Legislative Session.

The House resumed business for the week, on Tuesday afternoon at 3.30. After the usual routine, a number of bills were advanced a stage, before the budget debate was resumed at 4.15.

Hon. James A. McNeill, Commissioner of Public Works, presented a most exhaustive review of his department. He showed that the government had since assuming office, pursued a progressive policy, and had practically reconstructed the roads, bridges and Public Works which the Liberal Government had allowed to go to wreck and ruin.

Hon. L. L. Jenkins continued the debate commencing at 9.30. The next speaker on the budget was Mr. Dobie. He said the early days of the year 1912 constituted a memorable era in the history of our Province. These were the days when our present progressive and masterful Government assumed office. He then went on to show how much had been done by the present Government in their three years of office. The condition confronting them when they assumed the reins of Government was most onerous and almost disastrous.

Mr. T. W. McDonald was the next speaker. He thought it was highly satisfactory that, notwithstanding the extraordinary expenditure in connection with the war, there was on last year's financial transactions of the Government a surplus over all expenditures. He said the dog tax had been placed on the statute book at the request of the people through the farmers institutes. He said the present administration afforded an opportunity to the man who is willing to work on the roads in his own vicinity, instead of paying. This option did not exist under the late Liberal Government. He commended the Government next for establishing the School Supply department, in connection with Education. He thought the Government, everything considered, had done as well since they came into power as could be reasonably expected.

The House met Wednesday at 11.15, after the usual routine proceedings. Premier Mathieson introduced a bill to be intituled "an act to authorize the transfer of prisoners between the several jails in this Province." On motion of Premier Mathieson the bill was amended "an act respecting witness and evidence" was read a second time put, through committee, reported and ordered to a third reading. Premier Mathieson then brought up for second reading, his bill further to amend "an act to amend an act further to amend the act to regulate the Registry of Deeds and Instruments relating to the titles of land and to repeal the laws heretofore passed for that purpose." The bill was read a second time, put through committee, reported and ordered to a third reading. The act to enable copies of wills made in the authentic form in the Province of Quebec to be admitted to probate in this Province was on motion of the Premier, further considered in committee, reported and ordered to a third reading. The land assessment amendment was on motion of the Premier, read a second time, put through committee, reported and ordered to a third reading.

In the afternoon a considerable part of the sitting was occupied with a further consideration in committee of the Companies' Act. Progress was reported at 5 o'clock. After some bills were advanced a stage the following resolution was moved by the Premier and seconded by the Leader of the Opposition:

"Resolved: That we, the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Prince Edward Island in Legislative session convened, gladly avail ourselves of the opportunity to follow the illustrious example of His Gracious Majesty the King and his advisors of, as well the affairs of Government as of the conduct of the war, in voluntarily abstaining from the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage during the continuance of the present war. And we heartily endorse and strongly urge upon His Majesty's loyal subjects of this Island to join in promoting the object of the "Provincial Patriotic Abstinence League" and give it their earnest support and co-operation. As evidence of our individual sincerity and sympathy with this movement we subscribe our names to the annexed pledge formulated by the above-named organization."

"RESOLVED FURTHER: That this resolution with the names of the subscribers hereto be entered upon the records of this House."

All the members who were present at the time subscribed their names to the Resolution. After recess the House re-assembled in the evening at 8.35. Hon. Mr. McLean resumed the budget debate. He pointed out that the present Government, on assuming office adopted the same method as their predecessors in finding out the actual financial position of the Province; they employed a commission of bankers. Mr. McLean then reviewed the different steps taken by the Government in improving our financial position, by securing an additional $100,000 to our annual subsidy; the agricultural grant; the oyster fisheries and so forth. After placing beyond all speculation the assurance of the meeting of revenue and expenditure, the Government then inaugurated improvements and progressive methods in the different departments of the administration. The Public Works; the Education and the Agricultural departments all came under review, and it was shown that all these had made remarkable strides in the march of progress. Much as has been done greater things are coming; a beginning only has been made. Under the late Liberal Government the supplements were taken from school teachers. The school supply of the education department came in for great praise. He thought that in view of all the facts no one can reasonably deny that the Government have kept their pre-election promises. Vote by ballot was another promise made by the Conservatives and amended "an act respecting witness and evidence" was read a second time put, through committee, reported and ordered to a third reading. Premier Mathieson then brought up for second reading, his bill further to amend "an act to amend an act further to amend the act to regulate the Registry of Deeds and Instruments relating to the titles of land and to repeal the laws heretofore passed for that purpose." The bill was read a second time, put through committee, reported and ordered to a third reading. The act to enable copies of wills made in the authentic form in the Province of Quebec to be admitted to probate in this Province was on motion of the Premier, further considered in committee, reported and ordered to a third reading. The land assessment amendment was on motion of the Premier, read a second time, put through committee, reported and ordered to a third reading.

