

The Weekly Monitor.

BRIDGETOWN, OCTOBER 15, 1879.

FRANCE.

France is, perhaps, the finest country in Europe. Its agricultural productivity is immense, and its geographical position adapts it for successful maritime enterprise.

The Bourbons claimed that France was divinely designed for upholding the greatness, and for administering to the exclusive enjoyment of their family: they accounted the population at large as "dust in the balance," without personal rights or civil immunities.

But neither Bourbons nor Bonapartes are now in the ascendant at Paris. In France the throne of despotism has been overturned—popular rights and immunities are enjoyed—and constitutional government is established.

The last few years are the brightest in the history of France. Such an era of material prosperity she never knew before. Her industries, no longer trammelled by misrule and governmental exactions, are all thriving, and becoming more and more expansive.

The autumnal term of the Supreme Court for this County, was opened at Annapolis Royal on Tuesday of last week (Oct. 7th.) Judge James presided. After the usual preliminaries, and the swearing of the Grand Jury, T. D. Ruggles, Esq., Q. C., on behalf of the Bar, officers of the Court and Grand Jury, in a re sua voce address, welcomed the Judge to the County—this being his first appearance on the Bench in Annapolis. T. W. Chesley Esq., Q. C., followed in the same complimentary strain.

These courtesies being over, the trial of causes was in order. Although the civil docket was very large and a crowded Bar of country and city lawyers, there was only one important cause tried, viz: Heals vs. Canada, Marine and Fire Insurance Company. After a tedious and protracted trial, the Jury gave the plaintiff a verdict of fifteen hundred dollars.

After trying a cause, Overseers of the Poor, vs. Eagles—verdict for the plaintiff—the time of the term was exhausted to enter upon another trial. The length of the docket has spoken increase of litigation, and the delay of justice to suitors.

Pedestrianism.

A leisure hour, occupied in a recreative walk, is healthful as well as pleasurable. Those whose daily occupations are sedentary and within doors, should as often as it is convenient, take a stroll, to enjoy the luxury of breathing the air in its purity, and to invigorate their limbs by needed exercise.

Last week we mentioned that a robust clergyman and his no less robust lady were enjoying a holiday excursion on foot through all these western provinces. Although they had walked more than two hundred and fifty miles, they showed no signs of weariness, and their countenances were aglow with health when they reached our town.

There is another phase of Pedestrianism, however, which we do not like, because it is unhealthful; lacks either utility or genuine pleasure, and is demoralizing. We allude to the present prevailing mania for walking matches, which attract excited crowds around them, to indulge in reckless betting, perhaps, in excessive drinking, and too often, it is to be feared, in revolting profanity.

But neither Bourbons nor Bonapartes are now in the ascendant at Paris. In France the throne of despotism has been overturned—popular rights and immunities are enjoyed—and constitutional government is established.

"OUR SORT."—By this is designated the region of this county that is beyond the South Mountain. It is a rough and rugged district; but its inhabitants, for the most part, are hardy and industrious. Although it is a tract not conspicuously favorable to agriculture, it yields to toil remunerative crops. The people there, however, do not depend upon farming for the maintenance of their families. With them, shingle making is quite an industry; but tanning is a year-long pursuit with most of them.

—The Agricultural Exhibition at Clementsville came off as noticed on the 8th inst. on the grounds of Mr. Aaron Potter. The cattle presented a very creditable appearance, and will compare favorably with any of our home breeds in any Section of the County. He made mention of the lamentable increase of crime in various parts of the Province. He regretted to learn that a petition had been drawn up praying for the release of those condemned at the last court, and hoped it would go no further.

—The office and plant of the Berwick Star has been removed to Wolfville. Our contemporary seems to be edging towards the metropolis.

WICKEDNESS IN HIGH PLACES.

Last week the directors of the Consolidated Bank of Montreal were indicted by a grand jury on a charge of deceiving the stockholders and the public by having made false returns to the Government. At the head of those indicted is Sir Francis Hincks, the President of the Bank. Petty thieves and low-lived burglars are promptly punished; but too often swindlers in high life escape the penalties of the law.

—We were shown a letter from one of the shareholders of the Europa Silver Mining Company—headquarters, Kingston Station—a new company just formed for the purpose of mining out a lead silver discovered on the old Liverpool road. He says—

—Messrs. Von Stamp & Hale gave the samples taken to them a thorough testing, and pronounce them good for surface quartz, better even than the Nevada mines to be commenced on. They are worth ten dollars per ton, and we propose to increase our company at once to 100 strong, at $10 per share."

