Running a Newspaper

Jim Jones, he was an editor; that is, he tried to be; He bought himself a hand press, and started in to see
Jes' what there was to editin', but when he'd canvassed 'round
Some fifteen hundred editors in that same town, he found.

They all knew more about it than Jones could hope to know;
They told him: "You must run her, Jones' jes' so an' so.

Be sure an' boom the Baptists, they're bound to help you out.
An' give the good old Methodists a big salvation shout!

"Give every man a notice; be sure an' put it down

Whenever Major Jinks is seen to perambulate the town;

Put in a few free locals for all the stores, an' give

Each man a free subscription, if you want your sheet to live!"

Well, Jones, he done jes' as they said, for fear they'd make a row;

But the more he tried to please 'em all, the more they told him how;

Until at last he took his book an' laid it on the shelf.

Then run the paper in the ground an' followed it himself.

Mt. Nemo Farmer's Club Meeting

On Friday evening, July 9th, the members of the Mount Nemo Farmers' Club, with their wives and families, met at the home of John T. and Mrs. Smoke for a social evening. While the business part of the meeting was being conducted by the men the young folks played games on the lawn, after which all took part in and thoroughly enjoyed an Art Gallery contest conducted by the hostess. Light refreshments and ice cream was served by the hostess and Mrs. Spence. A warm welcome was given to an old neighbor from Regina, Mrs. Harvy Cartwright (nee Margaret Wilson) and her husband, also his father who are visiting with her brother, Mr. James Wilson.

W. M. S. Meeting

The W. M. S. of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. C. T. Everitt on Tuesday last. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Ferdinand Slater. The Bible lesson was taken by Mrs. Joseph Tuck from the 103rd Psalm, a lesson of thanksgiving and praise to the Lord for all the blessings received from him day by day. A well rendered duet by Gertrude Everitt and Iva Langton and also an instrumental duet by Evelyn and Muriel Everitt were well received. A very interesting talk on the text book was given by Mrs. J. Smoke. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ed. Slater.

Greenville

Mrs. Schwink, of Detroit, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Thornton.

Mrs. Wm. Taylor is having a weeks holiday with her son on Manitoulin Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Hore and Mr. and Mrs. M. Walker spent Sunday at Niagara.

Mr. and Mrs. Pipher of New Market paid a flying visit to our village on Sunday last.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. J. N. Tunis is quite ill.

The Garden Party

Another successful Garden Party has passed into history. The annual fete champetre this year has held on the old school grounds, and was somewhat like an old boys' reunion to many of the school boys and girls of days gone by.

The program of the evening which was furnished by Mr. Cowan of Toronto, the Hamel sisters and Mr. J. C. Lougheed, of Hamilton, was above the average, and greatly enjoyed by all. Addresses were given by the Hon. F. C. Biggs, F. J. Shaidle and Dr. J. O. McGregor. The Hon. Mr. Biggs declined a very pressing invitation to speak at an important meeting in Windsor that day in order not to disappoint the Waterdown people in acting as chairman.

The proceeds will amount to over $700, which is very satisfactory, considering that no chances were sold or contests held this year. The attendance was better than last year.

Village Council Meeting

The Village Council met on July 12th for general business. The Reeve and all other members were present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A communication was received from the County Clerk re rate for County purposes for 1920.

On motion of councillors Atkins and Griffin, the council decided not to build a Community or Memorial hall this year, owing to the tenders being too high.

On motion of councillors Crooker and Drummond the following bills were passed and ordered paid.

W. H. Cummins, for bi-carbonate of soda for chemical engine, $15.

Jas. E. Eager, for rope for fire engine, charcoal, etc. $3.10.

On motion the council adjourned to Monday, August 9th for general business.

According to an amendment to the Post Office Act passed during the recent session of Parliament, the Registration Fee on letters and other matter mailed in Canada is fixed at 10c for each letter or article. The above fee applies to all registered mail matter posted in Canada on and after the 15th of July, 1920. The public are advised in order that they may see that all registered matter is fully prepaid as regards both postage and registration fee.

