FRENCH AVIATOR FLEW OVER ALL GERMANY AND DROPPED PROCLAMATIONS ON BERLIN

Possible to Bomb Open Towns, He Told Berlin, But He Refrained Because He Did Not Wish to Kill Women and Children—Was on Way to Russian Lines

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, July 24.—Lieutenant Marchal, of the French aviation corps, last month left French soil and flew over the German capital, upon which he dropped proclamations, and then continued his flight, intending to land within the Russian lines. He was forced to descend, however, in Poland and was taken prisoner by the Germans.

The proclamations dropped by Lt. Marchal on Berlin stated that though it was possible, the aviator refrained from bombing an open town, and "thus killing the women and innocent children."

Lt. Marchal made a continuous flight of about 807 miles, most of which he travelled in darkness. The official communication given out to-day, telling of Aviator Marchal's achievement said:

Set Out From Nancy "On June 20th at 9.30 o'clock in the evening, sub-Lieut. Marchal ascended at Nancy on board a Westring monoplane of a special type, taking with him a supply of fuel sufficient to last fourteen hours. His mission was to cross Germany at a low altitude in order to drop proclamations on the capital, Berlin, and then to descend in Russia."

Only One Hundred Miles Away "This audacious flight was accomplished point by point, and after flying all night, Lieut. Marchal was compelled to descend at 8.30 o'clock in the morning of June 21, near Cheml, Russian Poland, at least 100 kilometres (62 miles) from the Russian lines. He was made a prisoner."

"The proclamation which Lieut. Marchal dropped on Berlin began with the words: 'We could bombard the open town of Berlin, and thus kill the women and innocent children, but we are content to throw only the following proclamation.'"

"Lieut. Marchal was interested at Salzerbach, where he forwarded to the Emperor a postal card giving these details: "His Own Story "I was made a prisoner at eight o'clock on the morning of 21st. at Cheml. The Austrian officers did not believe that I accomplished my task, but the proof later arrived, and they were obliged to how to the reality."

"It was the failure of the plugs which stopped me, and I was obliged to change two of them, and to start the motor again. Unfortunately it would have been necessary to change two more plugs, and at this moment I was taken prisoner. You may judge of my chagrin."

"Aviator Marchal, in the course of his journey covered in four days a flight a distance of about 1,300 kilometres (807 miles), most of which he travelled during the night."

BRITISH BEYOND THIRD LINE; GETTING CLOSE TO MARTINPUICH

Attacked on a Front of Eight Miles, Penetrated into Pozieres, and Wheeling Round the Village Drove Wedge Between it and Bapaume

London, July 24.—The British, including Australian troops, by a midnight thrust on a front of eight miles between the Artois and the Somme, carried a stretch of five miles, penetrated into Pozieres, and wheeling around the village have driven a wedge across the Bapaume highroad between Pozieres and Bapaume.

The German defence line between Pozieres and Guillemont bore the brunt of the attack, and it was here that the British registered their largest gains. More important than the seizure of terrain however, is the fact that General Haig has forestalled the process of preparation, and for which large Teuton reinforcements had been gathered behind the front.

The initiative is still firmly in the hands of the British, and it is their duty to say what the next movement will be. That the British gains were attended with heavy losses is indicated in reports from the German grand headquarters and correspondents' dispatches from the front. In one place to the right of Pozieres the British failed to completely level the wire entanglements erected by the Germans, and the English troops attacking on that front were subjected to a very heavy fire. Despite this, they succeeded in penetrating into Guillemont, and now hold sections of the outposts. In addition the British for a time regained complete control of Longueval, where there has been heavy fighting for the last week. Later, the official report states, they were forced to ground in the northern part of the village before a strong German counter attack.

Beyond German Third Line The gain at Pozieres puts the Eng-

Compulsory Service For Women in Harvest Field

West Prussian Women and Children Must Help Gather in the Crops Under Penalty of Fine and Imprisonment.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 24.—(New York World cable)—Compulsory service in the harvest fields has been introduced in West Prussia for all women and children who are exempted by doctors' orders or by the Provincial president, according to a despatch from Amsterdam to The Daily Mail.

The general commanding the Twentieth army corps of the District has issued orders that this district mobilization is to be carried out strictly. A refusal to work in the field is to be punished by one year's imprisonment or by a fine of $375.

The local mayors or presidents of the local government boards are to effect mobilization and the work is to be paid for at the usual local rates. The only appeal against a summons is to the provincial president.

POZIERES NEARLY ALL CAPTURED BY BRITISH; RUSSIANS BREAK THROUGH ON THE RIGA FRONT

Steadily Advancing British Soldiers Gain More of Village, Also Ground Near High Wood

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 24.—British troops have captured a large part of the village of Pozieres, says the official British statement issued this afternoon. They also gained some ground near High Wood, in the direction of Guillemont.

The night, the statement adds, was comparatively calm. The statement follows: "Apart from continuous heavy shelling by both sides during the night, comparative calm followed the severe fighting of yesterday."

"Yesterday between High Wood and Guillemont, repeated counter-attacks by the enemy gained for him no advantage, and very heavy casualties were inflicted by our artillery and machine gun fire."

"We gained some ground near High Wood, in the direction of Guillemont. In the neighborhood of Pozieres, we secured important advantages, in spite of the stubborn defense of the enemy, and a large portion of the village is now in our hands. Here we have captured two guns and sixty more prisoners."

MUST AGREE OR NO BILL

Asquith Tells Redmond That No Debatable Solution to Be Presented.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 24.—Premier Asquith to-day told John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, in the House of Commons, that the Government did not propose to introduce an Irish bill in regard to which there does not appear to be the prospect of a substantial agreement by all political parties.

Mr. Asquith later made a similar announcement in the House of Commons. The premier said the Government had no intention of introducing any Home Rule Bill with regard to which there was no substantial agreement among all parties.

NEW AGENCY STARTS. London, July 24.—A Reuter despatch from Amsterdam says: A new agency called the Deutsche Nachrichten Verkehrs Gesellschaft has been founded in Berlin. Its apparent object is to supply propaganda for the German peace committee under Prince Charles Von Wedel.

Forced Back in Carpathians

By Special Wire to the Courier. Vienna, July 23.—Via London, 7.54 a.m.—Under the menace of a heavy Russian assault the Austrians in the Carpathian region of southern Bukovina southeast of Tatarov have withdrawn towards the main ridge of the Carpathians, the war office officially announced to-day.

RUSSIANS DRIVE ENEMY BACK 12 MILES ON RIGA FRONT, AND PROGRESS ON WIDTH OF 30 MILES

London, July 24.—10.45 a.m.—The Germans have been driven back twelve miles at one point on the Riga front, according to a Reuter's despatch from Petrograd. Progress for the Russians is claimed on a front running from the Gulf of Riga to Uxull, a distance of more than 30 miles, the greatest advance being made along the coast line.

The despatch says that fighting went on without pause for four days prior to Sunday. It has now halted as the Russians require time to consolidate the ground they have gained.

Steady Advance in Caucasus. Petrograd, July 24.—Via London, 1 p.m.—Forces of Emperor Nicholas operating in Turkish Armenia are steadily advancing upon the fortified town of Erzinga from the north and the south, says the official statement issued to-day. On the east the Russian advance guards are within fifteen miles of the place which is eighty miles southwest of Erzerum.

Commission to Investigate Military Matters May Suit Itself. By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 24.—4.45 p.m.—Introducing a bill for the appointment of a commission to investigate the Dardanelles and Mesopotamia campaigns, Premier Asquith to-day announced in the House of Commons that the commissioners would be given discretion as to the privacy of otherwise of their proceedings.

Pope in Last Resting Place

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, July 24.—A despatch from Rome to the Havas Agency says that at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, the coffin containing the body of Leo XIII. was transported to its new resting place in St. Peter's in the chapel of the Presentation. The ceremony was private, the assistants being all high ecclesiastics. Cardinal Merry Del Val, as archbishop of St. Peter's, formally inspected the coffin, and found that while the wooden shell disclosed a split some centimetres in extent, the inner zinc receptacle was intact. The ceremony lasted a quarter of an hour.

SIX ENEMY TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS ENGAGED; FIVE WERE SEEN RETURNING

Six Enemy Boats Engaged in a Running Fight Off Schouwen Bank, During Which They Were Hit Repeatedly—Five Were Seen Going Home, Two Listing Badly

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 24.—2.02 p.m.—Six German torpedo boat destroyers were engaged in a running fight by British light forces off Schouwen bank yesterday, says an official statement issued by the British admiralty this afternoon. The German vessels were repeatedly hit, but they succeeded in reaching the Belgian coast.

The text of the official statement says: "At midnight of July 23, while near the North Hinder light vessel, some of our light forces sighted three enemy destroyers who retired before damage could be inflicted on them."

"Subsequently off Schouwen bank six enemy destroyers were engaged and a running fight ensued, during which the enemy was repeatedly hit, but he succeeded in reaching the Belgian coast."