—The Roman Catholic bazaar at Antigonish realized $4,120. The Roman Catholics are certainly far ahead of other denominations in the matter of patronizing affairs got up for their church.

—A Yarmouth fishing schooner with a full fare of 629 quintals codfish struck the Jeddore Ledges last Tuesday night, and sprung a leak that all efforts to save her proved unavailing, and she shortly after sank. Crew saved.

—We acknowledge with thanks the receipt from Messrs. Landry & Co., of St. John, N. B., of a very neat music roll, containing three finely printed and choice pieces of music, viz:—"Harvest Morn." "Days that are gone seem the Brightest," "Angel whispers of my Mother."

Paradise Agricultural Exhibition.

The Exhibition held at the Paradise Cheese Factory, yesterday, was, considering the short notice, a very creditable one indeed. We unfortunately arrived on the ground too late for a personal inspection, except of a few articles, the exhibit being closed much earlier than was expected. However, through the kindness of the secretary, we were able to glean a few particulars.

—The show of stock was good in quality, but not large. Special mention was made by the judges of the Society Bull, a very fine animal of the Ayrshire breed, and of two yoke of four year old oxen, the best of the kind seen at the fair, especially the Grapes and Nonpareils, and some beautiful Golden Russets, exhibited by Mr. R. W. Elliott.

—Some scamp last week attempted to break into the residence of Mr. Chas. Willis, our local photographer. Charles says he would like to have a five minutes' private conversation with the individual—long enough to give him a little pious advice.

—Prof. Zera gave two more entertaining performances in Victoria Hall last week. A barrel of flour was again given away the second night—a colored man named Christmas, securing it. The next night a silver watch was the leading present, and Mr. Thomas Shaw was the lucky individual this time.

—A much needed improvement has been added to the Baptist and Methodist Cemetery of this town, in the shape of putting up a neat fence, and in tidying up the grounds. The carrying of the entrance gate was done by Mr. James DeForest, of Reed's Furniture Factory.

—The Bridgetown horse, "Empress" D. Connors, owner, took the race at the Trow Dring Park, on Friday last. The match was a well and closely contested one, though the track was in poor condition.

—Our Dominion member, A. Longley, Esq., is erecting a very fine residence on the site of the one destroyed by fire some months back.

—We are informed that more winter fire and wheat has been sown around Paradise this season than for twenty years back.

—A rumor comes from Paris that the ladies hereafter will wear their bonnets on their heads.

—The first sales of Canadian apples in Liverpool and Glasgow this season have realized excellent profits, good fruit fetching from 23s. to 25s. per bbl.

—There will be more apples plucked and barreled in this County during the present week than in any other of the 51 weeks of the year.

—To-morrow will be nomination day in Cape Breton, the electors being called upon to fill a vacant seat in the House of Commons.

—Messrs. Pickles & Mills and A. W. Corbett & Son, are loading ships with potatoes for the old country. They offer from 30 to 35 cents per bushel.

—The late Lieutenant Governor of Quebec, Mr. Letellier, is on a visit in Ontario. The Reform Association of Toronto, a few days ago, presented on the occasion a complimentary address of sympathy and approval.

—A shoemaker's shop at Paradise, owned by Mr. W. P. Balcom, was burned on Wednesday night last. Loss about $300. Evidently the work of an incendiary, as Mr. Balcom's overcoat, mittens, and double-barrelled gun were found about a rod from the shop, by the first arrivals on the ground.

—The Roman Catholic bazaar at Antigonish realized $4,120. The Roman Catholics are certainly far ahead of other denominations in the matter of patronizing affairs got up for their church.

—A Yarmouth fishing schooner with a full fare of 629 quintals codfish struck the Jeddore Ledges last Tuesday night, and sprung a leak that all efforts to save her proved unavailing, and she shortly after sank. Crew saved.

—We acknowledge with thanks the receipt from Messrs. Landry & Co., of St. John, N. B., of a very neat music roll, containing three finely printed and choice pieces of music, viz:—"Harvest Morn." "Days that are gone seem the Brightest," "Angel whispers of my Mother."

Phenomena in the Oil Regions.