by them in connection with the war. Had the Government contributed one half of the revenues of the Province for war purposes, if necessary, he thought they would be perfectly justified in so doing. He expressed the opinion that the members of the Government in charge of portfolios were the best that had ever held these offices in this Province.

Mr. John A. Dewar commenced speaking at 9.10. He considered it a matter for congratulation that our financial condition was so satisfactory. He said our Province was the only one in the Dominion that had a surplus last year, with possibly one exception. For the securing of the additional $100,000 to the subsidy thanks are due to the Premier. To him is due the credit of having got this money for us. He said he was always in favor of increases in the salaries of the teachers, and was glad that the present Government had done this. The road act was the best of which he had any knowledge and had been of very much advantage in our road arrangements. The act could be improved and he had no doubt it would be. He thought agricultural education in our province was in a flourishing condition. Referring to the dairy industry, he said it was the only industry that had not been affected by the war. In conclusion he reviewed the war conditions and considered the brightest day for Great Britain was the year 1914, when she entered the present war for freedom and security for small countries. Mr. Dewar finished speaking at 9.30, when Mr. Speaker put the question and the resolution to go into committee of supply was carried. Mr. Buntain was chosen chairman of the supply committee. At 1 o'clock the estimates amounting in all to $516,238, and a sum sufficient for war expenditure, were all voted. Mr. Speaker took the chair, the chairman reported the resolutions agreed to without amendment. The House then adjourned.

During the sittings of Thursday forenoon, afternoon and evening much work was done. The Companies' Act, a very long one was reported from committee amid cheers. Other bills were advanced from stage to stage, and the usual matters of routine, of questions, reports of committees and motions were all promptly attended to. When the House adjourned at 10.30, a big day's work had been accomplished.

The House met at 11.30. Friday. The time up to 1 o'clock was occupied in the consideration of several bills on the order paper. A number were passed from stage to stage.

The House resumed after recess about 3.40. After a very considerable amount of business had been pushed along in committee, Mr. Speaker resumed the chair. Premier Mathieson at this stage rose and in grave tones, announced the death of Mr. James Kennedy, one of the members of the Legislature. The members of the House in profound silence listened to the sad message presented by the Premier. The Premier eulogized the character and ability of the deceased member. He closed his remarks by moving the following resolution: "Resolved: That this House learns with deep regret of the untimely death of Mr. James Kennedy, the valued representative for the fourth district of Prince County, and wish to place on the records of this House an appreciation of the high esteem in which he was regarded and our deep sense of loss sustained by his death."

The resolution was seconded by Mr. Delaney, colleague of the deceased. He referred very feelingly to his deceased friend and colleague. He had been associated with Mr. Kennedy for many years, not only in politics; but in business. His feelings in this sad affair were so strong that he was unable to adequately express his thoughts. Mr. Speaker then put the motion and the resolution was adopted. Premier Mathieson then moved that out of respect to the memory of the deceased member the House adjourn. The House accordingly adjourned at 5 o'clock.

The House resumed in the evening at 8.30. A large number of bills were advanced through committee and, rules being suspended, were read a third time and passed. At 10.30 the order paper was practically cleared off and the Appropriation bill was put through all its readings and passed. After some other odds and ends the House adjourned at 11 o'clock.