"One of our vessels was hit once and one officer and one man were slightly wounded. There was no casualty."

"A heavy firing was heard off the Dutch coast all day Sunday, says a despatch from The Hague to the Exchange Telegraph Company. Five German destroyers were observed returning towards Zebrugge. Two of them had a heavy list."

CANADIANS KEEP GERMANS BUSY

Day by Day Artillery Puts German Defences out of Business. MAKE RAIDS EVERY NIGHT. Men from Edmonton, Toronto, Montreal and the East in Them.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Ottawa, July 24.—The Canadian eye-witness to-day says: There was no cessation to the activities of our front line battalions day by day our artillery frequently silenced the enemy's batteries, destroyed his earthworks, cut his wire entanglements and dispersed his working parties.

The Germans appeared to rely more than usually upon their trench mortars. Canadian Guns Better "In daily duels with this class of weapon, our trench guns maintained their ascendancy. There was very little hostile tipping, owing to the superiority of our sharpshooters. It was noticeable that German observation balloons were pulled down quickly upon the approach of our aeroplanes."

Endless Raiding "Incessant labor by our men effected great improvement in our defenses and communications. Enemy working parties were repeatedly hit, most every night small raids of patrol encounters took place. A patrol of two non-commissioned officers and eight men, under Lieutenant Galt, from a Winnipeg battalion, approached an enemy post. Fifteen bombs were thrown among the garrison and pointblank fire was opened up with a machine gun. The enemy suffered at least five casualties and only four of the garrison were able to escape."

Nova Scotia Men In It In front of a Nova Scotia battalion a patrol of five men, under Lieut. Gale and Corp. Ganning went out and as they approached the German wire, observed two parties of the enemy, each about to escape. Our party returned without loss. Another tight patrol, under Lieut. Sapti, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, engaged an enemy patrol with bombs. Six casualties were inflicted upon the German."

One night about eleven o'clock, an enemy patrol was observed trying to escape and a party went out, attempting to cut off retreat. Our patrol at Hinder Light as the result of striking a mine. Ten members of the vessel's crew were drowned.

BANTAMS GOT ONE SATURDAY

Expect Two More to Report This Morning—Going Out of Town This Week.

Through the efforts of the local Bantam recruiting office, one man on Saturday availed himself, of "the small man's opportunity," in the person of William Cooper, of English nationality, 41 years of age and a widower, residing at 25 Spring St. Two more are expected to report at the office for attestation this morning. Lt. Walsh visited the city this morning, bringing with him instructions for Ptes. Maurice and Haley, who will be absent from the city for a part of the week, engaged in the work of recruiting elsewhere. All things taken into consideration, the Bantams have every reason to feel satisfied with the work they have accomplished in this city within the last few days, but the conviction grows more and more, that so far as the 216th is concerned, Brantford is a well worked field.

STREET CARS COLLIDE: ONE PERSON INJURED

Hamilton, July 24.—Proceeding at the rate of thirty miles an hour and carrying twenty passengers, at 10.10 o'clock Sunday night, an eastbound Jockey club belt line car, in charge of Motorman Bigris and Conductor Ferrell, crashed into car No. 441, on which were thirty people. The latter car was in charge of Conductor Freeborn and Motorman Cummings, and had stopped at a street between Park and Kenilworth avenue on Main street to allow a passenger to alight. On this section of the railway line no lights have been installed. Several motor cars with flashing lights, proceeding west, also obscured the view. Constable Alex. English was riding in the vestibule of the first car when the accident occurred. His head was forced through the window and Motorman Cummings was hurled backwards into the car. The thirty passengers were thrown in a heap, but beyond sustaining minor bruises no one was injured. It was reported that a woman had sustained a broken back, but the rumor could not be verified as she had been removed to her home before the police ambulance arrived. The second car was larger than the first and completely telescoped. The vestibules were shattered, and Motorman Bigris' escape was miraculous.

"I drank all that medicine, mother," said little Reia Robar, the three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Norman Robar, of Kerr Lake, Friday afternoon, referring to the contents of a bottle which supposedly contained laudanum. Three hours later, despite all that medical aid could do, the little girl was dead. The incident was a tragedy for the mother and a neighbor, Mrs. Englehart, brought over a bottle of medicine which it was thought contained laudanum. She laid it on a shelf, and a few minutes later the child came to her with the glass stopper in her hand, telling her the terrible truth. The incident took place yesterday afternoon at Haileybury cemetery.

RECIPES FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

The Recipe.
The fruit is prepared in the ordinary way, the jars are cleaned and sealed while the rubbers and tops are boiling. The fruit is then placed in the jars, in which COLD water is placed. When the jars have been sealed air-tight they are placed in a boiler filled with cold water and brought to the boiling point. Berries will be removed when the boiling point is reached, while large fruits, such as peaches, cherries, plums and apricots, should get 20 to 30 minutes boiling. Keep cover of wash boiler on tight.

A Good Substitute for Can Rubbers.
When about to close a jar of preserved goods, the housewife very often finds herself short of a rubber band, or else the last one breaks. A very good substitute can be made from newspaper. This is better than other paper, because, as plumbers say, "it packs better." They often use it to make small pipe joints air and water tight. Cut several layers of the paper the required size, put them on the can and screw the lid down as tightly as possible. If preferred, rings of soft leather, cut from the tops of old shoes, may be used, but they are not as satisfactory as those made from newspapers.

Raspberry Crown.
2 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons corn starch, 1 cup boiling raspberry juice, 1 egg, pinch of salt, lemon extract. Cook until creamy. Put into moulds. When cold serve with raspberries or whipped cream.

Raspberry Tapioca.
1 cup white sugar, 1/4 cup butter, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons buttermilk, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon soda, nutmeg, 1 cup raspberries, (to be added last). Bake in layers.

Raspberry Vinegar.
Put 1 quart of raspberries into a suitable dish, pour over them a quart of good vinegar, let it stand 24 hours, then strain through a diaphanous bag and pour this liquor on another quart of berries, do this for 3 or 4 days successively and strain it. Make it very sweet with loaf sugar, bottle and seal it.

Raspberry Creams.
Scruff enough confectioners' sugar into a teaspoonful of raspberry juice to form a thick paste; roll it into a ball between the palms of the hands.

Raspberry Shortcake.
Bake sponge cake in two layers, or split one thick cake; put in between them a thick layer of berries, cream.

FRUIT BULLETIN
Every housewife can put down a good supply of Cutbert Raspberries. The very best of all Niagara Peninsular growth. Black Currants are also now at their best for canning. Montmorency cherries are at their best. Have your grocer order at once.

hands. Put a lump French Cream into a teacup and set it into a basin of boiling water, stirring it until it is melted; then drop a few drops of cochineal coloring to make it a pale pink, or a few drops of raspberry juice, being careful not to add enough to prevent its hardening. Now dip these little balls into the sugar cream, giving them two coats. Lay aside to harden.

Raspberry Pie
To 2 cups raspberries add 1 cup of and on top put whipped cream and more berries.

Raspberry Fruit Basket
Bake plain paste over inverted patty pans, roll paste 1/4 inch thick, and cut in strips 1/4 inch wide. Twist strips in pairs and bake over a 1/4 lb. baking powder box, thus making handles. Fill cases with raspberries sprinkled with sugar. Garnish with whipped cream.

Forced Back in Carpathians

London, July 24.—Sir William Ramsay, K.C.B., the famous scientist, died this morning.

Sir William Ramsay was born in Glasgow. He had been a professor in chemistry at the University of College, Bristol, since 1889, and was elected to the Glasgow Academy, and subsequently to the University. While at the University of Glasgow he went into the laboratory as an analyst and attended the lectures of Lord Kelvin. Then he went to the University of Tubingen for several years. After taking his degree there he went back to Glasgow, and at the age of twenty-one became assistant to the technical chair of chemistry at what is now Anderson College. From there he went as tutorial assistant of chemistry to Glasgow University for six

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID SICKNESS

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions, and are responsible for the readiness with which many people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. Get Hood's. No other medicine acts like it.

Dr. Elizabeth C. Coord, the first fully qualified and registered practicing lady physician in New Brunswick.

After the discovery of argon Sir William discovered helium in certain minerals. Next came krypton. He subsequently found neon, then xenon, in seventy million parts of air—a fraction so infinitesimal that the whole quantity Sir William was able to find during all his experiments would only fill a thimble.

"I kept half a day's journey behind Keary, fishing out a stone from the covering of his lame foot, so 'bad luck' wouldn't touch you, couldn't help it, captain. I wanted to be in on this game. It was a pre-arranged trip, especially in the department of the commissary. In the grounds there were always bananas and oranges. Higher up it was not for your men left a good deal of good meat hanging on the bushes in the camps. Here's your $100. You're near there now, captain. Let me in on a scrapping tomorrow."