MASTODON, Pa. Sept. 16.—Some months ago, a party of oil operators from Titusville and St. Petersburg began operations in the newly-discovered oil region of Trumbull County, Ohio. They have struck a vein of petroleum of a character heretofore unknown in the oil business.

—The oil is of the finest quality, and it comes from a depth of 800 feet. No oil, but a heavy vein of gas was found. The fresh water at the top of the hole rushed into the space between the hole and the surrounding strata.

Miscellaneous.

Personal Appearance of Christ.

The following description was sent to the Roman Senate, by Publius Lentulus, proconsul of Judaea, before Herod. Lentulus had seen the Saviour and had made him sit, as it were, that he might give a written description of his features and physiognomy. His portrait, appearing forth though it be, is at least one of the first upon record; it dates from the earliest period of the Church, and has been mentioned by the most ancient fathers. Lentulus writes to the Senate as follows:—"As this time appeared a man who is still living, and endowed with mighty power. His disciples called him the Son of God; others regarded him as a powerful prophet. He raises the dead to life, and heals the sick of every description of infirmity and disease. This man is of lofty stature, and well proportioned, his countenance serene and virtuous, so that he inspires feelings both of fear and love. The hair of his head is of the color of wine, and from the top of his head to the ears, straight and without admixture, but it comes from the ears to the shoulders in shining curls. From the shoulders the hair flows down the back, divided into two portions, after the manner of the Nazarenes; his forehead is clear and without wrinkles, his face free from blemish, and slightly tinged with red, his physiognomy noble and gracious. The nose and mouth faultless. His beard is abundant, of the same colour as the hair, and forked. His eyes blue and very brilliant. In reproving or censuring he is awe-inspiring, in exhorting and teaching his speech is gentle and convincing. His countenance is marvellous in seriousness and grace. He has never once been seen to laugh, but many have seen him weep. He is slender in person, his hands are straight and long, his feet beautiful. Grave and solemn in his discourse, his language is simple and quiet. He is in appearance the most beautiful of the children of men. The Emperor Constantine caused pictures of the Son of God to be painted from the ancient description. In the eighth century, at the period in which St. John of Damascus wrote, the lineaments of this remarkable figure were continued to be the same as they are to this day.

The Fall of the Leaf.

For the three months now drawing to a close, our name of Fall is much more poetical than the English autumn. It is a season that impresses the dulcist organization. "Falling, falling"—such is the refrain alike of the whispering breeze that sighs through the grove, and the rust storm that flies and clatters the malleted branches of the old oak wood. "Falling—falling" murmurs the rivulet, as the crisp leaves drop upon its surface and are whirled away to the distant river, to be lost in its depths ere they reach the tumultuous ocean. "Falling—falling" sound the syllables as our feet steps in the forest rustles the dry leafage that strewn the path. Lo! from the slender and quivering branches of the birch-tree, the yellow shower descends like the golden rain that filled the lap of Danae. The red flakes descend from the huge oak like drops of blood from a warring giant. The red banner of the maples is blown to rags and scattered to the breeze—the emerald verdure of the meadow gives place to a serene brown, as the mirage of the desert yields to the barren sand of the Sahara. The glories of October but herald this fatal fall.

Thus transitory are the pageants, the garlands and glories of this earth. As the monarch of the forest, lately robed in purple and gold, now stands a naked skeleton, so must the magnates of the earth, clothed in "purple and fine linen," be stripped, one by one, of their imperial vestments, and be finally laid in the narrow sepulchre, as gaudy, as lifeless, as unadorned as these lone tree-trunks on the hillside. If we pursue the parallel no further—and look only to the present, gloomy onset of the would be this darkling period of the fall. But we know that summer will once more renew the glorious garniture of the grand old forest, and we know too that the lost earth will again be clothed with a brighter raiment in the realms of immortality. So with not too mournful eyes let us contemplate the funeral pageant of the fall of the leaf.

THE SOLDIER'S GRATITUDE.—A little episode of Florence Nightingale's career in the Crimea is quite too touching to be passed by unnoticed. It is a story that in one of the battles of the campaign, a Highland soldier had his right arm so severely wounded that, when taken to the hospital, the surgeons at once declared that it was impossible to save the limb, and that amputation must be immediately performed. Miss Nightingale thought otherwise, however, and caused the operation to be delayed. In a few days, by careful nursing, she cured the wound and saved the arm. The poor sufferer's heart overflowed with gratitude to his benefactress, which he eloquently worked out in a letter to her, but his silent gratitude was more eloquent. He told a comrade, that when Miss Nightingale passed him, he kissed her shadow on the pillow. This soldier heart as true a heart as ever beat beneath the stars and orders of a field marshal.

