DEVOTED TO COUNTY NEWS AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE

THIRTY-FOURTH YEAR. WHOLE NUMBER 1833. GODERICH, ONT., FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1882. MCGILLICUDDY BROS. PUBLISHERS $1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

News About Home.

Assizes commence at the Court House in Goderich, on Monday 14th inst., before Mr. Justice Burton. There are 11 criminal cases on the docket, the most serious of which is forgery. H. P. O'Connor will conduct the Crown's case.

On Friday last the body of a drowned man was found on the shore of Lake Huron about three miles from Zurich. The body seems to have been in the water for some time. Papers found on him show his name to be David Thompson, of Harrisville, Mich.

Our stout friend, "Jim" Vivian, has decided not to leave Goderich, but the "pop" business will go on in Emerson, all the same, and will be conducted by his brother, who is going into the refreshment trade largely. By the decision of Mr. Vivian in this matter, Goderich is one ahead.

Perhaps you have heard of the hair vixen which would put a good crop of hair on a red hot stove. Well Rhyman has not got any of that in stock. But he has got the Dominion Hair Restorer, which he claims will bedeck a bald head with flowing tresses. If you are bald-headed give him a trial.

On Tuesday R. Taylor, of the Huron Road, Goderich t'p, was up before Mayor Forrester, charged by W. Wise, jr., with keeping a vicious dog, and thereby injuring the property of the latter, who claimed damages. The Mayor fined Taylor $1 and costs, but had no power to levy damages.

AUCTION SALE.—The household furniture belonging to Mr. Dunsford, of the Bank of Montreal, will be sold by Mr. J. C. Currie, at his residence, on Wednesday next. This furniture is of a superior kind, and the sale will likely draw a large attendance of bidders, who are the favorite bidders with a good auctioneer.

ONDEVELOPMENT.—The sixty-third anniversary of Oddfellowship in America will be celebrated on the 26th inst., and the Grand Sire of the Order recommends that the occasion be observed by its dedication to appropriate exercises and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His manifold blessings to the Order, individually and collectively.

SPRING OPENING.—Miss Stewart's spring opening of millinery came off on Friday and Saturday last. On the second day the opening was largely attended, and the really fine show of hats, bonnets, ribbons, ornaments, etc., were much admired. Good taste and good material were the chief points observed in the getting up of the "ducks" of bonnets and hats.

MACHINERY INSTITUTE.—A meeting of the Mechanics' Institute Directors was held on Wednesday evening. All the members were present. Arrangements were made for the appropriation for the coming year. The report of the book committee was adopted, and a number of accounts ordered to be paid. The class committee were instructed to offer prizes in competition to the members of the evening classes, to the amount of $20.

Mr. W. Houston, M. A., who for a number of years has occupied a prominent position on the editorial staff of the Toronto Globe, has resigned it to take charge of the Canada School Journal and to edit the educational publications of the well known publisher, House of W. J. Gage & Co., Toronto. Prof. R. M. Smith, M. A., B. Sc., has resigned the Principalship of St. Francis College, Richmond, P. Q., to accept a position in the same firm.

"CONSIDER THE LILIES."—This was the title of a sermon to young people, delivered in the North Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning last by Rev. Dr. Williams. The preacher spoke in a simple, practical manner, and his illustrations were interesting and apt. The Sunday School children occupied the galleries, and assisted in the singing, which was cheerful, and appropriate. The service seemed to be much enjoyed by both young and old.

THE CANADA SALT ASSOCIATION.—A full attendance of the members of the above Association was held at the Lathbury House in Clinton, on Monday last, for the transaction of business connected with the association. The New Era understands that store No. 2 in Mr. Perrin's block has been rented, and will be fitted up and used as the head office of the association. Mr. Pashey has arrived and entered upon his duties as book-keeper for the Association.

FIRE.—On Sunday evening last the house occupied by Judge Toms, about two miles from town, was destroyed by fire. A large portion of the furniture, etc., was destroyed, but the library was saved. A number of valuable Masonic records, and interesting family documents were burned. Judge Toms' loss will likely be covered by insurance. The building, which belonged to Mr. Walker, of Montreal, and in which our townsman Mr. John Moseley, sr., had an interest was insured for $1,500. The fire is attributed to a defective chimney.

HOUSE BURNED.—About one o'clock on Tuesday morning a fire broke out in the dwelling house of Mr. Wm. Hennings, adjoining the flouring mill. The flames made rapid headway, but a quantity of furniture was saved. The building was completely gutted. The latter was insured for $600. There was no insurance on the furniture, the loss on which will amount to a few hundred dollars. Had the wind been blowing in the opposite direction, the mill would likely have caught. The members of the fire department did some good work during the fire.

Blessing the Altar.

The Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dean Murphy, of Dublin—Sermons by Rev. Father O'Mahony, of London.

At St. Peter's (R. C.) Church on Sunday last the new altar was blessed, and dedicated to the service of the Almighty. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fathers Murphy, of Irishtown, and O'Mahony, of London, assisted by Rev. Father Watters. After the benediction was pronounced the altar was decorated for the service of the day, by the Sisters of St. Joseph. A very pretty statue of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, now fills the niche in the centre pillar of the altar. Father Murphy, of Irishtown, celebrated the Grand Mass. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Father O'Mahony, of London, from the text "How terrible is this place! this is no other but the house of God, and the gate of Heaven," Genesis 28th chap., 17th verse. A brief synopsis will not be out of place.