"Not for a hundred times a hundred would I have the thinnest thing wrong with my plans now," I said, "whether caused by evil planets or blunders of mere man. But yonder Agass Prias, five miles away and clear road, I am of the mind to do Saturday and all his satellites to our success now. At any rate, I will not turn away tonight as weary a traveler and as good a soldier as you are, Lieutenant Keary. Manuel Orment is there by the brightest fire. I'll march again at daylight."

"Keary thanked me briefly, feelingly, and moved away. "He had gone scarcely a dozen paces when a sudden flash of bright lightning illuminated the surrounding hills. A sizzling, growling, hissing sound like a capping steam filled my ears. I followed a roar as of distant thunder which grew louder every instant. A terrifying noise culminated in a maddening explosion which seemed to rock the hills as an earthquake would. The illumination waxed to a glare fierce that I clapped my hands to my eyes to save them. THE SITUATION

The British drive still continues with great steadiness and much success. Territorials and Australian troops by a midnight thrust, carried German outer works for a stretch of five miles, and penetrated to the village of Pozieres where at this writing a fierce struggle is still in progress. The losses on both sides must have been very heavy. It is the opinion of military critics that the initiative still rests firmly in the hands of General Haig and that the "push" for the Rhine is well under way. One Berlin paper contains a despatch from a correspondent at the front in which he says: "After two years of war the Angel of Destruction is passing through the ranks of the German army with a fury and a mercilessness as if the death dance of battles had only just begun. Whilst our enemies suffer fearful losses, we do not blind our eyes to the new mourning come to us, nor over the seriousness of the fate of this decisive battle raging on all fronts."

The Kaiserites may continue to hide their faces from the people, but the fact will speedily become known to them, nevertheless, that the tide has definitely turned. In the three weeks of the present Anglo-French offensive 26,223 Germans have been taken prisoners and large quantities of ammunition captured.

The Russians are now driving the Germans back on the Riga front, and the Grand Duke continues his successes in the Caucasus.

In fact, from every direction the news makes bad reading for Holy Willie and his precious tribe.

ANZAC.

One of the words which has come to stay in connection with the war is the above.

As everybody is well aware the A stands for Australia, and the N for New Zealand, but probably few have hitherto been cognizant of the circumstances under which the entire word was formed.

General Birdwood, commanding the expeditionary forces in Gallipoli, in his introduction to the "Anzac Book" written and illustrated by men in the ranks, writes: "When I took over the command of the Australian and New Zealand army corps in Egypt a year ago I was asked to select a telegraph code address for my army corps, and then adopted the word 'Anzac.' Later on when we had effected our landing in April last, I was asked by General Headquarters to accept a name for the beach where we had made good our precarious footing, and then asked that this might be recorded 'Anzac Cove'—a name which the bravery of our men has now made historical, while it will remain a geographical landmark for all time."

JAPAN AND HER ASPIRATIONS.

Japan has fully established her right to be regarded as one of the great powers, but she always exacts a handsome return for her friendship and her favors.

Dr. J. Iyemago, Japanese trade representative in the States, during the course of a recent interview, said that at present Japanese sympathy was with Britain and her allies, but he added that if England proved lukewarm in return, it might well be that "Japan would fly into another's arms." Later on he ventured to express great admiration for "German efficiency."

Japan's great ambition of course is with regard to China. Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey, K.C., of Toronto, who has just returned from a lengthy business trip to the Flowery Kingdom, gives a very interesting interview on the subject. He expresses the opinion that Japan undoubtedly has had a part in keeping the Chinese revolution alive and that the death of Yuan Shi Kai, erstwhile President, came with great satisfaction to that country as he was the one strong man who opposed her designs.

"Japan controls the Pacific. Yes, she kept her bargain with her ally for North Sea purposes, and has policed the Pacific ever since. She captured Germany's big fortress at Sing Yan, in Shantung, China. And she has supplied Russia, her old enemy, with the guns and munitions she has used in the recent drives, and has given her the new explosive of which the Germans and Austrians talk so much. But she has made Russia pay."

Mr. Lindsey goes on to point out that after the present war started, the Japanese supply of munitions to Russia, suddenly stopped. When Petrograd asked for the reason, the answer came that the supply would be resumed after Russia had deeded the key of Manchuria to Japan—that is the railroad from Mukden, through Manchuria to Harbin. Russia came to time and the flow of munition was resumed.

Mr. Lindsey conveys the further information that Japan looks with jealous eyes upon the fact that John Bull enjoys the bulk of the Chinese trade and that many Japanese papers are now openly advocating the breaking of the Alliance with Great Britain—that is, unless the latter is prepared to stand more aside in the East.

THREE GOOD MEN.

Canada has a big problem to face to-day with regard to railway matters, especially in the case of the Canada Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific, the one encouraged by, and the other brought into being under, Liberal auspices. In fact, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was in so much of a hurry with regard to saddling the country with the G. T. R. burden, that in the House he prayed heaven that the move would not be too late.

However, it is the actual and not the political responsibility which has to be faced just now, and the Borden Government did well to decide upon a commission of three experts to report upon the whole subject. They have done well in the choice made, the trio comprising three thoroughly representative and capable men of Canada, Great Britain and the United States.

The Old Land is represented by Sir George Paish, recognized as one of the foremost financial and business authorities. His services and advice have been frequently used by the British Government.

Mr. Alfred H. Smith, who hails from across the border, is not known much in Canada, but he occupies a very high place, indeed, in the railway world of the States. He is at the head of the New York Central lines and is an expert both with regard to railroad construction and management.

Sir Henry Drayton, is chairman of the Canadian Board of Railway Commissioners. That is a very difficult post to fill, but Sir Henry has measured up to the job in excellent style, manifesting throughout keen judgment, and invariably holding the balance true as between the corporations and the municipalities.

Thus we have the splendid combination of (1) a financial expert noted for his successful elucidation of many such large problems, (2) a practical railway man, and (3) a lawyer who has for some time held a post which has made him thoroughly familiar with all sides of railway questions.

From their investigations much will be expected, and much no doubt will result in the clearing up of the problem whether for Government ownership or otherwise.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

First it was the celestial plumbing which got out of order, and now, by heck, it is the heating apparatus.

M. Sazonoff, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs has resigned. That's not because he says "enough" with regard to the war.

Mayor Church of Toronto, apparently doesn't find the running of that city enough for his superfluous abilities, so he is casually throwing off interviews with regard to his views of Camp Borden, which he is going to take into Parliament, the need for a conservative general convention and a few other things like that. Then perhaps, it's his heat.

"The Brantford Courier is still talking of 'the dynamic force' of Sir Sam Hughes. Even good Tory papers now spell it 'dynamic.'"—Toronto Globe.

Germans Try in Vain to Break Through French and Russian Wall.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Paris, July 23.—2.40 p.m.—The new French lines south of Soyecourt on the Somme front have held against a German counter-attack, the war office announced this afternoon. The German attempt made last night broke down under the French fire. The artillery battle along this front continues.

The statement follows: "Artillery fighting continued on the Somme front. 'South of Soyecourt a night attack against our new positions failed under our fire."

"On the east bank of the Meuse there was an artillery battle in the Fleury sector and hand grenade attempts against our trenches were repulsed by machine gun fire. On the west of the front the night was calm."

Russians Hold Fast.

Petrograd, July 23.—Via London. Teutonic troops in Volynia tried last night to break the Russian line along the River Stokhod near Berezhinica, 27 miles northeast of Kovel, but failed and were compelled to retire, the war office reports.

Springstead of this city, and Misses Mabel, Maud and Lily in England; also four sons, all on active service: Alfred Edward with the 12th battalion; John Fred with the 19th; Charles on the submarine "Tartar," and William in the Army Service Corps. She leaves also one brother, Frank Reeves of London, England. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the late home of the deceased, 250 Wellington St. to Mt. Hope cemetery.

One man was killed and three seriously injured when a cable in the Asbestos Corporation pit, Theford Mines, Que., broke, and a box filled with rock fell on them.

BOMB KILLS SIX AND INJURES 40

San Francisco, July 24.—At least six persons were killed and more than two score injured by the explosion here Saturday of a timed bomb in the midst of a throng viewing a preparedness parade.

The police are holding Frank Josephson, a lodger in a sailor's boarding house, who denied any knowledge of the crime. The explosion occurred at Steuart and Market streets, San Francisco's main thoroughfare. The bomb concealed in a suit case packed with cartridges, bullets, gas pipe, glass and other scrap iron, blew a gap through the crowd, blasting men, women and children. The one-story brick building against which the suit case stood was wrecked. The holiday throng, cheering a contingent of veterans of the Spanish-American war, became a shambles. The blare of bands and the roar of drums drowned the cries of the injured, but the sidewalk was strewn with torn bodies. The parade, however was not interrupted.

"Two women standing beside me were blown to bits," said Mrs. Kinsley Von Loom, who, with her two children, was injured. The police say it is possible that some bodies were blown out of existence.

Sunday was spent in shadowing anarchist headquarters and investigating rumors.