When we come to think of it, there is a great deal that is wonderful in the future. A few days ago the cornerstone of an academy was laid in a Massachusetts town, and among other things (if it can be called) deposited within the corner stone was a man's voice. This was done with a sheet of tin-foil, on which the voice is phonographically preserved. Three hundred years hence perhaps sooner, may be later—when this cornerstone shall be opened and the voice taken out, people then living will be able to hear the words of one long dead. This suggests so many great possibilities that it is hard to conceive what is beyond the control of man.

FAILURE OF POTATO CROP.—A correspondent of the London Times estimates the loss to the country this season, by the potato disease, at £15,000,000, and the potato growers throughout the country are making observations. The failure of the potato crop this year in England is attributed to the wet season. The facts above mentioned show the reason for the shipment of potatoes from this country to England.

PLANETS IN OCTOBER.—Mercury will continue invisible, being very near the sun both at rising and setting. Venus can be seen in all its splendor as a morning star, rising at the beginning of the month at 5 o'clock and gradually earlier till on the 31st it rises at a quarter past 3. Mars, a beautiful, ruddy, evening star rises at 8 o'clock—later at 9 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock on the 31st. The setting sun leaves it high in the eastern sky. An ordinary ship's glass, or a good opera glass, will show the varied positions of Jupiter and his four moons at the same time. The hours between 8 and 10 in the evening for our observations we shall see Jupiter rise, unaccompanied by its first satellite, on the 5th, in consequence of the satellite coming in front of the planet and passing across the disk. The same will occur on the 21st and 26th. The first satellite will be invisible at some time during these hours on the 6th and 29th, because it is in the shadow of the planet.

The smallest satellite of Jupiter, the second in order of distance from the planet, will not be seen until 10 P.M. on the 7th, when it passes from the face of the planet. It will disappear about 9 P.M. on the 14th, because it passes between the planet and the earth, and is thus projected upon the face of Jupiter.

PRECIOUS STONES IN CANADA.—A Montreal lapidary, who has been interviewed by a reporter of the Witness, gives a partial list of Canadian jewels, and precious stones; here are some of them:—First, Quebec diamonds, which, he says, are really rock crystals, very clear and brilliant, these, we believe, are found about Lake Superior. Precious stones are found about the Bas de Chaleurs, New Brunswick, large in size and good in quality, many of them on the Saguenay River. There are also in Canada, too, mostly about Lake Superior, these consist of two kinds—grey and red; each is similar in its character to the onyx. A bracelet of Canadian agates, set in gold, is described as being in appearance and polish to any stone used for the same purpose. We have also the chalcodony, or red corallian. Some of the most delicate shades of color are contained in them. The chlorastrolite (from chlor green and astro the heaven) very much resembles the malachite, are also found in Lake Superior.

The largest bridge in Europe will be completed next year. It will cross the Volga in the Government of Samara, Russia, on the Siberian Railroad line. The Volga, at the point of the bridge, is about four miles wide in the spring season, and in the autumn is 732 feet. The bridge will be supported by twelve piers, 85 feet high, with ice cutters 35 feet high, at a distance of every 354 feet. A temporary colony is established for workmen employed on the bridge; it occupies about 55 acres, and has 60 different buildings, insured for $75,000. Two thousand men are employed, and among them are one hundred Italian masons. Three steamers and seventy barges are used constantly for forwarding wood, stone, iron and other materials. The bridge will cost about $3,500,000.

When a finger pricks as though there was a thorn in it, and throbs intolerably when held downward, and yet there is no external sign of mischief, the probabilities are that a felon is in prospect. Go at once to the "butcher," and procure some of the spinal marrow of a beef creature. Take a piece, say of two inches in length, and, having cut it open lengthwise, wrap it around the affected finger, covering, of course, with cloth. In a few hours change the piece of marrow for a fresh one, and continue to keep the finger so encased until all pain has ceased and there is no discomfort when the marrow is removed. The finger will look strangely white and porous, but the cure is complete. This remedy ought to be procured professional. It is really better than the surgeon's knife, and more effectual.