The House met at 10.30 Saturday forenoon. Premier Mathieson moved a resolution, seconded by Mr. McWilliams to the effect that the sessional indemnity be paid to Dr. S. R. Jenkins, member for Charlottetown and Jas. A. McPhail, member for Belfast, who were absent on the Empire's service. The resolution was supported by Mr. Simpson and passed unanimously. The business of the session was then quickly wound up and the House took recess to await the arrival of his Honour the Lieutenant Governor, for prorogation. At 12 o'clock his Honour entered the Chamber and after giving his assent to the bills passed during the session delivered the following speech and declared the Legislature prorogued:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:—In bringing your legislative duties to a close I desire to express my appreciation of the careful and expeditious manner in which you have transacted the public business and the spirit of patriotism which has characterized your deliberations. A matter most gratifying and of prime public value is noted in your pledge as a body and as individuals to further the total abstinence movement during the present war. I thank you for the generous appropriation you have made for the various Provincial undertakings and I assure you that the supplies you have voted will be administered with a view to efficiency and economy. I also have to express my heart-felt gratitude for your wise provision for war expenditure, which is a renewed and gratifying proof of your unswerving loyalty and devotion to the Empire in the most stupendous struggle in her history. In conclusion I earnestly hope that this terrible war will be brought to a speedy and successful termination, the world's liberty firmly assured and that progress and prosperity will be established throughout His Majesty's Dominion.

The floods in the Waller and Shoal creeks Texas last Friday night took a toll of 15 or 20 lives. As eleven deformed children were on their way to the school for cripples in Cleveland Ohio their bus was struck by a street car. All were injured three fatally. Arthur J. Doddington, of St. John, longshoreman, fell down the hold of the Donaldson liner Martina, Friday and was killed. He was aged 43 and leaves a wife and five children. A distinct earth shock was felt at Tacoma Washington on the 22nd from Smelter, near Point Defiance at the Southern limit of the city, for twelve miles extending South of Tacoma. Ottawa advices say: Foot and mouth disease in the United Kingdom is being eradicated. The Government here has raised the embargo against importation of cattle, sheep and swine into Canada. At a Liberal Convention for Prince County, held at Summerside on Saturday last, Mr. John Richards, Leader of the Opposition in the Legislature was nominated as the candidate for the Dominion election. The winter steamers are still running between Charlottetown and Picton. The Straits are packed with ice. The Steam Navigation Company's boats are ready and only waiting the departure of the ice to commence their summer's work.

From the War.

Fierce Battle Raging. Bravery of Canadians

Our intelligence from the western theatre of war for the past few days shows that a most tremendous battle commenced nearly a week ago in the vicinity of Ypres in Flanders, and is still raging. To us here in Canada the feature of most interest is the important part borne in the fierce conflict by the Canadian troops. At a critical moment in the conflict the Canadian soldiers were exposed to the full force of the enemy's onset and they covered themselves with glory. They suffered severely but they drove the enemy back. The London Saturday evening papers bore testimony to the bravery of the Canadians. "Canadians Saved the Situation," "Well done Canadians," and "Bravo Canada." These were some of the headlines which appeared in reference to Saturday evening's statement from the War Office the Evening News says: "The War Office gives us, in this message, the kind of prompt news we want. Today's glorious bulletin will live always in the military chronicles of the Empire. The despatch reveals that the left of our line which was unavoidably left uncovered by the French retirement, was held by the Canadians, who were in the first battle line and eager for the clash. The Germans did not capture their guns. They fell into them when the Canadians were swept back. Later [and with what impetuosity and grim resolution we are left to imagine, the Canadians made a counter-attack and re-took the four guns they had left behind, and also made German prisoners. Unhappily their casualties were heavy, but all around the Empire will re-echo the praise of the War Office for their conduct. Congratulatory messages came to the Governor General; to Sir Robert Borden and to General Hughes, from his Majesty, the King; Sir John French and General Alderson. Latest intelligence indicates that the battle is still raging; but that the Allies are driving the Germans back.