LACK OF WATER FOR TERRACE HILL PEOPLE IS BEGINNING TO MAKE SITUATION VERY ACUTE

Courier Representative Visited That Portion of the City and Got First Hand Stories of What Trouble is - Letters From Indignant Citizens to This Paper

The residents of Terrace Hill are hot with indignation over the water supply—or, as they say, the lack of it. One and all express themselves quite strongly against a state of affairs they claim must be changed, and that forthwith. Already steps have been taken to perfect some sort of organization to place the cause of the residents before the city, and a meeting will be called shortly to start the ball rolling.

Looked Over the Ground
Following the numerous letters of protest received by the Courier Saturday (which are published to-day) over the statement made by water officials that practically half the water supply of the city was used by the Hill, a Courier representative journeyed to Terrace Hill Saturday night to look over the ground.

All Tell Same Story.
At first sight, things up there appear to be satisfactory. The Courier man happened along about 8.30, and the water pressure, as manifested by lawn sprinkling, appeared to be quite strong, as strong as in the lower portions of the city. But that appearance was merely the gilded surface, as was found upon inquiry. Several residents were interviewed on the subject, and their answers on the water question were all unanimous.

No Water At All
Thursday night the pressure was so low water was scarcely obtainable. Friday night, the water was off altogether, for some hours prior to 9 o'clock in the evening. Not one drop of water was obtainable anywhere, except that which was fetched in pails from wells in Grandview. Sick people and children very much from this state of affairs.

Water Off Saturday Night
Saturday night the water was off again, no supply coming through the taps just at the time people came home from work and required water to wash in and clean up, not to mention meals. Again the residents had to go many weary yards to wells outside the city limits to fetch water for their own use. According to the stories told, it is by no means an infrequent thing for the water supply in the taps to peter out. The Hill residents forced to trudge with pails to the wells.

What the People Say Themselves

Brantford, July 21st, 1916.
Dear Sir—Would you kindly allow space for the following few remarks in regard to item under the heading "Local News." "Terrace Hill Using too Much Water," it being observed by the officials of the board of water commissioners. This evening, the people of Terrace Hill can read the city officials report and then walk to some neighbor adjoining the city limits for a drop of water from a well to drink.

The pressure was extremely low up here last evening, so low in fact that many did not even try to water lawns. To-night, we are entirely without water. Of course people on the hill do not receive many of the privileges of the city, we are probably looked upon as being weak-minded, when they expect us to digest the absurd accusation.

It is only a short time ago, men came home to their dinners only to learn there was no water. We were not even notified that the water would be off, consequently no one was prepared. The same instance has happened again this evening, with children crying for a drop of water to drink, with water flowing in abundance through the day in the parks and bowling lawns.

In speaking of the very small revenue derived from this part of the city, if they figure the percentage of water used here, and charge us accordingly, our water bills would be easy. People on the Hill are already dissatisfied in many ways, but when it comes to adding insult to injury, they will find the percentage of the ratepayers that supply that and very small percentage of revenue spoken of, inclined to join and get what we pay for.

RESIDENT TERRACE HILL.
Mathematical Progression
The Editor Courier—
Sir—I am a resident on Terrace Hill. The city charges me $5.00 extra water rate for the right to use a hose. I can always use the hose, but I can rarely get any water. At 6 o'clock, by carefully holding the nozzle over each individual flower, I manage by 7 to "water" about one square yard. Then for another hour I shake the drops out of the pipe and it is then time to shut off the air-bubbles. If I remember to hang my kettle under the house tap before "using the hose" enough dew generally collects in that two hours of the Commissioners to give the city proper water service no matter what it costs. I have not acquired the habit of writing letters to the papers, but I felt that I could not let statements that were so very wide of the truth for what we use; pay well, and as ratepayers try to live up to the law and requirements laid down. It is unfair to say we do not pay our proportion. We do; and if any one breaks the law, you can bring them to justice, without rushing into print with statements like we have before us. While I am writing, not one drop of water can we get, and for two and one-half hours not one drop of water was to be had for sick ones, and crying children. Shame on such conditions, while below the hill water is running freely and lawns are being watered. Public parks use it all day long. G.T.R. lawns use it all day, yet poor children cannot get a drink of water for hours. We voted thousands of dollars to improve service with property owners as there will be no connection in this part of the city, and were again deceived. Now we as property holders, will see to it that we get these things, which were promised us long ago. The last straw breaks the camel's back. The Allies are fighting for justice, and will get it. And now Terrace Hill, being British Empire, for ourselves and our families, in regard to this water supply, and we will see to it that we get it. Our Commissioners must not think for a moment that open-air service was held yesterday at the O.S.B. by the 215th Battalion, a most inspiring sermon being delivered by the chaplain, Capt. the Rev. S. E. McKegney. A class in bombing opened this afternoon under Lt. H. K. Wood, for members of the 215th Battalion, while the N.C.O.'s class will commence tomorrow, under Capt. Sweet. Both classes are well attended. The final inoculation is being given this morning to those of the 215th Battalion who did not receive it on Thursday last, including the Battalion band and the men on guard during the last week.

215TH LAUNCHES BIG CAMPAIGN

Recruiting Will Be Vigorously Prosecuted During Present Week.

War has been declared once more by the 215th Battalion upon the eligible civilians of Brantford, and a determined and energetic campaign has been launched against them. During the past few weeks the policy of watchful waiting has been more or less adhered to by the Battalion, but today sees an abandonment of that platform and a re-establishment of the "no quarter" slogan. Official recruiting of the first day's skirmishes will not be available until tomorrow. Despite the overpowering heat and other inconveniences, a splendid open-air service was held yesterday at the O.S.B. by the 215th Battalion, a most inspiring sermon being delivered by the chaplain, Capt. the Rev. S. E. McKegney. A class in bombing opened this afternoon under Lt. H. K. Wood, for members of the 215th Battalion, while the N.C.O.'s class will commence tomorrow, under Capt. Sweet. Both classes are well attended. COOP AND LENT'S CIRCUS
Set the Alarm Clock, and See the Wonder. Circus, that the day early to-morrow morning, the trains bearing the Coop and Lent New Monster Shows will roll in on the side track of the Grandview Railway, arriving from Hamilton.

Did you ever see a great circus unload or watch the vast tented city being swung into place? The tremendous size of the Coop and Lent Circus will surprise you. Here are some of the things that will greet you when you see the show. One of the largest portable kitchens you ever saw, with a range weighing down town or on the lower levels, but the most glaring proof of the insincerity of the statement is that beginning about seven-thirty o'clock, there was no pressure, and the taps on the Hill were dry, and remained in that condition until about nine o'clock, consequently if there was such prodigious wastage, the Commissioners had better look for a hole in the bucket to that discovered in the Sarnia system. If the residents of this burg only pay a small percentage of the water cost, it is quite in keeping with the source secured, for before writing this, I carried a pail of water from a neighbor's to have something to drink on a hot night, as the tap is dry. J. McDONALD, 14 St. George St., city.

A SURPRISING STATEMENT
Brantford, July 22, 1916.
To Editor of the Courier.
Dear Sir—In your issue of the 21st instant I notice a statement to the effect that the Water Commissioners have made a test to find out what part of the city was using most water, and that they have found that Terrace Hill was using as much water as all the rest of the city. I must say that this is a most surprising statement for any man that knows anything about the situation, to make. I cannot think for a moment how the man, whoever he was, that made that statement, could expect any sane man to believe it. I think I would be a great deal nearer the truth if I would say that if the bill for the water on Terrace Hill was wide open it would not take the quantity of water that the rest of the city consumes. I want to tell you that it is only within one last few years that the Hill has gotten anything like a water service, and even now it is very far from perfect.

Another unwarranted statement was that the revenue from Terrace Hill did not warrant the expenditure. I did not warrant the expenditure. I did not tell you that the Hill never did get anything like value for the taxes they pay. I could mention some parts of the city that get a good deal more in return for the taxes they pay than the Hill gets, and outside of that fact altogether, it is the first duty

FRENCH AND RUSSIANS MADE FINE ADVANCES

Enemy Pushed Back in Fleury Sector and Prisoners Taken.

HINDENBURG IN DANGER

Russian Forces South of Riga Pierced First Hun Line.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 22.—The official statement issued by the war office to-night says:
"The day passed without the occurrence of any important incident on the British front."
"Yesterday our airmen destroyed six hostile aeroplanes and forced several others to descend to the ground in a damaged condition. One of our machines was brought down by gunfire and two others are missing."
Success at Verdun.
Paris, July 22.—The official statement issued by the war office to-night reads:
"On the right bank of the Meuse we made some progress in the region of Fleury and captured seventy prisoners. There was no event of importance on the rest of the front."
"Contrary to the statement made in the communication of this morning, all the French aeroplanes which took part in the bombardment of the Metz-Sablons station have returned to our lines."
Broke Through Line
Petrograd, July 22, via London.—Fierce engagements have taken place south of Riga, and Russian troops have penetrated the German first line at several points, says the official statement issued by the war office to-night.
In the Caucasus, the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas have occupied Ardasa, about thirteen miles north-west of Gumushkaneh, on the Chit River.
The statement follows:
"On the left wing of the Riga positions, there have been several fierce engagements with the enemy. Our troops penetrated the enemy's front line works at several points. The artillery of both sides are engaged heavily."
"On the left bank of the Lipa, near the village of Zvenichka, east of Gorohov, our patrols successfully raided a German post, capturing its entire force, consisting of an officer and forty-two men."