A stranger visiting the Catholic Church would naturally be struck with wonder and admiration at the decoration of God's house. No matter where he looks, he finds everything worthy of the service for which it is designed. One characteristic of Catholicity is, that the embellishing of the Church of God is not confined to locality, from the wealthy in the cathedral to the poor in their little rustic church, everywhere it is ever generous, ever ready with the richness of their heart's affection to offer worthy gifts to their altar. The chaste chiselling of the sculptor, the grand painting from the artist's brush—all are offered as homage to the Sacred Heart of Jesus—the God of all power and wisdom. Why then should it be considered an object of wonder that Catholics pay so much attention to beautifying their altars, when they know who is to take up his abode here? To the worldly minded those contributions may seem to be considered more a matter of self interest, but to the Catholic heart, the altar is not for the manna, nor for the love of the law, but for the Heavenly Father which is dispensed to the great love-filled heart all over the world. Here in the Catholic Church is the grand altar for God, for Christ who died for us. All who to-day witness the benediction of this spotless altar before which every Catholic who purify of sense is offered to the service of God, will often come and adore. Here in moments of affection your children will pray for you at the foot of the Cross of Christ. Before this altar your children will receive the waters of baptism upon their heads. The blessed Eucharist will be administered to both old and young, to fill their hearts with charity. The bride and bridegroom, will receive the sacrament of matrimony, and be made one. Your faith will be made strong by the sacrament of Confirmation. When death puts his seal upon your brow you will be brought to the foot of the altar there, to receive prayers for the repose of your precious soul. When your heart is breaking with the pain and vicissitudes of life, here you may find your strength, to fight life's battle. Works of mercy emanate from it, every Christian virtue springs from the sanctuary in the house of God, to plant our hearts in the Heavenly home. God made two temples—the first the world, grand in its creation, every thing in nature reflected the power and majesty of the creator, from the highest mountain to the simplest flower. The heavens sound his almighty praise. How changed since Adam fell. Man is dragged down into the servitude of corruption. Paganism, too for the centuries has been debasing the soul. Men fostering passions which degrade them, so that a Catholic writer was forced to exclaim that "Every thing was God, but God himself." Things needed purification, and the disobedience of man could only be forgiven, through the instrumentality of God's house. The prophets foretold the coming of Christ. You all know the history of His life, how He lived in poverty and obscurity, and died upon the cross. He at whose voice the tomb gave up its dead, and disease left the limbs of the afflicted, all to prosecute the work of the Father, and with his blood, washed out all marks of sin. Sin is rampant, progressing from stage to stage. Before Christ's coming, it was punished by the deluge, and by the raging fire that consumed the cities of the plains. Supposing we turn our thoughts to the pages of that mystery, not to the history of countries but to the secret pages of our own hearts we will find the papers teeming with the crimes of their cities which would outrage the days of Noah. But the avenging hand of God is stayed. Why? Because the purification is daily exercised at our altars thro' the Holy sacrifice of the Mass. The second temple is represented by man—man is the master piece of the creation. God's power was grand sublime, infinite in creating man. Man can reflect the image of God, it is stamped upon his soul. "My delight is to be with the children of God." Naturally, when made to God's image, we should be obedient to God's commands, since if we offend Him He can hurl us from the pedestal of our own creating. St. Paul says: "Know ye not that your bodies are the members of Christ." Our souls are deformed by sin, but here at the holy tribunal of penance, the work of purification is a propitiatory sacrifice, and prepares you all for the heaven which I hope will be your reward.

The choir, under the leadership of the organist, Miss Annie Doyle, sang St. Clair's Mass in G. Soprano solos were sung by Miss Robinson and Miss Lizzie Doyle; alto solos by Misses Teller and Biddulph; tenor solos by Mr. Lebell, of London, and Ferguson of Goderich; and bass solos by Mr. John Robinson. The chorus at the Offertory was Regina Coeli. "Praise ye the Lord" was sung after the Elevation choral.

The evening service was largely attended, Father O'Connor, of Wawanosh, officiated at vespers. The altar when lighted presented a beautiful effect, being decorated with exquisite taste. The Semforth choir, led by Dean Murphy, and helped by Mr. Michael Ferguson, Miss Teller and the Misses Biddulph, sang the entire service, Miss Downey acting as organist. Miss Downey also sang a solo in English in a beautiful manner. The rendering of "Regina Coeli" by Misses Killoran and Ryan was very acceptable. After vespers, Father O'Mahony, of London, again ascended the steps of the altar, and delivered a very impressive and instructive address.

LAKE DISASTERS.

General Schooners Meet Accidents on the Upper Waters.—The "Lady Macfarlan" Collides with "South Haven."

CHICAGO, April 17.—A schooner, just arrived, reports that on Sunday up the lake, she discovered a capsized schooner, 150 tons. No one was visible about the wreck. The letters "E. N." were the only part of the name visible. It is judged that she belonged to Grand Haven or South Haven.

DETROIT, April 17.—John Long, the owner of the schooner "Yankee Blade," anchored at Jackson Port, has abandoned the vessel to the insurance companies. She is insured for $6000. The captain of the schooner thinks the vessel will prove a total loss.

The Canadian schooner Lady Dufferin left Chicago on Thursday evening bound to Milland with a cargo of corn. About two hours after leaving Chicago, when five or six miles south of the waterworks crib, she collided with the scow schooner South Haven, bound to Chicago, light. The Dufferin struck the South Haven amidships on the port side, carrying away the latter's bulwarks and several stanchions and losing her own cabin staker and sprit-sail-yard. The Dufferin let go her anchors and proceeded to repair damages, after which she proceeded on her way. The wind was very high at the time or more serious damage would have resulted to both vessels.

Magistrates Court.

Before His Worship the Mayor.

Thursday, April 20.

Robt. McKay, a lad about 13 years of age, was charged by Mrs. Mary Wilson with assaulting her son and cutting him on the head. He was fined $1, and costs or 10 days in gaol. The fine was paid.

John Gail, another boy, was charged with using abusive and insulting language to George Wilson. He was fined $1 and costs, or 5 days in gaol. He was sent down in default of payment.

The effect of the N. P. in Ottawa has been disastrous. It has killed off the only manufacturers, except the lumber mills, the city possessed. The principal establishments affected are T. W. Currier & Co.'s sash, blind and door factory, closed down the first year of the N. P., and has not re-opened since; Canningham & Co.'s agricultural implement factory, shut down since the adoption of N. P.; Somerville's marble works, closed, and the proprietor gone to the United States; Taylor marble works, closed; the glucose factory, unable to continue operation on account of the duty on corn.

