given his proofs. We do not think it right that a Squire ride against him, and with your consent
I have chosen my own body-squire, John Widdicombe, to clear the path for us across the bridge."
"What? You say, Walter, is right and fair," said the King. "Master Chandos, you will tell our champion yonder what hath been arranged. You will advise him ere he goes that it is not fitting that a Squire ride against him, and with your consent
I have chosen my own body-squire,
John Widdicombe, to clear the path
for us across the bridge."

"Such ventures as these where an aspirant for fame would wait for days at a cross-road, a ford, or a bridge, until some worthy antagonist should ride that way, were very common in the old days of adventurous knighterrantry, and they still linger to the minds of all men because the stories of the romancers and the songs of the trouvères were full of such incidents.
Their actual occurrence, however, had become rare and strange. There was the more curiosity, not unminged with amusement, in the thoughts of the courtiers as they watched Chandos ride down to the bridge and commented upon the Post from Sydney. News of the Holland and possibly will extend their journey to the Scandinavian countries to deal with the matter of the shipment of goods from neutral countries to Germany. If the statements of the English papers are correct, Holland and three Scandinavian nations are conducting a flourishing trade with Germany through the United States, and even from England. The shipment of supplies from the United States, and newspapers of all those countries assert that their importations are for their own needs alone, while English consignments of petroleum, grain and food stuffs generally, which far exceed their normal requirements.

"This is surely the Cavalier of the Heavy Heart," said Manny. "What troubles has he, that he should hang his head so?"
"Perchance he hath a weak neck," said the King.

"At least he hath no weak voice," said the Prince. "Nigel is a strong, staid, and stout fellow, an ever to Chandos came to their ears."
"By our lady, he booms like a bittern."

As Chandos rode back again to the King, Nigel exchanged the old ash spear which had been his father's for one of the blunted tournament lances which he took from the hands of a stout archer in attendance. He then rode down to the end of the bridge, where a hundred-yard stretch of green-sward lay in front of him. At the same moment the Squire of Sir Walter Manny, who had been heavily armed by his comrades, spurred forward and took up his position.

The King raised his hand; there was a clang from the falconer's horn, and the two riders, with a throng of their heels and a shake of their bridles, dashed furiously at each other.
In the centre the green strip of marshy meadowland, with the water squaring from the salting hoofs, and the two crouching men, gleaming bright in the evening sun, on one side the half circle of motionless horsemen, some in steel, some in velvet, some in blue, some in red, some and horses all turned to stone; on the other the old peaked bridge, the blue lazy river, the group of open-mouthed rustics, and the dark old manor-house with one green face which peered from the upper window.
A good man was John Widdicombe, but he had met a better that day.
Before that yellow whirlwind of a spear, and the rider who was welded and riveted to his saddle his knees could not hold their grip. Nigel and Pommes were one flying missile, with all their weight and strength and energy centred on the steady end of the lance. Had Widdicombe been struck by a thunderbolt he could not have flown faster or farther from his saddle. Two of some sense did he make his plates clanging like cymbals, ere he lay prone upon his back.

Food Souring in Stomach Causes Indigestion, Gas

"Pape's Diapepsin Ends
all Stomach Distress in Five Minutes."

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother.
If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gasses and acids and cruetate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ pleas-anted and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

ON SECRET MISSION FROM GREAT BRITAIN

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The British Government has sent three of its highest officials to the continent on a most mysterious and important mission. The delegation consists of David Lloyd-George, the chancellor of the exchequer; Lord Haldane, the lord chancellor, and Lord Reading, the chief justice.

The destination of this mission is being kept a profound secret, as well as its object. Its importance is evident from its membership, and apparently the business to be transacted concerns both financial and legal matters. Lord Haldane and the chief justice, who at Sir Ed. Isaac's bequest his elevation to the bench, was the keener legal light at the English bar, rank as about the foremost authorities upon the law in the United Kingdom, and the most plausible expert has it that the three have gone to Holland and possibly will extend their journey to the Scandinavian countries
to deal with the matter of the shipment of goods from neutral countries
to Germany. If the statements of the English papers are correct, Holland
and three Scandinavian nations
are conducting a flourishing trade
with Germany through the United
shipment of supplies from the United States, and newspapers of all those countries
their own needs alone, while English
their normal requirements.

CRUISERS CAPTURED

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The Post from Sydney, New South Wales says it is reported that the German cruisers Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau have been captured as the result of the failure of their coal supplies. There is no official confirmation of the report to be had here.

HIGHER TEA PRICES PREDICTED

In London, Calcutta and Colombo teas are fetching average higher prices to-day than they have for twenty-two years, with prospects of the market going still higher. The crop has been large, but quality poor, and the sinking of the steamships "Diplomat" and "City of Winchester," with some million pounds on board, has more than acted as a set-off to the large crop.