When Summer Stops the Swing

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum. If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre." Winning trade follows the same natural laws. Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point. If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum. The moral of which is: Don't stop the business swing of Summer. Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

SERIOUS REVOLT BY THE ARABS

Turkish Forces Near Medina Sustain Very Heavy Defeat.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 22.—Authentic news has been received in Cairo, Egypt, says Reuter's correspondent there, that serious engagements took place recently near Medina, Arabia, between Arab revolutionists and the Turkish garrison. The garrison made a sortie against the Arabs, who were besieging the town from the southern side. In the fighting that followed the Turks are said to have lost 2,500 men, while the losses of the Arab forces under command of the Grand Sheriff of Mecca, leader of the rebels, was 500 men. The Arabs captured a large quantity of arms.

Sherif Abdullah is now bombarding the barracks at Taif, where the Turks are still holding out. The Turks, however, expect that the garrison at Taif will capitulate soon.

Change of Pitchers
Johnson replaced Walsh for the Cubs in the third, and from that onward held the soldiers scoreless allowing them only four hits. In the third, a balk was called on Leas when he passed in his wind-up. Leas threw to second in an attempt to catch Johnson. Considerable discussion was elicited by the umpire's decision, and in the midst of the confusion Gleason essayed to scold from third, being however sent back to the base. A feature of the game was a stoppage by Wood, of Leas, when he passed in his wind-up. Leas recovered in time to throw the runner at first, by a very narrow margin. The score:

SERIOUS REVOLT BY THE ARABS

Turkish Forces Near Medina Sustain Very Heavy Defeat.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 22.—Authentic news has been received in Cairo, Egypt, says Reuter's correspondent there, that serious engagements took place recently near Medina, Arabia, between Arab revolutionists and the Turkish garrison. The garrison made a sortie against the Arabs, who were besieging the town from the southern side. In the fighting that followed the Turks are said to have lost 2,500 men, while the losses of the Arab forces under command of the Grand Sheriff of Mecca, leader of the rebels, was 500 men. The Arabs captured a large quantity of arms. Sheriff Abdullah is now bombarding the barracks at Taif, where the Turks are still holding out. The rebels, however, expect that the garrison at Taif will capitulate soon.

Nature and the Artist. And when the evening mist clothes the riverside with poetry, as with a veil, and the poor buildings lose themselves in the dim sky, and the tall chimneys become campanilli, and the warehouses are places in the night, and the whole city hangs in the heavens, and fairly and before us, then the wayfarer hastens home. The workman and the cultured one, the wise man and the one of pleasure, cease to understand, as they have ceased to see, an nature, who, for once, has sung in tune, sings her exquisite song to the artist alone, her son and her master—her son in that he loves her, her master in that he knows her.—Whistler's "The Gentle Art of Making Enemies."

215th Got Early Lead; Put Over a Win on Cubs

Stars Defaulted Game to Alerts, an Exhibition Game, Taking the Place of a League Contest for Second Fixture—The League Standing.

A defaulted game by the Stars to the Alerts on Saturday afternoon put the latter team in the lead in the city league, despite the victory of the 215th over the Cubs, who have now dropped from first to third place, with the soldiers above them and the Stars in the first position.

The First Game. A disastrous first inning gave the first game of the afternoon to the Alerts, they amassing a total of nine runs in the initial spasm, as a result of heavy hitting and wildness on the part of Walsh, who occupied the box for the Cubs. After Wood had singled and been caught off second, Armitage and Brown each came through with a two-ply clout, Army netting the initial tally. Slemia took first and Brown scored when the former's grounder was booted by Hayes, and Secord got a life on an attempted force-out which hung fire. After Gunday came through with a safe single, scoring Secord and O'Riley. Leask and Wood walked, and once more Armitage and Brown hit safely in succession, this time on one sack each. On the latter's clout, Army scored, while Brown died on the bases when Slemia fouled out to Summerhayes.

Got Another In Second. The tenth tally was added by the soldiers in the second frame, the Cubs remaining inactive until the third, when they staged a miniature imitation of the 215th's first inning, netting three tallies. With two men out and Summerhayes on second, Gleason came through with a timely single which drove in the initial run. Beckner walked and on Slattery's double both runners scored. Change of Pitchers. Johnson replaced Walsh for the Cubs in the third, and from that time onward held the soldiers scoreless, allowing them only four hits. In the third, a balk was called on Leask when he paused in his wind-up and threw to second in an attempt to catch Johnston. Considerable discussion was elicited by the umpire's decision, and in the midst of the confabulation Gleason essayed to score from third, being however sent back to the base. A feature of the game was a stop by Wood, of Rowley's grounder, which he first booted but afterward recovered in a very narrow margin. The score: 215th A.B.R.H.P.O.A.E. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE REPORTS ON FARM TRACTORS

A report giving the experience of several hundred farmers in the use of tractors has just been published by Secretary Houston, of the Department of Agriculture. The report gives the advantages of the farm tractor on three main points: The first is "the ability of the tractor to do the heavy work and to do it quickly, thus covering the desired acreage within the proper season." This the Department considers the principal advantage. "The saving of man-labor and the doing away with hired help," is placed next. "The ability to plow to a good depth, especially in hot weather," is placed third. Other advantages mentioned in the report are the economy of operation, the displacement of horses, and the ability to use the tractor day and night. The report favors the smaller and less expensive tractor over the larger tractor. The experts say that can be operated profitably on farms up to 450 acre acres. What An Expert Says: "More than 20,000 tractors were in use, last year," says G. B. Louden, tractor expert recently in conference with government authorities in Washington. "The vast majority of these were of light and inexpensive tractors. Those tractors are light enough to spare bridges and culverts. They will not not pack the well-tilled land and yet they are powerful enough to plow to a depth of eight or nine inches. The tractor turns up practically virgin soil, thus enabling the American farmer to increase his output, equally the production obtained by the European farmer through the use of enormous quantities of fertilizer."

SHOCKER MAKES NEW RECORD

Former Ottawa Twirler Pitches a 11-innings, no-hit, No-run Game.

Rochester, July 24.—As his victories in the International League pile up, Shocker, the sensational twirler of the Toronto Leafs, becomes a wonderful youngster, his crowning achievement being the first no-hit game which he held the first nine innings as well as eleven, with one base on balls, in recent innings here Saturday. This made Shocker's fourteenth victory, and the record pitching accomplishment of the season. Before the game it was reported that this was to be his final game for the Leafs, that he had been recalled by the New York Americans. "He won't go until we say so," said manager Joe Birmingham, "and there is no chance of our losing him for three weeks at least."

Summary—Stolen bases—Hayes, McKay, Dodson. Two base hits, Phillips, Lloyd, McKay. THREE-DIGIT BROWN DOES COMEBACK BEATING GIANTS 8-3

Cubs Take Saturday Game, Too—Braves and Phillies Win on Sunday.

Chicago, July 24.—Mordecai Brown, after several attempts, "came back" to his old-time form yesterday and pitched the Cubs to an 8-to-3 victory over the Giants. Although found for 11 hits, the veteran was very effective in the pinches and allowed only one run until the ninth when, with the game cinched, he eased up. Rube Benton was hammered hard in the two innings he of-ficiated, the Cubs scoring six runs on clean, hard hitting. Two more were made off Anderson. The score: New York . . . . . 00100002—3 11 2 Chicago . . . . . 42001100x—8 17 1 Benton, Anderson and Rariden, Koehler, Brown and Fischer.

WILHOIT'S HOMER WINS. St. Louis, July 24.—The Braves took the final from the Cardinals yesterday 2 to 1. A home run past Wilson in the eighth by Wilhoit gave the Braves their decisive marker. In the fourth a three-base wild throw by Hornsby and Koney's sacrifice fly counted one. Rudolph blanked the Cards, after the first, when Bescher crowd-bombed Umpire Eason with pop bottles after he ruled in favor of Philadelphia on a close play at first. None of the missiles found their mark. The score: Philadelphia . . . . . 102020021—8 13 0 Cincinnati . . . . . 100000000—1 8 2 Alexander and Killifer; Schulz, Knetzer, Toney and Wingo.