WHAT WAS IT?

I was engaged to Angelina Melville, and I thought myself the luckiest man living. Angelina was so handsome that no strangers ever saw her without expressing admiration, and one did not weary with the face after years of familiarity with it. She was well-bred, accomplished and a great heiress. I had great reasons to believe she was very fond of me. No man could be more content than I was as I leaned back in the first-class carriage which took me from Glasgow into the country, to the Vale of Cruix, where I was to preach a few Sabbaths.

dear, put the key in his pocket, and sauntered away down the railroad. I took his place on the bench and waited. In a few minutes a prim little old gentleman appeared upon the top of the hill, carrying in one hand a tin can, and under either arm a brown paper parcel. I knew at a glance that it was Stevenson. "Are you Mr. Macgregor?" he inquired mildly, as he approached. I wanted to know if he had any expectation of being kept so long, but, you see, it saves the women folks trouble to fetch things when I drive down. (Step in, won't you! I'll just hang this can of paraffine oil on behind. Some dislike the smell—may be you do. The sugar-leaf, tea and coffee can go under the seat as well as not. How's your health, sir, and how do you like Vale of Cruix?)

a crash to the ground and shattered to pieces. I caught the poor child in my arm. In a moment she came to herself, and said she had overtook herself, she thought. They had been baking all day and it was warm. And now she bade me good-night. But I did not see her next day, nor the next. She kept her room, and was not well enough to bid me good-bye. Poor little Mary! I felt very miserable. However, Angelina met me at Glasgow. She was more beautiful than ever—more elegant in contrast to my simple country friend—and very soon I laughed at myself for the thought that had been in my heart. Of course I said it was the baking that had overcome Mary—it was not my new. I had only been to her as a friend—as a brother. I had not made love to her; above all, I had not flirted with her. But I thought of Mary a great deal, and I missed her every hour exactly—oh, yes, exactly—as I might a sister. I wrote to Mrs. Stevenson, and her answer was very brief. "I haven't much time to write," she said in her postscript. "Mary is sick, and, besides being driven, I am very anxious."

But one thing is on my conscience. [I have never been able to ask myself the question. "Did I flirt with Mary. If not, what was it?" The examination of S. S. No. 3, taught by Edward Stiemmon, took place on Thursday, 30th March, and was a grand success, there being over 70 visitors present. The teacher was assisted in his work by Messrs. McKay and Shaw, teachers of adjoining sections. At the close Mr. Thos. Strachan was voted to the chair, when speeches were given by the chairman, trustees and teachers present, all expressing themselves well pleased with the examination, and very sorry in losing Mr. Stiemmon, as he had given universal satisfaction. At the close the pupils presented him with twelve volumes and the following address:

DEAR TEACHER,—On behalf of the scholars of this school we wish to make known to you the high esteem in which you are held by us. It was with regret that we heard that you were going to leave us, and when we thought of the earnest, yet kind and loving manner in which you had labored for our good, we felt that it would not be doing you or ourselves justice if we allowed you to depart without assuring you that we were not ungrateful for the deep interest you had taken in our welfare, and the great pains you had taken for our advancement in knowledge. We feel that in losing you we lose a friend as an instructor, and although we do not fear that you will forget us, knowing that your natural kindness of heart will often recall to memory the faces that have been so familiar to you for the last two or three years. Yet as a small token of the affection and esteem in which you are held by us, we wish you to accept of these few volumes which we take great pleasure in presenting to you and wherever your lot may be cast you may rest assured that our best wishes accompany you, and that you will not be forgotten by us.

Signed on behalf of the pupils, PENNY MCDONOGALL, ALICE CROOKS, ALICE CARDIFF.

Mr. Stiemmon made a very suitable reply, thanking them for their beautiful address. The examination was then brought to a close.—[Com.]

Very Reasons for a Dissolution.

A gentleman of an enquiring turn of mind has been endeavoring to find out the reasons for a dissolution and general election a year before the time fixed by statute. Among others he asked a Conservative member of parliament. The answer was peculiar. "You see," said the M. P., "Sir John is not very strong. There is no knowing what may happen, and it would be a bad thing for the party to go to the country without him. The Tories are the manufacturers who would like to have the tariff question settled one way or the other for six years at any rate." We believe these are the only reasons that can be given for dissolving the House, but what a confession of weakness and subservency they disclose. The Tory party, without Sir John A. Macdonald, would tumble to pieces, and the whole vast, varied and important interests of the country must be made subservient to a ring of sugar, cotton and woolen manufacturers! A very consolatory prospect indeed for the Tories and a mighty satisfying excuse for the people!—[Ottawa Free Press.

I Feel Myself as Good as New!

From Mrs. S. B. Bennis, of West Fairlee, Vt.:—"For seven or eight years I have been in poor health, and for the past year very feeble. My flesh and strength wasted away, until I was unable to work or even go up stairs without great exhaustion. I suffered from frequent and distressing palpitation of the heart, my food distressed me, causing acidity and pain in the stomach; and I suffered from extreme nervousness, constipation and debility of the system generally, my blood being thin and poor and sluggish in circulation, and I was for years suffering all the tortures of a confirmed dyspeptic. About six months since I concluded I would try a bottle of PERRUVIAN SYRUP, and received so much benefit from it that I purchased five bottles more, and have continued the use of the Syrup until quite recently. It has restored my health to such an extent that I feel myself as good as new. My digestion is good and weight has increased in the past four months from one hundred and twenty to one hundred and thirty-eight pounds; my strength has returned, and my general health is thus wonderfully improved, and I can truly say I owe it all to the use of your PERRUVIAN SYRUP." Sold by all druggists.