Local And Other Items

The funeral of the late James Kennedy, member of the Legislature, took place on Monday and was very largely attended. The funeral service was held at Kensington and then the body was taken by special train to Bradalbane, where interment took place. It is reported that fully two thousand people were present at the funeral at Kensington and never before had such evidences of genuine regret been manifested at the death of any citizen of that place. His four sons; his father and five brothers and the members of the Provincial Government were the chief mourners. The members of the Legislature attended in an body and the Federal members for Queen's County were present. People came from far and near to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased. As will be seen by advertisement in this issue, the buying of military horses is now going on in this city. Mr. W. S. McKie, the veteran horseman of this city has been appointed to purchase military horses for the Dominion Government throughout the Island. The horses are inspected by Dr. James L. McMillan, V. S. The orders are to continue buying until orders are given to stop and to keep quality in view rather than quantity. Three classes of horses are required. A. B. C. They are as follows: Riding Horses, age 5 to 9, height 15 hands to 15.3, weight, 1,000 to 1,150 lbs. Artillery, 5 to 9, 15.2 to 15.3, 1,200 to 1,350 lbs. Draught, 5 to 9, 15.2 to 16, 1,350 to 1,400 lbs. All horses must be sound, of good conformation, free from blemishes and broken to harness or saddle. No better qualified purchaser and inspector could have been appointed for this place than Mr. McKie and Dr. McMillan. What they do not know about horses is scarcely worth knowing.

The funeral of the late James Kennedy, member of the Legislature, took place on Monday and was very largely attended. The funeral service was held at Kensington and then the body was taken by special train to Bradalbane, where interment took place. It is reported that fully two thousand people were present at the funeral at Kensington and never before had such evidences of genuine regret been manifested at the death of any citizen of that place. His four sons; his father and five brothers and the members of the Provincial Government were the chief mourners. The members of the Legislature attended in an body and the Federal members for Queen's County were present. People came from far and near to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased. As will be seen by advertisement in this issue, the buying of military horses is now going on in this city. Mr. W. S. McKie, the veteran horseman of this city has been appointed to purchase military horses for the Dominion Government throughout the Island. The horses are inspected by Dr. James L. McMillan, V. S. The orders are to continue buying until orders are given to stop and to keep quality in view rather than quantity. Three classes of horses are required. A. B. C. They are as follows: Riding Horses, age 5 to 9, height 15 hands to 15.3, weight, 1,000 to 1,150 lbs. Artillery, 5 to 9, 15.2 to 15.3, 1,200 to 1,350 lbs. Draught, 5 to 9, 15.2 to 16, 1,350 to 1,400 lbs. All horses must be sound, of good conformation, free from blemishes and broken to harness or saddle. No better qualified purchaser and inspector could have been appointed for this place than Mr. McKie and Dr. McMillan. What they do not know about horses is scarcely worth knowing.

PATRIOTISM and PRODUCTION "I would urge the farmers of Canada to do their share in preventing the people of Great Britain from suffering want or privation." HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture. The Empire Needs Many Foods In the past Great Britain has imported immense quantities of these staple foods from Russia, France, Belgium, Germany and Austria-Hungary as shown by the following:— Average Imports Years 1910-1913 Wheat..... 23,439,600 bush. Oats..... 23,588,304 " Barley..... 15,122,358 " Corn..... 7,821,874 " Peas..... 703,058 " Beans..... 630,653 " Potatoes..... 4,721,590 " Canned..... 271,559 " Meat..... 23,509,768 lbs. Eggs..... 121,112,913 doz. Butter..... 81,705,233 lbs. Cheese..... 15,116,659 " The above mentioned sources of supply of staple foods are now, in the main, cut off as a result of the war. Great Britain is looking to Canada to supply a large share of the shortage. Every individual farmer has a duty to perform. Millions of bushels rather than millions of acres should be Canada's aim. That there is abundant reason to expect larger returns from the same area is conclusively shown when we compare the average production of the present time with the possible production. Note the following brief table which shows the average in 1914 and possible production per acre. Average Possible Fall Wheat..... 20.43 62 Spring Wheat..... 14.84 33 Barley..... 15.16 69 Oats..... 36.80 91 Corn, Grain..... 70. 200 Corn Meal..... 12. 19. Peas..... 15.33 37 Beans..... 14.73 40 Potatoes..... 115.40 469 Turnips..... 421.81 1000. By "possible" is meant the actual results which have been obtained by our Experimental Farms and by many farmers. These "possibles" have been obtained under intensive cultivation methods and conditions not altogether possible on the average farm, yet they suggest the great possibilities of increased production. By greater care in the selection of seed, more thorough cultivation, fertilization, better drainage, the average could be raised by at least one-third. That in itself would add at least $150,000,000 to the annual income of Canada from the farms. It would be a great service to the Empire, and this is the year in which to do it. Increase Your Live Stock Breeding stock are to-day Canada's most valuable asset. The one outstanding feature of the world's farming is that there will soon be a great shortage of meat supplies. Save your breeding stock. Plan to increase your live stock. Europe and the United States, as well as Canada, will pay higher prices for beef, mutton, and bacon in the very near future. Do not sacrifice now. Remember that live stock is the only basis for prosperous agriculture. You are farming, not speculating. Canadian Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Canada