ALEXANDER TOO MUCH. Cincinnati, July 24.—Philadelphia made it 3 out of 5 by pounding three Cincinnati pitchers hard yesterday afternoon, while Alexander held the locals' hits scattered. The score was 8 to 1. Extra base hits and eight strike-outs by Alexander featured. In the fifth inning the Cardinals' bombardier Eason with pop bottles after he ruled in favor of Philadelphia on a close play at first. None of the missiles found their mark. The score: Philadelphia . . . . . 102020021—8 13 0 Cincinnati . . . . . 100000000—1 8 2 Alexander and Killifer; Schulz, Knetzer, Toney and Wingo.

NEW ADVANCE ON SUEZ CANAL

British Cavalry in Touch with Turkish Forces in Sinai Peninsula.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 23.—A new advance of Turkish forces on the Sinai peninsula to within about 30 miles of the Suez Canal has been reported to the British authorities, who announced to-day that British cavalry had got in touch with the Turks and that measures were being taken by the chief Command in Egypt to meet the Turkish movement. The official statement says: It is reported that Turkish forces have advanced westward from El Arish to some five miles east of Katia (a distance of about 60 miles along the Mediterranean coast) where it is entrenching. Our mounted troops are in contact with the enemy, and the commander-in-chief in Egypt has taken measures to deal with the situation. "Hostile air craft made an attack on Suez yesterday, causing a few casualties."

BRITISH DRIVE FORWARD AGAIN; INTO POZIERES

POZIERES IN RUINS.

Haig's Artillery Wipes Off Map Village for Which Infantry Fight.

London, July 23, 3.45 p.m.—The battle on the British front in northern France was resumed to-day along the whole line from Pozieres and Guillemont, the War Office reports this afternoon says. The British captured the German outer works, near Pozieres by assault and carried the fighting into the village. Longueval was the scene of a desperate struggle.

The official statement which was issued at 2.25 o'clock this afternoon says:

"The battle has been resumed to-day all along the German front from Pozieres to Guillemont and reached a stage of intense violence.

"In the neighborhood of Pozieres territorial and Australian troops attacking from the southwest and southeast respectively, carried the German outer works by assault shortly after midnight. Violent fighting is now taking place in the village where the Germans are offering a desperate resistance with large numbers of machine guns.

"On other parts of the battle front the fighting is equally intense and here no definite progress is yet reported. At one time this morning we had recaptured the whole Longueval, but the enemy once more regained the northern end of the village. Similarly the outskirts Guillemont already have twice changed hands.

"Fruitless," says Berlin.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Berlin, July 23, via London, 7.17 p.m.—Heavy attacks by the British along the Somme front in northern France, on the line running from Thiepval to Guillemont, have been fruitless despite disregard for losses among the large numbers of men employed, the War Office announced to-day.

FRENCH TROOPS WANT PERONNE AS A VERY RICH WAR PRIZE

Considered Now as the Symbol of Victory—Some Heroic Episodes, Telling How Men, Reckless of Their Lives, Performed Difficult Feats in Great Work of Preparation

(By George Le Hir.) With the French before Peronne, July 22.—(Delayed.)—The eyes of our soldiers are turned as to the symbol of victory. They know it to be one of the strongest bastions of the enemy's defence, and when it falls the day of deliverance for the ravished provinces will be dawning. Though we are right before its gates no one believes the greatest of the efforts required or the length of time that must elapse before we can call it ours. For around the city, in a triangle, the Germans have literally armored the earth with defences. Guns are everywhere, while underground wind labyrinth of trenches, walled and casemated with an unsparring profusion of cement and steel. No infantry could attempt such fortifications, but we all know that our artillery is equal to the task, and has already reduced to ruins works no less redoubtable.

Activity is ceaseless, everywhere continuous "nibbling" that permits us to lighten our grip on the enemy. Greater than the heroism of the soldiers in the assault is the courage of little groups or sometimes solitary scouts that do the engineering of the business of preparation. Let us describe one such action of many that occupied last night during a period termed by the communicators as calm on both sides at the Somme. Sapper Louis V. was charged with the mission of getting to point B across the Somme marshes where the Germans have built over the marsh itself a kind of bridge platform bearing quick-firers and out-post guards. V.'s job was to blow up the whole affair with dynamite. Naturally to give a picked man, for it is no easy thing to drag not only one's self but a heavy charge of explosives through the mud and rushing water and barbed wire over ground where mines are known to be laid, hideous mantraps hidden, with sentinels ever watching for just such an enterprise, and searchlights continually piercing the darkness with the sudden brightness of sheet lightning.

A Ticklish Business. Before leaving the trench V. embraced his comrades and divided amongst them his possessions, then greased his body and donned a rubber suit with a brief hand-knave crawled forward through the wire entanglements. Though the incessant searchlight rays are intermittent, a sapper advances during the intervals crouching rigid when the light returns sentinels may see him, but there are many other forms as motionless as he and they know better than to give the alarm by firing upon the dead. Now he is half-stuffed in a whirlpool of mud raised by a stray shell, now he must retire a precious inch farther because the cord by which he is dragging the explosives has become twisted around a floating mass of carrion. After two hours of progress he finally gives up, luck favors him. He strikes a deep, winding ditch along which he can swim and stumble almost to his goal.

An Accurate Dive. At last between him and the platform there is only a patch of scum-covered pool. Silently as a water rat he dives, and gauging the distance airtight comes to the surface exactly beneath a German outpost. Surely the sentry is dozing or must hear his panting breath. As a searchlight flashes round—he is hidden in the shadow now—he perceives a quick-firer farther along the bridge that seems trained directly upon him. Stealthily he pulls a cord through his fingers, suddenly it grows taut, and as he pulls harder the bundle of explosives jerk free with a splash that takes a deep breath and plunges until his lungs are nearly bursting. Now a bomb is in his hands and he has pressed the knob that will explode—the charge in twenty seconds. Whatever happens, the task is accomplished. Though his body is riddled, nothing can save the outpost from destruction.

Sapper Returns Alive. Once more the sapper swims furiously under the water, then hurls himself recklessly at the ditch entrance. As he gains it there is a thunderous roar, and in an instant a terrific silence that follows a hail of fragments fall around the escaping Frenchman. After that the whole line was in an uproar, bullets thick as rain, a blaze of light and the boom of guns. But the miracle happened—he returned safe, perhaps from the very fact that he abandoned caution and rushed headlong towards the trenches. Only a flesh wound in the arm—just enough for a month's holiday in Paris, as he expressed it—brought him to the third-line dressing station, where I heard him tell this story.

BILLION DOLLAR CROP EXPECTED After a thorough canvass of various points throughout Western Canada, Dr. McGill of the Dominion Grain Commission, is quoted in Calgary as saying that Alberta would have a crop as good as last year, that the Dominion would have a billion dollar grain crop and that the grain crop of the three Prairie provinces would be little, if any, behind that of last year.

M. SAZONOFF HAS RESIGNED

Ill-Health Causes Russia's Foreign Minister to Relinquish Office.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Petrograd, via London, July 23.—Sergius Sazonoff, minister of foreign affairs, has resigned. He is succeeded by Boris Vladimirovitch Sturmer, the premier, who has taken over the office.

M. Sturmer retains the premiership. Alexei Khvostoff, the former minister of the interior, has been re-appointed to that office, while M. Makaroff has been appointed minister of justice.

M. Sazonoff retired from the foreign ministry at his own request. The emperor, in a rescript addressed to M. Sazonoff, dwells upon the zeal with which the minister followed his Majesty's suggestions, "inspired by justice and the country's honor."

The emperor regrets that the state of Mr. Sazonoff's health compelled him to resign.

C. N. R. FOREMAN KILLED.

Montreal, July 24.—H. Lariaux, 1479 St. Lawrence Boulevard, a foreman of a gang of drillers on the Canadian Northern Railway, was struck by a car at the Westport C. N. R. tunnel, in this city Saturday morning while dodging a car running in the opposite direction and was killed. He was on his way home from work when the fatality happened.

PICKED UP SURVIVORS

Algiers, Algeria, July 24.—A French mail steamer which arrived here Saturday picked up at sea, on a raft, seven survivors from the British ship Euphorbia, which was sunk several days ago by a submarine. No news has been received of 23 other members of the Euphorbia's crew.

Here Are Some Simple Menus for Sunday Dinner

By ISOBEL BRANDS

In spite of the tradition which holds that there shall be a hot roast on Sunday, occasionally some members of the family will ask why, make Sunday less of a rest by serving a heavy meal. Of course, this does not mean the meat should necessarily be a little such as characterizes the weekday but it may be just as substantial and not seem so "heavy" and heating. For example, many men do not order a meal a "dinner" unless it is a soup of some kind. It can be gone in the Sunday dinner warm weather, but instead of serving a hot, why not serve cold, or jellied. A nourishing and appealing soup, strong broth of mutton or chicken, etc. boiled down, and poured into individual cups, allowed to cool and served cold, garnished with a lemon or shaped pimento. Here is a recipe:

1/2 pounds neck of mutton and chopped sliced carrot, turnips, chopped celery, parsnips and thyme, 2 quarts of water, 1 tablespoonful of salt. The meat and vegetables and bones are cooked slowly for 2 1/2 hours, plus the salt, and allowed to boil about 1 1/2 hours, the fat being skimmed off about every 15 minutes. The broth is strained and allowed to cool in individual cups. Instead of the steaming roast, the meats can be served moulded in cold jelly, or cold sliced as a salad, attractively garnished with cold vegetables like beets, cucumbers, egg slices, etc. Here are a few more some midsummer Sunday dinners: Sliced cold meat. Russian salad. Peaches and whipped cream. A tractive vegetable dish, constant sliced potatoes, tomatoes and white, garnished with rings of egg and covered with a French dressing. Canape of chopped olives and anchovies. Fish salad, dressed with beets and anchovies. Corn on cob. Pineapple shortcake.