Aldershot

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Emery visited relatives at St. Catharines on Sunday last.

A watchman at the G. T. R. crossing here was struck by a C. P. R. flyer on Monday afternoon, and was thrown about thirty feet. He was picked up by the train crew and hurried to the Hamilton hospital.

Cherry picking is in full swing here now. Allan Lemon is leading with ripe tomatoes, and Walter Horne with cucumbers. Raspberries are showing up fairly well.

Mr. Harry Stanton underwent an operation at the Brant hospital last week.

Mr. James Garry has an invention for protecting his fruit from thieves. See Jimmie, boys, and get next to it.

Base Ball

(By the Sporting Editor)

Nine straight games without a loss is the record of the W. A. A. up to date. The game on Saturday being a little closer than usual, but the boys came out on top by the score. Smarter ball was put up by their opponents, but it did not stop our boys from using their war clubs when necessity demanded it. Horning essayed to pitch, being a trifle off color in locating the plate, but was there with the same old goods. Few, if any pitchers in the City League has anything on this boy Horning, and with a few games under his belt, well 'nuff said.

Millgrove

An Edison Re-Creation Concert will be held in the Town Hall on Monday evening, July 19th, at 8.15 under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Millgrove Methodist church. An unusually enjoyable program will be given, consisting of choice recreations of celebrated artists. There will be popular and comic songs, vaudeville sketches, band and orchestra selections, violin, Hawaiian Guitar and Banjo solos, and other instrumental novelties. Assisting the Edison program will be Miss Revell, Elocutionist, and Mr. S. C. Thornton, Cornet soloist of Dundas. Proceeds are for painting the Sunday School and Parsonage.

VOTE OF THANKS.

The Community League wish to heartily thank all those who in any way assisted in making this, the 5th annual Garden Party, such a success. The League deeply appreciates the assistance given them by all citizens of the village and vicinity.

Owing to what appears to be an unnecessary rule of the Board of Education, we are unable to publish the results of the Entrance Exams this week. We understand they will be given out for publication about the 20th of the month.

A fellow in a nearby town, who couldn't spare a dollar a year for his local newspaper, sent 50 two-cent stamps to a down east Yankee to know how to raise beets. He got an answer "Take hold of the tops, and pull for all you are worth."

Watchmaker Here to Stay

You will have a beautiful job done on your watch if you leave it with Nelson Zimmerman, opposite the Post Office. He will let you have your watch back in a few days.

The latest addition to our local field of sport is a Boxing Club. An arena has been secured and is being properly fitted for the manly art.

THE DWINDLING DOLLAR.

Drop of Value Since 1896 Is Very Sensational.

The purchasing power of the dollar has declined greatly since 1896, but it was back in 1896 that the dollar had its greatest buying power. Some figures have been given out from Washington showing how the value of the dollar has gone down steadily year by year since 1896. Taking the price in that year of about one hundred different commodities in general use and comparing the prices on these representative articles each year since, the purchasing value of the dollar is said to have declined as follows:

1896.....$1.00	1908.....$.74
1897..... .97	1909..... .69
1898..... .90	1910..... .66
1899..... .82	1911..... .68
1900..... .75	1912..... .64
1901..... .78	1913..... .64
1902..... .75	1914..... .65
1903..... .75	1915..... .60
1904..... .74	1916..... .50
1905..... .73	1917..... .36
1906..... .70	1918..... .32
1907..... .66	1919..... .32

In the last month of 1919 the decline is said to have gone to 29 cents, although the average for the year was 32. These are American figures, but in Canada pretty much the same experience has been gone through. If the hundred commodities on which this calculation is based included everything a family would ordinarily purchase, or if in everything else there has been a similar increase in prices or decline in the buying power of money, it means that the man who earned $20 a week in 1896 was as well paid as he is to-day if he draws $60 per week, and the man who earned $2,000 in 1896 was as well off at that sum as he is now if he earns $6,000 a year. In the latter case, however, if a man saved one-twentieth of his salary ($100) in 1896, and saved the same percentage now ($30) he might be better off to that extent, because it is the dollar that is spent, not the dollar saved, that has declined in value. The dollar that is saved may recover its purchasing value, or some part of it, in course of time.