Let us Forget it.

What does it matter what evil tongues say? So let us forget it. Frowning or smiling men all pass away. So let us forget it. For always there's One Who is constant and true. And well He remembers the least that we do. And little He cares for five talents or two. So let us forget it. What does it matter if none understand? Ah, just you forget it. What if our deeds are not foot-prints on sand? Just let us forget it. For Jesus will measure the lights and the grays. And just His proportion of censure and praise. When all meet before Him soon one of these days. So let us forget it. What if the world should vote for a fool? Why let us forget it. Heroes are taught in Adversity's school. So let us forget it. In travail is born the child of the womb. But somewhere a star shineth out of the gloom. So let us forget it. What if our love and our trust be betrayed? Why let us forget it? Christ will remember the part that we played. So let us forget it. Yes, let us forget it! Let's put it aside; Life is so large and the world is so wide. And deeds that are Godly forever abide. So let us forget it. —REV. D. A. CASEY.

Your Company?

A little song rings in my ear And haunts me all day long. And this—whichever way it runs— The keynote of my song; 'Be careful of your company.' The little song runs ever— 'The down once brushed from off the peach Returns again, ah, never.' All boys have wondrous golden dreams. The future's filled with bliss. Dreams may come true, but don't forget It all depends on this: 'Be careful of your company.' 'Tis youthful days that mold you. The chains you play with when a boy In manhood will unfold you.' So, when you dream, as youth will dream And form some wondrous plan. Remember this, dear, that the boy Is father to the man. Be careful of your company. Sin's chains are hard to sever. The down once brushed from off the peach Returns again, ah, never! FLORENCE JONES HADLEY.

In Debt to Three Saints

(By CAROLINE D. D. SWAN)

Paul Brennan stood for a moment irresolute, with an almost invisible swing of his cane. The frown on his handsome face was full of vexation. Had not Peter Donovan promised to meet him on this corner, and were they not going together to some sort of frolic? Paul did not know exactly what sort of frolic was ahead, but Peter was a gay lad—as lads go in gay New York—and never lacked resources. But the sun was shining with its best golden glow, on the superb marble fronts and carven cornices above, and on the variegated crowd below. The effect was dazzling, and Paul was artist enough to appreciate it. So he lingered till it finally occurred to him that he was obstructing the flow of the throng, which seemed sweeping in one direction. Mechanically he followed on also, with the vague idea that he might yet fall in with Peter, until he woke up to the fact that all these people were chitch-goers. "St. Cecilia's!" he murmured. "That's it. Why, what's going on there?" For, though a nominal Catholic,

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't eat and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted. Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for years, and tried every remedy I heard of, but never got anything that gave me relief until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. I cannot praise this medicine too highly for the good it has done me. I always take it in the spring and fall and would not be without it." W. A. NORTON, Belleville, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Strengthens and tones the stomach and the whole digestive system.