At this season it is well to pay particular attention to the skin. A summer frock of dainty material and exquisite coloring demands and requires a complexion of beauty. Round arms covered with skin of smoothness, and a plump neck free from blemishes. Carriage is a matter of health. It is an absolute treatment that will in time detect. If the smoothness of skin is marred by coarse pores or water to which the juice of half a lemon has been added, it is not an easier to steam the face properly. The ultimate result will be well worth the trouble.

Use Salt for Rough Eith large volume of steam. It is recommended before you proceed your face a steam bath, the steam will burn the skin, so to keep the flame only. High generate steam and to encourage ration. When the bath of water a juice is steaming hot rub the cold cream using a rotary motion move this first, continue with a simple thure benzoin. Then face directly over the steam, towel over the head so that it thrown directly upon the skin your face starts to perspire it has grease off and steam it as bath. When the face is white last trace of foam with tepid water with cold water, and finally of ice over the surface of the close the pores. After the steam bath 1 Adv of either of the astringent formulae of which are given below. Rosewater. Eucalyptus. Simple thure benzoin. Tannic acid. Mix the ingredients well and lotion several times a day. If one you may substitute if you Elderflower water. 1 pint Juice of lemon. 1 wine Tincture of benzoin. 1 ounce Keep the lotion well corked before using. Here Are Some Simple Menus for Sunday Dinners

By ISOBEL BRANDS

IN spite of the tradition which ordains that there shall be a hot roast and other substantial dishes at the noon dinner on Sunday, occasionally rebellious members of the family will ask why, oh why, make Sunday lunch of a day of rest by serving a heavy meal at noon? Of course, this does not mean that the meal should necessarily be a little lunch such as characterizes the weekday noon, but it may be just as substantial, only not seem so "heavy" and heating.

For example, many men do not consider a meal a "dinner" unless the first course is a soup of some kind. There can be soup in the Sunday dinner for warm weather, but instead of serving it hot, why not serve cold, or jellied soup? A nourishing and cooling soup is a strong broth of mutton or chicken or veal, etc., boiled down, and poured into individual cups, allowed to cool and then served cold, garnished with a slice of lemon or shapeli pimiento. Here is one recipe:

1/2 pounds neck of mutton and bones, chopped sliced carrot, turnip, leeks, chopped celery, parsley, clove and thyme.

1 tablespoonful of salt.

The meat and vegetables and seasonings are cooked with 2 1/2 quarts of water, plus the salt, and allowed to boil for about 1 1/2 hours, the fat being skimmed off about every 15 minutes. Then the broth is strained and allowed to "rest" in individual cups.

Instead of the steaming roast that increases the discomfort from a hot day, meats can be served moulded inside a cool jelly, or cold sliced as a salad, attractively garnished with cold sliced vegetables like beets, cucumbers, asparagus tips, etc. Here are a few menus for some midsummer Sunday dinners:

Jellied brook trout, Fried cold meat, Russian salad, Peas and bread cream, Parsley and potato.

The so-called Russian salad is an attractive vegetable dish, consisting of sliced potatoes, tomatoes, and cucumbers, garnished with rings of peppers and covered with a French dressing.

Change of chopped olives and radishes. Fish salad, dressed with lemon and mayonnaise. Corn on cob. Pineapple shortcake.

FIVE OF THE VERY LATEST HANDBAGS

All the Up-to-the-Instant Handbags Are Without Metal Frames and Close with Drawstrings

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW

IF YOU do possess a gold or a silver mesh bag that cost a small fortune, you will have to put it aside until another day. You may even have an heirloom in the form of a handbag of rare embroidery mounted upon a jewel-studded frame of precious metal, but you will have to banish it to the curio cabinet for a time, at least. For fashion has decreed that the smart woman shall carry only the handbag which closes by means of a draw string.

These new handbags of silk, velvet or beads, which closely resemble the old-fashioned reticule, kerchiefs, bags or even the homely tobacco pouch of our grandmothers. Some of them are quite plain, while others are elaborately beaded or embroidered. It is difficult to tell which is the loveliest, so it is best to spread before you an assortment of stunning handbags from which you can make your choice.

The silk tassel is a favorite trimming for the new handbag of silk. It is to be seen hanging from the extreme end of a smart, pouch bag of seal brown taffeta. The lower half of the bag and a portion of the draw strings are effectively ornamented with a beaded design in yellow, pink and blue daisies.

Against the old-blue background there is a band of white, passing the entire length of the bag. This is ornamented with an oval medallion in blue and white beaded in blue. For evening use and to carry with sheer frocks, in delicate coloring, there are exquisite handbags of white satin trimmed with beaded designs in color or in gold and silver.

The pretty little, kerchief bag with a scalloped trimming, formed of a checkboard design, is of white satin and cut-steeled beads. The lower half of the bag is almost solidly beaded and the frill about the top is trimmed with a dainty scalloped design.

- Cold roast lamb. Fried tomatoes. Potato salad. Crackers and cheese. Cantaloup and ice cream. Cream of corn soup. Chicken in aspic. Cucumber and green pea salad. Blackberries and sponge cake. Beef loaf. Tomato aspic. Watercress salad. Beans and shortcake. Lemonade.

Try one of these simple menus some Sunday and see if it really is not liked better "for a change" than the "heavy" noon dinner so many of us serve from habit.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Being Too Busy to Be Helpful

Copyright, 1916, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

I'M glad I'm not an "alienist." I'd have to spend all these wonderful summer days sitting and "studying subjects," instead of whizzing across the country in an automobile and breathing great, generous breaths of the blessed outdoor air, where the trees and the flowers seem to like to be, too, and where the hills and the valleys act so contented and where there's no worry or tears, except, of course, when there's one of summer's sudden showers with plenty of flashes of lightning and a lot of rumbling thunder, and then a burst of happy sunshine, and a rainbow.

Now, if I were an alienist, I'd have to look very solemn while I pronounced a man to be normal, or sub-normal, or insane. And I'd have to use all kinds of long, hard-to-say words, and I couldn't smile at all, even if I would claim me for his own, if there should be some great solvent scattered over the earth and every one of us little particles were drawn suddenly to its life.

When I hear people discussing why John did this and why Mary didn't do that, I always remember a picture in the "Herald" which we studied at school—"an exact representation of the human brain" and how I used to wonder if it wouldn't have been a lot easier to make and much simpler to run if there hadn't been so many dents in it.

I still have a sort of smacking liking for that old theory of mine, even now when I see how well mannered and obedient ever, so many rightly ordered bodies and brains can be.

I told her how I always felt like smoothing out the dents in that pictured brain. She smiled just a little, too, and then she said I could make believe that my own brain was a ridge of mountains where there was a great quality of gold and that I was a gold miner digging a straight tunnel right through underneath all the bumps, and that every day, as I dug further, I'd find more and more gold, and as I grew richer and richer I'd discover ways to share my treasures with other people, until just my one little tunnel, all straight and clear, had proved a wondrous mine of happiness.

The humps and bumps of my brain never bothered me after that. I was too busy tunnelling for gold.

Now Is the Time to Banish All Blemishes From Your Skin

By LUCREZIA BORI

Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

At this season it is well to pay particular attention to the skin. The summer frocks of dainty materials and exquisite coloring demand a complexion of clear, blemishless beauty, well rounded arms covered with skin of satiny smoothness, and a plump neck whose firm whiteness resembles Carrara marble. Unless your complexion is absolutely free from blemishes resolve to follow a daily treatment that will in time correct its defects. If the smoothness of your skin is marred by coarse pores give it a water to which the juice of half a lemon has been added. It is not an easy matter to steam the face properly, but the ultimate result will be well worth the trouble.