It is not probable, and perhaps it is not at all desirable, that prices should ever drop to the 1896 level, or the dollar be as scarce and powerful as it then was. To-day a Toronto housekeeper pays $2.20 for a chicken; in 1896 she used to buy two for 35 cents—not as good chickens as those bought now, but deemed good at that time. Nearly everything is three or four times the price of 1896. No matter how wages may go up, it seems to be comparatively easy for prices to over-top them.

Diameter of Pine Tree.
 Mr. Hill, lockmaster at Buckhorn, Ont., experimented with a pine tree to determine improved growth which may be secured by proper care. Fifteen years ago, he pruned all the lower branches off a 4-inch white pine sapling, removing other saplings from its vicinity, dug up the earth around it and applied manure to its base. It is now 19 inches in diameter at its base and has a long, clean pole. Thus, during the fifteen years, the growth in diameter has averaged one inch annually.—Conservation.

Thomas A. Edison.

Edison Spent Three Million Dollars to Give You Music

Thomas A. Edison invented the phonograph in 1877. Later he improved his original phonograph to a point where his business advisers said to him: "You have now the best phonograph in existence. Let us go ahead and market it."

Mr. Edison shook his head and replied: "I am not going to put out a new phonograph until it is so perfect that its reproduction of music cannot be detected from the original."

Mr. Edison spent three million dollars in real money to perfect the phonograph. He finally succeeded, and you can have Edison's three million dollar phonograph in your home at an exceedingly moderate cost.

A MARRIAGE SLUMP.

One of the Effects of the Return of Peace.

A certain recklessness was, generally speaking, the characteristic of those undertaking matrimony in war time; a tendency to look two or three times before leaping has taken its place since the fighting ended. A variety of causes combine to account for such a change.

In the first place, life in the army being free from those expenses which weigh most heavily on the civilian, the soldier had little chance to realize the alarming cost of living. Demobilization has, however, given him personal experience of the real difficulty of making both ends meet. The absence of any prospects of an early drop in prices, combined with the problem of house accommodation, is quite enough to account for the shyness which he feels with regard to marriage.

Though practical difficulties are doubtless largely responsible for reducing the number of hasty marriages, the elimination of certain purely war-time incentives to marry has also much to do with it.

Though life is, at best, an uncertain thing, a man's chances of being alive in six months' time are distinctly brighter now than in recent years. As a natural consequence couples are more willing to wait for better days. Again, the man's argument that if he has to be killed the girl he loves may as well get a pension no longer enters into the weighing of pros and cons.

A man home on leave, after months of misery in the fighting line, had some excuse for acting against his better judgment. Especially was this the case when the expressed wishes of the girl he had not seen for so long allied themselves with his natural inclinations.

If the soldier did not always give sufficient thought to his after-the-war prospects—well, those prospects were so vague that adding a little to their uncertainty did not seem to make so much difference. Accustomed as he was to the taking of chances, he was somewhat apt to include the risks of a reckless marriage in the gamble of life.

Now that the crowded experiences and feverish excitement of war are over, an inevitable reaction has set in. Many a man whose nerves stood the strain, finds himself incapable of undertaking new anxieties and responsibilities now that the tension is relaxed. What he seeks is a respite, during which he may recuperate his nervous system and take a few bearings in his new environment.

February Has Five Sundays.

For the first time in forty years there is five Sundays in February. Ordinarily the sequence of five Sundays in February occurs once in each twenty-eight years, but owing to the fact that 1900 was not a leap year the calendar "slipped a cog," and Sunday, being shunted out of place in numerical order, it did not get back into position to become the first and last day of the month from 1880 until this year.

Lived on a "Pharm."

"I want some intelligent men as hospital orderlies," announced Lieut. Worley. "Any pharmacists in the company?" A flaxen-haired individual shuffled forward. "Ye gods," said the lieutenant, "are you a pharmacist?" "Shure ay bane pharmacist," was the indignant reply. "Vy ay bane work on pharm all my life."