In the month of April almost everyone requires a good and reliable Blood Purifier. We know of none so safe and effectual as Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They act directly on all the secretions, their purgative action carrying off all impurities from the system, they invigorate the Liver and Kidneys, purify the Stomach, cleanse the Bowels, and give strength and tone to the whole system. Try a course of this valuable, safe and reliable vegetable preparation, Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. In large bottles at 50 cents. Geo. Rhyman, agent for Goderich.

BOSS LIARS.

How a stranger Named Tipper Diagnosed the Champion.

One Sunday Lem Williams was seated in front of Hank's grocery, spitting tobacco juice at a grasshopper, when Bill Barker inquired:

"How's crops up your way, Lem?"

"Well he replied, 'corn's sorter 'gin to tasseling, but the stand is powerful poor.'"

"That seems to be the general complaint," remarked Bill.

"Yes; this here country ain't good for raisin' corn," said Lem Williams, as he took a fresh chew; "but if you want to see corn what is corn, you jest oughter go to Fort Bend. When I was farmin' down on the Brazos, in that country, my corn grew so tall and thick that I had to hang lamps on the mule's ears to see how to plough up a furrow. It was corn and no mistake, and in the fall the stalks were so high that I had to knock the ears down with a saffras pole. Damn my skin, the ears were so big that it took a strong man to carry more'n three of 'em at a time."

"Speakin' about strong men," remarked Bill Barker, "sorter causes me the remember an old steamboat captain who used to run on the Yazoo river in '58. One day he stopped at a landing for some wood, and the niggers were kinder slow about bringin' it aboard. Old Jenkins, the captain, roused up and cussed everythin' in reach. Says he, walkin' up to the wood pile where the niggers were at work, 'pile on yer timber yer onery skunks, and le me show yer how to carry wood,' and he stretched out his arms. Well, sir, the niggers piled on the wood, and kept piling until Jenkins held a cord and a half of firewood on his shoulders, and he turned and carried it on board the boat just as easy as if it was a bokay. He was what I'd call a purty tolerable stout man."

"That reminds me of a man I used to know in Bedford county, Ailbany," said a stranger named Tipper, who had been in the neighborhood but a short time. All eyes were turned on the speaker as they began to size him up. "I guess old Pete Jennings, continued the stranger, "was about the heftiest man in these United States, if I ain't mistaken."

"What about him?" inquired the crowd.

"You see, one day he was hauling some fence posts in an ox wagon when the wheels began to creak like as if they needed greasin'. He looked under the wagon for his tar bucket and found it warn't thar, and what do you spose he did?"

"I don't know," growled Bill Barker and Lem Williams in chorus.

"Well, I'll tell you what he did. He propped up the axle-trees, tuk the wheel off, and steppin' out in the woods, he picked up a pine knot, held it over the axle and squeezed the tar outer it. Old Pete Jennings had a grip what beat a vice, you bet."

"Stranger," said Lem Williams as he rose up, "I don't like to dispute a man's word, but that's a blazing lie and I ain't gwine to believe it," and he and Bill Barker out-ried, and disgusted, mounted their horses and left Tipper with a serene smile on his face as he whittled the edge of a cracker box.

The Kingston News says: Three deaths have recently occurred among the relatives of Mrs. Gilbert Griffin, wife of the Post Office Inspector, under peculiar circumstances. For the past twenty years her mother, Mrs. Harris, of London, her mother's half-brother, Dr. Ryerson, and her mother's cousin, Lt. Col. Ryerson, who were all about the same age, were in the habit of saying they would die at the same time. Dr. Egerton Ryerson died on Mrs. Harris' birthday, February 19; Mrs. Harris died on his birthday, March 24; and Lt. Col. Ryerson died on the day of Mrs. Harris' funeral. Their ages were respectively 79, 82 and 86.

The Doctor's Last Happy Patient. EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882. I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to use a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—[Leading M. D., Evansville. Trial bottles free at Rhyman's drug store. A Weather Cracker Set Down on.

"Pretty warm," the man with the thin clothes said to the man in the corner seat as the South Hill car was coming down the Division street steps.

"What's pretty warm," growled the man in the corner.

"Why, the weather."

"What weather?" more gruffly than ever.

"Why," the man with the thin clothes said, looking as though he wished he hadn't begun it, "this weather."

"Well," said the man in the corner, "how's this weather different from any other?"

The man in the thin clothes looked nervously at the dun mule and said, "it is warmer."

"How do you know it is?" asked the man in the corner.

The other man began to wish he was well out of it, and said he supposed it was; he hadn't heard how the—

"Isn't the weather the same everywhere?" savagely demanded the man in the corner.

"Why, no," the man with the thin clothes replied, wishing to goodness he had a newspaper to hide behind; "no, it's warmer some places, and some places it's colder."

"What makes it warmer in some places than it's colder in others?" remorselessly pursued the man in the corner.

"Why," the man with the thin clothes said piteously, "the sun; the effect of the sun's heat."

"Makes it colder in some places than it's warmer in others?" roared the man in the corner indignantly. "Never heard of such a thing."

"No," the man with the thin clothes hastened. "I didn't mean that. The sun makes it warmer."

"Then what makes it colder?" pursued the remorseless man in the corner.

The man in the thin clothes wiped the beaded perspiration from his pallid brow, and said slowly, "I guess it was the ice."

"What ice?" demanded the inquisitor.

"Why," the victim said, with every symptom of approaching dissolution apparent in his tremulous voice, "the ice that was frozen—frozen—by the frost."

"Did you ever see any ice that wasn't frozen?" howled the man in the corner, in a fine burst of derision.

The man in thin clothes huskily whispered that he wished he was dead, and said, "No; I believe I didn't."

"Then," thundered the man in the corner, "what are you talking about?"

The man in thin clothes made an effort to brace up, and spicily replied that he was trying to talk about the weather.

"And what do you know about it?" triumphantly roared the man in the corner; "what do you know about the weather?"

The man in thin clothes lost his grip again, and feebly said that "he didn't know very much about it, that was a fact." And then he tried to be cheerful, and work in a little joke about nobody being able to know much about this weather, but the man in the corner sat down upon him with a tremendous outburst.