Paul, like many others, did not study the calendar to keep track of either saints' days or services. Church on this bright afternoon was the first thought in his heart. Yet the silvery call of a very sweet bell was ringing its way into his consciousness. "She is calling! St. Cecilia!" he said to himself dryly. "She ought to pick out a better fellow, though, better than I am or ever shall be." Yet by this time he had nearly reached the church, and just then a vibrant, melancholy voice drifted out from the choir. His quick, musical sense caught and clasped its beauty. "By jove!" he cried the saint is singing herself." He tried to smile at the fancy, but signally failed. "She is singing to me," was the next thought, and, led by some impulse that seemed too strong for him, he softly entered the church and knelt with the rest. As the music slowly quivered and soared and fell like a sequence of silent stars, many thoughts oppressed him. His wilfulness, his practical irreligion—nay, more, his open sins. The shame of it all fell on him like a dull blow. "Lord, forgive me!" he murmured. Then, as the wonderful voice sang on of the Precious Blood and its might of pardon, a soprano took up the strain—a soprano so pure and sweet that it seemed like a bright light. "O Madeline!" whispered the listening soul, "is it thy voice, indeed, singing still of strength and forgiveness?" "Da robur, fer auxilium! Give strength, bring help!" The cry of his soul went up with the tender tones, whose pleading, mingled with the fragrance from the incense cloud, penetrated every fiber of his being. Did any one, could any one but Madeline have a voice like that? It was many years since he last heard it, yet he could hardly be mistaken. If Madeline Engelmann—Madeline his old love—were still living—if she had not joined the white choir before the throne, that was surely her voice. The words of the psalmist came to him with new meaning: "My song shall be of mercy and judgment; unto Thee, O Lord, will I sing." She was singing thus, his Madeline, unto Him, the Lord, whether below on our green earth or in His presence. "For him, Paul, to him, except unconsciously, she would never sing again. How foolish he had been to quarrel with her in those olden days! How wicked? She was a little saint, even then, and a bride of Christ now—at least so he had heard. How far from him she had gone! How far in every sense! He thought anew of his follies, his reckless life of late. What would she say if she knew? Yes, he was indeed "in exile." He buried his head in his hands with an impulsive motion, as if hiding his unworthiness from all but God. He followed the throng that left the church like a man in a dream. All at once he heard a small piping voice close at his side. He looked down and into a sweet child's face, lit with a pair of imploring eyes. "May I go home wiv you?" Brennan suddenly waked up. He had thought at first of the Christ-child. "Why, you little midget, where did you come from?" He had striven to make his tone severe, but a smile played on his lips. The little one clasped his hand with the undoubting confidence of infancy, but no reply came. "I say you little piece of Christmas where did you come from?" urged Paul. "Where is your mother?" "My mivver is dorn to heaven, where Dod is!" A pause followed. "An' I'm dorn' there too. Doin' wiv you."

"Perhaps you will, young man, retorted Paul; "but it's more than likely you will not."

The blue eyes shone like stars, and the clasp tightened on Paul's fingers. This remark had in no wise disturbed the baby's trust. Brennan began to feel embarrassed. What if Peter should come upon him now? They were passing one of the public squares, so Paul took his charge thither out of the crowd and sat down on one of the benches, wondering if he had not suddenly become somebody's nursemaid.

"Perhaps the boy is a fairy changeling, too," he remarked dryly. Yet the sore spot in his heart had been touched. He loved children, and this one appealed to him strongly. The youngster looked at him thoughtfully. Then came a burst of confidence. "If I am dood, Dod will love me. And if you're dood, Dod will love oo."

"Who told you that, sonny?" "My mivver. Up in heaven is wings—lots of wings, all feathers, white ones."

"Yes, all feathers; that is right," assented Paul. "An' woses—white ones an' wed ones."

"Yes, roses. What else?" "An' gold, shiny things on their heads."

"Yes. Tell us some more." "My mivver went right up there," and the child pointed to the blue with a reverent gesture. "Papa is there."

"An orphan child," murmured Paul. "No use to search for the parents then. Well who else is there?"

"Oo an' me!" A glad little laugh followed his assurance, and a decided toss of his curls showed he had done giving information. It flashed upon Paul's mind that some souls have a special devotion to the Holy Infancy. He had begun to understand it. Yet what could he do with the child? He had no home other than an unattractive boarding house. "I should not be sporting round as much if I had," he murmured in self-exculpation. Luckily just then rescue appeared in the distance. He caught sight of a young priest whom he knew, Father Doucette, the assistant at St. Francis de Sales.

"I hope he will come this way," thought Brennan, "and tell me what to do with this child. Stray lambs are in his line."