Rockies Surpass the Alps

FEW people who have never been to the scenic regions of the Canadian Rockies and the Selkirk have the slightest idea of its wonders.

Perhaps this fact will help a bit: The Swiss Alps are traversed in five hours, but the magnificent scenery between Calgary and Vancouver lasts for twenty-three hours of rapid rail-roading!

Edward Whymper of Matterhorn fame once stated that the Canadian Rockies were "fifty Switzerlands thrown into one." Snowy peaks, vast glaciers hanging from them, rugged precipices, waterfalls, foaming torrents, great canons, lakes like vast sapphires and emeralds set in pine clad mountains, have been flung together in unparalleled profusion.

Banff, Lake Louise, Field and Glacier all have ample accommodations for tourists, but last year the hotels were more than full owing to the heavy tourist traffic across Canada. Banff, but a short ride west of Calgary, has an altitude of 4,521 feet and is surrounded by majestic snow capped peaks that rise a mile above the Bow Valley. This valley is a vast amphitheatre, walled in by mountains, and through it winds the Bow river, which some wag once called the "Baby Blue Bow." The Bow Valley as viewed from the Banff Springs Hotel is so beautiful that even the strongest adjectives seem weak and futile.

Banff is the capital of Rocky Mountains Park and is the tourist's own town. There are fine automobile roads, a busy business section, boating and fishing on the Bow and interesting side trips to Lake Minnewanka, the Stony Indian's name for "Spirit Water," and Johnson's Canon, Tunnel Mountain and the great open air zoo, where buffalo and the big game of the Rockies may be seen in their natural haunts.

Mule deer from the mountains wandered through the streets unmolested, because Banff is a safe refuge for them, and elk, bear and Rocky Mountain sheep are frequently seen by automobile parties and tourists who "hit the trail" up the mountains to various points of interest. Banff, too, is headquarters for the Canadian Alpine Club, whose members go into camp each year and climb some "heaven kissing hill." Their clubhouse, more than a mile above the sea, clings to the wooden slopes of Sulphur Mountain, one of the most remarkable peaks in the Canadian Rockies.

Sulphur Mountain is one of Mother Nature's great tea kettles, except that the brew is hot sulphur water and not tea. There are excellent bathing facilities at the Hot Sulphur Springs, high up on the peak, the Cave and Basin, the Government's handsome $150,000 pool and the Banff Springs Hotel's pool, all of which get a bountiful supply of hot water at about 90 degrees from Sulphur Mountain.

The Government also owns and maintains a first-class golf course along the Bow river, where the golfer may enjoy his favorite sport amid the most inspiring surroundings. Mountains rise from the edges of the fair green, and the scenery is so attractive that the golfer finds trouble in "keeping his eye on the ball."

Glacier, in the heart of the mighty Selkirk, is a great resort for Alpinists. Here Mount Sir Donald, 10,808 feet in altitude, rises to the height of a mile and a quarter above the valley. It was named after Sir Donald Smith (Lord Strathcona), one of the far-seeing geniuses who bound eastern and western Canada together with the rails of the Canadian Pacific and made Canada a nation. Near Glacier is Illecillewaet Glacier, which covers ten square miles and is nearly a mile high. Its foot is almost in Glacier's backyard. Nearby, too, is Assinikan Valley, with its big glacier and the mysterious Nakimu Caves on the lower slopes of Mount Cheops.

There are many scenic wonders in the Canadian Rockies and the Selkirk, but only a few can be described within the limits of an ordinary newspaper article.

A Patriotic Indian.

Chief Joseph Davies of the Brunswick House Band of Ojibway Indians, and several of his tribe, who enlisted in 1916 with the 227th (Men of the North) Battalion, were among the returned soldiers who arrived home from France by the Olympic.

Chief Davies was granted by the military authorities the unique privilege of wearing upon his uniform throughout active service his official Indian chief's insignia.

On his arrival at Chapleau a welcome was extended by Indian Agent T. J. Godfrey and a large deputation of members of the tribe. A pathetic feature of the chief's homecoming is that two of his children have recently died of the "flu."