"No, sir! I should say you didn't. You come into the car and force yourself on the attention of a stranger and begin to talk to me about the weather, just as though you owned it, and find you are just like a thousand and one other people, who always begin talking about the weather because they don't know anything else, when by the caves of Boreas, air, they know less about the weather than they do about any thing else in the world!"

And the man in the corner glared up and down at the timid passenger in the South Hill car, but no man durst answer him. And as for the man with thin clothes, he didn't know for the life of him whether he had a sunstroke or an ague chill. He only knew that it seemed about twenty-seven miles to the Jefferson street crossing.—[Burlington Hawkeye.

Deserving of Praise. Too much cannot be expressed in favor of that unsurpassed remedy for coughs, colds, asthma, croup, sore throat, and all lung complaints. If you suffer from neglected colds, try Hagar's Pectoral Balsam. The cost is trifling, only 25c.

"What every one says must be true." And every one who has tested it merits speaks warmly in praise of Hagar's Pectoral Balsam as a positive cure for all throat and lung complaints, coughs and colds, sore throat, bronchitis, and incipient consumption.

People have so more right to become dyspeptic, and remain gloomy and miserable, than they have to take poison and commit suicide. If the stomach becomes weak and fails to perform its functions, Burdock Blood Bitters will speedily remedy the trouble.

AS SIGNS OF GENERAL DEBILITY AND mal-nutrition in children we have rickets, knock-knees, bow-legs, chicken breast, round-shoulders, pallid complexion, precociousness, peevish temper, which are expressions of feeble digestion and assimilation, with blood impoverishment. Here ordinary stimulants and tonic mixtures are mischievous, inducing in the feeble organism a morbid transient excitement which is mistaken for permanent invigoration. For successful treatment the indications are to restore nutrition by the use of Wheeler's Phosphates and Calcium, out-door life and the gymnasium.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM

(This Engraving represents the Lungs in a healthy state.)

THE WAY IT WILL AFFECT YOU. It excites a spasm and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm and mucus; changes the circulation and purifies the blood; soothes the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. SUCH IS THE IMMEDIATE AND SATISFACTORY EFFECT THAT IT IS WARRANTED TO BRING UPON THE MOST distressing cough in a few hours time, if not of too long standing. It is warranted to GIVE ENTIRE SATISFACTION, EVEN IN THE MOST confirmed cases of Consumption. It is warranted to produce confidence (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no real necessity for any more drinking. Consumption when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time. Physicians having consumptive patients, and who, having failed to cure them with their own medicine, would recommend to give ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM a trial. Sold by all Druggists.

Garbraid.

SMOOTH FLY.—Mr. Chas. Morris and a gang of five workmen have started on their summer work of building their first barn this year at E. Shaw's, Leeburn. The boys are a merry, musical set.

Colborne.

EDUCATIONAL.—The following are the names of the pupils of S. S. No. 5, Colborne, who were promoted by the inspector, Mr. J. R. Miller, last Friday, viz.:—Form Part I to Part II—F. Henderson, M. Fullford, E. Henderson, P. Foley, R. Boyd, From Part II to III Class—A. Morris, M. Foley, A. Bogie, W. Green, R. Cousins, A. Cousins, D. Hall, T. McWhiney, From Part III to IV Class—A. Rome, J. Linder, E. Linder, S. Foley, J. Rome, From Part IV Class—A. Zoellner, P. Stuart, W. Bogie.

Here are some extracts from a private letter, dated Winnipeg, April 3rd, and as the writer is one whose word can be relied upon, some of the facts may be of interest. "We were delayed upon railroad from Saturday afternoon till Sunday night. The engine and one coach were thrown from the track by snow piles. I did not do much the first day but look over the city, and I like it immensely. I am now working at plastering, and am getting steady employment at $2.50 per day. Carpenters are out of work on account of the delay to lumber trains by snow. Board is from $5 to $6 per week. I can get a good single meal any time for 35c. Three of us from Colborne have a room rented in the city hall, and are keeping "bach." Our room costs us 15 cts. per day and all that is made by this house goes into the city treasury. Before I left home I heard that every place was so full that people were obliged to walk the streets all night. I have yet to see the first man walk the streets on that account. True, every hotel is comfortably full, but none over crowded. Nothing as near as I can ascertain, is about the same in price and quality, as at Colborne. The probabilities are that there will be plenty of work for some time to come." From the above it would seem from several other private hints in the letter, your reporter thinks that some of the stories in circulation are mere nonsense, and if every one likes Winnipeg as well as the writer of the above, the tide of emigration is not likely to cease for a short time to come.

ZOPESA.

The New Compound, its wonderful affinity to the Digestive Apparatus and the Liver, increasing the dissolving juices, relieving almost instantly the dreadful results of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and the TORPID LIVER, makes Zopesa an every day necessity in every house. It acts gently and speedily in Biliousness, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Distress after Eating, Wind on the Stomach, Heartburn, Pains in the Side and Back, Want of Appetite, Want of Energy, Low Spirits, Foul Stomach. It invigorates the Liver, carries off all surplus bile, regulates the Bowels, and gives tone to the whole system. Cut this out and take it to your Druggist and get a 10 cent Sample, or a large bottle for 75 cents, and tell your neighbor about it.

Trade Mark Registered. ANOTHER GREAT BOOM IN WINNIPEG. By casual observation, we find all land speculators have a clear head and watch the large fortunes. But the whole secret is they keep the system in a healthy condition by the use of THE PRIDE OF THE VALLEY MEDICINE. We can safely say hundreds come to us for the great lung and blood purifier before going west. Read the following statement, and give up all hopes, I tried the PRIDE OF THE VALLEY, and am now able to do my work after seven year's sickness. "I certify that I was troubled with Catarrh in the head, gathering of phlegm in the throat, choking and coughing at night for years, so I could not sleep, often troubled with dull, lifeless feelings, pains in the chest and back. After giving hundreds of dollars to doctors, and giving up all hopes, I tried the PRIDE OF THE VALLEY, and am now able to do my work after seven year's sickness." JAMES MCNEIL. 202 Simcoe Street, London, Ont. "The above statement of my wife's is correct." JAMES MCNEIL. For sale by all druggists, manufactured by Prof. A. M. Shreve, London, Ont. Sample packets 25 cts. Five for $1.00. Can be had in Goderich of the following druggists: John Sead, Jas. Wilson, F. Jordan, and Geo. Rhynas.