The approach of the other soon gave him his opportunity. His previous determined avoidance of the young ecclesiastic was all forgotten. If Father Doucette remembered he gave no sign, but returned Brennan's eager greeting with like cordiality.

"But whom have we here?" he inquired, kindly, stroking the baby's curls. His majesty graciously permitted the caress. "What is your name my little man."

"Rafe—Rafe-el." "An, an angel's name, baby Raphael. Now, dear, what is the other name?"

But his majesty had taken refuge in silence. The red of the setting sun flung a Titianesque warmth that was almost golden on the golden curls, and the blue eyes had suggestions of sleep. Brennan related how he had found his cherub—or rather how his cherub had found him—and the other met the case at once. "Take him up to St. Aloysius's—the Children's Home on Jeffers Square—and pass him over to Sister Evangelist. Tell her if you like, that I stand sponsor for you both." And with a pleasant laugh and touch of his hat Father Doucette went on his way.

Brennan lost no time in following Father Doucette's advice. All went well at the Children's Home. Sister Evangelist a tall, sweet-faced nun, welcomed "the little angel," as she at once named him, and the boy went to her confidently as he went to Paul. Then a new idea struck Brennan, and struck him with force. Here was a charity. Was it not his duty to help it on? What right had he, what moral right, to add one more to this little flock, one more mouth to be fed, without adding in due proportion, to its bread and butter fund? The warm color flushed his fine face. His purse was nearly

DON'T GIVE CONSUMPTION A CHANCE

To Get a Foothold on Your System. Check the First Sign of a Cold By Using DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

A cold, if neglected, will sooner or later develop into some sort of lung trouble, so we would advise you that on the first sign of a cold or cough you get rid of it immediately. For this purpose we know of nothing better than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This preparation has been on the market for the past twenty-five years, and those who have used it have nothing but words of praise for its efficacy.

Mrs. H. N. Gill, Truro, N.S., writes: "Last January, 1913, I developed an awful cold, and it hung on to me for so long I was afraid it would turn into consumption. I would go to bed nights, and could not get any sleep at all for the choking feeling in my throat and lungs, and sometimes I would cough till I would turn black in the face. A friend came to see me, and told me of your remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I got a bottle of it, and when I had taken it I could see a great change for the better, so I got another, and when I had taken the two bottles my cough was all gone, and I have never had an attack of it since, and it is now a year ago."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; and price, 25c and 50c. It is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

empty. The money he had wickedly squandered would have enabled him now to do the handsome thing. But, alas! it was gone. What could he do? Then a fresh thought came to him, like a gleam of salvation. "I will remember St. Aloysius with a gift for Christmas-tide, if not earlier," he said eagerly, and Sister Evangelist thanked him with a beaming smile.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DANDRUFF. Cynthia—"How do you like my new hat?"

Margie—"I think it's charming. I had one just like it last year."

Mary-Ovington, Jasper Ont writes—"My mother had a badly sprained arm. Nothing we used did her any good. Then father got Hagyard's Yellow Oil and it cured mother's arm in a few days. Price 25 cents."

Marrying a home is the most expensive way of getting one.

W. H. O. Wilkinson, Stratford says—"It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price box a 50c."

Mable: "What are you going to do with all these flowers after the carnival is over? It's a shame to waste them."

Maud: "They won't be wasted. If Jack sees them before papa does, there will be a wedding and if papa sees Jack before I do, there'll be a funeral."

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DYPHTHERIA. Being the friend of a "good fellow is an expensive job."

NERVES WERE BAD Hands Would Tremble So She Could Not Hold Paper to Read. When the nerves become shaky the whole system seems to become unstrung and a general feeling of collapse occurs, as the heart works in sympathy with the nerves.

Mrs. Wm. Weaver, Shallow Lake, Ont., writes: "I doctored for a year, for my heart and nerves, with three different doctors, but they did not seem to know what was the matter with me. My nerves got so bad at last that I could not hold a paper in my hands to read, the way they trembled. I gave up doctoring thinking I could not get better. A lady living a few doors from me advised me to try a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so to please her I did, and I am thankful to-day for doing so, for I am strong, and doing my own work without help."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25; at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