- Of the following ingredients: Eau de Cologne..... 2 ounces Tincture of camphor..... 2 ounces Tincture of benzoin..... 1/2 ounce The woman whose skin is dark in color and too oily should freely use the following lotion: Camphor water..... 1 pint Glycerine..... 1 ounce Powdered starch..... 1/2 ounce This remedy may be applied after bathing the face and before retiring. Another excellent lotion for the same condition of the skin contains: Distilled water..... 1 ounce Sulphate of zinc..... 1/2 ounce Comp'd tincture lavender..... 2 grains If there are hollows in the neck, a filled out you will have to follow a long, patient, massage treatment, using a reliable skin food to build up the starved tissues. It is a comparatively simple matter to bleach the skin covering the throat or neck. After cleansing the skin thoroughly with warm water and soap, rub dry with a Turkish towel and generously apply this lotion:

Use Salt for Rough Elbows. A large volume of steam. It is worth remembering, before you proceed to give your face a steam bath, that boiling steam will burn the skin, so be careful to keep the flame only high enough to generate steam and to enclose the perforation. When the bath of water and lemon juice is steaming hot rub the skin with cold cream, using a soft towel and apply more cream. Then bend a face directly over the steam, holding a towel over the head so that the steam is thrown directly upon the skin. When the face starts to perspire freely wipe your face with a soft towel. Then take the grease off and steam it again. Fifteen minutes should be devoted to the bath. When the face is wiped for the last time house it with tepid water, then with cold water, and finally rub a piece of ice over the surface of the skin to close the pores. After the steam bath I advise the use of either of the astringent lotions, the formulae of which are: Elderflower water..... 1 ounce Simple tincture benzoin..... 4 ounces Tannic acid..... 1 grain Mix the ingredients well and apply the lotion several times a day. Following is the formula for a skin cream which you may substitute if you choose: Elderflower water..... 1/2 pint Juice of..... 2 cucumbers Eau de Cologne..... 1 wineglassful Tincture of benzoin..... 1 ounce Keep the lotion well corked and shake before using. Slight itching are of the yellowish brown color that hints of an inactive liver and set may be due entirely to surface conditions can be banished with a lotion

How to Steam the Face. Fresh cucumber juice..... 5 ounces (boiled) Acetate of soda..... 3 ounces Tincture of quinine..... 4 drams Pulverized borax..... 24 ounces Rosewater..... 1 pint Have but half the formula compounded at a time. Mix thoroughly and apply two or three times each day until the skin is white. When the skin of the arms is covered with what is commonly termed "goose skin," its smoothness can be restored by this treatment. Scrub your arms with warm water, and after drying rub olive oil well into the skin. If you will do this every day your skin will soon become smooth and satiny. Rough elbows is a common defect. Then there is a condition so unattractive and I often wonder that women allow it to be so beautiful. Give the hands a daily scrubbing, using a coarse flannel or a piece of sandpaper. Then cumulate. After drying the hands with a towel and rub it over the hands and the rest of the skin if it is rough. Bind the elbows each night with ough. Bind the elbows soaked in sweet almond oil, held in place with a bandage of anti-septic gauze or the summer blemishes— freckles, tan and sunburn—but I have already discussed the treatment necessary to overcome these enemies of beauty. Keep the hands clean and dry. If you are persistent in following these suggestions you can remove any of the skin blemishes which detract from your beauty.

Subtlety Now the Fashion. We are very "civilized" nowadays, very "complex" and very "subtle"—perhaps those words are the whole story. And perhaps it is all different. I wonder if they are? Once upon a time they didn't pay very much attention to "subtlety." If a man killed another man, he was a murderer and if he got a ducking, a woman was a "scold" and the whole town knew of it, she got a ducking, and didn't scold any more and spends all his waking hours trying to get up plans for killing two other persons, we "study" him and ask him questions with a lot of words in them he never heard of, and it takes a long weary time usually to decide which of the two he should be punished. The law hasn't changed really very much as to what is a crime and what is not for several thousands of years. People's impulses aren't so very different from those of the time of Abraham, and sin weighs about the same expression she did when she was young.

Dear woman, she's not spending her days trying to make a company of little children "understand" any more, nor her evenings correcting a heap of rumpled papers covered with big, awkward figures, made with stubby, chewed-off pencils, held in sticky little fingers and guided by anxious little Sakal spectacles transformed into a blazing fire that radiates grateful warmth.

Malays Lighting a Fire.

The method the Sakal uses to make wood light itself is different from the way the American Indian turns the same trick. Of course the basic principle is the same in both—friction. But instead of taking a stick, pointing it, and then twisting it between his hands or with the aid of a bow, the Sakal strikes a tree with its bark, cuts the strips into long, thin, white-like pieces, and with two of the strips operates a tiny log. Then the strips operate holds one end, he takes the other end in his hands. With much the same motion as that used by men operating a whip saw, they draw the strips of bark back and forth tight against the log. In a little while a thin strip of smoke rises, and then the tiny kindlings placed against the point of contact catch and the fire is made.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am very much in love with a young man who has been going with me for two years. He says he loves me better than any other girl, but he says he never intends to marry. Now, dear Annie Laurie, what do you advise me to do—to try to forget him or continue going with him? ANXIOUS GIRL.

Secrets of Health

Why You Should Vary Your Usual Diet With Fru

By DR. L. K. HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A. M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

A human creature can long maintain his equilibrium of efficiency and health if he restricts the temperature of apples, oranges, berries and fruits in general. Independent of their nutritive value, many fruits give zest to the appetite because of their inherent flavors and oils. Bananas, breadfruit and alligator pears are among those which possess the two greatest qualities. Another great value of the various fruits is that they supply minerals, phosphorus, lime, potassium and other fertilizers to the human economy. Some kinds of fruit, too, such as pineapples, contain proteolytic enzymes which assist in the stomach. These are, as the nutrition picture theatres say, "an added bonus" because they assist in the digestion of the food. Moreover, a great many fruits are superior to pills, powders, cathartics, laxatives and other artificial purgatives, since they have an indisputable laxative effect. Not only among these are figs, apples, prunes, peaches and the various berries. They are most effective when eaten between the meals, at night and on rising in the morning.

A popular fallacy fostered by the widespread delusion of "uric acid" and "rheumatism" is to the effect that "the acids in fruits" cause disorders of the alimentary canal, liver, aches and various pains. There is little if any truth in this widespread mistake. If by chance there are acid salts or traces of acids in fruits, they are so minute as to be without deleterious influences.

The itching rashes, hives or other skin eruptions that one person in a hundred or so may suffer when he or she eats certain fruits or other foods are a sort of protein poisoning related in nature to the "breaking out" caused by the germs of chicken pox, German measles, etc. That is to say, this comparatively rare effect of fruits partakes of the character of an "idiosyncrasy"—peculiar sensitiveness of your tissues to the protein of the acids in fruits, which causes them to break out in rashes and hives. It is to be noted that such eruptions are not "poisonous" in the sense that they cause anything to do with it. Sugar and starch in fruits furnish man with heat, fuel and growth. It is the "poison" in fruits that help them to become jelly. Starch changes into sugars in ripe fruits. There is little more than 1 per cent of protein in fresh fruits, while dried fruits may have a little more.

Dried fruit, contain about two-thirds sugar, whereas raisins sometimes have 95 per cent of sugar. The protein remains so much in demand by children and others who crave sweets. Dried fruits are necessary table adjuncts when fresh fruits are not available. They are usually superior to canned fruits. Canning fruit, whether done commercially or as mother used to do, is most advantageous, because in this way some of the vitamins are to be had all seasons of the year.

Individuals differ in their preference for the various fruits. It is to be noted that their susceptibilities to, and in their capacity to digest bananas, pineapples, grapefruit and other fruits, varies. Some are able to digest bananas when adults cannot. Strawberries are often fine producers, this is why they are eaten by some persons. While bananas, oranges, berries and apricots need little or no mastication, the teeth should be brought into play for apples, raisins, pears and peaches. Among the least digestible fruits are cantaloupes, water-melon, dried citron and dried currants. The skins and seeds of most fruits should be entirely avoided.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: My dear, young friend, if you wish to marry, and the young man says he never intends to marry, don't you think that two years is long enough to spend receiving his attentions and thus branding yourself as a "spinster"? Two years is not too long a time to spend getting acquainted with the person you expect to marry. If you do not realize how nice other persons are until we try being with them. Then we learn that there are many, many persons with whom we are able to have happy times, and that it is best to leave out of the landscape the selfish person who would monopolize all of our spare hours without any obligation to us. DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: We are two young girls of 18 years, and are stenographers in two

Do this and I believe you'll see for yourselves in time what your conscience has been trying to tell you for days.

Business Men's Offices.

business men's offices. One is married and the other is engaged. They say "they love us," but they will not give up their wife and fiancée. We love them, and would like your advice, as we have no parents. Should we write them up? BLONDE and BRUNETTE. BLONDE and BRUNETTE: I suspect you're joking—surely you cannot be serious in what you say. Just re-write your letter on your typewriter some day and make it read instead of "One is married and the other engaged." "One has a wife who loves him and trusts him, and the other has asked to be married to a man who loves her and mother who love her and to put her life in his keeping." And then, instead of "Should we give them up?" write "Should we cease to pay any attention to their folly which might cause real misery to two other women, and while we are at the office, do our work the very best we can, and when we are at home have our own amusements and our own getting of letters." Do this and I believe you'll see for yourselves in time what your conscience has been trying to tell you for days.