1882. HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY—16 PAGES.—SUITED TO BOYS AND GIRLS OF FROM SIX TO SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE. Vol. III commences November 1, 1881. NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE. THE YOUNG PEOPLE has been from the first successful beyond anticipation. It is growing fast. It has a distinct purpose to which it steadily adheres, that, namely, of supplanting the vicious papers for the young with a paper more attractive, as well as more wholesome.—Boston Journal. For neatness, elegance of engraving, and contents generally, it is unsurpassed by any publication of the kind yet brought to our notice.—Pittsburg Gazette. Its weekly visits are eagerly looked for, not only by the children, but also by parents who are anxious to provide pure literature for their girls and boys.—Christianity and Home, Buffalo, N. Y. A weekly paper for children which parent need not fear to let their children read at their family fireside.—Harford Daily Times. Just the paper to take the eyes and secure the attention of the boys and girls.—Springfield Union.

TERMS. HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE $1.50. Per Year, Postage Free. SINGLE NUMBERS Four Cents each. The Round Volume for 1881 will be read early in November. Price $3.00; postage paid. Covers for Year Book for 1881, 35 cents; postage, 13 cents additional. Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss. Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

1882. Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED. This popular journal is a rare combination of literature, art, and fashion. Its stories, poems, and essays are by the best writers of Europe and America; its engravings possess the highest artistic excellence; and in all matters pertaining to fashion it is universally acknowledged to be the leading authority in the land. The new volume will contain many brilliant novelties.

1882. Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED. "Always varied, always good, always improving."—CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, Jr. Harper's Magazine, the most popular illustrated periodical in the world, begins its sixtieth volume with the December Number. It represents what is best in American literature and art, and its marked success in England—where it has already a circulation larger than that of any English magazine of the same class—has brought into its service the most eminent writers and artists of Great Britain. The forthcoming volumes for 1882 will in every respect surpass their predecessors.

Goderich, April 13th 1882.

The Sarcastic Girl.

The sarcastic girl is, in the language of the negro elocutionist and orator, growing "more prevalent" every day. She is a trifling more insufferable than her giggling, gushy, romance-loving sister, whom, however, she always contemplates with pitying contempt, not entirely free from disguised scorn.

She has not the ability to distinguish between impudence and satire, and it is an easy task to convince her that ill-bred rudeness of speech is the perfection of irony, and that to say spiteful and unpleasant things to everybody she meets is sure to win her a reputation of being sarcastic.

She eagerly cultivates her fancied talent, never allowing an opportunity to exercise it to pass unimproved, and she generally succeeds in making herself heartily disliked by those who are unfortunate enough to be numbered among her acquaintances.

The family think her brilliant when everyone else pronounces her insulting. The habit of being "sarcastic" grows upon her, until, by the time her fond parents conceive her to be a prodigy, society avoids her as a pest. As she grows older she becomes dissatisfied with her loneliness.

Then, too, she hears whispers that she has been pronounced "hateful" by the people who once told her she was brilliant.

If she marries, her husband soon tires of her society, and, in common with the rest of the world, avoids her as much as he can, and seems to envy those who are more fortunately circumstanced in this respect. She feels this, and it only makes her more spiteful and disagreeable. Her children feel no sweet companionship in her presence; their natural affection for her is quenched by her unhappy disposition, and they early learn to withhold their respect. Her life is as miserable as it can well be, and when she dies she passes almost, if not entirely, unregretted, a warning to the sarcastic girl, if she should but discover it, and profit by the lesson.

Fortunes for Farmers and Mechanics.

Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are Billed have a slow complexion, poor appetite, and feel nervous spirits, and general debility, you should delay a moment, and procure a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It will cure you, and that is the fact. It is the best medicine for the blood. It is sold at 50c. [6]

The Reason Why.

A good many years ago, when a certain place in Texas was a very small town, quite a number of prominent citizens went out on a hunting expedition. One night when they were all gathered around the camp fire, one of the party suggested that each man should give the time and reason for his leaving his native State and coming to Texas, whereupon each one in his turn told his experience. Judge Blank had killed a man in self-defence, in Arkansas, Gen. So-and-so had forged another man's signature to a check, while another came to Texas on account of his having two wives. The only man who did not make any disclosures was a sanctimonious-looking old man, who, although a professional gambler, was usually called "Parson."

"Well, Parson, why did you leave Kentucky?"

"I don't care to say anything about it. Besides, it is only a trifle. None of you would believe me, anyway."

"Out with it. Did you shoot anybody?"

"No, gentlemen, I did not. Since you won't to know so bad I'll tell you. I left Kentucky because I did not build a church."

Deep silence fell on the group. No such excuse for coming to Texas ever had been heard of before. There was evidently an unexplained mystery at the bottom of it. The Parson was called on to furnish more light.

"Well, gentlemen, you see a congregation raised $3,000 and turned it over to me to build a church—and I didn't build the church. That's all."

Satisfactory Results in Montreal.

Whilst Montreal is a model city in many respects, it is not exactly a quarter section of Paradise, as Capt. Geo. Murphy, Chief of Government Police can testify. A reporter of a Montreal journal called upon this gentleman a short time ago, and put to him the following query:

"Chief, do you find duties irksome and dangerous in your strange calling?"