SHIPPING POTATOES TO ENGLAND.—Messrs. J. & W. F. Harrison are to be the pioneers in a new trade which it is to be hoped will be successful. They have chartered the brig "E. B. M." to take a cargo of potatoes from this port to Liverpool, and should the venture be successful it is expected considerable business will be done this year. The crop of potatoes this year is very large, and prices are low. In fact, prices are so low that many farmers will not send their produce to market. Messrs. Harrison sent a small lot of potatoes (about 40 tons) of "Hesperus" last week. The cargo by the "Laura B." will fairly test the English market. Late mail advices report the potato crop in the old country to be a failure.—St. John Globe.

CONTRADICTION.—We find the following from Rev. J. E. Hopper, Editor of the Christian Visitor, St. John, N. B., in the St. John Globe of Monday:—"Sir,—I have noticed a paragraph in your paper taken from the Truro Star, stating that the editor of the Christian Visitor has been used by Rev. George Armstrong for accusing him in the Visitor of August 13th of dishonesty, fraud and getting money on false pretences. I have to say there is no truth in the paragraph. I am not used, and have accused neither Rev. George Armstrong nor any other person, in the issue of August 13th or any other issue, of dishonesty, fraud or getting money on false pretences."

The Governor General. When recently in the Capital of Ontario, the Governor General was honored with a complimentary dinner at the Toronto Club. In responding to the toast of the banquet, he made, perhaps, the most able and eloquent speech which he has delivered on this side of the Atlantic. It was the brilliant effusion of a vigorous and sparkling mind, rich in imagery, faultless in phraseology, and admirable in adaptability to the occasion. Like his immediate predecessor on the Dominion Throne, his tongue-power will win the admiration, and secure the attachment, of the Canadian people.

Vegetine. Gives a Good, Clear Complexion. PHILA., Pa., July 8, 1877. H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON. Dear Sir—The great benefit I have received from the use of Vegetine induces me to give my testimony in its favor. For several years my face has been covered with pimples, which caused me much annoyance, and rendering it to be a blood disease, I consulted a number of doctors, and also tried many preparations, but all to no purpose. I then purchased and commenced taking Vegetine, and before I had used the first bottle I saw I had the right medicine. I have used three bottles and find my health much improved, my humor entirely cured. Yours truly, MISS M. KEFFE, 1130 Carpenter Street.

Vegetine. Reports from Ottawa. OTTAWA, CANADA, Dec. 31st, 1876. MA. H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON, MASS. Sir—I have used your Vegetine in my family for several years, and consider it an invaluable medicine. I most cheerfully recommend its use to those desiring a safe and effectual remedy for diseases of the stomach and impurities of the blood. I may add that I have administered its use to several of my friends and acquaintances with the most gratifying and satisfactory results. Very respectfully, MISS W. O. PELLER, one of the largest and most extensive lumber firms in America.

Vegetine. Cured Scrofula. PHILA., Pa., July 18, 1877. H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON. Dear Sir—I can cheerfully recommend your Vegetine as the "Great Blood Purifier." I have been ailing from Scrofula for years, and was cured by your Vegetine. I keep it constantly on hand to keep my bowels regular, and am constantly recommending it to all whom I hear needing a remedy for the same. Being personally acquainted with Mr. G. G. G. I can vouch for him as being reliable in his statements, as I have said him Vegetine. Dr. J. W. ABELL, Druggist, 1024 Beach Street.

Vegetine. Gives Life and Vigor. HARTFORD, MISS., Dec. 16, 1876. H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON. Dear Sir—I will do all I can in regard to the Vegetine, which has been the saving of my life, and I believe thousands of others. It is good for General Debility and all Female Weaknesses and will give life, vigor and strength to both sexes. Yours, with respect, MRS. SUMNER WALTON.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption. The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvelous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it, acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

Joker's Corner.

How He was Sold. An Italian gentleman with a nice little income had a nice little servant girl, who said to him one morning: "If you please, won't you give me three francs to buy a lottery ticket with? I dreamed last night that No. 41,144 was going to draw the capital prize and I want to buy that number." He gave her the three francs, and next day, on happening to look at the report of the drawing, saw that No. 41,144 had drawn the capital prize of $18,525.35 lire, or, to speak more accurately $100,000.