The chief's wife, traveling more than thirty miles by canoe, having to break the ice in many places to get through, bringing with her one dead child and one seriously ill with the epidemic, arrived in Chapleau too late to save the life of the second child, who died shortly after admission to the hospital.

Indians in France.

The American Indians in France quickly adjusted themselves to the conditions of the country. They soon became just as cunning as in their native western haunts. This is illustrated by an incident which occurred when the Germans were withdrawing across the Marne. Indian scouts were sent over the river to ascertain the German movements and other details.

At one crossing three Indians improvised a raft and chained it to the north side of the Marne. They hid the raft and then started on an exploring expedition. The Germans discovered the strange footprints on the river bank, and came upon the raft. They awaited the Indians' return. But, after reconnoitring, the Indians approached their hidden raft cautiously and scenting trouble made a hasty retreat.

The Germans recognized that the strange red men were not of their kind, and must therefore be an enemy and began firing. The Indians ran through the woods like deer, and finally struck for the water, in an endeavor to reach the south side.

These Indians, reared along the rivers, swim like Hawaiians, and are able to remain below the surface for a long time. The Germans saw splashes in the water and began firing. The Indians dived and swam downstream under water, only coming to the surface for a brief breathing spell.

Finally the Indians reached the south bank far below the Germans, the current assisting them materially. The Germans, thoroughly angered, shot the raft to pieces.

Revisiting No Man's Land.

Many a Canadian who fought in the war is wondering what the front looks like now, a year and more after the last shot was fired.

A newspaper writer, who was recently over the ground, states that one actually sees much less change than would be expected. It is so easy to destroy, so difficult to restore.

From the Ypres-Bailleul road, from Hell Fire Corner, from the La Basse-Lens road, from the Arras-Douai road, and from many other such points, one might almost imagine that the armies had withdrawn but yesterday from their lines.

Everything easily lifted has been picked up and carried away by the seekers of souvenirs, but the change that most impresses the soldier is the silence, the now vacant highways once crowded with war traffic. The noise of war is gone, and the color of khaki is seldom seen. You look out over regions that seem to be forever reduced to silence and sterility.

The restoration of France and Belgium is going to be a long job. Those know best how complete the destruction was who were present and saw it done.

Girl Trade Unionists.

Eight thousand girl workers are members of the trade union movement in Toronto. The membership is drawn chiefly from among the female stenographers, clerks and accountants in the railway offices.

Two Explorers.

Martin Killin and Adelbert Gumaer, the last two member of Vilhjalmur Stefansson's Canadian Arctic Expedition to leave the Arctic, are reported aboard the trading schooner Anna Alga, which is working its way toward Nome.

Killin and Gumaer were not members of Stefansson's original party. They were members of a party Storker Storkerson, Stefansson's lieutenant, led on to an iceflo last year in the hope that the Arctic drifts would carry the floe westward to Siberia. After spending eight months on the ice the men found themselves about fifty miles from their starting point. They all came ashore and Storkerson and one other member headed overland for the outside world. Killin and Gumaer boarded the Olga and started for Nome.

Storkerson's trip outside was his first in eleven years. He has been an explorer, trader and trapper along the northern rim of the continent ever since 1908. He expects to associate himself with Stefansson in handling the Canadian Government's proposal to stock the northern tundra plains with reindeer.

Dogs Eat Esquimo Church.

In the Hudson Bay country, where the dogs are half wolves, a band of these famished animals actually ate up a church. The Esquimo Christians had built a tiny chapel to hold twenty people. But the poor converts did not long enjoy the little church, of which they were so pathetically proud. The building was of whalebone, an edible substance, and one Sunday the pagan dogs ate every morsel of the sacred edifice.

Searching Autos.

Canadian automobilists crossing to the United States at Detroit are complaining that federal authorities have been "unreasonable" in inspecting their machines. It has been announced that the reason for the action of the custom officials was a discovery that considerable liquor was being smuggled into the United States in automobile radiators.