"Irksome," replied Mr. Murphy, "I seldom find them; but that they are attended with danger is very true. There is danger to be faced, of course, from wind, weather and criminals, and the least of these dangers, is not those of exposure and bad weather. The heavy, moist atmosphere that gathers over the water is very conducive to rheumatism, and many of my men suffer from that complaint more or less. I believe that our danger from exposure from this time forward is past, as St. Jacques (oil), if applied in time in cases of rheumatism, has a wonderful way of knocking that malady out of people. It certainly relieved me of a severe pain in my shoulder."

A Connecticut pastor declined an addition of $100 to his salary, for the reason, among others, that the hardest part of his labors heretofore had been the collection of his salary, and it would kill him to try to collect $100 more.

"The assayed man I ever met," says Josh Billings, "is a henpecked husband when he is away from home. Nature seldom makes a phool; she simply furnishes the raw materials and lets the devil finish the job to suit himself."

The following letter was received by an assayer from an afflicted widow:—"My wail is dead, and wants to be buried to-morrow at Woner kloek, U nose wair to dig Hole—by the side of my other two wails—let it be deep."

"Bridget," said the mistress to her servant, "put a little nutmeg in the custard this afternoon." And Bridget picked out the smallest nutmeg she could find and threw it in the custard, where it was found entire at the evening meal.

A woman at Marietta, Ohio, on reading of somebody having committed suicide by means of a towel, remarked that she did not understand how it could be done; but an hour afterward she was found choked to death in exactly the same manner. See what a woman will do when you rouse her curiosity.

The only way of paring the nails and shaving the head of rumor, is for lively women never to repeat one word she hears.

A netted New York artist envelops from the depths of his artistic consciousness that a large pink bonnet and an aquiline nose are made for each other.

A fashionable hair dresser of London announces a new aesthetic color for the hair, supplied by a glittering red bronze powder, which imparts the fashionable golden red or Titian red shade.

It is asserted over and over that anxiety shortens life, but when a chap sees another fellow feeding his girl sandwiches at a picnic he is going to sit down and sit down and bid his soul be calm! Not by a hook-jack!

A Maryland man who wanted to do something in memory of his wife has erected a church spire and put four big bells in it. The people in that locality will keep that woman's memory green for years to come.

A great number of bridesmaids is now considered vulgar, and the aristocratic bride has not above four if she be an English girl, though twelve maidens were not unusual at a fashionable wedding a few years ago.

During the past year several different women who have been dumb for years have suddenly regained their speech. When a man gets that way it's good-by to gab forever. An earthquake can't bring a yell.

The Princess of Wales is described as being very slight and tall, with nose, cheek and chin as delicately molded as if done by a sculptor's hand in marble. There is no color in her face and she is very spirituelle. And though she is 37, she looks not over 24.

The affianced bride of Prince Leopold is down on the Court Chronicle records as Helen, although her correct name is Helena, but as her Majesty's classical car rebels against the Greek pronunciation of the word Hel-sa, she has changed it to Helen to avoid further discussion.

The Queen of Holland will give her sister, the Princess Helen, for a marriage present a splendid sleigh in the form of a swan, and painted in the style of Watteau. It is lined with white quilted blue satin. On an average, the Princess will find enough snow for the sleigh about once in five years in England.

There is as much extravagance in weddings nowadays that all except the wealthiest must be married privately. Even the poorest couple think they cannot have a wedding without flowers, music and a dinner or supper, which costs enough to set them up in house-keeping if the money were expended for that purpose.

The new treatment for rapidly conditioning Horses, Zood's Tonic Compound and Blood Mixture. Each package contains a good Purging Ball which is given to the animal previous to using the strong tonic powder. This is the common sense treatment and will accomplish more in one week than the old system of Spices, Feeds and Condition Powders would do in a month, ask your druggist about it. Geo. Rhynas, agent, Goderich.

Bees in Spring.

Bees that have wintered in cellars should be allowed to remain there, if they will do so quietly, until late in April, thus keeping them from flying to the fields when it is too cold for them to return, and so almost entirely avoid "spring dwindling."

No doubt many bees will come out and drop into the cellar bottom as spring advances. But there is no occasion to hurry them out so long as they do not have an offensive odor caused by soiling their combs of wax. If it be found necessary to take them out to fly, do so on a warm, sunny day, and after they have flown, take them back to the cellar to remain until they are put in their summer stand.

The cellar must be kept perfectly dark until the bees are finally shut out.

Last spring my bees were taken from the cellar on the 27th day of April after a continuous confinement of five months and twenty days. They were in excellent condition and bees from nearly every stock went to the fields and returned loaded with pollen within an hour after the hives were set up in their summer stands.

As soon as the bees were taken from the cellar, the bottom boards of their hives should be cleaned and of dead bees and smoothly scraped and all ventilation thoroughly closed with pieces of thin board and litted except the entrance at the bottom of the hive, which, if the colony is of ordinary strength should be left open as in summer. Bees that have been wintered at their summer stands will need this same care only earlier in the season, at the first approach of warm weather.

An Ohio exchange relates this example of the kind of a man who thinks more of his tobacco than he does of his wife. Where is the boy that will grow up so disgustingly selfish!

Only a short time ago, while we sat in an Occochee store, we saw a man and his wife from the country trading. The woman had the appearance of being a hard-working, industrious, intelligent lady. She was examining a piece of calico or other cheap dress-goods.

The clerk said, "Shall I cut off ten yards?"

The pale-faced, overworked woman turned to her husband, and in a timid, frightened manner asked him if she might buy a dress she needed it, and the cost would be less than a dollar.

"No," he grunted, "I can't afford it," and yet he had just paid as much for a great plug of navy and a paper of two of smoking tobacco.

The poor, illy clad, but neat woman subsided as though this was no new experience, while her rough, coarse, and animal husband bit off a mouthful of the weed, and ordered her to get ready for home.

How to Spoil a Husband.

Snarl at him.

Henpeck him.

Find fault with him.

Keep an untidy house.

Quarrel with him for trifles.

Humor him half to death.

Boss him out of his boots.

Always have the last word.

Be extra cross on wash day.

Never have meals ready in time.

Run bills without his knowledge.