Returning quietly to the house he concealed his emotion and said to his servant girl: "Susan, I have long observed with approbation your piety, beauty, modesty, skill in the art of cookery and every good quality calculated to adorn the highest station. Be mine. Let me lead you to the hygienic altar. No delay. Just as you are." "Honest Injun?" said the blushing virgin. "You bet. I swear by yonder silver spoon that tips with beauty all the fruit of the top!"

"Then count me in, and regard me hereafter in the light of your turtle dove." Hasten, then, Susan; put on your bonnet and shawl, and let us walk around the block to the old friar's cell where we shall be one. In a few minutes the bride-elect returned, clad in a red shawl, with a black velvet bonnet trimmed with snowflakes and Victoria girth. They returned to the house, when the husband carelessly took up the paper and said, with a well counterfeited start of surprise: "Darling, everything is bright for us upon our wedding day. You remember the ticket in the lottery that you dreamed about and I gave you three francs to buy. Where is it, my sweet?" "Oh, I didn't buy it. I spent it for this duck of a bonnet."—New York World.

The Man Who Hadn't a Cent.—Says the Lowell Gazette: Capt. Broughton of Portland told a story which we think too good to keep, which is as follows: Some time in '64 there was a number of army officers stopping at a hotel in Washington. Among them was a Capt. Emerson. There was also a Capt. Jones, who was a first-rate fellow, a good officer, and very pompous. Emerson and Jones used to have a good deal of joking together at the hotel, and one day, when Emerson was in a voice where, one day at the dinner table, when the dining hall was well filled, Capt. Jones finished his dinner first, got up and walked almost to the dining hall door, when Emerson whispered to him in a loud voice, and said: "Hallo, captain, see here; I want to speak to you a minute." The captain turned and walked back to the table and bent over him, when Emerson whispered: "I wanted to ask you how far you would have gone if I had not spoken to you." The captain never changed a muscle, but brightened up and put his finger into his vest pocket and said in a voice loud enough for all to hear him: "Capt. Emerson, I don't know of a man in the world I had rather lend $5 to than you, but the fact is, I haven't a cent with me to-day," he turned and walked away.

The Evant Terrible.—The speeches of Lefant terrible on his first appearance at church are many and singular—not to be Irish about it—and they have not all been printed, since the time his name was first placed in the newspaper of the writer, and he lived in Illinois—he was an Illinoiser, as Thatcher says. His mother had taken him to a concert, where there were recitations and music. The piece which most captivated his youthful fancy was "Captain Jinks," which was sung with great effect by a sober-sided fellow. The next Sunday was Fred's first day at church, and he was much interested in the progress of the exercises, keeping very still during the reading, and nearly through the "long prayer," when, becoming somewhat restless, he pulled at his mother's dress and asked quite audibly: "Mamma, isn't it most time for 'Captain Jinks'?—Harper's Magazine.

A belated and rather poverty-stricken foot-traveller, stopped at a small mansion of apparently two rooms, and a kitchen, in Mabou, the other evening, to get a night's lodging. As he stood timidly knocking at the half-opened door, he heard the shrill, commanding tones of the lady of the house, disposing the garrison for the night: "Tommy, go hunt up Charley and Ben and tell them to go to the grocery store and tell your father to bring Susan and Sam right home, it's bedtime, and if they see Louis on the way send her to Miss Juggins's for Alice and Jim, and see if they know where Ezra is; you take this lamp up to grandma's room and ask her if she won't take care of baby while I go and find Dick and while I am gone you undress Mabel and put her to bed, and if cousin Harry comes while I am gone tell him he's to sleep with you." And the traveller sighed and turned away so oppressed with a feeling of overcrowdedness, that he walked out of the country and slept all night in the middle of a field two miles long.

A Western Jurymen.—It was out West, in one of those local courts where a friendly, talkative way marks the intercourse between judges, juries, counsellors, and clients. A man of the law, developing considerable eloquence and perspiration in behalf of a prisoner, perorated by saying: "Gentlemen, after what I have stated to you, is this man guilty? Can he be guilty? Is he guilty?" Greatly to his disgust, the foreman of the jury, after copious expectation replied: "You just wait a little, old hoss, and we'll tell you." As a poker-player would say: "Foreman had the best, and counsellor passed out."—Harper's Magazine.

The British Government has ordered an official enquiry to be made into the act of the Rev. Mr. Brown, Wesleyan missionary, in leading an expedition against natives of New Britain and killing 60 or 80 of the savages in retaliation for having feasted on three or four Wesleyan missionaries.