Let him sew buttons on his shirts.

Pay no attention to household expenses.

An Earl died in London the other day at the age of twenty-six who had drunk life's cup of sin and shame to the very lees. His hair to a great name, possessor of a princely income, married to one of the most beautiful women in England, all was not sufficient to keep him from the reckless course of dissipation which eventually killed him, and his memory was only saved from the still further infamy of dying in the house of an actress of questionable character by his friends conveying him to his own mansion when on the verge of death. We refer to the death of this unfortunate nobleman, however, not so much for the purpose of pointing out his sins as to show the iniquities of the church patronage system.

This young man had no less than thirty-nine "livings" in his gift—"thirty-nine parishes," remarks a contemporary, "dependent for the selection of their spiritual guides on the choice of a mere youth, who had come in possession of the right in the same way as his mansions and parks, horses and cattle, descended to him." The sooner the Church of England finds some way of riding herself of the incubus of such "patrons" the better it will be both for her own position and the progress of the work which she has at heart.—Witness.

Phosphatide

Is a wonderful thing, yet so natural, so reasonable. Why? If you have feelings of goneness; too weak and dragging to rally; too nervous to sleep; an appetite hardly sufficient to keep body and soul together; headache, with pains across the back; the whole system relaxed; perhaps coughs and sore lungs; and will use one or six bottles of Dr. G. L. Austin's Phosphatide as the case may demand, it will not fail to make you an enthusiastic friend. Why do we say this? Because Phosphatide supplies a want, the very properties the system is lacking and yearning for. It is not a medicine, but nutrient instantly converted into blood, bone and tissue. It is also delicious to the taste. Try it. The result is as certain as that cause and effect go hand in hand. All druggists, Lowrey & Co., Sole agents for the Dominion, 55 Front St. East, Toronto.

Charcoal.

Charcoal, laid flat while cold on a burn causes the pain to abate immediately; by leaving it on for an hour the burn seems almost healed when the heat is superficial. The charcoal is a value for many other purposes. Tainted meat, surrounded with it, is sweetened; strewn over heaps of decomposing pelts, or over dead animals, it prevents any unpleasant odor. Foul water is purified by it.

It is a great disinfectant, and sweetens offensive air if placed in shallow trays around apartments. It is so very porous in its "minute interior spaces," it absorbs and condenses gases most rapidly. One cubic inch of fresh charcoal will absorb nearly one hundred inches of gaseous ammonia. Charcoal forms an unrivaled poultice for malignant wounds and sores, often corroding away the dead flesh reducing it one quarter in six hours. In cases of what we call proud flesh it is invaluable. I have seen mortification arrested by it. It gives no disagreeable odor, corrodes no metal, hurts no texture, injures no color, is a simple and safe sweetener and disinfectant. A teaspoonful of charcoal, in half a glass of water, often relieves a headache; it absorbs the gases and relieves the distended stomach, by pressing against the nerves, which extend from the stomach of the head. Charcoal absorbs a hundred times its weight of gas or wind in a stomach or bowels, and in this way it purifies the breath. It often relieves constipation, pain, or heart burn.

The Elgin assizes were enlightened by a case in which a man was indicted for stealing three pounds of cake from a church. It seem that two men sat up all night to watch, cake probably being an unusual luxury in that neighborhood. The sum total of the case is figured up as being that two men lost a nights rest, the country was put to the expense of a trial, judge, jury, witnesses and lawyers lost a lot of valuable time, and the prisoner was sent to jail for twenty-four hours—all for the remnants of a tea-making. There seems to be no doubt that the prisoner "took the cake."

It is said that one of those distressed Irish ladies who had received no rent for two years, and who was living in Kingston in the deepest poverty, was visited one day by one of her farmers' wives, who called on her professedly to bring her a basket of eggs. Great was the surprise of the distressed proprietor on opening one of the eggs laid at the bottom of the basket to find that it contained a roll of bank notes.

It transpires that $428 of public money was paid for printing and expressing certain Tory members' speeches on the railway contract last year.

The courts have decided that refusing to take a newspaper and periodical from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncollected, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

GIRLS FOR THE WEST.—Last week Mrs. Davidson, wife of the late proprietor of the Commercial hotel, Seaford, took with her to Emerson, six girls from this neighborhood, who are to assist in connection with the hotel they intend running. The girls are guaranteed $13 a month for two months, and passage paid, at the end of which time they will be paid current wages there, with the option of leaving to do better, if they can.

Swine in His Grave.

There he goes—direct to a saloon and points down on their heavy draught of strong drink, and so forth because his appetite is somewhat, but for the artificial buoyancy it produces—the after effects of which leave him more miserable than before: it is the dreadful practice that is daily sending thousands to their graves.

A remedy for all this is found in the true friend of temperance,—the best and purest of all medicines—Electric Bitters. Sold by Geo. Rhynas at 50 cents.

Cathartic Pills

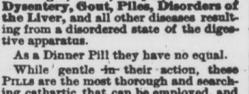

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure safety, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effective remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. Ayer's Pills are especially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Rheumatism, Eruptions, and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhoea, Constipation, Sore Throat, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal. While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

A COUNTS. JAS. G. BALL At the Market.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS!

We have at great expense got up something which we feel every Christian should have in his home. It is a beautiful and useful article ever placed upon the market. We will endeavor to give you a full description of this work of art.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

have been made the subject of a stone engraving, size 10x24, the elegance of which is to be appreciated. Engraved in all the choicest styles of varied type, are the Ten Commandments, with the two tables of stone. Upon each side the picture is supported by a beautiful representation of the pillars of Jethro and Sinai, that were before the children of Israel in the wilderness. The whole combining to make one of the most beautiful and useful articles ever manufactured, and we will gladly forfeit the amount paid to any one finding it otherwise than as we have described it. In order to introduce them quickly we have put them down much lower than any other picture of the same quality. Agents should not lose a single day, but send at once, and save their neighbors before others get ahead of them.
